

DR. F. A. LENDRUM ELECTED NEW KIWANIS PRESIDENT

WOMAN'S CLUB TO MEET

The fifth meeting of the Woman's Club will be held in the Crystal dining room of the Hotel Mayflower, Friday, December 6th, at 2:15 o'clock. The program for the afternoon will be in charge of the drama group with Mrs. H. E. Cooper as chairman. Miss Johnson of the High school has graciously consented to present a one act play to be given by the Junior High dramatic club, entitled, "No Girls Admitted."

Cast—Irma Humphries, William Thoms, Daniel Carmichael, Ruth Mason, Rosemary West, Odene Hill, Vera Woods, Donald Bronson.

The Girls' Glee Club which consists of the following members: Hazel Rathbun, Marjorie Dunn, Katherine Nichol, Margaret Voss, Doris Hollaway, Jean Simpson, Doris Gammeter, Dorothy Hubert, will render several songs accompanied by Mrs. Gladys Schrader at the piano.

A HANDSOME NEW AMBULANCE

SCHRADER BROS. RECEIVE ONE OF THE FINEST VEHICLES OF THIS KIND IN THE COUNTRY.

Schrader Bros. have received a handsome new Cadillac ambulance to add to their already splendid equipment. The new ambulance is the last word in vehicles of this kind, and is one of the finest ever built by the Cadillac Motor Co.

The body of the car is white with black trim and chromium wheels. The driver's compartment is upholstered in blue mohair, while the patient's compartment is of blue leather. The ambulance is equipped with an electric fan, flower vases, radio, hot and cold running water, hot water heat, a completely equipped nursery department, compartments for linen and complete change of bedding. A telephone connects the patient's apartment with the driver. In fact, there is nothing lacking in this hospital on wheels to give the patient every comfort and convenience that it is possible to provide.

The old ambulance will be kept in service also, and this will give the Schrader Bros. ample equipment of this kind.

Schrader Bros. are to be congratulated on their efforts to give Plymouth the best equipment that money will buy.

Kiwanians Hear Union Trust Official

Albert Gayde, chairman of the program committee of last Tuesday's meeting of the Kiwanis Club held in the crystal dining room of the Hotel Mayflower, introduced as his guest speaker, Carl F. Behrens, an outstanding authority as an economist, from the offices of the Union Trust Company of Detroit.

Mr. Behrens gave an interesting talk on the Business Condition of Today, taking for his theme "Our Prosperity Panic." He explained his theme by subdividing it into three distinct parts, first, "The Causes," second, "Comparisons to other panics," and third, "The Future Outlook."

"It was the worst panic in Wall Street's history, at least in peacetime, record breaking in magnitude and in wide spread losses; but it was entirely a new kind of panic. The panics of the past were brought about by something fundamentally wrong with finance and business; but this purely a speculative stock-market panic.

The billions flooded with no idea of the potential resources of the country, but as time rolled on people realized this potentiality. About war time the people of this country realized what the forces of nature could do. We certainly realized the effectiveness of our resources. The panics of 1920-21 resulted from "producing at top speed." Before the war we had prices inflated, but after the war there came a change—a deflation.

"I do not think this prosperity panic will be prolonged or that it will bring about serious depression. Business won't be greatly depressed, and my opinion is, the trouble will terminate by spring.

"Brokers loans which had reached into the millions have dropped very decidedly. This is an important factor in the stock market. It's the undigested securities that worries. It's the rotten stocks that have been unloaded. The auto industry is going to be a big help to this country, and although the business situation showed a big slackening off in November there will be an upward trend in the near future."

The speaker will take as his subject: "With General Allenby in Palestine," and will tell of his experiences during the campaign in the Holy Land. It was on December 9, 1917, when the surrender of the Holy City, Jerusalem, took place, though General Allenby did not make his official entry until December 11 of that year. The speaker will tell something of the perils fighting before the capture of the city, and other facts concerning the campaign.

ELECTION NOTICE!

Special election will be held at the Central High School Monday, December 16, 1929, for the purpose of determining whether District No. 1 fractional of Plymouth Township, Wayne County, Michigan shall borrow the sum of $190,000.00 and issue bonds of said district for the purpose of erecting and furnishing an addition to the Central Grade School and a High School gymnasium; and buying additional sites in said district.

Polls of said election will be open at the Central High School between the hours of 8 A. M. and 8 P. M. on said December 16, 1929, for said special election.

Signed,
ADA S. MURRAY, Secretary,
Board of Education.

PROPOSED NEW SCHOOL BUILDING FOR PLYMOUTH

The proposed Community Center, of which plans are here shown of the exterior of the building and first floor plan, is to be voted on December 16, 1929, as per notice in this week's Mail.

Blue prints for the proposed building may be seen by calling at the office of the superintendent of schools, calling on Mrs. Ada Murray at the Wayne County Library, or F. J. Pierce at the Plymouth United Savings Branch Bank.

Communities which now have Community Centers speak unambiguously of their effect upon their young people. For instance, Ypsilanti, since the building of its gymnasium at its Central High School, has a definite recreational program, a portion of which consists of eight basketball teams representing different groups in the community outside of school who play three games per week, or a series of 21 games during the winter season. With each team carrying eight players it means that 64 young men have an opportunity for definite wholesome exercise. These games are free to the public, which means that the public has an opportunity to spend enjoyable evenings watching the 21 community games without any cost whatever.

Every community needs a place in which its young people may participate in and enjoy the privilege of watching recreational games without prohibitive expense.

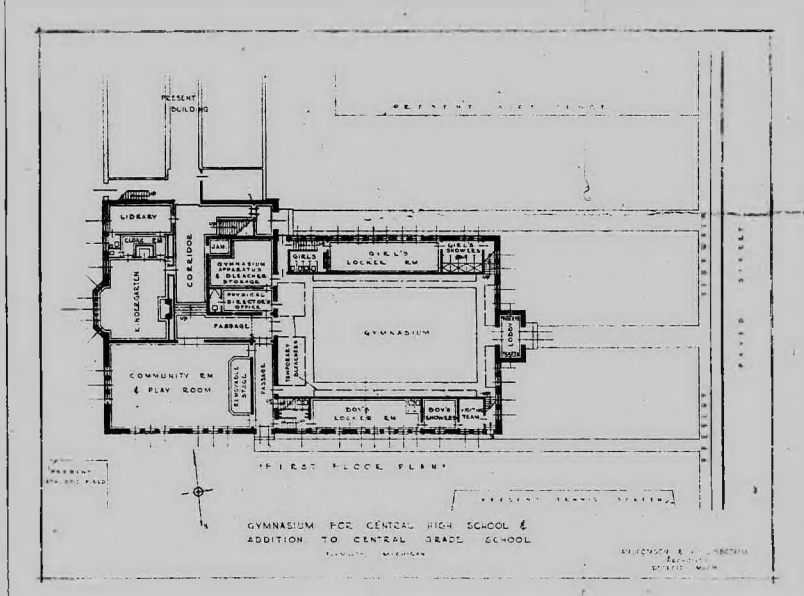

At the present time, due to lack of facilities, Plymouth is unable to carry on community center work such as will be possible if the people elect to build the necessary rooms.

As stated in last week's Mail, the cost per thousand to pay the above mentioned bonds will be between $1.40 and $1.50 per thousand valuation which would mean that the added tax on the average home would not exceed the value of the free basketball game which it would be possible for the owners of the home to see.

When young people are busy during their leisure hours with wholesome sports and recreation, their possibility of going wrong and ending in crime or dishonor to themselves, their parents and the community, is materially lessened.

There are practically two questions before the public in determining the issue:

1. Can we afford to build the building?
2. Can we afford not to build the building?

New 1930 License Plates Go On Sale

The new 1930 auto license plates went on sale at the local office of the secretary of state, on Liberty street, Monday morning. The first set of plates was issued to Charles Schroeder, and the number was 834-001. The new plates are of a yellow background with black figures, just the reverse of the 1929 plates. The sale of plates has been going on briskly since Monday, and the rest of the month will see many auto owners securing their new plates.

Mr. Plachta, the local manager, has arranged to have plenty of help to take care of the applicants, and there will be no long waits at any time.

PLYMOUTH GIRL GETTING READY FOR DRAWING CONTEST

Miss Sarah Jane White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George White, Jr., is getting ready for the next drawing and painting contest which is to take place December 3, at the Commercial Art School in Detroit. Sarah Jane took part in the contest which was held September 27, and received fourth prize. She is working hard for the first prize this time.

ROTARIANS HEAR INTERESTING TALK

The members of the Plymouth Rotary Club heard a very interesting talk by Rev. F. E. C. Lefevre, chairman of the local International Service committee at their luncheon hour last Friday.

DEMAND EXCEEDS THE SUPPLY

The demand for better grade pecans far exceeds the supply. The quality of the 1929 crop is excellent, but the crop is unusually short. The Albany, Georgia district has a fair supply but Alabama and Mississippi crops are about 10% short of last year.

PLYMOUTH DEBATES DEARBORN TONIGHT

The Plymouth High School debating team will meet Dearborn in the second debate in the preliminary series tonight, Friday, December 6, at 8:15, at Dearborn High School. The Plymouth team is the same as that which met Ypsilanti, November 15, that is, Marian Gust, Harold Stevens and Lester Daily. The judges in this debate are: Miss Smith of Cass Technical High School, Detroit, and Mr. Cobalt and Mr. Lewis of Northwestern High School, Detroit. Plymouth will uphold the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved, That a judge or board of judges should be substituted for the jury in all trials in the state and municipal courts in Michigan."

The Plymouth team is going into the debate tonight with but one objective in view, to do our best, give our best and better, regardless of whether we win or lose.

There is nothing certain in debate work. To win, a team must keep driving, working, all the time. Each individual must give all he or she possesses and more, too, if they are to win debates. With this attitude, however, we cannot be far from success. Dearborn, in all likelihood, has a strong team, all debaters from last year. But Plymouth has a progressing team, and a progressing team is hard to beat. We have advanced steadily since the first debate, and are loaded for almost anything.

We are going to a strange platform to debate tonight, and we should like to see as many Plymouth people present as possible.

CANTON GIRL PASSES AWAY

Hazel M. Griggs, aged 17 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Griggs, passed away at the home of her parents in Canton township Saturday, November 30, after a short illness. Funeral services were held from the home Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, with interment in the Sheldon cemetery.

JOSEPH MAYNARD PASSES AWAY

Joseph Maynard, aged 58 years, of 636 South Main street, died in the U. M. hospital, Ann Arbor, Tuesday afternoon. Funeral services will be held this Friday, afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home. Interment in Riverside cemetery.

Women Voters Will Hold Luncheon

Reservations are being made for the League of Women Voters' luncheon to be held at the Hotel Mayflower, Monday, December 9, at 12:30 o'clock.

Members are privileged to bring a guest, but in order to give others an opportunity to enjoy this luncheon and hear Supt. George A. Smith and the High School Orchestra, a cordial invitation is given to all women interested if reservations are made by Mrs. Paul Wiedman by Friday evening, December 6th. Tickets are 50c.

Supt. Smith will speak on "The Needs of Plymouth." The Plymouth High school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Gladys Schrader, will play several selections, and an interesting report of the state convention of the Michigan League of Women Voters held at Flint, will be given by Judge Phoebe Patterson.

Young Man Honored

Frederick C. Lendrum, elder son of Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Lendrum, has been winning signal honors in the scholastic world. Mr. Lendrum, who is a senior in the school of medicine at Ann Arbor, on December 9, will be initiated into the all-campus national honor fraternity, Phi Kappa Phi, and on Friday, December 13, he will be initiated into the Alpha Omega Alpha, the national medical honor fraternity. Mr. Lendrum graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University, 1923, with Phi Beta Kappa honors.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE COMMITTEE MAKING BUSINESS SURVEY OF PLYMOUTH

Bad news, regardless of what it is about, always travels faster than good news. And bad news gains fresh impetus and increased momentum every time it is repeated. The bad news going the rounds just now is all this talk about "hard times." Many of us feel that much of this talk was carelessly repeated, and that it was not justified by the facts. Some of the stories reported and predictions made were hard to reconcile with the constructive efforts being made by President Hoover and industrial, commercial, agricultural, and labor leaders throughout the country, or to bring the comparison closer to home, the dire predictions being overheard around Plymouth were in direct opposition to the decidedly encouraging forecasts being made by Detroit bankers, manufacturers, realtors, and other business leaders.

A few of us met to talk the situation over. None of us felt alarmed, nor was our confidence in the future shaken by the stories we were hearing, believing that business would go on in spite of what many people were saying, but our common sense told us that if these disturbing stories were not checked or at least toned down, the public's confidence might be shaken and business might be paralyzed as a result. We did not care to make this a personal issue, and have not asked anyone to share our viewpoint. We decided that the only fair and accurate method to employ to get at the true business situation in Plymouth was to go to some of the representative business men of the month, and get their opinion for statements for publication. Secretary Moore was delegated to interview these men. His comments follow:

"It should be needless to point out that nothing I could say would influence business men of high principle and character like those approached to publicly announce other than their true conclusions. In talking to them I expressed the fact that the chamber of commerce group who said we were not doing anything alarming in the situation, and that we were not asking them for deliberately stimulating statements. In other words, we wanted no more than a calm, dispassionate analysis of what they really feel about their business and business conditions in general. I was met with a fine response. Some of the statements I received follow, others will appear in future issues."

"It is a painful fact that every once in a while a wave of pessimism seems to move across the consciousness of the American people, like a cloud across the sun, and many people immediately begin to complain and to carry bad tales from door to door.

"We seem to be passing through such a phase just now and it behooves each of us to stop, look and take inventory and see just what has happened. We find that the stock market went up and up, then down, then down some more. What of it!

"The sun still shines as regularly as usual, we have just gathered one of the largest crops in our history.

"Let us all join with President Hoover and work for prosperity. Avoid the knacker as you would a person with a contagious disease, and he will soon put away his humor. Happiness and prosperity lies within each of us. Let us bring it out to light and drive imaginary ills away. We have everything to be thankful for and the worst of our troubles never happen.

"We are approaching the time when business is to be taken and taken back to determine whether or not it has been good or bad and to lay plans for the future. Our experience carries us back for more than forty years in one line of business, and our judgment is enriched by this experience that has carried us through wars and panics.

"Business like everything else has its ups and downs, but we see no good reason for not looking on the bright side of things now when everything under the sun, except the stock market, is favorable. We expect the coming year will be normal and are making our plans accordingly."

Signed,
E. C. HOUGH, V. P. & Treas.,
Daisy Mfg. Co.

"It is my opinion that the community is in a splendid financial condition as evidenced from the Savings Deposits in this institution. Savings Deposits, representing thrift and prosperity of a community, have shown a steady increase throughout the year. The Christmas Savings Clubs have increased 12% over the totals of 1928.

"The Officers and Directors of the Plymouth United Savings Bank are looking forward to a continuation of this growth and are planning for a blazer and better year in 1930."

Signed,
CHAS. A. FISHER, President,
Plymouth United Savings Bank.

"It is rather difficult for me to explain a feeling of depression that I do not have. The telephone business in Plymouth and surrounding territory has enjoyed a very fine growth during 1929 and we feel that it is one of the best barometers of business that exists. That we have confidence in 1930 is evidenced by our expansion program for the year. It is planned to spend twenty-five millions in Michigan for new buildings and telephone plant. No curtailment of this program is expected."

Signed,
ROY E. CROWE, Mgr.,
Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

"As the year of 1929 is about to come to a close, one has a tendency to look back over the past year and check up with one's self and compare this year's business with that of previous years and to speculate on the prospects for the succeeding year. In doing this in our business we find that this year has shown a very substantial increase over any previous year and has far exceeded our predictions made at the first of the year. We are especially optimistic and enthusiastic with regard to the outlook for next year."

Signed,
P. J. WIEDMAN,
Plymouth Motor Sales Co.

"Knocking may open a door but it won't close a contract. If a man doesn't get a thrill out of his daily work his work isn't big enough for him or else he isn't big enough for his job. You will succeed best when you put the restless anxious side of your affairs out of your mind and allow the restful to live in your thoughts.

"Conditions are largely what you make them, not what they seem to be. If thoughts were put into figures you might find your total satisfactory and 1929 a progressive year. For we, as merchants of Plymouth, can show an increase in business and conditions normal for 1929 and face 1930 with confidence. Why then all this talk about hard times?"

Signed,
A. J. BLUNK,
Blank Bros.

OLDER BOYS' CONFERENCE AT GRAND RAPIDS

DELEGATION OF EIGHTEEN PLYMOUTH BOYS ATTENDS

The Plymouth delegation of eighteen boys journeyed to Grand Rapids for the twenty-seventh annual State Older Boys' Conference during the Thanksgiving holidays. The eighteen Plymouth boys, representatives of the Hi-Y club, Yacht club, various churches and Sunday-schools, and of high school classes, traveled with the Wyandotte delegation by bus, to the furniture city of Michigan. This group of boys was treated to the unique experience of meeting with 1450 other boys from the state of Michigan, for the purpose of hearing inspirational speeches, vital discussions, and participating in the solution of the serious problems confronting boys of high school age.

Some of the noted speakers were: Coach Amos A. Stage, University of Chicago; "The Grand Old Man of Football," Dr. Roland Schlober, minister of the Hyde Park Baptist church; Dr. Arthur Reigh, the National Student Secretary for Clinton; and David E. Longlist, connected with the program division of the Chicago Y. M. C. A. Many well known Michigan men-both in education and in Y. M. C. A. were the leaders of discussion groups.

The Plymouth delegation included: Frank Allison, Harold Stevens, Lester Daily, Edward DePorter, John Randall, Charles Ball, Charles Boston, Harvey Scripps, Gerald Hoadley, Steve Boudok, Charles Reed, Billy Henry, Louis Strunk, Fred Shear, Gene Kenyon, Charles Beagle and Kenneth Gust. Mr. Elmer, Hi-Y advisor, accompanied the group, and acted as a leader of discussion groups on athletic problems.

It is to be expected that these boys being back with them will be such a comfort to their parents and will make their homes truly "Plymouth" again because they were so glad to attend.

When Jerusalem Was Captured

Rev. A. P. Rickard of Whitmore Lake, an ex-British soldier, will be the speaker at the Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday evening, December 8. Mr. Rickard served with the British forces during the World War as a private soldier in the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry, and saw service in India; Aeden, Arabia; and in Palestine, over a period of approximately five years.

The speaker will take as his subject: "With General Allenby in Palestine," and will tell of his experiences during the campaign in the Holy Land. It was on December 9, 1917, when the surrender of the Holy City, Jerusalem, took place, though General Allenby did not make his official entry until December 11 of that year. The speaker will tell something of the perils fighting before the capture of the city, and other facts concerning the campaign.

Becker-Freeman

Miss Blanche A. Freeman, daughter of Mrs. A. C. Procknow, and Byron H. Becker, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Becker, were united in marriage Thursday, November 28th, at High noon at the St. Andrew's Episcopal chapel, Ann Arbor. It was an Episcopal double ring ceremony over which Rev. R. L. Harris, assistant rector, officiated.

Forrest B. Inbert of this place, and Mrs. Mona Williams of New Castle, Pa., were witnesses.

The couple will be at home to their friends after December 10, at 824 Ann street. The bride is a graduate of the Plymouth High School of the class of '28 and has a position in the Plymouth United Savings Bank, while the groom is also a graduate of the local schools with the class of '28, and is employed in the General Motors Planting, Detroit.

THE SAVINGS CLUBS

Now that cities no longer have a monopoly on them, and since towns like Plymouth can and do maintain Christmas savings clubs, anything in the way of reports regarding them is of wide-spread interest. This is especially true at this time, when they are getting ready to disgorge millions of dollars that have been saved up in small sums during the past eleven months.

The National Bank Service Corporation of New York reports that $600,000,000 will be distributed this year to the 9,000,000 members of Christmas savings clubs sponsored by more than 8,000 banks in the 48 states of the Union. Eliminating the few special funds of individuals and corporations, the average amount that each individual will receive is placed at $59.50, an increase over 1928.

Starting as a fad, as a great many other worth-while things have started in this country, the Christmas savings club has developed into a national blessing. And we know of no better means of teaching thrift, while at the same time storing up a tidy sum for the time of year when it really is most needed. It has everything to commend it, and no cause exists for discouraging it. No community is too small for it to flourish in. Its growing popularity, and the fact that $600,000,000 was saved up by this method in a single year, certainly ought to be all the proof needed to show that it is here to stay.

LIVING LONGER

Folks around Plymouth who have been made happier by reports showing the average life to be 20 years longer now than it was 50 years ago, and who have been led to hope they would easily reach the 100-year mark, can now prepare to heave a sigh of regret. Dr. Chas. Dublin, head of research work for the Metropolitan Insurance Co., says the span of life is now 80 years. But of our present 120,000,000 population he finds only 700,000 have reached the age of 80, or about three-fifths of one percent. The life span has remained at this figure for a long time, he says, and it is altogether unlikely that man will be able to do anything more to change it. And that applies to woman, too, in spite of the hope that springs in every fair bosom of being able to fool old Father Time. But it really isn't anything to worry about, after all. Go ahead living as though you intended to reach the century mark, and even if you should not you will still get a lot of enjoyment out of the good health that is bound to result from trying it.

WINTER NO OBSTACLE

A good many Plymouth citizens can easily remember the time when the coming of winter meant the end of virtually all outdoor activity. Carpenters and bricklayers laid aside their tools and sat back to await the coming of spring. Everybody practically "holed up" for the winter. Even a quarter of a century ago there was no construction work; concrete was not poured because it would freeze; the auto was jacked up and tires and batteries removed—and the family settled down for the winter. Today there is no such thing as a closed season for almost any trade. There is always something to be done and willing workers ready to do it. Making a living is now a 52-week job every year, and not crowded into a few months of any particular season.

This speaks volumes for improved methods, and especially for our ability to invent machines that do not have to have certain weather conditions in order to function. It makes life far easier, too, when men do not have to remain idle during the cold months simply because the weather isn't to their liking. Few men enjoy loafing. The average man is glad to have a job he can work at regularly in winter the same as in the warmer seasons. The passing of the old custom of "holing up" for the winter and barely existing until spring returned has been worth a lot to the country as a whole. It has gone far toward eliminating the germ of laziness. And laziness is a menace to any nation that suffers it to exist.

A GOOD RESOLUTION

December brings thoughts of Christmas, especially since most people have ceased to wait until the last hour to do their holiday buying. But whether you buy early or late, right now is a very appropriate time to resolve to help make this Christmas a happier one for the entire community by spending what money you have to spend here at home. We can safely promise that Plymouth merchants will have gifts good enough, pretty enough and serviceable enough to meet the wants of everyone in the neighborhood we can also safely state that they will be priced as reasonably as they can be bought for anywhere else. That being the case, and remembering that it is always sensible to spend your money in the community in which you make it, why not resolve now to do your part toward making this a merry Christmas by buying your holiday gifts at home and then sticking to the resolution?

TASTY POSTAGE STAMPS

So many complaints have reached the post-office department at Washington about the gum on postage stamps "tasting bad" that Uncle Sam has actually decided to change his brand of "stickum." He has been experimenting recently, and believes a preparation has been found that will not only make the stamps adhere more tightly to the envelope than in the past, but one that will leave no bad taste on the tongues of those who lick them. The first stamps so treated will be on sale throughout the country in a few months, it is said. Thus do we progress. The year fast drawing to a close has brought two great government reforms—smaller currency and sweeter postage stamps. Wonder what other things to make life run a little smoother will be passed on to us in the new year now just about to peep around the corner?

BISHOP ANDERSON
IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Harvey E. Rutenbar, who departed this life five years ago Dec. 3, 1924.
Deep in our hearts lies a picture,
Of a loved one gone to rest,
In memory's frame we will keep it,
Because he was one of the best.
Our lips cannot speak how we loved him,
Our hearts cannot tell what to say,
God only knows how we miss him,
As we battle along life's rough way.
Sadly missed by his loving Mother, sisters and brothers. Ip
A CARD—I desire to extend my sincere thanks to the many kind friends and neighbors from Plymouth, Redford and Lapeer while at Harper Hospital.

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE

NO. 154954
In the Matter of the Estate of Augusta Mary Michels, deceased.
We, the undersigned, having been appointed by the Probate Court for the County of Wayne, State of Michigan, Commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands of all persons against said deceased, do hereby give notice that we will meet at the First National Bank, Plymouth, Michigan, in said County, on Saturday, the 26th day of Jan. A. D. 1930, and on Wednesday, the 26th day of March, A. D. 1930, at 10 o'clock A. M. of each of said days, for the purpose of examining and allowing said claims, and that four months from the 26th day of Nov. A. D. 1929, were allowed by said Court for creditors to present their claims to us for examination and allowance.
Dated, November 26, 1929.
FOR J. B. HUBERT, MATTHIAS MILLER, Commissioners.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS

This is to call attention to the fact that owners or occupants of property within the Village are required by ordinance to remove from sidewalks abutting their property all snow or ice within twenty-four hours after same may have fallen or accumulated thereon. In case of neglect or refusal of the owner or occupant to clear such walks the Village is authorized to do the work at the expense of the owner, the cost of such work to be assessed against the abutting property if not paid.
A. J. KOENIG, Village Clerk.

MOTHER RABBIT FIGHTS SIX MEN FOR HER BABY

Yellowstone Traveler Tells of Cottontail's Gallant Grit.

Yellowstone Park, Wyo.—Yellowstone National park offers the season's best rabbit yarn—credible, yet solemnly attested to by six good men and true.

Park Ranger Fred T. Johnston tells it:
"It was late in June. Six of us were traveling in and on top of a truckload of beds and supplies over a road evidently seldom used.

"During our journey we overtook a very young jack rabbit—in fact, one so young that it barely had its eyes open. He was exerting every effort, however, to scramble out of the rut he was in, but seeing that he was bound to fail we stopped to assist him.

"Our intentions were undoubtedly misunderstood, because as soon as he was picked up he squealed as only a scared rabbit can squeal, but he accomplished his purpose. It's hard to believe that a rabbit would attack six men, but by the word of the six who were attacked that's just what happened.

Leaps at Bunny's Captor.

"The young rabbit knew his squealing and so did his mother, or at least we gave the rabbit that came galloping out of the brush the credit of being his mother. And galloping is the word to express her progress in our direction on the second squeal from her complaining offspring.

"She appeared from a distance of a hundred yards or so away and was standing in the center of a circular group we had formed before any of us could realize the truth of what we saw. I was truly thankful that I was not the one who was holding the infant rabbit. There she stood among the aforesaid six of us, eyeing every one with bulging eyes that meant only one thing—rage. She was poised on her hindlegs at the very feet of her infant's captor, apparently ready to spring at his face.

Young Rabbit Saves Day.

"Speech was impossible and how long we stood there dumfounded none of us attempted to say. I actually believe the young rabbit saved the situation because his squealing stopped with the appearance of his mother, and she finally hopped off a short distance and waited. This fact was not to be misunderstood, so the young rabbit was released immediately and left to the very capable and astonishing protection of his mother.

"To be attacked by a bear when molesting her young is natural, but a rabbit—well, even a bear seldom attacks six men."

Puts Up His Cork Leg to Pay Sweetie's Fine

Johnson City, Tenn.—Police Judge Barton is beginning to think that deal he made in court the other day was not such a good bargain.

Judge Barton has on hand one cork leg. He accepted it as security for a $25 fine imposed upon the girl friend of a one-legged man. The one-legged gentleman hadn't the $25, but he pulled off his leg and handed it to the court.

Judge Barton has not gone so far as to hope some policeman loses a leg, but otherwise he can't see how the commonwealth can get its $25 worth.

Boy Swallows Pin, Laughs, Coughs It Up

Honolulu.—Thirteen-year-old Solomon Kahoohalahala, of the Kailih Boys' home is a lucky laugh. After he had put a pin in his mouth and accidentally swallowed it, his teacher took him into the emergency hospital headquarters. While Solomon sat in the operating room, Police Surgeon Robert B. Faus made a more or less witty remark. The boy laughed, choked and coughed up the pin.

Bride Collapses

Cincinnati.—After the minister pronounced the words which made her the wife of Boyd Thompson, Miss Betty Smedley fainted. She was unable to leave the house for several hours after the ceremony. The honeymoon was delayed.

A CARD—We wish to express our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kind sympathy shown in so many ways during the sickness and death of our loved one. Especially do we wish to thank those for the beautiful floral offerings; the F. & A. M. for their services, which were so well rendered; also Rev. Nichol for his comforting words.

Farewell Dinner To Russell And Owen Partridge

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wagenschutz and daughter, Miss Jane, entertained a number of relatives and friends at a wonderful Thanksgiving dinner in honor of Russell and Owen Partridge, who left yesterday by motor to spend the winter in California.

The guests for dinner included: Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Marsh of Ann Arbor; Mr. and Mrs. Don Hamilton, Mrs. Amelia Ford, Miss Beatrice Johnson, Miss Leslie Gullow of Northville; Miss Olive Gullow of Detroit; Miss Thelma Long of Jackson; George Rutan of Howell; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Partridge, Lynn and Marvin, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Partridge, Milton and Austin, and the honor guests, Russell and Owen. The boys were each presented with a lovely book, "An Everyday Day Reminder," given to them by their aunt, Mrs. Arthur Marsh.

The chief objection to the five-day week is that it would give motorists two days for accidents instead of one.

PLYMOUTH MAN ACCUSED OF ATTACK ON WOMAN

Ernie Nostrant, 37 years old, was arraigned in Justice Phoebe Patterson's court Monday morning, on a charge of breaking and entering a home here, and attempted assault upon a woman. He pleaded guilty, and in default of $25,000 bail with two sureties, was remanded to the county jail, pending his examination before Justice Patterson next Tuesday. Nostrant was arrested at his home on Rose street, Sunday morning by Chief of Police Springer and Officer Charles Thumme.

Parent Company of Local Utility Shows Growth

According to W. S. McCollough, treasurer of the Central Public Service Corporation, it is estimated that the net earnings of this parent concern of the local Public Utility Company will be over $10,000,000 for 1929.

It is because of this growth that the shares of the Central Public Service Corporation are still proving popular with the customers in this city, as well as the 388 other communities which this Utility Company is serving.

During the last four months, 22,495 shares were sold to the local customers who buy gas and electric service from this Utility Company.

This amount is more remarkable because of slumps in the stock market at this period.

It shows that these customers believe in the stability and growth of the Central Public Service Corporation.

CHRISTMAS CARDS 1929

The Mail Job department is now ready to take orders for Christmas cards in lots of not less than twenty-five. We are not carrying a stock supply, but will sell from a sample book, giving you a better selection.

However, to insure prompt delivery, orders must be in before December 5th next. Please remember this, and get your orders in next week.

We have a few left-overs from last year that we will sell cheap in twenty-five lots or more.

Ford Raises Pay Of Employees

COMMON WORKERS GET LARGEST SHARE OF INCREASE.

All employees of the Ford Motor company received an increase in pay Tuesday. This was the first step of Henry Ford to improve business conditions, and if his example is followed by other industrial concerns, the net result will be an increased buying power in the nation with the result that business conditions will be materially improved, he believes. More than 140,000 employees will benefit by the increase.

The increase means that the minimum wage at the Ford plants is raised from $6 to $7 per day, with graduated increase for all employees who are at present receiving in excess of the new minimum. The increase to the higher salaried employees amounts to about five cents per hour, the lower salaried men being the main beneficiaries of the increase. The yearly total is twenty million dollars.

ONCE AGAIN

Frequently in the past the Record has pointed out that newspaper consolidations are exceedingly frequent around the country especially in the smaller cities and villages where two or more papers have existed. Merchants have found out that one good paper a publication that is putting forth the right effort to serve its community and give the circulation that will help business is better than two or three poor papers. In Charlotte, Williamson, and other places in recent months consolidations have taken place.

This question is brought to mind just now by means of the suspension of a new newspaper that was started some months ago in Plymouth. For some reason the publishers of this paper gained the idea that the business men of that town wanted another paper to support. Both the owners were progressive, wide-awake young business men. They put forth as diligent an effort as any two men could have done. Then they saw that it was not going to "go over." They disposed of the paper and the new management has for several weeks past tried to keep it alive.

Last week they announced that the ghost had been given up and that they would no longer try to keep alive a second paper in Plymouth.

If the Plymouth Mail had not been a good newspaper, if the Mail had not been endeavoring to serve its readers and customers to the best of its ability, then there might have been some excuse for a new newspaper. But that condition did not and does not exist. The Plymouth Mail is a good newspaper. The management works diligently to give the business men of that community good service and there has never been one good reason why another newspaper should have been started in that community.

However, it has taken some of the business men of Plymouth a few months to find out that two newspapers covering exactly the same territory are a burden to them and discovering this fact they withdrew their patronage. Advertising agencies that have long had this problem to deal with have consistently refused to place business with any such a new publication as was started in Plymouth. They know through long years of experience just what the business men of Plymouth have now found out. Out of it all should and will grow a bigger and better Plymouth Mail. And there isn't much of a question but what Plymouth as a community will benefit greatly by the experience it has just gone through.—Northville Record.

Christmas Seal Sale Progressing Here

On the 11th, 12th and 13th of this month, the children of the Plymouth schools will visit every home in Plymouth, in the campaign to sell the ever popular Christmas Seal. This campaign is being planned with much care by the teachers of the Plymouth schools in order that everyone may have a chance to buy the seals and help in the fight against tuberculosis, and yet that the housewives may not be unnecessarily inconvenienced by too prolonged a campaign entailing too many calls at the door. So the sale will be carried on for three days only.

The children are anxious to sell the seals not only to help in the cause for better health, but in order to help secure the coveted Red Cross emergency kit for his or her room. There is a kit for each school—Central, Plymouth High, and Starkweather. A kit is given to each one of the 17 schools in the Plymouth District also. Miss Athalie Hough is helping in distributing posters and seals in each one of these schools.

"Christmas Greetings" is the message that appears on the little stickers this year, with the picture of an elf ringing a bell.

In Detroit and Wayne County, the Detroit Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Twelfth and Tuxedo, and the After Cure Farm near Ypsilanti, receive sole revenue from the sale of the Christmas seals.

Governor Fred W. Green, who was in Detroit, Monday, expressed his interest in the sale of tuberculosis

Christmas seals by issuing the following statement:

"It is most fitting that all citizens of Michigan should at this season of the year give thought to those of our number who have the misfortune to be afflicted with tuberculosis and that we should accept the opportunity afforded through the sale of Christmas seals to support the organized campaign against this disease."

Better order your Christmas cards within the next few days. The time is getting short, but we still have a very good line of samples to choose from. No order taken for less than twenty-five cards.

Anything for sale? Just phone Plymouth 6—Our Classified Section sells it for you. Small cost—large returns, quickly.

Advertisements are a guide to value

EXPERTS can roughly estimate the value of a product by looking at it. More accurately, by handling and examining it. Its appearance, its texture, the "feel" and the balance of it all mean something to their trained eyes and fingers.

But no one person can be an expert on steel, brass, wood, leather, foodstuff, fabrics, and all the materials that make up a list of personal purchases. And even experts are fooled, sometimes, by concealed flaws and imperfections.

There is a surer index of value than the senses of sight and touch... knowledge of the advertiser's name and for what it stands. Here is the most certain method, except that of actual use, for judging the value of any manufactured goods. Here is the only guarantee against careless workmanship, or the use of shoddy materials.

This is one important reason why it pays to read advertisements and to buy advertised goods. The product that is advertised is worthy of your confidence.

Proposed Liberty Bridge at New York Harbor

An architect's drawing of the Liberty bridge, proposed to span the Narrows at the entrance of New York harbor and connect Brooklyn with Staten Island. It will have towers 800 feet in height, exceeding that of the Woodworth building. The clear span of this monumental all-steel structure will be 4,500 feet, 1,000 feet longer than the main span of the Hudson river bridge, and its clear height will be 235 feet above high water.

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN'S CLUB MEETING

COLLEGE EXTENSION WORK

The Plymouth Nutrition class held its first demonstration last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. G. W. Benwick, with twelve members present. When the women were seated in the kitchen, Miss DuBord exhibited a number of articles designed to lighten the labors of the kitchen. Among them were an Edding can opener, a double flour-sifter, a blue whirl egg beater, Mary Ann shell pans, an orange juicer, a Burns bread knife, a set of graters, a magic cover to be used in place of a mixing board, and a cover for the rolling pin.

Miss DuBord then prepared mayonnaise, candied orange peel, stuffed dates and prunes, fruit caramels, fruit logs and apricot and pineapple preserves, all of which were sampled and found delicious. During the demonstration, explanations and suggestions were made, and leaflets were given out containing recipes for holiday sweets.

The class adjourned to meet the second Monday in January.

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Plymouth held their regular meeting on Tuesday evening, November 26th at the home of Alice Safford. After a very delicious dinner served by the hostess assisted by Rose Hawthorne, a very interesting business meeting was held. The Finance Committee reported several ideas for raising funds which were very favorably accepted by the club. Two new members were voted into the club. A very interesting and helpful Parliamentary drill was conducted by Judge Patterson. After the business meeting, games were played at which prizes were won by Ella Tozga, Teela Owen and Grace Martin. All departed at a late hour voting Miss Safford and Miss Hawthorne very capable hostesses.

CHAMBER of COMMERCE NOTES

SO MANY CAN'T BE WRONG

To tie up with what local business men are saying and thinking, we thought that it might be an aid to constructive thinking to repeat a few statements being made by business leaders elsewhere.

Edward N. Hurley, wartime chairman of the Shipping Board and prominent Chicago manufacturer, in a recent address said the 1930 business outlook is distinctly encouraging. He added that the recent deflation in stock market values actually represents a positive gain because it "insures to industry more and cheaper capital relieving it of the pressure to earn extravagant profits. There is nothing wrong with American business. We have everything today we had Sept. 1 of this year, in the way of wealth, brains and earned income. Nothing has disappeared except some delusions as to the amount of profits which American industries might earn in years to come."

Sidney H. Kahn, executive vice-president of S. W. Straus & Co., said the other day: "The reaction to extreme stock speculation was logical. The bond market will now grow stronger as the investor looks for fair yield and safety of principal. A reservoir of funds for sound real estate development will be available and money rates will be somewhat eased."

Eugene W. Lewis, banker, makes the statement: "Crankers will croak the country into bad times if we don't look out. They are creating a psychological condition of varying facts. The country is still here; the sun still shines; America is still doing business. They're three things which can't be talked out of existence by gloomy head-shakers. Wall street is only a dot in the large composition of life—or an exclamation point."

PUBLIC IS URGED TO FOLLOW HOOVER'S LEADERSHIP

Business men can either follow President Hoover's leadership and move forward to stabilize progressive business or they can talk themselves into a period of real depression. To move forward requires clear straight thinking coupled with faith and courage. If we are afraid, the direction is backward.

HOW THE PROPOSED SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT WILL BENEFIT PLYMOUTH

The members of the Civics Affairs Committee and the Board of Directors of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce have expressed considerable interest in the proposed improvement to Plymouth's Public School System. Any civic improvement which will make Plymouth a bigger and better place to live in should receive the sincere consideration of every public spirited citizen. Adequate publicity has been given elsewhere regarding the acute need which will soon exist for increased class room space and regarding what a fine gymnasium would mean to the boys and girls of Plymouth for athletic and recreational purposes, and how the community at large would be benefited.

OUR SINGLE GREATEST COMMUNITY ASSET

We wonder if the public at large fully realizes that a modern completely equipped school system is any community's single greatest asset. And to be modern and completely equipped, it should include an adequate gymnasium. The question of school facilities is usually the first question asked by families contemplating moving into new communities. While industrial heads considering a new location may first satisfy themselves on such questions as real estate values, tax rates, freight rates, and distribution facilities, they are decidedly mindful of a community's civic advantages or disadvantages before asking their workers and families to move. Adequate school and community recreational facilities heads the list of desirable civic features. While the present with its problems cannot be ignored or laughed off, we should not blind ourselves to the vision of building for the Plymouth of tomorrow.

OTHER POINTS WORTH CONSIDERING

A building program would provide work for the unemployed. The local supply of labor would be exhausted before anyone not residing in Plymouth would be employed.

It has been called to the attention of the School Board that the prevailing range of material prices is down between 7% and 10%. This saving should not be overlooked by prospective voters. Finally it is our duty to register and to vote.

"ACES" ARE NEW PLYMOUTH TEAM

An independent basketball team has been organized here, and will be known as the Plymouth Aces. The team is composed largely of former graduates of the local high school. The first game was played with Northville at Northville, last evening. The first game will be with the local high school team Friday evening, December 13th. The boys have a good team and some interesting games are looked for during the season which is just now starting.

LIGHTS of NEW YORK

Framing Arguments

The polite New York cousin of the street corner loiterer who encourages a good fist fight is a young chap of my acquaintance. He's fairly wealthy, in the social register and all that, and he loves to hear an argument. So, just for the fun of it, he spends his spare time in arranging debates between champions of causes. If a man attains some prominence in the press for his stand against prohibition, this young acquaintance of mine buzzes through town looking for some one equally prominent who has opposing views. When he finds the man he is looking for, he signs up both parties for a public debate, hires a large hall, inserts provocative advertisements in the newspapers, and makes quite a lot of money.

Mystery Man

On nearly every bright day a man may be seen playing on a tiny one-hole golf course on the roof of a building just off Fifth Avenue in the Forties. At least, he appears to be playing golf, for one can see a club swung above his shoulders sometimes. What makes him interesting is that his torso is nude. Whether he wears any clothing at all is a complete mystery. For the roof is so situated that only the upper third of his body is visible, even from adjoining roofs. No one in the neighborhood knows who he is.

I. O. U.

A few months ago one of the best known theatrical press agents got into a crap game—his first and his last. He lost $125 in cash. The game continued, and before he quit he had given an I. O. U. for $200 to a fairly wealthy man. Subsequently the holder of the note said to the press agent:

"I don't need the money, so, if you like, you can pay me back by giving me theater tickets."

Consequently, the press agent was at the beck and call of his creditor until just a few days ago. The man would telephone the unfortunate creditor and demand tickets to the latest success. He was given in the neighborhood of $400 worth of tickets.

The other day he visited the press agent's office, and asked for a pair of seats to the latest hit. The press agent figured that he had more than paid his debt, so he said:

"All right," said his so-called friend, "I'll hold your I. O. U. and I'll go to sue you for $200."

If he sues, he'll collect, for the press agent is unable to testify concerning the manner in which he really paid off the debt.

A Relief

The story is told, about a government survey that was made to determine whether a woman's farm lay in New York state or just across the border in Canada. It was not a question of whether the farm should be agriculturally dry or supervised wet. The two governments wanted to determine which should get the woman's taxes.

The surveyors concluded that the farm was on United States territory. "I'm so glad," said the owner. "I've always been told that the winters in Canada are terrible."

Pigmy Amid Giants

Cass Gilbert, the man who conceived the Woolworth building, is designing a plucky building of four stories that will be built within a block of his world-famous tower. It is to be the home of the New York County Lawyers' association, and will be built just west of Broadway on Vesey street. It will be 66 feet tall, just this side of nothing to the Woolworth tower's 708 feet.

Speaking of buildings, I am told that the life expectancy of homes is much greater than that of skyscrapers, despite the use of imperishable steel in the latter. The trouble is, apparently, that office buildings, theaters, etc., must be up-to-the-minute, so they become obsolete very quickly. Homes may easily be remodeled to accommodate the latest gadgets, so they are torn down much less frequently.

PIVOT PLAY A SUCCESS

Inventor of the pivot play in basketball, Henry "Dutch" Dehnert has developed the play into one of the most effective scoring formulas professional basketball has witnessed. As a member of the New York Celtics for nine years and the Cleveland Rosenblums for two seasons Dehnert supplied the height, skilled hands and ball handling and passing ability so necessary to the success of the play. And he did it in such a skillful manner that the Celtics were known as the greatest professional cage team of the time, while Cleveland was able to win the world's professional championship in the 1928-29 season.

With his team on the offensive the big Dutchman—he's six feet one and weighs 200—takes a position at the foul line in front of his own goal, back to the hoop. There he receives passes from his mates and passes to the player coming in. Occasionally he varies the play by pivoting either to the right or left and dribbling around his guard for a close-in shot at the net.

The remarkable feature of Dehnert's work in the pivot position is his uncanny ability to catch the ball without fumbling as it is thrown with lightning speed at close range, keep the ball from his guard and feed it within an instant to the player "breaking" for a close-in shot.

MUSKRAT SEASON OPEN

The last of the three sectional muskrat seasons opened December 1, for that section of the state south of the north line of T. 16 and East of Saginaw Bay. The season lasts until December 31st, inclusive.

A Chicago chemist says watermelons are 92 percent water. Wonder if that includes the melons they cut in Wall Street?

It's mighty hard to make some Plymouth boys understand that to make money last they must make it first.

DO IT EARLY!

Don't forget to Shop Early. You will be less hurried, you will have a greater variety of goods from which to choose, and when the job is done you will be better satisfied.

Don't forget to Mail Early. It is far more preferable to have your gifts arrive ten days early than twenty-four hours late.

And don't forget to buy and use tuberculosis Christmas seals. The penny stickers not only add to the Christmas-like appearance of parcels and letters, but revenue from their sale makes possible continuation of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association's constant crusade against tuberculosis.

REGISTRATION NOTICE!

The Board of Registration for Plymouth District No. 1 Fractional of Plymouth and Northville townships will meet at the superintendent's office in the High School building Saturday, December 7, between the hours of 1 P. M. and 8 P. M. for the purpose of registering qualified voters in said district. Those voters who registered for the July 1929 election do not have to register again, but all who did not register at that time must register with Ada S. Murray, Secretary of Board of Education, or George A. Smith, Superintendent of Schools, before December 7, 1929 or else during the afternoon of December 7, 1929 if they wish to vote at the special election to be held December 16, 1929.

A Lecture on Christian Science entitled

Christian Science:
A Religion of Truth, Love and Life, Triumphant.
by
Dr. John M. Tutt, C. S. B.
of Kansas City, Mo.

A member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

There was a large attendance at the Masonic temple last evening, to hear Dr. John M. Tutt, C. S. B., of Kansas City, Mo., a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., give his lecture entitled, "Christian Science: A Religion of Truth, Love and Life, Triumphant." Dr. Tutt said in part:

The Adhesion and Cohesion of Life Versus Fear.

Again Mrs. Eddy tells us that the adhesion and cohesion of the spiritual forces of divine Mind are Life. Thus Life perpetuates the eternal nature of being. Its life is that which enables anything to endure. Cohesion and adhesion imply co-operation. These qualities also imply continuity, which is an essential attribute of Life, God. Continuous unfolding and permanence without limitation is the very substance of the Life which is God. Such endurance without beginning and ending must be infinite, hence spiritual, not material. Adhesion and cohesion are comprised in spiritual life, and hence mortal mind's claims of adhesion and cohesion in matter are spiritual limited, and not permanent. The belief that the adhesion and cohesion of life can be disrupted and life's opposite, death, result, this belief may be termed the negation or opposite of Life. Indeed death itself. Now what is the opposite of Life's adhesion and cohesion? May we not locate a negation of Life in the final one of the malevolent triad, fear, one of the procuring causes of all sickness, abnormality, all evil, fear a general term of Life's opposite? St. Paul speaks of those "who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage." Fear of death induces the condition of death, or the false belief of the limitation of Life. Limited life is equivalent to death, and fear is a belief in limited life.

There is in human experience but one channel through which evil can come to pass, and that is the way of fear. Such a statement, including as it does the entire catalogue of evil requires the broadest definition of fear, a definition comprehensive enough to cover such phases of evil as seem to place mortal man in the role of victim or innocent bystander; such phases of evil as circumstances over which the individual appears to have no control—accidents, contagion, heredity, in short the category of ignorant and malicious evil beliefs. Thus fear is primarily a belief in those qualities of mortal thought which produce death, including all sense of limitation or disruption of the operation of adhesion and cohesion. The belief in such eventualities may be held consciously or tacitly, but always it includes the expectation that they may come to pass. And so fear is the expectation of evil in all its sin, disease, discord and death-producing phases. Is it any wonder the Apostle exclaimed: "Fear hath torment?" Well might he have added: "Fear hath all the torment there could be!"

Fear is the great enemy of health, well-being and doing, happiness, and even of human life itself. Christian Science diminishes and eliminates fear. It does not increase and perpetuate it. Christian Science proclaims human life, yet it is not the object of Christian Science to prolong human life. That is its effect, produced by the elimination from human consciousness of fear that the adhesion and cohesion of Life can be disrupted. But human life will thus be spiritual, elevated and prolonged to that happy day when every false, limited concept of Life shall have been replaced by right ideas of the eternal facts of being—those facts which Mrs. Eddy insists should appear now, and which are appearing increasingly to many day by day.

The effect of Christian Science then, is to make one unafraid. Christian Science increases confidence in good. It gives assurance of the presence and power and permanence of good, and the consequent absence of evil, and the alleged power of evil. Such confidence and assurance are not human hope. The Christian Scientist's confidence is born of his vision and grasp of the illimitable adhesion and cohesion of the facts of being here and now. He is entering into Life, and fear is vanishing. With Job he cries: "I know that my redeemer liveth, and in Jesus' promise he rejoices,—'Because I live, ye shall live also.'" The student of Christian Science has a greater knowledge of the claims of evil and of their spurious nature, and consequently less fear of evil in all its aspects. He is, therefore, tormented less on all accounts by evil. Consequently he is happier, and lives a fuller and more wholesome and useful life. He comes thus into greater joy and peace, health and activity for good and against error. He fears less, and to that extent becomes immune from evil attacks. Evil, whether sin, disease or other discord, has no power of seeming reality until given both in the individual's conscious or unconscious thought. With concepts of good adhering and cohering in consciousness, the entrance of fear is precluded. To repeat, then, fear is a belief in an absence of good, and consequent expectation of evil; a belief that good, Life, is not all, or is absent; that one can be separated from Life, Truth and Love; it is belief in the general so-called laws of matter, physiology, pathology and what not. False belief is primarily, of course, in general mortal mind, but it seeks to find expression in individual human thought. And if one makes too much of evil by giving it reality, place, personality and power, or makes too little of it by ignoring its false claims, one may hardly hope to escape the dire results of such folly. Originally in the one who sees evil as something evil, he comes at that point to him a reality, and he concedes, thereby, all it claims as to origin, existence and effects; and conceding it, he fears it and expects its effects to appear soon or late. But how reassuring it is to know that anything one is afraid of is unreal. Those who recognize evil's claims, know them for their falsity and are unafraid, for the one who sees evil as unreal, Christian Scientists are learning to be unafraid of disease, accidents, lust, poverty, and death itself, just as they are even now unafraid they will commit murder, theft and other more common offenses. Such fearlessness is not animal courage which drives ahead, even though afraid. It is the unafraidness born of conscious knowledge of God's aliveness, His presence and power, and the consequent impotence, the nothingness of evil. In the utter absence from consciousness of fear, an aviator may fly over the ocean in certainty immune from disaster. He knows to do what he achieves; but he could as surely walk across the sea did he but believe, so conceivably or know. Each of us may be daily performing some such miracle of life over fear. We see what we believe. Human limitations comprise human life, but many are learning to abide in the consciousness of limitless Life, in existence as the reflection, the conscious thought, of divine Mind. We may recognize that we are in Truth, that very conscious activity, idea, and so inspired, we considered humanly, will live more and fear less.

Perhaps the most tormenting fear to which humanity is subjected, more tormenting even than the fear of death itself, and indeed a phase of that basic fear, is the dread of loss or lack of material substance. St. Paul, using as a type of material existence, the simile of money, declares that "the love of money is the root of all evil." In the light of Christian Science, money, and all it stands for in human thought, may be regarded as the counterfeit of substance, of God, that is, of Life. The love of money is indeed the root of all evil, but the understanding of what lies back of and in reverse of money, constitutes our hold on Life. Hence, one needs to have a proper concept of and regard for money as typifying substance and supply—the eternal adhesion and coherence of Life. A recent highly satirical play touches upon a great metaphysical fact, a fact which, rightly interpreted, goes far beyond the material psychology of achievement and possession, when after coming suddenly into great wealth through an unexpected turn in the tide of his fortunes, the hero declares with great assurance: "I could have been rich before if I had thought of it." Even in this world's possessions we are as rich as we think ourselves to be. But Christian Science is teaching men to identify themselves with the illimitable substance which is true Mind, whose supply is adherent and coherent in Life itself; pure Mind, the presence and permanence of whose ideas insure wealth, health, and usefulness, and exclude the fear of lack or loss. Such riches transcend human understanding of substance and supply; but such spiritual possessions reveal fullness of Life, in which poverty and want are unknown.

God's Messenger; Her Leadership.

A wise man has said: "If a man live a life true and have one friend, his life is justified." Then what of the life of Mary Baker Eddy, beloved and revered by multiplying millions of grateful hearts, lives redeemed through her ministrations from the bondage of sin, ignorance, and fear, a people brought "out of darkness into His marvelous light?" Mrs. Eddy once wrote to The Christian Science Board of Lectureship: "Millions many know that I am the Founder of Christian Science. I alone know what that means." (My, p. 249). But these millions may know that, as the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mrs. Eddy was divinely given a peculiar work to do; and they also may know her as their Leader and friend. They happily may follow her footsteps even as she followed Christ. They may acknowledge her Leadership in the government, guidance and guardianship of her words and works. They may recognize the spiritual idea of Truth, Life and Love, present today as it was when she walked among men; the spiritual idea of God present in all things, but now, because of what Mrs. Eddy lived and taught, known of them as the healing and saving Christ.

What it meant to Mary Baker Eddy to be the Founder of Christian Science no man may know, but she herself has said: "The lame, the deaf, the dumb, the blind, the sick, the sensual, the indolent, always, but now, because of what Mrs. Eddy lived and taught, known of them as the healing and saving Christ. I wish to save from the slavery of their own beliefs and from the educational systems of the Pharisees, who today, as of yore, hold the children of men in bondage. I saw before me the awful conflict, the Red Sea and the wilderness; but I pressed on through faith in God, trusting Truth, the strong deliverer, to guide me into the land of Christian Science, where fetters fall and the rights of man are fully known and acknowledged." (Science & Health p. 226). All the world may know that for forty-five years Mrs. Eddy faced a life of semi-invalidism; that from the buffeting of the world, harsh without a cause to this refined and gentle woman, she turned, because of her deeply religious and spiritual nature, naturally to God. Forty-five years of preparation, years in which spiritual mindedness and faith in God carried her through, despite ill health and the unappreciation, even cruelty, of a world too materially minded to understand that she looked for the land of Christian Science, the consciousness of divine Truth and Love and Life. The world may know that at an age when humanity is prone to look upon life in retrospect, Mrs. Eddy, receiving the reward of her earnest search for relief from the ills that had so long beset her, and looking not backward but eagerly forward, followed in the way God had for her, a path of nearly another half-century of service and sacrifice, of toll which was in itself triumph. These two almost equal divisions of Mrs. Eddy's life furnish the strongest possible evidence of the efficacy of Christian Science to bind up broken bodies and to spiritually humanize existence, for he it knows Mrs. Eddy took her own medicine. During the first half of her life while constantly searching the Bible for the deep things of God, she nevertheless gave material systems of treatment exhaustive study, and even for a time practiced material medicine. She also studied and applied the various mental medical methods and abandoned them all because they failed to heal her or to satisfy her longing for Truth. Then she found Christian Science and health, and entered upon that glorious half-century of healing, preaching, teaching, writing— ceaseless activity, building and sharing, guiding and saving the mighty movement she established. Her body no longer incapacitated, Mrs. Eddy's busy selfless life was itself a compelling witness to the efficacy of Christian Science to heal and to prevent the ills to which humanity has always been subjected.

To that witness, I myself, as one of her grateful beneficiaries, would add testimony of a life almost equally divided between twenty-five years of materialism with its attendant liability to disease and discord of body, mind and morals, its heartaches, depression and hopeless horizon, the joylessness of a life without God in the world, and a quarter-century of emergence out of that blackness into the marvelous light of comparative freedom and fearlessness, with the shadows of misstep years blotted out in the effulgence on the forward path. I would imply no disrespect of the medical faculty who, as a class, are unremitting in their labor for humanity, but my own experience including the study and practice of material medicine in what is known as the regular school of medicine, contrasted with nearly twenty-five years of the study and practice of Christian Science, compels me to testify to the superiority of Christian Science Mind-healing over the material methods of medicine and so-called mental science. I have seen, indeed I have experienced through Christian Science, the healing of the most inveterate cases, cases hopeless in medical practice and prognosis. The practice of Christian Science today is recruited largely from the so-called incurables, and any advertised practitioner of Christian Science could tell of sufferers coming for help at the instance of their former medical consultants. Christian Science meets and masters on the basis of the one Mind, God, the power of Truth over error, all human ills, whether acute or chronic, whether of body or of mind, or of heart; but the triumphs of Christian Science are even greater in the realm of prevention. The evil one experiences is not more real than the evil one prevents. "The Christian Scientist daily experiences the truth of the adage: 'An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure,'" and he gratefully counts his highest blessings in the errors he avoids. Thus his recurring sense of exaltation at the coming of Christ with the healing touch of Truth, becomes increasingly an abiding consciousness of immunity from error, a sense of the ever-presence of Truth, Life and Love, of health and well-being, and the proportionate disappearance of ignorance, fear and sin. And he rejoices openly in the gratitude he feels towards that noble woman, God's Messenger, who brought to humanity the curative and preventive power of divine Mind acting on human beliefs, establishing the kingdom within, "the reign of Truth, Life and Love." (Church Manual 41). No fulsome praise does he bestow upon Mrs. Eddy, his Teacher and Leader, but just gratitude and love, gratitude for her divinely bestowed mission and Leadership, love for a gracious woman whose intellect, great though it was, never over-ruled her heart; whose life justified and fulfilled her own words: "Love for mankind is the elevator of the human race; it demonstrates Truth and reflects divine Love." (The First Church of Christ, Scientist and Miscellaneous 288).

His Marvelous Light.

Mortal mind's counterfeiting of spiritual Truth in atomic force, or the alleged power and evolution of matter; its counterfeiting of spiritual Love in the attraction of matter, or animal magnetism, mesmerism, hypnotism; its counterfeiting of spiritual Life in the alleged adhesion and cohesion of matter, or the life of life in matter—all that array of falsity affords mankind an opportunity to rejoice that the same law of divine Principle, God, which holds all real things as ideas of pure Mind, is a law of annihilation to the supposed reverse of those ideas. And so, in ridding out ignorance, Christian Science restores to humanity the consciousness of the true sense of Truth over error. In destroying sin, Christian Science restores the sense of pure love. Love which begets good. Thus Christian Science enriches "the affections of all mankind," making man better morally, physically and mentally. In overcoming fear Christian Science restores the true sense of existence, of Life untroubled by evil and its torments. Humanity's need, then, is to possess and manifest those qualities which, acting on human belief, reverse, rob and reduce the abnormalities of mortal existence. Those qualities are spiritual potency expressing Truth, spiritual attraction expressing Love, and spiritual adhesion and cohesion expressing Life. These contributions are vastly important, because just as interpreted by divine intelligence in human lives, they will bring forth a peculiar people—a people possessing and reflecting power, attraction, adhesion and cohesion. A people having knowledge of both the reality of Truth and the unreality of error, therewith routing ignorance; a people understanding and practicing unselfed Love, and so destroying sin, all evil; a people conscious of perpetual Life, and so fearless, unbellying in mortality's today, untrifled by its claims of an unknowable tomorrow. A people upon whose countless faith and glorified achievement St. Paul's admonition will fall as a benediction: "But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of Him who hath called you out of darkness into His marvelous light."

SORE THROAT? DON'T GARGLE

THIS DOCTOR'S PRESCRIPTION GIVES QUICKER, BETTER RELIEF.

Don't suffer the pain and discomfort of sore throat. Use a doctor's prescription called Thoxine guaranteed to relieve with the very first swallow. Gargles and salves are too slow and if they do relieve, it is usually only temporary. Thoxine has a double action—it relieves the soreness and goes direct to the infection, causing the infection to be harmless and is safe and pleasant for the whole family. There is nothing better to stop coughing due to irritated throats. Just ask for Thoxine, put up ready for use in 35c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. Money back if not relieved. Municipal Notes

BY THE MANAGER

The arrival of winter weather reminds us of the necessity for keeping sidewalks clear of ice and snow in the interests of public safety. As pointed out in the public notice in another part of this issue, owners of property are required by ordinance to keep walks clear of ice and snow, or the Village may have the work done at their expense. Let us all do our part to keep our sidewalks SAFE throughout the winter.

The recent cold spell has brought many complaints of frozen water meters and water services in residences throughout the Village. Water consumers are reminded that they are responsible for the protection of the meter against freezing, and that the cost of resultant damage to meters is charged against the consumer. During severe cold weather care should be taken that basement windows near meters are kept closed, and that all other necessary steps are taken to keep the meter and water service in good operating condition.

MOTION PICTURE PROGRAMS

"SWEETIE"

"Sweetie," an hilarious extravaganza of campus life, will be seen and heard on the talking screen at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, December 8, 9 and 10.

Nancy Carroll, petite little red-haired cutie of the Paramount studios, who is rated by the film-going public as second only to Clara Bow in popularity, plays the title role in the production. Her leading man is Stanley Smith, lately seen and heard in "The Sophomore."

Jack Oakie, the wise-cracking "fresh guy" comic of "Fast Company" and many others; Helen Kane, baby-voiced singer who "boop-dooped" her way to national fame overnight on phonograph and radio, and William Austin, beloved English comic actor of silent and talking films, are cast in support of Miss Carroll in singing, dancing and comedy roles.

The picture is all about prep school boys and girls, and it is a tonic for the pep-hungry, a brace for the muscle-lover. New, jazz and dances, new catchy tunes, new comedy "gags" and a great assortment of real American thrills makes this picture a veritable whirlwind of inspiring entertainment. If you miss it you are missing one of the biggest fun-thrills and music-feasts of your career.

"JEALOUSY"

Paris is the setting of the new Paramount picture, "Jealousy," starring Jeanne Eagels, which comes to the Penniman Allen Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, December 11 and 12, and every precaution was taken at the Long Island Studio where it was produced to insure the faithful creation of a Parisian atmosphere.

A French director was in charge of the picture. He was Jean de Limur, who directed Miss Eagels in her first big talking picture, "The Letter," a man whose home was in Paris for the greater part of his life and later a technical director in Hollywood on pictures having to do with French life.

Limur went to college in Paris, was a soldier during the war, finished as a captain of aviation, and his brother now is in the French diplomatic service. He came to Hollywood and had his first part in pictures as a swordsman in Douglas Fairbanks' "Three Musketeers." Then he acted as technical director for Charlie Chaplin's "A Woman of Paris," Rex Ingram's "Black Orchids," Adolphe Menjou's "Evening Clothes," "Dresses for Ladies" and other pictures having a French setting. He also wrote scenarios, preparing scripts for "The Magnificent Flirt," "The Legion of the Condemned" and "Three Sinners." Limur is supremely at home in a French picture.

"JEALOUSY"

"Jealousy" is based upon a French play by Louis Verneuil. It tells the tragic love story of a girl who had a fashionable dress shop in Paris, was the darling of a rich old man and the wife of a poor young man and of the clash between the two. The dress shop and the residence of the characters, both interior and exterior scenes, are particularly faithful to the French manner.

"HIGH VOLTAGE"

William Boyd as a talking picture star seems destined to eclipse even the great popularity of William Boyd as a star of the silent drama. Judging from advance reports on "High Voltage," Boyd's new Pathe dialogue attraction, which is announced as the feature of the Penniman Allen Theatre, Friday and Saturday, December 13 and 14.

"High Voltage" differs from the general run of talking pictures, it is said, in that it is primarily a good screen drama. With the addition of sound and dialogue it is hailed as "one hundred per cent entertainment" and William Boyd's deep, clear voice and Southern drawl, has been termed by the critics as the outstanding discovery of the talking pictures.

"High Voltage" tells a dramatic story of six persons of widely different character and temperaments, who are marooned in a wayside chapel in the High Sierras, when the motor bus in which they are riding becomes snow-bound. One is a deputy sheriff, another is an underworld moll whom he has captured, while the others are a wealthy banker, a young girl who is hurrying East to be married, and an eternally optimistic bus driver. These persons are thrown together in a mutual cause when they face starvation, but the loves and hates and weaknesses and strengths of each character is vividly brought to the fore through the unusual circumstances which surround them.

In "High Voltage," William Boyd appears in one of the virile roles for which he is famous, that of Owen Moore, Carol Lombard, Diane Ellis, Billy Bevan and Phillips Smalley are all said to exhibit their mastery of the new talking picture technique. Howard Higgin directed "High Voltage" at the Pathe Studios and in the snow country of the High Sierras. Elton Clawson wrote the story while James Glendon prepared the dialogue. It is a Ralph Block production.

State's Importance In Aviation Is Stressed

24 CONCERNS IN STATE NOW ENGAGED IN PLANE MANUFACTURE, WITH 58 PLANTS MAKING ACCESSORIES.

BY C. C. MCGILL
Secretary, Public Affairs Bureau,
Detroit Board of Commerce.

Michigan's importance as a major factor in the aircraft industry is emphasized in a directory of aviation which has just been compiled by the Aircraft Bureau of the Detroit Board of Commerce. The cradle of the automotive industry peculiarly lends itself to the production of aircraft and the parts and accessories necessary to that industry.

There are now 24 concerns manufacturing airplanes in Michigan. Among those manufacturers are some of the leaders of the nation and the world, including the Aircraft Development Corporation which just completed the metal-clad airship ZMC-2, which was recently delivered to the United States navy; the Stout Metal Airplane company, a division of the Ford Motor company; the Stinson Aircraft corporation; the Verville Aircraft company; the Huhl Aircraft company, and others of note. There are six manufacturers of aircraft engines in the state. They are located in Detroit, Marysville, Lansing and Holland, Michigan.

Michigan also has 58 manufacturers of accessories for aircraft. That number of manufacturers are making component and accessory parts of aircraft now in production. Three or four times that number of manufacturers in Michigan are equipped to handle special work for aircraft manufacturers.

There are also two manufacturers of motorless gliders in Michigan. In Greater Detroit there are eight dealers and distributors of finished airplanes, motor parts and supplies for aircraft.

As an indication of the air-mindedness of Detroiters and residents of Michigan, there are 10 organizations in the state, most of them with headquarters in Detroit, devoted to aircraft activities. They include the aircraft bureau of the Board of Commerce, the Detroit Air Yacht club, Detroit Aviation society, Detroit Flying club, the 107th Aero Squadron of the Michigan National Guard, the National Glider association, the state board of aeronautics, the United States Department of Commerce Aeronautics Division, the United States Navy Hydrographic office, and the United States naval reserve aviation base.

The development of aircraft has passed through the romantic stage and is now on a basis with all other manufacturing industries. The day has gone by when men invest their money and time in aircraft because of the novelty and romance of flying. It is now an economic force.

The growth of aircraft is based on a firm foundation. Investors in aircraft projects are basing their operations on the same economic factors that guide and govern other industries.

Manufacturers in Michigan are especially adapted to the production of airplanes and the parts and accessories for them. They have seen the automobile progress from the horseless carriage stage to its present high degree of development. They know the same can be done for aircraft and they are organized to build that industry to the utmost degree of value and efficiency.—Detroit Free Press.

Bees Are Active

The bee is not entirely inactive in winter, but they spend their time in heating up the interior of the hive so that it rarely drops below 57 degrees Fahrenheit. They form themselves in a globular mass, their bodies packed close to each other and their heads up, and those in the middle of the mass maintain a constant motion which sheds off heat which tempers the interior of the hive.

RURAL SCHOOL NOTES

ELM SCHOOL NOTES
(Too Late for last week)

The citizenship club has planned a Thanksgiving program to be given Wednesday afternoon.

We are very sorry to lose Margaret Westover who is moving to Turner, Michigan this week.

The upper grade room has begun to make some very attractive Christmas gift boxes.

The lower grade room has made Pilgrim Booklets.

Both rooms are decorating for Thanksgiving.

We are being divided into reading groups. One group is to work on comprehension and the other group on rate. We hope to improve our own records as well as to have some very interesting reading classes.

Our P. T. A. meeting is to be held Wednesday evening, November 22.

The boys and girls of the upper room are trying to earn money for indoor games by taking subscriptions to the Farm Journal.

NEWBURG SCHOOL NOTES
By Amalia Zielasko
PRIMARY ROOM

Olive Mae Bakewell and Freddie Schmidt are absent from our room on account of illness. We will be happy when they are able to return to school.

INTERMEDIATE ROOM

There are many stars on our new spelling booklets.

The fourth graders have a contest in arithmetic every Monday and Friday morning.

GRAMMAR ROOM

The following pieces were played last Tuesday at assembly: "Painting the Clouds With Sunshine," violin, by Jack Goodsell and Evelyn Stutzner. "The Thanksgiving Song," by the orchestra. "The Song of the Nile," violin, by Jack and Evelyn; a duet by Yvonne Hearn and Alice Bakewell; accordion solo by Bernard Allen. "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," and "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

All the parents are invited to attend our music program every Tuesday morning.

The Parent-Teacher Association is giving a Bono party this Friday night. Everybody welcome.

CADY SCHOOL NOTES
The November P. T. A. meeting was held in the form of a Thanksgiving program. The program consisted of songs, plays and recitations by the school children. Mr. Zoumbaris, the entertainment committee, had a real treat prepared. He had brought an orchestra from Detroit. The orchestra consisted of four pieces. Mr. Martin at the piano, J. Pizmetti, cello, C. Ambedigo, violin, and D. Heald, violin. Their music was a real treat and was very highly appreciated. We were especially pleased with Mr. Pizmetti who gave two vocal solos at our program.

Our school has a new flag flying. It is a song book and some new vigor records. We bought them with the proceeds from our mystery show.

The children in the first grade and kindergarten enjoyed a Thanksgiving party Wednesday afternoon.

Our 4-H clubs are well under way now. We meet every Thursday. A new room for the boys' club is under construction at the present time. The school board voted the money for the room and also for a new set of tools.

The girls expect a sewing machine within a month's time. Haven't we a fine school board?

The Hocher family has moved to Detroit.

The Fedelski family has been transferred to Garden City district.

Hubert, Margaret and Paul Marquette have left for Wayne schools.

Mr. McLaugh, Howard Medsker, Mrs. Begin, Mrs. McLean and Mrs. Prokop were visitors at our school.

Those on the honor roll for November in the upper grades, are Julia Mylnick, Edith Green, Alice Strathmeyer, Michel McLaugh, Irene Schrader, Alice Tye, Coski, Frieda Gruner and Bertha Irwiner.

Mrs. Truesdell, who has been ill for the past six weeks, is back again.

PERRENSVILLE SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Murray made the children a visit last Tuesday. She weighed the children and took their posture tests. There are only two weight groups now the blue and the white groups. There were 13 people who had an "A" in posture this month.

The school children had a Thanksgiving party Wednesday evening at the school house. For entertainment a playlet, a dialogue, some songs and poems were given. After the entertainment was concluded, refreshments were served. Everyone enjoyed the program on which every one of the children and the teacher worked very hard the last week.

The vacation was well spent by everyone of the children. All seemed to think they had enough to eat on Thanksgiving day. Some of the children visited their relatives during the vacation.

The children are starting now on their Christmas program. They are going to work very hard this month.

so they can finish all their work, as December is a very busy month.

FISHER SCHOOL PRIMARY ROOM

We are decorating our room for Christmas. Today we made Santa Claus, reindeers, sleighs and houses. We also have a big Santa Claus calendar drawn on our blackboard.

We are learning Christmas songs this week and enjoy them very much. We have a dish of bulbs in our room. They are growing nicely.

Irene Balko, Marybell Fisher, Betty Holman, Betty Jane Maas, Agnes Zimba and Harold Tuck had perfect attendance and punctuality records for November.

Marybell Fisher was absent from school last Monday and Tuesday, because of the death of her uncle.

SECOND AND THIRD GRADES

Those having perfect attendance for the month of November, are: Donald Holman, Florence Kory, Norman Maas, Marguerite and Violet Zimba, Rose Evans, Rosemary Hicks, Anna Kierser, Jose Grozo, Florence Petoskey and Annie Sierro.

We have a new pupil in the third grade. She is Mara Lane Rex, and has been attending St. Joseph's Academy in Adrian.

We are proud of our weight chart for December. We have 21 pupils who have normal weight; six pupils who are less than 10% below normal weight, and only two who are more than 10% below normal weight.

We have a weight chart with colored rabbits racing over the snow. The twenty-one white rabbits are in the lead, while the six blue and two red ones gain steadily each month trying to catch up with the white ones.

The third graders are learning about Clara Barton and the Red Cross.

The third graders are also very much interested in Robert Louis Stevenson and his poems. We are studying "The Land of Story Books," this week, and we are planning to have a Stevenson program in our room soon.

The second graders have been studying Eugene Field's poem, "The Hill of Fare," and illustrated it with a Thanksgiving Day dinner poster.

Margaret Jane Robertson and her mother spent Thanksgiving week visiting relatives near Alpena.

A DAILY THOUGHT.

Cookies for the Holiday Season

By HELEN SUZANNE TAYLOR

December is the month of roast turkey, cranberry sauce, plum pudding, artistic table decorations, and Christmas gift lists. It is a time for family reunions when sons, daughters, and children come home to taste Mother's cooking again. Dieting is forgotten, and good food and good cheer prevail.

At this holiday season of the year, no home is complete without the proverbial cookie jar filled to overflowing. Cookies bespeak hospitality and are much to assume the festive air that is essential for the Christmas season. Most cookies are rich enough so that they may be made up a week or ten days before they are used, or the work may be divided by making the dough a day or two ahead of time and keeping it in the refrigerator, or a cold place, then shaped and baked as they are needed. In this way they save the necessity of rolling and may be cut thinner and daintier.

Cookies made in the shape of toys and animals are a constant source of delight to the children. If tin cutters are not available, cardboard shapes may be made and used very effectively by cutting the dough around with a sharp knife. Simple decorations may be added, such as raisins, nuts, coconut, citron, candied cherries, colored candy, sugar lems, or plain melted sweet chocolate.

Orange Cookies

Cream one-half a cup of butter; add one cup of sugar; when blended thoroughly add the grated rind of one orange, one egg, beaten light, one-fourth a cup of orange juice, and two cups or more of flour, sifted with four teaspoonsful of baking powder. (Be careful about adding flour. Too much prevents the cookies from being light and dainty, but enough flour must be added so that the rolling and cutting can be done.) Roll into a sheet, cut into rounds, sprinkle with blanched and chopped almonds, or decorate with pecan meats. Bake ten minutes at 375 degrees.

Call Miss Taylor at the Gas Office if you would like suggestions or help in preparing a box of Christmas Goodies.

Chocolate Pinwheel Cookies

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons milk
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 ounce chocolate

Cream the butter and sugar. Add the well beaten egg, the milk, and the vanilla. Sift the flour before measuring, then sift again with the baking powder. Add it to the first mixture. Divide the mixture and add the melted chocolate to half of it. Roll the white part out until it is about 1/4 inch thick, then put the chocolate part over it, putting it enough to roll it out until they are both the same size. Roll like a jelly roll. Cover with a cloth or heavy parchment paper and put in the refrigerator over night. The next day slice into very thin rounds with a sharp knife and bake at 375 degrees for eight minutes.

Rocks

- 1 cup butter
- 1 1/2 cups brown sugar
- 3 eggs
- 3 1/4 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup raisins
- 1 cup nut meats
- 1 1/2 tablespoons water

Cream the butter and add the sugar gradually, then the well beaten eggs; add the soda, cinnamon and salt to the flour. Mix part of the flour mixture with the chopped raisins and nuts. Then beat it into the egg and sugar mixture. Add the water, then the remaining flour and mix this all together. Chill the dough, then roll a teaspoon of it between the hands into a small ball. Bake on a greased baking sheet at 350 degrees for 18 minutes.

NUMBER XII

General Assembly

The surprise opened the assembly Wednesday, November 27. The stage was decorated to depict the spirit of Thanksgiving. A huge colorful turkey (of paper) was attached to the curtain, while a stock of corn was standing in each of two corners. Evelyn Starkweather, dressed as a Puritan maiden presented to the audience upon a large pumpkin in the name of the piece the orchestra would play. The orchestra consisted of the following students and their instruments: Charles Ball, Elwood Gates, Stephen Horvath, Herbert Saylor, saxophones; Joe Ribar, George Todd, trumpets; Lester Daly, trombone; Carrie Gorton, clarinet; Almond Gates, tuba; Harold Stork, baritone; Maximo Larkin, Floyd Dicks, Milton Moe, Claude Rocker, Bruce Miller, Clifton Sockow, Lewis Norman, violins. Miss Gladys Shrader played the piano. As an introduction, the orchestra played "Flag of Truce" and "The Merry Peasant."

Marion Gust, treasurer of the Student Council, then announced that all the juniors and seniors had purchased their inter-school tickets, but that there are still one hundred and twenty-five to be sold.

To allow plenty of room on the playground, Mr. Emens urged all those parking their cars behind the school building to park their cars within the specified limit.

To be able to get a good start, David Daly requested those who are interested to try out for the Freshman debate squad to meet with Mr. Winkelman.

Because the Forensic League has arranged each class to have a debating squad Zephra Blunk explained that the class squads will debate against each other.

Melvin Partridge began the yelling with a "Ye, Tom!" Linked together as a train, Frank Leonard, Jimmie Stimpson, Joseph Schrader led the yelling with their well-known, "Bah, rah, rah, rah; Plymouth High."

Because conditions in the corridors are unsatisfactory it has finally become necessary for the Student Council to ask the teachers to police the halls. This statement was made by Mr. Emens who hopes that later on the Student Council members will be able to perform this alone, although it is his wish that such policing should be unnecessary. Anyone who at any time is conspicuous by his conduct in acts such as running, loud talking, unnecessary visiting and crowding will be notified by the "police" who will try some means of correcting these habits.

An announcement which was of interest to the whole student body was made by Steve Bueck, president of the sophomore class, that his class was giving the last dance of the semester on Friday, December 6. A good orchestra was assured.

"Over the Waves" and "Lovable and Sweet" were played by the orchestra which were greatly enjoyed by the pupils.

Rev. Nichol of the Presbyterian church explained to the pupils the spirit of Thanksgiving. Our forefathers were thankful for the food and security they received after working all year for them. Time changes the modes of life and thus we overlook the things our ancestors were proud of, and instead look forward to a more modern and distinctive issue of the day. At the present day, the world faces a very important challenge—that of peace. It is fortunate to those just beginning to live their lives that now they enter a world which takes a saner viewpoint on all matters. In the old days, it was believed that theology could explain the world completely. When science became prominent, this theory still held true. The scientists however, tried to show that they could explain the world through their field. Now we know that some things are solved not by theology nor science, but that by the spiritual values we do live. The world needs the interpretations of all fields to be understood. We should be thankful for this knowledge and understanding.

The assembly ended with the "Pagan Love Song" and "United Liberty" played by the orchestra.

Starkweather Notes

Group One in the First Grade is enjoying the stories in The Child Library Primers. Miss Stueky's room won the Health Banner for November and the boys and girls are working on Health booklets for December.

Arthur Truip, who was hit by an automobile while picking up his ball, is going into his fourth week of absence from school. Those neither absent nor tardy so far this term are: Betty Elber, Lillian Fisher, Robby Norman, Doris Starkweather, and Lilly Wickstrom. There are eight spellers in the room who cannot be spelled down.

Miss Parmelee's room made Thanksgiving booklets.

The Fourth Grade used their Good Citizenship Free Period in making built-up posters of vegetables, birds, and flowers.

The two new Health Captains in Miss Lee's room are Audrey Moore and Norman Kincaid. The Sixth Grade had an interesting meeting of the Hobby Club and a short Thanksgiving program was given. The pupils are all making Citizenship posters. Russell Kirk and Doris Fishback had the highest scores in our reading test last week.

The Sophomore Dance

This is the last dance this year and we would like to see everyone there. The class has hired a good, peppy orchestra of radio fame. The sophomores have all arrangements completed and need only your attendance to make it a success. Tonight is the night, lets be there!

Central School Notes

Doris Lee, Leona Neldospal, Dorothy Kornacker, Janice Corth, Cecil Glass, Owen Gordon, Shirley Reamer, and Rita Schief have been neither absent nor tardy during the first twelve weeks of this semester.

Miss Richard's pupils have completed their Pilgrim booklets. Everyone was weighed last week and also received a small tube of tooth-paste from Dr. Osmer.

The Hipicks are still ahead in Miss Weatherhead's room.

Mrs. Root has told her boys and girls the story "The Birth of the Christ Child" and along with this are studying the different Madonna pictures. For language they are studying the story of the picture "The Boy and the Rabbit" by Haeburn and have pasted it in their artbooks. The children are very busy and happy decorating the room for Christmas. They have made large Santa Clauses and holly wreaths for the windows. One blackboard border is a long line of Santas shaking hands and the other border is of children playing with their Christmas toys. A huge red stocking hangs in one corner and the children are bringing toys and games to fill it for children less fortunate than they. Owen Hall and Orlyu Lewis are reading in "The Child Library Primer" in their individual oral reading.

Bonnie Thompson entered Miss Field's room last week. Mrs. Hamill, Mrs. Moon, Mrs. Schanfele, Mrs. O'Leary, Mrs. Mustick and Mrs. Dethloff were visitors last week.

The following people are on the "Behavior Honor Roll": Beulah King, Earl Lake, Wesley Rothburn, Ruth Fulton, Ralph Naylor, Warren Todd, Isador Sandler, Betty Martin, Bonnie Thompson, Ira Brown, Ruth Randall, Bluer Barlow, Gerald Cooper, Byron Finer, Maybell Wolff, Astri Hegge, Lois Schanfele, Lillian Cooke, Elizabeth Hegge, Jean Hamill, Betty Mustick and Dorothy O'Leary.

Mrs. Frank L. Barrows visited Miss Dixon's room last week.

Russell Magraw's spelling team lost and so this Wednesday the members are giving a party for Polly Anna Wright's team. Madeline Weller's team in Geography is one point ahead in the 5th grade and Bernard Lewis' team is thirty points ahead in the sixth grade. The sixth grade had fewer "hardies" last month than the fifth and they have a good chance to win this month, too.

Commercial Club

During the past two weeks the members have been practicing for the assembly program for Wednesday, December 4. The program consists of a short play, written by Clifton Sockow. The purpose is to show the employees attitude toward the employer, and visa versa.

The characters were chosen from the club which are as follows: Mr. Simpkins is Clifton Sockow, Tillie is Irene Livingston, Mac is Milton Partridge, and Bubbles is Milton Hadley; Mr. Whipple is represented by Milton Moe. The title of the play is "Tillie The Toller."

An outside speaker representing the Detroit Commercial College, gave a short talk on commercial education and its advantages to the high school graduate.

Older Boys' Conference

All of the general session meetings were held in the Fountain Street Baptist Church. This is a very modern and beautiful church which probably seats about 1500 people. Most of the boys went to church Sunday morning there. Dr. A. W. Wisbant gave a sermon on the Religious Perplexities of Modern Youth. Dr. Wisbant stated that the problems which face modern youth are essentially the same as those which have faced youth for centuries. He says that we are not satisfied with merely living. "We want law and order, knowledge, beauty, work and friendship. These are necessities of life which are bigger than the individual. These are primary instincts of human nature." He also said "Religion is not based on ceremony, but on an inward feeling." He believes, "Faith is a resolution to act on the truest hypothesis available. If you will do this in regard to religion you will thrill from an inward and inexplicable feeling."

He stated that Jesus is not a mystical figure, but is there to show what is possible for people.

Mythology Club

If one had been fortunate enough to attend the mythology club Monday, December 2, he would have learned that the Muses were nine in number and were the daughters of Zeus and the goddess of Memory, whom the Greeks called Mnemosyne. All the arts and graces of civilization they credited to memory, a thought they expressed by saying that Mnemosyne (Memory) is the mother of the Muses. And they are the children of Zeus, gifts to men from the king of heaven. Literature, art, music, rhythmic dancing, tragedy, etc. are connected with their names.

In earlier times the Muses had no true individuality; they were a band of singers of divine origin who were prototypes of human musicians, and the names first given them expressed only a poet's thought of the different phases of song. With the development of new forms of literature other than epic poetry, the fields over which the Muses presided were increased; then the number was fixed at nine. Finally there was formed a definite list of names to represent the different types of literature and culture. Their names and the particular fields over which they presided are as follows: Clio, history; Calliope, epic poetry; Erato, love songs; Euterpe, lyric poetry; Terpsichore, dancing; Thalia, comedy; Melpomene, tragedy; Polyhymnia, religious hymns; Urania, astronomy.

The Muses were born upon the northern slope of Mt. Olympus, facing Mt. Parnassus, from whose springs they are said to derive inspiration; later from Mt. Parnassus they led the choral dances in honor of Apollo. Associated with these patrons of letters was a famous winged steed named Pegasus, which was presented to the Muses by Athena. It was even to day is connected with the idea of literature.

Modern poets as well as the ancient, in beginning their work, like to call upon the Muses for inspiration. A writer in a current magazine the other day said, "Clio's pen moves rapidly these days," an allusion to the fact that Clio was the muse of history and kept the record of all historical events.

The word museum is connected with the Muses. In their shrine on Mt. Helicon various prizes for excellence in art, music and poetry were collected and formed the first "museum."

Music, as one of the arts over which the Muses presided, takes its name from these divinities. We often speak of terpsichorean feats in connection with some dancer. This is because the Muse who presided over the art of dancing was named Terpsichore. "Morning Pegasus" is a common expression for describing the efforts of some one who aspires to write poetry or deliver an oration.

The Muses are constantly represented in art and decorative designs as symbols of music, literature, science and learning in general. The Muses thus are learning in general. The Muses were favorite designs on Wedgwood ware. Perhaps it was suggested by the Greek word for white, which is small white and yellow butterflies which caused scientists to name them "Pieris" in allusion to the maids who frequent the Pierian spring.

Pegasus, the winged horse of classical mythology is often mentioned in connection with aviation. We refer to the airplane or the dirigible as the "Pegasus" of today.

The Muses have furnished names to many clubs. Thalia, muse of comedy, has given her name to organizations devoted to the drama. Clio is the name for associations interested in history; and there are many clubs called "Pierian."

Dr. Schloerb's Address

Dr. Roland Schloerb, preaching minister of the Hyde Park Baptist Church, lectured to the drama Saturday morning at 10:00 o'clock, asking us why we were attending the conference. He then answered his question telling us we were there to find how we could make ourselves better men. There was not any topic but Dr. Schloerb talked of two words "what and how."

What we should do and how we could do it.

We should take ourselves as we are for we are the Temples of God, and being ourselves we must learn to live with other people for that is life. We must live with our parents, school mates and learn to live with a girl friend who understands us and whom we can understand. Either live together with other people or have a great life. Dr. Schloerb gave an interesting illustration of this which was told him by a friend who was a paper correspondent in Russia.

The Russians always build their houses one adjoining the other. One day there was a fire, and the whole town was burned down because the houses were built as one. When the inhabitants started to rebuild they constructed their houses in the same manner as before. The correspondent asked a peasant why they did not learn a lesson and build their houses separately; then only one house would burn down and not the whole town. The peasant did not agree; he told the correspondent that if his neighbors burned and at him he would set his house on fire in the night and he would be without a home, but when all of the houses adjoined, the neighbor would not dare because he would thus lose his own home. So it was best for them to live together, and not separately.

Last of all we must learn to live with God, for without Him we would be lost.

When great problems face us we should not ask the richest and wisest men what they would do, but think what Jesus Christ would do, and then we would never go wrong.

Fred Shear.

Opening Meeting

The Older Boys of Michigan, fifteen hundred strong, met at the Fountain Street Baptist Church, Grand Rapids, Friday, Nov. 23, and the session was opened by conference singing. Then the Devotional Period was led by Dr. Roland Schloerb of Hyde Park, Illinois. The main speech, which was also given by Dr. Schloerb, was "Pointing Ahead." This dealt with looking forward so we wouldn't regret later what we do now. His question was "Why do we do the things we do?" and he said:

1. Prejudice
2. Tradition
3. Because the rest are
4. Passing desire

After the General Session we were divided into groups according to our interests. I went into the Athletic Forum which met at the Park Congregational Church. This Forum was divided into five discussion groups:

1. Athletics and health
2. Character—Attitude, Sportsmanship
3. School life to athletics
4. Future benefits of athletics
5. Athletics for better leadership.

The discussion groups closed and met in a Forum and reported on all five topics. Then we adjourned.

Coach Stagg Is Wonderful Speaker

Closing his talk with the advice "Don't pull a boner," Coach Amos Alzono Stagg, head coach at the University of Chicago, led the boys at the Older Boys' Conference at Grand Rapids something to think about for many weeks to come. He gave a wonderful speech and the boys were not disappointed in hearing him. Coach Stagg is better known to the big universities as "the grand old man of football."

He is near seventy years old, but he looks to be about forty-five, and he is as spry as any high school student. He cited many examples in his speech among those being the famous honor Merkle pulled while playing for the Giants. Two men were out, a man was on third, and Merkle was on first. The latter hit a safe one to left field. Merkle, seeing the safe hit, started to run toward second base, but then ran for the clubhouse. The ball was called in and he was put out. Coach Stagg concluded his speech by repeating to the boys, "Don't pull a boner in your health. Keep your body in the best physical condition, and understand just how much work it can do."

Basketball Practice

With one of the largest squads in the basketball history of Plymouth High School, Coach Matheson expects to enjoy a great season. With three first team veterans and a large number of last year's second team reported, the team is very much strengthened.

For the first two nights of practice, pivoting and passing were mainly stressed. Wednesday, after a scrimmage which gave everyone a chance to participate, the squad was divided in first and second team groups. The first consists of the following players: DePorter, captain; Shear and Gust last year's three veterans; Ferguson, Randall, Ball, Clemens, Cline, Hon-dorp, Lancker, Strubel, Postiff, A. Gates, D. Bronson, Estep, Mack, M. Blunk, Horton, Schuler, Towle, Wagen-schutz, Moe and Williams.

The second squad is as follows: W. Bronson, Segnitz, Bassitt, Arcsott, Rudick, Gordon, Horvath, Rodman, Ash, Fritz, Gates, Bower, Amrheid, Du-duk, Melow, Thompson, Tuck, Roy, Cook, Norgrove, Matera, McLaren, Krizman, Rorabacher, Carley, Elz, Stinson, Goo, Miller, Holcomb, Mil-rol and Partridge.

A Real Treat

The local high school through the School Assembly Association has obtained the services of three international boy orators. The boys, Efraim Norado, champion orator of Mexico; W. H. Fox, Jr., champion orator of Canada; and James R. Moore of Kentucky, champion of the United States, will give their views on the subject, "The advantages of the government under which I live."

The real treat of this program is the Mexican champion, who will speak in his language, Spanish. This will be a great event. Wednesday, December 4, at 7:30 p.m., and the time, 12:45 to 1:30 in the high school auditorium. Any person in the community is welcome. The students and parents will be charged ten cents (10c) admission.

Seals Delivered By Air

Michigan school children who each December join in the campaign to sell tuberculosis Christmas seals were given the unusual experience this year of having a quantity of their seals "air delivered" by the plane pictured above. Seals were delivered by Pilot Ford Bott and a representative of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association to more than 50 towns in the course of a three-day, 1,500-mile trip shortly after the opening of the seal sale on Thanksgiving.

The airship, displaying the double-barred cross, symbol of the crusade against tuberculosis, made one trip to the Thumb region, a second to the northern part of the Lower Peninsula, and a third to the southern portion of the state. The pilot's services and use of the plane were donated by the Foster Airways Corporation as the company's contribution to the 1929 Christmas seal sale.

Since greatest emphasis is now being placed on prevention of tuberculosis through health work among children, their enlistment in the seal selling army is held to be one of the most worthwhile effects of the annual Christmas seal sale.

PARKING DRIVE CUTS MISHAPS

DEARBORN FINDS WAY TO REDUCE NON-INJURY CRASHES.

Commenting on the reduction in minor motor car accidents, C. Brooks, chief of police of the City of Dearborn, points out that a recent drive against unlawful parking and the marking of non-parking spaces on congested streets has had much to do with eliminating non-injury accidents.

A comparison of traffic accidents for 1928 and 1929 shows that in the former cities of Dearborn and Fordson there were 12 deaths last year, with a total of 450 non-injury accidents and 240 injury accidents in which 264 persons were hurt. Persons injured include all with minor cuts and bruises as well as hospital cases. These statistics do not include that section of the City of Dearborn between Division road and the eastern limits of the former city of Dearborn, as that section was a part of the township last year.

The list covers the period from April 1 to November 1, 1928, and divided between the two former cities was as follows: Fordson, non-injury accidents, 328; injury accidents, 183; injured, 249, and deaths, 7. Dearborn, injury accidents, 57; injured, 81, and deaths, 5.

Over the same period for 1929, April 1 to November 1, there have been nine deaths in the greater city, with 824 non-injury accidents and 338 injury accidents in which 439 persons were injured.—Detroit News.

Picked Up About Town

Dad Plymouth says there isn't much difference between going on a "hunger strike" and marrying a modern girl who can't cook.

There's nothing sillier than going ahead and making more auto when nothing is being done about making more parking places for them.

Reading that a beggar who was willed a million dollars lost his mind, Dad Plymouth says he is willing to take the risk.

Any Plymouth citizen of an inventive turn of mind who wants to make a fortune in a hurry might try inventing a window in a railroad coach that can be raised by human hands.

We've met some Plymouth men who never let a grocery bill worry them so long as they see every circus that comes this way.

The ideal tariff law is one that will benefit everybody except those who can't cause trouble if they don't like it.

You can always tell a prosperous country. Nearly everyone who doesn't do anything gets paid for it.

When he goes to pay a repair bill the average Plymouth motorist often wishes it was still the custom to jack up the car for the winter months.

Women Are Warned of Fire Hazards

Don't use naphtha, gasoline or any other volatile fluid for cleaning unless you're in the open far from any house.

Fire prevention is like prohibition: everyone talks about it, some believe in it and some practice it, but for the most part we just fiddle around while our fire losses win for us the title of the most wasteful of all nations.

Cigaretts and matches in homes are leading causes of fire. Don't leave an electric iron on the ironing board while you go to answer the telephone or the door bell; turn off the current.

A regular meeting of the Village Commission held in the Commission Chamber at the Village Hall, November 18, 1929 at 7:00 P. M.

Present: President Robinson, Commissioners Kehrl, Nutting, Shear, and Wiedman.

Absent: None.
The Village Clerk being absent a motion was made by Comm. Shear, seconded by Comm. Wiedman that Geo. W. Richwine act as Clerk pro-tem.

Carried.

The minutes of the regular meeting held November 4th were read and approved.

The Clerk reported that the administrator of the Sherman Estate had not replied to his letter of October 7th regarding land needed for the extension of William St. A motion was made by Comm. Kehrl seconded by Comm. Shear that the Clerk be instructed to write Mr. Kincaid asking for a prompt reply to our former letter and that the letter be sent by registered mail and a return receipt requested.

Carried.

The following ordinance providing for the care and maintenance of public alleys was given its third reading:

An ordinance providing for the care and maintenance of public alleys within the Village, prohibiting the obstruction thereof, prohibiting the deposit of ashes, rubbish, garbage or other refuse therein, regulating the burning of paper and rubbish therein and providing penalties for violation of the provisions hereof.

THE VILLAGE OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

Section 1—All public alleys within the Village are hereafter to be subject to the same regulations and restrictions which govern the maintenance and keeping of streets and other public thoroughfares in fit and proper condition for public travel.

Section 2—The depositing of ashes, garbage, rubbish or other refuse, or materials of any kind, in any public alley or so as in any manner to obstruct the entrance to or exit from such public alley, is hereby prohibited.

Section 3—No public alley shall be in any manner obstructed so as to interfere with the free movement of vehicular traffic through same.

Section 4—The placing in any public alley of nails, tacks, pins, wires, pieces of metal, or any other materials which may in any manner work injury to the tires of motor vehicles, is hereby prohibited.

Section 5—The burning of paper, leaves, rubbish, etc. in public alleys shall be permitted; provided, however, that such burning shall be conducted near the side and away from the route of vehicular travel through such alleys; and provided further that the person setting such fire shall keep same continuously under observation and control so as to prevent the communication of fire to nearby buildings or other inflammable structures.

Section 6—The disposal of waste water, oil, grease or any other material which may impair the condition of the roadway for public travel, or which may emit any offensive or obnoxious odor, in any public alley, is hereby prohibited.

Section 7—Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be punished by a fine of not to exceed FIFTY DOLLARS plus the costs of prosecution, or imprisonment in the Detroit House of Correction not to exceed ninety days, or both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the Court.

Section 8—All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Section 9—This ordinance shall take effect on the 15th day of December, A. D. 1929.

Read and passed by the Commission of the Village of Plymouth, Michigan this 18th day of November, A. D. 1929.

GEORGE H. ROBINSON, President.

Poorly Vaporized Air Causes Chills

Older people, especially, frequently complain about feeling cold during the winter season, even though the thermometer shows the room-temperature to be in the eighties. This paradox of feeling chilled when there is an excessive amount of heat is easily explained and is easily overcome, according to heating engineers of the Holland (Mich.) Institute of Thermology.

Overheated rooms create a feeling of discomfort and chill due to the fact that the humidity content of the air has been practically depleted, and to oppose its natural affinity for moisture, the dry hot air draws upon every possible source of moisture. This includes the humans who may occupy the room, and the unusually rapid evaporation of bodily moisture causes that feeling of chilliness and discomfort. Often forced firing of the heating plant is resorted to in an effort to overcome this cold feeling, whereas properly vaporized air would obviate the discomfort and consequent desire for higher temperatures.

WHY IS A NEWSPAPER LIKE A WOMAN?

The Fort Meade (Fla.) Leader pondered the query, "Why is a newspaper like a woman?" and offered a year's subscription for the best answer, which brought forth these replies:

Because you can believe everything they say; they are thinner now than they used to be; they have forms; they have hold fired types; are easy to read; well worth looking over; back numbers are not much in demand; are not afraid to speak their minds; they have a great deal of influence and if they know anything they usually tell it.

"Because they always have the last word and because they carry the news wherever they go."

The correct answer is: "Because every man should have one of his own and not run after his neighbor's."

STATE ACCIDENT FUND.

The state accident fund, maintained by Michigan for the past seventeen years, for the benefit of employers and employees, showed total assets of $1,775,000, against liabilities of $982,000, as of September 30 last. From a humble beginning the fund has increased rapidly until the state now holds the policies of 3,404 employers including 64 state agencies. The fund was created by enactment of the Workmen's Compensation law at the special session of the legislature in 1912.

MASTER HIGHWAY PLAN SHOWS RAPID PROGRESS

MINES POINTS OUT ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF COMMISSION IN CONSTRUCTING SUPERROADWAYS THROUGHOUT DETROIT AREA.

With "safety, speed, traffic capacity and space for future development as its basic things," the Master Plan of Superhighways of whose "progress or even scope the general public has very little conception," is developing in this original area with accelerating speed, according to Edward N. Mines, county road commissioner.

"The term 'superhighway' was coined in Wayne County as a sales aid to help sell the idea to the public and has been legalized by legislative enactment," Mr. Mines said. "The definition of a superhighway is a road with certain widths of right-of-way."

The Master Plan of Superhighways adopted by the City of Detroit in April 1925, following its adoption by the County of Wayne and the adjoining Counties of Oakland and Macomb, and is in reality a regional plan.

Under this plan 21 highways with a width of right-of-way of 204 feet are laid out within the 15-mile circle, three miles apart east and west and north and south. All radials are also included. Several of the main radials entering Detroit are carried far beyond the 15-mile circle. Three hundred miles is approximately the total length of these 21 204-foot superhighways. All section line roads are eventually planned to have a width of right-of-way of 120 feet and half-section roads 86 feet. The spacing of these 21 superhighways provides equality of opportunity for development in every direction, Mr. Mines states.

Look to Future.

The following facts account for the 120-foot and 204-foot widths of right-of-way:

It is expected that at some future date Detroit will have rapid transit under ground and to provide space under ground for four tubes and for other necessary utilities, 120 feet is required which will obviate the necessity for shoring up or under-pinning buildings.

"We believe the money that might have to be spent in shoring up buildings on a narrower width of right-of-way is better invested in acquiring the wider width on the surface," Mr. Mines said. "With this viewpoint in mind, 120 feet is set as the width of the right-of-way on the more important roadways which are located on the section line so that if it ever becomes necessary at any future time to go under ground with additional rapid transit facilities, the proper width of right-of-way will be available."

"Rapid transit under ground when it reaches the edges of built-up areas where it might be better and more economical to bring it to the surface, requires only 84 feet on the surface, so the 120-foot roadway is divided into two 60-foot roadways and the 84 feet necessary for rapid transit on the surface is centered thereon, giving our superhighway width of 204 feet."

Law is Enacted.

To carry out these superhighway plans, the Legislature has passed a law which provides that two or more counties, by a two-thirds vote of their respective Boards of Supervisors, may enter into a five-year contract in the creation of a super-highway commission whose personnel shall consist of the members of the County Road Commission of each of the contracting counties. The State highway commissioner also is made a member of each superhighway commission. The commission serves without compensation and its sole function is to acquire wider widths of rights-of-way with particular reference to inter-county roads. A half mill tax may be levied annually by the respective Boards of Supervisors in each county under the law.

Two superhighway commissions have been created under the superhighway act—the Macomb-Wayne Superhighway Commission and the Oakland-Wayne Superhighway Commission. Mr. Mines, chairman of the Wayne County Road Commission, is also chairman of the Macomb-Wayne and the Oakland-Wayne Superhighway commissions. Monies raised under this act in Wayne County may be expended in acquiring wider widths of right-of-way on inter-county roads in either Macomb or Oakland counties, as well as in Wayne County.

700 Miles Acquired.

Under the Master Plan, wide widths of right-of-way may be acquired by dedication, by exchange of back property for frontage, by purchase or by condemnation. All of these methods have been used. More than 700 miles of wider width right-of-way has been acquired to date in the three counties on the 204 and 120 foot Master Plan routes, most of it by dedication, through the operation of the platting law, which provides that all subdivisions must conform to the Master Plan in laying out subdivisions and their plats must be filed with and are subject to the final approval of the County Road Commission.

The minimum ultimate development of these 204-foot superhighways calls for two 40-foot concrete roads with an 84-foot space in the center for use of rapid transit lines on the surface or other future development, and a 20-foot space on each side for sidewalks, etc. Ultimately all railroad crossings at grade will be eliminated and the grade will also be separated at mile intervals with important highway crossings.

Not "Paper Plan."

That this is not merely an idle "paper plan" is attested by the following facts of accomplishment to date:

The Base Line (Eight-Mile) road, which is the dividing line between the City of Detroit and Oakland and Macomb Counties is the east and west backbone of the superhighway system. This road is nearly 25 miles long and over 90 per cent of the 204-foot width of right-of-way has been acquired. The remainder is now under condemnation in the courts. Sixteen miles of 20-foot concrete road have been built on one side. On four miles there are dual pavement strips of 20 feet of concrete. By the fall of 1930, there will be dual pavement strips the entire distance, according to Mr. Mines. Two railroad grade separation projects are also under way as well as one highway grade separation between Telegraph road and Base Line Road, which is expected to be completed late in the summer of 1930. When traffic conditions warrant 20 additional feet of concrete will be added on each side, Mr. Mines said.

Progress Recorded.

Southfield 204-foot superhighway is the north and south backbone of the Master Plan, and is also approximately 23 miles long. Nine miles of this superhighway is in Oakland County, and practically all of the width of right-of-way on this section has been acquired by dedication. A single 20-foot concrete road serves this section at the present time. In Wayne County, over five miles of 20-foot dual concrete pavement strips have been completed on the 204-foot width acquired. Two railroad grade separation projects are nearing completion, and one road grade separation is completed between Southfield and Michigan superhighways. On the remainder of the distance on purchase.

On Fort 204-foot superhighway over five miles of 40-foot dual concrete pavement strips have been completed and several additional miles are to be added during 1930. One over grade separation with the Wabash, Pere Marquette and Pennsylvania railroads has been completed.

On Michigan 204-foot superhighway, which is the longest superhighway in Wayne County, the entire wider width of right-of-way from the limits of the City of Detroit, except through Dearborn and Wayne, has been acquired to the Washburn County line, which is approximately 27 miles from the City Hall in Detroit. Dual concrete paving strips of varying widths serve the entire distance. These varying widths of concrete are ultimately to be widened to 40 feet. No railroad crosses Michigan superhighway at grade, while the grade separation with the Pere Marquette superhighway at the westerly limits of the Village of Wayne is to be widened in the near future, as it was built on the old 66-foot width of right-of-way.

Other Work Progresses.

Grand River 204-foot superhighway has 104 miles of dual concrete pavement strips for a distance of two miles. East of the limits of the old Village of Redford there are dual pavement strips for a distance of over seven miles on a narrower width of right-of-way. Part of this pavement was constructed in 1921. Oakland County to the west of Wayne County is building an additional mileage of dual concrete pavement strips on a 204-foot width of right-of-way.

On Northwestern 204-foot superhighway there are three and a half miles of 20-foot dual concrete pavement strips completed to the Oakland County line. Oakland County has nine miles under construction, more than half of which is completed.

On Schoolcraft 204-foot superhighway the right-of-way is practically all acquired on a nine-mile stretch and construction is under way, calling for an initial development of two 20-foot concrete roadways which are to be widened later to 40 feet as traffic demands increase.

Woodward superhighway has two 45-foot dual concrete pavement strips from the Wayne County line to the City of Pontiac in Oakland County. Pontiac is 25 miles from the heart of Detroit. On Woodward superhighway there is a long section on the east side where the construction of the second pavement strip has been held up through litigation which has recently been settled and construction work is now in progress. The Wayne County Road Commission is acquiring the necessary right-of-way on Woodward to carry this superhighway east two and a quarter miles within the limits of the City of Detroit, Mr. Mines said.

On Mound 204-foot superhighway in Macomb County there is a five-mile length of 20-foot dual concrete pavement extending north from the Wayne County line. In Wayne County a grade separation project is under construction on Mound road. When completed, dual concrete pavement strips are to be constructed in conformity to the development in Macomb County.

Grant Seven-Mile, Kelly, Stephenson and Telegraph 204-foot superhighways all have varying lengths of dual concrete pavement strips on them and additional mileage is being added constantly during the construction season.

"Luxury" Boulevard

The Wayne County Road Commission is also developing a "luxury" boulevard, 42 miles in length on a 150-foot width of right-of-way, encircling the City of Detroit within a radius of from six to 10 miles from the heart of the city. Two 30-foot concrete dual pavement strips are being largely used throughout, although on some sections a 60-foot solid multiple lane concrete pavement is used. Over 90 per cent of the 150-foot width of right-of-way has been acquired by dedication, and condemnation is being resorted to, to acquire the balance. Fully 10 miles of this great circumferential Outer Drive is completed and during 1930 $2,700,000 will be invested in additional construction, Mr. Mines stated. One highway grade separation between the Outer Drive and Joy Road has been completed. Two railroad grade crossings between the Outer Drive and Joy road are being completed. Ultimately no railroad will cross the Outer Drive at grade. Trees are being planted, the parkway is being landscaped and boulevard lights are being installed.

In addition to the dual pavement strips completed and under construction on the superhighway system, a considerable mileage of pavement of this type has been constructed on ordinary county roads, Mr. Mines pointed out.

Financing Provided.

The first double concrete roadway in Wayne County was built in 1911 on the River road. It consisted of two 12-foot strips with a 16-foot space between. These 12-foot strips are still in use and in good condition. The 16-foot center space was concreted in 1927 and additional concrete paving was added on each side of the old 12-foot concrete roadways making an overall width of concrete of 63 feet.

Livernois road, built in 1919, was the second road of this type built, so the dual pavement strip is not particularly new in Wayne County. Livernois road has been widened from 60 to 120 feet and the center space of 13 feet separating the two old strips of concrete has been concreted. The past season, making the concrete roadway 80 feet wide.

"We have been building dual strip concrete roadway over a period of many years and to date there are 93 miles of such pavement in this regional area," Mr. Mines said. "We have under construction with the financing we provided for, over 49 miles of dual strip concrete roads, all of which will be completed before the close of our 1930 construction year. In addition to the above figures of accomplishment, there are over 254 miles of concrete roads of a greater width than 20 feet wholly within the borders of Wayne County.—Detroit News.

Indian Meets Indian

When Princess Watassa, the Indian health teacher of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, visited the orphanage for Indian children at Baraga, she was given a royal welcome by the youngsters, who dressed themselves in tribal costume for the occasion. Her legendary Indian tales, needless to say, were listened to with more than usual interest by the one hundred children who live at the orphanage.

Princess Watassa entertains children with her stories, dolls, and trinkets, but she also instructs them. That her health lessons are remembered and followed is shown by the following note from one of her listeners:

"I am trying to follow your health rules, so I may be a strong, healthy girl. I am 28 pounds overweight. I sleep at night with my window open. I eat vegetables two times a day. I do not play out of doors much, but I have since you talked to our school. You have helped me and not only me but every boy and girl of our school."

From January 1 to November 15 of this year, Watassa appeared before more than 80,000 grade and high school children. Funds raised in the sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals finance her expenses.

Pooling Helps Sell Surplus Herd Bulls

SAGINAW VALLEY FARMERS CONSIGN CALVES FROM DAMS WITH KNOWN RECORDS.

Dairy farmers who belong to the Saginaw Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association have found that the pooling of interests pays in selling surplus bull calves as well as in testing their herds for production.

Ten bull calves were sold for an average price of 100 dollars at a consignment sale held at Hemlock. The records of the dams of these bulls had been determined by the testing work and each buyer of a calf knew just what he was purchasing.

Buyers from five nearby counties attended the sale. Top price in the sale was obtained for a calf consigned by A. C. Tessin, Hemlock, and sold to John Young, Reese.

The value of bull club work which enables the owner to determine the worth of a herd sire before he is sold to the butcher was shown in this sale where eight of the ten calves were sons of one excellent sire. The top price calf was one of the eight and his dam had a production record of 999.49 pounds of butterfat in one year.

A member of the bull club, William Watson, Hemlock, acted as sales manager. A. B. Love, Saginaw county Agricultural Agent, and J. G. Hayes, East Lansing, Holstein-Friesian fieldman, assisted with the sale.

"Konjola Only Medicine That Did Any Good"

DETROIT LADY SUFFERED NINE YEARS FROM STOMACH TROUBLE—THEN NEW MEDICINE SCORED.

MRS. E. J. MOORE

"Konjola is the first and only medicine that ever did me any good," said Mrs. E. J. Moore, 1749 Vermont Ave., Detroit. Nine years ago I began having trouble with my stomach and it steadily got worse as medicine after medicine failed to bring any relief. No matter what I ate, nor how little, I had a heavy feeling in my stomach. Gas formed causing heart palpitations and fainting spells.

"I was weak, run-down and in poor health generally when I found Konjola. But this wonderful medicine has changed everything. The very first bottle proved to me that I had, at last, found a real medicine. It took just three bottles to put an end to 'my trouble. I can eat what I please and it digests, too. I have gained much in strength and energy, and certainly am enjoying my good health."

Konjola is sold in Plymouth at Community Pharmacy and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

BAPTIST NOTES

The contest between the young people of Plymouth and Wayne, is proving to be a very evenly matched affair. Last Sunday evening there were 43 present in our local young people's union, while there were 53 present in Wayne. For the past three Sundays, Plymouth had a total of 153 present, while Wayne had a total of 154; this gives Plymouth a margin of nine votes. There still remains four more Sundays, and according to the records of the past three Sundays most anything is apt to happen.

The special feature of next Sunday evening will be the old members' night. All of the past presidents are expected to be present, and as many of the former members as possible can come. So a special invitation is extended to all ex-B. Y. P. U. members even though their membership may be 50 years old.

Another splendid feature of these services is that almost all of the young people stay for the evening church service. On one evening we had 85 present for our preaching service. Our goal for next Sunday is 100 for the evening church service. Shall we go over the top? The theme for the evening sermon is "What Kind of a Girl or Young Man Should a Modern Young Person Marry?" One of our young people will lead the song service, another will read the scriptures, the Sunday-school orchestra will furnish special music, and the congregation will join in a good old fashioned gospel song service. Where can you spend a more profitable Sunday evening than in church? Come, these meetings will do these good!

Last Friday afternoon, twelve young people motored to Jackson, and spent the day at the Michigan Baptist Young People's Convention. A report of the program will be given by them at the B. Y. P. U. service Sunday evening.

CATHOLIC NOTES

Sunday is Holy Communion Sunday for the men of the parish. Let all be found in their places next Sunday morning.

Next Sunday at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., the Holy Name Rally of this society, organized district will meet at Wyandotte K. C. Hall. It is hoped that we will send a good representation to this first rally. Judge J. Moyall will be the speaker. Let all meet at the church no later than 2:00 p. m.

Sunday is the feast of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin. Next Tuesday night, the ladies are sponsoring a card party and a Christmas sale. All are invited. More people should attend these gatherings and get better acquainted with one another. The hostesses for this party are Mesdames Lewandowski, J. Zielasko, A. Zielasko and A. Bronski.

1929 is drawing to a close. What have you done for the church? And what have you given? A word from you would be appreciated.

We wish to state that Frank Malick, who was shot by his son last week, was not buried from the catholic church, but from his home.

The children are doing very well with their religious instructions, and the Mums offer a very satisfactory report, and kindly ask the parents to assist them in the attendance rate. The fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades are to have a contest Saturday morning; your presence is welcomed.

The choir is diligently preparing a new mass, and a program for Christmas. The Midnight services promise to be the best we have had to date. Did you know that last Sunday was the birthday of our church? We are now starting our tenth year. How time flies.

Men, keep next Sunday open for the Holy Name Rally at Wyandotte; 3:00 o'clock. Let's go one hundred strong.

The Altar Ladies met on Tuesday afternoon and made final arrangements for the house and card party, which will be held next Thursday, December 12th, in the auditorium, corner Union and Dodge streets. All are invited. There will also be booths for articles suitable for Christmas gifts, candy booth and fish pond.

It is kindly requested that everyone donate some article for our Christmas booths, and children please donate articles for the fish pond.

The ladies, assisted by the young men and women of the parish, are sponsoring a holiday dance to be held on Friday, December 27th. Judging by the enthusiasm shown, it promises to be the best of the year's activities. More details later.

METHODIST NOTES

"Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ." Galatians 6:2.

Saturday, December 7, at 2:00 p. m., the junior missionary children will meet at the church for their Christmas party, and to bring their gifts for the Christmas box they are sending to northern Michigan.

Sunday morning at 10:00 a. m., Mrs. Adelaide Hudd of Royal Oak, will speak in the interest of the Home-Missionary Society. Mrs. Hudd, a former member of our church, now has charge of the home missionary work in the south and west part of the United States, and has many interesting things to tell us. All are invited to come and hear our former towns-woman.

Sunday evening at 7:15 o'clock, Rev. A. P. Rickard, an ex-British soldier, who was at the taking of Jerusalem December 9, 1917, will tell of his personal experiences of that historical event. The public is cordially invited to hear this interesting speaker.

Monday, December 9, at 2:00 p. m., Mrs. Wolfram's circle will meet with Mrs. V. Onackebush, at 208 Ann street. All the members are urged to be present.

Wednesday, December 11, at 2:00 p.

m., will occur the annual Christmas party of the Missionary Society and the Ladies' Aid. All the women of the church are cordially invited. The committee has prepared an interesting program, and refreshments will be served during the afternoon. Instead of the usual exchange of gifts, each woman is requested to bring some gift suitable for the Children's Home at Farmington—something any boy or girl from four to fourteen might like. The gifts not to cost more than 25c. If you prefer, you may bring the money, which will be very acceptable to the home.

Mrs. Filmore's Circle is putting on a play in the Community hall this Friday, evening at 7:30 o'clock, to which the public is invited. Come and help the women earn their quota, and also see a good play.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

"Prepare ye the way of the Lord." Advent season is here. We are preparing for Christmas, our Lord's birthday. The place to do it is in church. Come to church on Sunday.

We are beginning our preparation for the year 1930. On Sunday the annual Every Member Canvass will be held, beginning with the morning service at 10:00 o'clock, when the needs of the church will be presented. In the afternoon, members of the canvassing committee will visit each family. The personal support of every member of the church is required to carry on God's work. A letter has been sent to each family. Give it your careful consideration, then come to church next Sunday and pray the work which must be done, and help to do it.

Most of our church-school staff have been in regular attendance at the Detroit Church Normal for the past ten weeks, the better to equip themselves for the responsibility of teaching our children. Give them your support by seeing that the children are in Sunday-school every Sunday unless prevented by illness. We were sorry to miss a number of pupils last Sunday, and hope we may see many of them this week.

The new purple altar hangings for use during the advent season, were made and presented by the Altar Guild.

Christian Science Notes

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Atlas Mesmerism and Hypnotism, De-nounced" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, December 1.

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "He will keep the feet of his saints, and the wicked shall be silent in darkness; for strength shall no man prevail." (1 Sam. 2:9).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "God has endowed man with inalienable rights, among which are self-government, reason, and conscience. Man is properly self-governed only when he is guided rightly and governed by his Maker, divine Truth and Love." (p. 106).

Sunday, December 8—"God the Only Cause and Creator."
A report of a lecture on the Christian Science entitled "Christian Science: A Religion of Truth, Love and Life, Triumphant," given by Dr. John M. Tuttle, C. S. B., in the Masonic Temple last evening will be found on page ten of this issue of the Mail.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES.

There is a special treat in store for all who attend the Presbyterian church service next Sunday morning, Arthur Winters, a rising young Canadian silver baritone, will sing. Mr. Winters is a relative of our prominent citizen and church worker, R. O. Mimmack.

That was a very helpful service last Sunday when Mrs. Phoebe Patterson and George A. Smith brought to us important considerations bearing on law objectives.

The Boys' Women's Class held a largely attended meeting at the home of Mrs. George Cramer on Tuesday of this week. There was the usual sumptuous dinner and fine social intercourse. Mrs. L. Root was in charge of the program. There were readings by Miss Anna McCall and Mrs. Robertson, games into which everyone entered joyously, and then the "Christmas Pie" with interesting gifts for all.

Articles for the mission boxes should be brought to the church not later than Wednesday, December 11th. Boxes are sent to several different fields, and articles suitable for children and adults, and for warm and cold weather are wanted.

The Mission Study class will meet Tuesday evening, December 10, at the home of Mrs. William Kaiser, 220 Blunk Avenue. This is the Christmas meeting of the class. There will be a cooperative supper at 6:30 p. m. o'clock, and after the supper and business meeting there will be one grand time. Every member is expected to be on hand.

The Women's Auxiliary will hold its regular December meeting on Wednesday, December 11, at 2:30 p. m. Reports from the bazaar and dinner will be presented and an excellent program will follow. George A. Smith, superintendent of schools for Plymouth, will speak.

Do not miss the opportunity to hear Mr. Winters sing next Sunday morning.

FAREWELL SOCIAL HELD AT BAPTIST CHURCH

About sixty-five relatives and friends met at the Baptist church Monday evening in honor of the members and friends who are leaving for Florida, in the near future, to spend the winter. A pot-luck supper was served at 6:30 p. m., which needless to say was enjoyed by every one not only because of the good things to eat but the home-like fellowship around the tables made a very impressive occasion.

Following the supper an informal program was enjoyed by all, which consisted of stories, jokes, readings, vocal numbers, solos and quartets, scripture reading, and closed with singing "Till We Meet Again," and dismissal with prayer by the pastor.

FAITH

When we are confronted by misery which needs relief, suffering which requires sympathy, folly which should be repressed, ignorance waiting for counsel, sin pleading forgiveness, the true prayer is, "Lord, increase our faith." Nothing is impossible to faith.
