FOR I WOULD BE—

I would be true, for there are those who trust me; I would be pure, for there are those who care; I would be strong, for there is much to suffer; I would be friend to all—the foe—the friendless; I would be giving, and forget the gift; I would be humble, for I know my weakness; I would look up—and laugh—and love and lift.

—Howard Arnold Walters.

VILLAGE ELECTION

The annual village election occurs next Monday, March 10th. At this time two commissioners are to be elected as members of the village commission. There are four candidates for you to select from and all of them are exceptionally well qualified for the office of village commissioner. It is the duty of every citizen to go to the polls next Monday and at least express his or her choice for two members of the village commission. You are a stockholder in one of the biggest business enterprises in Plymouth, and one that should receive your careful consideration and attention. Cast your vote next Monday, March 10th, because if you don't you have no right to find fault as to how the affairs of the village are conducted.

C. OF C. MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

The annual Chamber of Commerce membership campaign is now on and the whole-hearted cooperation of every citizen is needed to put the campaign over to a successful culmination. No one will contend that there is not a great need for an organization of this kind in Plymouth. Every up and going town has an organized group of this kind, working to bring about those things which can only be secured by organized effort. During the past few months the Chamber of Commerce has been accomplishing many things that have proved of real benefit.

Although the Chamber of Commerce has only had a paid full time secretary since last August, it has been amply demonstrated that results can only be attained through the leadership of a secretary who can give all of his time to the affairs of the organization. Berg D. Moore, the present secretary, has demonstrated that he is the right man for the place, aggressive and with the ability to bring to a successful issue any matter that will be of benefit to the business or industrial interests of Plymouth, or for the general good of the community, if given proper cooperation. Mr. Moore is to be congratulated on the splendid work he has accomplished in the short period of time that he has had to get the organization in a position to function properly.

The new board, headed by Harry K. Wrench as president, is made up of successful business men, who are ready and willing to give their time and efforts in making the Chamber of Commerce a vital force in the progress and welfare of the village. But these men cannot do it alone; they must have your support. It behooves every citizen who can possibly do so, to join the Chamber of Commerce and thereby help put across a program of activities that will mean a bigger and better Plymouth. The Chamber of Commerce needs you and you need the Chamber of Commerce.

"PLAYING HOOKEY"

Statistics show that 90 percent of the criminals of today start on their criminal career by absenting themselves from school or, as older residents around Plymouth would define it, by "playing hookey." This beginning of waywardness develops until a crime is committed, and then the youth is sent to a reformatory, or penitentiary, where the state seeks to reform him.

Social service workers and school teachers who have made a study of the subject are convinced that very often the trouble is in the home, instead of in the child. Too often parents minimize the importance of education, and display an utter lack of interest in school work. As a result, the children are led to believe that securing an education really means nothing to them, and instead of being encouraged or forced to loop upon it as the most serious thing in life they are permitted to have their own way about school attendance.

We seldom hear of a deliberate case of truancy in this community. For that we are thankful. But it is a subject that parents should not overlook; the seriousness of truancy must be constantly impressed upon the mind of every child who shows a tendency to slight school work. It is only through the education of the boy and girl of today that we can hope to maintain a high standard of citizenship in the community in the years to come.

THE FRUIT CROP

Reports that much fruit was killed in various sections of the country by the severe winter weather of January are sure to create wide-spread regret. There has long been an understanding with housewives around Plymouth that a good fruit year meant prosperous year generally. Of course housewives in other sections have so considered it. For that reason reports that peach buds were killed through the Ohio Valley; that the entire Illinois and Missouri fruit crops will be curtailed, and that East and South cannot hope for a bumper crop comes as disagreeable news. It's a little too early, to definitely determine the extent of damage, and reports may be somewhat exaggerated. Mother Nature has a way of working miracles when we are least expecting them, however, so it seems that the best we can do is hope that she'll work on in such a way that very part of the nation will be blessed with an abundance of fruit.

THE AUTO-RADIO WAR

Plymouth motorists who keep posted on the new wrinkles in the auto world, and who have noted the move to equip cars with radio sets, will be interested to know that this latest bit of equipment is about to open up a nation-wide argument. Already New Hampshire and Massachusetts are refusing to issue license tags to those whose cars are equipped with radio sets. They go on the theory that radio might divert attention from driving and cause accidents; they argue the driver needs to give his entire attention to his car, instead of dividing it between the road and a radio set on the instrument board. On the other hand, Connecticut has refused to endorse such a ruling. Other states are expected to take up the subject in short order, and then the Auto Clubs may be counted on to get into it. So it looks as though motorists are going to have something to talk about this season besides body designs, horsepower and mileage.

A BIG POTATO YEAR

Regardless of how we may fare as to other agricultural products 1930 promises to be a big potato year. Farmers intend to plant a larger acreage than they did last year, it is indicated by the U. S. Agricultural Bureau. Intended acreage is estimated now at 3,570,000 for harvest next fall, with the average yield expected to be 118 bushels per acre. The quantity of potatoes held by growers and local dealers in the 35 late-potato states on Jan. 1, available for sale, was smaller than last year. In the 19 northern states usually having merchantable surplus for shipment, merchantable stocks were materially below last year, except holdings in Maine and Washington, and in the 16 "deficient" states stocks were only 47 percent of the unusually heavy holdings last year, the Bureau says. So the 1930 crop is going to be heavy. All of which ought to be good news to the man who feels that if he has plenty of potatoes on the table the rest of the meal will take care of itself.

YOUR TAX DOLLAR

Everywhere we go people are talking about the burden of taxation. They do not complain about not getting value received from their tax dollar, but they do say that taxes have mounted so rapidly in recent years that their absorption in most cases brings actual financial embarrassment.

Are you one of those who believes taxes too high? Do you think there is an unequal distribution of the tax burden? If you do you will be given an opportunity to state your views on this important subject.

The state commission of inquiry into taxation, appointed last year by Governor Fred W. Green, will hold the first of a series of public hearings in the Senate chamber at Lansing on Thursday, March 20. Taxation on real and personal property will be discussed. As a taxpayer you are invited to attend this hearing, express your opinion and make any suggestion you may desire on this important phase of government.

Tribute To Betty

Betty Ehere, elder of two daughters of Roy Ehere and his wife, Gertrude (Moreau) Ehere, was born in Bay City, Mich., November 26, 1921. She came with her parents to Plymouth in May, 1926, and entered kindergarten at the Starkweather school in the fall of the following year. Life continued in normal, happy tenor until entrapped by the recent dreaded typhoid epidemic. She died in University hospital during the afternoon of February 25, 1930.

Betty was not an ordinary child. Mischievous on occasion—as small girls can sometimes be—her flashing blue eyes and innocently clever whims liked to win a host of north side hearts. Betty was always bright, active, and on the go. Thoughtful beyond her years, ready witted and with a perpetually happy temperament—little complaining of her own real or imaginary ills—she proved a veritable Paradise flower not born for earth.

Betty will be missed—as doubtless other little Betties before her—have been missed—but for the moment it seems that this one Betty will be most greatly missed. North side's Betty, "our" Betty, has caused reddened eyes in more than one Starkweather avenue home. Perhaps, also, we were thinking of our own young daughters.

One Betty has passed on and one Doris must now do without what had been her one best playmate, defender and champion of interests. Betty was a naturally healthy child, yet twice last year broke an arm, suffering cheerfully and with fortitude until recovery. Those in attendance at the last Starkweather P. T. A. meeting will remember Betty as that vivacious little girl in the playlet, always alert and on her toes, who knew her own part thoroughly and also the part of all the others.

You were only eight, Betty, but eight or eighty-eight, it is all the same to the eternity which is ageless. Your parents, sister, and all those you have left behind will surely miss you, the rest will tarry, just a little longer. Then we, too, must travel that same lane to the hoped for troubleless plane. Though you did not stay, Betty, we are glad you came. God bless you. —Contributed.

FARM DATA SOUGHT BY CENSUS TAKER

FULL AND ACCURATE INFORMATION WILL ASSIST FEDERAL OFFICIALS IN FUTURE PLANS.

Dry onions and watermelons, goats and kids, and all other inhabitants of the fields and farm yards will be asked to answer to roll call by the enumerator for the United States census who will visit Michigan farms this spring.

The census, taken once every ten years, is Uncle Sam's most effective means of determining the growth and importance of his various industries, and the importance of this information depends upon the fullness and accuracy of the answers given to the enumerators' questions.

Federal aid in many cases is determined upon a basis of population or the relative importance of a certain crop to a State or community. The rank of a State in the production of certain crops or livestock is usually determined from the United States census figures.

No use of the figures is made for any taxation purpose and the figures are not available for the inspection of tax officials.

This year's census will give definite information of the number of radio sets used by farmers and their importance in farm life. Ten years ago the radio was an experimental toy and almost unknown in rural districts. Statistics on the number of cooperative organizations and the membership of such will be useful to the Federal Farm Board in its work of stabilizing the prices of farm products.

Pointed Facts About The "U" of Michigan

The University has addresses for over 67,000 alumni. They are found in every state of the Union and in almost every country of the world.

The faculty of the University of Michigan, last year, numbered 830, exclusive of student assistants and administrative officers. Of this number 224 held the rank of full professor, 327 were instructors.

When the University first opened its doors there were seven students. Last year the students numbered 13,709 all together.

The University of Michigan was the first state University to admit women as students. In fact, it was the first large University to take this step. Last year there were 4,967 women enrolled.

Eighty-three students in the University claim China as their home. This is the largest number enrolled from any foreign country, except Canada. 20 students came from the Philippines, 23 came from India.

There were 8,984 students registered in the University from the state of Michigan last year. It is interesting to note that some of those who registered from the Upper Peninsula, particularly those in the western part, ordinarily passed through four states in going to and from Ann Arbor.

The five states which had more than 100 students attending the University of Michigan, exclusive of Michigan, were: Ohio (1026); New York (628); Illinois (504); Indiana (308); Pennsylvania (308); New Jersey (119); and Kentucky (100).

Plymouth "Trims" W. C. T. S.

Plymouth again defeated the eagles of the Wayne County Training School by a score of 17 to 7. The Rocks ran up a large amount of the score through good passing and dribbling. The game was marked with plenty of fouls. Plymouth had six fouls called on her while the Training school boys had eight marked up against them.

Knapp, as in the previous game with the Training school, scored most of the points, getting eight of the 17. Wells, of the institution team, carried their scoring banner with three points.

The game was just a volley of shots at the basket. The blue and white clubs played a superior game to that previously played on the institution's floor.

Faculty Wins

The faculty basketball team of Plymouth High defeated the team from the Wayne County Training School. The opponent's team is composed of the all-around men of the institution. The final score was 13 to 12. Mr. Bentley scored 9 of the 13 points for Plymouth. The game was marked with a great deal of dribbling by both teams. McCordie of the W. C. T. S. scored seven points.

Our Girls' Gymnastics

The badge tests have roused much dormant enthusiasm among both the gym classes and the gym clubs. The Senior Girls Gym Club practiced for the tests last week Monday, at their regular weekly meeting, and judging by the performances we are sure that if everyone does not receive a badge at the first try, at least everyone will make a good showing. Some of the stunts are easy in spite of the fact that most of the girls have never done anything similar to them before, and others are difficult. In fact, every girl seems to have some stunts which she must yet practice for a while, but, remembering the old proverb "Time and patience will be rewarded," we are worrying about no stinklers.

However, the thoughts of the Junior Girls Gym Club are far from badge tests. They are imagining themselves airy sprites in mossy woodland scenes while they dance to echoes of sweet music. In other words they are devoting their time and energy to natural dancing, and they are soon to give their first public performance. It is to be at the Peninsula Allen Theatre, lay, March 7th, and is to be for benefit of the Woman's Literary Club. The costumes are all made and—but let's let the rest be a surprise.

Seeing Detroit

Coming back from Europe in an unbelievably short time, imagination is almost as rapid as light, the Travel Club set out seriously to see Detroit last Saturday. The club drove through Ford's old village, but its first stop was at the Ambassador bridge soaring so grandly above the aqueduct of that low class manufacturing district. From their position, the members could see the train tunnel which is near the bridge, ducking under the river to Canada.

They then went to the News building where they saw all the intricate processes that prepare the daily reading of many people. In fact they saw everything in that large building except the radio room where the general public is not permitted to go. It was now lunch time, and the members hastened to the gay, colorful French Village to enjoy not only their food but also their surroundings. Who would not have a better digestion in a beautiful view of the city with such lovely dressed girls waiting on them at the luncheon, straight to the Detroit Civic theatre where they saw play Miss Nell of New Orleans in which Miss Bonstelle, herself, took the part. Finally, all tired out, they returned home thinking happily of the happy ending of the play, but not a happy ending, somehow it ran up and make a dark world look

Belleville Wins Overtime Battle

A field goal by Clifton in the overtime period, put Belleville into lead which they held for the remaining few minutes of the game. DePorter had previously sunk a free shot and the contest looked hopeful to the Plymouth fans. The winning basket by Clifton was to them as a thunder storm is to a picnic.

Both teams had a creditable defense and a smashing offense. Plymouth seemed the stronger as they spurted to tie the score 10 all during the fourth quarter, as at the end of the third session Belleville was ahead, 17 to 10.

As a result of the Orange and Black victory, Plymouth and Belleville finished equally, both winning three and losing seven. During the season Plymouth lost to and won from the following teams: From Dearborn, one one and lost one; Belleville, won one and lost one; Farmington, won one and lost one; Northville and Wayne, lost both games.

Central News

The children in the kindergarten are interested in studying about pussy willows. Francis Workup brought the first ones to school. Each youngster keeps his eyes open for other signs of spring.

Pussy willows have been brought to Mrs. Emens' first grade by Clayton, Paul and Burton Komazeki. The children are reading short stories about Holland. The room is gaily decorated with a border of windmills and Dutch geese girls with their geese.

The first A grade pupils have been drawing pictures of mice, fruit, baskets and their Dutch geese with different colored crayons.

In the first A and second B grades the girls are ten points ahead of the boys in the spelling contest. Two pupils, Donald Jewell and Frances Dunn have chicken pox. The pupils have started a Dutch project in which they are reading the Dutch Twins making Dutch boys and girls with ducks for blackboard border, and are decorating the windows with windmills.

The following people are on the second A grade honor roll for conduct this week: Marie Angove, Norene Blumh, Anne Johnson, Virginia Brockelherst, Alice Plachta, Elbarna Schrader, Agnes Shomberger, Betty Barlow, Ruth Kirkpatrick, Caroline Osenheimer, Jack Butz, Sammy Virgo, Kabrl Drews, Martin Horvath, Edgar Nash, Norman Peterson, Douglas Frough, Gordon Robinson and Bobby Weaver.

The second A and third B are enjoying the book called Silver Pennies, loaned to them by Mary Brennan. The best readers are to be allowed to go to the library.

The fourth graders have completed their work on the industrial posters and they will have an examination over the seven industries.

The following people have a perfect attendance since school began in September: Jane Burley, Lillian Cool, Gerald Greer, Jean Hamill, Clarence Heller, Muriel Kelly, Earl Lyke, Dorothy O'Leary, Marie Robinson, Mike Spitz, Warren Todd, Christabelle Vink and Norton Zimmerman.

Mrs. Paul Groth visited the fourth A grade Thursday, February 27. In a spellbound held in the spelling class, Betty Martin spelled down the rest of the students. Roland Hewitt is a new fourth grader from Big Beaver, Michigan.

In Miss Fenner's room the fifth and sixth graders are having a contest in reading. On the fifth grade side the champions are ahead with a score of fourteen. Philip Donovan's team is ahead of Alice Gottschalk's by three points. Both girls and boys have been playing ball. The fifth grade arithmetic score for the girls is ninety, and for the boys, eighty. The total score for the fifth grade arithmetic class is forty-two, and the sixth grade score is twenty-three.

The sixth grade is rewarded with the use of the victrola for the coming month because they had the most parents present at the Parent-Teacher Association. Harold Wagenschutz and Jack Gordon are the physical training captains. Basketball and relays are held once a week in the gymnasium. Floyd Thompson from Chicago, and Dorothy Greenwald from Detroit, entered the fifth grade this month.

An Odd Friendship

By Clifton Sockow
Two high school boys are always together from the time the dismissal bell rings at 11:30 until the warning bell rings at 12:40. The queer part of this daily combination is that they are invariably arguing. They agree upon nothing. They have little in common, but if one tries to gain the favor of one by showing a dislike for the other, he would automatically lose two friends. They greet each other as would sworn enemies. They never say, "Hello, Jim," or commit themselves to "How do you do?" Instead they open conversation thus: "Are we going down town this noon, dumbbell?" The response is about as cordial: "Well, who wants to know?" both unconcernedly and sarcastically. This is met with a show of heat.

As a result of the Orange and Black victory, Plymouth and Belleville finished equally, both winning three and losing seven. During the season Plymouth lost to and won from the following teams: From Dearborn, one one and lost one; Belleville, won one and lost one; Farmington, won one and lost one; Northville and Wayne, lost both games.

Nothing" is the contemptuous growl. He spits upon his heel to show that the matter is closed; then, "I wouldn't be seen on the streets with you if never got to town." But he always goes, he knows he will, and so does the other.

"The Junior Drama Club, of course, does not have as much of an advanced work as the Senior. Their hour is spent in the various exercises of voice, gesture, and characterization. But they are working hard at these, so that when the time comes for them to automatically graduate into the Senior Club, they can put themselves across as well as the older members now do.

The highest rank, that of Torchbearer, was taken by Christine Nichol and Carrie Gorton. Christine selected hand craft for her rank and Carrie chose music. Last summer Jean Strong became a Torchbearer using social leadership as her rank requirements.

An Indian legend, "Low Horn and the Beaters," told by Elizabeth Nichol. Every campfire girl received honors. As they were awarded, each girl gave her campfire name, its meaning, and how three of her most difficult beads were earned. Jean Strong and Christine Nichol, who had each written a prize winning essay, were awarded special honors for this accomplishment.

After the camp had repeated the campfire law, Jean Strong gave a talk on the part we had taken in the great movement of "International Fellowship." The girls stood and sang their "Closing Song," Elaine Hamilton, Carrie Gorton and Madelyn Blunk took their respective candles and repeated the campfire credo was repeated led by Zerepha Blunk. Chanting the recessional, the three girls with lighted candles followed by the rest of the camp members left the mystic circle.

A very interesting and complete exhibit was arranged by Christine Nichol. Several of the other girls contributed articles which they had made.

Finishing the season with a record of having won nine and lost none, team number eight seems certain of the championship of the senior division. However, there is one drawback, since the runner-up, team number seven, has a postponed game, which will be played off Wednesday night. If team eight wins, they are champions, but if team seven wins, they go into a tie for first place and another game will have to be played.

In the junior division, team twelve has won the championship, as their nearest rival has won five and lost four, while they have won nine and lost one.

The Privilege of Speaking In Study Halls

"She wouldn't let me speak all hour," is a complaint often made after some study hall. How many students have said that throughout the day? Many raise their hands for permission to speak and when this is refused, they often get angry. But do they look before raising their hands to see if some one else is speaking at the time? Very few do. A few abuse the speaking privilege when it is given to them, often remaining five or six minutes on the floor. If the pupils would possess themselves of the privilege of speaking only when absolutely necessary, if they would look to see if someone else is speaking and, when given permission, speak only a reasonable one or two minutes, there would not be so much difficulty in gaining the permission.

Know Your Boundaries

"Frank and Joe are regular boys and have their mischievous moments," Mrs. Jones, but I must admit their "know boundaries." Mrs. Smith, the lovely old lady that lived next door to Mrs. Jones and her two sons stated this with much sincerity.

Mrs. Smith's greatest hobby was her beautiful flower garden and most of her time was spent there. One morning when she entered "Le Jardin Faerie," as it was called because of its dainty informality, she found the pansies and phlox trampled down and bits of shrubbery broken here and there. Those Thompson children across the street had been playing blind-and-gardens in her garden again! But because she was such a sweet old lady and disliked causing trouble she said nothing, but with a sigh started working on her sadly ruined little retreat.

This is an example of the damage children unthinkingly do to lawns and gardens in their games. It is especially true in spring when the ground is soft and the boys engrossed in a game of marbles wander all over the various lawns on their way to and from school.

"Cutting across lots" is another habit that many children have. It is a beautiful lawn. Must fences and walls be put up to keep these young marauders from trampling paths diagonally across it? But walls would hide the beauty and make it private. Wouldn't it be a good idea if each one of us start a campaign of our own to protect and keep between parks, lawns and gardens of Plymouth? Let's try it!

Senior Girl Reserves

To emphasize the meaning of the code, Ruth Roth read the following poem from "The Guide Book," to illustrate the significance of the second line of the code, "Impartial in Judgment."

In men who men contend as ill,
I find so much of goodness still.
In men whom men pronounce divine,
I find so much of sin and blot.
I do not dare to draw a line
Between the two, where God has not.
—Joquin Miller.

Programs which were planned on a western life entitled "Boats 'n' Saddles" were distributed. The next meeting is called "Dude Ranch," during which Helen Bridge and Camilla Ashton will speak on etiquette.

To arouse the spirit of the Girl Reserves in their clubs, there is a contest between the senior girls and the Junior Girl Reserves to see in which group all of the girls will wear their club uniforms first.

The latter part of the meeting was devoted to speeches made by Mrs. Crumble, Elizabeth Strong, Marion Gust and Dora Galloway, who explained to the other girls the annual conference which has been recently held in Detroit, in the new Y. W. C. A. building.

Tournament Game

PLYMOUTH PLAYS HOWELL AT YPSIL

It was definitely decided at Ypsilanti Monday, that Plymouth will play Howell, Friday night at eight o'clock, in the Central gym at Ypsil. As there were only three teams entered, Ypsilanti Central gets in the regional without having to win a game, although they play the winner of Friday night's game on Saturday night. As yet, nothing has been found out concerning Howell, and they remain pretty much of a dark horse. So far, Plymouth has had a bad year, but we are hoping they come through at the district and go on to the regional. A large crowd of blue and white rooters will do more to help them win than anything else.

Spring Vacation

The Plymouth High pupils will enjoy their annual spring vacation beginning April 18 and ending April 25. In previous years, the spring vacation came during the latter part of March. It is advisable for those who intend to spend the vacation elsewhere to plan to go away during the week following Easter.

Rock Seconds Win From Belleville "5"

The blue and white "B" team swamped the home team 46 to 6 in a game characterized by swift and hard playing. Belleville was able to score only six points and four of these markers came in the first half. K. Gates was the leader of the Plymouth attack with a total of eight points. No player on the Belleville team had more than two points.

One good feature of the game was that every member of the second team had a chance to play. This will provide experience for all players. During the last period a wholly new team was on the floor.

This game also ends the second team schedule, though they may play some outside games.

GOSSIP

VIRGIL'S DESCRIPTION OF GOS-SIP AS WRITTEN IN BOOK FOUR OF THE AENEID. LINES 173-190.

Immediately Rumor spread through all the great cities of Africa—Rumor, bestest of all evils; she flourishes and acquires strength with rapidly as she grows; at first she proceeds cautiously, but soon she is carried along by the breezes strutting with her feet on the ground and her head held high in the clouds. Mother Earth, provoked at the vengeance of the gods, gave birth to her, so they say, the youngest sister of Coeus and Enceladus fleet of foot and swift winged, this horrible monster who for every feather on her body has as many perching eyes, and (marvelous to relate), as many tongues below as many babbling mouths, and as many pricked up ears.

By night she flaps her wings and from the top of the sky and through the dark shades of the earth nor does she ever close her eyes in sweet sleep; by day she sits as a spy either on the highest peak of a roof or on a lofty turret, and terrifies the great cities for she carries the falsehoods no man can trust in her reports. Then delighting in it she fills the people with varied reports singing equally the truth and untruths.

Kathryn Pennell.
This is the best translation of a famous passage handed in the form of the Virgil class.

New Project Under Way

VOCATIONAL CLUB UNDER DIRECTION OF MR. COBB, SEES GREAT FUTURE.

The Vocational Club, under the direction of Mr. Cobb, with Amy Blackmore, president, and Lydia Joy, secretary, has been making great progress in their work. The club has been working out certain aims and purposes for which it is organized. Various occupations will be studied later on and the individual member will make a study of not only what he is interested in, but what he is best suited for. They will also be dealing with the problems that confront the individual members and people as they go to work or go on to college. The result of the survey of the past graduates from the Plymouth High School will be very valuable for studying the problems of the students.

Starkweather News

Everyone in the first B has started practicing penmanship hoping to receive a pin for good work. A contest is on in reading, and each pupil is working hard to master the words in the hard chart. Mrs. Strasen weighed and measured the children last Thursday, and we hope that many are satisfied with the results. White stands for health.

In the first A and second B, Lincoln posters with rhymes and cut-outs, and Washington booklets were made. Seatwork pads are books that contain picture and word lessons. They are used in review or as a test for lessons the children have had. The students think these are very interesting.

The children in Mrs. Moles' room are starting practice work for penmanship drills to be sent to the Palmer Company.

The fifth Bs have finished maps of Asia, and are working on South America now. The Chinese people are under discussion. The language class plays are a success, and a few of the best will be dramatized.

Students in Mrs. Lee's room have organized their class into two spelling teams with Jeanette Bauman as captain in review or as a test for lessons the children have had. The students think these are very interesting.

"THE VAGABOND LOVER"

Not unlike the strolling minstrels of old who went about the country charming their hearers and propagating love for a new type of entertainment, are the members of Rudy Vallee's "Connecticut Yankees" orchestra, appearing in and supplying the orchestration for Radio Pictures' "The Vagabond Lover," to be shown at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Friday and Saturday, March 7 and 8.

For nearly two years, they have followed their leader, Rudy Vallee, from radio station to theatre to night club, bringing with them King Jazz's latest innovations, establishing an international reputation as entertainers—going at last to Hollywood.

Members of the band include Joe Miller, saxophonist who teamed with Rudy Vallee six years ago; Jules de Vorzon, first violinist; Marnie Lowy, second violinist; Harry Patent, bass viol; Ray Tolan, drums; Charlie Peterson, pianist and arranger.

The outstanding characteristic of the octette are youth, enthusiasm for new scores and a loyal admiration for Rudy Vallee—the man who led them to success.

"LOVE COMES ALONG"

Lloyd Hughes, playing the dominant swaggering young sailor in "Love Comes Along," the Radio Picture starring Bebe Daniels coming to the Penniman Allen Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, March 9, 10 and 11, decides early in life to sail the seven seas. He wanted adventure, and it seemed as though he was to have his wish when the United States entered the world war and he visited a Navy recruiting station. But the hope was short lived; he was under age.

After the armistice, when he did attain his majority, a four-year contract to "see the world" lost its fascination when he thought of the world as it would be now. Consequently, he is still a "land-lubber" although he has received some nautical experience. His first was in "Valencia" in which Mae Murray starred. In the current RKO production, his boat is no majestic battleship but an unpretentious freighter that docks at the island of Caparola for a short time. Not too short, however, for romance to weave its spell.

Bebe Daniels gives her most glamorous and dramatic performance on the screen in "Love Comes Along." The biting melody of her voice has brought high praise from both musical and film critics. "Night Wings," "A Simple Maid," and the theme song, "Love Comes Along," were written especially for her by two of Broadway's favorite song writers, Sidney Clare and Oscar Levant, as well as "Sailor Song," which she sings with Lloyd Hughes, Rupert Julian directed.

"TWIN BEDS"

An entire musical comedy was staged for scenes in "Twin Beds," the First National-Vitaphone comedy which stars Jack Mulhall and which will be shown at the Penniman Allen Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, March 12 and 13.

An elaborate production, with a huge orchestra, a dancing chorus of fifty and a large cast of principals, will be seen and heard in this colorful feature of the screen version of the famous stage farce by Margaret Mayo and Salisbury Field.

Three song hits, "If You Were Mine," "The Chicken Walk," and "My Wee Bonnie Jean," are introduced in the picture. All were written especially for the production by Al Bryan and George W. Meyer, famous Broadway song writers.

"Twin Beds" was directed by Alfred Santell, and features an all-comedy cast, without a single villain. Pasty Ruth Miller is seen in the feminine lead, and others in the cast are Eddie Gribbon, Armand Kaliz, Gertrude Astor, Alice Lake, Edythe Chapman, Knute Erickson, Ben Hendricks, Jr., Nita Martin, Jocelyn Lee and many others.

The story deals with the adventures that befall a young song writer who is called away from his bride on their wedding night. It abounds with funny situations, and in addition, has a number of big spectacular scenes, such as the musical comedy performance.

"Twin Beds" provides an ideal vehicle for the popular Jack Mulhall, and will appeal to theatre-goers who like their entertainment liberally sprinkled with laughter.

NEW OFFICE BUILDING SPACE DEMAND GAGES U. S. ACTIVITY

SURVEY BY OWNERS AND MANAGERS REVEALS ACTUAL DECREASE IN PERCENTAGE OF VACANCIES.

Despite the stock market crash, the business of the nation was sufficiently active to absorb practically all of the new office building space that came on the market in the period between Oct. 1, 1929 and January 1, 1930. This fact was revealed in the annual rental survey of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, covering 40 of the largest cities in the United States.

The October survey showed that the new space which would be ready for occupancy on or before December 31 was 1.81 per cent of the total office space in the nation. At that time a vacancy of 11.53 per cent was recorded. The January survey, however, shows that the percentage of vacant space has not increased, but instead was actually one-tenth of one per cent less than was reported three months previously, or 11.43 per cent.

The January survey is the most comprehensive of the surveys made by the association which has made quarterly reports each year since 1924. It covers a total of 1,767 buildings with an aggregate floor area of 143,012,461 square feet, of which 18,713,499 square feet are vacant.

"While the January survey gives the office building industry a measure of satisfaction in the fact that the percentage of vacant space has not increased," said Clarence M. Turley, of St. Louis, chairman of the committee on renting, "nevertheless the vacancy is abnormal inasmuch as it is 1.45 per cent over the ordinarily accepted normal of 10 per cent vacancy. It must also be remembered that we are now dealing with many more millions of square feet of floor area and hence the actual amount of space that is vacant reaches a tremendous total. In fact, the amount of vacant space equals the total amount of space in all of the office buildings of Detroit, Cleveland and Pittsburgh."—Detroit Free Press.

ROSEDALE GARDENS SCHOOL NOTES

(Too Late For Last Week)

Miss Rowe's Room

Have you read the story of Sandy MacDonald's Man, a tale of the Mackinac fur trade? This is a story of very interesting travels over Michigan. It was written by R. Clyde Ford from the Michigan State College.

The seventh and eighth grades have become greatly excited about the story, and many who have not already started a library are starting theirs with this interesting and enjoyable book.

The pupils of our school feel that it is a great honor to have their name on the American Junior Red Cross. We have eight pupils on the Honor list who have done a kind deed and also have learned the pledge. They are Eleanor Strachle, Shirley Kalmback, Bernice Smith, Jean Loftus, Mary Gail Schaffer, Donald Johnston, and Dorothy Metzger.

The Girls' 4-H club have finished their first project in sewing and started their second Friday using our new sewing machine.

We thank the Rosedale Garden P. T. A. many times for their interest in our work.
Correspondent—Jean Loftus.

Mrs. Knitt's Room

Among those that received a half holiday are as follows, Alice Davis, Donahoe Huron, Elizabeth O'Dea, Theodore Dorn and Lois Loftus. We hope to have more people on the list for a half holiday next time.

The boys in manual training have succeeded in making their six necessary articles for this year. They can make any other articles now that they wish.

The fourth and fifth grades are going to write to a southern address to receive help for school work.
Correspondents—Charles Hanchett, and Bernice Smith.

An Interesting Letter From Florida

The Mail has received an interesting letter from Mrs. Emma L. Ryder, who is spending the winter months in Florida:

Columbia Apartments, 516 N. Poinsetta St., West Palm Beach, Florida, Feb. 28, 1930.

Dear Sir: "Am having a most delightful time in this land of sunshine. Although it seems to rain without any provocation, no one stays indoors on account of it. One can see the result of the hurricane that swept this country in September, 1928, so many dead trees standing all over the country; also buildings that have never been repaired. However, they have done wonders in the short time they have had. They are very optimistic for the future. The air is soft and balmy even at night. Am located just a block from Lake Worth. One can cross on the ferry or on the bridge to Palm Beach, the playground of millionaires. There is a profusion of lovely plants, flowering vines and shrubs around this apartment, as well as the palms. At night the air is heavy with the fragrance of the jasmine that only blooms at night, and a vine called Chalice Cup, long yellow blossoms that look like a pumpkin flower. The porch is covered with it and it is so sweet at night. Don't see as many roses here as we did in California. They say they are hard to care for. Have been out to the orange groves and packing house; saw them wash and sort the fruit. Very interesting to watch them. The rides we take along the blue waters of the Atlantic are indeed lovely. Have got a nice coat of sunburn from being on the beach. One can hardly tell the tourists from the colored people, they have acquired such a coat of tan. They have had a big whale on exhibition here, that was embalmed and brought from California, 55 feet long, weighing 66 tons. They have a very fine band that plays in the park every night with the exception of Saturday nights. Thursday night is sturr night, when they do some very funny things. Have attended church service every Sunday. One Sunday went over to Palm Beach to hear Dr. Morgan Ward, who has preached there for thirty years. Last Sunday attended Sunday-school and services at a beautiful M. E. church. Had a fine George Washington program. Last Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Ford, who own the apartment, took us twenty miles out to Delray, to see a pony polo game; quite exciting to watch. Wednesday evening Mrs. Ford acted as hostess to nine ladies at a five o'clock tea that was served in the famous coconut grove, in connection with the Royal Poinciana Hotel, which before the hurricane was the largest in the world. We also attended a cake-walk over there, put on by the help of the hotel. It was decidedly amusing to watch their antics, a large cake as well as money being presented to the winners. The county fair is on this week, at Bellevedere Park, three miles out from here, which cousin and I attended Wednesday. They had a wonderful display of poultry, flowers and some curious vegetables and fruit. One interesting booth was that of the sugar cane, which is just as sweet as honey. Sometime we are to visit the sugar mills at Clewiston, before my return north. Will have more to tell about it. Will close for this time. Sincerely, Emma L. Ryder.

KILL ROACHES WITH SODIUM FLUORIDE

Treating Kitchen to Eradicate Roaches.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Next to flies, cockroaches are the commonest and most offensive of household insect pests. There are four kinds often found in houses and, also, frequently seen in heated office buildings, especially when employees bring lunches, and are not very careful not to scatter crumbs. The small roaches known as Croton bugs are likely to give the housewife the most trouble. Farmers' Bulletin 638-F describes the various species of roaches and suggests a number of effective ways of dealing with them. One treatment that can be used to get rid of any species is by poisoning, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

When you see a roach scuttling across the sink or the kitchen floor, others are likely to be hiding somewhere near. These insects come where they can get food materials, and they will eat almost anything. The first step, therefore, is to exercise scrupulous care not to leave a crumb of any sort of food where it will attract roaches. Even the odor of foods they like will bring roaches by the hundred to explore your kitchen and pantry. Keep staples in insect proof containers in the pantry, and perishable foods in the refrigerator.

The next step is to dust all places where roaches are likely to hide, with commercial sodium fluoride. Sprinkle it behind the sink, around the drain board, and along the base board, which is a favorite runway because fragments of food lodge often there unnoticed. Discover where they congregate and hide and dust the retreat with the powder. In the illustration two girls are treating the home economics classroom to eradicate roaches. One of these girls is dusting sodium fluoride around the school sink, and the other is washing the sink to free it from grease on which roaches feed. The fluoride, which is a powder, may be used pure or mixed with an equal quantity of flour or gypsum. A dust gun will help to get it well scattered, but is not essential. The first effect of the powder is to make the roaches come out of their hiding places. After a few hours, many of them will have become paralyzed or have died and may be swept up and burned. In 24 hours, if the dusting and cleaning has been thorough, all the roaches will have been destroyed.

Keep food out of bureau and other drawers at home and out of desk drawers in the classroom or office. Fill any cracks where roaches might hide with plaster of paris, putty, or some other crack filler.

Virginia Planning Tree Planting Along Roads

Plans for beautifying the highways of Virginia were discussed at a meeting called by Gov. Harry F. Byrd, at the request of the garden clubs of Virginia, and attended by many prominent women from various sections. It was decided that the garden clubs would appoint a committee to cooperate with another committee to be appointed by Governor Byrd, and that these two bodies would formulate a program for preserving the trees and shrubs already growing along the state highways, and also for planting others. It was emphasized that the state will not be asked to pay for planting the trees.

William O'Byrne, extension forester at the Virginia polytechnic institute, suggested that nursery shrubs for planting along the highways be raised at the state farm by the convicts, and this proposal met with considerable favor.

Another suggestion which was well received was that the fifty or more motorcycle police operating throughout Virginia under the division of motor vehicles, be especially instructed to keep an eye out for violators of the law forbidding promiscuous cutting of shrubs and trees.

Their Own Will

The will to live as well as local pride is revealed in the purchase by the town of Huntington, in the Berkshire hills of Massachusetts, of the woolen mill upon which the majority of the residents depend for occupation. Closed for sometime, the mill has been bought by the townspeople, who have also raised funds for the purchase of needed equipment. The mill will not be run by the town, but will be leased to a manufacturing company on long terms; an offer is already said to have been made.—Hartford Courant.

Energetic Citizen

In the city of a neighboring state it is said one man has by himself succeeded in locating 16 different industries in his town with a pay roll over into the millions annually. Is there not food for thought in this item when you so often hear the remark made, "we could and should have more industrial plants in our town, but just can't get all the people to unite upon a plan by which we can be able to secure them." A leader and captain of industries is worth while anywhere.—Cullman (Ore.) Tribune.

Feminine Punctuality

Of the national magazines especially devoted to the interest of women and largely written by them I discover none which applies even a moderately civilized degree of editorial restraint in the matter of purposeless quotation marks.

Women—apparently without any teaching or encouragement except from each other—have evolved their own idiom in the quotation mark, the exclamation point, the dash, the underline. So instinctive is many a woman's use of these devices where no man would think of using them that one actually hears them constantly in her oral utterances. Feminine punctuation alone can make a statistical essay on insurance read like baby talk.—Wilson Follett in the Bookman.

Danube's "Iron Gate"

The famous Iron gate in the Danube is not a gate at all. That is merely the picturesque name originally given by the Turks to a narrow gorge or pass where the river has cut its way through a spur of the Transylvanian Alps a few miles below Orsova in Rumania. A real gate of iron could not have more effectively prevented the passage of Turkish fleets than the dangerous rapids and massive boulders which obstructed the channel for nearly two miles. In 1830 a Hungarian company began the removal of many of the obstructions by a series of blasting operations. The river through the Iron gate or Iron gates was declared open for navigation in 1836.—Exchange.

Picked Up About Town

Dad Plymouth says if people would reform themselves and leave the world alone everybody would be better off.

Congress seems to think the 18th Amendment was passed for the purpose of giving its members a chance to put on a vaudeville show.

"The kind of man the modern girl wants to marry," says Dad Plymouth, "is one who is so rich it doesn't make any difference how poor a cook she is."

About the only sign of success that a lot of people can recognize is the $ sign.

The danger in spelling things out before the children today is to keep them from understanding what you're saying is that they're liable to correct your spelling.

According to Dad Plymouth the horse is man's best friend—until he bets on him.

Plymouth homes have it over city restaurants in one respect. You can always trust the hash at home.

Have you a lot or house to sell or exchange? Why not let the people of Plymouth and surrounding territory know about it—advertise it in the Want Ad Columns of the Mail—the cost is little, the results are big. Just bring the ad in or telephone number 6 and ask for want ad taker.

The Red Rocket a demonstrator of Pontiac's finer performance

Beginning today, you'll see the car with the RED ROCKET on the streets and boulevards of this city. It is a New Series Pontiac Big Six, marked with a RED ROCKET to symbolize its remarkable speed, pick-up and power. This demonstrator is on the streets for two reasons. First, so you can obtain a vivid impression of its speed, its quick getaway, its smoothness and easy handling. Second, so you can receive a demonstration on the spot—anytime, anywhere you see this car. We want you to take the wheel. For only in this way is it possible to realize what excellent performance you can now enjoy in this new low-priced six!

SPEED AND POWER. Pontiac's 60 horsepower engine, with 200 cubic inch piston displacement, is the largest in any six of its price. This accounts for Pontiac's exceptional top speed, its swift acceleration, and its abundant power on the hills.

SMOOTHNESS. This engine is also very smooth because of its new-type rubber mountings and its Harmonic Balancer which counteracts torsional crankshaft vibration.

EASY HANDLING AND RIDING. A new steering system acting on roller bearings and improved four-wheel brakes make this car delightfully easy to handle. And riding is unusually smooth, thanks to its comfortable new Fisher bodies with mohair upholstery of excellent quality, and improved Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers.

Now ask to drive the car with the RED ROCKET. Or come to our salesroom, where you can learn about Pontiac's reliability, economy and long life. A demonstration will show you what splendid performance Pontiac now is offering at very low cost.

The New Series Pontiac Big Six, $745 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Mich., plus delivery charges. Shock absorbers standard equipment. Bumpers and spring covers at slight extra cost. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values. Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

Backbone of a Camel

The backbone of the single-humped camel is not curved upward in the middle, as many people suppose. It is straight as the backbone of a horse or elephant. Humps on all camels are composed chiefly of fat and they vary in size according to the physical condition of the animals. When they are worked hard and poorly fed their humps shrivel up and become flaccid. Much of the ability of camels to travel long distances over the desert without food and water is due to this extra fat in their humps. The surplus fat is reabsorbed by the body when the animal does not get sufficient food and water. Thus the hump serves as a sort of compensatory department from which the animal receives sustenance in time of famine. In certain breeds of sheep extra fat is stored in the tail.—Pathfinder Magazine.

BAKED BEANS FOR WINTER SUPPERS

One of Best Liked Traditional Menus for Saturday.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

When tradition associates a particular dish or food combination with a definite part of the country, some good reason usually exists for the popularity of that menu. Winter days along the Massachusetts coast, and in fact, anywhere in New England, are much of the time as bleak as we paint them when we talk about the Pilgrims. There is need, therefore, in planning meals for those who go out of the home to work, to have various dishes which will be tasty, hot, substantial, and filling, when the workers come home.

New England thrift doubtless plays its part in the choice of one of the best liked of these traditional menus—Boston baked beans and brown bread for Saturday night supper. The beans themselves are economical and filling, but to be fine-flavored they must be cooked very slowly for a very long time. In many households it was the custom in colonial days to prepare all of Sunday's food on Saturday, and even where this is not adhered to, it is common enough to find Saturday a busy baking day, what with cakes and pies and bread for the week-end. With the fire in constant use from early morning, Saturday proved to be the most practical day for leaving the bean pot in the back of the oven until the taste of the salt pork and the molasses and other seasonings was thoroughly blended with the beans. The brown bread that goes with the beans is also the result of long cooking. First it is steamed, and then baked, so that advantage is again taken of the fire in the coal or wood range. The bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture furnishes the following directions for making Boston baked beans in the true New England way.

Boston Baked Beans.
2 cups dried beans 1 tsp. mustard, if 1/2 quart water is desired
1/4 pound salt pork 1 1/2 tsp. salt (depending on saltiness of pork)
4 tbs. molasses Onion, if desired

Soak the beans overnight in cold water to cover. In the morning discard the water, add the quart of fresh water and simmer for 45 minutes, or until the beans begin to soften, and drain. Score the rind of the salt pork and put half of the pork in the bottom of the bean pot. Add the beans, mix the molasses and other seasonings with a little hot water, and pour over the beans. Add enough hot water to cover. Place the rest of the salt pork on top, cover the pot, and cook the beans in a slow oven (about 250 degrees Fahrenheit) for six or seven hours. Add a little hot water from time to time to replace that which cooks away and is absorbed by the beans. Keep the lid on the bean pot until the last hour of cooking, then uncover, and allow the beans and pork on the top to brown.

Boston Brown Bread.
1 cup corn meal 1 cup sour milk
1 cup rye meal and 1/4 tps.
1 cup graham flour soda or 1/2 cups
1 tsp. salt sweet milk and
1/2 cup molasses 4 tps. baking powder.

Mix and sift the dry ingredients; add the molasses and the milk. Beat the mixture thoroughly. Pour the batter into a greased tin can or mold until it is about three-fourths full. Cover, and steam for 3 1/2 hours. Remove the cover, and bake the bread in a moderate oven for one-half hour to dry it off. If the bread seems likely to crumble, loop a clean string around the loaf and cut slices by pulling the ends of the string.

Value of Milk Bottles Thrown Away Is Large

Do you use milk bottles for jam, kerosene, paint and other household articles? Perhaps you use them for flower vases, or in numerous other ways. If they get too dirty, probably they are thrown out with the ashes or trash.

Such a procedure is far too common, says the bureau of dairy industry, United States Department of Agriculture, and adds materially to the consumer's milk bill. The annual milk-bottle bill of the nation is close to $30,000,000, the bureau says, and at least $20,000,000 of this is lost occurring after bottles leave the dairy.

Last year in one large city, junk men picked off the city dumps 20,000,000 milk bottles which had been thrown away. These bottles had a value of over $1,000,000.

Milk in Refrigerators Keeps Best at 45 Degs.

To keep milk in the best possible condition in the household refrigerator a temperature of 45 degrees Fahrenheit or below in the milk compartment is desirable. This conclusion is the result of studies recently made by the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture to determine the temperature and conditions that should be maintained in the home refrigerator to keep milk for the length of time it is ordinarily held. Refrigeration is used to retard the development of bacteria in milk and prevent the decomposition brought about by these organisms, and so keep the milk as nearly as possible in the original wholesome condition.

BY THE MANAGER

The spring breakup is having its usual destructive effects upon the gravel streets within the village, with the result that our principal outdoor activity for the past week or more has been that of filling holes and otherwise repairing bad places. Until such time as we have some heating rains to pack down the road beds, very little can be done to grade the surfaces and fit our streets for summer use.

In response to a demand for police protection in the residential districts in the south and west parts of the village it is expected that an extra night patrolman will be placed upon duty in the near future, and that a rearrangement of beats will result in all portions of the village receiving night police protection. The request for protection in the residential districts have been repeatedly made for the past year or two, and is now being definitely recognized and approved by the Commission.

The following board of election inspectors have been appointed for the two precincts for the village election next Monday: Precinct No. 1—John W. Henderson, Mrs. W. T. Pettinelli, Mrs. F. W. Hillman, Mrs. Gayle Donnelly, Theodore Chilson. Precinct No. 2—Harry Minthorn, Frank Torney, Mrs. John Quartel, Mrs. Karl Starkweather and Louis Reber.

Rosedale Gardens

Mrs. Joseph Schroeder and Mrs. Willard Holton of Berwick avenue were busy entertaining Sunday. The following were visitors: Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bush and daughters Jacqueline and Geraldine; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Jay; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dreher and daughter Patricia; Mr. and Mrs. Brown; and Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Crawford and family, Robert and Shirley, all of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Folsom gave a farewell party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. E. MacDonald last Friday evening. The MacDonalds moved to Pontiac last Saturday.

Dan McKloney entertained the Five Hundred club Tuesday evening. Honors were awarded to the following: J. Schroeder, first; Mata Fisher, second; Mrs. W. Holton, consolation; and W. Flaannigan, booby. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Holton substituted for Mr. and Mrs. J. Bryant.

ROSEDALE SCHOOL NOTES

6, 7, and 8th Grades
The glory of Michigan is to reforest the upper part of the state, which has been used for purposes of the country, by fires and other damages. Upper Michigan's forests are all but bare. For this reason the children of the schools are contributing their share to reforest Michigan.

Are you doing your share toward this great matter?
At the last visit of our helping teacher, Miss Jameson, we earned two more gold stars. They were for five community meetings and the P. T. A. being affiliated with county, state and national organizations.

We hope to have all of our black stars turned to gold by the end of this school year.

Most of the girls have finished their second project, starting the third article as soon as possible.

Achievement Day, March 23—each girl is doing her best to win.

4th and 5th Grades
In the fourth grade we have a new pupil, her name is Marilyn Holton.

The fifth grade has the privilege of trying for the honor of winning a lovely dictionary this year, for the best speller. Who do you think will win? All the children are trying their hardest.

2nd and 3rd Grades
In Miss Smith's room we are helping in the plan of reforesting Michigan. By saving our money each person has or will contribute some money for the cause. We hope we are doing our part.

The two zones A and B, are going together and helping to plant our future forests.

Cut Bus Service To Northville—A New Company Talked

BUSINESS MEN ARE WATCHING DEVELOPMENTS, MAIL SERVICE HURT.

In view of the fact that the Detroit Motorbus company has partially abandoned its suburban service to Northville, Plymouth and outlying communities, a group of Northville businessmen are closely watching the situation with the idea of organizing a Northville-Detroit Transportation company, if the company that has in the past been giving service does not restore it.

The new service not only cuts down the mid-day travel to the east from Northville, but it also seriously interferes with the afternoon mail service.

The mail that formerly reached here at 4:00 o'clock sometimes comes at 5:00 o'clock and is distributed that day—and sometimes Northville businessmen do not receive it until the next day.

In a discussion of the situation, local businessmen have pointed out that one of the great needs of Northville is a bus service that will give good service to Detroit and the nearby institutions as well. There is a large amount of traffic from this place to the William H. Maybury Sanatorium, the Detroit House of Correction and the Wayne County Training school. The plan that is being considered is the organization of a company that will provide service to these institutions as well as to Detroit. No definite action has been taken, but it is known that the matter is under consideration.—Northville Record.

Farm Census Schedule Copies Now Available

FARM CENSUS SCHEDULE AVAILABLE THROUGH OFFICE OF COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT.

Simple copies of the General Farm Schedule in advance of the enumeration which begins April 2, 1930, are now available at the office of Ralph Carr, County Agricultural Agent, 303 Dearborn Building, Dearborn, Michigan.

These copies have been sent by W. M. Stewart, U. S. Director of the Census, in order that all may have an opportunity to study the schedule before the enumerator calls. Attention is called to three points regarding this census:

1. All questions must be answered to the best of one's ability.
2. The answers are strictly confidential.
3. To be of value the report must be accurate and to make the census accurate is the reason for this advance schedule.

Copies may be secured of Ralph Carr, County Agricultural Agent, or from H. W. Klimeser, Supervisor of Census, 138 West Michigan Avenue, Dearborn, Michigan, or from The Bureau of the Census, Washington, D. C.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Because of the fact that next week is to be observed in Plymouth as "Business and Professional Women's Week," the Plymouth League of Women Voters will not hold their luncheon on March 10th, as planned, but will attend the luncheon to be given by the Business and Professional Women's Club at the Mayflower on March 13th.

The annual meeting of the Plymouth League will be held at the home of Mrs. R. H. Beck, Monday afternoon, March 10th, at 2:30. Election of officers for the coming year will take place. The speaker for the afternoon will be Mr. Berg D. Moore, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, who has chosen for his subject, "Women in Chamber of Commerce Work." Light refreshments will be served. All League members are urged to attend this meeting.

Two Big Crowds See 'Aunt Lucia'

which Jerry as "Aunt Lucia" put himself. The plot of the play becomes further entangled by the dash for "Lucia's," millions by the "Butter and Egg Man from Omaha." Alton J. Richwine; Mr. Collins, Dick's father, taken by E. E. Giles, and Professor Gaddis, Adolph Koenig. These three in their mad desire for money, proposed to "Aunt Lucia" much to the amusement of the audience.

The excitement which "Aunt Lucia" created about the campus aroused no little interest in Dean Howard, Mabel Dicks, Professor Gaddis, Adolph Koenig; Dr. Seamore, Irving Ulrich, president of the college, and Mrs. Seamore. Vanita Alguitre, who persisted in obtaining a substantial gift for a new foot ball stadium from "Aunt Lucia."

The unlucky freshmen, Ed DePorter and Stephen Horvath, came in for some rough treatment, added a great deal of color and realism to the presentation. Songs by the glee club and the direction of activities by the fraternity president, Melvin Alguitre, rounded out the college days.

The actions of George and Dick with "Aunt Lucia" caused a great deal of concern among the girls of the college, and especially Betsy and Molly. Hilda Barnes. But the disappearance of Jerry into the costume of "Aunt Lucia" was the cause of the shedding of many tears by Ethelyn, Irene Brown.

The grotesque costumes in which the flapper chorus, as portrayed by the business men of Plymouth, appeared brought down the house. Those who took part were: Sorority president, Harry Brown; Peaches Brown; Art Blunk; Tilly the Toller, Oscar Albro; Baby Face, Dr. Fred Stauffer; Gloria Swanson, Albert Faber; Hard Hearted Hannah, Carl Ash; Innocent Freshman, Bill Choffin; Campus Flirt, Andy Hann; Studious Girl, Walter Ebert; Corn-fed Coed, Vitto Simonetti; Clinging Vine, Floyd Ekles; Clara Bow, Dave Galin; Concocted Junior, Art McConnell; Teacher's Pet, Harry Barnes; Beauty Winner, Kenneth Hyde; Girl with the Million Dollar Legs, Lee McConnell; Athletic Girl, Paul Hayward; Matilda Jane, Howard Eckles; Powerful Katrika, Perry Richwine; Jugg's Maggie, Melvin Alguitre; Mrs. Lindbergh, George Evans; Perfect 76, Robert Bauehn; Vamp of Plymouth, Robert Willoughby; Cleopatra, Roswell Tanner; Bathing Beauty, Harry Mumby; Gold Digger, Frank Terry; Dancin' Girl, Charles Denune; Mary Lou, George Krupo; Boots, Frank Everett; Bride of 1930, Melvin Partridge.

Special musical number—"Out in the New Mown Hay." Girls' Chorus: "Breezing Alone." Girls' Chorus: "Who's That Pretty Baby." Flapper Chorus: "Say It Again." Finale. Mrs. James Hone was the accompanist. The singing of the Girls' Chorus was one of the highlights of the show and each number was well received. The Girls' Chorus was composed of the following: Elizabeth Strong, Doris Holloway, Louise Woodworth, Mary Lorenz, Virginia Woodworth, Mary McKinnon, Dorothy Hubert, Janet Blickenstaff, Maurine Dunn, Marjorie Cole, Helen Jaynes, Jewell Rengert, Edna Proctor, Ruth Soth, Camilla Ashton, Kathryn Hitt, Louise Doherty, Lois Caldwell, Katherine Tuck, Catherine Nichol, Dora Gallimore, Wynona Kenter, Hazel Rathbun, Beryl Proctor.

The business men of Plymouth singing in the Bula Bula College Glee Club were: Austin Whipple, Calvin Whipple, C. W. Hamer, Wm. Wood, Russell Roe, Harvey Springer, Oral Rathbun, Glen Jewell, Harry Green, Claire Block, Wm. McLeod, Walter Anderson, Arnold Thompson, Swen Eklund, Carl Blalch, Alfred Bakewell, John Meyer, Vaughn Smith.

One of the pleasing features of the evening's program was furnished by about one hundred little tots of Plymouth, when they opened the show with a pageant entitled, "Take Me Back to Babyland." For this number Mrs. Frank Dicks gave several readings that were greatly appreciated. The High School orchestra under the direction of Miss Gladys Schrader, furnished excellent music before the opening of the show and between the acts.

Record Average Made By Herd At Training School

COWS PRODUCE AVERAGE OF 12,804 LBS. OF MILK EACH DURING PAST YEAR.

An unusually high average, according to the reports just completed are shown by the Wayne County Training School dairy herd in milk and butterfat production for the past year, according to Joseph Cook, who is herdsman at the school.

The average amount of milk produced from each cow during the year 1929 was 12,804 pounds. The average amount of butterfat per cow for the same period was a fraction over 405 pounds.

Nineteen cows in this group of high producers were heifers with first calves.

Charlevoix Ormsby Zephyr, a registered Holstein, has just finished a seven day test with the following record: 580 pounds of milk and 28.03 pounds of butterfat.

The Wayne County Training school herd during the past two or three years has become one of the best known herds of Holsteins in Michigan as the result of the high average milk and butterfat production.—Northville Record.

NEWBURG

All who attended the church services Sunday morning and evening certainly enjoyed a treat given by the young people of Wesleyan Guild, Ann Arbor. The team consisted of Paul Russell, Walter Starr, Miss Catherine Zimmer and Miss Grace Cannon, all students at the University.

The party at the hall Saturday evening, which was conducted by these young people was also a great success.

Our church has been beautifully decorated the past week, the work being done by Fred Gency. A new heating plant has also been installed and now the building is much more enjoyable.

Ed. Youngs and family, of Redford, were dinner guests at the home of his brother and sisters last Sunday.

Mrs. Stanley Steiner and daughter, Helen, of Detroit, were Sunday visitors at the home of Robert Holmes.

Rev. and Mrs. Wm. Johnson and son Billy were calling on Newburg friends Tuesday.

Unpainted Building Decays

The recent authoritative estimate that the weathering of unpainted buildings and implements costs American farmers $300,000,000 a year leads the Farm Journal to point out what is really happening to a building while the owner thinks he is saving money by delaying the needed coat of paint. It is decay, but the actual wearing away of the exposed surface that makes a ruin of the neglected building long before its time.

Brick Veneering Pays

Many old houses have sturdy frames despite the shabby and old appearance of the exterior. Given a veneer of face brick, these houses will put on an appearance of new and will give service that compares well with an entirely new home, for the brick exterior provides protection against the elements and takes on added beauty with the years.

Drainage System Is Subject of Bulletin

Wet Soil Is Cold and Very Difficult to Cultivate.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The drainage of wet spots in cultivated fields is generally the most profitable type of drainage a farmer can employ, since it increases crop yields and also permits him to "square up" the fields so the land can be cultivated with the minimum of time and labor.

Farmers' Bulletin 1606-F, "Farm Drainage," just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, gives practical information for farmers who have fields requiring drainage. The bulletin points out that a wet soil is cold, lacks beneficial bacteria, is difficult to cultivate and does not provide proper conditions for the growth and development of roots, all of which results in reduced yields.

Sometimes fields can be satisfactorily drained by open ditches but usually it is advisable to construct underdrains, the bulletin says. The first essential of a tile drainage system is a suitable outlet without which the system will be a failure no matter how well constructed. Having provided an outlet the next step is to locate the drains so that they will serve all portions of the field to be drained at a minimum expense.

The depth and spacing of drains, the size of the tile, and the maintenance of drains, are all subjects of great importance to the farmer who desires to drain his farm efficiently. These subjects are discussed in detail in the bulletin, a copy of which may be obtained by writing to the office of information, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Use Fertilizer on Corn to Increase the Yield

Five good reasons for using commercial fertilizer on corn have been advanced by C. J. Chapman, soils specialist at the University of Wisconsin. It seems that small applications of the fertilizer start the crop off quickly, get it ahead of the weeds, advance maturity, improve quality and increase yields.

Commercial fertilizers cannot be applied in sufficient amounts to furnish enough of the necessary elements to produce a crop of corn, but an application of 100 to 200 pounds of fertilizer per acre has proved to be a profitable investment on Wisconsin farms. It furnishes available food for the young growing plant just at the time it needs it most, and yields are often increased solely because corn got a good, early start.

The applying of the fertilizer is more important than is commonly thought, said the university specialist. The seeds should never come in direct contact with the fertilizer. It is best that the fertilizer be delivered in a space about two inches wide and six inches long above the seeds.

Profit in Ground Feed for Different Animals

While there may be some disagreement as to the value of ground feed for live stock, still most feeders have found that it pays. In general, a safe rule is to grind grain of all kinds for dairy cattle and grind all the hard grains for other live stock.

Two types of mills are available to farmers—the burr mill and the hammer mill. The burr mill is the older type and consists of circular plates working against each other to grind the materials. The hammer mill has a number of roughly mounted "hammers" on a rapidly rotating shaft and when the feed is dropped against these hammers it is "beat" to pieces.

Any farmer who has a fair-sized gas engine or a tractor, has very convenient and economical power for operating feed grinders and should use it for this purpose.

Winter Use of Spreader Is Found Advantageous

Many a farmer has more time to take care of odd jobs during the winter time than at any other season of the year. The wise farmer will use his spare time advantageously and one way of doing it is to get out into the fields all the manure around the stables. Treating the land to a wide and even layer of manure or well-rotted straw is a mighty beneficial matter. The fertility of the fields will be increased and the reward will come in greater crop yields.

Of course, a manure spreader is the most convenient implement to use in this work. The spreader can be kept near the barn and the manure pitched into it with forks or dumped from the carriers. It is an easy matter to hitch the horses or the tractor to the spreader, haul it out to the field and get rid of the load in record time.

Dwarf Peas Best

Dwarf varieties of peas are best for all purposes, as they mature quickly and require no trellis or support. By falling over as they grow top heavy they help to conserve the moisture. Early Alaska is best for very earliest planting. They are almost all ready for picking at one time and by removing the stripped vines, another crop of vegetables can be grown on the ground. Little Marvel is excellent for the second planting. It is a very heavy producer of large peas of superior quality.

Plan to Beautify Prairie

Erengreens, distributed by the state forest extension service and planted by the farmers of Custer county, Neb., are to transform the barren prairies of this section into beauty spots in the spring of 1930.

The first county in Nebraska to perfect a definite program for tree planting and beautification, Custer will have the aid of the federal forest service, as well as the state forestry department, in reaching its goal—Exchange.

Community Building

Country Highways Not Adapted to Speeding

An analysis of highway accidents by the department of motor vehicles of Connecticut appears to show that those in country sections are relatively more costly in loss of life and limb than are those in large cities. It was found that one death could be expected in every forty-one accidents on a country highway. The ratio of deaths to accidents in city streets was 1 to 75.

There is little mystery about this. A considerable proportion of accidents in towns is due to collisions when neither car may be going at great speed. Persons driving in a city naturally expect danger at street intersections and perhaps keep sharper lookout than do those bowling along an open highway. Speeding in a well-policed city is attended by greater risk of arrest than is the case on a rural highway.

Drivers from a city when touring through the country, says the New York Sun, will do well to remember, however, that driving recklessly there is foolish and dangerous, just as driving recklessly in town is foolish and dangerous. Although a clear, well-paved highway offers temptation to step on the gas, the chance of escaping unharmed from an accident is relatively less there than it is on a city boulevard.

Good Business Reasons for Beautiful Factory

The successful factories of the future will not be a sprawling mass of unsightly brick and metal, but, for good business reasons, will tend toward the esthetic, according to Frank D. Tomson of Lincoln, Neb., who spoke before the twenty-first semiannual meeting of the American Railway Development association, at Chicago.

"Nice looking factories, especially those with parks and beautiful grounds, will be the rule for the future," he said.

"In building an architecturally beautiful factory the builder helps develop the property near his location, brings other business sites to the place and establishes a small commercial city. In the end he will benefit by his thoughtfulness for the beauty of his city."

Lessening Fire Losses

One of the most important ways in which our tremendous annual fire loss (which now exceeds 500 million dollars) can be reduced is through better building construction, says S. H. Ingber, chief of the fire resistance section of the bureau of standards, Department of Commerce. While this method of reducing fire losses necessarily takes some time in yielding apparent results, it is nevertheless, one of the most effective ways of combating this destructive element in the long run.

It is to be hoped that as old buildings are replaced, and as the new construction reflects to an increasing extent the knowledge gained in the laboratory and through studies of actual fires, the destruction of property will decrease.

Would Extend Zoning Limits

All land lying within five miles of the corporate limits of a municipality would be included in that municipality's jurisdiction for the purpose of establishing proper control over subdivision platting, according to the preliminary edition of the proposed standard city planning enabling act, which has just been issued by the United States Department of Commerce. The preliminary edition has been issued in order that the act may receive the criticism of associations and individuals familiar with city planning problems before its final form has been determined upon.

Color Combinations

Besides the snow white and gray cement stuccos there is a wide range of colored stuccos requiring neither finishing nor recasting, and affording you an opportunity for the most artistic color backgrounds in stucco finish. You may have a solid color, relieved, perhaps, by a contrasting roof or trimmings. Also most charming combinations of colors may be worked out, permitting the widest individual expression.

LENTEN NOTICE
Willy-nilly, being a child of Adam and Eve, and therefore a sinner in need of the grace of God, every human being must at some time or other before the door of death close the opportunity of salvation for him, answer for himself the question of "Hate: 'What shall I do then with Jesus, who is called Christ?' There is no loop-hole here for evasion: the answer will be either 'Simon Peter's: 'Lord, to whom shall we go; thou hast the words of eternal life. And we believe and are sure, that thou art that Christ, the Son of the living God'—or, that of the Jew's: 'Let Him be crucified.'"

Lent affords you an excellent opportunity to hear the Message of Pardon, to behold the Savior in His Glory: His sufferings and death—and to prepare your heart to answer the question favorably. The theme-song for our Lenten meditations which are to be held every Thursday evening during Lent, beginning at 7:30, is to be found in Philippians 2: 5-11.

The sermons are as follows:
March 13th—Our Savior's Prayerful Struggle in the Garden—Matthew 26: 36-46.
March 20th—Our Savior Betrayed—Matthew 26: 47-56.
March 27th—Our Savior Denied—Luke 22: 54-62.
April 3rd—Our Savior Accused and Condemned to Death—Luke 22: 66-23: 25.
April 10th—Our Savior Bowed by the Women of Jerusalem—Luke 23: 27-31.
April 17th—Our Savior Forsaken of God—Mark 15: 23-38.
April 24th—Our Savior's Death on the Cross—Luke 23: 46-48.
German Lenten Services every Sunday evening at 7:30. Good Friday, April 18th at 10:30 a. m. with Holy Communion. Holy Communion in the English on Easter Morn.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES.
The meeting of the Busy Women's Class on Tuesday at the Manse brought out a good attendance. This organization has had a long and honorable record. It was decided to hold the next meeting in May to make way for the congregational annual meeting in April.
The Woman's Auxiliary will meet Wednesday, March 12th at 2:30 p. m. This is the annual meeting of the society and reports of the work for the year will be presented and officers elected for the ensuing year.
The church year ends March 31st and the annual congregational meeting is Wednesday, April 2nd.

Christian Science Notes
"Christ Jesus" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches on Sunday, March 2. Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord" (Luke 2:11). The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus' spiritual origin and understanding enabled him to demonstrate the facts of being, to prove irrefutably how spiritual Truth destroys material error, heals sickness, and overcomes death" (page 315). The Lesson-Sermon for next Sunday, March 9th—"Man."

METHODIST NOTES
"Ye, the work of our hands established Thou it"—Psalm 90:17.
Sunday morning, March 9th—the first Sunday in Lent. Holy Communion. Sunday evening, 7:15, song service and sermon. Last Sunday night the Juniors sang for us and we had a delightful service. They have agreed to help us often. Come and enjoy this happy time with us. All who wish to come will be welcome.
Wednesday, March 12th, the Missionary Societies will meet with Mrs. Elmer Gray, 1352 West Ann Arbor St. Cooperative luncheon at 12:15 in charge of Mrs. Dickerson and Mrs. Torrey. Mrs. Towle will have the devotions. As we have several out of town speakers, the meeting will begin promptly at two o'clock. The following are to be with us: Miss Edna Bacon, the Children's Missionary who is on furlough from Bareilly, India; Mrs. J. E. MacDonough, Conference Sec'y of Christian Citizenship; and Mrs. Mabel Con. Sec'y of Children's Work. This will be a program that none of our women can afford to miss, so plan to meet with us. All interested are cordially invited.
Special notice to all Junior Missionary children: Wednesday night immediately after school, we are to have the pleasure of meeting our Children's Missionary from India, Miss Edna Bacon. All the children are invited to come to the Church promptly to hear Miss Bacon.
Every Wednesday evening during the Lenten season we are enjoying our Church Training Night, beginning with a cooperative supper at 6 o'clock, followed by a devotional period, and a special message from our pastor. Every member of the congregation is cordially invited to come and enjoy this fellowship with us, bring some sandwiches, and one other dish, and join this happy Church family. We are studying Stanley Jones' latest book, "The Christ of Every Race."
Sunday evening, March 23rd we are to have a very special treat in the form of a Pageant and a Playlet put on by our Children. It will be very much worth while and all are invited to set aside that date and come and enjoy them. There will be no charge, but a silver collection will be taken to further Children's Missionary work.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

Four Great Facts

Four facts, God and man, sin and salvation, these are the test of all religion. Every religious creed must be judged by the way it meets these fundamental facts of the spiritual life. What does it teach about God, his character, goodness, and power of ultimate triumph over evil? How does it regard man, his moral responsibilities for sin, his capacity for righteousness? How does it deal with the problems of sin, and what salvation does it offer? What do you personally believe on these matters? What did Jesus teach concerning them? On Sunday mornings during Lent these facts will be studied in a series of sermons by the rector at St. John's church.

The Rev. Harry Midworth, rector of the Church of Our Savior, Detroit, will be the guest speaker at the first Family Vespers service at 5:00 p. m. Sunday, March 9. Mr. Midworth is well-known by many Plymouth people who will undoubtedly welcome this opportunity of hearing him preach, and visiting with him during the fellowship hour immediately following the service. A hearty welcome awaits all who come.

Adventurous, challenging religion, calling forth all the enthusiasm and ideals of youth, is being presented to the children who attend the Wednesday afternoon services during Lent. If your children have not yet enrolled remind them to do so next Wednesday; they will not need to be urged after the first time! Parents are invited to visit either the Sunday morning or mid-week programs of the church school.

Lenten mid-week boxes were given out last Friday. We wonder how many boys and girls have begun to use them.

A fish supper is now being planned for Friday, March 14. The Guild has a reputation for serving delicious fish. Have you read your copy of the new monthly bulletin published by the Diocese of Michigan? It contains some interesting news about the church's activities in many places.

CATHOLIC NOTES
Lenten devotions will be held every Tuesday and Friday night at eight o'clock. The services on Tuesday will consist of rosary sermon and benediction. Friday, Way of the Cross and benediction. A cordial invitation is extended to all to participate in these services. The St. Patrick's party this year will consist of a card party. Each person will be asked to fill a table and pivot thereon. A prize will be given to each table for high and low score. All are invited. Five hundred, bridge and cards will be played. Watch for further announcements.
Sunday is Holy Name Sunday for the men and boys of the parish.
Next Wednesday, Friday and Saturday are the Ember Days.
The body of Peter Schaf has been found. His death was caused through despondency as he was unable to get work since last fall.
Holy practice Friday at 4:00 for the children, and the services for the men. Let all attend to rehearse the Lenten hymns.

BAPTIST NOTES
The Ladies' Aid society meets at the home of Mrs. Estep, Wednesday afternoon, March 12.
Last Monday evening the Young Men's class met for their monthly business meeting. Plans and methods were discussed through which the class might be enlarged. At the close of the meeting a hamburger fry was enjoyed by all.
The series of sermons on prophecy will be brought to a close Sunday evening. The theme for next Sunday evening will be "Prophecy and Fulfillment." This series has created quite a bit of interest; each service has been well attended. The past five Sunday evenings we have examined prophecy as it has been literally fulfilled concerning the birth, ministry, and resurrection of Christ. Sunday evening our theme will be some what different in that we shall examine prophecy concerning conditions which are yet to come. Shall there ever be a time in which there shall be no more death, sickness, crime, suffering or economic oppression? What does the Scripture say concerning this?

There's another advantage in being poor. If you die suddenly nobody howls to have the estate audited.
A good way for any married man in Plymouth to acquire happiness is to learn how useless it is for him to make house-cleaning suggestions.

OVEN COOKED MEALS

To work during interruptions from telephone, children, and door bell; to serve hot foods but, and cold foods cold; to hurry home from work or from an afternoon party with one idea in mind and that to attempt to get dinner together before the family arrives; having to delay shopping until the afternoon due to necessary watching of cooking foods—these are the things which test the stability of a home-maker. Yes, and these are the very conditions which have caused her to take advantage of oven cooked meals—one of our greatest labor saving devices. Oven meals allow the home-maker hours of complete freedom from pot-watching, and bring satisfaction in being able to serve the well-cooked meal hot. There is no excitement at the last minute in an attempt to get the whole meal properly served at one time.

In a recent bulletin put out by the American Stove Company, the problem "What advantages are there to cooking whole meals in the oven at one time in comparison to cooking them on surface burners?" was tested. Two tests were made. In test number one the following meal was prepared on the surface burners. In test number two all of the food was prepared and put into an automatically controlled oven at 275 degrees for a period of 3 hours.

- SOUP
- VEAL ROAST
- SWEET POTATOES
- CALLIFLOWER
- LETTUCE SALAD
- CHOCOLATE PUDDING
- FOAMY SAUCE

The oven meal was started at 9:00 o'clock in the morning. At 9:30 everything had been placed in the oven and it was unnecessary to look at the food from that time until 12:30 when the meal was to be served. The sauce and salad were made in the meantime so, with the exception of the 14 minutes used for their preparation, the rest of the time could be devoted to any activity outside of the kitchen which might be desired.

The surface cooked meal required the worker's time in the kitchen most of the morning. The meal was cooking by 9:30, having been started at 9:00 o'clock. It was not necessary to look at the various foods until 10:30. However, from 10:30 until 11:52 it was necessary to be active in the kitchen to add water to the pudding and roast; turn the flame low under the potatoes; remove the pudding from the stove, etc., which meant giving constant thought to the meal and no very great period of freedom.

There was a saving of 16 1/2 minutes in the preparation of the meal which was prepared in the oven over that which was prepared on the surface burners. There is not only a saving in time when meals are prepared and placed in the oven all at the same time, but during the time the food is baking watching it is unnecessary. If the meal is prepared at 275 degrees for 3 hours there is freedom from the kitchen for this length of time. When the food is prepared on the top of the stove it is necessary to adjust the flame; watch the food; and to be at hand for an emergency, as food burns more quickly under these conditions than when it is placed in the oven to bake. Meals can be planned for high temperatures for short periods of time, or if a longer period of freedom from the kitchen is wanted low temperatures for several hours have been found to be satisfactory.

Call Helen Taylor, Home Service Director, if you wish help in planning oven meals.

Today's Reflections

No one ever saw a Plymouth woman really excited unless they happened to be around when she discovered a bed bug that had dropped in for a little free board.

If you monkey with a buzz-saw you may be compelled to write shorthand the rest of your days.

It has always been our belief that too much sympathy is wasted on early birds and henpecked husbands.

Nowadays the Plymouth girl who wants to marry a man to reform him certainly has a lot of material to pick from.

A well-informed man is one who knows just what stage the Senate has reached in its discussion of the tariff.

Man may be the efficient sex, but he can't address by merely bending over and shaking himself.

You can't wonder at the dumbness of Plymouth kids if they have parents dumb enough to blame it on the teacher.

Another quick way to take a course in the school of experience is to cash a check for a stranger.

It isn't hard to tell the denomination of currency in the dark. Only the one-dollar bills are fully coated with automobile grease.

Movie Teach Beauty
To eliminate "the careless ugliness" of the nation's cities, the American Institute of Architects has started a campaign of public education in "good architecture and good environment." Moving pictures are being employed to illustrate how Washington is being developed as the city beautiful in high schools and colleges and before city bodies.

Cut-Out on New Lines Is Chic and Practical

Here is one of those little frocks that will wear and wear and wear for it has several good points, both smart and practical, says the fashion editor in Woman's Home Companion. First it emphasizes the new silhouette (but so conservatively that even the far from slender woman need not be afraid to try it), the long uneven skirt with side fullness, the smart point at the waist which comes from the normal line, the becomingly feminine cow collar. Then if made in a dull flat crepe material it will go smartly to a Sunday night supper party or to the office. Black, brown or wine red would be very smart colors.

Gay Wool Stockings Are Smart for Sports Wear

The question of what type hose to wear with the longer skirt is considered an important one, and the usual feeling is that the long lines should not be broken by a sharp contrast in hosiery, says a fashion writer in the Kansas City Star. Smart shops report interest in novelty silk and wool and silk and lisle hose for winter, these being especially well liked to complete a woolen costume, even one consisting of a light weight woolen frock.

For severe winter the gay wool sock is staunchly advocated as an appropriate accessory to the sports costume. Those planning a wardrobe for southern wear manifest interest in complexion tints, bordering of course on suntan tones since it is reasonably certain that the sun cult will continue. Rumors of a tendency to economize in stockings now that long skirts make them a less conspicuous feature detail of the costume, are rife. The demand continues, however, for sheer silks or for the aforesaid novelities which, by no means, represent a saving in the initial cost at least.

From Paris also comes the report that higher instep effects are conspicuous among the newer footwear offerings. Satin finished crepe is offered in a wide variety of lovely colors. Most showings include models made of contrasting kids, lizard being still in high favor.

The preference for related shoes and handbags continues. For southern wear fabrics are being cleverly introduced alone or with kid. Linen and crepe de chine, moire and brocade are among the best liked fabrics, while stitching makes an unusual and often attractive decorative detail.

The formal town season finds the evening ensemble, with jacket of slightly longer coat, very much in the ascendency. Such costumes are lavishly trimmed with fluttering fur and are fashioned of transparent velvet, panne, metal cloth or some of the heavier silks, such as faille or moire. There is a strong preference shown for the coarse fish net gown, this being especially well liked in black, a type of frock which, when boasting long sleeves, is termed the Sunday night frock.

An Evening Turban Is Cap in Dull Gold Lace

A successor to the turban of chiffon is a draped cap of dull gold lace with ends that may be wound about the head and tied as one finds most becoming. This fetching little evening accessory complements the long molder gowns and is smart with a fur or furred evening wrap.

Unusually Billboards

The attempt to promote harmony between billboards and civic improvement ideals is a monumental task. The billboard people naturally desire to carry on their business and at the same time they want to soften the growing animosity against their interests. In short, they do not want to see any curtailment of their billboard privileges, while a very large part of the public would like to see billboards entirely eliminated from the landscape.—Providence Journal.

Individuality

A well-designed building should express on its exterior the general scheme of its plan. That is, the larger units should be indicated in the design. In this way each building has its own individuality and the elevations show the particular reasons for its being.

Three Years of Torture Ended By New Konjola

WHEN ALL ELSE TRIED FAILED KONJOLA PROVED AGAIN ITS AMAZING MERIT.

MRS. J. S. ROWSEY
"How I wish I had known of Konjola long ago! Thousands, who suffered while seeking in vain for relief until they found Konjola, have said that. One of these is Mrs. J. S. Rowsey, 10222 Twelfth street, Detroit. And think how happy she must have been when she paid this tribute to Konjola."

"How I wish I had known Konjola long ago, for this is the only medicine that ever helped me. Three years ago I was afflicted with stomach and kidney troubles. Pains settled in the small of my back; I had dizzy spells and attacks of nausea. My feet and ankles were badly swollen. Constipation added to my misery, and I was sick all over and completely discouraged."

"The many endorsements of this new and different medicine, Konjola, induced me to try it. To make a long story short, it took Konjola just three weeks to vanquish every last one of my ailments. I can hardly believe that I am the person who was so miserable three weeks ago. Konjola certainly restored me to glorious health when all else I tried had failed."

Konjola is sold in Plymouth at the Community Pharmacy and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Six acres of land in the Plymouth road section have been sold to the Wayne County road commission for $30,000. It was reported today by Carl W. Schanhlite, realtor, who made the sale.

There was much ado about this here ground pig saying that winter was all over a month ago, so when Prince, the Briggs' great Dane refused to go after one across one of the Rosedale Lakes (Lake Berwick-Ingram), why Clarence Hoffman just drops cheese knife and all went after him with a furnace poker.

ise to have the weather man tell the truth or to exhibit him in the local foodie shoppe as a warning of colder weather to come—well anyhow the beast was at last captured and safely (?) imprisoned in a sweet parsnip basket. A. J. KOENIG, Village Clerk.

The Cornell back door yard is getting all set for Spring, as Elier Cornell is erecting rose arbor and bird houses or something that looks the same. Anyhow it looks fine, and O Kay, Frank ole dear, and congratulations and many of them.

Junior had half emptied his dime bank and was taking one of the neighbor sisters to the local pig rollers for a treat when he spied the selection of garden flower seeds there. The resident pharmacist asked if he liked flowers. "Yes, daddy is going to rope off a space for me only, this spring, an' I guess I may as well look over your seeds now while they are fresh."

Some of the Buttermilkers are going to lay traps or sticky flypaper and raise crickets or catch them to donate to busy chickens. Seems as though Spring is here with the price of eggs dropping out of the market and the supply equal to demand, as at "R" grocers one can get the dandiest fresh eggs, no time at all in boiling soft, and Easter not until April 20—Gosh!

Not quite sure what this weather reminds us of, but we are going to take it up with the P. T. A. meeting tonight, and want everyone there to help out. So after the nominating committee does its dirty work, we are going to move that our school books be changed to read "Winter months are: October, December and January."

In Detroit and Chicago they have had Spring all winter. Typographical error, pardon, we meant, Robins, cross that out too—"Robins"—and they shot some of them poor birds too!

The church board of trustees meet in session tonight, and will announce the decision from the pulpit Sunday morning, provided a quorum is present—Sunday, we mean.

Next Friday, the fourteenth instant, Johnnie Walker will take the boys Benoit on a trip through post and days in France. This will be an illustrated affair. Billie Hodson and Billie Winkler at the gun. All Gardenites and Buttermilkers are invited, not for this only, but for every Friday evening.

Makes a feller feel kinda superstitious like, as when the frost had dropped out of the ground and our lakes were on the way to the sea, along comes another cold spell and we have to do all this excavating shoveling over again, and how!

Come Eleven! The ladies are going to sell White Elephants on the eleventh instant. Come and see how lucky the other fellow is going to be. And didn't we tell ya that the lady who had it up their sleeveless gowns—they are going to have moon pictures too. Two-bits per chance, and cafe and doughnut and picture thrown in for good luck. Come on all ye!

The thieves overlooked the pens which is all that is left of the entire flock. Mr. Buday also visited this farm on a night of the previous week and helped themselves to the radiator of a Ford truck. The Budays were not at the farm when the thefts were committed. They have been spending the greater part of the winter at their home in Detroit.—South Lyon Herald.

The magic cry of "OIL!" is heard near Farmington. According to reports, a large vein of oil has been discovered in the area between Orchard Lake and Southfield, Grand River and Twelve Mile roads. Oil company representatives are said to be calling on property owners in the district, asking them to sign oil leases. According to residents, the rich vein is said to center under Ten Mile road. The oil company representatives are reported to have said the "strike" is genuine.—Farmington Enterprise.

Now that long dresses have come back in favor, girls around Plymouth who want to preserve last summer's models can do so by pasting them in a scrap book.

"Dressed as they are nowadays," says Dad Plymouth "you can't blame a girl for preferring the lap of her boy friend to the cold leather of an auto cushion as a place to sit down."

MINER'S WIFE ASKS SHARE IN MILLIONS

Claims She and Brother Are Heirs to Estate.

Louis, Ky.—An invalid coal miner's wife, Mrs. George Frith, and her brother, Homer Lester, both of Pond Creek, in the mountains near here, have instituted legal proceedings to gain their share of an estate valued at $200,000, left by their great-grandfather, George Boothe, in England. They have been advised that the estate will be divided soon. The woman and her brother say they are direct descendants of Boothe who left Sandwich, Kent, and came to America, settling at Gloucester, Va., about 1700. He had a large estate and added to it in America, depositing the funds in England, where value has grown through the years.

British authorities, Mrs. Frith says, several years ago advertised for claimants to the estate of the venerable man, but Mrs. Frith said legal papers held by herself and her brother were lost, delaying the filing of their claim until recently.

The woman and her brother, Asa H. Boothe, of Christiansburg, Va., have retained counsel in Washington and New York to represent them, she said. Mrs. Frith said her great-grandparent left eight children at his death in 1873 and that there are believed to be forty or fifty heirs to a part of the estate. The wealthy man was buried in Floyd county, Virginia.

The Pond Creek woman and her brother believe they will inherit between $2,000,000 and $12,000,000 each as their share. Mrs. Frith said her attorneys had informed her.

Noted Hopi Runner Loses Race Against Cow Pony

Roanoke, N. M.—Flying Eagle, Hopi runner, failed in his attempt to match speed and endurance in a race against Boss, nine-year-old western cow pony on an oval track here.

At the end of the forty-third mile of a scheduled 100-mile race the Indian runner fell exhausted on the dirt track and was taken to an emergency hospital. He was five miles behind the Mustang.

Flying Eagle is one of the best of the famed Hopi runners. He was used recently in the long search through the Hopi mesa for the lost air liner City of San Francisco.

Discovers Rumble Seat Riders Need Parachutes

Methuen, Mass.—The 1930 model automobile which equipment includes a safety belt and parachute will make a hit with Mrs. Jeanette Jordan.

Police were notified that a woman, in a dazed condition, was wandering along Oakland avenue. When an officer questioned the woman, who proved to be Mrs. Jordan, she could not remember what had happened to her.

Hours later Mrs. Jordan recovered her memory and sheepishly explained that she had been motoring with her husband and had been bounced out of the rumble seat.

Find Mammoth Bones in San Francisco Bay

San Francisco.—Strange mammoth beasts roamed the bay region before the dawn of history. That at least is the supposition of experts who have examined fossilized remains unearthed by workmen on the site of the Southern Pacific's new railroad bridge across Suisun bay. According to G. J. Sielaff, chief geologist of the railroad, the species include portions of a mastodon's tusk, fragments of what may have been the huge skeletons of these strange early creatures and fossilized squirrels' nests.

Mice to Die for Science; Guinea Pigs Are Saved

Washington.—Guinea pigs, "the unknown soldiers of science," have been given a "break." Japanese waltzing mice have been found to be more responsive to concentrations of the deadly carbon monoxide gas, which affords an exit to pigs and canaries, formerly used to detect such lethal gases. The waltzing mice will now be used in rescue work, according to the United States bureau of mines.

Coffin Too Large

Liverpool.—Her coffin was made so large that it could not enter the Baptist church for Miss Jane Wilbur's funeral, so services were held in the churchyard.

Goes to Court to Escape Hungry Kin

Minneapolis, Minn.—Mrs. Agnes Miller of this city has so many hungry relatives with large families who take advantage of her well-stocked larder that she has gone to court in an effort to get away from them. The means she seeks is to change her name to Agnes Sullivan and then to move to a new home. She petitioned the district court at Minneapolis to grant the change.

With the new name she hopes to throw all the mice, ants and cockroaches off the seat of the pantry and thus enable her better to provide for her three children. She is a widow.

Modernization Pays

Flowers of beauty and comfort are easily acquired. The price for a pleasant place to live is low. The dollars and cents standpoint averages $2,000. Scattered over a term of years the monthly cost of modernizing the dwelling is decidedly less than the outlay in cash that goes with living in antiquated houses.

OX-TAIL SOUP IS DELICIOUS DISH

Meat Clinging to Vertebral Bones Has Fine Flavor.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One of the less known but very delicious meats you can buy in most markets during the winter months is an "ox-tail." It is, of course, the tail of any beef animal. Restaurant chefs and other successful cooks have long known the fine flavor of the meat that clings to the vertebral bones in the tail, and have blended this flavor with that of various vegetables in making soup stocks and stews. The cartilage which is intermingled with the muscle or meat fiber has a very acceptable jelly-like texture, and gives the broth a good body. In fact, if any of the soup is strained and put away overnight it will be well jellied the next day so that it may be used as cold jellied soup.

To be truly tender and delicious an ox-tail must be simmered for quite a long time, usually 3 or 4 hours. When the meat is tender the bones will separate. It is then time to add the vegetables, cooking them 10 or 15 minutes in the liquor with the meat. Lemon and parsley, added at serving time, are among the flavors blended with ox-tail. An ox-tail soup or stew is so substantial and nutritious that with crisp toasted rolls or oven-dried bread it is enough for the main course. To round out the menu serve something tart, such as a grapefruit salad, and for dessert a rice or tapioca pudding, since there is relatively little potato or other starchy material in the ox-tail blend.

The following recipe is endorsed by the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture:

- Ox-Tail Soup. 1 ox-tail, 2 1/2 quarts water, 4 carrots, diced, 2 turnips, diced, 2 onions, sliced, 1 large potato, 1 tbs. parsley, 2 tbs. butter, 1 tbs. Worcestershire or other seasoning, Salt and pepper to taste, 1 tbs. chopped fine slices of lemon.

Wash the ox-tail, cut it in short lengths, and brown it in its own fat. Cook the onions in the butter, add to the meat with 2 1/2 quarts of water, and simmer for 3 or 4 hours, or until the meat is tender. Then add the diced carrots, turnips, and potato, and cook for 10 or 15 minutes longer, or until the vegetables are done. Add the seasonings. Serve at once and garnish each plate with a thin slice of lemon and sprinkle with chopped parsley.

If you would rather serve the ox-tail as a stew, drain off the broth and measure as much as you will need for the gravy. For each pint of broth allow 2 tablespoons of flour mixed with cold water to a smooth paste. Cook until thickened, add the meat and vegetables, and reheat. Serve the stew also with a garnish of lemon and chopped parsley. Soup or stew are equally tasty and wholesome.

Pretty Girl Has Edge Over Her Plain Sister

Pretty girls "get away with murder" in New York. Most of them, knowing the power they wield over the other sex, take advantage of the men in various ways.

The traffic policemen are particularly susceptible, and the fair ones aim their shafts particularly at them. For instance, if they want to cross a street against traffic they merely take a step or two from the curb and then give a little shriek when a car approaches. That's the cue for the officer to look in their direction; and when he sees them smile, he holds up his hand, brings all traffic to a stop and escorts them across, exchanging a little hiemey with them en route. And the policemen love it.

Then there are the girls who frequent soda fountains at noon. They quickly learn the names of the dispensers, and soon they will work them this way: "Oh, Artie, don't be so stingy with that whipped cream," or, "Jimmy, fill up this cup; coffee was too cold."

Well, why kick? Give the little girls a big handout.—New York Sun.

How Color Blindness Will Be Transmitted

When a color blind man marries a color blind woman, all children will be color blind. If the same man marries a normal woman all children will be apparently normal, though the daughters may transmit the defect to their sons. Should a color blind man marry a woman that is a carrier, half his daughters will be color blind, the other half carriers, while his sons run an even chance of being color blind or normal. When, however, a normal man marries a normal woman there will, of course, be no color blindness among the offspring nor among the descendants, unless some of them intermarry with strains that are affected. A normal man marrying a carrier may expect half his sons to be normal, the other half color blind. His daughters will all be apparently normal, but half of them will be carriers. Color blind women may expect all of his sons to be color blind and all of his daughters to be carriers.—Good Health.

A Nail in Time

The want of a nail on the exterior of a house may lead to serious consequences. A shingle gets out of place, or a clapboard or siding warps and springs up at one end. The result is that the next rain drives in its moisture and starts rot on the inside wood.

Reveals Cause of Leaks. Most of the leaks which develop in roofs are due to faulty construction or the corrosion of the metal used in flashing. The roofing material itself is not very often to blame.

Good Homes Worth Cost. A good home is worth all you pay for it, in time and effort and money.

Fermented Milks Quite High in Food Account

Buttermilk and other sour or fermented milks are not only wholesome and refreshing as beverages and high in food value, but they have a recognized therapeutic importance, especially in the treatment of intestinal disorders. Milks soured by the introduction of a "starter" or culture containing one or more of the lactic-acid bacteria are produced in large quantities in commercial laboratories and are generally reliable. They differ from each other in the bacteria used and consequently in their effects, but all are high in food value, lacking none of the elements contained in the fresh milk from which they are made except the butterfat.

However, the addition of fermented milk to the diet may change very materially the ratio of protein to other classes of food, the United States Department of Agriculture points out.
