SIXTY SENIORS GET DIPLOMAS

James B. Edmonson, Dean of Education, U. of M., Delivered Address.

Supt. George A. Smith Presented Class of 1930 With Diplomas.

BACCALAUREATE

The formal opening of the Commencement Week activities was observed last Sunday evening with appropriate services at the High school auditorium.

The auditorium was well filled with relatives and friends of the graduates. The class, wearing their caps and gowns were ushered to their seats by the presidents of the Sophomore and Junior classes, Steven Dundek and Bernard Curtis, respectively. The invocation was pronounced by Rev. Oscar Seitz, rector of St. John's Episcopal church. The scripture reading was given by Dr. F. A. Lendrum of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

The Presbyterian choir rendered several appropriate selections during the evening. Rev. Walter Nichol then gave the sermon of the evening, taking for his theme, "Character First." Text—"Seek ye first His kingdom and His righteousness."

The speaker emphasized the need of character to meet the world situation today. He said that character was the basic thing in the world and that the danger lies in the fact that the world's body has been growing faster than the world's soul. He quoted Edwin Markham:

"We are all blind until we see
That in the human plan
Nothing is worth the making
If it does not make the man.
Why build not cities glorious
If man unbuildeth soon?"

In vain we build the world unless
The builder also grows."

He pointed out that today business is putting emphasis on the value of character. Fifty or more great industries have worked out ethical codes and platforms of honorable dealing. "A good name is to be prized above riches," the speaker said.

"Science shows the importance of spiritual factor in life, science must have character. Education also must be spiritualized because education without character is dangerous. Ex-president Coolidge said, 'There is no surer road to destruction than prosperity without character.' Highways of the past were filled with ruins of character. Fields of influence are ever widening by means of the radio and one man speaks to millions. The paper printed in many cities simultaneously. Who is to be trusted with this influence? Only men and women of character. The church is the great steady institution in the world, holding back the undisciplined forces of human society. It's the instrument of God's power and glory in the earth. I commend to your thoughtful consideration a sincere acceptance of Christian faith."

Rev. Nichol brought a timely message that could not have been made a deep impression upon all who heard him.

The service was brought to a close with the benediction by Dr. F. A. Lendrum.

The first part of the program will be given by the children in the primary department. The special feature will be an exquisite little play entitled, "Sir Tommy's Pilgrimage." The king sends his knights on a quest. Whichever knight does the noblest deed that day, for him the Grail will glow when all have assembled at eventide. Sir Tommy is kept home by duty while the others go, but opportunity comes to him through the day in difficult choices and routine duty.

Plans have already been completed in the office of the County Home Demonstration Agent cooperating with the County Executive Committee for the establishment of an annual camp for the women enrolled in Home Demonstration groups through Wayne County.

A. of Flint, and is located on the Flint-Fenton road five miles north of Fenton. It contains 185 acres of land, one mile of lake frontage, wonderful shade trees, an artesian fountain bubbling with ice cold water and a large lodge, with three huge fireplaces, to shelter the campers in rainy weather.

A well rounded program of construction work and play has been planned for the three days. Sunday will be visitors day for members of the women's families and friends.

It will cost only $5.00 for the three days. Those wishing to register may do so with Emma DuBord, County Home Demonstration Agent, Dearborn, phone Dearborn 0299.

Awakened by the light of the flames that had gained considerable headway, Mrs. Roy Terrell and her daughter, Beverly, escaped from their farm home west of Northville, early last Saturday morning, a few minutes before the roof fell in.

Mr. Terrell, a Detroit milk inspector, was not at home.

Fire departments from Northville, Salem and the Detroit House of Correction from fought the flames, but failed to save the house, burned their attention to the farm buildings which had been fired by flying sparks. The house and its contents, valued at about $20,000, were destroyed.

Miss Beverly Terrell is employed in the Plymouth business office of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

Through the courtesy of the Detroit News, who had a recent aerial photograph of Plymouth enlarged, and through the generosity of Roy Crowe, local manager of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., who had the enlargement framed, our Chamber of Commerce now has an attractive aerial view of Plymouth, as of May 1930, for future generations to make comparisons with.

Secretary Moore wishes to publicly express the thanks of the C. of C. to James C. and William C. of the Detroit News and to Mr. Crowe.

A GREAT SUCCESS PREDICTED FOR THE TRACKLESS TROLLEY

PLYMOUTH DELEGATION PRESENT FOR OPENING CEREMONY

THIS DEVELOPMENT OF MUCH SIGNIFICANCE TO PLYMOUTH

At 1:30 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, June 14th, the new electric coach service on Plymouth Road was inaugurated. The following delegation from Plymouth was on hand to witness the opening ceremony, and to take part in a brief business meeting, the time was given over to visiting and refreshments were served, consisting of ice cream and angel food cake. At the end of this year of 1929-1930, the chapter feels that they have indeed finished a year in which much good has been accomplished and many more fruitful tasks have been started.

The chapter this summer plans to mark the centenary of the National Congress in the Newburg cemetery, the graves of Solomon Kingsley and David Denn.

Owing to inaccurate press reports, which confused the public and even some of our members, perhaps it would be wise to state at this time, that the Daughters of the American Revolution at their National Congress in Washington, April of this year, did not pass a resolution against the World Court.

With these false impressions circulated throughout the country the local chapters are always glad to set the minds of the people aright to any misapprehensions or misunderstandings which may come about.

One hundred and twenty-four persons residing in the village of Plymouth are unemployed according to a report issued last week from the district census headquarters by H. W. Klamsner, district supervisor. The figures included in a preliminary report, are subject to correction, the announcement states. The figures represent only persons reported without a job, able to work, and looking for employment.

WOMEN VOTERS CLOSE SEASON

Two outstanding meetings of the Plymouth and Wayne County League of Women Voters held last week, concluded the activities of these organizations until September. On Monday, June 16th, the Plymouth League held its regular luncheon at the home of Mrs. W. B. Pez. Although the members were disappointed that the weather did not permit the picnic that had been planned, all enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Pez.

The speaker of the afternoon was George H. E. Smith of Ann Arbor, executive secretary of the League of Nations with offices in the Book Bldg., Detroit. Mr. Smith likened the world to a patchwork quilt, with approximately 63 nations representing the patches, but no one, or several nations, making the quilt.

He made a plea for a greater understanding of world problems and spoke of education as the means to achieve this purpose. New world conditions are bringing nations closer together. If the inevitable conflicts are to be settled in peace and harmony, nations must know and understand each other. Young people must be taught the newer method of governing human relationships and adults must be brought to look upon world affairs with less resentment and prejudice.

Mr. Smith spoke of the apparent lack of interest shown by individuals and organizations in an active study of international relations.

Mrs. C. T. Sullivan sang two delightful numbers during the afternoon and Mrs. Leroy Naylor sang, playing her own accompaniment, her original song, "The Sun and the Moon." This was popular at gatherings in St. Petersburg, Fla., last winter. Mrs. Naylor presented each member with an autographed copy of this song.

On Wednesday, June 11th, the Wayne County League's annual citizenship school was held at the Hawthorn Valley Golf Club. During the morning session, Miss Florence C. Green, a Cleveland attorney spoke of "The Citizenship of Married Women." Miss Green complimented the women on the intelligent questions asked during the forum, which followed the address.

A delicious luncheon was served at 12:30 with the members of the Dearborn League acting as hostesses. The speaker of the afternoon was Judge Henry S. Hulbert of the Juvenile Court, who spoke on "Juvenile Delinquency in Wayne County." He spoke of the different conditions that the court faces today than it did when it was established in 1909. He congratulated the public schools on the way money had been handled until this problem was practically nil as far as courts are concerned.

Speaking of prohibition, Judge Hulbert said he would be interested to see real prohibition tried out and what the results would be. He said at present its effect on the disregard for law was bad. He said that the first three years of prohibition, before ways of disregarding the law had been found, brought results that were remarkable and most beneficial.

Mrs. G. A. Bentley, president of the Wayne County League, presided at both morning and afternoon meetings. Those who attended the school from Plymouth were: Mrs. Phoebe Patterson, Mrs. Charles O. Ball, Mrs. Maule Brooks, Mrs. C. T. Sullivan, Mrs. Leroy Naylor and Mrs. Anna Wright.

Goes Abroad

Cecil Packard, who has completed his freshman year at Albion College, sailed from New York, Saturday, with a group of young people for a summer of study and observation in Europe. The party is chaperoned by Dr. H. M. Hattenhouse, professor of English Language and Literature of Albion College. The trip includes a tour of England, Holland, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland, Germany and France. They expect to attend the Passion Play at Oberammergau, Germany, early in July and later take the famous Alpine tour by water via Reuss Valley, Rhone Glacier and Bernig Pass.

The Booster Sunday-school class of the Methodist church held their monthly meeting at Cass Benton park, Friday evening, June 13th. About twenty people sat down to the bountiful cooperative supper, after which the men enjoyed a ball game and the women conducted the business meeting. Final plans were made and committees appointed for the Christian Herald luncheon to be held at the church, June 26th.

Under the sponsorship and direction of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, the business men of Plymouth have provided a real treat for all the rest of us. Mills, Arthur Blank and William Wood, and an arrangements committee consisting of Russell Roe, chairman, J. K. Shantz, Robert Todd, Paul Hayward, Russell Duffing, Ed. Hinson and Joseph Carman, have worked hard to make the event a success, and they and the other exhibitors are displaying so much enthusiasm in their determination to make Plymouth's first Home Complete Exposition hard to surpass that no expense will be spared to make every display booth worth anyone's time to visit.

THE TRACKLESS TROLLEY

The inauguration of the trackless trolley on Plymouth road to within ten miles of Plymouth village, will, without a doubt, be the means of solving the transportation problem between Plymouth and Detroit in the very near future. With the many new subdivisions on Plymouth road and the ever increasing population in this district, the matter of rapid and economical transportation has been one that has had more or less a tendency in holding back the more rapid building up of this section, but with the coming of the trackless trolley it looks as if there would be no question that this new means of transportation would be the means of giving the service so badly needed along the Plymouth road.

AS FORD SEES IT

The shortest cut to relief from business depression is an intensive development of agriculture and manufacture, with quantity production from the soil, declares Henry Ford in a recent interview.

"It is the only way to escape stagnation," Mr. Ford says. And residents of Plymouth and vicinity who have been wondering how long it will be before we are back to normal will not find much joy in his additional statement that "it will take just as long to get rid of the depression as it took to accumulate it." He says manufacturers need to keep up the people's spirit, and this cannot be done with talk. It takes action. One expenditure now, based on faith in the future, is worth all the words anyone can say. "Issuing optimistic statements on one hand and lowering wages on the other won't better things," he asserts. "This is no time to lower wages and those who are doing it are hitting their country while it's down. What we call waste is only surplus and surplus is always the starting point of new uses. Everything that is produced from the soil can be used for some purpose. Industry has need for everything the soil produces that is not used for foodstuffs. Too many people on our farms believe that Santa Claus lives in the city. The thing we need is some way to educate people how to get away from the city. Half the people out of work in Detroit could find work on the farms."

Boiled down, Mr. Ford's recipe for making times better is to quit talking hard times, and keep at work regardless of how much you may be making at the present moment. In other words, he argues that good times are not going to stay with the fellow who won't talk anything else but hard times.

BETTER DRIVING

Motorists have a lot of funny ideas as to what constitutes driving skill. To many speed is the thing. They seem to think that getting speed out of an auto requires courage, level-headed thinking and absolute skill. But it does not. Any fool can step on an accelerator and guide an automobile. But most wise men don't do it.

Then there is the traffic in-and-outer. Usually he comes up from the rear in a great rush, sounding his horn to clear the way. If other cars do not crowd over to the right he runs parallel with them and drops back only if he sees he cannot "horn in" to the line by making a vacant place. Most often he has his way because sensible drivers do not want to be mixed up in an accident. They give ground.

But we believe Plymouth motorists will agree with us that the speeder is the greatest nuisance and the greatest menace. He is responsible for most accidents. He mistakes the speed of his own car and that of others, and is forever getting himself and others into tight places. If other people were as aggressive and as foolish there would be twice as many accidents. It is time to put the speeder and the in-and-outer in their places. They cause accidents to careful drivers by crowding them off the road and sometimes bumping them into ditches. They increase the cost of motoring by creating unnecessary repair bills. Those who will not drive safely should be deprived of the right to drive, and the time is not far distant when every state in the union will have laws to that effect.

EVERYBODY CAN HELP

Every thirty seconds someone gets hurt in an American home. Uncle Sam has given out the figures, and organizations of club women throughout the country are launching a movement to reduce it. Usually it is a woman or child that is injured in the home, generally by slipping on the floor or falling down a stairway. Poor lighting is also said to contribute to the dangers. Brooms and mops and ironing boards standing at the top of dark stairways, over which anyone can easily trip, are also blamed for many broken bones—and numerous deaths. Plymouth housekeepers are due to be asked pretty soon to join in this movement to reduce accidents in the home. We feel sure they will respond readily and heartily for, as in everything else that tends to safety, they are always anxious to do their part.

A FOOLISH IDEA

The average Plymouth motorist has long been of the opinion that the woman driver is not as capable, as cool or as careful as the man. But figures are being given out, the result of a recent nationwide survey made by auto clubs, to dispute this belief. The report shows that women drivers are involved in only six percent of auto accidents. Since only one in every four drivers is a woman, that means she is entitled to figure in every 25 accidents out of every 100. That she figures in but 6 out of every 100 shows that she drives, if not with more skill, then with more care than the average man. But her critics will contend that she causes many accidents that she doesn't get hurt in, but in which someone else is hurt. And right there is where we are going to side-step the argument. We haven't any figures to disprove that statement, and on the face of it there may be a lot of truth in it. So, since we have troubles enough of our own already, we'll let someone else continue the argument.

NEW KIND OF GAS

With the tendency to crowd an ever-increasing share of tax burdens on the old family fliiver, the discovery of a new and more powerful type of gasoline, a kind that will cut down fuel bills, is of interest to car owners. If gasoline can be made to do more, then obviously its price is cheapened, and if one uses less his taxes come down in proportion. The new gas is said to have great power. This is brought about, it is stated, by restoring to gasoline two ingredients which have been largely removed by modern methods of producing and refining. One of these is natural gasoline and the other naphtha, which is claimed to be very effective in hot weather. It is claimed the blended product is far superior to the original product in that it may be completely vaporized and that blends can be made to suit climatic conditions in all parts of the country. But the most important part of the discovery is that it cannot be patented. Any refinery can use the formula for making it. To motorists that will appear as even more important than the discovery itself.

No Cure-All for Many Troubles in Starting

While there is no cure-all for starting troubles, it is seldom necessary to go to such extremes as priming the spark plugs, running down the battery or flooding the cylinders, and finally towing the car for two or three blocks. Instead of trying to start the car by switching on the ignition, pulling out the choke and then touching the starter, it is far easier if the choke is drawn out and the starter turned over a few times before the ignition is switched on. If the engine turns over slowly with the starter it can be made to turn over easier by leaving the gears in neutral and pushing out the clutch.

BALK ENDS IN WALK-OUT

Seven innings of fast baseball were played at Burrough's field last Sunday. With two men out and the Plymouth team at bat, Plymouth leading 3 to 0, Strasen on second and Kracht on first, Schultz started to wind up making a complete wind up. Kracht and Strasen immediately started a double steal and Schultz threw to third. The umpire ruled a balk and at once the entire Nethem team started to rush in and protest on the decision. Grey pointed out the rule in the rule-book but evidently this was not convincing enough and Nethem packed up and left.

HAGGERTY A. C. TRIMS LANSING

Haggerty A. C. defeated the Lansing Independents 12 to 3 last Sunday, drawing one of the largest crowds of the season at Canton Park.

Yielding one hit to Lansing in the six innings he pitched, "Dutch" Atchinson profited immensely from enthusiastic support rendered by his mates, who pounded Howard Brokaw to a pulp and collected ten hits. Haggerty, who replaced Atchinson in the seventh allowed one hit and two runs.

The locals began their powerful attack in the second inning when they accumulated five runs and thereafter pushed over seven to make their final tally 12.

By winning Sunday Haggerty A. C. has won six games out of seven played, which is a very good percentage. The local club is playing the fastest semi-pro teams in this part of Michigan.

The Burger Creamery Co., of Detroit, will oppose the Haggerty club next Sunday, June 22, at Canton Park. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

This team from Detroit is one of the strongest semi-pro teams in the city outside of the leagues, and should keep the Haggerty boys stepping.

DE-HO-CO BEATS BATTLE CREEK

De-Ho-Co defeated the strong Battle Creek Eagles 14 to 5 last Sunday at the Detroit House of Correction Farm, Northwest of Plymouth on the House of Correction road. The Eagles were criticized as one of the strongest semi-pro teams in the state. Hartner, for the De-Ho-Co opposed Wheeler for the Eagles. Three home runs by Jaska, Anderson and Hammond were the features of the game. Hartner allowed eight hits to 14 by Wheeler.

Fine hitting and sharp fielding by both sides made it an interesting game to watch, but the Farmers' hits were lunched in the first and seventh, while Hartner kept the hits well scattered.

Next Sunday, June 22 the Farmers will play Ann Arbor at the House of Correction Farm diamond.

WEST POINT, 6 D. T. & I., 0

The fast, hard-hitting West Point team slugged their way to another great victory last Sunday on the West Point diamond, against the fast D. T. & I. nine, the final score being 6 to 0.

The two teams began the game tied for second place in the Down River League, each having lost one game. The game was fast and but few hits were made, West Point collecting by far the greater number of these, allowing only three to the Detroit.

Toledo & Ironworkers.

Carl Goers, for West Point, kept up his fine pitching, allowing only 30 men to bat in the nine innings, and the boys played great ball with him, grabbing the averages and high ones, both with equal success.

Three 2-base and one 3-base hit was made by the hard-hitters on the West Point team. Knock, Hammerschmidt, C. Wolfm, each getting the 2-base hits and Halvory the 3-bagger.

2-base hit was made off Goers. West Point allowed only four men to reach first and two to reach second, during the game. Six men were struck out by the two pitchers who worked for D. T. & I.; and three were retired by Goers.

Next Sunday, June 22, the boys meet the fast Ecorse team, who were, until last Sunday's game in first place, on the West Point diamond.

TAPS BOW TO K. of P. 3 TO 2

In a thrilling game where base hits were as scarce as snowflakes, in the Tropics, the strong Ford Taps team bow to the K. of P.'s 3 to 2, last Friday.

It was as pretty an exhibition as anyone would care to see, with both teams playing care to see, with both teams playing air-tight ball and the Ford player had been noticed.

"Taps" broke the ice when they mixed some nice base running with the old pounce to put over a marker. The K. of P.'s came back strong to take the lead with two rallies only to see it tied by their friendly foes. In the seventh inning with the score tied, bases loaded and none out, Middleton lifted a difficult foul to Millross and Jolliffe crossed the platter with the winning run.

Millross and Finnigan starred for the losers, while sparkling catches by Chenoweth and Howell, saved the K. of P.'s loss of embarrassment.

Score by Innings:

Ford Taps 0 1 0 0 1 0 0 0—2

BATTER SCORES ON HIS OWN SACRIFICE HIT

One of the rare happenings of base ball—a batsman scoring on his own sacrifice hit—was recorded in a recent City League game at Ypsilanti between the Merchants and the United Stars. With a Merchant runner on second base and none out, Clark Dickerson, the next batter, laid a bunt down the first base line, advancing the first runner to third. As the opposing catcher scooped up the ball to make a quick play at first, he hit Dickerson on the shoulder, the ball bounding far into right field among several parked automobiles, while Dickerson completed the circuit. The error did not take from him the official credit for a sacrifice hit. Incidentally, as the first runner had walked and the three after Dickerson went out in order, the Merchants were charged with only three official times at bat, yet they scored two runs.

INJURIES FOLLOW CLOSELY ON CUBS

Hornsby Is Latest Victim—Breaks Ankle Sliding.

The history of the Cubs in recent years is one of injuries, misfortune and blasted hopes. Here are a few of the outstanding setbacks:

1924—Charley Hollocher, rated with the best shortstops in the majors, retired from game because of ill health.

1928—Hal Carlson, purchased from the Phillies the previous June, suffered an attack of flu during the training trip and was able to pitch only in the last few weeks of the regular season.

1929—Gabby Hartnett, the league's outstanding catcher, injured his throwing arm while in the training camp and was useless for the season, except for a start in one game and occasion of appearing as a pinch hitter. Carlson started another attack which prevented his coming into play; could not start the second half of the season. Jimmy Grooms suffered a broken wrist when he bumped into the pitcher's box in a game at New York in August. He was absent about 100 days, being unable to pitch.

1929—Tommy Datsy, who trains the Toronto baseball and hockey teams, has a passion for words of three and four syllables. Tommy memorizes them, but never troubles about the definitions. He goes strictly by sound.

Two players were discussing a new invention the other day.

"All you got to do is start it, and it just keeps on going. It'll go by itself forever unless you stop it," said one.

Tommy, standing nearby, interrupted:

"Ah, you mean professional motion."

Paul Thompson scored the second hole-in-one of the season at the Northville Country Club Tuesday afternoon. He dropped his mallet ten short holes in the cup on the green, and then he hit the ball into the hole. The hole was 120 yards from the tee. Thompson is a professional player and has won many tournaments.

Seeing Big League BASEBALL

By BILLY EVANS
Sportswriter, Big League Umpire and General Manager of the Cleveland Indians

I have often been asked, who is the greatest baseball player I have ever seen in action? I could name perhaps a score of players who might be rated super-athletes, each one having some outstanding feature that made him great. However, taking all phases of the game into consideration, Ty Cobb is unquestionably the greatest player of all time, as far as I am concerned. I think it was Charles Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, who some years ago named Cobb as the greatest player of all time. Mr. Comiskey, an outstanding star in his days, is perhaps better qualified than anyone I know of to express an opinion on Cobb covering past and present-day stars. I heartily concur in his estimate of Cobb.

Cobb was a unique figure in baseball. The possessor of every physical asset for greatness, he also was fortunate in having an equally keen mind. Fast, a great ballman, a wonderful base runner, a brilliant fielder, he was endowed with baseball intelligence. A keen mind and the ability to study a situation for an advance, has made Cobb a great strategist. He has been called a "baseball genius" and "baseball wizard" and "baseball wizard" and "baseball wizard".

Charles D. Mack, former manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, has been named to lead the British team in the 1930 Ryder Cup golf tournament.

Rayor will be at Plymouth on June 21. He is a professional golfer and has won several tournaments.

Cleveland rookie pitcher Rich Stephenson of the Cubs, originally belonged to Cleveland, where he was a poor fielding second baseman but a consistent 200 hitter.

After the First Twenty-five Thousand Miles

THE VALUE of sound design, good materials and careful craftsmanship is especially apparent in the new Ford after the first twenty-five thousand miles. Long, continuous service emphasizes its mechanical reliability and economy of operation and up-keep.

As you drive the Ford through many months and years you will develop an increasing pride in its appearance and a growing respect for the substantial worth that has been built into it. From every standpoint—in everything that goes to make a good automobile—you will know that you have made a far-seeing, satisfactory purchase.

Wherever you go, you hear enthusiastic praise of the car and this significant, oft-repeated phrase—"I'm glad I bought a Ford."

A FORD owner in New York tells of a 13,000-mile trip across the United States and back in sixty days and says "the car was extremely economical to operate, comfortable and speedy." A grateful father tells how the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield saved his wife and children from serious injury.

To test tires, a large company drove a new Ford day and night, for an average of 500 miles every twenty-four hours. It was still giving satisfactory service after 105,000 miles.

A Ford car that had fallen into Fernan Lake was submerged for twelve days before being raised. After a new battery and carburetor bowl were installed, it was driven back to Spokane under its own power.

Many police departments have written of the special advantages of the Ford in crowded traffic because of its alert speed, acceleration, and ease of control. An increasing number of fleet owners are also purchasing the Ford because their cost figures have given conclusive proof of its economy of operation and up-keep.

In addition to important triumphs in Germany, France and Italy, the Ford won six out of seven leading places in a contest in Finland, first and second in the Rafaela races in Argentina, first and second in the run from Copenhagen-to-Paris-to-Copenhagen, three gold medals in England, first ranking in the durability test over the tortuous Amancaes road in Peru, and first place in the 1930 reliability run conducted by the Royal Automobile Club of Sweden.

This contest was an exceptionally severe test of endurance and sturdy construction because it was held in the dead of winter and covered 600 miles of steady running over snow-covered country roads and mountainous hills.

Christian Science Notes

"God the Preserver of Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches on Sunday, June 15.

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty" (Ps. 91:1).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Accidents are unknown to God, or immortal Mind, and we must leave the mortal basis of belief and unite with the one Mind, in order to change the notion of chance to the proper sense of God's unerring direction and thus bring out harmony" (p. 424).

CATHOLIC NOTES

Sunday is Holy Communion Sunday for the children. Confessions are heard each Saturday night at 7:30.

Sunday the Rev. Eugene E. Padlock will sing a High Mass in our church at 8:00 o'clock. He likewise will impart his blessing to the people. This is an extraordinary privilege and all should make an effort to be here.

Mrs. Anna Gorham, sister of Mrs. Peter Miller was buried from our church last Monday morning with the pastor offering up Solemn High Mass, assisted by the Revs. J. Schuler and R. Clancy. Interment was in Mt. Elliott, Detroit. Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved.

Rev. Barker and dealing called at the rectory during the week, inspected the church and spoke highly of it. The pastor spent the week on retreat at Sacred Heart Seminary, Detroit. The Passionist Monastery on Schoolcraft road, off Telegraph, is open for inspection, and will be blessed August 24th, by the Rt. Rev. M. J. Gallagher.

Have you given your M. C. envelope?

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES.

The Ready Service Class met on Tuesday last at the home of Mrs. Galpin, on Main St. There was an unusually large attendance and all had a most enjoyable time. The program took the form of a play, "Aunt Matilda's Birthday Party," given by a group of the members of the class. The play was well done and was greatly enjoyed. The class is planning a picnic meeting at Cass Bouton Park in July.

The big event of next week will be the annual picnic of the Sunday school. This year it is to be held at Riverside Park, Plymouth, and the date is Wednesday, June 25th. The school will provide ice cream, coffee and lemonade. Dinings will begin at 2:00 p. m. o'clock, and the picnic supper will be eaten about 6:00 p. m. Bring your baskets and come, father, mother and the children. The games will be run off in the afternoon. The evening will be given over to one good time.

The Mission Study Class will meet at the home of Mrs. Foulton, Canton township, on Tuesday evening, June 24. There will be a cooperative supper at 6:30, with the usual interesting fellowship and program. Every member of the class should enjoy this delightful drive and meeting.

The Loyal Temperance Legion enjoyed a very pleasant meeting on Saturday, June 14, at the home of Mrs. E. C. Vahala. The election of officers was held with the following results: President—Thelma Lunsford; Vice-President—Geraldine Vealey; Secretary—June Frederick; Treasurer—Florence Gray.

An amusing program followed the meeting. Pictures were then taken of the class after which the hostess served ice cream and cake. The next meeting will be on the 24th of July. A patriotic picnic at Riverside Park.

Precepts of Franklin

Should Be Remembered

The proposed $5,000,000 Philadelphia memorial to Benjamin Franklin should have some place in it calling attention to that American's 13 suggested virtues and precepts, on which the club of Washington and Sioux City, Iowa, patterned after the Juneteenth club of Franklin's day, are founded, says the Pathfinder Magazine. They are:

"Eat not to dullness. Drink not to elevation. Speak not but what may benefit others or yourself; avoid trifling conversation. Let all your things have their place. Let each part of your business have its time. Resolve to perform what you ought, perform without fail what you resolve. Make no expense but to do good to others or yourself, i. e., waste nothing. Lose no time; be always employed in something useful; cut off all unnecessary actions. Use no hurtful deceit, think innocently and justly and, if you speak, speak accordingly. Wrong none by doing injuries, or omitting the benefits that are your duty. Avoid extremes; forbear resenting injuries so much as you think they deserve. Tolerate no uncleanliness in body, clothes or habitation. Be not disturbed at trifles, or at accidents, common or unavoidable. Be chaste. Imitate Jesus and Socrates."

MILLIONAIRE "GOB"

T. Donald Robinson, millionaire sailor, who astounded admirals of the navy by living expensive suites while on shore leave and by "throwing" large parties. Robinson is shortly to become a midshipman and will sail for Germany on one of Uncle Sam's battleships. He is the son of Henry M. Robinson, one of the largest wholesale florists in the country. He joined the service in 1923 for the training and the benefits to his health he would receive.

Wood Blocks Assist in Jacking Up Automobile

If all roads were level and smooth, the problem of jacking up a front or back wheel to change tires would always be simple. Unfortunately, however, there are many times when the normal safe place for a tire change, off the paved portion of the road, presents unexpected difficulties. There may be a deep rut exactly where the jack should be placed, or the road may slope in such a way that the car is likely to roll off the jack. A pair of wood blocks shaped as shown will serve useful in such emergencies. One will serve as a chock for the car on a hill. Two, four, six, or even eight inches can be added to the height of the jack to reach up from a hollow depending on how the blocks are piled. The two blocks bolted together will support the front axle with both wheels off the ground when adjusting, greasing, and so on. For a large car or truck the blocks should measure approximately 8 by 12 inches, with the thickness 4 inches at one end and 2 inches at the other—Popular Science Monthly.

Jacking up a car on uneven or rutted ground is easy if you have these blocks to put the jack on and chock the car. At right are shown the blocks ready to use if both wheels are to be jacked at one time.

Any Plymouth gardener who can't tell weeds from vegetables can learn by watching his neighbor's chickens.

Making the Russians Literate

The Soviet government is now waging a campaign to eliminate illiteracy in the various towns throughout Russia. Here is a woman government worker helping a peasant in the Ryazan district to read an article dealing with peasant questions.

GREAT INTEREST IN GLIDERS MANIFESTED

Cheaper Than Power Planes but Safety Doubtful.

New York.—Through the long-forgotten science and sport of gliding, aviation, which for a time last year appeared to be losing its hold on the popular imagination although making tremendous strides commercially, is again the topic of daily conversation and comment throughout the United States.

Two arguments are advanced by the glider enthusiasts in favor of this method of flying and learning to fly: one that it is cheap and the other that it is safe. Certainly it costs less than power planes, although some of the imported gliders run as high as the cheaper low-powered planes.

Speculation, particularly in Germany, as to the commercial availability of the towed glider for the transport of goods is attracting attention. Captain Hawks, enthusiast as he is, has little faith in this form of transport. Certain planes, as they are built today, have little to offer as air locomotives and the gliders themselves are still primitive creations.

Says Autogiros Will Have 200-Mile Speed Speaking recently before the Royal Aeronautical Society in London, Juan de la Cierva, inventor of the windmill plane, said that he was satisfied it was possible to design autogiros having a top speed of 200 miles an hour. He could see no real objection to three, four or five ton autogiros, he added, although he believed more for the present in small and medium sized machines.

New York.—Defeated once in his attempt to fly the north Atlantic from east to west, Capt. Dieudonne Coste will attempt this spring to fulfill a promise made in America in 1928. Reversing Lindbergh's route, the daring French aviator proposes to fly from Paris to New York in a streamlined biplane, modeled after his famous ship of last year, the Question Mark.

Picked Up About Town

Dad Plymouth says no husband is so ideal but that at times he is as irritating to his wife as a corn on a sore toe.

It may be because she has used the proper tooth paste that the girl in the ads shows her teeth—but that isn't the reason a dog shows his.

"The kind of wife that shares her husband's joys and sorrows," asserts Dad Plymouth, "isn't the kind who begins by sharing her sweetheart's cigarettes and hip flask."

If some people are so desirous of adding another national holiday to our list let's select the day that Congress adjourns.

"About the only thing that could be more wonderful than the radio," asserts Dad Plymouth, "would be a wife who could be all the kind of things her husband thinks she ought to be."

The New York Petroleum Royalties corporation wild-cat well at Mt. Pleasant recently brought in 750 barrels of oil a day. Other companies have now started drilling on all sides of the successful well.

Ypsilanti, near Dearborn township, will undoubtedly be the home of the Wayne detachment of the Michigan state police, according to information furnished a delegation of Ypsilanti citizens at Lansing last Thursday.

An oil boom hit Shiawassee county recently as a result of the finding of oil in a well drilled on a nearby farm. Two one-hundred barrel tanks were reported filled in twenty-four hours while about a hundred barrels were wasted.

A new golf club was opened recently at Taft and Nine Mile roads and will be known as the Women's Country Club. Memberships in the club will be open to a selected group of ladies living in Northville, Plymouth and vicinity.

United States Senators Vandenberg of Michigan and Copeland of New York have been engaged as speakers for the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Methodist Episcopal church of Dexter, which will be celebrated June 19 to 22.

Ketsu Kiyosawa, editor of The Chinko-Koron (The Central Review) of Tokyo, Japan, and R. Mizuno, president of Mizuno & Co., at Yokoyahashi, Japan, two of the prominent residents of that far away country, were recent visitors of the Ford plants in Northville.

The Great Lakes air cruise, being sponsored by the Detroit Flying club, which will be the first air-water tour ever attempted in this country, will take place from August 8 to 17, with upwards of fifty planes in the tour.

They will stop at 26 towns and cities in seven states.

Having apparently arrived at the limit in efforts to reach settlements with property-owners along Grand River avenue between Farmington and Eight-Mile road, the State Highway Department has begun condemnation proceedings to acquire several parcels of property needed for the widening.

F. L. Snips, for over twelve years associated with the federal fish hatchery department and stationed for seven years in Alaska in charge of the salmon fish hatchery, has been appointed superintendent of the Northville fish hatchery to take the place made vacant by the recent death of William Thayer.

A copper cent dated 1831 was found recently in Dexter. The coin was an inch and an eighth in diameter and had on its face a liberty head surrounded by thirteen stars and at the bottom the date 1831, while on the reverse side "United States of America" was around the outside and "one cent" in the center, surrounded by a wreath.

Dad Plymouth says he always feels sorry for the fellow whose wife thinks it is more important to keep in style than it is to keep out of debt.

"The reason wives don't brag more about their husbands," declares Dad Plymouth, "is because most women get tired of bragging about nothing."

Relief From Curse of Constipation

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderites has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lax, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. A Time Saver.
Hang as many of the frequently used small utensils as possible where they may be easily reached, the measuring spoons, the egg-beater, the rubber spatula, etc. This method will save much opening and handling of drawers in the table.

Lace Trimmings.
With the vogue of feminism in dress, it is natural that lace should hold a high place. Lace trimmings and dresses of lace were never more popular than now.

"THE DEVIL'S HOLLIDAY"

THE Devil's Holliday—a new Nancy Carroll picture, is coming to the Penniman Allen theatre Friday and Saturday, June 20 and 21.

It is an original play by Edmund Goulding, sensational author-director who wrote and directed Gloria Swanson's "The Trespasser."

Goulding chose a typically American locale—the Mid-Western wheat country, for this stirring romance drama. It concerns the lives of God-fearing farmers and the enemy-breed, the urbanites who attempt to prey upon them.

As a gold-digging manicurist in league with several tricky salesmen, Miss Carroll gets a commission for wiring and darning the farmer-buyers of agricultural implements. After she gets them "ga-ga" about her, the salesmen put over the finishing touches by closing the sales. It's an "on-the-level" racket, but it's not exactly open and above board, and there comes a day when Nancy regrets that she ever engaged in it, for she falls in love with Phillips Holmes, handsome young son of a wealthy farmer, after she has baited him for a deal with a tractor salesman.

Heavy emotional scenes follow when Nancy tries to compromise her mode of living with the simplicity of life to which Holmes has been accustomed. The story has many stirring dramatic moments.

Included in the supporting cast are James Kirkwood, Hobart Bosworth, Ned Sparks, Morgan Farley, Ted Prouty, Paul Luke, Zsuzza Pitts, Morton Downey, Guy Oliver, Jessie Pringle, Wade Boteler, and Laura La Varnie.

"ONE ROMANTIC NIGHT"

AS the astronomer who preferred to star-gaze on the night he won an avowal of love, Conrad Nagel has created one of the most interesting roles of his career in "One Romantic Night," the United Artists all-dialogue picture starring Lillian Gish to appear at the Penniman Allen Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, June 22, 23 and 24.

In this film version of the Ferenc Molnar play "The Swan," Nagel portrays the role of Dr. Haller, the astronomer-tutor, who wins and loses the hand of an aristocratic young woman when love temporarily surrenders to his passion for the stars. Nagel, who is one point of a romantic triangle which includes Miss Gish and Rod LaRoque, characterizes an earnest young man who finds himself a mere pawn in the game of love.

"One Romantic Night" which, incidentally, introduces Miss Gish in her first talking picture, is a romantic comedy-drama that preserves all the swift play of wit and romantic beauty that established the Molnar play as one of the great contributions in the field of entertainment.

Under the able direction of Paul L. Stein, the screen version possesses an elasticity of action denied the original play because of the theatre's natural limitations.

Ordered to spare no labor or expense in making this one of the outstanding pictures of the year, Stein caused the most elaborate and costly sets of modern production to be erected at the United Artists studios. Many renowned art directors and interior decorators were engaged to lend their art in the recreation and copying of authentic settings.

The rich garden scenes, against which much of the romantic action of the story is set, were taken at the celebrated Busch Gardens in Pasadena, California. This beauty spot was the locale of an intensive shooting schedule lasting several days.

Included in the supporting cast with LaRoque and Nagel are Marie Dressler, O. P. Heggie, Albert Conti, Edgar Norton, Billie Bennett, Philippe de Lacy and Byron Sage.

"One Romantic Night" was adapted by Melville Baker, the young Harvard playwright, who first translated "The Swan," the Molnar play for the American stage.

"SARAH AND SON"

THE powerful dramatic ability of Ruth Chatterton, displayed so successfully in "Charming Sinners," "The Laughing Lady" and "Madame X" will be again brought forward for the delectation of her numerous admirers when the Penniman Allen Theatre shows her newest film, "Sarah and Son," on Wednesday and Thursday, June 25 and 26.

"Sarah and Son" is the story of an impoverished actress who is forced to give up her baby boy that she might work and live. On becoming famous she tries to retrieve the lad but encounters intrigue upon the part of the wealthy couple who have adopted her child. The manner in which she accomplishes her courageous purpose forms the climax of the picture. It is tense and breath-taking—but it is one which leaves an audience in a happy glow of good spirits.

Frederic March is cast opposite Miss Chatterton. He plays the part of the young lawyer who falls in love with her and tries to help her retrieve her young son, played by Philippe de Lacy. There is an abundance of splendid character-portrayal in the picture.

Timothy Shea wrote the original novel upon which the screen story is based. Zoe Akins, renowned American woman poet and playwright, wrote the adaptation from the novel.

The picture was directed by Dorothy Arzner, Paramount's only woman director.

NO MEDICINE IN THE WORLD LIKE KONJOLA

"THOUGHT I NEVER WOULD BE WELL AGAIN," SAID SAGINAW LADY IN PRAISE OF NEW MEDICINE.

MRS. BENJAMIN VINCENT

"To me there is no medicine in the world like Konjola," said Mrs. Benjamin Vincent, Sixth and Madison streets, Carleton, Saginaw. "I was told that I had stomach ulcers. My kidneys were out of order and my back ached all the time. Night risings were frequent. My stomach was so sore I could scarcely bear the weight of my clothing. My son was then taken ill and we thought we were getting more than our share of misery.

"A friend of mine in the South wrote me about Konjola and told me to take it for my ailments. Two bottles of this great medicine were enough to show me that I was on the right road. I took five bottles in all and at the end of that time my health troubles were over. I eat and sleep as I did years ago and all my health troubles have vanished. It is no wonder to me that Konjola is known as the master medicine of them all."

Konjola, when taken over a period of from four to eight weeks, easily and harmlessly relieves ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

Konjola is sold in Plymouth at the Community Pharmacy and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

ROSEDALE GARDENS SCHOOL NOTES

THE EIGHTH GRADE

We are very proud of the record our eighth grade made in the county examinations. According to the examiners, all of the Rosedale eighth graders ranked high, and one of them received a grade of one hundred percent in one of the subjects. We wish we knew who it was. The following are students who will enter high school next year: Lorna Shaffer, Frank Schroeder, Herbert Kulmbach, Anna Bagdonus, Betty Snell, Clark Cookley, Marie Desmond, Frances Cooper and Willis Huron.

THE READING CONTEST

Two students from Rosedale won pins—Stanton Burton, for making the most improvement among all fourth graders of Zone B, and Donald Huron, for having the highest score among all fourth graders of Zone B. Congratulations, boys! Much credit is due their teacher, Mrs. Ruth Knills.

ELIZABETH PARK PICNIC

Everyone seemed to enjoy themselves at the picnic, June 7, in spite of the cold. We were glad to have so many from Rosedale present. The Health Parade was a big feature. The Belleville band played while all who had won health badges marched down the street. Those who had won all four badges carried a flag. Each school carried a banner, the banner from Rosedale having been made by Eleanor Straehle. The whole parade was very colorful and well carried out. We hope that more from Rosedale will carry lines next year.

Continuing the health program, the dental banner and health banner were awarded, the dental banner to the room having the highest percentage of O. K. dental slips, and the health banner to the room having the largest percentage of children having all health corrections taken care of. We hope that at least one of these banners will be awarded to Rosedale next year. It will help a lot if parents will have their children's teeth fixed during the summer and get an O. K. slip from the dentist for the same.

The commencement address was given by Dr. Clyde Ford, author of "Sandy MacDonald's Man." His topic, "Carry Your Own Pack," was very appropriate and interesting. Reading awards and eighth grade diplomas were then given out.

Field events took place in the afternoon, with racing and ball throwing. Second place for girls' relay race was awarded to Rosedale. The girls who took part were Marie Desmond, Betty Snell, Judith O'Dea, and Frances Cooper. They each received a very fine silver medal.

CADY NEWS

Allen Green, Helen Vincent, Barbara Neal, Robert and Alexander Vincent were winners in the field meet at Elizabeth Park, Saturday.

Edith Green and Clifford Knight were awarded medals for being the high score reading champions in Zone C of Wayne County.

Walter Schrader and Frances Zombor were awarded pins for being the greatest gain pupils in reading. These are pupils in Mrs. Ames' room.

Pupils who marched in the health parade were Dorothea Neal, Ruth Wilson and Bennie Frost.

The girls have a set of tennis rackets and balls which they bought with money earned during the year.

WHEREAS, a public hearing has been duly held and all objections heard relative to a proposed installation of a water main in Beech Street from S. Harvey St. to the west line of lot 7, Wm. Eckman Sub. and

WHEREAS, after said public hearing the Commission still deems the proposed water main to be an essential and necessary public improvement for the property proposed to be benefited thereby; therefore be it

RESOLVED, that this Commission declares its intention to proceed with the installation of the said water main; and that the Manager be hereby directed to have same installed by the Department of Public Works. Carried unanimously.

It was moved by Comm. Wiedman supported by Comm. Hoyer that the Assessor be authorized and directed to reassess all unpaid 1929 special assessments in the 1930 tax roll. Carried unanimously.

Mr. Pinner of Pinner & Wilcox, a firm of landscape architects, and Mr. Harley, a consulting architect, presented briefly before the Commission an outline of the advantages of the proposed development and improvement of the undeveloped cemetery area owned by the Village. No action relative to the matter was taken by the Commission.

The Manager presented blueprints, plans and outline of costs for the proposed installation of a system of storm sewers in the area bounded by Penniman Ave., Moreland Ave., the P. M. R. R. and Arthur Ave., petition for which has been filed and approved by the Commission. The Manager recommended that his proposed installation of storm sewers in this area be limited to the section in Sunset Ave. from Penniman Ave. to Junction Ave. and in Auburn Ave. from Penniman Ave. to Blanche St., with cross connection to Evergreen Ave. and Garfield Ave.

It was moved by Comm. Wiedman supported by Comm. Hoyer that the Clerk be directed to advertise a public hearing relative to the installation of that portion of the proposed system of storm sewers included in the Manager's recommendation, to be held in the Commission Chamber June 2, 1930 at 7:00 P. M. Carried.

Village Attorney, R. J. Vaughn, presented to the Commission the opinion recommending denial of the petition of Mr. W. B. Hubbell that he be relieved of an alleged over assessment against his property for paying upon north Harvey St. and William St. in 1928. After consideration of the opinion it was moved by Comm. Hoyer supported by Comm. Kehrl that the opinion of the Attorney be accepted and confirmed, and that the Clerk be directed to communicate to Mr. Hubbell the decision of the Commission. Carried unanimously.

A petition was presented by residents in the vicinity of Ann Arbor Street and S. Mill Street requesting that stop signs be installed against traffic upon S. Mill St. at this intersection. Upon motion by Comm. Minnick supported by Comm. Kehrl the matter was referred to the manager for investigation and his recommendation at the next regular meeting.

Rosedale Gardens

By J. W. WALKER

The Land Co. boys are busy rebuilding the Strahle's Soderstrom's and Miodow's back yards with heaps of black dirt. In the meantime, keeping the grass cut and roads clean, clean, sorta making hay while the sun shines, cause it'll be a tough winter.

We have had several views on the subject, but it still remains a question mark—a neighbor realtor has a sign "$8,000 restrictions" placed on the E. S. 12 side of what we take to be one of the Sides' masterpieces or a telephone booth or something. Have you, too, noticed it? The rest of the surrounding territory, however, is certainly looking fine, and we are more than proud of our neighbor Marquette parker.

We are going to erase the Dixie Fruit Farmer soon. That is we are going to tear it down or something, which all go to say to Mrs. Jack "Sodolicious" work and labor are performing very slowly on our new Tennis Courts behind the school. The task is great and the laborers few, but players are many. So players get a wiggle on and come on over and give the little girls and boys a hand. See Brother Sider, and you'll know where when it comes.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Folsom and family of four children, will be among the missing at our church and school and about Mr. Folsom has accepted a new and better position in Muskegon, where the family moved on Monday. Best wishes of all follow with them.

The Sunday evening rain was worth a pile of dollars to all interested as dirt farmers and Gardenites, except the soda dept. of "R" emporium, which had almost run entirely out of ice cream when the rain came along with the big truck with more including orange ice.

Frank Brown and his miniature farm are now coming into all their glory, as are Frank Leslie and Jimmy Finnegan.

It was too hot to walk to church, so many rode over, and as many more stayed home last Sunday. Which all goes to prove that those who went are not sorry therefore, and those stay-at-home and backsliders are sorry they didn't go and maybe will go to see and hear next Sunday.

Wonders of Rosedale—the Phillip's grotto-stream-rock bed; Waldner's chimney rose with five different color roses on one stem; the Dixie botanical gardens; Senkel's sunken gardens; Sheffer's woodland-flower grove; E. J. Goodhold's (Frank Brown, new) fish bowl-electric fountain; Mrs. Hill's flowering perennials; Bigelow's grave and radio; Wagner's burn yard golf field; Jack Weaver's dog; Walker's black-herry rose bush; Buck Huron's mystery drink (at the new soda dept.); the closing gate at "R" grocer's; and others, thanks, and many of them.

We, too, have our Sherlock Holmes, Jr. who dissected himself in seven different ways, from plain lay to bathing beauty, all in order to obtain just as many of the big slices of ice cream on the grand opening day.

Jerry Brown, Esq. is home with his mother, Mrs. E. G. Brown, Berwick Ave. Jerry and his mother are "just fine."

And the circus came last Friday night, and it didn't rain a drop in proving the rule that there are exceptions to all rules, and the little folks went and marveled at what was what, and what wasn't, but is. The next morning they had departed leaving all the kiddies as if it were a dream.

So the National Airways are all dotted up in orange paint. Telephone poles and stones and fences and everything. So with trackless trolleys, tennis and golf and swimming pool, Rouge Park; the airways school; Rosedale street gates in all their verdant glory; and just (but not least) the city of Plymouth, the F. S. 12 has attractions all the way long, for speedway on lower's line, as the case may be, from Grand River Avenue to the end. As the police Boy Scout told to lost and strayed one, he could not take Plymouth Road to Plymouth, as we needed it all the way, but he could ride on it to the beautiful village.

Crickets from all over are commencing to assemble for their annual convention here. Other localities are welcome to the trade they bring or rather take.

Cameras and bathing suits are in season. Apples are green again, and are near the tummy-ache stage for the child-tasters.

And ain't it so? How many of us can count our friendships with cliff dwellers in the big village being renewed now that flowers are all blooming?

Ed. Reindel is bawling it now that the family is away, as is Mrs. Church and also Lloyd B. Huron, Esq., whilst all the boys are lake catgating.

The Harsha farm is coming along right nicely with grandpa directing the little Harshas in the grand and glorious and ancient art of weeding, hoeing and thinning out.

The Kiddie folks were certainly imbibed with palpability last Saturday, and all day too. For was it not the day they gave cookies away? In all things nice for their mothers, and free ice cream for the asking? The weather, too, was in keeping with all traditions as being ideal for the swimmers, Cars, big and flivver, kept arriving and departing all day—from 7 a. m. 'till past midnight. The force was augmented somewhat for the rush, extra help having to be employed for the great, grand and glorious event. All who came marveled at the convenient arrangement of each department as well as the "knight" vegetable stand, the "Dorn" gate, the "Smith" partitions, the new twelve foot lawless motor disc play case, and the baskets and boxes of posies in honor of the occasion and their accessories. Anticipating extra heavy drain on the several bargains offered, however, bargains, samples and ice cream and attendant balloons held out to the penultimate Gardenite—housewife.

Then there was smiling Bill Downing, Esq., of Uvoda himself, fame who fed up all visitors with samples of his wares, whilst Dor Johnson kept the little folks quiet with ice cream. And the radio played on, not forgetting the ball game, so Buck Huron pushed the cleats to the Butternutkicks, whilst they slipped at colas and vitamin "B." For Daddy Gardenites who didn't smoke there was a sample or two of posies, eyeing and face powder and big sized parcels of hand cream (poor things). Which all goes to prove that the right folks in the right place will meet with all success. Dog-gone!

Mr. and Mrs. R. Kehrl, daughter Irma and Mr. and Mrs. R. Kehrl were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Kehrl of Pontiac.

There will be a strawberry social Friday afternoon and evening, June 20th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Chansmith, given by the Ladies Aid of the Federated church.

Mrs. James Diekle of South Lyon, was a Tuesday dinner guest of her parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Renwick and family were evening visitors.

Rev. Halliday is spending a few days this week with his family in Delaware, Ohio.

BOONE NOW CAPTAIN

A new portrait of Joel T. Boone, personal physician to President Hoover, made since he was promoted to the rank of captain by the Chief Executive. Captain Boone is a native of Pennsylvania and has been in Washington since 1921 when he was appointed medical officer aboard the Presidential yacht Mayflower. He is the only medical officer in the navy entitled to wear the Congressional Medal of Honor.

PERRINSVILLE

Miss Juanita Poet, of Farmington, spent Friday afternoon with Margaret Kubic.

Margaret Kubic assisted Mr. Krueger in the bakery at Wayne, Monday and Wednesday.

The Richards family reunion was held at the home of Mrs. Alice Tapp, South Lyon, Sunday, with eighty-one present. A prize was given to Orval Lewis, he being the oldest member of the family and to Virginia Bock, the youngest. A bountiful pot-luck dinner was served at noon.

Many friends gathered at the Perrinsville hall, Saturday night, at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Babelt. They received many beautiful and useful gifts.

Children's Day exercises were given Sunday evening. A large crowd attended in spite of the rain. Two babies were christened.

Marvin Kubic, Elmer McKee, Melvin Snyder, Helen Brown and their teacher, Mrs. Sweet, returned Friday, after a very enjoyable trip to Niagara Falls and other points of interest in Canada, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

The church has been redecorated and looks very nice in its dress of rough plaster effect paper.

Hints for Women Who Do Their Own Sewing

Remember—To wet all cotton goods thoroughly and dry and press before using in order to shrink them. Then there will be less shrinking after the goods are made up.

To buy your patterns before you buy your materials, and look them over carefully so that you will be sure to buy the right amount, and so not waste expensive material or run short of needed goods.

To soak cotton goods that might run as to color in turpentine before washing or in strong salt water.

To dry all colored goods in the shade, not in the bright sunshine.

To make children's clothes out of substantial material that will wear and so make the work you put into them worth while.

To make children's everyday clothes out of material which will not only be durable, but which will not easily show the soil, so that you need not constantly be reminding them not to get their clothes soiled.

To think twice before buying anything. Some women waste money each year in buying material they never make up. Buy only what you are sure you will make up into good, useful clothes.

To eat a sensible, nourishing and refreshing lunch on sewing days and to get a little outdoor exercise each day that you spend sewing.—Washington Star.

Educating the Blind

The first thought and purpose of building up special institutions for the instruction of the blind seem to have occurred to benevolent persons in New England, New York and Pennsylvania almost simultaneously. The New York Institution for the Blind was incorporated April 22, 1831. On March 15, 1832, Dr. John D. Russ began the education of three pupils. The progress of the school was at first slow for want of an efficient head to direct its affairs. The Pennsylvania Institution, which is now one of the foremost in the world, was founded in 1833. Subsequently other schools were opened in the various states.

Animal Crackers

Little five-year-old Marie had just completed a few lessons in phonetics. Having received a box of animal crackers with pictures of different animals and their names printed on it, she began industriously to sound out the names telling her aunt what they were.

"Here is a bear and a deer, and a hip-po-pat-a-mus," said little Marie, "and oh, Auntie, look at this funny looking Hen-ry-ro-cus!"

Time's Change

The old Kotshkawa arsenal at Tokyo, which has been turning out instruments of death for two generations, is being dismantled to make way for a hospital and research laboratory devoted to fighting cancer. A million-dollar campaign is under way with the imperial family among the first donors.

BILL, THE BUS DRIVER SAYS

"The middle of the block is no man's-land, where many a healthy human gets mowed down for keeps."

(By MARCUS A. DOW.)

"Are walkers human?" a drivin' fool once asked that question. Read this one and answer it yourself:

The scene is Fifth avenue in little old New York. "Superb, Majestic, Inspiring," some poet called this expensive lane which runs for a few miles up and down Manhattan. As an inspiration it's a flat tire to me, but as a hustlin' transportin' highway it's a wow. Traffic in this lane durin' busy hours runs in three lines each way.

I was standin' on the west side of the well known avenue watchin' autos roll by about four o'clock in the afternoon. A simple-minded lookin' egg wearin' a silly grin all over his face decides he wants to come across the street right there in the middle of the block. He looks, sees a car comin' toward him next to the curb. He starts across in front of it, gets clear, but runs in front a flivver and to escape the disgrace of bein' bumped off by a road louse, makes a half acrobatic hop-skip-and-jump due west, clearin' the lizzle, also a tourin' car comin' in the third line. He had generated so much steam he had a h-l of a time diggin' his heels into the asphalt deep enough and quick enough to keep from skiddin' into a gas buggy goin' the opposite way. A couple more lucky, agile and funny movements puts him on the curb near where I was standin'. So I just watched him—and the crazy yap walked over to a store in front of where he had made his successful trans-boulevard flight and stood there five minutes lookin' over a display of ladies' stockin's on wooden legs in the window.

That yap only thought he was in a hurry. He just couldn't wait ten seconds until he got to the next crossin' to cross. Hurry causes a lot of accidents and the funny part is folks ain't in the hurry they thinks they are.

Small Villages Tire of Through Traffic Scheme

The danger of picking out the main street of a town and arbitrarily making it a through street, as pointed out in recent studies made by the National Safety Council, has recently been emphasized in several Illinois towns.

Petitions have been received by the state highway commission, at Springfield, from representatives of small towns and villages asking that state roads, around which many of them have been built, be re-routed so that the constant stream of traffic may be diverted from their centers.

According to the representatives, it was once thought advantageous to bring as much traffic into the main street as possible, for transient trade meant increased business.

The flow of cars, however, has become so great and the speed at which they travel so rapid that few stop at all. The increased volume has reached a stage where it endangers the lives of the inhabitants.

Even large cities are now finding that the most successful system shunts nonstop traffic around the business district to avoid congestion in the downtown centers.

Important Suggestion on Prevention of Wear

Splatterings of oil found on the garage floor or on the pavement where the car has been parked usually indicate loose oil line connections or loose crankcase bolts. After adjustments are made, the oil filter should be serviced if it has been used 10,000 miles. Attention to these important items means oil economy and prevention of wear on the automobile engine.

Wonder if, when speed fiends heaven, they'll keep the repair element busy fixing their broken?

SALUTATORY

—by—
CATHERINE NICHOL

Friends, citizens of Plymouth, Board of Education, teachers, and classmates:
The members of the class of 1930 welcome you to their commencement exercises. We wish to thank you for helping us successfully through our four years of high school and for providing us with the facilities to aid us in our school life.
You have probably all seen or heard of the new building being erected in Ann Arbor, the Mosher-Jordan dormitory for girls. It is expected that it will be completed by September, ready to house five hundred girls. As you pass you cannot help reading the great changes in co-education during the last fifty years. It was only a short time ago that college education for women was not even considered. But as women gained more prominence in civil affairs, they began to desire equal education with men. The Board of Regents in Ann Arbor refused them admittance for they feared a revolution in the whole management if girls were allowed to enter. The requests were so persistent that in 1870 co-education was established in the University of Michigan.
This experiment in co-education, for so it was called, was watched with grave misgivings by eastern college executives. Chancellor Frelinghuysen of New York, in a letter to President Angell, said that "if necessity required such a step for female education," he would regard it as a "sad exigency." The comment of President Woodbury of Yale was, "Of what use degrees are to be given to girls I don't see, unless they addict themselves to professional life." President Mann of Antioch college wrote, "The advantages are very great—the dangers are terrible." However President Hopkins of Williams wrote in favor of it, "My impression is that you might try the experiment safely, and I hope you will do so."
As a result of this resolution, the first girl to enter was from Kalamazoo. The next fall several others enrolled. The life of the first few women there was very difficult, for the men resented their trespassing on their domains. They argued that the university did not have enough funds to supply the needs of the men and until the state could give more money, women should be excluded. The townspeople, too, were against them, refusing to take

Changing Business
It is obvious to even the most casual observer that a great change has come over the business world in the last few years. This calls for a similar change in the schools which prepare young men and women to take their places in business. The times demand professional business men. Previously it has been the policy of schools to give the students a cultural training only and then get their knowledge of business by experience in and association with it; but in the modern highly organized system business establishments cannot afford to waste time training their employees. Therefore, schools today have to provide two distinct types of education, the general or cultural training and the technical business training. Just as in the science department, laboratories are provided in which the students experiment with and put into practice the things they have learned, so the commercial department must have a laboratory for practical training in business. The bookkeeping students must have actual sets of books to keep as they would be used in a business organization. It is true that in the past educational institutions have not enjoyed the approval and help of commercial institutions. This is a condition which needs adjusting. Only through the cooperation of the banks and the factories of a community can the school know what education to provide in order to properly fit the students for places in these organizations.
In the office of a large business organization of today there can hardly be found a resemblance to those of a few decades ago. Not only do they differ from their older namesakes in the number of people they employ, but also in the numerous, intricate, time-saving machines that they contain. There was a time when the most important qualification for a stenographer was good penmanship. Letters then were written by hand, so the good penman was given the preference when seeking work.
Today the office worker has very little opportunity to display his skill in handwriting. In the larger places even shorthand is not used as much as formerly. The employer dictates letters to a machine called a dictaphone. The words are recorded on a disc similar to a phonograph record, which the stenographer plays whenever she has time to write the letters. Or, perhaps, a stenotype is used. This is a machine operated similarly to a typewriter, but writing the shorthand abbreviations instead of longhand. It is possible to acquire greater speed with a stenotype than by writing the shorthand characters. The addressograph, which operates by the endless chain system, is used to address envelopes and letters by concerns whose mailing list is very large. The bookkeeping machines have practically revolutionized bookkeeping methods. Loose leaf ledgers are used so that the sheets may be taken out, rolled into the machine and the proper information recorded by striking the keys of the machine much in the same way as on a typewriter.

The adding machine and comptometer, of course, are widely used to add, subtract, multiply and divide. The noiseless typewriter is a new development, as is the electric typewriter. Where a great many form letters, that is letters having practically the same wording, are sent out the latter is of great value. It is merely set to type the required number of a certain letter and then automatically does so. Formerly the mimeograph and ditto were the only means by which to make numerous copies of the same thing, but letters made in this way lacked the personal appeal so necessary to acquire success in business, and so were seldom used. The filing systems of today are highly specialized, making the old pigeon-hole desk obsolete. One company might have several separate sets of files, the number depending on how many distinct types of persons or concerns with which they do business.
Upon first thought it might seem that with so many time-saving devices there would be less demand for office help, since machines are made to do many of the things that were formerly done by hand, and this is probably the opinion of a large percentage of the people. But this deduction is an error. The demand for efficient, well-educated office help, trained in the use of these modern devices and complicated systems of filing, has never been so great as at the present time. This is due to the rapid increase in today's volume of business. Institutions that in the past served only their own communities, now do nation wide, even world wide business. The telephone, telegraph, and modern transportation have made possible rapid intercourse with all parts of the world. The postal system is so extensive that today the letter is one of the greatest advertising factors in existence. If you were to look at the mailing list of a large business house, you would undoubtedly see addresses of places in every corner of the world.
Manufacturers today, in acquainting the public with the virtues of their wares, use a series of letters advertisgirls as boarders. But after the first year they discovered that perhaps girls were better boarders than the boys since they were not so noisy and destructive.

At that time everyone was required to attend chapel each morning. When the first little group of nine girls came in, they stood huddled together not knowing where to sit. Unfortunately they chose a row right in the line of the freshmen and the sophomores. Hymn books and everything movable came flying past them. Another time one of them was caught in a "rush" on the stairs. Boys, who in any other circumstance would be courteous, felt it against their principles to pay any attention to a "university girl."
One professor who had six girls in his class, completely ignored them for a whole semester, addressing them as "gentlemen."
A girl from Yassar, writing to her friend in Ann Arbor, said that she soon expected to hear that the girls were playing football and baseball and hazing freshmen.
Nothing special was done for the women at first and they were subject to the same rules as the men. However, they adapted themselves quickly and soon proved that they could do college work. Of course, they were greatly outnumbered and were continually conscious that every word and action would challenge critical attention.
By 1906, a gymnasium for girls had been built but there were no dormitories and only six approved boarding houses. The Woman's League and the Y. W. C. A. helped them a great deal. They belonged to language clubs and some became members of the Phi Beta Kappa honor society.
When the University of Michigan opened her doors to girls and admitted them to the same classes as men she did what no other important university had done. But the fine women who attended college during those first years justified co-education, and many outstanding leaders have since been graduated. Perhaps the most famous was Alice Freeman Palmer, who later became president of Wellesley College and married George Herbert Palmer, professor of philosophy in Harvard University.
When we see the wonderful buildings and the great opportunities offered to us, it behooves those in our class and of our generation to be very thankful that we are living now; to be thankful that we have for our use, the opportunities such as those furnished by this high school, and by the splendid colleges some of the class expect to attend.

ing whatever service or product in which the company deals to be sent by the sales or advertising departments to each of their prospective customers. If the first fails to bring a response, the second is sent, and others at regular intervals. To those who show an interest in the product by replying, an entirely different type of letter is sent. Some of the letters bring in orders, while others are an economic loss. The mail and salesmanship are so closely connected that to remove the former would necessitate a complete change in the methods of the latter.
The complex business world today demands no different virtues of its employees than did the small-scale organization of a generation ago, but it does demand that the old ones be more firmly embedded in their characters. The responsibility and trust placed in each one is so much greater than formerly that his ability to resist temptations must be increased accordingly. Therefore, it is the duty of the commercial department to develop the best qualities in its students, as well as give them a business training.
The traits of character which lead to success in business are reliability, good judgment, honesty, loyalty, punctuality, determination, earnestness, persistence, the ability to concentrate, to see and think clearly, and last ambition. These same qualities, if diligently cultivated, will bring success in whatever field of work you choose to follow.
Classmates: Tonight marks the close of our high school life. Four years of pleasant associations and comradeship have swiftly passed. Doubtless we have all had trying experiences during this time, but the memories that will remain with us during the coming years are those of the happy occasions. Tonight we are just a little sad, knowing that it is the last time we will all be together as schoolmates. In closing, allow me to extend my best wishes for a successful future to every member of the class and to hope that each one will set as his goal the highest ideals of character.
