

GIRLS HITCH HIKE TO YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK

We are pleased to publish the following article written for the Mail by Miss Neva Parker of this village, who, with Miss Treva Damon of Ithaca, made an interesting trip to the Yellowstone Park, on which they depended entirely upon rides with passing motorists.

We left Ithaca, Michigan, at 7:00 o'clock on Tuesday, July first. It took us seven days to reach Cody, Wyoming. Altogether, we spent about thirteen dollars apiece for actual expenses. I took twenty-two dollars and a half with me. In Cody I spent nearly three dollars for souvenirs, and arrived home July 15th, with three cents.

During our trip we rode in a variety of cars. In fact we rode in nearly everything from a Willys-Knight to a Ford truck. We rode in six different cars. New Fords furnished most of our rides. One advantage we had over the ordinary tourist driving through was that the people with whom we rode knew the country and called our attention to numerous points of interest along the way.

Our first day we went from Ithaca, Michigan, through Indiana to Joliet, Illinois, where we spent our first night. The country through which we passed was similar to Michigan, so no special interest was aroused. Early the next morning we left Joliet and arrived at Dubuque, Iowa, that afternoon. Our longest stop that day was one of about 175 miles. We crossed the Mississippi river at Dubuque, and clear through to Waterloo, where we stayed that night. The country near the Illinois and Iowa border began to be more picturesque. We went up and down a number of hills and were on the highest elevation in Illinois. The third day we stayed at Sioux City, Iowa. We started following highway 20, but near Garner, Iowa, we got a ride that took us out 20 but took us close to Sioux City. This was the longest stop on our journey, nearly 200 miles. The road with whom we rode liked driving, so we took turns driving his car the rest of our ride.

The fourth night we spent in Atkinson, Nebraska, which is a typical western town. By this time the country had changed a great deal. The roads were much better, except small strips of sand and rough. The fifth night we stayed in Chadron, during the day we were in a very severe hail storm. The sixth night we spent in Casper, Wyoming. Just as soon as we struck the Wyoming state line we noticed an immediate improvement in the roads, most of them being paved. The seventh night we stayed in Cody, Wyoming, the eastern entrance to Yellowstone. While in Cody, we visited the Buffalo Bill Museum and saw a statue of him. From near Cody, which was named after William Cody (Buffalo Bill), we could see Lookout Mountain where he was born, Nebraska.

We got a ride through the park entering from Cody and coming out the same way. We saw a few of Yellowstone's famous sights, but were ready to start back so late that afternoon, started back. We spent that night in Worland, Wyoming. With the exception of the marvelous scenery that we saw in the park itself, our most beautiful sight was between Thermopolis and Shoshoni. As we rode through Wind River Canon, we saw nearly every imaginable color and kind of rock. The river itself was so full of undercurrents and little eddies that it was hard in places to tell which way the river was flowing.

At Thermopolis, a farmer with whom we took a ride through the water is free to everyone for drinking and bathing. The hot water is run through stream-like ditches to be cooled for the plunges. Near by, on a mountain, a number of mountains could be seen from the park. They were built during the time that the land was still molten. The ninth night we spent in Wheatland. This side of Shoshoni, Wyoming, is an interesting rock formation called Hell's Half Acre. It is said to have been formed by wind and water, and abounds in rattlesnakes. The tenth night we spent in Chappell, Nebraska. From there we went to Grand Island, and spent the eleventh night. During that day we crossed and recrossed the Platt River several times.

The twelfth day we crossed back over the Missouri river, and on to Des Moines, where we stayed all night. That day we had the most novel experience of our entire trip. We rode with one man and two women who were going on a picnic. They were so interested in our experiences that they invited us to go on their picnic with them, which we did. The night was spent in Peoria, Illinois.

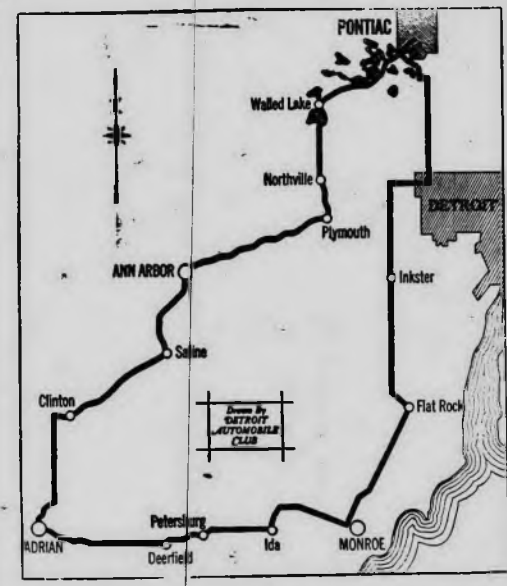

The thirteenth day we crossed the Illinois border, to Indiana, and then to Ohio, where we spent the night in Fostoria. The fourteenth day we came from Fostoria to Plymouth.

"During our trip we covered about 3,500 miles. We met some very interesting people and nice ones. Nearly everywhere in the west carries a gun in his car. One man had a revolver fixed in the dashboard of his car, while another one carried a rifle with him. "The thermometer rose to 116° in parts of Wyoming, and a dry hot wind was blowing all the time. Wyoming crops were mostly burned up because they had had no rain since June first.

"We enjoyed the trip and saw some very wonderful natural scenery, but everything considered, we like Michigan best, and we were glad to return home."

HAS ARTICLE IN THE AMERICAN CITY MAGAZINE
The June issue of The American City, a magazine devoted to matters pertaining to municipal and civic subjects contained an interesting article by Herald F. Hamill, consulting engineer of Plymouth, pertaining to assessor's plats and their value to municipal officials and property owners in establishing street and property lines. The article was accompanied by an illustration of an assessor's plat. Mr. Hamill is specializing in this line of work.

175-Mile Week-End "Little Trip" Through Southeast Michigan

ROUTE LEADS THROUGH LAKE DOTTED AREAS TO THE OLD PICTURESQUE LITTLE VILLAGES OF BEAUTEFUL SOUTHEASTERN MICHIGAN.

Southeast Michigan, since the advent of the automobile, has become recognized as one of the foremost recreational centers of the country. On every hand are opportunities for short trips and tours that lead to a variety of spots that add to the delight of motoring.

Miss Marie Johnson, manager of the Plymouth Division of the Detroit Automobile Club has outlined in the accompanying map a scenic or week-end automobile tour of approximately 175 miles that leads from Plymouth through Oakland County's lake dotted area, through the colorful college cities of Ann Arbor and Adrian, over to Lake Erie and thence back to Plymouth via an interesting series of highways.

The motorist leaves Plymouth via Plymouth road, following through a rolling country to the college city of Ann Arbor, picturesque located on the slopes of Huron river, Ann Arbor provides many an interesting sight for the tourist and in addition to the many scenic spots within the city, there are opportunities for side trips in almost any direction.

Leaving Ann Arbor, via Saline road, the route follows through to the village of Saline, where a left turn is made and U. S. 112 leads on to Clinton. The area within this vicinity, and beyond, provides scenes of scenic offerings. The Irish Hills and the many lakes within this vicinity are noted throughout the country.

The tourist follows U. S. 112 out of Clinton and a short distance beyond this village the tour turns left at the intersection of U. S. 114 with M-52. This latter highway leads south and into Adrian, another of Michigan's popular college cities. Here is located Adrian College, St. Joseph's Academy and the State Training School for Girls. Adrian is a picturesque manufacturing city and an important shipping center for grain and dairy products.

After a stop over in the city the motorist follows Leroy road which leads east and through Lenawee Junction, Deerfield, Powersburg and Ida. Here, a left turn is made and the route leads north to the intersection of M-54. Here a right turn is made and the highway leads into Monroe, located on the shores of Lake Erie. This city has become famous as a nursery center and nearby are some of the state's largest hot houses and flower farms.

The motorist leaves Monroe by way of U. S. 25, following this excellent paved highway north to Flat Rock. At this point a left turn is made onto the Huron River Drive which follows the picturesque shores of the Huron river for two and one-half miles to the intersection of Middle Belt road. Just beyond this point is the Huron River Park which provides an interesting stop over for the motorist.

Turning right at Middle Belt road, the tour leads north for approximately 22 miles to the Seven Mile road. At this point a right turn is made and the motorist follows this highway to Redford road where the route turns left and follows this latter highway north along the outskirts of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills. At Long Lake road, the tourist turns left and a short distance farther on turns right onto Telegraph road which leads to Pontiac.

Pontiac is one of Michigan's largest automobile manufacturing centers and is an important manufacturing center. The city was named for the famous Indian chief Pontiac, who made his home five miles distant on Apple Island in Orchard Lake. Within the limits of the county are more than 400 lakes which make this section an ideal summer resort. There are also 25 State Parks in the county which offer a great variety of scenic beauty.

FORMER JUDGE RECALLS GIANOLA-VITALE FEUD OF 20 YEARS AGO.

Gang wars such as are raging in Detroit today "usually are the result of intimidation, corruption or inefficiency of the law enforcing agencies," Pliny W. Marsh, former judge of recorder's court, who is candidate for a seat on the circuit bench this fall, declared Tuesday noon. Marsh spoke at the Kiwanis Club luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel.

Marsh recalled the Gianola-Vitale feud that raged in Detroit from 1910 to 1920 and resulted in a dozen or more murders. One judge was so completely intimidated the speaker said, that he had three police officers on guard at his home in eight hour shifts for nearly two years.

"Juries were intimidated by messages sent to some member of the juror's family that in case of a conviction the juror's child would be kidnapped, his house bombed or some other disaster befall him. The feud culminated in the murder of Gianola, the leader of one of the gangs, as he was leaving a downtown bank at noon. An attempt was then made to persuade his nephew to take the leadership of the gang. He refused and later was shot on John R street in broad daylight.

"The murderers were apprehended, promptly convicted and all sentenced to life imprisonment, which ended the feud." The meeting was in charge of the Dearborn Club.

Ann Arbor Man Defendant In 2 Big Law Suits

Victor K. Brown, 725 Church street, salesman for the Huron Valley Chevrolet, Inc., was named defendant in two damage suits yesterday aggregating $75,000 as the result of an automobile tragedy that occurred in 1928. One is for $50,000 and the other for $25,000.

The $50,000 suit is brought by Kathleen Mulvey, Detroit, administrator in the estate of Helen Mulvey, who was killed in an automobile collision on October 19, 1928 at the intersection of the Plymouth road cut-off and Canton Center road. Miss Mulvey was an occupant of the Chevrolet car driven by Mr. Brown at the time of the accident, and it is claimed in the bill of complaint that the defendant was guilty of gross negligence. Miss Mulvey died of injuries at the University hospital.

The $25,000 suit is brought by Harlow W. Sallow, R. F. D. No. 2, Plymouth, whose car was struck by the Brown car and who was badly injured. He claims wanton, willful negligence on the part of the defendant.

Orville H. Foster, Jr., Detroit attorney, represents the plaintiff in both cases. Ann Arbor, Washenau Tribune, July 11th.

Edson-Schaufele

Miss Margaret Schaufele, daughter of August Schaufele, and Randolph Edson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edson, both of this place, were united in marriage Monday evening, July 14th, at the Baptist parsonage. Rev. D. W. Riley performed the ceremony, the ring service being used. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Quayle of Detroit. After the ceremony the bride party returned to the home of the groom's parents, where a delicious wedding supper was served to the immediate families. The house was prettily decorated with sweet peas and snapdragons for the occasion.

The groom is employed in the Oakwood yard office of the Wabash Railroad, and the bride has been in the office of C. L. Phelan & Son, this village, for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Edson are enjoying a two weeks' motor trip to Mammoth Cave, Kentucky, and other places of interest, and on their return will make their home with the bride's father at 833 Brush St. They have the best wishes of their many friends for a happy and prosperous wedded life.

Canning Contest Stirs Interest of Plymouth Women

Six hundred dollars for a quart jar of canned fruit. Can one jar of food be made that will last for a year? This is a question that is agitating Plymouth homemakers since word got around that six hundred dollars in cash would be paid for the best jar of fruit, vegetables or meat entered in the second National Canning Contest which is being held at Shenandoah, Iowa, under the auspices of the Household Science Institute.

The contest seeks to further the work of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the home demonstration agents throughout the country by focusing the attention of American housewives on the economy and healthfulness of home canned foods.

First prize winner in the National Canning Contest last year was Mrs. Mary Hyass, Kewanee, Wisconsin, farm woman, whose entry of a quart jar of green peas was chosen as the best entered by the girls and women from all sections of the United States.

The holding of the contest in Iowa this year is due to the influence of Henry Field, Shenandoah farmer, merchant and KEXF announcer whose career is one of the romances of American life. Imbued with the spirit of thrift, he readily agreed to serve as president and to oversee the immovable details connected with a project of such size and scope.

Offer $4,250 In Prizes
Four hundred and seventy prizes, totaling $4,250 in cash, loving cups and ribbons, will be distributed to the winners in the contest, which comprises three major divisions: fruits, vegetables and meats. The best entry in each division will be awarded $100. One of these will also receive the five hundred dollar sweepstake prize. Second prize in each division will be $75, the third prize $25, and the fourth prize $10. The winners will also receive a loving cup and ribbon. There will also be 30 prizes of five dollars each, 75 prizes of $2.50 each and 200 prizes of one dollar each. In addition, five hundred dollars in cash will be awarded to the home demonstration agents whose entries in the contest are the number of entries, $250 in the agent whose entry counts in the next largest number, and $100 in the agent of the county sending in the third largest number.

The contest is open to every woman and girl in the United States. Plans are to participate in the contest in the local section, as in the future, one, two or all three divisions. Entries should be sent in as soon as possible after canning. These will be placed and kept on exhibition at Shenandoah until after the closing of the contest, which will be on October 1.

Contest Closes October 1

Fruit and vegetable entries in the contest will be judged for cleanliness, color, pack, neatness, flavor and texture. The meat entries will be judged for neatness, texture and flavor. Each entry must be accompanied by a certificate of authority, will be Dr. Louise Stanley, director bureau of home economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture; Dr. Margaret Justin, president American Home Economics Association; George Farrell, director of extension for the north central states for the Department of Agriculture; Mrs. Josephine Aronquist, director of home economics for Iowa State Agricultural College; and Miss Elaine Massey, leader of girls club work for Mississippi.

Contestants are free to use any method of canning they prefer, according to Grace Hall Gray, nationally-known canning expert and secretary of the contest. However, the use of a steam pressure cooker is recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, especially in the canning of meat, since this method not only saves time and fuel and assures absolute sterility, but also preserves the natural flavor and texture, which, of course, are important considerations in contest judging.

That the judging may be thoroughly impartial and the display of jars absolutely uniform, contestants are required to submit their entries in standard glass jars of the quart size. A simple Ball mason jar and carton together with prize entry labels for use in sending entries may be had without cost by writing the National Canning Contest, Shenandoah, Iowa.

Cut The Weeds Now

In many places about town along sidewalks and in vacant lots there are luxuriant growths of weeds. These weeds are a source of annoyance to the man who lives adjacent to them and has a well kept lawn. Not only do they detract from the beauty of a well kept lawn, but if the weeds are not cut and allowed to go to seed, foul matter is blown upon the well kept lawn with the result that the owner finds it a difficult matter to get rid of the weeds that grow as a result. Cut the weeds by all means.

FROM HOURS TO MINUTES

Industry may boast of its efficiency but it has nothing on agriculture.

When wheat was cut with a sickle and threshed by hand an acre required from 35 to 50 hours of labor for the harvesting of the crop.

The introduction of the cradle cut about 10 hours from this previous requirement.

When the binder had been perfected the requirement for cutting and threshing from shock or stack was between four and five hours an acre.

When wheat was harvested with a header and threshed in a stationary machine another hour was cut from the time.

Today on the larger fields of the west a combination harvester and thresher is used.

Forty-five minutes is all the time that is required to make the grain from an acre of land ready for the elevator.

All of this change has come about in approximately 50 years.—Grand Rapids (Minn.) Herald-Review.

A LESSON FOR ALL

It's sometimes necessary to go a long way from home for an object lesson. But usually it's worth it. It's many thousands of miles to China, yet every Plymouth resident can learn a lesson from China, and without going there. For years science has sought the cause of famines in which millions of Chinese have perished. The whole world has tried to keep China from starving, without knowing the cause of their troubles.

Now comes a report of the long investigation. It can be told in a few words. For hundreds of years China felled her forests with lavish hand. A tree meant only something to be cut down and used. No one stopped to consider that they can be destroyed faster than they can be made to grow. So after years of slaughter China has become almost a barren plain. This has permitted the elements to destroy the soil; rains have washed off the top soil and the dirt that could have been used for cultivating crops has run into the rivers and on into the sea. Anyone who has visited China will tell you that her rivers are apparently always muddy.

Today what might have been millions of acres of fertile, crop-producing land is nothing but hard, baked clay. And China cannot go back to where she was; it would take hundreds of years to reforest the country. That is the lesson that ought to be worth a lot to us, here in a section still blessed with considerable woodland. Save the trees we now have, and keep planting more trees, or generations to come will meet that same fate that has overtaken China. Every tree planted and every tree spared is a bullet in the war against possible starvation.

COSTLY CARELESSNESS

Several subscribers have been generous enough to compliment us from time to time on the helpful and timely suggestions we try to pass out to our motoring friends. It strengthens us in our belief that the vast majority of car owners are anxious to promote safety, and glad to have their attention called to ways in which they can do so.

Now that we are on the subject, it seems timely to add another, and one we believe is among the most important of all. That is in regard to tossing lighted matches, cigars or cigarettes from the car as it is speeding along a highway. In fact, so dangerous is this practice that 23 states have already passed laws providing a penalty for anyone caught doing so. Investigations have shown that thousands of dollars of our national fire loss each year can be traced directly to this cause. The smoker, without any intention of causing property damage, tosses a match or lighted cigar or cigarette out the car window. He is not in position to know the result, because he is miles away before a tiny spark grows into a flame and that flame, in scores of cases, becomes a raging conflagration along the roadside before it is discovered. Often it spreads to houses and barns before it can be placed under control.

It is a good idea to remember this and to see that the match is extinguished before it is discarded, or that cigar or cigarette stump no longer contains fire as it is being disposed of. Hundreds of thousands of dollars could be saved annually if everyone would do this, and there wouldn't then be any need to pass state laws against such carelessness.

CANDY AND GRAY HAIR

Believe it or not, but we Americans consumed 1,382,243,387 pounds of candy in 1929. That was 117,000,000 pounds more than we ever ate in a single year before. And candy-makers are claiming that radio is responsible for the increase. They say more candy is eaten by people in the evenings while "listening in" over the radio than at any other time of day. Candy is also standard equipment for the young fellow who takes his girl to the movie shows, and so widespread has the candy habit become that it's nothing unusual to see Plymouth citizens who once reached into their pocket for a chew of tobacco now drawing forth a piece of candy to munch on instead. Peanuts and popcorn also show increased sales. In fact, it seems that our whole life has changed and that the things we once thought fit only for kids are now the things we are enjoying most. But it's a good sign. Anything that helps to keep us from worrying over gray hairs is a blessing, no matter if it does come in the shape and form of a sack of peanuts or a piece of candy.

THE DOCTOR KNOWS

We happened to be present a few days ago when a local physician was asked by a Plymouth man what, in his opinion, contributes mostly to illness during the summer months. The medical man did not hesitate in giving his answer. "Over eating" was his reply. He explained that the system is not in condition to properly assimilate heavy meats, or a big quantity of grease as quickly in summer as in winter. The digestive organs function better on vegetables and lighter meats, like chicken and fish, in summertime, he said. But, he explained, too many people believe that to sustain strength they must eat as liberally of beef and pork in hot weather as they do in cold. The result is such foods serve to increase body temperatures by heating the blood, the system is weakened, and illness results. "Too many people dig their graves with their teeth" the doctor asserted. And his statement is worth studying over, now that hot days are here in earnest.

THE LAST HOPE LEFT

Advertising isn't meant to be seasonal; advertising the year 'round will help business the year 'round. There may not be a direct rush, but it draws a steady trade, and makes transient customers permanent ones. Advertising will build a constant and steady trade that cannot be built by any other method. But it will not sell goods of an inferior quality and it will not improve business in a dusty store where goods are displayed unattractively. It will not hold trade at a store where clerks are not polite and considerate. It will not hold customers where service is not reasonably prompt. Competition is keen, but the business man who keeps his eyes open to new ideas and puts those ideas into practice—which includes a steady and liberal use of printer's ink—is bound to get his share of business. The home paper is the last surviving hope of the home merchant in a day when mail-order catalogues and house-to-house salesmen are as thick as flies in this and every other community.

ROCKS LEAD PLYMOUTH PLAYGROUND LEAGUE NETHEM LOSES 7 TO 3 FARMERS WIN EASILY

After holding the creamery team runner for six innings, the Nethem boys weakened, and C. F. Burger gained a hard-earned victory. The failure to hit in the pinches is the main reason for the loss. In the seventh inning, with the score tied, bases loaded and one man out, Fowler was called in to take up the pitching burden and he turned out to be the hero of the day as he made Horvath pop a fly to Dethloff, and R. Levandowski was called out on strikes.

Johnny Schomberger carried off the hitting honors of the day when he gathered three hits out of four. Next Sunday, July 20th, the strong Highland Park Red Sox team will be the local attraction. Highland Park had a great team last year, winning over twenty-six games, and at one time had a winning streak of eleven games in a row. The game will be called at 3:00 p. m., at Rousseau's Park, Newburg. Be sure to come out and see this great team in action.

Every month the three leading hitters' batting averages are printed for the benefit of the fans who might be interested in the leaders. This month there is no change in the order of the three leading hitters, except that Hank Rebitzke has increased his average so much so that he is now in the four hundred class. He also leads the team with the most hits, 10. Johnny Schomberger has made the most errors, seven; while Schultz leads the team in scoring the most runs, a total of eight including last Sunday's game.

Miss Wilam Brink of Lansing, Kan., recently elected to head the coed sharpshooters at the University of Kansas.

Open Seasons For Fall Are Set By State

PARTRIDGE SEASON IS INCREASED IN LOWER PENINSULA.

Shortening of the racoon hunting season by 15 days; and increasing the partridge and prairie chicken open seasons in the lower peninsula by one day, were the principal changes made in the 1930 hunting and trapping seasons by the conservation commission at its July meeting.

The open seasons for the coming fall in which changes have been made are as follows: Partridge: Closed in upper peninsula. Lower peninsula October 15-20, inclusive.

Prairie chicken: Closed in upper peninsula, lower peninsula, October 15-20, inclusive.

Racoon: Trapping and hunting prohibited in upper peninsula. Lower peninsula: Hunting, November 1-15 inclusive. Trapping: North of Tontoline 18 and west of Saginaw Bay, November 15 to December 15 inclusive; south of North line of Tontoline 16 and east of Saginaw Bay (thumb), December 1 to December 15, inclusive.

Seasons on all other animals and birds remain the same as during 1929. The partridge season will be opened this year to coincide with the opening of the rabbit and woodcock seasons. Through this change a six days open season including a week end is provided.

ROBINS DEFEAT METHODIST, 12-3

The Robinson Sub nine took another game, this time the Methodist boys in a one-sided affair last Thursday evening at the high school diamond. The final tally being 12 to 3.

The Methodists were two runs in the lead up to the second half of the second inning, however the Robins soon overcame this and they were the leaders. In the 5th and 6th innings the Robins chalked up six more runs putting them on the safe side.

Egloff, pitching for the Robins, performed well up to the sixth inning. Starting the sixth Lee singled, Partidge and Tattenbury walked, filling the bases. Egloff was taken out and replaced by Kirk. Brown filled in short.

Seeing Big League BASEBALL

By BILLY EVANS Sports Editor, Big League Umpire and General Manager of the Cleveland Indians

An umpire's job at best is a colorless one, though sometimes made more spectacular and less drab by the "color" of the individual. "Sik" O'Loughlin with his immortal "Strike Tuh!" had lots of "color." There have been and still are others, but he is perhaps our best example.

We have had an abundance of colorful players in recent years—Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Tris Speaker, Frank Frisch, Hack Wilson, Stanley Harris—dozens of others. But few umpires are what can be called spectacular. There is little enough of the dramatic in calling balls and strikes and warning them out or calling them safe.

The ball players can shine in the field, at the bat and on the base paths. They have their batting averages, their fielding averages, pitching averages and stolen base records. They may win pennants and world series, hit home runs with the bases loaded and pitch no-hit games. They often become heroes and national idols overnight—as in the case of Stanley Harris, the "boy manager," who won a world's championship his first year as manager.

West Pt. Park, 6, River Rouge, 3

West Point Park brought home the game Sunday, July 13th, winning from River Rouge by the score 6 to 3. By winning this game, West Point has taken all the teams in the Down River League down the line for a game. The previous game with River Rouge was won by them, this being the only game lost by West Point this season.

The game was close with River Rouge leading by a score of 3 to 2 until the lucky seventh when West Point marked up four runs, thus putting them three runs in the lead. This was a lead too great for River Rouge to overcome.

Ten hits were made off Wilson in seven innings while six were made off Goers in nine innings. Corbett, who relieved Wilson in the eighth, allowed one hit in the last two innings. Wilson struck out three men and Goers retired seven the same way.

West Point Park is playing some great baseball every Sunday. They have led the league for the last three weeks.

Rocks Win From Northville Nine

Thursday night, July 10, the Rocks went over to Northville and defeated them by a score of 10 to 0. Gust pitched the first seven innings for the Rocks and only allowed Northville four hits. Matheson pitched the rest of the game allowing but one hit.

Matheson and Orr collected home runs and the rest on the players got several hits which proved to Northville that the Rocks should lead the league at Plymouth, as they are now doing.

Three of World's Great Sprinters

Paddock, Borah and Wyck-off Attend Trojan School.

The campus at the University of Southern California will be blessed this summer with the presence of three of the world's greatest who will be attending the Trojan school at the same time.

Charley Paddock, demon of the cinder path for a number of years, grown too robust to consider any further breaking of records, will return this summer to U. S. C. to study law. After receiving his A. B. degree in 1928 Paddock took up the pastime of writing and lecturing and, on the side, served in an executive capacity in a Minneapolis publishing concern.

The second famed sprinter is Charley Borah, former national intercollegiate champion, who will re-enter school to pursue courses in medicine. Rounding out the trio is Frank Wyck-off, who ran the 100 yard dash in 9.4 in the N. C. A. A. games. Frank should become the most famous of the three, as he has two years more of collegiate competition and has been improving with each season.

Philadelphia is going in for night baseball, in a mild way. The Municipal stadium (formerly the Sesqui-centennial stadium), where the first Dempsey-Tunney contest was fought, is the scene of the experiment. The South Philadelphia league plays there on Saturday nights under the flood lights installed before the Dempsey battle.

Manager George Orton said the games attract considerable attention, far more than the league could hope for during daylight contests.

Rene Lacoste's home adjacent to Paris includes a brick wall which looks as though it might have been transplanted from Verdun. It was literally knocked to pieces and it held the secret of Lacoste's success as a tennis player. Against that wall he has hammered thousands of balls to pieces in the endeavor to correct this or that little mistake in the production of a stroke to help bring the Davis cup to France. Even when he was proficient he used to play there, day after day, in order to keep himself physically fit for the great strain which tournaments impose on players.

Ray Flaskemper, the shortstop of the Memphis Chicks, is a pretty fast stepper on the bases and he bids fair to lead the Southern league in stolen sacks this season. Last year, when he was down in the Texas league, he was one of a group of players who were bragging about their speed on the base paths.

One fellow, a newcomer to the circuit, was particularly sold on himself and his ability to travel on the bases. Flaskemper horned in after the youngster had delivered a glowing oration, featuring himself and his footwork.

"That's nothing," said Flash. "One day in San Antonio I hit a line drive to center field and it hit me in the back as I was rounding second base."

The chain store system of light promotion has been established in New York state with a club each in Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse. Hugh Shannon is the matchmaker.

CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTMENTS RELIEVE NERVE PRESSURE

LIPTON CONFIDENT OF SHAMROCK

Thomas Lipton expresses confidence in the ability of his Shamrock V to lift the America's cup this September. "I think I can manage to wrest the cup from my American friends," he said. "I have a big secret in store, but I am not going to say anything about it until my yacht arrives at Sandy Hook."

Seeing Big League Baseball

But the umpire. Who gives a hang about the umpire? All he does is see that the game is played and played according to the rules. Isn't that right? Did you ever hear anybody cheer for an umpire? So Walsh, famous pitcher who tried umpiring after he was through as a pitcher, objected to the job, because as he said, "it was all tears and no cheers." He had been used to cheers.

No, alongside the player, the umpire is quite a humdrum individual. And yet I liked the job. I'm proud to feel that I am still a part of our great national game. And, I too—I say it not boastfully—can feel a little pride in my own record, my own "averages," in other words. Besides, as Jack Sheridan told me, and Tim Hurst has more than once jokingly remarked, "You can't beat the hours."

No, you can't beat the hours—three to five—although my own hours off the field were not leisure hours but were spent in pounding the old typewriter turning out sport copy for newspapers. And back of it all I get a feeling of immense satisfaction that I am a part of this great institution of baseball, and have seen it grow from comparatively feeble proportions to its giant present-day status. And I have learned quite a lot in my twenty-five years in the big leagues. I have learned a lot about human nature and mob psychology and that sort of thing. And I have learned a lot about baseball.

Perhaps an experience as lengthy as mine entitles a man to some opinion. Perhaps you will agree that, although I don't play baseball, my constant contact with it and with the players gives me an opportunity, even greater than the active players, to judge baseball ability. Does it sound illogical when I say that perhaps I am in a better position to judge the merits of a particular star than one of his teammates or one of his opponents is?

For this reason if for no other: As an umpire, my work was pretty evenly divided among the eight teams in the American league. An active player can judge an opponent only on that opponent's performance against him. As umpire, I have had the opportunity of seeing how John Smith performs against seven clubs. Each team plays each of the other teams about twenty-two games in the course of an ordinary season. So that the Washington club, let us say, has twenty-two opportunities during the year of watching Babe Ruth play. I may have more or less games than that to umpire with New York as one of the teams, but I have the opportunity of seeing how Babe Ruth hits in every ball park in the league.

I want to make this clear, because later on I am going to name my all-time, all-star baseball team. And then I am going to give my own conception of the ideal baseball player. It may be argued that my job in the American league prevented my seeing many national leaguers in action. But at various times I have seen them all, both in and out of world series. And this, combined with the figures in the old record books, ought to qualify me in some respect as a competent judge.

Veteran Sam Rice Kicks With Ruth on Batting

When the Washington Nationals were in New York recently, Babe Ruth engaged the veteran Sam Rice in a conversation about batting—particularly Sam's batting.

"Better get 'em while you can, Sam," advised Ruth, "for I'll be catching up with yuh pretty soon."

Rice laughed. "Yeh? Say, see this bat! That's my sweetheart, and we'll get plenty of hits yet."

Ruth sprayed tobacco juice over the well-kept sod of the Yankee stadium. "I hear you're goin' to be divorced from your sweetheart, soon," he observed, walking away quickly to discourage any comeback that Rice might make.

Al Mamau, successor to Tris Speaker as Newark manager, has been one of the hardest working pitchers in the International league for the last five seasons.

Barnes rolled one down to third forcing Lee who was out at the plate. Whipple struck out with the bases loaded, ending the inning. Just three men faced Kirk in the seventh inning.

In the eighth the Methodists passed up another opportunity to win a game. Lee and Partridge singled. Rattenbury walked for the second time, filling the bases again. Brown also walked forcing in a run. Barnes, Whipple and Cline were unable to get a hit and this inning also ended with all bases occupied.

Houghton played a bang-up game, making some nice plays at second. Hartung got four hits and contributed three of the twelve runs, one being a homer. Micol and McLeod also secured two hits and two runs each. Doobs and Penny played their usual good game.

mitted instead of five days as it was last year. According to a report from the Game Division of the department of conservation, deer and rabbit hunters last year found many birds had survived the open season and during the winter and spring favoring reports as to the supply of partridges have reached the Lansing office. Of a total of 35 upper peninsula officers who sent in partridge reports, 25 reported "more birds" than last year, but with one exception, favored a continued closed season this fall. In spite of an open season and a hard winter, 15 lower peninsula counties above townline 16 report "more birds" than last year.

The prairie chicken open season is changed to coincide with the open partridge season. Reports from 10 and district officers, both last year and this, indicate that prairie chickens are still comparatively scarce in their usual ranges of the upper peninsula, but locally abundant in the eastern part of the lower peninsula, especially in the counties west of Saginaw Bay. Reports show that this bird increased quite steadily in Clare, Roscommon, Ogemaw and other neighboring counties, especially during the last few years.

The trapping season for raccoon in the lower peninsula remains the same as last year, corresponding as far as possible with the muskrat trapping seasons. Although raccoon are reported to be less abundant in many places of the lower peninsula than last year, reports indicate there are enough for a short open season this year, and so the hunting of 'coon was limited November 1 to November 15, inclusive. Last year the hunting season was from November 1 to November 30, inclusive in the lower peninsula.

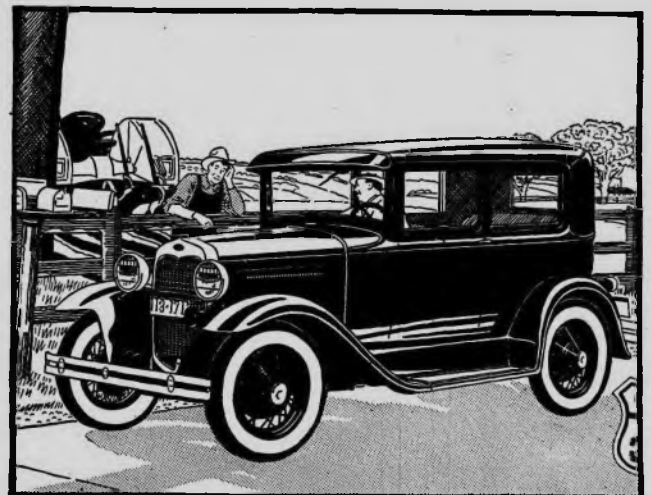

Raccoons are scarce or absent in all upper peninsula counties except small areas in Menominee and Delta counties and there has been no decided increase after the closed season last year. This is probably a permanent condition, but the season will remain closed in the upper peninsula to protect the few 'coons there and to see whether there is any possibility of their increasing or extending their range.

Mink may be trapped this year only during the open muskrat season, under an order of the Commission. This was done to give better protection to muskrats during the closed season and to avoid the trouble caused in catching rats and 'coons in mink sets. Mink may be taken or killed or other methods than traps during the entire year.

Muskrat trapping season, unchanged from 1929, is as follows: Upper peninsula, November 1 to 30th, inclusive. Lower peninsula: North of north line of Townline 16 and west of Saginaw Bay, November 15 to December 15, inclusive; South of north line of Townline 16 and east of Saginaw Bay, December 1 to December 31, inclusive.

Our barnyard golf champion almost went to consult Saint Peter about entering thru the pearly gates, instead of Blackburn Avenue gates, last Satdee antemeridian whilst on his way to sweat and labour. It happened this way, according to oral witnesses, to wit: Frank was scurrying along as usual, when crash! crush and bang! Frank was picked up for sausage meat, his driver has died its last flit, and it took some time to get Mr. Wagner back to home and consciousness. And all was necessary was about four and two twelfths gallons of mecurachrome to paint the scratches and cuts, and an oculist to make new eye glasses, and a completely new model "A." The aggressor was one in a big car, evidently more intent on his lady friend than on safety for himself and others and their property. Ivy Unpopular

Ivy has so long been used as a symbol of close and undying affection that it is uncomfortable to find a contrivance going on as to how to kill and exterminate this "pestiferous plant." It is a beautiful thing, ivy; its leaves are exquisitely shaped; its color is satisfying. Yet we are told now to look upon it as an enemy both to buildings and trees. All the same, I know walls covered thick with ivy where I used to locate birds' nests, which I shall always regard with affection. And I have known trees smothered by ivy which were far less pleasant to look on than the creeper which deprived them of life.—Montreal Family Herald.

Mongol Never Hurried

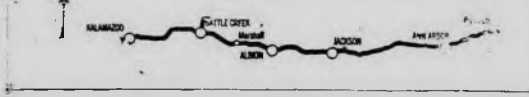

Caravans cannot be hurried, for the Mongol takes his own time. Centuries of experience have taught him how much a camel can successfully do, and he will not push his animals beyond their endurance. Camel caravans can penetrate to every nook and corner of Mongolia, bringing out valuable products for export. The Mongol camel puller will guide his caravan straight across the plain to any desired destination and there pack his loads and take good care of them, but after he will be a year, or two or three years, bringing in the goods.—Frans August Larson's "Horses and Business" in Atlantic Monthly.

In the first of the two games at Canton Park last Sunday, the Haggerty A. C. routed the Crosley Radio team in a loosely played contest of seven innings. The visiting team took a two-run lead in the first inning but was swapped in the second when Haggerty sluggers collected seven hits good for eight runs, and from then on the home club was never in danger. HAGGERTY A. Farmers Play At Kalamazoo This Week-End

Next Saturday and Sunday De-Ho-Co will play at Kalamazoo but will return the following Sunday to play Pontiac at De-Ho-Co park. De-Ho-Co defeated the Fowlerville Baseball Club of Fowlerville, Michigan last Sunday with a score of 16 to 5. Snider pitching for De-Ho-Co allowed but seven hits, while Proctor pitching for Fowlerville allowed fifteen. At the beginning the visitors took the lead by one run and held it until the last of the third when De-Ho-Co made four runs. De-Ho-Co then took the lead and held it throughout the entire game, the visitors being allowed to score but twice more during the game which was in the fourth inning. De-Ho-Co took two runs in the sixth, four in the seventh and three in the eighth.

Wayne Loses To Liberty A. C.

Sporting Squibs

George Courtney, weight 166 pounds, Oklahoma middleweight, won a 10-round decision over Vince Forgnone, 165, of Philadelphia, at Newark last Monday night. The turf gridiron, in the center of the 23,000 seat Purdue stadium, looks like a putting green. One of the first things a bride seems to learn is that tobacco ashes never did a rug any good.

Sport Notes

Ray Kremer, Pirate pitcher, had a trial with the Giants as fast back as 1910.

Purchase of Vernon Parks, right-hand pitcher from the Buffalo club, was announced by Joe Engle, owner of the Lookouts.

Joe Boley of the A's and Glenn Wright of the Dodgers were minor league rivals in the series between Kansas City and Baltimore in 1923.

Lil Stoner, veteran right-handed pitcher, hurled a no-hit no-run game for the Forth Worth Texas league club, shutting out San Antonio 2 to 0.

Harry White, University of Washington shortstop sold to the Cleveland Indians this summer, batted .450 in the Pacific Coast conference baseball race.

The bureau of standards has just come out with the information that the waistline is seven inches above the hips. Too late, however, to help Mr. Sharkey.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, declared in pre-season predictions to be easy against left-handed pitching, have defeated practically every southpaw to face them.

A British writer at St. Andrew's describes Jones' golf game as "indolent perfection." We long ago diagnosed our own case as one of "tense ineptitude."

James Wood, San Francisco hotel man, has been elected chairman of the California state boxing board. He long has taken an interest in boxing and other sports in the state.

Ed Wineapple, right-handed pitcher of the New Haven Eastern league baseball team and former Providence college star, has been returned to the Washington American league team.

Douglas Tait, the outfielder acquired by Little Rock from the Chicago White Sox, has decided to report to the Travelers. He first protested against playing in the Southern league.

Binghamton has returned Catcher Dave Miller to the Nashville Vols and obtained Pitcher William Simmons from Montreal of the International league.

After a cold lunch the other mid-night, a golf bug turned in and dreamed of watching Jones do a Tom Thumb golf course in 13 with a tack-hammer.

The heaviest weight ever carried by a thoroughbred was 160 pounds, imposed upon a horse named Ramapo, who won a race in England despite this handicap.

Albert Michelson, veteran runner of the Millrose Athletic association, has won every marathon of note in the United States with the exception of the Boston classic.

A New York church has sold a strip of land, 5 inches wide by 25 feet long, to a corporation for $50, but when the miniature golf course will be ready is not reported.

Along in the second year of the apprenticeship the earnest young sports writer picks up the word "imbroglio." There is little that can be done but let it run its course.

Despite the abnormally heavy batting of recent years, the record for the season, made by Hugh Duffy of the Boston Nationals in 1894, has withstood the modern sluggers' efforts.

Wealth Showered Upon Favorites of Fortune

An American artist named Mott traveled to the Pribilof Islands in a sealing vessel a year ago to paint some pictures of seals in their native home, and one day noticed a curious bank of sand lying close along the shore. He dug into it, and found beneath the sand a mass of bones. They were seal bones—millions of them—which had been flung up by the sea in the course of centuries. Further search has shown that there are miles of these bone deposits, along the shores of the islands. One pile is a mile long, half a mile wide, and six feet deep. Now, bones are one of the best of all fertilizers, and the value of the find is simply gigantic—far greater than that of any gold mine. This brings to mind the case of the wandering prospector who, years ago, while crossing a desert in Wyoming, came across the body of a horse which, though it must have died long ago, was still fresh and sweet. The body was covered with a layer of fine dust, which the prospector recognized as borax. He saw the value of the discovery and sold it to a large packing firm in Chicago, who kept the secret for a long time. Today the uses of borax are innumerable, and range from the preservation of food down to dressings for tired feet and lotions for inflamed eyes.

Leaders of Tomorrow Among Boys of Today

He is a person who is going to carry on what you have started. He is to sit right where you are sitting and—when you are gone—attend to those things you now think are so important.

You may adopt all the policies you please, but how they will be carried out depends upon him. Even if you make leagues and treaties, he will have to manage them. He will assume control of your cities, states and nation.

He is going to move in and take over your churches, schools, universities and commercial undertakings. All your work is going to be judged and passed on or condemned by him. Your reputation and your future are in his hands.

All your work is for him, says Boys Club magazine, and the fate of the nation and humanity is in his hands. So it might be as well to pay him some attention.

Dog Made Small Town Famous

Karasjok is a small town in northern Norway, above the sixty-ninth meridian in the center of the region known as Lapland. It lies a few miles west of the confluence of the Karasjok and Tana rivers, the latter forming the boundary between Norway and Finland.

The town's population is made up mostly of Laplanders and is the home of the Balto family, made famous by an Alaskan malamute, named in honor of one of the members of the family. Balto was the lead dog of Gunnar Kasson's famous team that carried diphtheria serum on the last 60-mile lap in the 600-mile sledge race from Nenana to Nome during the epidemic of February, 1925.

Music Helps Efficiency

As far back as 1886 the head of a southern factory, where cigarettes were rolled by hand, placed good singers in his workrooms to increase efficiency and contentment in the plant. There are today several hundred American industrial organizations that encourage musical activities among their employees. A survey conducted by the National Association for the Advancement of Music reports that 52 companies allow the musical programs to be conducted on company time, while 132 allow them to be conducted half on company time. Experiments prove that under the influence of music more work is done and fewer mistakes are made.

Put the Safe First

A man called on his stock broker and found him grumbling about lack of business and recent financial complications in the city.

He was about to leave his office for the day. As they were going out, the caller noticed that the door of the safe—a large, majestic piece of furniture—was open.

"Surely," said he, "you lock your safe for the night, don't you?"

"As a rule, yes," replied the broker, "but as things are at present, I would much rather that any one should take the contents than break the safe!"—St. John Telegraph Journal.

A Balfour Anecdote

An amusing anecdote is recalled about Lord Balfour and Lady Oxford concerning her rather sensational "Autobiography of Margot Asquith."

In it she speaks of him in a not too kind manner.

Meeting him shortly after its publication, she said, "I do hope you will forgive me for what I said about you in my book." Lord Balfour answered, "What book? I did not know you had written one."—Weekly Scotsman.

Whiskers

A large branch fell from a tree in the front yard of two-year-old Tom.

"Whassa?" said he, pointing to the twig on the limb.

"Why, it's the tree's whiskers," answered his sister, with all the wisdom of her five years.

Man wants but little here below—and if he lives in Russia that's about all he gets.

In Paris they are making jewelry out of rubber. Maybe that's because so many engagement rings bounce back.

Have you a lot of house to sell or exchange? Why not let the people of Plymouth and surrounding territory know about it—advertise it in the Want Ad Columns of the Mail—the cost is little, the results are big. Just bring the ad in or telephone number 6 and ask for want ad taker.

Colossal Frozen Falls Unequaled for Beauty

Four thousand feet high and a mile wide—a solid mass of ice—scintillating and gleaming with a myriad lights—the Hoeksietter ice falls in the Tasmanian area of the southern Alps are one of nature's most marvellous sights. They fall from the Grand plateau and the Linda glacier and swell the volume of the mighty Tasman glacier three-quarters of a mile below. The eye of man has beheld no scene which is the peer of these colossal falls. Plunging precipitately down the rugged slopes of a mountain more than 12,000 feet in height, with a huge black rock in their midst as the only contrast to their dazzling purity, the falls are justly famed as nature's supreme gift to a beauty-loving world. One glimpse of such transcendent loveliness provides the awed observer with a lifetime of vivid recollections. There is every truth in the assertion that neither pen nor camera can convey an adequate appreciation of the glory of these falls, but in the minds of many people now departed over the seven seas they will ever remain an indelible and haunting memory.—Exchange.

Observe All Saints Day With Light and Music

In case any are further interested in the manner in which All Saints day is observed in Philippine cemeteries, we append the following additional characteristics of the annual celebration: The poor burn candles on the graves, while those who are financially able install electric lights. At night the cemeteries are seas of lights. Pictures of the departed persons are set up on the graves, and roving bands of musicians wind through the precincts and play pieces for them on the payment of 50 centavos (50 cents) by sorrowful relatives. The mausoleums of the rich are opened to the public, and long lines of persons course through them throughout the day and night.

The custom of playing lively rather than glow music in the cemeteries here is obscure, but it occurred during Spanish times. One story is that it originated during an appalling epidemic. People were dying by hundreds. The Spanish authorities, fearing the bad psychological effect of dirges, prohibited the playing of them.—North China Standard, Peking.

Memorable Blizzard

The storm of March, 1888, is generally known as the New York blizzard, and was one of the most severe ever experienced on the Atlantic coast. It was characterized by the rapidity with which its energy was developed and by the extreme precipitation, principally snow, which fell. The storm extended from Cape Hatteras to southern Massachusetts, obtaining its greatest violence in New Jersey, southwestern New York, Block Island, southern New England. The snow which fell was estimated at about 40 inches. Railroads were blockaded and telegraph and telephone communication stopped. New York was entirely cut off from all communication with the exception of the Atlantic cable.

Daring

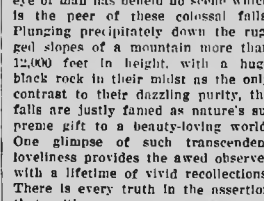

"In 1800, a fashionable woman's costume weighed no more than eight ounces," says a writer in Harper's Bazar. "Greek looking garments which included the long, transparent chemise, slit open to as high as the hip, were worn over flesh tights, all underwear having been discarded. The result of such folly was what doctors of the period described as muslin diseases, otherwise catarrhal complaints. A record exists stating that during the winter of 1803 alone 60,000 women suffered from what was nothing else but consumption."

When clocks are run down they are sometimes wound up. And pedestrians are a good deal that way, too.

Now that electricity has solved the problem of woman's household drudgery, the problem arises of finding someone to run the appliances.

Christian Science Notes

"Sacrament" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, July 13.
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Ye also as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ" (1 Peter 2:5).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "CHURCH. The structure of Truth and Love; whatever rests upon and proceeds from divine Principle. The Church is that institution which affords proof of its utility and is found elevating the race, rousing the dormant understanding from material beliefs to the apprehension of spiritual ideas and the demonstration of divine Science, thereby casting out devils, or error, and healing the sick" (p. 580).

On Friday afternoon, July 25, there will be a tea held in the basement of the church, of which further announcements will be made next week.

Ruins of Clonmacnoise

Venerated by Irishmen
Clonmacnoise occupies a delightful spot on a series of small eminences upon the banks of the River Shannon. Only a small part of the great abbey building is still traceable, but there are numerous ruins of churches and other structures once connected with it, some of them far off in the surrounding valleys.

The principal ruin is that of the great abbey church and cathedral, built in 909 by Abbot Colman Conaill, with the assistance of King Flann Siana, son of Malachy I, in whose honor the abbey erected before the entrance a great stone cross with Irish inscriptions and sculptures representing Biblical scenes, which have given it its name of Crossa-Scraptin, "Cross of the Scriptures."

Near it are two round towers which answered the combined purpose of bell-towers in time of peace and places of refuge and defense when danger threatened.
In the Thirteenth and Fourteenth centuries this church was rebuilt by Tomultech MacDermott, and is now known as the Teampul MacDermott. The last of the Irish kings, Roderick O'Connor, lies near its altar with his father Turlogh.

Clonmacnoise is still the favorite burial place of Ireland, and many hundreds of faithful are laid to rest every year in the sacred dust upon which St. Kiernan trod, and after him so many generations of the great and holy men and women of Erin.—Washington Star.

Mexican Code of Honor

Strange to Americans
In many business places of the City of Mexico, cuspidors are chained to the desk or wall to prevent some intruder from carrying them off. On the streets office boys carry thousands of dollars in canvas bags on their shoulders from banks to offices. Business men convey the day's receipts to the banks shortly before the closing hour. Their habits in this respect are known to every crook in Mexico, yet it isn't once a year they meet with a holdup. One's cook is trusted with from $10 to $20 to go to the market, and she returns and accounts for the money, yet while her employer's back is turned, she will shove five cents worth of tea, coffee or sugar into her pocket. To take money intrusted to her to do the marketing would be thieving, but in taking little things from the kitchen supplies, she is following the custom of the ages.

Henry's Lighter Works

So Well It Burns Him
St. Louis, Mo.—Henry Humming-house, despite the thousands of jokes to the contrary, has a cigarette lighter that works. It works too well, in fact, for it set fire to Henry's coat sleeve and he suffered burns to his hand and arm, necessitating treatment at the hospital.

WCTU

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold a picnic meeting on Thursday, July 24, at 2:30 p. m., in Riverside Park. The program for the day will be given by the members of the Loyal Temperance Legion. Several papers have been prepared by the young people and the program promises to be of special interest. A cooperative tea will be served by the W. C. T. U. and a good time is anticipated. Members of the Union and of the Loyal Temperance Legion are urged to be present, if possible, at this meeting. Remember the date, Thursday, July 24, at 2:30 p. m.

"The question of the success of prohibition cannot be answered by an unqualified 'yes' or 'no.' The fact that there are hosts of short-sighted and disloyal people seeking every opportunity to evade the act is no more proof of its failure than a crowd of loafers with dirty faces is a proof that water as a cleansing fluid has failed."—From an article by Sir Edward Sharp in the Christian Herald.

Cobbler Welcome Guest

in Homes of Colonists
In the early days of the American colonies and for some years after the Revolution it was the custom for cordwainers, or traveling cobblers, to go from house to house for many miles repairing the old boots and shoes of the family or making new ones. Sometimes the cobbler would remain at one house for two or three weeks, receiving free board and lodging while employed on the footgear of master, mistress and children.

He carried with him not only his kit of tools but also different kinds of leather. The men usually wore heavy cowhide boots, well greased with mutton tallow to keep out the wet, as rubbers were then unknown. The children wore calfskin and the young women of the family morocco or kid, sometimes red or blue—and tied with silk tassels. The cordwainer set up his bench in a corner of the kitchen, and while he hammered away or stitched industriously at his work regaled his customers with the news he had gathered in his travels. He was a welcome guest in the absence of newspapers.

Enoch Crosby, the famous Revolutionary spy, exploited by Cooper in a novel, was a cordwainer and gained much valuable information for General Washington while pursuing his trade among the Westchester farms.—New York Times Magazine.

Bathtub Frowned On by

People of Middle Ages
It was the boast of Queen Isabella of Spain that she had had but two baths, one when she was born and one when she was married. But alas, the poor queen, who befriended Columbus, according to legend, was given another after her death, in preparation for her burial. The children of Edward I of England were given baths on certain religious holidays; they averaged four a year. No wonder Voltaire characterized the Middle Ages as "A Thousand Years Without a Bath."

From the famous Roman baths came much of the rottenness of the decaying empire, but it is a question of debate whether or not there was a reason for this, or a mere coincidence. When the Barbarians entered Rome, in the reign of feeble Romulus Augustulus, they found him in the baths, a sad Caesar compared to the hardy Julius of an early and sterner day.
Bathing was considered so much a sin in early Christian days that the first Pope Gregory had to issue a decree to permit communicants to take baths. The decree permitted them to a moderate extent, and only on Sundays.—Exchange.

National Monument

Cape Henry Lighthouse, five miles north of Virginia Beach, Va., has been declared a national monument. The lighthouse was completed in 1792 and is thus the first lighthouse to have been built in this country. Its construction was begun while this country was still an English colony.

Relief From Curse

of Constipation
A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."
But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. Bayer Pharmacy.

Pottery of Roman Era

Discovered in London

Pottery made by the Romans in the second century has been recently unearthed during some excavations made in London's business district, in the heart of the old city. A layer of ashes was found by the workmen, who, digging deeper, discovered the earthenware articles which had evidently fallen there during a fire.

A special meeting of the Village Commission held in the Commission Chamber at the Village Hall June 23, 1930 at 7:00 p. m.

Present: President Robinson, Commissioners Hoyer, Kehrl, Mimmack and Wiedman.

Absent: None.

The Manager presented before the Commission a detailed report covering various phases of police administration which had lately been discussed before meetings of this Commission. It was moved by Comm. Wiedman supported by Comm. Hoyer that the report as presented be accepted and placed on file. Carried by the following vote:

Ayes—Commissioners Hoyer, Kehrl and Wiedman.

Nays: Commissioner Mimmack.

President Robinson declined to vote.

Following considerable discussion of police matters it was moved by Comm. Hoyer and supported by Comm. Wiedman that effective July 1, 1930 salary of the Chief of Police be reduced to $2100.00 per year; that night patrolmen be placed upon a salary basis at $1900.00 per year; that the position of special traffic officer in the Police Department be dispensed with; that the Chief of Police perform the duties of said traffic officer; and that the night patrol force be cut from 3 to 2 men. It is likewise understood that henceforth all constables' fees according to members of the Village Police Department for services performed in conjunction with criminal cases are automatically to be paid to the Village Treasury by the County Auditors of Wayne County. The Manager is hereby directed to take such action as will give effect to the foregoing and effect, and to report to this Commission at its next regular meeting, to be held July 7th, as to what arrangements have been made with regard to same. It is likewise understood that henceforth all constables' fees according to members of the Village Police Department for services performed in conjunction with criminal cases are automatically to be paid to the Village Treasury by the County Auditors of Wayne County. The Manager is hereby directed to take such action as will give effect to the foregoing and effect, and to report to this Commission at its next regular meeting, to be held July 7th, as to what arrangements have been made with regard to same. Carried by the following vote:

Calcium chloride has again been distributed over the gravel streets in the village for the purpose of laying dust. The dampening of the road surface affords a welcome relief from the great amount of dust caused by the combination of heavy traffic and the recent period of dry weather.

A sanitary sewer in Blunk Ave. north of Junction Ave., and a lateral storm sewer in Beech St. from S. Harvey St. westward 385 feet have just been completed by the Department of Public Works of the village. This work has been done with local labor with a view of relieving as far as possible the unemployment situation in Plymouth. Work will commence upon a storm sewer in Farmer St. from Adams St. to Karmada St. and Karmada St. from Farmer to Junction Ave., which will provide work for an additional two weeks or more.

Plans For Widening Grand River Ave. Are Now Complete

Completed the grading on Base Line 204-foot Superhighway from John R. west to Livermore Road, a distance of four miles, and have started to pour the 20-foot concrete road on the north side; the south 20-foot concrete road having been laid last season. The new concrete roadway will be open to traffic sometime in the early fall, stated Mr. Hines.

Concrete Road Mileage Increased
During the month of June 198,184 square yards of concrete road was built by the Wayne County Road Commission. Widening of Fort 204-foot Superhighway, Ford, Telegraph, Warren, Michigan 204-foot Superhighway, Grand River 204-foot Superhighway accounted for 109,625 square yards, totalling nearly 13 miles of widening, and Inkster, Schoolcraft 204-foot Superhighway and the Outer Drive with a total of 8.8 miles of new concrete, according to the balance, stated Mr. Hines.

From September 1st, 1929, at which time our fiscal year begins, until June 30th, 1930, we have built 778,274 square yards of concrete road, adding a total of nearly 19 miles of new road and widening 31.15 miles of old road to our ultimate minimum width of 40 or more feet of concrete.

While we are at the peak of our construction activities, we have constantly before us our Master Plan widening program, stated Mr. Hines, and during the past two weeks we have secured 14,684 feet of wider width of right of way either by dedication, exchange of back property for frontage by purchase or by condemnation. This wider width of right of way has been acquired on Base Line, Fort, Michigan, Monnd, Schoolcraft and Southfield 204-foot superhighways; on the 150-foot wide Outer Drive and on Dix, Ford and Pelham roads with their proposed 120-foot width of right of way.
