WILL NUMBER COUNTY ROADS

EAST AND WEST ROADS WILL BEAR EVEN NUMBERS, WHILE NORTH AND SOUTH ROADS THE ODD.

The numbering of county roads in Wayne County and other counties of the state has been under consideration ever since the value of such marking was proven by the numbering of the Federal and State Trunk Line routes, according to a statement by Road Commissioner Edward N. Hines made recently.

In order to avoid confusion, however, it was considered necessary to work out a plan which would be applicable to every County of the State and had general approval. Such a plan was presented and approved at a recent meeting of the Michigan Association of Road Commissioners and Engineers, and Wayne County has started this work and will carry on until all our county roads are so marked.

The plan, as adopted, provides for using numbers from 300 up. This is necessary to avoid confusion with the Federal and State routes, which use the numbers under 300. All East and West roads are assigned even numbers and North and South roads odd numbers, stated Mr. Hines.

Starting at the South State line, with number 300, an even number is allowed for each mile North and likewise starting at the extreme East side of the State at Port Huron with number 301, an odd number is allowed for each mile West. The south line of Wayne County or Will Carleton Drive, under his plan is number 350 and the North County Line or Base Line road is number 308; East Jefferson road is given number 347 and the West County line, number 410.

Appropriate markers giving the name of the county and the route number, have been adopted. These markers are fifteen inches square with the county name in two-inch letters and the route number in four-inch letters. Inter-county roads will bear the same number of their entire length. The markers are being placed along the roads at such points as may be necessary to permit a traveler to follow a given route without confusion, stated Mr. Hines.

The State Highway Department will show the more important County routes with numbers on their official map.

The local name of a road will also be retained in Wayne County so that roads will not lose their individuality. We believe that this plan of numbering will greatly simplify traveling directions. As additional roads are improved, they will be similarly numbered.

U. S. Route numbers are stamped on a shield, State Trunk Line numbers on a diamond, and County roads are numbered on a square.

OAKLAND CO. FAIR COMES NEXT WEEK

FINE EXHIBITION PROMISED. DATES ARE AUGUST 6, 7, 8, 9. DAY AND NIGHT.

With August comes the Oakland County Fair held this year on the sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, of the month when many people are still having their vacations and are in a mood for delightful entertainment. The 1930 exhibition will mark the 50th year since the first fair was held at Milford. Of the original promoters, none are left but the fair has continued and by its yearly exhibitions has furnished information and entertainment to two and three generations of its patrons.

During the past ten years of its history as a county fair, the slogan has been "Better and Bigger," and its growth and improvements have been notable.

For the 1930 fair the management promises the best possible showing of the staple exhibits which form the real reason for a fair, including live stock and farm crops, boys' and girls' club work, ladies' handwork, school work, children's work, antiques, etc.

For entertainment there will be four days of horse racing, four ball games, three premier platform attractions, hand concerts, rides and the ever present midway.

The largest tent on the ground will house the automobile show which is always one of the big features of the fair. Latest models of many makes will be shown.

The feature of the evening program will be the Grand Pageant of Progress to be given on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. Last year's pageant proved to be the most popular feature ever presented at this fair and this year's will be equally fine. About 400 people are needed in the cast and groups are being rehearsed in several communities about the county as well as at Milford.

The fair management have spared neither effort nor expense to produce an exhibition worthy of the approval of the public and they hope to see a large attendance from Plymouth and vicinity.

Children's Day September 2 At Michigan Fair

The Michigan State Fair management will distribute 500,000 tickets and coupons to school children, newsboys and orphans in the state entitling them to free admission to Michigan's Greatest Outdoor Event on Children's Day, Tuesday, September 2.

One hundred thousand coupons will be printed in the Fair's advertisements in newspapers during the summer. These coupons will be placed so as to afford the widest and fairest distribution possible. Four hundred thousand tickets will be given to boys and girls in the Detroit area, where the largest crowds are anticipated.

These passes not only will admit children to all major attractions and exhibits, but will also enable them to enjoy all "Midway" shows, rides, ice cream, sandwiches and soft drinks by paying only five cents for each.

In the afternoon the Boys' Milk Contest will be staged in the Coliseum. There will be music throughout the day, and an elaborate fireworks display at night.

Gives Garden Tea

Wilson of this place; Mrs. Velda Bogert and Mrs. Fred Bogert of Ann Arbor; Miss Maurine Jones of Grand Rapids, and Miss Mable Newell of Detroit.

HOMEMAKERS TO RECEIVE HONORS

COMMITTEE NAMES MICHIGAN FARM WOMEN WHO WILL BE AWARDED SYMBOL OF SUCCESS.

Five Michigan women have been selected to receive the gold emblem which is the symbol of acknowledged success in managing their household and in aiding community enterprises, and they will also be awarded the title of Michigan Master Farm Homemakers at a ceremony held at Michigan State College, August 1.

The women to be honored this year are Mrs. Frank E. Haas, Ravenna; Mrs. James A. Richards, Eau Claire; Mrs. Elam W. Moyer, Ypsilanti; Mrs. Ward A. Bullen, Mason; and Mrs. Charles Ludlow, Albion.

They were nominated by their neighbors and were selected by the Farmer's Wife, a national women's magazine published in St. Paul, Minn., in cooperation with members of the home economics extension division of Michigan State College.

Statements made by the women show that their initial interest is in their home and children and that their community work is actuated by a desire to provide a better place for children to receive their early training.

Each of the five Master Homemakers has been a Sunday-school teacher and a leader of a group which has made a study of some phase of home economics under the direction of a specialist from State College. Three of the group are former school teachers and two have been members of their local school boards.

Educational training apparently does not determine the ability of a woman to become a Master Homemaker, as some of this group of five left school at the completion of the eighth grade and others have high school or college diplomas. The type of home in which the women live did not affect their selection as the homes vary as widely as the amount of time spent in school.

One similar trait possessed by all five is expressed in their statements concerning their home life. One says that her family will remember the little things she does for them longer than they will the dust on the windowsill. Another remarked that her chief ambition was to make the community a better place for children to grow up in. A third stated that she tried to train her children the right way, and the ambition of another member of the group is to rear the children to be healthy, honorable men and women.

Money is discounted as a factor by one of the women who says that hers has been a happy family without a great lot of money. All work and no play is taboo with one of the group who makes the statement that she takes some time for leisure whether it is available or not.

Michigan women who have been awarded the same honors in previous years are Mrs. Maude Shull, Hart; Mrs. Morris Belford, Holly; Mrs. Lottie Crider, Middleville; Mrs. Gerritt Holleman, Byron Center; Mrs. Floyd Borden, South Haven; Mrs. Edward Frish, Coopersville; Mrs. Charles Gruner, Coldwater; Mrs. Mabel Weller, Rockford, and Mrs. Fred Morse, Jasper.

The Ex-Service Men's Club of Plymouth, through the courtesy of the American Legion and Judge John Faust Post of Detroit, will present to the people of Plymouth and vicinity, the Faust Post Band of forty pieces in a band concert Tuesday evening, August fifth, at 8:30, in Kellogg Park.

The presentation of this concert to the people of Plymouth, is a small effort on the part of the Ex-Service Men's Club and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the club to show their appreciation of the splendid manner in which the public responded to the Club's Poppy Day sales. As a result of Plymouth's generosity on Poppy Day, the Ex-Service Men's Club turned over to the American Legion Children's Bilet at Otter Lake, $140, and a similar amount went to the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Children's Home at Eaton Rapids. A like amount was retained in the club treasury for the relief of local ex-service men and their families.

The Faust Post band is under the direction of Sergeant Lindemeyer who is also director of the famous Detroit Police Band. Judge John Faust Post of the American Legion is a post composed of city, county and state employees, and although only two years old is now one of the largest and strongest Legion posts in the state.

The Ex-Service Men's Club of Plymouth cordially invite all the people of Plymouth to attend the concert. A special invitation is extended to the people of Wayne to visit Plymouth and enjoy the concert with us. This special invitation to Wayne, is in appreciation of that town's part in the Club's Poppy Day Fund.

KIWANIANS HEAR I. CAPPIZI SPEAK

KIWANIANS HEAR MORE ABOUT THE DIFFICULTIES TO CHECK THE PRESENT CRIME WAVE IN WAYNE COUNTY.

Last Tuesday noon at the Mayflower, I. Cappizi of the prosecuting attorney's office gave a short talk on the difficulties encountered in prosecuting criminals on account of present laws and Constitution. He states that unless you have direct evidence of the crime committed it is almost impossible to hold your prisoner in jail, particularly if he belongs to a gang that have plenty of money and lawyers who know how to invoke the present law to get him released. He also showed how, if a prisoner stood mute and presented no defense, evidence of other crimes or previous criminal records could not be used against him.

W. J. Burrows had charge of the program.

FREE DENTAL CARE FOR POOR CHILDREN

Free dental care is being given twenty-five or thirty Plymouth children every week by the Children's Fund of Michigan. The Children's Fund is an organization established by Senator James Couzens's gift of ten million dollars to the children of Michigan.

This fund is maintaining a full-time clinic at Garden City, Ford and Middle Belt roads. Through the cooperation of the Plymouth School Board, Mrs. George Strasen in charge of school nursing in Plymouth public schools, has been taking seven or eight children four days a week to the clinic.

Mrs. Strasen and the children leave Plymouth before nine in the morning taking prepared lunches with them from home. They spend until noon in the clinic and then have a picnic fashion in a grove near the clinic under Mrs. Strasen's supervision. Following an afternoon with the dentist again they return home to Plymouth at four.

"They are a fine bunch of youngsters," said Dr. H. Irving Miller, who is in charge of the Garden City clinic, "and I believe that in the month and a half that Mrs. Strasen has been bringing Plymouth children to me, we have been able to save many rapidly decaying teeth in addition to forestalling much pain and illness due to badly diseased teeth."

In explaining the work of the Children's Fund Dr. Miller said that cleaning and examining of teeth is given free to all children that come to the clinic, but only children that are unable to pay for the work are given fillings and corrective care.

Dr. J. L. Olsaver of Plymouth is a member of the Wayne County Committee responsible for the dental program.

BUILDING ASS'N. CHANGES NAME

LOCAL BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION CHANGES NAME TO "PLYMOUTH SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION"

At a special meeting of the stockholders called at the office of the secretary on Tuesday evening, July 29th, at 7:30 o'clock, all the shares represented voted in favor of a resolution to change the name of the local Building and Loan Association from the Plymouth Home Building Association to the Plymouth Savings and Loan Association.

The change was made so that the public would better understand the business of the organization. The Plymouth Savings and Loan Association was organized in 1919 for the purpose of encouraging thrift among its members and to create available funds for assisting residents of Plymouth in the building of new homes.

The Plymouth Savings and Loan Association has had a gradual growth and since the date of its organization, has paid five per cent on savings, checks having been mailed on the first day of January and the first day of July of each year.

The association is under the supervision of the State Banking Department of the State of Michigan and the organization makes it possible for the small investor to receive a larger return from his savings.

On page 8 of this issue appears a statement of the condition of the Plymouth Savings and Loan Association as of June 30, 1930.

Notice to Water Consumers

The recent long period of dry weather has increased water consumption in the Village to the point where water is being consumed as fast as it can be pumped into the distribution system. Due to the impossibility of increasing our water storage under such conditions, a serious situation has developed with regard to our water supply for fire protection purposes.

Until further notice water consumers are requested to lend their co-operation in reducing the existing fire hazard by shutting off all of their water services whenever the fire siren is sounded. With this measure of co-operation from our consumers the Village will be maintaining adequate fire protection service and consumers will be enabled to use all water that their needs may require.

A VACATION HINT

We don't want to set ourselves up as an authority on touring, and neither do we want to be accused of trying to tell Plymouth people where they should spend their vacations. But we feel sure everyone is open to suggestions, so we are going to offer one.

Why not see your own state first? The desire to visit strange territory is natural; we all have a streak of that old primitive wild-life in us, handed down from our forefathers who spent their days wandering in the forest and seeking new scenes and new comforts, as we do now. Just because the places of beauty and historic interest in our own state have not been as well advertised as some of those in other states does not mean they are any the less attractive. There are plenty of places to drive to in our own state where delightful vacations can be spent, and where there are things of interest to see. Fact is, few people around here really know what a wonderful state we live in, and of its many advantages, because they have never traveled all over it.

Get a state map, a road map, and a state history if you can do so handily. Study up your own state a little and then map out a vacation trip that will take you to the most interesting parts of it. You'll come back with a better opinion of it and better satisfied with the part your labor and your taxes play in maintaining it. You'll also save a lot of money that would otherwise be spent so far away from home that none of it would ever get back.

THE COTTAGE ORGAN

When Uncle Sam's new census tabulations are complete, and they will be in a few weeks, the figures will show the number of radio sets owned in American homes. But we don't suppose we'll be enlightened on something about as interesting—the number of cottage organs still in use.

To the younger generation around Plymouth the old parlor organ, once common in American homes; is a distinct novelty. In fact, hundreds of boys and girls around here have never seen one. But to older residents they remain a fond memory of "the good old days," when we lived more naturally because we didn't grab our music out of the air, when our shows were put on by a troupe of patent medicine peddlers including film, and when we got our meals with the aid of a cook-stove instead of a can-opener.

Many can go back to the gospel hymns of Sankey and Moody, made more beautiful when played on the little cottage organ, or melodeon, as some called it. Here and there in less settled sections of the country we suppose one could find an occasional cottage organ. But there are not many of them left, and so steadily has been their disappearance that we really might not have missed them had not Uncle Sam started in to count radios. It is just another example of changing times and changing customs; more proof of the fact that nothing in this old world is permanent.

KEEPING COOL

Next to cures for a bad cold, there are more recipes for keeping cool than for any other discomfort. But we're not going to add to the list. We're just going to venture a little remark and let it go at that. And that is that it has always seemed to us that the people we meet around Plymouth who appear to do the least suffering during hot weather are the ones who do the least worrying. They expect hot weather in summer. They know that fretting and fuming, or even swearing about it, isn't going to lower the temperature a single degree. They know that if we did not have hot weather when hot weather is due we wouldn't have much to subsist on when it is gone. They try to smile when others are frowning; they get all the sleep they can, stay in the shade as much as they can, and think pleasant thoughts. As a result they appear to get through the summer season more comfortable than those who get excited and nervous. We're not offering it as anything more than an example. But we'll wager that if you'll try it you'll find it the best way to keep cool.

YOU CAN'T BET IT

A new "racket" appears to be sweeping the Middle West at present, and it is apt to spread, and Plymouth citizens may have a chance to "bite at it." We want to put them on their guard. It is apparently being worked by the same band of swindlers, by making the acquaintance of someone in a neighborhood who has a little money in bank. Once acquainted a member admits that he plays the races, and occasionally displays a "roll" of money he claims to have won. Later on he borrows $50 or $100 from the intended victim, but returns twice the amount just to prove he is lucky. He does this several times, increasing the amount each time. Later on he makes a big "touch" but this time he fails to win. He also fails to show up at the appointed place where he was to turn over the winnings. And the trusting acquaintance is out his money. Often it represents the saving of a lifetime. Don't be lured into this "racket," whether the promotor is trying to interest you in horse-races in the wheat pit or in some particular Wall Street stock. You can't get something for nothing—and you can't beat the other fellow's game.

TOO MUCH ORATORY

Some scholar will yet write a book (if it has not been done already) showing how often and how directly the "patriotic" speeches of high public officials have led to war. Eagle-schreeching oratory has always been recognized and used as an incentive to fighting after the war has begun, but not enough attention has been paid to that sort of dangerous indulgence in times of peace. Right now the Premiers of Italy and France are "orating" at each other across the border while excited crowds cheer and shake their fists. The statesmen may be going it for political purposes—many a war has been started to consolidate the government at home—but it is a powerful medicine and one that can make the whole world sick. The abolition of a lot of our so-called "patriotic oratory" would be a certain step toward permanent peace.

BUSINESS TRENDS

The business tide is turning, according to the Union Trust Company of Cleveland. Business sentiment is changing for the better, and as the year advances prospects are for increasing industrial activities. In many lines, the bank says, feeling is spreading that the low level of recession has passed and that an upturn is near at hand.

The basis for this conviction apparently lies in the realization that on the whole in recent months consumption has exceeded production," says the bank in its magazine, Trade Winds. "The feeling is growing that surplus stocks have now been thoroughly worked off, that merchandise purchased by the public last fall must be to a large extent in need of replacement, and that before long a general demand for merchandise will make itself felt to a larger extent."

"That the American public will have the capacity to buy as the season progresses, is indicated by the fact that savings deposits in banks throughout the United States have on a whole shown a definite increase. Although there is a great deal of unemployment still among industrial workers, this is being offset to a large extent by construction work, road building projects and other seasonal activities which are adding to payroll totals."

A DETROIT VIEW

Business upswing seen for August is the viewpoint taken by Ralph E. Badger, vice-president, and Carl F. Behrens, economist, Union Guardian Trust Company, Detroit. Previous recessions usually lasted from 12 to 13 months, and the current decline commenced just about a year ago. Precedent also favors an upturn in business when interest rates reach levels such as those now being maintained. Further, among the basic industries, automobile production, steel output, building and construction activity, and the railway traffic are expected to make material gains in August and September.

At the moment, automobile output is being curtailed because of annual vacation and inventory provisions, and steel activity is also restricted, partially reflecting the seasonal decline in automobile production. Railway traffic, likewise, is still light, but will increase as crops begin to move to market. The wheat harvest is already in full swing, and the July 1st forecast of the crop reporting board of the United States department of agriculture is for a crop as large as that of 1929, and only 3 per cent under the average for the last five years. The board also estimates a corn crop 7 per cent over last year and 1.5 per cent above the average of the last five years, 1925 to 1929.

And finally, it should be noted that business men, from now on, will be comparing their monthly records of accomplishment, not with abnormally high monthly totals of early 1929, but with the early recession totals of the last half of last year. Future comparison should be much more productive of business optimism.

Prosperity is a fine fellow, a good spender, but like all good spenders, prosperity attracts undesirable friends such as excessive speculation and credit inflation. In spite of this burden, prosperity succeeds in reaching the top, but once there experiences difficulty in maintaining the position along with the unwanted friends. They set too fast a pace, prosperity weakens under the strain and begins to slip, and then like all such friends, excessive speculation and credit inflation suddenly drop out of the picture thus giving prosperity a sharp downward push. But prosperity is a stout fellow, once away from their influence prosperity presently resumes the upward climb, and that is what business leaders everywhere are claiming for prosperity today.

Homes Affect Bodies

In order to grow strong capable and stalwart men and women, it is absolutely necessary for children to have the benefit of good home surroundings and proper home influences.

Healthy Conditions Vital

But few things, if any, contribute to the cultural and refined tastes of an individual more than inviting and healthy living conditions.

Appearance Everything

A community's appearance, in the main, determines property value and community value.

Why is it that when a crop starts coming up in the field it starts going down in the market.

Seals in Their Playtime

The seals are the clowns of the sea; after the monkeys, they are the most manlike of nature's creatures.

I have seen them, in the wild state, play for their own amusement a game of their own devising so ordered that I doubt that it could be taught to any other animals after years of training. They play it in the water after eating their fill and before resorting to land to rest.

Eight of them form an octagon, with a ninth in the center. The center starts the game by tossing a fish to one in the outer ring, which passes it in a flash to another. The fish flies around and across the octagon faster than it ever moved in the water.

There are guile and deceit and strategy in the game; the players look one way and throw another and cavort like a baseball infield warming up. The first to miss or drop the fish becomes "it" and changes places with the seal in the center—Capt. Chas. F. Adams in the Saturday Evening Post.

Doughboy Meant Well,

but French Was Weak

After the American doughboy had been in France for a few months he picked up a few words of the language, and with admirable confidence began conversations with the French people that are remembered to this day as examples of how French ought not to be spoken.

After they had returned from the Luneville sector a soldier of the First division, billeted along the canal below Bar le Duc, saw the cow belonging to his landlady escape from a field and start up the road. He rushed into the house, and in his best French told her what had happened. She failed to understand and the services of a French soldier were called in, who informed her what had happened. She hurried out, rounded up the cow, and after returning to the house, laughed for about five minutes at the puzzled doughboy. It developed that his message ran something like this: "Mademoiselle, mademoiselle, your milk is taking a walk."

Plump Miss Surely Had

Odd Ideas of Dieting

Nowadays a teacher must instruct in many subjects besides the three R's. In the school where the Woman's friend teaches a fifth-year class notice was sent around that the thin pupils were to be advised how to put on weight and the stout youngsters were to be given a reducing diet.

One of the little girls in the class is abnormally plump. The teacher asked her to stay after class, and wrote out a diet for her. "You must not give up bread entirely," she recommended. "Just eat less of it than you have been eating."

Several days later the child stayed after school again, this time on her own accord.

"Do you think I'm thinner?" she asked her teacher eagerly. The teacher hesitated and while she sought a tactful reply the little girl continued: "I've given up bread entirely. I haven't eaten a slice of it since you told me not to."

The teacher felt that her instructions had been carried too far. "I didn't tell you to eliminate bread entirely, you remember. I just said eat less of it. What have you been substituting?"

"Rolls," said the plump pupil.—New York Sun.

Seeing and Disbelieving

David Dubinsky, manager of the Philadelphia orchestra, said on disembarking from the President Harding:

"Paris still leads in wonderful fashions. Her designers are artists, and there's no getting round it. I heard a story on the boat.

"Two women met in a ten room, and the first woman said:

"I don't believe in dress extravagance. It's all nonsense. Take this dress I've got on. I made it myself. It only cost me $7.50, but if I told you it was a $300 Paris importation you'd believe me, wouldn't you?"

"Yes, I would," said the other woman, "if you told me over the telephone."

MOTION PICTURE
SONG OF THE FLAME

"SONG OF THE FLAME"

"SONG OF THE FLAME," a First National picture of the Hammerstein and Harbach operetta, which will appear at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Sunday, August 3, was produced in full Vitaphone sound and Technicolor throughout. It paints in sound and color a spectacle of the Russian revolution more massive and impressive than anything heretofore shown on the screen.

is a stuntsman's paradise! Alan Crosland directed the picture, and heading the all-star cast are Alexander Gray, Bernice Claire, Noah Beery, Alice Gentle, Inez Courtney and Bert Routh. Some of the music of the operetta and much new music especially written for the production, will be heard. All of the principals sing, and there are many groups of special choruses singing in Russian and English, in ensemble numbers.

GRABBED THE MACE

John Beckett, a left-wing labor member for Camberwell, England, was responsible for the worst scene witnessed in the English parliament in 800 years when he seized the golden mace—symbol of parliamentary authority—from the table before the speaker's chair. Hoisting it across his shoulder with the cry "Mr. Speaker, it's a d—d disgrace!" he marched toward an exit. The indignity to the prestige of the house shocked the members and they booed and heated the offender and later suspended him by a vote of 320 to 4.

Prices which doubtless you may not again see—when the markets broke prices began to hit the toboggan. In order that we might further expand and build a greater business—We shall completely close out and discontinue selling Men's work clothing and boys' suits and wearables. Christian Science Notes

"Truth" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches on Sunday, July 27.

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "God is not a man that he should lie; neither the son of man, that he should repent: hath he said, and shall he not do it? or hath he spoken, and shall he not make it good?" (Num. 23:19).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Thought is borrowed from a higher source than matter, and by reversal, errors serve as waypoints to the one Mind, in which all error disappears in celestial Truth." (p.267). Sunday, August 3—"Love."

St. Peter's Lutheran

Sunday-school will be dropped during the month of August, and will be resumed on the first Sunday in September. Our this year's enrollment was closed with 48 children. Let us increase this next fall.

Do not forget the Tashmoo Excursion to be held August 7th. Everybody welcome. Bus accommodations to the dock and back. Valuable prizes given in many games and contests.

The regular meeting of the Young People's Bible Society is to be held on Monday evening, August 4th, instead of August 5th, at 8:00 o'clock. Since the Wayne young people's society is sending a delegation over for this meeting, we should endeavor to have a goodly number of our own folks present.

We should like to announce that the Michigan District Pastoral Conference has, through the chairman, accepted the invitation which the St. Peter's Lutheran Congregation of this city extended to that body, to hold its next annual meeting at Plymouth. There will be approximately fifty-five pastors present from all over Michigan, who are to be quartered in the homes of the members of our parish. The meeting is to be held next June or July.

The Ladies' Aid monthly meeting has been postponed from the 6th of August to the 13th of August, in order not to deter any one of the ladies from accompanying us on our Tashmoo excursion, August 7th. Remember, this is an excursion for ALL.

EPISCOPAL NOTES

A Great Privilege

Christian people sometimes think, "What a great privilege it would have been to have lived in the time and in the land of Christ: to have seen Him and known Him and followed Him." Yes, it would have been a privilege—and a responsibility: but we, too, have our great privilege—and our responsibility as His disciples today!

What greater privilege can anyone ask than to come into communion with Him in prayer and service? That opportunity is open to all. To His Table in His House, the Master bids you come! Is any excuse legitimate? Is anything else more important?

The Holy Communion will be celebrated at 10:00 a. m. this Sunday, August 3. Come!

CATHOLIC NOTES

Saturday, August 2, the portuncula indulgences can be gained by making a visit to the church.

Sunday is the first Sunday of August. Half the year is past, and it is the sincere hope of the pastor that the remaining year will be better in every way.

Do not forget to say a prayer for rain. Netem defeated the Ford Motor Sales of Detroit, last Sunday, 5 to 2. Come out next Sunday and cheer the boys on to victory. Their grounds are at Newburg.

St. Joseph's, Adrian, will have their reception into the Dominican order, August 7th, at 9:00 a. m.

NEWBURG

In spite of the intense heat of Sunday, a goodly number were in attendance at church. The hour of the church service has been changed to 12:00 o'clock, while the Sunday-school hour is 11:00. We hope all will note this change.

Miss Katherine Purdy returned Sunday from Samaria, where she has been visiting friends for a week.

Elton Meyer, who has been visiting at the parsonage, returned to Three Rivers, Sunday morning.

Guy Davison of Toledo, visited Rev. Purdy and family a few days last week.

The Salvation Army of Plymouth will hold a gospel meeting at the Newburg M. E. church, Sunday evening, August 3. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brower of Chicago, visited Mrs. Brower's brother, James McNabb and family, a few days last week.

Mrs. James McNabb entertained the Excelsior W. C. T. U. of Detroit, on Friday of last week, twenty-three sitting down to a picnic dinner.

Mrs. Anna Dean of Alhambra, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dean of Detroit, called on the McNabb family, Saturday afternoon.

Betty Quinn is visiting her aunt in Pontiac, for a few weeks.

Mrs. Clark Mackinder had the misfortune to fall one day last week, and sprain her wrist.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holmes and family visited a nephew at Gregory, on Wednesday of this week.

The L. A. S. will meet with Mrs. Emma Ryder next week Wednesday afternoon, August 6. Pot-luck supper. They are also to hold a measuring contest. Everyone cordially invited.

Jack Campbell is having a very nice bungalow built on a lot purchased from Mrs. Hattie Geer.

Mr. and Mrs. George Schleiter of Detroit, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grimm, Sr., their grandson, Alfred, remaining for the week.

Mary Davis of Detroit, is spending the week with Mrs. Jack Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Clara Chilson and family returned last Saturday from a two weeks' vacation at their cottage at Island Lake.

Mrs. E. Ryder and grandson, Raymond Ryder, and granddaughter, Virginia Grimm, returned Tuesday, from a week's outing at Higgins' Lake. They also went up to the encampment at Grayling.

What kind of a country is this getting to be, where Halloween lasts two weeks and the Fourth of July is like a Sunday on the farm?

Home is often a place where a Plymouth man goes after his days' work to take up his listening where he left off in the morning.

"In the good old days," asserts Dad Plymouth, "money made the mare go, but nowadays it takes a lot more of it to make the car go."

Municipal Notes

BY THE MANAGER

Although the demand for water remains high, on account of the continued dry weather, the coming of some rain and of cooler weather has enabled us, through somewhat lowered consumption, to store some water in our storage reservoir over and above the amount required to meet the daily demand. While we continue to request that consumers shut off services when the fire siren sounds, the water situation is at present much improved, and no further restrictions upon the use of water are anticipated.
Though dry weather has seriously interfered with our efforts to maintain our parks in good condition, Kellogg Park is at present in very presentable condition and is much patronized by citizens wishing to avail themselves of its shade during the day and evening. This park, so convenient to our uptown business district, is one of Plymouth's most desirable assets.

Chloride placed upon our gravel streets a week or more ago, is not giving its best service just now because of the extremely dry condition of the air. It will be found that if the street in front of homes is wet down with a garden hose in the evening, the moisture will hold most of the following twenty-four hours.

June Marriages and Luck
This is a relic of Roman superstition and mythology. "Good to the man and happy to the maid when married in June" was a proverb of Rome. June, the wife of Jupiter, was not only the guardian of the female sex from birth to death but also the patroness of happy marriages. The month of June was named after June, whose festival was held on the calendar of that month. May was named after the goddess Maia, and that month is regarded as unpropitious for marriages by the superstitious.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Importance of Proper House Design Apparent

Through a better appreciation of architecture, home lovers more and more are striving toward perfection and beauty of house design. As a result, a knowledge of historic styles is well defined in the minds of interested discriminating home builders. Today people know approximately what they want in the way of a home, and recognize the importance of architectural guidance. Only well-proportioned homes with artistic and correct architectural treatment attract and appeal.

To assure the ideal home—be its size ever so small—the technically trained architect should be consulted. No one thinks of going to a dentist with bodily ills. By the same token no one should go to a contractor for home design. Home design is a highly specialized field, and only an architect can reflect and crystallize your home ideas properly and correctly into a design possessing merit.

One often hears "because I'm building a small house, I can't afford an architect—besides, I know where I can get some plans cheap."

This attitude has accounted for hundreds of unattractive homes which have no resale value—eyesores and a disgrace to the community.—Cleveland Leader.

Store Front Counts as Good Business Asset

"The store front indicates the character of a business establishment as well as of the man back of it, and that holds good whether the business is clothing, shoes, plumbing or what not." Howard H. Edmonds writes in an article called "Store Fronts" in a recent issue of Domestic Engineering.

Edmonds draws upon his experience in building and remodeling store fronts for many Cleveland companies for the material in his article.

"The store front is a silent salesman which works 365 days in the year and if given half a chance will return its cost many times over in sales volume," he continued.

"A few of the great advantages of bringing a store front up-to-date are: It becomes a public improvement; it stimulates an activity in the entire community; it gradually builds up a healthy trading center in which to do business."

PONTIAC SHUTS OUT DE-HO-CO 3-0

Nethem Wins Sunday, 5-2 Haggerty A. C. Loses, 8-10

W. Hervath pitched a five hit game and missed a shut-out when he walked two men in the ninth inning, and this with a hit and an error netted the Tobies Motor Sales team two runs.

Hostrath was in form when he let the heavy hitting team down with five hits, and he got eleven men on strikes.

This game had more thrills as Tobies team is noted for its great defense. They proved this by getting three men at the plate and two between the bases, besides pulling two double plays.

By Nethem winning last Sunday's game, it marked four victories out of four against left handed pitching, in other words left hand pitchers are a prey for Nethem.

H. Rebitzke made the best fielding play of the game when he got Tyler's fly in right field in the fifth inning with second and third occupied. The hit would have tied the score. R. Levandowski had a perfect day at bat when he got two singles and two walks.

Next Sunday, August 3, 1930, the Star Jordan team will cross bats with Nethem at Rouseau Park, Newburg, at 3:00 p. m. You must come out and see Hervath pitch, because so far this season he has an average of nine strike outs per game.

The Star Jordan team defeated Ann Arbor last Sunday, 12 to 5, which shows that they have a good team.

Herb Pennock Fights Off Age

THERE'S an old saying that youth must be served and that old age must fall by the wayside. Herb Pennock, the slender southpaw, is quietly and earnestly fighting to hold his own with Col. Jake Ruppert's ball club, and it appears as if he will succeed in his task of keeping youthful, for a while, anyhow.

Pennock has reached the heights of big league baseball more than once. He has passed the peak of greatness as a pitcher and is now on the road that leads to the way out or to the minors. The southpaw no doubt realizes this much himself, but he would like to have another season or two before he quits the game he loves so well and retires to his home in Kennett Square to give all his time to his family and the breeding of foxes.

Pennock believes that he will have a successful season and help the Yankees to overthrow Connie Mack and his world's champion Athletics in the American league race. Bob Shawkey, manager, holds the same opinion as his veteran southpaw. According to Bob the Gob and "Doc" Painter, the trainer, there is nothing out of gear with Pennock's arm and Herb should be able to take his regular turn on the mound, not every four days, but once in about every five or six days.

This is great news as there is no more likeable or affable individual in baseball than this same Herb Pennock.

Herb Pennock.

Pontiac Shuts Out De-Ho-Co

Although gathering six hits to the winners five De-Ho-Co was shut out Sunday afternoon by Pontiac, 3-0.

Taking full advantage of the few safeties allowed by Rowland Pontiac pushed over two runs in the first inning and then added another in the sixth. Martin with a single and a double was the only man on either team to get more than one hit.

Football prospects at Detroit Tech were boosted Monday in the news that Roland Burch, guard on the 1928 squad, would return to school in September after being away for a year because of illness. Burch developed rapidly during his first season in the game. He was rated as one of the best guards in the state.

University of Miami, Fla., plans to play all its home games at night.

WEST POINT PARK LOSES

West Point Park dropped their second game to Lincoln Park Sunday, July 27th on the Lincoln Park stadium. This lowered the standing of West Point from 900 to 818 and they are now tied for first place with Dearborn who took two games from D. T. & L.

It was not a lack of hits that caused West Point to lose but due to bad breaks and many errors they failed to hold Lincoln Park to few runs. Twelve hits were collected by each team, Lincoln Park scoring 13 runs on their hits and the West Point errors and West Point scoring only 10 runs.

Two pitchers were used in the slugging match by each team. Quinn who started for West Point allowed 8 hits in the four innings he pitched and Jaska, who replaced him allowed 4 hits. Domke gave our boys 9 hits in 7 1/2 innings and Headley 3.

One home run was made off Quinn and two off Jaska while only one 3-base hit was made by Jaska and one two-bagger by R. Wolfson. All the other hits were held to singles.

With West Point Park and Dearborn now tied for first place there will be some hot contests to get first place.

Next Sunday, August 3rd, West Point Park will meet D. T. & L. on the home grounds.

Merchants Win

The Plymouth Merchants crossed bats with the Tau Beta team of Hamtramck last Sunday, on Burroughs Field. The game was 8 to 0 in favor of the locals up until the eighth inning, when the visitors staged a rally. Walker and Strasen were the battery for the locals. The game ended with the score 8 to 7, in favor of Plymouth.

Book on Sports Reveals Few Causes of Fatigue

The athlete who has wondered about the tired feeling that follows unusual exertion is given the "inside dope" by Professor Elwyn of Columbia University in his new book, "Youself, Inc." The runner or swimmer isn't simply tired; he has been poisoned—and the villain in the case is himself.

Research has shown that exercise develops in the muscles a poison called lactic acid, which must be slowly burned up by oxygen to effect recovery. In the few seconds of a 100-yard dash more than an ounce of acid is formed, requiring over an hour before the last drop is burned away. The heat generated in an active person's muscles consumes the oxygen and releases the carbon dioxide.

Experiments have shown that a swimmer exhales 12 times as much carbon dioxide as an idle person does. A marching man with a heavy pack develops sufficient heat every five minutes to raise the heat of his body one degree Fahrenheit; at the end of 10 hours, however, he does not reach boiling point, thanks to his wonderful automatic cooling system.

Pete Bowen, short distance running star of the American track and field team competing at Heidelberg, won the 200-meter dash Monday in 21.6 seconds, setting a new Finnish record. Bowen won the 100 and 400-meter events Sunday.

Jimmy Dalrymple, starting in the Baltimore infield, was the property of the Cubs in 1923. Now big league clubs are bidding for him.

Gallant Fox Best

Earl Sande, premier jockey, who has ridden Gallant Fox to fame, paid the horse his respects. He said: "I think he is the best horse that I have ridden over a distance of ground for a number of years. He is better than Zev over a long route, but I believe Zev had more early speed."

DETROIT FOUR TAKES SERIES

FREBOOTERS BEAT FORT SAM HOUSTON BY CLEAN DRIVE IN FINAL CONTEST, 10-9.

MARVIN HARRISON TAKES ADVANTAGE OF FOES' ONLY ERROR TO CLINCH TRIUMPH.

With 10,000 excited fans cheering them on, the Detroit Frebooters staged a thrilling last chukker rally that brought victory in its wake and gave them the deciding game in their series with Fort Sam Houston at Harrison field, at Southfield and Nine Mile roads Sunday afternoon.

There was less than a minute to go when Marvin Harrison picked up the ball near the center of the field, after an Army slip, and on a great ride, put it in position for Freddie Alger to tap the winning goal between the posts. This goal broke the existing tie and gave the Frebooters a brilliantly earned 10 to 9 victory.

This game took the form of a charity event, the proceeds going to provide vacations for every crippled child in Michigan. One dollar admission was charged for every car entering the field without regard to number of passengers. A large sum was realized from the game.

Vance as Golfer

The royal and ancient game of golf lost a potential star when "Daddy" Vance decided it was more lucrative to throw a horse-die-covered ball past a batter than send a screeching drive some 300 odd yards down a narrow fairway. If the Brooklyn speedball artist ever loses the zip on his fast one he has only to pick up his driver and he can take his place among the professionals in the ancient Scottish pastime.

The Elks Club of San Francisco is promoting a long distance swim for men August 24th.

Picked Up About Town

Dad Plymouth says there's practically nothing left for Admiral Byrd to hunt for now unless he drops a collar-button.

We doubt if there ever was a Senate that cared how many gray hairs a president acquired during his stay in the White House.

"It doesn't make much difference where a fellow goes on his vacation," asserts Dad Plymouth, "so long as he doesn't go beyond his income."

Busy Helping Poppy

By JANE OSBORN

DAVID TRUE had hit upon the idea of spending his summer in the suburbs. His business in the city had succeeded past his fondest hopes.

So it was that David True leased for three months a charming house of Spanish architecture belonging to a bachelor architect who was passing the summer in Europe.

What happened next was not at all what he anticipated. He fell in love with Poppy Gale, whom he first met at a dance at the country club to be had in the city.

Poppy promptly joined the circle of satellites and competed with them for dances, and was in fact a little surprised at the good nature the other women showed her.

In the clubhouse locker room the next evening David met his bachelor acquaintance who had led him to the dance.

"Miss Gale, you mean?" answered David correctly. "By Jove, but she is charming."

"Oh, well," drawled the acquaintance. "Poppy's a nice girl—plenty of pep and a good dancer—"

"Well," again drawled the acquaintance, "Poppy's all right, but she's got her fallings like the rest of them. You've only met her once. Wait till you know her better."

Thus challenged, David True went to work to know Poppy better with his usual directness. He devoted himself to her at the next dance, asked to call, received permission, made a formal first call and then asked for permission to play golf with her the following Saturday morning.

"The rummage sale," she explained, "was for the old men's home in which I was intensely interested. She wondered if David had some old clothes he would let her have for the sale, and when he eagerly offered his denials she said she would collect the things next Saturday morning instead of playing golf. He would come in his car and they would run around together. David was delighted and from regarding her as a woodland nymph he now regarded her as a sort of up-to-date St. Elizabeth as well. He ever helped with the rummage sale all Saturday afternoon, and came away dusty and exhausted but thankful to have been so much with Poppy. The next time David called on Poppy she told him of her interest in a fresh air home for city children. She was trying to get a sand pile for them but she didn't know where to get the sand. She wondered whether David would mind motoring down to the seashore and bringing back his car full of it.

Then she asked him to solicit the men in the club for donations for another favorite charity, and later at a dance she told him that she would accept his invitation to go to the shore with him the following week if he would help her pay money to furnish a ward in the children's hospital.

One midsummer day David's acquaintance called upon him just before dinner. David looked fagged and worn. "Haven't seen you at the club for weeks," said the acquaintance with a grin. "Given up golf?"

"Oh, I haven't had time," sighed David. "And I'm going to ask you to come out to the dining room with me while we talk. I've only fifteen minutes. I've promised Poppy to arrange the books in the library at the settlement house tonight and she wants me to call for her at seven."

"Hum-m," drawled the acquaintance. "Poppy certainly knows how to dance."

"But what?" snapped the dance girl. "Of course, she's got her hobbies like all the other girls. And I haven't spent the summer just as I intended to. But I'll tell you a secret. I've been proposing to Poppy on condition that she wouldn't expect me to go on this way after we were married. She was furious, but after a while she relented. When I asked her whether she'd care me if I agreed to found a sort of a trust fund for her charities—so she could hire some one to do the things that I've been doing. She thought fifty thousand dollars would do, and I'm game. She said she felt that otherwise she couldn't marry me, because so long as she didn't do these things for me, and if she married me then she would be robbing all the clubs and hospitals and things that she's interested in."

"Fim-m," commented the acquaintance. "She's a nice girl—Poppy."

Middleage is that period in a Plymouth man's life when he finds happiness in sitting on the front porch and watching some other member of the family mow the lawn.

HONOR FOR A WOMAN

For the first time a woman, Dr. Laura Martin of Washington, D. C., will preside over a round table at the Williamsown Institute of Politics, in August. She will have charge of the discussion of "The Nationalistic Questions."

Her Ph. D. in Geography, the wife of Col. Lawrence Martin, former geographer of the State department and now chief of the division of maps in the Library of Congress.

Roofs of Mexico City Put to Constant Use The roofs in Mexico City are used constantly. Stairs leading to them are on the outside of the houses and every one living around the two or three patios which make up the usual apartment house climbs up and down from the roof many times a day. Clothes are spread on the stones of the roof to dry, and, when dry, more water is sprinkled on them so that they will continue to bleach in the sun.

In spring, when there is no wind, housewives dump out their lamb's wool mattresses on the roofs, and beat them until they are free from dust and once more light and fluffy. The ticking is washed and a man comes to restuff and sew up the mattress.—Exchange.

Linoleum Englishman's Idea Linoleum was first produced in England, where the earliest patent was granted in 1860—"painting with oyle cutlers upon woolen cloth."

It was followed by various mixtures of oils and resins, and in 1751 by the incorporation of India rubber or gum elastic. In 1844 Elijah Galloway patented the use of rubber by heating and incorporating it with cork dust. This was rolled into sheets and marketed as "masticated cork." Owing to the high price of rubber, it did not prove profitable to produce this article. In 1860 Frederick York patented a process for oxidizing linseed oil to produce a cheap rubberlike substitute. The word "linoleum" was originally coined by Mr. Walton.

We now have baby autos, baby golf courses and baby kitchens—in fact, everything now in the baby line seems to be popular with the babies themselves.

Up in Newfoundland hallstones felt weighing 30 pounds. And after they bustled all that was needed was liquor and mist.

Relief From Curse of Constipation A Battle Creek physician said "constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuated bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without demanding a habit or over increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderly tablet. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. Rexall Pharmacy.

"We Can Buy and Completely Modernize It By Paying A Little Each Month!"

THE most prosperous neighborhood have run down, shabby houses which can be bought for a small cash payment. The main body of the structure of these houses, built from twenty to thirty years ago, is sound and good for many years of service.

It may only require a slight overcoat, an attractive entrance, new shutters and windows to give the house style and a friendly air. A few interior changes make the modernizing complete, and at a lower figure than the same home would cost, built new today. The charm of the old house is retained—yet all the modern conveniences are there.

BUDGET PAYMENT PLAN Such a modernizing job requires no immediate outlay of cash. The work is laid out—estimated and completed before any payments are made. The only cash needed is the first payment which buys the property itself. The alterations and other improvements are paid for out of income—as little as twenty, thirty, or at the most forty dollars a month covers the entire job. You have three, four or five years to pay.

CERTIFIED MATERIAL When you modernize get the additional security that the use of only CERTIFIED MATERIAL affords. Backed by a $1000 guarantee each item of Certified Material is delivered "in bond." Upon the completion of your work you are given a Certificate of Quality—your proof of good material, workmanship and increased resale value of your home. Only the use of Certified Material gives you this added protection—yet costs you no more.

Make us prove how easy it is to improve your home today—phone us for suggestions. You'll be surprised at the low monthly payments that will do the work you have in mind.

BLUNK BROS. ESTABLISHED 8 YEARS

Service and our efforts to please at all times and to provide quality merchandise at fair prices, drew a continually growing horde of friends and customers to our store for the past 8 years and compelled us to expand time again. New lines have been added, and today our stock is the most complete in the history of our store. THE REASON FOR THIS BIG SALE is to celebrate our 8TH ANNIVERSARY and to give the old friends and customers of our store a bargain feast such as they have never seen before—and we especially want to meet all newcomers in our midst who do not know this store and our policy of doing business. We want them to know our policy of service and good merchandising at fair prices that built this business up to its present high level, and we hope through strict adherence to this policy to double and triple it, and this sale is only another effort in our desire toward that goal. This campaign is intended to build up future business more than for the immediate sales created. However, it affords a wonderful opportunity for you to save money if you desire to buy during these eight days.

Indian Exhibit for World's Fair

Ernest Thompson Seton (center), naturalist and author, explains to Charles S. Peterson (left), vice president, and Rufus C. Dawes, president, of the coming Century of Progress in Chicago, the model of the Indian village which he suggests be constructed for the fair.

Comparatively Easy to Make Roads Beautiful

Our roadsides are in no small way the nation's nearest public park. To millions who can go no farther they are the only out-of-doors. To the roadsides come the trees and flowering bushes and the sunlight on the grasses. They are embassies of nature to those who cannot travel from the beaten path.

But the roadsides of America now are unkempt and broken. Nature is hacked away. Ditches are foul; the flats piled with dumpings. The slopes are bare beside the hot-dog stacks. The road goes through to a destination, but the main destination which very often is the beauty on the way, usually is ignored.

To the building costs and main tenance of roads a 1 per cent addition, more or less, for adding planted things and natural vegetation would double the roads' real value. At small expense parkways can be made along the public roads. Flowering trees can be set out. Slopes can be vine covered. The roadsides can be made the finest and most useful park of the entire nation.

Without doubt a great value of the public roads is yet to be realized. They are used by motorists seeking natural beauty. A trifle more expenditure, with restrictive measures against eyesores, would make them what the traveler hopes to find.

Too Little Attention Paid to Attractiveness

To some extent there has been a growing regard for attractiveness in building of dwelling houses and the design of premises; in both exterior and interior plans for business places, great and small; in the construction of hotels, office buildings and apartments, and even in filling stations. But we still have investors who insist upon putting up merely utilitarian houses, plain, unattractive stores, dry goods box styles of apartments and other merely serviceable construction, when for a little more outlay a much better investment could be made, or better results could be had even with the same expenditure of money and a little more application of intelligence. We still have home owners who could well afford to keep their houses and the lawns in order, but put no value on the factor of attractiveness; who do not appreciate the importance to themselves of making a "good appearance"; who are content to live in relative dinginess when they could give themselves a brighter outlook on life from their private domain.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Warning in London's Growth

London is pushing out its tentacles far and wide among what were once the rural beauties of the home counties. The existing population, encouraged by motor transport and electric railways, is creating new suburbs. Factories recently erected in the Greater London area are causing, according to Doctor Unwin, 20,000 people to move into it each year. A city which had all the potentialities of the most splendid in the world is spreading, not splendor, but dinginess, tawdriness, inconvenience and muddle over an area of 2,000 square miles. And all this spoliation is occurring, not because there is no room, but because there is no plan.—London Daily Chronicle.

Environment Counts

People reflect their environment. Those who live in shabby, down-at-the-heels houses are likely to feel depressed and discouraged. We borrow much of our confidence and spirit from our surroundings. If they have nothing to give—no hope or confidence, no pride in home or joy in living—then they become a liability of such proportions that only the most herculean strength can resist them.—Exchange.

Give More Character

When discussing plans for the new home it should be remembered that "character" and "design" are two different things. A house may be designed well and yet be wholly lacking in character, or a house may be designed badly and possess character. Good design is obvious, but character is elusive and hard to visualize from a set of plans.

Improve Home Grounds

Home owners can help make their city a better place in which to live, by improving the home grounds.

We often see an elegant house that lacks the final touch to change it into a "home." Landscape planting is the frame of the picture; the artistic setting; that final touch that changes a house to a home.

As a background or a frame to the picture which is to be created, shrubs or trees are indispensable. The idea being to have the surroundings harmonize so that the impression will be comfortable and homelike.

Many-Colored Face Bricks

American face brick manufacturers have far outstripped the rest of the world in the wide range of color tones and textures presented to the home builder. Now the prospective home builder has offered for his consideration a whole sweep of colors, in smooth and rough textures, ranging from pure pearl grays or creams, through buff, golden and bronze tints to a descending scale of red, down to maroons, purples and even gun metal blacks.

Hi Nine Years; Konjola Brings Prompt Relief

NEW MEDICINE MAKES REAL RECORD FOR DETROIT MAN; STOMACH AILMENT SOON BANISHED.

MR. JOHN M. CAVANAUGH

"I suffered considerable anguish for about nine years with stomach trouble," said Mr. John M. Cavanaugh, 1235 Fifteenth street, Detroit. "During this entire period of time, I was subject to frequent vomiting spells. I remained hungry, even after meals, and particularly so around midnight. These attacks of indigestion caused me much misery because of the swollen condition of my stomach. My liver was bad, too, and I felt so miserable that I feared I would have to stop working."

"I had great success with Konjola. I have taken four bottles and all my health troubles have been corrected. I am no longer subject to attacks of indigestion nor do I have vomiting spells after meals. I eat what I wish without fear of discomfort and I feel much better in every way."

Konjola should be taken over a period of from six to eight weeks and is recommended for ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Konjola is sold in Plymouth at the Community Pharmacy and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Every concrete block we sell is carefully selected for perfection in every detail. We endeavor to serve the builder in every way. We manufacture only the best.

Meeting the Needs of Millions of People

The low-priced automobile has brought greater opportunity and added hours of recreation to millions of men and women.

BECAUSE the automobile is such an important factor in the lives and prosperity of so many people, the purpose of the Ford Motor Company is something more than the mere manufacture of a motor car.

There is no service in simply setting up a machine or a plant and letting it turn out goods. The service extends into every detail of the business—design, production, the wages paid and the selling price. All are a part of the plan.

The Ford Motor Company looks upon itself as charged with making an automobile that will meet the needs of millions of people and to provide it at a low price. That is its mission. That is its duty and its obligation to the public. The search for better ways of doing things is never-ending. There is ceaseless, untiring effort to find new methods and new machines that will save steps and time in manufacturing. The Ford plants are, in reality, a great mechanical university, dedicated to the advancement of industry. Many manufacturers come to see and share the progress made.

The greatest progress comes by never standing still. Today's methods, however successful, can never be taken as wholly right. They represent simply the best efforts of the moment. Tomorrow must bring an improvement in the methods of the day before. Hard work usually finds the way.

Once it was thought impossible to cast gray iron by the endless chain method. All precedent was against it and every previous experiment had failed. But fair prices to the public demanded that wasteful methods be eliminated. Finally the way was found.

A better way of making axle shafts saved thirty-six million dollars in four years. A new method of cutting crankcases reduced the cost by $500,000 a year. The perfection of a new machine saved a similar amount on such a little thing as one bolt. Then electric welding was developed to make many bolts unnecessary and to increase structural strength.

Just a little while ago, an endless chain conveyor almost four miles long was installed at the Rouge plant. This conveyor has a daily capacity of 300,000 parts weighing more than 2,000,000 pounds. By substituting the tireless, unvarying machine for tasks formerly done by hand, it has made the day's work easier for thousands of workers and saved time and money in the manufacture of the car.

All of these things are done in the interest of the public—so that the benefits of reliable, economical transportation may be placed within the means of every one.

Rosedale Gardens

By J. W. WALKER

Messrs. Ed Reinold, Ray Dixon and Mesdames R. and B. are on a camping-fishing trip somewhere in Michigan. We expect to hear more about this fish business next Butternut club meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wasmund have purchased the model bungalow on Arden Ave., and are welcomed to the community. Mrs. Wasmund plans to open an old-fashioned neighborhood dry goods store in R. grocers former stand, round about the last week in August.

Long comes an old friend from the big village, and he sez, sez he, "Feel all kinda deglutinated, let's sample out your new vitamin B department." So in we went, hot weather to the contrary, and we had Mrs. Stule make us up a fresh peach ala rainbow. Which some just put us straight for awhile, but were not together for long as the weather man is still suffering with contumacy.

Bill Cord is cutting hay while the sun shines, or rather bairs, as the kiddies and mothers and Gardenites in general are all going down by Arden Avenue now to try the new barber out. This all goes to prove that local home talent is appreciated, especially when local talent is in order and the bobber shoppe is neat and clean.

Cousin Wright is all done his brickmasoning on the Bond job, and it looks "just lovely." Now for the wood butchercians to trim in.

For the love of white flying crickets, what next? In R. grocers window, among other things, we note a bottle labeled "Non-Poisoning Sweets." We know of a couple customers for you, Hoff, ole top! And, another thing, will send them round.

Kodaks are in season. Several of the kiddies have acquired the new ninety-eight centers and are doing very nicely, taking pictures of mother in daddy's garden.

So this is summer at last! And the merry month of August, famed for being the month before school opens. And in this is a reminder that there is published our annual school accounting, all in due form, according to law.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Matland and son, Victor, have returned from vacationing, and they brought cooler weather with them.

"Grandpa has most everything good to eat growing in our garden," says Paul Harsha, Jr., "but ice cream cones and bananas."

Billie and Betty had a scrap. "The course of true love is like the weather," sez Chie, "sometimes hot and sometimes cold and sometimes just rite." Which all goes to show that rain checks are sometimes welcome even to Sarah and Betty and Billie.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peters have heard the call of the wilds, and are out searching for that cooler place, whilst vacationing west and north.

Several gardenites returned to labour and sweat, and very reluctantly, too, as it is too bad. Anyhow they can be thankful for their vacation at the hottest of all times.

The sales dept. has been working overtime. Pop being the favorite no one thinks of mom.

"Don't expect to see you here agin, now get off the lot," says our local brickmasoner, Mister Wright, to a gang of kiddies who persisted in watching from under the scaffolding on the Bond job. "Don't expect to get recalled, do you, mister?" from one of the sed kiddies. Which all goes to prove we have heard about Detroit "way out here."

Hoff has returned from way up north. He couldn't wait for sessions of the Butternut Club, so he tells us wonderful tales of the cherry land, and of cherries, reserving the fish ones till all are home from the angler land.

Jimmie Kinahan is spending his vacation as "just a Gardenite."

Three rabs for the Plymouth Fire Department—they certainly do not waste any time getting down this way. First time down since the grass fire last summer, and no beer, either.

The "light" rains have helped the boys on the water wagon some, but the big red water wagon is still in evidence all day and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hansen have returned from a motor trip to Minnesota. "The principal topic here is weather," reports H. "Even Milwaukee is dry, and the temp. at 110°." We are thinking of the 18th amd., R. F. 2?

Billie Hodson has been battling for

Cal whilst he (Cal) has been running for Hoff. But now that the radio has been away for just a couple days it seems more nicer than ever. In fact last Saturday one could actually enjoy an after vitamin "B" without having to hear Ty Tyson call the game. In this same corner, we are mourning the loss of Mister Johnson, ass't to the chief capsule stuffer.

Listen, all ye who have any wild animals about, such as lions, tigers or maybe canary birds and ostriches! Look out for Eleanor Strahle, as her daddy is making a miniature zoo, that is that part where they have rock beds and flowers and whatnots growing there. It is going to be some rock bed, and we have advised the wife to keep our elephants at home for the time being.

The Land Co. boys got a tip from the Plymouth Fire Dept., and are using our old hose to wet down the shrubbery near the fire plugs.

What we need now is some sort of thermos jug to jug up some of this hot weather. It was 104° hard by R. grocers' Monday. It was so hot that the chocolate ran into the figs and the figs into the newtons, on what a mess! And Gus Hinans took some to plant a garage.

Tom Kaska, the gentleman who owns the land (including apple trees) west of the sales office, says he is not a curmudgeon, but he wishes to see his apples ripe. So if the boys and girls will just let them ripen on sed trees he is willing that they eat them, but not until they are ripe—or beware! Tummy aches and green apples are twins!

Sorta commercial courier is one of Buck Huron's signs. "This is a service store, we will do anything for you but take care of the baby." Editor's note: Must speak from experience, ole dear, as we note four little Hurons about.

The guy who deserves to be hung just went by with his parking quip, "Merry Xmas, ole top! Gosh, plew!"

Holy cosmetics, did you all get a whiff of that there new perfume they have in the local emporium?

Friday afternoon the Gardenites Fire Brigade was in season, i. e., Mesdames Millard (Schief) and Brown (E. G.), Holton, Schroeder, Twiddy, discovered that the Gus Hinans painter had left the job in a heat, that is the blow-torches and hot sun and wind were too much, so they quit burning off paint on the Ripple job and sought the cooler job of whitewashing the basement. In about ten minutes the shingles and eaves caught on fire. Supt. Honcke, (called by a casual passerby, who had noticed the smoke), phoned the Plymouth Fire Department, and within seven minutes and eleven seconds that they were down, and in twenty minutes more they were on their way back. The quick action of the ladies' brigade with their garden hose saved the day, or rather the house. The fire being confined to a few square feet of shingles, siding and attic. The firemen chopped it all out, and the Land Co. boys covered the hole with a tarpaulin to cover the erstwhile shower bath in case of rain. Now Mr. Wilson has another job to do up.

Greek Mythology

The phrase "Latman solitude" is a reference to the story of Endymion in Greek mythology. Endymion was a young shepherd or hunter on Mount Latmus, in Caria, whom Selene (the moon goddess) visited while he slept in a cave. According to one version of the story, Zeus or Jupiter offered him anything he might desire and he chose eternal sleep in which he might remain youthful forever. His perpetual sleep in a cave of Mount Latmus is the "Latman solitude." The story is given in detail in Keats' poem, "Endymion."

Fiction Background

O. Henry was far ahead of all his contemporaries in covering amounts of territory in choosing backgrounds for his stories. A recent compilation revealed the interesting fact that among 372 short stories written by O. Henry 138 were laid in New York, Texas furnished the locale for 42, 28 were supposed to have taken place in South America, 62 were laid in the West and Middle West of the United States, and 17 in the South. The rest were scattered from Central America to France and England—Washington Star.

Fair Enough

One night, in pouring rain, two men who had quarreled turned out to settle their differences. They fought until one got the other on his back and held him there. "Will you give up?" he asked, and the reply was, "No," so the man on his back was kept pinned to the ground. After a time the question was repeated, but again the reply was "No." "Then," said the other, "will you get on top for a bit and let me get under! I'm getting wet through."

Marvel of Nature

Perhaps nothing in all nature is so marvelous as the migrating instinct which takes hold of most species of New England birds twice a year, guides them thousands of miles over land and sea and then months later brings them back again—often to the very nest in which they were hatched. Humming birds, so tiny and fragile in appearance that they hardly seem real, fly all the way from Massachusetts to Central America. Remember that three inches is a fair length for a humming bird.

Famous Cave

St. Michael's cave on the Rock of Gibraltar, about 1,100 feet above sea level at its mouth, slopes rapidly down and extends more than 400 feet into the rock. Its extreme limits, however, have not been fully explored. It consists of a series of five or more chambers of considerable extent connected by narrow and crooked passages. The outermost cave is 70 feet in height and 200 feet in length, with massive pillars of stalactite rising from roof to floor.

Immensity Chief Cause

for Dutch Book's Fame
Hugh Walpole's novel of 735 pages is quite brief in comparison with a huge folio written by Jacob Cats, Dutch ambassador at the court of Charles I, which was sufficiently popular to be called the "Household Bible." It was something like all H. G. Wells' works rolled into one. "Its bulk appals us," says Austin Dobson. "It is a book to be approached only from the side of dimension. Like Shakespeare's fat knight, it measures so much about."

This mighty work, printed in three columns, contains Dutch proverbs and emblems in all languages, a long didactic poem on "Marriage," pastorals, romances, and a series of poems alluringly entitled "Coffins for the Living." It is a composer's nightmare—numerous pieces on almost every conceivable subject are accompanied by prefaces and subprefaces, commentaries, headnotes, shoulder notes, footnotes, and addresses to the reader hedging them in on all sides. The popularity of the work was due to its fine copper plates depicting Dutch domestic scenes.—Manchester (England) Guardian.

First "Imperial" Beard
Who was first to wear the beard "Imperial?"

Imperials, sartorially as well as politically, are out of style. There was when men took pride in their facial, hirsute appendage. That time is past, probably forever—well, for a long time, anyway.

There was a period, however, when Imperials were the rage, when everybody who affected to be somebody sported one.

Like other symbols of style, this particular fashion came to us from France, where the Emperor Napoleon III started things by trimming his beard in the manner destined to become known to posterity as the Imperial.

Name Given in Derision
"Blimp" is the popular name for a small, elongated balloon without internal frame. These balloons were used in the World war for observation purposes, flying on a cable attached to a windlass on the ground. The name was first applied to them by British airplane pilots, who used it jokingly as a term of derision. Some believe that the word was coined from balloon and limp, others believe that it goes back to an old English word, blimp, meaning a small blister.

Cunning Fox Traps Terriers
Farmers recently blasted a section of a mountain in the Cwmnantool range of Wales by lamplight at midnight to release four fox terriers which had been trapped by a fox.

The fugitive reynard had led the dogs among huge bowlders on the preceding day. After several hours' work they were released. Two of the canines were severely wounded in what must have been a desperate fight with the 18-pound fox, which was found dead near its pursuers.

Spreading the "Bunk"
One of the most common expressions in current use is "It's the bunk." This comes from the following circumstance: In 1820 a United States congressman, who represented Buncombe county, North Carolina, continually made speeches to further Buncombe county. Evidently this was his way of letting his folk back in that county know that he was on the job. In other words, he was talking for Buncombe. Buncombe has since been clipped to "bunk."

Yes and No
There is a story about Judge Elbert H. Gary of United States Steel memory. A lady once took him aside at a social function and said, almost in a whisper: "Judge, would you mind telling me if you think steel stock is going up or down?"

"Certainly," he replied. "I think it will. You see, madam, it rarely ever stands still, and it cannot very well go sideways."—Kansas City Star.

Jacob's Ladders Mended

By MATILDA STAPLEY
(Copyright)

EVERLY was a business man and not in the least temperamental but the artistic side of his nature would burst out now and again in spite of him.

It had been bursting forth of late in the form of interior decorating. His own three bachelor rooms were having a regular overhauling as regards color scheme. Saturday afternoons and Sundays Everly spent on a small ladder he had purchased from an impoverished artist, stenciling birds and beasts and what not above the molding of his library.

He was having a happy time until he nearly broke up his anatomy as well as the ladder on which he was perched. They came down together in a heap. Everly fortunately unbroken but the ladder fared much worse. It was a light, steel and wood affair daintily built for the use of artists.

He sat down in a peevish mood early on Saturday afternoon and the day and tomorrow would be wasted. Everly was no good at mending things—even a broken heart that he supposed he was carrying about within him. In his early and very tender years he had loved a maiden who had thrown him down to marry a richer man and since that time he had left girls strictly alone.

He picked up the paper idly, thinking more of his loss than what he was reading, but suddenly he saw an advertisement that caught his eye and held his interest. It read: "Jacob's ladders mended, invisible and good as new." N. Carter.

Everly popped out of his chair, took down the address, which was not far away, folded up his ladder and began to whistle.

The day had brightened. He hoped Carter would be in on Saturday and could mend the ladder while he waited.

Everly realized that he had never heard of a ladder known as Jacob's but he supposed that anyone who could mend ladders could assuredly mend this one.

Everly went by taxi to a side street where he supposed Carter's shop would be, taking the ladder with him. The taxi drew into the curb but not in front of a shop. It was one of the lesser apartment buildings.

"Well," supposed Everly, "Carter evidently does a little home work." He got out with his ladder and collided in the dark hall with a young lady about to ascend the stairway.

Everly drew back to let her go up ahead of him but she turned a too pale face toward him and asked that he go first.

"I'm very tired," she said, "and want to take my time going up."

So Everly went on with his ladder but was vividly conscious all the way of the lovely girl totting up behind him. He wanted to wait and give her an arm up the stairs.

However, he arrived at the fourth floor and saw the name "Carter" on the doorplate. The girl was just behind and stood on the same landing while he put down his ladder and rang the bell.

"Are you wanting N. Carter?" asked she.

"Well, yes—I want to get this ladder mended. I read his advertisement in the paper and—"

Nan Carter grasped the stair rail lest she lose her balance.

"Oh!" she said, and then repeated the bright remark. "Oh!" Then she smiled at him. "If you let me—I will open the door for you. I live here myself."

Everly and his supposed Jacob's ladder followed her into a cheery apartment. His thoughts now worked upon the supposition that the girl had an indigent husband who worked as home mending ladders while she totted in the city. He felt that he would dislike the husband. He waited a moment or two while Nan divested herself of a small hat, thereby releasing a glorious riot of tignon hair.

She was more at home and felt she could handle this delicate situation without wounding him now that she had him safely within the apartment. She had dreaded turning him and his ladder away in the hall.

"Will you be frightfully hurt at me if I laugh at you?" she asked.

"By Jove," said Everly swiftly, "I don't think I care what you do to me." And he quite meant what he said because he knew without the slightest doubt that this girl was one day going to be Mrs. Everly.

"Then come here and let me show you a Jacob's ladder."

Everly drew nearer the girl and also to her sewing basket heaped high with stockings. She picked one up and, running her hand down it, showed him a real Jacob's ladder.

"That's the kind I mend," she laughed softly.

Everly burst into a regular guffaw that must have been heard in the next apartment, and after a moment of very happy laughter they found each other's eyes and their glances lingered.

"It only shows you," said Everly breathlessly, "how more than gulleless I am where womenfolks are concerned."

The girl looked up at him with great tenderness in her eyes.

"Some womenfolks long to know just such men as you," she said. "I'll manage that, in this case," Everly told her.

Prices Are Lower and Value Greater Than At Any Time in Decade

Scan the pages of The Plymouth Mail and you will be amazed at the truly astounding array of values listed by Plymouth's best stores and shops. Not in years have prices on almost any article of merchandise been so low. Plymouth merchants have taken the lead in passing along to the consumer the reduced cost of raw materials and plant operations. In many cases, enterprising stores have taken direct losses by reducing not only merchandise bought at the newer level of wholesale prices, but by cutting the price of goods contracted for at last year's peak. From automobiles to yard goods, prices today reflect marvelous values. Those who buy now will make savings perhaps difficult to duplicate later, besides contributing to prosperity's return. Read the advertisements of Plymouth's leading merchants and distributors in The Mail. Buy assured quality and save at the same time.
