ABOUT TAXATION

The legislature is talking about an income tax, tobacco tax and more gas tax. When the people of Michigan sent the representatives and senators to Lansing the first of the year it was for the one purpose of finding ways and means to reduce taxation, not find new ways of taxation. It has been the history of Michigan and of every other state that when new methods of taxation are created it does not reduce the general property tax.

A number of years ago Michigan created a corporation tax that was to continue for just four or five years, just long enough to take care of the building needs of the state that existed at that time. When the legislature passed the corporation tax not a person that voted for the measure had any idea that the law would be in effect more than four or five years—but we still have the corporation tax with us and the building needs of various state institutions are about in the same condition now as then.

We hope that the 1931 legislature will cut the property tax, cut the gas tax, cut the corporation tax—and CUT the operation expense of the state government. If the law-makers will do these few things, they will have the everlasting thanks of the taxpayers of Michigan.

WHAT THEY TALK ABOUT

"What shall I write about?" a columnist once asked of his editor. He had no assignments and could think of nothing interesting. "Get out on the street," said the blue pencil artist, "and listen. If people are talking about something, they want to read about it in this newspaper."

Much of the street conversation, if printed, would belong to that class of things that lead editors to leave town in undignified haste. However, not all the conversation of the streets and meeting places is of that kind.

"When I was a boy," remarks one of our older men, "I used to spend much time listening to the workmen talk as they ate their noon lunches. Frequently they discussed Congress and the Legislature of Michigan. Those men were watching their lawmakers, and were determined to have their state go ahead."

What do people talk most about now? One guess would be sports. Also about things to eat. Pessimists may say that drinks do not go wholly unmentioned. Among the younger elements, their best girls. Politics? Now and then, of course. But if mentioned more frequently, non-achieving officials would not so often get by.

If it is felt the men have become more frivolous, what do the women talk about? Fashions largely? That was the old idea. But it may not be so now, when women are so active in business and sports and club life and politics. One guess would be that much of their talk relates to making better cities, improved schools and government generally.

Much of the talk of the streets and social centers is mere trifling. But it reflects the life of the people. It is the fertile field in which seeds of action are germinating. The effective newspaper worker listens much to it. He there gathers a rich harvest of information, thought and news.

HOMES FOR THE PEOPLE

If business people and property owners want their home town to go ahead, one way to help it do so, is to provide enough pretty modern homes which people can rent. Or else to fit up the older houses with modern improvements.

Thrifty persons tell people to own their homes. "Pay instalments on your mortgage, rather than pay rent," they say. Usually they are right. Still, our modern folks here in Plymouth are a restless crowd. Many of them think that an owned house is an anchor that holds them down when they want to sail away to fortune elsewhere. They may be wrong, but argument won't convince them.

One reason why people dislike to put money into houses to be rented, is as they claim that so many tenants are careless and destructive.

Someone tells of a tenant who allowed his children to use roller skates freely on the new hardwood floors. That landlord is not probably anxious to put more money into new houses this coming spring. He may not be enthusiastic about improvements.

A family whose children express their artistic natures by drawing pencil sketches on the wallpaper, is not accomplishing much to get its rent reduced. But a family that takes just as good care of its rented house as if it had put its own good money into it, is viewed with respect by any landlord. He chooses the most polite language when he converses with these good folks. He may lower the rent rather than lose them. If a tenant wants improvements, he should make the things he now has shine so brightly that the new things seem necessary to go with the place.

New or well modernized homes draw the women folks like a magnet. They are fascinated by the modern touches. They flock like birds in the springtime into the towns and neighborhoods that provide enough of the charming home nests.

THE SLENDERIZING FAD

Cereal growers look forward anxiously to the coming summer, and ask if it will again bring the surplus production of wheat and other staples that broke the produce market last year. Some people claim that one reason for the low prices of that period, can be found in the fad of reducing flesh that has been adopted by so many girls and women, and which leads them to cut down on substantial foods like wheat and corn bread.

Millions of women and girls desire to be slender. They long for sylph like forms. They worry about every ounce of what they consider superfluous weight. So they subsist too much on flimsy and foamy foods, and think they make themselves more attractive by having attenuated forms. But no artist ever chose the bean-pole as his ideal of beauty.

Bread used to be called the staff of life. Parents were pleased when their children ate substantial foods like bread and butter. There should be a return to that idea. Grain growers and baking companies might well promote a nation wide propaganda for substantial physical development based on eating plenty of wheat and corn bread.

TOBACCO TAX

An attempt to enact a tobacco tax that will not be handicapped by the inequities and discrimination of the late cigarette tax, will be made in the legislature under the sponsorship of Senator Peter B. Lennon, it is expected.

Lennon has invariably favored a tax on tobacco products and other special levies as a means of raising money to aid poor school districts or to lighten the property tax. Governor Green helped shove the cigarette tax through in 1929. It never had a basis of fairness, because it singled out cigarettes and allowed other tobacco products to escape. Green admitted the law was a failure, even before the people voted it down. Lennon's enthusiasm for a tobacco levy, however, evidently has not been dampened.—Michigan State Digest.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

Wm. A. Seegmiller is mayor of Owosso, which city is operating under a commission form of government. In a government politically selected he very likely would not be mayor. He is a democrat. Seegmiller has some faults, of course. One, perhaps, is being a democrat. But over against all these mythical or real faults is one outstanding virtue. For 10 1/2 years he has been scoutmaster of the largest boy scout troop in Owosso. The aggressive Seegmiller may be one hundred per cent wrong about many things but to serve as a leader of boys for eighteen years certainly carries all the debit side of the ledger and leaves him a comfortable balance in the financial statement of useful public service.—Joe Sturgeon in The Delta Reporter of Gladstone.

Penny Shaving

Governor Willmer M. Brucker asked for economy—and 21 stenographers whose pay was $1,200 a year were cut to $100.

There was an opportunity, in the department of labor and industry, to dismiss seven field inspectors, who are not needed, who are kept on largely because labor unions insist on the men having jobs. These seven cost the state about $18,000 a year. But instead of making that saving, the department heads cut $400 a year from a $2,400 clerk who had earned promotions and pay increases; they lopped $200 a year from the pay of low priced stenographers, and reduced the pay of John Boer, secretary of the department.

Governor Brucker did not mean this kind of economy. He said, plainly and distinctly, that he wanted the money of the taxpayers saved by cutting off the dead wood; by abolishing political jobs.

The governor knew, when he made his announcement, that he would have to run the risk of over-zealousness and lack of judgment. Fortunately, for the stenographers and others, it may not be too late to see that their pay is not permanently cut.

Governor Brucker does not want the low paid, efficient help distributed. They are giving the taxpayers more than their money's worth. He does want the pay cut in the higher brackets—and he should, for many salaries are above that of the governor himself. He does want political jobs, and there are countless patronage posts—cut out. He demands that expense accounts for state employees who seem to have no duties save to travel and enjoy life be checked up on.

His program cannot but meet with the approval of everyone. He is not to blame that some department heads have not grasped what he and the people really want—which is, true economy and efficiency, not pin-prick life penny shaving.—E. A. Nowak in Michigan State Digest.

It is claimed down here in Michigan's big town that another recall movement is on foot for the expulsion of Mayor Murphy. Detroit seems to be experimenting with up-state mayors. They tried a candidate from Yale and he proved unequal to the task of taming the animals under his charge and was recalled. Harbor Beach thought she had a better man for the job than Yale, and Mayor Murphy, one of her native sons was injected into the mess. He made a big noise like a real mayor for a time, but it is now the constituents that are making a noise, and there is a possibility that Harbor Beach and Yale will both be fathers of sons that cannot make good as mayors of Detroit. While it would seem that it is a fight between the old and Harbor Beach, the facts are that the fight is really between rival factions and religions of the big city, and that the people are doing the fighting and paying. We wonder if our vaunted freedom is all liberty or a large portion to fool the voters. Just watch Detroit for a short time and you will be convinced that there may be some virtues in freedom rules instead of electing them. Dave Hubbard in The Crescent-Jeffersonian.

Can You Build A Community?

Frequently speakers are engaged to speak on "Community Building." According to the viewpoint of the speakers, their talks vary. Generally some helpful suggestions are made. Yet, careful thought will reveal that there are few people living in the world today who have in any very considerable degree been responsible for building a community.

Offhand we would say that the nearest approach to this in Michigan today would be Henry Ford. Dearborn and River Rouge are communities which he has built up through his immense industries from every small existing village. Dearborn was the fastest growing city in the United States during the past ten years, having increased in size about 1,900 per cent. Yet years before Henry Ford thought of Dearborn there had been a community there.

The average person fails to appreciate what has been done for him by foregoing generations. Only a few of the older people of St. John's and Clinton county are responsible for any considerable part of the hundreds of advantages we all enjoy today. Grandfathers and great-grandfathers and their families did the strenuous foundation work. Each generation in its turn contributed something—met the needs as they developed and anticipated the future according to their enterprise and vision.

Many people, we think, have the wrong viewpoint. They feel that the money they are spending for public improvements are for the benefit of the coming generations. This is not entirely true. Rather they are simply contributing their bit. They inherited much more than that will ever contribute. Consider a bit. Did you help pay for the sidewalk you traverse each day? Did you plan and pay for the building you occupy? The streets, the schools, the churches everywhere you go you will find there are the cumulative improvements of many generations.

Governor's Salary

Quite a few newspapers of the state are paying the way for the legislature to vote an increase in the salary of Michigan's governor, a matter that we fail to get excited over. Gov. Brucker is pointed to as a poor man in most of the arguments advanced, and yet an increase in salary, if voted, could not become effective until he retires from office. To say the least it will take courage to offer anything in the nature of an increase in state expense this year. Questioned, too, if it is necessary in so far as the governor's job is concerned. Mr. Brucker did not let the salary end of the issue bother him, and by the same token it has been demonstrated that men of ability are willing to seek the office irrespective of its pay.—Harry Isor in Durand Express.

THE TAX GRAB BAG

Fire insurance companies are taxed on their premium income to maintain state insurance departments. As a general rule the assessment is ten times as large as necessary to cover the cost of the department. The surplus is usually dumped into the general state tax fund. Thus, insurance policy holders are doubly taxed for state purposes, an unfair proposition in itself.

Someone in California had a bright idea to permit cities to draw on these state insurance taxes to provide a fireman's pension fund. The people voted this down 3 1/2 to one on the ground that it was going too far to use state funds to pay strictly municipal expenses. Not to be discouraged, the proponents of such legislation are proposing a similar experiment for law apply to all kinds of insurance Oregon; except they would have the in addition to fire.

It is unfair to make insurance policy holders maintain pension funds for municipalities. The state would simply have to raise more taxes to replace the funds lost in this manner.

They do so to speak—Miss Marlon Snell, York Avenue, actor, or should we say talks, as "Hedy from Himmelhoch's" telling the fair sex of the what nots to wear that are to be found at her and Miss Estelle Ludwig's Emporium down at the big little village. And then we have one Loyd B. Hiron, Eng. who does his bit in singing over WNYZ in the evening at 8:00 before midnight.

Wayne Hears Plan Of Developing Wells For Part Of Supply WATER PROBLEM IN NEARBY TOWN IS REAL PROBLEM FOR VILLAGE OFFICIALS The village of Wayne may use well water for a part of its supply says the Wayne Dispatch. In discussing its water problem the paper says: Possibility that Wayne may get part of its water supply from wells was foreseen on Tuesday evening when William H. Caple, representing the Harmon-Ness company of South Bend, Indiana, presented a brief summary of a proposition made by his company. Mr. Caple stated that engineers would inspect the land in Wayne and secure findings that would lead to a well with a guarantee flow of 500,000 gallons per day, which would be pumped into the Wayne mains as the need occurred without the necessity of filtering.

Farmington Plans Jitney Service From Town To Five Points

COMMUNITY HOPES TO FIND WAY TO SOLVE TRANSPORTATION DIFFICULTIES According to the Farmington Enterprise that village hopes to solve the loss of its transportation system by the establishment of a jitney line from Farmington to Five Points. The Enterprise says: Two applications for permission to operate jitney busses through Farmington as part of a Farmington-Five Points line were made to the City Commission Monday evening. The applicants pledged service on a half-hourly basis, and while making no promises as to fare, expressed the opinion that a 15-cent rate might be adopted.

Both applicants, H. Brown of Independence and Hancock streets, Clarenceville and W. L. Rubel of Farmington Acres, would use passenger sedans. Each promised he would operate seven days a week if granted a license. Mayor Arthur Lamb designated Commissioners Amos Otis and Fred Stanton to consider the matter of transportation assisted by Howard M. Warner. The Commission took no action on the applications, Commissioner Emory Hutton suggesting that it might be well to find out what plans the Detroit Department of Street Railways might have. Mr. Hutton said that he assumed to indicate a change in the date set for suspension of passenger service, February 1.

Mr. Brown told the Enterprise that if granted a permit, he would buy three new passenger cars and hire two drivers, also driving himself. He would be running at 5 o'clock in the morning, running three cars throughout the morning and evening rush hours. From 12 to 1 a. m., one car for the last riders. Mr. Brown said that he had had experience operating trucks, but not passenger lines. W. L. Rubel, 3370 Edward avenue, Farmington Acres, said he would put on three cars and any additional ones that might be required. He proposed to operate from 7:30 a. m. to 10 p. m., with 20-minute service from 7:30 to 8 a. m., and from 4:30 to 7:20 p. m., the morning and evening rush hours. Asked as to his experience, Mr. Rubel told the Enterprise that he has operated a passenger line between 10 and 20 miles in length. He would use two passenger cars comparatively new, and his another machine which can be converted into a bus to carry at least ten people. Mr. Rubel told the Enterprise.

During the discussion, it was stated that the Deluxe bus fare from Redford to downtown Detroit being 30 cents, a 20-cent fare to Redford from Farmington would make a total of 50 cents. This could be held down to 25 cents, however, by the passenger who wished to leave the Deluxe bus at Five Points and board the street-car, on which the fare is six cents.

Village President Gets River Water

The first land owner in Inkster to receive Detroit water through the new mains was Village President Francis Fellrath. Main laying for Inkster's huge water system still is in progress. Workers on the job are now employed in the business district. Some conception of the big task of the contractors may be realized when it is understood that there will be approximately 67 miles of mains laid when the system has been completed. Thus far there has been 15 miles laid, it was estimated.

With weather conditions as favorable as they have been during the past month it is estimated that the job will be finished long before the date of expiration comes. With the installation of a system of water distribution, Inkster is confronted with the task of formulating a water board that will determine the proper connection, inspect the mains and the taps to homes, and in general, care for the management and details of the system. The details of composing this board is being undertaken by O. J. Smith, attorney of the village.

Inkster has a contract with the Ford Motor company to supply water through its pumping system, which is connected with Detroit mains. This, however, is only a temporary agreement as it is possible that a new arrangement may be made when the question of suburban water rates and mains is settled by the Detroit officials. Residents of Inkster are applying for tap permits daily and making preparations for water.—Dearborn Press.

Shredded corn stover has about the same feeding value as unshredded stover and is satisfactory for wintering mature livestock such as idle horses, breeding cattle, or dry cows. Feed it sparingly to young stock and supplement it with a liberal quantity of protein. It is probably better to feed both oat straw and corn stover than to feed either one as the only roughage. A liberal quantity of shredded stover (two a day, with a light feed of timothy or mixed hay once a day, and 3 or 4 pounds of corn or oats, make a good winter ration for farm work stock. Give plenty of salt and water. If horses are fed shredded stover as the only roughage, give about 1 pound of linseed meal to each horse daily. This lessens danger of impaction in the digestive tract. Roof cuts that are not milked may be economically wintered on corn stover and oat straw with some kind of legume hay. Shredded stover that has been stored in good condition is a satisfactory roughage for wintering sheep, especially in the first part of the winter.

PERRINSVILLE

Rev. Purdy chose for his text last Sunday evening, the seventh chapter of 11 Kings, the latter part of the third verse: "Why sit here until we die?"
All who attended the prayer band Sunday night, were very much impressed with the interesting services conducted by some Chinese from the Chinese Methodist church, Detroit.

MANY NOXIOUS FISH DESTROYED LAST YEAR

More than 57,000 noxious fish were removed from Michigan waters during the year 1930 according to a report of the Fish Division of the Department of Conservation.
The figure is more than double that of 1929 when 27,610 fish were reported taken from lakes and streams.

STATE REGULATIONS FOR SPEARING FISH

Despite the fact that the state is experiencing its second season under the present winter and spring fishing and spearing regulations, large numbers of inquiries concerning details of the spearing laws are being received by the Law Enforcement Division of the Department of Conservation.
To facilitate understanding these regulations, the Division has prepared an outline which it believes will help those who wish to spear or fish with hook and line through the ice.

OLD MASONIC TEMPLE AT REDFORD IS BEING WRECKED BY WORKERS

Redford's oldest business and social structure, the old Masonic oak-timbered hall, is to pass into memory.
Frank Lee, who acquired the structure some 13 years ago, when the Redford State Savings bank purchased the site for its present home announced Wednesday that he had sold the land on which the historic stone stands, and that the building will be demolished at once.

DEARBORN WORKERS DEMANDING CHARITY

Some two hundred citizens of Dearborn residing in the so-called South End of that city appeared before the city council of Dearborn for the third time last Tuesday evening, demanding some immediate action be taken to alleviate their predicament.
Over 500 citizens, it was stated, held a meeting last week at which time they elected a committee of nine to carry out their instructions. Their spokesman was Michael Milton, of 2841 Salina avenue. He addressed the Mayor and council at the regular meeting on Tuesday night.

natively within the required length of time, then the amendment becomes part and parcel of the Constitution within an understood time.
Colonel Alger's statement, editorially published in the Free Press as good argument, is really no argument at all. The fairy tale which he attempts to fold upon the people as the truth is not even debatable matter. He might as well try to argue that George Washington discovered the Pacific Ocean. Definitely known facts of history cannot be refuted. It would be a waste of time and effort to make reply to the editorial were it not for the fact that there are always a per centage of persons ready to believe that which they wish might be true, but who dare not look up easily accessible records for themselves in fear of learning the truth. It is often comical to see desperately misguided leaders furiously dragging senseless and heresies across the onward path of prohibition. The country has little to fear.

Christian Science Notes
"Truth" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, January 25.
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Lead me in thy truth, and teach me; for thy truth is God, my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day" (Ps. 25:5).
The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key-to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "My angels are exalted thoughts, appearing at the door of some sepulcher, in which human belief has buried its fondest earthly hopes. With white fingers they point upward to a new and glorified trust, to higher ideals of life and its joys" (p. 299).

METHODIST NOTES

EPISCOPAL NOTES

The Pre-Lenten seasons begin this Sunday, February 1. "Septuagesima" Sunday is about "seventy" days before Easter. The Holy Communion will be celebrated at St. John's church at 10:00 o'clock this Sunday morning. Every communicant is urged to be present.

A special effort should be made by all who have not made their communion recently to do so this Sunday. A communicant must make his communion at least three times a year to remain in good standing. There are some who have neglected this duty.

The regular meeting of the Men's Club has been postponed to the following night, which is Wednesday, February 4, on account of the community Father and Son banquet. Every man of the congregation is invited to attend this meeting. Some very interesting plans are under way.

Representatives of the parish attended the Diocesan Convention in Detroit, this week.

The boys of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew attended an illustrated talk on South American at Starkweather school on Tuesday night, at the invitation of Charles Thumme.

Daily prayer and Bible reading are two of the aims of the Brotherhood. This is to remind all members to come ready to report on their assignments next Monday.

Members of the Senior Bible class are reviewing the lessons on the Crucifixion and Resurrection of Christ, preparatory to an examination. No member of the class can afford to miss the next three Sundays' work. Be there!

Children, remember your offering envelope for the Bishop's Diocesan Project for Epiphany!

The Women's Guild meets at the home of Mrs. A. L. Innis, E. Ann Arbor Trail, on Friday, at 2:30 p. m. Another evening and bridge and five hundred will be given by the Guild on Friday, February 6, at 8:00 p. m. Keep this date and come with your friends.

NEWBURG

(Too late for last week)

There was a very good attendance at church Sunday: fifty-nine in Sunday-school. A Bible guessing contest was put on by the leaders of the Epworth League.

A newspaper play entitled "Scoops" was put on by the Queen Esther girls last week Thursday and Friday evenings. It was not very well patronized, although it was exceptionally good.

Before the play, a laughable sketch was given by Misses Alice and Mildred Gilbert, entitled "One Sweetheart For Two."

Those who assisted between acts were Mrs. Gladys Horton Kreger, who sang in her usual charming manner, "Where the River Shannon Flows," with Mrs. Purdy at the piano; a duet, "It's Spring Time in the Mountains," by Mesdames Kreger and Holly Olive May Bakewell sang "Thursday Evening, 'Eggy Feet Go Dither Dither,"

Rev. Frank Purdy gave an interesting talk last week Friday at the victory meeting of the W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. John Hartwood in Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Grinn and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grinn, Jr. and another spent Saturday afternoon and evening as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Siquard of Detroit.

Miss Ruth Carney spent over Sunday with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Carney.

Mrs. Brightman gave her scholars the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, a treat by taking them to see "Tom Sawyer" at the Pennington Allen theatre, Saturday afternoon.

E. J. Curler and son, Rusling, visited Mr. Curler's mother in London, Ontario, last Sunday.

Little Winifred Curler is quite ill and under the doctor's care.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Joy and daughter, Lydia, called on Betty Quinn at the Highland Park Hospital, Sunday afternoon. Betty is getting along as well as could be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilson and daughter, Leotta, and son, Marvin, spent Sunday with the latter's sister, Mrs. Ed Morris and family, in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. George Schmidt and family are spending the winter in St. Petersburg, Florida, with the exception of their son, Marvin, who boards with Mark Joy and attends Plymouth High school.

The Home Economics Club met Thursday. However, we were very sorry that so many of the members were unable to be present. Since most of us are watching our weight, the subject, "Calorie or Fuel Value of Food," was very interesting.

A well-balanced luncheon will be served at our next meeting, which will be held in the school house, February 19, at 12:30 o'clock noon. All members are asked to set this date aside so that we may have 100% attendance record.

Ice box cookies can be made from stiff cookie dough. Instead of rolling out the cookies and cutting them into fancy shapes, roll the dough into a cylindrical piece, cover with a clean cheesecloth, and store it in the ice box overnight to become firm. With a sharp knife slice the cookies off thin when ready to bake them.

Ex-Service Men's Club Notes

All ex-service men are not proud of the fact that most people speak of their Adjusted Compensation Certificate as a "bonus." Most all ex-service men did their duty willingly and eagerly and proudly desired no bonus.

A few years after they came back, the representatives of the people, our Congress, and our Senate, decided that those boys who so willingly gave up well paying jobs to fight in a war declared to save Democracy, at a monthly salary of $1.00 and $1.25 a day, should have that pay adjusted to $2.00 and $2.50 a day.

However, they further declared by inference that although the boys could be trusted with a high powered rifle, a service revolver and occasionally a wreath of tough hand grenades, they couldn't yet be trusted to handle the balance of their adjusted pay, the difference between a dollar and a quarter and two and a half a day.

Of course, the railroads and the war industries were perfectly capable of handling those, so they got their adjusted compensation.

But they wished to be fair with the boys, so they told them that in twenty years they probably would know enough to spend it properly, and not squander it on homes and children.

In the meantime, if the boys wished, they could draw enough on their certificate at only 6 per cent or so to pay part of their taxes, or buy the kids a nice new coat, or buy the milk bill so Jack and Jenny wouldn't get the tickets.

A lot of us are willing to accept our country's estimate of our ability to use our pay wisely and some of us, thanks to lucky breaks, are not absolutely in need of it.

But a great many of our comrades are in need of it. Some Plymouth veterans are in need of it. To one a home would be saved. To another a child would be saved, perhaps from lifelong anemia caused by malnutrition. Would you be willing to write to your Congressman and Senator now to back up the Patman Bill which has been before Congress since 1923, or any other bill which would give ex-service men who really need their back pay, that back pay now?

You will be told next week how it will help you, Mr. Storekeeper, Mr. Merchant, Mr. Banker and Mr. Manufacturer.

The next regular meeting of the Ex-Service Men's Club will be held Monday evening, February 9th, at which time the Women's Auxiliary will meet and also serve 6:30 supper. A Building Committee will be named at this meeting.

Club Correspondent.

EX-FLAME

Judith Barrie, who is fast establishing herself as one of the most talented as well as the loveliest siren of the screen, will appear in one of the principal roles in "Ex-Flame," the modern version of "East Lynne," as produced by Liberty Productions, which comes to the Pennington Allen Theatre, Sunday and Monday, February 1 and 2.

Miss Barrie is cast as the ex-flame of young Lord Austin, who maliciously causes the beginning of all the trouble between him and his lovely wife. She makes of Barbara Lane a very modern siren—a twentieth century modern who, returning home after her own divorce is piqued to find her old flame, whom she considered her private property, married to a very charming girl. She is naturally malicious and takes delight in annoying both Austin and his wife, being more than a little bit out when she discovers that he has really married for love. Her reaction in the climax of the story takes her from the stereotyped "vamp" into the realm of real people.

Miss Barrie demonstrated her ability as an actress in her first picture, "Lucky Girl." It is said that her performance in "Ex-Flame" outclasses anything she has done so far, and bids fair to place her among the foremost screen temptresses.

Miss Barrie, besides being a clever actress, is noted for her beauty. She was a favorite model of James Montgomery Flagg, who introduced her to Edward Halperin—and so lost his model to pictures. She is a native of California, having been raised in Sacramento and educated at Miss Head's exclusive girls' school in Berkeley.

Norman Kerry plays the other featured roles in this production, which Victor Halperin directed.

SEA LEGS

"America's Joy-Friend," Jack Oakie, has unworked another pane of laugh moments in his latest starring role, "Sea Legs," the feature at the Pennington Allen Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, February 4 and 5. And, in addition to the inimitable Jack, hilarity is enhanced by the presence in the cast of "Sea Legs" of rotund Eugene Pallette and the "kibitzer" Harry Green.

These three, any one of whom can provide enough laughs to last a month, are joined by beautiful Lillian Roth, whose smiling in "The Love Cracker," "Boney" and "Animal Crackers" lifted her to the front rank of screen comedienne. The love moments that arise between the lively Lillian and the gasty Jack are riots of merriment and the action takes place on the lone battleship of a mythical Mediterranean republic.

There are gods and goddesses, and gods of love and laughter in "Sea Legs," with Oakie as a sloughed American sailor, impressed into the service of the tiny but ambitious Latin principality. Oakie, unwillingly, is doing service for a young millionaire who has paid his lawyer, Harry Green, to aid him avoid his compulsory period of naval service. When Oakie discovers the ruse that has set him to scribbling decks and peeling potatoes under a legion of gold-brained officers, he is impetuously furious, but when he discovers that his assumed name allows him unlimited credit on the millionaire's bank account, and the captain's pretty daughter, Lillian Roth, looks with favor on his American accent, he begins to take an interest in life.

Jack Oakie himself has a bunch that "Sea Legs" has more laughs per foot of picture and sound track than "Sweetie," "Let's Go Native," "The Social Lion," "The Sap from Syracuse" or any of his other hits. Victor Heerman, the man who made "Animal Crackers" directed it, and in it, Oakie sings two warm, tuneful tunes, "It Must Be I'llogal" and "A Baisy Told Me." Oakie's on the "A" way of popularity with this hit, it's a deep-sea swell.

On Thursday, January 15, at two o'clock, Miss Lucille Hearl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hearl of Michigan, and William L. Heak, son of Mrs. Jennie Heak of Cherry Hill, were quietly married at the home of Rev. Howard Moore, of Adrian, a friend of the bride. They were unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Heak will reside temporarily on Ridge road.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Salts on Ridge road, was destroyed by fire Wednesday afternoon. Although Mr. and Mrs. Salts were away at the time, the fire was discovered, promptly summoned, and the contents of the house saved.

On account of the fire, Miss Ruth Salts was unable to entertain the Young People's Class Friday evening. The meeting was held at the church homes, with Misses Gladys and Jane Oliver entertaining.

Earl West, who has returned home from Akron, Ohio, will resume his studies at the U. of M. in February. Henry Heak is confined to his home with influenza.

BRIDE OF THE REGIMENT

Seven notable players, who have been starred or featured on stage or screen, are cast in the principle roles of "Bride of the Regiment." First National's play with music filmed entirely in technicolor, which will be shown at the Pennington Allen Theatre, Friday and Saturday, February 6 and 7.

Vivienne Segal, stage star of "The Desert Song" and Ziegfeld's "The Three Musketeers," sings the title role. This is Miss Segal's third screen role, following appearances in "Golden Dawn" and "Song of the West."

Allan Prior appears opposite her in his initial film part. He starred in "The Student Prince," "Rainbow," "Collette," and other New York musical shows. He is conceded to have one of the finest tenor voices on Broadway.

Walter Pidgeon as the Austrian officer, Colonel Vuhov, has an important singing role. He also has starred in New York stage shows, Louise Fazenda, Ford Sterling, and Myrna Loy, need no introduction to screen audiences. Lupino Lane, member of an old theatrical family, appears in a comedy role. He has acted in all parts of the world, frequently in his own productions.

Two thousand people take part in the big scenes of "Bride of the Regiment," in which indoor and outdoor color scenes are shown. An outdoor sequence filmed at night is one of the first night scenes to be attempted in color.

John Francis Dillon directed this Vitaphone production, which is based on "The Lady in Ermine," stage opera.

Bartlett School Notes

(Too late for last week)

We enjoyed our P. T. A. dance which was held at the Cherry Hill hall, January 14. The music was furnished by the Melody Pirates.

All the grades have received new work books. They think they will help in their studies.

The 7th and 8th grades have been making pots of geraniums to decorate the bulletinboard.

The third grade have been expecting to finish their Eskimo projects today, but have discovered they needed a little assistance. Earl Zanders is making a Kayak for them, while Mervin Wilkie and Robert Heaver are modeling their sleigh and dogs out of plasticine.

Our spare time this week has been occupied with searching thru magazines for clever health pictures. These we cut out and made interesting posters.

Robert Mingles was reported ill with the mumps this morning.

We are sorry that Marie Korte has to be absent so long from school. However we are hoping the improvement in her health. During her illness we are having our sunshine circle sewing club at the Korte residence every Friday. Last Friday, instead of a usual long, cold walk, Dorothy Hollins gave us a ride with her car and pony.

The boys handcraft classes are progressing very satisfactorily this year. For this we must thank the fine leaders, William Reich and Stanley Travis. School closed at noon last Friday to enable our teacher, Mrs. Pond, to attend the mid-year Educational conference at Ypsilanti.

ELECTRIC COOKING seals in the delicious flavors of foods

The reason so many modern women prefer an electric range is because it seals in the delicious natural flavors of meats and vegetables. Even the cheaper cuts of roasts cook to melting tenderness. Very little water is necessary, and the nourishing juices that are lost in the form of steam in an ordinary stove, are retained by electric cooking. Baking, too, is simplified with an electric range. Pastry is flaky, and cakes are light and fine-grained. Automatic oven heat control eliminates guesswork and assures consistent baking results, time after time. Once you have enjoyed electric cooking, you will never agree to cook with flaming fuels.

THE LIBERIAN TIC-TOC

THE natives of West Africa tame those birds and keep them in cunny cages where they are used for timing cooking. When happy, their tails will start swinging, and the joints will tick just like a grandfather's clock. It takes about 80 ticks to thoroughly boil a missionary, but 240 ticks to a sailor, so the natives cut down their cooking time on the latter by setting three tic-tocs to ticking out 80 ticks. The natives thus show their cleverness at mathematics.

If you want a pet tic-toc around the house, they will be found to balance very nicely on a curtain ring like a parrot.

An almond kernel forms the head, while a large single peanut makes up the body. Cloves will do for feet, and a piece of popcorn for the topknot. The pendulum tail is a toothpick with a raisin attached as a balancer. (© Metropolitan Newspaper Service.)

Chamber of Commerce Notes

"I want to take this opportunity of expressing to you personally my appreciation of your assistance in getting the vote of your organization on Referendum No. 57 and at the same time express to you my sincere hope that voting on our Referenda will always be a regular activity of your organization."

As you know, the Chamber on Referenda only on those subjects which the outstanding business leaders of the country who are members of our Board of Directors are convinced affect every section of the country, concern every line of business and are timely. With the constantly changing personnel of the boards of directors of our member organizations it is necessary that we keep these fundamental facts ever before them. I of course recognize that many a subject of referenda seems at times to have very indirect bearing on a particular community or an industry but that doesn't mean that the question doesn't have a very important though indirect bearing.

For this reason at the opening of the New Year I want to take this opportunity of asking your assistance in getting to the attention of your officers and members the importance of their closer application and more intense interest in the greater national questions which are constantly coming to the fore and which are looming larger and larger in the consciousness of the American people.

Yours most cordially,
John N. Van der Vries,

BARTLETT SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Jameson, our Helping Teacher, visited our school Monday morning, January 19, 1931. After some lesson-illustration lessons by Mrs. Pond, Miss Jameson gave us a very entertaining talk about "Literature" in which she recited several clever little bits of poetry. Our aim this month will be to read several forms of literature for pure enjoyment. The Citizenship club have purchased a very fine leather looseleaf notebook with the words "Bartlett School" engraved upon the cover. In this we will write our Gold Star reports and interesting history of the school. The present club has presented this to the school as a permanent possession.

Last Friday Mrs. Pond gave a quarter holiday to the pupils with a perfect attendance record. A large number enjoyed this privilege. Every member of the Sunshine Circle were able to leave early. So an extra long sewing meeting was held at the residence of Marie Korte. After the meeting the girls tried their skill outside with the skills.

Our Art work this month has included health and citizenship posters, a study of Eskimo life, pictures of snow men and a very decorative black-board border.

ROCKS HAND LINCOLN PARK A 28 TO 4 DEFEAT

Plymouth's basketball team last Friday night, disproved Lincoln Park's claim of being a contender for the Suburban League title by defeating them 28 to 4, in the Rock gym. A complete reversal of form was necessary for this overwhelming victory and the type of basketball played by the Rocks was entirely different from that of the Northville game.

The Rocks, scoring from both long and short range, were never in danger as the visitors seemed unable to break through the Blue and White defense. The visiting basketekers failed to score until the fourth quarter and the score at the end of the first half was 11 to 0.

This game saw every man on the first squad in action. Deporter was the leading scorer for both teams getting three field goals and two free shots. Cetnar and Hardin scored on long shots for the visitors.

Hendall and Ferguson played their last game for the Blue and White as they will be ineligibile next semester.

GIRL RESERVES HAVE INTER-CLUB COUNCIL MEETING

Dorothy Dekler of Wyandotte high school led the group in several songs, after which the acting secretary called roll and read the minutes of the last meeting.

A nomination committee for the officers of the new semester was appointed by the president.

There was then placed upon the floor for group discussion the type of "officers training conference" the girls would like to have this semester (for the new officers). After debating this the council agreed to have group discussions and a model meeting, in which world-fellowship is to be portrayed.

The High School Girl Reserves annual banquet is to be held in March, so a committee was chosen to pick out the theme for table decorations for the banquet, from the suggestion club list to send in.

A new issue of the Girl Reserve News Bulletin is expected to be published by February first.

Miss Frazier gave a short talk concerning the importance of the inter-club council. Girls from various clubs gave reports on what they have been doing during the past semester. Several announcements were made by the advisors concerning Y. W. C. A. activities in which the Girl Reserves were invited to take part.

Following this Betty summarized the newly appointed committees and when they were met. The "code" and the song "Follow the Glean" ended the meeting.

GIRLS WORK FOR SCHOOL LETTERS

Last year a system was inaugurated in Plymouth through which girls of our high school, as well as boys, may earn letters. In order to do this a girl must earn 1000 points. Scholarship membership in the Girl Reserves or a similar girls' organization, or club officer, participating in any kind of inter-class athletics, debate, oratorical and declamatory contests and commercial contests, passing three consecutive badge tests, and individual work in rowing, swimming, hiking, tennis—all these things count, and others besides. As you can see, a girl must be "good for something" in order to win her letter. So far this year, Marion Gust, Jean Strong, and Christine Nichol have earned theirs. Many others have only a few more points to make. If a girl has earned her letter by the end of her senior year, she may work for an additional hundred points, when she will receive a new letter with a navy blue star on it. Several senior girls are working on theirs now. There are still, however, many girls in school who are not working for letters and who, we are sure would like to have one. Go in and see Miss Kees about your letter now, and begin working on it right away.

SENIORS LEAD GIRLS' BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

At the end of the first round of play in the girls' inter-class basketball tournament, the seniors, last year's champions, are ahead with four victories and no defeats. Two more rounds are yet to be played, the second round to begin Monday, February 2 at twelve o'clock noon. February 13 is the end of the contest and each team is working hard to win. The standings follow:

Team	Won	Lost

SECONDS LOSE HARD GAME, 15 TO 8

It seems whenever the second team wins or loses the result of the first team would be exactly the opposite. This has been true for the last two games.

Lincoln Park started the game with several substitutes and Plymouth took the lead, 4 to 0, but several other players came in and the quarter ended 8 to 4 in the visitors favor. Plymouth scored only two more field goals during the remainder of the game.

Stimpson was the leading scorer for the Rocks garnering a field goal and two foul shots. Ambrop was the high scorer for both teams getting four field goals.

Line-up:
Plymouth: Lovendowski, Williams, Brown, Stimpson, McLaren, Day

Lincoln Park: Thomas, Custer, Putz, Roberts, Bufford, Ambrop, Babcock, Zimmerman

CENTRAL GRADE SCHOOL NOTES

Eleven new children have entered the afternoon session of the kindergarten room. Twenty-four children were transferred into the first grade.

Lillian Rutherford entered Miss Mitchell's room last week. Miss Mitchell told the story of "The Fox and His Travels".

Twenty-four boys and girls were promoted from Mrs. Roof's beginners room to the 1-A grade. Of this number two had all A's on their report cards. They were Justice Cavell and Marie Ann Miller. These children had all A's and B's on their report cards: Arthur Bluhm, Andrew Agnino, Robert Bachelder, Helen Gallatsos, Dorothea Hance, Elth Livingston, Patty Marie, Nancy Lee McLaren, Kenyon Olds, Rosalind Postill and John Steinhurst.

There are thirty-two children in the 2-A class in room seven. Ruth Wellington was neither absent nor tardy last semester.

In room 8 Tom Martino, Arthur Seth, Bernice Lawson, Douglas Kees, Catherine Schrader and Elsmor Kruger were neither absent nor tardy last semester.

In room 6, Geraldine Plachta, Lowell Hitt and Mary Francis Baker were neither absent nor tardy last semester. Mary Francis Baker, Margaret Erdely, Anna Cohn, Dorothy Barnes and Isabel Nairn had perfect spelling records for the whole semester.

THE OWL BLINKS

The following are some of the amusing remarks that instructors found on final examination papers.

Seventh grade American history—When Washington was a boy he chopped down a cherry tree so Washington, D. C. stands for "Washington did chop."

Fifteenth grade modern history—"Maria Theresa was the second wife of Napoleon Bonaparte."

Tenth grade commercial geography—"Lima is a certain kind of mountain goat in South America."

Seventh grade American history—"Labor discovered the coast of Labor."

Tenth grade algebra—The answer for an algebra problem asking for the velocity of a train came out a negative sixty miles an hour.

American and general history—"The cabinet is one of the three departments of our government." "France Scott Key wrote the Star Spangled Banner during the Revolutionary War." "War of 1812 significant because we won our independence from England." "Captain John Smith lived in Massachusetts." "The Quakers came from Virginia." "Excommunication from the Catholic Church is hitting a person by cutting off his head." "The Pyramids are in Germany."

REMEMBER PLAY DAY

Do not forget Play Day, between Plymouth and Northville girls on Wednesday, February 18, from four until eight o'clock in the Plymouth high school auditorium. During the social hour, lunch will be served to the girls from both schools. Girls and women of Plymouth are cordially invited to attend.

The SANDMAN STORY

ABOUT BIG BROTHERS

MIMMIE'S brother was devoted to her even though he was eight years older than she was.

He used to let her play with him and with his friends a great deal. It had snowed the night before. Mimmie had gone to sleep while the snowstorm had kept up steadily. It was wonderful the way it had kept on while the whole world, almost, had gone to sleep.

The last thing Mimmie had heard was the great fog horn which was just outside the harbor. The bell on the buoy which told ships where the bad rocks were had clanged steadily. For as the buoy tossed about on the waves the bell at the top of the buoy rang. It had been a "blinding" snowstorm, they had said the next day, and the ships along the coast had had a hard time of it. But with the day came sunshine, and when Mimmie awoke she thought for a moment why she felt so very happy.

It was really annoying to feel so happy and not know just why. But in a few moments she remembered. It was Saturday and they had planned the night before to build a snow fort if the snow didn't turn into rain during the night.

Mimmie got up and shook off some of the snow which had fallen on the big elderdown quilt.

Her sleeping room was at the top of the house and it was very cold. Its windows looked out over the harbor and her bed was near the windows, so that often patches of snow were on the quilt. But she loved it. She loved moving the hot water bottle about so that it warmed the sheets, and sometimes when the water in the bottle had frozen down at the end of the bed, she had had to leave it until she was dressed and it was melted so she could pour it out.

She went downstairs to her playroom to dress, for she used this room only for sleeping. Sometimes people didn't believe the water in a water bottle could freeze in one corner of the bed while Mimmie was quite warm in another part of it. But she had shown it to her family and they had told people it was so.

"Hurry up, Mim; we want to get started soon."

The boys—eight of them—arrived a little later, and at each end of the yard a splendid snow fort was built. In one was a little apical, protected room, where Mimmie was to sit when the snow battle got too fast for her.

In this way they were not worried for fear she would be hurt, and she did not spoil their fun.

The battle was a furious one. The snowballs were large ones.

But after a time they became smaller, as they had to be made and remade after throwing, and now there was no time allowed for snowball-making.

The boys had been invited to stay for lunch, and after lunch they played for awhile with trains in the house.

The rain had come and spoiled the snow. Mimmie played with the Uncle Tom's Cabin and Noah's ark which had belonged to her brother when he was young and which now they owned together.

He was too old to play with them, but they still stayed in his room, so they owned them together.

Mimmie liked big boys better than she did big girls. Big girls told her that she was young for her age, which was not true. She knew that.

Big boys called her a tomboy, and that was a great compliment, she thought.

She knew that was true. Her brother had taught her to ride in the express cart so she could be dashed around corners and she could balance without letting the cart upset. All the boys thought it fine the way she could do this. And she could climb up and stand on her brother's shoulders, and when he got down on the floor she knew how to stand on his chest so as not to hurt him.

Very few, except those whose business it was to do this, knew how. Mimmie could steer a sled and turn some-saults on the sled. Her brother had taught her to do all these great things. She could vault a fence, too, and in an old tree she loved to climb he had made seats for her where she sat—high above the earth.

These were the things her brother and his friends had taught her to do. Big boys could really be so nice. Why did some children think otherwise? Because they were cry babies, Mimmie's brother said, but Mimmie knew it was because these big boys taught but did not tease.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"A GILDED YOUTH"

HERE is an unflattering reference. It usually to a young man whose chief ambitions lie among the lines of wearing the most fashionable clothes, extracting as much leisure out of life as possible, and with an outlook more or less superficial.

This sense is somewhat different from that which the phrase originally conveyed.

For we have it from the French "Jeunesse Dorée" of which it is a literal translation (gilded youth).

At the time of which we are speaking, however, "Jeunesse Dorée" was an allusion to the wealthy and fashionable younger element in France who participated in the overthrow of Robespierre.

"Somebody is always finding a boy's hiding place and making it hot for him."

The vogue for tomato cocktails, made of the juice of canned tomato, seasoned with salt, pepper and a little lemon and horseradish, is excellent, because it adds to the day's supply of three valuable vitamins—A, B and C. These vitamins are retained by tomatoes even when they are cooked or canned and the inclusion of some tomato in the diet as often as possible is recommended by all nutrition specialists.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

SHOE BUTTONS

BY COUNTING the buttons on an old shoe a young woman can tell how many years it will be before she is married. This superstition is found by investigators of the American Folk-Lore society to be fairly common in the United States.

In general terms the shoe among the ancients was supposed to possess, by the operation of sympathetic magic, and by the operation of some other mystical force not quite clear, very strong mystic qualities. Its relation to marriage is shown by the custom of throwing the old shoe at weddings.

The shoe, then, having a mystic connection with marriage is an appropriate vehicle for divination with regard to it. The primitive theory that what is a part of anything is possessed of the qualities of the whole, the buttons on a shoe take on the shoe's mystic qualities. Buttons, again, are fastenings—supposed to hold parts of the shoe together. By sympathetic magic what is associated in life is associated in reality. Therefore the buttons on the shoe "button" the maiden to her maidenhood. And as it was held by the Pythagoreans and Platonists that "All idea of quality and harmony may be represented by numbers," the number of buttons remaining on the old shoe may be taken to represent the years to intervene before the maiden's wedding.

War-Crazy

William P. (Geneva Bill) Shearer said to a Washington correspondent the other day:

"Some people would like to make me out as war-crazy as the ex-kaiser.

"In the days before the World War, before the Kaiser was an ex, he visited a magnificent astronomical observatory. The director led him up to a telescope, one of the largest and finest in the world, then waited, expecting to hear words of praise.

"The Kaiser patted the enormous barrel of the telescope, laughed and said:

"Can't you make me a cannon out of this?"

State forestry has shown great gains recently, according to the Forest Service. Kentucky, New York, Virginia, Wisconsin, Georgia and Massachusetts have amended tax laws, improved fire protection, or extended the teaching of practical forestry in the public schools. The Federal Government expended $1,400,000 last year in cooperating with the States for fire protection for State and private forest lands. Some 25,000,000 young trees for planting were furnished to farmers from State nurseries cooperating with the Forest Service.

Wood and felt weather stripping properly applied helps materially to keep out cold air. Apply it on the outside at the opening between the window sash and frame for the upper sash, or, better, on the inside for the lower sash. The felt should be close enough to windows or doors so that effort is necessary to move the window sash or to lock the doors. Wood and felt stripping at the bottom of doors reduces drafts along the floor. Strip felting may also be used like wood and felt stripping.
