THE MICHIGAN CREED

(Dedicated to the Michigan State Department of Agriculture, by G. C. Stearns)

I am for Michigan, with its forests of virgin timber, its hills bursting with mineral wealth, its lakes and streams abounding in fish, its plains deep with succulent grass, its valleys rich with fertile loam, its rivers with abundant water for domestic use and power, and its scenic attractions among the most thrilling and ravishing the nation can boast.

I am for Michigan, with its natural resources, its almost inexhaustible quantities of iron and copper ore, its great beds of limestone, coal, gypsum, peat, marl and glass sand, its underground lakes of oil barely tapped, its great forests supplying the nation with finest of timber, its soil rich in productiveness, its varying zones that make possible the growing of many grains, the finest of vegetables and the most delicious of fruits; its woods teeming with deer, bear, wolf and wild fowl for the hunter; its lakes and streams alive with fish of many kinds for the angler, and potential with power for thousands of industries.

I am for Michigan, with its network of paved highways covering the state, its great railroads, its luxurious passenger trains, its accommodating and expanding bus lines, and its increasing commercial and passenger air service.

I am for Michigan, with its shore line of over 1500 miles nearly surrounding the state, affording a summer climate unsurpassed, that brings the tourist and traveler for relief and comfort in ever-increasing numbers.

I am for Michigan, with its scenic delights, its myriad of dashing waterfalls, and its many islands of interest, picturesque and entrancing.

I am for Michigan, with its tens of thousands of lakes, its uninhabited forests, and its many turbulent, untraversed streams, beckoning the fisher, the hunter and camper to a paradise unequalled in the nation.

I am for Michigan, with its surrounding seas, affording cheap transportation to market for raw materials, the output of its smelters, the products of its factories and looms, and the yield of its forests and fields.

I am for Michigan, with its thousands of ranches, its fine hogs, its great herds of dairy and beef cattle, its countless flocks of sheep, its great fields of celery and potatoes, its marshes of cranberries and mint, and its orchards of peaches, cherries and apples, gleaming golden and carmine in the sun.

I am for Michigan, with its dairy products, its Great Lakes fisheries, its chicken industry, its packing plants, its many fur farms, its fruit and vegetable canneries, and its delectable honey from fragrant fields of clover and alfalfa.

I am for Michigan, with its great cities and their many industries: Their factories with mammoth production of automobiles, paper, silk, furniture, breakfast foods and a thousand other articles for world consumption; their smelters, their tanneries, their well-lighted streets, their tall buildings, their cathedral-like churches, their well-equipped school buildings, their fine parks, boulevards public buildings, their business emporiums with the choicest of world's merchandise, their renowned professional and scientific men and women, and their great daily newspapers of world-wide influence.

I am for Michigan, with its foreign exports, ranking fourth in value of all the states in the union.

I am for Michigan, with its magnificent capitol, its splendid university—the first in the United States to admit women, its teachers' colleges, its technical and medical institutions, its many small colleges, its agricultural college—the first to be started in this country, its far-famed State fair and its Upper Peninsula State fair of note and promise, its care of the crippled and helpless, and its thousands of high schools, grade and country schools for the education of the youth of the state.

The Michigan I am for, is the state that aids its people in providing homes, conserves its natural resources, improves its highways, beckons the tourist and attracts the homeseeker; that finds employment for its industrial class, removes burdensome taxes, safeguards health, gives attention to the spiritual needs of its citizens, ministers generously to its heroes and dependents, and provides adequate school and college advantages; that regards justice, enforces its laws, protects the weak, encourages the industrious and honors its brave.

DANGER! MEN AT WORK.

We are entering, let us hope, the final stage of our folly. The air is charged with rumors. The whispering campaign is on. No business is immune.

Have you heard about such and such a bank? Do you know old So-and-So is going to the wall? I hear the Doe Company is headed for receivership. The Roe Company has passed its dividend.

Only by wearing ear muffs can one walk a block without having his confidence shaken.

Of comfort let no man speak;

Let's talk of graves, of worms and epitaphs.

Depression is on every tongue. It is the most widely-advertised product of our times. Headlines, headlines everywhere and no one stops to think.

And our vaunted salesmanship! Give a salesman time enough and he'll paint so drab a picture of the future that a likely prospect will replace his fountain pen—and lock the safe.

Of unemployment, I suspect there are more idle tongues than idle hands.

The folly of too many of us is to accept the echo of the locker room and club car as the Voice of America.

For example, consider 1930, lately interred. Now lies he there and none so poor to do him reverence. Yet that much-maligned year loaded and unloaded 45,800,000 freight cars, and with three million trucks on the job, too. It made and sold a new automobile for each ten families at a cost of $2,159,600,000 and saw registrations highest of any year, with a gasoline consumption of 299 million barrels, an all-time record. It saw electrical production hit its highest mark.

Nineteen hundred and thirty manufactured four and a half billion yards of textiles, and 315 million pairs of shoes. THE USUAL TWO AND A HALF PAIRS TO THE PERSON.

It provided work for forty-odd million men and women, and earnings through dividends to the amount of $4,500,000,000.

Nineteen hundred and thirty saw to it that expenses of living did not exceed income, as evidenced by hundreds of millions of dollars increase in savings in banks and eighteen and a half billions of dollars increase in savings in banks and eighteen and a half billions new life insurance.

Nineteen hundred and thirty added one million in population to our consuming public—a city the size of Cleveland.

With all its faults, 1930 furnished a national market-place where goods, services and labor were exchanged to the extent of 100 billion dollars, and the returns are not all in yet.

One would think, from the wailing, that we had all been wiped out by a terrible catastrophe of Nature—a Noah's flood, a shifting of the Gulf Stream, or by dreadful holocaust.

Yet we are all here. The stores are still open. The trains are running. You can get that number on the telephone. The traffic problem is still lively. Movie houses are no nearer seating all their customers. Children are what they always were. Young folks are getting married. Preachers thunder against the laxity of the age. Amos 'n' Andy are still in the taxicab business. Doctors and dentists make appointments weeks ahead. Lawyers' briefs are just as long. Hardy commuters make the 8:15 in less than nothing flat. And under Nature's white coverlet, bud and blossom await the sure coming of spring.

If these common place signs of "life as usual" betoken national instability then there is a public menace in the familiar warning:

DANGER! MEN AT WORK

—Nation's Business

THE STORY OF THE SPIDER

While Mark Twain was editor of a Missouri paper, a subscriber wrote him saying he had found a spider in his paper and asking Mark whether this was a sign of good or bad luck. The following was the reply of the well-known humorist:

"Old Subscriber: Finding a spider in your paper was neither good luck nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising, so that he can go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

A Word About The Trenton Exchange Club

That Trenton has a promising future by reason of its high, dry location above the Detroit River, by reason of its physical relation to the Detroit metropolitan area, by reason of its splendid nucleus of forward-looking, energetic, alert citizens, by reason of its worth-while community improvements, seems to be the unanimous opinion of all residents of the village, and of all non-residents also who have investigated its possibilities.

Indeed, the past is a sort of definite and dependable forecast of the future. Ten years ago the population was 1,822, we believe; in 1930 it was 4,022. That gain is at the rate of 118 per cent. There is seldom such a thing as a dead stop in the life of a community, hence it is reasonable to suppose that 1940 will show a population of from 5,000 to 10,000 people.

Whether the 1940 population is five thousand or ten thousand, whether the community is flourishing or languishing, whether residents are satisfied and happy or discontented and discouraged depends to a very considerable extent upon what the present citizenry does toward influencing and directing the future. Intelligent, persistent, tireless effort may do wonders toward determining that future growth. To sit still and let whatever come that may is a supine attitude, to say the least.

The Exchange Club has recently undertaken some work with reference to the future development of the community, that holds much of promise. A large committee on Community Promotion has been formed, composed of influential, zealous, forward-looking men to the number, we believe, of twelve. Among the matters now under consideration by that committee is that of listing all tracts of land which are so located as to be advantageous for use as small factory sites. The work contemplates securing an exact description of each tract, its railroad frontage, its dimensions in square feet and in shape, and the price at which the owner will agree to sell. When this listing is completed, it is now being considered starting an advertising campaign, under expert direction. In such national trade publications as "Iron Age" and similar organs, if inquiries are received in reply to these advertisements from manufacturers who desire to enter the Detroit metropolitan area with their plants, exact information will be on hand to supply them.—The Trenton Times.

Redford Speed Trap

Residents and motorists in this area have been getting a double dose of traffic law enforcement. There is, of course, always the usual regular enforcement of the code by men from Coolidge station. But recently there has been a heap of free-lancing from the downtown traffic department. Drive one inch faster than 30 miles an hour and presto! there appears as if by magic a ticket distributing officer.

So watch your accelerator and do not try to go through on an amber light.

Apparently the faster speed permitted has resulted in more deaths and the police, anxious to reduce the evil, are enforcing the law to the letter.

If you do not know the traffic code and drive a car, it may pay you to get the rules from any police station and read them. Then follow them, if you have any pity for your bank account.—Redford Record.

After A Crop Failure

The effects of the crop failure last summer in many parts of the United States is painfully apparent. It is extremely interesting to notice what happens when a similar crop failure hits a land that has no relief organizations, no modern transportation systems and no methods whatever of providing help for the sufferers.

Thus a government commission in China has recently reported that more than 2,000,000 people have died of famine, caused by drought, in Shensi province during the last two years. In addition, 400,000 have been sold into slavery.

The American famine is a major problem, but it is not even remotely like that horror. The demonstration of the value of modern forms of transportation, communication and organization is obvious.—William Klammer in The Dearborn Press.

Pope Plus Tells The Truth

People who cast themselves Protestants may sometimes make light of what Catholics accept as gospel truth, but none of ordinary common sense can jest over Pope Plus' Encyclical letter on matrimony without realizing its tremendous import to the world at large regardless of creed or nationality, and more especially in these United States where marriage vows are little more than ropes of sand, and where divorce is sold at bargain prices. How we howled over polygamy a few years ago among the Mormons, and in countenancing easy divorce today how far in our whole country removed from similar conditions is divorce, is one monster that is gnawing at the very corner stone of our civilization—the American home. Would that every church, every judge and every law making body would follow the lead set by Pope Plus until this cancerous evil, like human slavery would linger in memory only.—J. E. McMullen in The Linden Leader.

We made a statement in our talk before the preachers that present day cigarette smoking by the youth is preliminary training for drinking. Read this paragraph from last week's Norway (Mich.) Current:

We refer to the news that comes from Menominee this week, relative to the conduct of two Norway men, along with many others. The incidents took place after attendance at dances in the northern end of Menominee county—dances that would put Babylonian orgies, or festivities in the wilds of Madagascar, absolutely in the shade. Dance hall preachers tell us that young folks want to "feel good" and that drunkenness on the part of young people of very tender years is quite common.

As well as we recall the old saloon days, drinking by youngsters especially young girls was not the vogue. The old license law, it must be said, furnished that protection.—Muri De Foe in the Charlotte Republican.

"THE GANG BUSTER"
The country pumpkin invades pineapple-land and bombards the racketeers with razzerberries!
Jack Oakie's back—and funny, funnier than ever! He smacks the underworld with wise-cracks in "The Gang Buster," which will appear at the Penniman Allen theatre, Sunday and Monday, February 22 and 23.
If you've been reading the papers, you've some idea of the kind of company the grin and chin boy keeps in his new starring picture, but you've no idea of the fun he gets out of it until you see "The Gang Buster." It's bursting with laughs.
Oakie undertakes the highly precarious job of selling accident insurance in a city infested with easy-money desperadoes. Everybody wants Oakie's policies, except the insurance company for which he works. Then "America's Joy-Friend" dives into the dives of the underworld, and digs up a lot of happiness, including a swell romance. Jean Arthur is the girl, and William Boyd, the same who appeared with Gary Cooper in "The Spoilers" and George Bancroft in "Derelict," furnishes a large share of the thrills. Yes, there are thrills, too, and suspense, but everything begins and ends in a great big guffaw.
You've heard of gangdom taking its victims for "rides." Oakie takes gangdom for a "ride." It's a "joy-ride" for you. Hitch on to this caravan of comedy.

"SPRING IS HERE"
"Spring is Here," the First National Vitaphone adaptation of the popular musical play of the same title, will be shown at the Penniman Allen theatre Wednesday and Thursday, February 25 and 26. From every angle this bright and diverting screen entertainment must be classed as a note-worthy success.
Bernice Claire and Alexander Gray, recruited from the musical comedy stage, play the leads with a spontaneity and freshness altogether delightful. Both Miss Claire and Mr. Gray have fine voices, thoroughly cultivated and finely attuned to the requirements of Vitaphone reproduction. This pair gives promise of becoming one of the most popular romantic teams on the screen. In "Spring is Here" they are perfectly cast.
The story unfolded has both charm and simplicity, along with the added appeal of presenting the younger generation in an intelligent manner. Without being pretentious, "Spring is Here" creates a more vivid impression than the usual story of more serious intent.
The songs in "Spring is Here" are one of the most interesting features of the production. Such numbers as "Cry in for the Carolines" and "Have a Little Faith in Me" are already popular. Other catchy song numbers included are "Bad Baby," "Sincerely Yours" and "With a Song in My Heart."
As on the stage, "Spring is Here" deals with young love in its emotional and disturbing stages. Without attempting to point a lesson, the story is true to certain phases of life as it is being lived today.
The cast includes Lawrence Gray, Ford Sterling, Louise Fazenda, Inez

Stinson Aircraft To Enlarge Plant
A contract was let Wednesday to the Christman-Burke Construction company for the building of a two-story extension to the stock room at the east end of the Stinson Aircraft corporation's plant and also for an extension to the service building which is located in the southeast section of the airport. It was announced this morning by Bernard DeWeese, superintendent of the Stinson plant here. The cost of the improvement will be approximately $25,000.
Mr. DeWeese stated that the contractors have agreed to hire as much local help as possible and that work will start at once.
The building of the additions at the Stinson plant is in keeping with the expansion program that was outlined by the Stinson corporation early this year.
Applications for work are to be received by the Christman-Burke company and those desiring jobs should make their wants known to this company as soon as possible.—Wayne Dugan.

WASHINGTON
Financier
Washington's ability as a statesman, a diplomat, a general, and an executive is well known. But his success as a financier is worthy of great admiration, too.
On his twenty-first birthday he owned over 1,500 acres of Virginia soil that he had paid for himself from his savings as a surveyor. Upon his marriage he became the custodian of approximately $100,000.
Then came the Revolution. As general of the Continental troops and as our first President, he refused all compensation. Furthermore, he expended a large part of his private fortune to feed and clothe his needy troops.
In spite of his generosity he returned to private life at Mount Vernon in 1796 with sufficient funds to live on comfortably. His secret was in being thrifty as a young man, and wise expenditure in later years. And think how much greater the facilities are for both now-a-days.
In respect to the memory of Washington this bank will not be open on Monday, February twenty-third.

U. S. And France To Honor George Washington Soon
France and the United States will join in honoring the memory of the patriots of both countries who helped to win independence for the American Colonies, and especially in paying homage to the memory of George Washington, during the six months of the International Colonial and Overseas Exposition, sponsored by the French Government, which will open near Paris May 1. The American exhibit at the exposition will help to bring the world-wide celebration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of George Washington in 1932 to the attention of all nations.
To emphasize and cement the long-standing friendship of the United States and France, which began during the American Revolution, an exact and full-size reproduction of Mount Vernon, home of George Washington, is being constructed on the banks of the River Seine to serve as the administration building for the American exhibit.
C. Bascom Slemm, of Virginia, who is Commissioner-General of the United States to the French exposition, is also a member of the executive committee of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission. He has just returned from Paris and is now busily engaged in arranging to have appropriate furnishings and other material sent from this country to be placed in the duplicate of Mount Vernon on the Seine, and to have the overseas possessions of the United States represented by appropriate exhibits at the exposition.
The executive committee of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission has adopted a resolution officially endorsing the reproduction of Mount Vernon in France. The building, in addition to being the headquarters of the American Commission to the French exposition, will be used as a museum in which will be placed articles connected with Washington and his time, loaned by the French and American Governments and citizens of both countries.
The George Washington Bicentennial Commission is urging Americans to "Join in this patriotic endeavor" by contributing Washingtoniana to be exhibited in the Mount Vernon building. Among the many articles which the French government is lending to the United States Commission in Paris are an original miniature of General Washington and one of Martha Washington, a large topographic map of Yorktown painted in 1830 on the spot by order of Louise Philippe, a series of medals and documents pertaining to American-French friendship, an original bust of Lafayette, taken from Versailles and very little known, autographed documents of Rochambeau, Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette and numerous other articles of historic interest.
The official hostess at the Mount Vernon building will be Miss Anne Madison Washington, a descendant of John Augustine Washington, nephew of George Washington. The building will be furnished as nearly as possible like Washington's home. Among the things which Mr. Slemm is taking to Paris to place in the building are a key to the Bastille and a copy of a picture of Louis XVI, both given to Washington by Lafayette; reproductions of silverware used at Mount Vernon; letters and portraits of famous Frenchmen, colonists, and other articles appropriate to the time.

SEND A CARBON
By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

YOU wrote a dandy letter, and you told him you admired
The way he took the order or the way he did the job.
I am sure your letter cheered him on some night when he was tired
Or a little bit discouraged at the meanness of the mob.
It was nice of you to write it, it was nice for him to get,
I am glad you spoke his praises with some well-selected term,
For I know it helped the salesman or the artisan—and yet
Did you think to send a carbon to his firm?
A word of commendation makes the heavy load the light,
And there never was a person that it didn't help a lot.
When you see a fellow's value it's a pleasant thing to write,
For you know how hard he's working—but the manager may not.
Oh, a worker likes the praise, yet perhaps your little note
Might assist him in a manner that is now a total loss.
If, in writing to the salesman or the workman, when you wrote
You would also send a carbon to the boss.
Yes, we have our little troubles, and we have our little tasks,
But we can't talk much about them, or the work we have to do.
It's what people say about him, not the way he brags or asks,
That will win a man promotion in

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear mother, daughter and sister, Anna M. Place, who died nine years ago today, Feb. 15, 1922.
God know that you were suffering,
And the hills were hard to climb;
So he closed your weary eyelids,
And whispered, "Peace be Thine."

and Family.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear husband and father, William Maynard, who died seven years ago, Feb. 21, 1924.
The moon and stars are shining on a lone and silent grave;
Beneath lies one we dearly loved but whom we could not save.
You left behind some broken hearts, that loved you most sincere;
That never did, nor ever will, forget you, Father, dear.
His loving Wife and Children. 1p

Sadly missed by her mother and daddy. 1c

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear son, Ansel Roddenberg, who passed away two years ago, February 21, 1929.
Precious son, he has left us,
Left us, yes, forever more;
But we hope to meet our loved one
On that bright and happy shore.
Lonely the house and sad the hours
Since our dear one has gone;
But, oh, a brighter home than ours
In heaven is now his own.
Sadly missed by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Roddenberg, and sister, Mildred. 1p

IN MEMORIAM
In sad but loving memory of our dear grandson and nephew, Ansel Roddenberg, who died two years ago, February 21, 1929.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of Vernon E. Henderson, who died at Camp Custer February 19, 1918.

THE OFFICE OF THE CROW.
And I hope when life is finished, when the race is lost or won.
When the neighbors sound the praises as they stand around the bed
They not only tell each other all the good that I have done,
But they send some sort of carbon on ahead,

KNOWING THE TREES
AMERICAN LINDEN
(Tilia Americana.)
The American Linden, also called Basswood or Whitewood, is a tall tree from 60 to 80 feet high. The bark is brownish gray with long, vertical fissures. The leaves are large, 4 to 6 inches long, green and smooth, broadly heart-shaped and one-sided at base. The flowers have five creamy-white petals opposite petal-like scales, and the fruit is greenish when ripe and insect enemies and sensitive to their attacks. The Linden borer is a rather common pest and is occasionally quite injurious, attacking young trees in the nursery as well as older specimens. The American Linden grows wild in rich woods and is often cultivated. It is also suitable for street planting since the well-rounded crown and generous leafage of this tree gives the street an attractiveness which is desired.

Test Not Positive
Scientists at the Department of Agriculture fed an infusion of green tea leaves to guinea pigs to test the assertion that green tea is rich in vitamin C, but no appreciable amount of vitamin C was found present.

It Sometimes Seems So
Secretary Elmer Thompson of the Automobile Club of America was deprecating the steady increase in American automobile fatalities—91 lives a day.

"If things get much worse," he said, "I'll agree with Cornelius Husk, the farmer.

"'Corn, old man,' a neighbor said—this was in the early days of automobile-ling—'Corn, old man, wot's them horns on the front of automobiles for? 'Them's wot they blow,' Corn answered, 'fore they run 'em down.'"

The Sunshine Workers class, girls of the seventh and eighth grades, had their class meeting Monday, February 9, at the home of their teacher, Mrs. David Columbus. "The Sunshine Workers" was chosen for the name of their class. Evelyn Shackleton was elected president; Leona Smalley, secretary; Harriet Mattinson, treasurer. It was voted once a month each girl would give five cents to the treasurer, and when enough was gathered together they would buy material and make dresses and other articles of clothing for girls their age in foreign missions.
Every Tuesday evening the percentage is open to all the young people of the church for Bible study and a social time together. If you want to know your Bible better, this is your opportunity.

METHODIST NOTES
"By the grace of God I am what I am" and His grace which was bestowed upon me was not in vain; but I laboured more abundantly than they all; yet not I but the grace of God that was with me." I Corinthians 15:10.
The giving of money is important, the practice of prayer indispensable, but the gift of ourselves in service is vital. Some one has said, "I have come to think that it is not as important to know what I believe as to know whom I believe." Dr. E. Stanley Jones says, "The personality of Jesus is gripping the hearts of the men of America, and of India as no doctrine can do." As co-workers with Him, it is our personality, consecrated to Him, which will be the means of winning others to Him. There are few influences equal to the personal life of Christ, which abouts about good, his wayward ministry was to all sorts and conditions of men and women. His interview with the woman of Samaria or with Nicodemus was as important as the sermon to the five thousand. He found splendid opportunities for service on all occasions at a wedding, at a dinner and in the home. In all these ways we may follow in His footsteps.
Next Sunday morning there will be the Sacrament of Holy Communion and the Reception of members, by letter or upon confession of faith. All are cordially invited to be present. At 6 p. m. the young people will enjoy their social hour and worship period. The service of Praise and Sermon at 7:15.
Wednesday, February 25, directly after school the Junior Missionary boys and girls will have their Annual Birthday party, at the church. Each one is to bring at least one penny for each year of their age. If you want to help those little babies that Miss Bacon told us about it is very important that no one forget their offering. There will be the usual story, a program and a birthday cake. Those who have not paid their dues for this year are urged to bring them either next Sunday or when they come to the party.
On Sunday, March 1st, at 2:30 and at 7:15 will be held "The Larger Parish Rally." All members of the congregation are urged to attend these two meetings and hear the speaker Dr. Fulkerson, formerly of Japan. There will be delegations from neighboring places. The young people are especially urged to be out at 6 o'clock when the young people from Northville will be present.
Today, Friday, is the world day of prayer, and a service will be held at the church from 2:30 to 8:30. This service is open to the public and any who are interested are cordially invited to join with us and the thousands of others throughout this great land of ours and in other lands whose prayers will be signifying to God during this hour.

W. C. T. U.
The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet Thursday, February 26, at 2:30 p. m. with Mrs. Kehrl, 451 Starkweather avenue.
The meeting will have to do with Parliamentary Law. "What is it? How does it help us? Should we follow it?" There will be a Parliamentary drill. Guests will be made welcome.
The Michigan Union says: "Ninety-nine times out of a hundred the man who says that prohibition cannot be enforced does not want it enforced and is doing everything he can to prevent its being enforced."

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES.
The Junior department of the Sunday school invited the fathers and mothers to join in a pot-luck supper on Monday evening, last. About ninety people sat down to an excellent supper. Then a program was presented, consisting chiefly of recitations and dramatizations of work done or lessons learned in the regular meetings of the Sunday school. There were also several numbers drawn from different sources. The evening passed pleasantly and all agreed that the workers in this department, Miss Bertha Warner, Mrs. A. J. Baker and Miss Amy Blackmore are to be highly commended for the excellent work done.
Twenty-five members of the Ready Service class met on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. O. Ball on Bluff St. After an enjoyable cooperative dinner the president called the meeting to order and transacted the business. This having been taken care of, the meeting was turned over to the program committee of which Mrs. C. B. Weaver is the convener and a very interesting program was presented.
On Monday evening, February 23rd the Mission Study class will meet at the church at 8:30 o'clock p. m. and this is to be no ordinary meeting either. The husbands and boy friends of this class are invited also and preparations are under way for a fine cooperative supper and a happy social evening.
A twenty-five cent tea is to be given in the church dining room on Thursday, February 26th. There will be a program including a play entitled "Saint Matilda's Birthday Party," presented by a group of the women of the Auxiliary. Women wishing to attend this tea should call any of the following members of the committee in charge: Mrs. Roy Jewell, Mrs. I. N. Innis, Mrs. Wm. Kaiser and Mrs. Russell A. Roe.

USE SAVINGS TO REDUCE BANK INDEBTEDNESS
Building and loan associations of the state used their savings receipts primarily to reduce their indebtedness to the banks during the closing six months, according to the report of Paul F. Kregler, supervisor of building and loan in the Department of state. Mr. Kregler points out that borrowings were reduced from $1,433,970 on June 30, 1930, to $776,350 on December 31. The Valentine shows that the reduction of the bank indebtedness did not materially affect the cash reserve which stood at $5,528,000 on June 30. Mortgage loans were liquidated to the extent of $1,263,361.89, which amount was largely reflected in the maturing of $1,099,307.46 in installment shares. Mr. Kregler's report points out: "A further indication of the strength of the associations is the fact that they have been loaning but little during the declining real estate market of the last 18 months, and that monthly payments received on loans made prior to the drop in the market have thereby been strengthened comparatively.
"A great many people have been out of work," Mr. Kregler states, "but the owner of a home will hold that possession longer than any other property he may own." This fact has helped make the building and loan associations as strong as they are. Nearly 92 per cent of their loans are on first mortgages on homes."

BARTLETT SCHOOL NOTES
Friday the 13th, instead of being an unlucky day for the Bartlett school was a decidedly lucky one. At eleven o'clock they enjoyed a Valentine party. Games and square dances were played. Our Valentine box was filled to the top with lovely Valentines. At noon pot-luck lunch was served at which Mrs. Pond treated the children with hot chocolate and special Valentine cookies and napkins.
At one o'clock ten cars took the children to Ford's Greenfield Village at Dearborn. There we were met by a guide who conducted us in a most interesting way through all the buildings. In the evening the Bartlett school Valentine party at Mrs. Wilkie's was well attended. The large basement was an ideal place for the children to play while the parents enjoyed playing "the Hills," which they are presenting for the benefit of the church next Tuesday night, February 24, at the high school. Sunday is Washington's birthday. He was a communicant and a vestry-man of the Episcopal church. Particular observance of the day will be given at the service on Sunday morning.

"Soul" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, February 15.
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson Sermon was the following from the Bible: "My soul waiteth for the Lord more than they that watch for the morning; I say more than they that watch for the morning." (Ps. 130:6).
The Lesson Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Because Soul is immortal it does not exist in mortality. Soul must be incorporeal to be Spirit, for Spirit is not finite. Only by losing the false sense of Soul can we gain the eternal unfolding of Life as immortality brought to light." (p. 335).

Notice to Depositors of the PLYMOUTH BANKS

The Banks of Plymouth have decided to pay three per cent interest upon Certificates of Deposit and Savings Book accounts beginning March 1, 1931. This is in line with the recommendation of the Commissioner of Banking and the Comptroller of Currency, that all banks reduce their interest rate to this amount.

This recommendation was made in the interests of better banking. Money rates are low at present and there is every indication that they will continue so. The yield on high grade investments, in which savings deposits are invested, is too low to warrant banks paying more than 3%.

On and after March 1st, 1931, interest at the rate of three (3) per cent per annum will be paid on all money deposited in Savings Book accounts or in Certificates of Deposit in the Plymouth United Savings Bank and the First National Bank of Plymouth. All sums must remain on deposit three (3) months to draw interest.

We know that our many depositors, recognizing the great change in economic and financial conditions, will approve of this step in the interest of good banking.

In accordance with our established policy of paying the highest rate of interest consistent with safety and instant availability the directors of the two banks of Plymouth make the above announcement.

A. D. STEVENS CELEBRATES HIS 90TH BIRTHDAY

BY K. H. STARKWEATHER

On Monday of this week Arthur D. Stevens, of 240 Harvey street, celebrated his ninetieth anniversary of life. Though he knew that another milestone was at hand, the celebration itself was not of his own planning. First came the postman who brought fifty or more birthday greeting cards. Then, a few hours later, twenty-five or so of other friends and neighbors dropped in to "throw a party" in his honor. All this proved an agreeable surprise to Mr. Stevens but, because he had never been made president of anything, nor even ever been elected to congress, he knew no real reason, he said, for so much fuss.

Who else knew, however, that Mr. Stevens had lived and still lives a remarkable life, and these friends also wanted him to know that his long years and his sincere, genial personality were due for some manifestation of feeling on the part of others. Busy and grateful neighbors prepared a sumptuous six o'clock birthday dinner and brought it in and set it down upon the freshly lengthened Stevens' table. Mrs. Walter Paulus; of Detroit, made and brought a huge candied and multi-layered birthday cake while Mrs. Bessie Geer of Plymouth prepared a bountiful supply of creamed chicken. Home made ice cream was furnished for the occasion by Willard Geer. And there were plenty of other staple and fancy fixings prepared by some one or other of the various friends.

Mr. Stevens and his nearly equally aged wife constitute the oldest married couple in Plymouth. They will have been married seventy years next August. Both of them appeared hearty and well and in the very height of spirits last Monday. Both proved themselves live company for the guests. At table the cake was placed before Mr. Stevens and candles lighted. After a few moments of burning he was instructed to blow the candles out. Instantly, and with but one nonchalant puff of breath, out went all the candles. This gesture produced circles of applause and Mr. Stevens was informed that it proved that he was to have at least ten more years of life, health and happiness.

"How does it feel to be ninety years of age?" Mr. Stevens was asked. "Feels fine," he replied. "and I feel no one day older than I did twenty-five years ago. If there is anything the matter with me I have never heard about it. Three or four years ago I did have a pain in my wrist and they got a doctor for me. The pain went away but it would have gone away without a doctor."

"Are you still able to buck a pile of wood?" was the next query. "Yes, I think so. If the wood was to be had and I had to do it," was the unhesitating reply. "Of course, of late years I have not been up an exercise. About all the exercise I get now is walking to and from the library to get books. I like books. The last full days labor I ever did was back in my early eighties. I helped an old friend of mine, much younger than myself, dig his potatoes. I kept ahead of him all day. At noon time I came in for dinner and then went back into the field, but my friend had to take a nap first. At the end of the day I felt as fit as a fiddle."

"You say you like books, but how about newspapers?" the questioner wanted to know. "Well, I used to read newspapers, up until three or four years ago, before I broke my glasses. The print in newspapers is a little too fine for me to read comfortably. I don't need glasses to read most books so I never bothered about having my glasses fixed. Anyway, the really good stuff is in the books and I don't care for newspapers. We get the papers, of course, but they are for my wife. She prefers them. If there is any really important news my wife thinks I should know about she tells me about it."

"At ninety years of age you walk along as straight as an arrow," some one suggested to Mr. Stevens. "Of course, why not?" rejoined Mr. Stevens. "If I had to walk along all slumped over like this, (indicating how) like so many do, the exertion would tire me out."

Mention was made of a certain coverlid woven by Mrs. Stevens' grandfather. "It must be over a hundred years old," said Mrs. Stevens. "That's nothin'," countered Mr. Stevens. "We're almost one hundred years old ourselves." And so the evening sped. Mr. Stevens knows that time is fleeting but he looks back upon life with no serious, if any regrets. And Mrs. Stevens does not permit her husband to look upon life too seriously. In fact, she was heard to say to several of those present that Mr. Stevens was "quite a flirt with the ladies." That would indicate that life is still young.

Mr. Stevens was born on the old Chicago turnpike, now Michigan avenue, about one mile west of Sheldon's, February 16, 1841. His wife, who was Miss Agnes Sawyer, was born only a few months later. They have lived in Plymouth or in nearby farm communities all their lives. Mr. Stevens attended the Michigan State Normal college at Ypsilanti before the Civil War. He is one of the only two remaining Plymouth veterans of that war. For eighty-two years he has regularly attended the same Plymouth Presbyterian church. This is believed to be a record for Michigan. Durnik young manhood and after the war he taught school. He is the only surviving charter member of the Plymouth Grange. For upwards of thirty years was a leading farmer in this community. For a number of years later he was an industrial worker in one of the local factories. For the past few years he has been in quiet, contented retirement. His one son, Clarence Stevens, and granddaughters Virginia and Dorothy Stevens reside in Ann Arbor.

Aside from relatives, among those who were in attendance at the birthday party were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paulus, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Burton and Miss Corinne Joseph of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Root, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Starkweather, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Geer and daughter Roberta, Mrs. Bessie Geer, Mrs. Ruth Buchanan and Mrs. Helen McCullough of Plymouth.

"To live long and happy," says Mr. Stevens, "be moderate in all things, keep sweet, trust in God and don't worry."

For Meditation

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

TWO FAMOUS ENGLISH WRITERS

ONLY thirty-eight years have elapsed since Alfred Tennyson, the poet laureate of England, died. His was a stormy period of doubt and skepticism. This spirit is reflected in many of his writings, especially the "Idylls of the King," which he wrote between the years 1839 and 1885; and "In Memoriam," which he wrote in 1850. These poems express Mr. Tennyson's earnest endeavor to answer some of the questions which doubt seriously lashed in his day. It was an age when even Thomas Arnold, the greatest philosopher of his time, was bewildered as he struggled with the debate, whether a cold materialism or a divine creative process was the cause of all created things, including man. Tennyson believed in God, while the philosophers of his time ruled God out of the world. In "In Memoriam" Tennyson answers some of these doubts as he deals with the theme of immortality. In "Idylls of the King" he presents the picture of a human soul seeking to attain the highest ideals which are realized not through philosophical doubt.

L. A. Barrett.

Another great writer was John Bunyan. He lived in England during the years 1628-1688, when the Puritans left their country in search for religious liberty. Bunyan, however, remained at home and fought his battles upon his own ground. Those who did not attend the worship of the Established church were banished from their country, and if they returned without permission of the crown, they were tried as felons and liable to execution. Bunyan, like Tennyson, endeavored to do all within his power to solve the problems of his age. In secret, and many times in disguise, he spoke to small groups of persons who did not share the belief of the Established church. Knowing the ultimate price he must pay for these efforts he still continued his public speaking until one day he was arrested and confined to Bedford jail. Here he spent twelve long years. He was not silent in his efforts to influence the masses. Though he could no longer speak in public he devoted all his time to writing. It was during this period that the well-known book "Pilgrim's Progress" was written. It is an allegory relating the experiences of "Christian" as his life changed from sin to righteousness on his journey from the City of Destruction to the Celestial City. (© 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

Be loyal to yourself, be loyal to your family, your community, your church, our schools. Thus, on will help to make your community law-abiding, religious, progressive, and one in which every citizen of the community is proud to live. We are loyal only when we think a matter through. The habit of thinking is a great asset. It does more to keep up within bounds than anything else that we may do. Disloyalty is a reflection upon one's mental capacity.

Forbes Robertson

The candidacy of Forbes Robertson for the nomination of Wayne County Treasurer has been brought about by the urgent requests of many of Wayne County's representative citizens. Ones who are not identified with any political affiliations and connections, and ones who wish a candidate also to be free from such entanglements and one who is absolutely independent and free to exercise to the fullest of its possibilities the duties required in a purely administrative office. The Treasurer's office is a Constitutional one provided by the people, for the service of its entire commonwealth.

Mr. Robertson has been County Treasurer before, for two terms (four years) and through the experience it therefore gave him we feel confident he can fully qualify for the office. The conduct of the County Treasurer's office during his administration is a matter of record and is open for inspection at any time to all citizens of Wayne County or elsewhere.

It discloses the fact that he entered the employ of Wayne County FOR SERVICE and aided by his most excellent staff, and the numerous commendations he received from the press and citizens in accord and ratifying, we feel warranted in making the claim that he GAVE SERVICE.

We also know, that he will favor and support a needed movement for a lower assessment of land values, thereby reducing the tax rate for State and County taxes. He is issuing petitions to be signed by those citizens of Wayne County who favor a movement of lower assessments of land values, thereby reducing the tax rate for State and County taxes. Petitions to be sent to the Board of Supervisors for their consideration.

Mount Vernon... Washington's home... a shrine that thousands visit each year to have the pleasure of wandering through rooms where dwelt a great soul. It is a hospitable home that reflects the hospitable spirit of its historic owner. We would wish our business home to have some of the same welcoming atmosphere. We would make of it a shrine of service, where friends and strangers come freely to deal with men who revere and respect the integrity so well personified in the man Washington.

TOMORROW—at all Shell stations

It's new... a real advance!

Super-Shell Ethyl

Livelier, quicker anti-knock gasoline... because science has found a way to REMOVE EVERY SLOW-VAPORIZING, LAZY PARTICLE

Visualizing a section of one of the multiple "bubble cap trays" in Shell's refining and "scrubbing" towers. Here all the heavy, lazy particles are washed out, producing the volatile, lively gasoline base for Super-Shell Ethyl.

Now... science's new, perfected anti-knock fuel!

Super-Shell Ethyl is different. It contains Ethyl fluid, of course—a generous charge that assures positive anti-knock value. But with this is now blended a special gasoline.

Shell engineers developed it. They knew that inferior gasoline—no matter what was added—doesn't deliver best performance in your car. They set out to make anti-knock fuel utterly free of slow-firing, harmful, "heavy" gasoline particles. Months of experiment... then they succeeded!

It is a matter of "washing" the gasoline in a series of huge refining towers where the gasoline vapors travel over Shell's amazing system of "bubble cap trays." Here all the harmful, heavy "fractions" so often left in gasoline are "scrubbed" out.

Into a special pipe flows only the volatile, lively gasoline which Shell blends with Ethyl fluid!

Thus Super-Shell Ethyl gives you finest engine operation. Quick starting. Smooth, even power. High anti-knock value.

Now... see what really fine performance your motor is capable of giving. Try this new Super-Shell Ethyl today. One test will convince you.

CHICK HAS REVERSED WINGS

Fond du Lac, Wis.—A chicken that would have to turn upside down in order to fly properly was exhibited here by Charles Brotherton, Lamartine farmer, who discovered it in a flock of chickens he raised. The perfectly normal wings of the chicken are reversed with feather side underneath. The chicken is normal in all other respects.

The Physician
has been called by a number of Gardenites lately on account of colds, coughs, and sore throats. Among those on the sick list: Mrs. Frank Cornell, Mrs. Lavoy Snell, Mrs. Betty Snell, all on York Ave.; Master Malcolm Morrison, Ingram Ave.; Ewel Roberts, Plymouth Rd.; Master Joe (Jr.) and Frank Schroeder, Berwick Ave.; Mr. A. Cromer Burton, Ingram Ave.; Mr. Ray Kalmbach, Cranston Ave.; Mrs. Samuel McKinney.

Away on Business are Fred C. Weinert, York Ave.; E. J. Goodbold, Pembroke road; M. E. Stover, West Chicago Blvd.; Wm. Hodson, Jr., Melrose Ave. Reporting back they all say business is gradually assuming a more optimistic attitude from all points they have visited.

Cherries
at least candy ones, are in season on the coming Sunday. (Georgetown's washday), as it seems we almost always associate the Father of our country with something pertaining to the cherry tree.

Baby Girl
Congratulations are being received at the Durward E. Rossman's hangar, 10098 Ingram Avenue, Mrs. Rossman is home from St. Joseph's hospital, Ann Arbor, with a beautiful little girl which they have named Patricia, who arrived in this world January 20, 1931. Little Miss Patricia is the first Gardenite baby of the new year.

Speeding
were Miss Isobelle and Mrs. Clarence M. the other day. Hardly realizing that they were on the one mile road instead of our own Three mile, they were caught up with by a traffic cop. What would have been a walk nearer home seemed to be just a little too fast for within the kingdom of Mayor Murphy and his blue coat army, anyhow it was a good excuse, and everything pointed toward an intention of driving with safety, and that's that. Which reminds us—

Miss Rose Gardenite was explaining to daddy how good her beaus was at autoing etc., when up pipes her little brother, Dale. "Yeah, suppose he drove you all the way up to the Plymouth High School Show the other night before he discovered that the engine was missing?" Which same remark is probably the reason Dale didn't get met at the home of Mrs. A. Cromer Burton, 4924 Ingram, on the third instant in honor of Dr. Anna Brockway Gray, who celebrated her 80th birthday the day before. Mrs. E. L. Dudley of Highland Park, the president, and sixteen members read papers prepared for the occasion, then Dr. Gray read several of her own. The huge birthday cake held 80 candles.

Weather and Marbles
as some would say, has been "rather bettle" lately. For instance, last Friday was the climax of a warm spell that had brought forth pussywillows, lilac leaves, some green grass and tulip shoots, then, with the rain tearing all the men's thoughts turn to love and spring. It was quite a shock to have the cold snap and wind of Saturday. But the ill wind made possible ice skating on the York Avenue Lake. In the meantime R. Emporium is expecting the usual supply of seeds, so cheer up, better times ahead. Oh, another thing signs of spring—Dons, Karcher, Johnson, Willis Hiron and Bobbie Jones (were voted as the first marble shooters of the season, so the agates in Mrs. Bock's stock have been replenished from the stocks of the whole sales. So now boys at marbles will vie with girls with doll buggies.

The Water Tower
is fast disappearing under the rat-a-tat-tat of the river husters. So now travelers from afar will have to pick out some other landmark to sail on by. The tower has served its purpose well, and now that the new station on Five Mile is completed we do not need it, also the big station on Warren Road (Springwells Reservoir) will be in operation about July first, so we are assured of plenty of water, as well as high pressure.

Thus Bro. Walker and his five huckies at work are providing amusement for all hereabouts as well as many passers-by.

Child Care and Training Group met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. E. G. Brown, 11308 Borwick avenue.

In The Limelight
Young Mr. Foster, of Lansing, successor to Seymour H. Person in the state senate, would seem to have unerring judgment at least when it comes to choosing means of getting publicity and centering the limelight on himself. He has just stolen a march on all his colleagues in introducing a bill in the senate which would make the death penalty mandatory in Michigan in all cases of first degree murder. We have before discussed the dubious wisdom of such a law and need not further refer to it at this time. We doubt, however, if the mature discretion of the young legislator's introduction of this measure. One admires the audacity of youth, the courage and the initiative with which it seeks to get things done and incidentally to get recognition for itself. But we hope there is enough wisdom in Lansing to give this young man's proposal the most deliberate consideration before it is enacted into law and, if it becomes law, to revise and safeguard it carefully. The fact is that just now in the wake of lawlessness that has followed in the wake of the great war, in-expert and, in some cases, prejudiced diagnosticians are likely to reach seriously wrong conclusions as to the causes of the lawlessness, and to propose remedies which, if accepted, may be re-enacted in more normal conditions and less panicky hours. This is said from other considerations than maudlin sentiment for the perpetrators of crime. What happens to such as these is a minor consideration.—Brighton Argus.

Speedy Relief For Sore Throat

No longer is it necessary to gargle and choke with nasty tasting medicines to relieve sore throat. Now you can get almost instant relief with one swallow of a doctor's famous prescription. This prescription was re-filled so often that the druggist who originally filled it decided to put it up under the name "Thoxine" and make it available to everyone.

The remarkable thing about Thoxine is that it relieves almost instantly, yet contains nothing harmful. It is pleasant tasting, and safe for the whole family, and is guaranteed to relieve sore throat or coughs in 15 minutes or money back. Put up ready for use in 35c, 80c, and $1.00 bottles. BE CAREFUL WHERE YOU THROW THE CIGAR YOU SMOKE IN NORTH

OVER HALF OF FOREST FIRES LAST YEAR CAUSED BY SMOKERS' CARELESSNESS.

Here's a bit of information and advice to readers of the Plymouth Mail who are lovers of the northlands of Michigan, and like to travel through the winding trails and over the excellent highways in the northern section don't throw your lighted cigarettes or cigars from your car.

Half of all of the forest fires in Michigan during the 1930 season were caused by smokers.

Clear and cigarette butts, pipe "beels" and carelessly tossed away matches started 2,281 forest fires last summer. This figure constitutes 49.66 percent of the total number of fires reported for the year.

For the past six years the proportion of fires caused by smokers has grown rapidly each year. The Forest Fire Division of the Conservation Department points out in issuing comparative figures:

In 1925 only 5.69 percent of the fires were attributed to the smoker. It increased 11.60 percent the following year. In 1927 the percentage had jumped to 20.96 percent. In 1928 it reached 28.80 percent and in 1929 it had reached 39.54 percent.

Penetration of highways into every forest area of the state, the increasing summer traffic on the main and side roads of the north and the increasing number of hunters and fishermen are given by the Forest Fire Division as reasons for the increased hazard to the woods from smokers.

However, while the same reasons of more and more tourists would seem to apply to camp fires, the percentage of increase in fires caused by camp fires in 1930 over the previous year was but 7.4 percent. The Forest Fire Division reports 294 or 6.40 percent of the fires last season being caused by camp fires. Increasing precautions on the part of the campers was cited as the principal reason for the fact that this percentage is remaining low.

An increase of 4.47 percent in the number of fires of incendiary origin is reported. Last season 437 fires or 9.71 percent of the total for the year, were maliciously started. The percentage for the year before was 5.01.

While noticeable increases were reported in several of the ordinary causes of forest fires, considerable decreases were noted in other causes. Fires having "railroads" as their origins dropped sharply from 13.28 percent in 1929 to 0.75 in 1930. Increasing cooperation on the part of the railroads, and a more systematic and better inspection of locomotives were given as the principal reasons for the drop.

Fires starting from various lumbering operations also dropped from 2.46 percent to 1.11 percent during the two year period.

Over a six-year period, 1925-1930 inclusive, 16,013 forest fires were reported in Michigan. The Forest Fire Division issues the following figures showing the number of fires and the percentage by causes for the six years:

Unknown 3,061, 19.12%; brush burning 2,332, 14.56%; camp fires 1,295, 8.09%; railroad 2,100, 13.49%; incendiary, 1,142, 7.13%; smokers 4,603, 28.75%; lightning 305, 1.90%; miscellaneous 975, 6.09%; lumbering 140, .87%.

Auto Club Fosters Drive On Car Owners With Faulty Lights

Pointing out that more than one out of every five passenger automobiles operated on the highways of Michigan are equipped with faulty lights, the Detroit Automobile Club today, in a communication to every law enforcing agency in the state, urged a uniform plan to eliminate this type of dangerous vehicle from the streets and highways until proper adjustments have been made.

In a state-wide survey in which 1,500 persons checked lighting equipment in cities, towns and villages, and along the highways of 44 counties, the Detroit Automobile Club found that approximately 263,800 passenger cars or 22 percent of the automobiles in the state of Michigan today are operated with improper lights. Nine and two-tenths percent of the motorists were found to be "one-light" drivers; one percent with no headlights, and in 11 percent of the cases motorists are driving without tail lights.

The Automobile Club's communication which was addressed to the State Police, and municipal police, and to all other law enforcing agencies throughout the state, pointed out that automobiles annually kill more persons in Michigan than all forces of crimes combined. It pointed to the danger of improper headlights, particularly in the winter months, and urged a state-wide plan of cooperation between police officials to help reduce Michigan's fatal and injury traffic mishaps.

The communication in part reads: "One out of every five cars driven on our highways is unnecessarily jeopardizing the lives of our citizenry. There are many motorists who, through carelessness or indifference, drive along our highways with their cars not equipped in a safe manner. They are prospective killers."

"At this time of the year when the streets and highways are covered with snow and ice, night driving against 'one light' motorists is more dangerous than ever. Ofttimes when driving on snow covered roads, we find at the last moment that the approaching car with only one headlight is in our path, and it is fate alone which prevents serious mishap when we dodge toward the ditch."

"This is a problem of gigantic proportions. For this reason we are endeavoring to bring about a state-wide plan of cooperation whereby every law enforcing agency in the state begins an intensive campaign to curb the evil of one headlight, dim lights, or no tail light. We are confident that if this spirit of cooperation can be gained, more persons will be alive in Michigan at the conclusion of 1931."

"EVEN the cheaper cuts of roasts cook to melting tenderness in the oven of my ELECTROCHEF. What a difference electric cooking makes! I use very little water, and the delicious natural flavors of meats are sealed in. Of course, besides being healthful, this is economical cooking. There is almost no shrinkage. A roast weighs nearly as much when taken out of the oven as when it was put in. I think electric cooking is splendid, and I cannot praise my ELECTROCHEF electric range too highly."

BRUCE MYERS IS WJR SETH PARKER

The first program by Seth Parker's Old-Fashioned Singing School was broadcast by Station WJR on January 8, 1929. The WJR program department was furnished with a script of this feature by Phillips H. Lord of New York City, author and advertising man, who believed such a program would be popular with the radio audience. WJR was one of the first stations in the country to accept the idea and told Mr. Lord it would give his program a four weeks' trial. At the end of this time the results were so phenomenal that an indefinite contract was entered into between the station and Mr. Lord. Bruce Myers, a character used in many WJR plays, was given the part of Seth Parker, and he picked and rehearsed the rest of the cast. The feature has been on the air a year and a half, weekly, without interruption, and more than 10,000 letters have been received by various members of the Singing School, uncollected. Plymouth Scouts Hear Paul Siple

Twenty-one Boy Scouts from Plymouth Troop One were among the thousands who heard Sea Scout Paul Siple and saw his movies of the Byrd South Pole Expedition at the Cass Tech. auditorium, last Wednesday. This was through the courtesy of A. J. Koenig, Dr. S. N. Thomas, Melvin Aguirre, Olin Martin, Roy Jewell and John Sells, all Scout fathers of this troop, who furnished the transportation. This show was one of the annual features of Scout Anniversary week. Besides the talk and pictures, the big recreation department band furnished music and three cups were awarded for excellence in various Scout activities during the past year. The big school auditorium, seating three thousand or so, was packed with Scouts from the Detroit area and their leaders and friends, and many were turned away for lack of room.

FINISH WORK

Capt. Denniston, through the addition of this room to each building, provides a place for the men to litter about without the use of the sleeping room. The men will not use the sleeping section of the building for any purpose except that of sleeping. Provision has been made for their clothing so that the sleeping section of the new prison will look more like that of a hospital than anything else. Next to the reading room of each dormitory are ten rooms, 10 feet by 14 feet each. There is an eight-foot corridor between them. One room is for general toilet purposes and the other contains eight showers, and prisoners are permitted to use these showers at any time they desire after working hours. Each dormitory contains 40 beds. The dividing wall next to the sleeping section is of glass so that the guards at all times have a clear view of what is going on within the room. The walls of the new dormitories are two feet higher than the walls of the first buildings erected for dormitory use. There are ten old dormitories, making seventeen in use at the present time at the prison. Two of the old buildings are to be replaced with one of the new style dormitory structures. The other eight dormitories will be remodeled as much like the new structures as possible. This work will be started in the near future, according to Capt. Denniston, who has for the past few months been busy night and day, directing the construction work as well as planning the new prison structures. Practically all of the work on these new structures has been done by prison labor, even the making of the cement blocks used largely in the construction work. There has been some free labor used, but very little, in the erection of these seven new buildings which have been under construction during the winter months. The entire interior of these structures are painted a glossy white, and the men are required to keep the walls as well as the floors perfectly clean. Cleanliness is one of the things demanded by Capt. Denniston at all times, and a prisoner can get "in dutch" in no quicker way than by violating some of the rules pertaining to the tidiness and cleanliness of the institution.

WASHINGTON'S HOME (Continued from page 1) It is no effort to imagine the enjoyment that the gracious master and mistress of Mt. Vernon derived from their home. By merely removing the grills at doorways, a perfectly appointed mansion is again ready for occupancy. Every detail is complete. Beds are made with snowy covers over hilly mattresses, books are on the library shelves, a card table and counters await players, piano and flute are there, even knives are in their wooden cases on the buffet in the family dining room, and a clock ticks on the mantel in the banquet hall. In addition to the ancient, rare and valuable furnishings are the most modern protective systems, by their perfect concealment lending no discordant note. Hot-air heat is piped from a distant furnace, portable electric fixtures are used when necessary, and equipment for fire prevention that is the last word in ingenuity is used. Fire is the dread specter of Mount Vernon. Every known precaution against its employment. Guards, expert by training, fly to their posts at a second's notice, and chemicals and water are available for immediate use. Even a mechanical fire detector is installed. The ladies of the association, which has made Mount Vernon both what it is today and was in George Washington's time, by their monumental work earn for themselves a reward which in turn inspires them with love of and devotion to their mission. Each state is entitled to one member in this body. She is known as a vice-regent. Usually there are about thirty-five vice-regents, for as vacancies occur much time and consideration is given to the election of a new member, who receives the honor for life. She must be a woman who will be in harmony with the ideals of the organization and imbued with the traditions of Mount Vernon, and who, like her associates, will possess the proper esteem for her privileged position and show her devotion by the accomplishment of her duties. The work of the regent and vice-regents does not end with council session. During the year they distribute literature on Mount Vernon, speak to schools and organizations on the subject, and in every way spread the ennobling traditions of the home of George Washington among the people of America.—Frederic J. Haskin, in Chicago Daily News.

THE Cherry Tree Episode It may be fiction, but the cherry tree story about young Washington will always remain dear to our hearts. It illustrates so beautifully the fact that the truth, while sometimes painful, is always to be preferred. We are glad that people have come to know us for the truth we tell about everything we have to offer. We simply take this appropriate opportunity to assure them that it is, and always will be, our unchanging policy.
