BUSINESS IN SOUTH BETTER THAN IN NORTH

Conditions In The Southland Show Additional Improvement.

BY E. R. EATON

New Orleans, La.—Plymouth and other Michigan communities are not the only places in the country that are feeling a better business condition, with the indicator pointing to a much better business for 1931 than was experienced during 1930. A few days in the southland, where the depression did not manifest itself until almost a year after northern states had expected "hard times", reveals one plenty of information of the upward trend of affairs.

Since the first of the present year there have been reopened for business 16 banks that were forced to close their doors during the late summer and early fall months of 1930. The first bank to open up for business was the People's Bank at Water Valley, Mississippi.

So delighted were the people of that community over the resumption of business by their bank, they staged a big celebration a few days ago.

Not many of the Mississippi banks that closed did so because they faced disaster but the step was taken because of the unrest of the people in the south over business conditions. The state banking commission of Mississippi has issued a statement in which he says that it will not be many weeks before all the banks that closed last fall will again be doing business as conditions now warrant such action being taken.

The last Mississippi bank to open again for the accommodation of the city where it is located, has resources of something like $575,000 and deposits of over $450,000. One can easily understand from these figures that fairly good sized banks were involved in the troubles of last fall.

One business man stated to the writer that it was not until late last summer when the south first felt the depression. It came when an effort was made to market the cotton crop and buyers could not be found for the main product of the south. Then it was that the south became pinched—but from the best of information that can be secured, no place in this part of the country has experienced any such condition as has prevailed in the larger industrial centers of the north.

"Well, it's rather quiet, but you can't really say conditions are bad," is the average answer you get to queries about business conditions.

The owner of one of the largest parking lots in New Orleans declared that he could see no difference in business at the present time than for many years past.

Hockey League Play-Offs Begin March Second

At a conference last Saturday in Ann Arbor, Henry D. Schubert, president of the Southern Michigan Hockey League, made definite arrangements with those in charge of the Ann Arbor rink regarding the play-offs.

The Pontiac and Wyandotte teams have given up hope of winning out, which leaves Plymouth and Dearborn in the race. Two games will be played in the Ann Arbor rink, the first one to be played between Plymouth and Dearborn on Monday evening, March 2d, at 7:00 p. m. sharp. The second game will be played March 4th at the same hour. The time allotted for the games is from 7:00 to 8:30 p. m., which means that the games will begin promptly at 7:00 o'clock.

Arrangements have also been made by C. H. Brennan of the Amateur Athletic Union to have the state championship game played at the Olympia on March 23rd. This game will be the main attraction at the Olympia on that night.

In the state championship, it is possible that the champions of the Detroit Municipal League and the U. of M. or other state teams may wish to compete, and if these teams are properly qualified amateur teams, they will have to be included in the play-offs, and the scheme would be to decide on a team from the lower portion of the state to play the representative team of the upper peninsula, which probably will be Sault Ste. Marie.

The Plymouth team deserves a great deal of credit and support, and it is hoped that the Plymouth people will turn out to those games and help boost the team along all they can to ward winning the state championship.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO HAVE BANQUET TONIGHT

Tonight is the Chamber of Commerce annual banquet. John Lovett is the guest speaker for the occasion, and the committee in charge is anticipating one of the most successful affairs ever held.

Announcement will be made at the banquet of the results of the election for the board of directors for the coming year. Arthur Blunk is the retiring president.

Frank L. Hall, attorney for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, and resident of Plymouth, will introduce Mr. Lovett at the banquet.

MEN'S CLUB PLAYS GIVEN AN EXCELLENT RECEPTION TUESDAY

LOCAL CAST MAKES BIG HIT WITH PEOPLE WHO WERE IN ATTENDANCE.

A good sized crowd came to the high school Tuesday evening to see the play, "A Wild Flower of the Hills," put on by a local cast under the direction of Lydie Alexander, and under the auspices of the Men's Club of St. John's Episcopal church. The setting and characters of this play were described in last week's Mail. Each part was well taken, and the whole presentation moved along on time and without any of the dragging waits which sometimes cool the interest of the audience and spoil the effect of the show.

Before the play and between the acts, Miss Gladys Schrader directed a musical program consisting of numbers by the high school orchestra and by the double quartet of the girls' glee club. St. John's is much indebted to Miss Schrader and her pupils for their ready cooperation and help for this part of the program. St. John's also thanks F. L. Schrader, Blunk Bros. and the Sutherland Greenhouses for their contributions to the stage setting, and Mr. Alexander for his assistance and direction of the play. And, of course, mention must be made of the members of the cast, a number of them not connected with St. John's, whose interest and hard work made the presentation possible. The Men's Club feel very well satisfied with the success of this entertainment.

The next evening which the men wish to bring to their friends attention will be that of the 9th of March, when a golf party will be given in J. L. Johnson's course at the Mayflower. More will be told of this later.

MRS. HILLMAN READY TO OPEN NEW DRESS SHOP

Mrs. Esther Hillman announced to her many friends Friday, that the opening of her new dress shop will be next Monday morning. The store has been built between the Schrader Furniture store and the First National Bank building, and is large enough to accommodate a large line of dresses and hosiery.

Dress cases have been built on the west side of the store, and two dressing rooms are in the back. Every modern convenience has been incorporated in the store, and with the excellent selection to choose from, every one should find something to interest them. Announcement of the formal opening will appear in next week's Plymouth Mail.

VILLAGE CHANGE NOT UP FOR VOTE AT NEXT ELECTION

VOTERS WILL SELECT THREE MEMBERS OF VILLAGE COMMISSION.

Because of the great number of inquiries being made at the village office as to whether or not the question of Plymouth becoming a city is to come up for decision at the regular election to be held on March ninth, occasion is here taken to call to the attention of voters that this question will not be voted upon at that time. At the regular spring election, to be held a week from next Monday, the voters will be called upon to elect three commissioners for the ensuing two year term, and to vote upon two other matters.

Opportunity is also taken to explain that the decision upon the city question is one that can be made only by the voters themselves at an election called for that purpose, and that the Commission has not the power or authority to make this decision for them. It is apparent that much confusion has arisen upon this point, judging from the requests for information being made at the village office.

ENTERTAINMENT SPONSORED BY NEWBURG L. A. S.

An entertainment will be given Tuesday, March 3, at the L. A. S. hall at Newburg, under the auspices of the L. A. S. by Dr. Sam Jordan White of Detroit, a well known impersonator. The subject will be "Life's Declinations." Two hours of real entertainment, with the following program which starts at 8:00 o'clock: Illustration; song; pictures of nature; Down at the Capitol; Bob Taylor in story and oratory; Paul-Finding Old Woman; The Preacher; Trailing Joe; Haying an Automobile; Small town retired farmer; The Transforming Life; That Old Sweetheart of Mine; The Greatest Speech ever made; Singing Food; Farmer Whipple, and others. Half of the proceeds go to the L. A. S. to assist in their welfare work.—L. A. S. Cor.

ONE MORE WEEK OF RED CROSS DRIVE

Since our last issue, the following have contributed to the Red Cross fund for relief of the drought sufferers: Raphael Mettetal, $20.00; Mrs. Jenks, $1.00. The Red Cross drive in this village will continue for one week longer or until Saturday evening, March 7. Anyone who can donate their subscriptions with either of the banks in Plymouth, and same will be sent to Washington when the drive is over.

Mrs. C. H. Bennett, Chairman.

WILL PRESENT SETH PARKER IN PERSON

Local Churches Will Bring Singing School To Plymouth.

Bruce Myers, as Seth Parker, with full cast will be in Plymouth under the auspices of the First Presbyterian and Methodist churches, Friday evening, March 13, 1931.

The first program by Seth Parker's Old-Fashioned Singing School was broadcast by Station WJR on January 8, 1929. The WJR program department was furnished with a script of this feature by Phillips H. Lord of New York City, author and advertising man, who believed such a program would be popular with the radio audience. WJR was one of the first stations in the country to accept the idea and told Mr. Lord it would give his program a four weeks' trial. At the end of this time the results were so phenomenal that an indefinite contract was entered into between the station and Mr. Lord.

Bruce Myers, a character used in many WJR plays, was given the part of Seth Parker and he picked and rehearsed the rest of the cast. The feature has been on the air a year and a half, weekly, without interruption, and more than 10,000 letters have been received by members of the Singing School, unsolicited.

Seth Parker's Old-Fashioned Singing School was first broadcast in 1929. Since that time it has been followed from hour to hour and from week to week with a loyalty which almost no other program except "Amos 'n' Andy" enjoys. It is packed full of human interest, sometimes pathos, often humor, and of course the musical part of the entertainment is at once important and yet incidental.

Among those taking part in the program are Bruce Myers as Seth Parker, Ann Loranger as Martha, Pauline Hatch as Minnie, Prudence Butterfield as Lizzy, Walter Clark as "The Captain," Helen Thomas as Tillie Walters, William MacFarlane as Lath, and Grace Allison as Huldah.

Stunt Night Will Be Presented Soon

The third annual stunt night will be held in the high school auditorium Friday, March 6. Each of the four upper classes who participate in this event will give an original stunt. The purpose of stunt night is to see which class can sell the most tickets and present the best stunt. The proceeds of the evening are divided as follows: fifty per cent goes to the Student Council, and of the remaining fifty per cent, thirty per cent goes to the class selling the most tickets, fifteen per cent to the class selling the second most tickets, and ten per cent to the class selling the third most. Thirty per cent goes to the class with the best stunt, fifteen per cent to the second best and five per cent to the third best. The classes will attempt to make this the most successful stunt night yet.

The Plymouth League of Women Voters will meet Monday afternoon at 3:30 at the home of the president, Mrs. Charles O. Ball, at 232 Blunk avenue. Mrs. Kathleen Lowrie of Recorder's court, will be the speaker, talking as her subject, "Unemployment and Unemployment Insurance." Mrs. Barbara Horton will sing two songs. All members and others interested are urged to be present.

EARLY COPY NEXT WEEK

Due to the fact that the Plymouth Mail will issue its regular edition on Thursday instead of Friday next week, to accommodate Dollar Day advertisers, local news contributors, correspondents and regular advertisers must have their copy to this office not later than Tuesday afternoon, to insure publication.

Livonia Township Has First Primary

Livonia Township will hold for the first time, March 2d, a primary election. The election will replace the caucus that has been used heretofore, and much interest is being shown in the new plan of voting.

The township has been divided into two precincts, the northern half voting at the brick store at West Point Park, 3302 Seven-Mile road, and the other half voting at Sheldon's real estate office in Rosedale Gardens.

The township has but one ticket, and supervisor Zelger and township clerk, John Harlan, are unopposed for reelection. Herbert Livrance, township treasurer, is opposed by William Garchow and Dan McKinney. High-way commissioner, Arthur Trapp, is opposed by Nelson Bennett.

The following offices are up for election: Supervisor, Clerk, Justice of Peace for full term and one for three year term, Overseer in the four quarters, Board of Review and three constables.

KNIGHTS PYTHIAS OBSERVE 67TH YEAR OF BIRTH

On the evening of the 19th, the Knights of Pythias fittingly observed the 67th anniversary of the birth of the order. An appropriate program was carried out, after the regular business session, as follows:

Music—Miss Marguerite Wood
Whistling Solo—James Gotch
Burling Harms—Chas. Martin
Progress of Pythianism—Fred Stockton
Vocal Solo—Chas. Miller
Music

The Pythian Slayers made this occasion a real surprise party, when they slipped quietly into the dining hall and prepared lunch while the lodge was in session. They were "discovered" however, in time to enjoy the above program and also added some excellent numbers of their own.

An added "thriller" was furnished when "Cyclone" Miller and "Buz Saw" Bingley fought three furious rounds. At the conclusion of the battle, the referee decided that the decision should go to the dogs and that the "eyes had it." They will be rematched later.

Dancing and five hundred furnished the balance of the entertainment until the party was adjourned to the dining room where the birthday luncheon prepared by the Slayers, was greatly enjoyed by all. Plymouth Lodge No. 238 assures those who were responsible for this surprise party, that their kind efforts are greatly appreciated.

MISSIONARY WILL SPEAK ON JAPAN HERE SUNDAY

E. R. Fulkerson, formerly of Japan, will speak at the First Methodist church in Plymouth next Sunday evening at 7:30. Mr. Fulkerson, a speaker of unusual ability, has been secured to tell of his experiences in Japan and relate interesting instances that have occurred during his twenty years' service as a missionary.

The public is invited to attend the address at the church, and the Board of Foreign Missions are exceptionally interested in having as many people present as possible to hear the address.

Miss Elizabeth Boyer and Mrs. Mack and son, Bailey, visited at Delta, Ohio, Monday.

OPEN WEATHER HAS AIDED IN CONSTRUCTION

New Administration Building And Cell Block At Prison Farm.

Open weather has permitted exceptional progress to be made on the construction work of the new administration building and cell block at the Detroit House of Correction farm just west of Plymouth. This part of the building program which was let on by contract by the commission controlling the affairs of the institution, will not be completed probably before early spring, but when it is finished, the Detroit House of Correction will have one of the best arranged administration buildings of any prison in the country and its new cell block arrangement will be as near ideal as years of prison study by Capt. Edward Denniston can provide.

Before finally deciding upon the plans for this new building, Capt. Denniston made a personal inspection of all the newer prisons erected in the United States. Not only that, but he secured plans of prisons that have been erected in other countries in recent years, but none of these provide the humanitarian features that are a part of modern American prison construction.

From his investigations and study, he has compiled in one general plan all of the best features that he found in the better prisons of the United States. He has gone a little farther, he has worked into the general plan many of his own ideas. Members of the prison commission, who have worked as diligently as has Capt. Denniston to bring about the construction of the most modern prison in the United States, have approved in detail every new feature that Capt. Denniston has advanced.

There will be three main buildings, in the prison proper. In this front group facing on Phoenix road to the north will be housed all of the offices and cell blocks for hardened criminals. The structures will be built by a 12 foot corridor, the finish of the corridor to be exactly like that of the main office building. One will hardly know when he is passing from one structure to the other, so well has the plan been worked out.

All walls of the administration structure and new cell blocks are two feet thick and are constructed in such a way that it will be impossible for prisoners to ever cut a hole through them to the outside.

The administration building sets back from the Phoenix road about 75 yards. All entrance to the prison must be through the front door. Upon entrance one is admitted into a big lobby. To the right is the office of the sales department. Here the products of the new prison and prison farms will be disposed of. Needless to say that the sales department of the new prison is a busy place, as hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of farm products and manufactured goods are disposed of each year.

Next to this office is the bookkeeping department and adjoining these offices is the record department. Here will be kept not only all prison records, but the record of each prisoner admitted to the institution.

Across the lobby on the north side is the office of the purchasing department. Then at the end of the hall is Capt. Denniston's secretary's office. The warden's office is to the left and directly off of his office is the arsenal, where all kinds of firearms will be kept.

MERCHANTS NAME FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, MARCH 6TH AND 7TH, AS DOLLAR DAYS

ROTARY CLUB HEARS TALK BY STOCK EXCHANGE EXPERT

E. R. HAWKINS EXPLAINS OPERATIONS AND DEVELOPMENT OF EXCHANGE

Last Friday, at its regular noon luncheon meeting, the Plymouth Rotary club had the pleasure of hearing a very interesting discussion of the method of operation of the Detroit Stock Exchange by E. R. Hawkins, Council on Public Relations for the Detroit Exchange. Mr. Hawkins, in his discussion, traced briefly the development of the Exchange in Detroit, stressing in particular the character of the services rendered by the Exchange to its members and to the investing public. In particular the speaker emphasized the high standard of integrity in the conduct of its business that is required of every brokerage firm accepted for membership to the Exchange.

Mr. Hawkins was accompanied by U. F. Wolf, floor member of the Detroit Stock Exchange for Whitefish, McLean and Co. investment brokers of Detroit. After the conclusion of Mr. Hawkins' discussion, both he and Mr. Wolf answered questions relative to the operation of the Exchange put to them by members of the club.

WOMAN'S CLUB WILL OBSERVE 38TH ANNIVERSARY

The Woman's Club will observe its 38th anniversary March 6th at the Hotel Mayflower. Luncheon will be served at 1:00 o'clock after which a delightful dramatic and musical program will be given.

Miss Winifred Ford, teacher of dramatics in the Plymouth High School will present members of the Junior Dramatic Club in a one act play entitled "They Struck Oil."

Those taking part are Ruth Michell, Gladys Sheller, Doris Cole, Eva Scourman, Steve Horvath, Hugh Horton and Odene Hitt. Each member is privileged to bring a guest.

MICHIGAN COURTS BEST OF ANY STATES CIRCUIT COURT JUDGE

ARTHUR WEBSTER TELLS KIWANIS CLUB THAT MICHIGAN HAS EXCELLENT SYSTEM.

Circuit Judge Arthur Webster of the Wayne County circuit court addressed the Kiwanis club at their regular luncheon meeting last Tuesday. It was through the efforts of Wm. Burroughs that Judge Webster attended the meeting.

The judge stated that Michigan was fortunate in having one of the most efficient court procedure systems in the whole United States. He stated that the movement to improve court procedure was started in Michigan in 1927 when the legislature adopted a new criminal code which was practically a duplicate of the code drawn by the National Crime Commission.

"The procedure in criminal courts of Michigan is second to none and is as good if not better than that of any country. The civil procedure has been greatly advanced by the new rules of procedure that were adopted this year. In the new set of rules the judge has the privilege of examining the jury and this one practice alone has saved many hours in court work."

"The most practical advancement that has been made in years is the one that allows the Supreme Court to modify, change or amend any of the rules of procedure of the courts at their will. This eliminates the necessity of passing bills through the House of Representatives and in a great many instances saves much time."

Judge Webster further stated that with these new tools for judges and lawyers to work with, there is no doubt that if they are used intelligently but what they will become a decided advantage in the present day court procedure.

STARKWEATHER P. T. A. ENJOY DELIGHTFUL PLAY

The Starkweather P. T. A. held their monthly meeting Monday, February 16, in the community hall. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Roy W. Ebers. The children's program, under the direction of Miss Stucky, was excellent. A play, "The Runaway Valentine," was given. The stage was radiant with large colorful valentines, while the new drapes added much to its appearance.

Mrs. Arthur Parker gave a reading entitled "The Swimming Hole," which was very interesting and greatly enjoyed by all.

Miss Stucky's room received the attendance honor for the following month. The next meeting will be held March 16, and all parents and friends are invited.

PLAN TO MAKE EVENT THE BIGGEST EVER HELD.

NEW LOW PRICES AND MANY ATTRACTIVE SPECIALS WILL BE ON SALE AT THAT TIME.

Friday and Saturday, March 6th and 7th have been designated by Plymouth merchants as dollar days and never before has interest been so high among numerous merchants who are planning to participate in this event. Practically every store owner in Plymouth is anticipating on taking part in this mammoth feature and indications are that it will surpass former dollar days by a large margin.

To add to the selling plan two days have been selected and every possible means of broadcasting the event to the buying public will be undertaken. Over 7,000 copies of the Plymouth Mail will be distributed on Thursday, March 5. This edition will replace the regular Friday edition of that week and every home from Michigan avenue to Grand River and from South Lyon to Farmington and Wayne will receive copies of the paper.

The committee in charge of the event has taken special care to see that all merchandise that is placed on sale by merchants participating will be a real worth while article and that everyone will have some extraordinarily good values to offer on those days.

Plans have been in the formation for the past few weeks and business men have been preparing for the event. Some have ordered merchandise from all corners of the country, others have rushed their spring orders so that new styles for spring wear may be shown and everything that could possibly be done has been done to make the two days a profitable two for the buying public.

Reports of recent Dollar Days in other towns have encouraged Plymouth stores to the point that no item of possible interest will be overlooked and there will be something on sale for every member of the family, father, mother, brother and sister. People who have been waiting for sales will find many staple articles now on display at reduced prices. To create and stimulate interest some merchants are planning on offering for sale at cost or below cost many items that would be welcome in every home.

You will meet friends by telling them of the wonderful selling event and do well by yourself if you plan on visiting every Plymouth store that is participating in the dollar day activity.

Ex-Service Men's Club To Observe Narcotic Week

It is the duty of every patriotic organization, whether the organization be large or small, if it acts in all and if it wishes to justify its existence to take part in and be a leader in any movement which is for the betterment of the community, state or nation.

Even though an organization be small numerically it may have with itself a potential power to influence larger bodies of citizens, and its avowed purposes and ideals may be of such a character and its personnel so strongly imbued with its principles that they form regardless of their seeming outward strength a formidable foe to organized or unorganized crime, selfishness and unparliamentary conduct.

The Ex-Service Men's Club allow no one within their ranks who have not proved their patriotism by wearing their country's uniform. In our community are hundreds who have proved their patriotism in other ways, perhaps not so showily nor so publicly but whose patriotism nevertheless is as genuine and sincere.

These men and women are our friends and we are indeed sorry that our charter forbids them entrance.

Oliver Goldsmith is one in our community who is from the day the Plymouth boys left from the depot here, where he shook hands with each and every one, to today as he waits our call to duty, never yet has fallen in patriotism. Mrs. Kate Allen too did not forget on that day, fourteen years ago to say goodbye and give a token of her patriotism, nor has she yet forgotten those who returned. Others too have been our friends and supporters, Arthur Blunk, Mrs. Beals, Roy Jewell, Mr. and Mrs. Hartenbury, Capt. Denniston and many more whom we are proud to call comrades.

The Ex-Service Men's Club, although they do not meet until after the National Narcotic Prevention Week is over, wish to help our village president, George Robinson and to that end we hope to have with us at our next meeting on March 9th, for a few minutes talk, a man who can tell us of the evils and tragedies of dope. The definite announcement will be made next week.

Club Correspondent

Following the Senior Prom, Friday evening, Miss Virginia Giles very delightfully entertained Miss Zita LaCore of Muskegon; Miss Lucille Fisher of Charlotte; Miss Margaret Dunning, Miss Velma Peltz, Fraser Carmichael, Allan Glen, Lawrence Rattenbury, W. Davidson, Harbough of Ann Arbor, and Myer A. Carr at supper.

BUY IN MICHIGAN

From The Michigan Manufacturer and Financial Record of Jan. 10

Among the things which may be done to better trade in Michigan is one which is within the power of every buyer of anything consumed in this state. It is buying in Michigan. This may seem like provincial advice, but it is not wholly so. In the race for the return of good buying from our own established industries there is no single policy which will have more influence than the concentration of Michigan's buying power upon its own products, when, as, and if they may be purchased. The gamut of production in Michigan runs through the whole list of demand from necessities, to absolutely useless luxuries. People aren't buying the latter just now. They are buying the necessities, and in quite as great quantity as ever. Michigan food-stuffs are varied. Michigan produces flour, canned foods, pork and meat products, and an entire list of other consumables for the maintenance of life. Modernly all this merchandise is labeled with its origin of Michigan. If food buyers were educated to concentrate on such brands for a couple of months, the result would be a very substantial return of the invested capital of the dealers and producers of such food material. Michigan is one of the greatest apple and potato producing areas in the country. Michigan potatoes are this winter in competition with those produced in Maine and Idaho, which are being promoted in Michigan's own market, and Pacific coast apples are being sold by the thousand cases in Michigan. A little attention to the native products of Michigan buyers would make a good result by keeping Michigan money in Michigan.

In other fields than those of food supply there is ample opportunity to buy Michigan products and by contributions to the volume of purchases keep Michigan money at home and revive employment. The best motor cars on earth are made in Michigan. Why not buy them, or at least confine purchases to them and such outside makes as maintain substantial branches and securities in this state. As good tires are made in Michigan as elsewhere. Why not favor them. As reliable spark plugs are made by Michigan factories as are made elsewhere. Why not favor them and help keep a Flint factory busy? These examples are only instances of the opportunity for co-operation in the field of motor car use alone.

In every line of consumption there is room for favor of Michigan products and the promotion of Michigan production. Individual contributions of purchases are what build up factory demand. The field is a great one for our Michigan commercial associations to cultivate. A "buy in Michigan" week or month would be a much more profitable designation than some of those which have been given to other weeks and months.

BELIEVE THAT YOU CAN

Believe that—YOU CAN—and you will not fail.
Though mighty the task begun!
Believe that—YOU CAN—though hard the trail.
And rugged the road you run!
Have FAITH in yourself! Just know—YOU CAN—
And you're simply bound to—DO;
And never a barrier, bar or ban—
Can keep you from—CARRYING THROUGH!
Believe that—YOU CAN—and then go in
And—DO—with your heart and soul!
Believe that—YOU CAN—and you'll surely win;
No matter how far the goal!
There's a marvelous force in the faith that springs
From this great and noble thought!
By the magic spell of the strength it brings—
The—MIGHTIEST DEEDS—are wrought!
Believe that—YOU CAN—and you will succeed!
For as sure as you hold this thought,
You will back your faith with the POWER OF DEED;
Till the last hard fight is fought!
Aye, HOLD TO THE THOUGHT and you'll do your part
In the way that it should be done!
Just start with—A WINNER'S FACE AND HEART
—And your battle is—really won!

HONOR STILL RANKS HIGH

When a man is as good as his work, there is some hope for him in this life. All too few are the instances of those who "keep the faith."

Three hundred prisoners of the state of Alabama were permitted to go to their homes from their places of detention for a two weeks' visit over the recent holidays. No strings were tied to them at all. They were placed on their honor to behave themselves while at their homes, and then to return to their prisons at the expiration of the time.

Some of the men given these vacations were serving life sentences. Yet every one of them kept faith with the governor of the state, at whose suggestion the experiment was tried. There was not a single one of the 300 who did not return to finish his sentence.

Convicted criminals they are, it is true. But they are not altogether lost to society. There is still hope for them. There is hope for any man in whom we can place confidence and who does not betray his trust.

CHIEF HUMAN DESIRES

According to an advertising authority, people are most easily sold something which they strongly desire, or for which such desire may be created. The chief desires of the average person, it is said, include the following:

To make money; to escape physical pain; to be comfortable; to avoid effort; to receive praise; to sidestep trouble; to attract the opposite sex; to be popular; to have enjoyment; to be in style; to save time—and some other desires closely allied to these.

The above list consists principally of desires for things not absolutely essential in existence, as are food and clothing. When one stops to think of it, most modern desires are for conveniences and luxuries hardly dreamed of a century ago.

In fact, if people were suddenly to become satisfied with the mere necessities of life, a majority of all industrial and business enterprises would have to go out of business. The creation of new desires which make for a higher standard of living has been due largely to the power of advertising.

New devices and products which add to human satisfaction, comfort and enjoyment would make slow headway without advertising to create a desire for them on the part of the public.

PERHAPS BARNUM WAS RIGHT

Supposedly practical and hard-headed Americans handed over something like $125,000,000 last year because of their child-like, superstitious belief in soothsayers and fortune-tellers.

This seems like a considerable sum of money to squander. And you can't call it anything else but squandered, for no one got a thing in return for it. There wasn't even peace of mind for the gullible.

It is all right for children to believe in fairies and elves. But when we attain the age of manhood and womanhood we should not supplant the dream folks of our childhood days with crystal-gazers, palm readers, soothsayers, and other charlatons of the fortune-telling profession.

It is not given to us to see into the future. And to attempt to do so is not only squandering money, but to question the wisdom of an all-seeing Providence who has drawn the veil between our eyes and the coming years.

GOOD LIGHTING PAYS

Skimpy lighting in industrial plants lowers production, increases spoilage of materials and causes many accidents, according to Charles H. Weeks, labor commissioner of New Jersey, whose department has made an extensive study of the subject. Poor lighting also causes serious eye strain which further reduces the efficiency of the workers.

A concrete example is given by Mr. Weeks, in which the installation of a modern lighting system in a large industrial plant led to an increase of 12 to 1 per cent in production and reduced spoilage of material more than 50 per cent. It was also found that 18 per cent of industrial accidents in the state were caused by defective lighting arrangements.

Not only in factories, but in business houses, offices, school-rooms and homes as well, good lighting pays in efficiency, comfort and improved eyesight. Its cost is trifling in comparison with the benefits it confers.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS ARE THINKING ABOUT

About the Soldiers' Bonus

If congress listens to eastern bankers there will not be any bonus. These bankers want the United States to cancel the war debts to the Allied nations, so that more commercial credits can be floated and more foreign trade built up. There is money in that for them.

But pay out a bonus and the money market will tighten to the point where further flotation of foreign loans will be more difficult.

We think and hope that western sentiment will hold sway and that the bonus is paid. The allies have had their generous feeding from the American dough bag; the war profiteers, many of whom are in Detroit, got theirs, and now that a bonus is arranged for, why not pay it out while the men are on earth to use or enjoy it? By 1945 a lot of them will be dead and utterly uninterested in the idea.

We are quick to respond to Armenian relief or a Japanese comic disaster, but funds for American drought sufferers are slow to come in. And Washington (it is to laugh!) wants to loan these drought suffering farmers some money! That's what all too many farmers now, whether they be in the drought area or not; they already have too much interest to pay!

We are for a little home charity, if we can consider cancelling inter-allied debts to help the snowballing financial institutions of New York City, we ought to be able to pay off a debt already contracted with the ex-soldiers, and provide a few vittles for the near famine areas of mid-west and south.—Redford Record.

Modernizing The Battleship

It is hard to find much reason to quarrel with the senate for voting money to modernize three old battleships which navy experts had pronounced out of date. Opponents of the measure asserted that all battleships are obsolete anyway, and declared that this nation is under no necessity of keeping its battle fleet up to the level of Britain's, but the senate voted the modernization funds in spite of these protests.

The London naval treaty would seem to have set a good gauge for the American fleet. If we are to maintain a naval establishment at all, we might as well maintain a good one; and as long as the heads of our navy believe that the battleship still has value, we might as well keep our battleships up to date. The general question of naval armament reduction does not seem to enter into this particular situation at all.—Dearborn Press.

County Board Ethics

Why we behave like human beings may be a question for the philosopher to answer; but that our supervisors do behave that way will be admitted by anyone who attempts to harmonize two acts of the supervisors at their last meeting and to deduce therefrom the code of ethics of the board.

Supervisor John Lawson, one of the most respected and influential members of the board, severely reprimanded Supervisor Emmet Gibb for remarks made outside the board room on the grounds that Mr. Gibb was too young in the point of service to criticize his elders in service. The inference is that Mr. Gibb had been guilty of an unethical act. Many of the supervisors seemed to think the chastisement was merited.

At the same session Mr. Lawson moved that the road commission matter be referred to the road committee for an impartial investigation, one member of the committee being a near relative of one of the commissioners whose conduct he was to impartially investigate; certainly a highly improper proceeding measured by an ordinary rule of ethics.

We are inclined to believe that Mr. Lawson did not know of the relationship but the member of the committee and many other supervisors did; yet neither his sense of propriety nor theirs prompted him or them to make the fact known and to ask that he be excused from sitting in judgment under the circumstances.

Apparently this proceeding was as highly ethical as Mr. Gibb's talking "before his turn" was unethical.—Washenaw County Tribune.

WHEAT IS GOOD FEED FOR FATTENING PIGS

Eight pigs which were started on a wheat ration at a weight of 36.12 pounds per animal and which were fed for 150 days, when the average weights were 138.1 pounds, paid $12.77 per bushel for the wheat which they ate in feeding trials conducted by the animal husbandry division at Michigan State College.

Eight similar pigs were fed an equal length of time on an identical ration except that corn was substituted for the wheat and the second lot of pigs gained a little more slowly than the wheat-fed lot. The cost per hundred weight of gains for the corn-fed lot was a little less than for those fed wheat but the price paid by the hogs for the wheat make them a much better market for this grain than the ordinary sales channels.

Both lots of pigs sold for eight cents a pound, and the returns from each ration were computed on that basis. During the feeding period, the pigs consumed 4,114 pounds of wheat and the other lot ate 3,711 pounds of corn. The pigs on the wheat ration ate a little more tankage, linseed meal and alfalfa hay than the other lot, but the difference was only a few pounds in each case.

Pigs receiving a wheat ration should get some form of protein supplement such as skim milk or tankage and this is more necessary with young pigs than older hogs which are being fattened.

To Fit YOUR 1931 AMBITIONS

There are many things you plan for this year—things you've always wanted to do.

Now—make a savings plan to match them. For the things ambitious folks do all take money.

Start your account with whatever you can spare. (Or, if you have an account here now, so much the better.) Add something regularly—and don't miss! Soon you will find that "cash in bank" makes ambitions come true—and that 1931 means new progress.

How about it?

"THE PLYMOUTH PRINTS"

TO WASHINGTON WITH MISS BERG

An imaginary trip to Washington, D. C. with Miss Berg as guide, was taken by the members of the Travel Club last Thursday, February 19.

Having left Detroit on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, Miss Berg and the group she was with arrived at Washington, D. C. which was called in 1816 "a city of magnificent distances," a phrase very appropriate because of the many lovely streets and avenues all very delightful in their beauty. Harper's Ferry, Roosevelt Bridge, John Ericson Memorial, and the Lincoln Memorial were some of the places the travelers visited. In front of the latter is a beautiful mirror-like lagoon which, on a still day, gives a perfect reflection of the Lincoln Memorial building.

On the opposite side of the lagoon is the memorial to George Washington, which is 555 feet high. It was erected here because Washington requested that his body be laid in Mt. Vernon, which is a few miles out of Washington, but the country desired to have a memorial erected to him in the capital city. There are many cherry trees there, and at the time Miss Berg was there, these were clothed in pink blossoms. These trees were presented to the United States government as a token of good will by the Japanese government a few years ago.

Annapolis, besides being the home of the United States Naval Academy is also a quaint, old-fashioned town with narrow streets and red brick buildings.

The Walter Reed Memorial Hospital was visited by the group, and a picture of it was passed around to the Travel Club members.

The pennecks, proudly displaying their many-colored tail feathers, caught Miss Berg's eye at the National Zoological Park.

A National Cathedral with very beautiful architectural designs in each part, is now being built. The Brooklyn Museum, a very beautiful building, is a picture of Key Bridge, named after Francis Scott Key, the writer of "The Star Spangled Banner," was passed around the room.

A visit to Arlington National Cemetery revealed the tomb of the Unknown Soldier to which America pays tribute each Anniversary Day in memory of the soldier boys who were killed in the war. The graves of other soldiers are marked with plain stone slabs. It was Easter Sunday one day while our speaker was there, and the children, white and colored, could be seen doing their egg-rolling stunt, rather a puzzle to Miss Berg, who was unable to grasp the meaning of it except that it seems to be tradition in Washington to perform on Easter Day.

A visit to the White House to shake hands with the president wouldn't you be thrilled at such an opportunity? Miss Berg says you do not feel very important, after all, when you see the great long line of people who are going to shake hands with him, too. You can see many portraits of the wives of the presidents and of the presidents themselves in the rooms of the White House.

At the Navy Yard was the "Mayflower," which has served various presidents of the United States since Roosevelt was in office, as a private yacht. It was a very nice one, but not nearly so extravagantly furnished as those of our American millionaires. This yacht was destroyed recently by fire.

The Congressional Library is a very beautiful piece of architecture. It is famous for its very beautiful mosaics. It is estimated that there are 2,085,000 books in the library, and approximately forty-four miles of book shelves. The Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States are here, covered with a yellowish glass to protect them from sun and from fading.

Bolling Field is to the people around Washington, the home of the Washington Field is to us. Miss Berg took an airplane trip for about an hour and a half, covering about 130 miles at an average rate of eighty miles an hour. A typical eighteenth century Virginia plantation is Washington's home at Mt. Vernon. The gardens are very beautiful, and they are still kept up. Some of the clocks in the house are still running. My own interest in some of the rooms of the house, and the hour came to an end.

We Travel Club members thoroughly enjoyed Miss Berg's interesting account of her trip and thank her for describing it to us.

PUPILS TAKE LONG JOURNEYS

The members of the seventh grade geography classes have taken long imaginary trips from Detroit to various parts of the United States, by writing interesting stories of their exciting adventures while traveling by automobile, train or steamboat to scenic spots in our country. The students of the commercial geography class have given very instructive talks this week. A speech concerning commerce by Arthur Hasbald, and one concerning cereals, by Elizabeth White were especially entertaining.

BLUE AND WHITE LOSE HARD GAME TO FARMINGTON

A belated rally in the last moments of the game enabled the Farmington basketballers to advance another notch in the league race at the expense of the Rock quintette. Another factor in their favor was the playing of the game on home ground as the Farmington gym is the most peculiar one in the league. At the half-time the score was tied at 11, but a rally stopped the advance of the Rocks and the final result was 33 to 17.

Fendt of Farmington took scoring honors with six field goals and two free shots. For Plymouth Gates was the high point man, having two field goals and three free shots. The loss of several regulars has handicapped

NEWS FROM STARKWEATHER

Miss Witroe's room has a new canary bird. Betty Jane Wagenschutz from the Central school, has joined the afternoon class, making a total of thirteen members. This room has the thrift banner for this week.

Miss Stueky's children had a very pretty Valentine box for Valentine day. They were very busy working on the play, "The Runaway Valentine," for the P. T. A. program. They have the P. T. A. banner for this month. Charlotte Pelky hurt her hand and has not been able to attend school. The children enjoy their seat work pads very much. They made hatchets for the room and also little rabbit houses and the members of the family.

The children in Miss Stader's room made Lincoln booklets with a picture of Lincoln and red, white and blue covers. Inside the booklets are short sentences of Lincoln's life. They had a very pretty Valentine box for Valentine Day. They learned some band songs and last Friday they brought band instruments and flags and had a parade. They are very much interested in their seat work pads. They have a bank honor every time they bank they get a star.

WHAT SOME OF OUR GIRLS ARE DOING

Because the members of the second year food class are now working on entertainment for special occasions, a part of the class including Ruth Heister, Winniford Card, Adele Carson, Elvora Sackett and Myrtle Wild entertained Margaret Wild, Janina Grove, and Doris and Arbutus Williams at a Valentine party. They served molasses mince, salted walnuts, red heart-shaped jelly, and sugar cookies. Tuesday the guests reversed and entertained their hostesses at a Washington party for which the girls served two kinds of sandwiches, cocoa, whipped cherry jelly, and cup cakes.

The students in the first year clothing class have completed making their dainty dresses. They are working on a complete underwear ensemble for which they are using the same material, trimming, and color combinations.

HISTORIANS ENTER NEW ERA

"Spices Open a New Period in History" is the name of the project which Miss Gray's TA History class has been working on in their spare moments. The idea of the Old World background as an introduction to our history for the first time. The class is writing a little play with the above title consisting of four scenes. They take place in England in 1300 before the introduction of spices, then the discovery of the spice lands and the stopping of trade in spices by the Turks which leads up to the search for a new water route to India. Francis Drake's scene one was selected as the best of that group. Several other others are competing for the lead in the other scenes.

COOKS TURN ACTRESSES

In connection with their work on "Left-Overs" the 8A Food Class, of Groups 1 and 3 presented a play entitled "Little Potatoes", Thursday, after school, in Room 21. The girls of groups 2 and other Home Economics girls were their guests. The girls entered heartily into their portrayal of the various characters, as Economy, her sister Extravagance, and the Left-over Vegetables. Plays are but one method of conveying the Gospel of Home Economics.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS LEARN FOREIGN EMBROIDERY

To help them earn part of their Birthday Honor for this year, the last two Campfire meetings have been spent in learning stitches used on foreign embroidery. On pieces of linen they have been learning to do plain hemstitching, Italian hemstitching, and an imitation Italian hemstitching. The girls have been doing their stitches in different colors of embroidery floss. Next week the girls will learn to do Swedish embroidery.

TREE SYMBOL OF JUNIOR GROUP

A tree is the symbol selected by the Junior Girl Reserves in working out their program for the last semester. At the meeting of Friday, February 20, the members decided on the details of this program. All titles, of course, pertain to the tree. For example, the first meeting is called the planting of the tree, while still others are named tree secrets, pruning and gathering leaves. One title for a song-meeting is very appropriate and musical, "Fettering leaves."

At this meeting the members were also divided into eight groups, each under a leader. Each of these groups will be assigned one of the open meetings of the year, and it will be up to the girls in that section to put on the program for that time. They will, of course, work their ideas around the title given that day.

POSTER CONTEST HELD AGAIN

Once more the high school art students are making posters to enter in the contest sponsored by the Detroit Federation of Women's Clubs. These posters are to advertise the All Students Art Exhibit of Suburban Schools of Detroit. In last year's contest, Maurine Dunn won first place, and Dora Gilmore, fourth. It is to be hoped that Plymouth high school students will again carry away a great honor as last year.

In her art appreciation class Mrs. Brower is teaching the students how to do batik work. The material, silk is especially suitable, is first covered with a coating of beeswax, and then the selected design is dyed with dyes.

CENTRAL GRADE SCHOOL NOTES

The boys and girls in Miss Mitchell's room have been learning all about George Washington. They made soldier caps out of wrapping paper and decorated them with red, white and blue shields and plumes. These children have been learning about frogs in nature study.

On Washington's birthday, the children in Mrs. Root's room made soldier caps of red, white and blue, and marched with flags in the gymnasium. Frances Warkup brought a lovely bunch of pussy willows for the desk. The narcissus bulbs that these children planted, have twelve blossoms on them. The last silent reading vocabulary test covered twenty-three pages in the chart.

In room 6, Linton Ball received the highest score on the spelling test. Ruth Olson has moved from this room to a Detroit school. Patricia Burdell's team won in the spelling contest last month. Virginia Furber won in the spelling down in the 4-B grade, and Jean Woodworth won from the other 4-A's.

The children in room 7 have made lovely paper dolls modeled after one that they have read about in the story of Peter and Polly. Miss Holt's girls and boys have made Washington booklets in language class. In geography the children gave "radio" speeches on South America. Miss Holt has been reading Peter and Polly to the children for opening exercises.

In Miss Holliday's room, the 5-A class has been making maps of Asia in geography class. Doris Shullbarker received the highest score on the spelling test. Thomas Brock received the highest score on the spelling test in Mrs. Atchinson's room. John Nash's team is ahead in the weekly spelling contest. All of the boys and girls in this room are busy getting ready for the spelling bee which comes March 6.

GIRL RESERVES ASK QUESTIONS

All types of questions from that of etiquette to matters of dress, were bagged in to Norma Savery, who had charge of the Senior Girl Reserves question box. Any point on any subject that puzzled the members was a permissible question. Each girl, by having given a question handed in by another member, gave her idea of the proper conduct under the circumstances. Of course, if any other girl differed, she gave her opinion.

The usual manner of parliamentary conduct of meeting, with the president in charge, for order and with the secretary and treasurer giving their reports, had to be omitted last Friday since all three officers are members of the senior class, and all seniors were excused from clubs to work on the prom decorations. However, this meeting gave the juniors an idea of what next year's group will be like minus the graduates.

MUSIC DEPT. FEATURE IN GIRLS' MEET

The music department was an active feature in the Play Day with Northville, February 18. The girls' double quartette sang four numbers, "Glow Worm," "Cheerful Little Fairy," "Sweetheart of My Student Days," and "Michael's Flute." Jean Strong and Maurine Dunn sang two numbers and Doris Hamill played her violin. Right at present, every one is busy practicing for the annual musicale to be given in May.

STUDENT GOVT IN DRAMATICS

A new system of student government has been introduced into our drama clubs. All the future meetings have been assigned to members of the groups for them to take charge of. In the junior club last week the meeting, conducted by a student, was used to decide upon the requirements for a club plan. Everyone is to pay for his own after he has fulfilled the requirements. The same applies to the Senior Drama Club. The requirements for a plan in this club consist of either presenting an original play before the group or conducting one meeting.

Miss Ford, the dramatics instructor, announced in the last meeting that she would present a ticket for any play at the Civic theatre in Detroit, to the one who conducts a meeting best or presents the best original play. At the same meeting three members of the Junior Drama Club presented some original skits which were very funny indeed. Miss Ford then gave to each person a sentence which he was to dramatize. This was to show how sentences may be made to have varied meanings by placing the accent on different words.

PLAY DAY WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Play Day between the girls of the Plymouth and Northville high schools was a decided success. Many women and girls were present to witness the games. Plymouth was victorious in four cases out of six.

At 4:35 the seventh graders from both schools lined up to see which could outdo the other in a game of newcomb. The Northville girls won the first game, but Plymouth came back to win both the second and third. Northville, however, was not to be discouraged, and the eighth graders defeated the Plymouth girls by winning the first and third games. The Plymouth freshman team was victorious over the visitors, 15 to 4, in the opening basketball game. Mildred Maul, captain of the local team, was the outstanding forward, accounting for twelve of the fifteen points. Alice Postiff and Kathryn Mandell, both sophomore forwards, equally divided honors in the tenth grade game, each scoring ten points to defeat the Northville girls, 20 to 3.

Between six o'clock and seven, lunch was served to the players and spectators. Each Plymouth girl took one from Northville as her partner to lunch, and Miss Kees very greatly appreciated the excellent hospitality our girls showed towards the visitors. The girls' double quartette sang four numbers during the intermission, accompanied by Miss Schrader at the piano, and Maurine Dunn and Jean Strong sang two duets. Mrs. Alta Woodworth gave a reading, and then accompanied her sister, Doris Hamill, who played two violin solos. Mrs. Humphries, accompanied by Mrs. Brown, gave two musical readings, and then the basketball playing resumed.

Our junior girls won, 36 to 4, as Elizabeth Kusnera caged twenty-two points, Mary Lorenz eight, and Louise Doherty six, for the home team. In a hard-fought battle between the two senior class teams, the Plymouth girls met defeat 16 to 9. Marian Richards of Northville, accounted for fifteen of the sixteen points Northville made, while Maurine Dunn made six points for Plymouth, and Doris Holloway scored three.

Play Day was sponsored by the Women's Club, and we thank the women very much for their support. It is with great pleasure that we look forward to another Play Day to be held in the form of a track and field meet later on this year at Northville.

ABOUT SNOW BUNTING

"WE ARE very fond of it along by the ocean," said Snow Bunting. "We really like to be by the ocean better than inland, though once in awhile we go into the country away from the ocean and whirl about before a snowstorm and through the storm, too, and look and appear as our name would have us appear!"

"We have clear, lovely calls and we can whistle, too—ever so prettily. Yes, indeed. "We're friendly with the horned larks. We look beautifully white when we fly, and we go way up to the Arctic regions, at times. "These facts I was particularly told to tell.

"And some one who saw one of our nests at one time described it in human words to be a lovely, cozy nest. This person saw it in an old hollow log. The nest was lined with feathers and was made of grass and white fox hair.

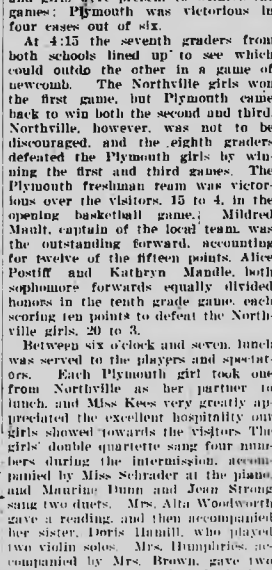

"They say though that we look our best when flying through a snowstorm. Ah, but birds do look very lovely when they fly. Great crowds of birds flying is always a lovely sight. Even starlings, when they fly, are very beautiful.

"They say 'even starlings; for starlings are not popular. They have taken so much possession of things. "They push other birds out of the way. "But they do not bother us at all. However, that is not what I am to talk about. I am going to tell you that spring is so coming.

"Ah, yes, for I heard a secret. Mother Nature whispered it to me.

Why Boys Leave Home

BY JOE ARCHIBALD

was the first announcement of the senior high school assembly. Mr. Dykhouse asked that all who had less than fourteen credits see him immediately. Miss Wells' room was the thrift banner this week. Mr. Dykhouse announced the program for Play Day with Northville the same afternoon and evening. Stunt night will be March 6. Pledges must be signed up for by Thursday. He also announced that the basketball game with Farmington was canceled to Thursday because of the Senior Prom Friday night.

The Double Quartette sang two numbers, "Glow Worm" and "Sweetheart of My Student Days." Doris Hamill then played two violin solos, accompanied by her sister, "The Shepherd's Dance," and "Rakey March." The assembly sang "Plymouth Will Shine Tonight" and "Smiles."

Mr. Smith spoke about the idea that we should not blame others when things go wrong, but we should turn around and examine ourselves to see if the fault might be our own. He said that this applies not only to individuals but to organizations and groups. The assembly was dismissed after Maurine Dunn and Jean Strong had sung "Abba's Holiday."

THE SENIOR PROM A GREAT SUCCESS

When the last strains of "Home Sweet Home" died away, and tired couples turned for a parting glance at the ball and the stage which had been the setting for their evening of pleasure, they saw a ceiling of dark blue and hung with Oriental lanterns, the wall covered with scenery, Christmas and dragons. The stage represented a shrine and in the back sat a gold Buddha. The doors were hung with beads to add to the atmosphere, and the chaperones sat in the south end of the gymnasium on a slightly elevated platform. Near them was a small fountain bubbling over rocks. The reception room was decorated with Oriental rugs and lighted by two bridge lamps. The punch was served from a fourth lounge with banners and flags of Chinese characters.

Those in the reception committee were Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. Dykhouse, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Ball, Miss Nye and T. Baumgartner of Toledo, Mr. and Mrs. T. Carr and John Randall and Miss Catherine Tuck.

The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Bronson, Mr. and Mrs. Rougert, Mr. and Mrs. Buzzard, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Gallimore, Mr. and Mrs. Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. Roe.

The grand march was led by Miss Catherine Tuck and her escort, John Randall, the president of the senior class. The music for the evening was furnished by the Della Robbia Orchestra under the direction of "Dave" Diamond. It is considered the best music the high school has ever obtained for any of their formal dances.

SECONDS LOSE IN TOM THUMB BASKETBALL

Traveling over to Farmington, the seconds found that they must play on a very small floor which they were unaccustomed to; consequently their playing abilities were affected. On long shots they were forever hitting the ceiling which was very low. The final whistle, therefore, found the seconds still ten to go, the score being a lopsided 19 to 10.

Isn't this odd? In the Central school the depositors numbering 104, have saved $221.94, and if high school 178 have deposited $221.71, with a difference of only a few cents. The purpose of the banking system is to accustom the pupils with the depositing and saving of money. A thing can not be judged by its success for the first few months, but in this year of financial depression this seems to more than prove its worth. "Bank day" is each Tuesday morning from 8:30 to 8:35, and the group that has the greatest percentage of deposits has in its room a banner for the week.

The Sandman Story

BY JOE ARCHIBALD

"I saw a Mourning Cloak Butterfly," he said, "and you know, little Snow Bunting, when they begin to come, I know that Mistress Springtime is really on the way."

"Of course you know how she meets Winter on her way here, and how they chat and laugh and talk, and what a time they have, puzzling people for all they are worth!"

"But today I saw Mourning Cloak. I must tell you about Mourning Cloak, Mother Nature continued. "Mourning Cloak comes when it is very early spring. I often wonder if Mourning Cloak likes to listen to the chatter between Winter and Mistress Springtime!"

"I often think that he does, for surely Mourning Cloak arrives early. "Mourning Cloak comes flying through the woods, just a little warm sunlight to encourage him. He flies about and fits here and there, and we can see those wings of his so dark and purple and rich in appearance with their yellow-edged touches. "His blue spots are so handsome, too. Oh, Mourning Cloak is a handsomely dressed fellow, and there is no mistake about that. He is one of the best dressed of my family.

"He sleeps all winter, hiding away in some cave or under some rock and he wakes up early. Yes, he doesn't wait until the last minute to arise. "When Mourning Cloak is a caterpillar he wears a handsome black costume with striking red spots and he feeds on the leaves of willow trees, for he's a rascol then. "He has a dangerous appearance then, but he is harmless and not at all like the green caterpillars with the short prickly spines.

"Ah, yes, Spring will be along soon, for the Mourning Cloak, the first arrival, has come. "That was what Mother Nature told me," continued Snow Bunting, "and so I know it must be true. "And I thought that it might be nice for some of the winter creatures to leave a song for Mistress Springtime. She might be pleased to think she was spoken of—creatures are pleased, I've heard, when they've been asked about, even when they were away."

So Snow Bunting left a little song for Mistress Springtime alone, and only the Breeze Brothers who carried it to her from him heard what the song was about.

be kept for emergency use. Adjoining this office is a room that will be used by the prison commission. Most of the future meetings of the commission will be at the prison farm. The welfare office, where one of the important features of prison work is conducted, also adjoins the warden's office.

All vaults are absolutely fireproof. In the basement are three separate rooms, with no doorway between any of them. Entrance can only be secured to them through the office. Here all files not actively in use will be kept. There are drinking fountains and many other convenient features arranged for the administration building, which from the outside has little appearance of being a prison structure.

But there are plenty of big heavy iron doorways and grills within which doors away with any idea that once locked behind them will find it an easy matter to get out. As a prisoner is admitted he will first be sent directly to the receiving department. In the first room all comers will be properly registered. In the next room his clothing and other belongings are taken from him, properly checked and stored away to be given back to him upon his release from the institution.

As he leaves this department, he goes directly into the "dehousing" department. In addition to being "dehoused" he is also required to take a regulation prison bath. Following this "clean-up," the first in many years for some of the new guests of the institution, the prisoner is given his uniform and taken into the photograph room where his picture becomes part of the record of the police files of the county. His finger prints and other measurements are taken and in the adjoining history room, his complete record is made a part of the file. Following a final inspection by the prison physician, he is admitted through another big iron grill to the office of the department superintendent who assigns the men to the various tasks they are to perform during their prison stay.

Six solitary cells have been built. Each is five feet, nine inches wide by nine feet six inches long. There are two doors to each cell, one being a solid steel door. This is used only at times when an unruly prisoner becomes defiant. Then it can be closed and the prisoner left entirely to himself with only a small ventilation opening for a streak of light to cut the darkness of the interior.

Underneath the receiving room is a storage space for clothing and bedding. The only entrance to this place is from the clerk's office in the main corridor. There is also a big locker room in the basement.

On the second floor are the cell blocks, with 34 cells on each side. One of the most remarkable locking devices from a central control found in any prison has been installed by Capt. Denniston on the cells in this part of the prison. The guard can unlock any one door or all of the doors from one single control.

To do away with one of the main causes of unrest among burdened criminals who are serving long terms Capt. Denniston has provided an open space about the cell blocks which can be used for exercise purposes. But this space is again separated from the outside corridor by a heavy row of steel bars. This last barrier to any possible chance of freedom sets four feet back from the prison wall, so at no time will a prisoner have access to the outside windows. The arrangement also makes it possible for the guards on duty to see all that is going on and still have two powerful barriers between him and the prisoners. This does away with any chance of the prisoners ever taking the keys away from a guard. Both wings have 34 cells and on the second floor of the floor has two more cell blocks of a similar kind.

In the other wing of the prison is a dormitory within a passive steel

Why Be A Legionnaire?

All of us remember the stories current during the World war, of how thrilling it was to go "over the top." Of how we could hardly wait to go over and mix things up with our common enemy, etc., etc. . . . Those of us who have tried it can remember, if we think hard enough and if we are honest enough about it, that the clicking of our knees sort of took all the thrill out of it and that the task wasn't exactly as-pleasant as most were led to believe. Oh, sure, we did it, the same as the others were doing it, and we did drive a great army ahead of us, to defeat. We were nearly all young and vigorous then and quite a percentage of us believed we could lick the world, provided, of course, we didn't run short of "goldfish" and "monkey meat."

What has become of the pals we had, when, for instance, we started our Argonne push in September, 1918? How about the buddy you helped with his gas mask because he couldn't put it on himself on account of gunshot wounds in his shoulders. Or where are those two young boys who were with you in a shuck in Gesnes when a shell took a leg off one and blinded the other. Think hard, and perhaps you will recall the lad with his arm torn to shreds, gobbling like a baby and calling for mother.

I'll tell you where some of those boys are, fellows. Some are in Veterans' hospitals, for the reasons. Some are struggling to overcome tremendous handicaps in attempting to make a decent living for themselves, and too often, unfortunately, their families. Some of the children of a number of these veterans are in a safe harbor in the Legion's Children's Bilet in lower Michigan. In some cases the scrawny hand of tuberculosis has claimed those wounded veterans who laid for hours on the wet and cold battlefields. They are being admirably cared for, thanks to the untiring efforts of the American Legion. Some of our buddies have passed on to permanent rest, and have, I'm sure, asked we who still live to "carry on."

We can, and are "carrying on," through the American Legion, in ever-increasing force. We are fighting for adequate hospitalization. We protect the children and widows of our buddies who have passed on. We strive to build the young of today into real Americans, through our interest in the Boy Scout movement, and in the sponsoring of junior activities tending to "cure" which will take care of sixty men if conditions require. The third floor has two more cell blocks of a similar construction, making the prison one of the strongest of its kind in the country.

keep alive in the youth, the spirit of fair play, courage, and love of country. We promote and foster community spirit and try to make our city one of the finest in the country. To accomplish these things properly, requires more than merely passive interest in our post. It demands of every ex-service man in this district, that he at least have a membership in the American Legion. It asks, also, that these same men attend the monthly meetings of the post. It means, further, that we ex-service men remember those of us who are still fighting a mighty tough battle. Let's give them a hand over the roughest spots.

Let's go "over the top" in a short, snappy drive for members. It's easier and more pleasant than it was 13 years ago. It's unpleasant to believe that anyone who has seen service during the last war should fail to become a member of the American Legion.

Requests from the Boards of Supervisors of Antrim County for a five-year closed season on prairie chicken, and from Oakland County for a three-year closed season on fox squirrels were received by the Conservation Commission at its February meeting. The Game Division was asked to investigate and report on these requests.

More than 6,000 separate pieces of camping and playground equipment have been added to Michigan's state parks within the past two years. This equipment included 2,236 steel lockers for bath houses, 800 wire baskets, 1,430 park tables, 500 park benches, 21 row boats and a miscellaneous assortment of smaller equipment. All of the parks now have complete first aid kits.

FORT BRADY TO HAVE C. M. T. C. BAND CORP.

Next summer, at beautiful and historical Fort Brady, 400 of Michigan's finest young men will proudly march to the stirring strains of a fifty-piece military band that will be organized at the Citizen's Military Training Camp.

The authorities at Fort Brady have just received information that the Government has authorized the formation of a fifty piece military band from the 400 young men of Michigan who will be selected to attend the Camp there from July 7th to August 5th.

Any young man who has musical ability and will reach his seventeenth birthday on or before December 31, 1931 is eligible to apply for enrollment, but only fifty will be privileged to join the great military band.

A competent instructor, with years of experience in training military bands, has already been selected to take charge of the C. M. T. C. Military Band and will personally instruct the individual members in the playing of their instruments and in military formations.

There will be no expense whatever to those who are selected to play in this great musical organization. Uniforms, instruments, board, lodging, laundry, and even railway fare to and from Fort Brady, Michigan, will be paid for by the Government. All that is asked for in return is loyalty, good health, and a desire to help make the 1931 Citizen's Military Training Camp Band the best of its kind in the country.

Many young men who played in the C. M. T. C. Band at Fort Brady last year have already submitted their applications to play in this year's band, but there is still an opportunity for other young men to be selected if they apply promptly.

FORD COMFORT

Every new Ford is equipped with four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers

ONE of the fine things about driving the new Ford is the way it takes you over the miles without strain or fatigue. No matter how long the trip, you know it will bring you safely, quickly, comfortably to the journey's end.

The seats are generously wide, deeply cushioned and carefully designed to conform to the curves of the body. Every new Ford has specially designed springs and four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers. These work both ways — up and down. They absorb the force of road shocks and also provide a cushion against the rebound of the springs.

Other features that make the new Ford a value far above the price are the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, silent, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, more than twenty ball and roller bearings, extensive use of fine steel forgings, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, Rustless Steel and unusual accuracy in manufacturing.

In addition, you save many dollars because of the low first cost of the new Ford, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation.

LOW PRICES OF FORD CARS

GEORGE H. FISHER SCHOOL

The Chocolate—The seventh and eighth grades of the Geo. H. Fisher school gave an afternoon Chocolate and a Valentine party for the mothers. The refreshments consisted of candy hearts, cocoa and cookies.

We had a valentine box and at the end of the recreational period, Frank Manuel and Ernest passed out the valentines. We had a good time—Miss Phyllis E. Seesing, 8th grade.

Health Inspection—Last week 41.23 per cent of the girls had perfect inspection scores. The following ones were present: Dorothy Evans, Evelyn Haas, Elizabeth Roberts, Phyllis Seesing and Mary Kucsera. The boys had 57.17 per cent perfect inspection scores; the following ones were present: Frank Evans, Lawrence McNulty, Raymond Coon and Floyd Elchstadt.—Floyd Elchstadt.

Attendance—During the month of February we had a great per cent absent because of sickness. There has been an epidemic of flu and the gripe around the neighborhood and many of the children were ill and were unable to come to school, therefore we have 83.6 per cent in attendance. The following were perfect in attendance: Dorothy Evans, Frank Evans, Lawrence McNulty, Floyd Elchstadt, Mary Kucsera, Elizabeth Roberts and Helen Slarto.—Mary Kucsera.

The visit of Miss Eckhart and Mr. Carr—Last Monday, Feb. 16, Miss Eckhart talked to the girls about sewing and Mr. Carr talked to the boys about handicraft. He talked to the boys about finishing their article. He also talked to them about planning a nursery back of the school. He said we could plant evergreen trees and some shrubs and some other trees. He will make another visit, March 26, the achievement day.—Lawrence McNulty.

Basketball Court—We have a basketball court inside the school play hall of the Geo. H. Fisher school. We play at noon and at gymnasium periods.—Manuel Hegwood.

Primary Room—There was a great deal of sickness in our room last month, but Irene Balko, Billy Reams, Virginia Thiede, Robert Wright, Lola Lee Zeaman, Betty Ruth Buckingham, Frederick Huston, Betty Dean Jewell, Virginia Buckingham and Dolores Zeaman had perfect records of attendance and punctuality for the month. We have just finished making some new window decorations. They are boxes of tulips and hyacinths. Hazel Gibson has been absent for three weeks with an abscessed ear. The kindergarteners busily engaged in making a booklet of Mother Goose pictures and rhymes.

Third Grade—Allen Ciesielski dressed a Swiss doll for our geography class. Those who received A in posture are: Dorothy Brown, Robert Hyatt and Fay Pratt. The rest of us had a B mark. Violet Zimba was ill and out of school all of last week. Our percentage of attendance for February is 80.4.—Norman Mass.

Fourth Grade—Our grade painted bookmarks for art work Friday, Miss Reid, our nurse gave us a posture test last week. Those who received A's are Frances Brause, Dorothy Buckingham, Rose Evans, Raymond Hegwood, Florence Petoskey and Gerald Zeaman.

Adele Sweeney, Annie Slarto and Allen Ciesielski were absent all last week with severe colds.—Adele Sweeney.

Mrs. Arlene Plank's Room—Art—For art work we painted boxes of tulips. We also painted a soldier parade.—Marian Tuck Sickness—Virginia Haigh, Ethel Tuck and Una Mae Roberts have been absent for the last week or more and they have returned to school now.

Fifth Grade—Health Inspection—Ellen Hyatt and Irene Ciesielski were perfect in health inspection for the month of February.

Boys' Health Inspection—The following who have had perfect health inspection are: William Luka and Fred McNulty.—Fred McNulty.

Posture Tests—Miss Reid gave a posture test and the following children received A in posture: Marian Tuck, Aileen Sweeney, Alice McNulty, Mary Jane Ferguson, Raynor Evans, Fred McNulty, William Luka and Thelma Hegwood.—Marian Tuck.

Camp Fire Girls—A group of girls from the George H. Fisher school met on February 6, to organize an association known as the Camp Fire Girls. The following girls were elected to hold office: Margaret Tuck, president; Irene Ciesielski, vice-president; Emily Petoskey, secretary; Marian Tuck, treasurer; Helen Slarto, scribe, and Miss Jenny Petoskey, our guardians, song leader. She appointed Elizabeth Roberts as assistant song leader. Mrs. Ada Watson is our assistant guardian.

GRANGE HALL TO BE REBUILT IMMEDIATELY

The building committee of the Grange Hall announced the early part of the week that the contract for rebuilding the hall has already been let, estimate estimated at $4,000.00 was caused by a fire at the hall a week ago Tuesday night when a blaze of unknown origin completely gutted the interior.

Ray Strong has been given the contract and work will be started immediately.

ANDERSON, Mrs. Henry C. Lucy S. Mickle, wife of Henry C. Anderson, was born in Colchester, Ontario, December 13, 1844, the youngest of the ten children of John and Mary Wright Mickle, and passed away Thursday morning, February 19th, 1931, in Plymouth, Mich. She was baptized in the Episcopal church of Colchester, and spent the early years of her life in and around Amherstberg and the Canadian shore of Lake Erie, where many of her relatives still live. February 28, 1872, she was united in marriage to Henry C. Anderson, and came to Michigan to live on the Anderson farm in Canton township where all of her married life was spent with the exception of two years in Hamtramck where her daughter, Mary Louise, was born. In November, 1905, Mr. Anderson passed away, and she with her youngest daughter, now Mrs. Perry Hix, and her son, Harold, remained on the farm until in June, 1918, she and her daughter, Mary, took up their residence in Plymouth where she lived until her death, although her daughter, Mary, passed away in 1910; her son Harold lived with her the past twelve years. Through an accident in 1915, she sustained a broken hip which caused her to be confined in a wheel chair ever since but, this though handicapped, she managed to do nearly all of her work and was active in every way up until the past few weeks.

Although 86 years of age, she retained all of her faculties, and enjoyed reading magazines and newspapers; she was always interested in anything new, and never ceased to wonder at the new inventions, contrasting the gas stove with the open fireplace, method of cooking, the stage coach for traveling with the auto and airplane, etc. She was fond of telling the stories of the Indians and the early settlers, as she had heard them from her parents and her own recollections of them.

She leaves seven children, nine grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren, besides many other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Walter Nichol of the Presbyterian church at the Wilkie Funeral Home, after which she was borne to her last resting place by her neighbors and friends.

Relatives and friends were present from Chicago, Leamington and Sandwich, Ontario, Ypsilanti, Detroit, Birmingham, Sheldon and Belleville.

MAYNARD—Mrs. Minnie, who passed from this life February 18, 1931, was born in Germany, August 13, 1872, and came overseas with her parents at the age of eight years, and has since resided in or near Detroit. She was left a widow six years ago, and since that time had no permanent home as she had no children. She, however, leaves three brothers, four sisters and numerous nephews and nieces to mourn their loss, as well as a host of friends.

She was a woman of very pleasing personality, and endured her suffering with but little complaint, and expressed her faith that with her, all was well.

The funeral services were held Saturday, February 21, at 2:00 p. m., at the home of her sister, Mrs. Roka Mining. Rev. Frank M. Purdy of Newburg, officiated and burial was at Charenceville.

PADDOCK, Alice M., was born in Livonia township, Wayne County, Mich., October 30, 1847. Her early life was spent in that vicinity. She was married at Lansing, Mich., Jan. 17, 1883, to George A. Brown. From this union were born three daughters, Gracia A., Eva Beas and Florence. Since the death of her husband in 1910, she has made her home chiefly with her eldest daughter, near Deekerville, Mich. She passed away Feb. 19, 1931.

Services were held at Schrader's Funeral Home, February 22. Interment was made in Riverside cemetery, Plymouth, Mich.

Why Boys Leave Home BY JOE ARCHIBALD

THE CROSS CUT SAW

BANKER TELLS CAUSE OF DEPRESSION

That the business structure of the United States is so buoyant that it can be kept down only temporarily by artificial means, was the conclusion of John E. Rovensky, vice-chairman of the Bank of America, before the Engineers' Society of northeastern Pennsylvania, at its annual banquet held recently at Scranton.

"Let us bear in mind that the normal condition of this country is prosperity," he said. "Our natural resources, our mechanism of production and distribution, assure us that we need no artificial means to attain a healthy condition. Quite the contrary, we have to work very hard to achieve a business depression, such as we are having now."

Every one of the 21 major depressions in the United States since 1783 was preceded and brought on by a period of excessive activity in some form or other, Mr. Rovensky said. "This is the point we ought to remember, that panics are brought on by, and could not take place without, booms and inflations."

He expressed serious doubt that wage reductions would solve the problem, and declared as wasted time the efforts of "prophets" to reduce the business cycle to any mechanical, mathematical time schedule. The only thing regular shown by a chart of business over the last 50 years, he said, is that it is irregular.

"Not Wall Street, but Main Street made the boom of 1929," he said. This explained the cause of the fresh and persistent decline that followed the temporary recovery in the spring of 1930—a decline which baffled the professional speculators of Wall Street, according to Mr. Rovensky.

"They overlooked a very important factor because it had never been present before—the 'unwilling investor.'" By this term, he explained, he meant the millions of "chauffeurs, cooks, miners, farmers and school teachers" who had bought stocks outright—not as an investment but—as a gamble. When the reaction of the spring set in they poured their stocks on the market, which was naturally placed in a very vulnerable position.

Mr. Rovensky declared he was certain that other booms would come though he believed it impossible to predict just when or through what vehicle.

"The business of the country," he said, "is like an airplane that alighted last fall, is now bouncing along the ground and bids fair soon to be taking off. But we must not expect a rapid ascent; the airplane has a heavy load and can do no zooming, so improvement in business will doubtless be quite gradual."

NEED SANATORIUM TO FILL NEED IN NORTHERN SECTION

The movement in the legislature for a Northern State Tuberculosis Sanatorium is not a political pork barrel. It is not an attempt by the Northern section of the state to secure for itself an unneeded institution.

Rather it is an endeavor to fill a need that has existed for many years: to provide treatment near home for tuberculosis patients in this area who heretofore have been forced to travel hundreds of miles for care.

Tuberculosis patients from Northern Michigan feel keenly the lack of a sanatorium. One, a resident of Manistee, recently wrote to the Michigan Tuberculosis Association as follows: "I took the cure at the Howell Sanatorium from May, 1923, to May, 1930. Since then I have been continuing treatment in my own home. It is rather disappointing to take the cure at home when one is 250 miles from the sanatorium, while patients who live nearer can return from time to time for examinations and advice, and so feel more encouraged to continue treatment."

"We sincerely appreciate what our House leaders are doing in trying to get a sanatorium for Northern Michigan. I hope that the neglected tuberculosis patients of this part of the state will not be disappointed."

Medical men skilled in the treatment of tuberculosis agree that a sanatorium in the northern part of the state is necessary to give the area's tuberculosis patients their fair chance for life. It will eliminate the long trip to Howell with the accompanying danger to health. It also will allow relatives and friends to visit more frequently and so to help keep up the spirits of the patient during the lengthy period of treatment.

Dr. George L. Leslie, medical director of the State Sanatorium at Lansing, estimates that a sanatorium with 500 beds is needed to adequately serve this area. Only 250 beds are asked for in the measure proposed in Lansing. This number surely should be provided. A fairer request has never been made of the legislature.

Exhibits representing the Department of Conservation will be shown again this year at Michigan's two outdoor shows: the Outdoor Life and Motor Boat Show at Grand Rapids, March 3-7, and the Detroit Motor Boat and Sportsman's Show, March 21-25. The exhibits, prepared by the Educational Division will include wild life, fish, furs and guns, and other displays of an educational nature representing various departmental divisions.

Coming Attractions At Penniman-Allen

"DANGER LIGHTS"

Immortalizing the unswerving faith and courage of all American railroad men, Radio Pictures' "Danger Lights," first great railroad melodrama of the talkies, comes to the Penniman Allen Theatre, Sunday and Monday, March 1 and 2, as a stirring tribute to the stout hearts who keep the wheels moving.

With Louis Wolheim as the two-footed, hard-swinging, roaring division boss whose indomitable strength holds the rails fast; Robert Armstrong as the ace engineer whose love for the railroad transcends his selfishness; and Juan Arthur as the railroad-bred beauty whose charm fires these iron men to death grips, "Danger Lights" is truly the song of the rails dramatized.

Railroad men will appreciate the countless authentic touches of "Danger Lights": the roundhouse operations; the emergency clearings of landlubber over washouts; plunging long freighters over mountain passes; the headlong stride of the limited greyhounds with their de luxe coaches; all the stirring glory of railroading in novel sound and talk.

"Danger Lights" was filmed over the right-of-way of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific road, the cast covering more than 30,000 miles before the film was completed.

Its sentiment is expressed for railroaders when the general manager declares: "The railroad is the railroad man's religion. It is not a question of one man but of every railroad man on every railroad in the country."

"BEAU IDEAL"

Radio Pictures will show at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, March 4 and 5, its sequel in sound and talk to the silent classic, "Beau Geste." This new one is called "Beau Ideal" after Percival Wren's novelized continuation of his first tale of the brave Herbert Brenon whose genius produced "Beau Geste."

A handsome, thrilling and intensely vivid picturization of the concluding chapters in the story of the Gestes, "Beau Ideal" is the robust entertainment and certainly as thrilling if not more so than "Beau Geste." Mr. Brenon is among the first ten great directors of the screen and "Beau Ideal" does much to enhance that reputation. It is a stirring picture played enormously well and with shrewd, knowing players in its cast.

Headed by Ralph Forbes, who created the role of John Geste in "Beau Geste," the same part he takes in "Beau Ideal," the cast includes Loretta Young as Isobel Brandon, Irene Rich, Lester Vail, Leni Stengel, Don Alvarado and others, many of whom appeared in the silent "Beau Geste."

The story takes us back to Morocco again and to the fierce savagery of the Arab hordes, to the courageous Foreign Legion, to the alluring dangers of the secret cities of the desert, to pungent battle drama and poignant emotional drama. In "Beau Ideal" you will find all the ingredients of a thoughtful and well executed drama of "special" proportions, a real screen achievement and one you should not miss.

"CAUGHT CHEATING"

Charlie Murray and George Sidney, who have teamed together for six years in many huge successes, are appearing at the Penniman Allen Theatre on Friday and Saturday, March 6 and 7, in "Caught Cheating," a Tiffany feature written by W. Scott Darling, directed by Frank Strayer and recorded by RCA Photophone.

"Caught Cheating" ranges from high chiseling to low crime in its pursuit of laughs. The cheater is a gunman's wife and both the gunman and Sidney's wife think he is the sheik the wife likes. Sidney's wife shadows him to learn the truth about him and the gunman shadows her to put him on the spot! And Murray, in his search for excitement, is the one that leads him into the thick of the fray!

Nita Martin and Dorothy Christy are the two ladies without benefit of scruples. Robert Ellis is the gunman. Fred Malatesta is a rival gangster and Bertha Mann is Sidney's frantic wife.

JOAN OF ARC

MAY 30, 1931, will mark the fifth centennial of the martyrdom of Joan of Arc. The "Maid of Orleans," as she was frequently called, was born Jan. 6, 1412. Few persons in history have had so many spectacular and heroic deeds crowded into so brief a period of time—only nineteen years—as Joan of Arc. Born of peasant parents, she was deprived the privilege of an education, but through inheritance possessed a most extraordinary imagination seldom equaled by more mature and brilliant persons.

L. A. Barrett.

When only thirteen years of age, she imagined she heard voices and saw visions from the heavenly world. These came to her at most unexpected moments, which clearly indicated that she was thrust upon her by a power over which she had no control and which she personally did not intentionally create. The most daring and venturesome suggestion, which later took the form of a command, was that she was destined to free France from the dominating power of the English, who had taken possession of the entire country.

Through a period of three years these visions were insistent and finally, at the age of nineteen, she succeeded in gaining the consent of the court to lead her own army. Under her inspiring leadership her forces were successful in gaining many victories, the most noteworthy being the siege of Orleans and the victory of Patay, both of which occurred in 1428, a hundred years before the Protestant Reformation.

Maureen O'Sullivan of the screen was born at Boyle, Ireland. Her home is in Salthay, Killarney. She was educated in Dublin, London and Paris. She had brief stage experience before coming to this country. She has been seen in "Song O' My Heart," "So This is London" and "Just Imagine." She is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 116 pounds, has blue eyes and dark brown hair.

GRENNAN FARM RECEIVES NEW ADDITION TO HERD

High Priced Bull Calf Purchased and Brought to Farmcrest.

The arrival of "Blonde Jester" at the Farmcrest farms owned by P. H. Grennan, and located on the Waterford road, caused no little excitement the early part of last week. Insurance men, veterinarians and experienced cow men were all on hand to welcome the youthful ruler of the fast growing popular Grennan herd, as he was unloaded from his crate in which he traveled from Titusville, Pennsylvania, to his new home.

Old hands in the cattle business stated that no such commotion, all over a bull calf, had ever been witnessed in these parts. And after all the scene of the excitement was only the arrival of a 14-month-old bull who was insured on his arrival for $2,000, and who in another year or two should be worth $15,000 or $20,000, if things go right, stated Joe Denton.

It seems this particular youngster, "Blonde Jester," imported in his dam and born in December, 1929, has 31 1/2% the blood of Blonde's Golden Oxford sire in two lines. He inherits the influence of both Blonde's Algoma and Brampton Oxford Blonde. His sire, Royal Jester, is a first-prize son of Design's Fern Oxford (the out of Brampton Oxford Blonde), and a full brother to Soerette's Fern Oxford, who is making a name in the Trinity and St. Martin parishes on the Island of Jersey through the excellence of his young offspring, Royal Jester's dam is a Certified cow by Fly Sultan (sire of Xenia's Sultan) out of a Certified cow by Golden Fern's Lad of Oklands, a three-quarter brother to Golden Fern's Noble.

So after all, maybe there was reason for the tremendous ovation given the new arrival at the Farmcrest farms.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS By H. IRVING KING

BEDPOST MAGIC

ANY young lady—unmarried—who wishes to know whom she is destined to marry should name the four corners of her bed after four young men of her acquaintance before she retires for the night. Then, if she is to marry one of the young men whose name she has used, that young man will appear to her in her dreams. A variant of this superstition is naming the four corners of a room the first time you sleep in it. And in some localities the destined husband does not appear in a dream but is the first one of the four chosen youths met with the next day. Of course if the young lady "seeks" is not to marry any one of the four men whose names she has used none of them will appear to her in her dreams or meet her next day when she first goes out of the house.

In this superstition there are three sorts of magic—the contagious magic of our primitive ancestors; "arithmancy," or the magic of numbers, which the ancients erected into a pseudo science on a par with astrology, which was practiced by the Babylonians and which in latter days formed a part of the philosophy of Pythagoras and Plato; and the "mana in names," a primitive doctrine common among all uncivilized peoples even today. The magic of contact in this case is that form of sympathetic magic by which a savage seeks to injure his enemy by throwing a spear into his footprints. The bed, because it retains the impression of one sleeping on it, and because it is brought so intimately into contact with the sleeper, partakes of the sleeper's individuality—his ego.

Now the bed has four posts, or corners, and the bedroom has four corners, and it was by the number four that the Pythagoreans swore on important occasions. According to Galen, the great Greek physician and philosopher, the number represented the four "humors" of man—fire, water, air and earth. To this add—the "mana," or mystic quality, in names. A part of this primitive doctrine is that you can get hold of a person's name you can influence him in most any way you please. These ingredients make a pretty strong dose of magic which is exceedingly popular with young ladies. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

How It Started By JEAN NEWTON

"A LOTUS-EATER"

TO SAY of a man that he is a lotus-eater does not necessarily or even inferentially imply that he eats the leaves of the lotus plant.

Rather is it a metaphorical reference to a man who is heedless of the passage of the hours and opportunity and who lazily fritters away his life in idleness, ennui and pointless pleasure.

The phrase itself is interesting as an allusion to the lotus-eaters of Greek mythology.

In this realm the lotus-eaters comprised those followers of Ulysses who actually ate of the leaves of the lotus plant which had the effect of rendering them oblivious to their friends and home.

It is from this circumstance that we have the phrase in the refined modern connotation of forgetfulness of time and ambition. (© 1930, Bell Syndicate)
