

TIME EXTENDED FOR PAYMENT OF VILLAGE TAXES

Penalty Not To Be Added Before Sept. 10 Decides The Commission

The village commission has extended the tax collection period to September 10th. All village taxes may be paid on or before that date without the penalty being added. There will be no extension of time after that date without the addition of the usual 2% penalty.

Many taxpayers, no doubt, have expected this announcement as they have practiced has always been followed in past years. According to the records of the treasurer's office the collection for the current year is running slightly above last year, and if the August and September collections are as good as those for the month of July, the excellent record always held by Plymouth will be maintained this year.

The cost of permitting taxes to go delinquent is enormous. Besides the 2% penalty added by the village, a fee of 4% is added by the county treasurer for collecting, and in addition there is a penalty of 9% per year added to all taxes remaining delinquent. If taxes are not paid within two years after they are returned delinquent to the county treasurer, the property is sold and the cost of redemption is very high.

Mayor Back From Long Motor Trip

Back from a motor trip up through Canada as far as Winnipeg, Mayor and Mrs. Robert Mimmack, both full of a very delightful time in the north-west. The chief executive of the village states that the only unpleasant thing of the trip were reports of unfavorable drought conditions in that part of the country. He declares that a very large portion of the people living in the wheat sections of western Canada face ruin as a result of the prolonged drought. The mayor has one more fishing trip in view before the summer is over.

Public Wedding Will Be Feature Of Fair At Northville Next Week

The Fair will run continuously from the morning of Tuesday, August 25 to late Saturday night, August 29.

At the public wedding, to be held Wednesday evening, August 26, a prominent Northville couple, as yet unnamed, will be publicly married as part of the festivities.

The marriage will be a legitimate one and will be beautiful and impressive, the couple being attended by personal friends and members of the revenue attired in gorgeous gowns.

Every night of the Fair will be a gala night, something exciting and thrilling to view each minute. For every member of the family, the Fair will be educational, inspiring and entertaining.

Arrangements have been made to make the crowds attending the Fair welcome and to anticipate their every desire toward having a pleasant and eventful visit in Northville.

Wood & Garlett Buy Plachta Out

Announcement was made the early part of the week by The Wood & Garlett insurance agency that they had purchased the business of Edward Plachta, who for the past twelve years has been a resident of Plymouth and has conducted a business here for the last five years.

In selling his business Mr. Plachta stated that he had plans which would take him to another city but at the present time he would make no public announcement. During his stay in Plymouth he has made many friends and has built an excellent insurance agency.

Taking over the responsibilities of the new business, both Mr. Wood and Mr. Garlett stated that they hoped to be able to render the same fine service to the customers that they have received in the past and both felt that the combined strength of the agencies would render a much more complete service than either had ever been able to offer before.

Both offices will be combined in one and the headquarters will be moved to the present location of the Wood & Garlett agency in the Penniman Allen Theatre building.

Oscar Alsbro and mother, Mrs. Matilda Alsbro of Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrman and Josephine Harrman of Lansing, have returned from a week's motor trip, having visited Asheville, N. C.; Washington, D. C.; Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York City, Lake Placid and the Adirondack mountains.

HERE IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY TO AID SOME ONE IN NEED OF WORK

During the past few days several unemployed people called at the Village Hall asking for work. In one case the owners of four lots which were grown over by noxious weeds authorized the village to cut the same. The work of cutting the weeds was given to one of the unemployed persons which made it possible for him to secure enough money to pay his light bill and purchase some shoes for his children.

There are several lots in town which are overgrown with weeds and which could be mowed by these people at very little expense. There are also several jobs around the homes which could provide employment for a number of people. During the next thirty days the season will be right for building or rebuilding lawns. There are several people who would be competent to handle this work.

Anyone having work of a temporary nature may secure the names of persons available for this work by calling the Village Hall. A few days for some of the unemployed will be of great assistance to them in meeting their rapidly accruing obligations.

PAUL HAYWARD NEW GOLF HERO

Local Clothing Merchant Wins Washentaw Club Sweepstakes

He hid his light under a bushel. Until the Evening Press of Ypsilanti blazed forth to the world in an eight-column, black head line—

That Paul Hayward, the genial and likable Paul Hayward of Hayward's men's clothing store of Plymouth, had won the important golf sweepstakes at the Washentaw Country Club golf course last Sunday afternoon.

In the field against Plymouth's new golf hero was a score or more of some of the best golf players about here.

Not only was the competition keen, but according to the Press, scoring for the afternoon's contest in which Mr. Hayward was the winner, was the lowest of the year. Paul won the contest 87-18-69, his nearest competitor being F. A. Mellenkamp with a score of 83-14-69.

JOHN T. PETTINGILL DIES—MASONIC LODGE CONDUCTS THE FUNERAL

HIGHLY RESPECTED RESIDENT OF PLYMOUTH; MASON FOR OVER 50 YEARS

An active career of seventy-eight years was ended Sunday evening, when John T. Pettingill, one of Plymouth's well known and respected residents, passed away at his home on Williams street, after an illness of four weeks.

Mr. Pettingill suffered a severe illness a year ago, but recovered and had been in his usual good health until recently. His death was preceded by that of Mrs. Pettingill, two years ago, she having passed away August 25th, 1920.

The deceased was born in New York state, June 4th, 1853, and when a small boy moved with his parents, sister, wealthy, and younger brother, Jesse, to Michigan, locating in the vicinity of Wayne. It was during their residence here that Mr. Pettingill, with his father and brother, operated a wood yard in Wayne and Jackson, which provided the Michigan Central railroad with fuel for their old wood burning engines.

Later, becoming interested in the building of railroads, he went to Kentucky, and in 1878 he was united in marriage to Ellen Davis at Depoy, Ky. Only one son, William T. Pettingill, was born of this union. He now resides in Plymouth.

Mr. Pettingill and family returned to Michigan in 1899, and have since resided in Plymouth; and for the past fifteen years he has been in the employ of the Detroit Edison Co.

On January 29th, 1928, Mr. and Mrs. Pettingill celebrated their golden wedding anniversary by residing their friends at their home, 861 Williams St., during the afternoon hours.

Since the death of Mrs. Pettingill, the deceased has remained in his home leaving with him his niece, Mrs. Geneva Ballor, and his father-in-law, T. B. Davis, who has made his home in the Pettingill family for the past eight years. Mr. Davis is a man nearing 94 years, his birthday being the 11th of October. His mind is very keen and he is active in every way, and for the past two years they have been constant companions.

Mr. Pettingill was an active member of the First Presbyterian church of Plymouth, and for several years he was a member of the Masonic Lodge for over half a century, having joined that order in 1878, and during the more active years of his life he was one of Masonry's most interested members. For many years he has also been a member of Plymouth Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and has always been a willing worker.

The deceased will not only be missed by his home circle, but his cheery smile and pleasant way will be greatly missed by many friends.

The funeral services were held from the Schrader Funeral Home, Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock, under the auspices of Plymouth Rock Lodge, Rev. Walter Nichol, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated. Burial took place in the mausoleum in Riverside cemetery.

The Helping Hand Society will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Housman, Wednesday, August 26, at their cottage at Sandy Bottom Lake. Pot-luck dinner at noon. We will meet at Plymouth Kellogg Park at 9:30 a. m. All members try and go and take some one with you. Take along your own dishes.

When Warren M. Dunn of the State Highway Department offices in Ann Arbor, apparently went to sleep in his automobile last Thursday night on the Plymouth road two miles east of Plymouth, he crashed with terrific speed into a roadside stand, knocked it many feet from its foundation, and caused injuries to Mrs. Grace Wells of such a serious nature that Dr. Paul W. Butz has been required to give her almost constant medical attention since the accident.

Not only that, but his automobile, when it came to a complete stop, was almost entirely within the stand. Genevieve Wells was also hurt in the crash. She was in the stand with her mother at the time of the accident. Mrs. Wells has a broken left arm besides severe injuries to her head. The daughter was badly cut.

The crash broke a gas pipe that ran into the stand, and for a few minutes the two women were fearful of a gas explosion.

Dunn's car was badly wrecked. He escaped without injury. The accident happened about 10:30 at night. It was necessary for the automobile to swing practically 150 feet from the opposite side of the highway in order to hit the stand as it did.

Dunn's car was badly wrecked. He escaped without injury. The accident happened about 10:30 at night. It was necessary for the automobile to swing practically 150 feet from the opposite side of the highway in order to hit the stand as it did.

Fortunate for Dunn was the fact that the car ran between two trees, escaping both of them by just a few inches, before it hit the stand.

Shortly after noon Sunday, a report was received concerning a large amount of rust in the Village water system. As soon as this report was received the Department of Public Works started flushing fire hydrants in the districts from which these complaints came.

It was found that the water contained a large amount of rust which gradually seeping over the hydrants were flushed. The entire northeast section of the village appeared to be the most seriously affected by the rust as no reports were received from other districts. Within three hours after the first report was received the water had been fairly well cleared up.

Several theories were advanced as to the probable cause of this condition. The most logical solution appears to be that a water hammer, caused by air getting into the line, developed, which loosened up the rust in the old water mains. This theory is further substantiated by the fact that two serious leaks were found at joints in the water mains. The existence of air in the line often causes leaks to develop at the joints. So far, the cause of the air getting into the lines has not been determined.

Whenever any condition occurs which causes the water to be discolored or contain an odor, the village officials should be immediately notified in order that the location of such condition can be determined and steps taken to eliminate it. It is always advisable for anyone noticing unusual conditions to notify the officials in order that the condition can be cleared up before it gets into the entire system.

Find Plenty Of Booze In Raid

A second raid on the place of Mrs. Oureore Annet, Moreland road, arrested a week or so ago on a liquor charge, resulted in local officers Monday night securing 250 bottles of beer and five gallons of moonshine as well as a slot machine that was hidden in the chicken coop with the moonshine.

Taken before Justice Ford Brooks, she was bound over to circuit court and bail fixed at $1,000, which was furnished.

Local officers are taking part in the general state-wide clean-up that has been requested by state officials.

Edward Hull, who was taken before Justice Brooks last week, was found not guilty of a larceny charge that had been made.

Also, it was Florence Flick and not Fannie Flick that was held last week to circuit court on a liquor possession charge.

MR. AND MRS. HARRY ROBINSON OBSERVE WEDDING ANNIVERSARY BY TAKING WEDDING TRIP TO PUT-IN-BAY OVER AGAIN

"Why its not a bit different than it was 45 years ago today when we came down here on our wedding trip. Looks just the same in every way, except that the big monument over there, The piers, caves, trees—the whole shebang—just the same as ever."

The speaker was Harry Robinson, well known Plymouth auctioneer. The day was Sunday, August 10, 1931. The place was the pier at Put-In-Bay down in Lake Erie.

The listener was Mrs. Harry Robinson. The occasion was the 45th wedding anniversary of this estimable couple and the trip was the same one they took for their wedding trip, 45 years ago.

"The only difference I can discover," continued Harry, "is the change in prices. Then it cost us 50¢ apiece to come down here. Now its $1.25. But we had a good time both times," he told Plymouth friends when recounting his experiences Monday.

W.C.T.U. Members Plan To Give Picnic Next Thurs. Afternoon

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet for a picnic Thursday, August 27th, at the home of Mesdames Starkweather and Hillmer. A play will be given by the members, and it is hoped none having part will be absent. Roll call will be answered by giving funny sayings of children. Members are asked to invite one or more guests.

A hot lunch will be served, and each member is urged to aid the hostesses by bringing plate, cup, fork and spoon.

We take the following from the Boston Post of June 24: "What are the rewards of gambling? Actual information has been furnished by tracing the careers of 47 men who formed a gang soon after the end of the World war. In ten years, nine had been killed, twelve were in jail, three were beggars, crippled by police bullets, six were physical wrecks. On the other hand, four had reformed and six were "moderately successful" in gang leadership. Four disappeared from the record, and three are criminals hunted by the police. That does not offer much inducement for the young man who mistakenly believes that crime pays big dividends."

PLYMOUTH TO CLOSE FOR FAIR

Announcement is made by the Chamber of Commerce that Plymouth will participate generally in the Plymouth day at the Northville-Wayne County Fair next Thursday, and that most all of the stores and business places in town will be closed for the occasion.

Plymouth has always turned out in a body for this event, and it is probable that this place will do much towards making Plymouth day a real success.

The Plymouth high school band will go to Northville and play during the afternoon.

Miss Vivian Groth Is Bride of Garnet Evans; To Reside in Plymouth

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Evans, when their youngest son, Garnet, was united in marriage to Miss Vivian Groth, daughter of Albert Groth. The fireplace was prettily decorated with flowers, which made a beautiful setting for the ceremony.

The bride's dress was of Congo shade transparent velvet, and she carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Miss Margaret Melow wore a pretty autumn shade of crepe, and carried a bouquet of cream roses. Leslie Evans attended the bride as best man. The groom's mother wore black lace. The George Weed, grandmother of the bride, wore black crepe. Mrs. George Evans wore flowered crepe. PLAYGROUNDS AND PARKS ARE NOW NECESSITY

Zone Committee Points Out Needs As Result Of Traffic Conditions

This is article number seven in the series on the subject of City Planning and Zoning taken from the city planning and zoning primers prepared by the United States Department of Commerce under the direction of an advisory committee appointed by President Hoover at the time he was Secretary of Commerce. It has been prepared especially for Plymouth Mail readers by the Plymouth committee that is making a study of this question.

The Outskirts of the City
"Sparsely built-up territories, particularly those on the outskirts of the city, allow the best scope for good development as to streets, recreation spaces, and public improvements in accordance with a logical plan. Foresight in planning such districts is important not only for its inherent benefits to the new localities, but for the convenience of all who pass through them, and for its effect on conditions at the center of the city."

Parks and Playgrounds
"Adequate recreation space, although often overlooked, is of great importance to a community, and provision for it rightly belongs in a good plan. A lawn around the home is the best place for very small children to play, but public playgrounds and athletic fields are needed for organized games for larger children and adults. The increasing dangers imposed by rapidly moving traffic further emphasize the hazard of the streets as play space, and the need for enough well located playgrounds to care for every child. The distance that children of various ages will customarily travel to playgrounds should, of course, be recognized."

"A great country park desirable as it is, is now generally recognized as a supplement to, not a substitute for smaller parks convenient to the people who head ready access to trees, grass and open space. Thus all the breathing spaces for fresh air and sunshine provided by recreation space are an integral part of a city plan. Adoption of a park and playground program frequently results in the donation of land for park purposes by public spirited citizens, or by landowners who discern the advantage thus obtainable for their adjoining subdivisions."

"Public recreation facilities are as important to the village as to the large city. Many a farm community has no public parks or playgrounds, hence the children must be trespassing to play, and adult athletic contests are hampered by inadequate, makeshift facilities. Good playgrounds and athletic fields lead to better physical development and a spirit of team play, while every form of wholesome recreation for adults helps to check unwise movement of population to large cities."

Carrying Out The City Plan
"The practical part of a good city plan requires skillful handling of details, clear vision into the future, good judgment in deciding what is practical, and a spirit of fair play in adjusting interests that may appear to conflict. Once formulated, the plan needs to be kept up to date, and its execution is never completed while the city is growing or rebuilding. Placing the general responsibility in the hands of a continuing body of well-informed, influential men is the best means so far devised for securing efficiency in city planning. Carrying out the plan often requires courage on the part of the city government, for free department from it may result in promoting just such forces and unscrupulously as it is designed to prevent. Its integrity can be secured only by a strong and continuing public opinion, and this is best maintained by having leading men in the community at the head of the work."

WILLING TALKERS

Michigan has been shocked and aroused by the terrible crime committed a few days ago near Ypsilanti. To the credit of the peace officers of the state the guilty have been captured and will be fed, clothed, kept warm and entertained during the rest of their natural lives. Here is a case of where an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth brand of punishment would be approved by nearly every one. But of course that cannot be under our system of coddling criminals.

This crime, like many others, brings into prominence the owners of wagging tongues—and for them there also ought to be some sort of a penalty for their offense.

How unfortunate it is that there is always someone to be found who appears willing and anxious to say something or do something which will in some way reflect upon the honor and respectability of some one else.

We have in mind the wagging tongue of the Milan waiter who declared that one of the Ypsilanti boys, who was so beastly murdered, was drunk and barely able to stand as they came into his place to eat on the night of the crime.

Later evidence shows that the boys and girls were never in his place. At the time he said they were in his restaurant, their dead bodies were being carted about Washtenaw county in an automobile, their slayers looking for a place to hide them.

Some tried to have it that the children met up with their slayers in a blind pig. The confessions of the human butchers show that the crime was committed early in the evening, possibly not long after 10:30 o'clock, and the victims were never in a blind pig.

Even an Ann Arbor editor, before all the facts were revealed, accepted as truth some of the stories of these "wagging tongues," and indirectly chided the victims for having misled their parents. This impression was created by the tree-talkers. In no way did the young people mislead their parents. They were not drunk and they had visited no joints and if they had not been slaughtered they would doubtless have been home at a fairly reasonable hour.

The pity of it all is that through our system of petting criminals and making life one long, sweet song for them, our streets, our highways, our homes are no longer places of safety.

Some day an enraged public will wake up—and then God help the crooks

LUCKY FOR MICHIGAN

It is needless to say that we haven't always agreed with Auditor General Fuller on everything that has ever happened in Michigan but irrespective of these clashing ideas, it is a mighty lucky thing for Michigan that he is on the job in Lansing at present. How much he has saved the taxpayers during the present year would be a hard thing to estimate. And he is now objecting strenuously to the executive office dipping into the fund set aside to advertise Michigan's summer resorts outside the state for the purpose of paying salaries to political appointees. In retaliation the governor has attempted to cut the fund appropriated by the state legislature for the operation of Mr. Fuller's office. Mr. Fuller has pointed out that to relieve his office of this regular help will only serve to reduce the income of the taxpayers. In other words he will be unable to see to it that the state gets from the various smaller units of government all that it has got coming—and this amounts to millions of dollars during the course of a year's time. Some great business corporations, even some cities and foreign governments have found it advisable to appoint "financial dictators." It might not be a bad idea for Michigan, under present existing conditions to name Mr. Fuller the financial dictator of the state.

ADVERTISING RACKETEERS

Our town may not have the blood-thirsty wops who flourish in the underworld of the great cities, but there is nevertheless a class of racketeers who have their eyes on this city, and are continually slipping in and going out with a generous amount of coin for their meager efforts.

There are very few more harassed personages in the land than the country merchant. He is systematically coaxed, teased, cajoled and brow-beaten by these racketeers (who are looking for easy money) into taking on their advertising fakes, and these schemes are without end in number, and in the main practically all without advertising value.

They range from railroad time cards, hotel registers, cafe menus, door-knob hangars, so-called booster write-ups, to almost every kind of bologna the mind of a human can conjure.

Several years ago illuminated sign boards with changing pictures were placed along roads adjacent to the city. Cars whizzing along at 40 to 60 had a lot of spare time to read these "advertisements." If they did take their eyes off the road they merely flirted with the ditch, a turn-over, or a smash-up.

Then there came a bunch that sold "advertising" on cards with the order of services of churches. They told the advertisers the local church was hard pressed for cash, and had asked them to help them out. The church got 75 cards that were never used, the printer got $5, and the fakers netted $120 for their profits.

The slicker with the circus shell game has nothing on these birds when it comes to their "con" games.

Scores of times since coming to this city we have been approached by these fakirs and offered juicy plums if we would cooperate with them in their schemes, and we have invariably turned them away.

We turned them away because in practically every case there was an advertising value in what they had to offer; because their charges of the prospective customer were outrageous; and mainly because they were fakirs, or in more modern parlance—racketeers.

There are home activities which must be supported, but the next time one of these so-called racketeers drops into town and tries to divorce you from your much-needed cash—show him the gate—no matter what kind of advertising he is selling.

If you have any doubt as to the probable advertising value of the proposition these fellows offer, consult your local publishers, who in many instances, had the opportunity to analyze the grafts before they were offered to you.

And at the end of the year your bank balance will be more substantial because you passed up your fakes.—Leader, Pipestone, Minnesota.

IT IS ABOUT TIME

Everyone will applaud the delayed action of Governor Brucker in demanding that the state police of Michigan do something to clean up the crime conditions of this state. During recent years there has grown up in Michigan a certain law defiance, a disregard for the rights of others, that has been amazing. Crooks regarded everybody and everything as their prey with little fear as to what the consequences might be. The taxpayers have maintained a state police force at an expense of considerably more than half a million dollars per year. Observation would lead us to believe that most of these officers have been used for display purposes. Roaring motorcycles driven by neatly dressed officers do really make an attractive setting for the state's big executive automobile as it is driven along the lines of parades and down the nicely paved highways of the state, but the people who are paying the bill are demanding that these men be employed at the thing for which they were hired—THE SUPPRESSION OF CRIME. Many innocent lives have been laid on the altar of sacrifice due entirely to official inattention. It is the sincere hope of every one that the Governor's belated orders to the department over which he has had almost direct executive control since the day he became attorney general will be effective in making Michigan a fairly safe state in which to reside.

WORK AND PLAY

In a certain English town, hard hit by industrial depression, unemployed men are enjoying sports on a field provided for them by the Rotary club.

"Scandalous," says aunt Granny. "Sakes alive," echoes her sister Grundy, "the idea of encouraging men to play when they should be looking for work!"

But Aunts Granny and Grundy do not understand. When jobs are not to be had, there is a very profound reason why men, idle through no fault of their own, should be given an opportunity to play.

Play provides a release for physical energies, but more important than that, it provides a healthful outlet for those complex intellectual tensions which determine a man's morale. And that is a very important thing.

Beggars and convicts and would-be suicides are persons with a low morale. With self-respect gone, a man either turns against society with a vengeance born of desperation, or he drifts into the easy belief that society owes him a living—a debt he may not be loath to press on the street corner with a tin cup, or in a bank vault with an acetylene torch. In either case he is anti-social.

Men who play may have hard luck, but if they keep on playing, they are going to keep their moral fibre intact longer than the man who mopes and sighs and fidgets.

Tell that to Aunts Granny and Grundy.—The Rotarian.

THE TARIFF

No nation in the world has a higher income tariff on farm products than does the United States. The rates were fixed purposely excessive to keep out corn, wheat, cattle and other farm products of foreign nations—to give to the American farmer the American market exclusively. But in spite of this tariff wall, farm products in America are selling at lower prices than at any time since the Civil war. Now the question is, of what value is the tariff law?

IONIA NOW READY FOR THE LAST SAD RITES

We hope it is only a happenstance, and not a deliberate attempt to be facetious, but did you notice that after we had accumulated an undertaker for mayor, a tombstone salesman for member of the common council somebody came along the other day and tried to sell the city a cemetery?—Fred Kelster in The Ionia County News.

HERE IS DEFINITION OF SOMETHING NEW

The poll bearers of the investment world are the professional committee servers. Like buzzards they sit on the fence scanning the horizon for bones to pick. They fatten on misery and suffering.

Let an investment concern become involved in difficulties and immediately the vultures swoop down with gracious offers to organize and serve on "committees to protect the security holders." Too often, alas for the poor bond holders, men of this type are permitted to form and conduct the committees. Badly off as the investors were when their company went bad, they are worse off when these ghouls get hold of their affairs. What little is left is speedily stripped by these gentlemen, who wax fat and prosperous by extracting long fees for "services rendered" from those who already have been thoroughly deceived.—Edward A. Nowack in The Michigan State Digest.

NORTHERN EDITORS ALL HET UP ABOUT PAJAMAS

The editor of the Grayling Avalanche, complains about the girls wearing pajamas, which he calls pants. He is real honest and says "pants." You should see some of the outfits that come to town. The days when short skirts were the fashion, in our opinion were the best in our lifetime. Let's have 'em shorter. We imagine Oscar wouldn't object to shorts.—Al Webber in The Cheboygan Observer.

AVERILL JUST LOVES TO MAKE GOV. LOOK FOOLISH

"Pitty Good, Pitty Good." We're darn glad that Governor Brucker has told the good folks up Traverse City way that the planting of more cherry trees will restore prosperity to Michigan. There is nothing like a couple million good cherry pies to make a pantry look up-to-date. Just think how much labor will be employed to pit that many cherries! Gosh, we pit that many cherries! Gosh, we serve us and keep us from a jam! "Nothing like having a good Governor that knows the value of the cherry business," said Harry Izor, of Durand, to Fred Kelster, of Ionia, as both of them teed off in a foursome with Schuyler L. Marshall, of Ionia, and Murl H. DePue of Charlotte.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eventide.

A USELESS QUESTION FOR ANYONE TO ASK

The series of auto accidents witnessed by this community last week which took its toll of lives with the possibility that the list of deaths is not yet complete is calculated to make us ask the question "What is wrong here?"

According to many witnesses booze must be held responsible for at least one of the deaths, the only wonder is that in this case it didn't cause more deaths. There is no disagreement on the proposition that gasoline and booze do not mix, yet there are those who think they can mix it and get away with it. One thing seems to be fairly well established and that is that the passenger who rides with a man in his cups or even near it, is taking a grave chance. His sense of safety should prompt him to find other means of reaching his destination.—C. H. Hemingway in The Washtenaw County Tribune.

CASTING ASPERATIONS UPON MICHIGAN'S HOLY

Word came out of the north country last week that a giant puff ball fifty-six inches in circumference and weighing thirteen pounds, had been found in Montmorency county. A quiet checkup is being made to find out if any prominent state official is missing.—Fred Kelster in The Ionia County News.

Well, if they ever miss Chicago, they can look under some gangster's thumb.

On Tuesday, August 25, Mrs. Cass Hough will entertain about twenty guests at a bridge luncheon, at her home on Garfield avenue, in honor of Miss Peck. About fifteen relatives gathered at the home of Mrs. Harry Green on Union street last week Tuesday noon, and gave her a complete surprise in honor of her birthday anniversary. Lots of good things to eat and a jolly afternoon of visiting made the time pass too quickly. The guests left wishing their hostess many more such happy occasions. Relatives were present from Detroit, Northville and Plymouth.

Charles Rathburn attended a supervisor's meeting at Grosse Pointe Yacht Club last Thursday evening.

Rev. and Mrs. Frank M. Field and two daughters, Esther and Marjorie, of Flint, have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Thomas for a short time this week. Mrs. Doris Falter, of St. Louis, Mo., the eldest daughter of the Fields, has also been a guest at the Thomas home during the time her parents visited here. Rev. The fifth annual reunion of the Passage family was held Saturday when relatives to the number of fifty-one gathered at the Odd Fellow hall on Main street, for a six-thirty dinner. After this most bountiful repast a musical program was given followed by a meeting at which time Luther Passage of this place, was elected president; Edward Passage of Jackson, vice-president, and Mrs. Ivan Gray of this place, secretary and treasurer. Guests were present from Batavia, N. Y.; Detroit, Melvindale, Marshall, Jackson, Northville and Plymouth.

A complete surprise was perpetrated upon Karl Hillmer, Monday evening, when eighteen relatives, decided to help him celebrate his birthday. They got into his home by the aid of Mrs. Hillmer without his knowledge, so when he did discover them he was really surprised. Not only did the guests bring delicious refreshments, but also two lovely bouquets of gladioli which he prized most highly. The evening was passed in visiting and playing games. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Karl Starkweather and family, Mrs. Mary K. Hillmer, Mr. and Mrs. George Holstein, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Hillmer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Olds, Mrs. Hilda Stevens and son, Jack, of this place, and Davis R. Hillmer of Detroit.

On Monday evening Mrs. Robert Howey entertained at a miscellaneous shower at her home on Church St. in honor of Miss Josephine Schmidt, whose marriage to Claude May of Plainville, will occur on Saturday, August 22. Places were marked for sixteen guests at one large table which was very artistically decorated in colors pink and white. In front of Miss Schmidt was a miniature bride and groom and leading from her place to an umbrella, which held the lovely shower gifts, was a ribbon on which at intervals were attached slips of paper which told her different stunts to do before she could receive her gifts. This caused much merriment and all enjoyed the great pleasure derived from doing this. The evening was passed in playing bridge and in guessing games after which a dainty lunch was served by the hostess and her mother, Mrs. Fred Sallow. The invited guests, were, besides the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Maurice Schmidt; her sister, Miss Florence Schmidt; Mrs. Edward Dobbs, Mrs. Basil Carney, Mrs. Eugene Riggs, Mrs. Arthur Blank, Mrs. Pierce Owen, Miss Winnifred Draper, Miss Beulah Fisher and Miss Sarah Gayde of Plymouth; Mrs. Harry Moynes and Mrs. Arthur Watties of Detroit, and Mrs. Nettie Fahrner of Ann Arbor.

If your chickens have worms, add 2 per cent by weight, of finely powdered tobacco dust (containing at least 1.5 per cent nicotine) to the dry mash. The mixture should be fed for a period of three or four weeks and repeated at three-week intervals as often as necessary. This will control roundworms and to some extent, cecum worms in the flock as well as lessen the danger to young chicks and pullets next spring.

Another Record on Firestone Tires

When Russell Boardman, shown at the controls, and John Polando, accomplished one of the greatest feats in aviation history by piloting their big Bellanca plane straight from New York to Constantinople for a new world distance mark of 5,000 miles, their ship was equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

Henry Ford Constructs Garbage Disposal Plant For City of Dearborn

While a portion of Dearborn's garbage was being disposed of at a hopper located at the Rouge plant of the Ford Motor company, a period of not longer than 90 days will be required by the Ford Motor Co. for the installation of equipment and the working out of details, before all of the city's garbage can be disposed of at the plant. It was learned from city officials on Wednesday.

The offer to dispose of the city's garbage was made by the Ford Motor company through Charles E. Sorenson last week and comes following many months of experimentation by the motor company with garbage disposal machinery and methods of deriving by-products of value.

The cost of ridding the city of its garbage will be greatly decreased as soon as every detail has been worked. Mayor Clyde M. Ford pointed out. At one time the city used to haul its waste to French Landing, a distance of about 14 miles, and at present there are disposing of it by carting it to pig farms out in the country. These long hauls are costly and require trucks, the upkeep of which has been expensive, city officials stated.

With the hopper located at the Rouge plant, small trucks which are used to collect the material from house to house can just drive down to the plant and empty their load immediately, thus doing away with any unnecessary handling and transportation cost, Mark B. Owen, superintendent of public works explained.

When all machinery has been installed and the Ford plant is in full operation the handling of all the city's supply can be completed with ease, company officials stated.—Dearborn Press.

Force Eloise Justice Of Peace Off Road, Give Him The Laugh, He Says

Three negroes forced the car driven by Justice of the Peace E. H. Davidson of Eloise, over the curb at midnight, Sunday; laughed in the judge's face; made some smart remark that he could not catch; and then drove on, Judge Davidson told Dearborn police who came to his aid.

Judge Davidson was out for a ride and was seeking some gas station which was open. After passing Middlebelt road he noticed that a car was following him, and while driving along near Gully road the car shot ahead of him and cut sharply in front, forcing his car up over the curb. The front tire was damaged and Judge Davidson was dazed when his head struck the side of the car in back of the driver's seat. A passing motorist stopped and notified Dearborn police who later took the judge home.

This is believed to have been the second time that an attempt has been made to do bodily harm to the Nankin justice of the peace. No reason other than some persons, who probably reside in Inkster, were seeking revenge for a prolate court sentence which the judge has meted out during his term, was given by the police.

Rosedale Gardens

By J. W. WALKER

Accidents on US-12 are becoming popular again, to the east of us and to the west of us, and then directly in front of the sales emporium.

Sundae ante meridian at near four of the clock, one Dick Beberson, 7132 Harger Ave., Dearborn, wife and three babies, and Mrs. Joseph McKean, 13715 W. Warren, Dearborn, were going east when they got off the paved way and took three bounces at the Borden's Ice Cream truck and completely demolished all glass and body of the Ford "A".

Like all such instances, the driver of the truck was accused of being intoxicated. However, prompt examination by competent medical authority disproved Mr. Wilfred Ewing, 7636 Lincoln, Detroit, was a sober ice cream salesman, and he resumed his duties two hours or so late.

Mr. Joseph McKean was hurried out from his home, and assisted in cleaning up the mess of the Ford "A" and supervised in carrying away of his son-in-law's car to the auto hospital.

Blakes-Masters, Joe Schroeder, Jr., Donald Johnston and Herbert Kalmbach are getting to the north as far or maybe further than Alpena and return. Taking Boy Scout equipment, they expect to have a time of it, making their own pancakes and everything—and ain't that sumblin'?

Fire did slight damage to the Floyd Coulter's home last Thursday. Though it created much excitement, the prompt arrival of the Plymouth Fire Dept. (which came over in almost nothing flat) and the quick action of Neighbors Fred C. Welmer, the fire was confined to a corner of the sewing room.

Those who have met Father Contway like his wonderful personality and have physical help in the many contemplated ventures in social relations and community life.

The Sales Office (Johnnie Walker) or Mrs. Walker will receive the Catholic Census of all who will be in the Parish, data regarding children of school age for the proposed Parochial School, building of which is now progressing very favorably.

are urged to do so, in order that Father Contway will be able to make his plans for the establishment of his work, starting on or about the first of September.

The school building, described last week, is promised, complete, for All Saints' Day Mass (Nov. 1, 1931). The Red Wagon is out again in command of Supt. Al Horckie, whilst Bro. Walt Gestler is manning the first hose reel, so that all trees and shrubs will have a cool drink during the present hot spell.

Childer Play—Susan, Mildred, Donald, Marilyn, Fredly, etc. are having "plays" in the Kaercher's new garage. Derelictives get mad and father's dis-appear and what not. Now it remains for something to be done about this young talent. Time will tell, so let's watch them.

If your rooms are covered with a figured wall-paper, choose a plain colored material. If the wall-paper and most of the furnishings, including the rug, are plain, the curtains may be figured, preferably with a background the same color as the walls, or slightly deeper than the walls.

Some people speed in automobiles like the installment collector is after them—and he probably is!

Recreation Room Adds to Home Pleasures

Basement recreation rooms are ideal for all kinds of games for young and old. Here is a game room in a Louisville, Ky., home. Basement chill and dampness are banished with cane fiber insulation on walls and ceilings. This material also provides a brightly cheery interior finish that fits in with many types of furnishing.

CHANGING styles in home building today are stripping the basement of its working clothes and dressing it in new array for family recreation and enjoyment. Game rooms are becoming the rule rather than the exception in new homes; cellar dampness, darkness and dirt are giving way to dry, bright, cheery quarters where youngsters can lay their railroad tracks and stack their building blocks and where adults can enjoy billiards, ping-pong, bridge, backgammon and what-not without cluttering up regular living space on the floors above.

Owners of homes already built are also finding ways and means of converting basement space, formerly wasted, into pleasant rooms for family recreation. A little careful planning and the expenditure of a small sum of money are all that usually is necessary.

Eliminating Cellar Dampness In transforming part of any basement into a game room, primary consideration must be given to dryness and warmth. Elimination of the chill dampness common in basements is easily effected by lining walls, ceilings and floors with insulation. By using a cane fiber insulation board, such as Celotex, it is possible to combine the advantages of insulation with an attractive interior finish. Cane fiber board is made smooth on one side and textured on the other, thus offering a wide range of decorative possibilities at small cost.

Light Colors Are Necessary For ceilings, insulation board should be nailed directly to the lower side of the floor joists. On walls, the boards should be nailed to furring strips. For the floor, insulation board should be laid under either linoleum or carpeting. This last item is to eliminate the danger of children contracting colds by playing on chilly, damp floors. To take maximum advantage of both natural and artificial illumina-

Farm Cupboard Owner Is Held

Judges George W. Sample of Ann Arbor, altered his previous plan of releasing Mrs. Ceola Kramer, proprietor of the Farm Cupboard at Dixboro on the Plymouth road, and refused to dismiss liquor law charges against her.

Mrs. Kramer was arrested after officers conducted a raid at the place. A quantity of wine and whiskey were confiscated by deputy sheriffs. Aided by a battery of lawyers, Mrs. Kramer fought the case during the examination before Justice Jay H. Payne. She was bound over, however, after Justice Payne denied a motion for dismissal.

Judge Sample at first believed that he would be forced to dismiss the case because of errors in the warrant, but reported that he had found two previous law cases which support such cases. His decision, although Mrs. Kramer's plea for a dismissal, and holds her for trial on charges of violating the prohibition laws.

The decision follows: This case came on to be heard on August 8, 1931, on motion by the respondent of her counsel, Edwin F. Conlin, of the city of Ann Arbor, and Van H. Ring of the city of Detroit, to suppress the exhibits, quash the proceedings and discharge the respondent. I have carefully examined the law including a great many cases not cited or referred to by counsel for the respective parties, of the justice of the peace in his decision on motion to suppress the evidence and have come to the conclusion that the motion ought to be denied and it is hereby denied and the respondent is held for trial. "It is my belief that although the search warrant does not contain a definite date, that it is sufficient under the following cases not cited or referred to in the decision of the justice of the peace.

"People vs. Schregardus, 226-270.

Good practice on the part of the magistrate issuing the warrant, would require that some date as to when the alleged violation took place, be alleged, and that practice should have been followed in this case and it would have avoided the raising of any question.

"However, under the cases above cited the allegation in the affidavit, 'That intoxicating liquors are openly consumed on the premises, is sufficient to give the court jurisdiction.

"As to the bolstering up of the affidavits of search by other affidavits subsequently made or evidence taken before the magistrate, the court is strongly of the opinion that the affidavit for the writ cannot be bolstered by other evidence, as held by the issuing magistrate. The affidavit must be sufficient on its face and cannot be amended or bolstered as set forth by the Supreme court in the case of the People vs. Warner, 221 Michigan 427.

"There are other matters discussed, but the court holds that they are without merit and need no consideration here."

Bandit Waits On Trade In Dearborn Store As His Pal Robs The Place

"What's yours, madam? A chocolate sundae? Certainly."

"May I have a nickel for these five pennies? I wish to make a telephone call."

"Sure thing."

That's how one of a trio of thugs, courtously waited upon customers while his buddies were robbing Harold Drake, manager of a drug store at the corner of Reuter and Warren avenues, on Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m.

"The trio entered the store with their heads down and two of them matched Drake to the rear of the store where they bound and gagged him. They then proceeded to rifle the safe, cash register and narcotic drawers. In the meantime John Wells, 2610 Wark avenue, a messenger boy, came in and he was given the same "courteous" treatment as the manager.

Mrs. A. Hollander, wife of Dr. Hollander of Etouffe, made the telephone calls and while she was in the booth, two of the bandits walked out of the store. Joseph Caplan, of 15090 Potomac avenue, was drinking a soda and after the third bandit had politely enquired if there was anything else

Coming Attractions At Penniman-Allen

Work and vacation were combined by Norma Shearer in the making of "A Free Soul," her latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring picture, which will come Sunday, August 23, to the Penniman-Allen Theatre.

After the interior scenes were filmed, under the direction of Clarence Brown, the company proceeded "on location" to the Yosemite Valley, where the star and Lionel Barrymore enacted the camping sequence, migrating by horseback to new scenery daily, amid the beauties of Vernal Falls, Half Dome, Cathedral Spires, El Capitan, Yosemite Falls, Bridal Veil Falls and other world-famous spots in the "Valley of Sublimity."

The new picture is a dramatization of Adela Rogers St. Johns' celebrated novel, dealing with the "unhappily married" whose father's teachings lead her to the threshold of ruin.

Clarence Brown, director of "Romance," "Inspiration" and other hits, handled the production, and another famous director, in the person of Barrymore, took the direction of the time to play the dramatic role of the lawyer, father, one of the most dramatic in modern literature.

The unusually brilliant supporting cast also includes Leslie Howard, last seen in "Five and Ten," Clark Gable, whose work in "Dance, Fools, Dance," and "The Secret Six" has made him one of the most popular leading men on the screen; James Gleason, remembered as the comic lemming of "It's a Wise Child," and Lucy Beaumont.

Vivid glimpses of San Francisco's gambling palaces, Chinatown and the scenic grandeur of Yosemite Valley lend an interesting background to the production.

BIG BUSINESS AND LOVE MIX IN PICTURE

Big business mixes with love; an adventurous American youth mixes both and, like Don Quixote, battles windmills in a whirl of mirth in William Haines' new comedy romance, "A Tallor Made Man." The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture will come to the Penniman-Allen Theatre Saturday, August 29.

This has been called the ultra-modern in pictures, as far as America is concerned. It includes a remedy for present business troubles in a tabloid lesson wedged into a collection of hilarious laughing situations. It depicts a delicate love story and a very dramatic adventure of a youth who applies the good old American grit to a bad situation. Information is flung, abandoned smart cracking to a considerable extent to give a very earnest and serious performance—though he manages to get in as many laughs as he usually does.

The story is one of a youngster who becomes an executive in a big concern and high pressures business depression out of it. He high-pressures himself in to the heart of the lady he loves, as well.

Dorothy Jordan plays the heroine. Others appearing in the cast are Joseph Cawthorn, Marjorie Rambeau, William Austin, Ian Keith, Hedda Hopper, Hale Hamilton, Henry Armetta, Walter Walker, Forrest Harvey, Joan Marsh and Martha Sleeper.

New Hunting Laws To Be Ready For Public By First of September

A lot of people think they are fighting the "sex evil" when they are merely finding an excuse to talk about it.

captain wishes, he led his companions, who are believed to have sped away in a car driven by a fourth member of the gang. Dearborn police arrived shortly after but could obtain no clues that would lead to the arrest of the men.

Tells Kind of Minnows That Can Be Used For Bait—Legal Net Sizes

Although the minimum size limit has been removed from yellow perch, calico or strawberry bass, crappies and rock bass, and these fish of any length may now be taken in hook and line fishing, they may not be taken by any other means. This question has been raised by persons believing they can now take fingerling perch with seines for use as bait.

Under the amended inland fishing law which is now in effect, minnows are defined as chubs, shiners, suckers, dace, stonefish, mudminnow and mud minnows. These species may be taken from all waters except trout streams or other waters closed to the taking of minnows by minnow seines not exceeding 30 feet in length by eight feet in width from inland waters or 80 feet in length and eight feet in width from the Great Lakes or connecting waters; by dip nets not over three feet square without sides or walls; minnow traps not exceeding 24 inches in length and by hook and line.

Fish of legal size or those fish for which no minimum size is prescribed by law may be used for bait only when legally taken by hook and line during their respective open seasons. The number of certain species which may be taken in one day or had in possession remains the same as formerly.

Perch, with bass and other species of game or non-game fish may not be taken in minnow seines or traps at any time for any purpose. Several complaints of fingerling perch being taken with minnow seines for use as bait have been voiced and criticism of the amended law expressed on this account. However, persons taking bait minnows are cautioned by the Department of Conservation to use care in identification of the species retained as there has been no change in the law in this respect.

Finds Two-Headed Rattlesnake—Another Finds A Blue Racer In The House

Cecil Butcher of Long Lake near Flint, has a two headed rattlesnake found near his father's farm. The newly hatched rattler was with a brood of thirty which had found shelter in the mouth of the mother as is common when the young are danger. The two-headed fellow is eight inches long, and at present is possessed by Cecil Butcher and pickled in alcohol. Butcher intends to send it to "Believe It or Not" Robert Ripley, the famous artist.

A mass attack by members of the family of Mrs. Ray Mikesell of Shiloh ended the life of a six-foot blue racer snake, which intruded into the family parlor. The snake, non-poisonous, entered the furnace in the cellar, made its way through a cold air pipe and emerged on a register behind Mrs. Mikesell who was reading a paper. Her daughter entered the room, saw the snake and screamed.

MONEY TO BURN

BY PETER B. KYNE W.N.U. SERVICE

THE STORY

CHAPTER I.—Hiram Butterworth, miser and skinflint, decides to leave his ill-gotten fortune to Elmer Clarke...

CHAPTER II.—Through a gossiping telegraph operator the town of Pliarcitos, including Nellie Cathcart, Elmer's sweetheart, learns of his inheritance before he dies...

CHAPTER III.—Next day Nellie Cathcart tells Elmer his uncle has left him more than $1,000,000. He is skeptical. Later he gets a telegram from McPeake confirming the legacy...

CHAPTER IV.—News of Elmer's good fortune is broadcast in Los Angeles. "Colorado Charley," human bird of prey, and his beautiful brunette partner decide that Elmer's fortune will be easy picking...

CHAPTER V.—When Nellie returned to the bank after luncheon she went into Ansel Moody's office and for the second time perused the telegram which had arrived that morning from the First National Bank of Muscatine...

"McPeake's estimate estate extremely conservative. Think appraisal will develop double that. Our counsel have read will and pronounced it absolutely air-tight and free from attack on any known grounds..."

"Nellie sighed and retired to her desk, where she figured rapidly for half an hour. As she surveyed the result of her computations a gurgling little chuckle escaped her; then, as if overcome with shame at her levity, her sea-blue eyes filled with tears..."

"You are—and your work's all right. I'm not kicking at that. It's your side lines that rile me."

"You've known for a year that in my spare moments I have been selling all kinds of insurance. You have not hitherto objected to that provided my work in the bank did not suffer in consequence..."

"Well, hereafter you cut it out. Hear me?"

"Recuz your side lines tangle up in mine on't in a while. For instance, when I loaned Elmer Clarke that twenty thousand dollars yesterday on his unsecured note, you knew I did it because of his prospects. "Now, then, I ain't got no assurance, have I, that Elmer'll live long enough to come into his fortune? I got to have some security for that loan, don't I? What security can I get from him now? Nothin' except life insurance. Well, I figure Elmer won't offer no objection to takin' out a policy to protect the bank, so I stroll up to the Smoke Shoppe this mornin' an' suggest it to him. He's right agreeable an' says he's already thought o' that, for which reason he's applied for a policy with a company represented in this town by you!"

"That is quite true. It occurred to me that you had overlooked suggesting the matter to Elmer when you made the loan, so I, realizing that the bank should be protected, took Elmer out to luncheon yesterday, and between the soup and the nuts I sold him a hundred thousand dollar policy. The bank is a beneficiary to the extent of any approved claim against his estate and somebody else is the beneficiary of all that's left."

"Yes, but does this bank get a fifty-fifty cut on the commission you earn on that policy?"

"Oh, so that's where the shoe pinches, does it? Well, Mr. Moody, I'm not going to give up my side line and I'm not going to continue it provided I permit you to graft off me. Consequently I shall have to accept your alternative and resign my position here. How much notice do you require?"

"Old Ansel was mortally stricken—impaled on both horns of a dilemma. If he accepted Nellie's resignation, he would never, never find another employee like her. Also, he would most certainly alienate the hardly won affections of Elmer Clarke—and a healthy account from the bustling millionaire would be worth many thousands yearly to the bank."

"You women make me sick," he growled. "You ain't got no sense of humorosity. Ain't a one of ye can take a joke." And he bonked up and out of the bank.

Nellie Cathcart's mellow, gurgling little laugh followed him, to give him the lie. After luncheon she went down to Elmer Clarke's mail-order garage. She found his old plug shooting dog, Noah, asleep on the lawn, so she invited Noah into Elmer's living and drove off to San Carlos, a town some thirty miles distant. Here she sent a telegram requesting an answer by mail; and having thus spiked the guns of the Law of Gravity, as it were, she returned to Pliarcitos.

When Absolom McPeake came down to his office the following Monday morning, he found on his desk a most remarkable telegram. It read as follows: "Please write me giving details of the mortgage mention in Hiram Butterworth's will as having been given to one Benedict Cathcart. My grandfather was Benedict Cathcart, formerly of Davenport, Iowa, and I had among my deceased mother's papers a mortgage for forty thousand at eight per cent payable semi-annually, on a farm in Mercer county, Illinois, to secure a promissory note of Hiram Butterworth given my grandfather. My mother was the sole heir of my grandfather's body and I am the sole heir of hers. She is dead and so is my grandfather. Mortgage dated August 10, 1882, deficiency judgment dated March 23, 1887. Do not telegraph, as desire to keep matter absolutely secret and telegrams to Pliarcitos are broadcast by operator. Answer."

"Nellie C. Cathcart." "Pliarcitos, California." "Christopher Columbus!" murmured Absolom McPeake. "What do you think of that? He rang up his secretary. 'The Butterworth file,' he commanded. 'The girl brought it. It took Mr. McPeake less than a minute to unearth a duplicate copy of a mortgage given to Benedict Cathcart, of Davenport, Iowa, by Hiram Butterworth, on a section of land in Mercer county, Illinois, to secure a promissory note for forty thousand dollars at eight per cent interest payable semi-annually, to be added to the principal and bear interest at a like rate. The mortgage bore the date August 10, 1882. A minute later the lawyer had unearthed a record of a deficiency judgment against Hiram Butterworth, in favor of Benedict Cathcart, dated March 23, 1887.

He sat staring at the telegram. "Nellie C. Cathcart," he murmured. "Where have I heard that name Cathcart recently? Cathcart, Cathcart, Ah, yes! N. C. Cathcart, trust officer of the bank that made that report on Elmer Clarke to old Hiram."

He took the letter in question from the file and read it again. "N. C. Cathcart, trust officer, is a girl. N. C. Cathcart, is Nellie C. Cathcart. A girl by thunder—and a smart girl! The Pliarcitos Commercial Trust and Savings bank didn't make this report. Nellie C. Cathcart made it. Oh, Lord, for a secretary with brains like Nellie! She's up to snuff. She knew all about Hiram Butterworth and she made it strong—so strong it knocked old Hiram clear off his perch. She figured on doing just that—and she succeeded. She ought to be president of that bank and I'll bet she will be after that mortgage is paid."

He reread the letter. "Between the lines I seem to see something," he soliloquized. "Nellie Cathcart is in love with Elmer Clarke. That's why she wants this little discovery kept a profound secret. Going to surprise Elmer on their wedding day, I suppose. Billy for you, Nellie. You're all right and I'll play the game with you. Now, how did she learn of this clause in the will so promptly? That's easy. Bullard, of James, Bullard and Yohn, counsel for the bank downstairs, was in to look at the will just before I took it up to the courthouse to be filed. Nellie wired the bank for detailed information about the will, and the bank furnished it, whereupon Nellie clinched her case and wired me. Well, good news shouldn't be hoarded. I'm going to disabey Nellie and send her a telegram to Pliarcitos."

He did. It was at the bank waiting for Nellie when she got there that same morning. It read: "Dear Nellie. You win. Congratulations."

"Dear Nellie. You win. Congratulations."

lations. May I come to the wedding? Mum's the word, Mac."

Contrary to Ansel P. Moody's declaration that Nellie had no sense of humorosity, she wired back immediately, straight message:

"Dear Ab: You're awfully fresh, but I like you, so you may come to my wedding. As you are not a banker, it probably has never occurred to you that funds at six per cent compounded semi-annually practically double every twelve years. O Time, where is thy sting at eight per cent? How about income taxes, federal inheritance taxes. Who gets this last, Iowa of California or both? Am not grafting free legal advice, either. Send your bill for the answer. Nellie."

The following morning Old Lady Bray was again "knocked all of a heap" when she took the following night letter over the wire: "Nellie, you are priceless. Our reverend Uncle Sam cannot get his hands on any income earned or due prior to March 15, 1913, although he does participate in all income from interest collected thereafter, and I do not see how we can dodge it. "Federal inheritance tax may not apply at all in this case because the legal heirs of Cathcart's body inherits through his daughter. Hence, if granddaughters can prove that this mortgage was appraised as worthless by the appraisers of her mother's estate and mother's estate probated on that basis, the law cannot be retroactive and claim an inheritance tax on an estate that has developed value long after estate has been closed. "If Cathcart's daughter died more than five years ago, statute of limitations acts as further bar to collection of inheritance tax on her estate now. Cathcart's granddaughter cannot now be regarded as a legatee just because a doubtful asset has suddenly appreciated in value, for this new value is not a bequest under decedent's will, but is attained because will gives authority to pay a debt of honor long overdue. Of course, internal revenue collector will try to collect, but if he does I will lick him at every turn. For the same reason that federal inheritance taxes do not apply in this case, state inheritance cannot apply either. "Oh joy, oh joy, spring is here and I am so glad. How lovely to find someone who can laugh, not to say sneer, at the Washingtonian wolves of finance!"

"The author of this tale has figured his sum twice, so he knows the figures are correct. Nellie knew that her figures were not the product of a disordered imagination; she knew that if Hiram Butterworth's estate could afford to pay her that sum, it would, under the definite terms of the will, have to pay her. There was room for neither legal quibble nor compromise. Upon completing her computation Nellie went into the vault, ostensibly to put her cash away, but in reality to shed a few briny tears of sympathy for Elmer Butterworth Clarke. Presently she backed up and her practical mind leaped to the problem of ascertaining approximately the sum that a grandchild would inherit from the estate. When she had made a fairly accurate if rough estimate of this, she wept again. Upon recovering her emotions she deducted a further sum which might reasonably include the funeral expenses of Uncle Hiram, the probate fees, the appraiser's fees and executor's fee, the specific bequest of ten thousand dollars, state and county taxes and ordinary debts of the estate. She was still further appalled at this total and wept a third time.

"Poor Elmer!" she sobbed. "To think that he was shot twice and gassed once fighting for his country, and now look what his country does to him! Oh, darling, darling, your poor dear head is going to be all bloody, but if you'll only keep it unbowed, how much more your sweetheart is going to love you!"

Before she emerged from the vault she remembered the joke which fate, in her case, played on the wolves of Washington. She at least was going to get $1,078,000 out of the wreck and the howls of the wolves would be sweet music to her ears. They couldn't touch her with a buggy whip—as Elmer would have expressed it. Let fate do its worst to Elmer Clarke! What did Nellie Cathcart care? When the tumult and the shouting died, when the smoke of battle drifted from the scene, it would reveal Little Faithful savior of Elmer Clarke and a bank roll smiling, happy and confident, the picture that a greyhound couldn't jump over.

PLYMOUTH-HAGGERTY TEAM DEFEATS FAST ANN ARBOR OUTFIT

GOOD FIELD WORK AND PITCHING DOES THE TRICK FOR THE HOME TEAM

Brilliant fielding behind the fine pitching of Estel Rowland enabled the Plymouth-Haggerty nine to emerge with a 3 to 2 decision over the Hoover Steel Ball team of Ann Arbor, in a pitchers' battle last Sunday.

The contest took place at Burroughs Park in the presence of one of the largest attendance of the season.

Estel Rowland held the visitors to three scratch hits, while Milton Mott was nipped for eight. A big contributing factor to this victory was the fine fielding by the local club.

By winning this contest, Plymouth added another to their record of fifteen games won and only five lost.

Plymouth-Haggerty will play at Burroughs Park Sunday, August 23, but as yet the opposing team has not been booked due to a cancellation.

The local fans can be assured of a stiff contest for the management is booking only the best of teams.

On Thursday, August 27, Plymouth-Haggerty will clash with the Northville Chiefs at the Northville Wayne County Fair.

Nethem Perks Up; Wins Two Games

The fast-going Nethem team won its fifteenth game of the season by defeating South Fort Street Association 5 to 4 in ten innings last Saturday at Ecorse, and Highland Park Mechanics 14 to 3 in nine innings last Sunday at Newburg.

Saturday's defeat made the second in the last fifteen games for the South Fort Street Association team.

Going into the eighth inning two runs behind, Joe Schomberger opened the inning with a single. R. Levandowski flied out. Then Zielasko singled to center, and Joe Schomberger scored on Pizarek's single to left. T. Levandowski flied out, but both runners scored on John Schomberger's fly to right.

Verska opened the eighth inning for South Fort Street with a triple, and scored on Podar's infield out to tie the score.

Neither team scored in the ninth inning. Joe Schomberger opened the tenth inning by hitting to Verska who threw the ball away. Joe took second, and with the count ten and three, R. Levandowski singled to left, scoring Joe Schomberger, and Ray went to second on the throw to the plate, and to third when Zielasko grounded out, second to first. Pizarek hit to third, and R. Levandowski was trapped between third and home, Pizarek taking second on the play, and he scores when T. Levandowski tripped to center, and John Schomberger ended the rally by striking.

South Fort came back in their turn of the tenth, by McNashy hitting a home run, which was the first to be hit off any Nethem pitcher in three years. Then Verska flied out and Podar struck out. Then the fireworks started. Lynch tripped to left, and Gale got two strikes on Steve when he hit him with a pitch on the leg. Here Gale was lifted and R. Levandowski started to pitch to Purdon, and on the second pitch he threw the ball past Joe Schomberger into the cars, but fast legging by Joe saved the game, when he threw Lynch out at the plate.

Gale allowed ten scattered hits and got eight on strikes and deserves the victory that his team got for him.

Next Sunday the Holokob Club of Redford will furnish the opposition for the local club at 3:00 p. m. at Rousseau Park. Everybody welcome.
