

NEARLY 200 AT BANQUET HERE

TEACHERS AND OFFICIALS DISCUSS PROBLEMS OF SCHOOL

SUPT. GEORGE SMITH IS THE TOASTMASTER

School Commissioner Yost Is One Speaker; Many Others On The Program.

Nearly two hundred school teachers and school officials enjoyed the banquet during which the high school orchestra furnished the usual fine music under the direction of Miss Henry. A special feature which was particularly well received and appreciated was two trumpet solos by Joseph Ribar.

At the conclusion of the dinner, George A. Smith, acting as toastmaster in the place of Fred C. Fischer, who was unable to be present, introduced the following speakers who spoke to the topic, "Values" from the several viewpoints: Mrs. Esther Benson of Zone A, and Edwin Johnson, of Zone B, spoke from the teachers' viewpoint. They presented very clearly and interestingly the values of school from the teacher's viewpoint.

A response to these views was ably given by August Petoskey from Zone B. Mr. Petoskey in his talk on "Values," showed a clear understanding and a real interest in the school of which he is a member of the Board of Education.

Then E. W. Yost, county commissioner of schools, in speaking of values reminded considerably comparing the entire system to the present organization from which the individual school receives valuable aid from the county office and the helping teacher.

Mrs. Grace Haigh from Zone B rendered two very pleasing vocal selections.

Dr. B. Clyde Ford of Ypsilanti, was then introduced and gave a splendid talk on values in which he stressed those immaterial or spiritual values which "crashes" do not destroy and which persist with the individual as long as he lives.

This happy and inspirational banquet then closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," and all felt the spirit of cooperation which results from these happy occasions.

FINAL PRACTICE FOR THE GUARDS

The Emerson Guards of the Lady Macabees will hold their final practice before going to Lansing, Wednesday afternoon, October 21st, at four o'clock. Each member of the team is requested to be there promptly and come in uniform. After the rehearsal the usual pot-luck supper will be served, all members of Plymouth Hive are invited to come and bring something for the supper and eat with the Guards. There will be no regular meeting of the Hive that evening as the time has been given over to the benefit card party for the Guards.

Did You Know That

On Wednesday afternoon the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church had the very great pleasure of entertaining the members of the Northville church Woman's Union in the church parlors. Following a very interesting program given by the Northville guests, delicious refreshments, consisting of pumpkin pie with whipped cream, and coffee were served by the April and May circle.

Celebrate Their 55th Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. R. A. WILSON

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Wilson, who have resided for a number of years on the Plymouth-Northville road, celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary at their home on Sunday, October 4, with numerous relatives of the family present to assist them in making the occasion a joyous one.

Mr. Wilson, who is 77 years of age, was born in Springfield, Ill. Mrs. Wilson, a year younger, was born in Canada, but during most of her life she has been a resident of the United States. They came to Michigan 55 years ago and have made their home in this state ever since their marriage. It was eleven years ago when they moved from Midland to Plymouth to make this place their permanent home.

Mrs. J. F. Caldwell and Mrs. Leslie Bacon, both of Plymouth, are daughters. Another daughter, Mrs. John Gifford, resides in Miami, Florida. Two sons, Dewey and Vern reside at home with their parents.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are in excellent health, and they take just as much of an interest in affairs of today as their children. Their numerous friends wish them many returns of their wedding anniversary.

Tonight Will Be Important One For Plymouth Masons

Tonight, Friday evening, will be one of the most important occasions of the year for Master Masons in Plymouth and vicinity, for it is Past Masters' night. Worshipful Master Oscar Akro states that there will be some Past Master filling every chair of the lodge, necessarily on an occasion of this kind the work is made especially interesting. The lodge meeting will be preceded by a dinner at 6:30. Officers of the lodge are anxious to have an especially good time out for tonight's meeting.

COSTS MONEY TO BE VILLAGES

Municipal League Official Declares It Is Cheaper To Be A City

A reduction of more than $1,000,000 in the cost of government in Michigan is possible without reducing governmental service, by incorporating 142 villages of more than 750 population as cities, according to an estimate today by Charles V. Smszel, in charge of this phase of the work of the Michigan Municipal League.

This saving is made possible principally by eliminating the duplications of government now existing in our township-village system. Mr. Smszel pointed out, "In every village the village assessor and the township supervisor both assess all the property and make out separate tax rolls; the village treasurer and the township treasurer each have a separate roll for the collection of taxes; all voters must register twice, once with the village clerk for village elections, and once with the township clerk for general elections; and these are only the major duplications."

The 152 villages large enough to become cities have approximately 277,000 residents. Tax arrears made by the Municipal League show that wholly unnecessary cost of township government in typical villages ranges from $1 to $10 per capita per year with an average of about $4 per capita per year. The estimate of more than $1,000,000 in total savings annually is made on this basis.

While villages with more than 750 population can avoid this duplication of government and expense by re-incorporating as cities, Mr. Smszel said, villages of less than 750 population have no means of eliminating this expense under present state law, although in proportion the unnecessary duplica-

EXTEND TIME TO PAY TAXES

VILLAGE OFFICIALS TO DELAY SENDING IN TAX ROLL

RETURNS BUT FOUR PER CENT UNDER '30

Authorities Go Limit in Effort To Aid Property Owners Of Plymouth

On October 10th, the final date for the collection of village taxes, the total paid was only approximately four per cent less than the portion received in the same period of 1930.

The records of the village treasurer show that 85 per cent of the amount spread on the roll had been paid on October 10th. In preparing the 1931 budget and anticipating the revenues to be received for operating purposes, it was estimated that the collection on the general tax roll would reach a total of 88 per cent. This estimate is three per cent above the actual collections which means that the operating expenditures will have to be reduced by a like amount unless other revenues exceed the estimates.

Realizing the existing conditions the Village Commission has authorized the treasurer to receive payments for a few more days in order that everyone may have an opportunity to pay their taxes without the payment of additional penalties and collection fees levied in the office of the county treasurer. The delinquent roll will not be sent to the county treasurer until the latter part of this month.

In case anyone wishes to pay their taxes at a later date, it would be well to notify the village treasurer so that final date of payment can be determined.

RIFLE SHOOT BIG SUCCESS

Kiwanis Club Is Pleased Over Results Of Affair

With nearly $500 in its treasury for the children's Christmas fund, members of the Kiwanis club are delighted over the success of the recent rifle shoot and carnival held last week. President Ernest Allison declared that the returns were considerably greater than had been anticipated and he expressed the appreciation of the club to the public for its assistance in making the event such a success.

Russell Powell emerged from the contest as Plymouth's crack rifle shot. He won high score and the Plymouth Mail cup by some of the best shooting that has been witnessed in these parts in many a moon. The runner-up was a crack shot from Ann Arbor.

To Miss Winifred Draper goes the honors of being the best lady rifleman in Plymouth. She was first in the ladies' contest, and Mrs. F. H. Throp took second place. General manager, Edwin Hurton was kept busy keeping the teams going. He believes that the event will attract even more attention next year.

The minstrel show Saturday night, was a big hit. Dr. F. R. H. favored the affair, provided the hundreds of visitors with a very pleasing program.

Theatre Lights Turn Night Into Day On Penniman

Wednesday night, for the first time, the new lights and sign of the Penniman-Allyn theatre were turned on. The lights make a good portion of Penniman avenue almost as light as day. The name of the show can be seen for considerably over a block away. The sign and lights add greatly to the appearance of the theatre front at night. Many favorable comments were heard on the improvement. The sign is burning there are over 2,000 light bulbs in use.

tion probably costs them as much or more per capita. There are approximately 175 of these smaller villages in the state. Several other benefits will result for villages incorporated as cities, Mr. Smszel declared. The most important of these are that each city has one or more representatives on the county board, according to its population; the improvement of the sign can be provided under the city home rule act than under the general village law, and citizens register, vote, and pay their taxes at one place instead of two.

Popular Detroit Organist Coming To Local Theatre

Wm. H. Pond, former pipe organist at the Michigan theatre in Detroit, has been secured as an added attraction for the Penniman-Allyn theatre next week Wednesday and Thursday evenings. In addition to the excellent pictures that Manager Harry Lush has booked for those evenings, Mr. Pond will appear in an organ recital and will feature one of the popular concertos that have become quite the thing in some of the country's largest theatres.

In addition to his special organ numbers, Mr. Pond will bring with him a popular Detroit theatrical singer, who will give a number of selections.

NO GOOD CONES FROM ANY WAR

MRS. CRAIG MILLER MAKES PLEA FOR PEACE IN ADDRESS

WOMEN BECOMING POWER FOR PEACE

Declares Disarmament of Nations Is One Of Surest Ways To End Conflicts

The October meeting of the Plymouth League of Women Voters held at the home of Mrs. Armstrong and Miss Durfee was well attended by members and guests. Following the reading of the minutes of last meeting, Miss Czarina Penney and Miss Marguerite Wood favored the gathering with two beautiful piano duets.

The president, Mrs. C. O. Ball, introduced Mrs. Craig Miller of Marshall, state chairman of International Relations, who spoke in part substantially as follows: Civilized society is the one that understands national and international conditions, but these have changed rapidly in nations, just as the traffic conditions of thirty years ago have changed. Since the World War and because of the different order of things we are hurt. Before 1914 people and thought little of international affairs. Before that time the world's finances generally were in the hands of individual nations, in the hands of thirty years ago that cooperation is most important, even if seeming loss be the outcome. As an illustration, France is losing in the sale of silk to England, paid with the English pound whose value has declined.

Today the world is as one with every nation demanding a hearing. Modern Planning Has Met The Test of Experience

"The experience of hundreds of American communities have been carefully analyzed to find out how city planning actually works out in practice. The answer is emphatic—'Planning pays.'"

"City planning fosters a feeling of unity and civic pride. Citizens feel that they are really part of a community and take more interest in its affairs. When they have a conception of its plan and how they can contribute to its logical development."

"Proofs of the difficulties which arise from neglect of the element of planning in city growth are numerous and convincing."

Get Your Driver's License Now Urges The Chief of Police

But a little over two weeks left for Plymouth automobile drivers to get their driving permits, the new law becoming effective November 1.

Chief of Police Vaughn Smith announces that he will be at the Village Hall every Wednesday evening between now and November 1st for the accommodation of auto drivers who have delayed in getting their licenses and that he will also make it a point to be at the Village Hall every afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

The state has announced that it proposes to rigidly enforce the new law, so you had better get your new driver's license when it can be secured without much difficulty.

The Ready Service class of the Presbyterian church entertained at a dinner Wednesday, at Riverside Park, in honor of Mrs. Mame Brooks of Fremont, who was formerly their class teacher.

BOXING FANS TO STAGE SHOW

HOCKEY CLUB TO PUT ON CONTESTS WED. NOVEMBER 4

TEN BOUTS PLANNED FOR THE FIRST CARD

Sign Amateur Contestants for Event to be Given in Odd Fellow Hall

Outstanding amateur boxers from Detroit, Dearborn and Ann Arbor, will battle in Plymouth, at the Odd Fellow Temple, Wednesday, November 4, for the entertainment of fight fans of Plymouth, Northville, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Dearborn and other places.

Ten bouts are on the program arranged by the Michigan Amateur Athletic Union in conjunction with the Plymouth Hockey Club. The boxing meet is sanctioned by the State Athletic Board of Control, and the Michigan Association of the A. A. U.

Some of the fighters are as follows: Billy Martone, of Christ Church A. C., state champion and runner-up for national junior champ of U. S.; J. Stalais, of Christ Church A. C., state champion in the lightweight division; A. Stewart of Christ Church A. C., state featherweight champion; J. Schwartz of Christ Church A. C., state welterweight champion; C. Mitchell and G. Skeege, also of Christ Church A. C. Others will be announced later.

The show will be a bank-up affair and is expected to draw a capacity crowd.

Ready For Red Cross Drive

The usual annual drive for RED CROSS memberships will commence in Plymouth the week of October 25th. On Monday, October 26th, booths will be opened in the banks as heretofore for all those who will wish to sign up memberships in this worthy and worth-while organization. The Plymouth Mail will contain full details in a later edition.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TOLD OF PLANS OF COMPANY

MEN PUTTING PLANT IN SHAPE TO OPERATE

EX-SERVICE MEN, LEAGION UNITE TO SPONSOR ENTERTAINMENTS

FIRST ONE TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY, OCT. 28TH

Five Programs Will Be Presented During Winter; Profits Will Go To Charity

Berg Moore, secretary of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, has been informed by J. B. Kirk, secretary of the Peninsular Metal Products Corp. of Detroit, that due to the need for increased production of the company's business they have decided to operate their Plymouth plant. It will be recalled that they purchased the Ex-General Machine & Iron Works property located in the P. M. R. R. tracks in the southeast section of the city, early in the fall of 1929, expecting to make immediate use of the plant, but the stock market crash and general business slump caused a postponement of their plans.

Mr. Kirk stated that the making of alterations and special equipment will be rushed and that they expect to be ready for production in about thirty days.

He was reluctant to make an estimate of the number of people who would be employed at the outset, but added that they expect to employ a substantial number once they are well under way. He assured Mr. Moore that employees would be obtained locally with the possible exception of two or three. He asked the Chamber of Commerce to notify men and women interested in obtaining jobs to wait for a further announcement before applying for work, as they will not be in a position to consider applicants until the plant is ready for production, which will be a number of weeks.

The Peninsular Metal Products Corporation has built up a large and successful business in Detroit during the last eight years. Their main plant and office is located at 2111 Lyman Ave. in Detroit. Automobile body parts, principally moldings, instrument boards, window frames and interior trim are manufactured by this concern.

According to Mr. Moore, several established concerns have been considering purchasing the Plymouth property of this corporation, beginning in March of this year and continuing up to the time of Mr. Kirk's announcement, when no less than three companies, including a large Chicago concern, were interested in making a deal. Peninsular officials, however, have been reluctant to dispose of the property.

J. B. Black, president, told Mr. Moore and Mr. Eckles, president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, some months ago that it was doubtful if they would sell the property unless they received an unusual offer, because they anticipated a future need for it.

Mr. Black and Mr. Kirk are sold on Plymouth as a manufacturing location, and state that they are glad to join the growing list of local manufacturing concerns.

ISSUE WARRANT FOR JAMES LOWE

Plymouth friends of James Lowe, an employee of the state highway department formerly located in Plymouth, were surprised early this week when advised that a warrant charging manslaughter had been issued against him.

Lowe, suffering from fractures to both arms, is at Ann Arbor Hospital, accused of causing the automobile accident in which Ford Motor Co. employee, thirty-year-old Fred Reed Dennison, was killed Sept. 27.

The collision at Plymouth Road and Middlebelt, was caused, according to Mr. Smith, by reckless driving by Lowe, who he says, was intoxicated. Lowe's companion, Miss Lucille Burns, 23 years old, of Lansing, was injured. Mrs. Elsie Dennison, widow of Mr. Dennison, is at Eloise Hospital in serious condition as a result of the crash up.

SALVATION ARMY LAUDED

WORK OF PAST YEAR WINS APPROVAL OF BOARD

TO MAKE APPEAL FOR FUNDS FOR NEW YEAR

Will Make Effort to Raise $1,500 Next Week; Demands On Army Are Many

The Salvation Army advisory board held its regular meeting at the United Bank last Monday night at seven o'clock. The whole year's work conducted by Captain and Mrs. Wright was reviewed, both religious and social, and the officers were commended very highly for the splendid work they have done during 1931.

The board went on record as endorsing their work and commending it very highly to the citizens of Plymouth as being well worthy of our financial support.

It was decided by the board that the annual appeal should be announced for October 30th to 31st, and the sum asked for should be $1,500.00. This only takes care of part of their financial requirements as the actual expenditure this year amounted to $3,228.00. However, the Army will not be embarrassed for need of funds.

In addition to the board and the local Salvation Army officers, Captain Ernest Turner of the Detroit Division office was a guest at the meeting last night, and delivered to the members of the board the constitution of the Salvation Army Advisory Board.

The following was expended last year: Family Relief—Pieces of furniture given, 38; garments given, 350; pairs of shoes, 178; number of families helped with garments or shoes, 88; number of families helped with furniture, 14; number of families helped with groceries, 31. Total number of families helped, 113. Total persons in families helped, 252. Christmas Activities—Xmas dinners given, 122; Xmas baskets given, 11; Xmas toys to children, 83. Transient Relief—Meals given, 25; beds given, 7; garments given, 23; pairs of shoes, 13. Total transients helped, 37. Total of all persons helped, 289.

Employment—Applicants, 68; placements, 49. Evangelical Work—Meetings held in hall, 340; attendance at meetings, 7510; meetings in street, 206; attendance at meetings, 2336.

Miss Violet Johnston was honored by a very delightful bride shower given in honor of her coming marriage, to Robert Quinn of Detroit, at the home of Mrs. Oscar Kahn on Adams street, on Sunday last. Miss Johnston is the secretary of the Detroit House of Correction. She was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

Schrader Bros. Decide To Cut Large Amount of Stock Carried

Determined to cut down the tremendous furniture stock that has accumulated during the past two or three years of slow business, Schrader Brothers have announced in this week's issue of the Plymouth Mail probably the greatest furniture sale that has ever taken place in this community.

The sale will start Saturday morning, October 17, and in anticipation of public interest in the event, additional help will be provided so that everyone can be waited on immediately.

Mr. Schrader declares that because of the present slow buying on the part of the public, he has found it necessary to reduce the tremendous amount of furniture he has always made it a practice to carry.

"Present business conditions do not justify the expense I am forced to go to to keep such a big stock of furniture in my store. There are three big floors that are covered with the best of the furniture market offers. In order to cut down my overhead and reduce the cost of operating my store, I am going to sell as much of the stock as I can. We have cut the prices to such an extent that the most careful buyer will be interested. Never before have such reductions been made. Everything in the store will be offered during the sale and at prices in many cases way below costs. There is no necessity of carrying this big stock under present conditions and we have decided to cut our costs by getting rid of a good share of it," stated Mr. Schrader.

Read the advertisement in this issue of the Mail, make up a list of your present needs and take advantage of this remarkable sale. Schrader Brothers' store has always made it a practice to carry the best grades of furniture. Here is an opportunity to buy real furniture at prices way below the costs of low priced goods. The store will be open weekdays during the sale.

Starting On The Four Day Hike
"Hey, Mary Liz, Mary Liz! Wakeup!" I demanded.

No response. Grandly I rose to the occasion.

"All right then, don't get up!" With one dignified leap I cleared a pile of wet bathing suits and departed through the door.

To the envy of the tentitee camp, Cabin 4 was leaving that morning on a four day hike. The night before each girl had promised to wake the other should she awaken first. Before nine o'clock that morning each girl must roll her own poncho, help straighten the cabin, pack away her things, decide on and pack what things she would take with her. Yes, indeed, we would be very busy.

I turned and ran around the cabin to the clothes line and bawled frantically at a line of stockings suspended in the air. They were dry! What a relief that was.

Entering the cabin again, I found Mary Liz struggling to pull a middle over her head and, at the same time, to push her big toe into a shoe.

After that things happened with a bang. Trunks opened and closed again, knickers came on and were pulled off a dozen times before their owners decided upon which to wear. Blankets were picked up bodily from beds, carried out-doors, dumped upon the ground, and rolled into ponchos.

In the midst of the bustle, Do stepped out of Cabin 3, with her bugle in her hand, to turn and view the active scene in front of Cabin 4.

"Oh," she gasped. "Hey! Kids, get a load of this! Look at the Bunny-Bright-eyes up before reveille, the very idea!"

"Aw, shut up, Do," called Cabin 4. "you're not so good yourself."

After the first wild scramble things quieted down. Packs were rolled with orderly precision, and K. P.'s departed for duty. When at last the bugle blew for flag-raising and breakfast, Cabin 4 was ready.

"Oh-h Billie! Don't go! Stay here with me. You'll write to me every day, won't you? Oh Billie!" Susan Ann, do be quiet! You'd think I was going to be gone for a year!"

The last sandwiches were soon made, ponchos rolled, packs packed and everything piled on the athletic field to wait for the truck.

Last lingering good-byes were said, and, to the tune of "Have a Good Time," "Bye Kay," and "So Long," Cabin 4 marched down the road on its last great adventure into the unknown.

The First Football Game
The day of the first football game had come at last. At two-thirty football men were to be excused to get into uniforms. All afternoon I wondered what I would do if I got a chance to play.

10-B ENGLISH THEME
(Best Among 95)
The purpose was to describe a particular incident.

A Spark—A Flame—A Thought
A young girl, curled up in a big, wing-armed chair, gazed thoughtfully into a mammoth fire place

made of great stone slabs of various shapes and sizes. Within it a pair of andirons supported two blazing logs which sent their burning glow the whole length of the room. Gruesome shadows appeared and danced around the four corners of the room and formed grotesque figures on the ceiling. These darting shadows made a sharp contrast to the leaping flames which looked like fiery demons.

Sudden darts of color—flames of red, yellow, and blue perfectly blended, hungrily lapped up the logs. A sharp crack!—and a sudden spurt of light burst into a thousand tiny sparks of gold which inspired as many thoughts to the observer! Sparks and thoughts mingled playfully and shifted aimlessly about, then suddenly leaped into the chimney and were gone, only to be replaced by others. This was repeated in various ways by the ever-changing fire of both logs and mind. Finally, only a few glowing coals remained which might easily have been rekindled after a few simple moves of the girl. Would those sparks and thoughts just die? Or would she throw more fuel upon them so they might burn anew and perhaps strengthen the tiny sparks into something worth while!

TENNIS SEASON HERE
This week marks the opening of the tennis tournaments. The purpose is to get boys that are not busy after school, interested in tennis. It is interesting to know that all of the letter men have graduated and that there will be a close race for the championship this year because of the vacancies left by the old players. This year there is to be a Junior High School tournament, which at the present time has eleven fellows out for it; a Senior High singles tournament, which has twenty boys out for it; and a Senior High doubles tournament that will have fourteen boys fighting for its championship.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY WEDNESDAY
The first general assembly of the year was held Wednesday, October 7, when all students of the junior and senior high school gathered in the auditorium.

Mr. Dykhouse opened with the announcement that the first marking period ends Oct. 16. All make-up work must be in by that date.

"America" and "Peggy O'Neil" were then sung by the assembly, Miss Henry leading.

Mr. Evans urged all students, who play instruments to try out for either the band or the orchestra. He also said that a junior band is being organized for beginners.

Mr. Latture asked for volunteer debaters.

Frank Learned, Albert Miller, Melvin Whaley and Jimmy Stimpson led some cheers in preparation for the coming games.

Miss Ford then entertained us with a piano medley of college songs.

The Senior Drama Club, Mr. Dykhouse announced, has been working hard on a play which will be presented in assembly next week.

The door at the back of the study hall opened and a girl walked up to the desk. In her hand she carried a slip of paper on which was written the names of the fellows to be excused. I listened carefully until she called my name. When it came I got up and walked out of the study hall down to the locker room. There were fifteen or twenty fellows already there. We quickly got into togs and went up to "Beebe's" room where we received our last instructions before the game.

It was three-thirty when we got out to the field and started running through signals.

At four o'clock the opposing teams were lined up.

"All ready Dearborn?" called the referee.

"All ready," came the answer.

"All ready Plymouth?" came the referee's clear voice.

"All ready," came the response.

The whistle blew. Ten men ran down the field with the kick-off. It was my day!

FACTS ABOUT NEW TEACHERS
Miss A. Hearn, the Latin and French teacher, is a graduate of Plymouth High School. She spent four years in Michigan State College and one in the University of Michigan and while attending these colleges received the A. B. and M. A. degrees. She formerly taught English, Latin and French in Ida High School and later taught algebra, Latin, bookkeeping, typing and English in Carey High School, Ohio.

Mr. Latture is a graduate of Midland High School. He attended the Michigan State Normal College where he earned his degree. Mr. Latture was president of the Pi Kappa Delta and Forensic committee. After finishing college he taught speech in Roosevelt High School, Ypsilanti. He now teaches speech and English.

Miss A. Graf is a graduate of Saline High School, and earned a life certificate in Ypsi State Normal. Miss Graf spent one year in teaching bookkeeping, typing, shorthand and botany in Quincy High School and three years in Blissfield High School where she taught bookkeeping, typing and shorthand. She now teaches shorthand and typing.

A Spark—A Flame—A Thought

made of great stone slabs of various shapes and sizes. Within it a pair of andirons supported two blazing logs which sent their burning glow the whole length of the room. Gruesome shadows appeared and danced around the four corners of the room and formed grotesque figures on the ceiling. These darting shadows made a sharp contrast to the leaping flames which looked like fiery demons.

Sudden darts of color—flames of red, yellow, and blue perfectly blended, hungrily lapped up the logs. A sharp crack!—and a sudden spurt of light burst into a thousand tiny sparks of gold which inspired as many thoughts to the observer! Sparks and thoughts mingled playfully and shifted aimlessly about, then suddenly leaped into the chimney and were gone, only to be replaced by others. This was repeated in various ways by the ever-changing fire of both logs and mind. Finally, only a few glowing coals remained which might easily have been rekindled after a few simple moves of the girl. Would those sparks and thoughts just die? Or would she throw more fuel upon them so they might burn anew and perhaps strengthen the tiny sparks into something worth while!

—Betty Snell.

TENNIS SEASON HERE
This week marks the opening of the tennis tournaments. The purpose is to get boys that are not busy after school, interested in tennis. It is interesting to know that all of the letter men have graduated and that there will be a close race for the championship this year because of the vacancies left by the old players. This year there is to be a Junior High School tournament, which at the present time has eleven fellows out for it; a Senior High singles tournament, which has twenty boys out for it; and a Senior High doubles tournament that will have fourteen boys fighting for its championship.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY WEDNESDAY
The first general assembly of the year was held Wednesday, October 7, when all students of the junior and senior high school gathered in the auditorium.

Mr. Dykhouse opened with the announcement that the first marking period ends Oct. 16. All make-up work must be in by that date.

"America" and "Peggy O'Neil" were then sung by the assembly, Miss Henry leading.

Mr. Evans urged all students, who play instruments to try out for either the band or the orchestra. He also said that a junior band is being organized for beginners.

Mr. Latture asked for volunteer debaters.

Frank Learned, Albert Miller, Melvin Whaley and Jimmy Stimpson led some cheers in preparation for the coming games.

Miss Ford then entertained us with a piano medley of college songs.

The Senior Drama Club, Mr. Dykhouse announced, has been working hard on a play which will be presented in assembly next week.

Every Tuesday is banking day, and Mr. Dykhouse urged all to start an account if they have not

About seventy-five relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Carpenter of Wayne, were their guests last Sunday, coming from Iowa, Petoskey, Grand Rapids, Detroit, Williamston and Plymouth. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Westfall of this place.

The next meeting of the Newburg Child Care and Training class will meet Friday, Oct. 16, at 2:00, at the home of Mrs. Nelson Bakewell, 511 Palmer Ave., Plymouth. The subject of this meeting is "Your Child's Nutrition," a study of food habits in terms of health and happiness.

The Get-Together club met at the home of Mrs. Howard Bowring on Thursday, October 8. Nine members were present. A lunch was served by the hostess shortly after the business meeting. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, Oct. 22, at the home of Mrs. Ivan Dickinson in Northville.

Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Gates entertained thirty guests at their home on Canton Center road, at a miscellaneous shower given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Gates, Plymouth, who were married September 5. The young couple received many lovely and useful gifts. A delightful luncheon was served by the hostess at small tables. Guests were present from Birmingham, Ann Arbor, Grass Lake, Detroit, Northville and Plymouth.

Mrs. J. Merle Bennett, Mrs. J. D. McLaren, Mrs. J. W. Bickenstaff, Mrs. B. E. Champe, Mrs. Glenn Jewell, Mrs. Frank Barrows and Mrs. Robert Fletcher motored to Lansing, Wednesday, where they were guests of Mrs. W. W. Lavens, having luncheon at the Tea Room and dessert and bridge at her home.

Mrs. E. J. Dreyfous entertained the members of her sewing club of Detroit at a luncheon Thursday, at her home on Blunk avenue. The guests were Mrs. Hayes Bennett, Mrs. Floyd Kew, Mrs. Archie McLellan, Mrs. M. Dobbins, Mrs. Stanley Staffner, Mrs. William Galfesky and Mrs. Roy Liggett.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Burley entertained her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Knapp, sister, Miss Helen Knapp, brothers, Chon and Sanford of this place and brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Knapp of Detroit at dinner Sunday, at their home on Sunset avenue, in honor of Mrs. Knapp's birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. David Stewart and son, David, of Gardenau, visited Sunday at the home of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Goldsmith on the Novi road. In the afternoon, Miss Stewart, who is president of the Michigan Parent Teachers' Association, had the pleasure of talking over radio station WJR from Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Arlo A. Emery entertained Mrs. Mark Chaffee, Mrs. Robert H. Book, Mrs. Luther Book and Mrs. Frank Ramba, Wednesday, at luncheon at the City Club, Detroit, later taking them to the bride's set given by the Civic Pride Association of Greater Detroit, of which Mrs. Emery was chairman. Mrs. Edwin S. Hancock, president of Federation of Women's Clubs, joined them there.

The thirteen girls of the Inny Beaver class of the Presbyterian Sunday-school, who were recently nominated from Mrs. Reek's class to Mrs. Hall's, gave Mrs. Reek a very pleasant surprise Friday evening at the home of Eileen Jordau on Adams street. The evening was most enjoyably spent in playing various games, after which a most delicious lunch was served. One of the delights of the evening was the presentation to their former teacher, Mrs. Reek, of a lovely pink slat cookie jar from the girls. This beautiful gift will always be prized by her. The following girls were present: Christine and Elizabeth Nichol, Dorothy Stauffer, Vera Woods, Roberta Chappel, Irene Humphries, Laura Kincaid, Alva Hill, Gladys Ebersch, Wilhelmina Backer and Eileen Jordan. Kathleen Gray and Marjorie Clay were absent.

Two very enjoyable affairs were given this week Monday evening and Tuesday evening when Mrs. Claude J. Dykhouse entertained two groups of teachers at bridge at her apartment on East Ann Arbor street. Shades of autumn yellow, brown and green were used in the decorations. On Monday evening four tables were in play with the following guests present: Miss Edna Allen, Miss Ursula Carey, Miss Minnie Traut, Miss Helen Wells, Miss Alma Graf, Miss Marian Perkins, Miss Winnifred Ford, Miss Marguerite Henry, Miss Christine Gray, Mrs. Mary Lou Brower, Mrs. Kenneth Matheson, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. Hawley Cobb, Mrs. James Latture, Mrs. Esther Strasen and Miss Irene Krauter. On Tuesday evening, Miss Gertrude Fiegel, Miss Alta Hearn, Miss Vivian

Smith, Miss Sara Lickly, Miss De-light, Miss Hilda Hauf, Miss Luella Mae Kees, Mrs. Helen Stevens, Mrs. Alvina Crumlie, Mrs. Alice VanWagoner, Mrs. Ruth Baughn, Mrs. Theodore Carr and Mrs. George Smith were Mrs. Dykhouse's guests.

Some men couldn't pay their expenses if they were paid only for what they know.

Stop Night Coughing

Night coughing is almost always caused by an irritated, inflamed throat; so is almost all coughing. Ordinary cough syrups do not reach these conditions, but Thoxine, a prescription exclusively for throat troubles, does. It relieves the irritation and the cough stops within 15 minutes. And Thoxine goes further than it eliminates the fundamental cause which makes these develop into serious illness.

A swallow of Thoxine before retiring absolutely prevents night coughing and insures a good night's sleep. It gives the same speedy relief for sore throat too. It contains no chloroform or other harmful drugs and children like it. Relief is guaranteed within 15 minutes or money back, 25c, 50c and 81.00 bottles. Sold by Dodge Drug Co.

DOES NOT LOOK, HE'S KILLED

Looking neither to the right or left as he approached the Pere Marquette crossing on the Seven Mile road just outside Northville, Julius E. Allen, 65 years of age, a resident at 16316 Baylis avenue, Detroit, was instantly killed Wednesday afternoon shortly before 3:00 o'clock, when struck by a Pere Marquette freight train. The engineer blew his warning whistle and the crossing warning lights were working. Apparently intent on his driving, having recently purchased a new Ford car, he paid no attention to the crossing. The train carried the automobile 150 feet along the tracks and then dropped it into a 15-foot ditch. Les Palmer and Christian Nozard, operators of a gasoline station saw the accident. Deputy Sheriff Roy Skates and Harry Lee investigated the mishap and ordered the body removed to Wayne County Morgue. The car contained several sackful of walnuts. The body laid beside the track for over an hour while Chief of Police William Safford of Northville, waited for someone from the coroner's office to come and get it.

No Covert Road Tax To Pay in County For Next Three Years

A holiday of three years has been granted Wayne county taxpayers under the Covert Act. The moratorium was granted by the board of supervisors now in session. The committee on Ways and Means recommended this grace October 1, pointing out that delinquencies upon Covert road district assessments have greatly increased, apparently due to the conversion of platted subdivisions to farm land, brought about by the general real estate depression in the country, and because "large delinquencies which can be reasonably contemplated for this year and the next years in Covert districts would result in tax sales without relief or reimbursement to the county because of the high rate of assessments and taxes." The resolution further pointed out that Covert land generally constitutes a part of the general county highway system which it is reasonably contemplated will be assumed by the county under future legislative enactment. The resolution as adopted further provided that all Covert road assessments which are charged over a period of five years, and shall be levied and collected on the general tax roll for each year, commencing with the year 1934, with interest thereon at six per cent per annum from the date of the extension of the delinquent tax, to be included each year in the amount of the extended installment of such tax or assessment. Provided, however, that all other accrued interest and penalties shall be cancelled.

LAUD WORK OF DR. HASKELL

High officials of the city of Detroit and of Wayne County were not at all sparing in their tributes to the splendid work of Dr. Haskell, superintendent of the Wayne County Training school, during the annual inspection of the school Tuesday afternoon. Upon the invitation of the administrative board of the school, members of the board of supervisors and officials of the city of Detroit visited the school. At the dinner which preceded the inspection of the institution, Milton Alexander, of the board of control of the school, called upon a number of prominent officials for their talks. School Commissioner, Yost of Wayne County declared that Dr. Haskell had performed a work few men were capable of accomplishing. Dr. John Hall of the Detroit city council and others who took part in the brief program gave expressions of similar tributes to Dr. Haskell through his brief talks. The visitors were especially interested in an exhibit of the work of the boys and girls of the school that had been arranged.

MOVE OFFICES INTO MAYFLOWER

Herald F. Hamill, civil engineer, who has had offices and his work rooms in the Rambo real estate office on West Arbor street, has just moved his offices and equipment into much larger quarters in the Mayflower hotel, occupying a portion of the office space that is now used by Finlan & Son for their insurance headquarters. The space taken over was formerly occupied by a barber shop. The large rooms have been entirely refurnished and make an ideal location for both the engineering offices as well as the insurance offices.

CANTON GROUP HOLDS SESSION

The Canton Home Economics Extension group held their first regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Perry Campbell, Mrs. Samuel Spicer and Mrs. J. M. Swegles being the leaders. Mrs. Collen Dennis was elected chairman and Mrs. John Mulvey, secretary, for the ensuing term. The meeting was well attended and the work of the leaders enthusiastically received and enjoyed, and the lessons of the day will be of great benefit to all of the group. There will be no November meeting, and the next leaders' meeting will be December 3.

D. A. R. TO MEET NEXT MONDAY

The regular meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter, will be held next Monday, Oct. 19, at the residence of Mrs. Walter Nichol on Main St. This is the first meeting and the program will consist of reports of the state conference which was held last week at the Hotel Statler in Detroit. Several members from this chapter attended and the regent, Mrs. Dwight T. Randall, has asked them to give short reports as well as the regular delegates and alternates.

St. Georges Are Defeated in Fast Football Contest

St. George's football team came out last Sunday thirty strong, expecting to find easy going with the local independent football team, but were completely bodied by Plymouth's running attack. The local boys took advantage of a fifteen yard penalty early in the first quarter, which placed the ball on the two yard line. St. George's tried an end run to place the ball in the center of the field for a punt but Mike tackled hard and their right halfback fumbled, Williams recovering for Plymouth for their first touchdown. Plymouth threatened repeatedly but did not score until late in the third quarter when Eddie Wood received a pass on the 40 yard line and after some clever dodging placed the ball on the seven yard line. Ralph Wood went over for a touchdown on an off-tackle play. At no time did the visitors threaten to score. Their running attack was helpless and they completed only two passes for a total of 36 yards. The blocking of the local team was a big factor in their win. The line again played stellar football with Howell breaking through time and again to stop their backs for a loss. Plymouth lineup: R. E.—Del Campbell; R. T.—Foster Howell; R. G.—Harlow Williams; C.—Chuck LaFevre; L. G.—Hawley Mills; T.—Earl Franks; L. E.—E. Blockman; R. H.—Ralph Wood; L. H.—Leo Wood; Q.—Eddie Wood; C. F. R.—John Leavensworth. Substitutes—Brockman for L. Wood, Gelloff for G. Evans. Sunday, October 18, Plymouth A. C. plays Pinckney at 3:00 o'clock. Burroughs football field on Plymouth road.

The evening was spent playing five hundred. The guests left wishing Mr. McKinney many more happy birthdays.

FIND ANOTHER LEAK IN VILLAGE WATER SUPPLY

"If it isn't one thing, it's another," says Charles Goudy, superintendent of public works, when it became apparent this week that it will be necessary to excavate the ground in front of the water works again to locate another water leak. Ten workmen, under the supervision of Goudy, were kept busy for more than two weeks last month when it was necessary to dig down 15 feet in front of the water works department to locate a leak. The work was just finished last week when the dirt was replaced and the flowers that were removed were replanted in the yard. The same procedure will have to be carried through again next week or so as the leaky pipe floods the basement of the water works plant where several high-speed motors are located. Mr. Goudy had his welfare workers reporting the front of the Michigan avenue cemetery, this week where a cement abutment is being placed to prevent the dirt from the higher ground of the cemetery from being washed down over the sidewalk. The men will be transferred to the waterworks department to repair the water pipe leak when that work is finished, Mr. Goudy said. Wayne Dispatch. New Asylum Now Has 791 Patients-Eloise Condition Relieved

The last large group of mentally unbalanced persons to be received at the Ypsilanti State Hospital in York Township from Eloise Hospital, Wayne County, left for the local institution Thursday when 39, all women, were received. Practically the entire quota of 600 patients to relieve congestion at Eloise and the Receiving Hospital in Detroit have now been received and the patients and admissions there are a total of 791, of this group, 402 are men, and the remainder, 389, women. The remainder of the patients who will make up the 1,000 capacity are expected to be received this winter from other county institutions and will arrive by general admissions. During September there were 373 patients received, 191 women and 182 men. The total number of employees at the institution is now 161, of which 56 were hired in September. Opening of bids for the two new men's and women's units which are to be constructed this fall have been postponed from Oct. 13 as scheduled, according to Dr. George Inch, superintendent, who received notification of the postponement from G. H. Thompson, state budget director. The new opening date was not mentioned, but it is believed it will be a week later as work is expected to start on the buildings by Nov. 1. The two buildings will be 150 by 150 feet each, and will be situated between receiving administration and present men's and women's patient buildings and will have a main entrance facing south to be 25 by 150 feet. The buildings which are to be three stories high with 125,000 square feet of floor space on each, will house 450 men and women patients each. The total construction cost is expected to be $400,000. Plans are being completed and the prints will be made for the construction of the first year of building program of a large dairy barn, bull barn, milk house, pig-gory, slaughter house and two silos are to be built this year, which will comprise approximately one-third of the total farm buildings to be built. When the program is completed there will be three large dairy barns, calf barn, maternity hospital and freshening barn, two milk houses, bull barn, 10 silos in addition to numerous smaller sheds. The dairy barn expected to be built yet this fall will be 40x200 feet and will house 70 cows. It is to be two stories with a large hay loft, the first story being tile and the remainder siding. The bull barn is to be 30 by 45 and the silos 14 feet in diameter and 40 feet in height. All buildings will be situated approximately 600 feet north of the power house on the gravelled Milan Road.

Miss Irene Brown Becomes A Bride

The marriage of Miss Irene Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brown of Starkweather avenue, and William Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith of Wayne, was solemnized in Adrian, Saturday at five o'clock, with Dr. Frederick Lendrum, former pastor of Plymouth, officiating. The bride and groom were accompanied to Adrian by Miss Margaret Smith of Wayne, sister of the groom, and Harold Brown, brother of the bride. Following the ceremony, the bridal party returned to Plymouth, where a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, with only the immediate families present.

W. C. T. U.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold its annual meeting Thursday, October 22, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. F. C. Lauffer, 620 Penniman avenue. Topic, "Home and School." Roll call—Scriptural quotations relative to Youth. How can the W. C. T. U. help the school—W. C. T. U. officers. How can the school help the temperance cause?—A. Teacher should school and home cooperate?—A. Mother. It is hoped that all members will be present at this meeting. Each will be permitted to bring a friend. It is expected there will be a speaker for this occasion. We copy the following: "The inconsistencies—Are you one of those auto owners, who rant about the dangers from bootleg drinks driving cars—yet visit all the speakeasies you please?" "Are you one of the social leaders who can tolerate your neighbors' noisy drinking parties—yet think that M. T. cocktails are unbecomingly smart?" "Are you an employer who curses the blessings of prohibition to your family and workers—but yourself support a private boot-legger?" "What is your reasoning if you are one of these parents who rave, 'Prohibition started the young people drinking'—yet break the law yourselves?" "Don't be an inconsistent—USE YOUR HEAD!"

METHODIST NOTES

The Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church enjoyed its opening activity of the new year by sending three auto loads of young people to Chelsea last Saturday, to the old Chelsea Hotel. The occasion was the annual Booth Festival of the Ann Arbor district. Two hundred fifty dollars worth of canned fruit were given to the Home by Leagues of the District of which Plymouth young people contributed to the value of thirty dollars. Dr. Halmhuber, our new district superintendent, spoke briefly and after a short program the young people enjoyed a picnic dinner together. Epworth League meetings begin in the Plymouth Methodist church Sunday night at seven o'clock. A Junior Epworth League is soon to be organized. A part of the Junior League program will be a five minute sermon each Sunday morning to the children. The first of these sermons will be preached by the pastor Sunday morning at 10:00 a. m. the subject will be "My Thought of God." All boys and girls of intermediate and first year Sunday-school age are invited. The regular business and social meeting of the Booster Sunday-school class will be held at the church Friday evening (tonight) at 7:30. It is to be a Halloween masquerade party. Mrs. Leroy Jewell and Mrs. Lynn Felton will entertain the Ready Service class on Tuesday October 20th, at the home of Mrs. Jewell, 1630 Ball St. There will be the usual pot-luck dinner at noon, followed by the business meeting.

Coming Attractions At Penniman-Allen

"SILENCE" Heart-grIPPING, emotion-filled human drama comes to the Penniman-Allen Theatre, Sunday and Monday, October 18 and 19, in the Paramount production of Max Marcin's great play, "Silence," only a few seasons ago one of Broadway's "things to see." Portrayed by a talented cast, headed by Olive Brook, Marjorie Rambaugh, Peggy Shannon and Charles Starrett.

"Silence" is the life drama of a weak but noble crook, and Olive Brook makes the character glow of interest to the multitude of new Peggy Shannon fans, built up overnight since her sensational appearance in "The Secret Call," is the unusual opportunity she has to play two roles in this one picture. That she manages to make two separate and distinct personalities of these two contrasting characters, evidences her superb talent.

Marjorie Rambaugh, the popular stage and screen actress, is cast in a dazzling, colorful role that motivates the early action. Charles Starrett, young dark lamb, whose great woman appeal was proved in "Fast and Loose," comes forward again as the fiance of Peggy Shannon.

"PERSONAL MAID" Most people are paid for what they know, but a personal maid is paid for what she knows how to keep quiet about, says Grace Perkins, the sensational new writer who has delved behind the modern scenes of "Ex-Mistress," "Night Nurse" and now "Personal Maid" to the reading and movie-going public.

"Personal Maid," the third of her sensational and revealing stories will be seen at the Penniman-Allen Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, October 21 and 22, with Nancy Carroll in the role of the red-headed Nora Ryan, Miss Carroll, in this, her first starring picture since "Night Angel," is ably supported by Pat O'Brien, brilliant young stage actor; Gene Raymond, known to Broadway as Raymond Gulon; the jolly old character player, George Fawcett, and Mary Boland.

Mounta Bell returned to the Paramount studio after a long absence to make "Personal Maid." Young Man of Manhattan was his last previous Paramount picture.

"Personal Maid" tells the intimate story of a young girl, transported from an East Side tenement home in a ritzy New York apartment. It deals with what she sees and hears in the world of wealth, boss morals, high living, and what effect it has on her character.

Eventually, she tries "being a lady" herself, and, with a personal maid of her own, resorts to a fashionable Florida resort. But, her masquerade exposed, she is swept back to the servants' hall, only to be swept out again into a ritzy apartment of her own, with a personal maid and a husband.

"Personal Maid" is another flash-bulb of the modern scene with one who knows it.

"GRAFT" All newspaper readers should be interested in "Graft," Universal's fast-moving drama which appears at the Penniman-Allen Theatre, Friday and Saturday, October 23 and 24.

The screen play, which deals with the tricky of crooked politicians and the romance of a boy and a girl, is set against the background of a sweltering newspaper office in a great city, and is said to be one of the season's most intensely interesting stories of its type. The story follows the hectic adventures of a cub reporter in his efforts to unearth a murder committed on the job, and the tale moves at a lightning pace.

With one young man pitted against the sinister forces of the city, his exploits are fraught with danger, and his life is only saved by his quick wit and his even quicker action.

The cast of "Graft" is headed by Bebe Danieles, Sue Carol, Dorothy Revier and Boris Karloff, and also includes such popular players as Richard Tucker, William Davidson, Carmelita Geracety, Willard Robertson, George Irving and Harold Godwin. This high-voltage newspaper tale was directed by W. Christy Cabanne. Although Cabanne never was a newspaper man himself, he had the assistance in "Graft" of a number of Los Angeles newspaper men. Cabanne directed "The Lamb," the first picture in which Douglas Fairbanks appeared. For a number of years he was associated with D. W. Griffith. He attended the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis but left the service for the stage.

WEST POINTERS WIN ANOTHER GAME Although out-hit 12 to 9, the West Point Park also scored an 11 to 3 victory over the Plymouth-Haggerty's last Sunday at Burroughs Park, to even the series. Each team has won a game.

A howling, hopeful crowd of home-town customers came out to cheer the Plymouth team in their efforts to clinch the series and win their last home game of the season. Only one game remains on the Plymouth schedule, and that is the series final with West Point Park at West Point Park Sunday, October 18th. By losing the contest Sunday, the burden is now put upon the locals to outplay their foes on their own field to win the championship series.

"Dolly" Dahlstrom was the losing pitcher. He pitched six innings, being removed in the seventh when Ed Rowland hit for him. Dahlstrom was touched for six runs in the first, one in the fourth and two in the sixth. The Parkers were held hitless in the three innings that Rowland was on the mound. The two runs scored in the eighth were on errors by his teammates.

Hiram Hartner, West Point's star southpaw, did the twirling for the visitors. The Plymouth-Haggerty's hit him hard, but he was supreme with men on the bases. Two runs each in the fourth and sixth innings and one in the seventh totaled Plymouth's score.

The third game of the championship series will start at 3:00 o'clock Sunday, October 18th, at West Point Park, corner of Seven Mile and Farmington roads. This contest will wind up the 1931 baseball season for both teams.

Table with 5 columns: Team, AB, R, H, E. Rows include West Point Park, Plymouth-Haggerty, O. Atchinson, E. Simmons, F. Finigan, G. Simmons, K. Krueger, N. Atchinson, P. Pave, Smith, Dahlstrom, Rowland.

Attorney Vining of Wayne Is Dead Edward M. Vining, 62 years old, an attorney in the village of Wayne for 42 years, died Monday night in the University Hospital, Ann Arbor, following an illness of two weeks. He was well known in Plymouth, where news of his death proved a great surprise to his friends who had not known of his serious illness.

Mr. Vining was born in Wayne, Mich., and made his home there at the time of his death. He was admitted to the bar in 1890, following his graduation from the University of Michigan Law School. He was a member of the Wayne County Bar Association and was a Mason.

WEST POINTERS WIN ANOTHER GAME

William Seipp (Erna Seely) at the Lee Manor, Detroit. The date of the annual bazaar and chicken supper has been changed from the 24th to the 23rd. So come and have a big supper on Friday night, 30¢ children, 50¢.

Past Year Driest In States History, But Crops Are Big Although the crop season of 1931 was one of the driest on record in Michigan, crop yields as a whole were less disappointing than might have been expected.

While beans and potatoes were poor in many fields in the southern half of the state and some were near or complete failures, others have produced average and better than average yields. The wheat crop averaged 26.5 bushels per acre, the highest ever recorded in the state.

While crop conditions and resulting yields varied greatly between different sections and between farms in the same section, nearly every farmer has had home good crops this year. This is the direct result of the widely diversified character of Michigan agriculture as pointed out in the October 2 crop report released today by Verne H. Church, U. S. Agricultural Statistician and Herbert E. Powell, State Commissioner of Agriculture.

The total feed supply of hay, coarse fodder and feed grains is much larger than last year and will mostly be fed to livestock rather than marketed at present prices. Oats and barley are below average in weight and probably in feeding value. The most of the corn crop is of good quality and high feeding value.

There will be no regular meeting of the Hive that evening as the time has been given over to the benefit card party for the Guards.

with a ten-year average of eleven bushels. In the central and south-central counties, the yield averages as low as two to four bushels per acre with many fields too poor to harvest. The best yields are in the heavy-producing "Thumb" section, the highest county average being 14 bushels in Huron County. The estimated production is 6,736,000 bushels, or about two millions more than the short crop of 1930. Some beans were damaged by rains while being harvested and the pick will be considerably more than it was last year.

Michigan's potato crop is estimated at 22,000,000 bushels as compared with 13,688,000 bushels in 1930. Yields and quality are good in many northern counties, but poor in the southern half of the state. The early crop ranged from excellent yields down to complete failure. The late crop varies almost as much in respect to yield. There are many small potatoes and

While crop conditions and resulting yields varied greatly between different sections and between farms in the same section, nearly every farmer has had home good crops this year. This is the direct result of the widely diversified character of Michigan agriculture as pointed out in the October 2 crop report released today by Verne H. Church, U. S. Agricultural Statistician and Herbert E. Powell, State Commissioner of Agriculture.

Past Year Driest In States History, But Crops Are Big

Although the crop season of 1931 was one of the driest on record in Michigan, crop yields as a whole were less disappointing than might have been expected. While beans and potatoes were poor in many fields in the southern half of the state and some were near or complete failures, others have produced average and better than average yields. The wheat crop averaged 26.5 bushels per acre, the highest ever recorded in the state.

While crop conditions and resulting yields varied greatly between different sections and between farms in the same section, nearly every farmer has had home good crops this year. This is the direct result of the widely diversified character of Michigan agriculture as pointed out in the October 2 crop report released today by Verne H. Church, U. S. THE SALVATION ARMY ANNUAL Home Service Appeal Is Now Being Made, Sponsored By The Local Salvation Army Advisory Board

Conducted with scrupulous care for economy and upon sound business principles. Greatly helped by the co-operation of its people. Renumeration of its officers is based upon immediate needs and not upon any consideration of individual worth. In touch with the masses—the common people of many lands. It understands their needs—visits them in their homes—counsels them in their perplexities—and seeks to lead them to the knowledge of Christ—to live unselfishly, honorably, and for the glory of God. Unsectarian—its long arm is stretched out to all—of every creed—or of no creed at all. HAVE YOU HELPED? Send Your Donation To C. A. Chistian Science Churches
 "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches on Sunday, October 11. Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Know ye not that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey: whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness" (Rom. 6:16).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "To hold yourself superior to sin, because God made you superior to it, and governs man, is true wisdom. To hold yourself superior to sickness and death is equally wise, and is in accordance with divine Science. To fear them is impossible, when you fully apprehend God and know that they are no part of His creation" (p. 257).

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

Protecting your home and family 24 hours a day

A telephone in your home is more than a convenience. It is an ever-ready safeguard to protect your home and family in times of emergency.

In case of fire, for instance, a telephone will enable you to summon aid immediately, without having to run to the next corner. Property and lives have been saved frequently because there was a telephone handy to summon aid.

When sudden sickness or accidents occur in the middle of the night, it is important that medical aid be summoned at once. With a telephone in the house, a doctor can be called immediately.

The cost is low—you can have the protection and convenience of a telephone in your home for only a few cents a day. To place an order, or for information, call or visit the Telephone Business Office. Installations will be made promptly.

SOLDIERS TO HOLD LYCEUM

The second one in the series will be booked on Thursday, November 13th, 1931, also at the auditorium, when Mardoni, the Mytic, will be puzzling the patrons with his mysterious escapes.

The third in the series to be held in the auditorium at a date on or around the 16th of December, 1931, is a musical program of new and original settings of the Standard Operatures, new elaborate compositions on the old melodies, such as "The Last Rose of Summer" and "Comin' Thro' the Rye."

On Friday, January 22nd, 1932, the internationally known play, "Grumpy," by Grace Hodge, which was one of the biggest successes in New York and on tour in the largest American cities and England, will be the attraction.

The last feature of the lyceum brings to Plymouth on February 13, Fred G. Hale, one of the genuinely outstanding lecturers of the day. He deals with the most vital problems that can possibly be presented to the people of any community anywhere, and he has the ability to present these problems, powerfully, constructively, convincingly.

The Ex-Service Men of the community feel that a series like this has been long needed and will be appreciated by the people, and that the very small expenditure asked of them to enjoy the full series will be given gladly.

NEWBURG SCHOOL NOTES

HIGHER GRADES

After having such a long and happy vacation we are all glad to be back again to work.

We have organized our Citizenship Club, having held our first meeting on Sept. 21. Our officers are: Edmund Zielasko, president; David Gates, vice-president; Ethel Bennett, secretary and treasurer; Dorothy Schmidt, girls' health officer; Lionel Coffin, boys' health officer.

MIDDLE GRADES

We have two new boys in our room: they are Junior Fisher and Leonard Prince. Fourth grade geography are making a movie on "How Men Work and Live."

Miss Edna Lamb from Lansing, visited our room last week.

Our citizenship officers are: Kenneth McMullen, president; Evelyn Ballen, vice-president; Lewis Gilbert, secretary and treasurer; Mildred Zielasko, girls' health officer; Jackie Thompson, boys' health officer.

Lewis Gilbert has been sick for a couple of weeks. We hope that he will soon recover.

The man who has been trying to find an easy job is now having the hardest time.

NETHEMS WIN ONE, LOSE ONE IN YEAR'S FINAL

Netem closed a great season by defeating Newburg 10 to 4, and losing to Detroit Pilots, 3-2 in twelve innings.

Pizarek got fourteen on strikes and knocked out two triples and a single as Netem swamped Newburg. Johnson was the hitting star for Newburg, getting two doubles and a single in four attempts at the plate.

Two singles and a fielder's choice cost Netem a victory over Detroit Pilots in the twelfth inning. Gale and Chick hooked up in a pitchers' battle which lasted for twelve innings, when the Motor City boys scored the winning run.

At this time Netem wishes to thank the local fans for their support at the games this past season, and we also thank the local newspaper for the space they have given us for publishing the reports of our games.

LOCAL PHEASANT HUNTERS ASKED TO ASSIST STATE

Pheasant hunters this year will have an opportunity to assist the state in obtaining desirable information about this game bird by sending in crops for analysis and by reporting the leg band numbers of any birds shot.

All of the cock birds released from the State Game Farm have been marked with a small aluminum band attached to the leg of each bird.

It is suggested that if hunters will save the crops and send them by first class mail as soon as possible it will not be necessary to use preservatives or alcohol jars.

Man sets up the drinks and drinks upset the man.

HARD TIMES

Prof. John Casey unearthed the following from a copy of National Printer Journalist, printed December, 1896. It sounds familiar. Have you heard anything like it recently?

"Hard Times! Hard Times! Come again no more!" We all sing it, we all bop it, but do we know what hard times are?

And yet, in these days we do not know what hard times are; we think we do, but we do not.

The writer knows of a time within his remembrance—and he is no patriarch, when, in one of the richest States in the Union, the whole town of some two thousand inhabitants possessed altogether not over $300 in money.

And yet it is doubtful if there was in those times such a universal spirit of unrest and discontent, such a concert of growling, as today.

KILLED WHEN HE GOES TO SLEEP IN AUTOMOBILE

Fred Goodrich, of Lansing, 22-year-old University of Detroit tennis and basket ball star, was killed shortly after 3:30 a. m. last Saturday morning when the automobile he was driving went into the ditch beside the Plymouth road.

Goodrich, who lived in a fraternity house at 10825 Monica avenue, Detroit, and Miss Stark attended the Detroit-Livonia football game Friday night and Goodrich was taking the girl to her home in Battle Creek.

Shortly after 3:30 a. m. as the couple neared Ann Arbor on the Plymouth road, Miss Stark dozed. She was aroused a short time later and sensing that something was wrong, nudged Goodrich, who was driving in the side.

Goodrich was a forward on the U. of D. basketball team for two years and played on the university's tennis team three years. He was captain and manager of the 1930-31 tennis team.

Miss Stark has lived in Battle Creek for a year and is department manager of a store. She came originally from Lansing, where her father now lives.

Money to Burn
By—
Peter B. Kyne

This old comforting philosophy had animated him the moment he had come face to face with Colorado Charley and Mae. The sight of them, as a matter of fact, had infuriated him and, fury displacing fear, he had grown suddenly light-hearted. His attack had completely upset the calculations of the blackmailers; on the instant their plans crumbled. As they disappeared through his door a feeling of peace after victory settled over Elmer Clarke's sturdy frame. Elmer Clarke retired to his virtuous couch and slept the sleep of the conscience-free and the healthy. At breakfast next morning he had a telephone call from Nellie, who declared she was simply hunting with curiosity. He must take her all about his interview with those terrible people. "I was scared to death, Nellie," he confessed, "but it would never have done to let them know I was so bluffed my way through. "Do you think the incident is closed?" Nellie queried innocently. "I do not. I'm going to be the laughing stock of this town sooner or later—unless I buy those letters from them. I'm not. I'll stand for their fire. It will be horrible, but I'll stand for it. "You appear to have eliminated my point of view from your consideration, Elmer. How do you know I can manage to stand up under that ridicule of you? Don't you think it will hurt me terribly? "Would it?" he queried eagerly. "It like to think I'd like to think you love me still, with all my faults. Do you, darling? "You'll have to go on guessing. I have some womanly pride, you know, and you have jarred it frightfully. "I've lava a dog," he murmured sadly. "I serve me right. Oh, course I have the nerve of a lion tamer to ask this, but—will you give me another chance, Nellie? Will you take me back on probation? "I accept. "I'll take you back—not as a sweetheart but as the dear old friend you were before you told me you loved me and asked me to marry you. Meanwhile, you are not to run away from Pilaretos. You must stay here and make your campaign for mayor. "I can never be elected mayor now," he assured her. "That suit and the publicity of my letters to Doris. "Were they love letters, Elmer?" He lunged his head. "I tried to make them sound that way, but I don't think they were as enthusiastic as ones I could have written you under the same circumstances. Still, I suppose they're silly enough to tickle Pilaretos to death. They'll be hard for me to laugh off. "Take the chance," she urged. Elmer shook his head dolefully. "I dare not—now. "But you announced your candidacy with a blare of trumpets, as it were. You'll have to enter the fight now. "Elmer shuddered. "But I never intended to run for mayor this year," he protested lamely. "I was merely announcing myself as a candidate to run against the incumbent when he came up for reelection. I figured he would. Now the infernal Pilaretos has disappointed everybody by resigning and moving out of the county, the city council is deadlocked over the appointment of his successor and in order to save their faces they have ordered a special election to decide who shall be mayor to fill the unexpired term. So you see, Nellie, I've got an excellent excuse for withdrawing now. I can say I do not care to make a campaign for the unexpired term, because it will not afford me an opportunity to institute reforms. All my friends will understand. "So you see, Nellie, you remind me of a small boy who whistles up his courage as he passes the cemetery after dark. Elmer, you know very well that if you are elected to fill the unexpired term and make good you can be elected for the next two-year term without half trying. "No, I can't make an announcement in the Clarion that, upon further consideration, I find that my business affairs will not permit my making the race and accordingly I am withdrawing my candidacy. "If you do that," Nellie assured him, "you will be as well as dead all hope of marrying me eventually. I could never stand a quitter. I want you to enter that fight, even if you do lose it. "He squirmed in his chair. "The very thought of it makes me shudder, Nellie. Have a heart! Permit me to withdraw now, marry me and go away with me—to France or Italy—anywhere to escape. Then when the blow falls I'll not be here to be laughed at. Nothing in this world can be of surpassing interest for more than nine days, and in a year or two from now when we return the whole miserable affair will have been forgotten. "I dare say, Elmer. In that length of time you will have been forgotten, too. You will have lost your leadership, so essential to your future here. You must remain here and build up your leadership. "Then marry me and help me stand it. "No, I had nothing to do with getting you into this jam and you'll to have to fight your own way out. If you do that, however, the day I find it out, I'll marry you. But if you quit, if you run—count me out of your calculations. "He groaned inwardly. "You haven't the slightest conception of a woman's pride, Elmer," Nellie went on with more tenderness. "That adventurous fellow is trying to break you, to run you out of your own country. I'm trying to make you, to keep you from being run out. The question therefore resolves itself into this: who is going to win? You are the only human being who can decide that question, and I call upon you to decide it here and now or forfeit, not to love for you, but my future friendship and respect for you. Speak up, Elmer, or remain forever silent! "You win," he declared without an instant's hesitation. "I do not do that," she replied. "I do not humiliate you again. I can take a licking, you know. "Smiling, I hope. "Well, at any rate, in silence. "That remains to be seen," said Nellie darkly. "Your courage and sportsmanship are going to be tested in a manner of which you little dream. Our future happiness depends on how well you poorly you emerge from that test. "Elmer thought of his love letters to Doris and shuddered again. "You're not eating anything," Nellie challenged him suddenly. "Why, you haven't taken a single bite. "If I did I'd feel as vulgar and insouciant as a pig," he replied. "Cheer up, Elmer. There is no hell. "Well, then, I'm up to my ears in something just as hot." He eyed her half angrily. "And you're the little devil that's stoking the fire." Nellie half rose from her chair and leaned across the table toward him. "Kiss me, honey," she commanded fiercely. And Elmer obeyed. "Up to the day he received, from that anonymous Los Angeles source, the letters he had written his inamorata. Elmer made no progress in the matter of mapping out his campaign for mayor. He was much too nervous, too overwhelmed with grave apprehensions, to focus his mind on this adventure which would end only in disaster. He spent his days fishing and his nights in gloomy meditation. Longfellow, in his "Hiawatha," observes that misfortunes come not singly. The poet might, with equal truth, have written that blessings come in flocks. Suddenly came the letter from Doris, charging him with the perpetration of a newer and more despicable crime and vowing vengeance when her time should be up. The receipt of the newspaper clipping solved the mystery of the girl's letter and while Elmer was rejecting at this inimitable evidence of a stay of execution and making up his mind to make the fur fly in his campaign for mayor now that fate had intervened and given him a fighting chance to win, the packet of love letters arrived. The comfort that had been his just previous to this was the most extravagant grief in comparison with the delicious delight that descended upon him now. It was the greatest day in his history. When his paroxysm of delight had in a measure abated, he proceeded to read the letters in the order of their date. After reading the third letter he shook as with an ague, for he discovered that he had indeed asked Doris to marry him! He essayed to read the fourth letter and groaned aloud. It was terrible. So he burned them all. He was waiting outside the bank when Nellie came out at five o'clock. "Hop into the car and come away with me, Nellie," he ordered, "or I'll kidnap you." Nellie hopped in, and they whirled away into the country. Once clear of the town Elmer's hand stole over and closed over Nellie's. She jerked it away, but he seized her arm roughly and again possessed himself of her hand, which he retained by brute force. Still he said nothing, so Nellie maintained silence. Presently she spoke, to break an embarrassing silence. "What have you been doing all day, Elmer?" "I've been singing. "Bet you a hundred dollars, I know what you've been singing. "Taken. What have I been singing?" "The national anthem of Slam." "You lose. I don't know it." "Oh, yes, you do!" "What's it called?" "Whataasslam," she informed him. Without a moment's hesitation Elmer Butterworth Clarke took out his wallet and solemnly handed Nellie Cathcart a hundred-dollar bill, and Nellie took it! When Elmer rose the following morning he remembered that if he intended to be mayor of Pilaretos it behooved him to be up and doing. He had no time to spare. After breakfast he wrote a dignified announcement for the Clarion. This paper had supported him vigorously in his campaign for high school trustee, but Elmer, wise in the ways of small-town politics, realized that it was altogether improbable that he should receive editorial support in his campaign for mayor. The Clarion was supported by the advertising of local business men and the local business men, Elmer knew, would be a unit for one of his opponents. In order, therefore, to secure positive opinion or no opinion at all, he made one of those tactful moves of which he was singularly capable. "Now, see here," he announced frankly. "I want to contract with you right now for a half page ad. to be run triweekly until election day. I do not expect you editorial support. All I ask is that, when you do have to mention me, you do so as kindly and fairly as you can. "Then with careless abandon he gave quite a large order for quarter cards, dodgers, banners, pennants and campaign buttons, to the Clarion's job printing department, furthermore, he gave more than one jump ahead of the sheriff, he magnanimously paid for all this work in advance. That settled the matter of the Clarion's attitude. The editor decided immediately to play safe and support nobody. The extent of his advertising and campaign alarmed and irritated his opponent, the alarm being occasioned by first-hand knowledge that they were being opposed by a young, forceful, popular man, without a blemish on his character and with an excellent war record. His strength in fraternal circles was well known, and of course he would get the old soldier vote in its entirety. The irritation of the enemy was born of an apprehension that if they were to oppose him successfully they would have to adopt the pace he had set, which predicted the expending of large money that would mean a tight budget. Also, they would have to make speeches they were incapable of making with a title of the ease, grace and logic of their youthful opponent. Their best plan lay in ancient political strategy. By nothing content the Democrat and the Republican candidates concluded to refrain from fighting each other and concentrate their fire on Elmer. To Elmer competition was the joy of life. He had been born with the winning spirit and he resolved to leave no stone unturned to secure his objective. However, he overlooked one stone. Nellie Cathcart called it to his attention. "I suppose, Elmer, you're going to spend a couple of thousand dollars to win an office that pays a salary of only one hundred dollars a month. "I suppose so. The confounded job is really a nuisance, but now that I'm in the race I'm not going to let a little money stand in the way of victory. "Well, you had better form the Elmer B. Clarke Campaign committee and permit it to spend that money," she suggested. "Name the committee and appoint me treasurer. You have at ready hand as much money as you are permitted to spend under the law; if you spend more, you will violate the purity of the election law; if you win, your enemies will check up on you after the election, indict you, convict you and deprive you of your hard-earned office. "But I can't pass the bar for my campaign expenses," he protested, bewildered. "Organize your finance committee, head the subscription list with a fifty-dollar donation and open an account in Anse Moody's bank. Then send your bills to me and, as treasurer, I will pay them." "But how?" "Never mind how. As treasurer that will be my worry. You stick to your knitting." "But where can you get the money?" "I'll get it somewhere, Elmer, did you ever see a cat reconnoiter a hole in a fence? He sticks his head through and if his whiskers touch he knows he cannot get his body through, so he climbs over the fence. Well, I'm going to crawl through this hole without touching my financial whiskers." She did. She gave the Pilaretos Commercial Trust & Savings bank a second mortgage for two thousand dollars on the property she had bought from Elmer Clarke, and old Anse charged her ten per cent interest on the loan and refused to make it for more than a year. This money she deposited to the credit of the Elmer B. Clarke Campaign committee, and on the day after the election she paid her last bill, closed up her account and had four hundred dollars left. And on election day Elmer received two votes in excess of the legal vote cast for his opponents. It was a stupendous, a sweeping victory. "Nellie was far happier than Elmer when the votes were counted. Elmer had a rather well-defined idea that he had labored and sweated for a mouse-trap and had fought for the sheer love of a fight. Now that he had a certificate of election he shuddered to think he would have to use it. But Nellie, her plans for his career long since made, merely checked off another milestone on the road to the heights; and when Elmer, having taken his oath of office, secured a two-week leave of absence from the city council in order to rest after his furious campaign, Nellie was relieved to be rid of him, even for that brief period. Elmer betook himself again to Los Angeles, but Nellie did not keep an eye on him this time. She knew Elmer had had an ample sufficiency of wandering in strange pastures and that the next damsel who "sold him a pup" would have to be adroit to a degree something more than humanly possible. Upon his return Elmer devoted himself assiduously to his duties as mayor for three months; during which period he saw as much of Nellie as possible. Then, having secured a sixty-day leave of absence from the city council, he departed on his long-deferred trip to Muscatine, Iowa, to settle the estates of his late Uncle Elmer. For some mysterious reason Nellie was very distrustful the night before he left. In the stuffy parlor of the old Tully home they said good-by and Elmer was amazed to see her go completely out of control for the first time in their acquaintance. She pulled her around his neck and wept for about five minutes. Elmer was mystified.

In vain Elmer reminded her that he would wire her frequently—long night letters; that he would write her daily and send his letters by air mail; that he would telephone her every Saturday night. "Oh, Elmer, you poor boy! You good, kind-hearted, decent old thing, I—want you to—promise—whatever happens, you'll—come back—t-t-to me, darling." "Why, of course I'll come back to you, Nellie! Why, I won't even look at another girl!" "I don't mean that. I'm thinking of something else—no matter what—and I want you—b-b-back. Oh, Elmer, I want you to come back—j-just as s-s-oon as the estate is—closed." "Ho-ho," he laughed. "So that's the way the cat jumps, eh? You're afraid I'll collect my roll and start wandering. You're afraid I'll wander so long and so far I'll forget you, oh Hum-um! A fat chance. Twenty-four hours after that estate is definitely closed I'll be aboard the rattler headed home—but only on one condition." "I kn-k-know. Provided I marry you shortly after you return." "That's the program. How about it, sweetheart?" "Well, if you'll come back I'll marry you, Elmer. You'll never have to ask me again. All you'll have to do will be to—n-name the day." "I'll wire you the date before I start west. Word of honor now, Nellie, that nothing—understand, nothing—can induce you to change your mind?" "Word of honor, Elmer. And will you give me your word of honor that you'll come right back to me when the estate is settled?" "And you'll not permit anything to make you break your promise?" "I'd rather be a hungry tramp, without a place to lay my head, than break the least of my promises to you." She kissed him half a dozen times and then ran gently out of the door, which she closed upon him and then ran upstairs to her room to have a real cry. Thus did they part. (To be continued.) The present condition of manufacturing enterprise in southwestern Michigan seems to be less satisfactory than in the southeastern area. The near-term outlook also appears less favorable. Grand Rapids is the bright spot of this area. Manufacturing activity in this city is at about the level of a year ago, and an increase is expected over the next few weeks. Employment, likewise, is at September, 1930 levels and is increasing. Retail sales are above what they were a year ago and further improvement is forecast. Collections in Grand Rapids are better than in most of the larger cities which reported. The Benton Harbor area fruit crop has been satisfactory, but prices have been low. This is also true of labor crops in this area and throughout the state.

PLAN NOW FOR GREAT GROWTH

"In the past, especially in other countries, certain splendid public improvement projects have been planned without regard for the comfort and convenience of a majority of the inhabitants of the city. It is also true that a misconception of city planning as a purely aesthetic measure did the movement some harm at one time. But the best modern planning, while promoting beauty and aesthetic effects, aims primarily at utilizing the land area of a city along sound engineering lines, so that the citizens may find it a better, healthier, more economical and more attractive place in which to live, work and play. Its value is well demonstrated by a visit to any of the new towns which have developed carefully developed plans."

Conclusions

- "American cities have found that following a well-considered city plan is far superior to the usual haphazard growth.
- "The cost of preparing such a plan is reasonable and its advantages are great that the arguments for it are unanswerable.
- "A good plan is devised with the public welfare in mind. It promotes the legitimate interests of (a) householders, (b) business and commerce, (c) manufacturing, (d) public utilities, and (e) the city as a landowner."
- "City planning improves the street and transportation systems for persons and merchandise within the city, and to and from the city.
- "A plan aids citizens in selecting and developing land for homes, business, and other purposes by showing the relation of different districts to one another.
- "The zoning ordinance, which belongs in every city planning program, prevents the use of land for incompatible purposes, and secures the owner who invests in sound improvements in harmony with the plan.
- "A good park and playground program, which the citizens of every community owe their children and themselves, is best achieved through a comprehensive planning program.
- "To obtain such results, the plan must be consistently carried out during a long period of years. This ordinarily requires:
 - "A responsible and continuing planning commission, with a technical force to prepare the plan, and to keep it up to date.
 - "Public hearings, at which all citizens or property owners may be heard, while the original plan is being made, and at intervals thereafter.
 - "Cooperation of the officials and employees of city departments.
 - "Careful adherence to the plan, and consideration of the planning commission's advice, by the city council, or other legislative body, in all appropriations for public works, approvals of street layout, purchase of city property, and other matters affecting the city's physical development.
 - "Contact with neighboring governmental agencies to secure coordination within the region.
 - "Support of the city plan by citizens is needed, and is ordinarily

Belleville Farm Barn Is Burned

Barns on the Ray Tate farm near Belleville, containing hay, grain, and tools, were destroyed by fire early Thursday evening, the blaze caused probably by combustion.

The fire was discovered while the men were milking, and spread to destroy the corn crib, chicken house and other small buildings. Three large barns were destroyed. Warren, the nine year old son, let six horses loose while the barn was burning, thus saving the animals, and men who were milking, drove the cattle to safety.

Warning of the fire was given by a passing autoist.

Loss will probably amount to $8,000, partially covered by insurance. It was just four years ago that the Tate family lost their house by fire. In this blaze neighbors assisted and the house was saved.

given generously. They may—

- "Consider the broad features of the plan in selecting and developing sites for various purposes.
- "Support adequate appropriation for the preparation of a comprehensive plan.
- "Support the city council in measures to execute the plan.
- "Encourage other property owners to conform to the plan, and
- "Personally advocate city planning."

Enrollment at the University of Michigan will probably be less than 100 short of last year, judging from registrations in the office of Registrar Ira M. Smith at the end of the first week of school. On Saturday noon, October 3, there 6,493 men and 2,548 women students registered on the campus, a total of 9,041. This is 100 less than at the same time last year. On Friday, October 2, there were 8,948, which was 120 less than the same time last year. Since comparisons of the two years are on exactly the same basis, it is evident that a higher percentage of the students are enrolling somewhat later than usual, and if this tendency continues it is probable that the decrease of October 3 will be our further.

INKSTER SEEKS END OF VILLAGE

A petition asking that the vacating of the incorporation of the Village of Inkster be submitted to the voters at a special election is being circulated and will be presented to the council at an early date.

If the petition is found sufficient the calling of the special election will be mandatory on the council. The charter provides that such a petition must bear a number of signatures equal to twenty-five per cent of the total number of votes cast for president at the last village election but in no case less than 250. There were 1250 votes cast for president at the last election and 250 signatures, therefore, will be sufficient in either case.

While it is expected that sponsors of the movement will be able to secure the required number of signers, the possibility of the measure being adopted by the voters, in the event an election is held, is considered an extremely remote one. To carry the proposition must receive the approval of two-thirds of the voters.

LEGAL NOTICES

MORTGAGE SALE

DEFAULT having been made for more than thirty days in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Griswold Lorraine Realty Company, a Michigan Corporation, to Peoples Bank of Manchester, a Michigan banking corporation, dated the 5th day of January A. Compare the values, prices and service we give you with those of any other tire dealer or distributor of special brands.

The low prices of rubber and cotton give Firestone unusual advantages due to their world-wide facilities in securing these raw materials and their efficient manufacturing. With Firestone's most economical distributing system, with over 600 branches, warehouses and service stores, we can secure a complete line of fresh Firestone tires, tubes, batteries, brake lining, rims and accessories within a few minutes' to a few hours' time and give our customers values and service that are not duplicated.

Firestone has this year added more rubber to the tread which gives 20% to 25% more safe mileage before the tread wears smooth.

The Firestone Double Cord Breaker gives you SIX and EIGHT plies under the tread—spreads road shocks—lessens punctures—gives over 50% stronger union between tread and tire body which ensures longer tire life and greater safety.

Live rubber penetrates every cord and coats every fiber by the patented Gum-Dipping process—thus not only every cord, but every fiber within the cords, is insulated: this gives you 25% to 40% added tire life.

PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL FRIDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1931 OFFICIAL PUBLICATION

CENTRAL GRADE SCHOOL NOTES

The first-B in charge of Mrs. Root have begun to make Halloween decorations for their border. They are soon going to start a "no cold" campaign. Each child is to have his own brownie and as long as he has no cold the brownie may remain on the poster which is to be a big brownie. They are learning to count through play.

Miss Mitchell's first-A class are having a lot of fun taking care of some baby goldfish. In language class they are talking about their pets. Last week they dramatized the story of the Three Pigs. The Winds Party and the poem, "How the Leaves Came Down," were read in nature study class. In hand-work they made black cats with orange eyes, noses and mouths.

The children in Mrs. Allan's two-B class are making a "Three Billy Goats" puppet show. They are also starting a "no cold" campaign. Mrs. Baughn has taught the children to sing with syllables.

Pearl Smith in Miss Dixon's third grade, has moved to the Starkweather district.

The third graders, in charge of Miss Weatherhead, are making a chart of the way seeds travel. They are learning "Stips of Columbus" in language class.

In the fifth grade, Barbara Olssaver received the highest mark in the room on the spelling test. The five-B's have finished the story of Aladdin and have made drawings of different incidents of the story. The five-A's are making rainfall maps of Asia. Barbara Olssaver and Keith Jolliffe are the health inspectors.

In Miss Fomer's room, Betty Johnson's spelling team is still ahead by one point. The fifth graders in this room got one hundred per cent in spelling last Friday. Leah Hunt is leaving for Birmingham. Dorothy O'Leary had the highest score in spelling last week, and Betty Siefold had the next.

In Mrs. Atkinson's room, Mary Louise Holdsworth received the highest score in the standardized spelling test last week of the six-A class, and Ellnor Cline was highest in the six-B class. The six-B's are memorizing "The Charge of the Light Brigade." The six-A's are learning the eight parts of speech. Jack Finn and Virginia Jarrett were absent several days last week because of illness.

ROCKS DEFEAT COUNTRY DAY

Playing a good brand of football, the Plymouth gridders beat Detroit Country Day School, 13-0, at Burroughs Field last Friday, Oct. 9. The Rocks looked much improved over last week and showed a fighting spirit throughout the game. Many substitutions were seen in to try out the fellows in new positions. Wagenschutz and Bronson were out of the line-up as a result of injuries against Dearborn.

FIRST PERIOD

Bannerman of Plymouth, kicked to Country Day's twenty yard line in two tries. Moore gained nothing through Plymouth's line. On the next down, he kicked to Plymouth's nineteen yard line. Blunk bringing the kick back to Day's forty yard line.

Dudek went around left end for eighteen yards and a first down. He again took the ball on the next two plays for seven yards. Blunk went around end for a touchdown. Williams kicking the point.

Moore kicked off to Wagner on the twenty yard line. Wagner brought the ball back to the twenty yard line. Williams rounded tackle for a gain of two yards. The Rocks were then penalized fifteen yards for holding. Dudek shot around for ten yards. A pass from Williams was intercepted by Moore for a forty yard gain, placing the ball on Plymouth's twenty yard line. Moore went through center for two yards. Harris went around right end for a gain of one yard. Moore went off left tackle for three yards gain. He then passed, on the fourth down, but it was incomplete. Dudek plunged through tackle for three yards. Blunk went around end but was tackled for no gain by Cromwell. With seven yards to go on the third down Williams kicked to Country Day's forty yard line, ending the quarter.

Plymouth 7, Country Day 0.

Meadow was substituted for Hesselzen at left tackle. Harris shot around end for ten yards. Moore went through center for five yards. Williams went then put back in place. Champe at right half. Martin went through left tackle for two yards. McArthur came in at left end for Eurich. Moore dashed through tackle for a first down. Liebold went around end for a one yard gain. On the fourth down a pass was thrown to Liebold from Moore, but it was incomplete. Plymouth then took possession of the ball on our own thirty-five yard line.

Gillis dashed off right tackle for one yard. Williams shot off left end for four yards. Steve plunged through center for a first down. Horton dashed around end for eleven yards and another first down. Dudek went through tackle for two yards and was stopped by Simons. Gillis plunged through tackle for two yards. Williams rounded end for a gain of five yards. Horton dashed around left end for fifteen yards. Dudek went around right end for fourteen yards, as the final whistle blew.

If the time had been extended a minute longer the Rocks would have scored another touchdown. Plymouth was on Country Day's six yard line when the whistle blew.

Plymouth 13, Country Day 0.

SENIOR PARTY COMMITTEES

Marshal Purdy and Louise Doherty were elected as members to the senior executive board. The seniors also decided to give their first party October 23. The chairman of the committees for the party are: Frank Allison, orchestra; Milton Soosow, floor committee; Mary Lorenz, ticket committee; Zerepha Blunk, furniture committee; Janet Blickestaff, chaperones; Louise Grandstaff, publicity; Elizabeth Currie, refreshments. It sounds like a good time.

THE DEPRESSION IS OVER

Ninety-six candy bars were sold by the junior class at the football game Friday, October 9. The sales girls were Irene Humphries, Vera Woods, Margaret Cline, Roberta Chappel and Christine Nichol.

GIRLS EARN VAW-CATION CREDITS

Thirty-five Plymouth High School girls not only did school work during the school year but during the summer as well. The summer project work in home economics gave them the opportunity to earn one-fourth credit for 100 to 140 hours of work. Since the object of these projects is to make the classwork function in the home and to develop a greater appreciation and responsibility in home activities, each home project is planned to meet a girl's real problem. By repeating the class room work, the girls have the opportunity to increase their skill and information and develop more managerial ability and independence in work and thought. Two or three visits are made to the home during the summer by the home economics teacher and often by the state supervisor of economics from Lansing. Final reports are written by the girls and handed in to the teacher who in turn sends them to the Federal agent of home economics at Washington, D. C.

Some of the projects undertaken included the following points: Canning, relation of food to health, preparing and serving family food, household management, girls' own clothing and child care. Some of the reports were put in booklet form with many illustrations, charts and drawings. A number of the best projects were exhibited at the Northville Fair.

Home projects have not only local support but are encouraged by the state governments as well. Although summer projects were first introduced in Michigan in 1926, there are now thirty-five schools in the state that offer credit for that work.

A VISITOR FROM FLORIDA

"Isn't he cute?" "Won't he freeze in this cold climate?" "What fishy looking eyes!" Will he bite?" Unawares as the baby alligator was that he was attracting so much attention, he wiggled contentedly about in the old shoe box and now and then would thrust out his head to acknowledge the various comments made for about him. Emma Rowe brought him in Mr. Bentley's room where he could be peeped at through a hole in the cover of the box.

Although alligators usually grow but about one-half inch a year, they finally attain a length of ten or twelve feet and live to over one hundred years old. Because they are extremely inactive, they require a feeding but once a month. Mr. Bentley has sent for more alligators from Florida so that the students may watch them grow.

Can have 24 Hour automatic Hot Water Service for only $2.40 Per Month

Already many families have accepted it. Why don't you change over? Just think of having hot water automatically, any time of the day or night, for only $2.40 per month! That is all it costs an average family of 4.

If you now heat your winter's supply of hot water with a furnace coil, consider the new statement of science that a furnace coil wastes one shovelful of fuel out of every 5 you put into your furnace.

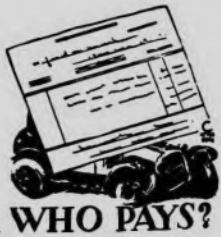

Replace the old, wasteful, costly methods. Take advantage of the low rate. And there is another opportunity in the low cost and easy terms on this new, automatic model at the right. Come in and see it today.

STARKWEATHER SCHOOL NOTES

Billie Bennett is a new pupil in the kindergarten class. The children are making a paper cupboard and are filling it with canned goods to show how their mothers prepare for winter. They are also dressing a doll illustrating warmer clothes for the winter time.

Miss Stader's second grade room earned the thrift banner for last week. This class also received a blue star on the chart for having 72.2 per cent of the room banking. Virginia Dunham has moved to Ann Street, and will be attending the second grade at the Central school.

The children in Mrs. Moore's room made dolls of paper fruit. The dolls have heads of oranges, bodies of grapefruit, legs and arms of bananas, hats of ears trimmed with cherries, and feet of figs. Each doll carries a bunch of grapes.

The five-B geography class gave some very interesting reports on Canada and Central America. The five-A's in geography made a poster representing the customs of the Japanese. Nineteen pupils received stars in spelling Thursday.

The children in Miss Farrand's room are writing letters to children in Porto Rico. Myrtle Drews and Bobby West had the highest marks in the six-B spelling test. Dely had the highest mark in the six-A test.

MOLASSES AND FLOUR

An informal meeting of the Hi-Y was held last Friday at Riverside Park for the purpose of fresh air, recreation, and initiating the following new members: Charles Hewer, Charles Carr, Ernest Archer, Mylin Blunk, Robert Shaw, Leo Curtis, Russell Gale, Donald Proctor, Russell Stevens, Lester Bassett, Harold Brown, Arthur Finney and William Tuck. After a delicious pot-luck dinner was served, the new members were blindfolded and led up a hill and were made to kneel down and kiss the ground. A hole in place of the ground was a dish of molasses which was then replaced by a dish of flour. What a sight it was to see these boys march down the hill with their faces covered with molasses and flour. When the blindfolds were removed there was a rush for the washroom. Afterwards, the new members beat the old members of the Hi-Y in an interesting game of baseball.

It was the pleasure of Miss Allen, Miss Wells, Mrs. Crumble, Miss Felgel and Miss Berg, who are Plymouth Girl Reserve advisers, to hear Dean Voigt, Dean of Girls of the University of Ohio, speak to Girl Reserves advisers. Dean Voigt spoke on the relations of the Girl Reserves to College Christian associations. This event was held in the Y. W. C. A. building, Detroit, last Wednesday evening, October 9. Together with dinner and Dean Voigt's message our Girl Reserve sponsors enjoyed a pleasant evening.
