

THIEVES LOOT HAYWARD STORE

Over $1800 Worth of Suits And Overcoats Are Taken Last Friday Night.

HAS NO INSURANCE TO COVER HEAVY LOSS

Thieves Knew Just Where Suits And Overcoats Were; Take Plenty of Time to Remove Goods From Store.

New fall suits and overcoats valued at more than $1800, were stolen from the Paul Hayward store on Penniman avenue next to the post-office some time last Friday night.

The robbery was discovered by Ralph Lorenz, a clerk in Mr. Hayward's store, when he came to work at 8:40 o'clock this morning.

He found the front door of the place standing open about eight or ten inches, and the lock missing.

Immediate investigation showed that a screw driver or some other sort of pry had been jammed under the lock and the lock picked off.

One familiar with the placing of Yale locks in doors knew just how to do it without the slightest difficulty.

Mr. Hayward was immediately called to the store, but it was not until Monday that a check of the loss could be made.

Of the shipment of new fall goods just received, there had been taken 25 new suits of clothing and over 30 new overcoats. A number of ties and other small articles were also stolen.

Mr. Hayward carried no burglary insurance, and as a result the loss to him is a severe one.

Night officers saw no one in the vicinity of the store at any time, but it is quite apparent that the thieves took their time to work over the stock and take part of the new goods that had but recently been received.

It would require several trips in and out of the store to carry out all the goods that were removed. It is apparent that the thieves parked their car directly in front of the store and loaded it up without any one seeing them.

No clue of any kind has been discovered. Deputy Sheriff J. J. Hoff, office told Mr. Hayward that there had been a number of clothing store robberies in Michigan during recent weeks, the Lewis Brothers store in Lansing having been robbed early last week in exactly the same way the Hayward store here was looted.

Popular New Norge Refrigerator To Be Sold In Plymouth

Officials of the Norge refrigerator company made known the early part of the week that J. C. Rutherford of the Plymouth Used Car Sales on S. Main street, had been given the franchise for their products in this section of Wayne county.

Mr. Rutherford will be distributor for Plymouth, Northville, Farmington, South Lyon and Wall Lake, where he will appoint his agents in the near future.

The new distributor announced that Charles McLarion, who will be associated with him in Plymouth, has just completed a course at the Norge service school in Detroit, enabling him to make all service to the products.

Since taking over the agency several of the new ice boxes have already been placed in Plymouth homes and owners are finding them more than satisfactory.

In talking over the agency Mr. Rutherford stated that the demand for the boxes has been greater every month during the year, and this he thought was an excellent recommendation for the products. He said:

"For the ninth consecutive month this year, Norge Corporation, subsidiary of Borg-Warner, reports an increase in sales over the corresponding month of last year and announces total volume of 528 per cent, compared with 1830. September volume was 762 per cent ahead of the same month, said Edward F. Blood, president, said: "We are elated with Norge progress during the current year. The entire industry has benefited from the aggressive policy pursued by its leaders. No other business has gone ahead so progressively during this period of depression. Yet because sales efforts were intensified and advertising appropriations increased rather than cut, as was the case in many other industries during 1931, practically every maker of domestic electric refrigerators has advanced."

Pointing to Norge progress as an example, Mr. Blood continued: "Our rapid gain began last March. We inaugurated a policy of going after sales in an aggressive manner, rather than waiting for them to come to

Rotarians Visit Howell For Joint Meeting on Monday

Members of the Plymouth Rotary club were guests Monday noon of Rotarians at Howell, the joint meeting of the two clubs being one of a series recommended by district officials of the Rotary organization.

President Walter Nichol of the Plymouth club was requested to introduce all the visiting Rotarians from Plymouth, about twenty-five going over to the Howell meeting.

The speaker was Edmund Shields, well known Lansing attorney, former Democratic national chairman of Michigan, who was born in Howell.

Mr. Shields briefly told of his impressions of countries on the other side of the Atlantic gained from numerous trips to Europe.

Prosperity is only being enjoyed by the European nations that did not enter into the world war. Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland and Switzerland, Mr. Shields declared.

Frank Clark, one time clerk of the Michigan house of representatives, and for many years secretary to former Congressman Grant Hudson, who is now serving in a similar capacity for Congressman Seymour Persons of Lansing, was also present at the meeting.

Kiwanis Club Holds Special Patriotic Meeting On Tuesday.

Nicholas Salowich, National Commander of the American Legion Tank Corps and member of the Northwestern Kiwanis club of Detroit, presided at the Armistice day address at the local Kiwanis club Tuesday noon.

Nearly fifty members and guests heard the stirring address that once again brought vivid pictures of foreign battlefields to their minds.

He stated that Armistice day was an event of thanksgiving and that we should cherish it as such because it brought back to our loved ones who were sacrificing themselves for world peace. He also stated that one of the main objectives of the legion today is to care for soldiers and their families and see that they are again restored to their former levels which war had taken from them.

Members of the Myron H. Beals post who attended the luncheon, brought with them the post's colors which were a recent gift of the Daisy Manufacturing Co.

Miss Catherine Hartland gave a very interesting talk on Alaska, which she visited last summer. She also exhibited miniature totem poles, dolls, snapshots and pictures of scenes.

Her worthy Master also gave an interesting account of his recent trip to the state grange convention, Plymouth Grange voted to visit Greenfield Village in a body, Friday afternoon, Nov. 20th, those wishing to go on this trip should notify Mrs. S. The result is a staff of approximately 8,000 sales people who are part of their success to the merits of Norge and the advertising which backs the product, as well as the sales tools which have been provided to help sell Norge Rollator Refrigerator. With the usual Christmas business peak fast approaching, we anticipate winding up the year rich in experience and firmly entrenched among the leaders in this highly competitive industry.

Mrs. Mary Horton Dies at Age of 69

Mrs. Mary Lydia Horton, a resident of Newburg for many years, died Thursday, November 12th, as the result of illness from heart trouble.

She was born in Richfield, Genesee county, Michigan, 60 years ago. Her early childhood was spent in the place of her birth. While yet a child, her parents moved to Chesaning, where she lived her girlhood days. For the last seventeen years she had lived in Newburg. In 1882 she married Mr. J. C. Horton, while still a resident in Richfield. Her married life has been quite largely in this community.

Besides her husband, three children survive her, Esther of East Tawas, John of Newburg, and Donald of Detroit, and several grandchildren are left to mourn their loss.

She seemed to carry with her always, an unusual contagion of good cheer, that it was good to be in her presence, being loved by all who knew her. She passed away early Thursday morning, Nov. 3, at her home.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Frank Purdy, Saturday at 2:00 p. m., from Newburg church. Misses Anna and Ada Young sang "Shall I Know Him" and "Jesus Loves My Soul." A profusion of beautiful flowers and a large number of relatives and friends attended the funeral in which she was held.

Friends of Mrs. Arthur Warner of Strathmore, will be glad to know that her general condition has improved since the amputation of her limb on Monday, Nov. 2. This became necessary when an embolism stopped the circulation in the foot, resulting in gangrene. She is in the Highland Park General hospital, Sunday evening, at their home on the Lily road.

Mrs. William Sutherland attended the F. T. D. convention last Tuesday, at the Book-Cadillac hotel.

Members of The 4M Club Are Guests of Penniman-Allen

About sixty Plymouth boys, members of the 4-M club, were guests of the Penniman-Allen Theatre, Saturday evening, November 7th. The party was made possible through the courtesy of Harry Lush, who has given his hearty cooperation in the work of the 4-M club.

The 4-M club consists of boys under 14 years of age, who are desirous of meeting and learning the fundamentals of good citizenship and the development of individualistic muscles and manhood, from which the club gets its name.

The theatre party was given to the boys in appreciation of their fine conduct during the past, and especially on Halloween night. The party was originally planned for Halloween night, but the arrangements made by the Penniman-Allen Theatre were being made it impossible to have the boys as guests of the Penniman-Allen, therefore the affair was delayed one week.

The club is grateful for the good time made possible by Mr. Lush, and extends its thanks for the occasion.

DeMolays Enjoy Pleasant Evening

Clank up another successful social event in the calendar of events of the DeMolays. A home meeting at Harvey Segnitz' home played the prominent part in this well-filled calendar. Five hundred and thirty-eight attended the party.

Leslie Daly is to represent Fellowship Chapter in the inter-club debating contest being held to determine the speakers for the conference at Lodi Chapter, Dec. 12 in Detroit. He will represent the Palatine Chapter. The subject is "The Advantages of DeMolay."

Plans For Future Feature Meeting

On Tuesday evening, November 10th, Mrs. Grace Martin gave an opening her attractive home on Ann Arbor road for a subscription dinner for the Business and Professional Women's Club, of which she is a member.

The members spent the evening busily sewing on articles to fill their treasure chest.

Plans were also made for observing the Washington Bicentennial. Another interesting feature of the evening's entertainment was the drawing of "Pal" names. Miss Florence Stader had devised a clever plan by which each one present drew the name of a member to whom they will be an unknown "pal" until next June, at which time the names will be disclosed.

Promptly at 6:30 p. m., the committee for the evening, consisting of Grace Martin, Irma Gunn, Irene Balje and Alice M. Safford, served a delicious dinner, which was complimented both in action and words.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Tall and baby daughter, Marjorie Fay, Mrs. Frank J. Pierce and Miss Norma drew the name of a member to whom they will be an unknown "pal" for a few days. They were accompanied home by Miss Frances Johnson, sister of Mrs. Pierce, who will spend a few weeks with her.

Former Plymouth Boy Declares Russia Has Turned Churches Into Garages-Homes Life There Killed

Plymouth Girl Is Made Official of Art Organization

Miss Chloe Lesoy of Plymouth, a student of the Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti, has just been elected Vice-President of the Art Club of that school. Other officers chosen follow: President, Dorothy Schleck of Grosse Pointe; Secretary, Janet Taylor of Ypsilanti, and Treasurer, Marjorie Bonham of Ypsilanti. Membership of the organization are limited to students who are specializing in art work.

November 9th, the day the Detroit weather bureau recorded the warmest Nov. 9th in all its 68 years of recording temperatures—was ideal for the Plymouth League of Women Voters to go to Detroit for its November luncheon meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Millard, 1719 West Grand Boulevard.

Mrs. Millard was a delightful hostess. Places were set at small tables for the 21 guests and they partook heartily of the delicious luncheon served.

Following the luncheon and business meeting, Phillip Millard, son of Mrs. Millard, who recently returned from a year in the employ of the Soviet Government in Russia, was introduced as the speaker of the afternoon, who would give intimate glimpses of his year there.

Mr. Millard had an audience deeply interested in every experience he related, due partly to the fact that most of them had known "Phil" as a boy in Plymouth.

Mr. Millard explained his position by saying he had gone to Russia in the company of other American young men, looking for adventure, not because he had communistic ideas, and that in telling of his year there he would not dwell on the success or failure of the Russian plan, but would relate what he saw and one could draw conclusions.

It was all interesting. Mr. Millard took his audience from the United States, where one can buy all the food and clothing he has money to purchase, to the Stalingrad district where milk and bread and meager clothing are rationed out according to the labor performed—the Russian laborer could not understand how the Americans were allowed to own so many suits of clothing.

The description of the trip on the Volga and the several types of passengers aboard, made a pathetic story. Leaving Stalingrad, the 3500 strong American contingent was taken by trucks over rough roads to the tractor factory where 1200 tractors were built during that time.

Mr. Millard dwelt on the lack of technical leadership among the Russians, of the lack of skilled workers and Americans in the party and of the child-like stupidity of the Russian in taking the clothes apart. The American engineers were at a disadvantage because of the fact that the Russians were unable to understand the delicacy of machinery, and after a few days' work the life of the machine was ended.

Mr. Millard told of the government store where funds were scarce and medicines unobtainable in most instances. He told of the hard working women who are able to endure 7 hours a day, 4 days out of every five, of the hardest manual labor. He said he now works in Helsinki, had undermined the stability of the home and that the young women were now more anxious for a factory job than to have a home and family. He said the people of Russia are restless, seem anxious to be rid of their government, but do not know where to go. Men and women are seen, with a loaf of bread and a bottle of milk under their arm waiting to move on. It is only by permits from the Government that they can go from one town to another. The young people are not interested in Religion although the older ones still cling to their Faith. Most of the Churches are turned into garages and other places of utility. Doctors are paid by the Government and medical advice is free, but there is a great deal of sickness and the people are not healthy and robust.

The Stalingrad District is the seat of Communism and the people there seem resigned to accept any hardship the government may ask of them. But through it all, Mr. Millard said they have not lost their sense of humor and they do not seem particularly unhappy. They love music, although the musicians are given the smallest rations of any and the most ignorant people can sing snatches of several operas. There are operas and movies to attend and the price of seats is reasonable.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Jackson were dinner guests Sunday of Mrs. James Feltz of Lake Orion. Mrs. Feltz is a sister of Harry Bannister, the movie star.

CASH, CANNED GOODS OR FRUITS GET YOU IN

Penniman-Allen Management And Rotary Club Provide Happy Way For You To Aid Local Welfare Fund.

Wednesday is going to be a big day for Plymouth, members of the Rotary Club and motion picture lovers, a big day because through arrangements made by the Rotary Club the Mayor Harry Lush, dean of the Penniman Allen Theatre every cent taken in that day at the theatre will go to the Plymouth Welfare Fund.

The Rotary Club recently decided to take some active part in raising funds for any charitable needs that might be faced by this community before the winter is over. As a result of this decision, next Wednesday's big charitable theatre entertainment has been made possible.

President Walter Nichol of the Rotary Club announces that admission to the afternoon matinee can be gained by payment of each, any amount you might desire to pay, canned goods, fruits or vegetables presented at the theatre ticket of five. This a reasonable also provides for the evening performance.

It is not the last news of all that Manager Lush will do more for the Rotarians by telling them that every cent taken in for the shows would be donated to the Plymouth welfare fund.

The Penniman-Allen theatre is going to pay for the picture, pay the ushers, pay the advertising pay for the lighting, heating and all other expenses of the limited and one expense that is not included in the theatre's expense is a motion picture theatre. The Rotarians are making available to the Rotary Club's welfare fund the entire GROSS receipts of the theatre on next Wednesday.

For that day he has booked that top popular player, Ron Maynard, in the "Range Lash." This picture is one of Maynard's big hits. In addition there has been selected one of the best comedy reels that can be secured. And of course there will be an interesting news reel, in all 102 minutes of thrill and laughter for the afternoon show and 102 minutes of the same quality for each of the evening performances.

The Rotary Club is sponsoring the big day and making arrangements for it.

It is all going for a wonderfully good purpose, every cent taken in, and every donation made at the door will find its way to some one who needs it. A wonderful chance to help and enjoy yourself at the same time.

There will be three performances, Wednesday, one at 3 o'clock, another at 7 o'clock and the last at 9 o'clock.

Cash, canned goods, or a liberal quantity of fruits and vegetables will get you in. It is up to you as to what you shall pay.

Misses Helen and Marion were invited to hear the message that was given to them.

The boys and girls were given a Bible verse, and also little stories for the next meeting. After singing a few more choruses they marched out to the tune of their favorite choruses.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

By the President of the United States of America

We approach the season when, according to custom dating from the gathering of the first harvest by our forefathers in the New World, a day is set apart to give thanks, even amid hardships, to Almighty God for our temporal and spiritual blessings. It has become a hallowed tradition for the Chief Magistrate to proclaim annually a National Day of Thanksgiving.

Our country has cause for gratitude to the Almighty. We have been widely blessed with abundant harvests. We have been spared from pestilence and calamities. Our institutions have served the people. Knowledge has multiplied and our lives are enriched with its application. Education has advanced, the health of our people has increased. We have dwelt in peace with all men.

The measure of passing adversity which has come upon us should deepen the spiritual life of the people, quicken their sympathies and spirit of sacrifice for others, and strengthen their courage.

Many of our neighbors are in need from causes beyond their control and the compassion of the people throughout the nation should so assure their security over this Winter that they too may have full cause to participate in this day of gratitude to the Almighty.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Herbert Hoover, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, November 29, 1931, as a National Day of Thanksgiving, and do recommend that our people rest from their daily labors and in their homes and accustomed places of worship give devout thanks for the blessings which a merciful Father has bestowed upon us.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this third day of November, in the Year of our Lord Nineteen Hundred and Thirty-one, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the One Hundred and Fifty-sixth.

(Signed)
 HERBERT HOOVER.

HE DOES RIGHT

Announcement has been made by Henry Ford that it is his intention to give every man in Dearborn his home city, a job when he resumes his factory operations. That means that there will be no idleness in Dearborn this winter, that every resident of that place will have a job. For this decision, we admire Mr. Ford. It is an excellent thing to take care of local residents first, and then if there are any jobs left pass them around to the most deserving. It takes Dearborn out of the "depression zone" for the winter at least.

THE OUTLOOK

It is a gloomy moment in history. Not for many years—not in the lifetime of most men who read this paper—has there been so much grave and deep apprehension; never has the future seemed so incalculable as at this time. In our own country there is universal prostration and panic, and thousands of our poorest fellow citizens are turned out against the approaching winter without employment, and without the prospect of it.

In France, the political caldron seethes and bubbles with uncertainty; Russia hangs, as usual like a cloud, dark and silent, upon the horizon of Europe; while all of the energies, resources and influences of the British Empire are sorely tried, and are yet to be tried more sorely, in connection with the vast and deadly Indian insurrection, and with its disturbed relations in China.

It is a solemn moment, and no man can feel an indifference (which, happily, no man pretends to feel) in the issue of events. Of our own troubles no man can see the end. They are, fortunately, as yet mainly commercial; and if we are only to lose money, and by painful poverty to be taught wisdom—the wisdom of honor, of faith, of sympathy and of charity—no man need seriously despair. And yet the very haste to be rich, which is the occasion of this widespread calamity, has also tended to destroy the moral forces with which we are to resist and subdue the calamity.

Good friends—let our conduct prove that the call comes to men who have large hearts, however narrowed their homes may be; who have open hands, however empty their purses. In time of peril we have nothing but manhood, strong in its faith in God, to rely upon; and whoever shows himself a God-fearing man now, by helping wherever and however he can, will be blessed and beloved as a great light in darkness.

What you have just read above is reproduced from an editorial that appeared in Harper's Weekly on October 10th, 1887! It preaches its own sermon in connection with the present economic situation. In July, 1887, the country was in a state of panic, marked the beginning of the depression. Seventeen months later, in March, 1889, business was back to normal. History repeats itself. August, 1929, was normal. September saw the beginning of the present depression. Today, in spite of much that is said, there is evidence that conditions are on the mend. Depressions have occurred in our history many times. Every one has looked black and seemed menacing. But every one has been followed by recovery and prosperity.

KIDDING THE LADIES

Governor Brucker, in speaking before members of the W. C. T. U. in Jackson, Sunday night, asked that we might live. We ask it in the name of Jesus Christ, our Lord and our Savior.

A Prayer of Thanksgiving

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for our national inheritance. We thank Thee for the faith of our fathers, for the spirit of faith and of courage that we have inherited from our fathers. We rejoice because of the gift of Mount Sinai to civilization, and we pray that Thy blessing may rest upon law and the spirit of law in our great Nation and create within our hearts a greater spirit of reverence for law. Help us in spirit and in truth to realize that we are workers together with God. Bless us in the fellowship of service as we endeavor to serve one another. Give us a finer spirit of faith in one another. Bless us in our faith in Him who lived and who died

Cheerfulness

Cheerfulness means a contented spirit; a pure heart, a kind and loving disposition; it means humility and charity, a generous appreciation of others, and a modest opinion of self.

—Thackeray

Thanksgiving

O painter of the fruits and flowers!
 We thank Thee for Thy wise design
 Whereby these human hands of ours
 In Nature's garden work with Thine.

—John G. Whittier.

the support of the ladies for a clean-up of bootleg joints and speak-easies in Michigan. His talk was a powerful appeal—for VOTES.

Governor Brucker by virtue of his office is the official head of the Michigan state police. He can remove the commissioner of the Department of Public Safety or any member of that department within a minute's notice. He can replace these men with anyone he desires to select.

The state police force is composed of several hundred trained officers, men who are not afraid of anything. More than once when given an opportunity, they have demonstrated their ability as peace officers. Commissioner Olander and his force know just what to do and how to do it and they KNOW where these bootleg joints and speak-easies the Governor talks about are located.

If Governor Brucker had any desire or intention of cleaning up this state, he could take the Michigan state police, one of the finest and best trained organizations in the nation, and CLEAN UP this state in less than thirty days.

Governor Brucker knows it, every member of the state police force knows it, and anyone at all acquainted with state affairs knows it.

When Governor Brucker tells members of the W. C. T. U. that public sentiment is for the dives and speak-easies, he is telling them something he knows is not true.

He is simply kidding them into voting for him again—that's all.

THERE WILL BE MORE

Editor Frank Bryce of the Grand Lodge Independent, says that for once the primary election in the Eighth congressional district did not amount to an election. If we are not mistaken, Editor Bryce, there will be a lot of other primary elections that will not amount to an election.

IS IT TOO LATE?

The election of Michael J. Hart, a rock-ribbed Democrat, to congress in the Eighth Congressional district by an overwhelming vote in a district that has long been regarded as one of the strongest Republican localities in Michigan, has proven a distinct shock to Republican leaders of Michigan. No one ever had any idea that Mr. Hart would win. He was not only opposed by Governor Brucker's organization, but by former Governor Fred W. Green and all the other strong Republican leaders of that district. Even the two big farm organizations of the state united in opposition to him and as a last resort in an effort to put the finishing touches to what politicians in the Eighth thought would be a complete burial for Mr. Hart, the religious issue was injected into the campaign, Mr. Hart happening to be a Catholic.

In spite of all this opposition, the Democratic candidate for congress in one of Michigan's strongest Republican districts, won and by a tremendous vote. He even carried Ionia county, the home of his opponent who had the unqualified support of former Governor Green.

Mr. Hart, who for many years has been the head of a canning industry, dismissed with little ado the opposition of the Grange and Farm Bureau. He declared that the leaders of these two organizations did not represent the sentiment of the farmers in any way.

What he said about them is apparently true, because Mr. Hart carried the farm districts by an overwhelming vote. He says the officials of these organizations are closely linked up with political party bosses for job holding purposes only.

Former Governor Green declares that present unrest throughout the country due to unsatisfactory economic conditions is to blame for the defeat of the Republican candidate and Governor Brucker offers practically the same explanation.

We are wondering if the thought has ever come to any of these politicians that the Eighth Congressional district election is a REPRISAL of both the state and national political leaders who seem to have led this country from bad to worse!

That it is a reparation of the graft, the swindling and the false economy programs that have torn and greedily office-holders have tolerated and in some cases even sponsored!

That it is a warning to both the great political parties that they have not to set their houses in order, that law enforcing officials of this country have got to wash their hands of graft, that the courts have got to constrain the people that they are not a part of the "racket" system that seemingly has entered into almost every business and civic channel!

In fact, we wonder if this totally unexpected victory in the Eighth congressional district is not an indication of a complete overthrow of present public administration of affairs of the people?

It is not a wet victory even though Mr. Hart is a wet and frankly says so. He carried in his election strong dry localities, an indication that people are more interested in jobs and lesser taxes than in something to drink. Voters, to use a slang expression of the streets, are all "fed up" on promises of reduced government operation costs, less taxes and improved business conditions. For five or six years past they have jumped from one candidate to another, usually landing up in the fold of the candidate or party faction that made the most promises of relief for the people.

They have gone from one administration to another, both in state and national affairs, with ever mounting taxes and ever decreasing incomes with which to pay the taxes.

They have seen men elected to office upon platforms that promised reduction in government operations only to see these very same officials throw their promises to the winds and increase taxes in order to provide for political henchmen.

The writer has always believed that the general protective policies of the Republican party, the usual standards of excellent government which it has always sponsored have been for the best interests of the nation. We believe yet that if President Herbert Hoover was left free to operate affairs of this nation as he would like to, unhampered by the powerful special interests which apparently have a strangle hold upon many of the branches of the government, even congress, that he could and would do much to make right the unsatisfactory conditions that prevail throughout the nation.

Again we wonder if the warning that the special congressional election in the Eighth district has provided, is not too late to save the Republican party from the defeat that it is not entitled to receive, but that looms ahead of it because of the deception and insincerity of some of its leaders?

Duty

The sweetest lives are those to duty
 Whose deeds both great and small,
 Are close knit strands of an unbroken thread,
 Whose love ennobles all,
 The world may sound no trumpet,
 Ring no bells;
 The book of life, the shining record
 Tell
 Thy love shall chant its own beatitudes,
 After its own life-working. A child's kiss
 Set on thy slugging lips shall make thee bald;
 A poor man served by thee shall make thee rich;
 A sick man helped by thee shall make thee strong;
 Thou shalt be served thyself by every sense
 Of service which thou renderest.

Putting Them Out

The removal of the Poor Commission by the supervisors is another evidence of the desperate straits in which the county finds itself. The former commissioners are reputable citizens and apparently there was nothing against them except that they had carried on the poor relief matters just as they always had been done. The supervisors decided that there must be a better way and as the commission refused to resign, the incompetency charge was the only way out if a change in poor administration was to be effected.—G. S. Rowe in The Milford Times.

They gave a little party to the farmers over at Mason the other day and about a hundred of the boys came in off the hills and vales for a seat at the banquet board. At the end of the festive great excitement prevailed for a few minutes when somebody discovered a leg lying on the floor of the room where the dinner had been served. Later it was discovered that the banker who had taken it in exchange for a hundred dollar loan from one of the farmers had gone back to his counting room leaving it lying under his chair while he had been enjoying a free meal with the rest of the guests.—Fred Keister in The Ionia County News.

This is Friday morning and down the street are some folks criticizing the Record for something it said last issue. We know they could criticize it. It will be a sad day for this newspaper when everyone agrees that everything in the paper is just right. Yet sometimes we get a little weary of the usual and unfair criticisms of the home newspaper when we are doing "our darndest" to get out a wholesome, fair and friendly sheet. So as we dig into the morning's work it makes us feel good inside when the phone rings and a man's voice says: "Let me thank you for that article in the Record. I just want you to know that we appreciate it." A "pat on the back" may be a Pollyanna sort of a thing but right here is a man who likes a little of it. In a while and is perfectly frank to say so.—Richard Baldwin in The Northville Record.

How are you going to reduce taxes? How many of our state, county, city, township and village officers will stand for a reduction in salaries? How about our state and county boards of equalization? Did you ever attend one of them or do you remember reading some of the sob stories that were spilled to these boards, telling of the poverty of some of the counties of the state? And yet when some of these fellows returned home they forgot all about the tax burdens their counties were bearing, and the sob stories they recited to the equalization boards and voted for anything and everything but lowering taxes. We believe, and have believed for a long time, that the only way we can relieve the real estate tax burdens of the state is by a constitutional amendment adopting an income tax which will reach every taxpayer, the large as well as the small—no one class should be penalized.—Patrick O'Brien in The Iron River Reporter.

Mob Leadership

A mass meeting was held in Inkster last week, where 250 of the colored population were told to march en masse into Wayne and take whatever they saw or thought they needed. The hysterical gentleman who made such a suggestion would have been a real menace to the sane residents of the township in general and the residents of Wayne in particular if he had been taken seriously.

As it was even the most unintelligent of those who attended the meeting sensed the lawlessness of such a suggestion and the march into Wayne did not materialize. There is a very serious side to such radicalism that incites mob psychology. The fact that 250 men turned out to attend the meeting indicated that they may be susceptible to suggestion if they had an intelligent leader instead of the hysterical, half-informed gentleman who apparently considers himself the champion of the starving Inksterites.

When damage is done the public always calls lustily for level headed leadership to show it the way out of its folly. If only it would learn more on this leadership beforehand—how much despair it would be spared.—Mrs. Lois Hisey in The Wayne Dispatch.

 Though sometimes I hardly show it,
 When I'm feelin' tired and blue.
 So, believe me, Honey Darlin',
 Tho, sometimes you find me snarlin',
 And my meanness breakin' through,
 'Tain't that I don't love you, Honey;
 It is just my cussedness.
 Yes, I know I'm kinda funny,
 But I love you, none the less.

It's to folks we love more dearly
 Than our life itself, or nearly,
 That we show our meanness side.
 And I'm 'shamed as I can be, too,
 This same thing applies to me, too,
 Darn my ugly, ornery hide!
 Still—you rarely reprimand me;
 (Gosh—I need it often, though!)
 And how it is that you can stand me
 Is a thing I'll never know!"

A Living Institution

A bank is more than the building it occupies. It is more than the capital and surplus. It is a living institution made so by the men who manage it.

Their character is the bank's character. Their reputation for sagacity, for conservatism, for good judgment becomes the bank's reputation.

The officers of the Plymouth United Savings Bank fully realize this fact and are determined to guard the fine reputation which the bank has acquired.

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death" (Rom. 8:2).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine Science rolls back the clouds of error with the light of Truth, and lifts the curtain on man as never born and as never dying, but as consistent with his creator" (p. 537).

Presbyterian Notes
The women of the congregation are much occupied these days with preparations for the annual bazaar and supper which will be held in the church dining room on Thursday, November 19th. The bazaar will be in progress throughout the afternoon and evening. There will be booths for aprons, fancy work, vegetables and home baked goods, candles, and the fish pond which is always of special interest to the children. The supper will be up to the usual high standard, the charge being 50c and 25c for children. All departments are in the hands of competent committees and a successful day seems assured.

On Wednesday, at the meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary final preparations for the bazaar and supper were made. Mrs. C. H. Buzzard reported on the meeting of Detroit Presbyterial held in Jefferson Ave. Church, Detroit, last week.
The Live Wire Class, very appropriately named, with Mrs. Wm. Kaiser as leader, held an interesting supper-meeting at the church on Thursday evening.

WILKIE FUNERAL HOME

If I were a funeral director, I would join with the modern and up-to-date men of the profession. I would do all in my power to remove any customs which offend good taste. I would join with them in creating refined funeral etiquette. I would try to make the occasion one of the most beautiful experiences in life. I would make the service harmonize with religious sacredness, and fraternal rituals. I would make it an effective ministry of comfort, relief and faith to all who participate in the service; the minister, the bereaved relatives, the pall bearers, and the friends. I would see that my methods, funeral home, and motor equipment had the benefit of every modern improvement that would add to the convenience, reverence and dignity of conducting funeral services.

But we are funeral directors—modern funeral directors—and assure you that we have provided everything from a modernly equipped funeral home to a Nu-3-Way, side-servicing hearse to assure that funeral services conducted by us will be in keeping with present day customs and show every consideration for the living as well as the dead.

RADIUM TALK HEARD HERE IN ASSEMBLY

Dr. Luther Gable, one of the pioneers of radium, spoke before the general assembly Wednesday, November 4, and told in an interesting manner of some of his experiences with what he terms "the most powerful potential ever placed in the hands of man."
 While making photographs of rocks to determine whether or not they would glow in the dark and to what extent, radium was accidentally discovered. It rained one day while these photographs were being taken, and in spite of this fact bright spots shone on the plates. It was first called a "new light," and was named "radium" by Madame Curie because of the great light which radiated from it. Professor Curie worked for many months on it, and after his accidental death by automobile, his wife carried on in his footsteps. After extracting all materials possible from the radium, it was boiled down like maple sugar. The resulting product was worth $2,400,000 an ounce.

Radium is now used to burn out cancer and other false growths. Its ability to do so was discovered in a very interesting way. One man wanted to take some radium with him to another city where he was to give a lecture on the subject. He put some in a little glass bottle, put the bottle in his vest pocket, and went to his destination. A few days later, the tissues of the body under the place where the radium had been carried were burned. No hope was given for the man's life, but in three or four days the sores healed completely, without leaving a scar. Thus the healing power of radium was discovered.

Soon after its discovery, people searched everywhere for it. Paradox Valley, near Denver, Colorado, contained the richest amount of radium in America. Some of the purified traces found there are worth as high as $25,000 because of the radium they contain. One gram is worth $120,000. In the district of Paradox Valley, the lowest ore was found to be richest in radium. It was transported on the backs of burros. Thirty-two of them were tied together by a rope forming a train. Each burro carried three hundred pounds of ore. The paths were narrow and the cliffs steep. Something scared one of them one day, and it jumped to one side just a little bit, falling seven hundred feet to the ground below and dragging the whole train along with it.

The richest deposit of radium in the world today is in Helgoland, Congo Africa. It was discovered by accident. A group of mine hunters found a fire fighting outfit of a much-feared tribal chief in that part of the continent. They shot the tiger and saved the boy. He was bound up very carefully by the hunters, and delivered to his father, but, when they returned, he immediately removed the bandages and packed and around him. In a few days he was perfectly healed. There was radium in the mud, which gave it this marvelous healing power.

In the laboratories where experiments are conducted, every man carries a little note-book with him in which he records every single thing he does. Those who pulverize must wear masks. They know how much disappointment can come to those working, he told the following incident. The president of the company came to the plant where Dr. Gable was working to see how much progress was being made. All of the radium they had extracted in three years' time was on a watch dial. The president, very much surprised, asked, "Is that all?" And then he contracted a violent sneeze and blew it all away. They hurried down the laboratory and got ninety-five per cent of it back again from the ashes.

A hollow needle the same size as an average sewing needle will hold $1,000 worth of it. It loses one-half its energy in 1680 years.

An experiment was tried to see how radium would affect growing plants. There were three boxes the same size with the same amount of seed in them, one with no radium in it, a second with some, and the third with twice as much. At the end of six weeks, the flowers in the box containing no radium had grown three inches tall; those in the box with the smaller amount of radium had grown nine inches tall; those in the third box had not even come out of the ground. Thus it can be seen that while a certain amount may greatly help, too much will hinder.

While Dr. Gable and two other men were experimenting on watch dials, they were too close to the radium for too long a time, and all of them were taken very sick. Both his companions died, but Dr. Gable lived after being unconscious for six weeks. The reason people will sacrifice their lives in a field as new, he said, is because they know that everything they do is for the development of radium, and they know that somebody else will carry on the work where they leave off and experiment until the highest possible degree of development has been reached.

Correct this sentence: "I want an education for my own pleasure," said he, "and now in the hope of getting an easy living."

CHAMPIONSHIP MAY BE SHARED

Although there have been some very close games this season there has not been serious upset and Lincoln Park is the only team that has a chance to upset that regularity. Wayne has completed its schedule with a sure chance for a championship either alone or sharing it with Dearborn. Dearborn has to play Lincoln Park on November 20. Plymouth is sure of second place unless Lincoln Park beats Dearborn. Northville nosed out Farmington, 7-6, to keep out of the cellar. Farmington can share honors for third place by defeating Lincoln Park.

Suburban League Standing

Team	Won	Lost	Tied	Per.
Wayne	4	0	1	1.000
Dearborn	3	0	1	1.000
Plymouth	3	2	0	.600
Lincoln Park	1	2	0	.333
Northville	1	4	0	.250
Farmington	0	4	0	.000

TRAVEL CLUB HEARS STAMP TALK

After a short business meeting last Thursday, Frank Allison, hobby chairman of the Travel Club, introduced Miss Allen, who gave a very interesting account of hobbies in general and of stamp collecting in particular.
 Everybody should have two hobbies: one indoors, the other outdoors. Sometimes when you want just what to do next, you would not have to wonder if you just had some other hobby besides reading. Stamp collecting is Miss Allen's indoor hobby. She showed us her book of stamps and told us how to save them. They can be secured from Washington, or from stamp agents or from the postoffice. They are now getting out a commensurate album for all countries. In America alone there have been six hundred ninety-two issues of postal stamps. It is advisable to collect stamps for one country first, and then another. History and geography are both interested upon through stamp collecting. It can be said, in a sense, to be an investment, too, for often stamps increase in value when they are older. Miss Allen knew a man in Chicago, who had leaving a collection valued at $25,000.

The Travel Club enjoyed this talk very much, and wishes to thank Miss Allen for giving it.

AFTER HIGH SCHOOL, WHAT?

That is one of the questions which has been discussed here and on by the Vocational Club, under Mr. Cole's leadership. They have talked about choosing a vocation and the preparation needed for it, with much thoroughness.
 Interpreting the trend of the times and understanding the main currents of the work, also knowing and discussing their effect on the economic situation are other main topics under discussion.

LOCAL HI-Y TO BE REPRESENTED BY 15 AT CONFERENCE

The twenty-ninth annual session of the State Older Boys' Conference in the lower peninsula of Michigan, will be held November 27, 28 and 29, 1931, in Ann Arbor. This conference is always well attended by the members of the Plymouth Hi-Y and Torch Clubs. This year the two clubs are particularly interested as the conference will be held in Ann Arbor, and no great expenditure of funds for transportation will be necessary.

A very interesting program has been arranged with the theme to be "The Modern Boy and a Christian World." The speakers and leaders will be very interesting. They are the following: Dr. Edward A. Stieger of Grinnell, Iowa, speaker and writer; Dr. Frederick B. Fisher, Ann Arbor, formerly a bishop in India; Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of University of Michigan; Henry W. White, Chicago, foreign division, National Council, Y. M. C. A.; and George W. Campbell will be in charge of singing.

In order to be especially great value different leaders and clubs throughout the state have been giving suggestions for discussion. The suggestions have been given in the following: "The Legend of the Bottomless Pool" by Jack Wilcox. "A Modern Boy and a Christian World." A list of books and pamphlets have been suggested by the leaders to make these questions more vivid and interesting.
 Among the questions and topics are the following: the economic situation in our country, racial matters, war, peace, disarmament, the part our country plays in foreign affairs, and many other topics. The thorough relation of the above topics and the Christian World of today will be discussed by leaders and delegates at various meetings. Each topic brings out a set of most important questions and facts that will later be faced by the boys as in the economic question, "What is to be done when 95% of the country's wealth is in the hands of 5% of the people," and "How will the unemployment situation take care of itself," and many other topics of vital importance.

There is no question as to the importance of this conference, and those that have been held in previous years. The world affairs of today are so complex that an education without the knowledge of the true problems of the time is almost without value. At this conference they will be boys from all parts of the world giving their views on worldly problems. Because of the situation the world is facing today both in religion and economic conditions this conference should be a benefit to every boy that attends.

CLASS LIVES IN WORLD OF FANCY

Who does not like to become personally acquainted with David Copperfield, Ivanhoe and Jane Eyre? To live mentally the thrilling lives of Tom Sawyer, Ben Hur, and William Baxter, the 9-B English classes have found it great fun. In order to create a greater interest in reading and to increase appreciation of great literature, Miss Perkins' classes have given special book reports. In attractive designed booklets, they have not only posted and drawn pictures illustrating the characters in the story, but also have given a complete synopsis of the book itself.

ART CLASS GOES MODERNISTIC

This year Mrs. Brower's high school art class has "gone" modernistic. The first thing they did was to make a modernistic crayon drawing of the flower pot before them. The purpose of this was to get each student to use self-expression and put his impressions on paper.

The class then worked on surface designs testing their own originality. Lately they have been working on interior decorating and printing. A good-looking group of room panels have been painted. In these paintings are prospective wall panels so only one side of a room was shown. There always are odd jobs for the art students to do such as printing names on shields for athletics, making posters for different school events, and other things of that type which not only give the students practice but are interesting work for them.

ENGLISH 9-B THEMES

The following themes were written by members of the 9-B English classes. "The Legend of the Bottomless Pool" is by Peggy E. Tuck, the "Black Avenger" by Jack Wilcox.

"The Legend of the Bottomless Pool"
 Long ago, before America was discovered, there lived an old witch in the heart of a great forest. She and her son, Wo-a-pa-lee, lived in an old and torn wigwam.
 The old, a great, strong, hand-some man, was a very good hunter, and he loved him. He knew nothing of her witchery.
 Wo-a-pa-lee was in the habit of, every day, visiting a beautiful, dark, deep, sinister pool. He would sit for hours dreaming of far-away things and of his mother. One day, as he sat there, a dark green object caught and held his attention. It leaped over to look at it. He leaped—further—further.
 At his sharp cry his mother came—to see her boy—sink, sink into the depths of the lagoons.
 "He shall not lie at the bottom of the pool! He shall not! No! Never!" By her witchery the faithful lagoons became forever bottomless. Wo-a-pa-lee will shut forever but never lie at the bottom of the beautiful, dark, deep, sinister pool.

"The Black Avenger"
 As the "Black Avenger" faded slowly into the dark mist, the Station XXIX. We have just completed the fourth in a series of mystery plays. Goodnight, all!
 Slowly, I shut off the radio, turned on the lights, and ascended the dark stairs, walking faster at every little noise.

"Believing"
 That good clothes have been the passport to many a woman's success.
 And that
 The consciousness of being poorly dressed is many a school girl's tragedy—we present to you today a season of Perfect Days, or A Well-Dressed Week in the life of a school girl.
 Ann Bailey represented the Monday school girl with "simple dress and low heeled shoes to chase away the Monday blues." Elaine Evans portrayed what girls wear to gym, while Marion Klinsky and Marie Blythe represented the school frocks if "behave" and "pressed" we can always be well-dressed." Lucille Litchow and Kathleen Wassmund, trimly dressed and warmly clad represented sports girls. Geraldine McKinney said "Rarely does a week go by, without a rainy day." Shikkye clad and rubber shoe, "We're happy anyway." The happiest girls at the party were Sarah Davis and Katherine Dugan in their joy array. "Sunday's girl," Lydia Jay, "sweet and demure, wears the newest gown I'm sure, but forgets to think of clothes for today to church she goes."
 The second year foods class and commercial home economics class are writing themes on the following subjects: My High School Education and My Future, What Education Has Done for Women, The Value of Home Economics in School, and Why Stop Learning?

SECONDS CLOSE WITH VICTORY OVER NORTHVILLE

The Rock second team last Monday ended their current season with a victory over Northville, 6 to 0. This was their first win during the schedule. Both Wayne and Dearborn, with much heavier teams, defeated them by large scores.
 This team is largely made up of boys from the ninth and tenth grades and will furnish material for future teams. Many ought to see service next year as members of the first squad.
 The Plymouth score came as the result of a hot punt, and started plunging through the line for the score. Miller's attempt for the extra point was partly blocked. The ball was in play in Northville's territory for the majority of the game. Most of the Orange and Black galps were made through the line, but they were very few. Northville made one hard attempt to score in the last quarter but a fumble marred their chances. Judd out-punted his opponent by several yards. Plymouth tried a number of passes but none were completed for any good gain.
 It is especially hard to tell a wise man from a fool when both suggest plans for saving the country.
 A miser may never touch liquor and yet always be tight.

THE PURPOSE OF THE BOOKSTORE

The individual probably does not realize the use and the amount of business in the school bookstore. The depression has not appreciably decreased the amount of sales, which means that each student has approximately all of his supplies. The difference between the total sales for September and October of 1930 and 1931 and September and October of 1931 and 1932 is $409.48. The total sales for the years of 1930 and 1931 were approximately $510,000.

On text books and supplies the savings to pupils runs approximately 20%, or $1,000, as a result of the Board of Education's policy of selling the books and supplies at the school. The price of books is 10% above the net price in Chicago, which runs materially less than those in any of the bookstores surrounding Plymouth.

The second use of the bookstore besides that of saving money for the pupils is to furnish a unit in training in the commercial department. Senior students taking office practice are required to keep the bookstore for four weeks. They receive the bookstore on an inventory from the student preceding them and are charged with all new goods received. A balance is struck at the end of the four weeks period. Each day the cash register is read giving the amount of cash received as a daily check on accuracy.

This project is interesting and practical and prepares them for their work after leaving school if they enter the field of business.

GIRLS GIVE CLASS PLAY

In observing American Education Week, the girls in all commercial home economics classes are working on an interesting project which segregate this particular week from others. In presenting a class play called "The Well-Dressed Week," the girls took the following as their motto:
 "Believing
 That good clothes have been the passport to many a woman's success.
 And that
 The consciousness of being poorly dressed is many a school girl's tragedy—we present to you today a season of Perfect Days, or A Well-Dressed Week in the life of a school girl."
 Ann Bailey represented the Monday school girl with "simple dress and low heeled shoes to chase away the Monday blues." Elaine Evans portrayed what girls wear to gym, while Marion Klinsky and Marie Blythe represented the school frocks if "behave" and "pressed" we can always be well-dressed." Lucille Litchow and Kathleen Wassmund, trimly dressed and warmly clad represented sports girls. Geraldine McKinney said "Rarely does a week go by, without a rainy day." Shikkye clad and rubber shoe, "We're happy anyway." The happiest girls at the party were Sarah Davis and Katherine Dugan in their joy array. "Sunday's girl," Lydia Jay, "sweet and demure, wears the newest gown I'm sure, but forgets to think of clothes for today to church she goes."
 The second year foods class and commercial home economics class are writing themes on the following subjects: My High School Education and My Future, What Education Has Done for Women, The Value of Home Economics in School, and Why Stop Learning?

The first year foods class is making posters for Home Economics Week. Dorothy Fisher presented a display portraying the amount of milk school children should drink daily. Plenty of milk helps to build good teeth and strong bones. Lydia Jay and Yvonne Hearn exhibited a poster on 100 calories in various portions of foods such as butter, steak, apple sauce, potatoes, bread, fish and milk. Lillian Howard and Grace Highfield made a poster on foods rich in Vitamin A, which prevent diseases of the nose, eyes, throat and teeth. On Thursday, Geraldine McKinney and Helen Siarto exhibited foods rich in iron, while on Friday, Marie Miskark and Marion Schroeder showed foods rich in calcium such as cheese, buttermilk, cauliflower, spinach, carrots and yams. Hearn exhibited a poster made by Claire Schontz and Beryl Proctor portrayed mineral food values of leafy vegetables and fresh fruits, while that of Elizabeth White and Vrea Bassett showed a correct reducing diet. ## GIRL RESERVES PLAN HIKE FOR BEAUTY PROGRAM

The Senior Girl Reserves will observe their portion of the semester program devoted to beauty by going on a hike today. The G. R. cabinet arranged the details of the outing. It was decided that the group, leaving the school at 11:30, will take their lunches and hike out to Hough's woods, on the Ann Arbor road. The girls will go to the woods where they will cut their lunches and partake of a treasure hunt. Meanwhile each girl is expected to observe every noticeable hint of season beauty both in the woods and on the hike. Two weeks from today each G. R. is responsible for an essay, the subject matter to be beauty hints that she observed on the hike. The essay is to be one hundred and fifty words long and not to exceed two hundred words. Places will be awarded and honorable mention given to the best papers. The judges will be the G. R. advisers, Miss Allen, Mrs. Crumbie and Miss Wells. The best essay will be published in the Plymouth Mail.
 While the cabinet was making plans for the hike, the remainder of the club clipped pictures from magazines for cloth scrap books which, as a part of Girl Reserve service, will be given to little children in the sanatorium.

CENTRAL GRADE SCHOOL NOTES

The first-B pupils in charge of Mrs. Root have begun picture study, and are making booklets to place copies of four famous pictures. They are talking about "Baby Stuart," this month. In reading, group one had a vocabulary of seventy-five words; group two, sixty words, and group three, forty words. They organized the bulletin board last week with handwork and silent reading seat work. In handwork, they have made a border pattern of turkey chasing the cook and also one of Pilgrim boys and girls. For interesting study they have been talking about the harvest of fruit, vegetables and grains. This week was the thrift banner last week for having the largest percentage of those looking making the second time they have won it.
 Miss Mitchell's first-A grade colored clean teeth pictures of a little girl brushing her dog's teeth in contrast to their health work. For Thanksgiving the children have colored turkeys pulling little green carts with pumpkins in. A border has been made of cornstalks leaning against fences with pumpkins scattered all around. They are keeping track of the weather by writing on their blackboard calendar for sunny days and umbrellas for rainy ones. In picture study they have studied "Baby Stuart" and posted it in their booklets.
 Charlotte Polkey and Duane Ostlund entered the two-B, under Mrs. Allen, last week, making an enrollment of thirty-eight. Group two have started their second class readers. The pupils made Thanksgiving border patterns.
 The third grade in charge of Miss Wetherhead, have made Pilgrim booklets for the Pilgrim story they have been reading. Two beautiful bouquets of chrysanthemums were brought to school last week by William Weaver and Joan Detting, also a bouquet of marigolds was brought by Betty Sheppole. For picture study this room has been studying "The Windmill" by Van Ryssel.
 Cleons Delkey has just entered Miss Bell's room. The fourth grade in charge of Miss Clark made a season of four, which is the best that ever been made. They have been studying the "Fog Horn" by Homer Winslow. In geography class, William Schmitz gave a report on Yellowstone.

The five-B's in Mrs. Holliday's room have finished the study of South America, and are now making maps of the continent. For coloring pictures sent by the Pro-plycatic Brush Company, Belva Barnes won the first prize of a Skeezix tooth brush holder and brush, while Barbara Olsaver received the second prize of a tube of tooth paste. The five-B's studied the picture "The Deer in the Forest" by Bonheur, and the five-A's studied the picture "The Gleaners" by Millet, last week.
 In Mrs. Atkinson's room the six-B geography class has studied world winds, and the six-A class gave interesting reports on China and Japan. Forty-seven per cent of this room have had no colds during the month of October. Genevieve Pinkerton and Bruce Richards are the health officers for November.
 The sixth graders in Miss Fenner's room have studied "Sir Gallahad" in picture study. Betty Johnson's spelling team is four points ahead of the other one. Mary Katherine Moon was the Current Event leader last week. Twenty-one pupils had no colds during the month of October.

A salesman must first make a good contact before he can secure a contract.
 school students are interested in the poster made by Annabel Hank and Stella Miller, showing how anyone may have "It" by eating foods rich in phosphorus which aids in developing brain cells.

NOVEMBER NEEDLECRAFT PROGRAM

And Thoxine goes still further—it eliminates the internal cause which many times develops into serious illness.
 A swallow of Thoxine before retiring absolutely prevents night coughing and insures a good night's sleep. It gives the same speedy relief for sore throat too. It contains no chloroform or other harmful drugs and children like it. Relief is guaranteed within 15 minutes or money back, 35c. 60c. and $1.00 bottles. The Primary Grades are making Nursery Rhyme Books. We have "Little Boy Blue" and "Little Bo Peep."

THE GANGES GOLLIPOP

At the beginning of the bathing season swarms of these creatures ascend the river from the Indian ocean, voraciously attacking the Ghat's living along the banks. After their appetite has been appeased, they build their nests in the eaves of the pagodas, where their young are hatched from deviled eggs. The gollioppets, as they are called, are born with forelegs, but as these are usually bitten off by crocodiles, they grow hindless to take their place.

The gollioppet has a double peanut head, but is forced to use a radish for a body, as it hasn't yet found a nut that would quite take its place. The legs are cloves, and the feet split peanuts, so you see there isn't a great deal to him after all.

(© Metropolitan Newspaper Service.) (WNU Service.)

We have two new children, Lilian Killen in the third grade and Billy Killen in the beginners class. We have many attractive fall pictures on our bulletin board. We have decorated our room for Thanksgiving.

The day with Mrs. Millard will be long remembered by the following women who attended the meeting: Mrs. Arthur Griffith, Mrs. Sarah Armstrong, Miss Anna Durfee, Mrs. Mary Hillman, Mrs. Hattie Baker, Mrs. Henry Wright, Mrs. Robert Beck, Mrs. Paul Wiedman, Mrs. Wm. Itinerary of Mrs. Fred Hancock, Berwick Ave., last week. First Snow of the season, last Thursday, set all Gardentia Kiddie hearts going...

spite of so many visits from Jack Frost. House Flies and a few mosquitoes are still in season also, those who did their screencakingdown early are now rushing the flycatcher and weather-flies are in action daily.

Armistice Day was celebrated with the National colors flying and quiet family affairs in the old home-land, viewing the parade in the Big City and home again, on this the first time that the day is a legal holiday in Michigan, thirteen years after the first and greater one.

Thanksgiving Summer was in season last Sunday, bringing many folks out to church in the morning and giving the opportunity to many city folks to drive out pleasantly and comfortably to view our beautiful woodlands as painted by Jack Frost, Esq., as well as a number of folks from Dearborn and city and country to attend our church services, visit with friends and take home some of our late blooms of lily nuns, snapdragons, pansies and asters that the frost has fallen in spoiling. A few gardens have some real strawberries, too, whilst roses are not uncommon. Squirrel families about our woodlands are still playing about.

The groom, Edward Patrick Long, was accompanied by his brother, Robert, and the bride, Gertrude Lyons, by her sister, Olive. They marched up the center aisle to the altar as the organist, Mrs. Robert Long, played Richard Wagner's Wedding March (The Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin). Mrs. Arthur Hutchins, soloist, rendered Gounod's "Ave Maria."

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white duchess satin, with silk tulle lace veil trimmed with pearls, and carried a large bouquet of tea roses. After the sacrament, the many friends had a real rice throwing affair on the church steps, and had the car of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Long all bedecked in green and white streamers, old cans and appropriate (?) epithets.

Photos were taken as the happy pair left the church, entered their car, and drove away on their honeymoon amid the fun making of the crowds about.

Coming Attractions At Penniman-Allen

"THE SPIRIT OF NOTRE DAME" Whether you are a football fan or not, you will get a real thrill from seeing "The Spirit of Notre Dame," the Universal picture which appears at the Penniman-Allen Theatre, 815 and 817, Monday, November 15 and 16. Devotees of the gridiron sport will undoubtedly be filled with the wild-eyed enthusiasm that comes from a hard-fought game, for this picture is real football with real football players.

The picture stars Lew Ayres, as a country boy just entering Notre Dame University, and later, in his junior year, becoming the ball-carrying hero of the team, definitely headed for All-American selection in the following season. But there arises a situation which interferes with these plans, and eventually brings the young football star to a point where he forgets the spirit animating the team and becomes an outcast in the eyes of his fellow players. This portion of the picture is fraught with drama.

The entire production is filled with the spirit of football, and the sport-ship that builds championship teams, at the cost of comprising some of the greatest players in the history developed by the late Coach Knute Rockne at Notre Dame. These include Frank Carideo, twice All-American quarterback, "The Four Horsemen," Moon Mullins, John Lash, Adam Walsh, Al Howard, Husky O'Connor, Art MacLean and many other noted players. And these boys reveal themselves as capable actors, as well as football players of the first degree. When the team finds itself in the midst of its final game of the season, with Army, the interest has reached a pitch of highest excitement.

"THE ROAD TO RENO"

Reno, one of the most colorful and unique cities in America, is the locale of the feature picture, "The Road to Reno," which comes to the Penniman-Allen Theatre, on Thursday, November 19. "The Road to Reno" is a story of scrambled and unscrupled lives with a sturdy thread of romance carrying on through all the hectic action of the production. The picture gives more than a glimpse at this city where marital knots are dissolved in the fluent suits of court-room authority. It gives an intimate and graphic account of what happens to the individuals—people of many varied types, who go to the Sin City to have their bonds of wedlock clipped. There is the social-climber matron who wants a divorce just to be fashionable. There is the young couple seeking "freedom" from their "first year" spat. There is the slightly ghouly roue with eyes a-peal for a plump young grass-widow. There are gambling houses, "freedom parties," gin joints, short and snappy weddings—and many other phenomena spread before the eyes of the audience.

In making this picture Paramount has mustered one of the most distinguished casts of film favorites the screen has seen or heard in recent months. It includes Lilian Tashman, Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Peter Shannon, William Boyd, Irving Pichel, Wynne Gibson, Skeets Gallagher, Judith Wood (formerly known as Helen Johnson).

"GET-RICH-OR-FORGET-WALLING-FORD"

William Haines, as the genial crofter, J. Rufus Wallingford, is the attraction at the Penniman-Allen Theatre, Friday and Saturday, November 20 and 21, where "New Adventures of Get-Rich-Or-Forget-Wallingford," suggested by the famous Cosmopolitan Magazine studies, will be shown. The irrepressible Haines romps through a series of amazing adventures in high and crafty finance, aided by Jimmy "Schnozzle" Durante as a comic chauffer, and by Ernest Torrence in the role of the saxophone-blowing Rockie Daw. Tella Travers is the heroine.

The story starts aboard a ship, in which Rufus Wallingford is a card game—and he is the die that engulfs him. So he becomes partners, and start out looking for new snappers to trim. The reel is a Sverreus manufacture. One of the funniest scenes in the picture is his adventure with the master crofter in the bank. There are others, and the two lead a mad and merry life, until a girl comes into it. Then a pretty love story is blended with the comedy and Wallingford finally meets his fortune. All of which may or may not have a moral, but is interesting as entertainment.

PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1931 OFFICIAL PUBLICATION

PLYMOUTH SHUT OUT BY WAYNE, 7-0

The Wayne "Zebras" lived up to their name, defeating the Rocks in a close 7-0 game, and retaining the lead in the league race. Their score came in the second quarter as a result of an odd scoring play, a triple pass. They have scored on Plymouth by the same play for four years. The Wayne left end received a forward pass from Steinbauer and latered the ball to Kingsberry, who dashed across for the score. The latter was also responsible for the extra point.

Though better Plymouth outplayed Wayne to a great extent. They had two scoring opportunities in the last quarter, but could not put the ball across. In the first quarter after the kick-off, in three plays they placed the ball on Wayne's twenty yard line, but a pass was rounded.

In the latter part of the game, Gillis and Wagenschutz were taken out because of injuries. The game, on paper, was regarded as wholly Wayne's, but they barely were able to win out.

FIRST PERIOD Kingsberry kicked to Plymouth. Blunk hit center for no gain. Dudek went around end for six yards. Williams passed, but it was incomplete. He then punted outside on the ten yard line. Hagers then punted to Blunk on the fifty yard line, who brought the ball back to the forty yard line. Dudek hit center for two yards. He then went around end for three yards. Gillis hit center for no gain. Williams punted to Steinbauer on the six yard line. Kingsberry then fumbled on the fifteen yard line. Plymouth recovering. Dudek hit center for four yards. He then went around end for two yards gain. On the fourth down, Dudek hit center for three yards, the ball going into Wayne's possession. Hagers kicked outside on the forty-third yard line. Williams started around end but was hit for a one yard loss. He then passed to Gillis for nine yards. Gillis then hit left tackle for a first down. Dudek hit center for two yards. Williams went around end for six yards. Williams went around end for six yards. Gillis hit center for a first down. Dudek plunged through center for four yards. He again hit center, for a no gain. Gillis went off right tackle for no gain. On the fourth down, Williams went around end for no gain, giving the ball to Wayne on the five yard line. Hagers punted to Blunk on the forty yard line. Williams went off tackle for three yards. Gillis went through center for five yards. Dudek plunged through left tackle for a first down. Williams dashed around end for six yards. Blunk then went off right tackle for two yards, ending the first period.

PLYMOUTH 0, WAYNE 7. SECOND PERIOD Dudek went around end for four yards and a first down. Gillis plunged through center for one yard. Williams ran around end for three yards. Williams dashed around end for two yards. Dudek plunged through center for two yards. Williams passed to Blunk for five yards gain and a first down. Blunk went around end for no gain. Williams passed but it was incomplete. Dudek dashed around right end for five yards. Williams then kicked to Steinbauer on the five yard line. Williams brought the ball back to the fifteen yard line. Hagers passed to Kingsberry for twenty-five yards gain. Kingsberry then dashed around end for twenty-four yards gain. He then fumbled. Plymouth recovering. Wagenschutz was put in at end in place of Micol. Wagenschutz then went to left half-back position, Blunk going to left end. Wagenschutz went around end for four yards. Kingsberry then dashed around end for no gain. Ash was put in in place of Bronson at right end. Kingsberry plunged through center for a first down. He then passed but it was incomplete. NORGE ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR A household problem and how a man solved it

"A refrigerator is supposed to keep things cold and make ice," said the man of the house. "So let's look at the mechanism first." And the problem of choosing an electric refrigerator solved itself. For the Norge Rollator—the simple, powerful, sturdy, almost everlasting mechanism, with its three parts slowly revolving in a permanent bath of protective oil—is a mechanical triumph. It's the kind of mechanism you can forget... designed and built for long years of hard service with minimum attention. And the Norge will certainly appeal to any woman. She appreciates the simple beauty of... the easily cleaned finish, inside and out... the thoughtful arrangement of shelves, freezing control and defrosting switch... the tidy door that seals the freezing compartment... the "Watervoir," which keeps a gallon of chilled water on tap... the many modern refinements of neatness and convenience. When you face the problem of selecting a refrigerator for your home see the Norge before you buy.

The reason some men look forward with confidence to the future is because they have a good lawyer.

Alexander Gallinger of Oshkosh, Wis., was the inventor of the differential gear which made the development of the automobile possible.

America escapes these revolutions that merely bring a change of horses, but the divorce laws serve about as well.

The fact that every American can think up a plan to save the country is very encouraging until you hear the plans.

Child Problems To Be Considered At Meeting Nov. 18th

All mothers and fathers of Wayne County are to have the opportunity to attend six meetings for the discussion of the little everyday problems of children in their homes, under the leadership of Mrs. Lydia Ann Lynde, specialist in Child Care and Training, Michigan State College. So many of the difficulties that parents have with their children are due to their not understanding child life and development. Many of the failures and breakdowns of adult life can be traced back to these childhood experiences. Even a little of the new knowledge that the great world wide scientific research is giving us will help parents in solving these problems.

Fathers and mothers the world over and in the United States particularly are seeking and using this knowledge. One mother who has been following the work in Mrs. Lynde's project in Ottawa County, said, "This study has helped our homelife so much. We are enjoying our children more and more and our husband and I get along better too. Our children are certainly different." A father in Kent County remarked, "For a long time I've been getting government help in raising and handling livestock—now I'm more than glad to be getting some help in raising and handling the most important little animals on my place. We are using all this scientific help we can get and believe me, it works."

We are glad the County Home Demonstration Agent, Emma Dunbar, in Wayne County, to have a share of this work. The third meeting for Local Leaders will be held at the following training centers on:

Wednesday, November 18, Plymouth High School, 10:00—4:00.
Thursday, November 19, Howellville High School, 10:00—4:00.
Friday, November 20, Dearborn Library, 10:00—4:00.

Rabbit Hunting Good For The State

The hunter is the rabbit's most serious enemy in southern Michigan and were it not for the fact that thousands of cotton tails are killed off every fall, serious damage to fruit trees and gardens would result. In the opinion of the Game Division of the Department of Conservation.

In the northern section of the lower peninsula and in the upper peninsula, the rabbit population is partially held down by such predators as hawks, owls, foxes, coyotes and wolves.

However, in the southern part of the state there are few foxes and few if any coyotes or wolves but there are more hunters. The rabbit would increase rapidly except for the hunters' guns.

Even with the hunter taking a large annual toll of rabbits in the southern part of Michigan, the rabbit population continues to remain about the same. In many instances farmers are having difficulty in protecting their trees since during severe winters rabbits gnaw large numbers of fruit trees and shrubbery.

In a few instances it has been necessary to take special measures to hold down the number of rabbits. Last year, for instance, a "drive" was organized to move rabbits from Grosse Ile. The Gull Lake Sanctuary near Battle Creek was recently opened to rabbit hunting by the legislature in an attempt to stop damage to nearby fruit trees and shrubbery.

Hunters also help to control rabbits in areas where the state and private interests are engaged in pine reforestation. Rabbits particularly troublesome in the vicinity of recent pine plantings will at times destroy all of the seedlings and transplants before they are large enough to have gained a start.

Tells Why Timber Lines Are Formed

Timberline is defined as the height on mountains at which the growth of trees stops; it varies with climate and altitude. Tree line on the other hand, is the limit of altitudes at which trees grow. There is also a wind tree-line in mountainous regions, which is often situated at some distance above the timberline and embraces the last outposts of tree sentinels, according to an article in a recent issue of American Forests and Forest Life magazine. The rule played by snow, ice and sand blast in dwarfing or killing trees, and in causing timberline on mountain sides, is a fascinating subject for study, says the writer. The nature student and mountain climber often notices the bizarre forms assumed by the outposts of the forests at timber and tree line frontiers and the striking difference in the types found in various parts of the world. This is so, even in the same country, as in the White Mountains and Adirondacks, when compared with tree types occurring in the Rockies.

"In Europe, and particularly in the Alps and Pyrenees, the timberline has been greatly modified by human agencies. Flocks and shepherds have played a considerable part in bringing about present conditions. The treeless character of many alpine pastures is entirely due to the destructive activity of man and grazing animals. In the Alps and Pyrenees trunks and stumps may be seen in many places far above the present timberline, showing clearly that the limits of the forest have not always been what they are today.

"In our own wooded mountains timberline conditions are in many regions almost entirely undisturbed, as in the White Mountains, and in the Montana and Canadian Rockies.

"Eight different factors, working singly or in combination, are assigned as the cause of timberline. They are as follows:

"Cold based on the widely held belief that the low temperature of mountain tops prevents the growth of trees. That cold is incapable of explaining timberline fully appears to follow from the known slight effects of low temperature upon hardy plants and the fact that forests do exist in some of the coldest districts known on the globe.

"Shortness of the vegetable season, the idea being that the physiological activity or success of the tree is hindered by the relatively short and cool season, so that either the seeds will not mature or that there will be no growth of new wood. While it is undoubtedly true that many trees in high altitudes are unable to mature their seeds, wind-dispersed seeds apparently would have no difficulty in traveling up from below, and a short cool season is therefore considered insufficient to fully explain timberline.

"Wind or dry-killing in winter, that is, the drying action of the winter wind, exposing the trees to serious danger during the resting season, since they are not able to replace the water they may lose. Diminished pressure, as well as increased isolation, that is, exposure to the sun's rays, would tend to increase this danger for trees at high altitudes.

"Spring or summer frosts, particularly the killing effect on the trees of sudden temperature changes in late winter or early spring, as happened strikingly in Glacier National park in February, 1916.

"Fire, spontaneous or otherwise, is a contributory factor. Brown gashes or russet-colored areas, dotted at times with the bleached skeletons of countless trees, extending to the upper limits of the forest, mark the

Farmer Is Robbed Of Money He Saved to Pay off Mortgage

A farmer, his wife and two children were robbed of $2,000 by four men last week Monday in their home on the Ann Arbor Trail near Telegraph Road.

Several hours later three men were arrested in a car bearing the license number which the victim, Augustin Julius, had taken down as the bandits drove away. The arrest was made at Warren and McGraw Aves. by Deputy Sheriff Fred Gluski and police from the McGraw Ave. station.

Julius and his wife, Isabel, said the men frequently had called at their farm to buy eggs and butter. He said they tried to interest Julius in the purchase of a restaurant. Monday afternoon, following a short discussion, one of the men produced a pistol and forced Julius to show them where the money was hidden in a dresser drawer, which he had recently taken from a bank.

The money was to pay off the mortgage on the farm, Julius said.

The trio under arrest were booked for investigation as Thomas Dimoff, 37 years old, of 3062 Eighteenth St.; Thomas Popoff, 34, of 2846 Eighteenth St.; and Nick Vasiloff, 37, of 617 Fairview Ave. Julius and his wife were to be brought to County Jail in an attempt to identify them. None of the money, which was in $20 and $50 notes, was found on the men and they did not have any weapons, police said.

Approximately $0,000 Pullman tickets are used every day.

The destructive work of the dreaded draughtsman and other bark beetles in the Black Hills country, the insidious blister rust on any of the numerous white pines and the deadly chestnut-blight in the eastern states, are well known examples of these factors inimical to tree life, causing wide-spread destruction of forests.

Mrs. Orson Polley is visiting her sisters and brother at Flint, for a few days.

Orson Polley accompanied a party of Detroit friends, Thursday, to Grand Bend, Ontario, for a few days' stay.

Rev. and Mrs. George Ehms and son, William, of Monroe, visited Rev. and Mrs. Hoenecke, last Wednesday, and were dinner guests that evening of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Beyer on Liberty street.

Mrs. Floyd Burgett entertained twenty guests Wednesday evening, at bridge, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Beyer on Liberty street, in honor of her husband's birthday. Following several games of cards, a delicious lunch was served, and all left at a late hour with best wishes to Mr. Burgett.

Francis P. Paulus, a Detroit artist, also of Bruges, Belgium, and Mrs. E. J. Reulvach of Maplewood, New Jersey, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Marvin of Detroit, called on their niece, Mrs. Floyd B. Sherman, Wednesday.

Fifteen little folks, girls and boys, gathered at the home of Mrs. Henry Sage on Starkweather avenue Thursday afternoon, from four o'clock until six, to help her grandson, Dick Sage of Detroit, celebrate his fifth birthday, and did they have a good time, just ask them. The basement had been especially arranged for the occasion with a long table at which all could be seated and was decorated with beautiful table cloths with balloons in the center and a border of girls and boys. Slender jugs held the candles of yellow, blue and old rose, and plates and cups of the same color in celluloid were used. Beautiful place cards and favors, horns for all, were there just like the grown-ups have, games were played, among them being the donkey game and peanut hunt, but best of all was the lunch which concluded with ice cream in the shape of various animals.

There were fifty-five ladies in attendance at the Lutheran Aid and Sunshine party last Wednesday. The sunshine boxes were found to contain in all seventy dollars. Following the business meeting a delicious birthday lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Anna Zarn, Mrs. Ernie Westfall and Mrs. Dora Weller.

William J. Beyer brought into this office Wednesday, a twig from a Northwestern Greening apple tree, bearing 12 apples. It may be viewed in the window at the Plymouth United Savings Bank.

The Ready Service class will meet Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Cramer, 443 N. Harrey St., with Mrs. Monteth and Mrs. Cramer as hostesses. The usual cooperative dinner will be held at noon.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Truesdell of Ford road, entertained friends at their Walled Lake cottage, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stoneburner and daughter, Vera and Margaret, attended the silver wedding anniversary of their cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Will Crawford at Milford, Saturday evening.

Mrs. Charles Stoneburner entertained her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. William McFadden of Alma, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Bob Baughn leaves Saturday for the Turtle Lake Club in upper Michigan where he will spend a few days deer hunting.

The ladies of the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian church will hold a silver tea at the residence of Mrs. H. C. Adams on the afternoon of Friday, Nov. 20.

The Crystal room of the Mayflower hotel was the scene of a lovely affair Tuesday evening, given in honor of the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Carlson of 1125 Starkweather ave. Various colored Crysanthemums added much to the attractiveness of the room, and silver crepe paper hung from the ceiling to the chandeliers, from which hung a huge white wedding bell. Guests to the number of forty-five, were seated at the U-shaped table which was beautiful in its decorations of tall white tapers and a large three-tiered wedding cake with silver leaves and candles. Mr. and Mrs. Carlson were presented with a beautiful 34-piece silver set and twenty-five Briar Cliff roses. The remainder of the evening was spent in Swedish dancing and in playing cards.
