PAY TRIBUTE TO WASHINGTON

Members Of The D. A. R. Conduct Special Program On Monday

Celebrating the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington, Sarah Ann Cochran, chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, presented a Washington program at their meeting Monday, February 15th, at the home of Mrs. William Lee on Dodge street.

The program was opened by all present singing "Michigan, my Michigan," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Robert Shaw. Mrs. Hattie M. Baker, chairman of the program committee then introduced Miss Gertrude Flegel, teacher of History in the Plymouth High school who gave a talk on George Washington, speaking very interestingly of his family, his family life, his home at Mt. Vernon and of the events which led up to his choosing the site for the Capitol of the United States on the banks of the Potomac river which he so loved. Miss Flegel also told of Washington's plan for laying out the city which now bears his name but, however, by his choice, and how his plans were only partially carried out, those who followed him, not placing the buildings according to his plan. He laid the corner stone of both the Capitol building and the White House, through whose uncompleted rooms he walked with Martha Washington only a short time before his death.

A rising vote of thanks was given Miss Flegel for her very interesting talk.

Mrs. R. E. Cooper and Mrs. Carl H. Bryan also took part in the program with short readings of letters and anecdotes. The program closed by all singing the "Star Spangled Banner" led by Miss Barbara Horton, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Shaw at the piano.

During the business meeting which followed the program, Dwight T. Randall presided. It was reported that copies of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, and the Bixby letter, have been placed in the Northville school, also that the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Chicago have offered for the daughters to place in the public schools and libraries the following booklets which were offered for inspection: "I am not a Virginian, but an American," Patrick Henry, "A Message to Garcia," Elbert Hubbard, "The Man Without a Country," Edward Everett Hale, "The Autobiography of Abraham Lincoln," "John Adams," Inaugural Address, "Woodrow Wilson," Franklin K. Lane, "Theodore Roosevelt on Americanism," "Abraham Lincoln's Second Inaugural Address," "The Monroe Doctrine," also Jefferson's Letter to Monroe.

Mrs. Carl H. Bryan, chapter registrar presented for the members the records of the oldest cemeteries in Plymouth and Northville townships, namely the old cemetery in Northville, the Yerkes cemetery, the Waterford cemetery, the Thoyer and the Shearer cemeteries and the cemetery in north village, Plymouth. Copies of these records will be placed in the D. A. R. library in Lansing, the Huron Historical library in Detroit and one is kept on file in this chapter.

In the report of the publicity chairman, mention was made of the D. A. R. program which is broadcast the first Wednesday of each month at 3:00 p. m. over station WJR, Detroit. Members are reminded to listen to these programs and to write letters of appreciation to the station.

Mrs. Dwight T. Randall, recent, will represent this chapter at the luncheon given by Fort Pontchartrain chapter in Detroit, Friday, February 19th.

The next meeting will be Pioneer Day at the home of Mrs. R. E. Cooper on Penniman avenue, Monday, March 21st. The guest of honor will be Mrs. E. J. Savage, State Publicity chairman, and tea will be served by the hostess.

HIGH HONORS ARE WON BY BOY SCOUT TROOPS

TRAINING SCHOOL TROOP AND ONE OF PLYMOUTH AWARDED DISTINCTION

Honors for the Boy Scouts of the Wayne County Training school No. 2. To the youngsters who are members of Boy Scout Troop No. 2 at the school, recently was awarded the Galtley First Class cup. To win this cup the troop had to show the highest number of Scouts advancing to first class during the year of any scout troop in the Plymouth district, and this the Boy Scouts of the training school accomplished.

They raised 16 Scouts to the rank of First Class during the year and their turnover was less than a third. In this same contest Plymouth Scout Troop No. 1 took third place. The Training School Troop No. 2 placed fourth in the contest for the Proficiency cup and Plymouth Scout Troop No. 1 was fifth with 39 points. Points are made by advancement in scout work, service to the community, satisfactory monthly rating and a low percentage of turnover.

The speech of acceptance of the First Class cup was made by Wilfred Kniffel, a member of the Training School Scout troop.

Both Dr. Robert Haskell, who is chairman of the Plymouth Boy Scout district, and Sidney Strong, who has been a leader in Plymouth Boy Scout work for years, are highly elated over the success of the troops in this district. It is believed that more rapid advancement in Scout work will be accomplished during the coming year than has been in some time.

There is a picture in the Schrader Bros. store window of the log cabin that is being built in the woods on the Training school farm for the Scouts of this district. The money to be paid for its construction has been won by members of Training school boys.

FATHERS-SONS HOLD BANQUET

This Year's Event One Of The Most Successful Ever Held

Under the auspices of the High Y. Topch Club and Boy Scouts, the ninth annual father and son banquet of Plymouth was held in the High school auditorium, Tuesday evening, February 16th. The banquet was presided over by the Episcopal bishop, who was outstanding in his good nature, and during the evening, some of the boys of the orchestra furnished a program of music which was very much appreciated by both sons and dads.

At the beginning of the banquet, invocation was given by Rev. Walter Nichol, and at the conclusion of the banquet Calvin Whipple led the singing of those songs which men and boys enjoy. Steve Dudek, president of the Student Council, then introduced the toastmaster of the evening, S. J. Strong, who presided in an efficient and pleasing manner. Joe Ribar, was introduced by the toastmaster and rendered several pleasing selections on his accordion. Donald Bronson in his pleasing and earnest manner, responded to the toast: "Our Dads." Dr. Freeman Hoyer responded with a toast, "Our Sons."

The boys' high school quartette consisting of Marshall Purdy, Hugh Horton, Donald Proctor, Robert Champ, accompanied by Delight Taylor, sang two selections in a manner outstanding for High School quartettes.

The address of the evening was given by E. J. Walker, Metropolitan Boys Work Secretary. The talk was suggestive under the light relationships between the fathers and sons and was appreciated by all. The group then sang the first verse of the hymn, "Our Sons," ending the happy, successful, and beautiful ninth annual father and son banquet.

FIND BROTHERS ARE BAD DOTS

Four Northville Boys Are Jailed For Many Robberies

Pathetic in the extreme has been the result of the depredations of four Northville boys, three of them now held in the county jail facing sentences on charges of several robberies. The father of three of the boys lives in his home at Northville under the care of a physician, grief-stricken over the thoughtlessness of boys who had not a reason in the world to do what they did.

Tuesday afternoon before Justice Ford Brooks was arraigned Robert McCordle, 21, one of the boys who on the previous day had entered the University of Michigan as a student, Joseph McCordle, 18, and Harold, 16, and a student of the Northville high school, William Springer, the other boy implicated in the robberies is also a student of the Northville schools.

The arrest of the four boys resulted from a long and searching investigation that had been made by Chief of Police William Safford of Northville into the many gas station robberies and holdups that have terrorized this part of Wayne county for months.

He first arrested Joseph McCordle and William Springer for breaking and entering the Casterline Service station at Northville. He secured confessions from these two boys. While awaiting arraignment, Joseph McCordle ran away, but returned in a few days and surrendered.

Chief Safford has been assisted from the first in his investigation of this case by Chief Vaughn Smith of Plymouth. Chief Smith had also suspected one of the boys of committing some of the robberies around here.

Monday when the first two boys were taken to Detroit for arraignment in circuit court, Chief Safford told the other officers that he was sure there were others implicated in some of the robberies. Then followed the confessions to Chief Smith of Plymouth and Deputies Chamberlain and Frahm that involved the other two McCordle boys. Their arrest followed immediately.

Robert McCordle graduated from the Northville high school with honors and was captain of the football team. He was such an excellent player that the Northville coach who two years ago became coach at the junior college in Jackson, induced McCordle to continue his school work there where he has been most of the time since graduation. It has been upon his visits back to Northville that he has participated in some of the robberies about Northville and Plymouth.

GARAGE MEN HEAR OF BRAKE LINING WORK

EXPERT GIVES ADDRESS MONDAY NIGHT AT BIESZK BROTHERS

Ralph Schoof, brake lining expert, Baldwin Auto Parts Co., Detroit, addressed a group of garage men, mechanics and service men at the Bieszk Brothers' Machine Shop, Monday evening, February 15, and explained in detail the merits of Gatte Brake Lining and facts relative to the manufacture of it.

He stated that the Gatte Corporation of Chicago, Ill., has exceeded a wide influence in the industrial brake lining and clutch facing industry for the past thirty years, consistently concentrating their efforts on the Moulded Brake Lining, until today, there is no dispute that the ideas pronounced thirty years ago were the result of scientific thinking and study. It is a well known fact that no other brake lining manufacturer has had the years of experience that this corporation has to its credit.

The Gatte Corporation has serviced all friction requirements in the industrial field, including iron ore, oil, hauls, dredges, in fact all machinery calling for friction material, whether it be clutch facings or brake linings, and is today the largest exclusive manufacturer of brake linings in the industry. No lining leaves their plant that does not carry the "Gatte" name upon it, and even though numerous requests have been made to them from large concerns to job this brand of lining, they have consistently refused to do so.

A complete laboratory and research department is maintained at all times in which a constant experimenting with various types of drums takes place. All materials that go into the manufacture of the product is virgin material and one fact is emphasized, that no scrap material has ever been used by this manufacturer. Gatte Linings are well lubricated which makes it especially easy on drums.

No frictional coefficient or braking power remains constant throughout the heat range, that is,

TRIBUTES TO GEORGE WASHINGTON

Commune, physical and moral, was a part of his nature; and, whether in battle or in the midst of popular excitement, he was fearless of danger and regardless of consequences to himself. (Sparks, Jared—The Life of George Washington p. 458.) At all times and amid all conditions Washington rang true to the note of a splendid manhood. Hypocrisy and a trafficking in expediency for popular applause no more match with his life than the crime of murder. He had little of the captivating style of speech or manner but regard for the nobility of his character rather than any rhetorical art or charm of personal address on his part, kept wavering lines from retreat in battle and from unwholesome privation and suffering to which our neglect had exposed the soldiers of the Revolution. (Underwood, Oscar—The Career and the Words of Washington, p. 12.) (State Society of Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Pa., February 2, 1912.)

FAMOUS METHODIST BISHOP COMING FOR COMMENCEMENT

Announcement has been made by Supr. George Smith of the Plymouth Public School that Dr. Frederick B. Fisher, pastor of the First Methodist church of Ann Arbor and former Methodist bishop of Michigan, will give the commencement address at the high school on June 25. The whole community will be delighted with this information as he is regarded as one of the most inspiring speakers in the country today. He will speak to the graduating class, their relatives and friends, upon the subject "Facing Realities" which will be timely and worthy of anticipation.

It will not be necessary for anyone to re-register if they registered in 1930 or since. Anyone planning to be out of Plymouth on March 14th or those confined to the house on account of illness may make application for an absent voters ballot at any time within ten days before the election. VISIBLE WATER LEDGER STARTED BY VILLAGE

OFFICIALS INSTITUTE NEW SYSTEM OF KEEPING ACCOUNTS

Work of installing the new visible card ledger for water consumer accounts has been completed by the village treasurer this week. The new system provides a visible card record for each consumer and affords complete control over all accounts and makes possible the rapid billing and posting of these accounts. The cards are filed in numerical order by street and house numbers and every account is quickly available and all information immediately at hand.

The old system in use for many years was difficult to handle and almost impossible to keep up to date especially those accounts which were frequently changing. Each card under the new system will be good for seven years, whereas the old system required re-copying every 18 months.

A signal system is included with the card record which gives control over the delinquent accounts. Each delinquent consumer is marked by a red signal and every effort made to collect the bill. All outside consumers are recorded on a colored card so that when making the quarterly bills, the clerks can readily see the outside accounts which are billed at double the village rate.

that the foot pressure required to bring the car to stop remains remarkably uniform after the brakes are heated through service. All manufacturers of brake linings cannot make this claim.

FINAL LICENSE DATES NEAR

But Few Days Left For Auto Owners To Get New Plates

Today, Friday, February 19, tomorrow the 20th, next week beginning Monday the 22nd, and the last day of a year year February, Monday the 29th, are all that remains of a 90 day extension period granted by the Secretary of State for the purchase of 1932 license plates—a total of nine days. And they will be busy days for the Plymouth Branch of the Department of State located in the Chamber of Commerce Office in the Mayflower Hotel Building. The law does not permit a further extension.

With this in mind, Department of State employees again urge car owners to remember the following suggestions: if they expect to buy plates by March 1st.

1. If possible, do not wait until the last few days. The total number of days remaining is few enough, and due to the necessity for right economy, the Department of State Office will not be able to provide much in the way of additional help to take care of any last minute rush.

2. Due to the same reason, it is suggested that people planning to buy plates between now and the first of the month be sure to have their applications completed when applying for plates, as Department of State employees will have little, if any time to help, with days fully occupied in checking applications, making change, and issuing plates. Stop in at the Department of State Office for your Passenger, Commercial, and Trailer Applications, fill them out at your leisure, and have them ready when you apply for plates. Be certain that you obtain the proper application, blank. These employees state that people frequently go to the trouble of completely filling out an application only to discover that they have filled out a commercial blank for passenger plates or vice versa.

3. The same applies to signs placed where they feel they will attract the eye, stating that checks are not acceptable. They ask that this ruling please be remembered to avoid the possibility of anyone waiting in line with a check, and then having to bother to cash said check elsewhere and start in all over again.

4. Please remember to have your car with you when applying for plates because you cannot obtain plates without it. Dept. of State employees claim that at least one out of every ten applicants forget to bring his certificate of title.

5. Those applying for commercial plates should keep in mind that receipts are required in order to obtain commercial plates. These may be procured in Plymouth at the Peoples Coal & Supply Company, and the Plymouth Lumber & Coal Company.

6. During the last minute rush, it is suggested that anyone desiring to buy plates in excess of five sets apply for no more than five sets at any one time. In other words, it would hardly be fair to those standing in line to buy a set of plates to be made to wait while one individual applying for friends' plates over fifteen or twenty blanks.

7. We want you to clearly understand that the columns of the Mail are open to you WITHOUT cost for a discussion of this problem either for or against. Our only requirement is that the article be signed and that it contains no reflection upon any individual.

MANY PRESENT AT THE ANNA SMITH MEMORIAL

BUSINESS AND CIVIC LEADERS PAY TRIBUTE TO HER MEMORY

Many were present at the memorial services held for Anna M. Smith, life time school teacher of Plymouth, which were held Sunday, February 6 in the First Methodist church, Rev. P. Ray Norton, pastor of the church, was in charge. The church quartette, consisting of Mrs. William Baker, Mrs. John Chapman, and Messrs. Austin and Elmer Whipple accompanied by Mrs. O'Connor, rendered in a manner befitting the occasion the hymn, "Softly Now the Light of Day," and the selection, "Crossing the Bar," these two being especially fitting selections of Mrs. Smith during her advancing years.

Rev. Norton introduced Superintendent of School, George A. Smith, who spoke of the Anna Smith whom he had known in the classroom and library.

Edward C. Houghton, Vice-President of the Turkey Manufacturing Company, spoke of Miss Smith's influence on his life and others with whom she had been in her teacher.

Paul W. Voorhies, Attorney General for the State of Michigan, was introduced and spoke upon Miss Smith's influence on his life and her interest in his college work, and how closely she had followed his career always. Mr. Voorhies emphasized the value of a noble life given in service to others even though the world at large might be comparatively unfamiliar with that person's name.

The service was a fitting tribute to the useful career during the life of Miss Smith, and the large attendance at the memorial service emphasized clearly that words can tell the esteem and love for Miss Smith in the community in which she had spent the greater part of her life of service.

BUSINESS ON UPWARD TREND

Reports Of Past Few Days Indicate Much Better Condition

While forecasts of trade revival have not materialized to an appreciable extent, the trend of business in some directions is rising gradually but irregularly. SAYS DUN'S in its weekly review of business.

Trade movements in general are proceeding cautiously with no outstanding or unusual developments during the week. The review stated, adding that the advent of stable weather has exerted a favorable influence of trades which are subject to seasonal changes.

Retail stores for the most part have experienced a good, steady volume of replacement and necessary purchases, while some gains have been recorded, the low prices in their lines have cut the total value of all sales of general merchandise below that of last year.

Activity at most industrial centers averages about the same as last week, although some production is at a slightly lower rate. Breadstuffs' weekly review says: "There are plenty of signs that business is still waiting until enough readjustment has taken place to warrant greater activity. While the readjustment undoubtedly is going on, it has not yet reached a stage where economic factors are in proper balance for a quicker interchange of goods."

Tells Of Benefit Of City Government As Compared To Village

T. K. Bissell, a former resident of Munising, who recently moved to Plymouth and is now making his home at 127 South Mill street, is greatly interested in the question as to whether Plymouth shall adopt the city form of government at the election to be held March 14.

Mr. Bissell, a former hardware dealer in Munising, sold out his business some time ago and moved to Plymouth in order to be near his children who are located in Detroit.

"I was a member of the charter commission when we voted in Munising to become a city. It proved a great benefit to our town and I doubt if you could find a person in Munising today who would vote to go back to the old village system of government," said Mr. Bissell.

"I am a stranger here, but from my own experience where we had the same question up and adopted it, I would say it was the only thing you gain four supervisors if you adopt it. We only gained three, but there was many advantages to it. I think our change from a village to a city had a lot to do with the growth of Munising."

Mr. and Mrs. William Nuhder and daughter of Detroit and Mrs. E. J. Brown spent a few days this week with relatives in Blisfield.

FIRST NATIONAL PLAN A SUCCESS

Bank Doing Business Under Agreement With Depositors

The new depositor's plan of the First National Bank became effective Monday, February 15th and through the adoption of this plan the First National Bank placed itself in as safe and as sound a position as a bank can be. It is not a dollar of questionable paper money deposited and nothing but high class investments.

Anticipating the possibility of loss in the future, due to the general shrinkage in the value of bonds and other securities and assets the Directors with the cooperation of the Depositor's Committee developed this plan for mutual protection. A Trust Fund has been established into which have been placed all slow liquid and depreciated securities, together with 30% of the deposits of the bank and 40% in cash of the capital of the institution. Also, the bank will pay into this Trust Fund all net profits for five years if necessary as a further safe guard.

It is interesting to note that this plan, developed by the First National Bank, is the first of its kind to be put in operation in the State of Michigan and is already being adopted by other banks as a safeguard against the possibility of financial difficulties. Both the Depositor's Committee and the Board of Directors of the First National Bank are to be congratulated upon the work they have done to safeguard the assets of the institution and its depositors.

New accounts are now being solicited and are of course, subject to withdrawal in full or in part at any time. Now savings deposits earn 3% interest as usual if left for the required period.

Boy Scouts Attend Church-Over 150 at Special Services

The Scouts in Plymouth District of the Wayne County Council, along with Dr. Robert Haskell, Chairman of the District, William Robinson, Scout Commissioner, the several Scoutmasters, Troop committee men, and parents of Scouts, to the number of 175, honored Rev. Minor, pastor of the Methodist church at Northville with their presence at his regular morning service.

Rev. Minor gave the Scouts an especially fitting and inspiring sermon presenting the physical and spiritual evidences of God as a father, a mother, and especially as related to boys.

To see 150 Scouts and their friends marching from the High School to their place in the Methodist church was a sight which will long be remembered by those privileged to see it, and the atmosphere during the service by those boys is evidence that "A Scout is reverent."

WASHINGTON THE NATION BUILDER

A Spartan mother called him into Time.
And kindled duty in him as a flame:
While he was schooled by the primeval hills
Of old Virginia—schooled by her mighty woods.

And when the Scroll was signed and the glad Bell
Of Independence echoed round the world.
He led his tattered host on stubborn fields.
Barefoot and hungry, thru ice and mire—

His trust was in the Ruler of Events—
In Him who watches. He could say: "The ends
Are in God's hand; I trust."
But while I trust I battle." In this creed,

Life tried his soul by all the tests of time—
By hardships, treachery, ingratitude:
Yes, even by victory and the loud applause.

He did the day's work that was given him:
He toiled for men until he flamed with God.
Now in his greatness, ever superbly lone.

H. A. Spicer Recalls Events of Years Ago

Editor of Plymouth Mail. Dear Sir:—Have just read in the Northville Record of last week an account of the death of Mrs. Electa A. How, and it brought to my mind some very vivid recollections of my first day in Plymouth.

Early in the year of 1864 my father, Mr. Wm. P. Spicer, had purchased the 200 acre farm which was bounded on the East by what is now known as the Whitebeck Road, on the South by Golden Road, on the West by what was later the Peter Micol farm, and extending to the Rouge River on the North.

We had sold a large farm in Ohio and my father and I had driven our four horses and two carriages, one a new surrey and the other a phaeton, from our old home near Youngstown to our new home here, leaving my mother and the rest of the family and our household goods to follow us by train to Detroit, from which point the goods were brought out to Plymouth, by wagon.

By the way, those were the only carriages in Plymouth at that time. We arrived at the new farm on the afternoon of April 1st, 1864 and "camped" that night in our new home, part of the house now owned and occupied by Mrs. Myra Tomlinson and family. Early the next morning one of our new neighbors, Gilbert Shattuck, who owned the farm now known as the Robinson subdivision, came over and invited us to have breakfast with him and his family and the comely young woman who cooked the breakfast was none other than Miss Electa Andrews, whose father, Harvey Andrews, owned the farm which now forms part of our beautiful parkway and which was later known as the Will Henry farm. In the fall of that year Miss Andrews became the bride of Mr. Ambrose Roe.

Mr. Harvey Andrews was one of the pioneers of this region and I can well remember the tales he used to tell us of the days when he had lived with his parents in a little log house, just east of Plymouth Township, where the Henry Ford orchard now stands. How his parents had been forced to return to the East on a business trip and had been compelled to leave their family of quite young children alone in the cabin and that the friendly Indians, who used to follow the trail near their home on their way to and from Detroit, used to come in and sit by their fire and smoke their pipes.

Mr. Andrews also told us that the large cottonwood tree, which now stands in front of the Jack Stripling home on Ann Arbor Trail and is now at least five feet in diameter, was once a green sapling which some drivers were using in driving cattle through there to market, and which they stuck in the ground and left there. It later sprouted and took root and became the huge tree which it now is.

Mr. Gilbert Shattuck was one of four brothers, all now dead, who owned large farms to the north and East of us, the others being Frank St. Clinton and Mortimer Shattuck.

With so many other things to worry about some men insist on wondering if their hair is combed. Squirrels are very fond of all kinds of nuts except those that grow on family trees. Donkeys on the railroad track: Heel! How! We're coming back. have had a very depressing effect on business. Copper mines are operating only ten days a month.

Analysis of the returns of the Trust Company's monthly questionnaire on business conditions in various sections of Michigan still indicates unsatisfactory business conditions in general throughout the State.

For the southeastern section, centered in Detroit, the reports show that in only three cities, Flint, Mt. Clemens and Jackson, was manufacturing activity greater than it was a year ago. Employment was also greater in these three cities and retail trade was equal to or better than that of last year at this time.

With reference to the outlook for manufacturing, employment and retail trade during the next month in this section, a substantial proportion of the replies indicates a probable improvement in conditions. Reports from Jackson are particularly optimistic in this regard.

After a substantial gain in Detroit industrial output during December, evidenced by a gain in this Company's index from 39 percent of normal in November to 62 percent of normal in December, further rising tendencies were apparent in January. Retail trade in Detroit, as indicated by department store sales, was 62 per cent greater in December than in November, an increase which compares with 53 per cent increase in the same period of 1930 and with a 38 per cent increase in 1929.

Conditions in southwestern Michigan seem to have been less satisfactory on January 25, the date of our questionnaire, than they were in southeastern Michigan. Winter dullness still exists in Northern Michigan business areas where farming is the main enterprise. In the Upper Peninsula, low lumber prices and unsatisfactory levels of copper and iron ore prices

DEARBORN SEEKS WAY TO REDUCE EXPENSES

WOULD ELIMINATE MANY SMALL OFFICES TO BRING ABOUT SAVINGS

To eliminate added expense of too many governments, plans are now being made in Dearborn and Nankin Townships as well as in the Village of Inkster for the consolidation of those districts with the City of Dearborn, according to an article published in Wednesday's edition of The Detroit Free Press, written by Barr A. Lynch, Free Press staff writer and a resident of Dearborn.

The plan, according to Mr. Lynch's article is being pushed by William T. Kronberg, Dearborn Township supervisor, and others who are seeking to eliminate the expense now placed upon the shoulders of residents of Dearborn and Nankin townships as well as in Inkster.

"Furthering plans to escape the unnecessary expense of too many local governments," the article reads, "officials and leading citizens of Dearborn and Nankin Townships and the Village of Inkster have launched a movement to unite their territory with Dearborn."

"The move is in accordance with a tendency elsewhere in the state to merge small political divisions where it is evident their fiscal standing and governmental efficiency would be benefited by the change."

"Cost of government in Dearborn Township has become an oppressive burden," stated William T. Kronberg, Dearborn Township supervisor and a leader in the movement. "A merger with Dearborn would eliminate the cost of administration of township schools, road work and police and fire protection, besides relieving the taxpayers of the salaries of other township officers. Official salaries alone total $15,000 a year. Not excessive, but something that should be done without if possible and particularly as the saving would really bring the territory better government. The taxpayers are not getting what they want now, or what they should have. A more economical system, we think, will give it to them. Duplication of expenses is eating up their money."

"The cost of maintaining the doubtful luxury of small governmental units is illustrated in the case of Dearborn Township as pointed out by officials. "For the last fiscal year the charges against the taxpayers reached a total of $53,387.60 on a tax valuation of $13,263,000. Of this sum $280,616.70 represents special assessments for water, sewers, covert roads and drains. These, of course, will automatically disappear as yearly charges once the debt is paid years hence, but there will remain the cost of repair upkeep and extension."

"Unavoidable taxes in the town show a gross of $272,070.84. These, proponents of the merger believe, can be reduced many thousands of dollars each year by incorporating the territory into the City of Dearborn. They also argue there will be better service in all departments of government due to the lifting of an ever threatening shortage of finances."

"The Township has a balanced budget," said Mr. Kronberg, "at least as far as the tax levy is concerned, but collections are slow and have been crippling us. Delinquent taxes are at present more by $160,000 than debts; but uncollected taxes are not rated as good assets by the banks, which refuse to lend us money to meet our obligations."

"The banks' demand for curtailment of the cost of government, he added, have reached the point of intemperate dictatorship, and include practical elimination of police and fire protection, and reductions in other directions that would cripple community government.

"The Townships and Village involved in the contemplated merger are said to be heartily in favor of it. They are doubtful how the proposition would be received by the City of Dearborn. Leaders in the Townships plan conversations with Dearborn officials and group leaders with the purpose of bringing about a favorable reception. They are anxious to submit the question to the voters at special elections this spring.

"It must be carried in every community by a 60 per cent majority."

NOTICE TO BUYERS OF BABY CHICKS

It has been reported to Snyder Farms that there is a salesman who is canvassing in this vicinity and who is selling baby chicks for a hatchery that is located in the extreme eastern part of Michigan that is making untrue statements, one of which is "That Snyder Farms buy the eggs from which they hatch their chicks and that he knows from whom they buy them."

Snyder Farms cannot let this statement stand and are now branding it as being absolutely false. On the other hand Snyder Farms want to make the statement that they have never sold a baby chick, pullet or any breeding stock of any kind that was not hatched in their own incubators from eggs that were laid by their own breeders on their own farm that is located on Ford Road, 1 1/2 miles west of Wayne Road. We would be glad to have any statements that might be made to the contrary after this date reported to us.

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 461): "Soul or Spirit signifies Duty and nothing else. FUNERAL SERVICES
In Old Venice

In PLYMOUTH

In no country has the funeral profession advanced to the high standards existing in America. Even in the largest cities of Europe, where their culture has been established many hundreds of years, the most pretentious funeral services are conducted without the aid of such modern conveniences as our Nu-Y-Way side-servicing hearse.

Here in America the modern funeral establishment performs a wide variety of services which, in other lands, are expected of others or left to be taken care of by the bereaved family.

The American funeral director is more than a business man—more than a professional man. He combines business judgment and professional skill with a sympathetic desire to help those who need him. His training, experience and modern equipment qualify him to give valuable counsel and truly modern service. We aim to prove the residents of this locality with this type of funeral service—unsurpassed anywhere.

May Open The Huron River To Public By Road To Water Edge

Fishermen in Plymouth and this part of Michigan are related to learn that the state highway department has under consideration a plan whereby there will be much easier access to the beautiful Huron river where it crosses Grand River road than has been possible in the past.

Hundreds of fishermen and others who have their own boats and who like to fish the Huron during spring and summer, have in the past had difficulty in getting their crafts down to the water without crossing private property.

The state highway department is just now making a filling of both sides of the Huron for the purpose of widening the bridge over the river at that point.

It has just been learned that Highway Commissioner Grover Dillman who is himself an enthusiastic outdoor sportsman, has advised the engineers in charge of the improvement work along Grand River, to provide a way if possible, so that fishermen can have easy access to the river bank on public highway property.

It is stated that the highway department believes a roadway down to the edge of the water can be graded at exceedingly little or no cost at the southeast corner of the widened bridge. It can be done at a most advantageous time at present because of the work in progress at this point.

Mr. Dillman's plan to open the Huron river to greater public use is in keeping with the excellent policies of that department under its administration in giving to the people of Michigan greater enjoyment of the lakes and streams of the state.

Not only will Mr. Dillman's plan to provide an easy way for the public to get down to the river hundreds of fishermen in southwestern Michigan, but there is another class it also will please, people who enjoy boating on inland rivers and lakes. The Huron leads directly into Kour lake above the bridge and the highway department's plan will open to the public from a main highway not only miles of the Huron river, but the lake that empties into it.

Sportsmen and outdoor lovers are hopeful that the highway department will be able to open the Huron river at this point along the lines that it has under consideration.

About all that can be said about some of us is that we are hand marks.

It isn't necessary for some people to be on their back to be fast asleep.

Tribal Legends of Indians Recalled By Names Of Michigan Cities—Home of Famous Tribes Replete With Colorful Story of The Past

Should you ask me, whence these stories? Whence these legends and traditions? I should answer, I should tell you, From the forests on the prairies, From the great lakes of the Northland, From the land of the Ojibways, —Louisfellow.

The land of the Ojibways—bounded by the big sea waters, sheltered by primeval forests, spattered with crystal lakes. This was the land that the Ojibways called Michigan, meaning "place of catching fish." It was here that the wild rice and mounds, the corn, grew abundantly. Like sunfish and perch teemed in the turbulent rivers and lakes. All their simple needs were amply supplied, so many of the "red brothers" settled in Michigan.

There were about 20,000 of them in the State, it has been estimated. These were composed chiefly of three tribes: The Ojibways, Ottawa, and Potawatomi. The Ojibways settled the upper peninsula. The Ottawa controlled the islands and region south of the Straits of Mackinac. The Potawatomi migrated to the southern part of the State. There they lived, and left behind them dozens of Indian place names as mute evidence of their occupation. Many of these are spots where Indian settlements once thrived, others are landmarks where a few solitary wigwags sent forth their curling smoke.

Perhaps the best known of these place names is Mackinac Island, a popular summer resort near the upper peninsula. Mackinac is derived from the Ojibwa Indian word Michilimackinac meaning "land of the great turtle." There is a quaint legend about the origin of this name that is still told by the Indians who live on the island. Long ago a party of warriors was standing on the hill at the present site of St. Ignace, gazing out over the waters, when to their surprise a large object rose to the surface. It was the island of Mackinac but it looked so much like a large turtle that the Indians pronounced it, at the time, to be one.

Another well-known city is Marquette, located on the Manistee River. This is an Indian word meaning "vermillion river." No doubt it was so called because of the ore in the river bottom which gave the water a peculiar red tinge. Manistee is a variation of Manistowic, having the same meaning. There is a village in Schoharie County known under the second spelling.

Escanaba, on the Escanaba River means "flax rock" in the Indian tongue. This is the region where part of the setting of Longfellow's poem "Hiawatha" was laid. The Escanaba River was crossed by Hiawatha in his search for the west wind. So he journeyed westward, westward, Left the forest deep behind him, Left the antelope and bison, Crossed the rushing Escanaba. Menominee, in Menominee County, was the name of a tribe. The word refers to the wild rice, which grew in that region and formed one of the staple articles of the Indian's diet.

Potosky, a popular resort, is named from the Ojibwa tongue and refers to one of the heavenly bodies. Saginaw is an Ojibwa word meaning "bank place." The present site was formerly a settlement of Sauk or Sac Indians.

There are several derivations of the word Sheboygan, from which the city of Sheboygan was named. It may mean "great pipe," "river that comes out of the ground," or "place of ore," the latter meaning is probably the one which the Indians applied because the region once contained ore.

There is an artists' colony and small village in west Michigan known as Saugatuck. The village is built along the banks of the Kalamazoo River which empties into Lake Michigan. The Indians called the spot "Outlet of the tidal river."

Other Indian place names whose significance is readily understandable are: Muskegon, meaning "swamp"; Dowagiac, "fishing river"; Kalamazoo, "beautiful water"; Sebawing, "at the creek"; and Orsego, "place where meetings are held."

The city of Orontosa, in Shiawassee County, was named for the principal chief of the Ojibways. Translated, the name means "he is afar off."

The name Ishpeming, a city in the northern part of the upper peninsula, has an odd significance. It means "heaven," or "high up" in the Ojibwa tongue. Perhaps it was so called because of its extreme northern position.

Negaunee, located near Ishpeming, means "first," "ahead," or "the one before." Authorities believe it was an effort to translate the English word pioneer. Probably it was the first permanent Indian settlement in that particular region.

Wyandotte, a city near Detroit, was named for the Wyandott Indian tribe.

A WORD ABOUT TELEVISION

I have had many requests as to just what television is and when it will be available to the public. Television or Radiovision is being able to see in your own home, a picture of whatever is being broadcast. In other words when television is practicable we will be able to see plays that are originated in the broadcast studio of your favorite station or ball games, sports of all kinds, interesting current events, etc.

I don't believe anyone knows just when we will be able to see an entire program perfectly, but I think I can assure you that the time is not far off. Progress has been surprisingly rapid and even now a fairly good picture can be obtained. By before the public will be satisfied it will have to give more detail and be more simple to operate.

The tube used to receive the television image is being improved constantly and the latest type, known as the "CATER" tube, promises us better images than have been available with the old type Neon tube. The present Neon tube gives only a faint reddish glow while the "CATER" tube throws a distinct black and white picture.

There are a number of Radio broadcasting stations on the air at present with television and the amateur who likes to keep up with the progress of this new art can have all kinds of fun trying to get them. Complete television kits are very reasonably priced but are being offered to the public only as a means by which they can experiment and not for practical use.

There are many obstacles to overcome before television will be practical. Let's hope it won't be long. In the meantime I will endeavor to keep you posted, through this paper, on any major developments.

Installations There are a number of things that must be done before a radio will perform as the manufacturer intended it to and one of the most important of them is the installation.

Most people buy a radio with the idea in mind that their reception depends entirely upon the set. This is true to a certain extent but the finest Radio built will not give satisfactory service if not installed properly.

I have had many requests as to what type of aerial is the best and in most experimental work, about this time, I find that the simple one wire aerial is as good as you can get. There are a number of "Gargoes" on the market that are called aerials and they are supposed to eliminate interference and do a great many other impossible things. But the man who spends his money on such a gadget on their is the loser. Some of them give fair results on some sets and others are a detriment to your reception, so therefore to be safe, I would advise a simple standard wire aerial, ranging in length from 30 to 125 feet, depending on the selectivity of the radio it is to be used on. Care should be taken that it is well insulated on each end. There are various insulators on the market for this purpose. Either glass or porcelain insulators are very good.

The lead in should be taken off or tapped off from the end just inside the insulator and should follow the shortest course to the radio. The lead in wire should all be well insulated and should clear grounded objects, such as eave-troughs, etc. by at least 6 inches. It is all right to run a well insulated wire under the window although some prefer to use a lead in strip. When your aerial is completed it should be free from striking grounded objects, while swinging with the wind.

A good ground is also of considerable importance as the internal action of a modern radio tube depends to a great extent on the ground. There are various types of ground clamps that will serve the purpose, but do not attempt to wrap the ground wire around a pipe and expect it to be satisfactory. Any water pipe makes an excellent ground and a hot water or steam radiator is very good, but never use a gas pipe unless you are sure that it runs directly to the ground and not then if you can avoid it. Make your ground connection as short as possible. If the above simple rules are followed faithfully your set will be properly installed, except in case of bad local interference and I will cover that subject next week.

Old people don't want the trouble of reforming anybody; they only want to be left alone.

All of the unnecessary suffering in the world could be eliminated by sanity, kindness and tolerance.

He who waits for a dead man's auto will wear out much shoe leather.

Bloomfield Hills Would Also Become City Says Report

Another village in the Detroit area has decided to try and become a city at the forthcoming spring election. The following news from Bloomfield Hills as taken from a recent issue of the Detroit News:

The Village of Bloomfield Hills wants to become a city. Meeting informally Thursday night, the village commission decided to circulate petitions seeking 100 signatures, which would make it necessary to call a special election on the proposal to change the form of government. The petitions are expected to be submitted March 1, when an election date will be set.

The commission action was taken on the basis of an economy move. As a village, Bloomfield Hills pays a large share of the Bloomfield Township taxes. As a city, it would escape this obligation. The village maintains its own fire department, while the township also has one. The change also would increase Bloomfield Hills' representation on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

KORTE AND SHOTKA SCORE BIG VICTORY

The worm turned Saturday when Fred Korte and John Shotka crushed M. Waldeck and Ed Dmham, eleven games to two, for the biggest upset of the tournament so far. The winners played very well and scored a 100 victory in the first game. By virtue of winning eight games in a row, which broke the league record, Wagenschultz and Cortade walked off R. Waldeck and Graham, nine games to four. They now lead the league by eleven games. The standing:

Coming Attractions At Penniman-Allen

"GIRL OF THE RIO" With a merry, musical whirl, the roulette wheel turns and hundreds of dollars change hands... not far away a fare dealer speaks casually and without inflection... tables are crowded and commission girls saunter sinuously through the welter of humanity.

Herbert Brenon has caught this picturesque atmosphere of the Latin gambling dives in "RIO," Radio Pictures' "Girl of the Rio," at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Sunday and Monday, February 21 and 22, with Dolores Del Rio starred.

"THE FALSE MADONNA" William Boyd, that "double-dyed" deviler of the film plots, is back in his celluloid element again in "The False Madonna," Paramount romance - drama of modern life which comes to the Penniman Allen Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, February 24 and 25.

"The False Madonna," Boyd appears as the master-mind of a gang of crooks who operate in three continents, murdering their victims of millions of dollars. Kay Francis is seen as one of the gang. A stylish, respectable society woman, beautiful, stylish, well-mannered.

In the cast with Boyd and Miss Francis are Conway Tearle, as the lawyer friend of the wealthy hero who falls in love with Kay; Charles D. Brown, Broadway comedian, in a comedy part; Marjorie Catron, legitimate stage favorite as Brown's "side-partner" in the comedy department of the film; John Brodigan, young juvenile, and other capable players.

"THE FIGHTING FOOL" Tim McCoy, Columbia hero of Western drama, can be seen at the Penniman Allen Theatre Friday and Saturday, February 26 and 27, in a colorful role in "The Fighting Fool."

It is a vivid drama of adventure and romance during the early days of reforming anybody; they only want to be left alone.

Beautiful Marjorie Day plays opposite McCoy, Robert Ellis, Arthur Rankin, William V. Mong, Dorothy Granger, Ethel Wales and Harry Todd have other leading roles. Lambert Hillier directed.

MANY FUR FARMS OUT OF BUSINESS IN PAST YEAR

The number of licensed game and fur farms in Michigan during 1931 dropped about twenty-five percent according to the Game Division of the Department of Conservation. During 1931 the Department issued 472 licenses to cover the breeding and dealing in protected game birds, game and fur bearing animals as compared to 640 such licenses which were issued in 1930. No license is necessary to breed or sell the pelts of such animals as mink, skunk, and foxes which are not protected at any season of the year.

There were 191 muskrat farms in Michigan last year on which it was estimated there were 32,157 muskrats held as the season's breeding stock. On 44 of these projects other protected animals were kept as well as muskrats.

The breeding and selling of raccoons is increasingly popular. Last year 190 licenses were issued to cover the possession of 1,445 raccoons as compared with 1,270 animals held under the 1930 licenses. The estimates show 1,260 beaver were held as breeding stock last year on 56 beaver farms. Twenty eight of those projects had other protected animals. In 1930 there were 74 licensed beaver farms in Michigan having an aggregate stock estimated at 921 beaver.

Fifty-six persons having 2,608 birds were rearing ring neck pheasants last year. Forty-five licenses were granted for 1,113 mallard ducks.

Seventeen licenses had a total of 654 deer. 26 licenses had 216 geese; one man had two martens; five persons possessed eight badgers; ten men had a total of 26 otters; nine individuals held 15 bears and four enclosures had 37 elk in them. A few squirrels, buffalo, prong and Hungarian Partridges were also

The First National Bank

The Depositors Plan of the First National Bank of Plymouth was adopted and put into effect Monday, February 15. Result—The First National Bank of Plymouth has been made as strong as a bank can be.

This new plan was developed and put into operation by the joint efforts and judgment of both the Directors of the bank and a committee of the bank's depositors. The purpose of the plan was to safeguard in advance the possibility of further shrinkage in bonds and other values which, if continued, would eventually mean a severe loss to both depositors and stockholders and to the community as well.

A Trust Fund has been established in which has been placed not only all securities owned by the bank that have suffered any material depreciation, but slow notes and all other assets that might be classed as "frozen." The depositors have set aside in this Trust Fund 30% of the money they have had on deposit at this bank and the stockholders are adding 40% in cash, of the par value of their stock to protect these assets from forced liquidation and loss.

Also, the bank will pay into the Trust Fund all of its net earnings, for five years if necessary, to further protect this Trust Fund.

This action places The First National Bank of Plymouth in a wonderfully sound and enviable position—without a dollar of questionable paper in its files, no defaults and nothing but high class investments.

New Deposits Subject to Withdrawal

On and after February 15 all monies deposited in this bank by both present customers and new customers can be withdrawn in full or in part at any time. This applies to both checking accounts and savings accounts. Also, from February 15 all monies deposited in savings accounts earn 3% interest if left three months or longer.

We wish to take this opportunity to extend our congratulations and thanks to the Depositors Committee which has done such splendid service in cooperation with our Board of Directors in placing this bank in the unusually fine financial position it enjoys today. The Members of this committee are as follows:

- Paul J. Nutting, Joseph Grammel, M. G. Partridge, Andrew C. Dunn, William G. Towle and James Ford.

It is interesting to note that The First National Bank of Plymouth was the first bank in the state of Michigan to develop and put into effect the above-type of plan which already other banks are adopting to improve their financial position.

SENIOR PROM A SUCCESS

One o'clock on the morning of Saturday, February 13 was the culmination of over a month of untiring work on the part of the Seniors of Ye Olde Alma Mater.

You perhaps did, or did not, notice in the caption, that we termed the whole affair a "success."

But seriously speaking, and to get the whole thing into a couple of nutshells, we really can't tell you, dear reader, whether or not it was a success.

Right at this place would be a good time to start a guessing contest, but we wouldn't for the life of us get involved in such a dastardly affair.

If you will allow us, we will at this point give you a brief summary of the whole thing.

Commenced at approximately 9 o'clock with one of the light circuits refusing to respond, Hepnits hastily made by the one and only Mr. Ash.

Next Monday is the two hundred anniversary of George Washington's birth, and we are going to have a sort of celebration in history class.

SPEECH DEPARTMENT IMPORTANT

When the value of public speaking is considered, it is found that it is essential as some compulsory subjects.

Of course, no speech course would be complete without debating. The students form their own questions for debate, choose their teams, draw up their briefs and judge other teams.

After a brief discussion of the class, touched in a public speaking course, it is quite evident that such a course would prove most beneficial to those who take advantage of this elective subject.

Editorial

Now that the Senior Prom is past there arises in the minds of many people the idea that all this effort and work was wasted.

Two hundred years ago on the twenty-second of February on an old homestead in Virginia was born a boy who was destined to become the greatest figure in our history.

The primary grades are going to give a Washington program Friday, February nineteenth at 2:30 in the school auditorium.

The children in Mrs. Iloof's room made valentines for their mothers, out of lace paper and colored paper.

The children in Mrs. Wilcox's room had a Valentine party last Monday. There have been thirty-five children enrolled in this room.

VISIBLE WATER

As consumers are changed, new cards with complete billing information, are inserted in the file and the record of the former consumer is taken out and filed in a permanent file as soon as the final bill is paid. Final bills are sent out as soon as the service is discontinued and the account closed at the earliest possible date. Heretofore, the final bills were sent out on the regular billing date which made it more difficult to obtain payment than in the case where the bill is mailed promptly.

The water ordinance requires the properly owner to be responsible for all bills and it is the intent of the village to collect as promptly as possible from the tenant in order that the owners of rented property who do not pay the water bills, will not have to pay bills left by their tenants. This change in the water department has been made in the program of economy being practiced by the village Commission. Although a small outlay was necessary in purchasing new equipment, the time saved in handling the water accounts will in a short time more than offset the present expense.

TRIBUTES TO WASHINGTON

Then came the horrors of Valley Forge and of the winters in Morris county. Those were the days when desertions were many and enlistments were few, when Washington dared not give open battle and there was hardly left to him a place for retreat. Then came the Conway conspiracy, and the ambition of Gates, and the cowardice of Lee and the treason of Arnold, and a series of persecutions so petty, so bitter, so malignant, that it is amazing how Washington survived them. Then too, came defeats like that at Brandywine, and battles of uncertain meaning like that at Monmouth. It is easy for us as we read these events in the light of the issue to keep up our courage and understand the triumph that finally came, but it was a very different thing for Washington, Congress was weak, meddling, and vacillating. The soldiers were raw, undisciplined and sometimes mutinous. They were jealous and selfish and forgetful and shames were beyond our present ability to believe. When I recall Washington's calmness in the midst of exasperating annoyances, his unselfish loyalty when surrounded by enmity and jealousy and hatred, his faith that put courage into the hearts of men who marched hungry and left bloody footprints in the snow; when I remember, how after eight years of this and more he emerged victorious, as calm in victory as he had been serene in defeat, I do not wonder that Frederick the Great is said to have pronounced George Washington's campaign in the Jerseys the most brilliant in military annals. (Barton, William E.—George Washington.)

Washington did not leave his men and go home to live in luxury, but stayed to endure privation with them. Only he who reads his letters written during these trying times can appreciate his troubles and anxieties. (McLaughlin, Andrew C.—History of the American Nation, p. 164.) Behold him (George Washington) in 1775 taking leave of his family and his home, and hastening to the relief of a distant and then unknown part of America. See him transforming and cementing a band of rusties into an army. Follow him to the field of battle, and see him first in danger and last out of it. Go with him into Valley Forge, and see him sharing the hunger, the cold, the fatigue of every soldier in the camp. Was there ever such fortitude in adversity? Was there ever such moderation in the hour of victory? (McMaster, John R.—History of the People of the United States, Vol. 1, p. 465.) On only one point did there seem to be unanimity and accord. That was that the dozed prosecution of the war and the ultimate victory must be credited to George Washington. Others had fought valiantly and endured hardships and fatigues and anxious suspense, but without him—who never wavered, they could not have gone on. (Thayer, William R.—George Washington, p. 128.) The American revolution from a military point of view was a group of little wars than a single war.

The one integrating force was the person of the great commander, but George Washington held the army and the cause together by his exhaustless patience and courage rather than by any comprehensive plan of war. (Muzzey, David S.—History of the American People, p. 136.) To Washington no duty, however obscure, was unimportant, and no deviation from duty, however trifling, was possible. (Hoar, George F.—Washington, p. 31.) (Chicago, February 23, 1903.) Washington was an incorruptible patriot. He was one of the few rich men who was not a Tory. A very large proportion of men of large means sided with the British crown; nor must we too hastily condemn them. But Washington, who had more to lose than almost any other man in the thirteen colonies, was not blinded by vested interests, nor bound to conservative action by his wealth and station. For the sake of the country which he loved he suffered immense hardships, and he was stung by ingratitude and hurt by slander, but he stood firm in his loyalty to the cause he had espoused, and was faithful to the end. (Barton, William E.—George Washington.)

What License For Ford Tudor Cost Considerable misunderstanding and confusion has already resulted in issuing 1932 License Plates on Model A Tudors, due to the fact that different prices have been charged for plates in the past, according to Berg D. Moore, manager of the Plymouth Branch of the Department of State. Mr. Moore states that he has been trying to follow the weight and tax schedules established by the Secretary of State. In view of the fact that he has had numerous arguments on his hands already, Mr. Moore has made an effort to get this matter straightened out before the heavier buying of plates yet to come. He has checked Model A Tudor weights with the Ford Motor Car Co. and with the Cass Avenue Branch office and has been informed that there is practically no fluctuation in weight between the 1928 and 1929 Model A Tudors but that the Model A Tudors are heavier. He has also learned that the Cass Avenue Branch is charging a uniform price of $12.65 for 1928 and 1929 Model A Tudors and $13.20 for 1930 and 1931 Model A Tudors. The dividing line is engine number 2677090. In other words this number marks the end of 1929 series. Mr. Moore asks that all owners of Model A Tudors check the engine numbers on their files. If the number falls under the above number, the price for the 1932 plates will be $12.65. If the number is higher than the above number, the price will be $13.20.

Get Your License Before Cops Get You

Better hurry and get those new auto license plates! If you do not, the police may get you after March 1st. There is nothing in the new state law which permits the secretary of state or any police official to grant an extension of time this year, so it is safer to have the new plates on time than possibly pay a fine as well as the costs of the new plates. Secretary Berg Moore who is in charge of the Plymouth branch office of the secretary of state announces that he will keep his office open until 5:30 every afternoon until the final day. Better hurry and keep out of trouble.
