NEW BANK PLAN WORKS NICELY

First National Officials Grati-fied Over Progress Being Made

Officials of the First National bank are highly elated over the success of the plan that became effective two weeks ago providing for additional security for its depositors and assuring safety for the future.

"We have opened up many new accounts, both savings and commercial and we believe now that our bank is in such a condition that its future growth and expansion is assured. Not only have the new accounts opened been many in number, but they are substantial in size as well," said J. B. Hubert, president of the bank yesterday.

The plan of the First National worked out for the benefit of its depositors has caused considerable favorable comment among financial writers, one Detroit paper commenting favorably upon the action taken. Plymouth is safely over the top and on the way to a prosperous future.

Colonial Tea Will Be Given on Sunday Afternoon At Hotel

The Business and Professional Women's Club will entertain at a colonial tea, in the Crystal Dining Room of the Hotel Mayflower, Sunday afternoon, February 28th, from three to five o'clock p. m., each member being privileged to invite several guests.

An interesting program has been prepared in observance of the George Washington Bicentennial consisting of music by the Moe Orchestra, Mrs. Norma Cassidy, soloist, and Charina Penney, pianist.

There will be a one-act play, presented by several Club members, depicting life in the home of George Washington, and emphasizing the devotion of Martha Washington to her husband's memory.

Mrs. Ruth E. Huston-Whipple will give a short resume of historical events in the life of Washington, after which the Club members will serve tea to their guests.

Colonial costumes will be worn by the hostesses, and decorations, refreshments and service will conform to the Colonial period. The committee on arrangements, Rose Hawthorne, Chairman, Alice Safford, Mary Murray and Ada Safford, will be assisted by the entire membership of the Club.

Plymouth's Oldest Native Born Citizen Badly Hurt By Fall

As the result of a fall early yesterday morning when he slipped on a rug in his home on Penniman avenue, George Lee, Plymouth's oldest native born citizen, is in Highland Park hospital where he is receiving treatment for a fractured hip bone. Latest reports from the hospital state that he is resting easily but it will be several days before the extent of his injury will be definitely known.

Mr. Lee will be 89 years old next June. He was born in Plymouth and enjoys the distinction of being the oldest resident of the community who was born here. He has been a member of the Plymouth Rock Masonic lodge for 64 years and always has been interested in its affairs.

His health, which has always been good, will be an important factor, doctors state, in bringing about an early recovery. His large circle of friends hope to see him again before many weeks.

Club To Celebrate Its Anniversary

A very delightful afternoon is being planned for the next meeting of the Woman's club for March 4 at 2:15, celebrating the 39th anniversary of the club. The noon luncheon has been changed to a social hour with refreshments. A fine program is being planned and all members are urged to be present.

The following committee are in charge: Miss Edna Allen, Mrs. J. B. Hubert, Mrs. R. E. Cooper, Mrs. Perry Richwood, Mrs. William Strang, Mrs. W. H. Scott, Mrs. William Wood, Mrs. S. Virgo and Mrs. G. A. Smith, chairman.

A very delightful colonial tea was given by the Woman's club Friday afternoon, Feb. 16 in commemoration of the bicentennial anniversary of Washington's birth.

Mrs. Arlo Emery, chairman introduced the speaker, Harry Hoffer of Detroit who gave a very interesting address on the lives of Washington and Lincoln.

A group of little girls from the 7th grade dressed in quaint colonial costumes danced the picturesque minuet.

Mrs. C. T. Sullivan accompanied by Miss Shontz sang "The Second Minute," "An Old Fashioned Garden" and "To My First Love."

The tea tables were presided over by Mrs. Carmen Root and Mrs. E. R. Daggett.

TO PLAN WAY FOR TAX REDUCTION

Publishers Take Steps To Assist Michigan Land Owners

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Michigan Press Association held in Lansing last Friday, the newspaper publishers of the state decided to inaugurate an energetic campaign in behalf of Michigan property owners for reduced taxation and greater economy in the operation of public affairs. The association has invited The League of Michigan Home-Daughters and the metropolitan papers in the state to take part in the discussion and see if some workable plan cannot be devised to produce worthwhile results.

George Averill, well known Birmingham publisher, has been named chairman of this important taxation committee with Vern Brown, publisher of the Ingham County News, Frank Brown, publisher of the Bellville Gazette and Thomas Conlin of Crystal Falls, as members. The two Browns are members of the state legislature and during the last session were active in support of all legislation that meant lower taxation.

Chairman Averill has already taken steps to send into one form all the publication organizations in Michigan and doubtless by the time the special session of the legislature is called, this special news paper taxation committee will have something worth while to offer as a way of reducing taxation in Michigan.

Boy Scouts To Be On Air Saturday

The Plymouth District of the Wayne County Boy Scouts of America will have charge of the broadcast over station WXYZ, 5:45 p. m. Saturday, February 27.

The Plymouth District consists of the troops of Plymouth, Northville, Wayne County Training School, Rosedale Gardens and Newburg.

A special number on the program will be a concert solo by Forbes Smith, P. L. P. 2 and 3 are also joining with the other troops in the broadcast over station WXYZ, 5:45 p. m. Saturday, February 27.

Fire Destroys Two Big Barns

Farmer Living on Eight Mile Road Suffers Severe Loss Monday

Fire that could be seen for miles Monday night completely destroyed two big barns on the Fred Kregger farm, located on the Eight Mile road and northwest of the William H. Mayberry Sanatorium. As no one was living on the farm at present, the origin of the flames is a mystery.

People who discovered it declared that the fire broke out in both barns at practically the same instant. Mr. Kregger had recently taken the place back on a defaulted mortgage and his son Charles and family were preparing to move on the place. Something like 17 tons of hay and other produce had been placed in one of the barns. Fortunately there was no stock on the farm at the time and but few farm tools.

As there is no insurance, the loss to Mr. Kregger is a severe one. The barns were of excellent construction and of large size.

DISCUSS HOME FURNISHINGS

A profitable afternoon was held by the members of the Plymouth Home Management Group last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Jesse Jewell, the lesson subject for discussion being "Home Furnishings," and presented by the local leaders Mrs. Root and Mrs. Holcomb. The next meeting will be on March 10th at the home of Verne Rowley and the leaders will offer the topic "Buying for Children" as their lesson.

CLOSE NORTHVILLE THEATRE FOR PRESENT

MANAGER HARRY LUSH FINDS IT NECESSARY TO TAKE THIS ACTION

Manager Harry Lush of the Pentium-Allyn Theatre has announced that the Northville theatre will be closed for the present. This action has been taken by the management due to existing conditions which have resulted in the theatre in Northville running at a loss for some time. Mr. Lush states that it is impossible to maintain a high class picture entertainment in Northville under present conditions and he regrets that he has found it necessary to temporarily close the Northville theatre.

He states that just as soon as possible, it is his hope to reopen this popular amusement place. Temporarily with a better turn of business during the coming spring months, and a settlement of some of the business difficulties that Northville is just at present endeavoring to work out, the Northville theatre can be reopened. It was stated on good authority a day or so ago that the new committee working on a bank plan for Northville, is exceedingly hopeful of success within the next few weeks.

Commenting further, a Northville business representative declared that when present conditions have been righted Northville will be on a more firm foundation than it has been for many years and that an effort is going to be made to bring together every community or individual in a campaign to promote the interests of Northville more strongly than ever before.

"We have everything to make an ideal little community and that is the thing we are going to work to bring about. We are getting our lumps now, but we are going to use them to good advantage," he stated.

LETTERS THAT BRING JOY TO A NEWSPAPER

Another letter that makes it seem a worthwhile endeavor to get out a good newspaper.

I want to congratulate you on your splendid newspaper. Your editorials are of a high moral order. It is not often that we find newspapers championing the right these days as yours does. May great prosperity be yours in my wish.

Rev. Henry M. Ford, Minister, Conley Memorial Baptist Church, Highland Park.

A renewal of a subscription for a daughter who is a teacher in the Plymouth High school brought the kindly sentiment to the office of the Plymouth Mail. Words of this kind are always highly cherished and appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Chute attended a Washington birthday dinner bridge Friday evening at the home of Detroit friends.

VETERANS MEET ON MONDAY EVE.

Will Discuss Matters Of Interest To Every Ex-Service Man

A meeting at which all military and naval veterans are invited to attend will be held Monday evening, February 29th, at Jewell and Blotch Hall at 8:00 p. m.

Coffee and doughnuts for all will be served and several speakers will explain the principles and objects of the new organization which is being formed with the intention of keeping informed on political and civic matters.

Existing veterans organizations operating under rules prohibiting political discussions have for some time been compelled to take cognizance of a growing interest on the part of many in such matters while at the same time having no right to allow such discussions.

The United Veterans organization is formed to step into this breach and at the same time frankly lay all its cards on the table so that the world may know its aims.

The principal speaker of the evening will be a veteran of the Archimedean campaign and now Commander of Polar Bear Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, escadre Holland, Ypsilanti.

All veterans are invited to attend and to inform them selves as to the workings of this organization.

Three Days Left For You To Get Your 1932 Auto Licenses

There are only three days left to buy 1932 license plates, today, tomorrow, Saturday February 27th, and next Monday, February 29th. The Plymouth Branch of the Department of State located in the Chamber of Commerce office in the Mayflower Hotel Building is open every day but Sunday from eight A. M. until five-thirty P. M. but to help out during the last minute rush, Mr. Moore, manager of the local branch, announces that the office will remain open until seven p. m. tomorrow, Saturday, February 27th. Mr. Moore asks that everyone intending to purchase license plates keep the following suggestion in mind when applying for plates: Get your plates now!

Have you got a job that you can give to a worthy ex-service man - a bit of repair work - something you need to have done but have neglected doing?

If so, get in touch with any ex-service man you happen to know - or drop a letter to the Plymouth Mail and this paper will be pleased to turn it over to the proper official.

The efforts of the local ex-service men is in keeping with a national campaign that is being conducted to provide some little work for unemployed veterans.

Surely there is something about your home or building or grounds that need attention. Maybe it is only a day's work. Maybe you can give a man work for several days. Just drop a card to the Plymouth Mail and this paper will see to it that the right person gets it.

The Plymouth Mail is still publishing free of charge all want ads for people seeking work or offering employment.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Postmaster Giles and Mrs. Giles spent the week-end at Adrian.

You can get a complete well-balanced luncheon or supper at the Garden Tea Room for 50 cents.

Kathleen Kepler has opened a small beauty shop in her home on Ann Arbor Trail, one-half mile west of Wayne Road.

Miss Annie Christine Streng, Rev. Kiebes and family, Lawrence Oak and family, Mrs. Mary Sackdock and Fred Fisher and family a few days this week.

ANOTHER MASS MEETING SOON

Question of Becoming City Up For Discussion On March 8

Village officials have called another mass meeting of taxpayers and voters of the community to be held on Tuesday evening, March 8 for the purpose of discussing again the advisability of Plymouth adopting city form of government.

For this meeting, Village President Robert Mimmack and other village officials have invited the mayors of Farmington, South Lyon, Howell and Saline, to be present and tell what the experiences have been in those communities which have within the past few years adopted the city form of government. Not only the mayors of these four cities be present, but the city clerk will also attend the meeting.

It is the purpose of the village officials to throw the next meeting, which will be held in the high school auditorium, open to a general discussion of the question just as was done at the last meeting.

It is their desire that every one become thoroughly familiar with the question so that when they come to vote on March 11, they will be fully advised as to just the step they are taking.

The Plymouth Mail wishes again to state that it will be pleased to publish without a cent of expense to any one, articles either for or against the question. The only requirement is that the article be properly signed. A discussion of the question will prove of benefit to all the voters.

Musical Recital Tuesday Evening

A program of piano duets and solos will be given by pupils of Miss Carina Penney, Tuesday evening, March 1, at 8 p. m. in the Crystal Dining Room, Mayflower Hotel. The following will be heard in solo: Charlotte Joffite, Marie Angove, Mary Katherine Moon, Jack Stevens, Janette Blakenstaff and Ardath Baker. Mary Katherine Moon and Jean Hamill will play two duets and Miss Penney will play duets with the following pupils: Lawrence Smith, Donnie Henderson, Harry Katherine Moon, Margaret Horvath, Irma Strohauer, and Ardath Baker. Miss Margaret Bennett will sing two groups of songs. Friends of Miss Bennett and the pupils are urged to attend. The public is invited. No admission.

CONGRATULATIONS

It was pleasing news last week to read that public school officials of Plymouth had been able to secure Dr. Frederick B. Fisher, one of the greatest church leaders of today, as the speaker for the 1932 commencement of the Plymouth high school. His coming will not only prove an inspiration to the class, but his message is bound to prove of benefit to the whole community.

GIVE THEM A HAND

Veterans of the World war in Plymouth are working hand in hand with the federal government's program to relieve unemployment. Every person in or about Plymouth should put forth an extra effort to assist them in the good work they seek to do. Plymouth has been fortunate during the past year to have probably a smaller percent of idle workers than any other community of like size in the state, but we do have men and women who need work, and need it badly. Your cooperation will be thoroughly appreciated.

THE FREE PRESS

Once or twice during the past year it has been the pleasure of the Plymouth Mail to comment favorably upon the wonderfully improved newspaper that the Detroit Free Press is giving to its readers these days. This improvement has come about chiefly since Malcolm W. Ringay became the directing force back of the Free Press. Not so long ago it seemed that the Free Press got off on the wrong foot on almost every public question up for consideration, but a study of its editorial page these days is an inspiration. Its ideas seem to hit a popular chord and it discusses the problems that people are seeking enlightenment on. Again we wish to congratulate Mr. Ringay and the Free Press that he has so greatly improved in such a brief time.

A PATHETIC SITUATION

The state and nation at no time in history ever needed an intelligent and more conservative leadership than now. But when you see candidates announcing themselves for state offices on platforms dealing almost entirely with national problems and candidates for national offices running on platforms dealing almost exclusively with state issues, we wonder what the future holds for us? The trouble has been in the past that men have been elected to office without the voters taking the time to make a study of the issues they represented. We have taken glibly spoken words as statements of facts—and look at the mess we are in. No wonder the state legislature and congress have become to a certain extent the laughing stock of the country. No wonder the taxpayers are unable to secure the relief that these important legislative bodies should bring to them. Indeed the situation is not only pathetic, it is a calamity.

PROUD OF OUR HOBBY

Most every man has a hobby of some kind. Maybe its checkers, golf, poker, horse races or fishing. The scribe likes to fish. Now we are especially proud of our hobby—proud of it because no less an authority than Charles Heddon of Dowagiac, declares that you can't find any real fishermen in the penitentiaries. This famous maker of Dowagiac baits says that flabing and crime doesn't mix any better than gasoline and water, and he ought to know. We do know there are zolt bugs in jail, that prison wardens have to constantly fight against poker playing within the walls and that a lot of race track followers spend a considerable portion of their lives making binder twine and furniture for the state. Mr. Heddon has now raised the fishing fraternity to the highest degree of citizenship by declaring that there is not one of them wearing stripes. He says so right on the inside cover of his brand new ontologie and that settles it. From now on, if you are looking for an honest man for some job, all you have to do is find out first if he is a fisherman. That settles it. No other recommendation will be needed. Thanks, Mr. Heddon, for placing the fishing fraternity in the exclusive class where it has long belonged.

After writing the above, met Capt. Edward Denniston, warden of the Detroit House of Correction over at the Rotary club meeting, and he declares emphatically that there was not a single real fisherman in his prison.

SMALL TOWN LIFE

In a big, dynamic city
 There's a fascination—true!
 There is much that's fine and pretty,
 There is Life, of every hue!
 There's a certain charm about it
 That imports to Life a zest—
 And the small towns are without it—
 Still, I like the small town best.

There is not the chance for riches
 In a little town—I know—
 But I'm not the kind that itches
 For a life of pomp and show.
 I'd exchange my chance for treasure
 That a city might extend,
 For the small-town kind of pleasure,
 With my neighbor as my friend.

FEATURELAND

I Will

By ALBAN ANBURY
 My road is steep as Alpine path.
 The dangers multiply apace.
 My evil foes, surcharged with wrath,
 Ate set to thwart me in the race.
 But, be the goal as hard again,
 I will attain! I will!

Go On

Go forth to seek: the quarry never found
 Is still a fever to the questioning hound.
 The skyline is a promise, not a hind.
 Adventure on, for from the little cline
 Has come whatever worth man ever knew.
 The next to lighten all men may be you.
 What though the gleam be but a feeble one:
 Go on, the man behind you may have gone:
 From the dimmest gleam is from the sun.

The Bible Teaches How To Think Straight

It is perfectly obvious that if your business is sick that you will make a start toward making it healthy by a study of the subject of success and the observation of successful enterprises. If your mind is disturbed by any sort of disturbance it is perfectly obvious that you will make a start toward normal, mental functioning by engaging your mind in the contemplation of a healthy mind. This old world produced one healthy mind; a full description of the rules of mental health are contained in the textbook by left. This book is called the Four Gospels of the Christian Bible.

The prophet said: "When thou art cast down thou shalt say, there is a lifting up." The writers of the Old Testament were better psychologists than we are today. The entire Bible is a scientific textbook on psychology—there is not anything else in it save psychology, that's all it is about, that's why it was written: to teach people how to think—STRAIGHT.

He Was Not a Gloom

The storm was increasing in violence and some of the deck fittings had already been swept overboard when the captain decided to send up a signal of distress. But hardly had the rocket burst over the ship when a solemn-faced passenger stepped on to the bridge. "Captain," he said, "I'd be the last man on earth to cast a dampener on anyone, but it seems to me that this is no time for lifting off fireworks."

A Deed, A Look

A kindly deed is a little seed
 That groweth all unseen,
 And lo, when none do look thereon,
 Anew it springeth green.

A friendly look is a better book
 For precept than you'll find
 Among the sages or the libraries,
 With their priceless wealth of mind.

Suggestion

Hitch hiker, couldn't you Happily a time or two,
 "Rule of thumb" quit
 And—as experiment—
 What time you're thicker bent,
 Try walking it?

Starting Business

I retire from business every night; I start in business every morning. —Chauncy M. DeFow.

Winter Twilight

Soft-sandalled twilight, handmaid of the night,
 Before her noble lady's radiant face,
 Both slowly come, with gentle,
 quiet pace.
 And draweth rose and azure out
 tains light
 Around the snowy couch, so pure,
 so white.
 Wherfore her mistress soon will rest, with grace Celestial she doth cover every trace
 Of toil, and daily soil doth hide from sight.
 So would I that before thy face
 my love Might gently move, and ever from above
 Such tender beauty draw about thy way
 That when thou liest down to nightly rest, Earth-thoughts should fade, and there should only stay
 The peace of heaven within thy tranquil breast.

A Prayer

Our Father, we look back through the years and our alarms have been false prophets, for Thou hast been a God of consolation, light and joy. Do Thou bless us with patience, with forbearance, and with sympathy for all men. Lead us to bring our convictions, our influence, and our characters to bear boldly and directly upon all that is evil.
 May we stand in our conscience strength, seeking to help our country by our wisdom, by our thoughts, by our enthusiasm, and by our determination. Wherfore men may be crossing the crowded ways of life, or in the remotest places of our land, or in homes waiting and watching for the sunrise, O God, may we help them. So we pray that the spirit of the golden rule may prevail. In the name of Jesus, Amen.

Rambling Around with Michigan Editors

THE UPPER PENINSULA HEARD FROM

With Frank Fitzgerald, present secretary of state, definitely removed as a gubernatorial possibility, there is a growing demand that Alex J. Groesbeck, three times governor of Michigan, and acknowledged even among his most bitter political and personal enemies as the most able executive in recent state history, may be drafted as a candidate to oppose Governor Brucker. The times demand a governor who is not afraid of his own future or job, a man of experience, capable of long hours of labor on matters in which he is thoroughly acquainted, a doer and not a talker. A more logical man to step into the presidency at Lansing and give the taxpayers an administration of efficiency and seriousness of purpose could not in our opinion be found in the entire state. What greater confidence in Michigan and its future could be desired than a Groesbeck in the executive chair at Lansing for the next two years at least. In order that the people might know whether he is planning on being a candidate he should get his hat into the ring earlier than he did two years ago. He waited so long before making his announcement that many of his friends in the state were tied up to some one else when he considered to be a candidate.—Patrick O'Brien in the Iron River Reporter.

WHAT WILL HE DO?

Some of the state weeklies are suggesting the possibilities of Alex J. Groesbeck running against Governor Brucker in the Republican primaries. What do you think? This is one political year when you have to "knock on wood." When the Republicans get through nominating their candidate, they will have to meet their peppy Democratic rivals at the November election.
 Judge Arthur J. Lacy, who is how well known to our Northville people on account of his able connection with our bank affairs, is a potential candidate and certainly will be a strong one. A good many of our people are in a resentful, rebellious mood for anyone who runs for office this year is going to need all the Christian grace he has to stand the pace. Personally we would not even run for dog warden.—Richard Baldwin in The Northville Record.

WILL GROESBECK RUN?

Is Groesbeck going to be a candidate in the primaries against Brucker? That question is often asked. Two Clinton county farmers this week stated they were going to vote for him if they had another chance, and both said they had been opposed to him, as was most of Clinton county, in past elections. Mr. Groesbeck is still a most potent republican possibility—and that in spite of his several defeats. What one hears most is this, "I didn't like Groes-beck's autocratic ways, but while he was governor he was GOV-ERNOR." What this amounts to is that people feel today that the state and the legislature needs strong leadership, someone who will map out comprehensive relief legislation and then fight unremit-tingly for its passage. There is no dispute about Groesbeck's manage or his ability to think and act independently.—Schuyler L. Marshall in Clinton County Republican News.

PROTECTION

In unsettled times like these it must be, as always, the first thought of every good bank to protect its depositors and its borrowers. Today this bank, faithful to its trust, is doing this.

This bank is here to assist the community's activities, it is here to keep the wheels of local commerce moving and to give to the citizens of this community the chance to continue in the occupation which is essential to their families' livelihood.

More and more people realize the value of this protection and are bringing their surplus funds to this bank. You too, will find it the logical depository for your dollars.

Remember these facts and come here whenever you need any of the many services which a good bank renders.

"EVEN A LATE WINTER IN MICHIGAN IS UNEXCELLED ELSEWHERE"

—Thomas I. Starr, Asst. News Mgr., Michigan Bell

We are giving our readers here a story published in the February Michigan Bell Telephone Co. which ran in that magazine under the caption indicated above. The article as it runs in the magazine is illustrated with very fine pictures of the winter scenery of Northern Michigan.

"With ice and snow, properly applied by Dame Nature, and with the Great Lakes acting as a giant thermostat, controlling the cold in winter as they do the heat in summer, Michigan's summer resorts and play grounds become a third paradise. For vacationers and sportsmen this state of ours is making it a summerland of rest and recreation, health and happiness, is equally generous during the winter months. Perhaps once in a dozen or more years, as this year, she is late for her appointment with the Frost King, but always brings us our need of winter's glories and pleasures, however tardy.

"Softly, she covers over the land with a blanket of white, paints frosty pictures on the landscape and puts the lakes to sleep. Cold, healthful weather, snow and less hot tempo and send a danger zone storm. There are light blizzards once in a while, yes, but Michigan is remarkably free from the destructive winter storms that strike some other sections and cause loss of life and property.

A Great Winter Playground "When one speaks of winter resorts, thoughts naturally turn to Switzerland, Canada or Northern New York. In those places, Nature is generous, too. Switzerland has her Alps, Canada its Rockies, and Montreal and New York its Lake Placid, all famed centers for winter sports and fun. But Michigan's winter playgrounds are legion, stretching 500 miles and more, from south to north. And nowhere, at home or abroad, are winter sports advantages superior to those offered by our own state.

"Count them, if you will, those cities all widely known as summer places of pleasure, but not to be overlooked during the winter months—Charlevoix, Traverse City, Petoskey, Cheltenham, Alpena, Marquette, Ironwood, Ishpeming, Munising, Grayling and Greenbush. And there are numerous others which offer you all in outdoor winter pleasures that is in had at the most sophisticated cold weather resort in any other part of the world.

"Some big advantage presented Michigan people by our winter playgrounds is that they are right here in our own state, and zestful outdoor fun can be had only a few hours distant from the home of every Michigan resident. Michigan highways, the same wide concrete ribbons, cross and criss-cross the state and carry hundreds of thousands of summer visitors, are kept open during the months of snow by the state highway department and ready to serve winter visitors and home folks as well.

"Nature seems to have destined Michigan to be a winter playground. Long ago glaciers swept over the region, carving out a group of lakes here, building up a hill there. Those lakes today afford ice sports, the hills offer long stretches for skiing and coasting.

Winter Sports Are Many "Scores of Michigan points have facilities for skating, skiing, tobogganing, ice-boating, coasting, skiing, fishing, hunting and fishing through the ice. Winter carnivals that are unique and colorful are arranged each season at many of these centers.

"There is something, too, that is natural, wholesome and captivating about a Michigan winter holiday, for it is still untouched by commercialism or an atmosphere of artificial hilarity. Nature provides the facilities and the local communities make use of them without pomp, formality and with little self-consciousness. By keeping that flavor and inviting the visitors to accept the diversions in the spirit which moves the community itself, they constitute a powerful attraction to all seekers of healthful winter pleasures.

"Nature has given us all that can be desired, both for winter and for summer. It remains for us to make the best possible use of that which has been so bountifully provided in our own state."

Food Fads Injure Athletes Declares Doctor at the U. of M.

Food fads, pushing players too hard early in the season, insufficient sleep and failure to attend to injuries, large or small, are the main points on which coaches or players are likely to make mistakes that will interfere with successful training, says Dr. Frank Lyman of the University of Michigan.

"Reducing training to its simplest form," says Dr. Lyman, "the average person knows what the plain foods are and if he eats them in moderation, dictated not by the strain on his belt, but by his appetite, he will not go far astray. He should eat meat, eggs, milk, fish, fruit, vegetables, cereals, butter, cheese, nuts and raisins. There is nothing injurious about sweets with meals unless, because more appetizing, one eats too much of them."

A good share of the theories which are advocated for athletes have no common sense basis, and may be injurious, Dr. Lyman says. One coach advocated chewing all food fifty times to the bite, his crew unfortunately lost. Another was supposed to produce wonderful athletes by feeding them raw meat in large chunks, swallowed almost without chewing; a third attributes results to vegetarianism and others believe, entirely without scientific basis, that milk makes a person short winded.

"Drying out" or withholding water for a day or two previous to competition, is inadvisable because it results in a lack of coordination for cooling purposes during exertion and the body becomes overheated like a car engine with a dry radiator. The process also removes water needed to flush the kidneys, and affects the nervous system, slowing mental processes and if prolonged may result in hallucinations or unconsciousness, as occurs in a mild way sometimes with marathon runners.

Staleness often means more energy going out than is coming in, with the body and mind sluggish like an overworked battery, states Dr. Lyman. When a boy or a team "dries" nine times out of ten they are tired, he says. Physiologically a person recovers from pretty complete fatigue in about two hours, but if he pushes himself to the limit after muscles are fatigued, it may take from two to ten days to return to normal. Enough sleep is absolutely necessary, says Dr. Lyman, and he believes that Harry Wood's fine record both in class and field is partly due to the fact that he has the strength of mind to keep himself to a schedule which gives him sufficient rest.

Injuries are undesirable in every way, even small degrees of lameness because tiring to the nervous system.

NO MORE LIGHTS FOR SPEARING IS NEW GAME RULE

The winter spearing season closes February 26 and the spring spearing season will open the following day.

Some changes have been made in the spring spearing season and in the species that may be taken by spear from the non-front streams. The dates of the season have been changed this year from April and May to March and April, and in the upper peninsula, to include part of May.

The spring spearing seasons in non-front streams this year are: Upper Peninsula, March 1 to May 15; Lower Peninsula: March 1 to April 30.

Pike may not be speared at any time during the spring season. Last year Grass (Great Northern) Pike could be speared during May.

The species which may be speared in the non-front streams are: suckers, rock bass, mullet, carp, dogfish and grayfish.

Artificial lights, formerly legal, cannot be used for spearing fish.

When I explain why they agree and wait, patient or otherwise, until the man is judged fit. This attitude is the best possible insurance against serious or permanent injury from athletic activity. And, by the way, "athlete's heart" is a popular myth.

Junior Play Tonight
Spring Athletes Allowed Only One Major Sport

Starting this spring a new eligibility rule in Plymouth High will go into effect. There have been cases in previous years when a good athlete would participate in three or four sports and win an award in each. This caused many fellows of less ability to keep from trying out for the athletic teams. In order to get more fellows interested in sports and to do away with monopoly and too strenuous training, the Student Council has passed a ruling which will allow a boy only one major and one minor sport a season or two minor sports. Baseball and track are considered as major sports. There have been fellows that were easily able to make at least three teams, but this lowering of their individual efficiency and also weakened the team while there are other boys in school who with a little practice could attain greater skill. It has been often found that likely athletes will not report for spring sports because there are other boys noted fellows in the school. This new ruling should eliminate that feeling and also insure a larger number of contestants. The Coach can also concentrate his efforts on one particular person or think and in the end develop better teams. Concentration on one sport has shown results on the person that now holds the world's record for shot put. This man was a wonderful all around athlete, and he was the winner of a dearborn, but when he tried for the Olympic team he found he was not good enough in any one sport. He spent all his time on the shot put and the result was that he has heaved it further than any man in the world. If the fellows in our school will do out and concentrate on one thing they will find results on the same principle as that of the shot-put. The new ruling will be very beneficial if the fellows will have it such.

STARKWEATHER OBSERVES FEB. 22

The pupils of the Starkweather school gave a program about George Washington on Monday, February 22 in the Starkweather auditorium. Every class took part. Miss Stuker's room had perfect attendance on Monday and Friday of last week. The first grade class had learned to write "I see me" on the blackboard. The first "I" had a vocabulary test Friday morning. The first graders gave a play Monday afternoon called "The First American Flag." Mazie Bakewell has transferred to first A from Central.

Mrs. Russell Kirk visited the second grade last Thursday. Every one in second A received A in spelling last week. Mary Jane Schroeder has entered from the Central school. She is quarantined with chicken-pox at present. Linwood Derhoff is still absent with whooping cough. Miss Stader's room received the P. T. A. banner. Stanley Eldridge won the spelling-down in fifth grade last week. Twenty-four pupils won stars in spelling. Miss Hunt's pupils wrote stories about Washington and made them into booklets.

The six A pupils wrote biographies of Washington and the six B students wrote biographies about Lincoln. Harold Chaplin has moved to Detroit. Grace Phillips and Bob West are the spelling captains for this semester. Orlean Eloff spelled the room down last week. The sixth grade has made posters on the care of the lawn. There are now hundred and seventy pupils enrolled in the Starkweather school.

FRESH SOUR PICKLES AND THE MUMPS

A delightful three act play, "Mummy and the Mumps" will be given in the P. H. S. auditorium by the Junior class on the nights of February 25 and 26 and the admission will be thirty-five cents for adults and twenty-five cents for school children. You will laugh as you have never laughed before! Hines will be chased away free. It is one of the season's greatest hits. The cast and the director, Miss Ford, have worked hard to make this play a huge success. The cast is as follows: Stan Perkins, Fred Robert Shaw, Briscoe, Odene Hill, William Laidlaw, Bill Tuck, Herbert, Philip Doerr, Anna Hampton, Irene Humphries, Maud Mullen, Gladys Shetter, Dulea Dumble, Claire Shontz, Agatha Laidlaw, Margaret Holcomb, Floebee Beebe, Vera Woods, and Perkins. Clifford Cook—Everyone is invited!

Planning meals for a week in advance insures greater variety and better balance in the diet.

Northville Debate Closes Season

The first elimination debate closed the season for Plymouth when Northville High defeated P. H. S. last Friday afternoon. Plymouth upheld the affirmative, and Northville defended the negative of the unemployment insurance question. The expert judge for the debate was Professor Lockwood, instructor at Detroit City College of Law. He awarded the decision to the negative because they sufficiently met the affirmative case, while the affirmative failed to establish their burden of proof. The Northville speech coach, Mrs. Wright, brought Catherine Stalter, Hub Cousins, and Wilma Ratenbury as Northville debaters, while those who debated for Plymouth were Evelyn Horabacher, Irene Humphries and Odene Hill. Now that the debate season is over, it is a good time for the debaters and students to express their appreciation to Mr. Lattuce who has taken new, inexperienced students and produced a debate team that was able to enter the elimination series.

Plymouth debate team defeated Milford, East Detroit, and Center Line and was defeated by Stockbridge and Northville. Four people are represented on the debate team this year, they are: Evelyn Horabacher, Irene Humphries, and Alice Chambers who alternated for second position, and Odene Hill. Plymouth High school will receive a Wall Plaque presented by the Detroit Free Press to all schools eligible for the elimination series.

Each debater will receive a bronze medal at Home Assembly for one person of doing. Now that the debate is over, those interested in speech will turn their attention to the approaching oratory and declamation season.

Plymouth vs. Dearborn Tonight

The Rocks visit Dearborn tonight to play their last game. This is also a league game. Last year the Blue and White basketballs lost to the Orange clad players from the "Ford" city. Included in this is the small team that defeated the Orange clad team on the Rocks, so they have a double reason to win.

Senior Biographies

Robert Bredin is an air-minded individual who was born on a farm near Plymouth. Bob wants to become an aviator and fly among the twinkling clouds, the azure sky, etc. Anyway, you must admit he has high ambitions. Paul Carley is a dark haired boy who frequently likes to cut up in study halls, not very often, but once in awhile. Paul was born in Clarion, Pennsylvania. He says he wants to be a big business man. Girls, here is your chance to get a position as his secretary. Paul has played basketball for three years.

Charles Carr, according to statistics, was born in Fort Wayne, Indiana. The ambition of this "Hoosier" lad is to go through college. Do you suppose he meant in one door and out the other? He is a member of the H-Y.

Alice Marie Chambers is a blonde who is admired by a young man who drives a roadster. Alice is a member of the following clubs: Pilgrim Prints, Plybarn Staff, Student Council, Girl Reserves, League Club and National Forensic League, and belongs to the debating team. She says she wants to travel far, wide and handsome, but we wonder if she is going to travel with the young man in the blue roadster. Alice led the J-Hop with Steve last year.

Leon Curtis was born in Salem, attended school in Salem for eight years, and then decided to see the world by coming to high school in Plymouth. Leon was rather fond of a girl in bookkeeping who sat two seats ahead of him and then he changed his schedule so we can't tell you how the affair is coming now. He is a member of the Commercial club and H-Y.

Irene Campbell is a girl whose charming smile has found its way into many a heart. This rosy cheeked, amber-haired girl was born in Dearborn and she is a member of the Glee Club. Her ambition is to attend a business college.

Elizabeth Currie there is a secret—she is fond of a boy who used the bookkeeping room for a study hall seventh hour. Don't tell anyone: this is supposed to be confidential! Elizabeth Ann, her middle name is Ann, is the secretary of the Senior class, president of the Travel club, vice president of the Commercial club and is a member of the Pilgrim Prints staff. She is active in class athletics, and wants to be "Somebody's Stenog."

Much time and labor can be saved if scissors are kept in a convenient place in the kitchen. Colery and string beans may be easily cut up with them, the ends of greens and asparagus snipped off, and raw spinach, lettuce and water cross shredded.

Three G. R. Groups Vocalize

"All together sing" was the command Don Hubert gave to the Intermediate, Junior and Senior Girl Reserves as they met in the auditorium to hold a song meeting. Mrs. Crumie played the piano as Dorothy announced and led the songs. It is particularly essential that the girls know their Girl Reserve songs as two approaching occasions, the Mother-Daughter banquet and G. R. High School banquet at the Detroit Y, make it quite necessary for a good response.

Central Grade School Notes

Mrs. Root's room had a flag drill as part of the program in the High school auditorium to honor George Washington's birthday. Donald Keller took the part of Uncle Sam in costume. He sang a song and also directed the marching. Every child in the room marched and carried a flag. They sang two songs, taught to them by Mrs. Root. The children are increasing the number of new words learned in reading each day and group out now have fifty written and printed words. They are learning to write at the blackboard each day and are writing the words "me" and "see". They are also learning to print or write their first names so that they can mark their handwriting. In handwriting they made little booklets with pictures of George Washington and also made a United States flag for it and a hatched and some cherries. The children have learned a poem about George Washington and have listened to the story of him as a boy told them, Volva Evans has had her name put on the "Perfect Torch" chart with a gold star attached. Mrs. Claude Struggles was a visitor in this room on Friday, February 12th.

It Takes Practice to Be Good

There is a lot to this idea of concentrating on one particular sport or thing. A few years ago in a little school there was a group of Boy Scouts that started to play basketball in the seventh grade and this group played together all the time. After a few years this group of fellows were all seniors, and that year they had hopes of defeating an ancient rival whom they had never beaten. When the time for the game came these boys were so bound together in cooperation and so skilled in the different tactics that defeat was almost impossible. The game resulted in a glorious victory for these boys. This isn't the only case of strict concentration on a particular thing. When "Babe" Ruth was only a little boy in an orphanage, he went out to a ball lot and saw the boys batting a baseball around. He longed to do the same and when a kind boy offered a bat to him, he failed miserably. "Babe" tried time and again, but he was terrible. After a few weeks he kept improving and finally he became the "king of swats." Another example of attracting personal ability was Knute Rockne. Rockne was a clumsy, awkward boy when he first tried to play football and the first year he failed to make even a substitute on the second team. He longed to play center, and so the next vacation he got a football and put a small red mark on the barn and started to center. He did this every day rain or shine because he said "they don't call a game off in a rain and I might play." The result was that he became a great center and finally the idol of football. Possibilities in athletics are innumerable if the person will only take them. There are thousands of cases where small, clumsy, milky boys become idols of thousands. It takes practice to be good in anything whether it is business or pleasure.

AD. LIB. J-Hop Progresses

Dear Folks: Here we are back with you again, we told you about it last week and for no reason at all the ballly thing got started. You remember, don't you (You better say yes, if you know what's good for you!) that we said we were going to start a new feature? Well, here it is, whether it looks like one or not. There isn't any use in your reading it, because there's nothing in it, but after all, it's a living.

To remove all doubt from your minds (you old skeptics, you!) the Hon. Senior Class wishes me to inform you that the net results on the much-scheduled J-Hop were exactly $2.40 and from now on let us all breathe a word about the Senior Ball not being a success.

Somebody came out in the "Prints" last week with an editorial all about the pros and cons of old money. They had a lot to say about the Senators should and did all of their own decorating for their big brawl. Nice article and all that, but it came out about two months too late. If we had about five or six of those along in December we might have done away with the too much of a good thing, numberless people, numberless worries. Oh, well.

And speaking of editorials, who writes the doggone things, anyway? To editors write editorials? We've often wondered. Sometimes we've thought of writing a compilation to an editor to say that he wrote the editorial in his paper. Wish somebody would straighten us out on this. How about it, Mr. Eaton?

A native from the farm thought that he'd sort of embarrass the New Yorker and so says: "So you've lived in New York all these years and never seen Grant's Tomb, eh?" Says New York: "Neither has Grant, luddy, neither has Grant."

In Assembly

After a few preliminary announcements which included the news that the Student Council has paid for the new bleachers, the Senior Drama Club presented a play in celebration of Washington's bicentennial celebration. Odene Hill made the announcement. Those who took part in the act were as follows: Frank Beckwith, who acted as George Washington; Norval Rowe, Laurence Washington; Dewar Taylor and Harold Brown, officers in the French and Indian War; Jimmie Stimpson, General Braddock; Clifford Sockow, Billy Donnelly; Clifford Cook, Herbert Butler, Ernest Archer, and Jack Smith, Indians; Maynard Larkins, Robert Sott, Sheldon Baker, William Thoms and Don Potter, members of the Second Continental Congress; Gladys Shetter, Jean Joffille, Thelma Linstorf, Geraldine Vealer, Floebee Rowland, and Betty Wahl, who played the parts of a group of colonial young women.

The first scene was between George Washington and the British Laurence, when Laurence knew that he could not live long because of lung trouble. A group of voices from off-stage sang "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."

The next scene was in the office of the English generals during the French and Indian War when General Braddock proposed to fight the British way and not the American, for he considered the Indians cowards. In the end, when the British and Americans were completely routed, he realized the wisdom of Washington's plans

History Debate Still Undecided

The debate on the question "Resolved that the southern States were justified in seceding from the Union" is yet undecided. In the first hour class and in the second, the affirmative won, while in the fourth and eighth hour classes the negative side won. So it is still an undecided question, which probably never will be settled.

Hi-Y Elects New Officers

The Hi-Y boys elected the following new officers at their first meeting of the new semester: president, Clifford Smith; vice president, Vincent Herter; secretary, Melvin Blunk; and treasurer, Ed Ash. Laurence Ingal, Dewar Taylor, and Clifford Sockow were voted into the club. A financial report of the Father and Son banquet was given and the boys also and to make the object after they have made the drawing.

Girls Begin Sewing Units

Crepes, nainsook, radium and rayon are some of the various materials from which the girls in the first year sewing class have started making their underwear ensembles. The girls are now sewing on slips and trimming them with lace, hemstitching, or binding. When the slips are completed, the girls will make either step-ins or combination suits from the same material so the two pieces will match.

The members of the 8B cooking class have decided that breakfast is the best meal to commence their

Rocks Lose to Farmington

A giant team of basketweavers came to the Rock stronghold last Friday and handed them a 27-38 defeat in the last athletic contest scheduled before the schools. This was the fourth league loss sustained by the Plymouth players. The visitors have not received a defeat so far this season and are tied with Trenton in first place.

The game started with the home team sinking four field goals and taking the lead eight to three. The blue clad visitors soon found the shooting eye and started hitting the basket at long range. Cairns put in several shots from the middle of the floor. The first half ended with the long end of the score in Farmington's favor, 21-14.

They increased this seven point lead to one of eleven points and the end of the third period saw a 20-19 score. Though the Rocks rallied in the last quarter, the visitors matched them basket for basket. Each "five" scored eight points in the last stanza. Both teams missed many of their shots with the Blue and White missing many short shots close in to the basket.

The last period was the most interesting to watch for both teams were playing their hardest, one to make the baskets and the other to stop them. A total of eighteen personal fouls were called during the game. The Rocks were guilty of ten and the visitors for the remainder.

Cairns and Maas tied for the scoring lead with twelve points each. The former won all field goals and the latter had five baskets and two charity tosses to his credit. Maas made the majority of his points by staying under the basket and getting the long throw, which missed the hoop. Williamson led the scoring for Plymouth with three field goals and two free throws. Gates and Levanowski were not far behind with six points each.

Farmington did not use any substitutes until the last quarter and then put in two players who had played in the preliminary season.

Summary

Table with columns: Team, P.G., F.S., F.T., Pct. Rows include Plymouth, Trenton, Dearborn, Farmington, Cairns, Spiller, Maas, Cathernan, Gates, Levanowski, Lancaster, Westfall, Hoefree, Chaffee, Ypsi Normal.

Junior Lead in Senior League

With the Class basketball season nearly completed, we find that many sensational games have been played and starting was quite exciting. The Junior league, forged into the lead when a freshman team beat the leading seniors. The juniors have one more game to play, but it is very probable that they shall be able to win over the freshmen and thereby win the championship for the season of 1932. For the Senior league, in case the juniors get beaten by the freshmen, there will be a break-way tie for championship and class basketball will have to be extended for about a week.

The race this year has been exceptionally close and every team has had defeat at least twice, while every team has lasted victory. In the Junior league the eighth grade has dominated the seventh grade, but there have been many exciting games and pincy playing by the little fellows. Kinsey and Esh have been the outstanding players in the Junior League and as they play as the same team, they were able to win the championship of that league.

Senior League Standings

WHAT MANUAL TRAINING DOES FOR A BOY

Manual training helps the boys to think and use their heads and hands at the same time. The purpose of the workshop is to train the boys to use hand tools, to cut joints in wood and to operate wood-working machines, to make and draw drawings of different objects and to make the object after they have made the drawing.

Some of the objects that the seventh and eighth grades are making are as follows: the seventh graders are making drawings of such things as key-racks, hot-dish stands, broom holders, bread-boards, book-cases and tie-racks. They are also making letters or printing of different styles and shapes both capital and small letters. The eighth graders are making harder joints and they are learning how to prepare, stain, shellac, varnish and wax. They are also making cabinets, radio stands, end tables, book-shelves, hall-trees and smoking stands.

The manual training boys also learn how to care for the tools and machines and how to operate a wood-shop.

City Managers Hear Of Economies That Have Been Accomplished In Plymouth By Village Officials And How It Was Done

Village Manager Perry Cookingham last Friday gave an interesting address before members of the City Managers Association in connection with Lansing upon the question of budget reductions. In part his address is of interest to Plymouth residents because he tells of much that has been accomplished by the local village government. In part he said:

Payrolls can very often be reduced without large salary and wage changes, by reorganizing the work of departments, by cutting the hours of work and by failing to fill vacancies as they occur in the minor positions. We have reduced our payroll an amount equal to 11% of the total budget which in itself renders a substantial saving. The top price for labor is 5% per hour, even to men who have spent many years in the municipal service. We have analyzed the work of every man in every department and have been able to consolidate two or more jobs without any noticeable reduction in service. We have lightened the hours of the police officers and installed a telephone system so that the men are always available and at the same time are covering their beats as before with a 15% reduction in personnel. The street cleaning work has been reduced without any noticeable reaction from the taxpayers. Dirt street maintenance was curtailed to the minimum and patching was done with cinders obtained from the hauling instead of by using gravel at a higher cost, as in former years. The work of all departments, including cemetery, water, street and parks is handled by one man under one supervisor who is kept busy organizing the work and placing the men where most needed. The office work was coordinated in the same way. The employees understand that they are working for the entire municipality and not for any one department and when work is slack in one office, they immediately assist where the work is more rushing. In watching the work of two employees we found that these two men were traveling over the same road for a distance of six miles a day doing jobs which could easily be handled by one man. This duplication was stopped with a saving of 1800 car miles and approximately 150 man hours per year. This is a small matter in itself but it only takes a few such items to effect a saving of a thousand dollars or more.

A study of methods of procedure and of office and accounting records indicated that improvement could be made which would speed up the work. This was necessary as the office force had been cut 33.13% and lower salaried employees placed in the positions. A study of the method of figuring interest on special assessments was made and several days were saved in this phase of the work in the Treasurer's office by preparing factors to be applied so that the interest was computed by one operation instead of three. Additional addressograph equipment was purchased in order to increase the utility of the existing equipment. A visible card ledger system for water consumer accounts was installed which has made possible the speeding up of this work. The fund ledger was revised to fit exactly with the budget classification so that budget information is immediately available as soon as the ledger accounts are posted which the preparation of financial statements to coincide with the budget, a matter of taking only the totals of the various ledger accounts. This has made budget control simple with involving but little extra work in posting a few more detail accounts.

The changes required the expenditure of small sums, but nowhere near the amount saved in the reduction of personnel, and in the same time speeded up all branches of the office work. The office routine was scheduled so that the regular duties occurring each month were performed on approximately the same days. The water bills are sent out each month for one of three billing districts. The billing and posting requires about four days for one clerk. These bills are out of the way at the end of the month and the first two or three days of the next month are spent in posting the ledger accounts and summarizing the receipts. The balance of the month is devoted to other routine duties and when time permits, special assessment notices, miscellaneous bills, etc. are prepared for future mailing. These are only a few of the improvements made in the office work which would not have been accomplished had not the personnel been reduced and a study conducted of the methods in use. No doubt all of you could find means of speeding up the work if you would handle some of the details yourself, or spend a little time in studying the methods used by the clerical force.

It has been possible through these economies to reduce our budget 25%, which is a worth while reduction. We have not had an unfavorable comment on account of reduced service. In fact, the few who have made any comment at all say that the service is as good as ever. The fact that the tax bill is 25% lower than last year has caused a great amount of favorable comment which in a way compensates for the extra effort put forth by the employees in the municipal service.

Each quarter we have prepared schedules of estimated receipts and disbursements for the following quarter and have made adjustments as necessary to operate within our income. These schedules were compared with the income statements prepared at the time of making up the budget and accurate information as to the exact financial position of the municipality was available. Before the first six months of the year had passed we knew definitely that our cash income would be more than sufficient for operating demands and it was possible to pay off all outstanding temporary loans, one of which had been carried for three years. We also made prior payment on bonds due during the fiscal year, saving over two hundred dollars in interest by such transaction. At the present time we have a substantial bank balance and will have $29,000.00 in cash at the end of the fiscal year. Our total surplus at the end of the year will be close to $80,000.00 but we do not plan to consider this entire surplus in making up the next budget. We will consider only that part which is now in cash and as much of the balance as can be reasonably expected to be paid in delinquent taxes, in order to always be on the safe side of the ledger. It is a good plan to operate only within the limits of cash income and when it becomes necessary to refinance in order to carry on the work, be sure you have not into effect over possible economy and that you can carry the additional load incurred by such refinancing.

Budget reduction alone will not solve the tax situation, but it should be the aim of every government to cut down to the smallest village or township to practice common sense economy by making definite plans for collecting and spending the public funds and by levying taxes within the reach of the taxpayer public. Our job is to create and maintain public confidence by keeping the budget at a level which can be borne by the taxpayer, (2) giving 100% service for each dollar expended, (3) making tax payments as easy as possible and (4) by thoroughly advising the public on matters of new financing before undertaking the same. All of this requires hard work on the part of every employee and there can be no jobs in the organization which are not productive. The public demands and is justly entitled to have every person employed in the municipal service willing and ready to contribute his best efforts and his entire interests to his work. When all this is accomplished, reduced budgets and better service will be the natural consequence.

Most any municipal activity can be curtailed from 10% to 30% without seriously arousing the criticism of the taxpayer. If streets have been cleaned six times a month, very few people will see any difference if this is cut to four times a month, yet the expense will show a considerable reduction. This is the season to the year to plan for future economies, and incidentally the importance of planning for the future was never greater. Your organizations are now operating with a minimum personnel. Before building up to peak summer loads the requirements of each department and use common sense planning and you will be surprised to see how much service can be rendered with your off-peak crews. Insist on cooperation from every employee and dismiss those who are not willing to fit in the plan which you devise. No better time was ever available when 100% production could be obtained from every worker, and no other accomplishment will receive the plaudits of the citizen more than reduction of operating costs and as will naturally follow, lower taxes.

Facts About The Red & White Organization

First, it is a combination of over 40 manufacturers and canners. 125 jobbing houses and more than 13,000 retail stores banded together to produce and distribute food products at the lowest price. In addition there are over 1,000 stores in the Canadian Provinces. Every retail store is individually owned and managed, the parent company having no money interest in any of stores. The main house does pass upon the application for membership and insists that every retail member be a representative citizen of the community and with a civic interest in his or her town. The massed buying for the above number of stores does result in a lower price and its this saving that we particularly emphasize. Every Red and White store must be kept clean stocks must be attractively arranged and all merchandise plainly priced.

TREE GROWS PERFECT WASHINGTON PICTURE

PETER BACKERT IS CLOSE OR SERVER OF NATURE ON FARM HE OPERATES

Peter Backert, who lives on the Five Mile road near the Detroit House of Correction farm, is one of the most observing men in this part of Wayne county. When he is doing his work about the farm he can see natural wonders that others pass by.

There has been on display in the window of the Plymouth United Savings bank for a number of days, a cross section of a tree that Mr. Backert cut on his farm. The rounds of the tree during its growth, Mr. Backert, discovered, made almost a perfect outline of the face and head of George Washington. He took it from a 120 foot beech tree.

Velus in the tree, through calculations of Backert, disclosed that the giant virgin beech tree was 147 years old at the time it was felled. Under this estimate the tree started growing near Northville in 1786, or about three years before the great general and statesman became the first president of the United States.

Hopes for sale to Museum.

Nature's curious quirk in imprinting the profile of Washington in the tree is considered by Backert as a lucky omen for him. Backert, a landscape gardener and handy man has been out of work for many months. He has hopes that his find will bring him recompense from the Ford museum or through patriotic organizations desiring what he calls a real antique whose age cannot be disputed by connoisseurs.

During his five years in Michigan and 18 previous seasons about the environs of Youngstown, Ohio, Backert has chopped down approximately 5,000 trees of various kinds and sizes, but declares this is the first time he ever cut down a tree which revealed a profile.

The likeness of Washington was discovered at a point 60 feet from the tree's base, as Backert was sawing it for cordwood. The profile was apparent in about 10 inches of the heart of the beech, and five discs, each two inches in thickness, were obtained from it. One of the discs, 17 inches in diameter and approximately 22 inches in circumference, has a sharper likeness of Washington than the other four.

Backert believes that trees have a soul, because Washington loved trees, nature took this means of showing its appreciation. His discovery, he says, came as he was sawing away and comparing the qualities of Washington with other presidents.

"I was thinking that perhaps times were better when Washington was president," he explained. "I have been out of work so long and I thought that even a citizen of this country is unable to get work. I thought that maybe George Washington was a better man and provided more work. As I was thinking all that I suddenly stopped as I saw his profile before me."

DEER HUNTERS FAVOR BUCK LAW

If the reports received from over 2,000 deer hunters is a fair sample, the majority of Michigan deer hunters favor a continuation of the one buck law.

Of 2,000 hunters returning reports to the Game Division of the Department of Conservation following the close of the 1931 deer season, 58 percent favored a continuation of the one buck law. The rest were divided in their opinions as to what changes might be more satisfactory. About 23 percent wanted a one-deer law, nearly seven percent desired a closed season, and less than three percent favored a shorter open season.

More than half of the 2,000 hunters reported getting their buck and a slightly higher percentage of those hunting in the upper peninsula also got their deer than did those in the lower peninsula. Of 1,574 hunters reporting who went north of the Straits, 56 percent reported killing a deer, while 51 percent of those who hunted south of the straits filled their licenses.

These 2,000 hunters reported kill-

SCIENTISTS HONOR GEORGE WASHINGTON

A special service was held on February 22 by First Church of Christ, Scientist, Plymouth, as a part of the nation-wide celebration of the George Washington bicentennial.

The service included an address on George Washington read by Mrs. Fred Van Atta. First Reader: "Among Washington's most firmly formed traits," said the address, "were his faith in God and his respect for religion, even for other people's religions. When once extremely ill he calmly said, 'I know that I am in the hands of a good Providence.' And he recovered. To divine Providence, also, he attributed his immunity from injury in battle."

A Lesson-Sermon prepared especially for this occasion was read by the First and Second Readers. One of the Scriptural passages contained in this Lesson-Sermon was from Psalm 22:28: "For the kingdom is the Lord's; and he is the governor among the nations." A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, (p. 106) was as follows: "God has endowed man with inalienable rights, among which are self-government, reason, and conscience. Man is properly self-governed only when he is guided rightly and governed by his Maker, divine Truth and Love."

The solo was "Theories, which thousands cherish," and the reading of the "scientific statement of being" from the Christian Science textbook, its correlative Scripture, and the benediction from John 21:25 concluded the service.

Over half of the hunters reported that deer were about the same or increasing in number where they hunted. The average number of deer seen per hunter during the season was 21 and the average number of bucks seen per hunter ran between two and three.

Spectacular Fire destroyed the farm house, barn and outbuilding occupied by the Harold Wilson family on McKinney (Merriman) Road last Friday noon causing a loss of several thousand dollars.

The fire started in the chimney of the house during the dinner hour, and quickly spread through the upper and then lower floors. The Volunteer Bucket Brigade and a number of passing motorists worked in vain to save the building, though most of the personal possessions were removed. In ten minutes the entire house was a roaring furnace, the chilly north wind fanning the blaze, completely burning to the ground, when the wind shifted to the northwest blowing embers on the barn and other outbuildings, which burned to the ground in a short time. Puffs of smoke and flames shooting in the air some hundred and fifty feet in the air drew several hundred people to the scene. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson and their six children are being cared for at be made to the contrary after this date reported to be.

For the information of the public that might not know about Snyder Farms' chicks and pullets we wish to inform them that we never have aimed to become a large hatchery. We confess that it would be possible to place the entire output of our farm for one season in some one of the incubators that are in this vicinity and then have plenty of room for us again. We will say however that during the past eleven years of breeding that we have endeavored to produce a strain of leghorns that are second to none, the pullets of which require no culling to become money makers for their owners. From reports that have come to us during the past years and that are now coming to us from our 1931 stock we are satisfied that we have been and are successful. We have a report from George Brown, Route 2, Hector, Mich., that his flock of pullets after 12 1/2 weeks ranked first in average egg production during the month of December in the Poultry Tribune's Home Egg Laying Contest, 1931-32. Another report from Saginaw of a flock of 120 pullets that had been cullled 7 1/2 produced 122 eggs three different days in January. A lady in New Boston reports a net profit of $42 during the month of November from 100 incubated pullets. We are always glad to show the many fine reports that we receive.

On account of the above reasons together with the fact that this high quality stock is sold for ordinary prices and that our supply is limited is found the reasons why the entire output of Snyder Farms sells itself each season and these facts are also the reasons why the above mentioned salesman had to resort to lies to secure an order.
Signed, Snyder Farms, Route 2, Wayne Mich.

Easy Pleasant Way TO LOSE FAT

How would you like to safely and harmlessly lose 15 pounds of fat in a month and at the same time increase your energy and improve your health?
How would you like to lose your double chin and your too prominent hips and abdomen and at the same time make your skin so clean and clear that it will compel admiration?
Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh—then get a bottle of Kruschen Salts that costs next to nothing and which will last you 4 weeks. Take one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water in the morning, cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.
After that you'll want to walk around and say to your friends, "One bottle of Kruschen Salts is worth one hundred dollars of any fat person's money."
But refuse imitations—safeguard your health—you lose fat SAFELY with Kruschen.
Leading druggists America over sell Kruschen Salts—you can always get it at Community Pharmacy.

NOTICE TO BUYERS OF BABY CHICKS
It has been reported to Snyder Farms that there is a salesman who is canvassing in this vicinity and who is selling baby chicks for a hatchery that is located in the extreme eastern part of Michigan that is making untrue statements one of which is "That Snyder Farms buy the eggs from which they hatch their chicks and that he knows from whom they buy them."
Snyder Farms cannot let this statement stand and are now branding it as being absolutely false. On the other hand Snyder Farms want to make the statement that they have never sold a baby chick, pullet or any breeding stock of any kind that was not hatched in their own incubators from eggs that were laid by their own breeders on their own farm that is located on Ford Road, 1 1/2 miles west of Wayne Road. We would be glad to have any statements that might Sundays—Mass at 8:00 and 9:00. Confessions Saturday nights at 7:30, and before each mass.

Week-days—Mass at 7:30. This hour makes it convenient for the children to attend on their way to school. All should begin the day with God.

Societies—The Holy Name Society for all men and young men. Communion the second Sunday of the month. The Ladies' Altar Society receives Holy Communion the third Sunday of each month. All the ladies of the parish are to be of this society.

Children of Mary—Every child of the parish must belong and must go to communion every fourth Sunday of the month. Instructions in religion conducted each Saturday morning at 9:30 by the Dominican Sisters. All children that have not completed their 8th grade, are obliged to attend these religious instructions.

The second week of Lent is about past and four more remain to come, so if you have not as yet given this season its proper consideration, you still have time to do something. Remember, it is a worthwhile season; the services are held each Tuesday and Friday night. An invitation is extended to the public to share in the considerations of this season of Lent. These devotions begin at 8 o'clock p. m.

Next Sunday is Holy Communion Sunday for all the children of the parish. Whilst on Saturday instructions will be given to them.

Mrs. M. Kinski was taken to Ann Arbor and placed under the care of Dr. Gates.

Mrs. I. McQuillan is still at Providence Hospital, Detroit.

Mrs. J. Zielosko, Sr. is still confined to her home at Newburg.

John Merion is rapidly recovering from his serious operation and will soon be around with his friends.

Tuesday night there will be a card party in the auditorium; a general invitation is extended to the public to indulge in this important pastime. Feb. 28 is the last Sunday of the month. Your envelope of monthly collection should be found for the church records.

Methodist Notes

Last Sunday night our High School orchestra under the leadership of Mr. Sola and Mr. Evans assisted with the evening service for the second time. We hope to make the orchestra a regular part of the evening service from now on.

Next Sunday the Men's chorus will serve as choir at the evening service.

Friday evening March 6, our men are to have a parish supper. Members of Mrs. Parker's circle of the Ladies Aid will serve the supper for 25¢. Men will be present from several surrounding towns. All men of Plymouth are cordially invited to attend.

There are just two more Thursday night supper programs. Expenses of the program will be met by a musical show given by the dramatic class. This class is composed of members of both the Methodist and Presbyterian churches. It is expected the proceeds of the musical show will take care of all expenses of the eight weeks courses of instruction.

Beginning with Sunday night, March thirteen, evangelistic services will be held every night for the two weeks preceding Easter. The Pastor will preach each night.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Cor. Spring and Mill Sts.
Rev. Richard Neale, Pastor

Sunday services—Morning worship, 10:00 a. m. Bible school, 11:30 a. m. B. Y. P. U., 6:30 p. m. Evening service, 7:30 p. m.

Baptist Notes

Fred Leech, a Christian business man of Detroit, will take charge of both services next Sunday.

The attendance in the church services here have been very gratifying. We pray that it will continue to grow.

We wish to express our many thanks to the friends of the Highland Park Baptist church who have been so kind to come out and assist in conducting our service during Mr. Neale's absence.

Mrs. George A. Field, teacher of the Young Ladies class has taken over the leadership of the Tuesday night Young People's Bible Study class. Mrs. Field has asked that for Tuesday night, March 1st, every one will read in the Book of Genesis chapters 16, 17, and 18.

In our Sunday school, great interest is shown in looking forward to our mid-winter rally day which is to take place some time in the near future. We wish to obtain a record attendance. More of this special service will appear at a later date.

The Children's Gospel meeting which meets on Wednesday afternoon at 3:45 is under the direction of Mrs. Columbus, Mrs. Spaulding and Mrs. Kutz. We wish to extend a cordial invitation to all children to attend these meetings.

The Friday night prayer meeting will meet tonight Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Campbell, 741 Ann Arbor St.

The radio broadcast will be discontinued until Mr. Neale will be able to be back with us.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Morning worship, 10:00 a. m. Sunday-school, 11:30 a. m. Evening worship, 7:30 p. m.

A group of University of Michigan students will have full charge of the service next Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m. Everyone is invited to be present and meet these young folks and enjoy the service.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Mind" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, February 21.

Among the Bible citations was this passage (Titus 1:15): "Unto the pure all things are pure; but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled."

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 399): "Scientifically speaking, there is no mortal mind out of which to make material beliefs, springing from illusion. The materialized mind is not an entity. It is only a false sense of matter, since matter is not sensible. The one Mind, God, contains no mortal opinions. All that is real is included in this immortal Mind."

Important Foreign Funerals

Seldom Have the Up-to-date Equipment Available in Your City

THE modern funeral home, with its impressive motor equipment and complete facilities for handling all details in the most efficient and satisfactory manner is distinctly an American institution. There is no counterpart for it even in the largest cities in other parts of the world.

Progress in the funeral profession has made it possible for American families of modest means to make use of equipment surpassing that available to the wealthiest families in Europe.

The New-Way, state servicing Hearse used in our funeral services has features that contribute convenience, reverence and dignity to the funeral far superior to that possible with less modern equipment. We invite your notice of this important improvement to our services.

CAMP WETOMACHICK

For the last few weeks we have been printing a series of pictures in the form of the rainbow. It will be attractive when finished. It is given to a needy family.

A new plan is being worked out in regard to the bulletin board. Each week one girl has charge and a program appropriate for the time. Esther Egge had the board the week of February 8 and it was devoted to Lincoln. On it was a photograph of Lincoln and his handwriting and a copy of a receding address. Jane Whitfield had it the week of February 15 which was devoted to Citizenship. On it was a large picture of a campfire, girl, surrounded by flames of great bonfires in history and two other pictures illustrating points of citizenship.

March 12 to 19 is National Campfire Week. Our Birchdale Campfire is planned for the last week of March and will be held at the home of Jane Blakenstaff. It is a new campfire. The program of the Birchdale Campfire will be as follows: Seven days of camp will be held. Esther Egge, Myrtle Blakenstaff, Jane Blakenstaff, Edna Shuman, Jean Strong, and Jane Whitfield will be the girls.

CHANGES IN TORCH CLUB

The Torch Club has elected the following new officers for this semester: president, Clarence Lovelace; secretary, Bob Thompson; treasurer, Myrtle Blakenstaff; activity chair, Myrtle Blakenstaff; membership, Myrtle Blakenstaff; program, Wesley Blakenstaff; and food, Edna Shuman. The boys are discussing a book "Athletes of the Bible" and Lawrence Blakenstaff led the discussion on the first chapter, "The Ours."

A THEME FOR ENGLISH 11A

CLOTHES AND I

It was when I first began my high school days that I really noticed the difference between my clothes and those of the other girls. I saw my associates each day wearing smart, becoming little short dresses of wools and jerseys or pretty, perhaps slightly frilly, dresses of crepes and silks. Then it was I really felt a slight pang at every little shooting pains, but they were real and I took them seriously. All my wearing apparel was cast off of an older sister, and try as I might to stuff the holes they seemed just a little inferior, less becoming than the things worn by other girls. I knew it foolish to betray this complex of mine, so immediately I began to find interest in my studies and other activities, completely ignoring my petty ideas. Soon my contacts with the other girls gave me new conceptions of them. Some of these were so clever, ingenious and friendly that when I was around them it was utterly impossible to entertain thoughts of such material things. Other girls showed sides of their characters just a little unpleasant, but in a little while they were more than made up for by their very informal attitude. Just at this time when I had made such an important decision on the many activities of the school life began. Proms, J Hops, plays, banquets, and innumerable social affairs so important to my ideas of happiness. Then came the time when sentences "What shall I wear?" For me, however, it was not a question of possessing so many it was difficult in choosing from among them, rather it was how best to get a gown suitable for several of these occasions. It seemed a difficult question for some of the affairs required very formal attire while for others more formal costumes were preferred. Of course I could always dress informally but again arose the question "What would the other girls wear?" So again and again merely because of a foolish inferiority complex, regarding clothes was I forced to miss out on the good times enjoyed by the others.

AN ENGLISH THEME

WHAT-A HAUNTED HOUSE

In an old country house that had never been occupied following two deaths which occurred in the place some five or six years ago. It was said that wailing and unearthly noises such as creaking, crashing, and clanking of chains had been heard during the night. It was said that a light had been seen in the upstairs window, but this and all other reports were considered to be the imaginations of country folk living near the old house. Nevertheless, during the last three weeks, a good many people passing by said they had seen lights and heard ### curious noises in the place.

Because of this, three of the neighbors' children had decided to investigate and see if the house really were haunted. John Lucie, Myrtle Blakenstaff, and Harry Wells were the willing workers. They chose Friday night, which certainly was a fine night for their enterprise. The sky had an unsettled appearance. At times the moon had a chance to peep through the clouds and cause the house and surrounding trees to cast weird shadows, but on the whole it was a very dark night, which pleased John immensely for he was the jolly young type of a country boy with a fat, chubby face, which nearly displayed a smile from ear to ear. His older brother, Harry, however, was decidedly different. One might wonder how the two could get along together as well as they did. He was a boy of about sixteen or eighteen years, rather slight in build with a smile as if he did not quite understand. In fact John's methods of persuasion were almost exhausted before he could get Harry to come. As far as the ghosts were concerned, he did not know whether there were any. As a last resort, his was his own mind. He was his own man, and he was not at all superstitious. In fact John's methods of persuasion were almost exhausted before he could get Harry to come. As far as the ghosts were concerned, he did not know whether there were any. As a last resort, his was his own mind. He was his own man, and he was not at all superstitious.

in there, or is it really haunted?

"Well," said Myrtle, "How can I tell you when I don't know? That's what we're here for, to find out."

"What do you say to moving up a little closer?" said Harry.

"Why, I believe you're afraid," broke out Myrtle in a low tone.

"No, such thing! Although I used to be at one time."

"You shouldn't be. My brother, only sixteen years old, went around to the back of the house all alone. If he is not afraid, why should we be?"

"I said I wasn't," said Harry, "didn't I? What's the idea of it?"

An interruption at this point came in the form of a series of creaks and moans which sounded as though someone was dying. The broken windows and doors permitted these sounds to reach their ears. Upon looking up, they discovered a very dim light coming from an up-stairs window. This was the thing they had not believed. The light, they knew, could not light itself. Keeping this in their minds they were rather puzzled as to know whether to proceed or not. They thought they would go back and get John, but finally Myrtle said, "Come on, let's see if we can't find out."

Immediately Myrtle took the lead and they together stepped quietly to the front steps. After a minute or two of peering they slowly pushed the door which was slightly ajar with open. This was not accomplished without a number of creaks from the rusty old weather worn hinges. The sound upstairs ceased.

At this point, Myrtle wondered if her brother were still waiting by the back of the house or what he was doing. She finally asked Harry and upon discussing his doubt, said, "Let's go on and see." Myrtle said she would go around the side and told Harry to stay there.

Upon arriving at the back of the house, but nearly scared out of her senses by flapping of newspapers in the evening breeze, she was not the least surprised to find her brother gone. The immediate conclusion was that he had been frightened away.

Upon returning she reported this fact to Harry, who was not so sure of this theory that John had run away in fear. A heated argument would have taken place about whether they should proceed or not had they not wanted to keep their presence unknown.

After slowly and shily walking around what was once a reception hall, they saw the light again, this time just beyond a narrow staircase to the right of them. They could see it plainly now as they moved silently across the room.

Their hopes of silence were shattered a moment later when Harry fell over an old box. What made matters worse was the fact that he no more than got on his feet than he fell over the second time. Of course the light was gone by now and when he picked himself up he swore a score of curses had run over him the first time. There was no doubt about it now, their presence was revealed, so they put into exercise the only sensible plan left.

They made a mad rush for the staircase and as Myrtle was going around it she caught her dress. Harry kept pulling her a little, but finally Myrtle got him stopped so she might untangle herself. To her dread she found a slit of about a foot long in her dress. As they advanced up the stairs, going rather fast, Harry fell and as Myrtle slipped ahead to try keep Harry from falling backwards all the way down stairs, she got her foot and leg caught in a hole in the steps. There there was no one else to help them in their trouble, but finally after a good pull Myrtle got Harry safely to his feet and then slowly pulled her foot out of the hole. It seemed a little while it was scratched and bruised quite badly.

Finally they reached the top of the stairs, where they stood momentarily at a thought of what to do next and what they were going to do. The situation was relieved when Harry found some matches in his pocket which he had no time to light. The scene which unfolded them was not unusual for such a place. The parlor hallway seemed to be covered with a inch of dust, and an old chair stood at the extreme end. Adjoining this hallway were four rooms which they immediately set about to examine.

"Harry, you take the first one to the right and I'll take the one to the left, and we'll soon find the cause of the disturbance," said Myrtle.

Harry didn't think much of this; in fact he didn't think much of any plan which would separate him from his friend, but he finally succeeded in making himself enter the room which he immediately set about to explore. Upon lighting a match, he proceeded to a half-opened door which aroused his interest. Picking up an old chamber which was just outside in the hall, he flung it at the door. The result was the breaking of the glass into a million pieces and a happy Harry at not finding anyone there.

"What's up?" shouted Myrtle from the room across the hall.

"Nothing," returned Harry. "Just broke a little glass."

With this he again entered the hall and joined Myrtle, who by this time was waiting. Together they went into the third room and there they found nothing. The fourth room, however, was more interesting. As soon as they entered, their attention was attracted by a white subject in the far corner. Myrtle's reasoning powers told her it was too white to have been there very long. Her theory was further strengthened when the object sprang up and made a leap for the door. Harry was standing near the door and as it came toward him, he made one of the prettiest tackles that could have ever been made. A moment later the shot was pulled from the body on the floor, and cheers from Harry, who cried out: "We've got 'em! We've got 'em!"

To their utter surprise, there lay John. The look on Myrtle's and John's faces showed plainly that they didn't know how to take the joke.

"Well, I'll be cow kicked!" burst out Harry as the boy got up. "So it's been you, you little rascal, that's been up to all this all the time. How about the doings of the other nights?"

"Oh, I was just having a little fun," said John.

He then told them how he had successfully gone around to the back of the house and entered through a rear window.

"Well," exclaimed Myrtle, "I'm glad we were not cowards."

"So am I," returned Harry.

GARDENERS FIGHT TO KEEP OHIO OUT OF DETROIT AREA

Gardeners in the Plymouth section who provide vast amounts of vegetables to Detroit are watching with keen interest the effort being made to keep Ohio growers off the Detroit market.

Although defeated when 500 farmers appeared before the Commission Council in Detroit against out-of-state producers, the Michigan Producers' Association plans to continue its fight. Macomb County was represented by several hundred growers, headed by William Rossow, of Utica, president of the newly formed association. In fact some of the growers about Plymouth belong to this association.

A request that Detroit lease the City Market to the association was voted down by the Council. The opposition was represented by a group of about 25 farmers, mostly from the vicinity of Toledo. The Council voted against the proposition after the Detroit Welfare Commission, which controls the market, opposed the request.

The Michigan growers explained that their only object in leasing the place would be to keep out the truck farmers, whom other states who flood the market and make the raising of produce in Michigan unprofitable. The growers emphasized that a lease given to them would in no way affect actual control of the market by Detroit.

By leasing the market they could restrict permits to sell on the market to members of the Michigan Association. This would automatically ban the out-of-state men.

The Michigan men declare that unless some steps are taken in their behalf, the future of truck gardening in Michigan is threatened.

They pointed out that whereas most of the Michigan farmers use only one truck and grow their produce on small farms, some of the out-of-state interests haul in big quantities in several trucks.

Michigan farmers point out that it is impossible to compete against some of the large out-of-state producers who raise their truck under more advantageous conditions. Because of the earlier season Ohio and Indiana truck farmers are able to take advantage of top prices several weeks before Michigan crops are ready, it was said.

By the time Michigan produce is ripe, out-of-state farmers have fattened their purses and reaped a nice harvest. Then the Michigan truck farmer has to haul his loads to Detroit, the out-of-state growers begin a wild orgy of price cutting.

MICHIGAN as a Winter Resort

Michigan, widely known as a summer vacationland, is becoming recognized as an unexcelled winter playground.

It offers abundant opportunities for the enjoyment of exhilarating winter sports... innumerable hills for skiing and tobogganing... thousands of lakes for skating and ice-boating... forests and rivers for hunting and fishing... all easily accessible over fine roads and railways, and by air.

It is in the interest of all who reside in Michigan to contemplate the winter attractions of our state, and to call them to the attention of others.

Michigan is a great state to live in and a great state to visit. Wherever you go in Michigan—at work or play—Long Distance telephone service will keep you in constant touch with home and office.

Sumac Poisons Five From Farmington

Two persons are recovering in University Hospital, Ann Arbor, and several others are recovering in their homes from the effects of sumac poisoning contracted during a recent winter roast at an Oakland County lake.

Those in the hospital are Miss Avela Goers, daughter of Fred Goers, of Farmington, and Russell Elliott, of Detroit. The others who are ill live in Detroit.

Miss Goers, Elliott, Miss Mildred Adams, and eight others went skating at the lake and later collected wood with which they built a fire and roasted weiners. The wood they used was poison sumac. A day or two later most members of the party experienced swelling on their hands and faces. Miss Adams was not poisoned.

Miss Goers and Elliott expected to leave the hospital soon.

HOW ECHRE PLAYERS STAND IN THE CONTEST

In the Plymouth-Canton Echre Club contest, Wagonchultz and Courtade scored, another easy victory last Saturday when they triumphed over Korns and Shaska ten games to three. They now lead the league by fourteen games, and have won six sessions in a row. R. Waldecker and Graham made a strong push to defeat M. Waldeck and Dindman, seven games to six. They now occupy second position. The standing:

W. I. Post	90.00
Wagonchultz-Courtade	80.00
R. Waldecker-Graham	75.80
M. Waldecker-Dindman	75.81

SOUTH LYON MAN FALLS DEAD IN AMATEUR PLAY

Theron L. Smith, 54 years old, of South Lyon, retired hardware merchant, fell dead on the stage at Quick Hall, in that village Friday night, while acting with an amateur cast presenting a play sponsored by the Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church. The coroner found death was caused by apoplexy. Mr. Smith was finishing his part in the first act when he collapsed and was carried from the stage.

He was a native of South Lyon and retired from business because of ill health. He had served as president of the Board of Commerce and treasurer of the church. He had been township treasurer and had been called as a prospective member of the Oakland County grand jury.

Mr. Smith leaves his wife, Funeral services were held Monday afternoon.

Coming Attractions At Penniman-Allen

"MATA HARI"
The dangerous, but glamorous life of the notorious World War spy, "Mata Hari," is portrayed in the picture of that name which will be shown at the Penniman-Allen Theatre Sunday and Monday, February 28 and 29 with the sensational combination of Greta Garbo and Ramon Novarro in the leading roles. The amazing cast of this production also includes Lionel Barrymore, Lewis Stone, C. Henry Gordon, Karen Morley and Alton B. Francis, together with a large group of supporting players.

The plot depicts the engrossing career of the fascinating Mata Hari, whose beauty and glamour as a dancer enable her to win her way into the confidence of Allied officers and thus to furnish the enemy forces with strategic war plans.

"RACING YOUTH"
Whirlwind romance, pulse-quick and intriguing, thrilling shrieks of powerful racing cars, and good old fashioned unstrained laughs are rightly packed in Universal's "Racing Youth" which will be shown at the Penniman-Allen Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, March 2 and 3.

Frank Albertson wears the goggles, helmet and racing jumper in the film and June Clyde is the highly decorative and talented heroine. Slim Summerville, Louise Fazenda, Arthur Stuart Hull, Forrest Stanley and Otis Harlan complete the cast, which Vin Moore has directed.

"GAY DIPLOMAT"
Ivan Lebedeff's first starring picture, "Gay Diplomat" will appear at the Penniman-Allen Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, March 2 and 3, and will surpass expectation in its presentation of romance set glamorously in a background which alternates the thrill of battle with the intrigues of spies.

Women spies and men spies, having loving and perpetually scheming, are the central characters which dominate this entertainment. Although the action is of a necessarily vigorous, striking holiday at times, a romance pervades the picture.

Splendid work is done by the Misses Tobin and Compson and by Lebedeff, who, incidentally, furnished the plot for the story out of his own war experiences.

"LADIES OF THE JURY"
The world chuckled at Edna May Oliver in "Imitation".

It probably will roar at her crazy as a "hold-out" juror in RRK-Radio Pictures' laugh sensation, "Ladies of the Jury," showing at the Penniman-Allen Theatre Friday and Saturday, March 4 and 5.

Named by critics as one of the funniest comedies in motion pictures, Miss Oliver gives a new meaning to comedy in a specially tailored role.

"Ladies of the Jury" is the story of a typical mixed jury of men and women who can only agree to disagree.

PLYMOUTH PHONE USERS CAN NOW TALK TO MOST ANY PLACE IN WORLD

Transoceanic Telephone Service Five Years Old

The first Michigan telephone call to a transatlantic point was made February 12, 1927, by Bursk Foraker, president, Michigan Bell Telephone Company. Map shows present extent of transoceanic service by means of which 92 percent of the world's telephones can be interconnected.

Five years ago this month, Michigan newspapers chronicled the first telephone conversation between Michigan and London, England. It marked an epoch in communication conversation between people on opposite sides of the Atlantic had been made possible, and this service had been extended to Michigan less than a month after its practical demonstration by Bell System engineers. The telephone had bridged an ocean and made the world a smaller place.

February 12, 1927, marked the opening of transatlantic telephone service for Michigan telephone users. But so rapid has been the development of local communication over great distances that already the word, "transatlantic" has been replaced by "transoceanic". Voices of Michigan people have crossed not only the Atlantic, but also the Pacific and Indian oceans. And the science of telephone engineering continues to push back the horizon still farther.

Prior to 1927 there was no practical means of conversation between our shores and points of the old world. Bell System engineers, however, were experimenting and developing the service. Today, 32,829,000 or approximately 92 percent of all the telephones in the world, can be interconnected over the transoceanic circuits.

Calls can be placed from Michigan to almost any point in North America, much of South America, all of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, practically all of Europe from Brittany to the Black Sea, Australia, the city of Capetown in Northern Africa, the islands of Java and Sumatra in the East Indies, Sicily, the Canary Islands, Bermuda and the Hawaiian archipelago. Seven large passenger liners, while at sea, maintain telephone contact with this great network through "ship-to-shore" telephone service. And the limit has by no means been reached.

In 1927, use of the transatlantic service averaged a half-dozen calls a day to and from this country. Michigan people averaged only two or three a month. In the space of several weeks after the service was opened, only one call was received in Michigan from abroad, and none was placed by Michigan people for the old world. But with the extension of the service to other European countries, its use increased rapidly, rates were reduced materially, and the number of Michigan calls grew. At present, Michigan people average one transoceanic call per day, and the number for the United States is well above 100. At the Christmas holiday season there is a great increase and the social calls take the lead over business conversations.

Several unusual calls in which Michigan people have figured are on record. Two years ago, nine boys from Jackson were guests at a banquet in Paris, France. The toastmaster was Mr. Jackson, as were the parents of the boys. During the entire program, the parents listened in and later each was given an opportunity to talk with his or her son in the French capital.

On another occasion, a gathering of salesmen in Rome, Italy was addressed over the transoceanic circuit by the president of a Michigan manufacturing concern. A board of directors meeting in Saginaw was "attended" by means of the telephone, by a member who was in London. A man in Saginaw sold an automobile in London, by telephone. A salesman in Jackson sold motor accessories abroad in the same way. Kaye Don, British sportsman, was interviewed by telephone by European newspapers, preceding and following the Harmsworth speedboat races in Detroit last fall. The first call from the Michigan Bell Company's new dial central office at Holland, Michigan, was made to the city's foremost citizen, the late Gerrit Dickson, then United States minister to the Netherlands, at The Hague, by President Foraker of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

Michigan automobiles have been sold in Australia by transoceanic telephone. Michigan-made paints and varnishes have found buyers, by telephone, in South America and Michigan motor boats have been marketed in Europe in the same manner. A Detroit young woman, it is said, obtained parental consent to her marriage to a young American engineer, by using the transoceanic service. The romance began in Paris, but several telephone conversations across the Atlantic were necessary before consent to the marriage was given. The world moves at a rapid pace, and as it moves, it grows smaller. Places that five years ago were thousands of miles away are today only as far away as the nearest telephone, and the work goes on. The ideal of the telephone engineer is to make it possible for anyone, anywhere, to talk with anyone else anywhere else in the world.

Responsibility for Theft

The Hammurabi code, which antedated the code of Moses by about a thousand years, included the following provision: "If anyone has committed a robbery and he is caught, he shall be killed. If the robber is not caught, the man who has been robbed shall make claim before a court to every thing stolen from him, and the town and its governor within the territory and limits of which the robbery took place shall give back to him everything he has lost."
