Mail Endeavors To Secure Facts For Readers On Question

Believing that it would prove of interest as well as benefit to the readers of the Plymouth Mail if information was secured from a number of villages that have in the past few years voted to do away with the village form of government...

This village at the spring election will vote upon the question of changing to the city form of government.

We have been advised that you recently changed from the village to the city form.

It would be greatly appreciated if you will advise us as to just what the result has been and if you are satisfied with the change you have made.

It is our desire to set forth to our readers a true statement of facts pertaining to this question and we will be grateful to you for any information that you can provide.

An immediate answer is desired. Thanking you in advance for any courtesies extended.

Following are the replies that were received, printed in full, unless your own judgment as to whether Plymouth can in any way benefit from the experiences of these villages that have become cities.

No village that ever voted to do away with the village form of government and adopted the city form of government, ever voted to go back to the old way.

Some of the cities letters have been received from at about the same size as Plymouth, but most of them are smaller.

They follow:

CITY OF PLEASANT RIDGE Dear Sir: This is in reply to your recent letter inquiring whether we have been satisfied with the results obtained through changing from a village to a city.

Incorporation of Pleasant Ridge as a city was completed in April 1928. Without going into a detailed discussion of the advantages and disadvantages of city incorporation we merely state that we are fully satisfied with the change, and that the benefits anticipated have been fully realized.

Very truly yours, JAMES H. LARBAN, Mayor

CITY OF BUCHANAN Dear Sir: Replying to your recent inquiry regarding the change to city form of government, as affecting Buchanan, we will say that the advantages, as I see it, is mainly in the matter of taxation, home rule and County representation.

We are now entitled to two additional members on the County Board of Supervisors, and this year in our own particular case that representation was instrumental in securing a road building scandal of long duration that has resulted in a great burden of taxation that was wholly unnecessary.

Under City Government all our officers are appointive and we are able to secure people most fitted, in our opinion, for those respective duties.

Very truly yours, P. C. PATRAWAY, Mayor

CITY OF SOUTH LYON Dear Sir: Replying to your favor of Jan. 30 in regards to changing to a City. The most saving is you get away from township expense. There was quite a feeling with the farmers that we could not get along without them but I think they are getting over this to some extent.

I was opposed to the change at the time, but I think it will work out and be a good thing. The main

Plymouth Redmen At Lansing Pow-Wow

Saturday afternoon, Owatto Tribal No. 7 of Plymouth drove to Council chamber in Lansing, where the Great chiefs from Battle Creek, Detroit, Plymouth and Lansing gathered around the council board which was faced by the High chiefs.

These pole pieces were waiting to be made Redmen. The dances were put on by Plymouth which was very good and hard to beat.

After the degree was finished, the council board was put out by our cousin Senator Sagamore, Henry Goble. A nice lunch was served by the Lansing tribe.

Lots of good music was furnished and after a few well chosen words from our great chiefs and brothers, we sauntered back to our wigwam feeling the evening had been well spent.

UNITED VETERANS HAVE BIG MEETING

The initial meeting of the United Veterans of America was well attended Monday night at Jewell and Bligh Hall.

Interesting talks on organization were given by Mr. Vandenberg, commander of Polar Bear Post, of Veterans of Foreign Wars and Mr. Paton, member of Wayne County Council from Polar Bear Post.

These speakers were followed by Commander Thompson of the local Ex-Servicemen's club in a talk on the aims and principles of the new organization.

These ex-veterans who were unable to attend this meeting are urged to be present at the next meeting, Tuesday, March 8th, at Town Hall, when election of officers will be held.

Appeal Made To You To Assist Idle Men In This Community

A nation-wide appeal is being made to the men and women of United States to again come forward in a united effort to relieve a serious situation. In any time of great emergency, men must always fall back on the loyalty and good will of its citizenry.

The American Legion has inaugurated a movement to place millions of men, both ex-service men and all other unemployed, at work doing the many things that are always left undone about every home. Family after family in every nook and corner of the country are responding to this call even as they responded in 1917. The Myron H. Beals Post No. 32 of the American Legion asks all of Plymouth to join in this worthy cause.

Please feel free to call upon me for any further information which you may desire.

Very truly yours, JAMES H. LARBAN, Mayor

ELEVEN NAMES ON ONE BALLOT

File Petitions For Candidates For Proposed Charter Commission

In anticipation of the possibility that the plan to change the form of government in Plymouth from the village type to that of the city form of government and to avoid another special election if the question should be successful at the polls, petitions have been filed with the village clerk placing in nomination the candidates for the charter commission. One of the eleven names are to be elected.

The candidates nominated are: Edward C. Hough, C. H. Bennett, Alice M. Sanford, William J. Burrows, Edward G. ...

There will be a special ballot for these candidates. In fact there will be three distinct ballots at the forthcoming village election.

It is stated that if the city plan should carry that it is the purpose to retain as far as possible the present form of government, and making only such changes as will be necessary to get the benefits of the city plan.

Other petitions have been filed for the office of (Goldsmith) and Harry Manly, making four candidates for these village offices.

The other ballot will have to do with the question of whether Plymouth shall become a city.

WILL CHANGE ENCYCLOPEDIAS SO THAT PLYMOUTH PIONEER MANUFACTURER BE GIVEN JUST CREDIT FOR INVENTION

During a recent radio talk from the University of Michigan, Professor Felix W. Pawlowski, Aeronautical Research Engineer, made a statement that the first metal windmill invented in this country was credited to Thomas O. Perry in 1883, E. C. Hough, hearing this statement, wrote to Professor Pawlowski and sent a copy of the original patent on an iron windmill issued to C. J. Hamilton, of Plymouth, in 1879, thus proving without question that Hamilton's invention was prior to that of Perry.

In replying to Mr. Hamilton's letter, Professor Pawlowski stated that he had obtained information through the Encyclopaedia Britannica, and that all three of the leading encyclopedias gave Thomas O. Perry credit for the invention. He stated further that he had taken a photographic copy of Hamilton's patent and would write to the publishers of the three encyclopedias and see that the error would be corrected in future editions.

Old-timers in Plymouth will recall that the Plymouth Iron Windmill Company was incorporated in 1882, and that Hamilton's windmill was manufactured and sold until Hamilton invented the Daisy Air Rifle in 1888, and shortly after, the manufacture of the windmill was dropped and the entire attention of the company was devoted to the Daisy Air Rifle, and in 1905 the name of the company was changed to Daisy Manufacturing Company, and has continued with but few changes in management since that time.

C. J. Hamilton was Factory Superintendent until 1899, when he disposed of his interest, and started a new company to manufacture the Hamilton 22-calibre firearm, under the style of C. J. Hamilton & Son, which business is still carried on under the same style by his son, Coelo Hamilton.

CITY MANAGER MASS MEETING CLUB SPEAKER TUESDAY NIGHT

Unusual Subject Discussed Before Kiwanians On Tuesday Noon Public Urged To Be Present And Hear About City Government

L. P. Cookingham, village manager was the speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club, Tuesday noon, taking as his subject "Mind Your Own Business." The business referred to, was that of government, which the speaker said, involved the expenditure of 12 billions of dollars each year.

It has been said that for every eighth person who votes, one person is employed in the government service," the speaker stated, "but this does not mean that one-eighth of the population is supported by taxes, as only about half of the people who are qualified to vote take advantage of their opportunity, and less than half of the population is of voting age or naturalized, therefore a much smaller percentage of the total population is engaged in governmental service than would be expected from the above statement."

Your local government is the closest to you and should receive your closest attention and support. "The speaker stated, "Practically all of the personal benefit derived by the tax payer comes from local government, and yet, the cost is not greater than the service rendered. In fact if you were to perform the services rendered by local government, you would be much greater than the cost of the government."

Governmental costs have increased on somewhat the same basis as national prosperity, the maximum costs occurring in 1929, the peak year of our recent prosperity. Plymouth has realized the necessity of adjusting the cost of local government and during the past year has made drastic reductions both in valuation and tax rates. The valuation of the Village was reduced 15 percent or $1,100,000.00, and the rate cut from $13.30 to $12.50 per thousand. On the basis of the 1930 assessed valuation, the 1931 tax rate would have been $10.50 or a reduction of $3.00 per thousand.

The total spent for salaries and wages in 1931 will be $10,000.00 less than the previous year. The police department cost will be reduced $100,000.00 and the cost of local government has been lowered $87,000.00. The water department has this year wiped out its entire deficit and now has a cash surplus, the first time in many years. The cemetery will operate on its income and take care of its outstanding debt for the year. Last year there was a deficit of $180,000.00. We have also retired all outstanding temporary loans, one of which has been running since 1928.

All these economies have been effected without reducing service to the taxpayer and it is the desire of the Village Commission to render prompt, efficient and courteous service to every citizen, which can be done even with the reduced appropriation made in 1931," the speaker said.

In closing Mr. Cookingham stated that the citizens of Plymouth pay an amount equal to more than one half of the cost of local government each year for the privilege of driving their automobile. This is paid in the automobile weight and gasoline tax and absolutely no part of this sum comes back to the Village to help maintain local streets and highways.

MUSIC RECITAL

A recital which proved both interesting and delightful was presented Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at the studio of Miss Anna Youngs. Those taking part were of the younger group of Miss Youngs' classes and the great progress which they have made since the last recital was indeed marked. The following pupils took part: Howard Price, Margaret Leslie, Patricia Kincaid, Berice Kincaid, Bruno Richards, Dorothy Richards, Helen Springer, Doris Bazzard, Jennie Bassett and Jennie Ames.

These recitals are very popular with the pupils and their parents and show conscientious work on the part of Miss Youngs.

Millions Spent In Care of States Poor

In caring for indigents, Michigan spent $11,967,680 more for the year ending Sept. 30, 1931 than for the same period ending Sept. 30, 1930, according to compilation by the Department of State from annual reports of Superintendents of the Poor of Michigan's 83 counties. This compilation is required by law annually.

Almost all of the increased cost was due to unemployment. In 1930 the total cost of temporary aid for indigents outside institutions was $10,190,046 while in 1931 the cost was $21,654,963.

The number who received assistance in 1930 was 278,763 as compared with 668,968 in 1931, an increase of 241,500.

During the year covered by the present compilation, 21,670 persons were aided in infirmaries; 2,274 in other institutions; 619,326 were given temporary aid; and 25,693 were receiving permanent aid outside institutions.

LONG BANKING SERVICE IS BENEFIT TO COMMUNITY

Plymouth United Reaches Another Milestone Of Progress

Another milestone in its service to the community has been reached by the Plymouth United Savings bank—a record of 42 years of caring for the financial needs of Plymouth.

During all these years, the bank has grown with the community and has steadily expanded its facilities to meet the increasing use which the public has always made of this bank. It has now reached the point where it is the largest banking institution in Wayne county outside the city of Detroit.

In these 42 years of existence there have been numerous panics and depressions, but the Plymouth United Savings bank has weathered them all. Not only has it passed through them, but it has always emerged with new friends and a wider plan of service.

It has been found in the banking business as in everything else that changing times have demanded changes in practice. A bank like any other business which is to remain sound, must not furnish service at a loss. Any changes which the Plymouth United have put into effect have been based upon the result of long experience and a belief that the average depositor desires first that his bank be sound and that a customer is ready and willing to pay for the service he receives.

The Plymouth United Savings bank has every convenience and service that one would expect in a safe depository for funds.

BRIEF ILLNESS ENDS IN DEATH

Community Mourns Passing Of Harry S. Shattuck, A Lifelong Resident

Following an illness of but a few days, Harry Sanford Shattuck, one of the best known and highest respected residents of this part of Wayne county, died Wednesday evening at 10 o'clock at his home on Pennington avenue where he had lived in retirement during the past few years.

About a week ago Mr. Shattuck became suddenly ill and his condition from the first was regarded as extremely grave, although early in the present week there were slight signs of improvement. A sudden relapse of the worse came Wednesday forenoon and attending physicians during the day gave up all hope of his recovery.

News of his death brought sorrow to his hundreds of friends who had thought possibly there was a chance for his recovery.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 3 o'clock from the Schrader funeral home.

Possibly there was not a better known man in this entire local area than Mr. Shattuck. He was born in this vicinity and spent his entire life here. He was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin S. Shattuck, pioneer Michigan residents. He inherited the Shattuck farm from his father and developed the 600 acres into one of the finest and most profitable farms in this section. He made his home on the farm until it was sold in 1923 when he moved into a new home in Plymouth.

He was born October 4th, 1871, and was married to Miss Nellie Birch in Plymouth September 18, 1895. Mr. Shattuck and two children, Robert Sanford Shattuck and Mrs. Charles Garlett, survive. A brother, Frank Hinsdale Shattuck, resides in Lansing.

Mr. Shattuck was a great home lover and his entire interest was in the welfare and happiness of his family. He was a farmer of the most progressive type and was long regarded as one of the best informed men in this part of the state in agricultural development. He was an active member of the Presbyterian church.

The funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Walter Nichol and burial will take place in beautiful Riverside cemetery, which is a portion of the old Shattuck homestead.

BISHOP COMING HERE TO CONFIRM CLASS

The Rt. Rev. Herman Page, D. D., Bishop of the Diocese of Michigan in the Protestant Episcopal Church, will visit St. John's Church at the 7:30 o'clock service on Sunday evening, March 6, to administer Confirmation to a class of 14 persons who have been given instruction during the past four weeks by the Rev. Arch Deacon Hagger and Miss Grevious, Field Worker.

Confirmation is one of the solemn rites or sacraments used by the Church since apostolic times. It was originally called the laying on of hands, a term signifying the outward form employed by the Bishop whose hands are placed on the head of each one thus received into the full communion of the Church while the divine blessing is invoked and the gifts of the Holy Spirit bestowed upon the kneeling candidates.

Bishop Page has supervision over all Episcopal Church work in the eastern half of the lower peninsula of Michigan, and is the chief pastor of a jurisdiction embracing nearly 31,000 communicants in 128 parishes and missions, with a staff of 718 clergy. His headquarters are in Detroit, where at St. Paul's Cathedral on Woodward avenue he maintains his official seat. The Diocese of Michigan is one of 93 Dioceses and Missionary Districts in the United States, the central organization being known as the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, with headquarters in New York City. A Presiding Bishop is elected at the General Convention of the Church, held every three years, has supervision over all the work. The National Church is a member of the Anglican Communion whose work reaches over the entire world, and which numbers among its branches the Anglican Church in England, Wales, Canada, the West Indies and South America, Asia, Africa, Australia and Tasmania, New Zealand and Melanesia, Ireland and Scotland.

His spring lined during the sale and the event as a whole will be exceedingly worth while to thrifty shoppers.

TAXING GRAFT

A leading eastern newspaper suggests that there be imposed a one hundred percent tax on graft in big cities as a way to solve some of the financial problems of these municipalities. The only trouble with this idea is the fact that a tax on graft would produce so much money the officials of the big cities wouldn't know what to do with all of it.

IS IT WORTH IT?

Figures have been made public which show that the government spends nearly 14 cents for every letter that is carried by air mail. For this service, the air mail user pays a postage of five cents, the taxpayers of the United States paying the other nine cents that is required to carry the letter sent by air mail. If these figures are correct, the air mail system of the United States is right now too an expensive luxury for this government to continue. Steps should either be taken to curtail the expense of the service or abolish it, as the deficit has been growing larger the longer the air service continues.

THE FAIREST TAX

As various tax-raising schemes are discussed one after the other, and various groups of citizens explain the injustice of a tax falling most heavily on their particular business, the essential equity of income, inheritance and gift taxes becomes more generally recognized, declares the Cleveland Press.

Within the past few days the National Retail Dry Goods Association has announced itself in favor of raising the Government money required by income tax increases in the higher brackets, by increased inheritance taxes and by restoration of the gift tax. The retailers, of course, are fighting the sales tax, which would cause them much burdensome bookkeeping, and possibly loss of business also. But good economic reasons support them in this position.

However slowly and reluctantly we may arrive at the conviction that partial redistribution of great fortunes is the only sound method of restoring health to business and to the national life, we arrive there sooner or later if we think through the problem.

WELL, IT'S CHICAGO'S FUNERAL

A front page newspaper story, out of Chicago, that appeared last week, again makes one wonder whether the trades unions in Chicago have left any detail of daily life to the will, whim or caprice of the citizens. The unionized milk wagon drivers have it in their power to deprive the infants, the aged and infirm of milk, and in too many cases to dictate what particular brand shall be consumed. The movement of bread and other highly important foodstuffs, is likewise completely under union domination.

Chicago also, one remembers, is no respecter of persons when those persons come under the baleful eye of the labor lords. Not so long ago the Chicago Musicians' Union decreed that the United States Marine Band, "The President's Own" could not parade the streets of Chicago in uniform—because the marine musicians were not members of the Chicago local. The Marine Band did not parade.

Now comes the news, as shown under Tuesday's date line in the Free Press, that mourners—friends, relatives and other bereaved persons—shall have nothing to say about attending funerals unless they do it in the manner prescribed by the union of livery car drivers.

This particular union decided that private cars shall be barred from all funeral processions. If one desires to attend a funeral in that city one must ride in a hack driven by a member of that union.

The uniformed livery drivers mean business. This was shown last Tuesday at the funeral of an eighteen-year-old girl, who was shot to death. A large number of persons attempted to attend in their private cars.

The procession was stopped three times to force the private cars out of line. Finally the hearse driver ordered the private cars out "or this body will never get buried."

As the result of forcing out the private cars, one of them was struck by a coal truck. A seventeen-year-old girl was killed in the collision and nine other young people were injured. But the union of livery car drivers won their point—and at least one more funeral.

The private cars left the procession and took other routes to the cemeteries. Chicagoans have learned, or should have learned, that it is not less than fatal to disagree with Chicago unions.

It is conditions like these that your Board and the Citizens'

THE TOYS OF YESTERDAY

It's hard to throw their toys away,
Despite the fact they're broken.
They take me back to Yesterday—
Each one a battered token
Of childhood fun upon the floor,
With Little Sis and Brother—
When he was nine, and she was four—
Glad days for me and Mother!

The dolls, the trains—with which they played—
The little chair and table,
Long in the attic dusk have laid—
Still prized by me and Mabel.
We ought to throw the stuff aside—
Instead of holding to it,
And I to do that thing have tried,
But somehow, I can't do it!

Committee have always fought. Without the fight, you would face such desecrations here today.—The Detroitian.

QUESTIONABLE POLITICS

The political minded mayor of Detroit is just now making a lot of fuss about the electrical rates that are charged in that city by the Detroit Edison company. Apparently he figures that a great public utility is something that can be "jumped on" these days with perfect immunity to the one making the assault.

But we fear in this case the aspiring non-tax paying mayor of Detroit has made a mistake. True his assault on the Detroit Edison might find favor among the hords of non-working dolers of Detroit who are opposed to everything except free "eats" and free "flops" and who never paid a cent for electrical service of any kind. But with the rank and file of substantial citizens, among some of them the largest customers of the Detroit Edison company, it is doubtful if a complaint has ever been raised as to Edison rates.

Buyers of electrical power in Detroit and vicinity have for years enjoyed an exceedingly moderate rate. Not only have we of the metropolitan district as well as of the city proper purchased electrical service at a sum much lower than is charged in most every other great city in America, but we have enjoyed electrical SERVICE that is unexcelled. And SERVICE is worth something in these days. The efforts put forth by the Detroit Edison company to give satisfaction to its customers are nothing less than amazing.

Detroit should not forget that its rapid development was made possible by the foresight of Alex Dow and his ability to accomplish things.

If Mayor Murphy was an electrical consumer, if he had to pay bills every month for electrical power or light he might have a right to kick. But the mayor has always been an office holder and the only electrical service he has ever enjoyed is the electrical service paid for by the public.

If Mayor Murphy was giving Detroit the same kind of service the Detroit Edison company has always given that city, if he had been as alert to its welfare and progress as Alex Dow, the power consumers of Detroit might look upon his complaint as one of merit. As it is every one realizes that the action taken by him is for political purposes only and not because he sincerely believes Detroit electrical rates are too high.

At a time when a harvest was being made on other commodities sold at exorbitant prices, electrical power rates in the Detroit area were not skyrocketed and during prosperous times power rates were consistently low. This fact to a very great extent justifies the present position of the Detroit Edison company.

Every one is anxious to save every cent that can be saved and we firmly believe that a company which has given the public such wonderful service at such a low cost as has the Detroit Edison company, would voluntarily reduce its rate if such a thing was possible without curtailment of the ideal kind of service the public now gets from the Detroit Edison.

Yes, Mr. Mayor, there are hundreds of other ways you can save dollars in Detroit, but necessarily in order to do so, it might result in the beheading of a lot of political hangers-on. That's where the hitch comes.

The Tongue

Sacred interpreter of human thought,
How few respect or use thee as they ought!

The Spoken Word

Three things come not back—
The arrow sent upon its track,
It will not swerve, it will not stay,
Its speed,
It flies to wound or slay,
The spoken word so soon by thee is forgotten.

Yet it has perished not,
In other hearts it liveth still,
And doing work for good or ill,
And the lost opportunity
That cometh back no more to thee,
In vain thou wishest in vain doth yearn,
These three nevermore return.

Memory

Louis Brandeis, Justice of the United States Supreme Court, is noted for his remarkable memory.

He correctly quotes long legal documents without once referring to them though the court reporters have for years tried to catch him in an error.

In a recent complicated public-franchise problem, he dispatched a courier to get from the Congressional library a "red book, third from the end on such and such a shelf." Then, while the courier was gone, he proceeded to quote long passages from the book, which subsequently proved to be correct. A check-up by the reporters disclosed the fact that Brandeis had not seen the book for forty years.

A Prayer

Gracious Lord, approach us, but do not be silent toward us. We yearn for the clear assurance that we have another chance. We thank Thee for the countless mercies of Thy providence. A Night Storm In February

No moon, no stars, the sky is blind!
Faint gleams the light ship's distant spark!

Along the shores the savage wind
Blows like a bloodhound through the dark.
God save all seamen everywhere,
Who face tonight the driving sheet.

In ships that gain the swarved air,
Their frozen pinions vainly beat.

On rock-bound coasts, in desperate plights,
Brave hearts this cruel tempest bide.

Where mammoth waves with tustles white,
Tear the black gloom through which they glide.

Graves, storm-scooped in the wet-
tering waste,
Are yawning now on lake and sea:
And tumbled alive the tempest-chased.

Go down where the drowned millions lie.

Tonight, from blue and quivering lips,
Prayers, heard of God alone, arise:
By fireless hearths in staggering ships,
Wherever misery lives or lies.

And what art I, that warm and safe
I sit by friendship's hearth-stone bright?

Oh! God help every human walf,
Unsheltered from the storm tonight.

"Make It Known"

When the cave man started drawing

On little bits of bone,
He was telling someone something;
He was making something known,
And it's rather more than likely
He was trying to arrange
To dispose of, say, a stone axe
And get something in exchange.

When the next man started writing

On his little bits of clay,
He was dishing up the story
In a different kind of way,
And it's rather more than likely
He was trying to describe
The advantages of dealing
With a member of his tribe.

They were elementary people
With an elementary plan,
But they laid a good foundation
For the modern business man:
And it's rather more than likely,
If you try the self-same way,
You'll be selling out tomorrow.

"Little Stories for Bedtime" by Thornton W. Burgess

OLD MOTHER NATURE'S WHITE MAGIC

PETER RABBIT is just like most boys and girls when the first real snow falls. If he had the voice for shouting he would shout for pure joy. As it is he kicks his long heels together and does foolish things just to show how good he feels. I suspect that if Uncle Billy Possum should see him he would say that Peter is "light in his head." But Uncle Billy Possum means to be, and usually is, snug and warm in his hollow tree when the first snow falls.

"Oh," said Peter, "That is Only Old Roughleg, the Hawk."

A sort of fairyland, a beautiful, glittering, white fairyland wherein is not one single ugly or unpleasant thing to see. There was the Old Pasture. When Jolly, round, red Mr. Sun went to bed behind the Purple Hills the Old Pasture was a black and dreary waste, for you remember that the Red Terror had swept across it and left it black and unsightly, a dreadful thing to look at. Now as Jolly, round, red Mr. Sun kicked his blankets and began his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky the Old Pasture lay white and pure and beautiful. Was not that magic? In just the few short hours of the night Old Mother Nature had made a wonderfully beautiful thing of a dreadfully ugly thing. "Sometimes," confided Peter to little Mrs. Peter, "I have wished

Expect Smelt Will Run Early This Year

An early run of smelt up the streams along the Lake Michigan shore is expected by the Department of Conservation because of the open winter. It is considered likely that the run will begin the first or second week of March.

Because of the fact that large catches of smelt have been taken through the ice and from the docks in open water during the winter, the run this spring is expected to be the largest in the history of the species in Michigan.

During the "crust" smelt may be taken with hand nets of not more than five feet in circumference or with handles not over five feet in length. From the following streams are designated by the Conservation Commission:

Charlevoix County: Boyne River down from Pearl St. in Boyne; Deer Creek down from dam on Sec. 25, South Arm Township; Horton Creek down from dam on Sec. 4, Bay Township; Monroe Creek down from Highway Bridge; Porter Creek down from dam situated 720 feet from the mouth; Stover Creek down from dam situated 720 feet from the mouth; Benzie County: Cold Creek down from northern line of Clark Street in village of Beulah; Crystal Lake outlet above Hammond's Bridge; Lamo Lake Outlet. All other streams entering Crystal Lake down from road around lake.

FIND HOME ROBBER!

RESERVES UPSET IN SEASON'S FINAL

The Dearborn reserves scored heavily against the Blue and White quintet in the first half to emerge victorious. Kautz was the outstanding scorer, having made five field goals and three foul shots. McLaren was the high point man for Plymouth with three field goals and a foul shot. The score at the end of the half was 15-2, but in the second half the reserves scored one point more than Dearborn. The final score was Dearborn 27, Plymouth 14.

Although the Rokes did not win many games this year, the prospects for next year will be fine because all the players are either freshmen or sophomores.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Ever since I can recall I've been very fond of dogs. Large or small, clean or dirty, thorough bred or mongrel, it made little difference to me, they were still "dog." My own was a big collie that we'd raised from mere puppy-hood. I was almost crazy about him and it hurt me dreadfully to be forced to leave him at the lake during the winter months, even though I realized he would be utterly miserable in town with so many automobiles and cats.

One spring we went to the lake for a brief stay. As soon as we arrived Laddie was upon us, leaping, wagging his tail vigorously, and bestowing very damp, truly dog kisses. I immediately went into the cottage and hurriedly changed my dress so I might go out and in part attempt to return some of the affection illustrated by the canine's passionate overtures. Running to the door, merely glancing up enough to see the dog approaching I braced myself slightly, held open my arms as a signal for the dash, and cried "darling?" Then did I glance up, to see, much to my embarrassment, a young man standing a few feet from me staring in dumfounded amazement.

Sunday, March 13 is not the day to plan dinner for home, even if city visitors will come. It is the day to have the Big Chicken Dinner at the Parish Banquet Hall, and also to bring the city-folk over too.

The Ladies of the Altar Society are busy with arrangements for a dinner program that will surpass the last one of October opening day. On that last time folks coming late were unfortunate with their appetite for chicken, as the plans call for from 5:30 post meridian till 8:00, it might be set from half after five 'till ate.

If we remember right, the Dedication Day Program brought out some 750 diners, and if every thing is okay this time there will be more than that, rain or shine, come and dine. Good time guaranteed.

Sunday and Tags played together, the Last Sunday of winter months and Last Sunday for auto tags. The mild weather brought many together, and for the first time in several months of moons there was a very likely bunch of city-folk people out looking for homes and gardens and farms in the country. Young folks with the Spring fever and a scattering few robins looking for a place to build their nests were in season. And look our young man 'is Leap Year'!

COMMUNICATIONS

PREVENTING DIPHTHERIA

February 25, 1932

Editor, Plymouth Mail, Plymouth, Michigan.

To the Editor: One must agree that Sue M. Farrell, President, has amassed an imposing array of statistics and opinions relative to diphtheria, as published in the Plymouth Mail of February 5, 1932. One must remember, however, that personal opinions, even though reported in outstanding journals and publications, represent the views of the writers and are not always infallible.

The decrease in the number of cases of diphtheria in American cities and the well marked decline in the number of deaths (the result of extensive immunization of children) are too well known to demand defense or particular comment. Diphtheria has essentially been eliminated from such cities as Syracuse and Auburn, New York. Local experience is perhaps more convincing. Since 1920 emphasis has been placed on a thorough attempt to immunize the child population of Detroit. In that year the number of cases was 3181 with 450 deaths. During the next five years, even with an increasing population, the cases dropped to 1847 and the deaths to 173.

Not all children who receive diphtheria prevention become completely immune to that infectious disease. Immunity is a relative matter and all persons do not respond in the same degree. Essentially 80 percent become completely immune after the usual series of injections of toxin-antitoxin. It is essential that a Shick test be done to determine immunity before children are considered protected. On the whole the value of immunizing young children is greater than protecting older ones because most cases and most deaths are in the age groups from one to four years. Although complete protection does not result in all instances, there is well grounded evidence to indicate that if diphtheria is contracted subsequently the infection is of milder nature and the death rate far less.

The whole matter of diphtheria prevention has been a progress-study one. Real progress was made by the introduction of toxin-antitoxin. The occasional sensitization to horse serum which was a consequence of the original preparations, made with antitoxin derived from the horse, was eliminated by development of a method by which antitoxin from the goat was substituted. Within the past two or three years the method has again been improved through the introduction of toxoid, a preparation which eliminates the possibility of sensitization to serum and has the additional advantage of a further protection to a far greater extent. Recent reports indicate that about 95 percent of children can be expected to develop immunity to diphtheria by this method. Dr. W. H. Park in the Journal of the American Medical Association, November 4, 1932, states that "the serious efforts have ever resulted from the injections given to the tens of thousands of the New York children since we began our work, seven years ago."

The opinions of individual authorities indicate personal views. The general opinion of the medical profession is, however, expressed editorially by the Journal of the American Medical Association in their issue of February 6, 1932, where the story of the fight against diphtheria is presented, detailing the introduction of antitoxin which resulted in marked decrease in number of deaths from diphtheria. This project was subsequently studied and concentrated, and more and more as the years passed attained greater efficiency. The Shick test made possible detection of immune persons, and this was followed by the use of toxin-antitoxin mixtures and more recently diphtheria toxoid for purposes of prophylaxis. The campaign continues and in conclusion it is stated: "It must be an utterly stolid person, indeed, who can read or recall this heartening review of progress and accomplishment without experiencing a thrill of enthusiasm at what they have meant for human well-being. Let us recall at such times some of the requisite struggles that have been needed to secure the ends already attained. They were tedious and protracted studies in the bacteriologic laboratories under conditions by no means always devoid of personal danger; a mind's exertion, often in the face of derision and opposition of the misguided and misinformed; courage in the application of the results to the human patient; persistence and optimism—two mainstays of the medical investigator. It has been worth while."

Wm. J. BURNS, Executive Secretary, Wayne County Medical Society.

PLYMOUTH'S FUTURE

Editor, Plymouth Mail, Plymouth, Mich.

Dear Sir: In the Wednesday evening edition of the Detroit News of February 24, 1932, there appeared an article relative to the enviable record of the Village of Plymouth, and that Plymouth will receive the fiscal year with $25,000.00 in its "pocket," despite depression. A most commendable fact but how will it benefit the youth of Plymouth?

Plymouth is a young man's town. Plymouth is a town of opportunity. There are those who will argue against this statement, nevertheless, with a proper community spirit firmly imbedded in the mind of the adolescent, the possibilities and opportunities so apparent will become a reality.

However, a community spirit must have the backing of all, living to the best of our ability. Personal gain should be entirely eliminated. At this time the need for well directed recreation is a necessity. Life without a certain amount of enjoyment, becomes drab, sometimes vicious. True, we have clubs and clubs in Plymouth. But are these clubs catering to the individual who leaves his home at 7:00 a. m., returning at 6:00 p. m., with a pay envelope containing approximately $25.00 weekly? Decidedly no! What is there for this man's child or children? Is there a place in Plymouth, where good healthy recreation is to be found?

Why cannot we plan and have these plans materialize into a clubhouse, the type that is in use at Birmingham or Holland, Mich. A swimming pool, properly supervised would keep our boys off the streets. A large living room, open fireplace, radio, a polished floor would do much to keep young girls out of bootleggers parlors.

I presented this idea a long time ago to one of our local ministers, asking whether or not a plan could be worked out whereby the churches would foster a Saturday evening community affair. It was plain to see that this idea did not meet with favor and I was told that the "churches had their clubs" and were reaching quite a number of folks. I then asked what about some of the young folks, going into Detroit Saturdays, returning Sunday mornings, and I was told that this element would of course, even with a community club in progress, be needed out.

Then too, I am of the belief that the local merchants would benefit greatly in that, to attend community dances would prohibit the shopping trips to Detroit. In Europe the aristocracy makes provision for proper recreation for their help, then why cannot we, Americans, do this, especially in view of the fact that class or caste is not recognized? Or is it?

I have heard numerous complaints about the "shilly" atmosphere in Plymouth. I have heard folks make mention of the fact that they are looking forward to going back to Detroit. Why should this be? Living, even in Plymouth, a hundred years ago, after careful perusal of documentary evidence, was crude and the most humble home in Plymouth today, boasts of conveniences that were unheard of in 1832. Let us give our young people good books, proper environment, and the urge to go to city, leave Plymouth to make their mark in the world, will cease.

A community club, named "Anna M. Smith Community Club House" is not an impossibility! Let's make it a reality!

Respectfully, CAROLINE O. DAYTON.

No Bank Can Be Stronger or Safer In these days of trying conditions people are demanding the greatest protection they can secure for their funds. In this they are right. To meet this demand of the times, the First National Bank recently perfected what banking experts declare as safe a plan as ever devised for the protection of depositors. We created a trust fund to take care of the shrinkage of securities held by the bank. As a result of this action we wiped out at once any serious liability the bank had. New Deposits Can Be Withdrawn Any Time All new deposits are put in the Federal Reserve Bank and can be withdrawn at any time. Savings accounts, if left the usual time, will draw interest as in the past. You not only have the experience of the officials of the bank to assist you, but your Depositors' Committee is also assisting in seeing to it that every dollar placed in the bank is surrounded by every safeguard known to banking. We invite new accounts fully realizing the benefits these accounts will bring to you and your community. Plymouth will grow and prosper through the continued cooperation on the part of every one. That is why it is so important that we all work as one for the further growth and strength of your bank. SOUTHEASTERN MICHIGAN JOURNALISTS TO CONVENE

The students and advisers will meet in a one day session at the fourth annual convention of the Southeastern Michigan Journalists Association, Saturday, March 12.

This year it will be held at the Highland Park High School, Highland Park, Michigan, from 9:30 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.
Any person connected with publications in Southeastern Michigan is privileged to attend this convention. There are no membership dues, but there will be a registration fee of one dollar which covers the convention charges and luncheon.

The purpose of this organization is to improve school publications. The first convention was held in the spring of 1929 in Pontiac and the following year they met in Royal Oak; in 1931 they met in Flint. There will be fourteen round table groups offering a selection each hour for the delegates from newspapers and annuals.

There will be a special discussion for the students and also a special meeting for the advisers which will be called together by Miss Doris K. Trott, adviser of the "Tower" at Grosse Pointe and a state representative of the National Association of Journalism Advisers. This meeting takes place at 3:30 p. m. The student discussion will be conducted by Mr. William I. Mapel, assistant editor of the American Boy, who will discuss problems relative to conducting publications work.

AD. LIB.
Had to double-date them before they got this. The night sort of people have been cancelling subscriptions faster than they could count them since they printed the first article, but maybe with everybody reading about the rumpus in China, they can risk another week.

What the Senators could leave the school is a cat. The night sort of people are in a situation around there—unless it's a cat like we've got. But we fixed him; "no catch mice—no cat." The thing starved to death. They could even use three or four, the vermin are mighty plentiful. Two cats would be enough if they got the right kind. Think about it, Senators.

Was glancing over the senior biographies last week. This world is certainly going to the canines. None of the dames seem to be satisfied with settling down and being just a plain housewife. They all want to be "somebody's" stenographer. I don't know, maybe that's where they get their start in the housewife profession, but there's certainly going to be a rush on the secretarial business.

After having with much difficulty cleared this concerning affair, I came to the final case of the heart. The surface was extremely hard and so smooth that not a dent nor a scar of any description could be discerned upon it even with the help of our glasses, from which I determined that the common sense supplied by the brain kept it entirely free from emotional disturbances which are known to commonly affect other hearts.

Let us pause in the midst of our activities and shed a tear for the poor juniors, who are manning to keep busy. Last week it was the play, which by the way, was well done. This week it's a stunt night, and next week, and last but not least, is the J-Hop. None of those things are minor affairs by any chance, but the poor children seem to be holding up under the ordeal. Which only goes to show—what it goes to show.

A FRESHMAN'S HEAD

Having been urged by my numerous classmates, I shall try to set forth for their benefit the points in which a Freshman's head is peculiarly different from that of the upper classes.

Our dissector selected for our use the head of a boy. First of all, the skull was very much thicker than that of the upper classes. We observed carefully how very thick it was. Because of this great thickness, he explained the first year student met with great difficulty in accumulating knowledge. He mentioned the fact that teachers of the freshman class must be possessed of an extraordinary amount of patience, for ordinary methods of teaching have no effect here.

The skill being removed, very little seemed to remain except a number of curious green bean shaped particles. These were informed were the bits of knowledge acquired from teachers or from actual experience. Desiring to know what ideas these contained, a few were broken open. The first contained the very latest approved manner of making a paperwad, in another was found the definition for emphasizing probably very laboriously learned "Civics Claps," and still another had in it how to wiggle the ears. These discoveries may give an idea of the intricate workings of the minds of these queer creatures. It might be added here that the colors of the particles may be the reason for freshman ranting as they do to green.

Another thing very observable was that the head was nowhere connected with either the tongue or the limbs. This may account for the very queer remarks uttered and the queer things done by freshmen. Our lesson from this should be that people in this stage of life should be treated tolerantly and a few more made for things over which they have no control.

THE TEACHER'S HEART "CUM GRANO SALIS"
Having been often intrigued as regarding that intangible thing that sets a teacher apart from others of her species, I undertook recently the dissection of the heart of one of these in order to ascertain if therein lay the difference.

I shall therefore, without further preamble set forth my observations in the order of their occurrence. The first thing that was brought to my attention was a mass of minute particles which upon inspection proved to be composed of various dates, events, etc. which impressed upon me the fact that the heart must have been controlled by a continuous flow of facts from the brain.

After having with much difficulty cleared this concerning affair, I came to the final case of the heart. The surface was extremely hard and so smooth that not a dent nor a scar of any description could be discerned upon it even with the help of our glasses, from which I determined that the common sense supplied by the brain kept it entirely free from emotional disturbances which are known to commonly affect other hearts.

As was observed in the cynopet's heart, the aforesaid outer case contained a thin reddish liquor which, when inhaled in a tube indicated after this manner of thermometer, the quillities of those present. This difference was to be noted however, that when a good recitation or an intelligent comment was made it rose perceptibly but upon the entrance of a person in the act of chewing gum it sank unthinkingly to zero.

I was much astonished upon removing the case to find nothing more than a near bundle within. This was tied with what appeared at first glance to be an ordinary string but proved upon examination to be composed of inconspicuous features, plain but peculiar, tardy slips, roprimands, and other disciplinary methods which evidently had played prominent parts in this teacher's daily routine.

SNAPSHOTS

Here is a little news gathered here, there, and everywhere in good old P. M. S. We thought you would like to hear the latest, so here it is!

Beginners should observe Don and Betty between classes. There are lots of secrets in the air concerning stunt night. Are the freshmen and sophomores in?

You should have seen Vera and Jack the night of dress rehearsal for the Junior Play.

Love must be grand, at least Odene and Ida think it is. The juniors are busy making designs for their big event which will take place March 11.

Clifford and Analia are coming along nicely. You know what we mean, don't you? Signs of spring are beginning to show in some classes.

Keoney Greer will soon be making his first visit to school after being in the hospital.

We hear that a junior class advisor keeps a box of Graham crackers in her room. If only more teachers would do it!

Advanced bookkeeping students are not making per booklets. Short hand students are taking dictation now, yes, of course, in more than one way.

Well I guess you will have to wait until some more news turns up.

STARKWEATHER NOTES

Miss Willis's kindergarten class greatly enjoy the cut-out work. They are now making per booklets.

The first A has finished reading in the primer. They made lists of colored paper for a blackboard border.

Miss Stader's pupils made paper cut-outs of hats like those worn when George Washington was living. They cut out pictures of Washington. They cut out Indian war bonnets and mounted them on colored paper.

The fifth grade pupils have written stories about bananas. In geography Dorothy Lee won the spell-down last Tuesday. Billy Garret won Wednesday and Yola Thompson won Thursday.

The sixth grade are beginning their penmanship drills. Marion Bulson and Ellen Nyström won the prizes for the best biographies of Washington. Douglas Miller and Leadore Sandler had the best posters.

MERRY SEWERS MAKE CHANGE

The Merry Sewers are starting the new semester out right by welcoming seven new members. At the last meeting the following officers were elected:

Vice Pres.—Patricia Cassidy. Pres.—Jewell Starkweather. Sec. Treas.—Marion Gorton.

Tuesday, February 23, the meeting was under the direction of Mrs. Gorton and Miss McKinley. The program presented was appropriate for the day as it consisted of a number of games that in some way or another represented that highly honored person, George Washington.

The process of going through these papers, which had to be removed one by one, grew rather monotonous but upon feeling some thing hard towards the center I passed on with renewed energy hoping to discover at last some of the more natural human tendencies.

WARM WEATHER USHERS IN NEW SPORTS

To further explain the new Twin Valley Association and the new two sport ruling, Coach Matheson called out all the boys who intend to go out for any spring sport at a meeting held in the gym last Monday.

The two sport ruling provides that no boy may play on both the baseball and track team but he may play on one of these and on a minor sport team such as tennis and golf. This will give more chance to the boys who come out for the sports.

TELEPHONE CALLS DURING SCHOOL

Few people realize the trouble it takes to find the person they wish to speak to on the telephone. Sometimes these reasons for calling are merely ones of forgetfulness and could wait until a more convenient time. A long process is necessary to find the wanted person.

All the names of the students in the high school are filed on cards in an alphabetical order and according to their grades. There are six groups of cards with from eighty to one hundred and sixty names in each group.

CENTRAL GRADE SCHOOL NOTES

In a word test given to group one in Mrs. Koot's room, Delphine Bogenzschult and Carl Hale received one hundred percent for knowing all the words in the test.

The boys and girls in the two-B under Miss Mitchell made booklets containing a story about George Washington. The first A's are learning to spell and have studied eight words.

The three A class in Miss Weatherhead's room are learning to do simple carrying in subtraction. In language class the pupils wrote stories about George Washington last Wednesday.

The four A's under Miss Field have been making cotton posters. The four B's have been planting seeds to show values of water, good soil and sun-shine.

Margaret Erdelyi won in a spell-down which was given to the fourth graders by Miss Holt. Isabel Naxra won in one in the fifth grade.

The pupils in Mrs. Holliday's room are also making booklets of George Washington.

The pupils in Miss Feumer's room are starting to study for the spell-down which is to be given March eighteenth. Marjory Van Norman was the current event leader last week.

When at last this small oblong object was reached, I proved it after close inspection and much deliberation to be a miniature encyclopedia.

WHEN I CONSIDER

When I consider how my money's spent,
And I am left, poor fool, without a cent,
I wonder how I can be so small,
Somehow.
Think what I might have been,
Observe me now,
A fool and money are parted soon,
It's said,
How long this took to penetrate my brain,
I might have saved some for a rainy day,
I thought that showers never came my way,
To weep over milk that's spilled is wasting time,
Just think before you spend that

VOLLEY BALL TO START MONDAY

Now that class basketball is at an end, the boys are looking forward to the annual volley ball tournament. This will not begin until Monday so that there will be a brief lull in school athletic activities. There will be a slight variation in the rules this season. Each class will be represented by three teams in the high school, while the Junior League will be composed of four teams each from the seventh and eighth grades.

JUNIORS WIN LEAGUE TITLE

By winning from the freshmen last week, the juniors won the undisputed championship of the Senior League. The race this year has been closer than in previous years when one team usually ran away for a clear title.

The next announcement was that all people who have earned penmanship diplomas will find their names on the bulletin board on the third floor. Donald Bronson, then announced the annual D-Hop, which is to take place March 11. Names for invitations should be handed in to Geraldine Schmidt, who is chairman of the invitation committee.

JUNIOR PLAY CUTS SEEN IN ASSEMBLY

The first announcement in last Wednesday's general assembly was about Stunt Night, an annual event of no small importance in Plymouth High. Each class thinks of a stunt and acts it, and each class sells tickets.

Donald Bronson, then announced the annual D-Hop, which is to take place March 11. Names for invitations should be handed in to Geraldine Schmidt, who is chairman of the invitation committee.

Senior Biographies
Helen Adeline Compton was born in Palo, Michigan, which she admits is smaller than Salem, Ore. Her ambition is to be a good housewife.

Ellen Davis, who has pretty black hair and pretty brown eyes, is another biographer. That she is able to be a stenographer if the depression doesn't last too long, for even stenographers who are good-looking have their troubles finding jobs nowadays.

Stevie Dudek, whose middle name is Joseph, came into this world in the city of Detroit. He says he isn't sure what his ambition is, but we are certain that whatever he decides to do will be done successfully.

Arthur Bremer, whose reddish-brown hair is slightly wavy, was born in Flint. Arthur must want to be a stunt engineer. We think he would indicate such, for example, he is certainly an able-bodied fellow.

Fourth Quarter Koppitsh got the tipoff and Lucas scored a basket on a beautiful dribble in. He was called on holding and Williams scored one point. Gilles fouled Fellerstrom, who missed his shot, and went out on four personal fouls.

Williams was called on holding and Williams scored one point. Gilles fouled Fellerstrom, who missed his shot, and went out on four personal fouls.

The first safety barge was introduced in 1825 on the Hudson River. By this time, river transportation had grown to great importance and safety devices were required because of the heavy traffic.

For forty-two Years

For forty-two years this old Plymouth United Savings Bank has been caring for the financial needs of this community.

It has grown with the community and has steadily expanded its facilities to meet the increasing use which the public has made of its bank.

During those forty-two years there have been several panics and depressions. This bank has weathered them all and has emerged from each with new friends and broader ideals of service.

Changing times have demanded changes in practice. A bank, like any other business which is to remain sound, must not furnish service at a loss. Any charges which we have put into effect have been based upon our long experience and our belief that the average depositor desires first of all that his bank be sound and is willing to pay any reasonable charge for the service he receives.

You will find at this bank everything that you would expect of the type of bank you would select as a depository for your funds.

HOARDED CASH IS COMING OUT

Treasury Bonds Will Be On Sale Monday—Real Progress Made

While Michigan forces fighting hoarded dollars pressed their campaign Tuesday, announcement was made that the United States Treasury Department certificates will go on sale March 7, as a climax of the three weeks' drive.

Word has been received from Washington that certificates will sell in City banks for $50, $100 and $500. Henry T. Ewald, commander-in-chief of the State anti-hoarding committee announced. In turn the banks will place in circulation the money brought out of hiding to purchase the certificates, he said.

Meanwhile, various groups throughout the City were learning further details of President Hoover's war against hoarded dollars. Louis Cohane, member of the Detroit committee, outlined the plan in a talk before the Women's Advertising Club of Detroit at its luncheon Tuesday noon. "The money which must be brought back into circulation is not in the savings accounts, but rather stored away in the toes of the old socks of the family treasuries," Mr. Cohane said. "Putting this money back into circulation would restore prosperity."

"These Government certificates will be redeemable on 60 days' notice. Banks issuing them will immediately loan out the funds to business firms through the Federal Reserve system channels."

Reinforcements were added to the anti-hoarding offensive Tuesday when the Michigan Bankers Association endorsed for service. Henry Zimmerman, of Pontiac, president of the Association, notified Mr. Ewald of their backing.

From various points in the State word was received of a drive against the hoarded dollars. A gigantic demonstration to celebrate the plan's inauguration was reported in Muskegon.

President Hoover's Campaign to get the money back into circulation is in full swing and according to Henry T. Ewald, Chairman for Michigan, is already beginning to bear fruit.

"The conditions," Mr. Ewald said, "that caused the withdrawal of something like a billion and a half dollars from the banks and the hiding of it in safe deposit boxes and other places are gradually being overcome. The constructive and unpartisan legislation recently enacted by Congress is helping to restore confidence. People are spending more freely and money that has been in hiding for months is getting back into the banks."

"The local Committee has had reports from a number of merchants of an increasing proportion of sales for cash—a good deal of it old large size money that has been out of circulation for some time."

As one concrete evidence of the return of cash to circulation, G. I. Smith, Detroit zone manager for Chevrolet, reported that 29 new and second hand cars sold in the last two days had been paid for half in cash—about $7,000. A Gratiot Ave. company, he said, sold a rebuilt car Monday for $87. Of this $87 was in old bills and the rest was silver.

H. A. Harrington of the Detroit Board of Commerce, reports that a man with a $7,000 bank mortgage on his property walked into a local bank Tuesday and paid it off largely with a wad of old-size bills.

During the coming week the Detroit speakers committee under the direction of Louis Cohane will get into action. This committee is made up chiefly of veteran four-minute men who served in the Liberty Bond campaigns of fifteen years ago. They will address noonday Clubs, women's organizations and other groups whenever meetings can be arranged.

Newspaper, radio and outdoor advertising throughout the state will also be inaugurated the first of next week. The local organization in some fifty of the cities and towns of the state are showing unusual enthusiasm and are reporting strong support from the people of their various communities.

The preliminary campaign of education is to last through next week, leading up to and preparing the way for issuance of short time Government Certificates in denominations of $50, $100, and $500, bearing a low rate of interest but redeemable even before they are due on 60 days' notice. These certificates with the guarantee of the Government back of them will, it is believed, bring into action a large proportion of the money now in hiding.

Coming Attractions At Penniman-Allen

"BEHIND THE MASK"

"Behind The Mask" the Columbia picture that appears at the Penniman Allen Theatre Sunday and Monday, March 6 and 7, with Jack Holt, Boris Karloff and Constantine Cummings in the leading roles, shivers with terrifying incidents. It is as gruesome a "horror" film as any that have so far been released, and it is presented with such stark realism, that it takes a person with pretty steady nerves to sit through it entirely composed. Then, too, the picture does not depend entirely for its appeal on this "shock" element; an intelligent, logical and exciting mystery is neatly woven into the plot. As a result, every minute of "Behind The Mask" bristles with suspense. It is intensely thrilling screen entertainment.

"WAYWARD"

"Wayward" based upon Mabel Howland's novel "Wild Beauty" co-stars Nancy Carroll, Richard Arlen, and Pauline Frederick, three cinema stars of notable achievement and popularity, and may be seen at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, March 9 and 10.

"Wayward" presents the theme of a persecuting mother-in-law, the part portrayed by Pauline Frederick, who thinks her son's wife, Nancy Carroll, is quite unworthy of the affection of her darling boy, Richard Arlen, and certainly quite beneath the social prominence and dignity of the Brownest-Frost families, the most aristocratic in Cloughbarrie. Of course she would be fair to the girl—who was pretty—and try to make her worthy of her new position, but it was all a terrible mistake.

"SUNSET TRAIL"

Ken Maynard and his wonder horse, Tarzan, again offer a thrilling and action-filled Western in "Sunset Trail," a Tiffany Production, featuring, showing at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, March 9 and 10.

It is a story of the days of the open range before the law had firmly established itself on the Western cattle towns. Ken is soon as a cow hand who has forsaken the range for a life in one of the smaller towns because of his love for a little boy, son of a pal who had been killed in a stampede.

"HEAVEN ON EARTH"

"Indubitably" Law Ayres' best screen vehicle since his memorable triumph, "All Quiet on the Western Front," will appear at the Penniman Allen Theatre, Friday and Saturday, March 11 and 12.

Ayres' work is exceptional in this picture, and in the role of Stages Lilly he delivers a striking characterization of an ignorant, but somewhat bewitched by his baffling at the hands of fate, Anita Louise is equal and altogether

Given A Surprise On Their Anniversary

Although Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Partridge were to be hosts to the Friday evening bridge club last week they had no idea that their guests would come gammat in such lovely summer white and flowery apparel and dress suits, but they apparently wished to do honor to their hosts as Saturday was their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The guests presented them with a beautiful table lamp in remembrance of the occasion. Following a jolly evening of bridge a delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Partridge after which all bid their adieu with good wishes for many more happy years of wedded life.

Saturday evening about twenty-four relatives gathered at the Partridge home to help them celebrate their silver wedding anniversary at a co-operative dinner which was served at six-thirty o'clock. The evening passed most quickly in the playing of games and reminiscing. The guests not only brought the makings of a delicious dinner but several lovely gifts which Mr. and Mrs. Partridge will cherish all their days. The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Marsh of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Thelma Long of Adrian, Mrs. Amelia Ford and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hamilton of Northville and Owen Partridge of Lansing. The modern, dignified funeral service in America is one of beautiful simplicity. Old time pomp, trappings and style fads are avoided. And yet, new innovations continually are making themselves felt. One of the truly important improvements in present day funeral services is the use of the Nu-3-Way, side serving hearse. We have found that this hearse helps us to avoid many of the inconveniences that attended the use of old style equipment. With our side-servicing hearse we no longer need request the pall bearers to take the casket out into the street. There is no lifting effort connected with the placing or removing of the casket. A casket table takes care of this function. Traffic and weather difficulties have been eliminated because the casket can be serviced through whichever side of the hearse is most convenient.

Plymouth's Excellent Financial Position Given Statewide Publicity In Special Article in Detroit News

Plymouth received some excellent statewide publicity the other day when W. A. Markland, one of the special writers of the Detroit News, wrote an article for the News telling of the ideal financial position of this village and how local officials have brought about both a reduced valuation as well as tax rate.

The article is complete follows: "Detroit hasn't need to go to Milwaukee or Louisville for lessons in governmental economy.

Eight in the northwest corner of Detroit's own front yard lies the village of Plymouth, and Plymouth now approaches the end of its fiscal year with a $25,000 roll in its municipal pocket.

That may not sound like much to one accustomed to reading the round and fulsome figures of metropolitan finance, but it must be remembered that $25,000 is "net," and if the harassed officials of Detroit or Chicago could look forward to having 25 cents free, clean and unimpaired they would consider themselves fortunate indeed. There is no joker in Plymouth's achievement. There are no gold mines or oil wells to enrich the municipal treasury. The village, in fact, is not accustomed to having cash balances. It simply recognized that an economic emergency was at hand and took prompt action. The wolf at the door was dragged in and hitched to the treadmill.

Plymouth's story can be told in a few simple figures.

The village has a population of a little less than 4,000. Its assessed valuation in 1930 was $7,208,000. Its operating budget for that year was $97,289.

Beginning the fiscal year of 1931 which ends March 31, this year, the village commissioners saw the necessity of economy. They went a bit farther than the average governmental body, which stops with figuring out how it can run on what it ought to be able to collect. The commissioners decided that the times demanded an immediate reduction of the cost of government to the people.

The valuation of the village was cut from $7,208,000 to $6,106,000 and the operating budget was pared from $97,289 to $76,328. This lowered the tax rate $1 a thousand, and the lower tax rate the village has enjoyed since 1922. So the village began the year with the unusual combination of a lower valuation and a reduced tax rate.

Then the commissioners buckled down to the job: not of spending the $76,328 but of saving some of it. They have succeeded in saving an expenditure will not exceed $70,000.

But that was not the only point where the commissioners showed wisdom. When they estimated the village revenues in preparing their budget they were conservative to the point of pessimism. After fixing the estimate, they bent their efforts toward themselves wrong. The sum of reduced expenses and increased revenue is the $25,000 cash in the bank.

What are they going to do with that $25,000?

They are going to use it to reduce next year's tax rate. Plymouth is prepared to take another important step this month. On March 14 its residents will vote on the proposition of abandoning its village status, maintained since 1907, and become a city. There is just one reason for doing this, the village leaders believe that from $10,000 to $12,000 a year can be saved. Otherwise Plymouth would be content to go on as a village indefinitely.

At present the village is dominated by the township government. It pays 74 per cent of the township expenses. The village and township governments duplicate each other. They elect duplicate officers, they register and vote in two places. If Plymouth becomes a city it will be divorced from township government.

The manager form of government under which the village now operates, would be retained, according to the plan. The village manager and all the members of the commission, the men who put the village on a saving and paying basis are back of the plan to become a city. The manager is L. P. Cookingham. The president of the village is R. O. Mimmack, and the other commissioners are Frank LeSmet, George Robinson, John Henderson and Dr. Freeman Hoyer.

The commissioners and the manager deny that there is anything unusual about the way they effected savings. They just went out and cut expenses. Village salaries were reduced from $13,536 to $8,837, a 30 per cent cut, and the wages of the day laborers were cut little, if any.

The manager made up his budget in minute detail. This was a great aid in determining just where money could be saved.

Here is an example of common sense saving, illustrating of the close attention given village affairs. It is necessary for the water in Plymouth to be reservoir to be renewed every day. Until a year ago one man in the water department drove to the reservoir every day for that purpose. It was discovered that another village employee passed the reservoir each day on his way to work. Now he does the measuring and filling of the reservoir daily automobile makes a day's stay in the year.

The village expects its welfare expense for the year to run about $5,000. That is another reason it wants to become a city. The township now has charge of all welfare. According to President Mimmack while the village pays 75 per cent of the welfare cost of the township it gets very little in labor returns, most of the labor being used on the township roads. As a city it will have charge of its own welfare and expects to regain much of what is spent in the form of labor.

While it has been saving money Plymouth has been spending the money necessary for good government, according to President Mimmack. The commission spent $1,700 for keeping the streets clean and dustless; $300 on new water pumps; $700 on a new automobile and signaling system for the police department; $500 for painting all municipal buildings and $500 on new office equipment.

Last of all, the commission points proudly to an 88.1 per cent collection of taxes, a record equalled in few instances in Michigan in 1931, the members say.

"The people of Plymouth are willing to pay their taxes, because they feel that they are getting their money's worth," President Mimmack said. "It is a lot easier to get the money when taxes are going down than it is when they are going up."

WHAT OTHERS SAY

While we were a Village we were a part of the Township and as a result there was almost a continual strife between that part of the township outside of the Village and the people of the Village and continual hard feelings over selection of officers and matters of taxation.

Now we have nothing to say of the township affairs and they nothing to say regarding ours and everything has become harmonious between the two groups. They can raise such taxes as they desire without the feeling that the Village people are adding to their burdens and it is none of our business where they put their roads or what they spend their money for.

We have a member on the Board of Supervisors and strange as it may seem our representatives on the Board have been chairman of the Board three of the eight years since we became a city.

Our expenses have been a little less since becoming a city than they were as a Village and of course the manner of handling your municipal affairs is regulated by your charter and therefore you can make your expenses about what you want.

It is my opinion that if the question of being a City or Village was submitted to our people at this time that we would stay a city by the largest majority that any question was ever given, and I doubt very much that if the question of our becoming a village and going back into Township affairs was submitted to the people of the township that they would vote against it by almost a large vote. Every one seems entirely satisfied and remembering the former strifes are willing to forget them and tend to their own affairs.

We have done away with the tedious system of nominating officers which I believe was one of the worst features of the Village form. We nominate all of our officers by petition and therefore any group of people who feel they have a man they want to nominate have it in their power to put up their man.

Also we have a charter provision that there must be at least two candidates for every office to be filled. If only one petition is filed nominating only one person then the City Commission is obliged to fill in the vacant place and we have found that it has been very satisfactory in its working out, and so far very few places have had to be filled in as usually every place has been filled by petitions. Also we have made all of our elections on either National or State election dates so that we have and will always have a good big vote at each election and those elected have the feeling that they are the choice of the majority instead of being elected by a mere handful of votes.

If you change it will not make dollars grow in your streets overnight or effect other startling changes by the wave of your hand, but after you have been master of your own affairs for a while it will begin to grow on you that you are better off than you were before. Some of our township people were somewhat sore when the vote was taken, but today I would wager that they are entirely satisfied and would rather it would be as it is than back in the old way.

I have always been interested in these changes as I was President of the Village at the time the change was being made and was the first Mayor and had a lot to do with the planning and work of shaping things at that time. If we can be of any further assistance we would be glad to do what we can to assist.

Yours truly, I. FAY HORTON.

CITY OF WATERVLIET

Replying to your letter of January 30, regarding Watervliet's experience as a fifth class city. Watervliet reincorporated and adopted a city charter under this act in 1925, so we have had nearly seven years as a city.

The city form of municipal government has proven entirely satisfactory with us and I believe there are some distinct advantages over the village form of government, with little if anything to offset. We find that there is a substantial savings in cost, in that the municipality is relieved entirely of paying any part of the cost of the township government. Duplications in the local assessments and collection of taxes are done away with.

The municipality has its own representative on the county board, which is of value. Also the municipality frames its own charter providing a form of government to meet its particular requirements.

There may be some cases where the township outside the city would not be left with enough assessed valuation to properly carry on the functions of township government without too much of a burden to the rural property owners. In our case the township was left with an assessed valuation of $1,300,000 and the city has $1,400,000. Trusting this brief survey may prove of some value to you in your consideration of the proposition. I am,

Very truly yours, LEON D. CASE Mayor.

Boy Scouts Give Program on Radio

Boy Scouts of the Plymouth District gave the program during the Scout hour over WXYZ on Saturday, February 27th. The program represented a campfire scene and included group songs, solos and an inspirational talk.

Scout Schroeder of 14-1 led the group in the Scout Oath to open the program.

Forbes Smith gave a solo on his trumpet. A Scout from the Wayne County Training School played a harmonica solo and a group from the same institution offered a novelty arrangement of "River Stay Away From Me, Dear." District Commissioner Hudson gave an inspirational talk on the first Scout Law during the "Scoutmasters' minute." F. J. Hoavener, Field Scout Executive of the North Area Division was master of ceremonies. Scouts from several of the District Troops comprised the chorus for group songs.

Station WXYZ has given Scout Headquarters the period from 5:45 to 6:00 p. m. every Saturday. Last Saturday was the fourth in the series of Scout programs. It was the first program put on by any District, the first three being put on by special groups.

There will be an interesting program every week and Scouts and others interested in Scouting are invited by District Council to tune in.

MOTHER MAY PLAY POKER

A woman may play bridge—no even poker—these days without coming in for judicial censure. Judge Harry B. Miller, of Chicago, ruled in deciding against Cecil Jory, who sought custody of his two children from his former wife, Isobel, on the ground that the mother neglected them to play cards. "Nowadays there is no moral turpitude connected with card playing," the court said. "Mrs. Jory may even play poker."

Colonial Luncheon Given By W.C.T.U.

The Colonial Luncheon, given by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at 1:00 p. m. of February 25th, at the pleasant home of the president, Mrs. E. C. Vealey, was a delightful affair. The guests were greeted at the door by a smiling hostess, with beautifully powdered hair, and dressed in a charming dress of the Martha Washington style. Washington and Lincoln, in portrait, looked down upon a scene where rooms were made bright with little flags, and three long tables, beautifully arranged, each with a Washington cherry tree in the center, gave promise of a feast in store. And truly it was a feast, and from Johnny cake to cherry pie, the luncheon proved a delight to the thirty ladies seated at the tables.

When the luncheon was over, a Washington program was given under the direction of the president. First came the roll call when each member displayed a small antique and gave a brief history of the same. This proved very interesting, some of the antiques dating back to Colonial times.

A paper, by Miss Nettie Pelham gave interesting facts about the life and exploits of George Washington.

Two beautiful duets were sung by the Misses Anna and Ada Youngs, and Mrs. Parker entertained the ladies with two fine readings entitled, "Tis Splendid to Live so Grandly," and "Going Home."

Taken, all in all, the day was one of great enjoyment for those who attended the Colonial luncheon.

The next meeting will be held March 24th at the home of Mrs. Havershaw.
