SMALL TOWN STUFF

By Nathan Howard Gist

"Small town stuff!" we often hear. There is a contemptuous way of saying that. It is usually accompanied with a sneer. Back of the words is the implication of derision. The remark suggests that the ways and methods and output of the small town are on a low plane, beneath the intelligence of honorable and circumspect people, not comparable with the things of the large city.

Whether people actually say these things or imply them, the plain fact remains that we are inclined to have the wrong feeling toward the small town; we give it a secondary place in our thought and consideration. The result was that there began a serious exodus from the small town and the rural community. People flocked toward the cities, enticed by the allurements of great commercial centers. For a time the large cities threatened to swallow up the individuality of America, so forcibly expressed by the personal element of the small towns. Happily this exodus to the cities has ceased, and that now, according to the recent census, the tide has turned the other way.

Don't despise the small town. There the boy and girl have room to breathe. The canopy of the blue heaven is their roof. The green grass is the carpet upon which they are reared. Folks know each other there. Friendships that are lasting are formed there. Neighborliness is not a matter of geography. The family life seems to be held intact, and its spirit is not so hard to maintain in the small town.

This is not speaking derogatory of the large city, for the good people of the city themselves frankly admit that they face acute problems of domestic life not known to people of the small town. They long for an escape from their difficulties, just as they long for a solution for their problems.

The personal touch, the close social contacts, recognition of the individual, better acquaintance with one's fellows, the larger opportunity for self-development, the wholesome environment for juvenile life, the right and duty of self-expression—all these are decided assets in our great cosmopolitan life afforded by the small town, which have made the blood and fiber and sinew of many an individual who has won fame in the world, and has never ceased acknowledging his obligation to the small town and its benefits.

Cities we need, and city life we shall have. The city will remain. It may not be safe, but it is here to stay. But we also need, and need sorely, small town stuff; the stuff which has built the city. So be thankful that the indications are we shall have more of it.

The small town must be the balance-wheel of the nation. There do we find America, the true America, the prophecy of the future, the foundation of our representative government, the source of our stability, our strength today, and our hope of a greater America.

TODAY

With the setting sun, your hopes of yesterday died out. All right. That was yesterday.

Things didn't materialize the way you dreamed they would. All right again. Now—the present hour—is Today. Yesterday bears no relation to it, except perhaps, the relation that a nightmare bears to the morning after.

Forget all about yesterday. It is dead and buried in the cemetery of Time.

Today is alive. Are you? Well then, get busy! Fling from your shoulders the depressing weight of those hopes that haven't come true. Stand erect. Man, the world is yours! You have just as much claim on its good things—on the things you've longed for and prayed for and worked for—as the other fellow has.

This hour has been handed to you as a gift from the overflowing storehouse of Eternity.

What are you doing with it? Answer that.

Moping? Growling? Despairing? For shame! God has favored you with another chance to make good. He has given you Today. Prove your appreciation by making it a stepping-stone to happier worthier tomorrows. The Imprint, St. Paul, Minnesota.

LEARNING TO PUT ON THE BRAKES

That we have been going through the most disastrous times in years no one will deny and yet out of its ruins we have at least learned one lesson. How to put on the brakes. Of course a lot of us hadn't used them for so long we had about forgotten where to look, but listen, brother, when you are going down hill at full speed, overloaded with self-confidence, and geared for a non-stop run; then look up only to see the bridge gone before its time to take your foot off the accelerator and reach for the emergency brake before you're lost in the maelstrom of disaster.

Yes, truly, we have progressed, and at a rapid rate. Speed has been our watchword and final goal below and no one cared very much about what was to happen above. In fact, everybody was so busy speeding up nobody had time to think. It simply wasn't being done in the speediest families. Then what was the use of bothering about thinking, anyhow. Let the other fellow do it.

Hospital Bills Are Going to Be Plenty

Wasn't your broker investing your money for you at a 20 per cent yield, which could never get lower? Was not motor cars getting cheaper and gas stations more plentiful? Didn't we have a two billion dollar Congress? Why, said the wise boys of industry, we hadn't started to go yet. Just wait until the farmers get speeded up and then things will happen—and they did.

Everybody with as much as thirteen acres bought one tractor, two automobiles and a dozen mortgage blanks, and started out to multiply and replenish the earth, and all that's left now to multiply is mortgages.

But at last we are, through necessity, slowing down and beginning to really think for ourselves, and when men and women begin thinking right, then will right plans be formulated and this old sphere move along in a safe and sane manner. Yes, brother, it's been a pretty hard lesson and a very expensive one, but we have at least learned where the brake pedal is.—Hunter Freeman in Paris, Mo., Mercury.

TIN GODS OF THE BENCH

South Dakota presents the spectacle of a newspaper editor, who dared criticize the leniency of the court, getting a heavier sentence than the man whose punishment was criticized.

A former county official was charged with forgery, and the evidence was so clear that conviction resulted. The sentence was a $300 fine and six months in jail, with the jail sentence suspended.

The newspaper editor who protested such a light sentence for betrayal of a public trust was haled into court for contempt. The judge handed a $200 fine and 30 days in jail to both the editor and publisher of the paper. And there was no suspension of the jail sentence.

It is just such instances as this that cause our system of justice to lose respect in the public mind. The courts are not above criticism, no matter what some of the judges who sit on the benches may think. Such officials are merely piling up contempt for themselves and disrespect for law when they seek to establish their own infallibility.

"WE ARE SORRY TO LOSE NELT."

In the 25 year ago column of the Plymouth Mail last week appeared a brief item about the removal of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Schrader to Northville. The final paragraph of the item said, "We are sorry to lose Nelt." What has happened during the intervening 25 years that has any bearing upon the expression of regret contained in the Mail of the yesterdays? When Mr. Schrader moved to Northville he had purchased a small furniture and undertaking business there. By strict attention to affairs and diligent work, his business started to grow. He put up a new block for his furniture store, one of the most attractive structures on the business streets of the town. Then he erected a beautiful chapel for his undertaking work. Business continued to grow and seven or eight years ago he erected another block on the other side of his furniture store. His place of business is now by far the largest in Northville. In civic affairs his success has been as marked as in business. He has served numerous times as village president. He has been president of one of the luncheon clubs of the town and for many years he has been president of the Northville-Wayne County Fair Association, an organization that he still heads. In the 25 years since he left Plymouth he has become the largest taxpayer in Northville and one of the most devoted workers to the progress and advancement of the community he adopted as his home. His intense civic loyalty and interest has naturally had much to do with his material achievements. There is not much question but what he would have attained the same success, possibly a bit more, if he had remained in the community where he first started his business career. The Mail said 25 years ago "we are sorry to lose Nelt." The Mail says today "we are sorry we lost Nelt."

JACKSON PRISON

Jackson prison is now the largest penal institution in the world. Up to this date its average population during 1932 has been considerably over 5,000. At the present time another cell block is being erected to take care of the additional number of prisoners that must be cared for in the immediate future. Even with the completion of the new cell block, the prison is not regarded as large enough to properly house the rapidly increasing prison population for a year or so at the most. When former Governor Groesbeck started to build this new prison he was bitterly condemned because of the fact that he was building it so large. He told his critics six or seven years ago that by the time the structure was completed they would find it necessary to build additional cell blocks. That is just what the state is doing today.

THE LESSON TO BE LEARNED

It is the part of wisdom to recognize truth when we meet it, and to act accordingly. This is the reason why there is much food for thought in a recent utterance by Calvin Coolidge. Said the former president:

"We have found out that we were not so big as we thought we were."

This is a wholesome interpretation of the present situation even if it is not very pleasing to our vanity. We have been undergoing a rude awakening. Our fanciful dreams have come to an end. Now we should be careful not to go back to sleep again.

Rambling Around with Michigan Editors

TIMES CHANGE

When the government was small it could tackle important problems and settle them in a short time, without any excessive expense.

But that was then. Now the government is so large and unwieldy it tramps on its own toes whenever it moves, becomes entangled in its own mess of intricacies, and gets nowhere except further in debt.

That is now! What will the future bring?—Paul Robinson in The Wayne Review.

DO THE PEOPLE WANT GOOD GOVERNMENT?

Is Groesbeck going to be a candidate in the primaries against Brucker? That question is often asked. Two Clinton county farmers this week stated they were going to vote for him if they ever had another chance, and both said they had been opposed to him, as was most of Clinton county, in past elections. Mr. Groesbeck is still a most potent republican possibility—and that in spite of his several defeats. What one hears most is this, "I didn't like Groesbeck's autocratic ways, but while he was governor he was GOVERNOR." What this amounts to is that people feel today that the state and the legislature need strong leadership, and that in spite of our comprehensive relief legislation and their fight unrelentingly for its passage. There is no dispute about Groesbeck's courage or his ability to think and act independently.—Schuyler Marshall in the Clinton County Republican.

We quote the above from the St. John's editor because it tells the secret of the weak administration of state affairs and incidentally the cause of high taxes and extravagance in state government.

Laying aside our prejudices, we must admit that Alex J. Groesbeck was the best governor Michigan has had in many years. He was an executive in every sense of the word, had a program of real merit, and possessed the ability to put it across. And when he was governor he worked at the job for 14 or 15 a day. The people of the state never got very well acquainted with Groesbeck because he was too busy governing Michigan to travel about the state crowning queens and making speeches about "the birds, the bees and the flowers." He took his job seriously and worked at it with the same assiduity that an executive of a large corporation does who knows that his company is looking to him for results.

But we, the people, do not want executives of this caliber. We prefer the kind of a politician who has a winsome personality and who can make good speeches, the kind who will visit our communities and tickle our vanity with a lot of empty platitudes about our state's place in the sun, our glorious America, etc. And while he is doing this, the business of the state, the greatest business in Michigan, is moving languidly along without proper guidance. None of the larger corporations could succeed in the commercial world if operated with the same slipshod methods used in conducting the state's business.

We, however, are not accusing others without taking some of the blame ourselves. We are too foolish enough to think that Groesbeck was a usurper of power, a veritable dictator, who should be ousted from office. We joined in the acclaim against him, but we are frank now to acknowledge our error. Governments often face crises when an honest dictator is needed, one of these crises is now. But the man who can meet the challenge of the hour is never popular. We recall a comment Samuel Blythe once made about Ellhu Root. Blythe said that Root would make a great president if he could only be elected. But a man of Root's dynamic mind and marvelous executive ability would never survive a popular election. The American people do not want that type of an executive!

The same holds true with the state. We realize that the way to reduce taxes is to cut the cost of government to the bone and insist on a dollar's worth of value for every dollar spent. But we prefer to elect travelling governors than to choose one distinguished for his executive ability, one who will stay on the job and administer the affairs of this great business, the state of Michigan.

Human nature is not easily changed. Only a political rabelscum will wake us up. But the cure never lasts. — Don VanderWerp in The Freedom Times-Indicator.

Gaining Wisdom

Nothing ventured, nothing won. This is the motto of those who are determined to do something, to go somewhere, in the short span of their lives.

Nothing ventured, nothing lost. This is the excuse of those who fear to move out of the beaten track lest failure engulf them.

It is a valid excuse, too, for those who see failure only as the end.

But among those who see possible failure only as a means to another end, this gospel of fear finds few followers.

Experience is worth a lot, no matter what price we must pay for it. For it experience is born wisdom. And wisdom never comes to the man who sits down and waits.

The Meaning of Saving

Saving does not mean hoarding. It means wise spending—spending for your needs and placing a part of your money in a reserve fund in some good bank where it will work for you.

The last few months have shown hundreds of people in this community the value of cash to assist in living expenses. You too, no matter what other investments you may have, will find that dollars in a bank is one of the best investments you can make.

Fire Department Asks Cooperation When Reporting Fire

More fires are reported by telephone to the Plymouth fire department than by any other means, according to Chief Fred Wagenschutz. That serves to reduce the fire loss that otherwise would be sustained, by many thousands of dollars, he says, emphasizing that the time saved in telephoning an alarm results in quicker arrival of the fire fighting apparatus and crews. Generally the arrival of the department at the scene of a conflagration is a matter of only a very few moments after the telephoned report is received, which may mean the difference between slight damage and almost total loss of the property.

Urging that the person reporting a fire by telephone do so in a calm, clear voice, giving the street address, cross streets, and other essential information as quickly as possible, Chief Wagenschutz says that the Michigan Bell Telephone Company cooperates with the department closely.

The telephone operators, for instance, are instructed to give precedence to fire and other emergency calls, and pay full and speedy attention to such a call the instant it flashes through the central office switchboards. The operator handling a fire call also remains on the line until full or sufficient information concerning the blaze is supplied the fire department, and frequently gives valuable assistance in relating the facts.

There are many instances on record of persons excitedly reporting fires merely by shouting into the telephone. "My house is on fire," and giving no other information. In such case, the operator or her superior associates the origin of the call by consulting the central office records and gives the information and address to the fire department.

The Michigan Bell Company shows on the front of the telephone directory instructions for reporting fires by telephone.

It has been the practice of a few people in Plymouth to call the Village Hall as soon as the fire starts in order that they may ascertain the location of the fire. The Village Manager states that this practice causes the calls to pile up on the lines and prevents the members of the voluntary department from promptly getting information on the location of fires. If the persons other than the volunteer firemen would allow at least five minutes time to elapse before calling the office, a lot of the confusion could be eliminated. It may become necessary to refuse information regarding the location of fires until after all necessary information is dispatched to members of the department. The cooperation of everyone is requested in this matter in order that the fire department can maintain its maximum efficiency.

Will Direct Legion Welfare Activity

Irving J. Ulrich, first vice commander of Myron H. Deas Post No. 32 of The American Legion, announced today the appointment of Floyd Eckles to be Post Child Welfare Officer. He will work under the direction of Herbert R. McKinney, of Detroit, department child welfare chairman, who has charge of the Legion's child relief activities in Michigan.
President Hoover, in a proclamation issued recently, has designated May 1st as "Child Health Day," in which the American Legion plans to take a definite part. In Michigan, Sunday May 1st, will be marked by special church services and sermons touching on child welfare and child health. In addition, every Legion Post in the State has been asked by Chairman McKinney to assume the responsibility for the health of not less than one returned child.
In a letter to first vice commander Ulrich, McKinney writes: "In observance of Child Health Day, will you not have your post and Child Welfare Officer make it their duty to search out in your own community at least one returned child who is in need of some form of relief, looking to the betterment of his or her health, happiness and living conditions. These days of privation and suffering mean malnutrition, and will leave their mark on the present generation of little ones for many years to come.
"Find such a case in your own community. It may be a child that needs hospitalization, or optical or dental work. Cooperate with your school and county nurses, your clinics, health officers and social agencies."

Each post is asked to report its case and the disposal made of it to McKinney's office that it may follow through in assuring the individual child's future.
Child welfare officers have already been named in nearly 450 of Michigan's 250 Legion posts.

Why Insure ADEQUATELY?
THERE'S an old saying, "A man is usually more energetic and resourceful in trying to get out of a serious difficulty than in trying to get out of a serious one."
People who do not procure adequate fire insurance protection suffer loss when fire damages their property. If energetic and resourceful enough to obtain sound insurance they will have no need to worry if fire occurs.

Teacher Colleges Run at Full Capacity, No Jobs For Graduates. State Plunges on With Ever Increasing Costs to Taxpayers

By V. J. BROWN

This chapter will be devoted to a discussion of the system of teaching which Michigan has set up to provide its public school system with a trained teaching force. Nearly everyone will admit that the cost of education in Michigan is too high. How to get it down within reach of the taxpayer is a difficult matter.

Governor Wilbur M. Brucker referred in his recent special message to the alarming extent to which the expense of maintaining the public school system has grown. He demanded that local school boards cut at least 15 per cent below 1920 figures. Most school districts have actually gone far beyond this mark in cost cutting. The result of this is the release of considerably more than a thousand teachers from the public schools of Michigan.

Another well known fact which bears upon teacher training is the effect of the economic depression upon the teaching profession. One reason why a promotional program was required is stated in the Brucker message, was that the insatiable demands of industry, up to about 1929, was sapping the teaching profession of many of its most valuable instructors. Those days are gone. They will not return for some time.

Can't Find Jobs

More than 1000 graduates from the teacher training colleges of Michigan failed to secure positions in 1930. The year 1931 saw almost an equal number graduated to join the ranks of the unemployed. Meanwhile under stress of delinquent taxes and the demand for retraining, another 1000 are being released from the schools of Michigan with the end of the present school year.

This year mention being made that our school teacher factory shut down for a time?

When motor car sales fall off word is passed to the production department to scale down its volume of output. If the market becomes too dull a complete shutdown is ordered.

Four Factories

Michigan operates four exclusive teacher factories known as State Normal or Teachers' Colleges. In addition to this almost an equal number of teachers are graduated from the universities and Michigan State College.

The total annual output of these teacher factories, when operated at full capacity, supplies graduated teachers in sufficient number to almost fill the school rooms of Michigan with a normal teaching force. Matrimony, business opportunities, failure and opening in other states temptly tempt the excess. Today teachers are shying away from marriage, there are no jobs open in the business world, and surplus teachers have already rushed away to fill all possible vacancies in the schools of other states.

But evidently the educational forces of Michigan have not heard of this. In our four normal colleges alone the payroll disclosed. The taxpayer is dumping up two $9000 annual salaries; two $8000; one $6400; four $5300; eight $5000; 21 between $4500 and $5000; 22 between $4000 and $4500; 48 between $3500 and $4000; 55 between $3000 and $3500; 110 between $2500 and $3000. The payrolls show a veritable army of professors and instructors and teachers and critics below the last named figure and ranging down to $1200.

Student Ration

The ratio of students to those on the state payroll at Ypsilanti is shown to be 8.5; at Kalamazoo, 7.9; at Mt. Pleasant, 10.3; at Marquette, 9.5. This ratio is shown in the budget which the committee on ways and means had before it in 1931 and yet all the request of the college lobby were allowed.

A suggestion was made to the same ways and means committee during the present special session while the economy measure introduced by Chairman Hartman, the governor's house bill, was being considered that all these normal colleges be subjected to drastic cuts; that the freshman class, except at one be eliminated; that only those enrolled at the others who had completed their first year's work be allowed to continue; that professorial salaries be huffed to the quick, at least half of them be released entirely; and that a study of teacher training courses at all state education institutions be made to determine how much competition is practiced between them.

Colleges Compete

This matter of competition between colleges is interesting to the inquiring taxpayer. For instance it is known that at least one normal college carries upon its payroll a full paid salaried faculty member who is frequently appearing within the very town where another state normal college is located, seeking students for his particular college. The taxpayer has been asked to build and maintain four separate normal colleges. He has already escaped a fifth. Each lives off his purse. And yet we find one out spending the money to coax students away from others similarly supported, thus adding to the cost of all.

In 1931 the total of appropriations for the four normal colleges amounted to $1,151,357. By 1932 the demands of educational authority had grown to the astounding sum of $2,401,000. Of course a good college president could be had in 1921 for $5000 whereas by 1931 the market had risen to 20,000.

Governor Knows

The governor and his advisors know of this tragic expense when his special message was being prepared. He had been told that these teacher training schools had far exceeded the bounds of reason. He knew that in the face of present economic conditions, fewer students would enroll for training and that those who did enroll had little chance for employment. He was told here at least lay a place where a million dollars could be saved at once. In his message he referred to the cost of the public schools and demanded a reduction, threatening their state aid funds if they failed to do so. But not a word was said about the state slowing up on its mad pace of college expense.

The greatest contributor to college expense is the constantly heightened standard set for teachers. University approved lists for high school and the false standards set by the North Central association form the stern wall to which most school boards respond. All are aimed at creating a market for teachers who have put in time at colleges and universities. It is a selling point by which college heads dispose of their product. Teachers who have earned degrees at colleges are demanded. No tests are imposed to determine the success which the teacher has attained in her profession. The main question is, "How many years has this teacher put to round a college campus? How many hours a day are four teachers required to spend in class and recitation room?" Every school superintendent must meet these requirements or see his school go off the coveted approved list and his own professional standing go glimmering. School boards are blinded by the aura of intellectualism. The taxpayer is never considered.

100% Professional

Schools have out a sign. "This school is 100 per cent professional." Interpreted, this means that each teacher has paid dues to the school teacher's union. They are locals, state association and national associations. These organizations prey upon the teachers for support. They impose high pressure obligations who work upon legislative assemblies for higher salaries and shorter hours. Here again we find the taxpayer's money being used to defeat the hope of tax relief he has been led to believe he might some day receive.

Pay Big Salaries

Let us take the state normal at Ypsilanti as an example of educational productivity. One is about like the three except perhaps the Ypsilanti institution may be said to lead in lavish expenditures. Here are some of the salaries:

President	$8000
Registrar	$2500
Professors, 16 at	$6000
Professors, 1 at	$2500
Professors, 21 at	$4500
Professors, 2 at	$5000

And so down the line until one has counted 125 professors at salaries ranging above $1500 and running up as high as $5250. Then there are about 70 teachers, with salaries ranging between $1000 and $3000; and an alumni secretary, whatever that office offers, at $2400; and numerous other salaried positions of classification under the fancy titles attached.

But this is not all. The manager of transportation, possibly a former vice president of one of our railroad-of-existence, railroads, got $6800 if the taxpayer's money. The superintendent of buildings draws $2320 annually; a carpenter is down for $2400 a year; a plumber for $2400; janitors get as high as $1025, which sends them above some of the professors in pot of income. A social hall where embryo teachers are instructed in the latest dance steps and taught the niceties of modern society was completed last year. Its opening in the fall of 1931 necessitated the employment of a hostess at $5000 and an assistant at half that sum, with several others drawing pay for drawing room education.

Leadership Needed

Summed up briefly, this chapter on state expense and lavish public salaries is intended to drive home the conviction that until some person rises up to lead a reform of the cost of higher education there is little hope for much relief in the matter of school expense. Left to their own devices, school district taxpayers would soon have the cost of schools back to normal levels. But as long as taxes can be levied by school boards under dictation by superintendents who are in turn directed by an educational oligarchy, without submission to the taxpayers who foot the bill, just so long will both state and local taxes remain at high levels.

Approximately one-third of all state property tax is levied for the colleges and universities. Among this group is found the highest salaries paid by the state. It is difficult indeed to gain information concerning just what purpose many of these educational taxpayers do to earn their salaries. There are professors on leave, items on lecture tours, servants on exchange with other centers of learning, teachers on substantial vacations, research and discovery professors and a few who actually put some time in the class and lecture room.

The legislature has been given no opportunity to delve into this maze of imbroiled and complicated spending. When this regular session opens next January the gates will be opened and then the taxpayer should be prepared to make himself heard above the educational lobby, the most pernicious, the most effective and the most costly which operates in Lansing.

One next story will deal with the skillful manner in which state taxpayers are built up, who is responsible for it, who profits by these salaried plums, and the infirmness which work together to produce the awful expense of state government.

Scores don't matter with it young players. It's the fun they all have, and if you'd like some fun, go over some post meridian and you'll have lots in fact almost as much as the schedule of Big Men and Little Folks behind Ed Schmidt's in bric-a-brac, for there is where they execute the umpire after every game, and all but hang him seven times an inning.

High scores in this latter game are the rule and no exception either, every game must have a higher score than the last one, even if they must shout up the umpire every inning to do it or count it whichever is the easiest.

The most common family name of registered voters in Alaska is Johnson, with Smith a poor third.

STATE CONTROLS REGISTRATION

For the first time in Michigan's history the department of state will have supervisory control of registration of voters after the election laws adopted by the 1929 legislature become completely effective.

On May 1, there are 66 cities and 31 townships in the state which will start new systems of permanent registration of voters. Cities and townships with less than 5,000 population and villages will not need to re-register voters unless required by a local ordinance.

Michigan laws, for years have required a registration of voters every fourth year prior to the presidential election. Present laws not only eliminate the presidential primary election, but demand that cities and townships with more than 5,000 population, install permanent registration systems. From reports reaching the department every one of the 97 governmental units will be ready to start the new system of registration on May 1. Once placed on the voting lists, a voter need not re-register again unless he moves or fails to vote for two years.

The 1929 law repealed the provisions of the old demanding a general registration every four years. The law as amended in 1931, gives the department broad supervisory power over election and registrations and requires the department to aid local election officials in conducting registrations and elections.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Protection after Death" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, April 24.

Among the Bible citations was this passage: "Ye shall not die: for I will walk through the valley of the shadow of death; I will fear no evil: for thy staff will be with me; thy rod will be with me; thy staff will be with me; thy rod will be with me."

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following: "The understanding, even in a degree, of the divine All-power destroys fear, and plants the feet in the true path—the path which leads to the house built without hands 'eternal in the heavens.'"

Society Affairs

One of the loveliest and most interesting parties given by the ladies of the Episcopal church in Plymouth was the one held in the Parish Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Alex Vateck, Mrs. Howard Gladman and Mrs. Alfred Inels, whose birthdays occurred during the month, entertained the other ladies of the church and guests. A very pleasing program was given consisting of three songs by little Kathryn Vateck; a comedy sketch by Mrs. Vateck and Mrs. Inels and a duet by Mrs. Gladman and Mrs. Vateck. Following the program several games of lunco were enjoyed after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses. The tables were cleverly arranged, the one holding the beautiful birthday cake being in the center with pussy-willows placed about it, around this four tables decorated to represent the season of the year and enclosing those the most delicate were attractively decorated and had a lovely favor for each one present.

Mrs. and Mrs. Frank E. Hall were hosts last Sunday evening to a large number of friends at their home on S. Main street at a most delightful buffet supper. A pleasant evening was passed playing bridge at which Mrs. Harold Brisbold and Earl Mastick won first honors. Law scorers for the evening were Mrs. Roger Vaughn and Dr. Harold Brisbold. Guests for the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mastick, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Vaughn, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Chaffee, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Brisbold and Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Eaton of Plymouth; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Bayless, Mr. and Mrs. Chester O'Hara, Joan Shenfor and Miss Edna Ho of Detroit.

Mrs. Charles G. Draper entertained the members of the Tuesday afternoon bridge club and four extra guests at a dessert bridge at her home on Church street. Out of town guests were Mrs. A. J. Allen, Mrs. Paul Henley of Detroit and Mrs. Ernest Kohler of Northville, sisters of Mrs. Draper, Mrs. Orin Merrill and Mrs. Charles Merrill, sister-in-law, and Miss Halvay of Detroit.

Following a dinner at the Strong Tavern on Plymouth Road Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin Crumble took their guests to their home on Arthur street for an evening of bridge and ping pong. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roberts of Royal Oak, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Jolliffe, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Alexander and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jolliffe.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Strong entertained at dinner Thursday evening, April 21, at their home on Mill street. In honor of the birthday of William Strong, who resides with them. The out of town guests were Mrs. Kate Fisher and Mrs. Mary Suddock of Detroit and Mrs. Barbara Kessler of Toledo Ohio.

Miss Roxina Polley was honor guest Saturday evening at a birthday bridge at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary Polley on Main street. Other guests were Mrs. Roy Strong, Mrs. Harvey Springer, Mrs. Goodwin Crumble, Mrs. Chas. Gariett, Miss Helen Roe, Mrs. Jacob Stremich, Mrs. Mildred Barnes and Mrs. B. E. Champe.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lorenz very delightfully entertained Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Felton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mumby and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Renyon at an evening of cards Wednesday evening at their home on Sheridan avenue, Elm Heights.

Mrs. Ernest Wickstrom entertained the Plus Ultra card club last Thursday at her home on Amelia street. First honors were won by Mrs. Sidney Finlay, second by Mrs. S. Besse and third by Mrs. Roy Correll. Mrs. Charles Fishlock will be hostess to the club on Thursday afternoon, May 5, at her home on the Ridge Road.

Mrs. Frederick Archenbrow of Detroit and Mrs. Roland Weaver of Philadelphia, were Wednesday luncheon guests of Mrs. Homer D. Knapp.

THE MARKET PLACE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

TO THE market place of men comes a buyer now and then with his purse of yellow gold, money-wise and money-hold. Bright the money, brisk the trade, and the buyer, rich arrayed, jingles, jingles everywhere. Gold to make the people stare.

"First a woman. What's the price?" "Love, and then love's sacrifice." "Are not some not bought with love?" "Yes, not worth the buying of." "I would have a child, a son?" "Do you know the price of love?" "No." "The price that you must pay Leaves you lonely, old and gray."

So he goes from booth to booth, Finding some things bought with truth, Some with kindness, oft in vain, Some with sorrow, some with pain, Some with patience, some with prayer— Not a single treasure there Bought with anything as cold And as poor as yellow gold. Many Convicted of Spearing Trout Says Conservation Head

With the opening of non-trout streams to spearing for certain species of fish at the beginning of the month, the number of violations of spearing laws exceeded all others during March, a report issued today by the Division of Field Administration of the Conservation Department shows.

During the month, 105 men were convicted of violating conservation laws. Of this number, eight were convicted of spearing rainbow trout and nine were convicted of spearing fish through use of a jack-light.

Seven convictions were reported for having trout in possession during the closed season; four for having other protected fish in possession out of season and four were convicted of dynamiting on streams.

The large number of arrests made for violating the spearing laws was due largely to the fact that an augmented crew of enforcement officers was engaged in patrolling the better known trout streams during the spring months.

The returning spring flight of ducks brought the convictions of eight men for hunting ducks out of season. All of the arrests were made in the vicinity of Lake St. Clair.

Other conservation laws violated during the month and for which convictions were obtained were: Netting fish; headlighting deer 1; hunting without a license or permit 9; taking rabbits out of season 5; illegal possession of pheasants 7; illegal possession of venison 4; attempting to snare deer 3; failing to submit for purchase, sales reports 1; hindering the work of an officer 1; illegal possession of raccoon 1; non-resident using a resident license 2; illegal use of ice lines 4; illegal possession of muskrats 8; hunting deer out of season 1; and trapping and possession of beaver out of season 6.

During the month the Department of Conservation confiscated 20 traps, one net, 14 fish spears, 7 guns and a quantity of fish and furs.

The 105 violators in Michigan in March paid a total in court fines of $1,065, and $780 in fines. Twenty-seven men were sentenced to serve jail sentences ranging from five to 90 days or an aggregate of 840 days.

Joseph Lawrence, Honor, was convicted in March for the third time for taking rainbow trout out of season. He was sentenced to serve 60 days in jail.

After appealing a case to the circuit court, Jay Crow, Coldwater, charged with netting fish in an inland lake, was convicted and sentenced to 60 days in jail. A gill net was confiscated.

Eighteen beaver he trapped during the past winter cost Alfred Viokkala, Calumet, 30 days in the Houghton County jail; and Walter Matson, Crystal Falls, was sentenced to 90 days in jail for trapping beaver during the closed season. Sam Ranta, who lives with Matson, was also sentenced to jail for 90 days when he was convicted of being a non-resident using a resident hunting license.

again comes to

PLYMOUTH

with another brilliant exhibit of fine cars
... brought here by special request ...

THREE DAYS ONLY..MAY 2, 3 and 4

A FEW WEEKS ago Pierce-Arrow brought to this city a group of its latest, loveliest creations—cars of striking beauty, with rare qualities of performance. Their reception was warmly enthusiastic.

The showing, however, was a limited one. As a result, many fine car admirers and fine car owners missed the opportunity to attend. And so there has been arranged another and equally important exhibit, to which you are most cordially invited.

You will find it remarkable not only for the distinguished beauty of the cars present, but also for the examples of the vastly increased purchasing power of today's dollar that each model so dramatically represents.

The new Pierce-Arrows are within easier reach than you might imagine. You are urged to see them and to ride in them—without the least obligation.

The special Pierce-Arrow exhibit will be open evenings until ten
