AS OTHERS SEE IT

In our own country where there are varying degrees of doubt on the part of some as to the benefits of the relief legislation that President Herbert Hoover had enacted during the final days of the congressional session, it is interesting to note the views of one of the leading papers of Canada, the Ottawa Journal. In discussing President Hoover's gigantic relief plan, the prominent Canadian paper says:

"If conditions don't improve in the United States it won't be because Congress and President Hoover aren't trying to remedy them. Last week Mr. Hoover signed a law that masses $3,800,000,000 in one coffer for invigorating business, increasing employment and relieving destitution. This means: "Operating funds of the reconstruction corporation increased from $2,000,000,000 to $3,800,000,000.

"Funds made available for advances to States for unemployment relief, $300,000,000.

"Provision of $1,500,000,000 for public construction and self-liquidating private loans and the financing of agriculture through credit corporations.

"Money available for advances to States under the Federal aid highway law, $120,000,000.

"For roads and trails in the national parks and forests, $16,000,000.

"Provisions of $180,224,000 for public building and waterway improvements when the condition of the Treasury permits.

"Federal Reserve banks may discount eligible paper for individuals and corporations.

"Within ten days, Eugene Meyer, Governor of the Federal Reserve System, and Paul Bestor, Farm Loan Commissioner, are automatically removed from the Reconstruction Board.

Reports of all reconstruction loans must be filed with Congress monthly.

"The United States is hard hit by the depression. Hit much harder than Canada. But a marshalling of nearly $4,000,000,000 ought to make a difference to both business and employment; and the difference ought to extend in a measure, to Canada."

Another Canadian paper, The Evening Telegram, of Toronto, takes a slightly different view of the benefits of the congressional session. The Telegram says:

"As it concluded the longest session in ten years, Congress left the United States committed to a policy under which the country must either survive according to the formula drafted by the legislators or drop into a new abyss of economic depression.

"Every economic program it adopted was based on the assumption that commodity prices must soon rise. If this view is wrong, if present levels prove to be normal and it is demonstrated that those of the past were irrational, unsound and without an economic basis, then those programs are capable of proving most disastrously unsound.

"About five billion dollars have been gambled on this one economic theory, through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, plans to aid the jobless, the home-owner and the farmer, expansion of the currency basis of the Federal Reserve system, by fixing the worth of securities held by national banks on the basis of so-called "inherent" rather than market values, and by inflation of the entire credit structure.

"If commodity prices do not "come back," these policies will make the American government the possessor of many railroads, banks and general businesses. Unless the United States dollar loses some of its present purchasing power, another way of expressing the need for an increase in the exchange value of products, the country is likely to find itself ranking second only to Russia in the extent to which its government is engaged in business.

"In addition, Congress, despite much ballyhoo, failed by more than two hundred million dollars to balance the budget; did not reduce the deficit which previously existed, amounting to more than three billion dollars, and bound the country to a program of increasingly-bitter nationalism. Members of the legislative bodies this Fall as they seek re-election 'on their records' will have much to explain."

ROADS

The federal government as a part of its relief work plans to spend $120,000,000 in highway construction during the next year. If this money is spent as it should be and the nation completes three or four paved highways from the Atlantic to the Pacific and as many or more from the northern states to the southern states, it will be serving a real public need as well as providing labor for idle men. But if the government permits to use this money for roads in remote sections of many states that lead nowhere and serve only a few politicians, then some one ought to stop the spending of this money by injunction.

Statistics show that Michigan people stand in second place when it comes to touring. They like to travel and they like to travel by automobile. As a result they are "road wise" so to speak. They know what a downright shame, a squandering of public money it is to turn funds over to states like Kansas to permit politicians of that state to build roads that do not serve the traveling public. With the millions that the federal government has already turned over to Kansas, there is not yet a paved highway east and west across that state, and it is a state that is practically impossible to travel by automobile if the weather is not of the most favorable kind.

States like Michigan, Ohio, Illinois and others that provide a far greater portion of the money than do states like Kansas, Nebraska and others should have some say as to how this money should be used.

The government figures that expenditure of this money will provide work for 250,000 men for thirty hours each working week for a period of over eleven months.

This was revealed in a survey which indicated that highway construction would be tripled in many states by the federal appropriations. The states must match them in order to benefit by the government's action. But the government should see to it that no federal money is provided various states if main cross country roads are not built.

Relief workers throughout the country generally said they were enthusiastic over the plan, particularly because of the provision for a 30-hour week. This, they pointed out, would provide jobs for more men over a longer period of time.

Definite estimates were made by highway officials in 18 states on the number of additional men who would be put to work. Kansas estimated the number at 20,000 and California at 16,000. The other states giving definite figures were: Arizona, 3,000; Arkansas, 5,000; Colorado, 7,500; Florida, 10,340; Louisiana, 8,000; Minnesota, 7,000; Mississippi, 9,000; Nebraska, 8,000; N. Dakota, 3,000; N. Carolina, 5,000; Rhode Island, 400; Tennessee, 5,000; Texas 4,500; Utah, 2,000; West Virginia 1,000, and Wisconsin 4,000.

Nearly every other state in the union reported that employment would be increased substantially. Definite estimates could not be made until checkups are made of the state money to be spent for labor and material.

Officials in various states said that, in addition to the thousands employed on the highways, other men would benefit by the work of manufacturing the machinery and material for the road construction program.

THE CHURCH AND DEPRESSION

Churches all over the country, Protestant churches especially, are effecting economies. They are reducing salaries of pastors, dispensing with paid choirs, deaconesses, and other assistants.

That churches should feel compelled to economize is regrettable. Attractive services and extended ministrations are more needed by their communicants during periods of depression than during times of prosperity. Incomes may have shrank, but needs have increased. Churches should now, if never before, be alert and active.

Today it is better for American churches to serve the American people than it is for them to support foreign missions. In America the church itself, as well as all its ministrations, is absolutely necessary as a stabilizing influence on millions of people, discouraged, despondent, even desperate. Economy that lessens such influence is a most serious mistake.

NO NEED FOR UGLINESS

Five hundred Oklahoma farm women have entered a contest, started in Oklahoma City, which seeks to encourage farm and village home beautification. Similar programs are contemplated in other Middle Western States, it is reported, and they surely ought to be encouraged.

Farming is not so much a business as it is a mode of living. And the same applies to the villages which dot our rural sections, for these residents also get their living from the soil.

If farming is regarded as a mode of living, then it should be made as pleasant as possible. Nothing contributes more to this than a comfortable, well-arranged home set amid surroundings made as beautiful as possible. A little planning and a little work will produce this desired condition almost anywhere. More power to those crusades which seek to bring this about.

Such a man gradually becomes a recognized leader among men—a leader in industry, in church or fraternal organization, etc. etc. He not only does to the best of his ability every task given him, but he sets a pace that acts as an incentive to his associates.

The world is always looking for leaders in any kind of work. The demand is always in excess of the supply.

The job of leadership in your chosen vocation or avocation awaits you if you can qualify for it. But you must prove your ability. Show some reason why you should be at the top.

Health Notes

So far as possible one should bathe at regular intervals.

Cold baths, that is with water less than 65 degrees, will stimulate circulation.

Ordinarily the temperature of the body should be about that of the bath—90 to 98 degrees.

A warm bath taken just before retiring will induce sleep, all conditions being normal.

Hot baths should be taken only when it is desirable to raise the temperature of the body.

It is always best when taking a cold bath to wet the head and upper part of the body first.

When one is warm to the point of perspiration he should bathe in warm water, gradually cooling it.

Persons suffering from heart troubles should avoid the shock to the nervous system that results from a cold bath.

Cold baths will not protect one against colds unless care is taken to re-establish normal temperature after taking them.

A Prayer

Almighty God, who has set our troubled years in the heart of Thy eternity, and in whom the discordant notes of our humanity rise into perfect harmony; teach us, who are but creatures of a day, the lesson of Thy patience, who art ever working, yet ever at rest, that we may learn to wait, not in listless quiet but with a forward-looking faith which shall enable us to rise above the evils of the passing time.

Deliver us from the bondage of unbalanced desires, unholly thoughts, and fill us with a perfect trust in Thee, that with utter freedom of soul we may fulfill the expectations of our fellow men and in the light of Thy eternal calm envision the noble prophecy of love's holy triumph and the coming glory of Thy righteous Kingdom. Through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Because of Thy Great Bounty

Because I have been given much, I, too, shall give.

Because of Thy great bounty, Lord, Each day I live I shall divide my gifts from Thee With every brother that I see Who has the need of help from me.

Because I have been sheltered, fed, By Thy good care, I can not see another's lack And I not share.

My glowing fire, my loaf of bread, My roof's shelter overhead, That, he, too, may be comforted.

Because love has been lavished so Upon me, Lord, A wealth I know that was not meant for me to hoard, I shall give love to those in need, The cold and hungry clothed and fed, Thus shall I show my thanks indeed.

CITY CHANGE NECESSARY

Private business is finding a way out of the financial morass by cutting expenditures, consolidating departments, eliminating unnecessary overhead, conserving assets, and developing principles to maintain income. Government organizations also are finding it expedient to pursue a like course in the conduct of public finance. New remedies are being created to lighten the burden of harassed taxpayers, and numerous municipalities have adopted emergency measures similar to those adopted by private business.

Consolidation of various units of government to decrease operating cost and curtail expenditures of public funds is one of the chief remedies being applied. In Michigan, a large number of villages have adopted the city form of government thus eliminating the burden of a township tax. Still other villages are contemplating a change to the city form as a means of avoiding tax duplications.

Wayne as a village has to contribute to the support of Nankin township. Taxpayers of this community are shouldering a double tax burden, and from the money which they pay into the township exchequer they derive little benefit. As a result, Wayne taxpayers have arrived at the wise conclusion that the change to the city form of government will result in a material savings.

No obstacle now lies in the path of effecting this change. All that is necessary is to hold an election upon the question, following which the proper steps can be taken, when the change has been favored by the majority of the voters.

Residents of Wayne have expressed themselves as favoring the change, although just actions always were held until assurance was given by the county board of supervisors that the county branch library would be retained here. This assurance has been given, and the indications are that the question will be put to a vote as soon as preliminary arrangements have been made.

Prompt action on this matter will act as a stimulant to general business conditions many believe. It will create a more optimistic feeling among Wayne taxpayers who can enjoy the pleasure of looking forward to the time when a large portion of the tax money now expended will be saved. For these reasons, the question should be submitted to the electors of Wayne as soon as possible.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

The Republicans are reported to have selected as their slogan for the national campaign, "don't rock the boat." Once 34 years ago when President McKinley was elected, the slogan was "a full dinner pail." Conditions then were pretty much as they are now. The nation had gone through a period of economic distress. The Democrats were then in control and President Cleveland was blamed for much of the trouble. Since then history has fairly well established that Cleveland was not to blame, any more than is President Hoover at fault. But the voters had their say. The Democrats were voted out of office and not until 1912 did they succeed in regaining the presidency. The appearance of Teddy Roosevelt's Bull Moose ticket clinched the victory, the Republicans sinking to third place in that contest.

In the present campaign the absence of the voters will be to get back on the road to normal times. Four years ago the Republicans claimed credit for creating the then existing prosperity, so that it is not surprising that some voters would want to charge the administration with the severe set back since suffered. On the other hand there is evidence tending to prove that the nation is headed for an upturn. The Republicans will say: "Don't rock the boat." And the Democrats may say: "A new captain is needed at the ship's helm."—Joe Sturgeon in The Delta County Reporter.

AL IS RIGHT

The Observer Office had an opportunity to make a pretty penny the past week, but we turned it down, because we did not approve of the scheme that was to be worked by outsiders to collect a lot of money from our merchants for advertising that could bring no returns to the advertisers, the merchants with the cost. We do not solicit advertising for the Observer unless we believe we can return the advertiser a profit for his venture. We are brought continually in touch and face to face with advertising solicited and collected for by outside people who are living and growing fat on some advertising scheme and we never did approve of it and we hope we never will be obliged to accept that kind of business to make ends meet.—Al Weber in the Cheboygan Observer.

DID LEGISLATIVE SESSION HELP OAKLAND COUNTY?

Between 150 and 200 Oakland county taxpayers answered the call for a meeting Wednesday forenoon at the Pontiac school auditorium to listen to the details of the plan for refunding Covert road bonds, of which Oakland county has over seven million outstanding and on which payments are in default. The plan was explained by Civil Counsel Geo. A. Gram.

The opponents of the proposition were led by Samuel E. Patterson, who condemned the plan "as unsound financially and commercially." His advice is to defer until after the next legislature has convened, when some other method of relief might be extended.—Grant Rowe in The Milford Times.

Coming Attractions At Penniman Allen

"ROAR OF THE DRAGON"
Richard Dix, virile RKO Radio star, will be seen at the Penniman Allen Theatre Sunday and Monday, August 7 and 8 in "Roar of the Dragon," a stirring spectacle of the Far East, reflecting a vivid panorama of the hazardous frontier with its stately parade of adventure-seekers.

Appearing with Dix is Gwilt Andre, famous Danish beauty from Copenhagen who makes her screen debut in the film. Miss Andre, about whom Hollywood has been building a legend of mystery and intrigue, is seen as a Russian noblewoman one of the pathetic patriotics who have haunted the frontier towns of Northern China since the Red Revolution.

Edward Everett Horton, ZaSu Pitts, Arline Judge and Dudley Digges, have important roles.

"BACHELOR'S FOLLY"
Herbert Marshall and Edna Best, those charming international favorites of stage and screen, will be lauded with their first co-starring talking picture, "Bachelor's Folly," which will appear at the Penniman Allen Theatre Wednesday, August 10.

Based on Edgar Wallace's successful play, "The Calendar," "Bachelor's Folly" furnishes a splendid example of that lamented writer's excellent gift of story construction, of dialogue writing that is smooth and distinguished, of situations that are fresh and human. Acted by a truly superlative cast—by Mr. Marshall and Miss Best—rescue support from a group of players who have won their spurs many times over—"Bachelor's Folly" is delightful entertainment from every angle.

In addition to Miss Best and Mr. Marshall, the cast of "Bachelor's Folly" includes Anne Grey, Nigel Bruce and Gordon Barker.

Friday, calling on Mrs. Mary Jesse near Stockbridge.

County Completes Construction Work On Michigan Ave.

Michigan Superhighway west from the Merriman Road to Wayne has been completed and opened to traffic, stated Road Commissioner Edward N. Hines yesterday.

This new concrete roadway replaces the old 16-foot concrete road built in 1911 and is 30 feet wide on the superhighway width of 200 feet and provides for one way traffic traveling west from Detroit.

With the exception of a section of roadway through Dearborn, the 20-foot superhighway width has been acquired in its entirety on Michigan Superhighway from the City of Detroit to the junction of the Washington and Wayne County lines.

This newly built section of highway was paid for by the State Highway Department and built by the Wayne County Road Commission with new roadbed largely from the welfare lists, stated Mr. Hines.

Negotiations are in progress with the City of Dearborn to remove the sewer tracks and fill in with concrete from the center of the old city of Dearborn to Brady Street in Dearborn. The old sewer line will be replaced with a wide concrete bridge. The State Highway Department has authorized the improvement and as soon as Dearborn arranges for its portion of the program, work will proceed, stated Mr. Hines.

With a desire to avoid congestion through cities and villages from Detroit to Chicago via Michigan Avenue Road, the State is developing and building a new through route by the way of the Ford Road which will pass the numerous cities and villages on the Michigan Avenue route. All the court awards have been paid on the Greater Avenue condemnation suit and rapid progress is being made in wrecking and removing the buildings, and in installing water mains, conduits for public utilities, etc., stated Mr. Hines.

"It's easy for a man to reduce," says housekeeping Honorah. "All he has to do is marry a bride fiend."

MAIN FORD PLANT CUTS FORCE FOR NEXT FEW WEEKS

Several thousand men at the Ford Motor Company plant have been temporarily laid off during the past week, but should cause no particular alarm to Dearborn citizens. Wild rumors have been floating around town for the past few days as to the significance of the lay-offs.

Ford officials, while declining to make an official statement at this time as to the reason for the temporary discharge of men at the plant, admitted there were certain organization changes in some departments taking place, but pointed out that this was the season for the usual inventory through the Ford organization and was one of the main reasons for the temporary lay-offs of employees.

For the past six years it has been customary for the Ford Motor to shut down for inventory during August, and this year seems to be no exception, wild rumors to the contrary.

Mayor Clyde M. Ford, when interviewed today on the labor situation in Dearborn, stated that there were more Dearborn men working at the Ford plants at the present time than ever before in the history of Dearborn. Mr. Ford ventured to say that there were right now 3000 more Dearborn men employed at the Ford Motor Company than at any time during rush years.

Welfare Director Clarke M. Greene, who has been in charge of the employment bureau in Dearborn since January 1st, corroborated the mayor's statement, and said that his department had secured employment in the Ford factories for most of Dearborn's unemployed, but it has been only recently when some of the Detroit factories closed, that the unemployed has slightly risen. "In hundreds of cases we have been able to place them to work."

Speaking further on the employment situation, Director Greene said, "Dearborn citizens have been getting the full occupation from the Ford Motor Company and will continue to do so. If you do not want to accept this statement, ask any man that has been laid off within the past few days and you will find that he has a slip to go to work with him."

MICHIGAN RESIDENTS TO SEE ECLIPSE OF SUN ON AUGUST 31st—WILL BE NEARLY TOTAL IF WEATHER CONDITIONS PERMIT

A camera so large that the photographers will work inside of it, and a specially constructed interferometer believed to be the largest ever made for the purpose, will be set up at Freyburg, Me., by the University of Michigan astronomers for the eclipse of the sun which occurs on August 31.

A camera fan's dream, the Michigan giant will have a focal length of four feet, and will be built stationary, with its lens pointing directly at the spot in the sky where the eclipse will take place. Two men will work inside in the Baldwin Curtis, Junior in the University and son of Professor Heber D. Curtis, being in charge. Fast work during the 99 seconds the eclipse will last will yield six or seven pictures.

Professor Curtis, director of Michigan observatories, has been working on his special interferometer for months. It will be eight feet long and use etalon plates five inches in diameter. This instrument, one of the astronomer's most accurate, reveals characteristics of light waves. Professor Curtis will use it to study the corona, outermost gaseous envelop of the sun, which appears as a pearly film during an eclipse. Actually this gas extends in streamers millions of miles from the main mass of the sun. Its chemical nature is unknown, but it is suspected to be a common element masquerading in a strange form.

Professor Curtis has travelled three times to Sumatra, once to Russia, Mexico, and northern Labrador, and four times in the United States to observe eclipses. This eclipse would take him four times around the world, but only 29 minutes could be devoted to actual observation. During the 99 seconds the coming display will last, every member of the Michigan party will work at top speed, on a schedule planned out and rehearsed for a week previously. One mistake, or the astronomer's long-sighted and bad weather, would mean that important work would be postponed until the next eclipse, in 1934. The eclipse due August 31 will be about 85 per cent complete in Michigan, says Professor Curtis.

In case the weather should be cloudy, there will be an opportunity to study the cloud formation, which is dependent on the temperature and humidity, say astronomers. It is known that every solar fact has a bearing on the science of the weather and its accurate forecasting. Scientists will study the mysteries of sun's radiation, not only effective as far as health and crops are concerned but of significance in air navigation. The magnetic condition of the sun will be studied through the shooting streamers and the electrified particles. Sun spots, the corona formation and meteorological aspects of the eclipse, will be photographed and spectroscopically investigated.

Very seldom do scientists get an opportunity to learn about the sun—it is only when the sun is covered or in total eclipse that a study of genuine value can be made of it. This is due to its blinding brightness. And the eclipse of the sun is confined to a few brief moments throughout the century! Attempts have been made to photograph it without an eclipse but these have always failed.

The eclipses of 1918 and 1922 were used to verify a prediction of Einstein that the rays of light from a star to the earth would be bent in its passage near the sun in accordance with the theory of gravitation put forward in the generalized theory of relativity.

For many years prior to an eclipse it has been predicted that the shadow cast by the moon falls on the earth. The moon moves around both the earth and the sun. The orbit is a complex one. Yet mathematicians can compute years in advance the exact date and time and the track of the total eclipse, inasmuch as law governs the universe.

Centuries ago mathematicians predicted eclipses. In the Chinese annals of the Shu King, one reads: "Hsi and Ho, sink in wine and excess, neglected the ordering of the seasons, and the days to get into confusion." For failure to predict an eclipse of the sun in 2150 B. C. they were severely punished. However, a Chinese missionary declares that it was not their failure to predict the eclipse, but rather their failure to watch the sky and to not announcing the first contact of the moon with the sun's disc, they did not warn the populace to drive off the heavenly dragon from his meal. Until a few years ago, in China the common people beat drums and zongs to scare away the heavenly dragon which they believed was devouring the sun.

To the ancients, eclipses were omens of tragic events. At Rome it was considered blasphemy to speak publicly of their being due to natural causes. At the time of an eclipse, brazen instruments were played to ease Luna in her affliction. However, there are plenty of stories of popular superstition being turned to good use, of Columbus, for example, when in dire straits, procuring provisions from the natives of Jamaica through the prediction of eclipses.

Wayne Working Hard To Open Bank - Hopes To Go Over Top Soon

The following article from the last issue of the Wayne Dispatch tells of the progress being made in the nearby town towards the opening of a bank.

While only a small percentage of the deposits of the Wayne Savings bank are necessary to be secured on the depositors agreement blanks such deposits have not as yet been obtained, according to an announcement made by members of the bank reopening committee for the Monday night. Additional names of depositors who have not been called upon were given to the committee members at the Monday night meeting at which time it was urged that every effort be made to see these depositors in regard to signing the agreement.

Depositors have been signing the agreement each day, and a number of the agreements were turned in at the meeting. Most of the accounts held by such depositors, however, have been of a small nature. It was said, thus being responsible for the slowness in obtaining the necessary 85 per cent of the deposits. Practically all large accounts, or accounts of over $2,000, have been obtained, it was pointed out by members of the committee, and the amount of money represented in the remaining per cent of unsecured deposits is mostly in accounts under $1000 and $500.

Members of the committee in charge of the plan have requested an additional drive by the various individuals who have been calling upon the depositors in order that the ultimate goal may be reached as quickly as possible. A great deal of hard and useful work already has been done by every person who has aided in the movement to see that depositors, each of the workers, devoting much of their time and money.

It has been impossible for members of the committee or the other workers to get in touch with various depositors, and it is said that such depositors who have not been secured would aid materially if they would take it upon themselves to get in touch with any member of the committee or go to the Board of Commerce office where the agreement may be read.

Inasmuch as all members of the group working on the plan have not turned in reports concerning the amount of deposits received, it could not be definitely known exactly how much more in deposits is needed before reopening plans can proceed. It was stated, however, that only a very small percentage of the deposits are necessary to be obtained, and the amount of money involved in the deposits is somewhere in the neighborhood of $10,000.

Those who are in close touch with the progress being made on the plan to reopen the bank have expressed complete confidence that the movement will result in success. They point out that a plan of this nature necessarily can not be rushed through, and that depositors naturally desire to give the agreement careful consideration before committing themselves to it. It is believed now, however, that the majority of those depositors who have carefully studied the plan, and have not as yet signed, will eventually decide it is the wisest and best course to follow. This fact is evidenced by the number of depositors who are signing each day.

Members of the committee have pointed out that the plan is being successfully carried out by other communities that have been without banking facilities. In such communities where banks have been requested under an agreement of this nature reports indicate that rapid progress is being made not only by the reopened bank but in general community business conditions.

BE CAREFUL OF WATER WHILE ON VACATION TRIP

The purity of the water supply is a problem that requires constant vigilance while the family is enjoying a vacation trip, according to Miss Mary Lewis, home economy specialist at Michigan State College. Unless certain that the water has been approved by the proper authorities, it is safest to take the precaution of boiling it before using. This practice should be strictly adhered to if the children are very young, regardless of the source of supply.

When following the well traveled highways there is little difficulty in securing pasteurized milk. If, however, raw milk is bought from a farmer it is wise to boil it for five minutes, cool and store it in sterilized bottles. If cooling facilities are meager, this is rather difficult, and the alternative is to use evaporated milk. Many people prefer the use of a good brand of evaporated milk to a constant change in the supply of fresh milk when traveling with infants. Meals built around the fundamental foods, eggs, milk, fruits, green vegetables, and whole grain cereals, as suggested a few weeks ago, cannot go far wrong in providing adequate nourishment for the travelers, still it is well to be concerned about the method of preparation in order not to overtax the digestive tract of the child. Eggs should be soft boiled or poached rather than fried, vegetables should be boiled or baked and served with butter or milk.

Children beyond two years of age should be able to chew small amounts of tender leaves of lettuce, spinach, and cabbage, and to eat pieces of clean ripe tomato, these raw vegetables giving them Vitamin C commonly supplied by oranges. Whole wheat toast and cooked cereal should be on the breakfast menu for the children rather than pancakes. Broil steak and chops or boil a small piece of beef or mutton. It takes a little longer to prepare these methods, but it is infinitely better for the children than fried meat and highly seasoned sausages.

Rosedale Gardens

Blackberry Winter with its again last week. Thunder storms and Hot Days still reminded us that the calendar really meant it to be summer. So the Land Co. boys kept up the weed cutting and they manned the sewer pumps on more than one occasion as well as the greater part of one mile.

One Year Ago Monday last, all hereabouts was astir over the "sudden" development of that part of R. G. west of Penbrooke Road, which was in fact, last meant so much, and will continue so, in the "building up" of R. Community and its people.

For now among the people of the older Parishes in the Big (Little) City the names: Rosedale Gardens, Rev. John E. Conway, (Father Jack), Saint Michael's Parish are practically synonymous.

And the base-ballers, rooters, fans and hoopers are making a good time afternoons and evenings just north of the big building.

Seven Years Old are these here Rosedale Gardens too! And if the odd superstition of changing affairs for the better or worse still holds everything, let's all hope that the coming seven years, beginning now will be better, and better, seven times.) Not that the past seven has not seen any changes for the better, thought it is hard to say what it now really is all about, but the changing of corn fields, melon and strawberry patches and acres of this or that into a community of nicely kept homes, R. School, Churches and Euphoriums, peopled with Christian families, the laughing healthy children with pretty gardens and landscaped streets all about, one must surely stop to think of the wonders of all things, including this "city home" in the "country" business, for we still have the agriculture district, including the dairy farming, all about us and within the borders of R Square Mile, i. e. Sec. 34, Livonia Township!

Welcome to the Community this week to Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Zitzelberger and two boys, Harold and Donald, who have leased Dr. M. H. Timpond's home at 11027 Ingram Ave. This puts a plus for to the ever growing numbers of parishioners St. Michael's Church.

R. G. I. Boy Scouts of America, Scout Master Harold Church heading the roster, and Boy Scouts: Billie Hodson, H. Bosen, Joe Schroeder, Frank Schroeder, Archie McDowell, Herbert Kalmbach, A. Shear, Don Johnson are having a real soulful time of it at Commerce Lake (in camp) this week. The boys always did have "a swell time" all kinds of contests and sports in the free open air, their own cooking, etc., but nevertheless glad to get home to mother again at the end of it all, for what is better than to wind up all the job about camp then to come home to mother's big dinner and tell her all about it?

The Score of last week's game with the Wayne Harmony Hoosiers was so laddy kept by the Official Score Keeper that the only thing left for us to do is to concede it as a more or less tie.

The boys all around had the opportunity to and took advantage of a set game to each get in as many hits or runs as was his lot to do, or rather his runs depended on his ability to run. There was no excuse for any one to go hitless, just one of those odd-fashioned sand lot or barn yard games.

Plenty of action (and inaction) all around. All of the game causing more or less delirious excitement. Anyway the ball went it caused a thrill, and what thrills, and typical all around amateur thrills that if Babe Ruth or Mista Van Grafzlin had been umpiring or Ty Tyson broadcasting, they would all have forgot the score in every play. So if you want to see a better game of ball come out next Sunday, and if you just want a thriller come out and over just the same. We expect both and more, and how!

Another thing the spectator crowds were more kind and considerate. Horn Honking was at the min. point. Thanks to cooperation of all. Thanks.

15 Mi. Per Hour say the new signs about R avenue. This is for protection of all, mostly the little folks who may run out from behind shrubbeds or trees or after balls or each other. New Federal Law Helps State Dept.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 4.—An additional weapon has been placed in the hands of the Department of State in its war upon gasoline tax evaders through the medium of the new federal gasoline tax law.

Under the federal law, any person compounding, mixing or blending any motor fuel is defined as a "producer" and must report the amount of all such motor fuels compounded or blended and pay the federal tax of one-cent per gallon on the resulting product. Failure to file a report or neglect to report the gallonage blended and the payment of the tax places the violator in peril of a fine of not more than $10,000 or not to exceed two years' confinement in a federal prison.

The so-called "bootleg" gasoline is made through the blending of certain tax free ingredients, such as kerosene or the distillates, with natural or "cracking" gasoline. Natural gasoline possesses a very high volatility and when added to the other ingredients produces a low-grade motor fuel. By using the non-taxable ingredients, the bootlegger in his blended product creates a large portion of the tax at the same time selling to the public a very inferior grade of motor fuel.

Major efforts of the investigation service of the gasoline tax division are being put forth in searching out and uncovering these bootleggers, both for the purpose of securing the tax accruing to the state and for the purpose of protecting the motorist in the purchase, unknowingly, of this inferior product. Heretofore prosecution for violations have rested entirely with the state, but under the new federal law cases involving this form of violation will be instantly reported to the federal government. Under the extremely heavy penalties imposed by the federal law, it is anticipated that prosecutions under that law will assist materially in stamping out evasions of the state gasoline tax laws.

YOUR HOME and YOU By BETSY CALLISTER

TOO NEAT FOR COMFORT

IT SEEMS a pity to have to breathe a word of protest against houses that are too neat, since neatness and tidiness are such admirable qualities wherever you find them. And yet there are houses where callers never seem to be entirely comfortable and where parties are always a little too formal, all because of the air of excessive neatness and tidiness that pervades them. They are like people who are a little too prim and precise.

You feel constrained in their presence. The trouble with the too-tidy house is that the housewife who presides over it usually has an obsession on the subject. She is constantly worried for fear something will get out of order and if you put down a book or a magazine in any place but in the book or cranny specially dedicated to magazines you may add to her anxiety.

In houses where there are plenty of well-trained servants it is not difficult to maintain that air of casualness, that mingling of orderliness and disorderliness that is so comfortable. The servants are trained to go the rounds putting things in order, emptying ash trays, putting back books and magazines, arranging cushions where they belong and carrying every one's purely personal belongings to the rooms where they belong.

If you have a hobby that calls for clutter—and most hobbies do—a good plan is to permit yourself an untidy corner of your room for this purpose. Clutter in a room especially consecrated to that particular brand of clutter ought to annoy the prettier housekeeper no more than a certain amount of cooking clutter in the kitchen when meals are in preparation.

No More Easy Money For Anyone Declares Henry Ford On His 69th Birthday - Says Everyone Must Work

Henry Ford, world's premier automobile manufacturer, and America's first citizen of business, celebrated his sixty-ninth birthday Saturday, and he can outstrip the average business man of 35.

"The world today? I suspect it is just about 1,000 per cent better than folks believe," he said. Ford, wearing a loosely fitting gray suit and blue dotted tie, came briskly into his office, pushed a waste basket out of the way, settled himself comfortably, and said: "Well, fire away, boys!"

He fired. Everything from carrots to airplanes, economics, old furniture. "A birthday cake? I don't know. That's always a surprise. Mrs. Ford never tells me. Presents? I got two books. I got up at 6. Felt fine. No, I don't think I was ever bored a day in my life."

Ford speaks in "telegrams." Short, crisp sentences. Before him on the wide mahogany desk was an electric lamp.

"Another birthday present— from Francis Yale. He's one of Edison's old men. He and the boys made it over in the old Edison's shop. It's exactly like the one Tom made 35 years ago. Certainly it lights. Paper filament and all. Today's lamp is only a refinement of this!"

And Ford touched the birthday gift affectionately glancing toward a large photograph of himself and Edison taken on the latter's eightieth birthday.

"The world today and tomorrow? If you think we're going back to the so-called 'Good Old Days' of speculation, you're wrong. We aren't. We're going ahead. Never before were so many people doing things for other people, caring about other people."

"We're building character. That is not built easily. Today every man has his own religion. 'We've achieved mass production. That has made many suffer. We're all to blame. Now we've got to fit that mass production into a new way of living. This business of money, speculation has to go by the boards. There's no more easy money."

"We're all going to work. 'Mass production will increase. Inventions will see to that. We've got to make use of the time it gives men. Now the trouble is men are huddled in cities dependent only on a set wage, going along in a rut. That was fine while the wages were steady, but now we want more security for them, security which tilling land can give."

"Automobile bodies are coming out of the soil one of these days, not out of steel. All that is going to help, I think our country is going on increasing its consumption."

If you speak of his gardens to Ford his face lights up like a boy's. "The kids love them. They're working in them today. Edsel and I are going to visit 10 of them this afternoon."

"Men can't get old today! We've got to keep going. No more rocking chair at 50 for anybody. We've got to keep interested in everything and in everybody. The world hasn't time for old people who don't keep moving. Myself? I've never been sick a day in my life. Only with a fractured rib or a sore knee. I never even had the mumps."

"Work? There's nothing like it! When I find a man or woman bored I try to get them interested in something, anything. Today, the man who is idle in the city perhaps doesn't belong there at all."

Ford doesn't wear glasses except when doing close work. He can read the date on a penny without trouble. His project at Inkster, where 500 workmen are farming his land, is nearest to his heart today, he says.

WANT TO CHANGE NAME OF LAKE? IT IS NOT DIFFICULT

Despite the simplicity with which it is now possible to change the name of a lake or stream in Michigan and to assure the official use of the name on all federal, state and local maps and documents, only 25 changes have been made in five years, according to the State Committee on Geographical Names.

More and more the value of Michigan's thousands of inland lakes is being realized, the Committee believes. Often the duplication of names of lakes and streams is puzzling, as well as leading to false impressions which tend to decrease their appeal.

While the Committee is not urging unnecessary name changes, it is advocating name changes when there are duplications or when a name results in discouraging results. A "Mud" lake, while it might in itself be attractive, would not attract tourists who saw only the name.

The Committee has formulated a complete system whereby it is very simple to change the name of a body of water. The Committee acts largely as a clearing house and intermediary between all local organizations and the United States Geographic Board. It is not its purpose to change a name on its own initiative, however, and the name change must be proposed through the community in which the lake or stream is located.

New names should be chosen from local historical characters or incidents, physical geographic features and other distinguishing factors, such as pioneers, Indian chiefs, battles, Indian lore, settlements or people prominent in the vicinity of the particular lake or arrive in resort or recreational development, the committee advises.

The state Committee on Geographical Names was organized in 1927 after the legislature had provided for a system whereby names could be legally changed to rid the state map of duplications and names that were awkward and inappropriate.

The Committee is composed of Dr. G. N. Fuller, Secretary of the Michigan Historical Commission; Dr. R. A. Smith, State Geologist; and L. R. Schoeman, Director of the Land Economic Survey of the Department of Conservation.

Official statements from Dearborn indicated that little knowledge concerning the petitions was had by such officials except that they had heard that such petitions were being circulated. Further than that they did not comment.

The movement to have this section incorporated as a part of Dearborn has been advanced at various times, it was reported, although no definite action has ever resulted. Whether present action of the subject will be fruitful is not known at this time.

Should the required amount of signatures be obtained on the petitions, however, and they are presented the proper authorities, a special election would have to be held in the district, and Nankin township also would have to decide whether or not it would relinquish this territory.

MANY persons who are "on call" for either temporary or permanent employment find that their telephones give them an advantage. For employers often summon those persons first whom they can reach easily and quickly by telephone.

And in emergencies, such as fire, accident or sudden sickness, your telephone is PRICELESS PROTECTION, enabling you to summon aid immediately, day or night.

Few things that you buy offer so much useful service and protection at such low cost as the telephone.

SAFE, CLEAN, ECONOMICAL —and straight to the spot!

ELECTRIC Heat

for small industrial processes

Manufacturers have always known the value of large electric heating applications, but in these days of economizing and cutting costs, the smallest items in a manufacturing process are coming in for their share of scrutiny. Among them are small heating jobs of every variety, such as heating glue or wax pots, melting lead, or heating chemical baths. These provide exceptional opportunity to effect substantial savings in the rigorous work of "trimming corners".

Electric heat on such jobs is often the cheaper method, because it can be confined 100 per cent to its own job rather than heating the surrounding space or "going up the flue". And the cost of electric units to do this work is surprisingly little. For example, a small cartridge supplying a "spot" of heat costs only $2. A "strip" heater which has a multitude of uses may be purchased for $1.50. A liquid-heating unit that is adaptable to any number of jobs is available for $10. And these are only some of the commoner devices. There are countless electric heating units designed exactly to suit your own particular needs.

It will pay you to investigate this subject. Our engineers will gladly discuss with you any heating problem you may have (no matter how small) and submit recommendations. There is no obligation. Call the nearest Detroit Edison Office. (We do not sell this equipment.)

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 454): "Love for God and man is the true incentive in both healing and teaching. Love inspires, illumines, designates, and leads the way. Right motives give pinions to thought, and strength and freedom to speech and action."

NORMALS SLATE HARD SCHEDULE

Michigan Normal college will meet two out-of-state teams on the gridiron this fall, one of them, Iowa Teachers' college of Cedar Falls, Iowa, has been met before in 1930 and 1931, but South Dakota State and the Hurons will line up against each other for the first time. Another school to be met for the first time this year is Northern State college. The University of Detroit eleven and the Ypsil team will clash again for the first time in 16 years.

Here's a bit of pre-season dope on the 1932 football schedule: University of Detroit—Has not been met since 1916, when Normal won by a 12-6 score. Other scores: 1915, Normal 16, U. of D. 0; 1913, Normal 0, U. of D. 0; 1911, Normal 0, U. of D. 0; 1910, Normal 0, U. of D. 0; 1909, Normal 8, U. of D. 0; 1907, Normal 7, U. of D. 0; Normal 0, U. of D. 0. Total points: Michigan Normal 79, University of Detroit 37.

Northern State college—Has never been met in football. Alma College—The Hurons have taken more beatings at the hands of Alma than any of their historic rivals. The Scots married an otherwise perfect season for Normal in 1926, the last time they met, with a 12-0 win. Altogether, in 15 games, Alma has won 11 times, Normal 3 and one game has been tied. Alma has scored 100 points in Normal's 57. The record: 1925, Normal 25, Alma 0; 1924, Normal 0, Alma 0; 1923, Normal 0, Alma 19; 1922, Normal 0, Alma 14; 1921, Normal 25, Alma 0; 1924, Normal 0, 12, Alma 0; 1919, Normal 14, Alma 0; 1917, Normal 0, Alma 27; 1916, Normal 0, Alma 0; 1914, Normal 0, Alma 0; 1913, Normal 0, Alma 34; 1910, Normal 6, Alma 22; 1909, Normal 0, Alma 5; 1918, Normal 0, Alma 5.

Central State College—One of the oldest and hottest rivalries on the Huron record, in spite of the fact that Normal has won 10 and Central but 5 while three have been tied. Total points: Normal 275, Central 103. The Bears' victory last year, 20-12 was their first over the Hurons in six games. The record: 1930, Normal 13, Central 0; 1929, Normal 14, Central 0; 1928, Normal 39, Central 0; 1927, Normal 6, Central 0; 1926, Normal 41, Central 0; 1924, Normal 0, Central 13; 1923, Normal 3, Central 27; 1922, Normal 0, Central 0; 1921, Normal 7, Central 0; 1920, Normal 7, Central 0; 1919, Normal 7, Central 7; 1917, Normal 33, Central 0; 1912, Normal 0, Central 0; 1908, Normal 17, Central 0; 1907, Normal 39, Central 0.

Children should be taught the worth of jobs, or they may develop into worthless snobs.

South Dakota State—Has never been met in football. The first inter-sectional homecoming attraction in history on Alumni field.

Iowa Teachers' College—Has been met twice: 1931, Normal 32, Iowa Teachers 0; 1930, Normal 19, Iowa Teachers 0.

Michigan reserves are being played in a morning game as a "let-up" between the Central state and South Dakota games. November 19 remains open as a result of Peris Tech's cancellation, that school having given up football for the year.

Arrest Communists Active at Ford Plant

Communists are active again in the Ford Motor plant, it was learned recently, when Dearborn police arrested three men who were passing out communist literature at Gates 3 and 4. The men arrested gave their names as Otto H. Kerster, Fred Almann and John Hecht.

Almann gave his address as 457 Ledyard avenue, Kewsee, 4204 Cass avenue, and Hecht said he lived at 2290 Ford avenue, all of Detroit. The men were picked up at about 10:30 one night, just when the Ford shift was letting out.

The officers making the arrest were Wm. Butler and Wm. Korte, of Precinct No. 1. The men, when arrested, had armfuls of handbills, announcing a big demonstration to be held on Monday, August 1st. The handbills called upon all Communists of Dearborn to meet on the above date at Cass Park in Detroit to organize for a huge demonstration against the present hunger marches of President Hoover, Mayor Murphy and the Ford Motor Company.

The handbills went on to say that the treatment of the hungry army in Washington at the hands of President Hoover, the treatment of the unemployed in Detroit at the hands of Mayor Murphy, and Ford Motor activities and immigration men raids on aliens, should be suppressed.

The men arrested were passing out the pamphlets as the men came out of Gates 3 and 4 from the late shift. Officers Korte and Butler made the three arrests and confiscated thousands of handbills which they brought to the station.

What disposition will be made of the case against the three arrested is not yet known. They could be tried under a new ordinance that has been before the city council for some time against the passing of handbills and communist literature in the city, but the said thing about it, stated one of the local police officers, the council has failed up to the present time to pass the ordinance.

The case has been turned over to Lieut. Orr for investigation. Prosecutor McAnn said he was not ready to make out a case against the men, in that he had no ordinance under which he could act.—Dearborn Independent.

NETHEM WINS THIRD STRAIGHT

The fast going Netheim club of Newburg won their third straight game, when they defeated Shepherd's Cleaners of Grosse Pointe thirteen to six.

After getting behind three to nothing Netheim started one of their famous rallies in the third inning to score seven runs, which was enough to win.

Every player in the Netheim line up scored at least one run. Miller and Beaupard lead the hitters for the day when they got three out of five, while H. Levandowski was the leading hitter for Netheim, getting two out of four.

Next Sunday Michigan Hardwear who defeated Netheim last month four to two will try to top Netheim's winning streak. They'll meet at Rousseau's Park at the corner of Ann Arbor and Plymouth Road about three miles east of Plymouth.

Howell Fair To Be Held August 17-19

The most unique and pleasant surprise of years comes this year on August 17, 18, 19 when the Livingston County Fair opens its doors for the 19th consecutive year. This year everybody will enjoy the midway, the exhibits, and personal contact without any admission charge. In harmony with the times, and a firm desire to "Carry On" for by and of the people of the County the Board has reversed its traditional custom and no gate charge will be made.

The local corporation of every Livingstonite is asked to help make things break even. Therefore as other free fairs, a nominal charge will be made for the grand stand and for the ball game. The cost of the fair has been pared to the bone, but money must come in to meet the demand and only three sources of income are available. So no one objects to paying a quarter for a good ball game, for a grand stand seat, when everything else is thrown in for the good time.

A complete race program of two races a day are scheduled for each of the three days of the fair. Live purses have been offered. Three ball games with opponents hand picked by Loren Bassett assure worthwhile pleasure and rooting for the fans. Hamburg plays Howell Wednesday. Webberville meets Northville Thursday and the winners of the first two games meet on Friday for the tall green.

BUSTER BEAR LOSES HALF HIS FEAST

To do a thing that must be done There's usually more ways than one.

THIS means, of course, that if one way fails you shouldn't give up, and you think the thing cannot be done. You should try to find some other way. Often it will be a most unexpected way, a way that you discover by accident. There was the case of Busy Bee and her fellow workers when Buster Bear found their storehouse and began to rob it of their honey. They had done their best to drive him away. They had used their sharp little lances in their tails for all they were worth. If it had been anyone but Buster Bear they would have succeeded in driving the robber away. But though they fought as hard as they could, and stung with all their might, they couldn't drive Buster away from that honey. To Buster's way of thinking that honey was worth all the pain of the stings. And then, quite by accident, they discovered a way of getting rid of him. Some of them flying about found Farmer Brown's Boy watching what was going on, and in the blindness of their anger mistook him for another enemy, and promptly treated him as they had treated Buster.

Down He Came to the Ground With a Thump That Would Have Knocked the Wind From Anyone But Buster Bear.

Now, Farmer Brown's Boy has no such thick skin as Buster Bear. At the first sting, when he felt as if a red-hot needle had been thrust into him, he jumped from his hiding place. Before you could say Jack Robinson half a dozen bees had stung him and a cloud of them were about him. He forgot all about Buster Bear. He had but one thought, and this was that he couldn't get away from that place quick enough. It had suddenly become altogether too hot a place for him. He let out a yell. Yes, sir, he let out a yell, and it was a good loud yell. Then he started to get try this policy suddenly became stimulated and it has spread with astounding rapidity.

"Will the influences of its further rapid growth on all manner of Federal expenditures, unless severely checked, result in the nationalization in a practical way of many of the remaining important reserved powers of the states? Or through operation of practical politics will the result be the milking of the contributing states to pay the expenses of the non-contributing ones? "This might be under the guise of nationalism or through a frank avowal that taxes shall work a redistribution of wealth. Can the Federal Treasury and the National credit stand this rapidly mounting cost of subsidies to the states?"

"The sad part of the story is that the states have consented to their own ravishment. They have in large measure, surrendered their sovereignty in consideration of gold appropriated out of the Federal Treasury and in their eagerness to obtain it they have increased taxes and debts until they are deluged with evils which they at one time thought were blessings. They have lost the respect of the Nation's Capital; and year after year they return, and like Oliver Twist, they hold out their porridge bowls and ask for more.

"What are these direct aids to the states? The list covers a variety of subjects, running all the way from highway construction and building of forest trails to the endowment of agricultural colleges; Federal grants for reclamation and reforestation work to fighting forest fires; and in the very recent past to such subjects as maternity and infancy care and social hygiene extension.

"To receive a Federal subsidy dollar there is one Southern state that pays in gross Federal taxes only 37 cents for this dollar it receives; one in the Southwest that pays only 12 cents, and another in the Northwest that pays only 15 cents.

"As a contrast to these states paying no tax to the Treasury there is a New England state that pays $22.48 for every Federal subsidy dollar it receives; a central state that pays $24.08 for every Federal subsidy dollar, and a Pacific state that pays $15.01 for every Federal subsidy dollar.

"To any reasonable citizen it must be self-evident that these figures are revealing."

So Many People Say

"I'd rather have a tooth extracted than have it filled." Why? Because an anaesthetic is used to eliminate the pain during extraction. Ahright, isn't it just as sensible to eliminate pain during a filling operation?

For fifteen years I have successfully used nerve-blocking to prevent pain in ALL operations. It is safe to use and if you are not benefiting by its use, you are simply being subjected to Unnecessary Pain.

No extra charge is made for this service. If you will but investigate, you will find that you can get just as good service, often times better, right at home.
