

POSTOFFICE IS A POSSIBILITY

Plymouth Again Listed As One Of Places For A Building

Washington newspaper dispatches during the past few days have again listed Plymouth as one of the cities to receive a new postoffice building during the next year or so. The building of a number of postoffice structures throughout the country by communities which are growing rapidly and which are badly in need of additional post-office housing, is set forth as a part of the Hoover program to provide work for the thousands of unemployed.

But, warns one dispatch in quoting a Washington official, "no community where an effort is made to profiteer at the expense of the government will be taken into consideration. New federal buildings will be erected where needed and only in such places as where the government can secure proper sites at most reasonable prices. In fact the offer of sites for new federal buildings at figures regarded as of an attractive nature will be given first consideration."

It is to be gained from this that the government is not going to put up a building in any community that does not cooperate in the fullest extent in getting a site at a most reasonable price.

A year or so ago the matter of a new postoffice building was brought to the attention of Congressman E. G. Meehan. At that time Congressman Meehan advised Plymouth residents that while Congress had set aside $25,000 and he had been able to secure the placing of Plymouth on the preferential list, he did not see an immediate prospect of the building being erected. The amount stated not only must cover the cost of the site, but the building and all other expenses that go into the completed structure.

Unfortunately for Plymouth it will not have Congressman Meehan to press its fight for the new building as he is no longer the representative of this district. However, in a recent letter to the Plymouth Mail he stated that he would use his every influence in behalf of the community.

The erection of a number of post-office structures throughout the country is all a part of President Hoover's program to provide work for the unemployed and to restore a better business condition than now prevails.

Out of it every one in Plymouth is hoping that this community will be one that will profit through the government's activities.

Dondero-Abbott Speak At Voters Tea

Thursday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30 the members of the Plymouth League of Women Voters and the W. C. T. U. were hostesses to the new voters of Plymouth township. About sixty guests assembled in the lovely garden at the home of Mrs. Ruth E. Houghton, who presided at the afternoon tea and a word about politics. Mrs. Whipple was program chairman and began the program with a word about the purpose of the tea and the purpose of the hostess organizations.

The program was divided into three sections. "How to Vote," "Amendments for November 8" and "Choose Your Party." For the first section Miss Lina Durfee, president of the Plymouth League of Women Voters spoke on the purpose and methods of the absent voter's ballot, and Mrs. Clara Patterson told of a demonstration on marking the presidential ballot in the November election. For the second section, L. P. Cookingham, our city manager, gave a short talk on the seven amendments to be voted upon in Michigan, November 8. On the third section, "Choose Your Party," Horatio Abbott, Democratic National Committeeman from Ann Arbor spoke on "The Principles of the Democratic Party," while George A. Dondero of Royal Oak, our newly nominated Republican candidate for congress from this, the 17th district, spoke on "The Principles of the Republican Party." Plymouth motorists who secured their old licenses between Jan. 1, 1929 and Nov. 1, 1929 to secure new licenses before Nov. 1 of this year.

Chief Vaughn Smith Is Looking For You

Before Nov. 1, 1932, approximately 250,000 motor vehicle operators must secure new drivers' licenses. The new license law, adopted by the 1931 legislature, ordered motorists who secured their old licenses between Jan. 1, 1929 and Nov. 1, 1929 to secure new licenses before Nov. 1 of this year.

Department of State records show that during 1928 and 1929 a total of 436,000 drivers' licenses were issued. But because many of these motorists have already secured new licenses, it is estimated that only about 250,000 licenses will expire in about six weeks.

Old drivers' licenses, secured after Nov. 1, 1929, expire, according to the 1931 law, three years after date of issue. Applications for new licenses should be made to the police or sheriff of the municipality or county in which the motorist resides. Of the $1 fee charged the driver for the license, 15 cents is returned to the municipality or county receiving the application and the balance is turned over to the Department of Public Safety after cost of administering the law has been deducted.

Just call around and see Chief Vaughn Smith at the City Hall. He can get that new license for you.

A husband can tell how he rates when his wife begins by saying she promised not to tell anybody.

Training School Wins First Prize At State Fair

REPUBLICAN CHOICE Exhibit Creates Much Attention—Cattle Bring Home Awards

Six boys and girls working busily all afternoon in the Coliseum had larger crowds watching them than any other exhibit in the big building out at the Michigan State Fair this week. Thus wrote the Detroit Times about the exhibit from the Wayne County Training School at the State Fair.

This unusual type of exhibition, which showed action as well as products, took the first prize in all exhibits set up in the Coliseum representing eight State and County institutions in addition to the Detroit Public Schools. The first prize brings to the Training School a beautiful cup.

A continuous crowd of interested spectators, most of the time six and eight deep, gathered closely around the exhibit and boys, engaged busily at the different tasks. The girls made towels and pillow slips, darned socks and made button holes in shirts literally by the hundreds, all while you waited. Three boys were engaged in a continuous production of window screens, starting with a piece of rough lumber, squaring it up on the lathe, then putting it thru the mousing machine and then cutting out the tenons on the hand saw proceeding to complete the screen on the bench and then passing it over to the next boy who shackled the knots and painted it the usual screen green.

The real center of attraction, however, was the boy on the lathe. He turned out one article after another of varying sizes and varying shapes, all from patterns set up before him. This attracted the attention of the youngster and the older man alike. Much as the average visitor marvelled at the skill he marvelled still more at the absolute indifference with which these young tradesmen proceeded at their tasks, quite undisturbed by the admiration of the crowd.

This exhibit was assembled under the immediate direction of J. J. Sullivan who is Dr. Haskell's assistant in charge of vocational training.

The Training School had another outstanding exhibition in the Dairy Cattle Building. Joe Cook, the headman, although he took down only sixteen animals, brought back seventeen and with these seventeen ribbons, received as trophies. The seventeen animals was a beautiful calf born the day following the judging to one of the leading contestants. These ribbons represent one second, two thirds and four fifth prizes and the best straggling after. The cattle competition was one of the most successful years of the Michigan State Fair is very keen. Show herds from all over the country come here regularly to receive the stamp of approval at this fair. Mr. Cook expressed himself as particularly pleased over the fact that the second and third and some of the first premiums were won by animals which had been bred in the Wacons Herd, all of which speaks for better chances even in the future, although old exhibitors were quite surprised that such a list of premiums could be acquired by such a young herd, bred together for purely utilitarian purposes.

In addition to these prizes, the Training school also received one hundred and nineteen dollars in cash prizes.

Local democrats were honored early this week when the State committee appointed Frank K. Learned as a member of the welcoming group to meet Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Governor Roosevelt will arrive in Detroit with his party on Monday, October 2, at which time the committee will greet him and escort him to his headquarters. The committee will be composed of several veterans, 30 leading Democrats and a Bugle corps.

Many residents of Plymouth are planning to attend the meeting in Detroit at which the Democratic Presidential nominee will speak.

Officials of the National Window Shade company were honored last week by having as their guest for a day, Lord Canfield and Dr. R. J. Allen of Manchester, England. The two Englishmen came to Plymouth to hold a conference with officials of the company and to inspect the local plant. Both Lord Canfield and Dr. Allen stated that they were very much impressed with the city of Plymouth and thought it was one of the neatest and prettiest small towns they had seen in America.

They were entertained at dinner Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Sabom in Birmingham.

INCUMBANTS GIVEN GOOD SUPPORT HERE

Learned Loses Race To Donner From Dearborn

Plymouth Republicans stood firmly behind all incumbents for state and county office and helped swell the totals that were shown them from other sections of the county. Brucker proved a local Republican favorite as did William Constock. County officials found much support in Plymouth. Behrendt receiving more local votes than the rest of his competitors. Wilcox headed the opposition ticket with 50 more votes than John Murphy. Stoll, Gutman, Farrel and Toy were all given strong support. Prosecutor Harry Toy received the largest number of votes cast for any one individual in Plymouth precincts.

Local voters rallied to the support of John W. Reid candidate for State Senator from this district to fill the vacancy created by Clifton Stevens of Highland Park when he announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election. Reid led his closest rival by better than 3,000 votes in the district. Frank J. Schroeder was the Democratic nominee.

Returns in the race for state legislature gave Edward Fisher, unopposed, republican 3,960 votes. Frank K. Learned Plymouth Democratic candidate failed to gain enough support in Dearborn to offset the lead that his two competitors gained in their home towns. Dondero led the Democratic ticket with 1,634 votes. Hicks second with 882 and Learned third with 678.

Behold! The Champ Lawn Bowler! His Light Now Shineth

But like unto the man that hideth his light under a bushel, Rev. Nichol has been successful in keeping from a large number of his Plymouth friends the fact that for a year or more he has the holder of the international cup for lawn bowlers, having defeated all the stars of Canada and the United States.

This became known the other day when he brought home with him the prize offered for the winner in the contest that took place in Detroit on Labor day. Just a special prize for the player that rolled the most perfect score in the contests on that holiday.

The international trophy is now held by a Canadian player, having been won in the contest about a year ago.

Kiwansians Hear Talk By T. J. Knapp

"A Wiser Selfishness," was the topic of a particularly interesting address given to the Kiwanis club last Tuesday evening. The speaker, Thad J. Knapp, superintendent of schools of Northville brought a message that proved to be one of the best heard by the club in some time.

His subject dealt with both wise and unwise selfishness and the speaker suggested that there were times that selfishness was as good as it was bad.

The club was the guest of Wayne Kiwanians at Hawthorne Valley at a golf match Wednesday afternoon when which dinner was served to some 30 members of both clubs.

DONDERO AND MITCHELL CAPTURE CONGRESSIONAL HONORS IN 17TH DISTRICT

GEORGE A. DONDERO

VOTERS CAST 512 BALLOTS

Nearly Half Of Local Qualified Voters Go To Polls

The first State and County Primary Election conducted by election officials under the City form of government brought out only an average vote of slightly under one-half of the registered voters.

After the registrations closed and the new registrations were entered in the books, a total of 2050 qualified electors became eligible to vote.

The Primary Election brought out 912 voters, 710 of which were in Precinct No. 1 at the City Hall, and 198 were voted at the Starkweather school. Of the total number voting, 688 voted the Republican ballot and 224 voted the Democratic ballot. The Democratic ballot contained the names of 120 candidates and the Republican ballot carried 77 names.

The large number of candidates made the checking and tabulating of the votes a long and tedious job for the election boards. The Board in Precinct No. 2 completed the tabulating and checking at 1:00 a. m. Wednesday, while the Board in Precinct No. 1 worked continuously until 10:30 a. m. Wednesday. The reports of the various election boards were filed with the County Clerk Wednesday afternoon.

Although very little misunderstanding existed, there were a few people who appeared to vote who were not registered on the books. The election board officials had been given regarding the necessity to register in order to vote at the Primary Election and most of the voters had previously checked to see whether or not they were registered. Registration books are again open and registrations will be received for the fall election up until October 29th. It is necessary for every one desiring to register to appear in person and subscribe to an affidavit of registration. It is not possible to register by telephone or through a second party.

Funeral Services Today For Yerkes

Long a resident of this section Harmon Yerkes aged 72 years passed away at his home early Wednesday morning. Born in Northville on August 22, 1860 Mr. Yerkes had spent his entire life in that town until two years ago when he purchased a residence at 1055 Williams street in Plymouth.

He was well known here and leaves, besides a large number of friends to mourn his loss his widow, Lettie D. and two sons, Omond and Vine, and a daughter, Mrs. Alice V. Barber of Northville.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday at the Schrader Bros. Funeral Home in Northville where the body was taken.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Holloway had as their guest for the weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Conklin and J. W. Phillips of Eaton Rapids, Mr. and Mrs. Chellproff and Mrs. Arnold, friends from Lansing were Sunday callers at the Holloway home.

For the first time in the history of Glacier National Park an automobile bearing license plates from China has entered the park. The car was registered under the name of Dr. and Mrs. T. C. McCracken whose residence was given as Shanghai.

Local Candidate Loses To Contestants From Big Voting Sections

When the excitement and heat of the 17th congressional district election fray had subsided, George A. Dondero of Royal Oak found himself the Republican choice for that office and Harry Mitchell, present Mayor of Pontiac headed the list of the Democrats.

Keen interest was shown in Plymouth in this race because of the local candidate Perry W. Hitchwin. Seasoned politicians stated that against the tremendous odds Mr. Hitchwin made a formidable showing in his first political endeavor.

Mr. Dondero, a resident of Royal Oak practically all of his life, is well known to many in Plymouth. He is an attorney and has served as village clerk, township assessor, village attorney and assistant county prosecutor for Royal Oak. Later he was chairman of the Royal Oak charter commission and then Mayor. He served on the Royal Oak school board for 18 years and the last 13 years was its president.

He has given freely of his time to public work and is an excellent candidate for the Republican party. He is an outstanding student on the life of Lincoln and advances many of the proposals in his present day needs. He has his platform on the thought that governmental expense should be reduced.

Robert Yerkes of Northville ran second in the Republican race and Clyde Finner second on the Democratic ticket. The 27 office seekers in the race made it one of doubt from the start. Mitchell's lead was accredited to his strong following in Pontiac and the 22nd ward where the majority of votes are cast.

Central School Has First P. T. A. Meet

The first regular monthly meeting of the school year took place Tuesday evening, in the gymnasium of the high school and was very well attended.

The president, Mrs. E. C. Humphries, opened the meeting and in her gracious manner welcomed the various committees, new and old, and voiced the hope that well organized homes and a well organized school might work together and achieve success. After community singing and a short business session, including reports from the various committees, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Linds, chairman of the entertainment committee, and the following pleasing program was given:

E. C. Campbell pleased the audience with his enjoyable rendition of "Trees" and, "Somewhere a Voice is Calling."

James Gallimore, president of the school board, gave a few words of welcome to the teachers and parents and promised the cooperation of the school board in anything the P. T. A. may undertake for the good of the school.

A "Ghost Dance" presented in costume, in a very realistic manner by Dora Gallimore, was a clever and unusual bit, thoroughly enjoyed.

Mrs. Gilbert Brown was the accompanist of the evening.

Supt. Geo. Smith gave a fine talk on the functions and problems of the school, stressing the need of cooperation with the homes to enable the child to find the ability within himself and others; to train him in good citizenship; and, third, to find and overcome remedial defects in the school child, through the school health department and dental clinics.

The problems of the school which Mr. Smith touched upon chiefly were first, the closing of Church street immediately in front of the high school building, as a safety measure; second, the necessity for a re-division of the present school districts to take care of the overflow at the central grade school and to fill the extra rooms at the Starkweather school; and third, the problem of further reducing the cost per capita in a growing district.

Mr. Smith pointed out that times of stress are times for the parents and teachers to work together to give the boys and girls a square deal, and the benefit of the best possible education, so that when the present economic situation has righted itself and the same boys and girls go out into the world, they will be better fitted to fill their places and bring credit to the schools and homes from which they came.

After the meeting, dainty refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed.

Dr. Walter McBride of Detroit will be the speaker at the next regular meeting on Tuesday evening, October 11th, and a good attendance is urged.

Time will end the depression first as soon as people can resume buying on it.

PUBLIC MONEY

The state legislature at times has frequently passed laws compelling the monthly or annual publication of reports showing just how the funds of some offices have been handled. The publication of these financial reports has been made compulsory for two reasons, first, so that the public might know just how its money is being spent; second, because the legal requirement of publication has been regarded as one of the most satisfactory ways to safeguard public funds.

But some public officials after they get on their job do not like to comply with these legal requirements. They assume the idea that it is their business and none of the public's business as to how the public's money is spent.

Up in Sanilac county a few weeks ago an investigation was made of one of the public offices. The audit showed that during a period of four or five years, there had been created a deficit of something like $51,000. The bonding company of the public official found short has offered to make good a portion of the shortage say reports. But that is not just the point. If this public official had been required to give an annual accounting of the public money he handled, there would have been no $51,000 shortage because he could not have doctored up his report to cover any such sum. If he had tried it, some one reading the report would have detected it. Now the taxpayers are out thousands and thousands of dollars because a public official did not keep the public advised as to how he was spending their cash.

There are two or three groups of public officials in Michigan who are trying to have some of the laws changed so they will not have to let the public know how they are spending the public money they handle. There can be but one reason for any such desire, and that is to cheat the public at some time. The public official who is afraid of letting the public know how he is spending the public's money should not be in office. Sanilac county has provided an excellent example of what results when the public is kept in ignorance of how public money is being spent.

POLITICS WHEN THE COUNTRY WAS YOUNG

The following item is from a Three Rivers clipping file. It reveals the spirit of the old politicians in the fearless forties. "A man by the name of Flavous Josephus Littlejohn, of Allegan, Michigan, an Abolitionist and fiery enthusiast in the cause of temperance, conducted a series of temperance meetings in one of the towns of southern Michigan. He was running for governor against the democratic nominee, John H. Barry, who sought re-election.

"Littlejohn called upon to open one of the meetings, responded with the following prayer:

"O, Lord, there is much wickedness and much drunkenness in many of our young and rising towns, therefore, O, Lord, we crave Thy blessing. Now Milwaukee, just sprung up, it is bad; Chicago, another mushroom town is worse. Yet do Thou, O Lord, bless them and improve them. There is also Michigan City, Indiana, a land of sand and whiskey, and Laporte, of much mud and great wickedness, indeed they do need Thy blessing, there is South Bend and also Niles, which think themselves righteous, but they are full of rumholes and rottenness. Lord, they do need Thy blessing and mercy. And there is Kalamazoo, which boasts itself of something and is nothing but self-righteousness and drunkenness. Good Lord open its eyes that it may receive Thy blessing. Then we have Puddelburg (Mendon) White Pigeon, Mottville, Bristol and Elkhart, little things but very wicked and full of drunkenness. do Thou O Lord bless them.

"Then pausing for breath and raising his voice to the highest pitch and shouted: 'And lastly, dear Lord, bless Constantine where Governor Barry sells whiskey at three cents a glass.'
 But Barry was re-elected.

"DAD WRITES HIS DAUGHTER"

My Dear Daughter:
 You ask me if your husband should stay on in his present position at an "adjusted" salary, but you forget to tell me what he would do if he didn't. You and he couldn't come here very well just now. Your brother Sheridan's salary has just been "reconsidered," so he moved into his old room at home and brought his wife.

Your sister Eloise telegraphed the next day that Wilfred has just been offered a new contract that was an insult, so your mother is airing out her room. Wilfred never could endure insults. Your sister, Frances, you will recall, has been a private secretary and wrote last week that if anybody thinks she is going to drop to the level of a common typist, they are mistaken, so we expect her any day.

What with these and the younger children, I imagine that as long as Rupert's salary is merely being "adjusted" he had better stay. An adjustment is nothing like a reduction. It's hard for me to keep up with the new language of big business, but as I understand it, an "adjustment" is the equivalent of a raise. Of course, Rupert wouldn't know that; he has been working only since 1928; he should ask some old timer to explain what a raise is.

My own business is coming along fine. It was sold on the court house steps last Friday, but there were no bidders, so the sheriff let me keep it. That makes the best month since the upturn.

Your affectionate father.

WILL YOU BE PREPARED?

Prosperity is "just around the corner."
 This slogan has been common for the last two years and now it looks as if the corner will soon be turned.

But are you prepared for prosperity?
 When prosperity returns, there will be an influx of business houses in every city.

Those who have become discouraged, and acknowledge that they are licked, will enjoy no prosperity.

It will take them too long to recover from a chronic depression, and unless they cheer up, dress up their places of business and go after the trade before prosperity enters with a bang, they will find that some more enterprising individual has captured their trade.

Business will not be helped by continually harping on hard times. Such talk will frighten the buyer away from your place of business. Do not be too optimistic and try to create a false recovery of business, but play the game on the square and fight for your business, your town and your community.

Do not be misled by the transient door knockers, who come into town offering bargains of questionable merchandise, but trade with the local merchants, and preferably with those who think enough of your business to present their message through the advertising columns of the papers.

Keep in training, and be ready to go at the drop of the hat.

You Have to Make Noise to Be Heard when the whistle of prosperity sounds.—Portales Valley News, Portales, New Mexico.

HOARDED MONEY BENEFITS NO ONE

A certain man during his eighty years of life saved up $40,000 which he hoarded in tobacco cans, hiding them about his shabby home. He denied himself the comforts of life, robbed his family of necessities as well as pleasures and real living, held himself aloof from his fellowmen, had nothing in common with neighbors, had no community interest. He just existed in a self-centered, sub-normal pursuit of more money, which as he used it, was not worth as much as a single smile, an apple in the hands of a hungry child, or a bit of finery for some worthy girl. Then his shack caught fire, and his $40,000 went up in smoke. Money is valueless if it is not used. Put your money in a bank, or invest it. Put it to use.—Kansas Republican, Newton, Kansas.

When Ben Franklin Was Young

"Reading was the only amusement I allowed myself, and my industry in my business continued as indefatigable as it was necessary," he relates in the story of his life. "I was indebted for my printing house; I had a young family coming on to be educated, and I had to contend with for business two printers, who were established in the place before me. My circumstances, however, grew daily easier. My original habits of frugality continuing, and my father having, among his instructions to me when a boy, frequently repeated a proverb of Solomon, 'Neest thou a man diligent in his calling, he shall stand before kings; he shall not stand before mean men,' I from thence considered industry as a means of obtaining wealth and distinction, which encouraged me. tho' I did not think that I should ever literally stand before kings, which however has since happened; for I have stood before five, and even had the honor of sitting down with one, the King of Denmark, to dinner.

"We have an English proverb that says, 'He that would thrive, must ask his wife.' . . . I had one as much disposed to industry and frugality as myself. She assisted me cheerfully in my business, folding and stitching pamphlets, treading shop, purchasing old linen rags for the paper-makers, etc. etc. We kept no idle servants, our table was plain and simple. . . . But Franklin's appetite for industrial and scientific achievement earned for him world-respect and that thing men call success.

Health Tips

Human Ailments From Excessive Eating

By Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
 There is much publicity on the subject of diet. But it can truthfully be said that hundreds of thousands of words have been written on reducing compared to the hundreds that have been penned on over-eating in the first place. And this, despite the very evident fact that a reducing dietary is quite superfluous to those who have maintained a proper weight by considering the value and limitations of food.

The paramount question of will power is involved in this matter as it is in every worthwhile plan or endeavor. And it must be confessed that a great deal of it is required to treat food as a sustaining agent rather than as a sport. For that

Rambling Around with Michigan Editors

WE ARE DRIFTING TOWARD A MONARCHY

The Michigan Bar Association it seems, would like to have supreme court and circuit court judges appointed for life, and prosecuting attorneys appointed by the attorney general. What is this country coming to? Nothing short of a centralized form of government in which the people will have little or nothing to say in the selection of our public officials.

After the machinery is all set for appointing prosecuting attorneys, it may not be out of harmony with this sentiment for centralized power to suggest that we go still further and have our county clerk, treasurer, probate judge and other officers appointed by the governor's administrative board, or some state official, and fix their salaries. And then follow this action by having all school teachers appointed by the superintendent of public instruction with power to fix their salaries.

The next move would probably be to abolish all township offices, which is even now being advocated. If the people of Michigan and the United States don't wish to see our republic change its form of government to a semi-monarchy it is up to the voters to protest against any form of encroachment upon our democratic form of government.—H. J. Richardson in The Augusta Beacon.

THE GASOLINE BLENDER

An interesting bulletin is that sent out by Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald recently. The facts related in this bulletin only emphasize the necessity which was outlined in this column a few weeks ago. We then stated that the man who drives up to a gas tank knows nothing of what he is getting. It is high time that state inspection of gasoline be required. Many a man has filled his gas tank with stuff entirely unfit for his engine and paid the long price for it. Let's make this new type of defrauder run for cover.—Frank Bryce in The Grand Lodge Independent.

WALLOPS PRIMARY

The old convention system of nominating candidates for political office had its shortcomings but it is the growing belief that the primary system has just as many—perhaps more.—Grant Rowe in The Milford Times.

OUCH!

If all the candidates that are out for office could only be nominated and elected without a lot of good men would be sacrificed at the expense of the rest of us.—J. E. McMillen in The Linden Leader.

ARE YOU BEWILDERED?

Who wouldn't be bewildered with 300 candidates seeking to impress their qualifications for office, and all abounding that the voter "Remember the primary, September 13."

The voter will remember the primary without any trouble. What will bother him, if the cogitations of this editor are any sign, is where to put the fatal "X". So many seeking to represent the voter, and the voter honestly troubled by his civic duty to pick the right man! If he could only know the worth of the individual masking behind this name or that name on the printed ballot slip! To seek out the life history of every individual among 300 striving for the various posts would be a task of incredible magnitude. The voter can't do it.

This newspaper can't do it either. It would take an omniscience beyond that of ordinary mortals to say "This is not the man for the job but that one is. Don't vote for so and so. He'll let you down. Pick out Whoozis, for he is qualified."

No. Candidates are too numerous under our quaint primary system. The crop is large and never failing. This newspaper can do one thing, however, and that is present to you the names and some of the more pertinent facts about candidates who have selected this medium of telling you about themselves. Michigan Potato Crop To Be Big--All Crops Above Average

Improved prospects for the State's potato and bean crops, disappointing yields of oats and barley, and little change in the outlook for other field and fruit crops are shown by the September 1 crop report of the Department of Agriculture which was issued by Irvin Holmes, Assistant Agricultural Statistician, and Herbert E. Powell, Commissioner of Agriculture. While some areas of the State suffered considerably from drought during August, widespread heavy rains occurred during the last few days of the month and these have helped prospects for late fall crops such as potatoes, beans, and sugar beets. The composite condition of the sixteen principal field and fruit crops on September 1 this year was 74.7 per cent which compares with 71.2 per cent for September 1, 1931, and 61.3 per cent for September 1, 1930.

Although corn prospects are very uneven over the State, the average yield indicated by September 1 condition is 33.0 bushels per acre or about 2.5 bushels above the ten year average. The crop is maturing early, thereby reducing the danger of damage from early frosts, and cutting of fodder and ensilage has started in many sections during the last week of the month. The effect of heat damage to the oats and barley crops was more severe than had been anticipated earlier. Reports on probable yields show an average return for the State of 27.0 bushels per acre for oats and 19.0 bushels per acre for barley. This is four bushels less than the ten-year average yield for oats and nearly five bushels per acre below the ten-year average yield of barley in this State. The Michigan field bean crop is estimated at 6,480,000 bushels or 3,888,000 bushels which compares with 5,526,000 bushels or 3,318,000 bushels harvested last year. The indicated yield per acre on September 1 was 12.0 bushels. Last year the final yield was 9.0 bushels while the average for the preceding ten years was 10.6 bushels. Weather during the bloom period was favorable in most bean areas, and the fields are nodded heavily as a rule. Some injury from blight is noticeable, especially on early plantings. A considerable portion of this year's acreage was planted late, and the final yield for the State depends in a large measure upon weather during the next few weeks. Pulling of the early portion of the crop started in the Saginaw valley and other areas during the last week of August. The outlook for the Michigan bean grower appears more favorable this season. The indicated production in the Great Northern or competing states is only 1,557,000 bags which is 44 per cent less than the 2,805,000 bags harvested last year. Smaller crops are also estimated for New York, Colorado, and California. The September 1 estimate for the United States being 9,907,000 or 22 per cent less than the 12,733,000 bags harvested in 1931. Michigan's potato crop is estimated at 28,500,000 bushels or the largest since 1928. The average yield per acre promises to be 100.0 bushels or about 3.0 bushels above the ten-year average, but the final estimate may vary from this figure according to the extent to which September weather is more or less favorable than usual. The United States crop is now estimated at 356,746,000 bushels or 18,772,000 less than were harvested in 1931.

The outlook for Michigan sugar beet growers was very promising on September 1. With 131,000 acres planted to this crop or more than double that of 1931, and prospects of an above average yield on the area remaining for harvest, the State's production is forecast at 944,000 tons, the largest crop since 1927. Stands and growth are good to excellent this season, and if favorable weather continues the present estimate may be exceeded.

For several nights police lay in wait until they captured Marshall Walter, who made a habit of robbing spooning couples in a park in St. Paul, Minn., and then taking their shoes with him when he fled. "I did it so they wouldn't follow me," he explained to the authorities.

Communities Arm To Fight Sparlings

While other communities have tried flood lights, roman candles and other means of attempting to stop nightly visits of starlings and grackles, Mason, in Ingham County has made an attempt to rid itself of the undesirable roosting colonies by killing enough as fast as they arrive to drive the others away.

All during the summer months as dusk has approached countless thousands of starlings and grackles have congregated in Mason flying from all directions and settling on the limbs of trees. They confined their visits principally, to three hocks on one side of the city.

After consultation with the Department of Conservation, city officials announced a municipal hunt. Local residents were armed and the city provided the ammunition. As the sun began to set and the van guard of the birds arrived more than 50 armed men gathered in the area frequented by the birds. The first night's hunt took a toll estimated at 800 birds, about 85 percent of which were starlings and the majority of the rest were grackles, English sparrows and blackbirds.

Grand Rapids, Battle Creek, Rockford and several other Michigan communities have had similar experiences with large flocks of the roosting birds but have not been able to successfully combat them. The birds, which feed during the day in grain fields and through the country seek dense foliage for their nightly roosts. Thinning out the tops of trees where the birds are accustomed to roost, has sometimes been found to be effective in keeping them away, according to the Department of Conservation.

The children are said to be 84 per cent below normal. Inkster Displays Products of Lots Turned to Gardens

The Inkster of today is far from being the Inkster of yesterday. This was proven last Saturday. Sunday and Monday to many visitors who viewed with admiration the agricultural exhibit displayed in the community hall of that village by residents who only a little more than a year ago found themselves in dire circumstances and knew not which way to turn.

The quality of garden products shown, both in their natural state and in jars for preservation for winter use bespoke the change which has come over this little community whose population consists largely of colored folk. It was not so long ago that the American Red Cross with the aid of the Ford Motor company went to the rescue of these people, who had been practically abandoned.

These people were not offered charity but an educational program which would teach them how to take care of themselves. They accepted this aid with a smile and showed their appreciation by working hard and industriously. Over the holidays their smiles were broader for in the place of squalid and unkempt homes they showed visitors neat little dwellings. And in the place of backyards littered with tin cans, old cars and rubbish of all sorts, they displayed well cultivated gardens.

The general spirit of the community has changed. The same people who had scowled at the world a short time ago, laughed and clapped as an announcement was made of winners of blue and red ribbons which designated the first and second best displays.

Rev. E. R. Jones, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and a member of the committee in charge of the "Fair" said, "although the exhibit was an illustration of what could be done in a short time and that next year an even greater display would be presented."

Dearborn Dolers Plan Colony With Aid of Their City

Interesting news about a Dearborn colony starting up was uncovered a few days ago that if enlarged will lead to big things to help solve Dearborn's welfare problem.

A small delegation of citizens, who are receiving or about to receive welfare aid from the city appeared before the Dearborn common council and submitted a plan for relief and asked the co-operation of the city fathers to further the plan. The following information worked into a concrete program was presented: The State of Michigan has hundreds of acres of homestead land that can be had in the northern part of the state, for the asking, or almost.

The spokesman of the delegation announced that eight families of Dearborn were desirous of obtaining some of the land available. He said there were over 1,200 acres of choice farming land which they had inspected in the northern part of the State and can be had for 10 cents per acre or just enough to pay the cost of surveying. Each family plans to homestead 100 acres which can be obtained for $10.00, which goes to State surveyors. In order to acquire title to the land, one must settle on the land and live on it for five years, after which the State will give a clear title to the homesteader.

The spokesman put the plan up to the council. It will work out something like this. The eight families are now receiving aid from the welfare. If this land is obtained they will move immediately. The welfare here will continue to support the families, at least for one year. By this time the homesteaders will have their land in condition to be self-supporting and will forever be off the Dearborn welfare rolls.

The councilmen were enthusiastic about the plan and promised to aid the movement at once. Mayor Clyde M. Ford of Dearborn commended the plan highly and said this movement was in the right direction and should have been included in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation plans.

The mayor, commenting further, said, "I do not think the R. F. C. has been aimed in the right direction. This plan of building post-offices and constructing high buildings to create jobs has failed. A movement back to the land is what is needed.

"Just think," continued the mayor, "the city of Dearborn has expended some $400,000 for welfare purposes the past couple of years. Now how far would this money go in providing homesteads for these people? Plenty far, and the people would be glad of the opportunity, too. With these people on the land there would not be the heat, light and rent bills the welfare department is now paying welfare people to the tune of $400,000."

Corporation Counsel James E. Greene and Welfare Director Clark M. Greene of Dearborn have been delegated to confer with State officials to obtain concessions for Dearborn people for homestead sites. A report is to be rendered next week.

Insect Pruner Does Little Real Damage

Home owners who have observed and have been worried about the attacks of an insect which prunes the tips from the branches of shade trees are given the assurance of the entomology department at Michigan State College that the damage is seldom serious. The twigs are cut by the larvae of the oak twig pruner, an insect which lays its eggs on the tips of branches of many hardwoods but which prefers oak, hickory, peach, or apple. The eggs are placed singly in the bark and the larvae, upon hatching tunnels its way into the twig.

The wood of the twig is partially severed inside the bark by the larvae. Windstorms then break the twigs from the tree and the insect resting inside the twig is protected by the saw from the cold and from attack by birds.

Sometimes so many of these broken twigs gather under the trees that owners of shade trees be-

The fallen twigs should be gathered and burned to destroy the insects hidden inside. Unless these twigs are removed, the adult insect will emerge and start a new cycle of attack.

THIS BRIDGE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THIS bridge is much too much for me. Just ask my wife, and she'll agree. I bid too little when I'm strong. Or when I'm weak I bid too strong. I am a conservationist. Concerning trumps, though wives insist. The thing to do is lead them out. I say "insist," I should say "shout."

We along a day or two As well as married people do. And then some bridge-bounds happen in. And that's the way that wars begin. About so long as they fuss and sidge. Then say, "What say a little bridge?"

What say? I wouldn't dare to say The things I think of right away.

I'm not an intellectual. I can't learn bridge, I never shall. All I can talk about is books. The market, and low business looks. And world events, and news of friends. And what the government intends. Inconsequentials such as those. Oh, well, I'm hopeless, I suppose. (© 1932 Douglas Malloch—WNU Service.

Pretty Dinner Frock

The fan belt should not be faulted, but should be tight enough to insure against undue slippage. Guarding against slippage is important, for a loose fan belt is a common cause of overheated engines.

Too much can not be said about the importance of placing the better tires on the front wheels. If you now have better tires on the rear wheels of your car than on the front, by all means switch them at once. It is generally supposed that most drivers realize the importance of putting the better tires in front, but they continue to drive about at high speed with shoes that are badly worn and apt to blow out at any minute. Blowing out of a front tire while driving around 50 miles an hour is almost certain to turn the car over on its side.

Latest available census figures show 4,134,577 passenger cars and 900,385 trucks are operated on American farms. This represents 18.4 per cent of all passenger cars in use and 25.8 per cent of all trucks.

Wyoming now claims the most excellent highways in the United States. During the past year hundreds of miles of state and federal roads within the state have been "paved" with a mixture of granite gravel and crude petroleum of asphaltum base. The compound gives the road a smooth, velvety surface.

Simple yet a gown that any girl would be glad to have is this afternoon or informal dinner frock worn by Constance Bennett, RKO Pathostar. It is of white crepe roma and the abbreviated sleeves are sable trimmed. A narrow belt of self material outlines the fitted waistline. It will be noted that the blouse is less modied to the figure than in the dresses of the previous season.

Chinese Soccer Star

This is Jooka Chang (known to his classmates as Thomas "Boater"), whose Chinese technique is a valuable asset to the University of Pennsylvania soccer team. He says soccer is China's foremost sport and that the students there play it more than any other game. Chang himself formerly played at Fu Tan university at Shanghai.

Well, that national mania for passing things finally got around to dividends.

It's hard to believe that Europe once provided early settlers for America.

You and I

By CHARLES S. KINNISON

WHO SHOULD BE THE BOSS?

I wonder who should be the boss,
The husband or his spouse?
Which one, I ask, should have the task
Of governing the house?
And now, I hear some man exclaim:
Why, that's as plain as day—
I'll answer that right off the bat—
"The MAN should have the say!"

And now, I hear the women cry:
"Tut, tut—you poor old dub.
Think what you wish,
You poor old fish—
But WE still swing the club!
And finally we'll tell you this:
(And please, sirs, don't you frown);
We do not care if you do wear
The pants. We'll wear the crown!"

No Shortage of Work Says Henry Ford, Only Shortage Of Men With Spirit of Self-Help He Declares In Interview

Henry Ford comments publicly for the first time, on the demonstration at the River Rouge plant, March 7, which cost four lives when police fired into the ranks of paraders.

"The other day," he says, "some one asked if I thought a revolution would occur in this country. I replied that it had occurred—we are now in it. It is not the kind of revolution Russia had, because we are just completing the stage of development which Russia is commencing, but it probably will have more effect on the world."

"Several months ago some misguided men marched out of Detroit into Dearborn and engaged in public disorders which their leaders described as revolutionary. They shouted and hurled rocks and defied local authorities."

"But by ironic chance they threw their rocks into a building that houses Communist engineers from Soviet Russia who are spending months in our plants learning how to build up Russia by the very means these pretended revolutionaries think they should destroy. What the seasoned revolutionaries from Russia thought of the would-be revolutionists of this country was very instructive."

"America's difficulty, philosophizes Mr. Ford, is not to get rid of the past, as Russia had to. That has already gone. What this country must do is to see for the future he says."

"It indicates a juvenile mind to think there is nothing revolutionary in a situation simply because it has not been meted in by violence," Mr. Ford adds. "Even in revolutions it is not the violence that is revolutionary—violence is always reactionary—but the changes which follow upon it."

"We are undergoing revolutionary changes in this country. This is not a matter of hard times from which we shall return to build bigger palaces. This is not a breakage which can be patched up so we can resume our reckless course again. This is the ending of an era. I do not call it chaos; I call it life bursting out, confounding molds and seeking something more new and live."

"The world's greatest delusion," he says, "has been money. In itself a more conveyor, it has been made a symbol of power over men and the strangulation of exchange. A money system that served mankind thus badly was foredoomed to challenge mankind by our Constitution should be under control of the Government, has been farmed out to private interests, like sand-wich concessions at a county fair, until, seeming to be the handmaid of the people, it has sought to be their mistress."

"The labor industry and the money-lending industry have presumed to control all our industries, and inasmuch as money is a dead thing, the revolt of the living thing was inevitable. The law of use or lose automatically operates."

"Instead of there being a shortage of work today, Mr. Ford insists there is merely a shortage of men with the spirit of self-help, invention and courage to do the work that is necessary to do."

"He refers to stock market speculation as 'something just the same as any other game of chance.'"

"The consequence of our present 'reversal,' he prophesies, 'is that more people will have to go to work. The system of living off the labors of others and trying to collect speculative profits from the future labors of our fellows is done. There is no survival value today in anything that does not supply a legitimate need or serve life in some good way.'"

"This statement is but part of one Mr. Ford makes in the October Pictorial Review."

Prospective buyers of automobiles should consider seriously the body of the automobile when it comes to buy a car. A body must be safe to be good and the stouter the material with which it is constructed, the safer it is in an accident. The center of gravity has much to do with the safety question. The lower the center of gravity the less likelihood of the car turning over.

BUSTER BEAR LOSES HALF HIS FEAST

To do a thing that must be done There's usually more ways than one.

THIS means, of course, that if one way fails you shouldn't give up, and you think the thing cannot be done. You should try to find some other way. Often it will be a most unexpected way, a way that you discover by accident. There was the case of Busy Bee and her fellow workers when Buster Bear found their storehouse and began to rob it of their honey. They had done their best to drive him away. They had used the sharp little lances in their tails for all they were worth. If it had been anyone but Buster Bear they would have succeeded in driving the robber away. But though they fought as hard as they could, and stung with all their might, they couldn't drive Buster away from that honey. To Buster's way of thinking that honey was worth all the pain of the stings. And then, quite by accident, they discovered a way of getting rid of him. Some of them flying about found Farmer Brown's Boy watching what was going on, and in the blindness of their anger away from there as fast as his legs would take him, and he didn't care how much noise he made in doing it.

Now Buster Bear had been so greedily stuffing himself with honey that he had no thought for anything else. He had no idea that Farmer Brown's Boy was anywhere near. Usually his ears and his nose are ever ready to warn him of the presence of others, but this time his ears were filled with the angry hum of the bees, and his nose was clogged with honey. So he had not heard Farmer Brown's Boy approach, and he had not smelled him. Then right into the middle of his enjoyment broke that wild yell. He couldn't help hearing that.

The instant he heard that wild yell he forgot everything but that he was caught in a bad fix. He was caught up a tree, and that was no place for a bear to be with a man about, even though that man was only a boy. He lost all interest in honey. He had but one thought, and that was to get away from there as quickly as ever he could. To climb down would take too long. So Buster simply let go and dropped. Yes, sir, that is what Buster Bear did, he let go and dropped. Buster's bones are not like other bones. They are not brittle and easily broken. The branches below broke his fall somewhat, and he broke the branches. Down he came to the ground with a thump that would have knocked the wind from anyone but Buster Bear. And the instant he touched the ground he rushed through the Green Forest as if the Old Nick were at his heels.

Sunny Jay and Drummer the Woodpecker saw it all, Farmer Brown's Boy running for all he was worth in one direction, stumbling as he ran and slipping at angry bees, and Buster Bear tearing off in the opposite direction with a little whimper of fright with every jump, his face and coat all smeared with honey, and dirt and leaves sticking all over him. It was so funny that they laughed until they almost made themselves sick.

But Busy Bee and her fellow workers wasted no time chasing either Farmer Brown's Boy or Buster Bear. They promptly fell to work to save what honey was left and take it to another storehouse which they knew of. And this is how it happened that Buster Bear got only half a feast after all.

mistook him for another enemy, and promptly treated him as they had treated Buster.

Now, Farmer Brown's Boy has no such thick skin as Buster Bear. At the first sting, which felt as if a red-hot needle had been thrust into him, he jumped from his hiding place. Before you could say Jack Robinson half a dozen bees had stung him and a cloud of them were about him. He forgot all about Buster Bear. He had but one thought, and this was that he couldn't get away from that place quick enough. It had suddenly become altogether too hot a place for him. He let out a yell. Yes, sir, he let out a yell, and it was a good loud yell. Then he started to get

Wayne School Enrollment Is Same As In 1931

(Wayne Dispatch) School enrollment for the first day in the three Wayne schools was practically the same as that of last year, according to D. S. Yape, school superintendent...

According to the check made on Wednesday, following the opening of each of the schools, the total enrollment was approximately 1035, the enrollment for the first day of last year being 1033.

Inasmuch as Tuesday was children's day at the Michigan State fair, a number of pupils were unable to enroll on the first day. It was said.

In the Wayne high school, approximately 400 pupils enrolled on Tuesday, and approximately 50 more were expected to enroll before the end of the week.

The St. Mary's school also reported an exceptionally large enrollment when 280 pupils enrolled during the week. This number is all that can be taken care of by the school, Father Leo J. Roberge said.

Announcement also was made by Mr. Yape that Miss Elaine Fouts of Grand Rapids has been appointed as teacher of the kindergarten to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Bernardine Dolph.

In order that the high school would not be over-crowded this year, Mr. Yape announced that it was necessary to transfer about 75 of the seventh grade pupils to the Roosevelt school, thus leaving about 23 pupils of this grade at the high school.

Putting Old Destroyers in Shape

IN THE Philadelphia navy yard many workmen are busy overhauling and outfitting 15 destroyers that have been out of commission for some time. The men in the photograph are putting into condition a four-inch gun from one of the swift warships.

DRAINAGE MAY BE CAUSE OF LOW WATER IN LAKES

Owners of property on various small inland lakes in Michigan have become much concerned because of the extremely low water level this year and have written to the Department of Conservation for assistance in determining the cause. Obviously such a condition must be due to drainage and evaporation exceeding the flow into the lake, according to the Division of the Geological Survey.

The history of all lakes is one of periodic rise and fall and unless there are some new factors entering in, which have increased the rate of drainage, a return of normal or above normal rainfall will probably restore the lakes to their former levels.

SWIMMING POOL FOR DEARBORN IS ROTARY PROJECT

A drive to secure funds for the construction of an outdoor swimming pool for Dearborn, similar to the one in Rouge Park, will be started immediately by the Dearborn Rotary club, it was announced today by G. A. McCarty, member of the service club committee.

"We realize that this is a huge enterprise that will require a large expenditure of money," Mr. McCarty said. "We also have no intention of swinging the project alone but feel that the urgent need for a pool of this nature in Dearborn will be felt by the entire community and that all will lend a hand. We in Rotary are merely starting the ball rolling with hopes that it will gain sufficient impetus that work may be started next year."

In the discussion of this project it was pointed out that many children have lost their lives in dangerous water holes and streams of Dearborn because outdoor swimming facilities were lacking.

The first step to secure funds for the project was taken when the committee announced that a series of four dancing parties has been planned and that the first one would take place in the Dearborn High School auditorium on September 30. Tickets may now be purchased from members of the Rotary Club and will also be placed on sale by other service club members within a few days.

W. C. T. U. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet Thursday, September 22nd at 2:30 p. m. at the home of the Misses Coen and Scott, 2011 W. 12th St. The program for the day will be in charge of Mrs. Vealey. Members are urged to be present, and guests will be made welcome.

Small stones in tires are being used in some automobiles in Berlin, Germany, to lessen skidding on streets which become slippery after rainfall.

County Poor House Operates On Less Than Anticipated

Economies effected at the Wayne County Hospital and Infirmary at Eloise during the fiscal year ending Nov. 30 are expected to cut expenditures nearly $400,000 below the budget allowance for this institution, Dr. Thomas K. Gruber, superintendent, announced recently.

A saving of nearly $800,000 is planned for the next fiscal year, Dr. Gruber added, despite the fact that the number of inmates at Eloise, 7,807, is the highest in history and about 3,000 more are expected to seek admittance during the winter.

Anticipated savings during the next fiscal year include salary cuts among the 800 employees, ranging from one to "10 and 10" per cent. "We are cutting 18 per cent, or about $400,000, below our 1931-32 budget this year largely through slashing food costs and a more extensive use of inmate labor throughout the institution," Dr. Gruber said.

"We have been aided, of course, by dropping food costs. But, in addition, we have revised our menus, substituting carbohydrates for the more expensive proteins in many instances. At the same time, the quality of our meals has been maintained."

"Next year we are eliminating the usual $500,000 capital cost item from the budget. This means we are postponing the erection of the proposed $300,000 employees' dormitory as our chief economy measure."

"We also anticipate we will save about $800,000 in administrative costs."

The salary cuts, which were approved last week in a resolution adopted by the Wayne County Superintendents of the Poor, call for the following reductions: Employees receiving $39 or less a month will be cut one per cent; those receiving $40 to $50, 2 per cent; those receiving $51 to $70, 3 per cent; those receiving $71 to $80, 4 per cent; those receiving $81 to $90, 5 per cent; those receiving between $1,200 and $4,000 a year, 10 per cent; and those receiving more than $4,000, 10 per cent and an additional 10 per cent.

NOT FORGOTTEN ON 80th BIRTHDAY

When Sexton Frank Fall went to the Methodist church last Thursday evening to ring the first bell for prayer meeting he was surprised at the number of cars parked at the church and still more surprised when he went into the dining room and found the room full of folks having a party to which he hadn't even been invited.

Dr. Gruber, whose salary has been $10,000 and who therefore falls in the last group, will receive a cut of $1,600. There were fifteen in number in our company. We arrived at the school about 10 o'clock. Dr. Haskell was on the spot to meet and to escort us over the grounds, stopping at various points of interest and explaining the different things they teach the children to do.

If the engine does not conform with the speed of the car when the throttle is open, look for a slipping clutch. Adjustments should be made at once or clutch plates will be damaged beyond repair.

ROMULUS CLUB VISITS COUNTY TRAINING SCHOOL

The ladies of the Romulus Literary Club visited the Wayne County Training School, Plymouth, Thursday, September 1st. This day was set apart for this occasion through the courtesy of Dr. Haskell, the Superintendent of the school.

The morning was grey and cloudy with an occasional sprinkle of rain, which looked as if we were not going to have a very pleasant day, but before 9 o'clock, the time for starting, the clouds commenced to clear away, leaving the air cool, just an ideal day for this outing.

There were fifteen in number in our company. We arrived at the school about 10 o'clock. Dr. Haskell was on the spot to meet and to escort us over the grounds, stopping at various points of interest and explaining the different things they teach the children to do.

He took us to the work shop, where different articles of furniture had been made by both boys and girls, which consisted of marionettes, workmanship, also to the bake shop where we beheld hundreds of delicious loaves of bread just out of the oven. We were treated to a sample of this bread made by the boys who attend this school and are taught the art of bread baking.

We left the institution at 1 o'clock and came to Phoenix Park and ate our lunch. We spent the rest of the day in visiting and arrived home at about 6 o'clock. This had been another day well chosen to go down in the history of the Literary Societies events.—Belleville Enterprise.

Steals Lock Off Redford Jail Door

Perry Smith of Redford Township police makes complaint that somebody stole the lock off the jail door, and so what is to be done? Sleuthing around to recover the lock, however, simply could not be done last week for Perry and Jack Bissell both were busy.

"No objection to the petting," said Perry, "but you never can tell when a hand or two will interrupt them. We just warn them for their own good."

Monday night at midnight a residence at Graham and Telegraph Road burned to the ground. The cause of the conflagration is unknown. Harold Bradley, the owner, was not at home when the fire was discovered. The township fire truck went to the scene but the hose was too short to reach to the nearest plug which was 2,500 feet from the scene of the blaze.

Scientists who say a man is shorter at night than in the morning must have overlooked his temper.

Give Hitch-Hiker Ride, He Robs Them

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Allen, of 7504 Culbourn avenue, Dearborn, played the part of good Samaritans and now they are minus two diamond rings valued at $200 and $250.

It seems that the couple were on their way home from Ohio when they picked up a youth, who called himself Coy Mason, at Flar Rock Monday night.

Mason said that he was the son of a Green Bay, Wisconsin, paper mill owner and that he had left home some weeks ago to travel in the east.

"I ran out of money and wired my dad but he told me to get home the best way I could. You see, he was peeved because I had left home without his consent," he said convincingly. Mr. and Mrs. Allen felt sorry for the youth who was nice appearing and seemed to be a perfect gentleman. "We took him home and gave him something to eat and put him up for the night. The next morning after giving him some breakfast, my husband drove him to the intersection of Telegraph road and Michigan avenue and gave him $2.50 for meals during the rest of his trip. Shortly after Mr. Allen returned I discovered that my rings were missing," Mrs. Allen told the police. She did not notify the police until Wednesday. She stated that she hated to reveal their mistake.

Coming Attractions At Penniman Allen

"HORSE FEATHERS"
"Horse Feathers," latest of the mad, merry comedies of the Four Marx Brothers appears at the Penniman Allen Theatre Sunday and Monday, September 18 and 19.

Groucho, Chico, Harpo and Zeppo are again cast together in a picture that affords them opportunities for the same type of nonsense they have presented.

An amusing plot holds the picture together. Groucho is a college president because that's the only way, it seems, he can get his son Zeppo, out of college. Zeppo has been there twelve years.

With the cooperation of Chico, village lounge-lizard, and Harpo, village doctor, he ultimately accomplishes his object.

"WAR CORRESPONDENT"
"War Correspondent," the new Columbia release, showing at the Penniman Allen Theatre Saturday, September 24, has a new slant which proves refreshing, namely—that of glorifying the heretofore unglorified newspaper correspondent who goes forth to risk his life in an unofficial branch of the military service in order that the public may read up-to-the-minute news from the battle front.

Other features that make this picture particularly worthwhile are the bringing together once more of those two highly popular he-men stars, Jack Holt and Ralph Graves, and the reappearance of Lila Lee, that comely player, who pleased so many when she appeared with Holt and Graves in that never-to-be-forgotten film, "Flight."

union held at the church Sunday. Rev. Havens of Mr. Morris, who was on this charge six years ago, delivered the sermon.

The Rally Service class is to meet in the church dining room on Tuesday, Sept. 20th. There will be cooperative dinner at noon and this will be as enjoyable as usual. The program is to include some work for the Red Cross under the direction of Mrs. C. H. Bennett. The church's interest goes with the many young people from our congregation who are setting out for college these days. Best wishes for a good year.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"Substance" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, September 11. Among the Bible citations was this passage (Matt. 9:35): "And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people." Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. Included the following (p. 135): "The miracle introduces no disorder, but unfolds the primal order, establishing the Science of God's unchangeable law."

Country Store Keeper Scratches Off Accounts Amounting to $75,000 To Help His Neighbors Ride Out The Depression

All this high-sounding talk of moralists' still may be a little puzzling to some of the folks out around the little country town of Sloan in Iowa. But when it comes to "debt cancellation"—well, every last man, woman and child out there can tell the world about that! And they thank their lucky stars and the generosity of Jim Hennum and his good wife for the lesson.

Jim and Mrs. Hennum operate a general merchandise store in Iowa. For 14 years they've been weighing out flour and sugar and other staples for the town's 600 inhabitants and about that many farmers living within a few miles. And many's the basket of groceries and bundle of dry goods that's gone out "on tick" in that time.
One Monday night not so long ago, after the last customer had left their rather ordinary-looking front door, turned on the lights in the rear, which part serves as an office, and busied themselves with accounts and figures far into the night.

They thumbed through ledgers worn with much handling. Then, after quite a discussion, they came to a letter. They took it to the town printer, whose eyes popped as he read the "copy."
The next night the Hennums were busy in their office again. To every customer who had a charge account they addressed one of the letters, fresh from the printshop.

The letter they so quietly composed was one of the most effective in the mail. It brought 100 per cent customer response to the store within a few hours. For it said:
"Kind Friends, Mr. and Mrs. Hennum take the liberty of canceling your debt to us of $.....
We hope this will meet with your approval. After careful consideration we feel a heavier Will be guiding. May God bless and prosper you in our prayer. With best regards,
"Mr. and Mrs. James Hennum."

In the blanks they had filled the customers' names and the full amount of their debt. Bills and pair alike received the startling notes. Bills from two weeks old to 12 years, ranging from a few dollars to more than $1000, were wiped off the books.
Some of the larger and older accounts were secured by mortgages on machinery, livestock and land. Others were protected by notes. But notes and securities were canceled and returned with the brief form letter.

Farmers scurried across the fields to tell neighbors of their good fortune, only to learn that the man on the next lot had been treated equally well.
Many of the beneficiaries just were starting to buy their farm homes. Others were well established. Dozens of customers, able and willing to pay up accounts, swarmed into the store. All received the same answer.

"Your bill is canceled. If you want to give your money to someone, give it to the church or to help someone."
It was too much for many a hard-shelled old farmer. Big, lanky, ruddy men, who have been fighting the recent years to make ends meet after crop failures, grasshopper plagues and less-than-production crop prices, were unable to express their thanks. Their voices choked and, with tears streaming from their eyes, they grasped the hand of the storekeeper and his wife, and then, embarrassed, departed.

Now, Mr. and Mrs. Hennum are quiet, unassuming rural storekeepers. They expected their customers to receive the letters and be quietly thankful.
But Sloan is only 20 miles from Sioux City, Iowa, an active, Middle Western city. Reporters and photographers from the daily newspapers there rushed to Sloan for a story.
They were dubious. Perhaps it might be a publicity stunt of some kind. Maybe the storekeeper and his wife were making one of those even offered the suggestion that perhaps the storekeeper's reason had been affected by the "hard times."

But the townspeople and neighbors of the Hennums quickly corrected these impressions. The reporters learned that only the Hennums knew exactly the amount of the bills they had canceled.
Fellow business men, who are acquainted with the store and its financial condition, estimated the letter had cost the Hennums at least $75,000.

Hennum was at first decidedly "put out" when newspaper men arrived. Then his good nature got the best of him. He is a tall, earnest man of Norwegian stock, and unbelievably modest.
"I didn't do this so I could blow about it," he protested. "All I can say is that my wife and I felt that the depression is affecting people pretty badly here, and we thought it was better for all concerned if we released them from our bills."

"We believe in giving and forgetting," Mrs. Hennum added. "Hennum is not wealthy, but, said he:
"My wife and I have been fortunate in having good health and in having been able to make our living and still lay by a little something in addition. People here have been hit hard by crop losses and financial reverses.

"Before the debt cancellation plan was decided upon, we took an inventory. We decided we still could get along and operate a store, even if we're not so young as we once were. "I didn't want any fuss made about this and I tried to keep it quiet. It was just a Christian act, the will of God."
But an act of generosity as large as the Hennums' could not be done quietly. Neighbors and townspeople, all with a genuine cause for gratitude, refused to keep silent.

They tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Hennum are nearly 60 years old and that he has resided in the vicinity nearly all this time. He was born at the tiny island town of Albaton, Iowa, nearby, attended Norwegian Bible School and was a member of the Lutheran Church.
He always has been a hard worker and success has attended all his efforts. As a youth of 19, Hennum went to Sioux City and worked for his room and board while attending business college. The next few years he spent as an instructor in the college.
Then he entered the real estate business at Sibley, Iowa, before opening a general mercantile business at Maple Landing, Iowa. Shortly before this he was married to Miss Alma Alcock, a neighbor girl from his town.
Mrs. Hennum operated the store while her husband ran a "peddler wagon." He took orders from farmers one day and delivered them the next. Then the young couple tried farming for four years before returning to the Maple Landing store.
In 1918 the Hennums moved to Sloan and they have been here since. Both are active in church and community circles of the town. Hennum is a Mason and his wife an Eastern Star. They attend the Congregational Church in Sloan. Neighbors say they also help support the Lutheran Church in the small town of Albaton, where Hennum was born. They are generous in their gifts to the Christian and Methodist churches of Sloan, also.

People in Sloan rate the Hennums as "well off." They continue to operate the small store and Mrs. Hennum is in charge with her husband away. Their small, modest home is located just a few doors distant. They own a moderately priced auto and a truck. They have a married daughter, who lives on a farm near Sloan.
One resident of Sloan put it this way:
"They have just one child, and she is comfortably provided for. They have enough to keep them the rest of their lives. I guess they just decided they'd do something for somebody else."

Old-time residents of Sloan recall another similar bright spot in the town's history. Years ago a bank failed in Sloan. The president, Art Handy, owned a good deal of real estate and personal property. When the bank became insolvent, Handy sold all his possessions, paperizing himself, but he left depositors 100 cents on the dollar.

The Hennums will be happy when their act is forgotten.
"I wish people would quit talking about it," Hennum said gravely. "It's been a little hard, getting things back to normal around the store."

But long after things get back to normal and Hennum's charge accounts begin to swell again, he'll be hearing from his amazing act of generosity, dislike it as he may.

For as newspapers spread their story, he was deluged with letters from far and near commending him. Some were hopeful he had set a precedent that others would follow. Many, far from the sphere of his beneficence, prayed God's blessing on him and his wife.

Their modest, white-frame store, with its old-fashioned display windows, is pointed out to tourists by the townsfolk.
"That's Jim Hennum's," they exclaim, and proudly relate the whole story if they chance upon one who hasn't heard the details.

The Hennums haven't been able to keep the townspeople from talking about it. Reporters and photographers from the daily newspapers there have gazed across the street at the village store;
"By doing good with his money, a man as it were stamps the image of God upon it, and makes it an object for the merchandise of heaven."

COLLEGE SAVES THE POTATO CROP FROM NEW BLIGHT
Prompt action by the entomology department at Michigan State College and by the State Department of Agriculture has greatly reduced the danger of Michigan's potato fields becoming infested with the potato tuber moth, which is a very serious enemy of that crop in states where it is established.

A sample of potatoes sent to Professor R. H. Peritt from Bay City by the county agricultural agent proved to be infested with the larvae of the potato tuber moth. These larvae tunnel through the potato and ruin it for food.
The potatoes were part of a shipment sent into Michigan from Virginia. The State Dept. of Agriculture immediately sent men to trace other portions of the shipment of potatoes and to seize them so they could be destroyed to prevent the emergence of any adult moths in this State.

Several thousands of bushels of potatoes were taken from dealers in Detroit and destroyed. The State Department has declared a quarantine on shipments of potatoes from states where the tuber moth is known to be a serious pest.

The College entomology department recommends several measures for the control of the moth if it emerges in the State but hopes that the steps already taken will prevent this insect from becoming another source of annoyance and expense to the farmers in Michigan.

Rosedale Gardens

An Invitation
to a "Tea" has been extended to all friends of Rosedale Gardens, by the committee in charge, for next Sunday (the 18th instant) from three till five of the clock, post meridian.

Preparation for several thousand plates of dainties is under way for serving in the St. Michael's Parish Banquet Hall, as it is expected that that many and more will respond to the open invitation to the many friends of Rev. Fr. John E. Contway, and of Rosedale Gardens.

This is probably the best time of the year to visit about viewing the grounds and pretty homes and beautiful gardens of the fast growing Community.
So drop over and visit awhile and enjoy the dainty sandwiches and cakes and visit old friends and make some new ones, see the churches, school and gardens on this "open house" day of the Parish.

Welcome
to the Community, this coming week, will be Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. John, who will "move in" 11317 Berwick, as soon as extensive alterations are completed.

Ball Game
last Pilsen Sunday post meridian (twixt the Detroit-Semi Pro and R Team) started promptly an hour later than expected, and then the D. S. P's had to get in three runs to tie one the first inning, then back and forth went the score 'till the ninth tied at seven then the tenth and hunger for the Ladies Dinner in the Parish Hall started to work on R boys and they lost the game, which was treating the visitors nice, and all went down to fill up on the good old fashioned roasts, meats, (pork, ham and beef) dinner.

After dinner had been served various games were in order, races for all and prizes for winners.
A loud speaker kept lively tunes in the air, and provided maximum volume to announcements at a minimum of effort.

In the evening the boys of Browlee's orchestra kept the little feet busy on the inside and flood lights and a clear moon lightened the outside, and a string of chinese lanterns made a wonderful effect to the end of a most perfect cloudless day and eve.

Parking Lot
is now all dolled up in white posts and rail, so one, or you, may park safely (no auto sticking) while visiting St. Michael's Church or Hall. Bro. Colley and many of the Parish had a clean up day last Satdee and got things looking real nice in and about the Recreation grounds, inclusive Flag Pole and the Star Spangled Banner proudly floating over us, thus proving we are Americans, and that Rosedale Gardens may be "far out" but not so far as Chicago, and still be in the United States, contrary to many who are hesitating about establishing their home of their dreams here. Which same reminds us you can't drive an iron spike with a spouse no matter how hard you sink it.

We have been wondering about the school kiddies using their own side walk when real wet weather comes. Everyone of the hundred have tried it out the nice sunny days and it works out nicely on going straight home from school, but not so well in going straight to school. And some mothers have asked the boys not to use it for a bicycle speedway whilst kiddies use it for a walk.

Fence
is now more fertile, and we are now ready for unscrupulous to do their stuff with shrubs.
Possibly we might aid the erection of the fence has created more "lookers" than the up and down of the old water tower.

Now Rosedale Gardens will be known as "the place on I. 8, 12 that has stone gateways and is all fenced in."
Warehouse
that stood so long on Blackburn Avonoo (7 years) has been moved by Cousins Crim and Kris and Jolly gang of movieticians at a house, it was the Sunny Side of the Sales Office.

Thus "keeping sales in close touch with industry" using the words of Presdt. Hoover, whose permission, by the way, we did not ask.

Auto Accident
on I. 8, 12, two hundred yards west of Rosedale Tea Rooms early Sunday morning resulted in complete wrecking of a nice shining Studebaker sedan and only a scratched face for its owner driver.
It appears the sed o. d. wanted to pass a story book female driver at a high rate of speed, the usual honking effected the wrong interpretation, and the hooker turned out from the honked, hit the sandy shoulder and turned over, minus front axle and wheels, over about 1 dozen times, finally landing top down.

Rumor had it that the man was killed instantly, but no so, he is safe and sound.
R. Bro. Harvey Kelley came along just at the moment, saw that the wife on the wreckage and the owner of the wreckage on his way relieving he was not in the same pickle as his car.

Primary Election
came off with a bang on Tuesday the 13th—lucky day for some and not so good—the fact had for the too many on the "B" side its "B" side.
The "as good Irish citizens we did not vote early and often—with a fit betwixt each ballot, we turned out like bees from a bear raid ed hive.
By far we had the largest poll list ever in Rosedale. Presdt. is to be exact the total number ballots in the boxes was enough to satisfy

Miscellaneous or possibly Lenin. However let us record:
Fights; none;
Killed; none;
Dead; none;
Injured; none—but
Feeling hurt; many.

Approximately $1,100,000.00 has been returned to the counties of the state since the present malt tax law became effective, according to Department of State records.

The law provides that the state pay $1 per day per patient in county tuberculosis sanatoria. There are 64 such institutions in the state and funds from the malt tax have been divided equitably among the institutions. In addition, $40,003 has been paid for the care of tubercular patients in the University of Michigan hospital.

The malt tax law also provided that after July 1, 1932, funds be segregated to provide $400,000 for a second state tuberculosis sanatorium in the northern part of the lower peninsula. During July and August $148,608 was paid in the sanatorium building fund.

RELIGIOUS REVIVAL CREATING INTEREST

Old fashioned tent meetings, reminiscent of days "before the glory hath departed," are in progress just below Wing street on South Main.

Since the services opened two weeks ago quite an interest has been shown in these two lively talented young people, Helen (Kline) Floreck, charming speaker and instrumentalist, and her husband, Joseph, preacher, singer, musician. The expert handling of that big symphony trombone takes the eye of every boy in the neighborhood as do the banjo and trumpet. Splendid solos and duets permeate the quiet evening air with a soft, rich harmony.

One of the highlights of their campaign is the reading entitled "The Skippie's Daughter," very dramatically told by Helen. "Does God Judge?" is the subject of Saturday's sermon. Divine healing, based on the scripture in James 5:14, is also preached and practiced by these two with successful results.

This couple lives in a home on Vesland is rapidly being completed and in about two weeks, according to E. W. Hamner, superintendent for J. A. Criley, work will be started on laying 400 feet of pavement for the road from the dam to the south bank. Surveying and grading of the rest of the road is being finished as rapidly as possible.

Ford workmen this week have been engaged in fitting glass and finishing the inside of the power house. As soon as this is done, machinery will be installed. After cleaning up the site, banks on both sides of the dam are to be either seeded or sodded. Work is expected to be finished in about a month.

Start Road To New Ford Dam. The indicated production of apples is slightly larger than that shown by conditions one month ago. The total or agricultural crop is forecast at 5,720,000 bushels which compares with 10,070,000 bushels harvested last year, while the commercial crop is now estimated at 1,043,000 barrels or 719,000 barrels less than were harvested in 1931. Reports from commercial apple growers indicate that 30 per cent of this year's crop is composed of summer varieties, 25 per cent fall varieties, and the remaining 45 per cent winter kinds. Last year the corresponding percentages were: summer, 14 per cent; fall, 23 per cent; winter, 63 per cent. The estimated production of the other fruit crops is the same as on August 1, or: peaches, 1,700,000 bushels; pears, 714,000 bushels; grapes, 70,125 tons.

X-RAY MACHINE FOR HOSPITAL

Latest And Best Model Has Been Purchased For Use Here

That the new Plymouth hospital fills a public need in this community has been evident by the number of cases already taken care of since the opening a number of them being emergency cases that required immediate medical attention.

This new outfit was initially tried and approved after all kinds of experiments in accident wards and fracture clinics in the Cook County hospital in Chicago. Through the use of the machine Plymouth doctors will be able to take care of many cases they have had in the past to take to Ann Arbor or Detroit.
