JUST A BOOMERANG

"Let the rich pay the tax." This slogan has been and is now a popular expression with a large section of the unthinking public, state and national legislators included. As a result the American public is shouldering the heaviest tax burden ever borne by our people in times of war or peace; and that, too, in the worst economic depression in the history of our nation. For the last twenty years the Federal government has increased expenditures by its paternalistic-tendencies toward assuming literally hundreds of important functions which rightfully belong to the states and to individuals. A few people have come to realize that whenever the Federal government spends money it must dig down into the pockets of the taxpayers to get it. It is and ever shall be an eternal truth that the consumer pays the bills.

Every fair-minded person now has ample opportunity to observe the effects of reckless spending by the Federal government and "the soak the rich" tax theory. We are taxed for our land, our homes, every item of furnishing in our homes, every article of clothing, automobiles, automobile accessories, gas, electric lights, incomes, cameras, picture shows, matches, bank checks; in fact, rack your brain for one single item on which there is not a direct or an indirect tax. There is no use for you won't find one. To make things worse it is appalling to realize that on innumerable items we pay double tax and in some cases triple tax, as in the case of where the county, city, state and federal authorities all take a divy off of gasoline, tobacco and incomes beyond a certain figure.

These tax millions pour into the government coffers 365 days of the year; there is no ceasing. It is paid out for road building, improvement of rivers and harbors, salaries of government workers, upkeep of army and navy, erection and repairs on federal buildings, extension work in education, health service, assistance to agriculture and industry, pensions to veterans of our wars, postal service, subsidies to aviation, merchant marine, inland waterways, etc. Federal legislators have found a way to spend our tax millions, and in the past two years three billions in addition.

How does this affect the average working man and that class of society which advocates "soak the rich." Naturally the ones who pay the tax include it in their charge for their product whether it be a manufactured product or the labor of their hands. It means that the capitalist must get a higher price for his article and pays less to the labor that produces it, the buying public and laboring man cannot buy as much as formerly on account of higher prices and having less money consequently there is no need for the capitalist to manufacture more than he can sell and he begins to lay off men.

The man who advocated "soak the rich" now has no job. A better slogan than "soak the rich" is "live and let live." Don't be fooled into thinking the government gives you anything. You are the government and you will pay the bill. The poor man who buys a sack of flour, a slab of bacon, a pound of coffee and a pair of shoes for his child is the one who pays in the end. It is a universal truth that everyone must pay for what he gets.—Record, Stearns, Kentucky.

MACHINE AGE

Many hard things are being said about the machine in these days. Those who are not blaming conditions upon prohibition are accusing the machine.

The Electrical World rises "In Defense of the Machine." If we are to believe this apologist, the machine is not the greatest sinner of the century—rather it is one of the greatest blessings ever bestowed upon the human race.

Two-thirds of the population of the Golden Age of Athenian culture was slave. What 4 1/2 per cent of our people today do with machines, 70 per cent of those ancients did by slave manual labor. Even as late as a hundred years ago it took 700 hands to spin what one man can accomplish now with spinning machinery.

In the pre-machine period sixteen hours formed the legal day's work. Then the cotton jenny came. The linotype shortened the compositor's day to six and eight hours. Men mowed by hand at back-breaking toil from early dawn to set of sun. The reaper came and manumitted these tillers of the soil. The first reaper was burned in the field by enraged hands. They feared it would take away their jobs. It did; but gave them better ones. They got shorter hours, larger pay and ruder as they reaped.

After every new major invention has appeared, a readjustment has come. Sometimes it has worked hardship for a time; but ultimately it has ushered in a new era.

Labor-saving machinery is undoubtedly responsible for much of our present unemployment. However, it is probably pointing the way to a new era of shorter hours. That has been the history of every past stage of the kind. History, including industrial history, repeats itself.

VIRTUE OF PATIENCE

One of the greatest aids to worthwhile accomplishment is the quality of patience. This applies to laying the foundation for a successful career in any profession or business. The person who depends upon short cuts and quick-action devices frequently meets with bitter disappointment, if not disgrace.

This is particularly true with respect to the accumulation of wealth, as many misguided individuals now behind prison bars can regretfully testify. Many men who go wrong through speculation with other people's money do not set out deliberately to be criminals, but they think they see an opportunity to make a "killing" and take the chance. They intend to replace the appropriated funds if they win, but they usually lose in the end. Some instances are related by a recent writer on this:

One man used money not his own in what he considered a sure-thing real estate deal. The venture failed and one more was added to the suicide roll. Another lost in playing the market, then stole from his firm, lost again and went to prison. On the other hand, the patient plodder, who builds upon a sound and honest foundation, frequently achieves success which is denied to the spectacular plunger. In fact, patience is generally one of the surest aids in the accomplishment of any worthy purpose.—Spirit of Jefferson, Charles Town, West Virginia.

THE HOME-TOWN PAPER

The Journalism department of the University of Southern California has been delving into the buying habits of newspaper readers and has made some valuable discoveries. Subscribers to the home-town paper buy from 12 to 21 per cent more merchandise from local stores than do non-subscribers. Of the people in neighboring rural or smaller communities, subscribers buy from advertisers from 9 to 35 per cent more merchandise than non-subscribers. This holds true, regardless of spending power.

The local newspaper, it is estimated, makes one of the largest, if not the largest, contributions to volume of trade in the smaller cities of California, and doubtless in the other states. The relation of the newspaper to the business world is more vital than at any time in the past decade. The investigators are convinced that retail business in the smaller communities would be from one-fifth to one-fourth below its present level without the push given it by newspaper advertising.

"In such economic conditions as we have today," says the report, "the local newspaper is an inestimable asset to the entire community. Not only is it a reservoir of local and national information, but through its ability to increase consumption of local goods, it stands out above any other institution in community-building value. It can also be verified that without such advertising merchandise in itself would be less dependable in quality and price, to say nothing of the effect upon trade ethics and practices. For without advertising, there is no opportunity for the consumer to make comparisons of either goods or prices."

The local newspaper has to make quite a struggle against the big city competitor. If local citizens appreciated its value to them they would give it whole-hearted support.—Post-Bulletin, Rochester, Minnesota.

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

COLUMBUS' MISTAKE

This week was the anniversary of Christopher Columbus' discovering America. It seems now to have been a great mistake—George Neal in The Orion Review.

There are a lot of birds who have never made anything of their time or their opportunities who are yapping like hounds on a final chase, telling how they would run the state and national government. Bah!—J. E. McMullen in The Linden Leader.

MICHIGAN'S BEAUTY

This is a glorious time to be in this end of Michigan, although coming down (from the north) Monday afternoon we drove through a driving snow storm for 75 miles. The foliage, up here, beggars description, the green of the pines and the variegated red shades of the scrub oaks adding a beauty to a northern autumn that is lacking in the color scheme in the south end of the state. California has nothing to compare with the sheer beauty of a Michigan October.—Muri DeFoe in The Charlotte Republican-Tribune.

HOW TO HELP YOURSELF

Ask your merchant for Michigan sugar and insist that you get it. Don't ever take any other. It is just as good if not better than any sugar on the market and in your use of it you will not only be greatly helping a lot of Michigan farmers, but you will be adding to the employment of a great lot of Michigan men and women. Let's learn to think Michigan first in all we do. If Michigan people would use nothing but Michigan sugar what a wonderful boost that would give to this great industry that touches so many when it is working and harms so many when it is idle.—Al Weber in The Cheboygan Observer.

THE CONTEMPT CASE

The Independent is appealing the contempt case of Neuenfelt vs. St. Charles to a higher court, not only to vindicate its columns of alleged unfairness and criticism, but to determine for the future the position of the press in relation to the justice courts of this country.

A great principle is at stake—the constitutional rights of individuals are at stake—the very safety of the great democracy under which we live is at stake. And the question cannot go unanswered.

The Independent bears no malice in appealing this case, but the freedom of the press is involved, and the fight will go on, if necessary, until the Supreme Court of the State has handed down an opinion on the matter in question.—George St. Charles in The Dearborn Independent.

WAR

Serious as is the threat of wars which may never come to rob millions of life, of health and happiness is the constant preparation for those wars which constantly robs citizens of each country of millions of dollars necessary to maintain huge armies, gigantic ships and manufacture planes, destroyers and deadly weapons and explosives. Billions of dollars could be instantly written off the national budgets of the world if nations would agree to completely disarm and forget foolish suspicions. Billions of dollars not required from the world's taxpayers, to prepare for a conflict which would surely doom civilizations, would immediately restore world economic stability.—Itay S. Corliss in Parma News.

CONTEMPT OF COURT?

While the Press highly respects the verdict of any court, it does, however, object to stirring remarks made against the profession of journalism, whether these remarks are pointed at a competitor's newspaper or any other publication.

Justice of the Peace Lila M. Neuenfelt saw fit to hale into court an entire force on publication day on a contempt of court charge, despite the fact there were other days and that she had twice postponed the case in order that she might spend the city's time attending the recount of the votes of the candidates of the 16th Congressional district in which she also ran as a Republican candidate.

But Justice of the Peace Neuenfelt was not satisfied with this procedure but attempted to belittle newspapers and their editors by making a contemptuous statement. It came about as follows: These McQueen, one of the defendants, explained he did not take the article in question seriously and that he had first thought it to be a joke.

"That's the trouble with you newspapers," interrupted her honor "it is always a joke." This statement was taken from the court records.

Think of it! There Justice of the Peace Neuenfelt was attempting to prove to the public that the dignity of her court should be upheld and in the midst of those proceedings she proved the inconsistency of her action by making a contemptuous remark, which, in the opinion of the court, was far more cutting and scolding than any statement which has ever been published or uttered against her court. If a newspaper cannot criticize a justice of the peace, which is practically the same thing as criticizing a justice of the court, the difference being so slight that one could argue for days at a time on the matter, then what recourse has it against such remarks which are generally made before crowded courtrooms?

Furthermore, it is the belief of this newspaper that it is high time that our justices of the peace begin to realize that they have duties to perform, for which they are being liberally paid and that Dearborn taxpayers have a hard enough time meeting their government responsibilities without paying the court officials of this city for spending hours upon hours of the city's time in political campaigns and recounts. Mayor Ford and the council, if they are contemplating economies, would do well if they would investigate the expenditures of these justice courts with the view of legislating against waste. The Press at this time cannot say that there are excessive costs in this department of government but hopes it may be able to present the facts later.—Wm. Klammer in The Dearborn Press.

A PRAYER

Almighty God, who wiltest not that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance, give us to us, Thy children, grace, that we may cast away the works of darkness and put upon us the armor of light, for we wrestle not against flesh and blood but against principalities and powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness enthroned in our midst. Raise up, therefore, Thy power and come among us, and with great might succor us, that this Nation may be able to stand strong and steadfast in the face of all adversity, her lotus girl about with truth, having on the breastplate of righteousness her feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace—the vesture of Him who of Thy right hand maketh intercession for us. Who thou shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation or distress or persecution or famine or nakedness or peril or sword? Nay; in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him that loved us. For we are persuaded that neither death nor life nor angels nor principalities nor powers nor things present nor things to come nor height nor depth nor any other creature shall be able to separate us from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus, our Lord.

NEW AND VALUABLE SUBJECT OPEN TO FRESHMEN THIS YEAR

This year, the Freshman class in Plymouth High School will have the advantage of a semester of vocational work and a semester of civics instead of two semesters of civics as was formerly the custom.

The work book of the student is to become a record of his journey into the five main vocational fields and three training levels described in the text book.

Each field of occupation is summarized in the student's workbook study so that when he has completed the course, he will have made a study of each main vocational field, the service it renders, and its possibilities as a vocational field for him.

When the last entry is recorded in the workbook, the student will have accomplished much. Not only will he have discovered a great deal about the world of work, but he will also have discovered what studies will be of help to him in the different fields, and what studies to choose for next year.

STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTS OFFICERS

To hold an office in the Student Council is one of the most important official positions in the entire school.

Last Thursday the officers of Student Council were elected. Ethel Wendt, representing the Senior Girl Reserves, was elected president; Donald Bronson, representing the Hi-Y, was elected vice-president; Odene Hill, representing the senior class, gained the office of secretary and Evelyn Korabacher, representing the Junior class, was elected as treasurer.

The senior, junior, sophomore, and freshmen classes are represented in student council, as also are the Hi-Y, Girl Reserves, and Varsity Clubs. It was decided in the last meeting that the seventh and eighth grades would also be allowed to have representatives there.

To be a representative in student council from any of the above mentioned groups is an important position. Two candidates are chosen by the executive board and the class or club votes upon them.

THE SUMMER TRIP

Miss Lundin the new Home Economics teacher, and her party started out from Detroit and stopped for a short time at Cleveland, Gettysburg, Washington, Pittsburgh, the City of Hills, Baltimore and Philadelphia. A day was spent sight-seeing in New York City. From there they visited Cape Cod, Portland and Augusta, Maine, and Plymouth, Mass. Also a visit was made to the great woods of Maine in Quebec where as they were traveling peacefully along the road, a cow came dashing out of the yard of a farmhouse and stopped in front of the automobile.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN LIVES AGAIN

Last year's civics class, the present tenth grade, presented a one-act play entitled, "Abraham Lincoln, the Ralispitter," before an assembly of the present ninth grade students on Wednesday, October 12.

The scene was the interior of the Lincoln's log cabin. Abraham Lincoln always wanted to stay at home at night and read by the fire side. The neighbors gathered frequently to husk corn or to spend the evening roasting nuts or popping corn. At one gathering Lincoln was absent and the neighbors had to give their opinion of what they thought Abraham would be when he was a man.

GIRL RESERVE CAMPAIGN

All the tenth grade Girl Reserves, the Senior Girl Reserve cabinet and all 12th grade Girl Reserves met in room 13 with the Curtis Company representative to discuss selling magazines to raise cash, last Friday.

The groups were divided into teams with Vera Woods as chairman. Miriam Brown is the captain of the Sophomore Girl Reserves which group is known as the Green.

The contest ends October 4, lasting six days. The losing team is to entertain the winning team.

A MESSAGE TO FRESHMEN

Perhaps you are a member of the large freshman class. If so, begin "getting into things" this year.

In the ninth grade the student first receives an opportunity to enter into activities separate from his ordinary program of study. If he recognizes this opportunity, he has benefited himself throughout high school, and later, through college.

A letter from a graduate of last year's class has recently been received by a teacher in this school. The writer states that her experience in high school activities is of the utmost value to her during her present work. She is now aware of the value of such activities.

If you do not participate in these activities, you will be missing an important part of your school life. Not only will you enjoy your work in this field, but your experience will be of lasting benefit to you.

Take an interest in your class and school. You will be helping yourself if you do so. In other words, "get into things!"

GIRL RESERVES' FIRST CEREMONIAL

To initiate thirteen girls (we hope not an unlucky number), the Junior and Senior Girl Reserves held a joint ceremonial in the high school gymnasium, Wednesday, October 12 at 7 o'clock. Christine Nichol officiated in a beautiful but simple ceremony called "The Circle of Light." The new members of the Senior group are: Geraldine Schmidt and Catherine Mandl. The new members of the Junior group are: Gertrude Miller, Eileen Archer, Madeline Blunk, Onalee Eldridge, Rosemary West, Betty Snell, Esther Egge, Pearl Smith, Elaine Shingleton, Jane Whipple and Catherine Dunn.

Following the ceremonial, the girls met in front of the school and rode to Miriam Jolliffe's. After a marshmallow roast in the backyard, they went inside and sang and played songs. The meeting broke up about 8:30. Friday, October 15 was to be the deadline for the Junior Needlework Guild project, but the advisers gave those who had not finished theirs until Monday, October 17 to get them completed. A short business meeting of the different groups and a joint song meeting was held Friday, contrary to the original program.

MENAGERIE HOUSED IN BIOLOGY ROOM

If one would venture into room 32, the biology room, he would see some of the wonders of the earth, for here are bull frogs, fish spiders, polly-wogs, and a puff adder. The latter is said by many to be a poisonous reptile. This, however, is contrary to the actual facts, there being but one poisonous snake in the state of Michigan and only three in the whole United States. The massasauga rattler is very infrequently found in Michigan and is very dangerous.

Among some of the newest arrivals are a guinea pig and a small rabbit. Not to be overlooked are the plants, which include a pepper plant, corn, caeli, sempervivum, and other small plants and flowers.

STARKWEATHER SCHOOL NOTES: The kindergarten in Miss Cavannaugh's room have been watching the caterpillars they caught upon their cocoons. They are studying the transportation of food. They have planted some Narcissus bulbs. Jack Okaner and Alice Glisse have been ill and out of school.

CLASS WORK

Miss Lovewell's tenth grade English class has been writing biographies. The eighth grade class has been writing fairy stories. The advanced algebra class has completed the study of special products of factoring. The class will next study factoring. The plane geometry class has been studying parallel lines.

ELEMENTS PERFORM FOR SCIENCE CLUB

Three of the ninety-two elements were demonstrated at a recent meeting of the Junior High School Science Club. They were potassium—an element that bursts into flame when placed in water, sodium—an element that resembles potassium, and phosphorus—an element that burns when in contact with the air. Both sodium and potassium must be kept in kerosene oil, but phosphorus is kept under water.

The boys were given the "love test" after the demonstration of the elements. This test consists of a glass tube with a glass bulb at either end. One of these bulbs is grasped in the hand and if the person holding it is in love, the red liquid which is in the tube will flow into the other bulb and carry "boil." This boiling is caused by the heat of the hand which expands the air in the tube, causing it to bubble through the liquid, giving it the appearance of boiling.

Paderewski, Tibbett And Other Stars To Be In Ann Arbor

Brilliance and variety will characterize the ten programs in this season's concert, to be given in the 54th Annual Choral Union Concert Series in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, according to an announcement recently made by President Charles A. Sink.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra, under Serge Koussevitzky, will inaugurate the course, Tuesday evening, October 25, when it will make its only Michigan appearance this season. On its brief out-of-Boston tour, it will visit Buffalo, Ann Arbor, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. As usual Dr. Koussevitzky will bring the full orchestra of a hundred and ten players.

France Tibbett, renowned in concert, opera, radio and the movies, will appear in person in song recital, Wednesday evening, November 2. Extraordinary and supremely talented, he ranks as the greatest male singer born in America. Versatility, individuality and originality add their lustre to his supremacy in four great fields.

Ossip Gabrilowitsch, will lead the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in a brilliant program Wednesday evening, November 30. Mr. Gabrilowitsch, with his fine band of players, has made a real contribution to artistic culture in the Middle West and their Ann Arbor concerts are always greeted with enthusiasm by music lovers of the University city.

Efrem Zimbalist, who will give a violin recital, Monday evening, December 12, believes the tradition that a musician must be long haired, possess bad manners and dress eccentrically. Zimbalist is too sound a violinist to waste time with curious ways of dressing and the development of eccentric manners. The practice of his instrument, the enlargement of his repertoire, and the broadening of his musicianship, these are his problems and they consume almost all of his time.

Nathan Milstein, Russian violinist, will make his Ann Arbor debut, Monday, January 16. He is said to possess a talent so precocious and mature for his years that in Germany they have nicknamed him "Nathan the Wise." There is a tradition in Russia that when a child is born in Odessa, it is handed a fiddle and a silver spoon. If it grabs the latter, it will be a thief, if it chooses the former, a musician. In Milstein's case, he is said to have "grabbed the fiddle with both hands." Young Milstein managed to survive the ravages of the great Revolution and finally toured with his friend, Vladimir Horowitz, the pianist. In 1925 he made a sensational debut in Berlin and two years ago started America through his few introductory appearances in the great music centers of this country. This season he will be heard again in a limited number of the more important centers.

Myra Hess is acclaimed the world over as the greatest woman pianist of the generation. She will be heard Friday, January 27. Four years ago in her Ann Arbor recital, she made a host of friends, who have persistently demanded a return engagement. Heavy schedules and absence from America prevented a return engagement until this time.

The Budapest String Quartet, made up of four distinguished artist performers, Jose Roisman, 1st violin, Alexander Schneider, 2nd violin, Stephan Ipolti, Viola and Miesha Schneider, Cello, is generally conceded to be the outstanding exponent of chamber music in existence. They are natives of the "great cradle" of string ensembles. The organization was founded during the war-time period and has been in existence continuously since that time. During this period they have given more than eight hundred concerts, crossing Europe in all directions, and in America they have been acclaimed wherever heard.

Sigrid Onegin is now generally conceded to be the greatest contralto of the present period. She is at the zenith of her magnificent powers. Opera and concert performances are all the same to her. She excels in both divisions. She will make her Ann Arbor debut on Wednesday, February 15, when she will offer a program of numbers carefully selected to demonstrate her marvelous interpretative powers, the great range of her voice and her versatility in art. Added to her splendid musicianship, she is a woman of charming and attractive personality.

VLADIMIR HOROWITZ, who will be heard in recital, Monday, March 6, is no newcomer to Ann Arbor. His piano recitals and his appearance with orchestra here, three seasons ago, won many friends for him. In Europe he is hailed as a super human combination of Rubinstein, Rosenthal, and Paderewski. Ten years ago when he made his New York debut, he was greeted with the "widest welcome."

In his first tour he made thirty-six appearances in eighty days, including nineteen orchestral performances. Since then he has been continuously on strenuous tours throughout the musical world.

Ignace Jan Paderewski, the "King of Pianists," will bring the Choral Union Concert series to a close, Wednesday evening, March 16, when he will be heard in his eighth Ann Arbor concert, during a period of forty-one years. He was first heard in Ann Arbor February 15, 1892. During those years he has stood out as the great master pianist. In the meantime, others have come and gone, but continuously this great Polish leader has occupied the very topmost pinnacle of pianistic fame. He loves to perform in Hill Auditorium and on numerous occasions has said, "Hill Auditorium is the finest music hall in the world."

Season tickets for the ten concerts in the Choral Union Series may be procured by mail, or orders may be left at the office of the School of Music, 1100 East Street, at $6.00, $8.00, $10.00, and $12.00 each. Each season ticket as in past years, will contain a coupon good to the value of $3.00, when exchanged for a season ticket for the May Festival later in the year.

Tickets for individual concerts may also be ordered at $2.00, $3.00 and $2.50 each. All communications for tickets or illustrated announcements should be addressed to Charles A. Sink, President School of Music, Ann Arbor.

New Barometer Says Better Days Coming

One barometer of economic conditions which has been neglected by the great economists indicates an improvement in business conditions, according to the director of short courses at Michigan State College, who says that the enrollment in these courses has for 36 years shown the trend of business cycles.

Enrollment in short courses here shows a definite increase in periods of greatest economic stress and a corresponding decline as business affairs improved. The decline from the latest peak in the number of short courses started last year and a further decrease is indicated this year will be a definite indication of better times, according to R. W. Tenney, short course director.

The short courses were started in 1894 and gave instruction only in strictly agricultural subjects. Further courses have been added at the request of groups in different lines of work until courses for ministers and for golf greenkeepers are now offered each year.

Director Tenney explains the increase in enrollment during periods of depression by stating that people in those times are forced by competition to perfect themselves for the performance of their work. In normal times, the demand for workers is so keen that employment can be found by people who are not thoroughly trained.

New Home for the Post Office Department

THIS is the architect's drawing of the new $10,000,000 Post Office department building, which is now under construction at Washington, the cornerstone of which was laid by President Hoover on September 28. The new building is on Pennsylvania avenue and faces the new Commerce building. Graham, Anderson, Probst and White of Chicago are the architects.

Dollars Seeking New Homes in the North, Build Log Cabins

Seven heads of Dearborn families, who abhor charity and want to earn a living for themselves and theirs, left last week Tuesday for their homestead land tracts, two and one-half miles north of Johnsonburg near Gaylord in the northern portion of the lower peninsula, where they hoped to start life anew by farming, the occupation they knew before they came to the city to earn high wages and enjoy the luxuries and glamor that was once apparent in this industrial section.

In one group was Charles Weyth, 7450 Mead avenue; Chris Damon, of 4903 Kenilworth; and Harris Buxton, 14418 Wellesley avenue. Charles Buxton of 4372 Lanson avenue, and Earl Johnson, who is not on the welfare lists, went up in separate cars, while Ernest L. Langston, of 5040 Schaefer avenue, and Earl Edwards of the same address, left with a truck loaded with building supplies, tools and tents. Their wives and children have been left in Dearborn until suitable living quarters can be furnished.

The entire group pitched into the task of cutting down timber from more than 200 acres of virgin hardwood, located in the 980-acre tract after they had spent the major portion of Wednesday pitching their tents and preparing camp. Under the leadership of Mr. Langston, who was the instigator of the back-to-the-farm movement, the men began work at once on the first of the series of log cabins which they will build in their "wilderness Utopia." They expect to get them all completed and their families well settled in them before the snow flies. Each one will help the other until all the cabins are built.

Clarke M. Greene, welfare director of Dearborn in commenting on the homestead plan, stated that the city will save money if they can establish these families on farms. According to Director Greene it would cost the city $2,300 to support these families for one year here while it is believed that the total cost in the northland will be approximately $600.

Following an investigation made by Corporation Counsel James E. Greene, Dearborn paid 10 cents an acre for the survey of these lands. The survey revealed that the "new Michigan pioneers" had selected an ideal spot which was rich in hardwood timbers and fertile soil. The city then entered into an agreement whereby it is to furnish the necessities of life for one year or until the homesteaders can earn their own way. This having been done the state agreed to deed over the land to the Dearbornites subject to the usual five-year residence restriction.

"Each one of these families has a 140-acre farm and if they can succeed in making a livelihood, others in Dearborn may be given the same opportunity," Director Greene said. "I hope the experiment works out, and it should for these people have farmed before," he added.

Mrs. O. F. Beyer, Mrs. Floyd Burgett, Miss Marion Beyer and Miss Amelia Gayde motored to Toledo, Ohio, Tuesday where they visited friends.

law and under the Covert relief law he will pay only $7.38. Another would have had to pay $708.88, and instead will pay only $59.12 this year. One big assessment of $1,530.88 under the old law will be but $141.47 under the new law.

Concrete evidence of the enormous benefits to the taxpayers growing out of the Covert indebtedness relief provided by the legislature on recommendation of Gov. Wilber M. Brucker is to be found by an examination of the tax rolls for next December.

"When anyone says that the present state administration has taken the longest forward step to tax reduction that this state or any other state ever took, he is telling only that which will be borne out by the records," the governor said. "The economy program has brought a 20 percent cut in state taxes that will be seen in the tax bill to go out on December 1, further reduction of local taxes by the turning back to the local units of government an additional $12,000,000 of automobile tax moneys, namely $10,000,000 from the weight tax and $2,000,000 from the gas tax; and reduced expenditures in all departments wherein for the first time in modern times every division of government stayed not only within its budget appropriations but in most cases returned a balance to the state treasury.

"Some outstanding examples of the Covert relief benefits have been reported in Macomb county and these are just typical of the relief afforded by this necessary legislation, urged upon a Republican legislature by a Republican administration and adopted in its entirety. The ruinous amounts that would have been saddled upon the owners of property by the old laws have been pared down to small fractions of their former size, making these equitable and in comparison, easy of payment.

"Let me cite a few of these: One owner would, in 1932, have been billed for $120.84 under the old

At the evening service last Sunday, two people, a man and wife, accepted Christ as Saviour and Lord of their lives. This is very encouraging to both pastor and members, and also a fine indication that spiritual help is obtainable in all our services.

The children's meeting last Wednesday at 3:45 p. m. was well attended, but we have room for lots more. Special rewards are to be given out at Christmas time for faithful attendance. Boys and girls under 13 years of age are invited.

Have you ever noticed how careful and contented the crowd looks, coming out of church on Sundays? Paul the apostle to the Gentiles, writes in second Timothy 6:6, that "godliness with contentment is great." This inspired writer puts a high value on spiritual things, and so should you and I. If you have not been in the habit of going to church, come next Sunday and be spiritually enriched.

The pastor, Rev. Neale preaches at both services, 10:00 a. m. "Do Good Works Save a Man?" 7:30 p. m. "How Enoch Walked With God."

"Come, let us worship and bow down; let us kneel before the Lord our Maker; for He is our God." This does not mean "religious drudgery," nor merely going to church, for true worship is the soul bowing down before God and being wholly absorbed by Himself. "God is a Spirit; and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth."

"Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, October 16.

Among the Bible citations was this passage (John 8:12): "Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world; he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life."

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 25): "Jesus taught the way of Life by demonstration, that we may understand how this divine Principle heals the sick, casts out error, and triumphs over death."

What is a hobby, and how can we tell whether or not we have one? These questions may be answered by asking one's self: "Have I a favorite object that I enjoy doing, such as working at a certain type of scrapbook, collecting stamps, pictures, and autographs or working in a particular phase of horticulture?"

Miss Cary has several hobbies: studying birds, flowers, and insects; doing fancy work; and growing vegetable gardens. Sports of any kind and hiking are the hobbies of Miss Sparling.

Rosedale Gardens Rally, Home Coming Day is also announced for the Big Day of October 30, 1932 at R. Presbyterian Church, which day promises to be Big Day for both R. churches and the many, many friends of the Reverends Bennett and Conway have pledged themselves to do their best to make all enjoyable for all. Party of time has been given everyone, so there is no excuse for being marked X absent. Red Cross is very active making new clothes from old, and gathering same within R. must to help the strangers in dire circumstances without R gates. So if anyone has a surplus pair of shoes or mittens, or coats or pairs or maybe a hat or dress, the Lyonia Ladies Branch would be glad to distribute them, or to receive any aid you care to give in repairing renovating or what not to help. The Sales office will be glad to help by reselling your donations large or small, and will see that the Red Cross folks get the articles at the earliest possible moment. Rain or hot, shine or cold, the Red Cross has always been first and last on the job for relief in and during all calamities. They deserve more than we could possibly give. So give them 'till it hurts, they need your help! Spruces Straight from five (5) to nine (9) feet high, both footers inclusive are being set out by Cousin Thompson this week, and many of them, in White Norway and Colorado varieties, but not so tall as those of the Wolverine treedlands, there are many more of them, thus the fuss between Cousin Buggles and Cousin Thompson has been amicably settled by Cousin MacLean as Empire-in-chief, his contention being that the actual cords involved were approximately fifty so we R. all pleased at his wonderful decision. A couple cartloads of elms are to be set in all the holes that El Land Co. Supt. Alouha has been making all over R. parkway strips, which the kiddies imagined were for some sorta game that their daddies never heard of, but alas it was only for the big shade trees. No Hunting in Rosedale Gardens, Section 34 (entire) is asked of all cityites as well as our own countryites. Signs proclaiming this have been placed at strategic points about. We want R. kiddies to live whole and hearty as well as R. birds and bunnies. So if a must shoot, be sure and shoot away from kiddie-land and then only at legitimate prey somewhere, but not here. Better Still Y not join up with the R. G. G. (Y not shoot up toward to by (but not to) with us boys hereabouts, whilst us girls visit and prepare a store or a farmer bought bird, Ask Bros. Book-Hill-Hanson Co. or us boys. Sign on U. S. 12 "We grow everything we sell. Milk and puppies for sale. Also fresh eggs daily." Hence it or not-look just west of Wayne Rd. Two cows and sow with young were saved from injury. The fire blazed thruout the nite and the straw and hay did not burn completely out until Monday morn. Celebrates The 60th Anniversary Of Livonia Church

The congregation of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Livonia Center celebrated its 60th anniversary and its 20th and 10th anniversary of remodeling the church on Sunday October 16th, the pastor of the church delivered a wonderful sermon for the occasion and the church was well attended. After the services the ladies of the church gave a potluck supper with Mrs. O. F. Peters donating a beautiful cake with 60 candles on it. After the candles were lit the pastor and all present gathered around the cake giving thanks to the Lord for his bountiful goodness which he has blessed this congregation with for 60 years. All departed hoping in Lord to celebrate many more of these wonderful occasions.

Makes Plea For Welfare Work

No matter how little work you have, just an hour or two each week, Mr. Cockingham advises that the welfare department will be glad to have this work for its men. "There are many families about town who, I am sure, would be glad to offer work of some kind if they knew of our willingness to provide men. There may be some little work around the yard, a small repair job or clearing out the basement—anything that will mean work for the men," said Mr. Cockingham.

All of the manual labor of the city is being done by men who have been forced out of their regular employment.

It is known the city commission providing just as much work as possible. An effort will be made to have some kind of work during the entire winter for the unemployed.

Wayne county's road commission is going the limit to provide employment. Like last winter there will be a vast amount of work done on the highways in the county.

The Michigan state highway department is doing the same thing. The important part that Michigan's state officials have played in unemployment relief during the past year was brought out plainly in a recent talk given by Martin Detlopper, deputy state highway commissioner.

From official records, he showed that the state's highway employment relief program gave work to an average of 13,200 men, with a maximum of more than 24,000 men up to April 1, 1932. This state relief program was started a year ago.

Mr. Detlopper explained that this program gave employment to thousands of men upon work that it was possible to do by hand and that state officials cooperated with county officials and with welfare organizations throughout the state in a manner that had attracted official attention in Washington.

Because of federal aid, he explained that a monthly minimum of 245,000 men and a maximum of 380,000 men were given work in all parts of the United States last year. But when auxiliary sources such as men employed in the manufacture of materials and equipment are considered the average number of men given work by the nation's highway program would approximate one million.

The Michigan unemployment program was originated and put into effect by Governor Brucker and other state officers as a means whereby jobs could be furnished men while the state would get "real value received" in its improved highways for its $10,000,000 expenditure. Michigan's labor specifications for maintaining wages of both skilled and unskilled labor have been adopted word for word by the national government.

Mr. and Mrs. William Farley spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Benjamin at Whewer and attended a birthday dinner in honor of seven cousins whose birthdays came in the month of October. There were fifteen who attended from Walled Lake and in all twenty-seven attended the dinner.

Communication

On Sunday morning, October 16, accompanied by Mrs. Becker's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hicks of Owasco, we left for a motor trip through Canada, going by way of the Ambassador bridge, Kingsville was the first place visited, where Jack Miner's bird sanctuary is located. Being closed on Sunday, we went only to see a few swans, ducks and geese. We next stopped at Okley Park, which is very beautiful, going on from there to Point Pelee, and arriving about noon. While eating our lunch of fried chicken and good things, we exchanged greetings with another Michigan car which contained writers from Detroit and their guest, a lady from the upper peninsula. Next we went to the farthest end of the Point where the lighthouse and life saving station is located. A track runs through the lighthouse so that the boat can be run out either side of the Point. The keeper has a nice residence there.

After packing up a few souvenirs, we started on our return journey, following the shore line of Lake St. Clair to Windsor where we went through the tunnel and back to Plymouth.

Next week I will give a description of the Dominion as I saw it from a floating standpoint.

Delegates Attend Grand Chapter Last week 148 voting delegates gathered at the 86th annual Grand Chapter of Michigan session which was held at the new Naval Armory in Detroit. Plymouth Chapter was represented by Mrs. Alta Woodworth, worthy matron, and Mrs. Mildred Litsenberger, associate matron. Several members took advantage of its close proximity and visited some of the sessions.

Gay Wilber M. Brucker brought greetings from the state of Michigan and the Rt. Rev. Herman Page, D. D., Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan gave the welcome address for the city of Detroit.

Among the very distinguished guests present were Mrs. Mildred K. Schaubacker, most worthy grand matron, Hon. John Hammill, most worthy grand patron, Wm. H. Hall, right worthy associate grand patron; Mrs. Minnie E. Keyes, right worthy grand secretary, and Mrs. Flora Campbell, right worthy grand treasurer of the General Grand Chapter of the world. They were here to make a play for the meeting of General Grand Chapter, which will be held in Detroit in the summer of 1934.

There will be representatives from all corners of the earth where the light of the Eastern Star shines, including the newest chapters in Alaska. There are two million members at the present time and the fact that they dispersed over two and one-half million dollars for education and relief alone last year is evidence that they do not labor in vain.

The membership showed a net increase of 60,000 members last year, in spite of "old man depression."

Confirms Rumor Of New Automobile

Persistent rumors that a new Plymouth car shortly to be announced would be a six cylinder automobile of lower price than that of current Plymouth models, was confirmed here today by Earl Mastick local Plymouth dealer.

Although no definite announcement date was named, Mastick stated that the new cars would make their appearance here within a few weeks.

"The new Plymouth Six," said Mastick, "is the product of a new era of automobile manufacture. The recent economic stress has stimulated the progress of automobile design far ahead of the amount of advance usually achieved in any three year period. Machine tool manufacturers have volunteered more new designs recently than usual. Machine tool design has kept pace with the demand for finer line, more economical manufacturing methods. Intricate machines that operate to almost unbelievable dimensions are now available. Amplifying gauges that literally split hairs not once but many times, are a part of the general production scheme.

"This engineering laboratory model may be reproduced in a commercial product with absolute accuracy. The Plymouth Six is a product of these new conditions. Only these recent developments permit the production of a car of so low a price and the quality of past Plymouths with many new features. This mammoth Plymouth plant in Detroit has been completely re-tooled. Millions of dollars have been spent for new machinery."

At the request of factory officials, the local dealer is not yet announcing the specific features of this new Plymouth. However, he stated the new Plymouth Six is a full-size, full-trail car and it retains the features which distinguish it from its predecessor—namely, floating power, automatic clutch, free wheeling, easy-shift, silent second transmission, all-steel body, rigid X-frame and a six-cylinder engine of Chrysler Motors' exclusive design and build.

"The new Plymouth Six," said Mastick, "is, moreover, a beautiful car, skillfully designed by combining the most popular beauty and style elements found ordinarily only in cars of a much higher price range."

"We have not been informed as yet of the exact price of this new motor car," he said, "but we know that it will bear the lowest price ever placed on a Chrysler Motors' product."

W.C.T.U. Sunday with Mrs. Beyer's sister, Mrs. Olen Strang and family of North Ypsilanti.

Saturday marked the first reunion of the Cooper school with about sixty former teachers, pupils and friends present. All enjoyed a potluck dinner at noon. Old school photos were passed around and everyone had a jolly time laughing at each others pictures.

Then as of old all heeded the school bell and took their seats in the old school room where they had spent so many hours working and playing many years ago.

The business meeting was called to order by the temporary chairman, William Beyer, the present treasurer of the school district. Mr. Horace White received a gift as the oldest teacher having taught there fifty-three years ago. She also received the gift as the oldest person present, in a draw with George King of Detroit, both being seventy-three years old.

Sven Spicer, of Plymouth, told how in 1896 he taught with 57 pupils enrolled, for the month of $20 a month out of which he paid $8 a month board.

Miss Maude Spicer, his sister, followed him as teacher in 1897 with sixty pupils enrolled.

Lillie Shultz Wilkie, of Cherry Hill, who taught there 17 years ago, congratulated the school district on the fine appearance of the school room with its new coat of paint, its globe, maps, piano and electric lights.

Nellie DeWey Beaver of Perrinsville, the teacher of 1904, recalled the old wood stove which burned two foot wood and which proved a convenient place for the mischief makers to put pepper and throw the whole room into a fit of sneezing.

Maudie Honk Jorgenson, of Cherry Hill, the teacher in 1916-17 was also present.

William Beyer was elected as president of this new organization and Miss Mae Eldon, the present teacher, was elected as secretary and chose as her assistant, Mrs. Maude Sherwood Badelt.

Some of the pupils gave a few of their fond remembrances. Some of these were: Harvey Meldrum of Detroit; Mrs. Letha Brown, Thuma and her mother, Mrs. Mary Brown of Plymouth.

The second Saturday in September was chosen as the date for the 1933 reunion of the Cooper school, at Middlebelt and Ann Arbor Trail. It is hoped that there will be many more of the former teachers and pupils present as well as those who were present this year.

William Beyer believes he is the champion potato grower of Perrinsville. One vine grew to the great length of sixty-two inches and yielded ten potatoes which together weighed eight pounds.

Mrs. J. Shorka spent Monday with Mrs. J. Ronch.

The hard time dance given at Showers' hall in Garden City Saturday evening was a success. Prizes were awarded to Shirley Hood and Robert Sherwood.

Arnold Six was rushed to the Wayne hospital Monday for an operation for appendicitis. The football team wishes him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Charles Root of the Flag committee, told us she was making a special effort this year to remind the public thru the medium of the newspapers to display the flag on all patriotic days.

The program committee, Mrs. Carl Bryan, chairman, then took charge of the meeting and Mrs. Bryan introduced first Mrs. Carmen Root who took us in imagination to Benton Harbor to the recent state convention. Mrs. Root spoke in an amusing and characteristic vein of the social side of the convention and said that although this was literally the thirty-third annual convention, it also was Washington Bicentennial in nature, and in spite of torrents of rain, the social features were festive and gay.

Mrs. Root also read us a George Washington's pledge taken from duct" and said she had copies for ducts" and said she had copies for each daughter to paste in her year book.

Mrs. Dwight T. Randall was next introduced and told us things of a more serious and business like nature, such as important amendments put thru. Probably the most important of these being the changing of the time of meeting of the state organization from October to March and the election of state officers which will be every third year instead of every year as heretofore. Mrs. Randall also told us that Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter was one of four chapters last year doing the best work for the state and that it was first in the number of vital records having essential characteristic of our American scheme of production) would be almost entirely lacking because the driving force in our American scheme of production is the desire on the part of the individual to earn, to have, to hold, to use, and to be independent in old age. I believe we are, therefore, face to face with accepting in America a control system of production which would save the vital parts of the organization which has made us the greatest industrial nation in the world, and at the same time prevent the occurrence of the apparent over-productions which are, as stated before, a lack of buying power in the hands of those who desire to buy and use the produced commodities.

Another interesting item was that there were three hundred and twenty-nine pioneer stories sent in by various chapters to the state registrar. These stories are always full of human interest as well as often times throwing light on the manners and customs of the times.

There was also an important change made in the rules governing the student loan fund which the state organization maintains for deserving students to the effect that the accepted student can choose his own school from a varied list of schools.

An important and peculiarly interesting date for Sarah Ann Cochrane daughters to keep in mind is November 2nd for on that date the Shiawassee chapter in Owasco will mark the grave of Louise Helene Hammond who was a great-grandmother of Mrs. Randall. The ceremony is to be at Brown and chapter members are cordially invited to attend. Mrs. Randall will be an honored guest on that day and is to tell the gathering something about this distinguished Michigan ancestor of hers.

These and many other interesting facts made the meeting a notable one for the local chapter.

Geo. Smith Advocates Limit on Incomes

found it next to impossible to invest $1,000,000 worth of buying power you would have $900,000 worth of buying power and an apparent over-production of $100,000 worth of commodities. Now in the earlier days, this $100,000 worth of commodities, as I have said, was invested in additional buildings and equipment for further production. By investing it in buildings and equipment meant putting it into the hands of labor and those owning natural resources, and in their hands became buying power for what is now an apparent surplus.

It is, therefore, evident that our system which was splendid in operation a few years ago must either be modified to meet existing conditions or else it will eventually destroy itself.

With thousands of acres of land, thousands of homes, and industrial plants being taken over by the State because of unpaid taxes, we are drifting toward a condition of State Socialism which is, in my way of thinking, destructive to the progress which has made us noteworthy before the whole world as a result of our American scheme of industrial organization.

Under a system of State production, the initiative in boys and girls and in adults (which is the goods, either through increase of wages or decrease in the selling price of the commodities which, of course, is one and the same thing. If we control distribution to the extent that adequate buying power is supplied to those who would buy, allowing everyone who works and is thrifty to be able to accumulate property which they may use, enjoy, and pass on to their posterity, we have saved the outstanding and desirable element in the industrial system which has made us great. If American industry does not develop some such scheme which retains all the good elements of our past industrial organization but allows depressions accompanied by the loss of millions to individuals and corporations and misery to the masses, to periodically re-occur, we will definitely drift toward an undesirable condition in which the greatness of American industrial organization will be destroyed.

I believe the American solution will be an income tax so graduated that it will make it impossible for any individual to make more than a definite sum, say $10,000.00, in profits during any one year.

That it will make it impossible for any corporation, after having paid fifteen to twenty per cent on the original capital in the form of stock to make in one year more than a definite sum, say $10,000.00.

That the inheritance tax will be so changed as to make it impossible for any individual to inherit more than a definite sum, say $25,000.00, with the further provision that the government will have to share in the estate, taking an interest in the good and bad parts, and be given a period of five to ten years in which to liquidate the inheritance. The majority stockholders in each instance should be given the first right to buy the government share at the prevailing market price, thus continuing the same system of control in the organization.

There will be those who will say that this is a scheme for leveling off the divisions in produced wealth, and I would say that that is what it is, and that as far as principle is concerned, it is no different than what we have at the present time, but the method of control of distribution is much better for all than our present destructive distribution.

For instance, there are probably few industrialists or corporations who have not had to cut quite deeply into their cash reserves during the past two years, and this, I am sure, you will recognize as a definite leveling-off process. By allowing our present leveling-off process we have the poverty and misery existing among the working classes, who have already exhausted their surplus.

I firmly believe by a yearly leveling off by limiting the maximum to which an individual or corporation can make, and by leveling off each generation by limiting the maximum amount of inheritance, that it will mean a decentralization of our scheme of production, and the placing of adequate buying power in the hands of those who need and would use the produced goods, either through increase of wages or decrease in the selling price of the commodities which, of course, is one and the same thing. If we control distribution to the extent that adequate buying power is supplied to those who would buy, allowing everyone who works and is thrifty to be able to accumulate property which they may use, enjoy, and pass on to their posterity, we have saved the outstanding and desirable element in the industrial system which has made us great. If American industry does not develop some such scheme which retains all the good elements of our past industrial organization but allows depressions accompanied by the loss of millions to individuals and corporations and misery to the masses, to periodically re-occur, we will definitely drift toward an undesirable condition in which the greatness of American industrial organization will be destroyed.
