

AID SALVATION ARMY IN ITS WORK OF MERCY

Plymouth Asked To Give Its Assistance To Local Organization

"God loveth a cheerful giver."

From the time of the early pioneers of this country it has been customary to set aside one day each year on which to offer thanks for those things which have kept our people and our nation steadily progressing. Even though we are at present in economic distress, along with the balance of the world, we have many things for which to be thankful.

We in Plymouth have been fortunate that in this country there are other cities of the state and nation and by continuing with the friendly spirit and cooperation which has always been evidenced by our citizens. We should come through the present crisis with no problems which cannot be solved and with as little suffering among our people as possible.

I therefore take this means of proclaiming Thursday, November 24, 1932, as Thanksgiving Day and suggest that it be spent in a way appropriate to the occasion.

"Salvation Army work is a social insurance. It is not an appeal where an army exists," Mrs. Mary T. Wiseman has been sent here as an appeal director for the Salvationists. She is speaking before various local organizations and her talks are proving most interesting.

"Salvation Army work is a social insurance. It is not an appeal where an army exists," Mrs. Mary T. Wiseman has been sent here as an appeal director for the Salvationists. She is speaking before various local organizations and her talks are proving most interesting.

Stories of cases she has known handled in the daily routine of the Salvation Army, and she is a privilege to have an active part once a year in sharing the responsibilities of maintenance for service of this character.

"At the close of the World War the National Chamber of Commerce arranged the annual appeal system for the Salvation Army in acknowledgment of its glorious work for the douch boys during the war."

"It is business-like, economical, and safe-guards the organization and the public against imposters-wearing some sort of similar uniforms who might solicit for money since the war reputation of the Salvation Army endorsed it to the public."

"After the World War many so-called 'Armed' springs forth. The Samaritan, 'Sanctified,' 'Service,' 'Christian,' 'Disciples,' 'Religious,' 'Alban' armies and 'Rescue Armies' by name are among the number. All these and many others are commercializing on the uniform worn so faithfully and fearlessly by the Salvation Army for over fifty years of loving and unselfish service for the 'Man, who though down is never out,' while he had a friend in the Salvation Army worker."

"Since the War, the Appeals have been conducted all over the United States by local committees of citizens, providing everyone an opportunity to contribute in the authorized way and assuring the subscriber that his donation will reach the work for which it is given."

W.C.T.U. HONORS TWO BIG SALES WOMAN JUDGE ARE ANNOUNCED

New Branch Started Here With Purpose of Interesting Young Women

Meeting at the home of Mrs. Clara Patterson Todd on Friday, November 18, Mrs. Dora B. Whitney, state president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, accompanied by Mrs. Elizabeth W. Fry of Detroit, president of 17th district, organized a new auxiliary of the society with fifteen members.

Mrs. Whitney in her very gracious but convincing manner presented the logical need for more as well as younger women at this crucial time that inspired the women to accept the challenge of today, that of training our youth and making "the path safe for little feet."

The new organization will be known as the Phoebe Patterson Union, named in honor of Mrs. Phoebe Patterson, the first woman judge in Michigan and who was for many years an active worker in the Plymouth Union as well as Recording Secretary of the old First District for 25 years. A beautiful gavel belonging to her and used by the department directors will be a gift to the society by her daughter, Mrs. Todd.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Clara Patterson Todd; vice president, Mrs. Arlo A. Emery; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Louise Mulford; recording secretary, Mrs. Marna Bennett; treasurer, Mrs. Carlton R. Lewis.

Another meeting of the organization will be held at the home of Mrs. Fannie Dueser, 477 South Harvey, on Tuesday, November 23, at 2:30 o'clock at which time department directors will be appointed and plans for future work drafted.

A hearty invitation is given anyone interested in the work to attend this meeting.

Prize Deer Story

There are deer and deer and deer, but the prize deer story from this locality comes from one, Loren Hewitt of Plymouth, who traversed the frozen territory of the far north this local season and on the third day made his way back home with his prize deer.

However, it seems that Mr. Hewitt while working his way through the lower terrace of the northern fencer, came upon the buck with his horns fast in the brush of a tree, whereupon Mr. Hewitt quietly laid down his gun and rushed upon the deer with his hunting knife and stabbed the poor defenseless animal in the neck until he was dead. And we still are of the opinion that the buck was merely a pet deer that strayed away and got lost from some zoo. And we ask you if this was a nice way to treat a deer.

December 25th in the evening they will join with the junior choir and the choir consisting of high school students of the church in presenting a pageant depicting the birth of Christ. This program will consist mostly of musical numbers comprising the old well known Christmas songs.

After the holidays as soon as they can get down to the serious business of serious practice they plan on giving an entertainment consisting entirely of high grade musical numbers.

CAR PLUNGES IN RIVER, WOMAN DRIVER SAVED

Mrs. Ernest Westfall, residing on the Six Mile road just a short distance east of the Northville-Plymouth road, had a narrow escape from death Tuesday when in some inexplicable way she drove a new Ford car off the bridge at Thosely lake, the car landing on its side in about five feet of water just below the dam.

With rare presence of mind, she opened the door of the machine and swam ashore. She escaped without injury but is suffering as the result of shock and sudden immersion in the icy cold water.

She was driving toward Plymouth and after the car left the parking, its plunge into the river was speeded by the icy covered embankment.

She was immediately removed to her home. It was only last Saturday that she was married. The car was removed late Tuesday night.

Mrs. Westfall was Miss Ida Mae Weston of Livonia Center before her marriage Saturday.

HOCKEY LEAGUE STARTS SEASON

Russell Roe Made Secretary At Meeting Held In Dearborn

At a meeting held in Dearborn City Hall last Thursday night the Southern Michigan Hockey League was re-organized and plans laid for the present season which promises to be a long and busy one.

Officers elected were: Henry D. Schellert, president, Dearborn; A. W. Wilson, vice-president, Detroit; Otto Johnson, treasurer, Pontiac; R. A. Roe, secretary, Plymouth.

The schedule was partly drawn up, the first game to be played as soon as the outside rinks are in condition. Plymouth fans will be interested to learn that the majority of Plymouth games will be played on the local rink.

The Plymouth team meets Royal Oak here in the opener, just as soon as weather permits. Some spraying has been done and a good foundation formed. Watch for further notice of opening.

Woman's Club Has Most Interesting Water Color Exhibit

It is a rare opportunity for the members of any club to have as much beauty brought to their doors as was brought to the Woman's Club of Plymouth, Friday afternoon, November 18, when Daniel Rees, importer of fine English water colors and paintings exhibited one hundred or more of these beautiful works.

Mr. Rees was born near London, England and has traveled extensively. His informal talk in bringing out special points of interest in the pictures exhibited was greatly enjoyed. Many of these paintings have been exhibited in the Royal Academy of Arts in London, England.

Mr. Rees, who now lives in Jackson, came to Plymouth through the efforts of Mrs. F. R. Hoebel and her committee, who with Mrs. Robert D. Shaw and his committee the Plymouth club feels the success of this meeting is attributable.

"SEE MR. LEARNED PLEASE"

Frank Learned

Gentlemen of the Democracy—if you are after a job under President-elect Franklin Roosevelt or if you prefer to serve under Governor-elect William C. Mackay—or even if you want to be satisfied with a job in the court house down at Detroit why all you have to do is see Mr. Learned.

And you had better see him first or you will be sent right back to Mr. Learned with a request that you get a letter of endorsement from him to pass out to the long-faded Democracy.

It has developed during the past few days that Mr. Learned has been appointed district commissioner by Chairman Debo of the Democratic State Central committee by the party that will soon go into power. It is essential that aspirants for appointment to various offices have the endorsement of the local committee. But of course one must not join the idea that even this endorsement will always bear fruit, because there are somewhere near a half million people in Michigan who voted for Mr. Crockwell and that they ought to have a job—and it can readily be seen that there is going to be plenty of competition for all the plums and apples that the Democrats are going to have soon to pass out to the long-faded Democracy.

Just to save a little time and an extra trip, see Mr. Learned, please.

EXTENSION GROUP DISCUSSES CLOTHING

The Newburg Home Extension Group met at the home of Mrs. G. A. Bakewell on the Plymouth road, Tuesday, Nov. 18. Mrs. Bakewell and Mrs. Vanstine, the leaders, gave a very interesting lesson on the clothing problem.

The discussion was on different styles best suited to various figures. Identification of samples of cloth and what types should wear these were studied, also how to draft one's own patterns.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Hallam at Newburg.

D.A.R. Members Hear Of Many Activities

Mrs. Nettie Dibble was the gracious hostess Monday afternoon, November 21, to the Sarah Ann Cheshire chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at her home on Penniman avenue.

Mrs. Chauncey Baker, the regent presided over a particularly interesting business session which was called to order in the impressive and reverent manner of this organization.

The committee on Americanism reported our George Washington Bicentennial one having been planted in Kollag Park. The tree was a gift of the Swain-Nelson & Sons Co. Nurseries of Glenview, Illinois and the country planted it for the chapter free of charge.

MANY JOBS FOR THE DEMOCRATS

Postoffice Said To Be One Place Many Desire—Jobs In Court House

Now that the election is all over and returns indicate that the Democratic party not only has complete control of the state government but the national government as well, local interest centers in the question of what will be the Democratic postmaster under President Franklin D. Roosevelt in Plymouth.

While Postmaster Bert Giles was re-appointed last spring for another four year term and should be in safe for most of that period the Democrats during past administrations have always found it an exceedingly easy thing to make such changes as they desired without much ado. In fact under the Wilson administration hundreds of Republican postmasters were put out on the side lines because of so-called political activities. In some cases it has been pointed out, simply because a Republican indicated political views, and were enough out of their way.

Chauncey Baker, who died a few years ago, was the last Democratic postmaster of Plymouth. He served during the administration of President Woodrow Wilson.

During the Cleveland administration William J. Burrows was the Democratic postmaster of Plymouth. Mr. Burrows is not a candidate for the appointment at present. In fact up to this week there have been no active candidates for the appointment in the field. It is possible that several of the well known Democrats of Plymouth have it in mind to seek this appointment, but so far the fact has not been generally advertised.

It is known that Frank Learned, city commissioner, will have much to do with the selection of the new postmaster. Mr. Learned was recently appointed district commissioner by the Democratic county chairman. His district not only includes Plymouth, but Northville and Wayne as well.

Not only will he have much to do with the selection of the new postmaster but his advice will be sought on the appointment of clerks in the various county offices. After January first there will be a general meeting out in all of the county offices in Detroit and Democrats in this part of the county are going to make an effort to see to it that the various districts have a much better representation than the Republican county officers had. In fact during recent years one almost had to be a relative, or a friend of a relative of some of the officials, so the saying about the county is, "If you ain't a relative or a friend of a relative, in order to get anywhere near a job."

Late Fall Wedding Beautiful Event

One of the prettiest of the late autumn weddings occurred on Wednesday evening, November sixteenth, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Waterman on the Seven Mile road. John Alvin Waterman was united in marriage to Miss Phyllis Marie Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Wood of the Base Line. Miss Irene Hossman of Metamora, a cousin of the groom, was bridesmaid and Ward Clark attended Mr. Waterman. The youthful bride was charming in turquoise and white, and the groom in a handsome tuxedo. The banquet of brilliant pink roses was an interesting feature of her costume. Miss Hossman carried carnations of the same vivid color and her dress was pink crepe silk. The to-be-wedding march was played by Mrs. Ralph Wilson and Mr. Wood gave his daughter in marriage. Rev. Carl Deibel of the Salem Federated church read the service.

A delicious dinner was served to the large number of relatives who were privileged to enjoy the happy occasion. Slender vases of tiny yellow and white button chrysanthemums flanked by yellow candles made the tables attractive. Many gifts were displayed in the west wing of the Waterman home which has been re-modeled and furnished for Alvin and his bride.

land today and which aims at the tearing down of everything we have been taught to value. She referred particularly to present day communist tendencies, to the industrial attraction of socialism, and urged us to be watchful, reminding us that our personal attitude and individual ability to "come up smiling" will count largely in our success in meeting engagements. In short, "State Education and National Defense" depends upon YOU as an individual because the group however large, is composed essentially of individuals.

ESTABLISH WOOD PILE FOR THE IDLE CITY MANAGER TELLS OF PLAN

Plymouth Provides Much Aid For Families Of Men Out Of Work

The highest producing, purebred Holstein cow in Michigan to finish a year's record last month on three times a day milking in the Eastern Hill Test, is owned by the Wayne County Training School, according to Michigan Holstein Praction Association. This six year old cow, MacFarlan, a Prospect Princess Wayne, made 321 pounds of butterfat from 15,000 pounds of milk with an average test of 38. The school herd also had the top four years old, 420 pounds fat, 12,073 pounds of milk.

The Red Rose Farm on the Beck road has recently entered this test which runs for a year. Production of each animal in the herd is determined monthly by a representative of the Michigan State College, Michigan is the leading state in point of numbers of cows entered in the test.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY DEC. 1-2

Event To Take Place At High School Evenings Of Dec. 1 and 2

Can you imagine Wm. Thamus being born in a handbag. Anstie Partridge with an English accent, Oscar Emmerson a preacher, or Margaret Buzzard a crabby old English matron? Well, so you are! They are to take these parts in the play "The Importance of Being Earnest," which is to be presented by the Junior class of the Plymouth High school on December first and second at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

The play is a mild-spooking farce. It was written by a very famous author, Oscar Wilde, one of his writings is well known to us "Lady Windermere's Fan" which had a long run in London and New York City and was also popular in Detroit last year. "The Importance of Being Earnest" has a very clever plot. Two boys John Worthing and Algernon Moncrieff by Anstie Partridge fall madly in love with two nice young girls, Cecily Cardew and Gwendolyn Fairfax. Cecily is a girl like the name Ernest, so John and Algernon change their names to Ernest. A grand mix-up ensues.

Never before has there been three scenes in the high school plays. But "The Importance of Being Earnest" has three. The first is a bachelor's breakfast room, the second a garden scene and the third a drawing room. This play is the most difficult play ever given in the Plymouth high school.

The scenery was made and set up by the members of the Senior Drama Club and high school artists.

The cast is as follows: John Worthing, Wm. Thamus; Algernon Moncrieff, Wm. Thamus; Anstie Partridge, Rev. Canon Chubb; Oscar Emmerson, Merriman; Sheddell Baker; Lane, Jannservant; Daniel Carmichael; Cecily Cardew, Jane Whipple; Gwendolyn Fairfax, Jeannette Barley; Lady Bracknell, Margaret Buzzard; Friday night, Ruth Meinlein; Thursday night, Ruth Meinlein.

New Auto License Plates Received

Secretary Berg Moore of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce with offices in the Mayflower hotel has received his allotment of automobile license plates from the secretary of state's office in Lansing, and is ready to place them on sale next week Thursday. Purchasers of new automobiles may secure their 1933 license plates immediately.

Secretary Moore is expecting a fair demand at the beginning of the sale of the new license plates.

NO ALIBI

The problems of the country are squarely up to the Democratic party. Complete election returns indicate its absolute control of the executive and legislative branches of the government. If anything goes wrong the party cannot blame the opposing political party. This is as it should be—and we have faith enough in the type of citizenship represented in the Democratic party to believe that it will serve the country's best interest diligently. After all, both Republicans and Democrats are first and last American citizens and it is for this reason that we have not the slightest fear as to the future of our nation under Democratic rule. The final returns from the recent Congressional elections show the Democrats to have won with majorities of 22 in the new Senate and 193 in the House.

The line-ups compared with the divisions in the session to convene next month follows:

NEW SENATE		PRESENT SENATE
Democrats	59	Democrats	47
Republicans	36	Republicans	47
Farmer-Labor	1	Farmer-Labor	1
		Vacancy	1

The result of the race in Colorado to fill the vacancy created by the death of Senator Charles W. Waterman, Republican, is still to be finally determined. Latest figures showed Karl C. Schuyler, Republican, leading his Democratic opponent, Walter Walker.

NEW HOUSE		PRESENT HOUSE
Democrats	314	Democrats	220
Republicans	116	Republicans	210
Farmer-Labor	5	Farmer-Labor	1
		Vacancies	4

Special elections have yet to be called to fill the unexpired terms of the late Reps. Vestal, Republican, Indiana, and Karch, Democrat, Illinois, and those of Reps. Dallinger, Republican, Massachusetts, and Tilson, Republican, Connecticut, resigned.

THE NEW VICE-PRESIDENT

John N. Garner of Texas will be the first man from the south to sit in the Vice-Presidential chair since William R. King of Alabama presided over the senate in President Pierce's administration, more than 75 years ago.

And Garner, in the second highest office in the country, probably will remain "Cactus Jack" of the plains to his admirers in the southwest. For throughout his long service in the House he has good-naturedly scoffed at Senate self-esteem, and repeatedly declared that the speakership was second in importance only to the Presidency.

The fortunes of politics has brought to him the office for which, he once humorously suggested, he was unqualified because he couldn't eat all of the banquet repasts served to a Vice-President.

Despite an apparent aversion to the formal social duties of his new position, Garner will bring to the Roosevelt administration one very substantial political asset born of his talent for sociability.

Through him the White House will have an exceptional channel for maintaining contacts with Congress, particularly with the House despite personnel changes brought about at the election.

Scores of men sitting in the lower chamber are his friends. One of his most conspicuous traits is that of making and keeping friends without regard to party lines, the outstanding example being the long and intimate friendship with his political adversary, the late Nicholas Longworth of Ohio.

The Vice-President-elect knows the political relationships of virtually every two-term member of the House to the current issues that may be discussed in that body. He has also a 30-year knowledge of the practical workings of the House and its committees, and their relationship to Senate action.

He has a background of information as to the origin and political significance of important appropriation bills, and other legislation.

As Vice-President, of course, he will be relatively inactive in the actual deliberations of the Senate, because of the traditions of party neutrality that time has imposed upon the presiding officer of the Senate.

A TYPICAL AMERICAN

When the great army of American voters went to the polls November 8th and elected Franklin D. Roosevelt to the presidency of these United States, they elected a typical American, one whose heritage is that of an old line Yankee family. His life from early manhood has been one of public service. In brief it follows:

- Jan. 30, 1882—Born at Hyde Park, N. Y., the son of James and Sarah Delano Roosevelt.
- June, 1900—Finished preparatory course at Groton School.
- June, 1904—Graduated from Harvard with degree of A. B.
- Sept., 1904—Entered Columbia University's law school.
- March 17, 1905—Married Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, a fifth cousin.
- June, 1907—Admitted to New York bar.
- 1907-1910—With law firm of Carter, Ledyard & Milburn in New York.
- 1910—Elected to New York State Senate from Dutchess County.
- July, 1912—Led fight in New York delegation to Democratic National Convention at Baltimore for votes for Woodrow Wilson.
- March 17, 1913—Resigned as state senator to become assistant Secretary of the Navy by appointment of President Wilson.
- July-Sept., 1918—In charge of inspection of United States Naval forces in European waters.
- Jan.-Feb., 1919—In Europe directing demobilization of American war fleet.
- July, 1920—Second nomination of Alfred E. Smith as aspirant for presidential nomination by Democratic National Convention at San Francisco.
- July, 1920—Nominated for Vice-President on Democratic ticket with James M. Cox.
- Nov. 2, 1920—Defeated for Vice-Presidency in Harding landslide.
- Aug., 1921—Stricken with infantile paralysis at summer home, Campobello, New Brunswick.
- 1921-1924—In retirement fighting to regain health.
- July, 1924—Makes nominating speech for Alfred E. Smith at Democratic National Convention in Madison Square Garden, New York.
- July, 1928—Nominates Alfred E. Smith as presidential candidate of Democratic Convention at Houston, Tex.

Aug., 1928—Nominated for governor of New York despite his message from Warm Springs, Ga., that he did not want to run because of his health.

Nov. 6, 1928—Elected governor of New York by 25,564 plurality, although Smith lost the state by 103,481.

Nov. 4, 1930—Re-elected governor of New York by plurality of 725,001.

July 1, 1922—Nominated for the Presidency by Democratic National Convention at Chicago.

July 2, 1932—Flew by airplane from Albany to Chicago to deliver acceptance speech before convention adjourned to save campaign expense.

Nov. 8, 1932—Elected President.

BRAINS NEEDED

In working out of the tax muddle into which we have voted ourselves, brains, and a lot of brains, will be needed. Michigan's tax limitation plan might work out successfully provided a lot of long haired, non-tax paying schemers keep out of the picture. But the trouble in all of these questions is that people who do not pay generally have the say as to what those that do pay, shall pay. Up to the present time practically all wealth has been based upon land wealth. We have seen fit to change that in Michigan. We are going to base our tax-paying values upon some other kind of values. True that real estate will bear a small portion of the tax but its portion will from now on be only a small portion. Other values are to be taxed. The important question is, what are these other values?

THE DIFFERENCE

When January first rolls around some 2500 Michigan Democrats will go off the welfare and some 2500 Michigan Republicans will go on the welfare. That's about the only difference some say the recent election will make in the state.

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

THE FUTURE

With the Democratic Party certain to be introduced in full control of the Federal Government after March 4, for the first time in fourteen years, speculation is revolving around President-elect Roosevelt's Cabinet selections and his legislative program. It was taken for granted the new President would pick a majority of his officials from men of the more conservative element of the Democratic Party who have been his advisers and supporters during the campaign. It was assumed also that Mr. Roosevelt would call an extra session of the newly elected Congress soon after March 4 to take up the measures which he will then be ready to propose. No radical policies are expected from him in any quarter.—R. G. Jeffries in The Lowell Ledger.

Mr. Comstock's proposal to release liquor law violators may sound as drastic as that of Mayor Cermak, yet it is not. Assuming that judgment is used in the selection of those released, there is no good reason why his decision should not be carried out. Some of the liquor law violators are criminals by the nature of the manner in which they carried on in the business. The majority are not in this class. They are simply victims of legislation making a crime of something that was all a part of post war hysteria. An organized minority, supported by funds received from honest, sincere, but nevertheless misguided smaller minority, managed to convince enough people that prohibition was the way to handle the liquor problem to secure the enactment of prohibition laws. Most of those who voted for such laws never intended that they should be made to operate insofar as it affected them. They really thought prohibition might help those who are strong enough to curb their appetites for strong drink. They have learned by experience that prohibition does not work, and are ready to turn to something better.—Joseph Sturgeon in The Delta County Reporter.

THE MAGIC WORD

There's a little word below, with letters three, which, if you only grasp its potency, will send you higher towards the goal where you aspire, without its precious aid you'll never see—NOW! Success attends the man who views it right: Its back and forward meanings differ quite: For this is how it reads To the man of ready deeds, Who spells it backward from achievement's height—WON!

THE HIGHWAY

All day long on the highway The King's fleet couriers ride:

You may hear the tread of their horses sped Over the country side. They ride for life and they ride for death And they override who tarrieth. With show of color and flush of pride They stir the dust on the highway. Let them ride on the highway wide Love walks in little paths aside. All day long on the highway Is a tramp of an army's feet; You may see them go in a marshaled row With the tale of their arms complete: They march for war and they march for peace. For the lust of gold and fame's increase. For victories sadder than defeat They raise the dust on the highway.

All the armies of earth defied, Love dwells in little paths aside. All day long on the highway Rushes an eager band, With straining eyes for a worthless prize. That slips from the grasp like sand, And men leave blood where their feet have stood And bow them down unto brass and wood— Idols fashioned by their own hand— Blind in the dust of the highway. Power and gold and fame denied, Love laughs glad in the paths aside. —Louise Driscoll.

REMARKABLE SAYINGS

The more ignorant the man, the more sure he is of everything.—Henry L. Mencken. War builds war not peace. The war to end war can never be.—Rabbi Stephen S. Wise. The biggest coward in the world is the man who is afraid of a new idea.—Sherman Perry. If I had only one sermon to preach it would be a sermon against pride.—Gilbert K. Chesterton. There is one thing worse than believing everything, and that is believing nothing.—Ralph Barton Perry.

A PRAYER

Our God and our Father, source of all our longings and aspirations, kindle on the altars of our hearts a sacred flame which shall burn brighter and brighter until the dawn of eternal day. Look backward, conceal our faults, and point the way. Make us like men who are on their way to work with their bright and morning faces. Enable us to make Thy law the rule of our lives, for every commandment is a benediction and a benefactor. Bless us with that peace which keeps the heart and lifts the soul. While this outward life is checked with light and shadow, with mingled wrong and struggling right, keep us wise in that which is good and innocent in that which is evil. O God, despite it all, lead the way, lead the way.

Thanksgiving

Facing the rigor of a northern winter in an unconquered wilderness with Indians and predatory animals roaming the surrounding forests, our Puritan ancestors took time from their labors to give thanks for their blessings.

These hardy men and women facing conditions which we can little realize, still found something for which to render thanks. Surely you and I, though times may seem hard and conditions serious, have many things for which to be thankful on this Thanksgiving Day.

Monday evening November 28th the officers and teachers of the Sunday school will meet at the home of the superintendent, G. A. Bakewell, Plymouth Road at 7:30 p. m.

The Junior Light Bearers are a happy group of girls. They meet each Tuesday at the church at 3:45 p. m. Their leader is Mrs. R. A. Roe and they come in encouraging numbers and with plenty of enthusiasm.

The Mission Study class is to hold the November meeting at the church on Tuesday night next November 29th. There will be co-operative supper at 6:30 p. m. and afterwards an interesting program will follow.

The church session will meet Wednesday, November 30th, 7:30 p. m.

BAPTIST NOTES

Mr. Neale will preach Sunday morning on "God's Cure For The Sin Of Worry." In times like these many people, including professing Christians, are anxious and worried about the supply of their daily bread and many similar cares.

Such needs are important but worry never helps to meet them. Anxiety and fear often do great harm to both the body and the spirit of a man. What is the cure? Shall we do an artificial smile and try to make ourselves think it will all turn out right? Or has the Bible a solution to this amazing problem? Thank God it has! Bring your Bible and meet with us Sunday at 10 a. m. to find this secret for yourself. Come prayerfully, for only God can reveal it, and that only to the believing heart.

Having overheard a remark recently: "I don't have time to go to church on Thanksgiving Day," we wondered what should have happened in the past year, if the Lord had not taken time to send His holy angels to take charge of our dear, little ones on all their dangerous, devious ways, if He had not taken time to provide sunshine and rain for the crops, time to be with us in sickness, at the time when death's cold hand laid hold upon our dear one, time to prevent a serious accident, when we were driving, time to nurse us back to health and strength when it appeared as though we should never recover from our accident and other troubles, time to provide something so that a little spark of hope remained in our hearts, while all the world lay trembling under depression—and time and pains and sacrifice to give His Son as the Atone-ment for our sin, so that in all adversity, physical as well as spiritual, we had no cause for real worry and complaint. "No time to go to church on Thanksgiving."

STUDENTS WRITE CLEVER BALLADS

The following are more ballads written by a freshman English class. The first is a complete ballad; the others are extracts from several ballads.

Jim Hawkins of the Admiral Benbow
Found a map which told where to go
To seek the gold of pirates bold
Who buried it there in days of old.

I took the map to the Doctor and Squirt
Who listened with their interest on fire
And then they strove to seek a ship and crew
They'd help me find the treasure too.

I with my task as cabin boy
Overboard two men talking—to my great joy
They were later joined by a third;
I then told my party the plot I heard.

John Silver who walked with a crutch
Started a mutiny and got in Dutch
Killed two men the first day ashore
Cutting our crew down two more.

Our party got into the stockade to fight
And this we did with all our might
All of the men fought very fine
And reduced the pirates down to nine.

One night I thought I'd cut the cable
(The rest of my story is not a fable)
Came back to the stockade later next day
And found my party had gone away.

In this story Ben Gunn's the hero
(But he's not as great as was Nero)
Who found the treasure and in his cave hid it
And the pirates didn't know who did it.

And now to bed, my story is finished
The men on the island probably vanished
Of Long John Silver I've heard no more
Probably he's living somewhere on shore.

Treasure Island was a place
Where pirates used to go
For that is where the treasure lay
Hidden so long ago.

Long ago and far away

Some pirates hunted from day to day

In search of a place to hide?
Their valued treasures side by side.
Helen Jacobs.

One bright sunny morning
The captain and the crew
Went aboard the Hispaniola
To sail the water blue.

They sailed away to Treasure Isle
And there what did they find?
None other than their friend, Ben Gunn.

That they had left behind.
Jack Kinsey.

If you want to read of pirates bold
And how they searched for hidden gold
Read this book that is so old
Stevenson's Treasure Island.

To me a student of present date
The old stories of storms and sea
Have a thrill for me I can't relate
Turn back, time, so a pirate I can be.

Yes, we sailed to Treasure Island
To increase our fortunes more
Yes, we started with a big band
But came back with only four.

At evening when the lamp is lit
With Treasure Island do I sit
And travel into foreign lands
With treasures buried in the sands.

I'm sure this book of pirates hold
Will satisfy the young and old
The adventure for the hidden gold
In a very interesting way is told.

A man in black
Who eyesight lacked
Came tapping down the road
He stopped at an inn.

And inquired within
"What part of the country
May I be in?"
Bernard Vuk.

MANY GO TO CHURCH WITH DeMOLAY BOYS

About six hundred people attended the Christ Church, Cranbrook on Nov. 20, in observance of the DeMolay parents' day set aside by the grand council, DeMolay and friends were extended the invitation through the James S. Hesser Chapter of Birmingham. The address by the Rev. W. Hamilton Antelbach on "Discouragement," was well received, being preceded by a half hour Carillon recital.

The program committee has an obligatory service set for the first Thursday of the month, Dec. 1.

Friday is the time set for Fellowship Chapter's annual DeMolay dance.

DON'T GET UP NIGHTS Make This 25c Test

You need this easy bladder physic to drive out impurities and excess acids which cause irritation that results in leg pains, backache, burning and getting up nights. BUCKETS, the bladder physic, containing liquid jiffier oil, etc. works on the bladder pleasantly and effectively, similar to castor oil on the bowels. Get a 25c box (5 grain size) from your druggist. After four days, if not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. You are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep. Delivers Lecture on Christian Science

Mrs. Nollie E. Ritchie, C. S. R. of Swickley, Pennsylvania, delivered a lecture here recently on "Christian Science." In part she said: "Healing is a subject of interest to all mankind, for all desire health, happiness, peace, success, and freedom. Webster gives this definition of healing: 'to restore to health.' 'To make sound or whole; to cure of a disease, wound, or other derangement; to restore to soundness or health. To restore to original purity or integrity; to make whole; to free from guilt; to restore from evil.'"

"Christian Science is a universal remedy, the panacea for all the ills of the flesh. It is restoring to soundness those suffering from sickness, sin, and fear; from domestic or business problems. It is binding up the wounds of the sorrowing, curing those who are suffering from physical and mental derangement. It is restoring the true understanding of man's original purity as the image and likeness of God and freeing thought from all sense of guilt or evil. It is teaching men to express integrity at all times, and how to claim and enjoy man's birthright as a child of God."

This lecture is to tell you in a simple way how this dominion is gained through prayer as taught in Christian Science. Some one may say, "I did not come here to listen to an essay on prayer. I want to know how to get well, be successful or happy." My friends, to learn how to pray aright is the answer to your query. If you believe in the Holy Scriptures, if you believe in the teachings of Christ Jesus, you must believe in prayer. We are admonished by prophets and apostles to seek God in Prayer and Paul tells us to pray without ceasing. Perhaps some one is thinking, "I am a busy man—or woman!"—another, "I am a mother with children and household cares. How can one drop the responsibilities of life to pray constantly?" Here Christian Science comes to your rescue, for through its teaching one learns that prayer, true prayer, is right desire. The desire to be useful, to express honesty, justice, mercy, love, forgiveness, and purity, is incessant prayer.

The first step in learning to pray aright is to know God, the Giver of all good. In the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 467), Mrs. Eddy gives this definition of God: "God is incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love." In Christian Science we are taught that God is the only Father-Mother, the only Creator and Cause of all that really exists, the Source of all being. In the first chapter of Genesis we read that He made everything that was made, "and, behold, it was very good." That He made man in His image and likeness, spiritual and perfect. Christian Science makes clear that perfect God and perfect man must be the basis of our thinking; that is, man to be reflection or image of God must be God-like, for cause and effect in Science are inseparable and immutable. To know the truth about God, man, and the universe, is the one perfect remedy, for it alone can redeem mankind from the woes of the flesh.

An understanding of Christian Science not only awakens one to hold in thought perfect cause and perfect effect—that is, God and man as God's reflection—but helps uncover in our thinking all that is unlike God, and brings all error, day of December, next at ten o'clock in the forenoon at said Court Room be appointed for examining and allowing said account and hearing said petition.

And it is further Ordered, That a copy of this order be published three successive weeks previous to said time of hearing, in the Plymouth Mail, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Wayne. EDWARD COMMAND, Judge of Probate. THEODORE J. BROWN, Deputy Probate Register.

25 YEARS AGO

Interesting bits of news Taken from Plymouth Mail
Livonia Center farmers want to know what the reason is for the big drop in meat prices. Everything the farmer has to sell has gone way down. This is certainly a one-sided affair and it is caused by the financial difficulties of the country or what?

Fred Gatchow of Livonia is moving to his new home on the Toucan farm this week.

Wedding bells will ring in the near future, it is said. Mrs. John Streng of Orchard Lake has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Wm. Gayde, this week.

F. A. Dillie has sold his residence on Church street to Dr. J. J. Travis who will move into it the first of the week.

Mrs. G. W. Richwine and children will spend Sunday in Milan. Harry Armstrong is assisting C. G. Draper in his store this week.

A number of friends of Fred Drees helped him celebrate his 19th birthday Tuesday night. All had a good time.

The Union Medical Society announces that professional rates are going up. The lowest rate for house calls during the day will be $1.25, plus 25 cents per mile. The charge for office prescriptions in Plymouth from now on will be from 75 cents to $2.00. The minimum fee for giving an anesthetic in a dental office will be $5.00.

The friends and neighbors of Charles Johnson of Stark held a luncheon for him last Wednesday. He has been ill for some time.

Beaver trapping will be permitted in the following counties: Alpena, Montmorency, Otsego, Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Emmet, Chippewa, Mackinaw, Lapeer, Schoolcraft, Alger, Delta, Menominee, Dickinson, Marquette, Iron and Gogebic, excepting all game refuges including the Cusine and Escanaba River tracts; state parks and other areas closed to trapping by Commission orders; and the administered State Forest lands known as the Superior, Mackinac, Alpena, Harwood, Black Lake, Pigeon River, and Presque Isle State Forests; and further excepting National forest lands known as the Ottawa, Hiawatha, and Marquette National forests.

Duck Season Is Over Trapping Season Opens In This Part of State

While Wednesday, November 30 marks the end of every fall hunting and trapping season, it also precedes by one day the opening of two trapping seasons in the southern third of the state.

December 1, trapping for muskrats and raccoons will be permitted south of the north line of Saginaw Bay, including the thumb. The muskrat trapping season in that area will remain open until December 31. Trapping for raccoons in that part of the state will end December 15.

The last of the open seasons for the year will begin the morning of December 5 when beaver trapping will be permitted in certain counties. The season will remain open until December 20. The special beaver trapping license fee will be $2.00. Eight beaver may be taken by each person on a license. Seals, which must be attached to each beaver hide, will cost $1 each.

Michigan Crops Are Largest in History, Prices Are Lowest

As the 1932 crop season approaches its close, the reports received by the Michigan Co-operative Crop Reporting Service reveal an aggregate production for the sixteen leading field and fruit crops in excess of that in any other recent year. Verne H. Church, Agricultural Statistician in charge, states that the composite figure determined from final condition reports is 80.8 per cent as compared with 75.2 in 1931, 62.5 in 1930, and 72.5 in 1929. The only major field crops with less than average yields were oats and barley, and apples was the only tree fruit with less than average production. While the season was relatively dry, particularly in the northern and western districts of the State, the rainfall was more uniformly distributed throughout the season than in each of the preceding three years. Insect pests were numerous and troublesome as a result of the preceding mild winter.

The Michigan bean crop is estimated at 4,374,000 bushels (7,200,000 bushels), the largest on record except that of 1925, and comprises 42 per cent of the United States production. While Michigan has been the leading bean state for at least three decades, it has normally raised between 30 and 35 per cent of the country's total. Heavy and frequent rains in October greatly delayed the late-season harvesting, but the major portion of the crop was secured in advance of these rains and is of generally good quality. Those harvested have a high moisture content and will pick rather heavily. Late returns on potato yields indicate a production of 30,475,000 bushels or 115 bushels per acre. The 1931 crop was only 23,750,000 bushels, both the acreage and per-acre yields being less than in the current season. The quality is the best in several years. With a United States production somewhat below average, the price outlook would be more favorable were it not for the relatively low buying power of the public and the very low prevailing price level of all other farm products.

The corn crop averages 23 bushels per acre, giving a total production of 47,989,000 bushels or about 5,000,000 bushels more than last year. The yield was only slightly above average due to the prevalence of white grubs and other insect pests in many of the southern counties and to lack of rainfall in some localities. Eleven beet-sugar factories are being operated in the State this year and each has been running at full capacity since the opening of the campaign. Beets have been moving to the factories in large volume and harvesting is well advanced. The average yield per acre placed at 10.5 tons and the total production at 1,260,000 tons. This is the highest yield per acre since the beginning of records in 1908, and the largest tonnage since 1920.

The Michigan apple crop is light this year being estimated at 5,390,000 bushels as compared with 10,070,000 bushels in 1931. Winter varieties are yielding a relatively small volume than early and intermediate varieties. The estimated production of peaches was 1,738,000 bushels which was slightly more than 200,000 bushels less than the 1931 crop. The quality was average and the crop found a better market than most other farm products this year. The pear crop amounted to 687,000 bushels which was 77 per cent of a full crop and considerably above the average production. The grape crop, estimated at 21,900 tons, is probably the largest ever produced in the State. The quality was mostly good and harvesting was completed in advance of any damaging frost.

Off-setting this large average crop production, the present level of farm prices is the lowest in more than thirty years and probably the lowest on record for wheat. The October United States index of farmer's buying power is 52, or in other words, the dollar he receives from crop sales is worth only 52 cents in comparison with the price of non-agricultural commodities. Hence, the cash income from the rather large 1932 production will be not only relatively low, but will have a depreciated buying-power when the farmer purchases the items necessary for the operation and up-keep of his farm.

WOMAN GUILTY OF DRUNK DRIVING

"Are you guilty of driving your car while drunk?" asked Judge Ford Brooks in a stern voice of a woman driver brought to his court a few days ago. "Yes, bick, Judge, I am." "You will pay a fine of $50 and costs of $10," said the Judge. The woman paid. She was Elizabeth Webb of Ohio and it happens that she is the first woman prisoner ever brought before the Plymouth court on a charge of drunk driving. Her companion, Miss Mae Ashley of Ann Arbor, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct and was fined $10 and $5 costs. Before the two could raise the cash it was necessary for Chief Vaughn Smith to take them down to the Wayne county jail where they spent a good portion of the night.

PLYMOUTH RESIDENTS SEE NEW DODGE CARS

Last Friday at a special Press preview, newspaper men representing some 300 publications had a first, privileged look at the new Dodge cars about which press, trade and public have lately been regaled to a veritable bumper crop of rumors. Earl Mastick, local Plymouth dealer, and a number from here were among the guests present.

As readers will recall, there were stories to the effect that Dodge was building a small, four-cylinder automobile for the alleged purpose of knocking the bottom from under the low-priced market. From Detroit, via suppliers' grapevine telegraph, and from Ligonier, Pa., where motor car manufacturers conduct under-cover tests of experimental models, came reports that Dodge cars had been observed in the Indianapolis market. Still another of the rumors, which set the engineering fraternity a-roar, had it that the new cars would incorporate a wholly new principle of speed-changing. And so forth.

Coupled with the Factory's own reticence about giving out details, the rumors served only to fix the impression that Dodge engineers and sales officials had something up their sleeve but for good and sufficient reasons remained determined to choose their own time for telling. Now that a crowd of invited newspaper men have seen the new cars, the secret is of course out. Here it is—the new Dodge is a Six! "A Six of such magnificent eye appeal!" to quote the words of President K. T. Koller, "that it is our honest conviction that never before in automobile history have so much smartness and style attraction combined with outstanding engineering value been built into a car of any size, type, make or price."

Even to the observer unaffected by Mr. Koller's natural enthusiasm, the lines of the new Dodge cars have much more than just eye appeal, they appear different, beautiful in a new way. Shown at the Press preview were five models—passenger sedan; five-passenger sedan-brougham; two coupes, with and without rumble; and a very attractive convertible type coupe. The chassis is low-hung, very much so—without sacrifice of road clearance.

The patented Floating Power engine mounting has been further refined for the new Dodge high-compression engine which develops 81 horsepower. "While the new car has the conventional clutch pedal," explained Chief Engineer George Allen, "the driver may use our new automatic clutch which makes a perfectly safe driver of a one-legged person, because it disengages and re-engages of its own accord, as the foot throttle is closed or opened."

"Of course, the new Dodge has a transmission," continued the Company's engineering head, "though you might not think so the first time you drive the car. The transmission gears, all of them—even to the reverse gear and reverse idler—are cut with new formula helical teeth. Such speed changing as becomes necessary is done, through mere fingertip pressure, by a single, small silent gear selector collar resting on the transmission main shaft. Shifting is utterly quiet and the car is just as smooth in first, second or reverse as it is in high."

Among the Dodge innovations are an improved spring suspension absolutely free from squeaks, also a novel steering gear in which the drag link moves parallel to the front axle instead of parallel to the car frame.

Another of the many noteworthy features of the new car is the liberal use of anti-friction bearings of

TUBERCULOSIS THE THIEF

Tuberculosis robbed Michigan of more boys and girls last year than the next four most deadly diseases working together. Finding tuberculosis at an early age speeds recovery. Examination of 44,000 school children by means of the tuberculin test and X-ray has been placed at the top of the list of things to be done by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association with funds to be realized from the sale of penny Christmas seals. How many young lives can be saved depends entirely upon the general safety of the citizens of Michigan since Christmas seal funds offer the one state-wide means of challenging childhood's greatest disease enemy—tuberculosis.

REQUEST MANAGERS TO PUSH SALE OF BEET SUGAR MADE IN STATE

Letters have been received by the Plymouth manager of the A. & P. store urging him to push the sale of Michigan produced sugar in co-operation with the movement that has been started to keep the sugar beet industry alive in this state. The letter follows: "We feel that there is in the minds of many of our managers and clerks the impression that Beet Sugar is not equal in quality to Cane Sugar. This condition was undoubtedly true a few years ago; however, the process of manufacturing Beet Sugar has been developed within the last few years so there is no difference whatever between Cane Sugar and Beet Sugar no matter what use is made of it. As you are no doubt aware, the Michigan Beet Sugar manufacturers and the farmers, who have been growing Sugar Beets, have cooperated in an extensive advertising campaign to feature their product and we want you to be sure to tie in with this very closely. You have already received a sign to the effect that we sell Michigan-made Beet Sugar and we want you to keep this displayed inside the store and on the window for the next four weeks. We also want you to keep Michigan-made Beet Sugar displayed in the windows and, whenever a customer asks for Sugar, be sure that she is offered her choice of Cane or Beet. We had one or two instances reported where clerks and managers have advised the customers that the quality of Beet Sugar is not satisfactory for canning and preserving and we want you to be sure that from now on Beet Sugar is offered on an absolutely equal quality basis. The United States Department of Agriculture, the Michigan State College, Ohio State University, Department of Agriculture of Michigan, Purdue University, University of California and the Good Housekeeping Bureau of Foods have all analyzed this matter and unqualifiedly endorsed Beet Sugar for any purpose for which sugar is used. There are, of course, a great many other authorities who arrived at the same conclusion and there should be no reason for questioning these findings. Some reasons why you should feature Michigan-made Beet Sugar: Michigan-made Beet Sugar is pure and is fully equal to Cane. It can be used in making Jams, Jellies, Preserves, Candies, Frostings, and in every instance where sugar is required. It is produced by Michigan farmers and Michigan wage-earners. The Good Housekeeping Bureau of Foods says: "The sugar that is separated from the beet and the sugar separated from the cane are identical in chemical properties. They have the same keeping qualities."

The Michigan beet industry gives employment to more than 3,500,000 Michigan wage-earners and farmers. It distributes over $3,500,000 in wages annually. It pays over $500,000 in state and local taxes. It distributes over $6,000,000 to Michigan farmers. Purchases more than $2,000,000 worth of Michigan products. It sees thousands of Michigan-made automobiles and trucks. Mail Ads Bring Results.

As to prices—"that will be another story," said A. VanDerZee, General Sales Manager of Dodge Brothers Corporation, adding—"that will be the greatest surprise of all. These prices are low, surprisingly low. Yet, our cost and production experts are still doing some whitening of which will be of course so to the Dodge dealers' customers. The price surprise may be even greater than we ourselves know right now. "But the price tag, intriguingly low as it will be for the ultimate buyer, can be no visible indication of the more transcending function of this new Dodge as a general trade stimulus. The car you see here embodies more of thoughtful preparation, greater effort, larger investment in time and capital than anything we have done previously. I believe our engineers have created something that means more than just speed, power, comfort and beauty incorporated in a new automobile. This new Dodge should—and I'm sure it will—become a powerful factor in hastening fresh buying urge on the part of a public that has learned to measure true values, in motor cars as in other things."

The pre-view given by Dodge officials to the members of the press, will be followed by regional dealer meetings and showings in thirty-four key cities. "Our own idea of being in the red is the man who fell into a barrel of red ink. Any fool can spend money—the wise man can save."

The sale of 1933 license plates for new automobiles and trucks started Nov. 19th, according to an announcement by the Department of State. This move allows purchasers of cars during the last two weeks of November to use their vehicles at once without buying 1932 plates. The regular sale of 1933 plates to all owners of automobiles, trucks and trailers starts Dec. 1. The 1933 plates will have black block numerals on a white background and all plates next year will have numbers lower than 100,000. Secretary Berg Moore expects to have his license plates within the next few days.

CENTRAL GRADE SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Wurster's kindergarten children have built a log cabin and have put the furniture they made in it. They have finished their Thanksgiving booklets. The boys and girls in Miss Mitchell's room have finished their pilgrim settlement. They have made turkey from clay. Edwards' class is reading from their first readers. Correlating with their reading, they have been cutting out words beginning with S, M, and H and pasting them under columns headed S, M, and H.

In Miss Crannell's room they have been studying Indians and making Indian villages. They have learned a new song in music class. There is a Big Fat Turkey on Grandfather's Farm. They dramatized a story "Happy Runs Away." They have studied the migration of birds in nature class. The children in Miss Frantz's room have been studying the story of Thanksgiving and life of the pilgrims. They have decorated the room for Thanksgiving. They have finished coloring their A B C health booklets.

There were twenty children who were not present on Friday during the last marking period from Miss Weather's class. Kenyon's name has been put on the Perfect Teeth Chart. They have studied the picture "Return to the Farm." Marie Durant was absent last week on account of illness. Mr. Virgo called Friday afternoon.

The boys and girls in Miss Field's room have been studying the story of Thanksgiving. They have decorated the room for Thanksgiving. They have finished coloring their A B C health booklets.

In Miss Erbe's room the 5 B's have planted grains of wheat and are going to watch them grow. In the study of cereals, the 5 B's had a perfect score in spelling last Friday.

The 4 B's have been making industrial posters. Betty Scheppe had the highest score on the self testing drill in arithmetic.

Mrs. Holliday's class has been writing stories of the first Thanksgiving. Mrs. Kroeger visited the class last week.

The 4 B's fourth grade had one hundred per cent in spelling last week. Mr. Virgo visited the class Friday afternoon.

In Miss Erbe's room the 5 B's have planted grains of wheat and are going to watch them grow. In the study of cereals, the 5 B's had a perfect score in spelling last Friday.

In Miss Fenner's room Dorothy O'Leary's team had one hundred percent in spelling. Marvin Hank's team had ninety-six per cent. Lily Cool has moved away making the enrollment forty-six.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT ENTERTAINS ASSEMBLY

By making a few announcements Mr. Dykhouse opened the Senior High Assembly last Wednesday. One announcement was that during noon hours the students who stay at school and eat their lunch may go either to the gymnasium, go to study in Study 2, or go to the library. Everyone is to keep off the floor at noon. Odene Hitt made an announcement that we had won the debate with Dearborn. Daniel Caruchal invited the student body to the Junior dance. Woody's Melodians were to play for the occasion.

The orchestra under the direction of Miss Henry then played "First Brigade" by Weldon and "Night Song" by Williams. Forbes Smith played "Mighty Like A Rose" on his trumpet. The orchestra then played a few Hungarian dances by Brahms. A trumpet quartet playing "Noapolitan" by Zamecnik was played by Forbes Smith and Arthur Johnson. Inez Christie rendered two piano selections—"Last Night" and "Mimel in C" by Paderewski. The Girls' Glee Club rendered "Pale Moon" and "Last Night" by Charles.

Mr. Smith gave an interesting speech to the assembly. He spoke about success. He said that we should think about success now. He also stated that if you do not find happiness you are a failure. There are four things to think about: First, find yourself. If you are about to do something, find that thing and do it well. Second, develop the ability to do it. You must be able to do it. Third, carry out these developed abilities. Fourth, be loyal to those about you who help make you successful.

We then went to our groups where we received our report cards for the second marking period.

WHO HAS COLD FEET

Speaking of triangles reminds us of the M. P. S., Shaw, and M. C. S. combination. Why only the initials? Well, these were the only clues the honorable editor of the A. L. H. volume gave, but by clever detective work this code was easy to cipher. Do you remember when Mr. Robert Shaw signed his column M. D. S. and then suddenly switched to M. C. S.? Wait until Doleen hears about it! You see, M. D. S. stands for Doleen and M. C. S. stands for Miss Claire Shonta. This triangle at present is a little two-sided but it will not remain as such when M. D. S. and M. C. S. get together. Does this not prove that you can foot some of the people part of the time but you can not foot all the people all the time, and that I have not cold feet? And another thing, the reason why there is in school named M. P. S. is because Bob calls for her every morning and noon. Good idea, my boy.

What we don't know worries a lot of people who know less.

Plymouth Wins Second League Debate From Ecorse

That Michigan should adopt a state income tax is evident after listening to Plymouth's second league debate with Ecorse High school last Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Plymouth High school auditorium. The Judge, Professor Hiley of the University of Michigan, gave the verdict to Plymouth's affirmative team composed of Irene Humphries, Frieda Kilgore, and Evelyn Koralbacher who debated against Andrew Clemerek, first speaker; William Warburton, second speaker, and Cecil Bondie, third speaker, from Ecorse. The Reverend Mr. Norton acted as chairman for the evening; Marjorie Pilon, from Ecorse, and James Livingston as time keepers; Miss Jane Potts as Ecorse coach, and James Latture as Plymouth's coach.

Irene Humphries opened the affirmative case by stating that they did not wish to introduce the income tax as an additional tax, a new tax, or a scheme to raise more revenue, but as a tax to offset the general property tax.

Andrew Clemerek, in opening the negative case, proposed to make certain adjustments in the present tax system rather than adopt the income tax as an additional tax.

The property tax has increased greatly since 1925 in Iowa, Idaho, and Colorado where the income tax is in effect. A reduction in governmental expenditures was also proposed.

The income tax is based on the ability to pay, according to Frieda Kilgore, second speaker for the affirmative side, and 46 per cent of the people in Michigan are paying 75 per cent of the taxes. The income tax, if adopted, would tip those sources not tapped such as bonds, stocks, and mortgages.

To eliminate the township form of government and to cut operating expenses of the general property tax was the contention of the second negative speaker, William Warburton. The income tax would drive industry out of the state was another reason why the income tax is not desirable. In Wisconsin, where the income tax is supposed to be working out wonderfully, such industries as the Parker Pen Co., Palm Olive Soap Co., and others were driven out because of income tax. This question was asked, "Do we want a tax in Michigan that will drive people and industry from the state?"

This question was answered by Evelyn Koralbacher, who concluded the affirmative constructive speeches by proving that the direct taxes of the industries leaving the State of Wisconsin was other than the income tax.

She also stated that the negative plan to reduce government expenses was all right as far as it went but it didn't go far enough because after expenses were reduced, 46 per cent of the people in Michigan would still be paying 75 per cent of the taxes. The negative plan is not based on the ability to pay. A summary of the affirmative case was given.

First Bondie, third negative speaker contended that the income tax taxes ability and initiative. The income tax is easily evaded. The Buick Motor Car Co., built a new factory on the money it saved by evading the income tax in 1927. It can be evaded lawfully by the contractor, lawfully in the case of the Buick Co., and unlawfully by people failing to make out returns and other means. Corporations and others may "doctor" their books and evade the tax. She also contended that the income tax was a double tax. It is unfair, and not dependent on the ability to pay of the consumer. Miss Bondie then summarized the negative case urging that the income tax should not be adopted, concluding the negative constructive speeches.

Constructive speeches were eight minutes long and rebuttal speeches four minutes.

After the debate Professor Hiley gave his verdict. He said that both teams quoted the reference shelf authority whereas it is only parts of speeches given by other debaters who would be highly complimented to know that they were being quoted as authority.

He told of words that were mispronounced such as Colorado and penalized. Debaters should strive for correct pronunciation of words. When the negative submits a new plan it is admitting the affirmative points as was the case in this debate.

A few of the debaters were careless in using tenses. Some said, "The income tax will drive industry out of the state." It is only speculation. We can not foresee the future. We should say, "the income tax may or may not drive industry out of the state."

Mr. Riley believed that both teams did an excellent job in debating the question.

Can You Beat It? Miss Fiegel: "What is the critical error in the picture of Washington crossing the Delaware?" Claire Shonta: "Washington used poles to cross the Delaware instead of oars. I guess the oars leaked."

Miss Fiegel: "What is the critical error in the picture of Washington crossing the Delaware?" Claire Shonta: "Washington used poles to cross the Delaware instead of oars. I guess the oars leaked."

What we don't know worries a lot of people who know less.

WHAT HAVE WE TO BE THANKFUL FOR?

Now that the Thanksgiving season is here and the Thanksgiving spirit about, let us look back to the first Thanksgiving originated by the Pilgrim Fathers of Massachusetts in 1621 and see what they had to be thankful for and then see what we students have to be thankful for. These Pilgrims gave thanks to God because of the treaty of peace with the Indians, of the hardships and sickness they lived through, of what little food they had, and of their freedom to worship God as they pleased. These Pilgrims endured many hardships consisting of sickness, hunger, fear, and cold. Many of us are aware of this first Thanksgiving but do not think, or take time to think of what we have to be thankful for. In this modern world we do not have to suffer from poverty, sickness, hunger, and cold to the extent that the early pioneers fought hard so that we today might have a nation to insure and protect our rights and give us justice? Should we not be thankful for all these modern comforts and conveniences that leaders and inventors worked hard to perfect so that we might enjoy them? What of our literature, modern science, hospitals, churches, schools and colleges? Are they not something to be proud and thankful for? We students should be especially thankful for our modern institutions of education. How different they are from those of earlier days! How convenient they are! There were some schools that were like a prison routine. We do not have to follow such strict and often unreasonable rules that were laid down to follow. We do not have to walk miles through deep snow to poorly ventilated, poorly heated, and poorly lighted crude school houses where the subjects taught are few and simple. Our schools cur list of subjects, is varied and unlimited. We have highly developed courses to study and not just the three "R's". Students, we have things to be thankful for and a mighty lot at that. So on Thanksgiving Day do some serious thinking of what we owe to past generations. Let us strive to make this world a better place for generations to come, leave it just a little better than we found it, and give thanks to our Creator for allowing us to do so.

AD. LIB.

Just Ernie You know, I can't quite figure my dear friend Ernie Archer (Daisy to you) out. He just does not get it. He keeps writing articles about how people are included, but he certainly raises a fuss when I want to bring his name before the public. At times he even offers to bribe me. Just think of it, the editor-in-chief trying to bribe a mere cub reporter and a copywriter! But, L. being an upstanding and honest young man (oh yeah!) I just laugh at his filthy paces and go ahead with the dirty work.

Now you all know how very boastful Daisy is, especially around the petite young ladies of our school's sass-eye-ty. And if you don't here is an incident that goes to show it. Returning from the big brawl Friday night, it so happened that we turned down a side street. There was a very nice looking young lady, Ernie, after careful examination says, "Why, it's Genevieve Neely!" Then Kenzie Greer says, "Ernie says, sort of pensive like, "Golly, I wish I could walk with her." Then Davey Mather pops up with "Why don't you?" Ernie turns seven shades and replies, "I'm askeered to ast her." Whetupon Kenzie, the kind hearted old dear says, "Don't worry old man, I'll ask her for you." And Ernie gets all excited and murmurs red plecting like, "Oh, please do, and I'll never forget it." So Big Heart Greer pulls up alongside the daisel in question and says, says he, "Genevieve dear, do you, you mind if Ernie walks home with you, he wants to awfully." And Blushing Beauty says, "Why certainly not." Kenzie says, "I'll walk with you, dear." "Oh thank you, thank you, thank you!" And all at once he remembers that I'm in the car and says, "Oh, my geeb, the whole town will know about this next week!" And, by George, he was right!

And I also learned some more while on that trip Friday night. You know, I always thought Davey Mather was such a nice boy until the last started spilling the soup. Now Davey always has been a keen motorboat enthusiast, but did he have time for putting around in a boat this summer? Noash! Why, in fact, he hardly had time to eat! You see, Davey is really a most lovable chap, and Mary could keep from falling for him. I hear he almost forgone his pal Norm Mack in his endeavors to be with her all the time. But, did he keep her long? Noash! As soon as he got back to Plymouth he fell at once for another bonny lass, a piano playing sister by the name of Inez. And now we hear he is trying to turn the Greer, Michelin, Archer, Darley into a square. Be careful, Davey. Mr. Greer is a very dangerous man when aroused.

Did any of you at the dance take note of Mr. L. D. Evans as he leaned disconsolately against the wall in the south-west corner? We are all wondering what has happened to cause that dull, melancholy gleam to come into his usual, by quick, smiling eyes. Can it be that he has suffered a bitter disappointment in his search for happiness? We hope not, and we intend to be just as sympathetic as we can, and we promise not to show him in physics class, and we are going to do lots of nice things to help out 'til the crisis is passed.

One of the bright lads of the senior class asked me this question the other day: "Why is a cow?" I admit he had me stumped, in fact he had everyone present, including himself. Now, such an important question as "Why is a cow?" can not go unanswered. So we have decided to sponsor a contest with a first prize of five cents (try and get it.) Just send or hand your answer to "Why is a cow?" to Bob Shaw and he will see that it is printed in this column. That is if it wins, but he will not guarantee the payment of the huge first prize because it would most likely put him in debt. So get your answers to "Why is a cow?" in before Friday, December 2, and I will see that all honor is accorded the winner. Everyone, including the faculty, is invited to compete.

And now for the closing hymn, call it what you want "Drink to the press, but do not press to drink The gentleman whose task is slinging ink. They're usually gentlemen of sober views. And never should be full of ought but news."—K. M. D.

CLASS NOTES

Breakfast is really a very important though a simple meal. To start right the breakfast must be light, has been the motto and guiding principle of the 8B girls from the beginning of the term.

In three minutes and twenty seconds during the fire drill on Wednesday, November 2, this is not an especially good record for a school of this size.

working on the mir. The Girl Reserves had a very interesting personal hygiene care of the clothing and are now studying the wardrobe.

The tables were attractively set with bowls of yellow chrysanthemums to harmonize with the color of the food. Miss McKinnis and Elizabeth Hage acted as hostesses. The rest of the girls were divided into committees for preparing, serving and cleaning up.

The 8A foods class is still studying the luncheon unit. They are finishing up the main dishes. They have discussed Thanksgiving menus appropriate for this year.

The advanced foods class is studying and preparing breads. Each bread is built around some menu.

Each girl is reporting on home practice work by a chart. Gladys Sheller had the greatest number of points for the last five weeks. They have had some interesting material for the bulletin board from Mary Kincaid, Catherine Dunn, Vivian Gotthard, and Doris Campbell.

The advanced sewing class is making work by a chart. Gladys Sheller had the greatest number of points for the last five weeks. They have had some interesting material for the bulletin board from Mary Kincaid, Catherine Dunn, Vivian Gotthard, and Doris Campbell.

The home economics class is making work by a chart. Gladys Sheller had the greatest number of points for the last five weeks. They have had some interesting material for the bulletin board from Mary Kincaid, Catherine Dunn, Vivian Gotthard, and Doris Campbell.

PLYMOUTH STUDENTS AID WELFARE

The students of Plymouth high school received an announcement during the course of the week asking that they bring food to help the destitute families on the welfare colony dinner on Thanksgiving Day. The list of food to choose from was as follows: potatoes, oatmeal, coffee, canned goods, salt, rice, cornmeal, canned milk, kumby, peanut butter, saur kraut, pancake flour, raisins, karo syrup, vinegar, molasses, canned fruit, carrots, cabbage, turnips, squash, and apples. The students have heartily responded to this announcement and through their cooperation many families will be happy and thankful on Thanksgiving Day.

WHO'S NEW VITAL STICOSTICKS!

Moving in—Katherine Crider has just moved to Plymouth from Detroit, where she was a member of the Junior League and the Glee Club. She is in the eighth grade and has joined the Junior chorus here.

Dorloris McCrindle just enrolled in grade nine, comes from An Arbor Heights, Michigan where she was interested in Dramatics.

Moving out—Richard (Dick) Judd has moved to Muskegon. He was a junior here and had reserved letters in football and basketball.

The Cool brothers have moved from their home in Plymouth to Leroy, Michigan.

SECOND TEAM IS UNDEFEATED

The second team's football season was brought to a close on October 16 after a succession of three victories over the first team. Plymouth team. All of the games were played on Riverside Park. They were played on October 13, 20, and 31. The scores were as follows, 13-6, 7-6, and 6-0.

The student council has ruled that members of the second team will not receive any letters but only certificates this year.

STARKWEATHER SCHOOL NOTES

The kindergarten in Miss Crady's room have been studying about Indian life. They have some Indians in their sand table. The bulls they planted some time ago are now in bloom. They made pictures of Pilgrims for the border on the blackboard.

The children in Miss Spader's room are learning the ten commandments in rhyme for Bible Study. They have been making original posters of colored paper and free hand colorings of Pilgrims for their Thanksgiving project.

The children in Miss De Waele's room are writing Thanksgiving poems, and are making turkey booklets. In art class they are illustrating stories. Some of the class are making special reports about mining and lumbering.

The fifth A geography class in Miss Hunt's room have made rainfall maps of Africa. In grammar they are writing stories for booklets on the First Thanksgiving day.

Miss Farrand has been ill all week and they had Mrs. Moles for their teacher. In geography they are studying about Europe. In the 6A geography class they made salt and flour maps. Also have made plaques of George Washington.

A LARGE GROUP REPORTED FOR BASKETBALL

About forty fellows reported for basketball last Wednesday, November 16. The larger part of these boys were from the ninth and tenth grades. The fellows who were on the first team last year and who were also out for football have not yet reported for basketball. So far this year fourteen games have been scheduled, eight of them being away and six of them here. The first three days of practice were devoted to the learning of rules and getting the boys into shape. Many of the ninth and tenth graders are very promising material for later years.

BIOLOGY CLASS HEARS LECTURE

The first radio lecture of a series of two held by the "Economic Importance of Plants" in relation to Man, given by E. A. Bessy and sponsored by Michigan State College through their radio station WKAR, was heard and enjoyed by some twelve hundred students throughout Michigan and neighboring states. Mr. Bentley's class of biology class being one of the many having the privilege of hearing it Monday at 1:45.

The "economic importance" of a plant or animal does not mean merely its value to man but also includes any way in which it may damage him. Usually the uses outbalance the injuries, but do not forget that both are included.

Here are twelve uses of plants: To supply food for man and animals; to aid in returning nitrogen compounds to the soil to regulate drainage of water, (forests); to supply oxygen and remove carbon dioxide in photosynthesis; to provide fabric fibers such as cotton, linen, and hemp; to provide fuel, (wood, peat, and coal); to provide paper; to provide timber, cork, rubber; to provide medicine, (penicillin, theobromine, and other drugs); to provide dye stuffs; to provide drugs, alcohol, and medicine; and to provide turpentine, wood alcohol, acetic acid, etc.

Bacteria heads the list of harmful plants, in that they cause many diseases, but do not forget that most bacteria are useful and some disease germs are not bacteria at all, but are protozoan animals.

Other fungi also cause harm to man's crops and food. Some of these are the rusts, molds, smuts, and mildews. Some plants are poisonous such as certain mushrooms, poison ivy, water hemlock, etc. Weeds cause much interference with crop growth.

Wheat, rice, corn, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat are a few plants that furnish many necessary vegetables. Legumes such as peas, beans and lentils are very valuable foods, rich in protein and starch.

There are various seeds such as coffee, cocoa, mustard, nutmeg, cottonseed, peanut, almond and flax that furnish us with many beverages, butter, spices, flavors, oils for food, soap and paint.

This radio lecture proved to be interesting as well as beneficial and Mr. Bentley was very well satisfied with the way it came in on the radio which was kindly furnished by Dean Horjek.

HI-SPEED ORCHESTRA DEDICATES PROGRAM TO PLYMOUTH HIGH

A special one-half hour broadcast over WJR on November 21 by Hi-Speed's twenty piece orchestra and quartette was dedicated to the citizens of Plymouth, Michigan, featuring the high school football song. The program, sponsored by the Hi-Speed Oil Corporation, is the most prestigious radio program broadcast from the city of Detroit.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT!

An announcement came to us that Marion Klinsky was married to Mr. Owen Sackett on August 18, in Pontiac. Miss Klinsky is a senior in Plymouth high school at present, and Mr. Sackett is a graduate of Northwestern High in Detroit. Her many friends wish them happy wedded life.

REV. NICHOL SPEAKER IN ASSEMBLY

The general assembly Wednesday afternoon was devoted entirely to Thanksgiving with Rev. Nichol as the speaker. He gave a very interesting talk on the "Spirit of Thanksgiving." The girls' chorus sang two selections, "By the Bend of the River" by Clara Edwards and "Serenade" by Kjeremi.

Rev. Thomas Pryor gave a Thanksgiving sermon, making a plea for everyone to help those less fortunate than themselves.

Robert MacIntyre will sing a solo next Sunday in the choir of the church. The class suggested sending baskets to the needy for Thanksgiving. The Epworth League are to assist in the work. There was a very good turnout to the Epworth League to hear Rev. Wm. C. E. Ryder give a 20-minute lecture on Syria Sunday evening. His son, Theodore, dressed as an Arab showed their costumes and gave a talk in the native tongue. He was sent as a missionary teacher to Syria where he spent three years. At the present time he is connected with the Allied Youth movement in Detroit. A cordial invitation is extended to all to come and hear him next Sunday evening at the Epworth League.

The Jigsaw Puzzle Tea last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. E. Ryder was greatly enjoyed by a number of ladies. In connection with the puzzle and games was an exhibit of old quilts and antiques by the hostess. Tea was served from a pretty decorated table.
