

DEMOCRATS TO KEEP HARMONY

Party Leaders Work Out Plan Which Promises To Be Of Much Benefit

Fully realizing what an important job they have on their hands, Democrats of this locality as well as of all Michigan, are proceeding with caution in their selection of those that are to be recommended to important state and county offices. It has become known that several meetings have been held by Democrats of Plymouth, Northville and other communities in this part of Wayne county for the purpose of giving consideration to the matter.

It has also become known that the Democratic organization has somewhat extended its original plan and that in its search for the best qualified men for various offices that others outside of the party are being considered.

At a public installation tonight, the newly elected officers of Plymouth Rock Lodge, No. 47, F. & A. M., will be duly installed for the year of 1933. The installing officer will be Past Master Ray Van Valkenberg of Northville with whom many Plymouth Masons are familiar.

The present worshipful master Jack Taylor, will be succeeded by A. K. Brockelshaus. The Senior Warden station will be assumed by Clifford W. Tait. Oscar E. Alstro, will continue as secretary and F. A. Kohl will continue as treasurer. Farwell W. Brand will be Junior warden. James Gallimore, senior deacon and Chas. L. Bowdler as Junior warden, with Merritt W. Cram as reliever.

There was a large meeting of the members present at the annual meeting which was held last Friday evening. Besides the election of officers, and the annual reports, several other matters of importance were taken care of. Two members of the Plymouth Rock Building Assn. whose terms expired, were elected to succeed themselves, being Myron W. Willett and Geo. A. Smith.

League of Women Voters Meet Monday

The Plymouth League of Women Voters will hold its December meeting Monday, December 12, at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Ruth Huston-Whipple at 909 Penniman avenue. The subject for the program is "County Government." A representative of the Children's Aid Society will speak on the work of that organization, many of which is financed by appropriations from the Wayne County Board of Supervisors. All of our Plymouth women are interested in the expenses of Wayne County government and in the care of its children.

At a second phase of county government which will be considered is the matter of its reorganization which is claiming so much newspaper space these days. Mrs. Arlo A. Emery will talk on "Plans for the Reorganization of Government in Wayne County."

The League cordially invites the Plymouth women who are interested in these subjects to be present Monday afternoon, December 12.

THIS PHEASANT WAS NOT A WONDERLUST

Officials of the conservation department in Lansing have advised that the pheasant he was killed during the hunting season which had a department band on its leg, was released just a few weeks before it was killed. It had not moved much over a half mile from the place where the department had liberated the bird. When he killed the pheasant Bolton sent the band to the department as requested by the department. In this way the officials are able to obtain much information about the movements of the birds as well as what kind of food they thrive on.

LOCAL JOINTINGS

A group of friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Harold Joffine on Holbrook Friday evening and gave her a surprise in honor of her birthday anniversary. A very pleasant evening was had.

SALE OF SEALS STARTS WELL

Committee Hopes To Maintain Same High Average As In Past Year

The sale of Christmas seals in Plymouth started most auspiciously this week when three of the largest contributors to this worthy cause bought the same amount of seals that they have for several years past. Charles A. Fisher bought the first seals, taking $10.00 worth. The Daisy Air Rifle Co. bought the usual $25.00 worth and Fred Schradner made his usual contribution of $5.00.

The seals are being sold by children in all the rural schools in the Plymouth territory and the children of the Plymouth schools will push on their intensive sale drive in a few days. Everyone in Plymouth will be given the opportunity to buy these tiny messages of hope.

For men, with longing thoughts

Of home and wife,

Who know how agonizing worry

Feels;

Plymouth Railroad Pension Club Has Important Session

The Plymouth Pension Club which is made up of railroad workers of Plymouth and neighboring towns held a pleasant and interesting meeting at Beyer's hall Dec. 1st.

There were visitors present from other chapters among them the representative from this district to the national convention at Chicago recently. They brought a good report saying, although there is much to be done yet and the monthly dues while small are needed to help win.

The representative for Adrian chapter was also present and gave an interesting talk regarding the track controversy. She stated that the track workers might continue to work and yet give more work to the railroads. There is need of proper laws to reduce the weight permitted trucks and save the pavements and give more heavy hauling to the railroads. All of which would help in more ways than one.

This club is one of many which have been formed throughout the United States to support the Hatfield-Keller bill, S. 4648, H. R. 9981 which is a bill to provide for the establishment for railroads and transportation employees and for a Railroad Pension Board and for other purposes.

FIRE CHIEF IS HURT BY FALLING GLASS

Chief Wagonchutz of the Plymouth fire department suffered a badly cut hand from falling glass when fire badly damaged the home of Mrs. Lucy Wren 1017 Holbrook last Saturday evening.

The fire, which started in the basement, spread up through the partitions and when the fire was discovered, the entire upper portion of the house was on fire.

The department responded quickly and it was due to their quick work that the house was saved from being burned down entirely. Mrs. Wren had the house made into a number of apartments. Her loss as well as several of the tenants, amounts to a considerable sum. The damage to the house has been placed around $300.

HENDERSON IS MADE MAYOR

City Commission Fills Vacancy Caused By Death Of Robt. Mimmack

Since the death of Robert O. Mimmack, the first mayor of the City of Plymouth, the office has been vacant and duties have been filled by John W. Henderson, mayor pro-tem.

At Monday night's commission meeting, Commissioner Learned suggested that the office of Mayor be permanently filled for the balance of the term and moved that Mr. Henderson be appointed to that office. The motion was carried and Mr. Henderson becomes the second mayor of Plymouth.

Mr. Henderson has seen long service in the civic affairs of Plymouth, having been president of the old village commission for a period of eight years and a member of that body for eleven years. He is now serving his twelfth year as a member of the legislative body of Plymouth. He is also a member of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors representing the City of Plymouth.

The office of Mayor pro-tem was not filled at last Monday's meeting.

'Cheerbringers' Push Sale of Tickets For Big Charity Dance

"Cheer up the fellow that's down today Give him a lift in his sorrow For this old world is a funny old world And you may be down tomorrow."

Doesn't that make sense those days? A few years ago we would have accepted these words as merely a Bohemian jingle. But today we know better for in the last two years we have seen better men and women than you and I go down. Can you or I afford to "pass by on the other side"?

Ex-Service men know what it means to give and take a lift from a comrade.

If they hadn't all the drilling in the world would not have counted in the "Big Push."

And many a French boy and girl today still remember a prayer for the "shaki" (the American) who in the midst of his own loneliness and homesickness found time to bring a little cheer into the lives of wide eyed French orphan kids.

The "Cheerbringers" are a group of Ex-Service men, assisted by a group of citizens who will carry on in Plymouth the work among American kids, particularly at the Christmas. You too can belong to the "Cheerbringers." Just tell any member of the Ex-Service men's club you want to help and they will be glad to welcome you.

PIYHIAN SHOW TO BE BIG EVENT

Cast Selected For Leading Parts—To Conduct Popularity Contest

If you wish to let thoughts of the depression prey on your mind and let worry get its hold on you by brooding on your troubles, then by all means stay away from the performance of the farce radio broadcast to be staged by your fellow townsmen at the Masonic Temple, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, December 14 and 15, under the auspices of the Plymouth Knights of Pythias, No. 238.

The scene of the show will be laid in a radio broadcasting station. Can't you hear "Bud Schradner (Edwin Schradner) who is the radio announcer for the revue, saying: "Ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience, this is the Community station K. O. P. broadcasting through the networks of N. C. W."

Various radio stars will be impersonated by prominent citizens of the community. Some of the acts that will constitute the program of this revue will be: Black and Blue, Easy Aces, Easy Wynn, Stoopnagle and Bud who take part in a three handed debate, impersonated by Dr. S. N. Thoms, Arthur Blunk and Burton, and "Bud Schradner" impersonated by clever high school girls, "I Tellin'" a clever sketch impersonated by Russell Roy, Alley Hangers impersonated by a group of boys from the grade school, Clara, Lu' n' Em impersonated by three outstanding women of the town. Kitchie, Technician and through the courtesy of the Mac Cabees organization and the filming of Uncle Tom's Cabin, a most unique sketch, being a burlesque on the talkies.

The program is divided into acts, each one running from 5 to 25 minutes. The entire revue is a burlesque or "take off" on the happening outside of a radio station. The revue is a laugh sensation from start to finish; clever, clean comedy presented in a most unique fashion.

A children's matinee will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 4:00 at the Masonic Temple.

In order to create a keener interest in the radio revue sponsored by the Plymouth Pythians, quite a clever contest is going to be held. Any unmarried girl in town is eligible to participate in this contest, and there will be no age limit. The idea is to elect a "Miss Plymouth." On the last night of the show, which will be Thursday evening, December 15, the winner will be announced over the broadcasting station. She will also be permitted to broadcast over the station, her acceptance of the title of "Miss Plymouth" and at this time she will be presented with a most handsome prize.

Each ticket to the show counts as one vote in the contest. Tickets may be in the race. When a ticket is purchased the purchaser, of course, is permitted to vote. On each ticket, in the left hand corner is a space in which the name of the girl, as the choice of the purchaser of the ticket, may be written. The correct bearing of this vote must be torn off then and deposited in the box. There will be a box in other end of town; one at the Community Drug store and one at the Beyer Drug store, labeled, "Vote for Miss Plymouth Here." The stub is to be placed in this box.

Kiwanis Ready To Entertain Tots

Ladies of the Kiwanis club acted as hostesses last Tuesday evening for 150 people in the Hotel Mayflower where they sponsored a benefit bridge party. The party, one of the largest of its kind ever held in Plymouth, was in charge of the following Kiwanis-queen committee: Mrs. Ernest Allison, Mrs. Harold J. Brislows, Mrs. Perry Richwine, Mrs. Miller Ross and Mrs. James Sessions.

The party was held to help defray expenses of the Kiwanis Club Christmas party which will be given for the benefit of needy children in the Mayflower the Tuesday before Christmas. The club plans to give a dinner to at least 200 children in the city and township. Henry Fisher, chairman of the Christmas committee said plans were being made to have club members do all of the serving and provide entertainment for the kiddies.

DROP ANGOVE AND BRENNAN

Two Prominent Officials Of Training School Are Released

Announcement of the retirement of Percy Angove, director of education at the Wayne County Training School, and of Dr. J. W. Brennan, assistant medical superintendent, as the result of the reduction in the operation expenses of the Training school came as a surprise to their friends in this locality.

With the elimination of these two officials, announcement was made that 27 other employees had been taken from the payroll, but only two of these were from Plymouth. While two others had been working at the school from Plymouth, they were not employed permanently at the place, their jobs being only of a seasonal nature.

Following a general reduction in expenses throughout Wayne county institutions, the board of supervisors last fall ordered a cut of considerably over $100,000 in the appropriation for the Training school. These eliminations have as a result of the decreased appropriation been deemed necessary.

Local Association, the time has been associated with the school has won for himself many friends in both Plymouth and Northville. He is president of the Northville Rotary Club and is active in various other community affairs. Dr. Brennan is also favorably known here.

EX-SERVICE MEN TO ELECT MONDAY EVE.

Monday, December 12th, the Ex-Service Men's Club and the Ladies Auxiliary of the club, will meet at Jewell and Blach hall in their regular monthly meeting. Supper as usual will be served at 6:30 p. m., followed by a business meeting. The two organizations, for the Ex-Service Men's club this will be the annual election of officers and a contest is expected to develop for the different offices. Seven nominees are in the field for commander. Five for vice commander, 35 for secretary and two for treasurer. Commander Thompson will retire after serving two terms through the critical period which we are passing through. Considering the extent of lapses which every organization has had to meet in the past few years, the Ex-Service Men's Club has met the crisis with a gain in membership and steady attendance which was remarkable.

The welfare officer, Veteran Harry Mumby, has been one of the hardest pressed officials in the organization during the past year, and he deserves special recognition for his untiring efforts, not only on behalf of veteran relief, but for his conscientious attention to the Club's interest in the general welfare committee. Comrade David Gallin as chairman of the entertainment committee in the past year has also done good work along the entertainment line, and the life officials are also appreciative of his efforts. Secretary, Whitmore and Treasurer Blach are also to be commended for their attention to duty and their record of attendance. The office of Officer of the Day, an office which is very important, but which gets very little attention or glory has been in the past year ably handled by Comrade Howard Eckles. His attendance record has been one hundred per cent and the details of office have been handled smoothly and efficiently.

The organization composed of 51 is of Veterans of the World War, Spanish-American War, Indian War; and Veterans of Allied Nations, together with Regular Army veterans, fills a distinct position in the community, not enjoyed by any other organization. Money alone, no position can secure a membership in the organization. It is absolutely non-sectarian and non-political, and its only requirement for membership is an honorable discharge from the U. S. Army, Navy, Marine Corps or from any of the Allied services.

WOMAN'S CLUB HAD INTERESTING TRIP

Mrs. Mark Chaffee with the help of her able committee has again demonstrated that she can plan an out of town meeting, for the Woman's Club of Plymouth most successfully. Mrs. Chaffee and her committee having planned the trip to Greenfield Village last year that was so enjoyable. This year the club's objective was the Detroit News building, about sixty of the club members going there last Friday afternoon, December 2nd, where they were shown every corner by the Detroit News guides. They were conducted through the main press room, the editorial department, the art and photo departments, the display advertising department, the circulation department and the classified advertising department. Many of the individual want ads are published each year.

All received a most comprehensive idea of the magnitude of the Detroit News plant and of the efficiency that enables a modern newspaper to bring the important news of the hour to the public with such dispatch. They were also shown the broadcasting station WJW.

Before going to the News many stopped at the Detroit Museum of Art to see the paintings of Gail Milchers and to complete the inspection of Period Furniture started at the October 21st meeting, held at the Art Museum.

With Christmas less than three weeks away plans are being made by Mrs. L. Hills and her committee for a delightful Christmas party to be held in the Crystal room of the Hotel Mayflower at 2:15 p. m. Friday afternoon, December 16th for members and their guests. A diminutive Christmas tree will grace the ten table, adding a festive note.

The only charge for admission to the tea and the program, which promises to be most appropriate and interesting, will be a can of fruit, or some other article, to be given to the Welfare Committee to add to the Christmas baskets.

Assisting Mrs. Hills at the Christmas party will be Mrs. Paul J. Nutting, Mrs. Otto Beyer, Mrs. Edwin Block, Mrs. James Sessions, Mrs. Claude Mimmack, Mrs. Louise T. Mulford and Mrs. Ernest L. Thrall.

Red Cross Appeals For Aid—Both Time And Clothing Needed

Did you hear and heed the recent call for workers for our workroom?

It often happens that the most needy in our community fail to get the help all desire to bestow. The Red Cross Chapter is here to serve.

The workroom of the Plymouth Red Cross Chapter is located in the Starkweather school building. This room is open from 9:00 p. m. to 5:00 p. m. each afternoon of every week, except Saturday. The workroom is under the direct supervision of Mrs. Arthur Griffith, who cuts and supervises all garments. At the present time, Mrs. Griffith has cut garments from 615 yards of material. From this material, the following garments have been made: 32 girl's dresses, 19 women's dresses, 36 women's slips, 7 girl's slips, 25 girl's shorts, 29 bloomers, 23 men's shirts, 28 boy's shirts, 20 nightgowns, 23 pajamas, a total of 233 garments. This material is sent to the Plymouth Branch of the American Red Cross free grants by our Federal Government in Washington, D. C.

It will be seen from these figures, which represent less than half of the material which will be received over a period of six months, that workers are needed to make these garments. Can you see? If so, plan to give an afternoon to the work of helping the less fortunate. Should be alert to needs in their immediate neighborhood. Get in this group and give them your support.

The following women act as chairmen for the different divisions: Mondays, Mrs. Claude Dykhouse; Tuesdays, Mrs. Otto Beyer; Wednesdays, Mrs. J. W. Bliken; Thursdays, Mrs. Robt. Mimmack; Fridays, Mrs. Harry T. Robinson.

PEDDLER PEST CAUSES ACTION

City Officials Declare This Place Is Overrun With Outside Peddlers

At the commission meeting Monday night, Commissioner Ruth Huston-Whipple brought up the matter of the houses of house peddlers and suggested that some action be taken to eliminate this nuisance.

"The door bells of Plymouth homes are rung on an average of five times a day by peddlers and canvassers of one sort or another," the Commissioner stated, "and the practice is becoming a serious nuisance."

The City Manager advised the commission of the provisions of the ordinance regulating this type of business and stated that every call received notifying the officials of peddlers was promptly answered. He stated that many times the reports were not definite enough to allow an officer to immediately locate the offender.

The cooperation of everyone is needed to control the peddler nuisance and the best way to accomplish this is to refuse to buy from them. To apprehend all the canvassers operating in the city would require a considerable amount of the time of the police department, which is now pretty well taken up with welfare cases and other police duties.

The peddler ordinance requires that anyone engaged in the business of hawking, peddling or vending any goods, wares, merchandise, fruits, vegetables, foodstuffs from door to door or from open places, the streets, alleys and public places, or from any hotel or rooming house within the city, either by sample or by taking orders, or otherwise, for delivery then or in the future, shall first obtain a license from the city clerk.

The license fee is $75.00 per year, $50.00 for six months, $35.00 for three months or if for one day the fee is $5.00. So far this year only five licenses have been issued, three to persons selling their own products, one to the Koenig Coal Co. which expired Nov. 15, 1932, and one to the Mills Baking Co. which expired June 1, 1933.

All peddlers, who have a license, is granted, are questioned and if they appear undesirable, a license is refused. Of course this does not apply to those people who are soliciting without first coming to the city hall. If the housewives would at least inquire of the peddler as to whether or not he has a license, and have him display it, before purchasing any articles, a great number of these people would be forced to come to the city hall. All Cookingham, the city clerk.

Every peddler, whether exempt from the fee or not should have a license and if properly authorized to solicit will gladly display the same. The city officials will cooperate in every way possible to eliminate this nuisance. Call the city hall promptly and give a description of the peddler and advise which way they go from the last house visited.

A FAIR EXAMPLE

Many voters who do not have the time or inclination to follow the trend of state and other public affairs closely have wondered just why it was that Wilber Brucker ran so far behind the Republican ticket in the recent election. Ordinarily the Governor seeking re-election should be an aid rather than a detriment to the state ticket, but this did not prove true in the recent election.

News dispatches a few days ago from Ionia give a fair example of why Governor Brucker proved such a weak candidate for re-election.

Rev. Edwin G. White of East Lansing had for many years acted as chaplain at the Ionia Reformatory, being paid $15 a week by the state for his services. Rev. White stands exceedingly high as a minister and he has served the state well as chaplain at Ionia. Following services a Sunday or so ago, he was told by Warden Shean not to come back. No, he was not fired through any dissatisfaction with the excellent work he had been doing or because of a lack of interest in the welfare of the young men in that institution.

He was fired to create a place for one of Brucker's political henchmen—fired so that one of Brucker's supporters could get a job in some state institution before the new Democratic administration took charge of things. The $700 yearly salary was jumped to $3500 per year for the new politician-chaplain.

And who is the new chaplain? He is a brother of the state welfare director of the Brucker administration who drove to Lansing in what looked like a second hand $200 automobile when he was appointed to the job. As soon as he got the job nothing less than a Reo Royal sedan bought with the taxpayer's money and driven by a chauffeur, supported by the taxpayers, was satisfactory to him.

The welfare-director-brother having fared so well at the expense of the taxpayers, the Brucker-Carpenter combination thought it might be a nice thing to see to it that the other Carpenter brother was taken care of before the Democrats had anything to say.

Now this other Carpenter was a sort of assistant preacher at one of the churches over in Kalamazoo. Last summer he got into politics in a BIG way. He ran for the Republican nomination for sheriff of Kalamazoo and got it to the surprise of every one. Then came along the November election—and what do you suppose? The preacher-candidate was the ONLY Republican in Kalamazoo to be defeated.

Having given up his $1000 salary at his church, and having lost the big Kalamazoo county political plum he was after, surely there must be some state job he could land before Mr. Brucker goes back to permanent private life.

Knowing how nicely the preacher-politician, Rev. McLain gets along over at Jackson, it was just natural for the defeated Republican candidate of Kalamazoo to want to land a nice, easy soft prison chaplain berth before the Hon. Mr. Comstock comes on the job January 1. With Brucker's aid he put it over—and out went a very worthy minister to make way for one of Brucker's defeated henchmen.

The warden explains that the prison commission took this action and that he had no part in it.

Coleman C. Vaughan, former secretary of state and a member of the prison commission, who is a Republican by the way, declares that he has been present at every meeting of the prison commission, that he never heard of the matter until he was advised of it by newspaper men, and that he did not and does not approve of the action.

This is but a fair example of a series of similar events under the present state administration. Do you wonder that Michigan Republicans by the hundreds of thousands refused to give additional approval to this sort of thing?

NO WORDS OF COMFORT

If Michigan State College authorities have any inclination to seek words of comfort for their discharge of three prominent and loyal members of the faculty, they must look elsewhere than in the editorial columns of both daily and weekly newspapers of Michigan. The following editorial comments reflect the attitude, apparently of Michigan newspapers over what was done a week or so ago at the college:

TOO MUCH TALKING

Last Friday afternoon the Board of Agriculture, governing body of Michigan State College, did some plain and fancy firing. They fired Dr. Frank Kozlze, one time president of the college and connected with it for over fifty years. They fired Dean Joseph E. Cox. They fired faithful Jimmy Hasselman, head of the publications department. These men were fired because they talked too much. They had not tried to sell the college a horse for twice its worth. They were not charged with graft. Nothing was said about lack of ability to discharge their respective duties. They DID talk about some things they believed were wrong, and for their pains they were labelled trouble-makers and disloyal to the college.

Several publishers, the writer among others, were extended the courtesy of being in the report of the special investigator, Joseph Baldwin from the attorney general's department. This report emphasized that Dean Cox and Mr. Hasselman had TALKED TOO MUCH. The things they had talked about were NOT emphasized. In fact, we thought in some cases, there was a distinct disposition to dodge the indiscretions of others. The school of music was costing $47,000 a year. It used to cost $12,000 a year. The $3,000-a-year head of the school of music was making $9,000 a year through extra fees. One official of the college had engaged the state police to trace another official. This, the investigator carefully explained, was foolish, perhaps a bit vicious and surely unbecoming but it was NOT CRIMINAL. Therefore, according to the reasoning, Dean Cox and Mr. Hasselman should NOT TALK ABOUT IT. There was the matter of an official of the college trying to sell a horse to the college for more than it was worth. That was underhanded and sneaking but not actually an act punishable by law—therefore the men who talked about it were first and the man responsible for it was kept on the payroll.

For many years the weekly publishers through the Michigan Press Association have held their annual meetings at State College. Mr. Hasselman, head of the publications department, has been the contact man. His publicity work has been satisfactory to the newspapers and valuable to the college. Michigan weekly newspapers (there are over 300 of them) have generally been loyal to this institution which they felt had valuable information for the farmers of the state. It was largely through Mr. Hasselman's efforts covering 17 years of service at East Lansing that this relationship was built up. They had felt that he was a very valuable man to the institution. The group present last week wanted him retained. They wanted the board to hold a public hearing, giving Hasselman, Cox and others an opportunity to defend themselves. This was denied. Instead the board fired them, and did not discharge others who seemed equally indiscreet.

Dating way back to President Friday's administration, later Butterfield's and breaking out again two years ago when the unusual development of a music school came into the picture, Michigan State campus has been more or less torn by rumors and gossip. This institution consumes a sizeable portion of the Michigan taxpayer's dollar. There has long been a well established suspicion on the part of many taxpayers that some of the things introduced and paraded under the banner of higher education are extravagant. Because it was education and because it should not be influenced by politics, people generally and newspapers have been reluctant to treat it as they might other institutions. The welfare of students is the first consideration. But when outbreaks like the present one occur, it begins to look as if the glare of publicity should be turned on the whole affair. Perhaps a series of articles similar to the one written by Editor Vernon J. Brown last spring would be healthy. After all the College belongs to the people of the state and the students are largely Michigan boys and girls. We can see nothing but good that would come from people knowing that a music teacher draws $9,000 a year and a football coach well over $10,000 a year, and other details that would be enlightening.—Schneyer Marshall in the St. Johns Republican-News.

IS IT PETTY POLITICS AGAIN?

When will politics be divorced from the Michigan State College and a real business administration made possible? This is something that perhaps the taxpayers of the state would like to know. Presidents and heads of departments have been hired and fired all too frequently during recent years for the best interests of any institution of learning.

If promoting the best interests of the college should be construed as politics men it is our guess that James B. Hasselman has been "playing politics." Perhaps no one in the college has done more during recent years to place the college favorably before the people of Michigan than Mr. Hasselman. And yet, apparently, some petty or political situation has forced his resignation.

It is not true that the taxpayers of Michigan, who make the college possible, are entitled to know the true facts relative to the recent resignations, instead of holding sessions behind closed doors and refusing to give out enlightening information? Perhaps a public hearing of the situation might be beneficial to both the student body and Michigan taxpayers. At least let us have day light government in connection with our higher institutions of learning. How about politics in connection with other resignations during recent years?—T. O. Huckle in The Cadillac Evening News.

DARK DEEDS REQUIRE ETC.

Do you know that every meeting of the Board of Agriculture of Michigan State College at East Lansing is held in secret? Do you know that when those six Board members gathered around a beautiful walnut table in the office of James B. Hasselman, and means of spending hundreds of thousands of the taxpayers' dollars, to determine policies for the education of hundreds of Michigan boys and girls, that they MEET IN SECRET? All that YOU, as supporters of that institution of liberated thought are given by way of information, is just what that Board deems advisable to give you! Ask the Lansing correspondents for daily newspapers and news agencies about this, they will admit that their information about Michigan State College is obtained at the whim and caprice of the Board. All of which is fitting background for the statement our group of weekly newspaper publishers gave out after our four-hour meeting with that Board last Friday afternoon when we said: "Any policy that tends to muzzle freedom of discussion, or honest criticism leads to the growth of evil practices."

The Eccentric holds no personal brief for the trio of discharged men who "talked too much." We like them very much, as human beings; we think that they have done much for M. S. C. We think that their hasty removal was not merely because they "talked too much," but rather because they had courage enough to raise their voices against practices in certain college affairs that are against the best interests of the people of Michigan. In their dismissal, the Board in charge of M. S. C. has figuratively emblazoned over the portals of every collegiate door those words: "Be most careful not to criticize those in authority if you want to keep your job." (Please remember, too, that Hasselman and Cox first took their criticisms to President Shaw, but he was so obstructed by Halladay and others that he was powerless to correct the difficulties.)

It is not my intention this week to go into the details of the case. Suffice to say that the Board's evidence related practices among Halladay, Richards, Schepers (treasurer), and others that were to say the least, somewhat embarrassing. For instance: Halladay and Schepers are directors of an East Lansing bank where plenty of the college's funds are kept, and where many of the college's faculty were advised to deposit their wages; Halladay and Richards started the "music institute," where about $200,000 of the college's funds were spent during four years and use of the college buildings was made; several faculty members were part owners of a 112 acre farm that was offered to the college for $150 that was worth much less; Dean Cox was "spunked" simply because he refused to approve the building of a hen house at $24,000 (or $14.50 per hen), and by demanding new bids got the thing built for less than $11,000.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eccentric.

THE M. S. C. MESS

Another odious chapter in the history of Michigan State College mismanagement was written last week when the position of historian held by Ex-President Frank S. Kozlze for 51 years connected in an illustration way with the institution was abolished; and resignations were asked of Dean Joseph E. Cox, head of the farm crops and James Hasselman, director of publications. Probably Cox is the most mentally alert man on the campus. He had been a valued official of the college for 19 years.

The two whose resignations were asked for were "fired" without a public hearing. Such investigation as was made was behind closed doors and the "special assistant attorney general" assigned to the case had only recently been admitted to the bar—this being his maiden case. And still no one knows what the charges actually were!

This, it strikes us, is a mighty poor method of trying to build confidence in a public institution.—James Haskins in the Howard City Record.

SOME DAYLIGHT ADVISABLE

With the announcement that important figures at Michigan State College have been forced to resign, following various investigations from which the decision was reached that there was nothing culpable and sinister about "official" statements that there was "an honest difference of opinion" on matters of policy, and yet no revelations of the actual facts so that the public can form its own conclusions, it would seem that there ought to be a lifting of the veil.

According to the reports this morning, twelve publishers of weekly newspapers, of an organization which has been interested particularly in the college, met with President Shaw and asked for a public hearing on the matters involved. This was not granted and Friday a sub-committee of this group issued a statement in which they declared themselves "disappointed" that such a hearing was not granted, and said that "certain fundamental principles exist, chief of which is 'divided administrative authority.' The statement intimates that the publishers may not be satisfied with what has happened, because it says, "any policy which tends to muzzle freedom of discussion or honest criticism leads to the growth of evil practices."

While most of these phrases are extremely carefully worded to avoid trouble, and indeed are so general as to mean very little, it is nevertheless plain that what is needed is an uncovering of whatever is fostering in this State College, the kind of thing that is the cause of controversy in their own minds and that the public in understandable language, what has been going on and let the public in the management of a great educational institution which it pays for.—Henry Whiteley in The Dowagiac Daily News.

M. S. C. OUST AGITATORS

A good job of cleaning house was done at M. S. C. last Friday. If the findings of special investigators are correct, then the board did the right thing, but the board seem to acknowledge doing the wrong thing when they suggest that benefactors of the board and the president should run things—that is the way it is supposed to be anyway, and a departure from that rule is an acknowledgement of a departure from regularity.

Now, it is reported that the three men let go at the college are the three who were dissatisfied because things were not being operated locally or at least not properly and were bold enough to say that they did not believe some of the things done were on the level. If these charges or insinuations are "incorrect," the men got what they deserved. But, on the other hand, if these institutions are correct, then a search for the offenders should be made, and instead of these men being made the goat, they should be reinstated for bringing to light the operations which they believed to be subject to criticism. While there was nothing criminal, said Judge Carr, in the case heard before him, yet there was enough to make the taxpayer realize that truth was being very liberally to some private pockets, and, if the evidence is unheeded, let's get at the bottom on the thing.—Frank Bryce in The Grand Ledger Independent.

ALL SET AND AIMED TO FIRE

Much of the criticism (at the M. S. C.) is centering in H. H. Halladay, secretary of the college, whose power in college finances is more than that of the president and whose judgment in the use of that power is under great question.

One of the jarring elements of the picture is that of the music department attached to the college. Wisely, that of the college by R. E. Olds and other music enthusiasts about five years ago was formerly a downtown "conservatory of music" that required plenty of financial aid.

It is really because a private music school operated on the college campus by Lewis Richards, an astute manager and with H. H. Halladay, the college secretary as president. For the college, the new school was both cost expensive and expensive. Later through the popularity aura it finally appeared that the music school manager managed to make $10,000 in one year. Incidentally this was $1000 above the pay of the college president and on campus it became fairly plain that the music school tall was wagging the college dog.

Postmaster Hall has the satisfaction of knowing that his administration at the postoffice was without flaw. But the people demanded a change and they got it.

President Roosevelt's annual message to congress was devoted largely to a consideration of the causes of the present financial conditions and his recommendations for improving affairs.

In The Good Old Days

Ladies wore bustles. Monday was washday. There were no flappers. Nobody swatted the fly. Nobody had appendicitis. There were no traffic officers. Everybody played croquet. Nobody worked but father. Boys shoes were copper-toed. Nobody was ashamed to walk. Saturday night was bath night. Only little girls wore short skirts. Nobody told you "the line is busy." Widow's weeds weren't cigarettes. Farmers came to town for their mail. Nobody cared for the price of gasoline. Foodstuffs came in bulk, not packaged. The sheiks all lived in Arabia or Turkey. Moving pictures happened only at housecleaning time. The hired girls drew $1.50 a week and did the washing. They bobbed your hair only after they got you in jail. High flyers used to "take a nap" often, now they merely take off and take a drop only once. Young people turned in at 9 p. m. now they tune in, and don't turn in until next morning.

"NOT UNDERSTOOD" AT HOME

"SO MANY of the girls seem eager to explain at great length why they are misunderstood at home!" That is the remark of a prominent woman educator who sent to a large number of girls ranging in age from twelve to nineteen years a questionnaire on their personal problems and their attitude toward their parents. "Not understood" at home! That seems an echo from a bygone age when the picture of a cloistered mother, stranger to her children's problems, and an irate father, hard, narrow, and "old fashioned," indicated an impassable gap between the older and younger generations of the day.

But in the "modern" age, with mother studying adolescent psychology before their children are out of the cradles, with child study groups and parent associations and magazines and books of parent-ood and the science of living their children a square deal by learning to "understand" them—how strange that a large number of girls from intelligent homes should complain of lack of understanding. In former generations parents expected their children to resemble them, or at least to fulfill preconceived notions of what they wanted them to be. If they did not they were "black sheep," to be discussed only in hushed tones in the family circle. Today's parents, prepared for "modern youth's" expect nothing more certain than surprises in their offspring—and they are surprised usually if their children do not surprise them! They expect problems; they have been prepared to expect them.

Therefore, why this lack of understanding? The answer is to be found in the remarks of some girls that their parents were very busy with their own affairs. What a pity then, in an age which offers to all parents the wherewithal in information and training to be companions and friends to their children, in a world that is ready and eager to equip those parents to be experts at their most vital of jobs, to equip them to earn their children's confidence and to assure their greatest safeguard—that in such an age all that should be wasted by their being too busy with other things!

HOUSE BURNS, FAMILY LEFT WITHOUT FUNDS

A man and wife and four children found themselves homeless last Sunday night after fire had destroyed their home on Mrs. Mile road, two and one-half miles west of Pontiac road near South Lyon.

The family consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Philo Forshoe and their children who about two months ago moved to the residence on the farm of this (Augustus) Supp, an inmate of the Washtenaw County Infirmary.

Sunday night at about seven o'clock Mrs. Forshoe noted an odor of something burning and glancing out the window was amazed to see the yard and surrounding territory well lighted apparently from the house, and a rush to the upstairs revealed the fact that the upper half of the house was one mass of flames.

Neighbors were immediately notified but the fire had become too great to be extinguished. Not one article of the upstairs furnishings could be reached, but the greater part of the downstairs things were saved.

One hundred bushels of potatoes and 150 quarts of canned fruit in the basement were among the articles that were lost. No insurance was carried on the contents of the building. The house was insured.

The Forshoe family formerly lived between Plymouth and Northville. Neighbors cared for the stricken family Sunday night. It was indeed fortunate that some of the children had been put to bed, as all slept upstairs, and at the time the blaze was discovered no one could have reached them.

NO CONFUSION IN AUTO LICENSE COLORS The confusion of a year ago due to the similarity of Ohio and Michigan 1932 automobile license plates will be eliminated in 1933 according to Berg Moore, who has charge of the Plymouth branch office of the Secretary of State, Michigan 1933 plates went on sale December 1.

A year ago both Ohio and Michigan used white numerals on a blue background. The 1933 Michigan plates have black numerals on a white background while Ohio is using black numerals on an orange background.

The closest approach to the Michigan plates is the 1933 Minnesota plates which have black figures on a silver background. Illinois and Wisconsin plates for the coming year are using the same color combination that Michigan and Ohio used in 1932. This may cause some confusion in those states.

Lost 20 lbs. of Fat In Just 4 Weeks Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tons of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at Mayflower Drug Co. or any drug store—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results, money back.

SOUTH LYON SCHOOL HOUSE BURGLARIZED

Wednesday night before Thanksgiving the South Lyon school house was broken into and the safe ransacked of its money.

The robbery was discovered by E. J. Line at about 5:30 Thursday morning. School officials were called and the Sheriff's office at Pontiac immediately notified. Deputy George Hoyt made investigation and is working on the case.

Entrance to the building was gained through the furnace room by smashing glass in the door. The glass was also broken in the door of the superintendent's office, in which the safe was kept. The door of the safe was completely wrecked and the contents rifled. Small amounts of cash belonging to several miscellaneous activities and funds were taken. Other contents, including $35 in checks and some other cash, were undisturbed.

Finger prints were taken and other clues were found which it is hoped will lead to the apprehension of the robbers.

Taking Steps to Open Banks in Wayne Soon

The following from the Wayne Dispatch tells of the bank situation in that place:
Representatives of the state banking commission last week came to Wayne for the purpose of going over the assets of the Wayne Savings bank in order to determine if at least 40 per cent of these assets were of a nature so as permit the reopening of the local bank. The result of their work was not available for publication at press time. This percentage is necessary under the banking laws of the state before a reopening of any bank can be effected. It was stated, and it is believed that the good assets of the Wayne Savings bank will more than exceed this required percentage. Under the plan for reopening the bank under a depositors' agreement, it was pointed out that the assets of the bank must be allocated on a 60-40 basis at least, meaning that not more than 60 per cent of the bank's assets can be "frozen."

Inasmuch as more than 85 per cent of the depositors of the bank have signed agreements to leave their deposits in the bank for the stipulated time, with arrangements made for a certain per cent to be paid each year, and the completion of other necessary formalities, the report of the representatives of the banking commission is awaited with interest by all those interested in the bank's reopening.
If this report is favorable, it was said by authoritative individuals, most of the legal requirements in regard to the reopening will have been completed, and it was pointed out, only a short time will elapse before the bank may resume business.
Members of the depositors' committee have worked as carefully and as speedily as possible in the great amount of work that had to be done, and they have tried to avoid unnecessary delays.
As soon as the reopening plan has been approved by the state banking commission, the next step will be the presenting and publishing of petitions to terminate the receivership and the consequent reopening of the bank.

FORD CO. HELPS IDLE MEN IN GARDEN CITY

More than 150 families of Garden City last week started to work on various civic projects which are being sponsored by the Ford Motor company as a part of its program to allow the poor families of that community to aid themselves in obtaining the necessities of life.
Through the Ford Motor Co. plan the unfortunate families will do work on road projects, buildings, and other necessary undertakings, for which work food and other necessities will be distributed to them at a commissary department, which is modeled upon the one which was established at Inkster some time ago. The commissary is located on Middle Belt road, near Ford road.
Under the commissary plan, it is believed that more than 300 Garden City families can be served, thus greatly relieving the burden of keeping the families from taxpayers of Garden City and Nankin township. A clinic will be established in connection with the commissary, and a visiting physician will make regular trips there to provide medical aid for those who need it.

Start Campaign For Better Books and More Books For Children
"More and better books for Michigan Children," a state-wide movement carried out by the joint efforts of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, The Children's Fund of Michigan and the University of Michigan, brought new sets of fine books to 40,950 children in 585 schools and communities located in 66 counties during the past year, reports Edith Thomas, director of the University Library Extension Service, which manages the distribution of the books.
From a modest beginning in 1925, when 8 sets of from 30 to 50 books each were circulated in 23 counties, the movement to acquaint Michigan school children with good reading has grown steadily until last year 85 loan collections of 60 books each, reached practically every section of the State. Most of the communities calling for the books are without local libraries or have small school collections. The exhibits remain in each place for three weeks, to be read and examined, and lists of suggested readings are left after the traveling collection has gone.

Active cooperation of the Children's Fund of Michigan has done much to aid the development of this movement to encourage good reading. In 1929 this organization appropriated $3,000, a sum raised to $4,950 in 1930, and $5,000 in 1931 for the 1931-1932 year. At least four-fifths of this sum has been spent each year for books. Miss Thomas reports, the remainder being spent for packing, transportation and the printing of lists.
Besides introducing school children to the best of classic and modern books, the University Library Extension Service has regularly compiled new lists of books, to encourage and continuously guide young people in their reading. Lists are also prepared on request of parents and teachers, usually for a particular child, and on general fields of reading of interest to children. Last year 18,000 printed lists, 1,548 special lists and 1,500 printed University radio talks were distributed, while 14 talks, accompanied by book exhibits, were given at education meetings by the Extension Service staff.

LABOR CAN BE USED IN STATE FORESTS

Constructive work which will add to the beauty and the recreational facilities of Michigan and to future income from state timber lands can be performed by means of Michigan welfare lists, according to the forestry department of Michigan State College, which offers to furnish trained men to help plan ways of using welfare labor profitably.
The value of the resort trade to Michigan is enormous, but the forestry department points out that it is a part time income and that the improvement of the timber resources of the northern part of the State will aid an industry which brought the original wealth and population to the state. The reforestation of cutover lands will make the State more attractive to summer guests.
Communities in southern Michigan can use men to make roadside plantings, to thin farm timber lots, and to make plantings on lands which are undesirable for general farm crops. The forestry department at the College will furnish men to survey woodlots and to mark trees which should be taken out to improve the stand. If the owner of the woodlot will cooperate with welfare officers in permitting the cutting of fuel on shares, a trained forester will be sent by the department to any communities which wish to undertake a plan to plant and beautify the roadsides in its district. The forester will draw plans and instruct men how the work should be done. Untrained help can then be used to complete the work.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has some funds which can be loaned to finance reforestation projects. Information concerning these funds can be obtained from the college forestry department.

CHILDREN BENEFIT BY CHRISTMAS SEALS

"Don't forget us" is the message conveyed by the children of the 1932 tuberculosis Christmas seals which is appearing now on letters and packages as far-sighted people hasten to make their contribution to the protection of the child. For it is to save youth from the dread disease that pennies spent for these Christmas seals are used.

The Michigan Tuberculosis Association is asking self-sacrificing men and women to open their purses wide that the work of early discovery of tuberculosis by means of tuberculin tests and X-ray examinations of school children may be carried on. Finding many cases of tuberculosis in time to save a corresponding number of lives in an examination of 13,661 Michigan school children last year proved the great need for this work.

School boards were convinced to the extent of filing requests for examinations covering 44,000 children. For economy's sake if no other reason, the plea of the tuberculosis association that these children should be examined should appeal to every citizen.

For it is false economy to neglect the child during any time. If we are to have sound citizens tomorrow we must know about the health condition of the child of today. Had this fact been recognized years ago Michigan would not have made a sacrifice to tuberculosis of 433 boys and girls in 1931. Failure to see this is blindness indeed.

"Buy Christmas Seals and Save Lives" is not an empty slogan. It is a crying fact. A quarter century response to this appeal shows a marked progress in the reduction of needless deaths. There are 90,000 people aged 20 in Michigan. Recently the vital statistics division of the state department of health issued figures proving that their life expectancy so far as tuberculosis is concerned had been increased one year each or the equivalent of a full life time of 2,000 people due to the educational program of the past 25 years. Buy Christmas seals and save lives.

work for and urge the passing of this bill.

It is estimated that at the passing of this measure they would be 112,000 on the retirement list. This would permit 112,000 younger men to go on the pay roll. At the same time the buying power of the retired workers would continue and they would be cared for in their retiring years.

There is much being said in regards to old age pensions, insurance for the unemployed, the buying power of the laboring class, etc. There seems no better place to start than among the thousands of railroad workers throughout the United States. This plan is to endeavor to make it possible for the older man to stay out while still able to enjoy life and not become a charge of charity and at the same time give work to another. Each in turn will pay into a fund while able to work which will make their retiring years pleasant.

Presbyterians Plan Intensive Drive Early in New Year

Representatives of Presbyterian churches in Howell, Milan, Ypsilanti, Northville, Plymouth, Sallou, South Lyon, Brighton and Gregory met in Ann Arbor last night to make advance plans for intensive stewardship programs to be presented in their individual churches as part of Detroit Presbytery's stewardship emphasis in February. Rev. Guy L. Merrill, director of Stewardship, Board of Christian Education, Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., addressed the delegates, who gathered in the local Presbyterian Church, urging them to accurate stewardship in worship services, Sunday school sessions, and meetings of juvenile and adult organizations. He suggested that during the presbytery's Month of Stewardship pastors should preach sermons on the subject at morning worship services and that Sunday evening services should contain the stewardship emphasis, using pageants, talks by laymen, debates, forums, dramatizations or oratorical contests. He explained to the church executives methods for holding weekly Church Nights for special stewardship study, and urged them to teach stewardship in the Sunday school and young people's society through books and leaflets of his recommendation.

An open forum followed his informal address, in which delegates discussed ways of adopting the suggested Stewardship program to their particular churches. A number of churches plan to climax their four-week program with an invitation to church members to enroll in the Presbytery Fellowship of Stewardship. Mr. Merrill is holding eight such preliminary conferences this month in an effort to set up definite plans for the February emphasis on Christianity as it touches a man's pocketbook. Sixty-seven Presbyterian churches plan to participate in the projected program.

partment said in suggesting to those living in areas where ground feeders such as pheasants and quail are known to frequent. Feeding birds during the winter is largely a matter of keeping suitable food above the level of the snow or ice. Corn wheat or other grains may be used for feeding. Ears of corn may be spiked to a bush or board placed just above the snow line. Shelters are effective and may be built by leaning a few branches against a tree or fence and covering with hurlaj, evergreens or corn stalks. Some use food hoppers or boxes placed where they may be reached by the birds. Feeding stations are most effective when placed at the edge of a swamp or in brush along fences.

Perrinsville

Miss Lesma Beyer, of Detroit who has just returned from a deer hunting trip at Grayling, celebrated her birthday Thursday with her father, William Beyer, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Baddell, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Mathis and little son H. L. were Sunday dinner guests of the former's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnett of White Lake.

Seven of a party of nine deer hunters returned last week from Nobeich Island with five bucks and a coyote. The lucky gunners were John Shotka of Canton, Henry Kubie of Merriman Road, Albert Knorfske of Garden City, Walter Jordan of Detroit, and Fred Napier of Novi. Carl Priekorn of Wayne brought down the coyote. The other members of the party were Ralph Napier of Ann Arbor, Sell and Peter Kubie of Ann Arbor, Trail, Ralph Napier and Henry Sell remained for fox and wolf hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Mathis, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnett of White Lake visited relatives in Detroit, Friday. On Wednesday Mrs. Peter Kubie and Margaret attended the Fox Theater, in Detroit.

A miscellaneous shower was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beyer (Hulda Beck) at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Beyer Friday evening. They were the recipients of many useful gifts. A luncheon was served by the hostesses.

BUTCHER HOG, TAKE IT AWAY DURING NIGHT

A 300-lb. hog was butchered in its pen at the old Lockwood farm, a short distance north of Six Mile road, on Pontiac-Ann Arbor road, a few nights ago, and its carcass hauled away. A pool of blood on the ground was the only evidence the next morning. The house has been unoccupied since vacated by the Pomerene family, but Herman School has been working the place and owned the hog.

Feed Birds During Winter Months

It looks like a hard winter for the pheasants, quail and other ground feeding birds. The past two winters have been mild. Little snow has permitted the birds to find more food than usual. As a result the winter death rate from starvation has been low with a resulting increase of birds and excellent hunting, according to the Department of Conservation. Heavy snowfall and sleet storms frequently mean hunger for a large number of ground feeding birds. By establishing winter feeding stations where needed, sportsmen and others interested in birds can do much this winter to help insure a good crop of birds for next year, the Department advises. Feeding stations need be neither expensive nor troublesome, the Department said in suggesting to those living in areas where ground feeders such as pheasants and quail are known to frequent. Feeding birds during the winter is largely a matter of keeping suitable food above the level of the snow or ice. Corn wheat or other grains may be used for feeding. Ears of corn may be spiked to a bush or board placed just above the snow line. Shelters are effective and may be built by leaning a few branches against a tree or fence and covering with hurlaj, evergreens or corn stalks. Some use food hoppers or boxes placed where they may be reached by the birds. Feeding stations are most effective when placed at the edge of a swamp or in brush along fences.

A real measure of loyal citizenship is the extent to which residents of Plymouth support their own industries and business.
This year, of all years, especially during the Christmas season, the "Buy-at-Home" idea should prevail-not alone for the sake of local merchants, but as a matter of self-interest, and buy American made goods.

DON'T MISS NEXT WEEK'S PAPER

A new column concerning the dignified members of Plymouth High School will appear in the next issue of the Plymouth Mail and will appear each week until the end of the school year. It will be written by four seniors. Curious? If so, be sure and read next week's paper!

AD. LIB.

After much nervous pen chewing and floor pacing, I have started to write, but I'll be damned if I have an idea yet what I'm writing about, but inspiration comes, you know and perhaps the old Ad. Liberte will get me presently.
Last week's paper marked the debut of Miss Beulah Sorenson as a column writer. The new brain child entitled "Want Ads" was met with great enthusiasm by the readers of our Pilgrim Prints. In fact the dear pursuers of the printed page were almost as joyful over its appearance as they were over the disappearance of my cologne about seven weeks ago. Well, hehah, old dear, here's luck to you. You'll need it.

We have been greatly criticized lately because of the fact that most of these Ad. Libs. have had to do mainly with the seniors. Well, I explain it this way: This year is about the last chance said seniors will have of being written about in our school paper. And if nobody else will write about them, why then, it's up to me. I'm sure they all enjoy seeing their names in this sheet. But if you do have any news you wish to see printed about other classes, why just turn it in and I'll print 'er.

Folks may holler about the girls getting old fashioned again when they wear these here so called stylish dresses of more than usual length, but how about the boys wearing turtle neck sweaters and high waisted trousers? Do you folks know that both of these are relics of the 1890's? Well, they are, yowzah! Just pick up an old picture of your pa or grandpa when they were sporty kids and you'll see 'em all wearing turtle necks and high waisters as they ride along on their "safties" or play a nice gentle game of football. And now with high waists, turtle necks, puff sleeves, dragging skirts, and beer, it will soon look like old times.

By the way, if there is any misspelling in this week's cologne either accept it as my own whimsical way of being humorous, or blame Irene Humphries. I had to ask her about three-fourths of the words.

Someone suggested that we make up, find, or hear and take down the nicknames of our prominent students. Well here are a few; more will follow next week. Powerhouse Bannerman, Box Car Burley, Whatta Man Brownson, Peanuts Bridge, Pansy Cook, Daisy Archer, Puff-Puff Greer, Shlek Hitt, Shlek-oss Withey, and dear old Maggie Holcomb, alias Fannie Zilch. More of these will come later.

One enterprising lass has offered to help defective Ernie (or did you say detective) to decipher those puzzling codes which have been giving him headaches for so long. Well, dearie, I wish you luck, you will also need it. And now, the hour of parting must come, so "So long Darlings"—ABCDEFGHIJKL MNOPQRSTUVWXYZ.—Boy, I sure fooled him this time, and every letter means something, yowzah!

Thursday was named by the old Teutons for Thor, their god of thunder.

Friday is from Frea of Friga, a goddess of Saxon myth.

Busy Days Ahead For DeMolay Boys

The tenth of December means a full day for DeMolays. The Annual Conclave is to be held on that date in the new Masonic Temple in Detroit. A trip through the Temple for those who wish it is promised at eleven-thirty. At one-thirty the Conclave proper starts with the ceremony of welcoming visitors who are: Frank S. Land, Grand Scribe and Founder; Ernest A. Reed, Grand Master Councilor; and Louis G. Lower, The First DeMolay. The program from then on will be filled with the Conclave degree and group sessions. A T-Bone steak banquet is promised at six o'clock, to be followed by finals in the District Speakers Contest and then the DeMolay Degree will be conferred in the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

Following the Conclave, a small membership took second place last year in attendance on the percentage basis. The fifteenth or thirteenth day of December has been reserved for a business meeting. On the eighteenth of December the Fellowship Chapter will attend the Northville Presbyterian Church as a group.

Saturday shows little change from its original form as Saturn's day. Uneasy lies the face that wears a crown.

Schraders Conduct Funeral of Father Who Was Shot and Killed by 12 Year Old Son

It was a most unusual funeral that Schrader Bros. of Plymouth conducted Wednesday afternoon in Grandale Gardens, east of this city. It was the funeral of Harry Stuart, an employe of the Burroughs Adding Machine company who was shot by his 12-year-old son Gilbert, last Saturday. The father was carrying ashes from the basement and the boy claiming that he was pointing a rifle at a mark, declares he accidentally shot his father.

Frightened, he took the family car and drove away, but at Clinton, he turned homeward and was picked up by two state policemen to whom he told his story.

State Policemen Raymond Mohr and Harry Collins visited the home and found that the boy and his father had been in the basement taking out ashes. Gilbert stopped to play with a 22-caliber rifle and it was discharged, the bullet striking the father just as he lifted a basket of ashes to an open window.

After taking a statement from Gilbert, John T. Meier, assistant prosecuting attorney, said he would turn the boy over to the Juvenile Detention Home and let the Juvenile Court decide what should be done with him.

The boy was released to his mother but later was taken back to the juvenile home when a schoolmate declared the boy had said he intended to kill his father.

The mother staunchly defended the boy against the charge of the playmate that the killing was planned by Gilbert to finance a career of crime.

Gilbert told police the bullet from his .22-caliber rifle, which ended his father's life in the basement of their home in Redford Township, was discharged accidentally. He fled afterward to his father's car, he said, because he was terrified at what he had done.

A different story was told Capt. Donald S. Leonard of state police by William Luka, Gilbert's schoolmate. He said Gilbert invited him two days before the shooting to accompany him on a tour of California, robbing filling stations en route.

"He said he intended to get his father's pay, $40, Saturday," William told Captain Leonard. "He said he would threaten his mother too, and if she makes a wrong move, she's a dead woman." He said he asked Gilbert what he meant by that, and Gilbert replied, "I'll shoot her."

Captain Leonard was to present William's story and a report of his investigation to Judge George M. Reed of Juvenile Court today, with-out comment or recommendation.

"Gilbert never, never did such a thing," declared Mrs. Harry H. Stuart, attractive, gray-haired woman. "He adored me and chummed together all the time. Gilbert had everything he wanted, nice clothes and a nice home. His father saw to it that he had spending money for the things all boys want."

She attributed William's story to "too many detective thrillers."

After hearing William's story, Captain Leonard went to the home of the boy's uncle, Oliver Stuart, 14234 Lyndhurst avenue, and took him to state police headquarters for questioning.

Gilbert, tense and defiant, stoutly denied everything William had said.

"If Bill is trying to cook up a story that I killed my dad, I'll knock his block off," he said.

He admitted, however, he had called at William's home after the shooting Saturday morning. The older Stuart died Sunday in Woman's Hospital of a bullet wound in the neck.

Judge Reed permitted Gilbert to go home to attend his father's funeral with his mother. He was released to the custody of a friend, Grant DeFoe of Beech road, Redford, Township. DeFoe went with Gilbert to the funeral.

Following the funeral Detroit officers reported that the boy admitted that he did kill his father intentionally and that he planned to run away.
