

MANY CANDIDATES FOR CITY ELECTION CONTEST TO BE A LIVELY ONE

Contests Have Developed For Every Office To Be Filled

On February 1st, the last day for filing petitions for offices to be filled at the city election to be held on April 3rd, there had been filed thirteen petitions for the six offices. The officers to be elected are three Commissioners for two year terms, one commissioner to fill the vacancy for one year term, one Municipal Judge, and one constable. All of the present commissioners whose terms expire this year have filed for reelection. These commissioners are Mayor John W. Henderson, Frank K. Learned, George H. Robinson, and Ruth E. Whipple. The first three have filed for the two year term and the latter for the one year term. A petition for Oliver Goldsmith has been filed for the one year term. Petitions for the two year term were also filed in behalf of Arthur E. Blunk, Jacob A. Streuk, and Sidney D. Strong.

Immediately after the filing of the petitions Sidney Strong asked that his name be withdrawn as a candidate. Mr. Strong said, "I appreciate the friendly interest of those who have circulated and signed the petition, but my work takes me out of the City a large part of the time, and I do not feel that I have time which would be available for such a job." In accordance with the provisions of the State election laws Mr. Strong's name will not appear on the election ballot.

Two petitions were filed for the office of constable, one in behalf of George W. Reinert, present incumbent, and one in behalf of George R. Whitmore.

Three petitions have been received for the office of Municipal Judge, the candidates being Ford F. Brooks, present incumbent, Herald F. Hamlin, and J. W. H. Munde. The candidates for this office are the only ones whose names will appear on the primary election ballot because of the fact that for this office only were more than twice the number of petitions filed than there are offices to be filled.

The terms of office of the Justice of Peace and Constable are for a period of four years beginning July 1, 1933. The registration books are now open for the registering of qualified electors who have not previously registered or who have changed their address since the last election. Registrations will be received during office hours in the City Hall up to and including Saturday, February 25th. The registration board will be in session from 9:00 a. m. until 6:30 p. m. on Tuesday, February 14th for the purpose of receiving registrations. No more registrations will be received for the Primary election after 4:00 p. m. Saturday, February 25th. Qualified electors who are now properly registered will not have to re-register.

Sweet Corn Growers Meet Here Feb. 17

Doctor J. H. Munde, Specialist in Plant Pathology, will talk on the Bacterial Wilt of Sweet Corn which caused so much damage in Wayne County last year at the Plymouth high school Friday afternoon February 17 at 2:00 and at Belleville high school at 8:00 the same evening.

The bacterial wilt of sweet corn, often known as Stewart's disease, of corn, was found first in Michigan about thirty-five years ago. Since that time it has been found in practically all of the state with the exception of certain ones in the far west.

In spite of the fact that this disease has been known in Michigan for so many years, it has never caused any serious damage until in the season of 1931 and 1932. However, during the season of 1933, very few reports came into the college with regard to this trouble. In fact, in looking over our records for the past fifteen years, we have never had more than two specimens of the sweet corn disease sent in to the department for examination.

During the past season, however, the disease broke out in great severity along about the middle of June and was first found in the southeastern part of the state. Practically all of the commercial varieties of sweet corn were badly affected. The most serious damage was caused to the earliest varieties, such as Sunshine and Golden Bantam.

Dies While Visiting At Home of Relative

Floyd E. Daggett, prominent Ypsilanti lawyer and a cousin of William Holmes of this place, died suddenly Sunday evening while visiting at the home of William Gude who lives on farm southwest of Plymouth. Mr. Gude is also a cousin of Mr. Daggett.

Mr. Daggett had been in ill health for a year or more but his condition was not regarded as at all serious and he had been able to be out most of the time.

Mr. Daggett was born near St. Johns in 1863 and was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1905. He came to Ypsilanti a year later and his city attorney, five years and assistant prosecuting attorney of Washtenaw County six years.

Mr. Daggett leaves his wife, Nellie, a daughter, Mrs. Frank Campbell of Ypsilanti, and a son, William E. Daggett of Ypsilanti. Masonic funeral services were held Tuesday at Ypsilanti.

LAWMAKERS STUDY TAXES Wonder Why Tax Plan Comes Before State Expenses Are Cut

LANSING, MICH.—Just why Governor Comstock put in his plan to raise additional taxes for the state before he gave the legislature his economy program no one around the state house has been able to figure out. It had been anticipated that the new administration would first use the pruning knife on state expenses, and legislators in order to arrive at some general knowledge of just how much it would cost to operate the schools, hospitals and other public institutions. Some members of the legislature have declared that before they act upon the new tax plan submitted by Governor Comstock, they desire first to know just how much the costs of running the state are going to figure out. It had been anticipated that the Governor would go ahead with plans to raise more taxes, stated one veteran member of the legislature after he had read the Governor's message.

It is possible, say some legislative members, that the Governor may have in mind the use of the entire program of the old Legislative Commission that has been presented by Representatives Gus Hartman and V. J. Brown. In fact he has suggested that the legislature give consideration to these recommendations, which provide a cut of over six millions of dollars in state expenses. One of the commission's bills has already been passed, a bill that puts an end to the state highway program which has been in effect for five years. There has always been some doubt as to the advisability of such an elaborate highway program as was started, but it is now over with.

Last fall Governor Comstock declared that he would recommend to the legislature a way to the state to operate its affairs without the payment of a general property tax. Many of his opponents said no such plan could be devised. They now have the plan, which provides for a general sales tax in Michigan.

The governor plans to raise $35,000,000 by a general sales tax. Those who have figured it out, say this will represent about a three per cent tax on everything that is sold. This estimate is apparently arrived from the figures gathered in 1929 by the department of commerce in Washington. For the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1929, the total retail sales in Michigan amounted to $2,220,000,000. These are the last figures gathered by the government on retail sales in Michigan. It is apparent however that Governor Comstock and those who have figured out the new sales tax plan have estimated a drop of just half of what the retail sales were in Michigan in 1929.

Local merchants who have been consulted agree that this estimate is about right. Members of the legislature who have anticipated that the governor would recommend a sales tax to take the place of a general property tax and have given the matter some thought, express the idea that a sales tax of three per cent would prove an injury to business and work to the detriment of the state. Of course the three per cent figure has not yet been established, but those who have figured out the plan say that this must be somewhere near the amount the administration has in mind because of the amount of money the governor says a sales tax will raise.

COUNTY PLAN NOT FAVORED

Plymouth Officials Not So Sure It Will Be A Benefit

The proposed plan of forming a new County excluding the City of Detroit has aroused considerable comment, both inside and outside the city of Detroit. The representative of the City of Plymouth on the committee to study this matter has made considerable investigation as to the possible benefits to be derived, but as yet has not found where any considerable saving could be made in any department of the County Government by the formation of a new county, nor where the out-county areas are not receiving a fair share of the benefits from the taxes being paid.

The January 21st issue of the Detroit News quoted the Chief Auditor of the Board of County Auditors as follows: "Evidently the promoters of the new county scheme believe they would save money; they think they're paying more than their share for the services Wayne County provides, but they have an idea of how to get it. For instance, not so long ago I made a survey of the County Jail and discovered that the townships of Plymouth and Ecorse had a dozen times as many inmates as they were paying for."

"The reason was that the police are enforcing officers of these townships were concentrating on justice into a racket and instituting prosecutions in petty cases that they might collect fees."

From reading the above article in the Detroit News one might be of the opinion that the practice of police officers concentrating on justice has been going on in recent months. The truth of the matter is that this practice had been known by the Board of County Auditors to exist for several years prior to 1931 but no effort had been made to stop it. Two years ago members of the Village Commission made a complete investigation of the situation as applied to Plymouth and presented the facts to the Board of County Auditors who agreed that all fees collected by Plymouth police officers should be paid into the Village Treasury, as required by the Village Charter. After these instructions were issued the practice was stopped. In order to further curtail this evil the Village Commission requested that parties engaged in this practice be not re-appointed deputy sheriff, but in an instance a member of the Board of County Auditors endorsed the appointment of one of the deputies who was engaged in this practice even after the Village Commission had been notified.

These facts are given in order that the citizens of Plymouth will not be of the opinion that the matters referred to in the Detroit News have been of recent date. The entire matter was cleared up almost two years ago, when the situation was brought to the attention of the Village Commission.

CITY PROVIDES EXTRA BREAD

For the past several weeks the Wayne County Training School has been furnishing bread to the Plymouth and Northville Welfare Department at a price of less than one cent per loaf. This especially low price is made possible because of the fact that government flour is used in the baking of this bread.

The facilities of the Training School, for these services were made available to these communities through Dr. Haskell and Mr. Elliot, of the Training School staff.

Arrangements have been made for an additional allotment of bread each Wednesday and Saturday in order that persons not entirely dependent upon welfare aid may obtain bread supplies at the City Hall. It is felt that some such arrangement as this will help to relieve the temporary condition which now confronts many Plymouth people.

In case only bread is required of the Welfare Department complete case histories will not be required, although a record will be made of the amount of bread given out in order that the City can be assured that this commodity is only going to those who are worthy and in temporary need.

Early History of Presbyterian Church Closely Linked With Developments of Community

The summary of the first fifty years of the history of the Presbyterian organization contained a statement that the church had decided to remodel the church at a meeting on April 3, 1876 a committee consisting of Wm. Orr, Crav Safford, A. D. Stevens, I. M. Hough, and Al Stevens was appointed to act with the trustees and ascertain what repairs were necessary on the church building and the probable cost. Copying from the record for April 15, 1876:

"A meeting was held in Mr. Hick's store. Committee report that Mr. Mitchell, a builder from Detroit, had obtained by B. G. Hall, made an examination of the church building and finds that in consequence of planks being laid under the foundation when built had rotted away and caused the south wall to settle and crack and bulge out. The south wall should be taken up and relaid as high as the lower side of the window, also to anchor the walls thoroughly, put on a new roof and cornice and stained glass windows, put a furnace under to warm the gallery and alter the church generally outside and in and the cost was estimated to be twenty-five hundred dollars. A committee was appointed to circulate a subscription to obtain that amount. A building committee consisting of G. A. Safford, C. W. Hicks, and Amos Stevens to prosecute the work was appointed. The work was completed in January and a rededication sermon was preached by Rev. J. A. Baldwin of Detroit and the Dedication Prayer by Rev. J. A. Baldwin of Northville. Singing was led by C. W. Hicks and Amos Stevens. A very nice pulpit bible was donated by Miss Elsie Spicer. Two pulpit chairs were made by Elder Amos Stevens for thirty dollars each. Book racks for all new books were donated by Charles J. Hillman."

On February 23, 1884, the congregation celebrated their semi-centennial anniversary. Rev. W. W. Wetmore, pastor at that time, delivered a historical address, and a copy of it and a picture of the church at the occasion are in the possession of Mrs. Louis Hillman. In seeking material for the history to be read at that anniversary, I. M. Hough wrote to Mrs. E. M. Stewart of Michigan Center, who was the daughter of Ira Brown one of the founders of the church. The letter is copied in part, not alone to show the precise and interesting form, but to show the information about the building school.

"When I received your letter inviting me to be present at the fifty-first anniversary of the organization of the Presbyterian church of Plymouth, it called up so many tender memories that I resolved to attend the meeting and not until this morning did I realize that I am, in idea, but ill health compels me to deny myself that pleasure, much to my disappointment and regret.

"If my memory is not at fault the meeting to organize the church was held in an unfinished chamber of my father's house, it being the largest room then available. James Purdy and my father, Ira Brown, were elected both elders and deacons. I was present at the organization but did not unite with the church till about a year after. My father's house was used in the school house, was baptized and received into the church by Rev. Prince. The first Sunday school was held in the school house and was organized and carried on by Christian women. I think there were three teachers, and I was secretary of the school.

After a few months, Henry Tibbitts, then quite a young man and who had but recently become a church member, was persuaded to take the office of superintendent, as it was a shame for a woman to occupy that position.

Radio Stars to Play At Senior Prom Next Wednesday Evening

The golden voiced tenor, Mamie Aftel, and his Club Hollywood orchestra, famous radio stars direct from Buffalo, New York, have been engaged to play at the traditional semi-formal Senior Prom, to be held at the Plymouth High School on Wednesday evening, February 17. Jimmie Aftel and his orchestra were previously engaged at a club in New York for ten weeks. They will add a variety to the program by singing instrumental novelties, and by playing records, formerly with Vincent Lopez, another radio favorite. The senior class feels very fortunate in having such a wonderful orchestra and are very busy making preparations to make this social affair more successful than ever before.

This will be the largest social event to take place in Plymouth this year. It is the hope of the class to have a large attendance. The auditorium and stage will undergo a complete transformation and will be decorated in a beautiful Holland with typical Dutch scenes such as canals, windmills, tulips, Dutch streets, and Dutch people. A false ceiling will be erected and a real Dutch atmosphere created by special lighting effects. These elegant decorations are going to be very beautiful, judging from the scenes already completed by the busy seniors.

Miss Elizabeth Nichol is general chairman of the Prom. She is assisted by J. P. McLaren, chairman of the publicity committee. There will be musical, invitational and programs; Christine Nichol, chaperones; David Mather, orchestra; Robert Shaw, floor; Odene Hitt, tickets; and Laura Kincaid, refreshments.

RED CROSS AIDS LOCAL WELFARE COMMITTEE WORKS

Plymouth Receives Large Shipment of Clothing For Use Here

The Plymouth Chapter of the American Red Cross has recently received a large quota of clothing for men, women and children who are in need of clothing and due to unemployment are not able to purchase it. The allotment is made on the basis of the number of people receiving public assistance and the estimated number of borderline cases requiring only partial aid.

The shipment received last Saturday includes 180 suits of men's winter underwear, 47 pairs of infants stockings, 37 men's jackets, 199 men's trousers, 35 corduroy knickers, and 40 pairs of boys' long trousers.

A memo was given to all of the public welfare clients last Saturday advising them that this clothing would be available to them, and since that time a considerable amount has been given out to worthy cases.

In addition to the ready-made clothing distributed by the Red Cross the local Chapter has already received several thousand yards of cotton goods which is being made up into dresses, night clothing, underwear, etc. Each week day except Saturday the Red Cross headquarters in the Starkweather School is a veritable work-shop where several local Plymouth women are devoting their time to help this cause along. The workers are at the Starkweather School at least one day per week, the shift changing each day. Many dozens of garments have been made by these local workers who are devoting their spare time to help the suffering and need, existing in the community. In some cases where women cannot be present at the work-rooms the garments are taken out and completed in their own homes.

The splendid work being conducted by the local Chapter of American Red Cross has been of inestimable value to the needy people of the City of Plymouth and the district surrounding the City. It is felt that the importance of the work being done by the Red Cross as well as by the Plymouth Welfare Committee is of as great or greater importance than the work during the war days.

The City Welfare Department is cooperating to the fullest extent in this work in order that the welfare clients as well as other needy people will be provided with proper clothing and other supplies.

In order that one may appreciate the volume of work being handled and the immense amount of good being done by the local Chapter of the American Red Cross a visit should be made to the work-room at the Starkweather School and see for themselves what is being done.

Gets Many Orders For New Sprinklers

How The Euchre Club Stands Here

The Plymouth Canton Euchre Club held their weekly session at the home of Mr. Gots on Tuesday night and here are the results. After winning four straight sessions Wagenschultz and Courade lost a tough one 8 games to 6 to Matt Waldecker and Flanagan. Birch and Everett got the best of R. Wedelcker and Walt Thisen and won 8 games to 6. J. Waldecker and Wm. Thisen had a hard time to defeat Korte and Shotts 8 games to 6, while Graham and Hardy went second place by handling Korte one to Gots and Blackmore 10 games to 4.

COMMITTEE WORKS ON NEW BANK PLAN

League of Women Voters to Meet

The Plymouth League of Women Voters will hold its February meeting Monday, February 13, at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Paul Wiedman, 346 Blunk avenue. The occasion will be a membership drive for new and prospective members. With dues decreased and with interest in government tremendously increased in times like these, the league is attracting many new and interested members.

The program for Monday is a continuation of the study of county government. The speaker will be Prof. A. W. Bromage of the Political Science Department of the University of Michigan who has worked considerably on the subject of reorganization of county government.

The plan, regarded as one of the best that the banking department has devised and one that will provide greater security for depositors as well as safeguarding the interests of the bank, has been explained in a letter mailed to each depositor. The letter fully clarifies the reorganization plan and the prompt signing of the agreement will result in the benefit to Plymouth as well as the depositors.

Because of the fact that the Plymouth United had something like four thousand depositors scattered all about this part of the state, it is not going to be an easy matter to reach them immediately. However, members of the committee are exceedingly hopeful that all of the agreements can be signed up within the next two weeks.

At present, Mr. Fisher, the other officers and employees of the bank are devoting long hours every day to the task of expediting the vast amount of work involved.

One of the pleasing things to the bank officials has been the almost constant stream of patronage of the bank who have called daily to offer their assistance in working out the reorganization plan. Depositors have expressed themselves as ready and anxious to sign the moratorium agreement, realizing that it is the one step that can be taken to protect their holdings.

Because the Plymouth United was the last branch in the metropolitan district of Detroit to yield to the pressing demands of distressed business, this community finds itself in a much better position than any other community in the entire Detroit area. It is known that the bank has been in operation for many months, but because the immediate future holds no promise of different business conditions than those prevailing today, the adoption of the moratorium plan was strongly urged upon the officials of the bank by the state banking department. Only after most careful consideration was the step finally taken.

Depositors of the bank believe, as stated in the Plymouth Mail last week, that the bank will eventually pay out every cent of deposited money.

If the depositors cooperate immediately with the committee, there will be no delay in the re-opening of the bank. For the good of Plymouth, let's do what we did in the early bank days, so over the top 100 per cent.

Plymouth and the rest of Michigan Thursday suffered from the coldest weather in years. The mercury began dropping Wednesday forenoon. By night it was down to zero. Reports of 12 to 15 below Thursday forenoon were common. The blizzard which swept from the west into the state Tuesday has constantly increased in fury.

AGREEMENTS MAILED OUT

Plymouth United Depositors Anxious To Aid Institution

With the appointment of Harry Robinson, Charles H. Rathbun, Angus Heeneey, J. W. Blickenstaff and Ernest S. Itoe as members of the depositors' committee, rapid progress is being made in the reorganization of the Plymouth United Savings Bank under a moratorium plan provided by the state banking department.

FORMER LOCAL BOYMAKESGOOD

SAGINAW NEWS TELLS OF PROGRESS OF M. HILLMER IN AUTO WORLD

The following interesting narrative comes to the attention of the Plymouth Mail. It concerns a former Plymouth boy, Max L. Hillmer, who has risen high in the ranks of automotive industry. Mr. Hillmer is a son of Mrs. Mary K. Hillmer, of Starkweather avenue, and nephew of Karl W. Hillmer, 1102 S. Harvey street. Many citizens who resided here prior to 1910 will remember him. He is now first officer in the Lansing plant of its kind in the world, the Saginaw Steering Gear works. This plant manufactures more steering gears than the combined production of all other similar companies. It services all the G. M. C. lines of motor car manufacture, and in addition it furnishes steering gears for use in other lines of motor cars, trucks and buses, well as for the Mercedes cars made in Germany. The story is reproduced from the recent Saginaw Daily News and is as follows:

Has Mastered Many A New Job Steering Gears Chief Educated Himself

Almost from the day he chose the field of industry as his vocation, Max L. Hillmer, president and general manager of the Steering Gear division of General Motors corporation, has spent many long and tedious hours mastering new jobs.

At Lansing in 1920, Hillmer was transferred to Saginaw in August, 1930, to assume the position he now occupies. Mr. Hillmer was far from being familiar with the production of steering gears and in many respects his experience here has been patterned after those which preceded his removal to Saginaw.

A grade school education and many night hours devoted to a correspondence school constituted Mr. Hillmer's education that equipped him for the progress he has made in the field of industry.

Leaving school at the age of 15, he found work in his native Plymouth, in the Dalsey Air Rifle factory, working in both the foundry and assembly. His father owned a farm near the town and for four years, from 1909, he had a fine farm. The farm chores that fell to his lot.

Armed with his correspondence school diploma which stated in no uncertain terms that he was qualified as a draftsman, Mr. Hillmer went to Lansing in 1920, to work for the Saginaw Steering Gear Works, producer of car engines for both Northway and Oakland motor car plants.

His first job was in the shop, working on a lathe and later on a grinder. Finally he received the chance to enter the drafting room and after employment there he began a tour in search of industrial employment that carried him through several of the then leading industries of Lansing.

His next job was with the Clark Power Wagon company in Grand Haven, in the truck field. The company had been organized to construct a wagon that could be powered in the automotive manner. It took just a year to prove to the owners of the Clark Power Wagon company that no lasting prosperity could be expected from such an invention. While at this plant Mr. Hillmer worked in the shop and later entered the tool designing department.

From this employment he went to another Lansing company, the firm of Gler and Dahl, sheet metal workers. All this time Mr. Hillmer was directing his energies toward participation in the boom that appeared to be ready to greet the automotive industry. He left Gler and Dahl in 1911 to enter the employ of the National Coll Company, manufacturers of automobile parts for automobile starters and lighting systems. Entering the drafting department, he finally reached a position where he was in (Continued on Page Four)

COLD WAVE IS WORST OF YEAR

Plymouth and the rest of Michigan Thursday suffered from the coldest weather in years. The mercury began dropping Wednesday forenoon. By night it was down to zero. Reports of 12 to 15 below Thursday forenoon were common. The blizzard which swept from the west into the state Tuesday has constantly increased in fury.

Thursday outside workers, unable to endure the bitter cold, left their jobs. Even snow chovelers were unable to work.

There is no promise of immediate relief from the cold for a number of days.

The intensity of the cold wave has been felt more probably because of the mild January weather that prevailed. January was the first snowless January in the history of the weather bureau in Michigan. It was also one of the warmest. But February is living up to its reputation and it is providing the coldest weather in years, bringing with it intense suffering.

Hospital News

Ronald Bayless who has been confined at the hospital with a fractured pelvis, is able to be up on crutches.

Mrs. Mildred Lisenberger, 74, of 415 East 14th Street, was admitted Tuesday.

Mrs. Francis Hines and baby were dismissed Saturday.

Mrs. Ella Shaw is improving nicely and will be able to return to her home soon.

Mrs. Andrew Sanborne was dismissed Saturday.

Onward and Upward—For the Good of Plymouth!

The Future Is Bound To Reward Our Prompt Action.

Did you ever walk up a long, steep hill? Recall, as you neared the top how you had to stop and rest in order to gain new strength before making the final effort to reach the crest? Remember when you started out you thought you could make the entire distance without stopping, but as you climbed on and on, up and up, you became weary and exhausted.

You stopped momentarily. You gasped new strength. You started out again. On and up you climbed. And then you arrived at the crest of the hill! You had reached the top because you had stopped to strengthen yourself for your last final effort. You had won success in the thing you had started out to do!

So it is with Plymouth today. We have come to the point where in our climb forward and upward we have found it necessary to stop for the moment, to check our supplies and to reorganize our forces for the final push that will carry us through the distressing business conditions that confront the entire world.

We had thought we could make the entire climb to the top without stopping. We did better than hundreds and hundreds of others who had made the attempt. Not one of our neighbors climbed so near the crest without stopping as we did and as a result of our ability to go on and on we find ourselves nearer the top than all the others.

But wisdom told us to stop and prepare ourselves for the final dash—that if we did so it would be better and easier for us on the remainder of the trip.

We are now preparing for the final dash—the one that will land us on the crest of the hill if we do the things that will enable us to complete the trip. Briefly when the depression started three years ago no one ever thought that the banking situation in Plymouth would be disturbed. As business grew worse and as banks all around us closed their doors, the Plymouth United Savings bank was no exception. As carrying on as though there was no depression, as carrying on as though banks crashed about us, the "Big Bank on the Corner" stood like a rock. Everyone thought it was at the top of the hill, that it had been able to make the entire climb to the crest without the necessity of stopping for additional strength.

We didn't know how it had been able to do the thing that so many others had been unable to do, but we knew that it had come on from year to year apparently unshaken, that it never once stopped in its service to the progressive little city it had done so much to build.

Doubtless it could have gone on for many months more, but its officers and directors, who are as much a part of Plymouth as the very air that surrounds the city, deemed it advisable to surround the bank with greater safeguards for the remainder of the fight through the depression. That their judgment is beyond question is borne out by the fact that the Plymouth United has weathered the storm longer than any other bank in the metropolitan district of Detroit and that it is NOW in a position to continue its wonderful service to the community just as soon as steps can be taken towards reorganization.

Certainly it must be a most gratifying thing to President Charles Fisher of the bank, to the other officers and directors that in a city of more than 50,000 population no one has criticized their judgment. And what a pleasing thing it must be to them to have a constant stream of business men and patrons, a constant stream of thousands of dollars at stake, going to the bank to pledge their good will and cooperation in any move that Mr. Fisher and the directors might think advisable to take.

The officers of the Plymouth United have won this confidence by long years of honorable banking service. Never have the funds of the bank been used by any one except in the way that the bank's greater safety has been done in so many other places. They surrounded the funds entrusted to them with every safeguard known to banking. As a result of this precaution it can be said without fear of later contradiction that the Plymouth United will pay every depositor in full.

Meanwhile steps must be taken towards the re-opening of the bank which has been temporarily closed to permit of a reorganization under some sort of a moratorium plan. The quicker this is done, the better for Plymouth and the depositors of the bank. The quicker we will reach the crest of the hill!

Let us do the job in a regular Plymouth fashion, so we can get started on the rest of the trip onward and upward! Let us do it ourselves, to the city and to our home of neighbors who have by their long and close association become a part of us. Up and on to a greater and better and more prosperous Plymouth!

Dead Wrong

Muri DeFoe, editor of the Charlotte Republican-Tribune, was born a Republican, reared a Republican and is a Republican. As far as any man knows he has never voted for any candidate for office but a Republican during the half century or more that he has been on earth. He has never been known to admit that a Democrat was right about anything.

Apparently the Democratic victory of last fall has made a pessimist out of him. In the last issue of his paper he declares that if the present Democratic administration does not improve conditions, a Socialist will be elected four years hence to the presidency of the United States.

We cannot in anyway agree with Editor DeFoe. There are enough good men in the Republican party who can win the confidence of the people without going outside its ranks to find a new national leader. We do not mean that men with "big interest" ties can do it, but there are Republicans of the right type who can take the nation out of the dumps it is in.

Michigan has one of this type and he is no other than Alex J. Groesbeck. If he had been continued in power as governor of this state six years ago, Michigan today would not be in the hopeless mess we find ourselves in. Groesbeck is not of the "machine" type politician and he is not a creature of special interests. During the six years he was governor of Michigan he made a record that will stand out for all time as one of the most successful in history. He did it on a state tax and income of considerably less than half of what the state has had to do with since. His economical administration was back in the days of prosperity, at a time when the state and everybody else had plenty of cash to do with. Into Michigan history he wrote his greatest era of advancement.

No, Mr. DeFoe, the people of America will not have to go outside the Republican party to find a leader four years hence if the Democratic party fails in the tremendous task that confronts it.

The Plymouth Mail is not so sure, Mr. DeFoe, that the new national Democratic administration is going to fall in its purpose. We are thoroughly convinced that President-elect Franklin Roosevelt has but one object in view, and that is to serve the best interests of all America and end as quickly as possible the distress we are in. The editor of the Plymouth Mail has followed the Republican party just as loyally and as consistently as has the publisher of the Charlotte Republican-Tribune, but we have the utmost faith in the patriotic Americanism of the new Democratic leaders of our country. We do not believe that they will fall in their purpose and we do not believe that if they should fall that a country of the make up of America will turn to Socialism for its new leadership.

The next presidential election is four years away. Meanwhile let every patriotic American give every assistance to the new administration in its efforts to straighten out the tangled economic problems of our country and forest such a thing as party politics. It is no time for doubt and fear. It is no time to give thought to party affairs—but it is a time for a united American citizenship to display its highest degree of patriotism and loyalty to the officials in power.

A Bit Of Common Sense

Will Rogers in his paragraphs the other day said, "If more concerns were owned individually like his (Ford), and not formed just to sell stock, we would be better off. Is your business in any good, why do you want to let everybody in on it? There is plenty of common sense in what Mr. Rogers says. The downward sluebery that has been committed in recent years through the sale of stocks and bonds has had much to do with the destitute condition of the people of this country, a people who put their faith in these worthless securities because conspiring public officials placed the government stamp of approval upon them. Much of this material could never have been disposed of to the public if it had not been given an official O. K. by the state officials. The legislature has an opportunity to prevent more frauds of this kind from being committed in the future, by the enactment of protective legislation, but you can wager the last cent you have that no law will be passed which will in any way protect the public from the stock and securities swindlers.

A Healthy Sign

During past sessions of the state legislature it has seemingly been one of the greatest ambitions of the members to introduce as many bills as possible, the greater number of bills, the greater being the importance of the services of the legislator. That is, members seem to think so at any rate. The result of such a practice was that the legislature was swamped with hundreds and hundreds of bills to consider. Such a practice could not help but result in a lot of poor legislation being written into the law books of Michigan.

Apparently the newly elected legislature has an entirely different idea of things and they do not propose to lumber up the proceedings with a lot of useless bills for committees to fuss with. The number introduced to date is comparatively low and the party in power has made it quite evident that about the only legislation they intend to follow is that of the administration. Governor Comstock does not propose to introduce many bills, but those he has sent in are of vital importance. The smaller number of bills to be considered will give the senators and representatives the time needed to study thoroughly the important administration bills—and they will need plenty of consideration.

Abraham Lincoln

Sunday will be the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, whose important place in history grows with outstanding brilliancy as the years roll on.

In this year of distress and unemployment, a year of doubt and fear, it is interesting to find that over half a century ago Lincoln uttered a statement that is as applicable today as it was then.

"So long as there is a man willing to work but unable to find employment, the hours of labor are too long."

When Lincoln made that statement the country faced the same unemployment problem that it does today. Possibly the situation was not as serious then as now as the country did not have the automatic machinery question to bother with. But if the business leaders of that time and generation had given some thought to this situation as it might apply to the future, we might not be face to face with the emergency confronting us at this time. Maybe however there wasn't any "big business leaders" big enough to give serious thought to the question then any more than there are today.

No Property Tax

Governor Comstock has had introduced in the state legislature a bill that if passed will for the first time since statehood relieve real estate owners of a general property tax. He proposes to raise the funds necessary to continue the functions of state government by a sales tax. The Governor is right in his plans to relieve real estate of the burden it can no longer pay. But in his sales tax he must so frame the measure that Michigan retailers will not suffer. The three per cent figure on gross sales may be too high. That is one question yet to be decided and the legislature must be careful in what it does.

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

WHERE DO WE GO NEXT?

So long as the world has been developing there have been peoples who have become very much dissatisfied with governmental conditions which have almost invariably been the result of high taxation and similar follies. Up to the present time they have been able to immigrate from whatever section they were in and dissatisfied with, to some new section of the world. A large part of the early immigration to this country was, of course, due to religious differences as well as those pertaining to tax. Now we have got religious differences more, tax differences more, other differences more. Where do we go next? Page the fellow who was manufacturing a rocket ship to the moon—Frank Bryce in The Grand Vedee Independent.

NATIONAL ZERO-HOUR

Faced with actual famine in the midst of plenty, men from the common walks of life are becoming desperate. Workers in large cities rise against starvation wages—farmers in the middle west become angry in temper; politicians continue to wiggle and squirm, with occasionally one of them doing something constructive. America stands at the Zero Hour in this great evolutionary process. What an opportunity for heroic citizenship, truly patriotic!—George Averill in The Birmingham Eclectic.

WEIGHT TAX AGAIN

At last sentiment appears to be coming in in no uncertain terms favoring a reduced auto tax. City newspapers have recently turned their attention to the weight tax question, while Secretary of State Frank Fitzgerald lends endorsement to the proposal. The later puts it in the light of the time to come. He hopes one side of the argument that weight tax is being returned to counties. The distribution of such money returned has been questioned in some quarters, and it is not a one-sided argument by long odds.

It is refreshing, however, to have been encouraged that the unfair weight tax is to be put to a test. This paper has argued for a reduced weight tax, especially on pleasure cars, ever since the promise was made for such a reduction when the gas tax got under way. Two years ago there was some agitation that another cent would be added onto the gas tax and the weight tax reduced accordingly. Rep. Jas. N. McBride was one who sponsored such proposed legislation, but it did not even get a fair start. Undoubtedly for the best, too. The one to the situation today is that the weight tax is too high, and the gas tax is high enough.—Harry Izor in The Durand Express.

SHORTER SCHOOL TERMS

In many Michigan schools this year the terms are being shortened because of the lack of funds. Where school has formerly been held for nine and one-half months the terms are being shortened in some districts to six and one-half and seven months, according to the funds available. Because of the tax limitation amendment adopted at the November election many school teachers are alarmed at the prospects for the coming year.

School financing is being drastically curtailed and the future support of schools may come from new sources. For a year or two until new plans are worked out school financing may be troublesome. But the citizens of Michigan are not going to abandon the public school system. In some manner schools will be maintained.

In the past education has been made to cover a multitude of sins. There is more to education than getting high marks in certain subjects. The schools can not give a complete education. The students and their parents must set out to win an education in spite of systems. Books, conversation and travel can contribute as well as schools. The character of those who teach has more to do with real education than all the degrees issued by all the universities in the nation.

Somewhere just recently we read of a college professor who said, "I want my boy to go to a rural or small town school where terms are short. Then in spite of school he may get an education."

We are not worrying over the school problem beyond a year or two of stringency. An awakening may actually result in a better educational system. One children may, in fact, learn more with shorter school terms.—V. J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

Business Improved During Last Part of 1932 Says Edison Co.

Another indication of a slightly better condition in business is contained in the annual report just made public by the Detroit Edison Company, the utility company that provides Plymouth and this part of Michigan with its light and electric power. The report, which covers the entire year of 1932, contains an encouraging note for the coming year.

While revenues have decreased in the last months of 1932 showed a consistent improvement which the company regards as an encouraging sign. Net income for the year was $6,783,999 against $11,632,514 for 1931. After certain deductions there remained a balance for dividends and surplus of $6,632,238 equivalent to $5.21 per share on 1,272,260 shares of $100 par value outstanding. This compares with $11,429,137 or $8.98 per share in 1931.

After allowances for dividends and after losses, consolidated profit and loss stood at $18,138,103 on Dec. 31, 1932, against $19,097,555 a year ago. Property and plant was carried in the Dec. 31, 1932 balance sheet at $278,933,180 at the close of 1931. Cash increased during the year to $4,910,195, from $2,730,575. Total current and working assets were $20,094,506 on Dec. 31, last, against $20,092,115 a year ago. Current liabilities were $10,710,710.

The year 1932 (the thirtieth year of the company's business) was not one of good earnings. President Alex Dow remarked in his report: "Monthly comparisons with 1931 have been consistently unfavorable. It was the third consecutive year in which earnings were less than in the preceding year and the only time in the company's history in which it has been necessary to report such a succession."

Gross earnings were reduced under 1931 figures by 10.4 per cent. From the average for the years 1928 and 1930 the average 1932 gross is reduced by 16.9 per cent.

The reasons for the reduction of electrical earnings are the same as those which affected 1931, but of greater weight. Mr. Dow said: "However, he noted that 'The return from the sale of domestic electric service has nearly held its own.'"

"Looking only at the latter months of the year 1932," he said, "we observe, in these months an unimpaired increase in the use of industrial power in our territory; far from enough to imply the conditions of past busy years, but nevertheless exceeding in duration and in magnitude any of the intermittent and temporary increases that have happened since 1929. The cause was not a change in the trend of events but it is not discouraging."

President Dow pointed out that the operating ratio has again increased to 84.1 per cent from 84.5 per cent the preceding year. Tax totals are nearly unchanged.

In concluding his report, President Dow said: "There is evidence we would like to prophesy good times, but prophesy means a fluctuating but questionable usefulness; and we therefore offer hope instead of prediction. We have an excellent physical plant and a competent operating staff. The company has no bond maturity until 1940, no bank debt and an adequate cash position."

New Hudson Fights Hard Times Gossip

Last Monday evening, Jan. 23, at 7 o'clock the New Hudson Board of Commerce held a novel meeting at the New Hudson High School gymnasium. The object of this meeting was to elect a most hearty champion to enlarge the membership of the Board of Commerce and to join in the crusade to whip the Old Man Depression. Those present at the meeting were the regular members, and as special guests their wives and the new and reinstated members and their wives, according to a report of the meeting in the South Lyon Herald.

The supper was prepared and served by the Home Economics classes of the High School under the able supervision of their instructor, Miss Kathryn Jenkinson. Two of the purposes for having the Home Economics girls prepare and serve the supper were: (1) As a final examination for them; (2) So that the lady guests would be freed from work for the entire evening. The tables were elegantly decorated in shell pink and apple green, and the menu consisted of escalloped potatoes, sliced ham, salad, rolls, coffee and apple pie.

The program began with a welcome by the President, W. P. Kingsley, and with speeches by A. C. Wells, Lee Pierce, M. E. Hath, and Rev. D. C. Stubbins. The general theme of these addresses was the fine cooperation of the members of the Board and the mention of some of its past achievements such as the construction of sidewalks, the placing of street signs, its part in obtaining fire equipment for the surrounding community, and the widening of Grand River on the south side through the village.

The tables were removed and the program continued with a rollicking six reel comedy entitled, "The Head of the Family." The theme of the picture was the happy opening in the home of a get-rich-quick plumber (sanitary engineer) as the equally quickly refined wife continually reminded her husband, after several spankings and with a two foot pipe wrench, as mace of authority. Fellow husband emphatically asserted himself as "head of the family." Many were the comments on the coincidence of that particular picture and the program for ladies night.

Between reels the guests were favored with songs by Ruby and Melvin VanAmbler, Ruby accompanying on her guitar. This proved to be one of the outstanding features of the evening.

This Woman Lost 35 Lbs. Of Fat

Miss M. Krieger of Brooklyn, N. Y. writes: "Have used Kruschen for the past 4 months and have not only lost 35 pounds but feel so much better in every way. FORMER LOCAL BOY

This firm, one of the pioneers in the field of automotive ignition, later became a unit of General Motors corporation and after working for four years in charge of the experimental drafting room, later became chief draftsman and then supervisor of the plant laboratory. Mr. Hillmer was transferred to the Remy plant in Anderson, Ind., in 1919, a year after G. M. C. had purchased the Remy properties.

In the Anderson plant, which later became the Delco-Remy corporation, Mr. Hillmer's work was that of chief draftsman and head of the tool designing department. Later, without changing his office, he was transferred to the position of production supervisor of the punch press department and later, when a new plant for the production of automobile distributors was built, Mr. Hillmer was made superintendent of the factory that gave employment to 1,000 men.

Shortly after 1928, General Motors purchased the Guide Motor Lamp company in Cleveland and Mr. Hillmer was placed in charge of installing G. M. C. production methods in this plant. Once this program was completed, he became factory manager of this plant as well as a new similar unit in Anderson, Ind.

This employment lasted until 1930 when Mr. Hillmer's appointment as general manager of the steering gear division of G. M. C. in Saginaw came through and he has served in that capacity since. And thus ends the story of the industrial career of Max Hillmer as it recently appeared in the Saginaw Daily News. In this connection it is fitting to say that another Plymouth boy, a younger one, has also established himself in the Saginaw Steering Gear plant. Eugene Starkweather, graduate of the Plymouth High School in 1929, is taking the course in factory management at General Motors Technical Institute in Flint. Mr. Starkweather, who later had one year in chemical engineering at the University of Detroit, became assistant to the chemist at the Saginaw Steering Gear plant. After several months satisfactory service in this capacity, and upon the urgent suggestion of Mr. Hillmer, Eugene entered the factory management class at G. M. C. Institute. He alternates monthly between the steering gear shops in Saginaw and the school in Flint.

LAWMAKERS STUDY TAXES

(Continued from Page One) To the victors belong the spoils is an old political saying that has never meant much in Michigan. Changing Republican administrations paid no attention to the political alliances of an individual. Even Gov. Ferris, the last Democratic governor preceding the present administration, gave little attention to the politics of men appointed. As an indication of how little attention Republican governors thought of the political alliances of an individual, the messenger that Gov. Ferris brought with him to the executive office served through all Republican administrations until the arrival of ex-Gov. Brucker, who relieved him of his duties. But things are different now. Unemployment in the state has created such a terrific demand for jobs that even though Governor Comstock and the other new Democratic state officials should desire to keep many of the old state employees, it would be hard for them to do so. Possibly never at any time in history has such pressure been brought to bear upon a governor for jobs as faced by Governor Comstock. Therefore jobs must be provided. Mr. Starkweather, who later had one year in chemical engineering at the University of Detroit, became assistant to the chemist at the Saginaw Steering Gear plant. After several months satisfactory service in this capacity, and upon the urgent suggestion of Mr. Hillmer, Eugene entered the factory management class at G. M. C. Institute. He alternates monthly between the steering gear shops in Saginaw and the school in Flint.

With the housecleaning that is taking place in Lansing, there is now and then a bit of trepidity written into the story. The new head of one of the departments called one of the elder bookkeepers in his office the other day and told her she was fired. "But I am a widow and have two children to support. I have got to have work, and where else can I go now to find employment?" she protested. "Well if it will be any consolation to you, all of the rest of them in there will be out of a job in a few days," was the response.

The John K. Stack, Jr. family of Escanaba is doing very well in Lansing, thank you. The new auditor general who found a way to use his own office for the benefit of his lumber company's delinquent taxes, has also found a way to add his daughter to a job in his department. The young lady is already receiving pay checks from the state. But there might be a fly in the ointment. The Democratic senate is protesting against more than one member of a family being on the state payroll.

DON'T GET UP NIGHTS

Physic the Bladder With Juniper Oil Drive out the impurities and excess acids that cause irritation, burning and frequent desire. Juniper oil is pleasant to take in the form of BUCKETS, the bladder physic, also containing birch leaves, etc. Works on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. Get 25¢ box from any drug store. After four days if not relieved of "getting up nights" go back and get your money. If you are bothered with backache or leg pains caused from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep. Sold by Beyer Pharmacy, Plymouth, Mich., and C. R. Horton, Druggist, Northville, Mich. Say BUCKETS is a best seller.

SOCIETY AFFAIRS

About fifty invited guests attended the "Hard Time" dancing party Saturday evening given by Mrs. Uno Thompson and her sister, Mrs. Foss De Wind in the Grange hall. Music was furnished by a two-piece orchestra from Wayne and everyone had a jolly good time.

Several attended from Detroit among them being Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood, Mr. and Mrs. C. Wendt, Mr. and Mrs. L. Wendt, Mr. and Mrs. W. Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Packard, Miss Phyllis Snyder and others from Wayne and Plymouth. The guests greatly enjoyed the generous lunch served them by their hostesses.

Mrs. Jason Day and Mrs. Winfield S. Raugh entertained a group of friends at a "valentine" party Monday evening at the home of the former on Virginia avenue. Bridge was the main diversion of the evening at which time Miss Marion Greywater, Miss Camilla Ashton and Miss Doris Williams received the honors. Immediately following a dainty lunch was served the guests at a table beautifully decorated in red and white, appropriate to Valentine's Day. Out of town guests were Miss Marie Dreyer and Miss Norma Savary of Detroit.

A most enjoyable surprise was perpetrated upon Mrs. Henry Hondorp Tuesday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Dohbs, on Furrier street, when twelve old neighbors and friends gathered there for an afternoon of sewing in honor of Mrs. Hondorp's birthday. Mrs. Harold Turner of Dearborn, also a daughter, joined Mrs. Dohbs in entertaining the guests and serving dainty refreshments.

Mrs. Arthur White entertained the Canton Center club Thursday at a most delightful luncheon at her home on the Canton Center road. The guests included Mrs. Perry Campbell, Mrs. Charles Hewer, Mrs. John Miley, Mrs. Zimmerman, Mrs. Owen Schroder, Mrs. Ruth Everett and Miss Naomi Huston.

Mrs. Ralph Lorenz entertained at a delightful dessert-bridge Thursday afternoon at her home on Sheridan avenue, having as her guests the members of the Octette bridge club.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Blunk entertained their card club Thursday evening at their home on Irving street. A delicious cooperative dinner was greatly enjoyed at six-thirty.

Miss Clara DeVitis of Lansing formerly of Detroit, who is secretary to Attorney-General P. H. O'Brien, was a supper guest Sunday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Ball on Blunk avenue.

Mrs. William Arcsott entertained her bridge club Tuesday afternoon at her home on Blunk avenue.

Coming Attractions At Penniman Allen

"FAST LIFE"

The fastest moving action picture of the season comes to the Penniman Allen Theatre, Sunday and Monday, February 12 and 13, with the appearance of William Haines and an all-star cast in "Fast Life," the breath-taking motorboat racing picture recently completed at Catalina Island and in the Los Angeles Harbor.

Haines is given one of the strongest portrayals of his career as the irrepressible "Sandy," a motorboat mechanic who has a new idea for an engine that will break the world's record.

Chiff Edwards pokes his expressive countenance into a series of comedy situations with Haines through which they both have many hilarious adventures. Madge

It Pays To Learn Why Some Folks Are Willing To Turn The Grindstone
The Lincoln used to say, "When you find people over-ready to turn the grindstone it is well to find out whose axe is being ground."

We sincerely appreciate the courtesy, when people whom we have served recommend our services to their friends.
However, we do NOT encourage anyone to praise our services and facilities, at the expense of others. And there is no reason why anyone should do this, for NO ONE outside of those actively engaged in the work conducted by our funeral home has a financial or other interest in this organization which would cause them to make unfair recommendations.

Quite naturally, every member of the Wilkie organization is doing his level best to make both our funeral services and our accident and invalid care services merit your preference. You can expect THEM to be enthusiastic about the advantages which we offer.

You may be sure, however, that there is no one outside of our actively engaged organization who is in a position to benefit, either directly or indirectly, thru recommending our services.

God, and He will draw nigh to you.
Last Sunday, February 5th, we thoroughly enjoyed the preaching service conducted by Rev. A. K. Maclellan. His subject in the morning was 'The Ideal Man—Jesus'. In the evening he spoke on 'The Magnificent of Jesus'. It wasn't the fact that you must be saved to a man's or a woman's, but you must be saved to Christ. An education is one of the most dangerous things in the world—without Christ. The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom; and the knowledge of the holy is understanding.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH
"Christ is the subject of the Lenten services in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, February 5. Among the Bible citations was this passage (Dan. 4:3): "How great are his signs! and how mighty are his wonders! his kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and his dominion is from generation to generation."
Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 100): "The three great virtues of Spirit, omnipotence, omnipresence, omniscience—Spirit possessing all power, filling all space, constituting all Science—contradict forever the belief that matter can be actual. These eternal verities reveal primeval truth. The first of these is God's creation, in which all that He has made is pronounced by His Wisdom good."

Roses of new and unusual shades will be blooming in another four months about 11 new shrubbery. They tell us that some sixteen new kinds of roses have received U. S. Patents last year or so. So now we have some patented roses in Rosedale.
Pussy Willows were gathered last week by some of the Herwick Avenue kiddies. Maybe its Spring after all—but don't boast—but boast, maybe its true.
God-Speed and recovery for little Ann Hirsch was said last Thursday, as she left with her mother and infant sister, Shirley, for to visit with President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt's place at Warm Springs, Georgia, where it is hoped the treatments offered there will aid in her recovery. Constable Albert Hirsch will be taken care of by the DeWitt family for the period that his own are away.

ST. PAUL'S EV. LUTHERAN CHURCH
Livingston Center
Rev. George J. Peters, Pastor
There will be services in the German language in Church on Sunday, February 12. Everyone welcome.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH
"Christ is the subject of the Lenten services in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, February 5. Among the Bible citations was this passage (Dan. 4:3): "How great are his signs! and how mighty are his wonders! his kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and his dominion is from generation to generation."
Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 100): "The three great virtues of Spirit, omnipotence, omnipresence, omniscience—Spirit possessing all power, filling all space, constituting all Science—contradict forever the belief that matter can be actual. These eternal verities reveal primeval truth. The first of these is God's creation, in which all that He has made is pronounced by His Wisdom good."

Supports Position Taken by Learned on Division of County

The position of City Commissioner Frank Learned, who is also member of the Wayne county board of supervisors, relative to the proposed plan to divide Wayne county into two political units, finds editorial endorsement in The Detroit Free Press.

In its Tuesday morning issue, The Free Press said:

The study that several supervisors have been making into the question of dividing Wayne County into two parts has convinced some of them that the suburbs and rural areas are better off with Detroit than they would be without it. Other "secessionists" disagree hotly, and the inquiry is to continue.

Supervisor Learned, of Plymouth, makes a telling point when he declares that if the western part of the County were to set up in business for itself, it would be entitled only to $900,000 a year from the State Highway fund, and be obligated to spend $1,000,000 a year in keeping up the roads and paying for the bonds that have been issued.

Mr. Learned's figures may be estimates, but his analysis of the situation is sound. The Road Commission for years has been getting tax money on the basis of the entire County population, and spending nearly all of it in the suburban and rural areas. And the action of the County in assuming the burden of township bonds has saddled Detroit with the obligation of raising 80 per cent of the money involved, which burden would revert to the shoulders of the rural areas if they should withdraw.

It will be a happy conclusion all around if the study the "secessionists" are making should result in convincing them it is better to stay in the family. The movement to separate is a mistake, we are convinced; present tendencies are all toward integration of political units and formation of larger metropolitan areas.

State Increases in Lamb Feeding

Michigan is the only one of the Corn Belt States which increased sheep and lamb feeding operations over those of a year ago, according to the report released by the Michigan Cooperative Crop Reporting Service at Lansing. The number of sheep and lambs on feed for market in Michigan on January 1 this year is estimated at 2,577,000 head or about 2 per cent more than for January 1 a year ago, and 3 per cent more than the 5-year average number. While the Michigan 1932 lamb crop was only 1 per cent less than that for 1931, receipts of Michigan sheep and lambs at stock yards for the last six months of 1932 were 10 per cent smaller than those during the same period in 1931.

There were 5,230,000 head of sheep and lambs on feed for market in the principal feeding states January 1, 1933, a decrease of 900,000 head or 15 per cent from the revised estimate of 6,135,000 head on feed January 1, 1932.

The estimated number on feed this year was smaller than a year earlier in both the Corn Belt States and in the Western States. The estimated total in the Corn Belt states, including Western Nebraska, was 2,223,000 head this year compared to 2,213,000 head last year and 2,757,000 head two years ago. Of the decrease of about 600,000 head this year, over 500,000 head was in the areas west of the Mississippi River, the largest reductions being in Iowa and Kansas. While there was some decrease in Nebraska as a whole, there were increases in the Scotts Bluff and Central Platte Valley areas.

Takes Million and Half To Run Jails

During the year ending June 30, 1932, a total of 52,157 persons were arrested and confined in Michigan jails, according to the annual abstract of sheriff's reports recently presented to the Governor by the Department of State. For 90 years, state laws have required the annual report to be made by the department.

Of those arrested, 15,985 were charged with major crimes, 34,105 with misdemeanors and 2,067 were not charged with any crime. Of those who were arrested and the 1,774 who were in one of Michigan's jails on July 1, 1931, 2,306 were convicted and sentenced to state prisons; 968 to the Michigan Reformatory; 2,139 to the Detroit House of Correction and 22 to the Boys' Vocational School and 13 to the Girls' Training School.

The report shows that cost of maintaining jails, traveling and other expenses was $1,468,741.

Japanese Babies Never Burden to Their Elders

The Japanese child is king of the universe. He takes the air carried like a precious burden on the back of his elders—father, mother, brother, or sister, for little Japanese girls learn to play with real babies like dolls and the older children do not blush when they have to carry, or hold the hands of younger members of the family.

On the contrary, they are invariably proud, and it is a charming sight to see them showering attention on their little brothers and sisters.

If you want to win the hearts of Japanese smile at their children. At once their inquisitive faces light up with pride. Two hours indicate their satisfaction, and with each bow the child who is strapped onto the back of the elder person bows at the same time, its head swaying, its eyes fixed.

Unquestionably, these are the happiest babies in the world. They never cry or make demands, because their smallest desire is satisfied. They are never pushed aside or treated like negligible quantities. The inhabitants of this country, which is stifled with overpopulation, always seem eager to compress themselves, to become smaller, so as to make room for new arrivals.

Queen Bee Called Upon to Perform Big Task

The most important bee of the swarm (the queen) easily distinguished by her general appearance, is constantly engaged, during the honey season, in laying eggs. As she goes round and round over the surface of the comb, she is accompanied by special attendants, often likened to a royal escort, whose duty it is to feed her.

There may be 50,000 or 60,000 brood cells in the hive which need to be gone over once to twenty-one days, that being the time it takes for an egg to develop into a bee and leave the cell vacant; and such constant production of eggs would be impossible without a constant supply of food.

When she comes to the mouth of an empty cell she thrusts her head into it as if to satisfy herself that it is in proper condition, and then she bends her body and deposits an egg in the bottom. And this routine she keeps up with the monotonous regularity of a weaver throwing his shuttle, or a woman taking stitches in a tabor.—Charles D. Stewart in The Atlantic Monthly.

Shocked Old Nurse

The former chancellor of the exchequer, Neville Chamberlain, was fond of telling this story about himself, says an article in London Tit-Bits.

As a young man, fresh from college, he was accepted one day by his old nurse, who asked him with almost motherly solicitude what vocation he intended to follow.

"Well, Nannie," he replied, "I am thinking of going in for politics."

"Oh Master Neville, dear, don't ye do it," she exclaimed. "Surely one in the family is enough to have in politics, and Master Austen is that one. Don't ye follow his bad example. Go in for something that's useful and honest."

Rivals of the River

The annual sailing-barge race on the Thames is one of the old British sporting events which has been revived during recent years. It had been discontinued for over a quarter of a century, from 1899 to 1927, and when the race was started again in the latter year it was very largely a new generation which took part in it.

But the new men were just as keen as ever the old had been, and the Thames sailing-barge race is now one of the big events of the river year. As a spectacle it is hard to beat, because of the picturesque show which the vessels make and the skill and daring with which they are handled.

Snake's Hard Fate

No other living creature inspires more unreasoning, unreasonable terror than the innocent, stupid, slithering snake. It is his tragic doom to be crushed beneath the heel of some man, and the expression "snake in the grass" exists in our language as a term of approbrium, synonym for deviousness. Furthermore, the snake is the helpless victim of many "fall" stories, such as the one about the danger of swallowing snakes' eggs while swimming, lest they hatch inside one's body, a broad ready-to-bite-if-disturbed—Excuse me.

Ticked Johnny

We waste no sympathy on kindergarten teachers, says a writer in the Kansas City Times. There always is something going on among the fresh young faces with which they have to deal. A teacher told of little Johnny who was overcome with laughter when another child slipped and fell in the class room.

"Johnny," said the teacher reprovingly, "why are you laughing? There is nothing funny about a little boy's falling down."

"It's funny to me," protested Johnny, still overcome. "It's funny to me."

Island Is Nature's Plant Storehouse

Seth R. Turner, well known in Plymouth and who resides on the Farmington road near West Point Park, is greatly interested in information just sent to him by the University of Chicago pertaining to plant life on Bois Blanc Island in Lake Huron just off Cheboygan.

Mr. Turner has been a resident of the island during summers for many years and probably no man in Michigan is better acquainted with it than he is. He has tramped it from one end to the other and he is just naturally interested in everything pertaining to the island.

"Few people realize what a natural beauty spot it is," says Mr. Turner.

"According to the report from this school, there are 35 different kinds of trees growing naturally on the island. Not one has ever been transplanted to the island from the main land. There are 101 different shrubs that exist on the island. Everything from honey suckles, Juniper trees to purple fringed orchids and St. Johnswort shrubbery. The whole island is intensely interesting from the naturalist's standpoint or for any one who loves nature," stated Mr. Turner when in Plymouth a few days ago.

Old Man winter has decided to make up for the snowless and mild January weather (that this state enjoyed). He gave Plymouth this week the heaviest snow fall of the year as well as the coldest weather of the winter. The mercury sank to zero Tuesday night. Wednesday night it went to five, six, eight and some say even ten degrees below.

The county road commission and city officials did a good job in getting rid of the snow that fell.

The city of Detroit in attempting to keep the snow from its streets has had every available truck in the local Matt Powell garage running day and night following crews of shovelers in the down town business section.

Valuable Papers Given University

Letters, manuscripts, military reports, in the handwriting of men whose actions made history, were added to the William L. Clement Library of American History at the University of Michigan during 1933 making it a banner year for the collection, which is fast becoming foremost importance in the field, the annual report of President Alexander G. Ruthven show.

That the Hessians Troops imported by England during the Revolution must have left important written material somewhere has long been suspected by historians. In 1929 such a cache was found belonging to the descendants of Baron Von Jungkau, in Germany. In 1931 the whole collection of 35 letters, written by over 50 Hessian officers, and 42 important manuscript journals and diaries, was purchased for the Library. Historians of the birth of the United States may find in them important and long delayed news of the Revolution.

Not less interesting is the group of 622 letters and documents written by a William K. Proctor, a Marshal from 1756 to 1762, and an important under-secretary of state for the colonies from 1770 to 1782. He served under Lord Dartmouth and the noted Lord George Germain, and was on the "inside" of British secret of the Revolution. In one document he tells of the celebrated carelessness of Germain, which led to the surrender of Saratoga by the British.

Chief Pontiac's famous siege of Detroit, in 1763, is told through the letters of a merchant of the city, James Sterling, whose letters from 1761 to 1765 were kept in a book now in the Clements Library. Many printed books were also added to the Library, according to Dr. Randolph Adams, Director, including a very rare first edition of the first printed account of the Norse Discoveries of America, the Historia Ecclesiastica of Adam of Bremen, published in 1570.

Three bandits walked in on four musicians absorbed in a pinochle game under the stage of a theater in New York City. Two of the bandits set about trying to open a safe. A third, guarding the players, ordered the game to continue. He soon became so interested that he put the gun away and began kibitzing. His advice, the players say, was excellent.

Mail Trimmed By City Service Team

Cities Service fighting for a berth in the coming play-offs easily upset Plymouth Mail team by a wide margin Monday evening. Gas company took shot from all angles which upset Mail's strong defense. The Plymouth Mail team couldn't find the hoop with any success and lost the fight 25 to 11.

Highways fighting five held Walk-Over to a close game for the second half but were unable to stay with it. The shoe boys opened up and took the game by a 32 to 17 count.

Methodist Church sprung a surprise and defeated Schrader's easily. Schrader's were weak on field goal shots and didn't click until the third quarter. Methodists played heads-up ball and took advantage of Schrader's misplays and took the count 21 to 12.

Merchants were lost in their game with Ball Studio and were unable to sink hoops very easily thru Studio defense. Ball Studio passed and shot easily around Merchants defense to net 37 points to Merchants 14.

Games will be played next week on Monday and Wednesday instead of Tuesday with the following pairings: On Monday, February 13, Walk-Over vs. Plymouth Mail, and Schraders vs. Cities Service. On Wednesday, Feb 15th, Ball Studio vs. Highway, and Merchants vs. Methodist Church.

League Standing	W	L	Pct.
Ball Studio	12	0	1.000
Walk-Over	2	2	.500
Plymouth Mail	7	5	.583
Schraders	6	6	.500
Cities Service	5	7	.417
Methodist Church	4	8	.333
Merchants	2	10	.167
Highway	2	10	.167

League play-offs which will include teams having 500 per cent or over will be played at the close of the regular league season, which ends on Tuesday, February 21. It will require two defeats to eliminate a team in this series. The games will be continued on the regular league nights. Monday, February 27 will be the opening night of this elimination.

Ball Studio, Walk-Over, and Plymouth Mail are sure of a position in this series. Schraders by winning one of their two remaining games, and Cities Service by winning both of their games will also be eligible for a position.

OBITUARIES

JENNIE E. WESTFALL
Jennie E. Westfall was born on a farm near Belleville, Michigan January 23, 1871, a daughter of the late Oliver and Eliza Gillespie Westfall. The family subsequently moved to Plymouth where she spent most of her early days.

On March 27, 1895 she was united in marriage to Fred C. Wheeler of Sableville. She spent 25 years of her early married life in that community where she was an active force in the Congregational church. Two children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, Pauline, who passed away in 1903 and Hildreth, who is now Mrs. Harvey Whitney of Ann Arbor.

The deceased moved to Ann Arbor in 1920 where she spent her remaining years. After moving to that city she united with the Methodist Episcopal church, where she was a faithful worker until a few years ago when she became ill. Mrs. Wheeler passed away on February 1, at the age of 62 years, having been a patient and uncomplaining sufferer for nearly two years. Funeral services were held Saturday, February 4th at 2 p. m. from the Schrader Brothers' Funeral home. Interment in Riverside cemetery. Rev. F. A. Burnett of Holly officiated.
