President Franklin Delano Roosevelt

Tomorrow Herbert Hoover retires as president of the United States after four of the most trying years in American history. To the helm of American statehood will go Franklin Delano Roosevelt, an American of highest American ideals. Into his hands falls one of the gravest economic situations we have ever faced.

The new president is a Democrat. He was made president by Republican votes. Hundreds of thousands of Republicans believed last fall they believed now that a political change was needed for the benefit of the country. These Republicans that voted Franklin D. Roosevelt into office did so because of their greater love of country than of party.

In times like these there should be no partyism. The situation is too grave, of too much future consequence to let politicians have anything to do with affairs of government.

The Plymouth Mail during its life of nearly half a century has been a consistent Republican party supporter but like every other good American institution it pledges its wholehearted support to the new Democratic administration in anything and everything it may do for the benefit of the American people. We trust and admire the new president. We believe that his high ideals of statesmanship and Americanism will result in an administration of benefit to the masses rather than of the few.

About Mr. Ford and The Detroit Banks

There has been considerable unsatisfied public interest in the Detroit banking situation as far as it has pertained to Henry Ford. When the holiday was first declared his name was brought into the news by Governor Constock in a very unfavorable light. A New York radio broadcaster on the same date made comment over the air which added strength to what Governor Constock had insinuated about Mr. Ford. But those who have watched the career of Mr. Ford and are willing to give him some credit for the numerous remarkable things he has done, do not believe that he would do anything to injure the banking situation in Detroit.

Now the story is out—no you haven't found it in any Detroit newspaper—and Mr. Ford emerges out of the picture as one of the most patriotic, loyal and sacrificing citizens of Detroit or any other city in the country as far as that matter.

Ed A. Nowack, editor of the Michigan State Digest of Lansing in some way secured the entire inside story of the Detroit banking difficulties. This is what he says in the last issue of his paper that Mr. Ford did for the Detroit banks before they closed: "Coincident with the bank holiday proclamation the governor issued a statement in which he virtually laid the blame for the entire situation in the lap of Henry Ford, a heavy depositor in the Union Trust Company. This information was broadcast. It was about to bring a sharp retort from Mr. Ford when Governor Constock, apprised of the possibility that he had been either incorrectly informed of the true situation, or had been misquoted, telephoned Mr. Ford and certain Ford spokesmen to convey to himself the possibility of error. He immediately thereafter the governor issued another statement retracting his former announcement.

"To many people the part played by Henry Ford in the events leading up to the bank holiday have been part of the 'mystery' of the bank holiday. There is no 'mystery' about Henry Ford in this connection. Here are the facts:

"Henry Ford is not a banker. He has no bank investments. He is not on any bank board.

"BUT HE WAS THE LARGEST DEPOSITOR, BY MANY MILLIONS, IN ALL THREE OF THE INSTITUTIONS INVOLVED. FURTHERMORE HE HAS LEFT HIS DEPOSITS UNDISTURBED, KNOWING THE SITUATION FROM THE BEGINNING.

"HENRY FORD LEFT ON DEPOSIT, LIES TO THE CONTRARY NOTWITHSTANDING $22,000,000 IN THE FIRST WAYNE NATIONAL.

"HE LEFT ON DEPOSIT WITH THE GUARDIAN DETROIT BANK THE GREAT TOTAL OF $31,000,000.

"HE LEFT ON DEPOSIT WITH THE UNION GUARDIAN TRUST COMPANY $7,500,000.

"There is $60,500,000 that Henry Ford could have taken out at any time had he desired. That vast sum represents about one month's running expenses of the Ford Motor Company in normal times.

"It is true that appeals had been made to Henry Ford to save a bad situation by pouring in large sums of money. Three times previously such appeals had been made AND HAD BEEN HEHEDED.

"Edsel Ford made a loan of $5,000,000 in municipal bonds and $1,000,000 in a previous difficulty. At another time he made a note for $2,500,000 which enabled a bank to obtain that great sum from the company. This money was transferred to $3,500,000 from the company's deposit of $1,000,000 to the Group's account to tide over an emergency.

"To date the amount of Ford help personally given and STILL OUTSTANDING amounts to about $20,000,000. This does not include the amounts paid to sustain the stock of the bank on the last occasion however. Henry Ford called a halt. He did not believe anyone could get clear of the debt load by increasing the load. Great pressure was brought to bear upon him. He remained firm. And he remained firm in the face of false reports among which were that General Motors and Chrysler had offered to subordinate their deposits in the Union Guardian Trust Company to secure an R. F. C. loan if he would do the same.

"NEITHER GENERAL MOTORS OR CHRYSLER HAD ANY DEPOSITS IN UNION GUARDIAN TRUST COMPANY AND THEREFORE COULD NOT OFFER THAT AGREEMENT TO HENRY FORD. MR. FORD HAD HAD NO CONTACT WITH THOSE GENTLEMEN OR WITH ANYONE REPRESENTING THEM AND WHEN GOVERNOR CONSTOCK WHO HAD GIVEN CIRCULATION TO THAT REPORT ASCERTAINED THE TRUTH HE PUBLICLY SAID SO.

"Another report was that Senator Couzens and Henry Ford had disagreed about the R. F. C. loan, a report which was entirely repudiated by the fact, that, unknown to each other and upon quite different grounds, both men disapproved of the R. F. C. loan as a constructive solution, or as anything more than a costly and temporary expedient. Neither the Couzens was present at the conference resulting in the Bank Holiday and neither engaged in any of the numerous conferences held during the holiday. Nevertheless they were closely watching the situation with a view to maintaining Michigan banks for Michigan people."

Looting The Public

Once in a while a bit of interesting information as to ways the public is defrauded is revealed through the Congressional Record. In the proceedings of the senate as reported in the Record issue of February 23 there is interesting comment as to ways a great New York investment house used the radio to get people to invest their money in worthless securities.

Quoting from the Congressional Record: "Senator Norris, Mr. President, just a day or so ago, before the Committee on Banking and Currency, it was developed that Halsey Stuart & Co., one of the greatest houses of its kind, if not the greatest, in the United States, had hired a professor out of a university to talk over the radio to the people of the United States. I have heard him, and I suppose all Senators have heard him, telling how to invest money. They call him 'The Old Counselor.' He was a professor from a university. They paid him, I understand, $50 a week. He did not prepare his addresses; Halsey Stuart prepared them. They got them up, and all he did was to read them, and that is one of the ways they operate. That looks a good deal like the methods the public utilities companies have used to control the public during all the years that have passed.

"Here were men and women with some money, say $10,000, perhaps, the proceeds of a life insurance policy, or a widow from a dead husband, wanting to invest in the proceeds, and they were talked to by 'Old Counselor,' hired by Halsey Stuart & Co., paid by them, talking their words, not his, over the radio, giving this advice. They would naturally suppose he was a professor in a university, an economist, an honest man, and that he was giving his own ideas. When I stumbled down, the advice was that the securities they were advised to buy were securities which Halsey Stuart & Co. had for sale and which afterwards became practically worthless.

"Mr. President, I am reminded by the interruptions of the Senator from Oklahoma and the Senator from Massachusetts of one other thing I want to say. I referred to the evidence given by Mr. Stuart, of Halsey Stuart & Co., before the Banking and Currency Committee yesterday and the day before. I referred to the 'Old Counselor' giving advice as to how money should be invested. Let me suppose a case. Suppose the Senator from Oklahoma were walking down the streets of Washington and a widow should come along whom he knew had in her pocketbook the proceeds of a life insurance policy on her dead husband, which she was probably going to the bank to deposit. Suppose the Senator would knock her down and steal the money from her and undertake to escape. The people round about, if they saw what had happened, would seize the Senator from Oklahoma, and if they did not tear him limb from limb—if the mob did not kill him on the spot—he would be sent to prison when he got into court a short time afterwards.

"But what about Halsey Stuart & Co.? This same widow with the $10,000 that her husband had worked out perhaps during a lifetime to accumulate in the form of a life insurance policy, hears the 'Old Counselor' say in effect, 'Why I am a professor in a university. From the bottom of my heart I am trying to give advice to men and women about how to invest their savings. I am the 'Old Counselor.' I advise you to go and buy stock in Mr. Dussell's company. That is the best investment I know of.' When the widow goes to the men who get millions and millions from the poor people of the United States in that manner, in their fictitious securities that they float and sell to innocent and honest people of the country, when they do that kind of thing and take the $10,000 away from the widow, they are considered financiers. They are not punished like the Senator from Oklahoma would be if he stole the money from the widow. I have just supposed. He did not use any deception. He simply robbed her of the money. But Halsey Stuart & Co. used deception. They hired a decoy. They hired a man who is supposed to be an upright man, a professor in a college. They paid him their money. They wrote the articles which he was to read over the radio.

"In the outcome they got the money from the widow just the same as if he had robbed her on the streets of Washington. But the Senator would go to jail because he would be a criminal. Halsey Stuart & Co. are financiers. They are specialists. The professor is a specialist. He is an economist. They are men of high standing, away up at the top of the ladder, and when we want to find out how we are being deceived and how to get out of the depression, we send for such men and ask their advice about how to get out, when they are the men who put us into the depression. We still believe they know how to redeem us from what looks a good deal like destruction."

Talking More Taxes

Bob Humphrey, writing a column in the Chevrolet Observer, says because the gas tax is a fair tax that it is "some tax you can look for with an increase in it this year." There surely is something wrong with the head of any man who talks about increasing taxes in times like these. If the state legislature should be foolish enough to increase the gas tax which it will not do, it would be a safe prediction that the very same thing would happen in Michigan as did to the first class mailing business when the price of stamps was increased from two to three cents—revenues from first class mail dropped way below the amount produced from two cent stamps. No, the people can pay no more taxes of any kind. In fact property owners of Michigan have been crushed into the dust under the tax load they are now trying to carry.

No matter what Governor Constock and the state legislature do, the taxpayer will receive this year less than one-half the income of any of the past five years. People can pay no more. They will pay no more. And if you desire proof of this fact, check over the tax delinquent lists of any township, city or county.

How To Balance The Budget

There has been a lot of talk during recent months about how the federal budget can be balanced.

We know the way—but it will never be done unless we are quite sure.

Here is the way!

Pass legislation permitting the federal government to seize and convert to governmental use all funds that have illegally been taken from the public by the sale of worthless or fraudulent stocks and bonds or through other deceptive practices, such as is being revealed by the senatorial inquiry into the New York stock market deals during the past few years.

This illegally gotten money is somewhere—and the government is the only agency that has sufficient power to find it.

But don't worry, the drafters will be permitted to keep it.

Changing Our Mind

We had thought possibly the Detroit bankers might be wrong in their reported attitude towards out-state banking connections resulting from the banking holiday in Michigan. But since reading a statement by Gilbert Daane of Grand Rapids, who appears as spokesman for the out-state bankers, we have had our minds changed. Knowing Mr. Daane and his part in the nasty mess of the Michigan State College, we are firmly convinced that anything the Detroit bankers propose must be right, if Daane objects to it. Those who followed closely the action of the board of the Michigan State College know how unfair, how questionable was the action taken by that board. Daane is a member of that board and took an active part in putting over the deal that resulted in the release of three HONORABLE and honest members of the faculty. We have a perfect right to judge any public statement he makes about anything by his public acts. Therefore we are firmly convinced that whatever the differences might be between the Detroit banks and the group represented by the fellow Daane of Grand Rapids, the Detroit banks must be absolutely right.

WHAT MICHIGAN EDITORS SAY ABOUT THE BANKING HOLIDAY

DETROIT NO LONGER DYNAMIC MICHIGAN GETS A VALENTINE

Unprecedented is the state-wide banking holiday proclaimed last Friday. One thing is certain, says one of four Gov. Constock, Senator Couzens, Henry Ford or money tycoons sent three million Michiganders a Valentine this year that they won't forget.

Seems as though we recall a similar situation in Chicago some time ago. Didn't the R. F. C. rush millions over the week-end to save the Chicago banks? Why should Michigan be punished by slower functioning of financiers and government authorities after more months of experience in refunding slinky banking institutions, is yet unexplained. If Michigan has been caught in the backwash of a personal and political quarrel involving Senator Couzens, his obstreperous attitude toward the R. F. C. and the emphy of magnate Henry Ford, etc., as charged in certain circles, the Senator and Judge Lacy steps into the picture, as is rumored, the better for Michigan.

For months the giant banks of the state have calmly watched their smaller brethren close. Seemingly indifferent to the welfare of smaller communities, city banks have shrugged their shoulders and intimated something about too many banks to go on, etc., while quietly hoping some day to establish their own branches in bank broke communities. But now the picture changes—because a big boy is in trouble—make all the banks close—save the day for us. Small banks must cease functioning—stand the strains of accumulating risks and all for the sake of the pinch-penny group.

Detroit gets a financial belly ache—and like a bubbling baby needs a special session of the legislature to get the rest of the state to help her over the shoals, and now comes the same appeal to come to the rescue of her banking policies and personal quarrels cast her once dynamic financial ship upon the rocks. No longer dynamic, Detroit presents a pitiful plight of financial and civic distress. Impotent and smeared with corruption and the weight of her own greatness, our once proud metropolitan stands a humble knee—and Michigan holds the bag.—William Canfield in the Livingston County Republican-Press.

BACK TO HONESTY!

Michigan, today in the throes of an almost frantic bewilderment seeking solutions for its banking ills, presents a sorry spectacle to the person who observes the action of machinery to cure the ailment. From Lansing we may expect anything—and get it. From Washington, where in my opinion we should receive GUARANTEED DEPOSIT protection, there is too much apathy and lack of speed. In the meantime, for every hour that this banking chaos lasts, weeks and months—aye, even years—will be required to restore the public's confidence in the alleged protective influences of government as they affect the public's banking relations. Oh, what a day and what an opportunity for HONESTY, SINCERITY, TRUTH, and a host of other sound principles to dominate in human behavior! For, in my belief, it is only because humans have strayed off the straight and narrow road that we have been made miserable and in need in these latter days.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eccentric.

THE BANK HOLIDAY

On Tuesday of last week Michigan's now famous bank holiday was declared. From present indications it appears that the section of the state at least for a few additional days. The bank holiday was an unexpected event. Perhaps it was needed to save us from ourselves. We have now and 10 days to go to get out of the depression. The holiday has caused inconvenience although hardships have been few. These 10 days should have caused us to realize that our fortunes are all bound together. Because our

IMPORTANCE OF BANKS

We believe the holiday was a wise move. As we see it, Senator Couzens was not far wrong in protecting the security of the proposed government loan. Henry Ford had a perfect right to refuse to use his money to guarantee the loan when other depositors refused. In the meantime we are all settling along all right and coming to a better appreciation of the importance of banks in carrying on the business of the country.—Schuyler Marshall in the Clinton County Republican-News.

HITS CHAIN BANKS

One thing has been quite definitely disposed of by the hair trigger banking situation around Detroit—the idea that chain banking is the salvation of our financial difficulties.—Muri DeFoe in The Charlotte Republican-Tribune.

PAGE THE DOCTOR

After the legislature pulls Mr. Stuck's cards out of the fire by postponing all tax sales for a year, declares a moratorium on property taxes, makes it permissible to pay your taxes in ten yearly installments, tells us that the 15 mill tax really means, gives us a beer, adopts a sales tax, an income tax, a head tax and a dog tax, reduces the state tax and loss by borrowing "steep millions of dollars from that easy mark, Uncle Sam, helps the real estate speculators out by paying off the "over" bonds, soaks the rich and provides soup houses for the rest of us, everything is going to be just as clear as mud and everyone will know just where he is at.—Wm. G. Fretz in The Newberry News.

HANDBILL RECEPTACLE

A Holly lady has solved the nuisance of having her front porch all cluttered up with handbills. She has a waste basket in a convenient place with a card, "Throw handbills here." A few days ago over 100 bills of one kind were thrown into the basket in a bunch.—Holly Herald.

Now is the time that all children under eight years of age should be receiving bottled sunshine. Include one tablespoonful of cod liver oil or ten drops of "haliver oil with viosterol" in their daily diets.

Starkweather School Notes

The kindergarten in Miss Cananagh's room made soldier hats of newspapers with red and blue paper plumes, and made red and blue shoulder epaulets. Both morning and afternoon groups had a Washington's Birthday parade. They paraded through the other rooms in the building. Even the kindergartners seem to be getting the jig-saw puzzle craze for during their free work period they are found putting pictures on cardboard and cutting them up into puzzles. The afternoon group made some gingerbread men to illustrate the story they like so much, "The Gingerbread Man."

The class in Miss Sturkey's room are beginning to read in their first grade readers. They made patriotic hats of George Washington. Twelve of the 2B received A's in spelling Friday. In art they made story posters.

The class in Miss DeWade's room are going to write a play. The four grades are doing creative work in poetry.

Lillie Yickstrom won the spelling down last Friday in Miss Hunt's room. The fifth B language class made some booklets on Washington. The fifth B and four A geography class are having slides on Canada and Middle Atlantic States. They are giving interesting reports on them. Nine received stars in spelling for the month of February. The fifth B arithmetic class went up one point on their progress chart.

Progressive Dinner Featured

Did you ever realize what an important part women have played in the history of the world? Realizing that some girls didn't the Senior Girl Reserves had "Famous Women" as their topic last Friday and various interesting reports were given. Membership cards were filled out to be mailed in, and a small business meeting held.

After reading a selection from the handbook, the fourth grade Girl Reserves discussed the symbol of the club, a triangle. Membership cards were distributed and final plans for a progressive dinner made. It was only a four course dinner but it took them from 4:30 to 7:00 to make the rounds. First course at Alice Drough's was a fruit cocktail; second roast pork, apple sauce, and creamed potatoes at Joan Cassidy's; third, hot and cold rolls; and finally dessert at Rosemary West's (this was cake and cocoa). After this they came to the basketball game. In this week's serving they recognized Elizabeth Whipple and Jean Joliffe. They will hold their Circle of Light ceremonial in Miss Henry's room fifth hour.

Class Notes

One of Mr. Latture's public speaking classes is studying the five aims of public speaking. It is giving a series of information talks. This week the talk is about the Bank Holiday. The other class is studying debating, carrying on a series of debates on school, city, county and national problems.

The 10 A English class is studying the business letter.

The 10B English class is learning how to explain clearly and accurately.

The clothing classes are sewing for the Kof Cross.

The second advanced foods class is studying the correct diet for overweight and underweight people. The commercial home economics class is studying the buying of textile, if a bargain is really a bargain, and the removing of stains from different kinds of materials.

Editorial

WHAT IS AN EDITORIAL?

The most prominent questions concerning journalism center around the Editorial, which work is originated by Benjamin Franklin in the early part of the eighteenth century. Just what is an editorial? How is it written? What is its purpose? And many other questions too numerous to mention are asked concerning this particular part of the papers and magazines.

The editorial is the leading article of a newspaper or magazine, giving the editor's opinion on some subject of interest to the readers. It should not be a place to air grievances, to reform the students, or to detour one's energies to things over which one has no control; it should be devoted to students' problems which ought to be solved by the students.

The essentials of good editorial writing consist of three steps: (1) knowing how to gather the material needed; (2) knowing how to organize this material; (3) presenting it in the most effective form. The editor should have a definite conception of the object to be accomplished, and set it forth in speech known to the readers. Dr. Frank H. Vitzel, foremost American lexicographer, makes the following remark: "The true lover of words is one who treats them as he does his pets. He calls them by name; he loves each for its own sake, and he uses them with care. He seeks the one word he needs until he finds it." Sir James Barrie offers the following advice: "Clearness is absolutely essential. It is not enough to use language that may be understood—it is necessary to use language that cannot be misunderstood. Whether we agree with the author or not, we should never be in doubt as to what he means."

The editorials should fulfill the following four functions: (1) to explain the meaning of the news; (2) to comment on events constructively; (3) to arouse continuous and desirable action; (4) to stimulate creative thought.

There is often complaint of the lack of student interest in the subject matter of the classroom. Civic, history, science, and other subjects have been made fascinating to the students through view of the developments in their individual fields through the editorial. The editorial is a real opportunity because it conveys some valuable and interesting reading material.

Habits Determine Character

for ourselves in this world by habitually fashioning our character in the wrong way. Could the tongue but realize how soon they will become mere walking bundles of habits, they would give more heed to their conduct while in the plastic state. We are spinning our own fate, good or evil, and never to be undone. Every smallest stroke of virtue or of vice leaves its never-so-little scar. The drunken Rip Van Winkle, in Jefferson's play, excuses himself for every fresh dereliction by saying, "I won't count this time. He may not count it, and a kind Heaven may not count it, but I am being counted now, the less. Down among his nerve cells and filios the molecules are counting it, registering and storing it up to be used against him when the temptation comes. Nothing we ever do is in strict scientific literalness, wiped out. Of course this has its good side as well as its bad one. As we become permanent drunkards by so many separate acts and hours of work. Let no youth have any anxiety about the upshot of his education, whatever the line of it may be. If he keeps faithfully busy each hour as well as his bad one, he may safely leave the final result to itself. He can with perfect certainty count on waking up some fine morning to find himself one of the competent ones of his generation in whatever pursuit he may have singled out." James, Psychology.

Freshman Declamation Contest

From the ninth grade English classes the following people were picked by Miss Perkins to try out for the Declamation Contest Wednesday, February 22: Harry Fisher, Donald Thrall, Myrtle Savery, Mary Jane Gamble, Russell Kirk, Clinton Ledford, Leora Ford, Marvin Criger and Jeannette Bauman. The judges, who were Miss Perkins, Miss Wells, and Mr. Latture, picked Harry Fisher, Myrtle Savery, Russell Kirk, and Mary Jane Gamble to participate in the finals, to be held Monday, February 27.

Those who tried out Thursday, February 23 were the following: Gwendolyn Dunlop, Carl Stapp, Richard Miller, Ruth Wilson, Jean Roediger, Jean Brocklehurst, Francis Bridge, Phyllis Stewart, Dorothy Adams, Alice Williams, Iola Curtis, and Ethel Rebitzke. The same judges picked Carl Stapp, Richard Miller, Jean Roediger and Gwendolyn Dunlop.

Large Crowd Attends Gymnastic Exhibition

A very large crowd attended the U. of M. Gymnastic Exhibition last Thursday night at the Plymouth high school auditorium. All seemed very pleased with this exhibition and went away feeling that they had gotten their money's worth.

Mr. Matheson introduced the coach of the team in turn Coach Parker introduced each one of the persons on the Gymnastic team.

The program began with an overture (piano) by Paul Tompkins. The team then presented a free hand drill which consisted of various turning up exercises. Following this the team, including Coach Parker, gave an exhibition on the parallel bars. In this task each member of the team gave his different acts. The Morris dance followed this in which each member kept perfect time with the piano. The exercises on the side horse were very short but they were also very interesting and difficult acts. Indian club swinging was next and each person kept in time with the piano.

The Comedy Parallel Bar Act was next put on by Coach Parker and Ellsworth. They had the crowd just roaring with laughter. During the intermission Paul Tompkins played popular songs and he also played steadily during each act.

The whole team gave an exercise on the horizontal bar, with comedy acts. Next was the Silver Wand drill. Each of the acrobats had silver wands with which they did an exercise while the wands sparkled and gleamed at every motion. Tumbling and acrobatics were done by Ellsworth, Parker and Tompkins. They built pyramids of mats and parallel bars and then they gave a pennant to the smallest member on the team, which said "Michigan" on it in large gold letters. Then they gave a pep yell and threw him into the air and while he was in the air he held up his pennant and then they caught him in their arms.

It's Nearly Spring

A fellow shure kin find plenty to write about in study halls these days even tho the teacher in charge maintains perfect order. This is terrible weather to have school in, the sun is shinin' and it's so warm. Sum of the kids in this here study hall are expressin' their emotions by yawnin'. Everyone, includin' the teacher, seems all fired out.

I gess the Donnelly Twins, Ann and Mary, 'ave bin talkin' too much cuz Miss Wells made them take separate seats.

Here comes Jim Latture with that usual hangle look on his face and now he's askin' Miss Wells if she 'ave anythin' to eat in her room. If I tho she had, I'd go with him, but I gess she hasn't cuz Jim's got out of the room and he isn't smilin' like he usually does when he finds somethin' to eat. Too bad Mr. Latture, try the lunch room next.

I just can't seem to consentral on this French. Believe me, "Les Trols Mantequaters," isn't so easy. I gess I'll ask Miss Hearn if she 'ave anythin' that is easier to read than this.

Bill Ray just got his seat changed.

Busy People

Have you strolled into Miss Henry's or Miss Kee's room lately after school? She has earned her letter, unless you are one of these busy juniors.

These rooms certainly are beginning to look the way Miss Fiege's room did before the Senior Prom, and eleventh grades are found hurrying in and out of them almost any time during the day. They are working hard in order to be ready for March 17. Almost any hour of the day girls are found in Miss Kee's room making roses and more roses. Even the boys are found once in a while making them but more often they are found carrying long wooden things that no one can figure out just what they are.

Frank Jones and his orchestra have the contract. You know he (Frank) is a brother of Isham Jones, the famous orchestra leader.

Ed cuz Melvin Blunk was askin' him how he can climb stairs—sneakily, unappreciable, outrage, infuriate! There I go, thinkin' about a declamation I herd Brulah Starkweather give last week.

I kin hear the Girls' Glee Club singin' now and it makes me think of spring 'all the more. "Buns" 'ez a peculiar look in her eyes, and I'll bet it's about Bill she's a thinkin'.

There goes the five minute bell and the teacher is askin' us to please see that all the paper is picked up. Ho hum! Only one more hour to go! A Wanderin' Reporter.

Student Council Economy

Because of financial difficulties the Student Council has found it necessary to reduce the percent of Stunt Night profits given to the winning classes and to cancel the annual Honor Banquet. The profits of Stunt Night will not be split fifty-fifty but will go seventy percent to the Student Council and thirty percent to the classes.

Dear Question Box Editor: I read your column very enthousiastically and appreciate your helpful advice. Tell me how can I tell if I am in love? Silas.

A. Ask Geraldine Schmidt. Experience is the best teacher.

Ad. Lib.

Although this comes as a major blow to many of you who thought me dead, I hope there will be no harmful results. I have been quite flattered during the past few weeks when various people strolled up to me and inquired after old collymore. But here it is once more staring you in the face and may you prosper by it, or something.

A great many people have been asking me and other members of the staff what became of the senior nicknames I was publishing at one time. Well, I'm going to confess and tell you what did happen. You see, I had a list of seniors on a piece of paper. And opposite each name I wrote what seemed to me an appropriate nickname, one which would describe in some way the style, actions, or habits of these various seniors such as over-house Barnerman, Well, all we need for a few weeks until came the time for the third group of names to go up, and I'll be darned if I could find my list! And what is more when I tried to make out a new one, I could think of scarcely a single nickname. You can readily see the time I was in. So I decided just to forget about the whole affair, but apparently I can't do the persisent inquires of well meaning students. Maybe some day I can work out a new list and stick it in, or I might even find the old list.

Well, I guess the Prom was quite a success and to some, the hours following the Prom were even more so. At least that is the opinion of Ed Murphy, Bill Tuck, Dave Mather, Ernie Archer, Kenzie Greer, and many others. Even at this late date the mystery as to what two couples caused all the disturbance at the barbecue has not been solved. However, there are some valuable clues in the fact that Sheldon is scarcely on speaking terms with Marge and Randall.

Our scientifically minded young student, Miss Claire Shontz, has gathered together many figures which go to prove these two things: (1) If, for example, Miss Allen had muffled, shrilly, spoken, or whispered the words "Drive on," someone had driven an automobile 4,237 1/2 feet, the total accumulated distance would be equal to three times the earth's circumference plus a trip to Chicago and back; and (2) if every piece of muscle that Mr. Evans has tried to play, played, or mastered would be sufficient to break the cartrains of a 63 year old elephant from a distance of 373,486 miles. Tosswell!

But now folks, time space, patience, endurance and what have you grows short and so we'll have to call this little chat to a close, much as I hate to do so. Well, what is left to say but "So long darlings. I'll be a seeing of you." S.O.S.

Following the very pleasing program the ladies did "chatter" and solved how it all came about, namely that the Buick dealers of Pontiac are sponsors for the "Sisters of the Skillet" program and had dedicated it to them by the request of their hostesses.

The Civic Pride Association of Wayne county school forests places the plan at distinct advantage immediately, contrasted with forests which might be located remotely from ready markets necessitating long hauls with products.

School forests are little known in this section of Michigan. Perhaps better known is a community forest or city owned forest. In the lower peninsula of Michigan are 12 school forests ranging in size from five acres to 120 acres, and in the upper peninsula are 25 school forests ranging in size from 20 acres to 100 acres, all of recent origin. The movement is seen to be gaining rapid momentum. Incidentally there are 11 community forests in Michigan ranging in size from five acres to 80 acres.

Self-supporting rural schools; urban and metropolitan schools; pay for all or paying a substantial portion of their own expenses; and students acquiring first hand information of forestry practices such as planting, silviculture, mensuration, fire protection, marketing, etc., is a picture of practical proportions, declared Mr. O'Neil.

"A school forest," he said, "for revenue purposes should be not less than 100 acres, subject to serial addition as circumstances permitted. Wooded land is, of course, preferable. Unplanted land can be planted at little or no cost, since planting stock is available free for this purpose from Michigan State college and the State Conservation department."

The principal problems to be encountered in establishing school forests are land acquisition and capable management thereof. Acquisition of land can be accomplished by purchase or donation. In order that the land shall be tax free, it must be owned by the municipality or school district. Sections 2 and 6 of the Municipal and Community Forest Act of the 56th Michigan legislature, session of 1931, provide methods of land acquisition. A second favorable feature of the proposal is that no enabling legislation is needed. The necessary legislation is on the books and in effect now. The act defines a municipality as any county, township, city, village or school district. Practical benefits accruing to public schools and municipalities were envisioned with passage of the act in 1931.

The graduate forester, experienced, is sufficient to direct all management operations of school forest lands in Wayne county. His time and services could be pro-rated among the various school districts in Wayne county. Labor when needed could be taken from township welfare lists. In later years, when welfare programs will not be so pressing, school youths or rural labor can be recruited. Meanwhile, depending upon the character and size of the school forest area, a perpetual financial income is being established from the school forests.

This entire plan, in order to become workable and be successful, requires a long view peculiar to the forestry profession. Without the vision essential to long term planning, the work may as well not be attempted.

In Zurich, Switzerland, according to reliable authority there is a forest that has been under forest management for over 1,000 years and yields a net revenue yearly of from $20,000 to $30,000 which is at the rate of $4.70 to $7.00 per acre per year. Another illustration of the value of a managed forest is furnished by the village of Orson, Sweden. The people of this town are tax free and have free street car service, telephone, library, schools, etc. In Germany, one town uses a portion of its forest as a city treasury and proceeds for public improvements. In place of issuing bonds for a new school house, public building or other municipal improvements the town cuts sufficient timber from the reserve section of its forest to meet the cost in many instances, and in Switzerland and other European countries, the revenue from the municipal forests pays all the local taxes.

Several from Newburg attended the funeral of Harvey Meldrum at Plymouth Wednesday afternoon. He was well and favorably known here.

SCHOOL FORESTS IN WAYNE COUNTY COULD BE MONEY PRODUCERS

PROMINENT PLYMOUTH FORESTER TELLS HOW IT COULD BE DONE

Establishment of school forests of sufficient size in each school district, on unplanted acres of land or on land now timbered with virgin, second or third growth would provide the nucleus which public schools in the course of a period of years can build a source of revenue to pay a part or all operating expenses. This proposal reached the Plymouth Mail through an interview with Murray G. O'Neil, graduate forester who is one of the best known foresters in Michigan. The proposal is a remedial measure designed to offset curtailed educational programs resulting from the 15 mill tax limit amendment.

This plan is particularly applicable to length of school or township school, and in its initial development, should first be applied to schools of a rural type to prove its practicability and worth. Mr. O'Neil pointed out.

Products to be derived from such forests are lumber in long and short lengths, sawlogs, maple syrup and sugar, and Christmas trees. Benefits are revenue to schools, watershed protection, and an outdoor laboratory for students to study forestry practices and observe nature's processes.

Proximity of Detroit markets to products of all proposed Wayne county school forests places the plan at distinct advantage immediately, contrasted with forests which might be located remotely from ready markets necessitating long hauls with products.

CRITICAL PROBLEMS

of the mandate of these two committees, banking legislation that will in some measure protect at least a portion of the savings of Michigan people is under consideration.

The bank calamity brought upon Michigan over night has apparently put a stop to all talk of chain or branch banking in Michigan. The fact that it was the Guardian group of banks spreading across the state that found it necessary to appeal for the state aid that resulted in closing 530 banks in the state last eight days has made the legislature a bit shy of branch banking legislation.

The appearance of one or two bills dealing with insurance matters has brought forth the information that there is a very strong possibility of plenty of drastic insurance legislation before the present session of the legislature is over. Fire insurance premiums have remained very high it is pointed out while everything else has gone down. Numerous complaints over settlements of losses and other practices of companies is said to be the basis of considerable proposed legislation along insurance lines.

Representative Gus Hartman of Houghton, with Mr. Brown, were the only two members of the commission re-elected.

We Make All Arrangements

When death occurs at a hospital in a distant city, it is still possible for the relatives to make all arrangements through a local funeral director. This is always appreciated, as it obviates the necessity of dealing on so delicate a matter with unknown parties.

We are able to handle such assignments with the same thorough attention to details as when death occurs at home. If it is impossible for a member of this organization to reach the scene in time, we have connections with out-of-town funeral directors who will act as our agents.

When this procedure is followed it assures the family of sympathetic service and the protection of their interests.

Among the Bible citations was this passage (John 1:14): "And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, and we saw his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth."
Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 320): "Divine Truth must be known by its effects on the body as well as on the mind, before the Science of being can be demonstrated. Hence its embodiment in the incarnate Jesus,—that life-link forming the connection through which the real reaches the unreal. Soul rebukes sense, and Truth destroys error."

Special meeting of the men's club Tuesday evening, March 7th, at 8 o'clock. The Men's club of the Northfield Lutheran church and some friends from Detroit are expected for this gathering, so we expect a 100% attendance from our own men.
Lenten mite boxes have again been placed into the homes of our members for use during Lent. It may gratify you to know that the Christmas Mite Boxes returned us $84.
Subject of the Lenten Sermon for March 5th: "The People Redeemed."—L. John 2:2.
The Fathers and Sons banquet was a great success from every angle. We were indeed all most surprised and pleased, when we found that we had not the room to contain all who attended, and some of us had to yield our places to others who came a bit late. The attendance figure was either a bit below or above 100. Not had for these "Oliver Goldsmith" toastmaster, had prepared an interesting, snappy program liberally interspersed with appropriate recitations and songs. Ray van Wolkenberg of Northville was the artist who graced the program with several of his beautiful renditions. Some songs of old times were sung in chorals by the assembly and a speech was made by the pastor.
The ladies of the Ladies' Aid Society had built up and served a most savory banquet to the exclusion of which the twice-emptied plate and depleted harber gave mute evidence. So, filled by the noise in body and soul, the assembly broke up after the singing of "America."

Coming Attractions At Penniman Allen

"PAROLE GIRL"

What happens to a young girl out of prison on parole, is the theme of "Parole Girl," a Columbia feature which opens at the Penniman Allen Theatre Saturday.

March 4. Mae Clarke appears in the title role. Ralph Bellamy plays opposite, with Marie Prevost, Hule Hamilton and Ferdinand Gottschalk in prominent parts.

The production concerns a young girl innocently drawn into the confidence game by a slick racketeer, who through aiding her father at some time, holds her under obligation.

"CHILD OF MANHATTAN"
"Child of Manhattan," a delightful and intriguing screen story will be shown at the Penniman Allen Theatre Sunday and Monday, March 5 and 6.

Starring the vivacious and beautiful Nancy Carroll, "Child of Manhattan" proves to be not only a parcel of fine entertainment but it also contains such attributes as a fine mounting and story twists that reach a new and welcome level in suspense.

Wise selections of the principals also have unearthed a new romantic screen combination. Miss Carroll is ideal as the dance hall girl who gives her love to the handsome, rich New York man-about-town, which in turn is ably portrayed by that favorite of the musical photoplays, John Boles.

They have advised us also that the bill just passed by the congress of the United States and signed by the President gives the Comptroller of The Currency power to extend to this and all other National banks the same privileges that new banking legislation extends to state banks in Michigan.
