

CHANGE COURSE OF ROUGE RIVER NORTH OF CITY

Stream To Flow Through New Channel Near Six Mile Road

Kicked about and shoved here and there as though it didn't amount to anything at all, the Rouge river will soon be flowing through another channel for a considerable distance between Plymouth and Northville.

Twice before the course of this tributary river has been changed. Maybe that's the reason it went on a rampage a few weeks back and tore up its banks and tried to wreck the Phoenix dam.

The river course was changed a couple of years ago between the Pere Marquette tracks and the north boundary of the Plymouth-Riverside park.

Then a year ago a portion of the river channel was changed just west of the Ford Waterford plant. Now for the convenience of engineers and bridge builders' the river will soon flow through a new channel where the six mile road crosses it.

The river is going to be moved about two hundred feet from its present course for a distance of 700 or 800 feet and when the new bridge is completed a steam shovel will open the river bank and let it flow through the new course that has been dug for it.

The improvement is all a part of the parkway project that Wayne county is building and that will add much to the attractiveness of this part of Wayne county.

BAPTIST MISSIONARY TO SPEAK SUNDAY

CHURCH OF OPEN DOOR BRINGS MISS YERGER TO PLYMOUTH

Miss Esther Yerger, before sailing for the Orient, under the leadership of the Association of Baptists for Evangelism in the Orient, Inc., a faith mission society of the Church of the Open Door this Sunday morning at ten o'clock.

Miss Yerger who will be backed by this church will give a graphic description of the work in the Philippines. It was only a few years ago that the mission work of spreading the gospel began in the Philippines. Since then, a fine church has been built with a membership of over 400. Following that an Evangelistic Institute was built in Manila which graduates students with a full Bible training fitting them for future work in the field.

The policy of this mission is to look to God alone for its necessary funds. They stand foursquare on the fundamentals of God's Holy Word.

The public is invited and heartily welcomed to attend this or any of our services.

The Household Furnishings club of Plymouth will have a picnic luncheon at Riverside at one o'clock on Friday, June 2. At that time the group will organize for next year. So it is hoped that all who care to join in next year's course will come. Everyone is to bring their dishes and sandwiches for themselves. The regular members have an additional dish to pack. Everybody come to this last meeting.

KWANIAN'S UNDERTAKE CIVIC DEVELOPMENTS

The depression was placed in the background last Tuesday evening when members of the local Kiwanis club appointed a committee to undertake a series of civic projects in and around Plymouth. At the suggestion of numerous members several possible undertakings were placed on the table for discussion and two likely projects developed.

A committee headed by Glenn Smith and composed of Mayor Freeman Howe and Norman Denon started work early this week getting estimates on the price of signs directing motorists in and through Plymouth to other neighboring towns. It was pointed out at the last meeting that for visitors to drive into the town and attempt to find their way into Detroit it was very confusing. Therefore it was suggested that signs not only

WORLD RECORDS TO BE GIVEN TEST AT COUNTY AIRPORT

Show At County Airport Will Draw Big Crowds

On Sunday, June 4, at 11:30 a. m., an air show featuring glider flying will be staged at the Wayne County Airport.

The following glider clubs will be represented: University Glider Club of Akron, Ohio; the Goodrich Glider Club of Akron, Ohio; The University of Michigan Glider Club of Ann Arbor; the A. B. C. Glider Club of Detroit; and in addition Professor Franklin of the Arbor, and Messrs. Holmese and Leister of Wyandotte, will have entries.

With the Goodrich Glider Club of Akron, comes Bud Southerland who holds the world's record for looping a glider, and attempts will be made to break this world's record of thirty-four consecutive loops. An attempt will also be made to break the record of duration of glider spins. Among the contests will be duration and distance flights, spot landing, utility contest, double and triple toe airplane starts with acrobatics after release, bomb dropping contest, shock cord launching, and in addition, there will be many demonstrations of stunt flying such as whirlspins, whogovers, split-S turns and Luchmann turns.

These features are very thrilling to the observers, and the fact that gliders perform such stunts much closer to the ground than is the case with powered airplanes.

Such contests as duration and distance flights, utility contest, etc., will begin at 11:30 in the morning, while the others will carry over into the afternoon.

It is suggested to those contemplating attending, that they either bring their lunch or take advantage of the light lunches which will be obtainable at the Airport; thus adding to the whole show.

Adequate parking facilities will be made available on the Airport, and to properly see and hear the description of the various contests, the public address system, the public should assemble at the main hangar. There will be no admission charge nor parking fee, as everything is free to the public.

Wayne County Airport is located on Middle Belt Road where the Washtenaw crosses about three miles south of Michigan avenue.

Mrs. Albert Schroder, Mrs. John Schroder of this city and Mrs. Herbert Meredith of Detroit were among those who attended the delightful bridal luncheon and miscellaneous shower given Saturday by Mrs. Blanche Cooper at her home on the Wayne Road honoring Miss Blanche Bell, who is to marry Earl Sharp of Detroit on Saturday, June 3. The wedding to take place at Miss Bell's home in Birmingham. Each guest gave Miss Bell their favorite recipe. For entertainment the guests took part in guessing contests. There were twenty ladies present from Southfield, Birmingham and Plymouth.

PLYMOUTH YOUTHS AT OLD FT. WAYNE

Plymouth's first contingent of boys for the Citizens Conservation Corps left last Thursday for Fort Wayne where they will remain for a period of two weeks training. After the training period, the boys will be assigned to forest camps in this or some nearby state.

Every boy sent to Plymouth was accepted in the first examination and it is believed that all will live up to the requirements and pass the final tests.

The boys were taken to camp in cars furnished and driven by several of the very many Plymouth ladies. The arrival of the Plymouth boys in camp was quite a contrast with several other contingents who were brought in auto trucks or were left to hitch-hike their way to camp. The boys appeared very much pleased with it, in which they were taken to camp.

The scene at Fort Wayne was a vivid reminder to the World War veterans at least of the days of 1917-18 when the civilians were brought into the contentions and a few weeks later moved on as trained soldiers. The scene at Plymouth today was about the same as those mustered into service 15 years ago and about the same spirit prevailed among the boys as prevailed during the World War days. The difference, of course is that the implements of 1917-18 were rifles, bayonets, grenades, etc., while today the boys are furnished with tools for use in the forests where they will do constructive work.

Miss Marion Terry had as her guest over the week-end Mrs. Beatrice Kellenburger, a student at the Michigan State Normal College in Ypsilanti.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION TO BE MONDAY, JUNE 12

Two Members Up For Re-election Opposed By Ruth Huston-Whipple

On Monday, June 12, will occur the annual school election, a notice of which appears in this week's issue of the Plymouth Mail.

There are three candidates contesting for the two board memberships, James J. Gallimore, president of the present board, and Russell A. Roe, treasurer of the present board, are candidates for re-election. Ruth E. Huston-Whipple is candidate for election to the board membership. All three candidates are outstanding in their qualifications and ability and will increase to render public service.

Also, a letter will be sent at the office of the superintendent of schools, Friday, June 2, or any time thereafter.

Members of the EX-Service Men's club and the American Legion of Plymouth attended the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning to hear an inspirational message on "Monstrous Day" delivered by Rev. Walter Nichol.

The two groups assembled at Jewell and Blitch hall with the Gold Star mothers of Plymouth, the wives of civil war veterans and the only remaining civil war veteran able to attend, Arthur Stevens. They marched to the church in a body.

Sunday afternoon the two clubs attended services at the Newburg M. E. church where services were held under the direction of Thos. Pryor, minister. Services were later held in the Newburg Cemetery where flowers and flags were placed on the graves of veterans there.

A firing squad under the command of John Strout fired a volley while the program was in progress. The services closed by the sounding of this by Forbes Smith.

Lausling, Mich. When the voters of Michigan went to the polls a year ago and voted to change the system of taxation in this state, hundreds of thousands of them did not realize that they had endangered the educational system of Michigan. Little did they think that through their vote they would have drastic action of some kind, which would deprive the boys and girls of Michigan of their educational opportunities.

School leaders by working night and day have worked out a plan which is being put into effect in village and city public schools of Michigan can be continued as in the past.

Through a bill that was prepared by Representative Thomas Thatcher of Muskegon, for many years a well known educator in the western Michigan and Representative Don Stover of Midland, a former educator, it is proposed to take $15,000,000 from the sales tax revenues that are to be collected and divert these funds to the schools of the state. This sum will be handled just as has been the primary school fund of the past.

The entire $15,000,000 will not go directly into the primary school fund, but the measure provides that ninety per cent of it shall be held in a fund which will be used to help build up the poorer districts. This part of the measure supplants the Turner act which had for its object the aiding of the poorer schools but in reality did not work out just that way. The Thatcher-Sias bill provides this only to the only the better schools receive its benefit.

These two members of the house have had the assistance of Supr. Webster Degeare and a large number of other prominent educators of the state.

When there has been a general fear that the educational system of Michigan was the object of a general attack on the part of many who think too much money is spent for the education of the children, when the crisis arrived in the legislature, only to be met by the farmer who not thoroughly in accord with the plan to keep Michigan's educational standards as high as present conditions will permit.

Former State Representative John Epie who during the many years he was a member of the state legislature as a representative of the farmers of the state, declares after making a careful study of the numerous sales tax bills before the legislature that Michigan farmers are going to pay just as much as they ever did. Under the new sales tax system that is sure to be adopted, there is no way the farmer can escape paying this tax. In fact there are others associated with the legislature who have the same idea as Mr. Epie. Some even go so far as to say that the farmer will pay more than ever before. Only time will tell.

Senator Francis Kulp of Battle Creek, outstanding member of the state senate who came into the legislature when the Village of Land slide last fall, is bitter in his denunciation of lobbyists who come to Lansing to influence legislation. Not only does he assail lobbyists of special interests but he berates and condemns in strong terms township city, county and village officials who swarm the legislative halls trying to get the legislature to do this or that which will help out these office holders. So increased is he at the efforts by officials of municipalities, counties and townships to influence legislation that

DOG OWNERS MUST GET NEW LICENSE

All 1932 City of Plymouth dog licenses expire at midnight May 31st. Owners of dogs in the city are advised to obtain new 1933 dog tags at once. Shortly after June 1st a canvass of the city will be made to determine the dogs who are not licensed.

The City Commission has arranged a change in the Dog Ordinance which will strengthen some of the provisions of the old ordinance and give the police officers greater powers in enforcing the same.

All dogs are to be vaccinated and the certificate of vaccination must be presented at the time of applying for the license. The license fee for male or unsexed dogs is $3.00 per year and $2.00 per year for female dogs. The fees for unvaccinated dogs in four times the fee for vaccinated dogs.

All dogs found without licenses will be impounded and not released until the pound fee and proper license fee has been paid.

LEGISLATURE PROVIDES A WAY FOR SCHOOLS TO GET NEEDED CASH

Lausling, Mich. When the voters of Michigan went to the polls a year ago and voted to change the system of taxation in this state, hundreds of thousands of them did not realize that they had endangered the educational system of Michigan. Little did they think that through their vote they would have drastic action of some kind, which would deprive the boys and girls of Michigan of their educational opportunities.

School leaders by working night and day have worked out a plan which is being put into effect in village and city public schools of Michigan can be continued as in the past.

P. M. OFFICIALS ISSUE WARNING TO PARENTS

Officials of the Pere Marquette railroad wish to warn the parents of children who play or pass by the railroad tracks on the north side of town that many of them are careless and enter the box cars of switching trains.

Parents are advised to instruct their children to stay away from the tracks and especially the standing cars. Many of them have been playing in and under the cars and their tragedy was averted the other day when a switch engine which was backing into a line of cars under which children were playing was flagged by a road official who noticed the boys under the car.

Experience of this nature will occur as long as the children are careless and the Pere Marquette is particularly anxious that parents do their part in helping them avoid any unfortunate accident.

HUNDREDS VISIT LOCAL CEMETERY MEMORIAL DAY

Cemetery Records Are Moved to Temporary Office For Day

Hundreds of people whose friends or relatives are buried at Riverside Cemetery visited Plymouth on Memorial Day. The cemetery is in better condition at the present time than ever before, according to those who have watched the improvement of all grounds for several years. Much of the credit for the fine appearance of the cemetery is due to the interest and efforts of August Myers, who has been Sexton for the past two years.

In order to better serve the owners of lots on Memorial Day, the complete records and files of the cemetery were taken from the City Hall and set up in a temporary office on the grounds, one of the tents was placed in front of the Mausoleum and used as an office and information bureau. Several people called at the office for information on the location of lots, the perpetual care plan, annual care, etc. One perpetual care sale was made and a prospective purchaser of lots was interviewed. The results of the experiment were satisfactory and the policy of having the information office at the cemetery on Memorial Day will probably be continued in the future.

Several favorable comments were made regarding the lowering and filling of the driveways and the filling and leveling of the lot areas. This part of the improvement program does not progress as rapidly as hoped for as such a large amount of labor is required to do the work. Welfare labor has been used in most of the work at the cemetery and used as an offset otherwise the program would have been greatly curtailed because of lack of funds. The revenue for the operation of the cemetery does not come from taxes, but from the perpetual care fund, annual care fees, grave service fees and other miscellaneous services. Therefore the amount of money spent at the cemetery depends entirely upon the amount contributed by the lot owners.

SCHOOL NURSE TALKS BEFORE W. C. T. U.

The Phoebe Patterson W. C. T. U. held its regular monthly meeting of May 23rd at the home of Mrs. Pearl Joffre Wilson on Mill street.

A very splendid Mother's Day program had been prepared by Mrs. George Burr.

The meeting opened with singing "O Motherhood, The Hourful" led by Mrs. Wilson with Mrs. Gilbert Brown, accompanist, scripture by the assembly, and the hymn "Faith of Our Mothers."

A parable for mothers by Mrs. Ruth E. Huston-Whipple followed.

The significance of the program was not so much to exhibit the idea of motherhood as it was to help to become better mothers. Miss Bonsteel, the school nurse, gave a very splendid talk on "Child Health" stressing diet and rest, explaining too that it is her desire to be a help to mothers as well as children.

The meeting closed with singing "Give us this day, O Lord, our daily bread" and solos with Mrs. Brown at the piano.

Mrs. Mattie Jones of Detroit, the State Treasurer, was present and both she and Mrs. Irwin in brief talks emphasized the fact that the motherhood of America must take the time in order to shield the youth of tomorrow.

EASTERN STAR SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION JUNE 5

Monday evening, June 5, at 7:30 p. m., Plymouth Chapter, No. 1130, O. E. S. will hold a school of instruction, conducted by Selma A. Brown, of Birmingham, Worth's Grand Master of the Grand Chapter of Michigan.

There will be a potluck dinner served in the dining room at 6:00. Members, remember our regular meeting, Tuesday evening, June 6.

ROTARIANS HEAR STATE COMMANDER OF LEGION

The American Legion he explained, had never asked the American government to aid anyone who had returned from the War physically and mentally sound, but its plea—American Legion was the organization originally as a fraternal order to perpetuate the comradeship formed by the American "dough boys" in the World War, but later became the guardian for the disabled veterans and the widows and orphans resulting from the war. It was not long after the organization of the American Legion that empty coat-closets, deranged minds of shell-shock, and the needs of the otherwise disabled boys caused the Legion to bend its every effort toward the comforting of those who had returned to suffer the rest of their days.

PARADE AND SERVICES IN THEATRE FEATURE EVENT

The hushed reverence of the hundreds of Plymouth citizens who crowded the Pennington-Alton Theatre was brought Tuesday morning a most conception of the dignity and beauty of the annual services in honor of our Civil War, Spanish and World War dead, sleeping now, after their valiant deeds are etched in the pages of the past, beneath the house of their and our beloved Plymouth.

Contributing to make the services in the theatre a masterpiece of sublime symbolism of our appreciation and thankfulness to our heroic dead, who fought and died that we might have the benefit and the blessings of a freedom that transcends all gifts hitherto bestowed upon any peoples of any place or time, was the manner in which the beautiful songs "America the Beautiful" and "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" were rendered by the Northville Male quartet, the selection from Tenneyson's "Crossing the Bar" by the Plymouth high school Girls Double Quartette and by Robert W. Services' "The March of the Dead," reading by Zephaniah Blank.

The service at the theatre ended with the address "Echoes of the Past," delivered by Oliver Goldsmith. An eloquent and moving word picture of the arenas of our wars, the resting places of our war heroes and the symbolic significance and meaning of our nation's flag.

It is safe to say that the hundreds who heard and felt with the speaker the solemnity of the recedes from a nation's past, will not soon forget, nor fail to strive to honor always their citizenship in this our great republic. The address follows:

HUNDREDS JOIN SERVICE MEN IN MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM

MORE SHRUBBERY IS GIVEN FOR CENTRAL PARK BY CITIZENS

The interest of local citizens in the development and beautification of the park in the city continues to gain. During the past two years the effort to reduce municipal expenditures has forced the curtailment of park development from city funds, but the gifts from local citizens has made possible many improvements not anticipated.

The stone wall and gutter around the north side of Central park was first removed for the purpose of preventing the water from Church street running across the park and washing out what little grass was growing. Later it was decided to make the wall ornamental as well as useful, therefore it was extended around the northwest point of the park. The plan of planting the area in front of the wall was then discussed by the city commission and an appeal was made for shrubbery. The city commission authorized the expenditure of $25,000 which was used for the purpose of securing the shrubbery hedge and a few other shrubs. The planting plan was arranged by Mrs. Ruth E. Huston-Whipple who also furnished shrubs from her own garden and also purchased additional shrubs. In addition to the persons mentioned in a recent issue of the Mail, shrubs and plants were also donated by Mrs. Mahel Spicer, Lloyd Whitmore, Mrs. Henry Wright and several other people.

In the future it seems advisable that the city accept surplus shrubbery to be utilized in the development of the park and cemetery. The shrubs could be planted temporarily in a nursery and placed where needed at some future date. When such a policy as this is effect, an extensive program of beautification could be carried out.

M. E. CHORAL GROUP WILL GIVE CONCERT

A large crowd is expected at the annual spring entertainment of the Plymouth M. E. Choral society to be given at the church next Wednesday, June 7 at 8 p. m.

The concert is to be given without charge of any kind to all who enjoy good music. All who wish to come will be made welcome and are only asked to be there promptly at 8 o'clock to be assured a seat.

Federal L. Whitteley, director of music of the Boulevard Temple of Detroit will be the guest director of the evening. Mrs. M. J. Connor, the Plymouth choir's own director is responsible for producing Mr. Whitteley's services for this concert and herself having studied choir directing under Mr. Whitteley gives assurance that this is a fortunate circumstance for her choir as well as an added pleasure for the audience and herself.

The program to be given is as follows:

Organ and Piano Duet, Mrs. M. J. Connor, Mrs. Barbara Hake, Choral Numbers:

1. Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee, Bach Choral.

2. Song in Praise, Ancient, Spiritual Folk song.

3. Lo, A Voice from Heaven is Sounding, Bachman.

4. List to the Lark, Dickinson.

5. Bless The Lord of My Soul, Ivanoff.

6. Allah's Holiday, Fritol.

7. Mexican Folk Song, Trelaine.

8. Morning, Oldy Speaks.

9. Taps, Pasternak.

Northville Male Quartette, Messrs. Alfred Smith and Bryan Leslie Lee and Pierre Krayson, On the Sea, Dudley Buck, Deep River, Burleigh, Bugle Song, Soprano Soloist, Mrs. James Sessions, 3 selections.

Other features to be announced.

W. C. T. U. Holds Mothers Day Meeting

Mother's Day meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. William Smith. The program included the names of many notable mothers among whom was that of Susannah Wesley, the mother of nineteen children. Amid her various duties this busy mother found time to give to each child special instruction in morality and religion.

The next meeting, June 22, will be held at the home of Mrs. E. C. Lauffer, 620 Pennington avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Rotnauer, daughter Phyllis, and niece, Jo Ann Teufel spent Monday and Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Tenfel in Toledo, Ohio.

END THE HORSE PLAY

The Michigan State College for nearly a year has been under searching attack from numerous sources. The troubles of the college and the bitter denunciations that have taken place have been due entirely to one thing, the school of music that several promoters have endeavored to make a part of the college work. This barnacle could be and should be immediately removed.

But seemingly the music college promoters have more power with those that control the college than all the rest of the state put together.

The Michigan State College has for years and years been one of Michigan's most valued institutions. Its extension department has done more good for the people of rural Michigan than all the other educational forces of the state combined. This department has aided the average farmer in raising himself to a point of real attainment through educational material brought directly into the home by the college. It might be added that the rural press of Michigan for years and years has been the chief disseminator of this priceless information for the college. It is for this reason that the weekly papers of the state have taken such a keen interest in all Michigan State College affairs. They know of what benefit the college has been to their readers and they know that if left alone that the college can do much to help in the solution of the difficult problems that lie ahead.

In the very beginning of this trouble, the college board of control made the tragic error of dismissing two of its most valued employees, two men who were "put on the spot" so to speak because they had for the good of the college and its future refused to permit themselves to be made parties to a scheme to milk the taxpayers of the state by promoting a department of the college that the college nor the state needs. They refused to do things that were questionable. Because they saw fit to report to the proper college executives some things they saw and knew to be wrong, they were called trouble makers, although they had simply done what was expected of them. For this they were fired, fined in such a way that it is doubtful if they can ever gain a living again by following their professions.

The college board and the state of Michigan owes to James Hasselman and Prof. Joseph Cox a debt of gratitude for their past services to the state. Full and complete restitution should be made and made immediately to these men who were the victims of vicious and uncalled for dismissals.

But this is all history. Various inquiries have brought before the public all the defects and ills of the college management and the untold wrong done these two men.

The newspapers during the past few days have carried accounts of the senate inquiry into college affairs. The surprising information came out that the senate committee had had eight men making audits at the college and the only information they have gained to date is the same information that has been revealed in the past. The report made to the senate contains only such facts as first published when Cox and Hasselman were "put on the spot" by the music school officials. There might be some variance in amounts stated, but as a whole the information is no different than first revealed last fall.

If the state of Michigan permits any pay vouchers to go through for these half dozen or more so-called "auditors" for digging up the same facts that the people have known for months about the college, someone had ought to take the officials that sign the vouchers out in the lake, and drop them right in the middle. It is known that they have lived in luxury at one of the most expensive hotels in Lansing, that the work they have been doing was string along for weeks and weeks—work that could easily have been done in a week or two—and that the information they have secured is all ancient history.

But that is away from the point. If the college board wants to get back into the good graces of the state, it should immediately terminate the farcical musical school. It should make satisfactory restitution to both Hasselman and Cox and it should correct the other ills that have been revealed during the past few months. Those that know President Robert Shaw believe that he would do all of these things if left alone.

The college board through a series of unfortunate acts has permitted these things to drag along for months. Meanwhile public sentiment has been permitted to develop to a point where nearly everyone believes there is something materially wrong at the college or that it is frightfully mismanaged.

The time has long since passed for this horse play to continue. Everyone associated with the college knows what has been wrong and what should be done to correct that wrong.

Why those in authority permit the condition to continue is almost inconceivable. These valent investigations have brought no good. The auditors recommended no remedy for the ills that have existed at the college. But fortunately through the information given direct to President Shaw and the board by both Prof. Cox and Mr. Hasselman, the college authorities know what is wrong and how to remedy it. If this institution is to continue to have the good will of those that have been chiefly instrumental in building it up to the place it now occupies, immediate steps should be taken to see to it that the two members of its faculty who were unfairly discharged are restored to their former positions and that the obnoxious school of music be terminated. If present members of the board do not want to do these things, then they should resign immediately and let some one get on the job who will be willing to see to it that justice prevails.

COMMON HONESTY NEEDED

Not so much a "new courage," but a revival of the old moral courage that was based on common honesty and fair play is what the nation needs to help it up the grade and out of the present situation. John Francis Neylan, distinguished San Francisco attorney, told members of the Second District Bar at their convention held recently in Pasadena, California, he said:

"The decade before 1929 was the most disgraceful in the history of America.

"What brought about the crash was not the World War nor anything at all except the lack of common honesty in public and private affairs.

"There was a time when directors of corporations represented the stockholders and worked for their best interests. When corporations began to be operated for the benefit of the directors, we departed from this simple honest standard."

Appealing for a return to these ideals, Neylan lauded President Roosevelt as "the greatest example of moral courage in the last three or four hundred years," adding:

"I am not a member of his political party, but I want to hold him up as an example to all the nation."

"One of the most serious effects of the past few years, Neylan declared, has been the harm done to young people and their standards.

"We have led them, by our example, to believe that money is the only thing that counts; that having a good time is the most important thing in life," he said.

"The United States is now on the upgrade," Neylan declared, appealing to his hearers to aid the return to sound prosperity by insisting on honesty as the foundation of all future progress.

INTERESTING INFORMATION

The Chicago Daily News started something when it dug into the matter of the money drawn down by the high officials of some of the biggest life insurance companies. We hope that it will be shown that these men do not get the huge salaries they are charged with—but the statements have been republished by a number of newspapers and while the figures may not be precisely correct, the presumption is there is something to them.

Not only have the salaries of big life insurance companies been kept up but in some cases they have even been boosted since the high time of 1929. According to the News, the Equitable Life is the only one that has reduced these salaries—it having recently declared a cut of 15 per cent.

The president of the Equitable is stated to have received $75,000 a year in 1929 and $100,000 in 1932. Besides him, two vice-presidents are paid at $40,000 each, another one at $30,000 and a fourth at $20,000.

The president of the Metropolitan Life is charged with $175,000 in 1929 and $200,000 in 1932. And that company has one vice-president at $125,000, another at $40,000, a third at $35,000 and a fourth at $32,500.

The Mutual Life is charged with paying $125,000 to its president, $40,000 each to three vice-presidents and $30,000 to a fourth one.

The New York Life is stated to have paid $125,000 to its president, $40,000 each to three vice-presidents, $45,000 to two other high officers, and other salaries in proportion.

The Prudential Co. is declared to have paid its president $125,000 a year, besides $75,000 to one vice-president, $50,000 to a second one and $43,000 each to two others.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, in publishing these figures and commenting on them, says:

"Let policy holders who find the doors of these companies shut to them when they apply for loans who find Congress, state legislatures and state insurance commissioners tumbling over themselves in an eager effort to help insurance companies through the depression—let them read these figures and weep." Of course, big business men feel differently than we ordinary people do about huge salaries and rake-offs. Probably the average big corporation officials would see nothing wrong in drawing anything up to a million or two a year out of a business which they help to operate. In fact they are said to rate one another largely on the basis of the money they get. They see no moral issue involved.

DO SOMETHING

Do something! says the Edison company (East Orange). In a bulletin to its thousands of employees: "Buy something, anything, anywhere. Paint your kitchen. Send a telegram. Give a party. Get a car. Pay a bill. Rent a house. Fix your roof. Get a haircut. See a show. Take a trip. Sing a song. Get married."

It doesn't matter what you do, only get going and keep going. President Roosevelt has done his part, now you do something. This old world is starting to move!

HUNDREDS JOIN EX-SERVICE MEN

to do and to die for the eternal right.

We go with them one and all. We are by their side on all the glory fields, in all the hospitals of mercy on all the weary marches.

We stand guard with them in the wild storm and under the quiet stars. We are with them in ravines running red with blood, in the furrows of old fields. We are with them, between contending hosts, unable to move, wild with thirst, the life ebbing slowly away among the withered leaves.

We see them pierced by balls and torn with shells, in the trenches, by forts, and in the whirlwind of the charge, where men become men with nerves of steel. We are with them in the prisons of hatred and famine, but human speech can never tell what they endured. We are at home, where the news comes that they are dead. We see the maiden in the shadow of her first sorrow. We see the slaved home of the old man bowed with the last grief.

These heroes have gone before us. They died for liberty, they died for us. They are at rest.

They sleep under the solemn pines, the sad hemlocks, the tearful willows, and the embracing vines. They sleep beneath the shadows of the clouds, careless alike of sunshine or storm, each in his windowless palace of rest. Earth may run red with other wars—they are at peace. In the midst of the battle, in the roar of the conflict, they sleep in the serenity of death. They sleep in the land they made free, under the starry banner they rendered stainless.

At beautiful Mt. Vernon, by the waters of the peaceful Potomac, in an ivy clad tomb, built on the estate so dear to his heart, reposes the ashes of him who was the first in war, the first in peace and the first in the hearts of his countrymen, the Father of our Country, General George Washington.

At Springfield, in the great State of Illinois, in that beautiful tomb, erected in memory of and to his exalted honor and glory, reposes the dust of our beloved and immortal Lincoln.

Then at Gettysburg, that one-time blood drenched field, where even today, after the passing of so many years, the grass seems to grow greener, for as it were by the life blood of thousands upon thousands of our brave boys, boys of the blue, boys of the gray and the khaki clad lads, beautiful Gettysburg of today, where marble and granite monuments from every state in our great Union, tower above the thousands of smaller tablets, marking the last resting places of our fallen heroes.

Then at Arlington, sublime indeed in all its loveliness, Arlington—the one-time home of that chivalrous knight of the southland, General Robert E. Lee, Arlington—where beneath that white marble tomb rest the dust of the Unknown Soldier of that last horrible slaughter, the World War.

And lastly, across the broad expanse of the great Atlantic, Flanders Field, where the poppies in a language all of their own, seem to be speaking of us today, from trench after trench and shell-hole after shell-hole, where rests all that was mortal of the flower of the manhood of many nations.

These are but a very few of the many, many Gods' acres that will be visited again today. In every city, in every town, in every village and in every hamlet of this proud and beautiful land of ours, a grateful nation will again with great reverence, pay tribute to its honored dead.

And above all floats that starry banner for which our brave boys fought, for which they died.

And now, let us consider for a moment the meaning of this flag. It is the symbol of all we are of all we hope to be. It is the emblem of equal rights. It means free lands, free lips, self government and the sovereignty of the individual. It means that this continent has been dedicated to freedom. It means universal education, light for every mind, knowledge for every child. It means that the school house is the fortress of liberty.

It means that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed; that each man and each woman is accountable to and for their government; that responsibility goes hand in hand with liberty. It means that it is the duty of every citizen to bear his or her share of the public burden—to take part in the affairs of their town, their county, their state and their country. It means that all destructions based on birth or blood have perished from our laws. That flag is the emblem of a supreme will, of a nation's power. Beneath its starry folds, the weakest must be protected and the strongest must obey. It shields and catapals alike, the loftiest nation and the rudest hut. That flag was given to the air in the Revolution's darkest days. It represents the sufferings of the past and the glories yet to be, and, like the bow of Heaven, it is the child of storm and sun. Not another flag on the globe had such an errand, or went forth upon the sea, carrying everywhere, the world around, such hope for the suffering and such glorious tidings. The stars upon it were to the plating nations like the morning stars of God, and the stripes upon it were beams of morning light.

Let us then twine each thread of the glorious tissue of our country's flag about our heart-strings, and, looking upon our homes and catching the spirit that breathes upon us from the battle-fields of our fathers, let us resolve, come weal or woe, by the grace of God, in life and in death, now and forever, stand by the stars and stripes.

And finally—The future of our country rests upon us. The fate of humanity may be in our hands. That pleading voice, choked with the sob of ages, which has so often spoken to deaf ears, is lifted up to us now, today as never before. It asks us to be brave, benevolent, consistent, true to the teachings of our history, proving "Divine descent by worth Divine." It asks us to be virtuous, building up public virtue upon private worth; seeking that righteousness which exalts nations; it asks us to be patriotic, loving our country and her Christian principles above all other things; making her happiness our happiness, her honors ours, her fame our own. It asks us in the name of Charity, in the name of Freedom, it asks us in the name of Almighty God.

And my prayer today is—that the Great Commander in Chief of all armies may grant that there shall be no more wars and that the Spirit of Peace on Earth and Good Will toward men shall reign hereafter and forever.

Following the services at the theatre, members of the Ex-Service Men's Club and the American Legion paraded to the House Bridge and to Riverside Cemetery, where services were held for our sailor and soldier dead.

Henry Ford
 Dearborn, Mich.

May 22, 1933

I suppose that I may claim to be the first Ford Dealer. I not only made cars, but sold them and frequently delivered them myself.

The "drive away" is not new; often I have driven cars from Detroit to towns in Ohio or Indiana or Michigan to make delivery.

There were no good roads in those days, and the people where I drove had never seen a motor car before.

My first really enthusiastic customers were Country Doctors. They were the first to realize the value of dependable transportation to a widely scattered practice.

Even today I occasionally hear from some of those first Ford users.

We had to teach local mechanics how to care for the cars. That is how Ford Service began, which is now found everywhere in the world.

We believed from the beginning that a sale does not complete our transaction with our customer — it creates upon us an obligation to see that our customer's car gives him service. Ford Dealers know their duty to the public in this respect.

I can say of Ford Dealers generally that they have been and are men of character and standing in their communities. Most of them have been with us many years, which indicates that we agree on basic business principles. The Company provides that the methods used to sell the Ford car are consistent with the self-respect of the Dealers who handle it.

The present Ford V-8 is the peak of our 30 years experience. We have never made a better car. Its eight-cylinder engine is powerful and smooth running. The car is admittedly very good looking and has comfortable riding qualities. It is economical in operation because of advanced engine design and low car weight. It is the fastest, roomiest and most powerful car we have ever built.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Ancient and Modern Neogrammatism. Mesmerism and Hypnotism. Demons" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, May 28. Among the Bible citations was this passage (1 Peter 5:10): "But the God of all grace, who hath called us unto his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that we have suffered a while, make you perfect, stablish, strengthen, settle you." Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 248): "What renders both sin and sickness difficult of cure is that the human mind is the shiner, disinclined to self-correction, and believing that the body can be sick independently of mortal mind and that the divine Mind has no jurisdiction over the body."

CHURCH OF THE OPEN DOOR (Independent Baptist)

164 N. Main St. Richard Neale, Pastor. "I have set before thee an open door," Revelation 3:8. You are cordially invited to attend any or all of our services. See complete list of services below. Last Sunday morning our pastor preached on the third chapter of Daniel's prophecy. This chapter records how Nebuchadnezzar, the Babylonian king, built a huge idol of gold standing ninety feet high. This image of dazzling beauty was erected on the plain of Babel. The king ordered that when the image was dedicated, that all people of his realm should bow and worship it. A great orchestra of harp and musicians and all the best singers of the realm combined their talents in a great concert. This music doubtless touched the emotions of all present and helped to induce them to worship Nebuchadnezzar's masterpiece. Daniel's three Hebrew friends were present, but refused to worship the image in a spirit of threats and punishment. The king enraged had them thrown into a burning fiery furnace heated seven times hotter than ever before. Nebuchad-

Country Editor To Stage Big Auto Race

Each year for many years back a publisher of a weekly paper in this state drops some of his editorial duties and goes into the auto race business on a big scale. All of which introduces to those that do not know him, former Senator Chet Howell of Saginaw and Chesaning, head of The Chesaning Argus, who started years ago the only championship auto races Michigan has ever had. This year the 100 mile event, under AAA sanction and listing in its field none but the two seater cars, and drivers from Indianapolis will be run on the mile track at the Michigan state fair Sunday, June 11. Fourteen cars to start. The Indianapolis 500 mile winner will be in the entry field. Prize money is $5,000 and 370 points are awarded to the first 10 place winners towards the American speedway championship for the year. In every detail, except distance, the race is comparable to the big Indianapolis speed classic.

Vernon J. Brown and a few other members of the house have made it pretty clear that they do not like the action that has been taken by the upper branch of the state legislature. Mr. Brown as well as Representative Hartman spent weeks and weeks in studying the present day needs of the various institutions and departments. They cut the costs of these institutions to a point where they thought they could operate efficiently. When these appropriation bills got into the senate, department and institution heads got busy and influenced some members of the senate to add many thousands of dollars to the various appropriation acts. Something like $250,000 has been added by the senate. Mr. Brown figures that it is a quarter of a million dollars that could easily have been saved for the taxpayers and that no good will come out of the appropriation except to those that will get the money.

THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY

GENERAL OFFICES
2000 SECOND AVENUE
DETROIT, MICHIGAN

TO THE CUSTOMERS OF THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY

This is the ninth of a series of weekly letters addressed to our 500,000 customers in 29 cities, 58 villages and 130 townships in the southeastern corner of the State of Michigan. Last week we tried to show you that there is a lot more to our system than just a power house and some wires. The power plant is seldom one-third of the system. And the cost of making the power at the power house is just a shadow less than the taxes that we are required to pay -- or rather, that we are required to collect from you. Please look at this showing of how much money was taken out of each dollar you paid us in recent years.

Taxes out of each dollar paid to us	Remaining to us out of each dollar paid by you
1920	94.9 cents
1921	93.5
1922	93.2
1923	92.3
1924	92.0
1925	91.0
1926	90.3
1927	90.2
1928	90.4
1929	89.3
1930	88.3
1931	87.1
1932	86.5
1933	85.5

12 months to April 1933 (The three per cent U. S. tax is additional to these figures.)

When you get a bill for city or state taxes, or when you fill out your income tax blank for the United States Treasury, you know you are being taxed. When you paid your electric light bills since 1920, you did not know that you were paying added taxes, from five cents out of each dollar in 1920, up to thirteen and a half cents on the dollar this year. The taxes were there just the same, and we want you to know it. These indirect taxes affect all of you. They make a tax-gatherer of your electric company. You blame the company if you think your bill is too high. To be exact about it, your electric bill would have been lower by eight cents on the dollar if the total taxes on the Company had been fixed at the 1920 figure. It looks easy to tax the electric company. To do so changes the place for a few days, but it does not change the pain, and you pay just the same in the long run. We have never made a campaign against high taxes. We have no wish to make one now. But we may find ourselves in the place where fairness to you will require us to join in such a campaign. If that comes about we will want you to understand that it is your pocketbook that we are protecting, and we ask you to keep that statement in mind.

Plymouth Country Club team whips Lancaster 6 1/2 to 5 1/2, retaining their winning ways in the M. G. A. League, the only team in this section without a defeat. Preston Meisel is shooting very consistent in all his matches so far, he's averaging 71 for 18 holes, which is good for 3 points in every contest. Bill Swetland is also clicking beautifully, yet the whole match depended on R. Lorenz last Sunday to win when he came through with a 7 1/2 point in win for Plymouth.

At the 18-hole match on the two-ball mixed-foursome, Tuesday Decoration Day were Ralph Lorenz and Miss V. Lutz with low gross of 88. Mrs. Anderson and Skipper with 96-16-78 net were winners in Kicker's Handicap.

Chamber of Commerce Column

An analysis of a survey of the housing situation made by the division of building and housing of the U. S. Bureau of Standards indicates that the one-family house, costing less than $5000, is expected to play a major role in residential construction during the next few years. The basis for the survey was a study of the kind of questionnaire sent to several hundred real estate, building and loan association officials throughout the country.

From 1920 to 1929, the major residential development was the building of apartment houses and the expansion of one-family houses in the suburbs of large cities and suburban communities. Revival of the suburban movement is expected, together with a demand for garden-site lots.

James S. Taylor, chief of the bureau's division of housing, believes that the lag in building operations—in evidence since 1929—has brought about a shortage of half a million homes, below the normal requirements of the country—a shortage largely concealed through such factors as the doubling up of families and the falling off of the marriage rate during the depression.

A majority of the officials responding to the questionnaire said they anticipated a demand for larger lots, the construction of which will be built during the next few years. The demand for houses with a quarter to half an acre of vegetable garden is expected to be marked.

The survey disclosed a prevailing opinion that a vast amount of unutilized and unproductive residential properties neglected in recent years will be done as economic conditions improve.

Writing in this column a week ago, I stated that in my opinion the following ideas are worthy of being repeated until the public by either accepting or rejecting them prove them to be either good ideas or poor ideas. Here they are again. I notice that the Kiwanis Club is taking an interest in the general subject of signs. I am glad of it and extend my congratulations. I have talked this subject for a long time, but I have not pushed the matter because I have hesitated to approach our hard pressed businessmen for the necessary dollars.

1. The residential growth of this community depends to a large extent upon year-round, safe, reliable, reasonably fast transportation between here and Detroit. The Pere Marquette Railroad Company, still a factor in our daily economic life with their local payroll, through leading officials has expressed a desire to build up daily commuter service, provided a sufficient number of local residents could use such service to pay the company to make the necessary schedule adjustments. Are YOU interested?

2. We are all proud of the physical appearance of our community—Plymouth's well kept homes, lawns, parks, etc., buildings, etc., but right in the heart of our community, in our main business sections located on trunk line traffic arteries carrying the touring and traveling public, week after week stands or rather blows a community eye sore.

During the bustle and bustle of Saturday afternoon and evening shopping, people perhaps do not notice or take offense at the blowing drifting pieces of wrapping paper, and discarded handbills and circulars. Visit the same scene on a quiet Sunday morning. Splendid advertising for Plymouth, isn't it?

3. Motorists, hundreds by the week, thousands by the month, skirt Plymouth along U. S. 12 between Detroit and Ann Arbor without knowing that a community possessing unusual advantages for residential and industrial location has less than five minutes ride to the right or left as the case may be.

Signs giving this information were erected some time ago along U. S. highway 12 just beyond the fork on the way to Ann Arbor and the fork on the way to Detroit. These signs have been removed because they failed in their purpose. Too much information was crowded into too little space, and they did not show up. Are those interested in a gradual steady population growth for Plymouth missing a good bet?

SENATOR VANDENBERG TELLS OF FARM BILL

"I am anxious that all Michigan farmers should be fully advised regarding their rights under the new farm mortgage law. Hence this bulletin. I shall be glad to answer any questions. But careful attention to this bulletin will obviate needless correspondence and hasten results. This bulletin, however, necessarily omits much detail which I shall be glad to supply to any farmer who desires it."

U. S. Senator, A. H. Vandenberg, (Michigan.)

1. The Michigan farmer presents his case either to the Secretary, Treasurer of a national farm loan association if there is one operating in the county in which his farm is located, or in writing to the Federal Land Bank at St. Paul. These sources will respond with specific advice and conduct any necessary negotiations. No applications will be considered at Washington.

2. The Federal Land Bank can purchase any existing farm mortgage on a basis not to exceed 50% of the normal value of the land, plus 20% of the value of permanent insured improvements. It will pay the present mortgage holder either in cash or in 4% bonds (with the interest guaranteed by the federal government).

3. If the farmer's existing mortgage is in excess of these percentages, the present mortgage holder may negotiate with the Federal Land Bank to compromise the mortgage within the limits described in paragraph 2. It must be understood in either instance (paragraph 2 or 3) it is entirely optional with the present mortgage holder whether he will make such a deal with the land bank.

4. If the deal is consummated in either instance, the farmer's new mortgage will bear interest at 4 1/2% per annum, and for five years no payment need be made on the principal, if the borrower is not otherwise in default.

5. All mortgages now held by Federal Land Banks will be rewritten on the basis outlined in Paragraph 4.

6. New mortgages on farms not previously mortgaged can be made directly with the Federal Land Bank, within the limits defined in paragraph 2, at 5% per annum, and no principal payment for five years—with the further proviso that this interest rate will be reduced to 4 1/2% if the borrower subsequently joins a "farm-loan association" organized in his community by the Land Bank. In each such instance, the farmer also must buy $3 of Land Bank stock for each $100 borrowed.

7. Under a different provision of the law, The Farm Loan Commissioner (also to be addressed in care of the Land Bank at St. Paul) can make special loans to farmers (1) to refinance on better terms any existing indebtedness, or (2) to provide working capital, or (3) to enable the farmer to redeem or repurchase farm property lost by foreclosure since July 1, 1931. These loans can cover 75% of the property. They pay 5% interest, with the principal paid in ten annual installments commencing the fourth year. No such loans can exceed $5000 to any one farmer. But in all such instances the holders of other indebtedness against the farmer must arrange, through the Farm Loan Commissioner, to subordinate their claims to the new claim of the government.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sonten were visitors in Grand Lodge over Memorial Day.

A SLEEP THAT WASN'T

Can you imagine your embarrassment and surprise at waking up in the middle of the night and finding one of your feet in the face of a stranger who is in another bed altogether? This same thing happened to me one night two years ago. I was sleeping in the upper berth on a train when I woke up with a start, perhaps because one of my legs was colder than the other. When I had fully gained consciousness, I found myself on the very edge of the bed and my left leg stretched across the also-letting my poor foot rest on the opposite bed in the face of a person that I had never met before.

HOSPITALITY

Coming down in a hospital elevator, I had the sickening sensation always connected with too rapid a descent. Passing one floor, the attendant stopped at the next. As he loudly clanged open the two doors a woman glacially stepped in having with her a paper-wrapped plant, known at once as a hyacinth by the heavy, sickly-sweet fragrance. After her came a nurse, white capped and uniformed, just as the doors closed almost noiselessly, the faintly sweet odor of other assailed my nostrils. Also the low moan of a patient who was probably delirious could be heard.

Ferndale Beaten By Rock Golf Team

Playing at Plymouth Country Club in the last game of this season, Plymouth's "jill filters" gained an eleven point victory over Ferndale with a score of 341.
Master of Plymouth sunk the last four greens in one putt each while Haliday, first man for Ferndale made the first nine holes in par 36. Plymouth remains unbeaten this year.

THE VOICE OF AMBITION

(Condensed from The Etude Music Magazine, Vol. XLVI, No. 1)
The voice of ambition speaks to all of us at times. In our imagination we view the scenes of great and noble undertakings in which we hope to be permitted to have a part. Without imagination and continuous action many of the finest deeds of history would remain undone.

P. H. S. Nine Bows To Fordson

The Plymouth high school baseball team lost its second game this year to Fordson by the score of 12 to 3. During the earlier part of the season Plymouth defeated Fordson but it seems that Warren Bassett did not have his usually good control and Fordson pulled in the first and the fourth innings getting five runs in each. Williams was put in the fourth inning with only one out. They got five hits and two runs in three and two thirds innings off of Williams.

STARKWEATHER SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Cavanaugh was very pleased at the number of people who visited their exhibit. The morning group are reading in Pro-Primer and doing seat work to go with it. on the hind bars at the top of the bus while it was in motion?
Freda Hansen was somewhat shocked at the actions of her fellow students. The buses arrived in town with Margaret Cline, Geraldine McKinney, Pauline Gust, Dorothy Marion Gale, Betty White, Moe Krumm, also Randall Wright and Margaret Holcomb. Now let me ask you a question, "Where was Vera?"
Rocker leading in the singing of "Hail! Hail! The Gang's All Here." The buses stopped and the Honorable Greer dismissed his little charges.

SKIP DAY

The Seniors left P. H. S. about 8:30 Wednesday morning, May 24, in the two special buses, waving good-bye to the many curious friends who greeted themselves at the windows. The eve and a half hour ride was made very enjoyable by the kindergarten actions of the supposedly dignified seniors. "Lizzie" Nichol teasing poor "Daddy" Greer while he was making a list of the seniors suddenly found look on her face from "Daddy's" pen for "Daddy" wasn't a very good humor. No sooner had this excitement died down when someone thoughtfully presented "let our pleasant bus driver, with "Red" Kilgore's pretty red tulip. Poor "let" soon was swamped with flowers. As nearly everyone gave him blues or tulips. Soon the second bus pulled up beside us and handfuls of salted peanuts were thrown through the open windows into our bus. All in all our ride was very pleasant.

After reaching Lansing, we went first to the School for the Blind. Admiration shone from our faces as we watched the smiling children name the countries of Europe from a sectional map of Europe. Then we heard one girl read, and watched another one write. Then we were conducted to the shoe shop and watched the boys repair shoes. It didn't seem possible that they were blind, they worked with such speed and assurance. From there we were conducted to another shop where we watched them make brooms. One chap explained each step to us as he made a whisk broom. He seemed pleased when we would ask questions and was so courteous that everyone liked him. Then we returned to our buses and went to the Union Cafeteria at Michigan State College, where we enjoyed a lovely lunch and heard delightful speeches given by the President of the college, the Dean of Women, and the Athletic coach. Seniors from Perry, Greenville and Keego Harbor schools were also present. After lunch we were informed that several of our students had been arranged and we were invited to go on one of these. They included practically every place of interest on the campus, Mary Mayo Hall, the Art Exhibit, the gardens, Engineering Building and the gymnasium. Tea was served to the girls in the practice house. A baseball game was next on our list of events. University of Michigan played Michigan State College with a score of 4 to 3 in favor of the University.

Golf Team Qualifies For State Meet

Playing at Ann Arbor last Saturday, Plymouth's golf team won second place in the regional golf meet. "Chief Stool Pigeon" Dougan (old) fourth of Plymouth, was second low. White of Ann Arbor being first. By winning second, the team has qualified to compete in the state contest next Saturday also at Ann Arbor.
Ann Arbor, 355; Plymouth, 365; Myadotte, 371; East Lansing, 375; Ypsil, 417.
A baseball game was next on our list of events. University of Michigan played Michigan State College with a score of 4 to 3 in favor of the University. Back to our buses, only to find that several of our students had failed to remember that we were to leave at six o'clock. They staggered in one by one until at 7:45 "Daddy" Greer announced that we were ready to start home. Everyone was tired so there was not quite so much fun on the home ward trip, although the truth "Willie" Rucker threw into our bus caused a great deal of excitement. "Boycar" Birley couldn't resist the temptation to turn on the lights every few minutes, to the great embarrassment of various couples who will remain unknown. At Lowell we stopped for refreshments and reached our old home town at 10:45. The seniors wish to thank all who helped make Skip Day a success, and particularly President Pederson calling asleep with "let's" curls sitting desolately at his side. Ernest Archer turning flips

QUESTION BOX

- Q. Who was "barked" by the park Friday night? Eva Scarpulla.
A. Jack Sells and Marion Krumm, also Randall Wright and Margaret Holcomb. Now let me ask you a question, "Where was Vera?"
Q. What was the dumb break that Marion Krumm made in the double dip ice cream place last week? Margaret.
A. The dumb child asked the clerk what color was his green ice cream. T-k! T-k!
Q. Why is Mr. Luttermoser so interested in cosmetics?
A. Maybe he wants to complete his tan.
Q. What flavor was the gum that Miss Wells was chewing recently in study hall? Jack Wilcox.
A. The same kind that Catherine Dougan was chewing when Miss Krumm asked her to deposit it in the waste basket.
Q. Who in your opinion, has the sweetest smile in high school?
A. Our beloved English teacher, Miss Perkins.
Q. Why does Jack Wilcox always say, "I want to be the hero"?
A. He picked that phrase up and has been using it ever since he held the adorable Vera Woods on his lap on the way home from the Drama club party. Could he take it?
Q. What happened to Anne Withers new boy friend? Marjorie.

Coming Attractions At Penniman Allen

"THE BIG STAMPEDE"
Set a villain to catch a villain, and things begin popping. This situation in "The Big Stamped," showing at the Penniman Allen Theatre Saturday, June 3, is the unusual angle in a gripping Western story, which serves to turn an ersatz villain into a good comedian. When Sonora Joe, the Mexican cattle rustler, played by Luis Alberca, is made a deputy sheriff by the town, played by John Wayne, it relieves the atmosphere of one villain, but gives rise to a lot of startling action and fine comedy touches.

"CENTRAL AIRPORT"

Richard Bartholomew zooms into town in his latest First National picture "Central Airport" Saturday June 3rd. This thrilling air story is unusual in that it glorifies the commercial flyers of peace, rather than the brimmen of war, and it is said that "Central Airport" tops anything ever filmed in a picture of this nature in breath-taking flying scenes, romantic love, and unusual story content.

"THE LITTLE GIANT"

A gang leader who buys grand opera and symphony records, spends thousands of dollars for futurist and cubist paintings, steals himself in higher literature, and attends lectures on Technology—all to fit himself for a place in society with a capital S—is the amusing and amusing character played by Edward G. Robinson in "The Little Giant," his latest First National picture, which comes to the Penniman Allen Theatre Sunday and Monday, June 4 and 5. Mary Astor, Russell Hopton and Helen Vinson are important members of the cast.

"THE STORY OF TEMPLE DRAKE"

"The Story of Temple Drake," screen adaptation of a novel by F. Scott Fitzgerald, has been booked for the Penniman Allen Theatre Wednesday, June 7th. Miriam Hopkins plays the title role, with Jack Lallier, William Garzon, William Collier Jr., Irving Pichel and Sir Guy Standing at the head of the supporting cast. "The Story of Temple Drake" is the story of a Southern girl, a curious mixture of the sedate and the wanton.

OBITUARIES

MRS. NELLIE S. BENNETT
Mrs. Nellie S. Bennett, age 64 years, who resided at 188 Main street passed away early Thursday morning, May 25, 1933. She was the widow of the late Burt D. Bennett. The body was brought to the Schrader Brothers' Funeral Home from which place funeral services were held Monday, May 29, at 2 p. m. Interment in Riverside cemetery. Rev. Walter Nichol officiated.

MRS. W. C. HULL
Minnie Louise McGill was born in Plymouth April 27th, 1866, and passed away at her home in Lansing, May 22, aged sixty-seven years. She was a graduate of Plymouth high school and of the Ypsilanti State Normal college. She began her career as teacher at Birmingham, Michigan, holding the position of what was then termed preceptress. Mrs. Hull was known as possessing a bright and cultured mind and refined personality.

Services were held at the Joy Funeral Home conducted by Rev. Dr. Bishop. Mrs. Hull is survived by her husband, two sons, Fredrick and George, a daughter, Helen Hull, a brother, George McGill of Detroit and a sister Anna McGill of Plymouth.

"She is not dead,
Just gone away."

Newburg Takes Double Header To Open Season

Ferguson won the opening game of the current season last Sunday at Pontiac. The game was played on the Newburg-Dairy road for the Newburg Dairy. He held the heavy hitting St. Casimir's down with seven hits and he struck out ten in the thrilling eleven inning game which the Newburg Dairy won by the score of two to one.

Joe Schenberger was the leading hitter of the day getting two singles one which tied the score in the fifth inning and the other filled the bases in the eleventh inning.

Ferguson scored the winning run in the eleventh inning when Andrews misplayed a wild pitch after relieving Bauer with two outs and the bases loaded.

Schultz, Urbanok and Tonkovich thrilled the crowd with their spectacular fly catching in the outfield while the infield played air tight ball except for one error.

Decoration Day the Newburg Dairy defeated the Union Club of East Detroit fifteen to four, when Andy Gale gave up but eight hits while striking out ten which is very good pitching in anybody's league.

Raymond Urbanok showed the local boys how to hit the old apple when he gathered four hits out of five attempts, one of which was a triple. He also made a beautiful catch in the fourth inning when he caught Edgerton's fly while on a dead run away from the infield in deep center field.

Next Sunday Manager Ray Levandowski will have his boys out in their white uniforms, and the name of the Newburg Dairy at 3 p. m. Don't forget to come out and see the local lads who are playing heads up ball.

Lost 40 Pounds On Doctor's Advice

"I'm a user of Kruschen Salts as a reducing remedy and can say they are fine. Have lost more than 40 lbs. in the past year. Am gradually regaining my health and physical attractiveness—constipation, gas and acidity will cease to bother—you'll feel younger—more active—full of ambition—clear skin—sparkling eyes.

A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at any drugstore in the world—but demand and get Kruschen and if one bottle doesn't joyfully please you—money back.

Newburg

Memorial Day was observed here Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the church in a manner befitting the occasion. The church was beautiful with flowers and the National emblem. The American Legion and Ex-Servicemen assisted by the Boy Scouts and drum corps of Plymouth marched into the church followed by the Woman's Auxiliary. The address was ably given by Rev. Thomas Pryor, who paid a fine tribute to the boys who gave their lives for their country. What made it of more interest to the boys was the fact that the speaker had visited many of the scenes of conflict and the cemeteries in France, where the little white crosses were placed. After the benediction they proceeded to Newburg cemetery where they formed around the Soldier's Monument. Invocation was given by Rev. Pryor after taps were sounded. They decorated the soldiers' graves with flags and beautiful scarlet geraniums. There are 53 soldiers' graves, two of which are of the Revolutionary War. A number of visitors from out of town were there, among them being Charles Padayak and sister, Mrs. Lela Wallace and husband of Lansing and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Holmstrom of Detroit.

Miss Hattie Holmstrom spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. I. Gussily.

The L. A. S. will hold their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Vera Guthrie next week Wednesday afternoon. Potluck supper. Please bring dishes. All invited.

George Halm visited his brother in the hospital Sunday, who is in a serious condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Mottetal and family of Plymouth called on

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith, Sunday evening.

Mrs. Sheldon Gale of Plymouth and Mrs. Laura Deansmore of Adrian, called on Mrs. C. E. Rydler Monday evening.

L. O. T. M. NEWS

The Guard Team will practice at the next regular meeting Wednesday, June 7th at 4 o'clock, followed by the usual potluck supper to which all members of the hive are cordially invited.

STATE TO SAVE SCHOOL SYSTEM

He has presented a bill to the legislature making it a criminal offense for any person in the employ of the state, county or in the employ of any political subdivision of the state or county to approach directly or indirectly any member of the legislature for the purpose of influencing him on any pending legislation. For years it has been the practice of city officials, heads of various state departments and institutions to "work" the legislature for the special thing they were interested in. Our work has been delayed and hampered by these hordes of official lobbyists. The legislature could have completed its duties weeks ago if it had not been for the trouble these people have caused us," says Senator Kulp. The bill came late in the session and if it should not be enacted before the closing days, there is not much question but what at the next regular session it will meet with but a favor on the part of the legislature.

WHEN Your Income Depends Upon..... RENTS

If you are receiving your income regularly in the form of rent checks, are you adequately insured? Your fire insurance assures you of necessary funds for rebuilding, but it cannot pay you the rent income lost while rebuilding. Rent insurance costs very little.
