PER CAPITA TAX HERE LOWEST IN DETROIT AREA

Plymouth's Past Financial Policy Now Reacts To Its Benefit

Plymouth has the smallest per capita tax of any community in the metropolitan area of Detroit.

This fact was brought to light during the early part of the present week with the publication of information pertaining to the tax burden of Detroit and surrounding communities.

The same article stated that other cities in the Detroit metropolitan area lead all others in Michigan in public debt burdens according to figures prepared by the Michigan Municipal League. In one community the public debt reduced to a per capita basis shows a burden of $680 for every man, woman and child. In another community the per capita burden amounts to $417. The city of Detroit per capita burden is $201, according to this article.

Berg Moore, secretary of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, stated: "This article confirms statements I have made. I frequently stress Plymouth's comparatively low bonded indebtedness, high percentage of tax collections, and generally sound financial position when interviewing industrial prospects."

"In order to know exactly where Plymouth stood in this respect at the present time, I obtained the following information at the city hall, based upon a 1933 assessed valuation of $4,860,861, and a population of 4484—U. S. Government 1930 census—Plymouth's total net bonded indebtedness is $367,000 or $82 per capita.

"Nearly two-thirds of this bonded indebtedness is of a self-liquidating character, for example $106,000 to be retired from special assessment collections, and $119,000 in water bonds to be retired by revenue from the city water department. The bonded indebtedness of Plymouth School District No. 1, Fractional, is also low, and Plymouth township has no bonded indebtedness."

HUNDREDS PRESENT AT COMMENCEMENT

Commencement at Plymouth high school on Thursday evening, June 22, was an enjoyable occasion for the very large number present.

The valedictory and salutatory were both well written and presented, and the music by the girl's double quartette was especially pleasing. The commencement address by Fr. R. Clyde Ford was interesting and timely.

The class of eighty-nine members was then presented by Mr. Dykhouse, principal of the high school, to George A. Smith, superintendent of schools, who in behalf of the board of education presented them with their diplomas, and then presented the graduates to the public.

Hottest Weather Causes Distress

Hot! Yes, it's been the hottest weather Plymouth has enjoyed in many a year.

It seemed that as the week advanced each day became a hotter one.

Tuesday night many thermometers around town registered anywhere from 95 to 98. Some say there were thermometers that climbed to over one hundred.

Plymouth has sweated, with the nights almost as hot as the days.

A most beneficial rain Wednesday afternoon cooled the temperature and did thousands of dollars of benefit to crops.

It has been hot, there has been no question about that.

How Boys Stand In Chicago Contest

The "On to Chicago" contest sponsored by the A. & P. Co. will close July 5. In Plymouth the six leading boys are Harry Dahmer, Francis Dougan, Billy Egan, Edward Martin, Hal Horton and Billy Reader.

The fight is close, and while there are 71 boys to go from the Detroit district, our Plymouth boys will have to have all available votes to win.

It is hoped that everyone holding these votes will give them to one of the local contestants, or turn them in at the A & P store for one of the boys.

Miss Marie Johnson was hostess to her Contract bridge club Wednesday evening at her summer home at Horseshoe Lake.

Yes, Sales Tax Will Be Added to Gas Tax

When Mr. and Mrs. Plymouth wake up Saturday morning and drive their car over to the gas station for the day's gas supply, they are going to find an increase in the gas tax. The total tax on gasoline you buy for your car after this date will be about 4 1/2 cents a gallon. The office of the secretary of state will collect the three cent state specific gas tax, the federal government will collect 1 1/2 cents (the last half cent being effective June 16), and the state board of tax administrators will collect its 3 per cent sales tax, which will equal about 1/4 of a cent a gallon.

In many states of the union, the total state and national tax on gasoline will exceed the price of the fluid itself.

M. L. Kenyon, well known Plymouth pioneer resident, has in his possession a ticket for the opening ball at the old Plymouth hotel that was printed 68 years ago. The event took place on the evening of September 2, 1864.

"Good music in attendance," said the ticket, $1.00. John Kenyon, father of Mr. Kenyon, was the owner of the hotel at that time.

The ticket is so old and worn that it is difficult to make out the printing.

PART PAYMENT OF TAXES IS O.K.

City Commission Grants Property Owners Easy Plan To Pay

On Friday, June 23, the city commission adopted an ordinance authorizing the treasurer to accept payments on city taxes and special assessments in any amounts in excess of $1.00 as may be offered at the office of the City Treasurer.

This plan was adopted in response to a considerable demand for installment paying of taxes on a monthly or quarterly basis. After studying the provisions of the City Charter it was decided that some amendments would have to be adopted before the installment plan could be placed into effect.

It was found that the partial payment plan could be adopted without any changes in the charter and it was also felt that this plan would be more advantageous to those desiring to meet their tax obligations in small amounts, payable weekly or monthly.

The ordinance provides that the city treasurer shall accept any amount offered in excess of $1.00 on any tax or special assessment at such time as the taxpayer desires to make the payment. A partial payment receipt will be given for the amount paid, which receipt will show the total tax, previous payments and the amount unpaid. Any penalties called for in the City Charter will be added only to the unpaid balance on the date when the penalties are to be charged. After the entire tax or assessment has been paid on this basis the total tax, previous payments and the amount unpaid, by the City Treasurer.

In case the entire amount of tax or assessment is not paid at the end of the collecting period, the City Treasurer is authorized by the ordinance to return the unpaid balance to the County Treasurer for collection as in the case of any other taxes.

It is believed that this new plan of collecting taxes will materially assist the taxpayer who is not able to make the full payment at one time. A partial payment of taxes was not permitted before the adoption of this ordinance, although many people requested to pay their taxes on this basis.

It will be necessary for the city treasurer to set up a subsidiary ledger in which a record of the partial payments will be made, and these payments will be deposited in the general funds of the City daily as they are received at the City Treasurer's office.

This system will go into effect on July 1st, the date on which the 1933 taxes become due and payable. It should be remembered that the partial payment plan includes special assessment taxes as well as general city taxes, and taxpayers are urged to pay as much as possible of their special assessment taxes in order that the City will be relieved of financing the retirement special assessment bonds and interest due to the lower collection of these taxes.

During the electric storm of Wednesday afternoon lightning struck the chimney on the home of Jack Strohl on East Ann Arbor Trail and knocked it completely from the house. Little other damage was done.

Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Austin Whipple and son, Edson Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baker and Betty Lou and Billy, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Joffite and Jared, Mr. and Mrs. P. Cookinham enjoyed swimming party and picnic supper at Whitmore Lake.

CITY WILL PLAN WORK PROGRAM ON FEDERAL AID

Plymouth Stands In Most Favorable Position To Secure Aid

At the city commission meeting held on Friday evening, June 23rd, considerable discussion was had on the National Industrial Recovery Act recently passed by the U. S. Congress and signed by the President.

Title two of this act relates to public works and construction projects aimed at reducing unemployment and relieving the welfare burden of municipalities. The act appropriates $3,300,000,000 to be used for the above purposes. The State of Michigan will receive approximately $213,000,000 in loans or direct grants. The State Highway Commission is to receive $13,000,000 to be used on Federal Aid Roads and grade separations. The balance of $200,000,000 will be available for loans to municipalities or other political subdivisions.

The Federal government will make an outright grant up to the amount of 30 per cent of the cost of any project which can be started immediately for the purpose of relieving unemployment. The balance of the cost of the work can be borrowed from the Federal Government and repaid in future years.

The Commission instructed the mayor to obtain all information possible on this new Act of Congress and submit a report together with a list of proposed public improvements which might be undertaken in Plymouth. This report is to be submitted to the City Commission at its next meeting.

TWO KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Many Plymouth Residents See Accident Near Telegraph Road

Many Plymouth people Tuesday evening who drove out on the Plymouth road saw the plane accident that cost the lives of two people.

A young Negro woman and her husband, a student pilot attempting his second solo flight, were killed when the plane struck the tip of a twenty-foot pole at the edge of the Burns Airport and crashed into Plymouth Road a few yards west of Telegraph Road, narrowly missing passing motorists. Traffic was blocked for two hours.

Don P. Simmons, 25 years old, of Detroit, the pilot, who suffered a skull fracture and internal injuries, died at 10:30 p. m. in Bedford Receiving Hospital. His wife, Katherine, 20, had died in the hospital two hours earlier and only shortly after the crash which occurred at 7:45.

The crash occurred just after the take-off. Flying a small biplane owned by the Ace Flying Club, a Negro organization of which he was a student member, Simmons had trouble getting into the air, witnesses said, and the left wing tip of the ship struck the pole, which supported high-tension wires.

Pole and plane crashed together into the center of the road, narrowly missing an open car in which an elderly couple was riding. Traffic was heavy, and brakes squealed as other cars came to a halt barely in time to avoid collisions.

J. G. Williams, Negro, of Detroit, president of the Ace Flying Club, said Simmons had been a flying pupil for a few weeks, and had a record of 25 hours in the air. He made his first solo flight a few days ago. Simmons held a student flying permit, records showed.

The woman, pulled out of the wreck first, was taken to the hospital by two friends, Herbert Woodard and Buddy Woods, Negroes. Deputy sheriffs arrived soon after the crash and helped extricate Simmons, but the injured man lay on the pavement for half an hour until the arrival of John Bissell, Redwood Township police chief, who took him to the hospital, according to B. O. Swain, who runs a sandwich shop on Plymouth Road and saw the crash.

Honoring their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hondorp and a group of relatives and friends numbering fifteen had a picnic dinner Sunday at Evans Lake near the Irish Hill. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Percy Tompson, LaVera Turner, Dick Russell, Polley Edwards of Farmington, Mrs. Harry Booth of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Turner of Dearborn, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Debbis and son and Gerald Hondorp of this city.

June Tea Party For D. A. R. Members Is Delightful Event

On Monday, June 14th, the June tea party, closing an active and most enjoyable year for the Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was a most delightful occasion. Mrs. Sherwood Hill opening her attractive country home, "Green Meadow" on the Base Line road for this happy event.

Mrs. Chauncey Baker, Regent of the Chapter, presided both at the executive board meeting and the regular business session. At this time important committees were announced for the ensuing year while routine consumed the rest of the business hour. This meeting, being the last of the calendar year, was also the first for the new officers, so that for them it served as a sort of introduction to new duties, starting seriously again in September.

During the tea hour, the daughters strolled through the spacious rooms made more attractively inviting and cool with bowls of spring flowers, or chatted under the spreading greenness of the big trees.

Mrs. Chauncey Baker and Mrs. Carl Bryan presided at the table in the dining room from which dainty sandwiches, chicken salad puffs, cakes and minis were served by Miss Barbara Horton and her committee.

Meeting away from the nation's capital for the first time, the national board of the Daughters of the American Revolution went to Chicago last week for a conference followed by a flag ceremony at the Chicago world's fair.

Assembling on the terrace and driveway of the blue, white and gold Federal Building at the exposition, members heard an address by Mrs. Russell William Magna of Holyoke, Mass., president-general of the organization, and saw an impressive procession of flags. The foreign nations in which the patriotic organization has chapters, carried by women pages, made an effective setting for the outdoor ceremony. Allen D. Albert of the exposition staff welcomed the Daughters.

Mrs. Magna made an appeal to the members to "keep abreast of the times, to keep running on the track of progress." "I beg for less destructive criticism, more individual responsibility in citizenship," she continued. "The present period offers unlimited opportunities for individual service."

"The indifference of Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen must be cured. Indifference is as dangerous as ignorance. The best approach to this problem is through education of the children."

Those who have followed the legislative session point out that as long as the officials in Lansing knew nearly six months ago that they were going to force a sales tax on the state, if they had passed the bill early in the session, there would have been plenty of time left to prepare for its collection.

As a result of the slipshod way of handling the new tax, utter confusion exists at the time that the new tax law becomes effective.

The secretary Berg Moore of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce in an effort to help the merchants out of their trouble, went to Detroit Tuesday in an effort to secure some information from officials there about the operation of the new sales tax. He found them to be in just the same confusion that exists here. He called a meeting Tuesday evening of some 50 Plymouth business men to discuss the matter, but nothing came from it as the state has provided not one bit of information about the tax or how it is going to be collected.

On top of the sales tax which every one who buys anything at all will have to begin paying tomorrow morning, there is a steady advance in prices noted on staple foods and clothing.

Flour has jumped up to almost double its former price. Cigarette prices are going up.

In addition to all of this the federal government will on July 8 begin the collection of a federal tax on all wheat products. But this proceeds tax will not be collected by the merchant. It will be collected from the miller and the maker of food products.

However, you will pay the tax. One Plymouth merchant figured out that the federal process tax on a 25 pound sack of flour will be about 18 cents. This in addition to the sales tax of three per cent of the purchase price that the state will collect.

Yes, it's a case of pay and pay.

DETROIT YOUTH DROWNS In Waterford

The first drowning incident of the present year took place Tuesday night at Waterford pond. Jerry Giddas, 19 years old, of Detroit, is believed by some to have been pushed from the dam into the water and left to drown by his companions.

Deputy Sheriff George Springer and other officers who arrived at the dam, a popular swimming place immediately after Giddas had drowned reported that they were unable to find witnesses but were told that a group of youths had left quickly after the fatality. There had been talk, the officers were told, that Jerry was standing at the dam and had been pushed in by a companion.

Deputy Coroner Woodman and the officers went to the youth's home to question two of his brothers who, they were told, were members of the swimming party.

The body was removed to the county morgue in Detroit.

TOMORROW IS TIME YOU START PAYING NEW TAX

Food You Eat, Clothing You Wear Going To Be Taxed By State

To the consumers of Plymouth—prepare to pay a tax beginning tomorrow, Saturday morning, on the food you eat and the clothing you wear.

Pay it and do not complain—it is what the Michigan voters have been voting for during recent years.

When you walk into the grocery stores and meat markets of Plymouth tomorrow morning you are going to pay MORE for the meat you buy, for the groceries you buy, for the shoes and clothing and drings you will need. Yes, you are going to pay a tax on everything you purchase, no matter what it is.

While you are going to complain about the half cent, half dollar or more that you will pay out in taxes in addition to the regular costs of the goods, you shouldn't complain too much.

Think of the poor merchant!

The sales tax bill was introduced in the legislature early in January. The state administration said it was going to be passed, but not until four or five days before the adjournment of the legislature the middle of this month, was the bill passed.

Then the members of the legislature talked dog racing bills and other obvious legislation of this kind, the sales tax bill laid untouched and without consideration in committee. Then it was rushed through a few days ago almost overnight.

As a result of this slipshod way of handling legislation, the merchants of Plymouth as well as the merchants of the entire state will tomorrow morning begin the collection of a sales tax that the state has provided no information about, with no recommendation as to any one but a blank of any kind or form on which to report the tax they must collect.

Those who have followed the legislative session point out that as long as the officials in Lansing knew nearly six months ago that they were going to force a sales tax on the state, if they had passed the bill early in the session, there would have been plenty of time left to prepare for its collection.

Here Is Proof That Depression Is Over

Here's proof, too, that the depression is over!

Edward C. Hough has about twenty acres of as good clover hay as ever grew outdoors.

He's been trying to give it away and can't find a taker.

All anyone has to do to get this hay is to cut it, cure it, and haul it away.

The hay still stands in the field near Mr. Hough's home on Ann Arbor road—waiting for some one to just take it away.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Merle Bennett were dinner guests of her sister, Mrs. Wayne Johnson and Mr. Johnson in Ann Arbor Tuesday evening.

Business Swings Up High Official Advises Sec. Moore

Berg Moore, secretary of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce while in Indianapolis over the week-end had the unusual opportunity of an interview with V. A. Skinner, secretary of the United States Chamber of Commerce of Washington who happened to be in the Hoosier metropolis at the same time Mr. Moore was there.

According to the officials of the Plymouth organization, Mr. Skinner is very optimistic as to future business. He quoted Mr. Skinner as believing that the national recovery act passed during the final days of the congressional session would go a long way to aid business in the United States.

In fact the whole trend of the interview with the Washington official was of a most encouraging nature. Already there are signs of improvement and in many sections of the country business has taken a turn for the better. Mr. Moore was advised, Mr. Moore states that in Indianapolis there is much to indicate that business is on the upgrade in the nearby state and those that he talked with expressed the idea that by fall a much better and more stable condition would prevail.

PLYMOUTH NOT TO CELEBRATE

Fourth Promises To Be A Quiet One — No Fire- crackers In Town

Next Tuesday—it's the Fourth of July.

Present prospects are that it is going to be the quietest Fourth Plymouth has ever enjoyed.

Firecrackers and fire works are not filling the windows of Plymouth stores.

Maybe there are some in Plymouth—maybe, but no one can find them, if there are any here.

Firecrackers have gone out—just like one cylinder motor cars.

As a result the boys and girls of Plymouth are not going to blow off any fingers next Tuesday, no eyes are going to be put out any more trying to make their own explosives.

But with hundreds of Buzz Bartons shooting cold streams of water, why bother with something that doesn't give one half the pleasure, ask the youngsters.

At any rate the Fourth promises to be an exceedingly quiet one—maybe hot too.

Plymouth will have no celebration and there will be none about here.

Art Exhibit Wins Praise From Many

Numerous Plymouth residents and visitors from nearby towns recently had the opportunity of viewing an unusual art exhibit in the Schrader Brothers furniture store windows, made possible by Mrs. Hanny VanDerVelde of Royal Oak, who taught art on Saturday afternoon in Plymouth the past year, and her pupils.

Most favorable comments were made by the onlookers, the oil paintings of homes, surrounded by colorful flowers and trees, others of fields with streams running through them and still others life-like portraits, all done with that artistic touch shown them by their able instructor. There was also work in water colors and charcoal done by the younger class which met Saturday mornings under the direction of Miss Sarah Cutler of this city, a pupil of Mrs. VanDerVelde, which proved Miss Cutler's ability in teaching also.

The class of oil painting was composed of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cutler, Miss Sarah Cutler, Mrs. Mary K. Hillmer, Mrs. Leo Crane, Mrs. Hugh Daly, Miss Dorca Gallimore, Miss Florence Stader of this city, Mrs. Howard and Miss Howard of Royal Oak. The water color and charcoal class was composed of Barbara Olsaver, Betha Starkweather, Belva Barnes, Marion Coward, Mrs. Hillmer and Mrs. Daly.

Mr. Cutler, special designer for Henry Ford, and Mrs. Cutler, who attended the Cincinnati Art Academy and their daughter, Miss Sarah Cutler, who attended the Chicago Art Institute, two winners and one runner, had an interesting

Slick Scheme Being Used To Get Money From Local Merchants

Plymouth merchants are warned by local police officers to watch out for a slick check artist who has been floating bad checks in both Plymouth and Northville.

In some way he has secured checks on the newly opened Northville bank as well as the banks of Plymouth.

His method of operation is one that will easily fool the average person. He will walk into a store and make a small purchase on one day, paying cash for his merchandise. The next day he will return and make another purchase and offer a check on the Northville bank in payment. The check is always larger than the amount of the purchase. Naturally the merchant has seen the purchaser in the store before and recalling that his transaction was satisfactory, there is no hesitation in taking the check.

In Plymouth the checks used have been the Northville bank checks. In Northville, checks on the Plymouth banks have been used. Just how many merchants have been defrauded is not known, but police say a large number of worthless checks have turned up. They say that if some one comes in who is working this scheme, to kindly call them at once.

High School Alumni Ban- quet Proves Most Pleas- ing Affair

The alumni banquet was held in the school auditorium Friday evening, June 23, with one of the snappiest and best programs that has been presented at the alumni banquet in years.

Officers of the coming year were elected as follows: president, Lynn Partridge; vice president, Lawrence Rattenbury; secretary and treasurer, Geraldine Schmidt.

After the business meeting, president Chase Willett introduced Mrs. Norma Cassidy, toastmistress for the evening, who in turn welcomed the class of 1933 and introduced Mrs. Florence Furman, class of 1908, who spoke on the school of twenty-five years ago. Her remarks refreshed the memories of many with incidents which brought happiness back to the hearts of those who had forgotten.

C. E. Stevens was then introduced to speak on the school of fifty years ago. Mr. Stevens being the only member present of the class of 1883. His discussion of the school conditions then and of the present conditions of the school was especially interesting to all classmates.

Ruth Allison, accompanied by Barbara Bake, rendered in an especially pleasing manner two vocal selections.

The speaker of the evening, Leigh Markham of the class of 1905 was introduced and gave a particularly interesting and inspiring talk using as his theme, "Tapestry".

At the conclusion of the program, the auditorium was cleared and the remainder of the evening was divided between dancing, renewing old friendships, and visiting. Those who did not dance seemed to enjoy the fine music of Livingston's orchestra and the added hour of friendly visiting with those they had not seen recently quite as much as did those who danced. Everyone returned to his home after midnight with a happy memory of an enjoyable home-coming.

Chamber of Commerce Gives Approval To Plan To Provide Work

Following numerous inquiries and suggestions that Plymouth put forth some effort to secure a portion of the vast sum the federal government proposes to spend in order to provide employment for the idle workers of the nation, the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce directors at a meeting Monday forenoon decided that one of the most important public projects of this city would be the construction of a large storm sewer between Harvey street and Main street, thereby eliminating the Tonquish creek open sewer that each year creates a foul stench almost along its entire length.

Not only did the directors discuss the advisability of asking proper public officials to secure the creek through the city but it was deemed advisable that as long as the improvement of the creek was of a public nature, that the city open a street over the top or along side of the improvement, thereby giving the city direct control over the creek at all times and providing Plymouth with the additional parking space it so badly needs.

According to Secretary Berg Moore of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, who has received information relative to some of the provisions of the federal public works program authorized under the National Industrial Recovery Act, and who brought the question to the attention of the directors, such projects as the Tonquish creek proposed improvement are recommended by the federal government.

The directors present were of the unanimous opinion that now is the time to give immediate and serious consideration to worthy local projects which can classify under the act, with particular emphasis being directed toward covering the unsightly and unsanitary Tonquish creek.

By formal resolution, the directors present pledged their cooperation to the city commission in the study of the subject in general.

According to information in Mr. Moore's possession, since determination of the suitability of proposed undertakings is one of the major problems of administering the law, it should be stated at the outset that certain general tests will be applied to all projects regardless of the class to which they belong.

These are the project needed?

2. How many men will it put to work?

3. How soon will the work start?

4. What will it cost?

Applying these tests to covering Tonquish creek, the improvement is certainly needed because the condition of the creek in its present condition is a community disgrace. It would put a substantial number of men to work, the work could start in short order because most of the preliminary work has been performed, and the cost would not be excessive when compared to what the improvement would mean to the entire community.

According to a bulletin from the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the time element is important. The various parts of the proposed national program must move forward rapidly to the maximum volume of employment to be provided, and success is to result from this nation-wide effort to stimulate the business upturn by advancing need- and financially sound public works projects.

No W.C.T.U. Sessions During July, August

The Flower Mission meeting of the Plymouth W. C. T. U. held at the home of Mrs. Lauffer, June 22 was well attended. The program in charge of Mrs. Kebl, included several poems by Edgar Guest and an interesting paper, "Flowers," written by Mrs. Mack and, in her absence, read by the president, Mrs. E. C. Vealey. In conclusion Mrs. Kebl, flower mission superintendent, conducted a guessing contest which was very amusing. She displayed an English walnut which she said contained 30 articles all of which, necessarily, she would want to make up the count. Each guest was furnished with paper and pencil and wrote down the name of such articles as she thought might be found in the walnut shell. Mrs. McNabb, the contestant guessing correctly the largest number of articles, was given by Mrs. Kebl a very pretty bath towel, and a consolation prize, a dainty handkerchief, was awarded Mrs. Lauffer.

The July and August meetings will be omitted but it is expected that the Plymouth Union will unite with Novi, Walled Lake, and South Lyon unions for a picnic to be held in the Cass Benton park during July or August. Notice of the date will be given later.

A NATION'S SACRED SHRINE

Next Tuesday the nation will celebrate another anniversary of its freedom. As we do so it is but natural that our thoughts turn to some of the places made sacred by history.

Scattered along the Atlantic coast region from Boston to St. Augustine are countless historic old brick structures invested with the glamor of romance, of stirring adventure, of heroic sacrifice and earnest patriotic devotion to country, but nowhere is one instinctively moved to bare his head in a sincere reverence so much as in Independence hall, where something more than 150 years ago a handful of patriots dared the wrath of Great Britain and declared for American freedom. Even today one seems to feel the presence of those dauntless spirits in the very atmosphere of those plain, old-fashioned rooms, hung with mementoes of the days of '76.

About it hovers the best traditions of American patriotism. Other walls have rung with patriotic declaration, with impassioned oratory and bold defiance, but nowhere has loyalty to country and earnest devotion to the cause of liberty found such deathless expression as was voiced in that Declaration of Independence announced by the ancient Liberty bell in the capitol overhead on that memorable Fourth of July so many years ago.

Doubtless more loving care has been lavished upon this old building than upon any other in America. It stands today virtually as it was in '76.

Here the Declaration of Independence was adopted on July 4, 1776.

The convention which adopted the framework of the government of the commonwealth, including the Bill of Rights, met there in 1787. On July 9, 1776, the Articles of Confederation and perpetual union were signed there by eight states, the others signing later. Here sat the Supreme Court of the United States from 1789 to 1800. Its name was changed to Independence hall after Lancaster became the state capital.

THE BANKS AND BRUCKER

Banking Commissioner Rudolph Reickert in testifying the other day before the grand jury investigation into Detroit's banking failures, wrote into the permanent record of America's biggest bank failure the accusation that if ex-Governor Brucker had kept his meddling hands out of the banking situation when Brucker, was attorney general of Michigan, there might not have been any bank failure in Detroit. When application was made to the banking department for the organization of banking "holding companies" in Detroit, the banking department ruled against the applications, stated Mr. Reickert. The banking department, he said, did not believe that they would be a good thing for the state. The promoters carried their request to the attorney-general—Mr. Brucker—and Mr. Brucker ruled that it was really none of the banking department's business because there was no law against the organization of holding companies. Michigan bank depositors as well as the taxpayers of the state are today paying for their folly in having permitted Brucker ever to take the governor's chair. The state is simply reaping the reward of six years of indifference to the management of its governmental affairs.

VETERANS' PENSIONS

One hundred and fifty-eight years ago the foundation was laid for our American war pension system, on June 17, 1775, at the battle of Bunker Hill. The first recipients of pensions from the United States were men who fought there with Warren, declares the Dearborn Independent.

From the beginning of the Republic this nation has set an example for the whole world in the matter of generosity to men who have risked their lives in war for their country. Nor has anybody, so far as we have ever heard, begrudged a cent of the money spent for the relief of those who were incapacitated by their war service, or for the dependents of those who died of wounds received in battle.

The scandals of our pension system have arisen in the past from the demands of organized minorities of veterans for help from the public treasury merely because they once wore Uncle Sam's uniform. Following the war between the States this demand grew steadily until it practically wrecked the party in power, which acceded to every demand of the sort. Public sentiment rose in revolt against the maintenance at public expense of men who had served only thirty days and never smell powder.

President Roosevelt has been firm against any project which would revive the scandals of the old G. A. R. days. There is no purpose on the part of the administration, as we understand it, to withhold adequate relief from any deserving veteran. The President is opposed, however, to continuing the burden on the taxpayers imposed by the distribution of public funds to ex-soldiers who have no claim other than that they are ex-soldiers.

We believe that the President has the public with him in this matter. We believe, also, that Senators and Congressmen who let themselves be stampeded by threats of the veteran's lobby disclose themselves as more concerned with their own political fortunes than with the welfare of the nation.

NOT HIS KIND OF MUSIC

Yep, I like music. Music everywhere. I like it on the streets, at home, in church, in the theatre, out on the front street, and a great lot of that coming over the radio, but I don't like that music growing out of Michigan's State College music school. It's out of harmony and out of tune with other things that come out of the college that tend to encourage and prepare our agricultural people to better carry on. It would seem the so-called music going out into the air from that music department ought to be cut out without further ado. We realize the school must have a strong pull somewhere to get by as it has in the face of criticism, complaint and accusations. Remove that discordant reel from Michigan's worthy institution and all will be fine and good.—Al Weber in The Cheboygan Observer.

We can show him the city in which that bank is located and in which the people in a few short hours raised the money demanded by the Federal Reserve and the E. C. and under a plan presented by these and the Treasury department's representatives only to have that plan rejected and the bank forced to close.

No longer can we show to Mr. Woodin the Michigan which was one of the industrial leaders of the Union, in which wealth and happiness and prosperity, thrift and industry were something of which to boast.

Today, due to the failure of Mr. Woodin's department to know where it was going or why, due to its failure to be helpful rather than harmful to the people of a great state, due to its failure to try to save rather than to wreck banks, we can show him only—

A state of wrecked banks, strangled business enterprises, bankrupted or near-bankrupted industries; a disillusioned, sullen, angry people whose savings have been looted, whose homes have been taken from them, who can find no work for their hands, whose faith in their Government has vanished who look with hate in their hearts toward Mr. Woodin's department in Washington as the author of their distress.—Frank Sparks in the Grand Rapids Herald.

MR. GROESBECK OUT IN FRONT

It rather looks as if the straight thinking and very efficient Mr. A. J. Groesbeck is rather well endeared to the people of the state right now for the very public and positive manner in which he is talking about some public officials whom he thinks have "raped" the banks. Michigan folks have always admired the cold but hard working and logically minded Groesbeck—Frank Bryce in The Grand Ledge Independent.

WHAT WOODIN WILL SEE

Secretary of the Treasury Woodin—in some sections they spell the name with an "e"—is coming to Michigan—sometime.

He was to have come the first of this week, but has delayed the trip just as so many things with reference to the banking situation have been "delayed" by his department.

He's coming, he says, to view the banking situation.

Perhaps we can tell him before he comes what he will see, when and if he comes.

Michigan's state motto reads: "If you would see a beautiful peninsula look about you."

Once upon a time we could have shown Mr. Woodin—parlor, Mr. Woodin—not only beauty, but happiness and prosperity.

Once we could have shown him the state producing the greatest number of automobiles of any in the world, the center of the furniture industry of America, the leading food city in the world, prosperous farmers and orchardists, plenty and prosperity and industry and business humming everywhere.

What can we show him now, when and if he comes?

A state whose banks have been wrecked, whose deposits have been looted, whose people have been robbed of their life savings whose business and whose industry have been strangled, whose workers are idle, whose busiest industry is the bankruptcy court.

We can show him in Grand Rapids two great and once prosperous banks containing some $25,000,000 of the money that belongs to our people, kept closed because the obstinacy, the indecision, the wrecking policy of Mr. Woodin's treasury department, aided and abetted by the pawnbroking R.F.C. and the Federal Reserve.

We can show him two great and once prosperous banks which have obeyed the demands of proper authorities to reorganize and which have fulfilled the reorganization plans given them by Federal Reserve and Treasury department only to have these same authorities reject their own plans later.

We can show him a people who has lost confidence not only in banks and the banking system, but who have, likewise, lost faith in their government.

We can show him a people who believed President Roosevelt when he said:

"No banks which the Government has permitted to reopen will be allowed to close. All the power and resources of the Government will be placed behind each and every one of the reopened banks."

We can show him a people disillusioned when only this week a great bank in one of Michigan's principal cities was closed because the Government, because Mr. Woodin's Treasury department refused to support it.

Local and Society

William Streng has been a busy man lately planning the Streng reunion which took place at Riverside Park Sunday with an attendance of about one hundred and twenty-five. The guests came from Toledo, Ohio, Flint, Waterford, Detroit and Plymouth. A ball game was a pleasant feature of the occasion.

Mrs. E. C. Drews and daughter, Ruth, the Misses Cordula, Hanna and Esther Strassen, attended a piano recital Friday evening at the Woman's City Club in Detroit given by pupils, aged three to thirteen years old, of Miss Hazel Zumstein of that city. One especially interesting feature to them was the part taken by the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Heeney of Farmington, Michigan. Misses Hazel Joyce, aged seven and Mrs. Heeney was formerly Miss Florence McLeod of Plymouth.

Ella LeJeune Bassie of Los Angeles, California, on a visit to several Michigan friends and relatives, spent the night and day Monday and Tuesday at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Oscar Kuro, on Sunset avenue. Mrs. Bassie was entertained with a summer luncheon at which several guests including Mrs. V. C. Kierman and Mrs. George Jarratt attended. Mrs. Bassie attended the World's Fair for several days stopping at the Stevens Hotel before coming to Michigan and will return to California about the middle of July.

A very attractive and enjoyable dessert-bridge was given Wednesday afternoon by Miss Camilla Ashton at her home on Ann street honoring her house-guest of the week, Miss Geraldine Young of Rocky River, Ohio. Those invited to meet Miss Young were Mrs. Winfield S. Baughan, Miss Marion Dewyvor of Detroit, Miss June Jewell, Miss Marlow Tefft, Miss Janette Blikenstaff, the Misses Cora and Cassie Rowland, Miss Elaine Hamilton, Miss Mary Lorenz and Miss Zephra Bink.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Passage and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Gray honored Mrs. Paul Christensen at a birthday dinner in their home on East Ann Arbor street Monday evening, June 26. The rooms and tables were tastefully decorated with garlands of roses and bouquets of flowers. The color scheme was carried out in the delicious three course dinner after which the twelve guests were ushered into the living room where the guest of honor was introduced to burst the collared shirt and merriest ensued as each halloon revealed the hiding place of a useful gift. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing games and singing. The guests departed vowing their host and hostess royal entertainers. The out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott and daughter Ruth, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mueller of Dearborn.

Schrader - Haggerty Team Wins Again Plymouth's rampaging Schrader-Haggerty baseball team continued their triumphant march last Sunday turning in their second successive conquest by defeating the first Brightwood Hawks, at the new Plymouth-Riverside Park, 10 to 9.

With a one run lead, Harold Pankow, ace of the Plymouth mound staff, apparently had the hard hitting Macabees under control, but they broke loose in the fourth to score six runs. In the last five innings not a Brightmore man got as far as first base, while the Plymouth boys were pounding two Brightmore pitchers, for a total of eight runs on eight hits, two bases on balls and an error.

Beryl Smith drove out his third home run of the season in the third inning with no one on the bases. The Panicle Shoe Shop nine of Jackson, members of the City Baseball League, will make the trip to Plymouth Sunday, July 2nd, to oppose the Schrader-Haggerty club. This is scheduled as being one of the most outstanding games of the season.

July 4th, the famous Parsell Beef Company baseball team from Flint will be the holiday attraction. This club is the strongest team in the Flint Tri-Ale Federation League, and also boasts of having a woman pitcher on the pitching staff. She has been picked to hurl against the Plymouth team.

Both games are scheduled for 3 o'clock at the Plymouth-Riverside Park diamond. Perfect balance is necessary to tires, or steering is affected and shimmy is set up. There are slightly more than 3,000,000 miles of rural roads in the United States with 330,000 miles in state highway systems. To make things easy for motorists touring in Maine, state highway police will go to school this coming winter. The idea is to transform each officer into a walking information booth. To prevent the annoyance of two fire "flats" at the same time, the spare should be tested every time the other three are given attention. Passenger cars account for 85 to 90 per cent of the vehicle mileage traveled annually over the rural roads of the United States. Engineers are using junked automobiles to reinforce a jetty being constructed along Powder River, near Brecken, Mont. The jetty is one of several structures being erected to divert the course of the river through a central channel, and to halt river-bank erosion.

Century of Progress Exposition Worth Seeing Says Hamill

F. W. Hamill, agent of the Pere Marquette Railway, who has returned from a visit to the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago, expresses a different opinion about the exposition than others who have visited it. He says it is well worth seeing.

"Having recently returned from a visit to the Century of Progress, World's Fair at Chicago, I would like to give your readers some first hand information as to cost. You hear all sorts of rumors about costing $80,000 to see all of the Fair," says Mr. Hamill.

"There are some thirty-seven large buildings as follows: Agricultural Building, Communications and Radio Building, General Exhibits Group, Hall of Science, Hall of Social Science, Home Planning Hall, Mayan Temple, General Motors Building, Johns-Manville Building, Sears Roebuck Building, Time, Inc., Sinclair Refining Co., States Group, Travel and Transporter Building, American Radiator Building, Christian Science Monitor Bldg., Chrysler Bldg., Edison Memorial, Federal Building, Firestone Bldg., Illinois Hotel Bldg., Hall of Religion, Southern Cypress Bldg., Thermometer Tower, Press Bldg., Exhibit Nine Modern Homes, etc.

"The admission price of 50 cents entitles you admission to all the above and any others constructed by the Century of Progress. You can spend two or three weeks and still find something wonderfully interesting every minute. Besides the above there are thirty or forty concessions or shows which, if you care to take the time from the free exhibits will cost you 25, 40 or 50 cents each. For instance Rodeo (Soldiers Field), 50c; Lincoln Group, 25c; 40 Mining Camp, 15c; Indian War Dancing, 25c; Chinese Temple, 40c; Ride in a Dirigible, $3.00; Hollywood, 50c to $1.00; Observation Tower, 50c; Ride in Rocket Cars, 40c; Observation Balloon, 50c, etc., etc.

There is free dining in several places. Free motor boat races daily and several free shows among the exhibits taking about 30 minutes each. All very instructive and gives you a chance to rest and you will need some rest. The Fair opens at ten in the morning and closes some time before 2 a. m. We stayed until near midnight each day and it was going strong when we left.

All the railroads have one fare plus 25 cents for return tickets with further reductions for parties of four or more. You can get rooms to suit any pocket book from $1.50 a night for two, up. I can save you money through a railroad organization that is conducted free of charge, on rooms and all expense items.

The A & P have a wonderful pavilion including a double dome. On one side there is a stage and the marionette show every hour or so, well worth seeing. On the other side the orchestra plays and there is free dancing. Everything free but the refreshments. There is a liquid air demonstration, similar to the one in the high school here two years ago. In the General Electric display in the Electrical Bldg., they have a thirty minute free show demonstrating how to change light waves to sound waves and a number of seemingly impossible things. It is called the "House of Magic." The General Motors and Chrysler buildings and displays are most elaborate. You can spend two days in the Hall of Science to good advantage. Time and space will not permit me to go into details. Then there is the wonderful Transportation Building, very large with no inside supports to the roof. Several large towers around the outside with large cables running down to the roof of its supports. Behind this we saw the crack "Royal Scot" passenger train from London, the best United States train, the first wood burning engine. In fact everything in the transportation line including the latest air liners.

"The new feature about the main buildings is the absence of windows. All the side wall space is used for exhibits and artificial light displaces natural light, day as well as night.

"The coloring on the outside is very artistic and elaborate and the illumination at night surpasses any previous effort.

"They have been four years filling in and building the three miles long and a half mile wide along the lake front not to mention an island half the size of Belle Isle out in the lake. The lake breeze makes the temperature about ten degrees cooler than it is in the interior. The street car fare is 7 cents, the bus fare 10 cents. Bus preferred as they will take you right to the gates. Also buses inside the grounds for 10c. With 2 1/2 hour tours of the main buildings for $1.50. Also wheeled chairs and rickshaws at $1.00 per hour. Advise you to wear old shoes and go in for comfort.

"Any one wishing any further information please feel free to consult me. Here's hoping each of you can attend at least a day or two. You will not be sorry."

Disastrous Fire Sweeps So. Lyon

Three two-story buildings were destroyed with a loss of $10,000. 17 persons made homeless and much of the South Lyon business district threatened by fire Monday morning.

After a two-hour fight, in part of which it seemed certain the Masonic Temple would burn, the South Lyon Fire Department and the blaze under control. As the fire assumed dangerous proportions the Northville department was summoned, but when it arrived the blaze had been well controlled.

The fire apparently started in the Drayton Barber Shop, Mr. and Mrs. Drayton and roomers on the second floor occupied. Mrs. Eva Sheppard and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Klinger, who with their children occupied the second floor of the building in which Klinger's shoe repair shop was located, lost their homes.

The ground floor of the third building was vacant, but Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzen Hutchinson and their two children lived on the second floor. Calvin Sheppard, living nearby, smelled smoke and sounded the alarm. All of the buildings were on East Lake St.

Gila monsters (two species) are the only known venomous lizards in the United States or Mexico.

CAN YOU IMAGINE What Jean Whipple will do next year with J. D. graduated. How many seniors will come back for a P. G. course? Who gave Norvell Bovee his named?

Irene Humphries wanting to double for Greta Garbo? Why Miss Lovewell was angry when Miriam Brown tucked a certain movie star's picture on her bulletin board?

How Claire Shontz hurt her foot? (Here's my chance to get out with Shaw. It seems that the winsome lass went swimming with Huttercup and before the party reached its destination, Huttercup somehow managed to step on Claire's dainty foot with his number twelve clodhoppers. Oh well, accidents will happen.)

Who the lad is that Lib Whipple has her eyes cast on? This high school with some drinking fountains that would work? How many students have made special trips to the second floor to see the enlarged senior composite?

A certain senior's embarrassment when he stumbled over the waste paper basket as he was going out of study three the seventh hour, and which was brought about by Doris Cole trying to attract his attention? James Schomberger as a traveling junk yard? Who the polo player is that Margaret Holemb is receiving attention from?

How Uncle Sam Will Pay Farmers Who Cut Down Wheat Crops

The step taken by the administrators of the Farm Relief Act in adjusting the acreage of basic crops to the normal demand from consumers will directly affect Michigan farmers who will be asked to reduce by 20 per cent the 765,800 acres of wheat grown annually in this State, and all consumers of wheat products will be indirectly affected, according to announcements made from Washington, D. C. by Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture.

Michigan is not usually considered to have vital interest in the wheat crop but the producer here totals over 15 million bushels annually. The acreage planted to wheat in the State is equal to the total acreage planted to rye, barley, buckwheat, sugar beets, and potatoes. As the Michigan wheat acreage is mostly confined to the southern portion of the lower peninsula it appears that the proposed curtailment of wheat acreage will materially affect Michigan farm practices.

The plan proposed by Secretary Wallace to bring the wheat acreage within the limits called for by consumers is to reduce the acreage of the 1934 wheat crop not to exceed 20 per cent. This would mean a reduction of 147,160 acres in Michigan if all wheat growers cooperated with the federal government.

No Michigan farmer is required to reduce his wheat acreage. All farmers will be asked to cooperate and those who believe that the payments to be made by the government for decreases in acreage will recompense them for the reduction in bushels marketed will sign contracts to cut their wheat plantings by the amount to be determined by the administrators of the Act.

Farmers who believe that they can make more money by planting their usual acreage of wheat for sale on the open market will not sign contracts and will receive no payments from the government.

Payments to be made to farmers will be obtained by placing a premium upon the 1933 crop of wheat as it flows through the mills to be made into flour. The amount of tax to be levied is tentatively placed at 30 cents per bushel but this can be changed by Secretary Wallace at any time that market conditions warrant.

Intentions are to advance two-thirds of the bonus payment to farmers about Sept. 15, 1933, and to pay the balance upon evidence of fulfillment of the crop reduction contract.

County committees of farmers will be organized with the aid of the agricultural agent. The purpose of the committee is to find the average acreage of wheat grown by farmers in the county, to find how many farmers are willing to reduce the number of acres grown, to ask farmers who are willing to reduce acreage to sign crop reduction contracts, and to decide whether or not the co-operators have fulfilled their contract.

Expense incurred by the committee will be deducted from payments made to that county. Attempts to defeat the purposes of the Act by farmers who make optimistic reports of previous wheat acreage are to be checked by surveys made by local men who know the amounts of wheat previously sown by their neighbors. Expenditure of the bonus payments for added amounts of fertilizer to be applied on the reduced acreage will be dealt with by the county committee. Other crops can not be sown on land taken from wheat production.

"Our first duty is to the farmer," is the statement of George N. Peek, who is in charge of all plans of crop reduction. Mr. Peek continues, "We propose to be watchful of the interests of others. The plan is financed by a processing tax but this should not mean necessarily that the entire tax is to be passed on to the consumer."

"For example, in 1909-1913, hard winter wheat sold for 65 cents a bushel at Kansas City, flour sold for $4.84 a barrel, and bread made for 6 cents per pound. In 1932, wheat sold for 46.9 cents per bushel in Kansas City in 1932, flour sold for $3.85 a barrel, but bread retailed for 6.7 cents per pound.

Wheat prices dropped more than 50 per cent but bread prices rose 10 per cent. Such a spread suggests that at least part of the processing tax should be absorbed in the difference between the price paid for wheat to the farmer and the price paid by the consumer for bread."

Wheat marketing statistics show that approximately $150,000,000 will be raised by the processing tax to be distributed to farmers who agree to reduce their 1934 wheat acreage at the Pennington Allen Theatre Sunday and Monday, July 2 and 3. Helen Hayes and Clark Gable are costarred for the first time on the screen in the classic love story and a prominent supporting cast features Lewis Stone, Louise Clouser Hale, May Robson, Edward Arnold and Alan Edwards.

In the present film, Miss Hayes plays the role of an aristocratic Italian girl who turns down the offer of her father's choice. In favor of a young officer in the Italian air force. When notified of his death at the front, she enters a convent. The story rises to a sensational climax when the lover returns and finds the girl's relations vows an obstacle to his happiness.

"THE GIRL IN 419" What goes on inside a police emergency hospital, from the moment an accident or crime results in injury is reported until the victim has reached the physicians' hands is brought to the screen for the first time in "The Girl in 419," showing at the Pennington Allen Theatre Wednesday, July 5.

Marion Davies will be seen at the Pennington Allen Theatre Saturday, July 1, in "Fog of Mystery" screened by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer-Cosmopolitan from the famous J. Hartley Mauners play in which Laurette Taylor created the title role on the stage twenty-one years ago and broke attendance records on two continents.

As the little Irish girl who inherits a colossal estate in England and falls in love with the young lawyer who arranged for her entrance into society, Miss Davies is considered to have given the finest performance of her entire career.

"CLEAR ALL WIRES" Broadway's biggest laugh hit, will be seen at the Pennington Allen Theatre Saturday, July 1. Leo Tracy heads a cast of 11m celebrities. Both and Samuel Spewack are authors of the riotous drawing of a fast-thinking newspaper correspondent who gets into a maze of comic complications in Europe. Tracy plays the role of the irresponsible newspaperman who comes to Moscow, steals the chorus girl loved by his wealthy employer, tries to frame a shooting for a newspaper " scoop," gets himself shot and saves his commissar's life, then is arrested for the plot and falls into the tolls of the Russian secret police until a dramatic denouement saves him.

Address of Senior Class President Most Interesting

Commencement exercises of the 1933 Plymouth high school period are over. Because of the fact that the address of the class president, Kenneth Greer, showed such careful preparation and contained so many excellent thoughts, the Ply-outh Mail is pleased to publish it in full as follows: One more school year has just passed and the regular ceremony that goes with graduation is being carried out in which every senior is thrilled with the fact that he is graduating. Then we turn away from this ceremony and realize what it will mean to graduate. We look at the problems that we will face and then we decide just how we are going to meet the situation.

We will be facing a hard world, but a world in which all men work in harmony. A world where men are dependent on each other. The farmer looks to the manufacturer and the manufacturer to the farmer. Even the industrialist looks to the laborer and the laborer to the industrialist with one thing in view—obtaining his or her own living. When the farmer picks his corn he is wondering if the people of the city will be able to buy it from him. And when the laborer of the city is making commodities he is wondering and hoping if the world in general will buy them so he may keep his job. It seems in this world of ours that everyone is dependent on one another.

Now the question arises of just how we are going to meet this world. Here is where our high school education is going to come in. Instead of being a wrench thrown into that great wheel of progress, the twentieth century, we want to be an additional cog to help make it more sure and fast.

We have taken advantage of the courses offered in our school. Those interested in science have been able to take those courses dealing with this particular subject. Those interested in the commercial line of work have had the advantage of these offered courses. In fact, ladies and gentlemen, Plymouth high school has offered almost any course that one might be interested in.

Now, my friends, we seniors do realize who has been responsible for offering us these fine advantages of education. And let me say in behalf of all of the seniors that we are very thankful to our parents and to the citizens of Plymouth for providing through their taxes in this time of need one of the best high schools in the state of Michigan in which we have received our high school education.

We seniors would like to have presented a class memorial to our school tonight, but due to the fact that our money is tied up in the Plymouth United Savings Bank it is necessary that we leave this condition—that when our money is released by the Plymouth Bank it will be used to purchase an electric scoreboard for this gymnasium.

Tonight we have been making up our class jig-saw puzzle. Piece by piece we have been putting together our class qualities. When we have them all together, we will have our 1933 graduating class of Plymouth high school as it goes out into the world.

The program this evening has dealt with the class of 1933 as a unit. But now let us take into consideration that we must look at ourselves individually, and see if we, ourselves, are not made up like a jig-saw puzzle as we take our selves apart piece by piece, quality by quality.

On the surface we are just ordinary people, but when we investigate further we are all different—all made up of many different qualities. Our character, personality, home and school environment, our physical makeup, our disposition and our outward appearance—all are qualities making up our individual puzzle. Each and everyone of these qualities must be in its proper place at all times to make our person successfully complete. So as the class of '33 goes out to face its problems of the world, it will not face them as the class of '33, but instead, each student will be required to face his own problem alone. As we leave to go down a separate road facing many tests that will tend to break down the pieces of his jig-saw puzzle and only by keeping the pieces close together can he succeed.

Every year when graduation time comes around seniors begin to realize what the life ahead. The class of 1933 has reached that point. We do realize what is ahead—a disheartened world made sick by the tragedies of a business depression. A world that has for 4 years been suffering in need of the necessities of life. God has seen fit to turn out not only the 80 seniors from Plymouth high school but also graduates from all over the state of Michigan and throughout the United States.

We seniors have sacrificed in our graduation. In fact we have faced many hardships in this last year with our school. But we deeply appreciate the advantages that education has offered us. Beginning as playmates and facing our childhood problems together, we have grown up until now we are sitting here together on the eve of our graduation from Plymouth high school. We have enjoyed immensely the past four years in our school, and I assure it will be a sad parting when each senior says goodbye to his teacher or classmate for the last time in his high school career. In working with my class I have come to cherish it and probably all of us will remember our high school days as being most dear to us.

But now, in view of the fact that we will be among the thousands looking for work or seeking higher education and walking the untrodden paths of life, and realizing that they are going to be more narrow and treacherous, our duty is not, my friends, to face the world in a mood of uncertainty, but only with a mood of certainty, brave progressiveness can we succeed.—We the class of 1933, my friends, have learned that manhood is the first aim of our life, and so when we walk from this span of our life into the next, fully thankful to God, our parents, teachers and classmates for what they have done for us, and going out not with a forlorn look, but with a grim face and a thought of progress, we will meet along with you, parents, the problems of this world and help make these United States a more worthwhile place to live in.
