PLYMOUTH FOR WORK PROGRAM 100 PER CENT!

Business Men of City Quick To Express Willingness to Aid N.R.A.

Showing the same fine patriotic spirit that has characterized Plymouth during its entire history, manufacturers, businessmen and its citizens this week enthusiastically adopted the emergency employment code of the government and have been busy during the past few days adjusting their business to meet the new demands.

Just what the eventual changes will mean, no one knows, but from the optimistic attitude prevailing in this city, there is not the slightest question but what it will prove of benefit.

The Daisy Manufacturing company, Plymouth's largest industry, was one of the first to express its willingness to assist the government in the program it is endeavoring to work out. The Daisy has the reputation in the past of being one of the most liberal companies in the toy manufacturing business and its officials are finding that to come within the code for this industry means but little change in its regular practice.

Every business man in town has been busy working out the details of his business so that he can do all of the things that the government has requested.

Out of the change will probably come the closing of stores on Saturday night, but this question has not been definitely settled. The limited number of hours that stores will be permitted to keep open will not permit them to keep the long hours that have always prevailed on Saturday unless there is a drastic cut on some other day of the week.

While the government is giving the month of August for business to re-adjust itself, an effort is being made by all business men to put the new business regulations in effect at once. The government has worked out a campaign of education for President Roosevelt's emergency re-employment program, but there is little need of the committee in charge to sell speakers and workers to Plymouth. This city is adopting the new plan so rapidly that within the next ten days or two weeks, surely before the end of August, every business house will be completely in line with the requests of the government.

While the program means reduced hours for a considerable number of workers who will from now on be employed on the hourly basis rather than by the day or week, it also means job for many who have not been able to secure employment.

Many of the smaller concerns have found it necessary or will find it necessary to add from one to three or four men to do the work that they have been doing in the past and if there is any increased business, it will mean many more jobs.

Postmaster Bert Giles, who is the government's agent in Plymouth in connection with this work, is giving every assistance possible to the program. Mr. Giles stated yesterday that he is finding with the fine patriotic spirit being shown by every person he had talked with. He has been busy seeing to it that those who have signed up the agreements secured proper recognition.

Secretary Berg Moore of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, caught at the beginning of this important campaign, with a rush of work on his hands in connection with the issuance of automobile plates, states that he is finding no objectors to the plan and a remarkably fine willingness on the part of all to assist.

To the Patrons of the Plymouth Mail

During the present week the management of The Plymouth Mail has been readjusting its schedule of operations in order to comply with the re-employment emergency code as set forth by the government. A program of work based on a 35-hour week labor plan will involve innumerable changes in the production of this paper.

We are convinced that in order to produce our newspaper it will be necessary to ask news contributors and advertisers to cooperate with us to the fullest extent in order to more evenly distribute the burden which has heretofore fallen on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursday mornings.

A six-hour day will necessarily mean that news articles and items that can be given this office on Mondays or Saturdays should be sent in on these days. The same procedure will apply to advertisers. A more even distribution of work will bring about accommodations for all and divide the mid-week load into a more evenly balanced week.

The Plymouth Mail is proud to be among the first in this locality to accept the N. R. A. and we know that friends and patrons of the paper will be pleased to cooperate.

The commercial printing department of the Plymouth Mail will operate a complete full six day week so that orders may be promptly and satisfactorily filled. This will be done by the employment of additional labor and the staggering of working hours and days. The new act will enforce no penalties on production or quality.

We ask your cooperation and assure you that The Plymouth Mail will follow the emergency code as outlined by the President in an endeavor to better employment conditions.

BAND COMING TO WHEAT FARMS HERE TWO DAYS

Salvation Army Musical Group To Give Number of Concerts

Final arrangements are now well under way for the visit of the Port Huron Citadel Band which will be in Plymouth Saturday and Sunday, August 12th and 13th. Capt. C. E. Everitt who is sponsoring the visit of this band has been working hard all week making the necessary arrangements. The band will arrive at Watled Lake Saturday afternoon where they are scheduled to give a concert at 3:00 p. m. From there they will motor to Plymouth for supper. After a short march through the town the band will proceed to Kellogg park where they will give a Grand concert, composed of marches, selections, instrumental and vocal solos.

Sunday morning the band will attend the service at the First Baptist church on Mill street playing one or two special numbers. Sunday afternoon the band will be the guests of the Detroit House of Correction, giving an hour's concert in the Women's division. Sunday evening the band will proceed to one of Plymouth's residential districts where an open-air service will be held for one-half hour, then to the Baptist church for regular evening service. The Sunday evening service will be followed by an hour's sacred concert given by the members of the band.

A few facts about it may be interesting to our readers. The band was organized thirty-five years ago by Wm. F. Little of Port Huron who has been the band director until just recently, when he retired in favor of a younger man, but is still playing solo concert in the band. The oldest member of the band is Joe Knott, 73, the youngest is Wm. McNaughton, 15. One unique feature about this band is that girls and women are on equal plane with the men, the whole section being made up of ladies, this enables the band to have a vocal group within the band known as the Band Chorus, which gives variety to their programs.

This concert is the first of several years has conducted weekly concert in the towns within a radius of sixty miles of Port Huron. They have also visited Pontiac, Ann Arbor, Bay City, Lansing, and Detroit. This band is especially popular in the playing of the old hymn tunes and should be a great help in the churches they visit. The Port Huron Citadel Band is under the direction of Frank O. Stager, first leader, and Herbert Little, second leader. The numbers the band is to play will be given in next week's paper.

Business Grows, This Company In Need of More Men

J. G. Gifford, president of the Gifford Mill & Lumber Co., 36217 Plymouth road, Telephone, Plymouth 7142-F2, informed Berg Moore, secretary of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, this week that his firm is in need of several experienced wood working machine operators. They can also use several men experienced in cutting and handling timber. Applicants are requested to inquire for A. H. Blake, Residents of Plymouth and Plymouth's trading area will be given preference.

This concern is employing about fifteen men at the present time, and according to Mr. Gifford, prospects for a substantial increase in business are extremely bright. The Gifford Mill & Lumber Company manufactures lumber crates, greenhouse sashes, survey stakes, celery crates, truck bodies, and house trailers in addition to general millwork.

According to Mr. Moore, this

NATIONAL AIR RIFLE CONTEST STARTS AUG. 20

Crack Daisy Shots Out To Win Honors In Marksmanship

Sponsored by the Open Road for Boys magazine, of Boston, the greatest national air rifle contest for boys ever conducted in the United States will begin August 20 and continue until October 20. While practically every air rifle in existence in the country is produced by the Daisy Manufacturing company of Plymouth, the contest is open to any make of an air rifle that shoots a BB shot.

It is expected that over 50,000 boys will enter the contest for marksmanship.

Care Hough, of the Daisy Manufacturing company is directing the vast amount of detailed work of the contest and it was through the fine spirit of cooperation on the part of the Daisy Manufacturing company that an order for over half a million pieces of printed matter to be used in the contest was secured for the Plymouth Mail printing department.

It is the largest printing order ever turned out from The Mail office and it came at a time when the city is in a seasonal drop in the printing business.

Possibly the best way to tell the story of the contest is to print a part of an article that appears in the September issue of the Open Road for Boys magazine. It follows:

Did you think we'd forgotten you? All you thousands of air rifle shooters? Bet you did! But here we are with a grand piece of news for every boy who owns an air rifle or can get one.

In July and August The Open Road for Boys conducted a tremendously successful Rifle Match for all boys in the United States. That was for .22 caliber rifles. Thousands and thousands of boys entered and the city dust is so objectionable, it has been decided that the balance of the dust laying for the present season will be done with calcium chloride. If, however, the oil forms a satisfactory mat when applied at the rate of a quarter gallon per year, which will make the cost approximately the same as the cost of chloride, no doubt oil will be adopted as the proper material for dust laying.

This Thief Must Also Be Weather Prophet-Takes Fan

Much has been written about the meanest thief in the world, but who ever heard of a thief who is also a weather prophet?

There must be one in Plymouth because last Friday night before the heat wave of Saturday and Sunday arrived, this weather-prophet broke into the office of the Plymouth Mail and among numerous other articles stolen, he legged away the electric fan that has so diligently tried during recent weeks to keep the hot air of the outside world outside.

From the material stolen, those that broke into the office, must have been boys. Coats and other clothing of some of the employees that had been left in the rear room were taken as well as a number of small tools and articles, also a quantity of stamps.

Entrance was gained by prying open the side door that leads into the building from the alley. The office was not closed Friday evening until about 7 o'clock and it was soon after 8 o'clock when one of the night watchmen found the rear door open. But thinking that it had been left unlocked by accident, he locked it and as usual left a note calling attention to his discovery. There was nothing in the shop that would have caused him to believe that the place had been broken into as the side door was closed after being forced open. The total loss was between $75 and $100. Some excellent finger prints were secured.

How Western Union Benefits Service

Plymouth has this week been given advantage in its Western Union Telegraph service which will prove of benefit to patrons of the service in this city. The company has advised its local managers that the fact that Plymouth is their postoffice address, that they are listed in the Plymouth telephone exchange, and that they expect to employ Plymouth labor would qualify them as another addition to Plymouth's growing list of industries.

Detroit Men Will Conduct Services

Members of Dr. Rice's Bible class of the Metropolitan Methodist church of Detroit will be the conductors of the services Sunday evening at the First Baptist church, according to an announcement just made by Rev. Iva Sutherland, minister of the church. They will not only provide the usual services but one of the group will be in charge of the service. The meeting will be well attended. It will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

USING ROAD OIL AND CHLORIDE

City Experimenting With Different Materials To Lay Dust

The Department of Public Works has applied one 6500 gallon tank of road oil and one 850 gallon tank of tar oil on several streets in the city for experimental purposes. The road oil has an asphaltic base while the other oil is a tar compound.

In trying out these materials, streets of different types of surface and varying amounts of traffic were selected in order that studies could be made under several road and traffic conditions. The oil was applied at the rate one quart per square yard, which is slightly less than used by most cities. If a greater quantity is applied, naturally the cost will be proportionately increased. If it is found that one quart per square yard will hold the dust throughout the season and there are no other objections to the material, then this type of treatment will probably be continued in the future.

Because of the fact that when the oil streets do become dusty, the city dust is so objectionable, it has been decided that the balance of the dust laying for the present season will be done with calcium chloride. If, however, the oil forms a satisfactory mat when applied at the rate of a quarter gallon per year, which will make the cost approximately the same as the cost of chloride, no doubt oil will be adopted as the proper material for dust laying.

Continuous studies will be made of all the streets on which oil has been applied in order that complete information will be available next year. City officials will welcome any comments on the use of the oil. Citizens are requested to call the City Manager if there are any objections to this type of surface treatment.

CITY COMMISSION IN RESOLUTION PRAISES WORK OF WORLEY

SPECIALLY PLEASED OVER THE ASSISTANCE GIVEN IN FIXING GAS RATE

In recognition of the services rendered by Professor John S. Worley of the University of Michigan, in handling the gas rate negotiations during the past year, the City Commission, last Monday night adopted a resolution of appreciation of these services.

Professor Worley, who is an outstanding authority on public utility and transportation matters, was requested to assist the City Commission, consisting of representatives from Wayne, Northville and Plymouth in their efforts to secure a lower gas rate for residents in this area. He attended all meetings of the City Commission and advised the committee on technical matters. He also made an analysis of the company's financial structure and established a rate which would be fair and equitable both to the company and to the consumers.

In adopting the resolution, the city commission publicly recognized the value of Professor Worley's services in bringing the gas rate negotiations to a successful conclusion.

Following is the resolution adopted by the City Commission:

WHEREAS, Professor John S. Worley of the University of Michigan, was engaged by the City of Plymouth and the Villages of Wayne and Northville to assist in the negotiations for a lower gas rate in these communities, and

WHEREAS, with Professor Worley's able assistance the committee representing the above communities, was able to obtain a reduction in domestic gas rates by negotiation and without legal proceedings, therefore be it,

RESOLVED that this Commission publicly express its appreciation of the services rendered by Professor Worley in bringing the gas rate negotiations to a successful conclusion.

RESOLVED FURTHER that this resolution be spread on the official minutes of this meeting and that a copy hereof be certified by the City Clerk and forwarded to Professor Worley.

Miss Hattie Hodge Dies in Los Angeles

A telegram was received Wednesday evening by B. A. Hodge, residing on the Base Line road east of Northville that his sister, Miss Hattie M. Hodge, who was born and reared in Plymouth, died Wednesday in Los Angeles. She moved to that city a number of years ago. Miss Hodge was 73 years of age. She was a former school teacher and well known among the older people of this locality. No formal plans were mentioned in the telegram.

POLITICAL PAYROLLS TILTED TO PROSPERITY HEIGHTS

HIGH OFFICIALS IGNORE DEFICITS AND GRAB FOR PLUNDER, STATE RECORDS DISCLOSE

By V. J. Brown

The action of the legislature during its 1933 session in striking from the statutes a large number of salaries fixed by previous legislatures is already recognized as having been a wise move. There are a number of salaries fixed by the constitution which are beyond reach of the legislature. Then there are a number where bills introduced to strike the statutory salaries and place the compensation of officials before each session when the biennial budget is being prepared failed of passage. In practically every instance where the fixed salary was not stricken, the present incumbents have gone back to the high levels which prevailed before the special session of 1932 decreed reductions ranging from 10% to 20%.

The constitution provides salaries of $2500 each for the secretary of state, auditor general and state treasurer while the statutes set up for the creation of the state administrative board provide additional pay in the sum of $2500 each. The governor is entitled to draw $5000 and the attorney general $6000. Each of the incumbents in 1932 following the action of the legislature and the recommendation of the governor voluntarily reduced his salary to $3750 with years of experience in Michigan's highway system as well as his credit. A county drain commissioner was elected to the office last April and one of his first official acts was to order his pay check drawn at the full rate of $7400.

AUGUST 10 IS FINAL TAX DAY

City Will Add Interest Penalty After This Date—Rate Down

Next Thursday, August 10th, is the last day on which 1933 city taxes can be paid without the addition of the two per cent collection fee. This collection fee is required by Section 28, Chapter 10 of the City Charter and it is mandatory that the fee be added after August 10th. This provision was inserted into the new City Charter because it was felt by the Charter Commission that a mandatory fee would speed up tax collections.

The belief on the part of the Charter Commission was substantiated during the record in 1932. On August 10, 1931 only 35.5 per cent of the taxes had been paid while on August 10, 1932, 62.2 per cent were paid. In 1931 the penalty date was extended for 30 days, which was permissible under the old charter in 1932 the penalty was added as required by the charter and the percentage of collections was greater than in the same period the previous year.

The City Commission realizes that it is difficult to meet tax obligations during times such as these and for that reason has reduced the amount of taxes approximately 50 per cent under 3 years ago. The commission has also adopted an ordinance which permits the payment of taxes in installments as desired by the taxpayer in order to make taxpaying a little easier.

The city treasurer will accept any amount of general or special assessment taxes, in excess of $1.00, as may be offered in payment of such taxes during the month of August. A partial payment receipt will be issued for each payment and when the total tax has been paid a regular tax receipt will be delivered to the taxpayer. No penalties will be charged on partial payments made before the penalty dates, the additions being only to the unpaid balance.

New Coat of Paint For Funeral Home

Delbert Cummings, as far as is known the only Plymouth World War veteran who has joined the government's reforestation army, has been sent to a camp near Hawka, Michigan. The camp is located on the shore of May Lake Detroit and is entirely surrounded by forest. There are 220 men in his camp and 50 more are expected in a few days from Camp Center he writes. Plymouth Lad Wins Another Victory

"Bobby" Hitt, Plymouth's eleven year old champion pout pitcher, has added more laurels to his long string of victories by defeating the best team that John R. street of Detroit can provide with one $15.00. In fact, the John R.'s are regarded as the best there is in Detroit. The Plymouth youngster had no difficulty in walking away with a series of easy victories over the best that Detroit could provide in the contest last Sunday. There is not the slightest question but what the young man is on the way to both national and world championships.

They were sentenced by Justice Joseph W. Baker, to 90 days each in the Detroit House of Correction. The court also ordered them to serve six months' probation at the end of their terms and to make restitution.

They were arrested after they had sold the wheat at a mill at Flat Rock for 90 cents a bushel and divided the $15.20 proceeds, the testimony showed. They were ordered to return the money to the owner.

Corporal Frank Walker and Trooper Donald Hoadley of the Michigan State Police, posted the boys by the description of the car which was an old Ford touring owned by Schmidt—Wayne Dispatch.

CONVICT SAYS HE STUCK UP BRANCH BANK

Deputy Sheriff Springer Gets Word From Prisoner In Marquette

Information which has just come to Deputy Sheriff George Springer for the first time revealed the details of the robbery of the north side branch of The Plymouth United Savings bank some six years ago when Frank Pierce was kidnapped when on the way to the bank in the morning. He was held in Detroit and was then left in a barn east of the city.

The admission comes from Frank Burke, one of Chicago's most notorious crooks who is now serving a life sentence in Marquette prison. Burke at the time of the bank robbery was living in Detroit and operating in this part of Michigan. He was also accused as a member of the execution squad that killed seven men in Chicago in what is known as the "St. Valentine Day massacre." For this offense he was never arrested by Chicago police.

But it was while hiding out for this offense at a home near St. (Continued on page four)

FIVE ARE HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Auto Takes Turn In Road At Lee Place At Too High Speed

Taking the curve on the Plymouth highway near the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee a half mile west of the city, at too high a speed five men from the Lee Creek Tuesday noon suffered severe cuts and bruises, one being hurt seriously.

On their way to Detroit in an Oldsmobile, they apparently did not realize that this turn in the highway had not been taken at high speed.

Their machine after it had made the final turn just east of the Lee home, swerved to the south side of the highway and continued on over the ditch and through a wire fence into the vacant field east of the house. It landed on its side some 200 feet from where it went through the fence.

The crash was heard for nearly half a mile distance. Lynn Felton who was near the Moreland road at the time, heard the crash and hurried to the place, giving first aid with the assistance of Mrs. Lee to the five injured men.

The driver of the car, Lawrence Holl, 60 years old of Battle Creek, was badly bruised and cut. His face was also burned as he was pushed toward the ground by the force of the car.

Spencer Colvard was possibly the most seriously injured. Dr. Brisbois who attended the injured men, found that he had a broken collar bone and that one of his fractured ribs had punctured a lung.

John Sylvester, G. A. Stapleton and Norman Wood, the other three occupants of the car were cut and bruised. All of the injured men were taken in the Schrader ambulance to Plymouth hospital for emergency treatment. With the exception of Holl, all have returned to their homes.

Wheat Thieves Are Given Jail Terms

Joe Torok, 17 years old, R. F. D. 1, Wyandotte; Norbert Wegelka, 19, Dearborn township, and Richard Schmidt, 17, R. F. D. 2, Romulus, farm youths, who robbed the cransery of Norbert's uncle, Frank Wegelka, on Middle Belt road of 19 bushels of wheat Monday night, were found guilty Tuesday of theft.

They were sentenced by Justice Joseph W. Baker, to 90 days each in the Detroit House of Correction. The court also ordered them to serve six months' probation at the end of their terms and to make restitution.

They were arrested after they had sold the wheat at a mill at Flat Rock for 90 cents a bushel and divided the $15.20 proceeds, the testimony showed. They were ordered to return the money to the owner.

WORTHY OF IT

Members of the Wayne county road commission and other county officials who have been slowly moulding into reality one of the most beautiful park systems in the country are to be congratulated for their foresight in this development. Little did these officials or any one else think at the time the work was started that before the job was completed it would be the means of providing thousands of idle men with employment. The park project was started originally for the purpose of creating a vast, beautiful recreational center for the hundreds of thousands of people living in this part of Michigan—a place where all the advantages of life in the open could be enjoyed without the necessity of traveling miles and miles to find it. But as factory wheels stopped turning, as building construction ended, men who had never known an idle day were turned out onto the streets of Detroit and surrounding communities without work. As one travels up and down the parkway course noting the vast numbers of men working one cannot help but think what a God-send it has been to Wayne county as well as the men that it had something of such worthwhile merit under way where these idle men could be given work. Again we extend to the members of the county road commission and the men associated with it our congratulations upon an everlasting public service rendered to Michigan's greatest county.

IT WAS ALL BUNK, PURE BUNK

Hundreds of thousands of taxpayers of Michigan last fall voted for a change in the administration at Lansing for the one purpose of reducing the expenses of the state. Previously they had voted for Wilbur Brucker upon his promises to cut down the tax burdens of Michigan. But last fall when they found the same state expenses prevailing and their wishes unheeded, they voted for a new set of officers who had made great promises of bringing about greater economies in the state government. They said they were not willing to accept a cut in salaries. In this election the legislature had voted for themselves, but that they would go farther and cut salaries again and cut down the number of people on the public payroll.

Well, did they do it?
Of course not.

They have done right the reverse. During the past few days news dispatches have come out of Lansing to the effect that all of the state officials, except the newly elected highway commissioner who seems to regard a campaign pledge as something to be kept, have voted to themselves the salaries that prevailed previous to the cut made a year ago by the old officers.

MY GAUL!

One Clyde Fenner, who has recently shed shoes run down at the beel for new highly polished ones, whose former baggy wrinkled trousers have been replaced by those of the latest tailoring styles and whose feet are now surprised by that of one enjoying peace and great plenty, comes forth in public print with the declaration that Governor Comstock should quit office.

Now that the great and only Clyde Fenner has spoken and the walls of Jericho—no Michigan—did not fall, we wonder what went wrong with the Universe. We also wonder what sort of a "code" Mr. Fenner will adopt for himself in order to help out President Roosevelt's industrial recovery program. It will be recalled that Mr. Fenner wanted to go to congress from this district last fall on the Democratic ticket to help the government set the world back on the right track.

WORLD AGRICULTURE AND DEPRESSION ALLIED

The policy on the part of industrial nations of the world under which they loaned large sums to agricultural and raw material producing countries, for the purpose of buying the lender's manufactured goods and for increasing the production of the agricultural nations, was still remains a main cause of world depression, because the lending nations have restricted their own imports that the debtor countries cannot sell enough either to meet their interest payments or to continue to buy the exports of the manufacturers and lenders.

This chain of events now throttles both types of nations, the producer of crops and raw materials being unable to sell in quantity or at profitable prices, while the industrial country finds its valuable trade close to ruin. Dr. Vladimir P. Timoshenko, lecturer in economics at the University of Michigan, in "World Agriculture and the Depression," a study published this week by the University Bureau of Business Research. Dr. Timoshenko's previous studies on the inter-relationships of agriculture and industry and the relation of Russia to the world wheat problem have received international attention.

Prices of agricultural commodities began to decline early in the period of prosperity and the first nations to go off the gold standard were producers of this class of food stuffs and raw materials. Dr. Timoshenko shows in his analysis of the post-war period. These nations kept up their purchases of manufactured goods only by the large flow of capital in their direction from 1924 to 1929. But even in these years, he states, tariffs, quota laws and other restrictions limited the amount of their products which could be sold to industrial and lending nations to pay the interest on foreign loans and maintain the balance of trade. As early as 1928 this situation had become dangerous for many, he says.

The crash dates from the agricultural year 1929-30, when both the volume and value of agricultural exports declined suddenly. The fall in prices, already under way, increased rapidly, says Dr. Timoshenko. The "convulsive reaction" on the part of industrial and lending nations was a sudden cutting of foreign loans and even more drastic restrictions against agricultural imports. This left the agricultural part of the world with heavy debts, interest payments increased by the fall in the price of their goods for export, and with their creditors refusing to accept such products in the bargain, declares Dr. Timoshenko.

Monetary disturbances came only secondarily to the upset of supply and demand between industrial and agricultural nations, although they have aggravated matters since. Dr. Timoshenko states. The remedies cannot be found merely by raising prices by inflation or other financial methods alone, he believes. He sees the sealing down of debts and the foreign trade as the real solution. Producing nations, as inevitable, together with a policy of give and take which will conform to the economic laws of supply and demand.

used by the state tax commission; that no change has been made in this respect from the rulings made on June 30, 1933.

Notwithstanding the action of the legislature in declaring the legislative intent to be that such articles as ultimately go into the production of an article intended for and finally to become an article for retail sale, was not to be taxed, the commission persists in its rulings to impose the tax on all such articles.

As an illustration of the inconsistency of the rulings handed down by the commission on July 20 it is held that the purchase of a button which goes into the manufacture of a garment is not taxable but the purchase of a ton of feed which goes into a herd of dairy cows to produce milk is taxable. A farmer who sells his product in bulk, according to the commission's latest ruling, is not taxable but if he sets up a stand at the roadside and sells at retail, his sales are taxable and he must procure a license to so sell. If he takes his products to a public market he must pay a sales tax on his gross sales. If he peddles from house to house his sales are taxable.

Undoubtedly the rulings as now being made by the state commission will create a furor about the state.—Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

PEOPLE living in other states who spend a summer in Michigan come back again and again. For this land of lakes and sunshine, modern highways and progressive cities, offers summer pleasures in greater variety than any other section.

Thousands of visitors spend a great deal of money in our state each summer, creating employment for many people and adding to the prosperity of all Michigan. We can increase that business greatly if each of us will urge others to visit Michigan. We can contribute even further by spending our own vacations here.

And wherever you go, dispel worry by telephoning home and office frequently. Call friends to tell them when you will arrive. Telephone ahead for hotel reservations. Long Distance rates are low.

POLITICAL PAYROLLS TILTED TO PROSPERITY

Samuel Metzger is another gent who lost no time in padding his own pay check. He was elevated from a small town farm produce shipper to become director of agriculture.

His predecessor had voluntarily submitted to a cut of 25 per cent from his statutory salary of $5000 but the new owner ignored this and demanded that his checks be drawn at the rate set when farmers received something for what they produced. In order to accomplish something to boast about he just as promptly cut the salaries of the technical employees, who after all are the backbone of any department, to starvation wages. Metzger before the committees at work on his budget that he was forced to buy a lot of meals for farmers who came into Lansing to transact business with his department. Any farmer who as yet has not received that free meal at the hands of the hospitable Mr. Metzger should date him up at once.

Not Nira Policy Most of the state officials who have tilted their salaries attempted an alibi that the move was in keeping with the president's Nira ideas. They evidently have forgotten that most of the president's efforts have been directed toward providing a living wage for the actual workers.

While a few officials are peeling off generous slices from the treasury roll, there are about 10,000 ordinary employees—clerks, stenographers, accountants, bookkeepers, janitors and watchmen, nurses, keepers and highway workers—who still continue to get along on the low wages set by the economy commission and the 1933 budget.

Certainly none of these officials are led to believe the distress of the state has been cured. Certainly they do not know and cannot claim ignorance of the fact that, in order to pay the salaries provided before June 1 and during 1932, the state treasurer was forced to dip into trust funds and special purpose revenues to pay running expenses and meet the payrolls. In fact such inroads had been made upon these special purpose and trust funds that on July 1 last when orders were issued to return to prosperity salary schedules, the general fund of the state was in the red to the extent of $15,000,000. The hard pressed workman who is forced to pay a tax on milk and bread and on shoes and clothing and on school books he is forced to purchase for the sustenance of wife and children and the farmer who is told he must pay a sales tax on seeds and fertilizers and crops and on feeds, for his animals, will not need be reminded that large bunks of his hard earned wages and a lot of the meager returns from low priced produce are going to keep up fancy salaries for state officials who last fall were weeping on the necks of voters and telling them how to vote.

Take it on Chin In direct contrast with the politically minded and suddenly elevated department heads at Lansing, the higher paid members of the faculty at the university "took it on the chin" as it were. Instead of swinging the political axe against the helpless necks of inconsequential stenographers and clerks and leaving them without a decent meal check in order that the "chief" might enjoy his royal emoluments, the regents turned about. They attacked the problem from the other end. In order to whip their budget into balance and keep their faculty force intact, the higher-ups were asked to accept a slash of 20 per cent while others were asked to take a leave of absence until times get better. All above $7500 are being cut one fifth while all employees below $1500 are not being distributed. Above $1500, the first $200 is given an eight per cent cut; the second $2000 is clipped to the tune of 12 per cent and the third $2000 is reduced by 15 per cent.

Drastic as this appears at first, a professor drawing $9000 before the reduction will now receive exactly $8000, a little less than a ten per cent reduction. A professor previously drawing a salary of $3500 will now receive $3340 while one previously receiving $7000 will hereafter receive only $4615.

Hard Task Ahead Other institution heads have as difficult a task before them as have year ago. The utilities commission payrolls have increased at the rate of $24,000 annually, the excuse for this being that the work of the department has been increased. At least it can be said that the regents of the University of Michigan have done a fairer job of adjusting salaries than the department heads at Lansing have done for themselves. The budget of that institution was subjected to the most drastic cut of any state institution. It was the largest of any and presented the largest salaries paid anywhere in the state. Naturally it was able to stand a more severe cut with less danger to its continued service than any of the smaller colleges.

At least it can be said that the members of the state administrative board, each of whom have seen to it that they have received their own cannot very well turn a deaf ear towards the pleas which are almost certain to come from institution heads.

Beer Figures Lacking No figures are yet easily obtainable regarding the free methods adopted by the beer control commission in helping themselves to the revenues obtained from the tax on 3.2 beverages. The beer bill which finally ran the gauntlet of controversy which raged in house and senate and in the office of the governor during its turbulent passage, places the responsibility for fixing the salary of the chief of staff only. All other employees have their salaries and their emoluments set by the commission and rumors are that they are paid penty. Until some reports are filed it will be impossible to determine just how much is being paid or just how generous the commission is in the matter of expense accounts.

The sales tax commission also has a free hand in dipping into the rich resources of that new revenue measure. It is expected that when the reports of that body are available there may be some startling discoveries. Perhaps the greed with which the members of this commission are seeking every possible article or piece of intangible personal property which they can claim is being sold at retail may be induced by a desire to have plenty of money to spend on their respective departments and to be certain that there are no payless pay days.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Love" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 30.

Among the Bible citations was this passage (Acts 9:17): "And Ananias went his way, and entered into the house; and putting his hands on him said, Brother Saul, the Lord, even Jesus, that appeared unto thee in the way as thou camest, hath sent me, that thou mightest receive thy sight, and be filled with the Holy Ghost."

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 326): "Nail Tarso, behold the way—the Christ, or Truth—only which has his overtrain sense of right yielded to a spiritual sense, which is always right. Then the man was changed. Thought assumed a nobler outlook, and his life became more spiritual."

"Glean real teachers, who understand children and young people, and who are themselves fascinated by the life of Christ and his teachings, and are glowing with the purpose to make him fascinating to others, there is no institution we could so ill spare. To me, dogma has no place in the Sunday school, but the living Christ has, and his presence made real there is the very heart of the school's lasting influence. The most capricious critic becomes silent when he sees this thing actually done." Grace S. Richmond, author and writer.

7:30 p. m. This will be another of our unusual opportunities to hear the Gospel in word and song. A group of men from the Metropolitan Methodist church of Detroit will have charge of this service. These men are from Dr. Rice's great Bible class; they are business men and will add their testimony to the message which is to be given by the Rev. W. C. Coleman. Rev. Coleman was born, lived and played with Mr. S. Rice and later was in college with him. We are told his preaching is much the same—we desire to make this a big night for men.

In case of extreme heat these services will be held in our basement lecture room. There is no cooler place in Plymouth, so come and sit in comfort and hear these men tell of a man's Christ.

Sunday August 13th the Port Huron Salvation Army band will be with us for both services. See full announcement next week.

Milford Fair Next Week Will Attract Many From Plymouth

Some rather revolutionary changes in the policies of the Oakland County fair are in effect for the 1933 exhibition. These changes will give more prominence to agriculture and home economics as represented by the 4-H Clubs, the county agricultural agent and the home demonstration agent. The county fair will be emphasized by limiting exhibits and premiums to Oakland county.

Following on the new policies, the general premium list, which has been a basic feature for over 50 years, will not be issued. The reason is that the list of premiums will be offered under a different system. The exhibits in livestock, including cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, as well as in fruits, vegetables and household projects are to be made by the county 4-H clubs under the direction of M. H. Avery club leader and Elizabeth Wold, the home demonstration agent. There are also some premiums offered for exhibits by county farmers clubs which will be made under direction of County Agent Bailey.

Manager H. A. Carter says that the stock show will be filled and the exhibit will be better than ever before.

The 4-H Clubs, the county agent and the home demonstration agent are to be given a stated lump sum by the fair association to cover all premiums. They are to divide the money and arrange the premium list to suit themselves.

This arrangement will eliminate the large class of "professional" exhibitors who make a business of following the fairs and take away a large share of the premium money. It will place the competition on a more equitable basis, give the county boys and girls a chance to show what they can do and will keep the premium money where it will do the most good.

One interesting feature, new to this fair, will be a horse-pulling contest for Oakland county teams. This will be promoted by County Agent Bailey and the contest will be superintended by M. H. Moxley of M. S. C.

Thursday will be children's day as usual when children of grade school age will be admitted free. Riders and shows will have reduced rates for children on Thursday. Friday is designated as Pontiac Day and a re-arrangement and addition has been made to the baseball schedule to allow two Pontiac teams to play on that day. The regular program puts the Hartland-Deerburg game on Thursday, the two Pontiac teams on Friday and a double header on Saturday. Milford and Rose Center will play at 1:30 and the final game between Wixom and Walled Lake will follow.

There also has been a change in the race program. The classes are now arranged as follows: Thursday, August 10: 3-yr-old and under, trot, with horses eligible to 2:28 class $200; 3-yr-old and under, pace with horses eligible to 2:28 class $200; Friday, August 11: 2:22 Trot $200; 2:22 Pace $200; 2:16 Trot $200; 2:15 Pace $200.

NATIONAL AIR RIFLE CONTEST AUGUST 20

to their necks in the task of selecting the winners. It was a grand slam! Air rifle shooters looked on enviously. But now they come into their own! And The Open Road is being contested again. Just listen to this: Twenty-four silver cups. Each one a perfect beauty. Each one to be engraved with the name of the winner. Fifty engraved bronze medals, each with a red, white and blue sash ribbon, each engraved with the name of the winner. And one thousand expert Air Rifle Marksman buttons for the runners-up. Turn that over a couple of times in your mind!

And we haven't finished telling you about these cups either. Twenty are awarded in the .22 caliber rifle match—that is, each silver cup mounted on its pedestal is nine inches high. The other four cups are specialties. Next we have a mounted silver cup 14 inches high which we have named the Daisy Cup in honor of the Daisy Manufacturing Company which has done so much to provide the boys of America with amusement and instructive sport. In a minute we'll tell you how this cup is to be awarded.

Next we have the Buzz Barton Cup, mounted 12 inches high, named in honor of that favorite of all boys, a loyal Open Roader, Buzz Barton himself.

Next we have The Open Road Cup, exactly the same as the Buzz Barton cup.

And finally, another walloping big one, 14 inches tall. This is the Class S, Hough Cup, named in honor of Class S, Hough of the Daisy Manufacturing Company.

So we have these four special cups and the 20 regular ones, plus the 50 medals and the 1,000 buttons.

How's that for prizes? Can you imagine us for shouting a little bit? Now we will tell you how you can win these prizes. You will see in the rules and regulations that you can enter either as an individual or as a member of a team of three. If you prefer to form a team, get together with two of your friends not over 18 years of age and use the coupon to notify us that you are entering the competition as a team. It's a good idea if all three of you are from the same school or camp or club or other organization, or if you wish you may make up a special organization of your own. You know: "Our Town Air Riflers," "Daniel Boone Deadshooters," "Sture Fire Trio," "Three Musketeers," etc.

The next important step is to get an adult sponsor who will witness your target shooting, measure the distance from the firing point to the target, and O. K. the targets which you send in to try for the prizes. We do not admit just the way the dictionary does. Any person who is twenty-one years of age or older—and of course he may be your own father or an older brother or a friend or your local air-rifle dealer. In any case he must be present when you do your competitive shooting. One adult sponsor for each individual competitor, one adult sponsor for each team of three.

Make no mistake, this is going to be a grand and glorious competition! It starts August 20 and closes October 20.

It might be added that Plymouth is the home of some of the best air rifle crack shots in the country and they are expected to enter the contest.

"Bob" Ingersoll, well known Detroit street preacher and radio speaker, will preach in the Gospel tent erected at the corner of W. Ann Arbor street and Elizabeth street, starting next Monday night at 7:30. A varied program of special music will precede his talk each evening, so that late-comers will be able to hear his whole message. "Bob" Ingersoll speaks over a radio station in Detroit, each week night except Saturday, at 10:30. Next Sunday night "Bob" Ingersoll will send one of his special helpers to conduct the meeting, in preparation for his coming. A converted policeman is among "Bob's" staff of helpers. Perhaps he may be the one to preach Sunday night. Listen tonight to "Bob's" radio program for further details.

"Bob" Ingersoll, who preaches each week day at the noon hour in Cadillac Square, Detroit, was saved in Mel Trotter's famous Mission in Grand Rapids twenty-two years ago. Though he states that he was saved from a drunkard's life, he says that he finds that the "self-righteous" class are the hardest ones to lead to the Lord Jesus Christ.

Mel Trotter says he believes that "Bob" Ingersoll was converted of the Lord to meet and overcome such spiritual damage as was done by the famous agnostic of the same name.

The Vander Jagt family, musicians and evangelists, who minister in the Gospel tent close to tonight (Friday), will have for an engagement in Bangor, Michigan. Continual crowds have come to hear the Gospel as they have preceded it in word and music each night. Tonight (Friday) will be your last chance to hear them this time.

Convict Says He Stuck Up Bank

Joseph that he killed a St. Joseph policeman who had stopped him for some minor traffic violation. He was later arrested in Kansas City and returned to Michigan where he was convicted of the robbery charge and given life in Marquette.

Recently when some officers were going through Marquette they stopped to talk with Burke. It was during this informal talk when he asked about the robbery of the north side branch of the Plymouth United bank.

"Well that's one job I did. Say, that cashier, Pierce, was a mighty fine chap. He went for a ride with me that morning and I hated to leave him in that barn, but it was for the best of both of us," Burke is reported to have said to the officers, who have requested that their names not be used at this time.

That Burke's story is true is born out by the fact, says Mr. Springer, that every detail he told the officers checks with the robbery investigation six years ago.

At the time of the robbery officers were never able to get the slightest clue to the guilty parties. No finger prints were ever found, Burke forcing Pierce at the point of a gun to comply with all of his commands in opening doors, the safe and in getting the money into his automobile.

He picked Pierce up one morning as Pierce was walking to work at the bank, driving around with him until it was time for the time lock to open the vault door. He then forced Pierce to get the money for him, made him get back in his automobile and drove him out on the Plymouth road where he left him in a barn.

MICHIGAN NEEDS A LEADER

One of the favorite topics of conversation these days, at least among those discussing state affairs is the matter of Michigan's next governor. At the present time Gov. Comstock's supporters are limited to appointive office holders, and even they have their fingers crossed. Our personal opinion is that the matter of the governor has been to give Mr. Comstock every possible break. Such an attitude, however, becomes more and more hopeless. It simply looks like he is going to

Wayne Schools To Open On Regular Date Says Board

Despite the decrease in the revenues of the district and other exigencies that beset the Wayne school district in common with most other school districts in the state, Wayne schools will reopen at the usual time in September, it was stated Monday by Walter H. Anning, secretary of the school board.

The Wayne district, like practically every district in the state, faces a huge decrease in revenues as a result of the enactment of the 15 mill tax limitation amendment. While promises have been made that this decrease in revenues will be offset by various contemplated state grants to the districts, nothing definite has been done as yet. The Wayne school board, Anning said, has made plans to conduct the schools as usual in the belief that the State will provide new revenues for the schools early in the next fiscal year.

Anning reported that no teacher will be engaged in the Wayne school system next year at a salary of less than $100 per month. Because of the financial stringency many districts have cut the salaries of teachers to an extremely low figure. In Garden City, for instance, all teachers will serve at a flat uniform salary of $80 per month next year. The Wayne school board, however, has decided that it would be an injustice to the teachers to set the minimum salary at less than $100 a month.

Uncle Sam Secures Men For Appraisal Work In Michigan

With the experience of having recently launched successfully three state campaigns to increase its appraisal force, the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul will open a vigorous campaign in Michigan late this week to put from 50 to 100 appraisers at the job of appraising Michigan farms and fruit lands for land bank loans.

Applications for loans in this state accumulated during June amount to 417 in number and are for $1,090,900 and there has been a large addition since that date. Until an adequate force of trained men can go over these farms and determine their value, the loans which the bank stands ready to make can not be determined. Many applicants for positions as appraisers have already filed, and many more are expected.

As a first step in selecting the best men for the work, F. E. Darling, assistant chief reviewing appraiser for the seventh land bank district, will go to Lansing, Thursday prepared to begin interviewing applicants on Friday. He will be assisted by a number of experienced appraisers, and it will take at least the last two days of this week to talk over appraisal problems with the men registered.

Following this preliminary discussion, Mr. Darling will open a school of instruction for appraisers on Monday, July 31, and this will be continued over to the end of the week. Instruction will be given in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and North Dakota where similar instruction schools have been conducted. Mr. Darling hopes to have close to 100 men who will be able to qualify for the work, though he has found more than 80 per cent of the applicants unable to do so. Persons who are ineligible include all state, county, township and municipal officials, all Secretary-Treasurers of national farm loan associations, all persons owning bank stock of any kind, or stock in lending institutions, and all persons who have a federal land bank loan.

Fruit culture will be one of the features of the instruction to be given at this school, which is to be held in the Union building on the campus of Michigan State College, at East Lansing. The college faculty will also cooperate by furnishing several speakers. Knowledge of fruit lands and also of livestock, including ability to grade both beef and dairy cattle and detect diseases, is one of the new requirements of the present season, due to the expanded sphere of service of the Federal Land Bank and associated lending agencies.

With its extensive areas of highly valuable fruit lands now made available under certain limitations for land bank and land bank commissioner's loans, it was decided to utilize an expert appraiser familiar with fruit culture to help instruct the new men.

Fort Worth Extends A Real Welcome to Harold Sage Family

The host of Plymouth friends of Harold Sage will be delighted to know that he is finding a most cordial welcome to Fort Worth, Texas, the city where he recently went to manage The Texas, one of its finest hotels. Carl Sage a few days ago drove down to Texas to visit his brother and family, Mrs. Sage having gone down to Texas a few days previous to his departure.

Plymouth friends of Harold will be interested in the following write-up taken from a recent issue of the Fort Worth Greeter's Guide, a publication devoted to the interests of Fort Worth:

For the past 13 years, Harold A. Sage has been a student in the hotel industry, and has acquired thru his connections with some of the leading hotels in the East technical knowledge of hotel operation that few men can boast.

Mr. Sage was born in Plymouth, Mich., on December 8th, 1889. After graduating from high school, he decided to become an undertaker and equipped himself for that business by graduating in the profession of embalming. The war interrupted these plans, however.

Harold entered the Air Service of the United States Army, and made his first trip to Texas to be stationed at Kelly Field in San Antonio. After the armistice he reentered the undertaking business for a short time.

He was called to his present profession, that of the hotel business, for which he was ideally qualified in possessing a dynamic personality, business and dynamic ability. In 1920 his first position was that of assistant credit manager of the Statler Hotel in Detroit. The late Mr. E. M. Statler, who at that time was the outstanding authority in the hotel field, quickly observed the sterling qualities of Harold Sage, hence his promotion thru numerous stations to assistant manager at the time he severed connections with the Statler in 1924, to manage the properties department of the Guaranty Trust Company of Detroit, operating hotels and apartment hotels in that city.

In 1927-28-29, Mr. Sage was the manager of the Wolverine & Savoy Hotel of Detroit. In October, 1929 he assumed the management of the Tuller Hotel of the same city. Since 1931 he has been associated with Otis M. Harrison in the management of the Detroit-Leland Hotel, a Baker operated institution.

Mr. Sage is quite enthused over the hospitable reception he has received from Fort Worth citizens since his arrival, and will make Fort Worth a most valued addition to the citizenship. Accompanying him to Fort Worth are his wife and three charming children, a boy of six and twins, a girl and a boy of three.

A very unique farwell dinner and send-off party was tendered him on leaving Detroit, which was attended by some of the leading citizens of the city as well as prominent hotel men in great numbers. The outstanding feature of this function was the unique costumes of those attending, everything being done up in the "old Spanish custom" — ten-gallon hats, etc.

Harold's hobby is fishing, and we understand from Otis Harrison in Detroit he has made some tremendous catches.

Fishermen Back From Northland

Back from the Au Sable with coats of tan and much loud talk about the fish they said they caught, Frank Coward, Carl Shear, Dr. Paul Butz, Ralph Lorenz and Potter Jewell, have settled back into the routine of affairs and are again enjoying life in Plymouth.

These five deep-sea fishermen spent the last few days in the northland trying to catch a trout or two in the shallow waters of the Au Sable.

"Well to tell it truthfully, we did have a mess or two of fish to eat while up there," confided a member of the party after seeing a measuring stick appear on a desk being used as a demonstration to show the size of one of the fish that became tangled up in the numerous fish lines that filled the stream.

Hits Irresponsible Automobile Drivers

Michigan's new motor vehicle operators' "financial responsibility" law is not a compulsory insurance law but is intended to restrain careless, irresponsible drivers who have no regard for the safety of other highway users. Upon receipt of certification that a judgment of $300 or more has not been satisfied, the Secretary of State, under the law, is required to suspend the operator's license and use of license plates. These can only be reinstated by furnishing proof that the judgment has been met and by establishing future financial responsibility up to $10,000 in case of two deaths from traffic accidents and $1,000 responsibility for property damage. This responsibility can be established in four ways—by depositing $10,000 with the state treasurer; by adequate motor liability insurance; by surety bond; or by a personal bond with two sureties who each own sufficient Michigan property to meet the bond.
