FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

It is not a good thing to invite an argument with Malcomb Binney, editorial director of the Detroit Free Press. Mr. Binney is one of the great newspaper editors of America and he is great because he is an everlasting worker, a keen student and is usually right and knows how to present his side of the argument. But we cannot agree with Mr. Binney and a number of other outstanding editors of the country as to the danger they see ahead in the freedom of the press. Let it be said at once we believe as firmly as Mr. Binney or any other editor in the freedom of the press. But we cannot "view with alarm" any danger to this freedom. Why? Simply because in order to do away with the freedom of the press, it would be necessary for officials to scrap the constitution. And in scrapping the constitution, they would thereby destroy the government. This WILL NOT happen.

The freedom of the press was in the very beginning of the nation made a part of the constitution and congress can pass no law which permits anybody to set aside any part of the constitution. Any set of officials or any group of officials that attempted to do away with the freedom of the press without first a favorable vote of the people on a constitutional amendment abridging this freedom so sacred to America, would be committing treason to their government.

No executive order, no vote of congress, no cabinet action, no decision of any court, can set aside that freedom—so why worry about something that cannot happen? Why assume that any group of government officials has any right to even think of interfering with a constitutional right?

If any such attempt should be made on the part of any administration or any set of officials, The Plymouth Mail, as well as probably every other paper in America would openly defy such action. They would not only defy it, but they would demand that the officials be prosecuted for not fulfilling their oath to the constitution they swore to uphold. Right and the constitution are on the side of the newspapers of America. The President of the United States knows it and even some of the braying assistants of the administration who have been running around the country talking about freedom of the press, recognize that right. The editor of The Plymouth Mail is not alone in this thought. In a recent editorial, Arthur Brisbane, prolific editorial writer for some hundred newspapers, said:

"United States editors remind the NRA administration that the first amendment to the Constitution guarantees freedom of the press, and request that this guarantee be maintained in any newspaper code. Such a request should be unnecessary. It is hard to imagine any invention however desirable, suddenly wiping out a provision of the Constitution. In addition, many editors in the United States would undertake to maintain freedom of the press on their own account, regardless of anything of a change in the Constitution. And if such a change came, not a few would move to Canada, or some other country with freedom still remaining."

Napoleon said:

"If I allowed freedom of the press, my government would not last six weeks," and again "I fear three newspapers more than a hundred thousand bayonets."

"Napoleon's power didn't last long, anyhow. Had he allowed freedom of the press, some editor, speaking for French soldiers, might have prevented the stupid expedition and failure in Russia, and kept the emperor from taking his final beating at Waterloo."

Wendell Phillips, worth several Napoleons, said:

"The penny papers of New York do more to govern this country than the White House at Washington," and "We live under a government of men and newspapers."

No, we have no fear as to the future of the constitutional guarantee of the freedom of the press. Our fear lies entirely with the experiments in government that are being forced upon us.

ed citizenship permit such an outrage of moral responsibility to continue?

BOOZE LEGISLATION

Within the next two weeks Michigan people will possibly have some idea of how the hard liquor business in this state is going to be handled. There are half a dozen different proposals going before the legislature. The Governor has one idea and it seems as though every member of the senate and of the house have ideas about it too. As a result of this greatly divided opinion we do not anticipate immediate enactment of a law setting up machinery for the sale of hard liquors within the state. We do hope that as long as we have got to handle the situation again, that the communities of the state get the revenue from the business. After all they are the ones that must bear the grief and burden that will come with the sale of intoxicants again, so why not see to it that the revenues go to the cities and villages of the state, instead of added to the millions now flowing into Lansing.

RUSSIA

During the past year or so there have been four speakers before the Plymouth Rotary club who have within the past two years visited Russia. One or two of these speakers spent several months in that country. Every one of them declared they could not see why our government did not recognize Russia. These speakers represented various groups of American thought, one being the official of a great manufacturing organization, another represented financial interests, the others came from educational groups. We mention this at present because of what is happening in Washington towards recognition of the new European republic. All of the speakers who were invited to Plymouth declared they thought it should help American business to extend recognition to Russia. With recognition now apparently near at hand, we hope this prediction comes true.

A STATE NRA

Editor Frank Russell of the Marquette Mining Journal, one of the outstanding publishers of Michigan, in a recent editorial declared that he did not think the time ripe for Michigan to enact a state law pertaining to the NRA. We are in strict accord with Mr. Russell on this matter. With the national NRA program in difficulty, it seems foolhardy to embark the state on a similar program, which would have for its purpose but one object, the creation of more jobs for the taxpayers to support. Mr. Russell's editorial follows:

This state will learn with interest that Attorney General O'Brien proposes to introduce a plan for a state NRA and to urge on the governor its submission to the legislature. It will follow the federal model. If it were made effective the state would have an NRA chairman, endowed with powers of the character of those the President has delegated to General Johnson, to tell such odds and ends of business and industry as are not in the hands of federal NRA what to do.

There will be an all but unanimous expression of disapproval of Mr. O'Brien's plan. The federal NRA is in a state of flux. It is experimental, and its methods change from day to day. Its ultimate purposes have still to be defined. It is an emergency organization, under the terms of an emergency law. There is tacit acceptance that much of the new conditions for industry affected under its direction will be found in the future structure, but its contribution to the new order is still to be determined.

If the state needed an NRA it would be wise to wait until conclusions as to the scope that should be given it could be based on the experience of the federal NRA. The state certainly does not need one at this time. Its industry and business have a sufficient task adjusting themselves to the requirements of the federal NRA. They are under considerable strain, and their costs have been marked up out of relation to the volume of new business. Their constitutions are hardly strong enough to stand the additional strain of a state NRA reflecting Mr. O'Brien's views as to an ideal social and economic set up.

If there is an increasing impression that Mr. O'Brien is an irresponsible crackpot he has none but himself to thank. Some months ago he advocated state seizure of inactive mines and industrial plants, quite oblivious of the fact that if their owners could not keep them busy under the prevailing conditions there would be nothing to any purpose that the state could do with them.

If there has been one practical thought he has contributed to solution of state problems we fall to call it mind.

It may be predicted that the governor will shelve his suggestion of a state NRA. If by any chance he failed to do this there can be no serious doubt that the legislature would throw it on the scrap heap.

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

ONE SHORT YEAR

Depositors of the Capital National bank of Lansing may get a 40 per cent dividend if Lansing liquidators raise $400,000 and the federal government contributes a million. It would have been believed even one short year ago that such a deal would appear the best way out for Lansing depositors.—Vern J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

SUNDAY FORSAKES BARLEYCORN

Billy Sunday says that he is through using "prohibition" as a subject for his lectures. That is a remarkable chapter in the customs of our nation. Yet we presume that many thousands of reformed men and women still live today who are grateful for the messages against the use of liquor that (remember!) Sunday gave them at the end of the sawdust trail.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eccentric.

PHYSIC THE FOOLS

Shoonly Irons ought to be confiscated from every home in Detroit, for last Sunday one of the fool babies of that big town shot his wife, his mother-in-law and brother-in-law, and for no other reason than he was just mad all over. Had he been given a dose of strong physic the fool would have been thinking of something more important.—I. E. McMullen in The Linden Leader.

WHERE WOULD HE BE

The president instituted the NRA to improve labor conditions, and thereby raised the common wages to $12.00 and $14.00 per week. At least that was the intent. Now, if he were to devaluate the dollar as is advocated and as he intimated might be in the offing in his recent Sunday night speech, where would those wages be? The $14.00 wage would then be reduced to $7.00 and $9.00, and thereby disqualify the work of the NRA. It would seem therefore that the president would not NOW at least, devalue the dollar, if ever. We believe Mr. Roosevelt would be doing business a wonderful good deal if he would state definitely that there will be no inflation or change in currency valuations.—Frank Bryce in The Grand Lodge Independent.

ONE REASON

A dog will not bite the hand that feeds it. Employees of Henry Ford have shown themselves less grateful. Ford's attitude towards labor has been more than fair—he has paid their exemption, giving the same for other large employers to follow. Wall street and organized capital may have their own selfish reasons for fighting Ford. When his own employees turn against him they are hurting themselves directly. It is all workers generally, in Capital may well say—what is the use of giving workers more pay and shorter hours? They will turn against you just as quickly, and point to Ford's experience to substantiate their statement.

New City Directory Issued - Plymouth Increase Is Shown

Plymouth and Northville have grown despite the depression, if the city directory is any criterion. Polk's 1933 Plymouth and Northville city directory, off the press on Thursday, is the "fattest" in pages and contains more names than any former edition, the publishers said. The 1931 edition comprised 284 pages. The new edition, covering the same territory, has 335 pages. The Plymouth name section holds 2,532 names of adult persons and of business concerns, slightly more than the 1929 edition had at a time when the world was "riding high." The number of Northville listings has almost doubled since then, with 1,540 as against 944 in '29. Although the Polk organization does not actually estimate the present population of this community, a representative of the company said that such an increase in the number of names eligible for directory listing could be traced only to a substantial increase in the number of inhabitants.

As heretofore, the directory covers the Plymouth and Northville rural routes, but these have their separate sections and are not represented in the aforementioned count of names. Testifying to the diversity of activities in the Plymouth-Northville community, the publishers found 27 different kinds of business and professional enterprises in operation here. A glance at these classifications shows that buyers do not need to go beyond local borders to obtain most of the necessities of life.

The directory includes lists of government officials, descriptive and statistical stories of the two cities, householders' guides, and name lists that furnish information by which the entire adult population may be classified according to marital state, householders and roomers, and executives and employees, or along the lines of trade, occupation, profession, etc.

The new Plymouth roster, beginning with Eva Adams and ending with Harold F. Zamsteln, includes its quota of family nomenclature oddities, such as Broadfoot, Honey, Marble, Pepper, Cook and Gray. There are two pairs of Shears, Max Trucks and Howard Taft are two of the most picturesque signatures.

The Northville list is flanked by Edgar Adams and Peter Zekowski.

Coming Attractions At Penniman Allen

"POLICE CAR 17"

Over three thousand performances in one role. The impressive record claimed by Wallis Clark, film player, who supports Tim McCoy in his latest Columbia action drama, "Police Car 17" which will be at the Penniman Allen Theatre on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 17 and 18.

When he was 19, he came to America from England with a company presenting a stage version of Dickens' "Christmas Carols." In which he played the principal role, that of Scrooge. He travelled all over the United States with it and rolled up the impressive number of performances. He remained with the company for several years, always playing the same role.

"ONLY YESTERDAY"

A hundred trans-continental travelers had the shock of their lives in Los Angeles one day last summer. John M. Stahl was working at the Santa Fe station on scenes for "Only Yesterday," the Universal love drama playing at the Penniman Allen Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, November 19, 20, and 21, several hundred soldiers were appearing in a sequence which depicted their departure for service in the World War. Bidding affectionate goodbyes beside the troop train to wives and sweethearts, the uniformed men swung aboard the cars and the train rolled out of the station, the soldiers gaily waving their hats out of the open windows.

"THRILL HUNTER"

Demolishing a racing car as well as an expensive plane in one day is slightly more than the average man, no matter how destructive his tendencies, may be, will ever accomplish, and yet it was done in the space of ten hours by Buck Jones in his latest Columbia picture, "The Thrill Hunter," showing at the Penniman Allen Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 22 and 23.

The Columbia company filmed an auto race sequence during the morning hours at Los Angeles' Ascot Speedway, and Buck, as a motion picture stunt man, wrecked a racing car to provide one of the many thrills in "The Thrill Hunter."

When brought to trial before Federal Judge J. Stanley Webster, in Spokane, Wash., Adam Roskam, 19, testified he didn't have a cent. He was accused of selling liquor to a government agent. The judge adjourned the scales of justice and fined Roskam one cent. A friend came forward with the fine, and the lad was set free.

High Taxes on Autos And Gas Drive Cars Off The Highways

Every possible relief is to be given motor vehicle owners in the purchase of 1934 license plates, pending the time when a reduction in the cost of license plates can be secured.

The necessity for both tax relief and tax reduction is evidenced by the fact that on Nov. 1, there were 59,685 fewer automobiles operating in Michigan than on the same date in 1932 with a resultant decrease in revenue of $1,158,000 and corresponding decrease in gasoline tax revenue. Of the 415,000 motorists who used half-price windshield sticker permits until Aug. 1, Department of State records show that on Nov. 1st 73,000 have been unable to pay the second-half of the tax and secure 1933 plates.

These motorists must be given every consideration and the department has information that a great many motorists are not using their cars until 1934 plates can be secured. Many sales of new cars are being held up until 1934 plates can be purchased, although use of 1933 plates which may be purchased at the half rate during the balance of the year will be legal until March 1, 1934.

For these reasons, Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald has announced that 1934 plates will be placed on sale in all branch offices Nov. 15 and police, deputy sheriffs and other law enforcement officers are requested to recognize 1934 plates on and after that date.

A tip on water-proofing: For an old raincoat or a tent that leaks, get a can of good rubber top-dressing for an automobile. Give the coat or tent about three coats on the outside, leaving it dry, of course, between coats.

LUCK

We are apt to think of LUCK as that which makes other men successful.

If it is Luck that does it, then Luck is hard work and honesty, steadfastness of purpose and never ceasing effort, the ability to spend less than one earns.

With these qualifications, success will follow. It does indeed take some effort to be lucky.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Mortals and Immortals" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, November 12.

Among the Bible citations was the passage (Ps. 90: 10) "O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise to be heard; Which holdeth our soul in life, and suffereth not our feet to be moved."

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 51): "Man in the likeness of God as revealed in Science cannot help being immortal. Though the grass withereth and the flower fade, they flourish again; and the Science man's immortality depends upon that of God, good, and follows as a necessary consequence of his immortality of good."

Tonight (Friday) is the last night for our series of meetings. We regret that Mr. Lanting is unable to be with us, but God willing we will have a speaker for that night.

The subjects for this week covered the Book of Ruth. Last Monday evening Mr. Lanting said in part: "The account of Ruth is a beautiful manifestation of God's grace. Israel before this time had fallen deeply into sin. In Samuels time, Israel heeded for a king. They were without a ruler but God had seen but not give them a king. Not regarding the wise counsel of their Lord, a king they must have. The result of their folly was no end of grief. Man is not willing to trust in God's way but wish to be their own gods. So the story of Ruth is given us not because Naomi fell, but to prevent us from falling too."

Naomi was living in plenty and praise; the proper place for any Christian. It takes but a moment to save, but it takes a life time for God to mold us to look like His Son.

A famine is sent by God to His people to try their faith; to bring them to a closer walk. Naomi left for Moab, or the world. That is no place for a true Christian to live or even visit. We never learn faith or patience until in a place where it can be exercised. We can't afford to be playing with the world. It can only produce poverty and starvation. Naomi's two sons had names that meant sick and pining. Any Christian in the world receives a sickly condition and reaps a weak and pining state. We are not our bodies because the property of a new master.

During the ten years Naomi was in Moab, the two sons died. A Christian in the world soon loses his testimony and he will find himself stripped.

Sunday morning our pastor will speak on the subject: "Why God Made Nehemiah Great." The evening message is entitled "Your Secret Sin."

Monday evening is Young People's night. Miss Catherine Compton is leader.

Wednesday evening is Prayer and Bible study night. Daniel, chapter 11 is the lesson.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE
Robert A. North, Pastor

Bible school, 10:00 a. m. Morning worship, 11:15 a. m. Young People, 6:30 p. m. Evangelistic service, 7:30 p. m. Prayer and Bible Study, 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, Leadership Training, 7:30 p. m. Friday.

"For the grace of God that bringeth salvation, hath appeared to all men, teaching us that denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and Godly in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ; who gave himself for us that He might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people zealous of good works." Titus 2:11-14.

We extend a cordial invitation to all at any or all of our services. Bring your friends and worship with us.

SALEM FEDERATED CHURCH

Morning service for worship is held at 10:30 o'clock. On November 19, the pastor's subject will be "The Case Against Spiritualism." Bible school meets at 11:45. In preparation, read the seventeenth chapter of Acts, as the lesson deals with Paul's wonderfully tactful sermon to the people of Athens. Memory text: "In Him we live, and move, and have our being." Acts 17:28.

Be ready to read or quote a precious promise of Scripture in the evening service. The happy hymn-singing hour is always informal, and we welcome suggestions to make it more helpful.

Thursday, November 23, is the time for the regular meeting of the Aid. The ladies of both circles plan to have a Thanksgiving dinner in the dining room of the church. Dinner will be served at noon. We welcome you to happy Christian fellowship.

Rehearsals Start For "The Messiah"

There are available at the local public library so many good books on interesting subjects and about interesting persons one would need several lifetimes to read even a part of them. But we did find time to discover there many interesting facts about The Messiah, soon to be given in Plymouth by a large group of people from the vicinity, and many more interesting things about the composer, Handel.

Handel wrote operas as well as oratorio and authorities have said that in many places, "The Messiah" over-steps into the style and grandeur of the best opera.

For most of us this distinction is too fine to be obvious but center of many many Plymouth folks will appreciate the fine dramatic quality of "The Messiah" so seldom found in music of this character and will experience a thrill at the majestic nature of Handel's emotional interpretation of the Great Epiphany.

Plymouth folks have the reputation for doing well what they determine and even at this early date in rehearsals this production gives promise of being one of those times. Even during the hard grind of rehearsal members of the chorus and director feel the thrill of enthusiasm over the prospect of singing this great composition before an audience and surely will strive for the pleasure of the audience in actual performance.

A little later there will be some pleasing news about this production. Watch this paper for it.

Monday evening, November 13, the Ladies All-Star team composed of Nurse Betty, Alice Pierce, Kay Sising, Doris Whipple, and "Rose" Gilder defeated the Kiwanis Team two games out of three, by a score of 200 to 203. The games were all closely fought and won in the last frames. The rivalry was keen and this spirit permeated to the gallery. The gallery seats were filled with ladies who were out to support the "Bals," which left standing room only for the male rosters. "Rose" Gilder rolled 274 and Nurse Betty rolled 164. The match was such a success both to the audience and the team that it has been decided to have a match same between the Ladies All Stars and the Rotary team on Monday evening, November 27th at 8 p. m.

The League teams are all improving their averages rapidly. This is evidenced by the number of games won by close scores.

Next week the individual averages will be computed, and posted on the Club Bulletin Board.

Max Todd won the weekly prize for individual high score with a score of 258.

The Plymouth Mail team composed of Carl Zarn, James Williams, "Bill" Loomis, Don Gray and Raymond Danol won the weekly league team high score, rolling a total of 2728.

Maunna Whitesell with a score of 181 had the ladies high score. For those who are unfamiliar with the aims and purposes of the Kiwanis Bowling Alley, it should be known that this bowling alley was organized, sponsored, and operated by the Plymouth Kiwanis club to provide the people of Plymouth with a place of recreation.

Secondly, to create a revenue by which the Club can carry on its "Underprivileged Child Welfare Work." To work done by the Kiwanis Club in this field of charity is well known and appreciated by all the good citizens of Plymouth. All revenue collected from the bowling alley above operating expenses is put into the "Underprivileged Child Welfare Fund," which will be distributed to the various causes.

Home Furnishings Club Has Meeting
The first meeting of the Household Furnishings club of Plymouth was held at the high school on Monday, October 30 at 1:30. There were twenty-two women present and were sure they enjoyed the lesson so ably presented by the leaders, Mrs. Clyde Ferguson, Mrs. Bruce Woodbury and the chairman Mrs. Glenn Rowlock.

That something concrete was to be accomplished seemed certain when the leaders arrived breathless and loaded with all kinds of upholstery and slip cover material, pillows, and last but not least a maple rocking chair.

Woman's Club Notes

The program for the Woman's Club meeting on Friday, November 3rd quite fulfilled the expectations of those fortunate enough to be present.

The president, Mrs. Ray Johns called the meeting to order and, as a guest speaker was present, the order of exercises was reversed and the meeting was at once turned over to the chairman of the committee for the day, Mrs. Maurice H. Woodworth.

The program was opened by Miss Carolina Penney who delighted the audience with a beautifully rendered piano solo.

In a few witty and well chosen words, Mrs. Woodworth then introduced Dr. John H. Muyskens, head of the speech correction clinic of the University of Michigan who, during the next forty five minutes held his audience in the deepest attention to his talk on "The Tongues of Men."

Not all of the large colleges and universities maintain departments for the correction of speech and the people of our state are not so fortunate in having such a department in our University, but are doubly blessed in having at its head such an able instructor as Dr. Muyskens who believes that speech defects have a physiological basis and who has had most successful results from his methods of handling the many cases which come under his care each year. He gave several interesting examples of the success of these experiments.

The program was completed by the singing of two love songs, "Sylvia" and "Home Sweet Home" by Mrs. Sterling Eaton. The hearty applause which they drew forth attested to the joy given both by the singing and by this type of song. Miss Schrader of Northville was the very splendid accompanist.

Following the program the committee, Mesdames Maurice Woodworth, Geo. Cramer, L. E. Wilson, Paul Weidman and the Misses Marlon Beyer and Nellie Elidie served a delicious lunch. The delightfully appointed lunch table was presided over by Mrs. Paul Weidman. The regular business meeting then followed.

On November 17th the speaker for the meeting will be John L. Rinnun, Professor of Journalism at the University of Michigan, who is another of the most able speakers of the state. His subject will be "Standards of Value in Life and Art."

Plymouth Dramatic Club Organized; To Present Three Plays

Under the leadership of three prominent Plymouth residents, Miss Virginia Giles, Edward Wilkie, and Dr. Freeman R. Hoyer, the affairs of the recently organized Plymouth Dramatic Club are reaching satisfactory conclusions. The need for a local dramatic organization has long been recognized and considered desirable and necessary to facilitate better results from the efforts put forth by local acting talent. Through the efforts of Miss Giles, Mr. Wilkie and Mr. Hoyer such an organization now comes into existence and it was with enthusiasm that the members of the new club held their first business meeting at the city hall Friday evening, November 10.

With Miss Giles acting as temporary chairman the following officers were elected to serve during the coming dramatic season: Mr. Wilkie, president and director of productions; Dr. Hoyer, assistant director of productions; Miss Giles, secretary. The program and plans for procedure in presenting plays during the winter were explained in detail. The results of the meeting were announced as highly pleasing and indicative of full support from all club members. According to Miss Giles the program, as set forth at present, calls for the presentation in Plymouth of at least two, and possibly three first class plays of a quality that has made them well-known as major attractions. It is the aim of the organization to supply Plymouth with something unusual in the way of entertainment and to incorporate qualities pleasing to every audience. Every effort has been made to secure Plymouth's best talent and most experienced players in issuing membership invitations.

At the present time the club roster includes the following members: Edward Wilkie, Dr. Freeman Hoyer, Max Todd, Russell Wallace, William A. Bake, Lynn Partridge, Benjamin Stewart, Edward Murphy, W. S. Smith, Dr. S. N. Thams, Russell Currier, Allen Giles, B. E. Giles, Miss Virginia Giles, Mrs. Vaughn Smith, Mrs. Richard Smith, Mrs. Frank Dicks, Michael O'Connor, Mrs. John Birchall, Miss Barbara Bake, Miss Mary McKinnon, Miss Doris Whipple.

It was further stated that the Plymouth post of the American Legion has consented to furnish aid in every possible way all presentations of the Plymouth Dramatic Club during the ensuing theater season.

The first of the series of plays to be given has already been selected and copies of the manuscript ordered. Tentative appointments for parts have been made and work in preparation for production will begin at an early date it is hoped. Although no date has been set for the first showing of the play, entitled "Golden Days," a Samuel French royalty play, it is expected that presentation will occur very shortly after January 1. An announcement of the opening date, as well as a list of the cost and a brief description of the play, will be given at a later date.

Newburg

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Richwine of Detroit and Mrs. Clago with her three children also of Detroit, visited Mr. and Mrs. George Richwine Sunday.

Mrs. George Richwine continues to improve slowly from the auto accident she received in Chicago.

Wm. Gyle, Jr. who has been in Ann Arbor hospital with an appendix operation was able to return home over a week ago, and is improving satisfactorily.

Frank Trussell has a well digging job in Grosse Ile.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Moyer moved this last week into their new residence on the corner of Ridge road and US-12.

Dave Galin Tells Why Prices of Pork Have Been Advanced

Why have the prices of pork gone up in all of the meat markets of Plymouth and the rest of the country during the past few days? Let Dave Galin of the Plymouth County market tell about it. According to Mr. Galin the recent advance forced by the government through the 50 cents per hundred weight processing tax on live hogs will be followed by additional levies until the maximum of $2 is reached on February 1.

According to Mr. Galin the tax will be collected by the Internal Revenue Bureau on the actual killing of hogs slaughtered for commercial trade channels, irrespective of point of sale or the status of the initial processor.

Hogs condemned by an authorized Federal, state, county or municipal inspector as being totally unfit for human food are not considered hogs slaughtered for market under the regulations. Serum hogs officially condemned to tankage come within this exception.

No tax will be required on the processing of live hogs by or for the producer for consumption by his own family, employees or household. Butchers in small towns and other commercial hog-slaughtering concerns will be required to pay the tax regardless of where or in what manner they obtain their hogs from producers. Refunds will be available to persons delivering hog products to any organization exclusively for charitable distribution, the refund to equal the tax paid by the initial processor.

Retail meat distributors, have 30 days in which to dispose of their floor stocks before they are subject to tax and as a result a very limited revenue from them is expected.

"The government is trying to raise the price of pork to $7.50 per hundred," continued Mr. Galin. "On the other hand while it may seem a little harder for us to pay a cent or two more per pound for what we buy, isn't it better that we do so, so the farmer and producer who has received practically nothing for his hogs for such a long time, get a little more for them now? All of this money the government is taking in taxes on pork is going right back to the farmer, so I think we should be glad to add the class of people who have suffered from this unjust condition so long."

Hog products imported from any foreign country or from the five Philippine Islands, Virgin Islands, Samoa, the Canal Zone and the island of Guam, are subject to a compensatory tax equal to the amount of the processing tax. The tax collected on importations of hog products from the five possessions, ordinarily very slight, are to be paid into the treasuries of the respective possessions and to be used and expended by their governments for the benefit of agriculture.

James Latture To Have Charge of High School Debates

Plymouth high school has become a member of the Michigan High School Forensic Association and will take part in a state-wide competition in public speaking and debating according to an announcement by J. H. McBurney, instructor in Speech at the University of Michigan and State Manager of the Association. James Latture of the high school faculty will be in charge of the local contestants.

The Michigan High School Forensic Association is directed by the University of Michigan in cooperation with an Advisory Council representing the Michigan Conference of City Superintendents, the Michigan High School Principals Association, and the Michigan Association of Teachers of Speech. State-wide interscholastic contests will be conducted in debating, oratory, declamation, and extemporaneous speaking. The local school will be represented in all these contests.

The question for discussion in the debates of the Forensic Association this year is the proposal that all radio broadcasting in the United States be conducted in stations owned and controlled by the Federal Government. This subject has been adopted by thirty-two state high school debating leagues and will be discussed by high school students throughout the country.

The debates in the Michigan High School Forensic Association are conducted in two series; a preliminary series in which all member schools debate at least four times, and an elimination series which terminates in the State Championship Debate. The schools with the highest percentage of victories in the preliminary debates are entered in the elimination series and awarded the University of Michigan Wall Plaque Trophy. This trophy is in the shape of a shield, the design of which was taken from the well known University of Michigan shield. Its base is of American walnut, 17 inches in height and 13 inches across the top, and the medallion superimposed upon the shield, is 9 inches in diameter, three-eighths of an inch thick, and is cast of solid bronze with all lettering artistically embossed.

The great majority of the schools will hold their first debate on November 17. Three other state-wide debates on December 1, December 15, and January 12 will complete the preliminary series. A number of sectional debating leagues have been organized again in various parts of the State for purposes of conducting the preliminary series. The winners of these sectional leagues, together with the other ranking schools in the preliminary series, will take part in the first debate of the elimination series on February 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray O'Neil entertained at dinner Sunday at their home on Maple avenue the former's brother, Russell O'Neil and family of Jackson.

Starkweather School Notes

Group "A" of the kindergarten has nine children who are up to normal weight. Group "B" has ten up to normal weight; three are one pound underweight; four are two pounds underweight; and one is three and one-half pounds underweight.

Reverend and Mrs. Hoenecke gave the kindergarten a cardboard playhouse, which is large enough for three or four youngsters to get into. It has seven windows, with awnings on each, a door, and a chimney.

The children have made "Sunbonnet Babies" of gingham on paper. They are now beginning their Thanksgiving writing.

Alice Glille, who has undergone a tonsil operation, is back at school again.

The children are learning to write letters. In January they will have learned to write and recognize numbers up to ten. They dramatized a story for the Business and Professional Women's Club, which met Tuesday evening at the school.

Miss Sparring visited the second grade last Tuesday. The children have made some decorations for Thanksgiving, which will be put on the wall and on the windows. They have cut out letters making a motto. "Thanksgiving means giving thanks." The reading class also took part in the demonstration Tuesday evening.

The 3's and 4's have made hygiene posters. Miss Hunt's pupils have made a Pilgrim village, and are now practicing a play for Thanksgiving.

Miss Farrand is reading "The Pilgrims" to her 5B children. In Art the fifth graders have been making posters on a pot show. The 6's have a raping of five on the self-defending skills. In Geography they are studying Chile. The 7th class recently gave a health play called "Who Says Six Year Molds?" The 5's have been giving reports on Japan in geography. They are getting their room ready for Thanksgiving by decorating it with pilgrim turkeys, etc.

In history the 6's are studying the life of Andrew Jackson. They were given a test on Siberia last week. For hygiene they are making posters on cleanliness.

The sophomore class will hold its first dance at the school tonight in the high school auditorium. The music will be furnished by Strassen's orchestra, a local musical group.

The chairman committee consists of Madie Sawyer, chairman, Vivian Delvo and Marion Kruman. On the advertising committee are Audrey Moore, chairman, Betty Jane Housley, and Jean Steinhurst. The members of the ticket committee are J. Banman, R. Wilson, and K. Thumpe. On the floor committee are R. Reed, W. Holdsworth and N. Kincaid. A candy committee composed of F. Bridg and D. Fishlock was also named.

Recent Stamps Meet Objections

The recent NIA stamp has been the forerunner of a whirlwind of criticisms against United States stamps, in general, and issues of recent months in particular. It all started when critics caught the NIA stamp as communistic propaganda. They pointed out that the business man was out of step; that if he was removed from the stamp, the farmer's scythe and the laborer's hammer would form the communist emblem; that the scythe was a type used in Russia; but never in the United States; and that the figures in general were too suggestive of a communist poster.

These charges started people thinking. Next in line of attack was the Great Zeppelin issue. Why had the government issued a stamp for the Zeppelin's flight? It was purely a commercial trip, with only the thought of advertising in mind. Yet our government refused to recognize the flight of Italo Balbo and the Italian flying Armada in a philatelic way. The flight was a mission of peace and international good will.

A third objection was that the government is capitalizing on collectors. Revolutionary heroes whom the average American has never heard of are pictured on trivial anniversaries. If the collector buys the stamp it is what the government wants. If he doesn't his collection is incomplete. Not satisfied with three cent stamps, commemoratives ranging from five to fifty cents have appeared.

The last objection was suggested by a foreign stamp. When Holland issued its Peace Stamp some months ago, it called attention to what our stamps could do to further the peace cause. Instead recent issues of stamps have shown Gen. Oglethorpe, Gen. Kosciusko, an old fort, a prominent spot in the American Revolution, and even America's first pacifist William Penn, was pictured in armor for some unknown reason. These stamps were all issued in a year's period in addition to several warbirds pictured on the regular postage series.

Theme From Grade Seven

The 7's were asked to write an explanation of how to do something. This one is the best of those written.

How To Ice Skate
I don't know how to ice-skate very well, but I will attempt to tell you.

If you follow instructions carefully I have an idea you'll be able to skate better than I can.

First you obtain a pair of ice skates and a companion.

Don't forget to dress warmly. The more clothes you have on the easier the lumps will be which all amateur skaters will receive.

If your skates are too big (like mine) stuff them with cotton and several pairs of socks will help fill up the empty spaces.

"Please Note: you can only skate on ice and ice usually is only found in winter in this locality. A duck pond will do to learn on.

When you have located some ice thick enough to hold you (if you weigh as much as I do it better be real thick) unless you also want me to tell you how to swim, sit down on the bank and put your skates on. Maybe you can induce your companion to help you. If they are shoe skates pull the laces hard but don't break them.

Don't meet stand up at least try to. You'll probably give yourself a cut on the back and start off like you've seen others do saying to the other fellow, "How easy is it!"

Whoop! there you go! That's the first fall!

Oh, well you didn't fall so hard and sniffling you get up and brush yourself off while your friend laughs. You probably did look funny.

After starting, slipping, and getting up you finally get started pretty well and away you go.

Look out! There's a rut! It's too late and you go right into a clump of grass sticking up through the ice.

After turning several somersaults you land hard and it feels like you broke every bone in your body.

You crawl to the bank, pull off your skates, and limp all the way home, numbing as you go with your companion giggling hysterically behind you.

Betty Mastick, 7A.

Ad. Lib.

This week the Ad Lib starts a new policy (thirty years semi-annual) on a new basis (on the payments). Each week until I am "bumped off" an underclassman will appear in this column and be taken to pieces. Here is the first victim.

James Livingston—"All American boy."

James Livingston, a most active member of the class of '35, has for the last four years blown air into a defenseless clarinet during the meeting hours of the band. A member of the Junior Executive Board, he is known to his friends for his inability to lose his temper. Jim's ability as a mechanic is equal only to his ability to sleep late mornings. He is a member of the Pilgrim Prints Staff and has played in the orchestra off and on. Here are his favorites, food, yeast beef; study, chemistry; friend, Jack Wilcox; (he's trying to get on the best side of me) activity, sleeping (practice makes perfect).

What are you going to be?
Ans.—A nurse.

What are you going to do with your first million?
Ans. Buy a cemetery lot for an Ad Lib editor who will soon need one.

What don't you like?
Ans. The Ad Lib.

Mr. Matheson (First Aid Class): Name three joints and tell where they are located.

Student: The hinge joint is located in the elbow. The ball and socket joint is located in the shoulder. The gliding joint is located in the brain.

Hats off to "Bing" Sells for not dropping that baton he throws over the cross bar during the half last week.

Debaters Hear Radio Broadcasts

Those debaters, who were coached by Professor Riley of the University speech department, presented interesting aspects of the question. The affirmative asserted that the present system of broadcasting possesses no grave defects which cannot be remedied under private ownership, while the negative defended the present plan and attacked government ownership.

The debate proved of value to both Plymouth teams and was enjoyed by all. This is the second radio debate heard by Plymouth teams this semester.

Meeting in the physics laboratory Plymouth affirmative and negative heard a debate between four women students of the University of Michigan on the question of federal radio ownership, broadcasted over station WWJ at 2:30, November 10.

Senior Debater Elected Captain

Elected unanimously at a recent debate meeting, Evelyn Rorabacher, Plymouth's most experienced speaker, is captain of the debating squad for this season. At the same meeting Thomas Brock was elected student council representative.

Having been third negative speaker in the recent Plymouth-Ypsilanti debate, Evelyn Rorabacher was also third affirmative in Thursday's contest with River Rouge. A senior with three years of debating to her credit, Evelyn has participated in twenty-eight debates with other schools, of which twelve were judged. Of these twelve, the greater part were league contests, but several were in the elimination series. Nine of them resulted in victory for Plymouth, with only three defeats.

Professor Riley, who judged Plymouth's first league debate this season, stated that until Evelyn's contest with River Rouge, no student of government ownership of radio, which was selected for this year. Plymouth's captain has debated the questions of unemployment insurance and the state income tax. This season of debating will be her last in this school.

Miss Allen Receives Letter From L. Daly

Miss Allen received a very interesting letter from Lester Daly, who is in Company 887 of the C.C.C. camps in Michigan. He is situated at Camp Alza which is about three hundred miles from here. Below are a few paragraphs taken from his letter:

It has been snowing all day today, and I don't know how to work. We work right in the morning, rain except in a blizzard like today and our company is rated the best, from the standard of work, in Michigan. All week we have worked in eight inches of snow and at present the ground is covered a foot and a half. The lake has been frozen over for several days. I was wearing a wool shirt, a heavy sweater, a blue work jacket, heavy trousers, a pull down cap, over-shoes and gloves. Even then the wind went right through me like a knife.

We are three hundred miles from home six miles from the nearest village. Alza. I stay in camp most of the time. We have plenty of clothes and good food. (He goes on to tell of enormous appetites.)

We are living six in a tent, sleeping on cots with five blankets and all the clothes we possess over us at night. We will be here until Dec. 1, when we will move into barracks near Irons, Michigan.

We are terribly out of touch up here, no electricity and only one radio in camp. We receive only one Detroit and one Grand Rapids (per regularly and they are hogged as soon as they get in. The government furnishes us a library, but such a library, all mystery stories and thrillers.

I was just interrupted by retreat and mess. This being Friday we receive our laundry, also our evening mail.

Class Notes

The 7B Hygiene Class is studying vitamins and their relation to a properly balanced meal. The class has made a food chart showing the various types of foods and the quantities that should be contained in each person's diet.

The work of the 7A Hygiene students concerns the prevention of disease germs. They have done some outside research work on Edward Jenner and also the procedure of toxin-antitoxin and the sick test. Special emphasis has been placed on the prevention of colds in school.

The 8B First Aid class has completed the study of wounds and is beginning shock and its prevention and treatment.

The gym classes have been taking some special work on pivoting in basketball.

The six-hour public speaking class has spent three weeks on the art of interpretive reading. After completing this unit they memorized and gave in class the following poems: "If" by Kipling, "Ulysses" by Tennyson, a cutting of "Prisoner Chillon" by the Byron, "Concord Hymn" by Emerson, "Saltire" by Wilcox, and a cutting from the "Vision of Sir Launfal" by Lowell. They will now begin oratory.

Each member of the eighth hour public speaking class has given six extemporaneous talks. Each of these dealt with a different subject and the last of the six was a demonstration talk. These proved very educational as well as interesting. In giving these talks (diagrams, samples, pictures, and actual demonstrations were used to illustrate more clearly. Such topics were explained as follows: How to make a dress, how to snarl in tennis, how to make miniature oil paintings, how to use color properly at home and at school, how to play golf, how to pitch a baseball.

Miss Waldorf's section of the 10B English class has finished the book of short stories, collected by Sherman. They will now study George Elliott's realistic novel, "Silas Marner."

Miss Waldorf's section of the 10A English class has completed the unit on Journalism and as extra projects they made two small class papers. One of these was edited by Doris Fishlock and Jane Bauer and the other by Elizabeth Whipple and Jack Sells.

The 7A clothing class have completed the construction of undergarments, and are now taking a brief course in housekeeping problems. This includes not only the hygiene of housekeeping but economy of time and energy in the doing of household tasks. The girls are keeping a file of magazine clippings called "Helps in Keeping House."

Up to the present time the 8B Foods class have been busy preparing very simple breakfast combinations. Their next problem is the serving of this breakfast. Since the success of this breakfast will depend on most careful planning and upon each one being able to do her assigned tasks quickly and accurately, the girls are planning menus, choosing hostesses and selecting committees for the practical work. They feel that the success of a school breakfast will depend on having the food well cooked, the serving done correctly and efficiently, the cooking and other kitchen work taken care of efficiently and interesting.

Famous Cat of The Pere Marquette Now In Kitten Heaven
'Nigger' is no more. After nineteen years of active life in the Pere Marquette railroad yard he has gone down to kitten heaven. 'Nigger' was a black cat as everyone knows. He had been spotted the trainmen after long and serious consideration finally decided that it would be a merciful thing to end the career of Michigan's most famous railroad cat.

Switchmen Divide Jobs With The Idle
In order to provide jobs for several idle switchmen, members of the Switchmen's Union of Plymouth recently voted for themselves a 28 day month work week, thereby creating three new jobs. There are employed in the Plymouth Pere Marquette yards at present six regular and four extra men. An other yard master has been added, making three now on the regular payroll.
