Seven-Year-Old Son Of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gilde Is Victim.

Misfortunes Many For Family In Few Years

Body Taken To Old Home Of Parents At Marne For Burial.

The tragic climax to a long series of misfortunes and losses that have trailed the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gilde, 1083 N. Holbrook since the early days of the depression, came on Thursday afternoon when their seven-year-old son Francis broke through the ice on the Rouge river just above the Ford Wilcox pond and was drowned.

The youngster, whose home is but a block from the place where he met death, had crossed over to the north side of the stream. Then he started back and as he neared the shore on the south side, the ice gave way and he sank only to come up under a cake of ice that did not permit him to reach the top of the water again. A playmate ran screaming to the boy's home.

Mrs. Gilde and Stanley Allen, who lives on the same street, are joining the Gildes over the stone block ran to the river. Jumping into the stream, Stanley Allen made a frantic effort to reach the boy but was soon forced from the water by the intense cold. Then the police and firemen were called and for many hours Chief Fred Wagonschitz of the fire department, Chief Vaughn Smith and Gus Meyers broke the ice away and dragged for the body. While they were temporarily relieved by Vern Goodale, the use of a pike pole, located the body and brought it to the surface, almost in the very spot where he had broken through the ice.

The remains were removed to the Schrader Funeral home and later taken to Marne, a little community just west of Grand Rapids, the old home of Mrs. Gilde, where the funeral was held Sunday. Burial took place in the family lot at that place. Two smaller children, six and a little baby eight months old.

It was some three years ago when the depression first took its toll from the Gilde family. Soon after Mr. and Mrs. Gilde came to Plymouth from Grand Rapids some eight years ago they started buying a home over on York street. They thought possibly a little home out in the country where property was not so high as in the city, and taxes would be easier to pay. They bought a little home in town, so they bought a little home out at Phoenix.

Not quite two years ago Mrs. Gilde was tragically injured in an automobile accident in Detroit and for weeks laid in a Detroit hospital recovering from these injuries.

Doctor bills and hospital bills and when they must be paid, forced the sacrifice of their equity in the Phoenix home.

In a vain effort to meet the pressing tide of hospital and other debts, they mortgaged their automobile and furniture hoping thereby to pay their debts. But finance companies are finance companies—they must be paid. The mortgagor's legal-ized interest rate permitted in the state of Michigan to finance corporations who make small loans, could not be met, the furniture was taken, and then the furniture went the same way.

Officials Work To Create Jobs For Unemployed

Men Outside City Of Detroit To Find Work On Approved Projects

C.W.A. Board Is Losing No Time To Start Work

Villages, Cities, Schools And Townships Provide Employment

Since Friday, November 17, the Wayne County Civil Works Administration has been meeting daily to approve projects which are expected to put 46,000 men to work when they are all under way. The members of the Wayne County Civil Works Commission are James Fitzgerald, chairman, Mrs. Ruth Huston-Whipple, secretary, and Dr. Frederic Siedenburgh, these three people also constitute the Wayne County Board of Public Welfare. The C.W.A. Mission as it was organized last August, and still continues to serve without pay. The C.W.A. program has definitely set in motion by a federal act on Wednesday, November 15, because the C.W.A. program was moving too slowly. In the two weeks since Mrs. Fitzgerald, chairman, had accomplished in three months.

November 15 the federal government allotted 400 million dollars to the C.W.A. in Michigan. Of this Michigan received enough to put 121,000 men to work, 46,000 of whom are in Wayne County which was allotted $10,000,000.00 of this amount seven and a half millions are for Detroit, and one and a half millions for the area outside of Detroit.

It has been the duty of the Wayne County C.W.A. to allocate these nine millions as fairly as possible. Friday afternoon, November 17, commissioners Fitzgerald, Whipple, and Siedenburgh approved the 16 projects for Detroit which are listed elsewhere in this paper. In the daily meetings from November 20 to November 25 inclusive, commissioners approved projects for Hamtramck, Dearborn, Highland Park, River Rouge, Lincoln Park, Plymouth, Wyandotte and Livonia. They also allotted $53,500.00 for the Wayne County Auditor to be spent on County buildings in Detroit and allowed out of Detroit's share of the C.W.A. fund, $10,000.00 to the Wayne County Drain Commission also to be spent in the out-county area.

At the meeting Monday, November 20, the commissioners approved projects for Northville, Allen Park, Belleville, Ecorse, Grosse Pointe, Trenton, River View, Wayne, Garden City, Inkster, and Croswell. They also allotted $12,000.00 to the State Highway Department for work in Wayne County, and 3 additional projects for the Wayne County Road Commission.

The amount of money which a city, village, township or school district may have is determined by its population and its case load; hence when two areas have the same population the one with more welfare families gets a larger allocation of funds. The approval of projects depends on three factors. First and foremost is the question of how many men it will put to work; that is the point in which the federal government is interested, and hence the one of greatest importance to the Wayne County C.W.A. Commission. The second factor is the percentage of men to be employed; roughly it runs 75 per cent of the money to be spent for labor and 25 per cent for material; often the percentage is more favorable than this. The third factor is the desirability of the project for the community; it is necessary for health, safety, and general improvement. Fourth, is the project within the amount allotted to the community? The C.W.A. commission had to turn down many projects which would have cost too much. Fifth, the projects undertaken with C.W.A. funds must be finished by February 15, that is the deadline for the projects approved for Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. Berg Moore Will Direct Sale Christmas Seals

Little Health Savers Already In Hands Of The School Children

District Schools Are Asked To Give Aid

Hope To Equal, Possibly Excel Total Sale Of Year Ago.

Mrs. Berg Moore, wife of the secretary of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, has been named as chairman of the committee that will have charge of the Christmas seal sale for Plymouth and vicinity. Mrs. Moore has already visited nearly all of the schools, and has made arrangements for the sale of these seals. She hopes to equal, if not excel the records of past years.

Governor William Comstock in a special proclamation strongly urges everyone to purchase these little health bringing seals, the sale of which has done so much good in past years.

"I am asked to sponsor so many experimental recovery campaigns that I am glad to commend to the people of this state one which has been carried on for the past twenty-five years or more outside of the economical and political field, the anti-tuberculosis crusade through education and early diagnosis. We can take pride in the way Michigan has provided for its tuberculosis sick, in the modern methods used in our state to combat this most destructive of the fatal diseases. We can glory in the fifty per cent decline in the death rate that Michigan has shown in the past twenty-five years.

We know the extent of tuberculosis in our state and we are learning how to control it. This enlightenment came to us through the Michigan Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated societies, whose programs are financed entirely by the sale of Christmas seals.

As one recovery campaign in which we cannot allow our step to falter, I recommend the fight against tuberculosis and urge generous purchase of the 1933 Christmas seals. The cost of saving work financed by the sale may go on."

Ralph Lorenz Will Work In Ypsilanti

Ralph Lorenz, better known to his old friends in Plymouth as "Gobby" Lorenz, will this week go to Ypsilanti where he will clerk in the new men's clothing store that Paul Hayward will open in that city on Saturday of this week.

Many friends of the well known young clothier will regret to see him leaving Plymouth, but his plan to return home frequently during the week and spend as much of his time here as he can.

Plans for 'Forgotten Man'

Puzzling over some knotty problem in connection with the federal plan to house families of more than 200 poverty-stricken coal miners, Mrs. Roosevelt is shown with her friend, Nnacy Cook, and several workmen on the 1000-acre Reedsville, W. Va., site set aside for the project by the government. The First Lady has taken an active hand in this relief experiment, which is in line with the president's plan to return low income workers to the farm.

Not Enthusiastic Dairy Farmers Over Any Change Merchants Might Favor Elimination Of The Monthly Fee

Judging from the sentiment expressed at the meeting of Plymouth business men called by Secretary Berg Moore of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce to consider amendments to the anti-transient merchants ordinance, they are not greatly in favor of changing its provisions.

However some did express the idea that possibly in view of the protest of real estate holders that the right terms of the ordinance were keeping some business concerns out of the city, that they might be willing to agree to a change eliminating the monthly inspection fee of $5.00.

Mayor Freeman Hoyer has expressed the idea that possibly this proposed amendment might be returned to Plymouth with the points out that it would be a concession on the part of business men and would to a certain extent aid store owners.

But it was quite clearly indicated at the meeting that the business men were not willing to grant too many concessions in an ordinance that has proven of so much benefit to other communities in keeping out transient merchants and in requiring new concerns to meet immediately the same tax requirements as long established stores.

Ed. Gollinger Gets Big Deer In The U. P.

There was one Plymouth hunter who went to the Upper Peninsula, conquered the "big snow" and returned to Plymouth with a nice deer as ever brought to town. Ed. Gollinger, night hall master of the Detroit House of Correction, being the lucky hunter that went to the Upper Peninsula made no effort to do any hunting because of the deep snow that prevailed. Mr. Gollinger went right into the deepest part of it, all some sixty miles west of Newbury, and brought down a ten point buck. He returned home with the deer and had been cleared so automobiles could be used without difficulty. It might be added that this well known official of the House of Correction was not a stranger to the country he hunted in. For many years he served as a conservation officer in the Upper Peninsula and has traveled the country for years and can find his way about no matter how deep the snow might be.

Estill Rowland Falls On Ice At The Prison Farm, Hand Severed

Caught In Gearing Of Corn Husking Machine

To Be Returned Home Soon From Receiving Hospital.

Strike one! Strike two! Strike three and "you're out." But there will be no more ball players to drop their bats in humiliation and return to the bench as the machine is being struck out by Estill Rowland, one of the best amateur baseball pitchers that ever sent a ball twirling over the home plate.

His right hand, the hand that has proven a worry to every ball player that ever went up against the old speedy DeHoCo team of the West Point Park team last summer was severed the other day in one of the most unfortunate accidents that has ever happened at the Detroit House of Correction farm.

Estill, who has been employed as a guard at the prison for the past six or seven years, was working near a mechanical corn husking machine on Friday with a number of prisoners.

He suddenly slipped on the ice and in an effort to break his fall, he grabbed with his right hand on the machine. As he fell, so the hand became caught in some gearing and it was so frightfully mangled that physicians in this part of the state out of the wrist.

It is expected that he will be able to be brought to his home on the Macomber farm west of Plymouth, just off the Panhandle road in the next few days. Mr. and Mrs. Rowland have two small children. He is a brother of M. M. Rowland and has lived in Plymouth for many years. He is 30 years of age and has a host of friends who regret the unfortunate accident that has taken one of the best ball pitchers in this part of the state out of the game.

This Hunter Wasn't Lost At All—Merely Trailing A Big Buck

While some half hundred hunters were searching desperately for a buck, one of them, who had been lost in the woods around Luzerne, Clyde Smith of Plymouth was trailing down through the woods near a buck deer that he had wounded early in the morning.

When found about 9 o'clock at night, he was thoroughly exhausted from his long hike through the woods.

Told that his hunting companions, Jake Stremich and Matt Powell, feared that he was lost in the woods and had organized a searching party for him. Smith declared that he had not been lost, but simply was tracking down a deer that he had wounded in the morning when he left the party to start hunting in the morning.

As night approached both Stremich and Powell, worried by the continued absence of Smith, feared that he had become lost. They gathered together all of the hunters they could find around Luzerne, a popular hunting center north of West Branch, and organized a thorough search for Smith. Some four or five hours after the search was started, they came across Smith tramping down through the woods. The very next day Smith landed another buck, although the one he wounded the day his friends thought him lost, was not found.

Smith was the only one of the three to bring back a deer, although both Powell and Stremich have made two trips into the woods during the present hunting season.

Hundreds Line Up To Register For Public Jobs

City Officials Amazed At Number Of Idle Men In This Section

Over 300 List Names For Jobs About Here

Today (Wednesday) Is Last Day For Registering At The City Hall

Seriousness of the unemployment situation was brought home forcibly to Plymouth residents this week when registration for work under the public improvements program got out of the government started at the Plymouth city hall.

The line of men anxious to secure employment formed early Monday morning and as it continued to grow during the day, visitors at the city hall were amazed at the total registration continued to mount. When the registration clerks ended their day's work Tuesday evening over 300 men had turned in applications for employment.

"Today (Wednesday) will be the last day of the registration. The unemployed men of Plymouth and Canton townships who have not yet registered, are urged to do so today. The Plymouth registration is not alone for the city, it includes the unemployed men of Canton and Canton township. So if you have not turned in your application, do so today. The Mail this issue is issued two days ahead of schedule because of Thanksgiving. This happens to be a fortunate circumstance as it enables this notice of registration to get to the unemployed men of Plymouth living in the country who might not happen to know of the fact that they can register in Plymouth for employment.

When these 300 men are given regular employment in and around Plymouth at wages of not less than $15 per week it can readily be seen what a benefit it will not only be to the workers but to the community as well. Orders from Washington are to the effect that such supplies as may be needed must be purchased as far as possible locally.

It is proposed to place the men living outside of the city of Plymouth at work on numerous drain projects in this part of Wayne county, while men registered for work in the city will be put to work on the projects listed in last week's issue of The Mail.

Plymouth city officials were somewhat surprised Monday morning when it was found they had been thinking to do with the registration.

The Michigan state labor department sent C. F. Roberts, chairman of the local registration committee, Mr. M. B. Brown and Thomas F. O'Mara from Detroit to do the registering for this part of Wayne county. A similar group was sent to Northville, all in the place of employment was given to one local resident.

Mr. O'Mara is known in this locality having in past years acted as manager of the work of the amateur baseball games played here. These workers were paid $6 per day for their work in registering the unemployed.

Mayor Freeman Hoyer states that 32 men were placed at work Monday morning, more were given employment Tuesday and city officials hope that by the first of next week every man in the welfare list of Plymouth will be given employment.

But officials point out that they are confronted with a difficult problem, as the state works program provides that only one-half of the men are to be taken from the welfare for future jobs, the other coming from the unemployed who have not been on the welfare.

The names of those registered, from what can be learned, will be taken to the state labor department headquarters in Detroit. Just as it is planned to immediately provide a place for them to work, turning over the entire office of the city manager for their use. The Detroit clerical force were hereby pleased with the arrangements, stated Mr. Roberts.

City Manager Cookingham states that he hopes to be able to provide work for all the unemployed men in the city. The government will finance as Washington dispatches advise that the government proposes to increase the allotment of funds already made to Michigan.

THE FUTURE

No group or individual has any security as to the future, declared a recent speaker over at Ann Arbor. No one can tell, no matter what his present wealth might be, as to what his plight might be twenty years from now. That is not a pleasant outlook for the future, but there has been so much happening in recent years to bear out the truth of the statement that it really causes one to wonder just what can be done to make the years to come more secure than they are at present.

CONGRATULATIONS

The Plymouth Mail wishes to extend to Mayor Freeman Hoyer, members of the city commission and school officials its congratulations for their alertness in making their application for a portion of the funds to be apportioned out by the government for public works. They did well and they are entitled to the commendation of the citizens of the community. Plymouth will profit greatly during the next two months as the result of this allotment of public funds. It will help scores of our worthy residents, many of them, long out of employment. It will help everybody, taking as it does some of the burden from the tax rolls for the ensuing year. Again may we extend to the public officials of this city and school district our appreciation for what they have done. Plymouth has for years been blessed with a high type of citizenship in administrative circles and we again profit as the result of this age-old Plymouth practice of selecting the right men for the right place in community governmental affairs.

OUR NEW DRESS

Mothers know what it means to patch and patch and patch to keep an old dress looking and looking fairly decent. But there comes a time when no matter how expert she might be with the needle and thread, the old dress just will not look as it should. Then mother must go out and buy a new dress, even though hesitating she does so because of the scarcity of the nickels and dimes. But after the dress has been purchased and worn, mother is highly delighted to think that she spent the money. There is a return of that old feeling of satisfaction she had not experienced since the "patching" days started.

Well, newspapers are just like mothers. They too have a "dress" and sometimes it is necessary for years to be patched and patched. Frequently the style of the dress of the newspaper is changed as well, that is a newer and more modern face of type being used.

The Plymouth Mail from the day it installed its linotype machines, has never changed its dress. During all the long years of remarkable service, the old matrices have served well, without much question they could have been used for a longer period. But the headings, which have been handed set, had served longer than their rightful span of life, so in getting the new matrices for one machine, new matrices, which permit the setting of the headings on the machine, were also ordered.

Desiring to give the readers of The Plymouth Mail the best there is in type faces, a great deal of time has been taken to make the right selection.

The editor of The Mail for nearly two years has looked the life out of Editor John Allen of The Linotype News, of the Mergenthaler Linotype company, but we have been glad to get his advice and assistance because Mr. Allen is regarded as one of the country's outstanding authorities of newspaper make-up as well as type arrangement. His advice has been most willingly and freely given, for which the Mail is most appreciative.

As a result of these suggestions, The Plymouth Mail now appears set entirely in seven and one-half point Ionic No. 5. The headings are set in upper and lower 36 point Ionic, the lower decks being in 12 point Antique and 12 point Italic. With the return of prosperity, whenever it arrives, The Mail plans to add a series of 18 and 6 point Ionic.

The Ionic No. 5 type face is a creation during recent years of The Mergenthaler Linotype company and it is regarded as one of the easiest reading types used in the newspaper business. The type designers of the Mergenthaler company in producing this type face designed it so that, it would take no more space than other type faces of the same size, but the letter is much larger and more easily read. The letters are full, round, clear and well proportioned. This type is being used in many of the best papers in the country. The Plymouth Mail is delighted to be one of the newspapers to have a new dress in Ionic type. We are sure our readers will rejoice over the change that has been made.

FAKING OFFICIALS

The discovery by Donald McGowan, one of the Lansing correspondents of The Detroit News, and a correspondent who ranks in efficiency with Gilbert Skilton, Frank Morris and some of the other outstanding writers of state affairs in Lansing, that Auditor General Stack had under the cover of darkness so to speak, been giving to the director of the sales tax commission a $2,000 check in addition to his regular pay check of $4,000, just adds another one of those things to the long list of cheating acts on the part of the auditor general's department. Holding himself up before the people of the state as "the watchdog of the treasury" with the assistance of an ex-convict, Auditor General John K. Stack is guilty of a bit of official "faking" that one has a perfect right to suspect from such a notorious misfit for public responsibilities as Stack has proven. It is needless to review the long list of acts on the part of this arrogant, conceited, selfish and totally unfit public official, but we do want to point out one that places him in the class of fakers.

Newspaper offices were sometime ago flooded with a tabulated statement from the office of Auditor General Stack which purported to show the decrease in state expenses under the present administration.

He made a set-up of alleged expenditures beginning with the administration of Governor Alex Groesbeck and comparing these expenditures under the administrations of Groesbeck, Fred W. Green, Wilbur M. Brucker and Gov. Comstock.

As we read down the list of salaries paid in the various departments under these four governors, we came to the set-up for the executive office.

Here we read that in July 1926, the payroll of the executive office under Gov. Groesbeck was $2,749.85. Under Governor Green it was $4,663.08. Under Governor Brucker the total was $5,250.13 and under Governor Comstock it was only $1,680.38.

The tremendous "decrease" of the Comstock regime under that of Governor Groesbeck, who was noted for his efficiency and economy in handling state affairs, in the expenditures of the executive office to one at all familiar with state affairs, could not help but attract attention.

Here it was, a decrease of over $1,000 per month under Comstock as compared to Groesbeck—and a decrease of many thousands more as compared to Governor Green and Governor Brucker.

But was there this decrease of $1,000 per month under Comstock as compared to the Groesbeck administration?

There WAS NOT!

Here is where a cheap bit of political faking that only one of Stack's caliber would attempt to get away with comes in.

Note carefully the cunning and trickery of the auditor general's office in the set-up.

Reading down the column of figures you come to another classification—that of pardons and paroles.

What did this "virgin" public official do to "cheat" the readers in this tabulation?

Why, everyone knows that the parole division of the state government is a part of the executive office.

In the tabulation of figures for Governor Groesbeck's office in July 1926 the total paid out for employees of both divisions of the governor's office was $2,749.85.

To make it appear that Governor Comstock's economy far exceeded that of Governor Groesbeck, the auditor general's office makes two set-ups for Comstock one for the executive office and the other for the pardons and paroles division. He includes the entire total for these two divisions under Governor Groesbeck but in the executive office today is run cheaper than under Governor Groesbeck, he makes two entirely separate expenditure funds. This made it possible for him to put the total of the executive office for Comstock at $1,680.38, which should have been $4,257.82 as compared to Groesbeck's $2,749.85.

What a mockery of decency!

If Auditor General Stack had any intention of being honest with the people of Michigan, why didn't he say that the total appropriation for the executive office under Governor Groesbeck for the year ending July 1, 1926 was $47,221. This includes the pardons and paroles division! If he was honest in his set-up he would have said that the total appropriation for the executive office, including the pardons and paroles office, under Governor Comstock for the year ending July 1, 1934 is $89,700, almost double the appropriation for the year he selected for comparative purposes.

But why should anyone expect anything decent, anything that has a semblance of truth or fairness to come from the office of the auditor general? A public official who will fire an old-time, honest and faithful non-partisan employe to create a place for a friend just released from a federal penitentiary, and give to his own daughter, a girl just out of high school and without the slightest training for office work a job with a salary much higher than that at one time paid important department officials, who will set aside the statutes of the state because timber land his company owns is about to be sold for delinquent taxes, we do not think is just the type to inspire the kind of confidence public officials should have in trying times like these.

RADIO NEWS

Ballyhoo artists of the radio have found what they think is an interesting diversion for radio listeners—the reading of news over the "air."

Possibly it is alright, but since hearing the broadcast a few nights ago of a news item pertaining to the senate investigation into the Fox film affair, we are convinced that news should not be given over the air, unless ALL of it is given. The broadcaster in his statement left the listeners with the idea that former President Hoover was in some way involved in the Fox-Wall street mess. News dispatches the next day told the story in complete detail and gave an entirely different picture than that which had been left in the minds of those that heard his statement. In brief Fox had sought the assistance of President Hoover who had in turn told him he didn't need any "intermediaries" to get justice and that all he had to do was lay the case before the department of justice. If his story was true. That is the extent to which the former President was involved in the Fox film case.

Mother's Club To Be Started Soon

Mrs. Richard Neale Says Much Good Can Come From Study

(By Mrs. Richard Neale)

When you tuck your youngster in bed each night, is it not with a desire to understand him better tomorrow? Such an understanding can be gained through a Mother's Club designed for thinking women who desire to study children's and parent's problems regarding their children from the standpoint of sound psychology.

A group of ladies recently met at the home of Mrs. Richard Neale in the interest of such a club. An interview with Supt. George Smith regarding a Child Study Club proved one of the most interesting. Further announcement will be made in the next Plymouth Mail of the program, the time and place of the first meeting.

The origin and progress of Pre-School Child Study will doubtless be of vital interest to you.

Unfortunately enough out of a great catastrophe has come the knowledge of the tremendous significance of what in recent years has proved to be of the greatest importance to our minds to the needs of early childhood. This scientific child study has been progressing for years, but it was not until the World War with all its physical and mentally unfit, did it dawn upon the world to what magnitude the situation had become. This discovery might "dot down" with our data on "benefits received therefrom."

The day is passed when the child is excused because he has inherited his mental and physical characteristics from his parents. Child Psychology has put into the hands of all intelligent people that information for guidance, and handling of young children, which has proved so beneficial.

Between the ages of two and three children are most impressionable and if exposed under the right conditions, at a favorable time they will respond to intelligent handling, unless some physical ailment retards their progress; then deeper research is necessary to determine the adjustment to his new surroundings.

Up to this age the emotional side of the child's life has been allowed to play a leading role almost to the exclusion of the intellectual. Instances heretofore parents have felt that a child was given them to fondle and spoil; little realizing the aftermath that was bound to come, but the World War checked them up suddenly at this point by refusing to accept our grown children, thus leaving us to face a situation we did not understand, but which, as we know, has happened in many another field, and came unto us in the form of a "crisis."

Almost half the men examined showed physical weakness, and 6 per cent were rejected. Most of these defects were traced to early childhood, and the majority of the first years. Children's Bureau had existed since 1909, but little progress was made until we were forced to face with these appalling figures, and were forced to delve into research laboratories. Out of this came the Pre-School Child Study with its health of knowledge and understanding, thus enabling us to feel we are really at the root of the evil.

Early home training and formation of good habits is a vital factor in a child's life. "The child should be allowed to learn through wholesome living and rich experience." The old adage, "A child should be seen and not heard," is of the dark ages. Fortunately through its passing has come to us the knowledge, and understanding of the value of the expression in the child's emotional life. This emotional side can scarcely be called a side for it surrounds him, permeates his whole being, and if not intelligently directed may engulf him.

Therefore, the needs of the child's environment must be fully understood, and intelligently directed for adjustment to life can be traced back to these early years.

The secret back of it all is the understanding of how to guide, and direct these "little" entering buds placed in our care. It is a wise mother who plans her life so that nothing interferes with the growth of her children. Her calm, sweet well balanced manner will have much to do with the man she is in the process of making. We talk much of adjustment, therefore why not prepare ourselves well for the task of giving to the world men and women worthy of peace?

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

WHILE BOME BURNS

It would be difficult to explain the government's delay in affording promised relief to distressed home owners. While Michigan is leading all other states in the number of loans granted, the total still remains pitifully small. The six months that have been devoted to organizing and getting started does not strike the average observer as necessary in the face of the pressing needs of so many of our citizens. Whenever complaint is made we are immediately assured everything is in readiness and that there will be no further delay. This was first heard three months ago, now we are hearing it again.

Home loans would absorb millions of dollars in frozen bank assets, put money directly into circulation among the people, two of the most essential things needed for recovery. Even bureaucratic Washington should understand the urgent need for speed in granting these loans—Adrian Van Koevering in The Zeeland Record.

THE PRICE OF LIQUOR

Some people are worrying more about the price of a quart of cratic than the price of a sack of flour—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican-News.

A BUM DEAL

Perched high on the top of the Empire State Building in New York, Al Smith looked out upon the world and mused: "What a sleepy old place it all is. People nodding, people drowsing, people slumbering. Why do they not awake! Guess we'll have to include a new plank in the Democratic platform next time—to commit the Party to use up-dated coffee, so that they'll cease nodding, drowsing, slumbering. Also, I favor the use of such coffee for painting battleships on the grounds that all is not caffeine-water that sustains fighting men o' war. Or women either." So mused the Brown Derby itself—

INDIVIDUALISM

Talk about individualism! There hasn't been much of it in this country in the last 25 years. That is why we landed where we are. But it is coming back. Men are going to stand up. Leaders are going to lead. Workingmen are not going to drool with gratitude for the chance to work on a dole. We shall look around and find America. And lo, we shall find that America has been there, waiting for us to come back to her all the time.—Wm. Klammer in The Dearborn Independent.

RECALLS UNIQUE BATTLE

A monument to a Civil War battle fought at Brownsville, Ore., six weeks after peace had been declared in the South was dedicated by civic clubs. Troops of the North and South engaged in the battle over occupation of lands. Word had not yet been received of the end of the war.

PUZZLES KEEP PRISONERS IN JAIL

Believing that jig-saw puzzles kill keep prisoners so occupied that they will not have time for breaks, Sheriff Chris P. Fox, of El Paso, Tex., has asked citizens to donate old puzzles. The sheriff explains that the jail is one place where the puzzlers can work without interruption from the usual kibitzers.

GASOLINE IN DRINKING WATER

When a pint of gasoline accidentally found its way into 300,000 gallons of drinking water at the Geneseo, Ill., water works, hundreds of families complained to the city.

task of giving to the world men and women worthy of peace? It is certainly in the parents, rather than lack of compliance in children, that we must look for light on the problem of authority at home. Leadership comes from inherited tendencies, and things must shift from a traditional to an experimental attitude towards life. If we are to help these little folks." # Postmaster Gets Ready For Rush

Tells How To Prepare Your Christmas Presents For Mailing

And what next? Why of course, it's Christmas—and it's "just around the corner." In fact it is so close at hand that Postmaster Bert Ghitt who seems to be working night and day to get everybody in Plymouth or around Plymouth to patronize Uncle Sam's place of business in town, is already issuing instructions as to just how to do and what to do in order to get your Christmas presents sent out so there will be no delay in their delivery.

Along with Postmaster Ghitt's urgent request to do your mailing early, he has made public a number of suggestions issued by Postmaster General Frazier about Christmas mailing. It is urged that these suggestions be followed closely.

During the holiday time the volume of mail increases approximately 200 per cent. It is a physical impossibility to handle this great mass of mail matter efficiently and promptly within a few days. Therefore, to assure delivery of their Christmas presents, cards, and letters by Christmas Day the public should SHOP and MAIL EARLY. Do your Christmas shopping so that you can mail your gifts, greetings, and letters to relatives, friends, and loved ones at least a week or 10 days before Christmas, according to the distance. This will not only make it certain that they are received before Christmas Day, but will be a great aid to your postal service and to postal employees and enable them to spend the Christmas holiday with their family.

All parcels must be securely wrapped or packed. Use strong paper and heavy twine.

Umbrellas, canes, golf sticks, should be reinforced their full length by strong strips of wood tightly wrapped and tied or otherwise sufficiently wrapped to withstand transportation.

Hats: Pack in strong corrugated or fiber-board boxes. Ordinary pasteboard hatboxes must be crated. Ladies' hats and stiff hats easily damaged should be marked "FRAGILE."

Shoes: Pack in strong boxes, preferably corrugated cardboard. Wrap with strong paper securely tied with heavy twine.

Cut flowers: Place in strong suitable boxes of wood, tin, or heavy corrugated cardboard. Wrap with tissue to retain moisture.

Candies: Enclose in strong outside boxes or containers.

Drawings, paintings, unmounted maps, etc.: Pack or wrap in strong material to avoid damage. When not flat, roll around a wooden core and then wrap and the carefully or place in strong pasteboard tube.

Sharp-pointed or sharp-edged instruments or tools must be wrapped in suitable material to prevent injury to clerks in handling or damage to other mail. Crates suitably or thoroughly wrapped so that they cannot cut through the wrapping.

Articles easily broken or crushed must be securely wrapped and crated or boxed. Use liberal quantities of excelsior, or like material, in, around, and between the articles and the outside container.

Glassware, fragile objects, or crockery must be packed so as to prevent the escape of particles or pieces if broken in transit.

Cigars: Ordinary boxes of cigars wrapped in paper only will not be accepted. Pack in a manner to prevent damage by shock or jar. Wrap in corrugated pasteboard or similar material. Cigars must be in good shipping condition.

All articles easily broken or damaged must be plainly marked "FRAGILE."

Parcels containing perishable articles should be marked "Perishable," and packed in suitable container, according to contents. Articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation and delivery will not be accepted for mailing. Use special-delivery stamps to expedite delivery.

Addresses should be complete, with house number and name of street, post-office box, or rural route number, and typed or plainly written in ink. A return card should be placed in the upper left corner of every piece of mail. If a tag is used, the address and return card should also be written on the wrapper for use if tag is lost, and a copy of the address should be enclosed inside the parcel. DO NOT MAIL CHRISTMAS GREETING CARDS IN RED, GREEN, OR OTHER DARK COLORED ENVELOPES OR IN VERY SMALL ENVELOPES.

Postage must be fully prepaid on all mail. Affix the required amount of postage in the upper right corner. Full information concerning postage rates can be obtained at the parcel-post stamp window.

No parcel may be more than 100 inches in length combined not exceed 70 pounds in weight.

CHURCH OF THE OPEN DOOR
Richard Neale, Pastor
Many Christians neglect the Old Testament. God means the Old Testament to be the foundation for the New. The New Testament is the Old concealed; the Old Testament is in the New revealed. Because of this, we invite you to study with us the Old Testament Book of Nehemiah.

Nehemiah led God's people to restore the broken walls and gates of Jerusalem. Through it were brought many sheep and lambs to be sacrificed as continuing reminders of Christ, the coming Lamb of God that "taketh away the sin of the world."

Next, the Fish Gate speaks to the Christians of our Lord's command "follow me and I will make you fishers of men."

Third, was the "Old Gate," which stood as a reminder of the old leaders in the church. The Lord who sought to do God's will, Jeremiah said to Israel, "Thus saith the Lord—ask for the old paths, where in the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls."

If you like to study the Word of God, bring your Bible and meet with us at any of our services listed below.

Sunday morning 10 a. m.—"Studies in Nehemiah." Sunday evening, 7:30—"Meaning of the Lord's Supper for Christians of Today." This will be a communion service.

Monday evening, 7:30—A regular meeting for all young people.

Wednesday, 7:30 p. m.—Bible Study. We shall begin a new book study.

Friday, 3:45 — Children's services. At 7:30 p. m. a Cottage Prayer meeting. Ask at the church house if you don't know where it will be.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The annual Thanksgiving service was held on Thursday morning at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Main and Dodge streets, with a large attendance. A feature of the occasion was the testimonies of thanksgiving for healings of sickness, sin and lack, through Christian Science, read briefly and in quick succession by members of the congregation. Mrs. Charles Root and Wilbur Holdsworth, readers of the local church, conducted the service.

The special Thanksgiving Lesson-Sermon read in Christian Science churches throughout the United States from the Bible and the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, contained this passage from James 1:12: "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him." Among the correlative passages from Science and Health was the following (p. 568): "What shall we say to the mighty conquest over all sin? A louder song, sweeter than he ever before reached high heaven, now rises clearer and nearer to the great heart of Christ, for the accused is not there, and Love sends forth her primal and everlasting strain."

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, November 26.

Among the Bible citations was this passage (Ezek. 12:6): "They have seen the vanity and lying divinations, saying, The Lord saith: and the Lord hath not sent them; and they have made others to hope that they would confirm the word."

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 80, 84): "Science dispels mystery and explains extraordinary phenomena; but Science never removes phenomena from the domain of reason into the realm of mysticism. When sufficiently advanced in Science to be in harmony with the truth of being, men become seers and prophets involuntarily, controlled not by demons, spirits, or demigods, but by the one Spirit."

THE SACRED OPERA

Handel's "The Messiah," which will be sung in the auditorium of the Plymouth High School Sunday evening, December 3, has been first produced in Dublin, Ireland in 1742. Handel himself directing. Handel took keen delight in staging the oratorio with scenery and complete costuming and often produced "The Messiah," this way. While he composed oratorio to take the place of opera as concert music, during the Lenten season "The Messiah" is often referred to as "the sacred opera," possibly because it was so often staged rather than being just sung.

We are told by history that Handel composed the Messiah in 24 days but it seems more than likely that this grand musical composition must have been thought out over a period of years and merely reduced to writing in 24 days.

Handel was a true born Hanoverian but lived such a great part of his life in England that he is classed as an English composer. His works took on the brightness of English melody and complete costuming and often produced "The Messiah," this way. The regular English service will be held Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Where are you going to spend Thanksgiving Day Morning? Certainly not in bed, sleeping away your gratefulness. Or at the kitchen stove preparing a feast for your family? Most assuredly, every Christian will spend at least ONE HOUR of the morning, from TEN o'clock to ELEVEN o'clock in church, giving thanks to His Lord and Savior for protection and preservation throughout the dismal hours of the recent past. How can you have a good conscience and with any kind of appetite, sit down to a Thanksgiving Dinner, especially THIS YEAR of all years, not having been to church FIRST to render your praises to your Lord? St. Paul says correctly: "We are bound to thank God always." Have we already forgotten the lesson as to where our ingratitude must lead us? COME, worship with us on Thanksgiving Day at TEN o'clock in the morning. CHURCH sit down with a good conscience to keep the Feast of Thanksgiving.

Mite Boxes have been placed into the hands of every contributor or of our congregation for Christmas offering. Use the mite box daily by placing some coin into it every morning or evening. Before you realize, the box will be full and in this way you will be able to have at least that much more to be recorded on the annual report.

THE SACRED OPERA

Handel's "The Messiah," which will be sung in the auditorium of the Plymouth High School Sunday evening, December 3, has been first produced in Dublin, Ireland in 1742. Handel himself directing. Handel took keen delight in staging the oratorio with scenery and complete costuming and often produced "The Messiah," this way. While he composed oratorio to take the place of opera as concert music, during the Lenten season "The Messiah" is often referred to as "the sacred opera," possibly because it was so often staged rather than being just sung.

Days Of Wild Cat Auto Dealer Over

All Plymouth Garages Have Signed Under Used Car Code

"Shopping days" for automobile buyers of Plymouth and vicinity are over.

No longer will they be able to drive their old "Lizzie" into one garage and get a trade-in price on it, then drive over to some other garage and tell the dealer that he has been offered so much for his car and if he can raise it, he will buy from him.

There will be no "raising" of prices on used cars any more. The new code for automobile dealers became effective November 30 and from now on there will be a uniform price for all used cars.

All dealers in Plymouth, Northville, Detroit and elsewhere will offer the same price on all used cars. The uniform price is required under the code agreement that has been approved by the government.

Charles Deland, former secretary of state of Michigan, has been secured as the state administrator of the code and has opened offices in the Dime Savings bank in Detroit.

Mr. Deland through the many years of excellent service given to the state and especially in connection with the automobile division of that office, is regarded as one of the best equipped men in Michigan to handle this important work.

High allowances will no longer be permitted in order to get the business.

Hereafter just one book will have any influence in completing used car deals. This book is the Official Used Car Guide of the National Automobile Dealers Association. During the past two weeks its distribution to dealers throughout the country has been speeded from the St. Louis headquarters of the N.A.D.A.

This official guide provided for in the Motor Vehicle Retailing Trade Code, beginning Nov. 30 will be the only manual guiding the retail dealers in determining the maximum allowances which can be paid to the owners of used cars taken in trade of new cars or other used vehicles. The prices fixed in the manual are determined from the reports of the dealers in this territory, as furnished to the N.A.D.A. headquarters and averaged. The book figures will be revised every two months.

The code of the retail dealers requires that the lowest 20 per cent of the retail cost cannot be considered in determining the average prices, in order to compensate dealers for cars in bad condition. The code further requires that dealers in making allowances on used cars must make certain deductions from the average market price to cover overhead, selling expense, and reconditioning. On all current models and the preceding models not less than five per cent must be deducted, while on the fourth model and all models antedating these a deduction of not less than 15 per cent is required.

Women live longer than men—they're bound to have the last word.

Former Resident Robbed At Wayne

Youths Who Took Cash From Harmon Kingsley Are Now In Jail

Plymouth friends of Harmon Kingsley, a former resident of this city, will be interested in the following article taken from the last issue of the Wayne Review, which tells of a recent robbery of his store:

Two youths, who held up Harmon Kingsley, proprietor of the Household Appliance Shop, last Friday night, and escaped with $39 were captured less than an hour later by state troopers after a description of the two had been broadcast over the state police radio. Both were identified later by Kingsley while one of the two was also identified by Mrs. Emma Wilson who was in the shop at the time of the holdup.

The two youths, who later gave their names as William Ryan, 19, Detroit, and Thomas L. Cawtel, 21, Romulus, entered the Household Appliance shop at 10 p. m. and asked to see some radios. As Kingsley offered to demonstrate a model one of the "customers" ordered him to stick up his hands because "this is a stickup." Both customers displayed guns.

As Kingsley complied and handed over a total of $39 which he carried in his pocket, he said in a loud voice, "I've got everything I've got," a ruse which warned Mrs. Kingsley and her companion, Mrs. Emma Wilson, who were in back room. Mrs. Wilson started to enter the shop and as she did so the robbers, who were in the act of trussing up Kingsley with binder twine, fled, stopping only long enough to pick up a rifle belonging to Gerald Kingsley son of the proprietor. Kingsley immediately reported the holdup to the Wayne police and Chief Larry Knox promptly had a description of the two holdup men broadcast over the state police station. Troopers Hoadley and Flynn of the Ypsilanti Post received the call near Ypsilanti and immediately set out for Wayne via Ecorse road. At Ecorse Road and Cogswell Road, the troopers came upon a car which was stuck in the mud at the entrance to a field. A farmer was helping the occupants extricate the car.

The car and the occupants talked with the description they had been broadcast. Consequently they were brought to Wayne. The money was found on their persons while the rifle was found in the back of the car. Kingsley identified both Ryan and Cawtel while Mrs. Wilson identified Ryan. She said that she had seen only one of the holdup men during the holdup.

Later Chief Knox and Trooper Hoadley returned to the place where the car had been stuck in the field and in the snow nearby recovered the pistols which had been used in the holdup. Ryan and Cawtel were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Italy Vining Wednesday. They pleaded not guilty and on waiting examination were bound over to Circuit Court for trial. Bond was set at $10,000 each and was not furnished.

Hunters Return With Their Kill

Others Back With Long Explanations For No Deer

Deer hunters are nearly all back home from the northlands, some with deer, others with no deer and many with untold stories of buck fever. Floyd Kerhl, a convert of recent years to deer hunting, is back from the Upper Peninsula with a nice big buck. As patrons flow into the First National bank they all flow out with one of the finest stories of deer hunting you ever heard of. Myron Mawhorter only went up to his fishing cabin near Baldwin to get his deer.

"We built a fire in the afternoon when we got there, cleaned up the cottage, then got something to eat and spent the evening getting ready to go out in the morning and get our deer. Well, morning came and we hadn't gone but a few steps before out jumped a big buck. I says we'll let him go because there are lots of other bucks around here," said Myron. "Well it wasn't long before another ran out of the brush, stopped and looked at us and I banged away. That's all there is to my deer story and we will have venison most of the winter at my house."

Forest Gorton, well known Plymouth city mail carrier, is back from the Upper Peninsula with a 150 pound deer. He hunted some 30 miles south of Sault Ste. Marie. Several native French Indians are reported not yet fully recuperated as the result of endeavoring to keep up with Gorton as he tore down through the slashings after his deer. He hunted near Barbeau.

Henry Baker not only brought home a nice deer, but a fox as well. Attorney John Crandall was up near Curran in Alcona county and he brought home with him an eight point buck that weighed 110 pounds dressed. Russell Powell is having mounted the coyote he brought home with him as his trophy from an Upper Peninsula hunting trip.

Other hunters have returned, but have not yet made known the results of their northward trips.

Worrying is so bad that some folks let their creditors do all of it.

The less a man knows, the longer it takes him to tell it. Ideal husbands hang things up, others don't give a hang.

"Mother, may I go out to swim?" "Yes, my dearest daughter, but hang some clothes upon your limbs, or else stay under water."

by the CWA commission must be those not applied for under Title II of the National Industrial Recovery Act, according to Section 6 of Bulletin 1 of the Federal Civil Works Administration Rules and Regulation. These six items formed the basis on which Commissioners Fitzgerald, Siedenburgh and Whipple approved or disapproved of projects for Wayne county.

Each community is supposed to put all of its own welfare men to work on its own projects as soon as possible; each community is also expected to purchase all supplies possible from its own local merchants. However, the Wayne county CWA commission will keep in close contact with the progress of each project through the proper accounting checks, and through inspection of the work done. To carry out this part of the program the Wayne county CWA commission has appointed John Ballenger, administrator for Wayne county; Wm. Markley, deputy administrator for Detroit; L. P. Cookingham, deputy administrator for out-county; and Ben Tobin, chief accountant. The accounting department is located at 555 Clinton street, Detroit, and the out-county office at 667 E. Jefferson avenue. With this administrative set-up and with a commission of the calibre of Mr. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Whipple, and Mr. Siedenburgh, CWA funds in Wayne county should be administered honestly and fairly.

Senior Prom Set For Dec. 15.

It's only a little more than three weeks till Christmas and only two weeks till the Senior Prom. The Prom is two months earlier this year than it has been in previous years, because so many activities are being crowded into the second semester. As it is so close to Christmas, that theme is being carried out in the decorations, and as the plans are being elaborated, the seniors are working faster and longer after school hours to complete them. The music will be furnished by Happy Hatlem who is new in town having just come from Wisconsin. The admission will be the same as last year, $1.50, and dancing will begin at 9:30 and will end at 1:00. The following people head committees: Coraline Rathburn, decoration; Delite Taylor, music; Mary Mettetal, invitations and programs; Marvin Partridge, publicity; Mildred Maul, refreshments; Donald Moore, wiring, lighting, and construction; and Wilbur Kincaid, floor, with Jane Whipple as general chairman of the event.

One little empty seat we see.
One little voice we do not hear.
As we repeat our morning prayer
All remind us he is not near.

One little boy we loved to choose
One little hand we used to see
As it was raised to ask if he Could captain or leader be.

One little smile we look for too.
One little heart we learned to love
Has beautifully answered the Call of Him.

Who chose the leaders far above.

EDITORIAL Why Hobbies Are Needed

Because of our social changes in industry, in the business world, and in the home such as short-cut hours, more modern conveniences which take less time to operate, and a much shorter working day, there has been much more leisure time for the common individual than there was a few years ago. This leisure time has to be taken up in some way in order to have the people contented and happy. For if a person has a great amount of leisure time with nothing of interest to do, he is apt to fall into some mode of life which is unfit for any American citizen. This would be the wrong use of leisure time and what has to be developed now is the right use.

There are a great many right uses of leisure time but the one of greatest importance is hobbies. This takes in a great many things but not everyone has a hobby or has ever been trained or taught how to start or carry on a hobby, but now because of the social changes that are giving more people leisure time, hobbies are becoming a necessity. There are a number of agencies in hobby training, the most important one being the school where training is first started through the school clubs which develop certain arts. There are others in this community which carry on the development after graduation such as clubs, lodges, teams, churches and other organizations. These agencies have not always been functioning to such an extent as they do now and they will have to be broadened to an even greater extent in the future in order to meet with the great social changes that have brought about by the "New Deal."

A Letter From A C. C. C. Boy

The following gives an interesting account of a day in camp.

Lost Pine Camp
Nov. 19, 1933

Dear Miss Allen:

I read Lester's letter in the Plymouth Mail yesterday and was pleased to hear he was getting along all right and that he was fortunate in being sent to a good camp. At Custer we were split up. Elmer Horvath, Denzel Kisebath and I were sentenced to Raco, while Lester, Kelly and Fritz Riegan were left behind to be sent to Alba later.

Lost Pine Camp is reputed to be the worst camp in the upper peninsula, if not the whole state of Michigan. There have been one hundred and twenty deserters from this camp; practically all of them are now in the hands of fellows with homes in the Soo. Raco, or Brimly. We arrived in Raco Friday the thirteenth and were assigned to tent thirteen. We have had no water to bathe in since the water pipe froze up and burst three and half weeks ago. Water for cooking and drinking purposes is hauled from the ranger station a half mile away. We wash our hands and faces in snow when we can't smudge water from the kitchen.

We have about two feet of snow and in some places it is drifted as deep as four feet. A blizzard means nothing to us; we worked through two days when the snow was swirling wind and you couldn't see more than sixty yards. Erwin Foster is stationed at Newbury which is about forty miles from here. I'm going to try and get a pass next week-end to visit him.

I will give you a synopsis of our daily routine as nearly as possible to show the beauty, or what have you, of the life in the C.C.C.'s.

Whistle blows at 9:30. Lights out, and so to bed. The cots are frozen on two sides to the tent. If you touch the tent it will leak and you can't get in bed without touching it. We manage to keep almost warm under five blankets, a slicker, an overcoat, a sleeveless jacket, a blue jacket and a pair of socks.

The whistle blows at 5:40 and you "pile out." The inside of the tent is covered with frost, and we have ten minutes to put on our cold damp clothes and get out in line for roll-call. After roll-call we have till 6:30 to finish dressing, build a fire, make up our bunks and wash or breakfast. At 6:30 we stand in the "soup line." After breakfast we wash our mess kits, and freeze our fingers walking back to the tents. At 7:30 we line up for our lunch, one jam, one cheese, and one bologna sandwich. Then we pile on trucks and ride four or five miles to work. We quit at 3:30, have mess call at 4:30 and it gets dark at 5:00. We have our wood to cut and sometimes other work to do and, perhaps, time to start a letter and it's 8:30 again. The work is divided into various details; a camp detail cuts wood for the kitchen orderly tent, hospital tent, and supply tent. Another crew brings them the wood.

Ray Trimble—"Football Hero"

In his third year on the football team Ray Trimble is following closely in the footsteps of his brother. Kept from competition most of last season because of injuries, Ray returned this year as center and is rated by the sports staff of this paper as one of the team's best reasons for its record. The ideal of sportsmanship, Ray has never been known to intentionally play any game unfairly. Remembered as a "Mills Brother" in Stunt Night last year for to put away our chemistry books and reach for our Latin or bookkeeping presented itself. To solve this a horn used for basket ball games was taken out of these reasons that he has been given the title of "Plymouth High's Best Sport."

Always a lover of fun, he can see the bright side of any situation no matter how dark it is for those reasons that he has been given the title of "Plymouth High's Best Sport."

If you had looked into the office on the first floor last Thursday you might have seen numerous wires, dials, balls, cog wheels, and other gadgets piled high against the walls of the room. What was the cause of it all? Well, it seems that for the two preceding days students had been "typed" and over rewarded for their clockwork in making the master electric clock in the superintendent's office.

Now the problem of informing our dear students that it was time to do their chemistry books and reach for our Latin or bookkeeping presented itself. To solve this a horn used for basket ball games was taken out of these reasons that he has been given the title of "Plymouth High's Best Sport."

Of course any innovation such as this make us dear pupils quite excited and from all sides the buzz of gossip started. Soon many of the frightened (?) ones began to think up wise sayings about said horn. "That's a blow," "Who's afraid of the Big Bad Horn," and others made life not so pleasant for the teachers. Some one even went so far as to call Mr. Evans "Gabriel."

What is meant by the term convez?

Ans. Prisoners.

There is still a part of land and sea in the North which is uncharted and unmapped. The British Navy's survey ship the Challenger, recently returned from Labrador, where for several months she sailed among the hidden rocks and ice floes, making the first detailed survey of the least known and most perilous coast of the world. Only four months of the year are available for such work, and it will take ten years to get even one safe trade route mapped along this coast. The whole job is expected to take about 50 years. More than three thousand soundings are taken every day the ship is in operation, and everyone is recorded accurately. At the same time the configuration and elevation of the coast is figured by triangulation.

The Life of a Black Kitten

Belva Barnes 7B

Blackie was born at the City Hall about a year ago. As the Chief of Police was fond of cats he took Blackie home with him. Blackie had sleek, short black fur and was very smart. Our cat Tom, has brownish black angora fur and is about a year and a half older than Blackie.

One day Blackie came over our house. He was a little frightened at first by the strange surroundings but he soon got over it and began to play with our cat. They ran and jumped on each other, rolled over and turned somersaults. When our cat was tired he got cross and Blackie knew that it was time to go home. Almost every day Blackie came to play with Tom. One day the little boy next door took Blackie home but Blackie didn't want to go home so he beat the boy back. When Blackie came to play with Tom, before he even looked at Tom he had to go in the house.

Detroit Y.W. May Cut Plymouth G. R.'s.

Members of the community will be interested in knowing that Miss Stille, a Girl Reserve secretary, and Miss Anderson, associate general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. were here Friday, November 10, on behalf of the Detroit Community Union which has cut the city Y budget drastically and has eliminated all constructive work from their program except what concerns the city proper, thus eliminating all work in suburban areas. The Girl Reserve secretaries are trying to keep the Girl Reserve work on the same plane as formerly, feeling that the Reserve is tremendously important.

The Detroit Y.W.C.A. feels that Plymouth and other suburban communities should share the expense if they are to enjoy the use of the Y.W.C.A. building for interclub meetings, ring meetings, work on valuable projects where girls from different communities meet and discuss various activities. The advisers from Detroit have been giving material which has proved to be valuable, and they have come to Plymouth to give guidance talks, program help, and other personal contacts. The Birmingham group with the help of the women's clubs and churches is raising $80 to help pay for their part of the work and Plymouth has been asked to pay as much as possible towards this cause or to share their relation with the Detroit branch, therefore losing most of the material which has been so central to work wholly confined to a local group and its standards.

The local group has asked for an estimate of their cost to the central Y. W. and is hoping for suggestions for raising the expense from the girls, their mothers, and the town women interested in girls' character clubs.

Tropical Fish

Arlene Soth

My sister has several kinds of tropical fish. They are very interesting to me. She has guppies, moonfish, swordtails, seaclears, and some others.

About every two weeks there are some new guppies. There are from five to fifty hatched at one time. When they are hatched they must be separated from the other fish, so they won't be eaten. The moonfish look just like goldfish to me except that they are white with colored spots on their sides.

The swordtails are about the same as guppies. They have a very small body and quite large tail. The swordtail's tail is very pointed, resembling a sword. When any of these get sick you put a small drop of mercurchrome into the fish bowl, or aquarium with them.

The seaclears are a very funny looking fish. They are rather thin or flat with large outspreading fins. They are white with small black dots. Very little is known about this fish.

Tropical fish must have a tropical fish food, but you feed a bowlful of fish a tiny bit on the end of a toothpick. You should feed them once a day, but that is really too often. You should keep the water in the bowl at a certain temperature. You must let the water stand in some other dish or bowl for several days because you cannot put fresh water in the aquarium. You also must have gravel or sea weeds in with the fish.

In spite of the work this is a very delightful hobby. One pair of tropical fish have been known to cost forty-five dollars.

IMPROVED SUPER SHELL

Saves You 200 Extra Miles In Winter —and Gives Quicker Starting

Here's real news for you motorists! Super Shell is improved again!

Some ordinary gasolines are overloaded for quick starting in cold weather, with light, gassy parts, which you lose after your engine warms up, thereby reducing your mileage. Other ordinary gasolines are hard to start, and waste your fuel by excessive choking and, therefore, they, too, reduce your mileage.

The improved Super Shell, by Shell's new and exclusive reforming process, gives you quicker starting on the coldest day in winter, and saves, for extra mileage, the gasoline you formerly wasted in starting. Try a tankful.

THOUSANDS CHANGING TO SUPER SHELL... Like Mr. Remms, Cleveland, shown above, many thousands of motorists everywhere have changed to the improved Super Shell. All because Super Shell is the first gasoline to combine quick starting with full mileage. No need for you to waste one mile or more per gallon in cold weather. No need to be bothered with a hard-starting engine. Change to Super Shell—get the quickest starting you've ever known, plus longer mileage.

The Proof Of The Pudding

Steamed Pineapple Pudding

Sift together one and one-half cups of flour, three teaspoons baking powder, and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Add three-fourths cup liquid consisting of the syrup of one eight-ounce can of crushed pineapple and sufficient water to make the required amount. Add two tablespoons melted butter. Beat two egg whites stiff, add three tablepoons sugar and fold into the batter. Fill individual buttered molds half full of the batter and add one table- spoon crushed pineapple to each, then cover with the remaining batter. Steam thirty minutes. This recipe makes from six to eight molds depending on their size. Serve with the following:
Sauce: Mix one-half cup sugar with two teaspoons flour and add one and one-third cups water or use part pineapple juice. Add juice of one-half lemon and boil until proper consistency.

Butterscotch Pudding
Four tablepoons corn starch, one cup water, one cup evaporated milk, one tablepoon butter, one cup brown sugar, dash of salt, one teaspoon vanilla. Mix cornstarch with one-fourth cup water. Scald remaining milk and water. Melt butter, add sugar and cook until sugar melts, stirring constantly. Add slowly to hot milk, stirring until well blended. Add cornstarch mixture and stir until thickened. After that stir only occasionally, while cooking twenty minutes. Add flavoring and pour into molds to cool.

Rich Rice Pudding
One-half cup rice, four cups milk, one-third cup molasses, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one table- spoon butter.
Wash the rice, combine ingredi- ents except butter and pour into a greased baking dish. Bake three hours in a slow oven, stirring three times during the first hour to prevent rice from settling. At the last stirring add one-half cup raisins and the butter.

To three cups of crumbs add enough hot water to soften. Add one cup of sweet milk and heat well. Beat the yolk of one large egg and add to the mixture. Thicken on top of the stove stir- ring constantly. Then place in a baking dish and cover with mar- inole. Brown lightly in oven. Nut meats, raisins and cocoanut, if not already in the cake add to the flavor.

Banana Float
Two large bananas, one cup of sweet milk, three-quarters cup of sugar, heaping tablepoon of but- ter and one of flour, one egg.

Cream butter and flour, add gradually well beaten egg, then milk. Cook over slow fire stirring constantly until it begins to thicken, then pour the boiling custard over sliced bananas. Any fruit or flavor can be substituted for bananas. The peel of an orange grated and its juice makes deli- cious "orange float." This, how- ever, should be cooked in the custard.

Social Centers Visited By Club

Tour Of Hamtramck And Detroit Centers One Of Pleasure

Last Friday's meeting of the Woman's Club of Plymouth will long stand out as a most import- ant and pleasing event in the club's history in the minds of the fifty members who spent the af- ternoon in Detroit as the guests of three of the representative Community Houses of the metro- politan area.

The first visit was at the Tau Beta Community House in Ham- tramck. This center is located in the heart of the Polish settle- ment and constitutes the social center of the locality as well as giving help to the people of that vicinity. An average of 750 peo- ple pass through its doors every specific season each day and many more gather there for mere- ly social reasons.

Two gracious young women acted as hostesses to the club members and conducted them from room to room of the build- ings, telling of the activities con- ducted in each and answering the eager questions of the visitors.

On entering the main building, one finds themselves in a cheer- ful, spacious lobby. Here is the service desk and on one side of the room are glass cases filled with specimens of the beautiful pottery and hand-work produced by the members of the club, and many of the cups and trophies won in the athletic de- partments.

A large, well equipped gymna- sium and a billiard room opened up next to the lobby. Here a large group of young men were enjoy- ing the privileges of both rooms. A large auditorium on the same floor is used, we were told, for many purposes each week. Here are held luncheons, banquets, plays, debates, etc. for both the community center and for various outside groups—several differ- ent functions being staged here in a single day very often. One young man who had grown up as a member of the center and who like many others is now out on a regular job is allowed to use any room available at the time as a sort of itinerant barber shop where he serves his friends at ten cents a head, or less if necessary.

The second floor of this build- ing contains the sewing rooms. Here groups of women, under the supervision of a teacher, are busy on dresses and other gar- ments which were being made from materials furnished by the American Red Cross and which would be distributed where most needed. Here also were splendid domestic science kitchens and a well furnished model flat of four rooms where prospective home makers and the general public of the neighborhood are taught the art of providing happier homes for their families. Young men as well as young women come here for advice and help in preparing their homes. Across the street is the day nursery where the moth- ers who work can bring their babies to be cared for by nurses during the day. The babies are bathed, fed, given their naps, and cared for in every way and the children of school age are taken care of both before and after school, thus giving the mothers every chance to help in providing for them.

The city officials of Hamtramck and the manufacturers and busi- ness men of the neighborhood show their interest in the project by giving any aid they possibly can.

The second visit was at the Dodge Community House where a similar service is rendered that community, although no day nursery is maintained here. Both houses have been completely abandoned their extensive clinics on account of the lack of funds dur- ing the depression.

The final visit for the afternoon was at "International House," on East Grand Boulevard. Here the visitors were most cordially wel- come by Mrs. Alvord, the sec- retary in charge, and taken to the beautiful large reception hall on the second floor. They were here presented to several other members of the board and a num- ber of the splendid young women of different nationalities who help in carrying on the activities of International House. Mrs. Alvord explained how the work originated years ago when the Y. W. C. A. began in 1919 to give aid to all new foreigners who came to them through the travel bureaus and the Y. W.'s in the port cities. Here they were taken in charge by people who could speak and understand their languages and who could take care of their prob- lems in an understanding way, making them feel secure in a strange land where confusion sur- rounded them. Classes were form- ed where they could learn our language and our ways under in- structors from their own lands and where they could have a meeting place of pleasant sur- roundings.

After several young women of the different nationalities had explained the work they were doing for their people, a delightful tea was served from a most at- tractive table which was covered with a beautiful lace cover and centered with a large bowl of yellow baby mums. Tall yellow tapers lighted the table.

debited to Mrs. Claud Dykhouse and her committee for the en- joyable afternoon.
The next meeting of the club will be on Dec. 15th when the annual Christmas party will be held in the crystal dining room of the Hotel Mayflower.
Mrs. Byron B. Murray of the Merrill-Palmer school, Detroit, will entertain with an address, "The Road to Childhood Har- piness." Mrs. P. R. Hoheisel, Mrs. H. P. Adams, Miss Mabel Spicer, Mrs. R. P. Lorenz, Mrs. Russell Roe, and Mrs. Luther Peck are the committee for the day.
The class in Parliamentary Law, with Mrs. Ruth Whipple in charge, will meet at 1:45 p. m. on that day.
