Business Much Better In Most Parts Of Nation

Plymouth Industries As Well As Local Business
Men Note Increase

Leaders Believe That Good Times Are Now
Here To Stay — NRA
Gets Some Credit

Business is better. Business is going to get better. Plymouth business men had an indication of improved conditions during the past week or ten days. Not only is the government's program helping, but the Daisy and other local industries are doing a better business than a year ago. They report a good outlook for next year. From the NRA officials in Washington comes the same optimistic report. To increase newspaper advertising is another prominent part in the widespread upturn in business, according to a survey conducted by the magazine Editor and Publisher. Improvement in the attitude of the great masses, which are more hopeful than they were a year ago and NRA is credited with contributing to the revived tone.

An Omaha publisher cited the case of one of his State's largest department stores which used the power of advertising in a single day and "made the largest unit sales in its 52 years of existence." From New York, where the trend was described as definitely up, there was said to be "an increasing success of quality of offers."

Millwright observers were optimistic in that city were reported as employing 45 per cent more persons and paying 61 per cent more wages than a year ago. Its three largest industries reported "broke all records for sales transactions on single days late in October."

New automobile sales of the last 3 months of the year were reported as being 10 per cent above all reporting regions. Retail stores in Des Moines, Iowa, were reported to show a large gain over last year, as large as those of St. Louis and Kansas City. A leading hardware concern in the latter city showed an 80 per cent increase in sales in the last 3 months of the year. In the great dairy section centering in Sheboygan, Wis., a visible business upturn is noted through increased milk prices. This report asserts that the masses are hopeful and pin their faith in Roosevelt and the NRA.

The report from Wichita, summed up the situation for Kansas in one word—hopeful. It added: "The NRA and other Federal programs have tremendously increased the business of the State. Optimism was reported from the Northwest and along the Pacific coast and the survey continues, encouraging. There has been heavy news from Texas, Oklahoma and other States, and particularly Texas, Oklahoma, and other States, and particularly from the Southwest."

Real enthusiasm marked the reports from the South. "Optimism has completely returned to the South," said the report from Miami, Fla., reported that "every hotel shows gains of from 25 to 45 percent in the number of guests" and transportation companies there had "extraordinary heavy advance bookings for the winter months." The Florida newspaper reported an increase in November of 17 percent in its local advertising and 36 percent in national advertising. Richmond, Va., reported a retail business increase of 8.2 percent in October over the corresponding period last year.

Presentation Of The "Messiah" Delights Local Music Lovers

The "Messiah" was rendered Sunday evening, December 17, in the high school auditorium by the musical talent from Plymouth and surrounding communities under the direction of Miss Margaret Henry. The program of music in Plymouth public schools, assisted by the following soloists: Mrs. Edna O'Connor, soprano; Plymouth High School, alto; Miss Helen Phillips, pianist; First Church of Christ Scientist, Ann Arbor; Emmett Lieb, tenor soloist at Cranbrook School; and Charles Fulton, Plymouth High School, bass. The program was accompanied by Miss Zaratina Penney at the piano. The production was clearly outstanding being one of the most inspirational and excellent evenings of music that Plymouth has ever enjoyed. The voices in the choruses blended harmoniously as everyone, of course, would expect with the splendid voices which were assembled therein.

The orchestra which joined with Miss Penney in the accompaniment consisted of the outstanding musicians in the area of Plymouth assisted by musicians from Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor. The appreciation of Plymouth for the better things in music was distinctly shown by the fact that more than seven hundred people enjoyed the employment of this splendid undertaking.

A CHRISTMAS PRAYER

It is with profound gratitude in our hearts we behold this, another Christmas day. Gratitude not for riches, fame or power attained, but, the glorious sun by day that warms our hearts toward all humanity. For the heavenly canopy of night, studded with matchless gems, which brings peace and rest to tired and weary souls—for the flowers and birds—for little children, and little children yet unborn, for the spirit of "Peace on earth, good will toward men"—for the King of Kings, and Lord of Lords—our Christ. Amen.

Sidney Strong To Be Honored

Scout Organization To Recognize Work He Has Done

There are but five of these awards made each year, and it has just become known that Mr. Strong is one of the fortunate ones to be honored in the near future.

The exact date of the banquet which will be held at the club has not yet been fixed, but it will be early in the new year. Scout officials will confer on him the rank of Beaver, one of the highest of scout honors. This will be a community gathering and it is hoped that a large number of parents and friends will be present.

Open New Bridge On Six Mile Road

Grade Crossing At Same Place Will Soon Be Abolished

The Six Mile road which has been torn up for a distance of nearly half a mile at the intersection of the Plymouth - Northville road, has now been opened under the Pere Marquette tracks and over the new bridge that has been constructed to take the place of the old one over Rouge river and the parkway road.

While the paving has not been completed over the park bridge, the filling has been graded and gravelled for winter automobile use. Opening of the bridge to travel again with the only detour that has existed in the entire parkway system. Peculiar conditions at the place made the old detour a difficult one, although not impossible to travel at slow speed.

It is the intention of the county highway officials to take over the new bridge next spring, but just how far west on the Six Mile road the paving will end, is not known.

The completion of the work at this point, which has been so long and so tedious and the clean up completed, will make the spot one of the most interesting in the entire park system. A large flowing spring just to the north of the bridge makes possible some beautiful landscaping that is not possible at any other point in the park. The solution is found in the grading about the bridge will be completed during favorable weather this winter. The old grade crossing of the Pere Marquette tracks at this point will probably be closed within the next few weeks.

Schools Close For Holidays

Much Work To Be Done About Buildings In
Next Two Weeks

This Friday night will find teachers and pupils hustling to their Christmas locations in anticipation of a very happy holiday season. Christmas this year for the boys and girls will probably be happier than it has been in the last four years because practically all of the parents are at work. And that's "muff said," because labor on the part of the parents always makes Santa Claus more generous than in depression years.

During the short vacation the CWA workers will be very busy painting, repairing, and improving Plymouth school buildings and grounds. Everyone seems to be catching the spirit of Christmas and preparing to enter into the joy of the holidays. School will resume Tuesday, January 2.

LIQUOR LAW ANNULS CHARTER CLAUSE

City Attorney As Well As
Attorney General's Office Gives Ruling

Effort Being Made To Establish Liquor Store
Here — Central Location
Of City Helps.

Michigan's new liquor law has annulled the provision in Plymouth's charter which prevented the sale of liquor in this city. The decision was made public at a meeting of the city commission Wednesday afternoon. The decision of Attorney Emery has been confirmed by Prosecuting Attorney Harry S. Toy, the attorney general's office in Lansing, and the opinion of numerous other city attorneys where similar provisions existed in city charters.

The decision was made public at a meeting of the city commission Wednesday afternoon. Mayor Freeman Hoyer immediately instructed Chief of Police Vaughn Smith to advise the holders of beer licenses in Plymouth that they could sell beer of alcoholic content up to 16 per cent as provided in the state law and wine of the same strength.

City officials stated that they greatly appreciated the cooperation that had been given by local stammer drinks, there was nothing else for Plymouth officials to do than abide by the action of the state legislature. The state legislature by the act it passed made it quite clear that it intended to abolish all local restrictions. The act in addition to repealing all state laws on the subject also included all local regulations and ordinances.

Local authorities, declared the city attorney, have nothing to say on the liquor question except on the one point of whether intoxicating liquors should be sold within the community. As there has been no question raised on this point no action has been taken.

It is stated that some of the well known Democratic leaders of Plymouth are making an effort to have a liquor store established in this city. When they point out that this would be a better place for the store than any other locality.

Hold Services In Own Church

Father LeFevre Announces
Services In The Old Home

Anniversaries bring with them memories, either sad, or happy, according to the event that has taken place. Seldom does an anniversary bring with it sad and happy memories combined, but this is our lot on this occasion. It is now just one year that some miscreant desecrated God's house at the Catholic church, of Our Lady of Good Counsel to become a prey to smoke and ashes. A sad Christmas indeed for the Pastor and his flock, but today we are thankful to the Christ child for His blessings and again will we return to our church in order to celebrate the birthday of our Lord. The real meaning of Christmas, the story of love, sacrifice, redemption and salvation.

These past years have been trying, but the solution has been offered the public to elevate mankind from the state of depression, some have given temporary relief, others have failed. A man made depression, coming as it were at the zenith of our achievement, hence are we at a loss to undo the entanglements of the past. The solution is found in the practice of the immutable truths announced by the Christ child centuries ago, proclaimed by His living voice of today. The church where we find the virtues immortalized; the vices condemned; the finite limited; the infinite unlimited punishment meted out according to the merit, conscience guarded by tenderness, sinwarded off by prayer.

Christmas this year for the boys and girls will probably be happier than it has been in the last four years because practically all of the parents are at work. And that's "muff said," because labor on the part of the parents always makes Santa Claus more generous than in depression years.

During the short vacation the CWA workers will be very busy painting, repairing, and improving Plymouth school buildings and grounds. Everyone seems to be catching the spirit of Christmas and preparing to enter into the joy of the holidays. School will resume Tuesday, January 2.

Annual Christmas Party Of Daisy Company One Of Happiest For Employees

New Year Holds Promise
Of Better Conditions
Declares President
Bennett In Address

Christmas, with all its glad tidings, its happy spirit and merry songs, was celebrated Tuesday night at the annual Christmas party of the Daisy family held at the Pennington-Albert Hotel.

The 250 employees of the great Daisy Manufacturing company and members of their family, all guests of the Daisy Manufacturing company, filled the theatre to its capacity. For two hours and more these hundreds of people thoroughly enjoyed one of the most delightful parties the company ever held.

This year it was so arranged that every employee took home a Christmas present, turkeys, Christmas baskets, and all the other things that go to make a wonderful Christmas dinner. But probably the best present of all to these workers who have found little employment during the long years of the depression and the workers of any other industry in Michigan came when President Charles Bennett of the Daisy company declared that it was his belief business during 1934 would be better than for several years past.

"Business is getting better, there is no question about that," he said. And when business for the Daisy is better, it means better times in Plymouth for everybody.

Dave Taylor for 26 years an employe of the Daisy Manufacturing company, was presented with the beautiful gold watch. It had been a practice of the Daisy company to present to one of its oldest employes each year a watch, and this year the prize fell to Dave Taylor. When presented to him by President Bennett, he expressed his appreciation for the fine treatment the Daisy company had always given him.

So that every one would get a Christmas present this year, the company arranged to present each worker with a number as they entered the theatre. Some numbers called for turkeys, some for the other prizes offered. In this way every employe got a prize. Every "Gottschalk" and "Floyd Reddeman" did the drawing.

President Bennett in his address to the workers and their families.

"Employees of the Daisy Family party and here I am again, ready to talk, and if these gatherings are held regularly, I am inclined to think that you will be putting me in the same class with a Mrs. Gabber I read about yesterday. Mrs. Gabber had a portrait painted her portrait and a Mr. and Mrs. Brown neighbors of the Gabbers, were returning home after an inspection of the painting, and Mrs. Brown remarked to her husband that while she thought it a splendid likeness of Mrs. Gabber, still there was something not quite natural about it. Brown agreed with his wife that the portrait did not look natural but said it was easily explained as in the portrait Mrs. Gabber had her mouth shut."

Santa Brings Real Delight

Business Women Provide Christmas Party For Young Girls

While Santa Claus may not be calling at your house till Christmas eve, he certainly paid a visit to the Business and Professional Women's club and the young girls guests at the Mayflower Hotel Tuesday evening.

An exciting Christmas tree laden with mysterious packages and two long tables attractively decorated with holly evergreen boughs and red tapers welcomed the group of young girls and the members of the club as they entered the dining room and found their names on small Christmas bells attached to bags of candy and nuts.

A most appetizing and delicious chicken and turkey dinner was served. Alma Ford, one of the guests, gave a recitation. A little song by Virginia Brocklehurst. Ruth Adlaka entertained the girls with a juggling act. Then a few Christmas carols by everyone when in came Santa with a cherry Merry Christmas to all. Santa soon found who the packages belonged to and it was not long before every guest was unwrapping a doll, set of dishes, paints, or one of the

A baseball accident of three years ago has resulted in the unfortunate loss of an eye to Robert Gordon, son of Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Gordon of 707 Maple avenue, Plymouth. He was struck in the eye by a baseball while playing with a number of young friends. While it pained him at the time it was not until about three months when it started bothering him. After numerous examinations by specialists, it was decided that its removal was necessary. The operation was performed last Tuesday by Dr. D. W. Meyers of Ann Arbor. A satisfactory recovery is being made.

Kiwanis Party Biggest Ever

Nearly 175 Boys And Girls Eat Turkey—
Gifts For All

Santa Claus, Christmas trees, turkey and more turkey! What a time they had. One hundred and seventy-five children of Plymouth needy families were guests of the local Kiwanis club at the annual Kiwanis Christmas party held last Tuesday night in the high school auditorium.

It was the biggest Christmas party that the club has ever had and members of the committee expressed the opinion that Wednesday morning that had the most worthy group of children to serve this year that they had ever had before.

The young ladies group of the First Bible church served the children their dinner and saw to it that the Kiwanis waiters filled each plate with turkey, mashed potatoes, squash, jello, and rolls as many times as the children could empty them. Nearly 600 glasses of milk were served and hundreds of dishes of ice cream. The tables were decorated with some comply with the Christmas spirit and at each place was a paper flower cup holding several pieces of Christmas candy. Each child was given a paper napkin, favor and stocking filled with candy, fruit and nuts. The high school band furnished the music for the evening.

Expenses for the affair were defrayed from profits made at the Kiwanis Bowling Alley. Other contributions made from the profits of the bowling alley are $25.00 to the Parent Teachers Ass'n. of Starkweather school, $25.00 to the Parent Teachers Ass'n. of Central school, these to be used in the annual Christmas paper and two organizations. Another gift of $25.00 was given to the Salvation Army to buy toys for their Christmas basket and $25.00 was given to the Ann Arbor Kiwanis club to be used in the excellent work they do at the University hospital for crippled children.

Edward Scully Is Made President Of The Roosevelt Club

Edward Scully was Monday night elected temporary president of the Plymouth Roosevelt club and Miss Almada Wheeler was named secretary at the meeting held in the Mayflower hotel. The attendance was much larger than had been anticipated by those who sponsored the meeting.

It is the purpose of the new officers to make the Roosevelt club a most active organization.

Rev. Sutherland Not Yet Able To Leave Hospital

The many friends of Rev. Lova Sutherland, pastor of the First Baptist church, will be pleased to know that he is recovering from his recent severe illness. He is in the University of Michigan hospital at Ann Arbor and will probably be able to return home in the near future.

Rev. Sutherland since coming to Plymouth has been most active in building up the Baptist church and has met with remarkable success. He hopes to be able to resume his work in the church immediately upon his return from the University hospital.

Many things that makes Christmas a delight to everyone.

Officials Hope To Keep Men At Work During Entire Winter — Now Plan Other Jobs

Every able-bodied man of Plymouth today is a wage earner with the possible exception of half a dozen or more who have registered for employment during the last few days or have been overlooked through some error in the handling of the registration cards in the Detroit state department of labor office, where they were taken. This is the first time in nearly three years that such a condition has existed here.

Mayor Freeman Hoyer and Mrs. Ruth Huston-Whipple, member of the Wayne county CWA commission who have been giving nearly all of their time to various Plymouth projects in an effort to find as much employment as possible for local workers, state that they believe there is a sufficient amount of work now in view to keep nearly all of these men busy until February 15.

City officials in cooperation with school authorities have secured approval of three more projects that bring the total expenditures in Plymouth well up towards $30,000.

These projects that were approved by the CWA board during the past few days, provide for the painting and cleaning of the public school buildings of Plymouth and the same class of work at the city hall. There is considerable carpenter work being done at both places.

The CWA commission approved for the painting of the school and the city hall a total of $3,431.00. This includes the cost of the paint, which under a ruling of the CWA board due to the insistence of Mrs. Whipple, must be purchased in Plymouth. Mrs. Whipple is one member of the board who has been putting up a determined fight to have as much work as possible done in the city. She has been successful in forcing adherence to this provision.

Another Plymouth project approved and on which men are now working is the building of a sanitary sewer on Spring street. This project will cost $960.00.

These two projects placed about 50 able men at work. City officials, as well as school authorities, are now busy planning additional work that can be done after the completion of the various projects that have already been started.

In addition to all of the CWA projects, the Daisy Manufacturing company and other local industries are doing their bit. All of their reports better business, with more men being added to their payrolls.

Can Use School Scrip For Taxes

Plymouth school scrip may be used for the payment of current and future taxes. A resolution passed by the board of education of Plymouth school district No. 1, at its regular meeting on December 17th, authorized the three treasurers of Plymouth, Plymouth township and Northville township, collect one tax for Plymouth school district No. 1 from each of the school scrip in the payment of 1933 taxes up to March 1, 1934.

This will make it possible for many holding school scrip to pay taxes with the same or sell it to others who wish to pay taxes.

GOOD CHRISTMAS

Though doubters doubt and scoffers scoff, And Peace on earth seems still far off, Though learned doctors think they know The gospel stories are not so; Though greedy man is greedy still And competition chokes good-will, While rich men sigh and poor men fret, Dear me! we can't spare Christmas yet; Time may do better—maybe not; Meanwhile let's keep the day we've got! On Bethlehem's birth and Bethlehem's star What'er our speculations are, Where'er for us may run the line Where human merges with divine, We're dull indeed if we can't see What Christmas feelings ought to be, And dull again if we can't doubt It's worth our while to bring them out, "Glory to God; good-will to men!" Come! Feel it, show it, give it then! Come to us, Christmas, good old day, Soften us, cheer us, say your say To hearts which thrift, too eager, keeps In bonds, while fellow-feeling sleeps, Good Christmas, whom our children love, We love you, too! Lift us above Our cares, our fears, our small desires! Open our hands and stir the fires Of helpful fellowship within us, And back to love and kindness to win us!

GIVE THEM YOUR CHEERS!

The other day two or three men who were watching a group of workers who had just been put to work on one of the CWA projects protested because some of the men worked a bit then rested a while. They stated that now that these men had been given work, they "should dig in" and work like beavers.

The criticism was wrong, ground indeed. Many of these men who had been given jobs with shovel and pick have not worked for months. Some of them have not had an opportunity to do work of any kind for possibly two or three years.

What man is there that can step out from a long period of idleness and work at manual labor all day without rest? Even though he could do it, it would probably bring serious results if he did.

These workers have a perfect right to take it slow. They owe it to their health to do so. Praise them for trying to do something that is most difficult at the present time to do, rather than criticize them because they seemingly do not work as rapidly as men who are long accustomed to outside work, men who are in the best of physical condition.

The fact that hundreds of the men we see working on the various public works projects about here have been willing to do the hardest kind of manual labor in order to support their families are entitled to the cheers of those who have not been forced to do such difficult work.

Their work is the work of good soldiers in the army of their government. Yes, these men who have shouldered the shovel and the pick to help support their families as well as their government are just as much entitled to the cheers of the crowd as the soldiers who marched down the street with a musket over his shoulder.

Cheer these workers, who are doing a job in every way comparable with that of the best job in the army!

Their job is just as good as that of the highest ranking officer on the public payroll.

They are not welfare workers—they are workers for their government.

And let it be said here and now that the time has come to stop calling men who have taken position with their government "welfare workers." They are NOT welfare workers. They are good citizens, good men who are the victims of a condition over which they or no one else could control.

Call them good, true loyal workers for Uncle Sam! And the next time you drive by one of these jobs where men are working along the roadside or digging in the trench, even though they are resting for the time on the handles of their shovels or picks, don't criticize them, but say instead—Isn't it a glorious thing that these men are willing to go out into the cold, bitter winter weather and do the hardest kind of work to help their families and their government!

Yes, cheer them because they are just as much entitled to the cheers as are the men who went over seas and dug trenches for human blood to flow through, because officials in Washington said their government was in danger if they didn't do it.

The CWA soldiers are digging trenches to better health conditions. They are building highways to aid commerce—they are working for their government, fighting for their government just as did the men who went south to save their Union or went overseas to battle for what we all believed at the time was a just cause.

But these men have been pressed into government service without the training the soldiers had before they went into the battle lines, so do NOT criticize them if you should observe that they are not working just as rapidly as you think they should and if you should happen to see them standing idle a minute to rest tired muscles used for the first time in many, many months.

PLYMOUTH PROFITS

It was indeed a most fortunate thing for Plymouth that City Manager Cookingham was selected to serve as deputy commissioner of the Wayne county relief commission. Mr. Cookingham, who is giving one half of his time to Plymouth as city manager and the other half to the county on the other position, is enabled through this ideal association to do much for this community and this part of Wayne county that one with less knowledge of actual conditions would be able to do.

When he accepted this place it was agreed that a part of his salary would be paid by the county, thus relieving the city of Plymouth of paying his full salary. So Plymouth is getting a man who is doing a good job in both places and we should lend our support to the arrangement rather than criticize it. Plymouth is the beneficiary, not Mr. Cookingham.

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

LEST THE GATES BE CLOSED—

If this nation is being threatened by a debased currency, who is to blame? If our dreams of a stable world are being disturbed by the spectre of instability, what has been the underlying cause of our delirium? Has it been the plain people of America, the honest, industrious, frugal American citizen who has brought about this talk of a new social freedom for the masses?

We heard no talk in this country about a dishonest dollar until the savings of a people were dissipated and destroyed through sales of dishonest securities. It seems strange to hear men denouncing the government for threatening to repudiate its promise to pay in gold by paying with a cheapened dollar instead, when they were themselves guilty of unloading billions of dollars in worthless securities upon an unsuspecting public that will never be paid with any kind of a dollar.

It is one thing to hold the government to strict accountability—another to excuse their own actions which brought ruin to millions of people by the plausible statement that "no man knew what was going to happen." President Roosevelt is not in favor of a debased currency—neither is the American people. It is a part of our very existence and training to despise dishonesty in any form. Repudiation has always been a loathsome word in our vocabulary.

What the people of the United States want is an opportunity to pay their obligations, not through inflation but through their own honest efforts in the parts of trade and industry. If the money barons of Wall Street do not want a cheap dollar, then let them unloosen the billions of dollars now in their vaults for the industrialist to keep his factory in operation, the merchant to replenish his shelves, for the rehabilitation of agriculture, for the natural credit needs of the nation so that millions of American workmen can once more be gainfully employed.

ANOTHER TAX

Governor Comstock proposes a constitutional amendment permitting an income tax. There are many reasonable arguments that can be advanced in favor of a graduated gross income tax, but it is unlikely the people will vote such a change until they are satisfied that it is not another tax but a substitution for some of the taxes we already have. A gross income tax would compel many thousands of people to contribute to the cost of government who are now avoiding taxation. It would place millions of dollars of intangibles on the tax rolls, which is to be desired. Governor Comstock errs when he does not specifically state that in advent of an income tax other taxes in proportion would be eliminated. When he fails to do this the public gains the impression that it is just another attempt to gouge more money out of the taxpayers. Another fault with all new tax proposals is the cost of said about lowering the cost of government. That is a language the tax spenders never seem able to learn. No one denies that we have a guarantee of less waste in government—a saner policy of public expenditures.—George Neal in The Orion Review.

THE WEATHER

One should never complain about the weather, particularly in Michigan. Just a few minutes and it will change—the only certain thing about it. This is about as whimsical a winter as we have had in some time, snow and sleet and zero weather alternating with bright sunny days and dark murky ones. One invests in a gallon of water in the morning, the radiator and then for days is offended by the odor as it boils out under stress of mild sunny weather. Hardly has the sun passed away when freezing sets in again and its all to do over again. At any rate it is something to talk about. The perennial topic that never loses interest is Ploydy-McGriff in The Redford Record.

KINDNESS—THE LEAVEN OF BUSINESS

It may be a surprise to many of us to know that the spirit of kindness has been a most powerful factor in the business world in our midst during the past year. Kindness has maintained payrolls when hard business dictated reduction of working hours. Men and a dozen other moves contemplated in the interest of economy. That many in our midst have conducted their business successfully and built up reserves is a matter of fortune and good judgment. Many men now employed in Howell and thereabout are the present beneficiaries of leadership and courageous planning and self sacrificing of their employers. By the same token many of our men owe the continuation of their business to the presence in their personnel of high headed employees who have refused to be swayed by unreasonable elements of discontent, and business interests. Mr. Wm. Cansfield in The Howell Republican-Press.

NEW LIGHT ON CONSTITUTION

Justice Louis H. Fead of the Michigan supreme court delivered a timely message here last week when he explained the constitution. We often hear that the federal constitution is outworn and should be scrapped. Justice Fead answered that charge well when he pointed out that the constitution is not a set of ordinances but a declaration of unchanging principles. The constitution was drawn up to protect the common people from acts of tyranny and to define the duties of elected officials. It is not a set of laws designed to tell every one what to do and how to do it. Justice Fead declared that the Ten Commandments have been handed down since the dawn of civilization but that they are as true today as they were when given in the stone.

The constitution is not holding the nation back. The constitution stands as a guarantee against tyranny today just as it did when the constitution was adopted. If new legislation has merit it can be carried out in harmony with the constitution. If it can not be carried out under the constitution then it is dangerous legislation. Suspension of the constitution is too reckless to even consider. Hitler or a Mussolini might then seize control of the nation and the rights of the people be flouted.

The constitution is a declaration of liberty. It is a guarantee that people's rights must be respected.—Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

Fewer Deer Killed This Year Than Last Year Says State

"Bad weather," reduced the kill of deer in the upper peninsula of Michigan during the 1933 season to a point comparable with that of 1931. The Conservation Department reported today.

Lower peninsula hunters who went north of the Straits of Mackinac returned with 4,955 deer, a figure that is compared with 6,139 last year and 5,168 in 1931.

Many upper peninsula hunters failed to get to camp or were snowed in, and returned to the lower peninsula to hunt. This, with the fact that there were seven additional counties open to deer hunting south of the Straits of Mackinac, is believed to have brought a total kill in that section of the state close to that of 1932.

In 1931, according to information hunters reported on applications, there were approximately 23,900 deer killed, of which 5,189 were brought across the Straits. If the same ratio holds each year, the 1932 kill must have been between 27,500 and 28,000, and at least 22,500 in 1933. But the deer kill in the newly opened counties, and the shift of many upper peninsula hunters to below the Straits by weather conditions, tended to make up the difference so that the total 1933 kill is believed to have been at least as high as that in 1932.

Many lower peninsula hunters, it was reported, returned home from the upper peninsula without hunting at all or spent the rest of the season south of the Straits. The early part of the season found deep snow through most of the area north of the Straits, making car travel impossible on many side roads. The deep snow, too, had driven the deer to the swamps which made them difficult to find.

The kill of does during the hunting season maintained about the same rate as last year. In the vicinity of one state game refuge alone, 31 dead does and 28 dead fawns were found.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Is the Universe, including Man, evolved by Atomic Force?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, December 17.

Among the Bible citations was this passage (Isa. 66:22): "For as the new heavens and the new earth, which I will make, shall remain before me, saith the Lord, so shall your seed and your name remain."

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 256): "The finite must be held to the infinite. Advancing to a higher plane of action, thought rises from the material sense to the spiritual, from the scholastic to the inspirational, and from the mortal to the immortal. All things are created spiritually."

CHURCH OF THE OPEN DOOR (Independent Baptist)

Richard Neale, Pastor. "He shall save His people from their sins."
"Emmanuel—God with us." How wonderful it is to know that "while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." Just think! We were without hope; dead in sin; not knowing where we would spend eternity, yet God so loved us that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth on Him should perish, but have everlasting life.
Are you unsaved, lost, bound for an eternity of destruction? Won't you simply take God at His Word, and accept Jesus Christ, His Son, as your Saviour, and be saved? Make this Christmas season your spiritual birthday.

Our Christmas Services will be held on Sunday, Dec. 24th. In the morning Mr. Neale, our pastor, shall bring a message on "The Virgin Birth of Christ." This noteworthy subject should, indeed, be of interest to everyone in these days when men and women are being blown about by every wind and doctrine.
The evening Christmas program will depict the birth of our Lord in an interesting manner. Come and hear the old old story as we present it Sunday evening.

We are still planning our baptismal service for New Year's Eve. Any eligible candidates are urged to see the pastor at once.
The Young People's meeting will be held as usual on Monday evening.

The Book of James is still the feature in our Wednesday evening Bible study.

The meeting of the Mission Study class will take place next week, but will be held Tuesday, January 9th.
Word has been received that the Mission Bureau will meet at the Community House in Complan, Mich., and brought comfort and cheer to several needy people in that city.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Robert North, Pastor. Bible school 10:00. Morning Worship, 11:15. Young People, 6:45. Evangelistic Service, 7:30. Prayer & Praise, Wednesday, 7:30.

"And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for behold I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." (Luke 2:10-11).
There was no room for Christ in the inn; have you room for him in your heart? The world will celebrate Christmas with little thought as to its true significance. Will it be Christ with you? If you would know the real meaning of Christmas, open your heart's door and let him reign supreme in your life. Jesus was God's great Christmas gift to the world.

American Legion Good-Fellows Provide For The Needy

Plymouth Goodfellows of the American Legion will deliver baskets and toys to needy children Sunday.

On Christmas morning some Plymouth child who all year long has had a haunting fear that Santa Claus might forget them this year will clutch a toy and laugh happily, and you who have bought a paper from a Plymouth Legionnaire will have a part in bringing this happiness.

The whole proceeds from the newspaper sale will be used to buy toys and candy and baskets of groceries for the needy in time for Christmas eve.

They are confident that you will have a Merry Christmas because you have demonstrated that you appreciate the true meaning of Christmas.

Many Comforts For Ice Skaters

Ice On Lake To Be Kept Clear—Erect Place To Get Warm

Plymouth boys and girls and other lovers of ice skating are going to have an ideal place to skate this winter, with all the luxuries that most ice skaters do not get. The Wayne county road commission, which has direct charge of the park system, is completing a temporary structure on the west end of Newburg lake, with benches, lights and a stove where the boys and girls can go directly from the skating pond to change their skating shoes and get warm if the weather proves too cold. The skater's shelter is being placed directly on the edge of the ice so that they can step into the place without walking on the ground with their skates on.

But this is not all—the park officials have made arrangements to clear the ice of snow in case it should be covered at any time. Warning lights will also be placed on the ice at places regarded as dangerous by the employees of the park.

Already some excellent skating has been enjoyed at the park, but officials urge that the skating for the present be confined entirely to the west end along the north side. Even though one should break through at this point, the water averages but two or three feet deep, except over the old river bed, where of course it is seven or eight feet deep. But several good hard freezes will put the entire pond in safe condition for skating. The water at the east end near the dam averages from 18 to 20 feet deep. It will be safe at this place when there has been sufficient freezing weather. The easy access of Newburg lake assures Plymouth ice skaters of plenty of out door pleasure this winter.

Depressions are a needed school, but the tuition is high.

Heart Tests Made Free Of Children In Public Schools

Through the generosity of Dr. Fritz Erisbois of Patterson one hundred twelve high school girls in grades nine to twelve, inclusive, were examined for heart defects before starting their season of intramural activities. Ninety-six of the one hundred twelve were passed as perfect; sixteen will have re-checks to determine whether any or all of them may take part in the basketball schedule.

This is a splendid courtesy on the part of the local physicians in helping the school authorities to be sure that no one is allowed to take part in violent exercise to whom it would be physically harmful.

The intramural basketball season for boys and girls in the high school is starting out actively and promises to be one of the most interesting and keenly contested that this local school has ever conducted.

W. C. T. U. Christmas Meeting Proves Very Pleasant Affair

The Plymouth Woman's Christian Temperance Union held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday, December 14, at the home of Mesdames Starkweather and Hillmer. There was a good attendance and the Christmas program was very enjoyable. A beautiful devotional Christmas service was given by Mrs. Mary Hillmer.

The roll call was responded to by each member telling how she would like to spend Christmas. Of course no one had the cash to do all the wonderful things suggested to do but it was a pleasure to talk about it.

JERRY LOOKS FOR A PLACE TO BUILD

OF COURSE Jerry Muskrat was joking when he asked Peter Rabbit if he had come over to the Smiling Pool to help him build a house. He knew that Peter couldn't help if he wanted to, and he wouldn't want to if he could. There is no getting away from the fact that when real work is concerned Peter Rabbit is lazy. All his neighbors know this.

"Are you really going to build a new house?" asked Peter, his eyes wide with curiosity and interest.

"Of course," replied Jerry. "How do you like it?"

"Use Your Thinker If You've Got One," replied Jerry. "In the first place it's in the bank of the Laughing Brook, and that isn't where I want to be. I want to be down here in the Smiling Pool. In the second place I like a good big comfortable house

D. A. R. Meeting At Home Of Miss Horton Is Interesting One

Tuesday evening, Dec. 18th marked an unusual program in the calendar of the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter. Daughters of the American Revolution, when members and guests to number 65 or 70 gathered at the spacious home of Miss Barbara Horton on Penniman Road.

Their home was festive with Christmas greens and tall tapers, while a crackling fire upon the living room hearth extended its own warm welcome to the gathering guests.

The meeting was opened with a first cordial words of welcome by the Regent Mrs. Hattie Baker, apologizing for the necessity of a short business session which was carried out after the devotional service and sang to the song led by the chaplain Mrs. D. P. Yerkes Jr.

Come In and See The Many Improvements in The New Ford V-8 FOR 1934

An amazing automobile. New, yet time-tested, proved. The 1933 Ford V-8 was good—but this is better. Dual Carburetion and Clear Vision Ventilation lead list of refinements. This 1934 V-8 is the finest car we have ever offered our customers.

BETTER PERFORMANCE. Greater power, new speed, quicker acceleration, smoother performance, more miles per gallon especially at higher speeds, and quicker starting in cold weather—all these result from the new Dual Carburetor and Dual Intake Manifold. New Waterline Thermostats enable the engine to warm up more quickly and to maintain an efficient operating temperature. Added engine refinements reduce oil consumption, further improve operating economy and reduce maintenance costs.

NEW VENTILATION SYSTEM permits clear vision, prevents drafts and provides desired amount of fresh air in any weather. Individual control for front and rear side windows. When ventilation is desired the window glass is raised to the top. Then the handle is given an additional half-turn. This slides the glass back horizontally to form a narrow slot, as illustrated. Through this slot air is drawn out by the forward motion of the car. This simple ventilation system maintains draft-free circulation, insures passenger comfort, prevents fogging windshield in cold or stormy weather. Both windshield and cow ventilator can be opened to supply additional air needed for comfortable warm weather driving.

DISTINCTIVE NEW APPEARANCE enhanced by the newly-designed chromium-plated radiator shell and grille, new hood louvers, new hubcaps. Interiors are attractive, with new tufted upholstery, new moldings, new cove-type headlining, new instrument panel, new arm rests, new hardware. Swivel-type sun visors in de luxe bodies prevent glare from front or side. On de luxe cars fenders are in color to harmonize with body colors—Wheel colors optional. New enamel finish on all bodies and fenders has greater wearing quality and more enduring luster.

GREATER RIDING COMFORT results from increased spring flexibility. The spring leaves are newly designed for quieter and easier action. Shock absorbers are improved. Seat cushions are deeper, with new, softer springs. New type, individual bucket seats provide increased comfort for front seat passengers in the Tudor sedan. Adding to comfort is the new driving ease of the 15-to-1 steering rear ratio.

Phone and we'll send a car to your home or office.

Fatal Hunting Accidents Many

State Report Shows 24 Killed This Fall — 52 Badly Injured

Twenty-four deaths and fifty-two injured represent Michigan's 1933 toll from hunting accidents, the Department of Conservation announced today.

The small game hunting season preceding November 15, resulted in 17 killed and 34 wounded. The deer hunting season brought seven additional accidental deaths and 12 wounded.

The toll is the highest in the records of the Department. Accidental discharging of guns caused 22 of the reported accidents.

Only two of the seven deaths occurring during the deer hunting season were the results of men being mistaken for deer, the Department said. In past years the majority of deer hunting accidents have been from this cause.

Although the Department of Conservation had feared that the presence of about 9,000 CCC camp workers in the woods might result in danger during the fall hunting seasons, so far it has had no reports of any of these men being involved in a hunting accident.

Every possible precaution was taken to warn hunters of the presence of workers in hunting territory. Signs were placed in the vicinity of the camps and along all of the northern highways leading into hunting areas.

Through the cooperation of the state highway department, all deer hunters crossing the Straits of Mackinac were warned.

Among the usual causes of hunting accidents listed by the Department were:

One hunter who fell from a tree was injured. Another hunter was severely burned when his gun backfired. Ane was drowned when the "kick" of his gun threw him into the water.

Here Is Chance To Win Cash Prize

Write Editorial For The Plymouth Mail Next Week

The Plymouth Mail is pleased to announce to our subscribers a contest that has for the successful contestants two cash prizes. All you have got to do is to write an editorial for this paper. The editorial must have not less than 500 words and not more than 1000 words. It must be written on the following subject:

"Why A Community Newspaper."

The donor of these cash prizes for readers of The Mail is Adrain Van Koevering, editor and publisher of The Zeeland Record. Mr. Van Koevering is a former president of the Michigan Press Association. He is the publisher of one of the best weekly newspapers in the state and he is intensely loyal to the community where he has spent his entire life in newspaper work.

He is offering this prize to people of Michigan in order to create a bit more of interest in the future of the community newspaper. It is realized by everyone that the very life of a community is in its newspaper, that when its newspapers die, the community dies and then your community is on the way out. This is but history.

The future of the small town is now at the crossroads. It must be saved. Mr. Van Koevering knows that the community newspapers of the nation can play an important part in this great job of the future.

He is offering as a first prize $25.00 in cash. The second prize is $10.

Will you write the editorial today or tomorrow, submit it to the editor of The Mail and it will be submitted to the contest committee at the time of the annual convention of the Michigan Press Association to be held in Lansing, January 25, 26 and 27. The announcement of the winners will be made at that time.

In writing your editorial, write it on one side of the paper only. Write clearly. Place your name, your address and the name of the town in which you live at the top of the first page. And write your editorial today on the subject "Why A Community Newspaper," and submit it within the next few days to the editor of The Mail who will see to it that they all reach the contest committee at the same time of the annual convention of the MPA in East Lansing. No editorials will be accepted after January 15, so write your editorial today.

Daisy Company Christmas Party

"I am not going to have my portrait painted so I might as well get on with my talk. From the point of management the Daisy Manufacturing Company has found the present year, 1933, the most difficult one in the history of the business, extending over nearly half a century. In order to sell greater quantities of our merchandise we felt it absolutely necessary to lower all our selling prices and on January 1st last we cut our prices more than 25 per cent. In the hope of reaching more pocketbooks, thereby selling more goods and thus enable us to create employment for more of our people. As you will perhaps remember, during the summer trade slackened to a point where it almost stopped completely and it looked for a time like a collapse of all our plans, and that a tremendous loss would result and grey hairs multiplied on the heads of the management faster than you turned out flying planes in October. I merely mention this grey hair episode so you will not think of it as being a matter of age, and I only wish I had as good an excuse for the lack of quantity.

"About September first the tide began to turn and our well laid advertising plans began to show results and the rush from then on is familiar to all of you.

"During the present year our plan of rewarding employees has been changed and instead of your receiving your bonus check tonight covering the entire year, you have received them each month during the last eleven months. This plan gives each of you added wages to use each month and also takes care of employees who cannot or do not go through the whole year in our employ. Thus we are able to pay the bonus plan will continue in operation for the year 1934.

"Employees' life insurance at the expense of the company will continue as heretofore and it is only fair that you all should know that the cost to the company for this year's protection runs into several thousands of dollars per year. You may not know it, but in most cases of employee insurance the company or employer pays but one-half the cost of such insurance, and the employees pay the other half, but the management of Daisy has always taken a stand against anything being taken from an employee's pay envelope, hence no change in our insurance plan. You will never realize the value of life insurance until you have occasion to use it.

"Commencing January 1st, 1934, our company will be operating under the NRA code of the Manufacturing of the U.S.A. approved by the President. The code will make but slight changes in our program as we were one of the few toy manufacturers who were already paying our employees more than the minimum wage and working our plant within the code time limit. We intend to continue without change our low price schedule on all our products, even though our costs for materials will be considerably increased by the NRA, but we are expecting to increase our sales still further as times grow better and people have money to spend. And times are growing better—we have positive and unquestionable evidence of this.

"I wish in behalf of the directors of our company to wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, to thank each and every one of this family for the splendid efforts and cooperation you gave us during the last (I hope it's the last) depression, and we feel that with your continued efforts and enthusiasm in our behalf we can, and will, make 1934 one of the best years in the history of the air rifle business.

"And now to turn our thoughts to gold watches, turkeys, geese, and what Lady Luck has in store for each of you, for you know we have a mouthful for each and every employee present tonight, and with the aid of my competent assistants we will commence the distribution of the Christmas cheer.

"First, let me tell you that I am still afflicted with that gold watch bug, and tonight on behalf of the directors and management of the Daisy Manufacturing Company I have the pleasure of presenting this gold watch and chain to a valued and loyal employee of our company for many years. Dave Taylor. Dave should know how to make these watch wheels move okay, he as our chief engineer has kept our wheels going round for the past twenty-six years."

There was not a detail overlooked in the arrangements for the big party, which old time employees declared was one of the best ever held. Ushers were Warren Lombard, C. H. Rauch and Dave Taylor. The ticket office was in charge of George Hunter and the pages were Lillian Proctor, Norma Baker, Inez Curtis and Ruby Wilson.

Building A Rock Garden In Park

Lily Pool Will Be A Part Of Garden Under Construction

There is being constructed in the Plymouth park just north of the Newbury lake a short distance east of the Whitbeck road one of the most attractive rock gardens and lily ponds in this part of Michigan.

A sloping curved hillside offers an ideal setting for the terraced landscaping.

The location is but a few feet from the new paved parkway road and it is at one of the points where the road runs nearest to the lake.

It is only one of the many beautiful arrangements that the Wayne county road commission has in mind for the park system around Plymouth. Almost the entire distance between the old park and the Newbury dam is being landscaped and hundreds of trees and ornamental shrubs are being set out.

While the work to the north of the city is not as far advanced as it is between Plymouth and Newburg lake, there are just as excellent possibilities for attractive beauty spots as to the east.

At the end of another two years Plymouth will be partly surrounded by one of the finest park systems in America.

Freight Will Be Delivered By P.M.

Railway Will Also Pick Up Out-Going Shipments

The Pere Marquette Railway have put into operation a store door delivery and pick-up.

There is no charge for this extra service when the freight is first class or nearly so, or from points on the P. M. & O. Erie and Nickel Plate up to approximately 260 miles, which includes Chicago and Cleveland when routed N. K. P. Or when the freight rate first class is 82 cents or more from points on other roads than the above and for longer distances than 260 miles there is a charge not to exceed six cents per cwt. with a minimum of twenty-five cents per shipment.

For further particulars call the agent of the P. M. Ry.

The fact that the railroads never before have had door delivery and pick up has been the largest factor in diverting business to the trucks. Now that this service is rendered at both ends from points like Chicago, Grand Rapids, Detroit, etc. free, it is hoped that firms will appreciate the fact that the P. M. is employing the heads of some one hundred and thirty families and pouring into Plymouth some $20,000 to $25,000 a month and will give the railroads at least a part of their business.

Over Fifty Attend Christmas Party Of The Woman's Club

The Christmas party given at the Hotel Mayflower on the Friday last, was an altogether delightful occasion which was enjoyed by over fifty of the members and their friends.

The club room presented a truly yuletide atmosphere with its Christmas green and lights. Back of the luncheon table was a semicircle of Christmas trees garlanded with lights and decorated with a green flood light. The table was covered with a dainty green linen cloth and was centered by a large silver dish of fruit, on either side of which were low silver candle sticks holding high triple-branched tapers in ivory.

Mrs. Carmen Root and Mrs. Sterling Eaton presided at the table where plum puddings, decorated with hard sauce and beautifully garnished with holly and mistletoe, tea and salted nuts were served to the guests.

The program for the day was headed by Mrs. Byron M. Murray of the Merrill-Palmer School of Detroit, whose subject was "The Road to Childhood Happiness."

Mrs. Murray held her audience spell bound for over half an hour and every one present wished the address might have been longer.

Mrs. Murray is a Plymouth resident of most unusual talent and understanding of whom we are most proud. It is greatly hoped that we shall have an opportunity of hearing Mrs. Murray again very soon.

The musical entertainment was furnished by three young Russian students from the University at Ann Arbor, whose numbers consisted of stringed instrumental music and some interesting Russian dances, given in costume by one of their number.

P. R. Hobbes and committee deserve much credit for giving the Club one of the most delightful and instructive meetings of the year.

The next meeting of the club is the regular musical given each year, and the program will be in charge of Mrs. Maxwell Moon as chairman. There will be a luncheon in the Crystal dining room of the hotel at 1:15 p. m. and it will also be a guest day. More particulars will be given later.

Gas Company Has All Employees As Guests At Christmas Party

QUARTET FIGHTS DISEASE

Four tiny Morlok sisters, the only quadruplets ever born in Michigan, are growing up in a world made safer for them through the work done by tuberculosis Christmas seals. That is why they gave their four-fold support to the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, in its 1933 campaign for the sale of seals, and posed with the double-headed cross, symbol of the work done by anti-tuberculosis societies.

Good food, lots of sleep and many happy hours of play is the simple program followed by the four little girls whose birth attracted the curiosity and interest of the nation, when they were born in Lansing about three and one-half years ago.

To help other children and make the world safer for themselves, the Morlok sisters address their plea for the generous purchase of seals, using the middle initials given to them to indicate the order of their arrival in the world:

Edna A.—"Assure health for all children."
Wilma B.—"Buy tuberculosis Christmas seals."
Sarah C.—"Christmas joy should be shared."
Helen D.—"Delay can be fatal. Buy seals."

Dick's Interfering Muse

By MILDRED WELLS

WHEN Dick Williams decided to try his luck at short-story writing, he made just one mistake. He told Margie.

Margie was his very charming near-door neighbor. Dick's mother, with whom he lived in the house where he had been born twenty-six years before, was away on a month's visit to a sister. And when the managing editor of the paper on which Dick was a reporter told him to take a day off the next week in celebration of the completion of a good series of interviews Dick had written, felt that he must talk over his idea with someone.

"You see," he said to Margie the evening before the great day, "I know I could write if I had a chance—anyway I think I could. Fiction, I mean. So when old man Elwell passed out this day off to me, I just decided I'd try my luck. I'll just begin early in the morning and work right on. If I get a good story under way, all right. If not, then that's all right, too. I'll feel better to have had a chance to try."

After an early breakfast next morning, Margie, the maid, started happily forth with an unexpected day off before her.

"Peace and quiet," sighed Dick, "and no interruptions." Then he made ready for work by a cheerful living room window—and the telephone rang.

"Is Maggie there?" came a rich burled voice.

"I'm sorry, but she's off for the day," answered Dick, still cheerful, "anything I can do?"

"No, it's nothing very important," answered the voice, "just tell her to call cousin Annie tonight!"

Dick hung up and went back to his desk and began to plot his story. Hero's name—Stanley Weymouth. Heroine's name—well, what? Margie seemed to fit best. Yes, Stan and Margie. He'd lay the story in—the front doorbell rang.

Five minutes later, after an argument with the laundryman, Dick was back to his table.

Colorado, that was the place for his story. He put down some notes about how his characters looked.

"Margie—small, brown, soft eyes, fluffy hair." And then there was a knock at the back door. The butcher's boy and chops.

Dick's muse was a cdy one, and after he had answered the telephone to talk for ten minutes with a friend of his mother's, had gone again to the front door to frown crossly at a boy soliciting magazine subscriptions, had gone to the cellar to let in the gas meter man—by that time Dick's muse was distinctly upset.

Pattering footsteps on the side porch.

"Well, darn!" exclaimed Dick mildly. He went to the door.

There was Margie, a basket on her arm. It was then he realized it had been a mistake to tell Margie his plans.

"Oh—" she said. He looked tired and irritated and uncomfortable. "Well, anyway, here's your lunch. Were you going to have any?"

She pushed her way past Dick and laid out a tempting lunch.

"I've been watching your house this morning, and it seemed as if every Tom, Dick and Harry's been here to bother you."

"You don't know the worst. Telephone's been going the whole darned day. Gosh, this tastes good."

"It's cold," said Margie.

"Oh, hang it," exclaimed Dick. "Guess I've let the furnace fire go out."

"You shouldn't try to write and keep house, too," said Margie. "I suppose you think I'm rather bother. Good-by. Just settle down to work again and try to forget all the bother."

He didn't notice that the side door didn't slam shut. And he didn't hear Margie's investigating steps into the cellar. But five minutes later she slipped quietly back into the room, a log and some kindlings in the basket on her arm. "Furnace is all right," she said reassuringly. "I've opened the draughts. Just stop worrying." And she put the kindlings and log in the fireplace, touched a match to the paper under them, and, when they were blazing, cleared up the lunch things and then sat down quietly beside the fire with a magazine.

The afternoon went amazingly well. It seemed to Dick, the most natural thing in the world to have Margie there—answering doorbells and telephones and keeping the details of worries from him.

At six he stretched his long legs under the table, clasped his arms behind his head and looked across the room to Margie, still sitting quietly by the fireplace.

"Margie," he said rather sweetly, "I think I've got it. I mean, I think it's a real story. And it's due to you." Not just keeping away the interruptions—more than that.

"Well—" said Margie.

"Margie, the heroine's like you. She's little, and brown, with soft eyes, and fluffy hair—and Margie, in the end Stan's going to marry her!"

"Is he?" said Margie softly. "I don't mind."

"Is Maggie there?" came a rich burled voice.

"I'm sorry, but she's off for the day," answered Dick, still cheerful, "anything I can do?"

"No, it's nothing very important," answered the voice, "just tell her to call cousin Annie tonight!"

Dick hung up and went back to his desk and began to plot his story. Hero's name—Stanley Weymouth. Heroine's name—well, what? Margie seemed to fit best. Yes, Stan and Margie. He'd lay the story in—the front doorbell rang.

Five minutes later, after an argument with the laundryman, Dick was back to his table.

Colorado, that was the place for his story. He put down some notes about how his characters looked.

"Margie—small, brown, soft eyes, fluffy hair." And then there was a knock at the back door. The butcher's boy and chops.

Dick's muse was a cdy one, and after he had answered the telephone to talk for ten minutes with a friend of his mother's, had gone again to the front door to frown crossly at a boy soliciting magazine subscriptions, had gone to the cellar to let in the gas meter man—by that time Dick's muse was distinctly upset.

Pattering footsteps on the side porch.

"Well, darn!" exclaimed Dick mildly. He went to the door.

There was Margie, a basket on her arm. It was then he realized it had been a mistake to tell Margie his plans.

"Oh—" she said. He looked tired and irritated and uncomfortable. "Well, anyway, here's your lunch. Were you going to have any?"

She pushed her way past Dick and laid out a tempting lunch.

"I've been watching your house this morning, and it seemed as if every Tom, Dick and Harry's been here to bother you."

"You don't know the worst. Telephone's been going the whole darned day. Gosh, this tastes good."

"It's cold," said Margie.

"Oh, hang it," exclaimed Dick. "Guess I've let the furnace fire go out."

"You shouldn't try to write and keep house, too," said Margie. "I suppose you think I'm rather bother. Good-by. Just settle down to work again and try to forget all the bother."

He didn't notice that the side door didn't slam shut. And he didn't hear Margie's investigating steps into the cellar. But five minutes later she slipped quietly back into the room, a log and some kindlings in the basket on her arm. "Furnace is all right," she said reassuringly. "I've opened the draughts. Just stop worrying." And she put the kindlings and log in the fireplace, touched a match to the paper under them, and, when they were blazing, cleared up the lunch things and then sat down quietly beside the fire with a magazine.

The afternoon went amazingly well. It seemed to Dick, the most natural thing in the world to have Margie there—answering doorbells and telephones and keeping the details of worries from him.

At six he stretched his long legs under the table, clasped his arms behind his head and looked across the room to Margie, still sitting quietly by the fireplace.

Snake's Hard Fate

No other living creature inspires more unreasoning, unreasonable terror than the innocent, stupid, slithering snake. It is his tragic doom to be crushed beneath the heel of silly men, and the expression "snake in the grass" exists in our language as a term of opprobrium, synonym for deceitfulness. Furthermore, the snake is the helpless victim of many "tail" stories, such as the one about the danger of swallowing snakes' eggs while swimming, lest they hatch inside one's body, a brood ready to bite if disturbed.—Exchange.

Tickled Johnny

We waste no sympathy on kindergarten teachers, says a writer in the Kansas City Times. There are always something going on among the fresh young faces with which they have to deal. A teacher tells of little Johnny who was overcome with laughter when another child slipped and fell in the class room.

"Johnny," said the teacher reprovingly, "why are you laughing? There is nothing funny about a little boy's falling down."

"It's funny to me," protested Johnny, still overcome. "It's funny to me."

Former Cashier Of Northville Bank Is Found Dead In Chair

The many Plymouth friends of Ernest Miller, for many years cashier of the former Lapham State Savings bank of that place, were shocked last Sunday when advised of his sudden death. During recent months he has been employed in the Schrader Bros. furniture store of Northville and has also managed the Penniman-Allen theatre in that place since its opening.

When Ray Casterline, another employe of the store, entered the place Saturday morning he spoke to Mr. Miller who was sitting in a chair in the office. Mr. Miller did not respond and investigation showed that he had apparently died while sitting at the desk.

He was 58 years of age and had lived in Northville many years. Many from Plymouth attended the funeral Monday afternoon. Mrs. Carry Lapham of Plymouth is a sister of Mrs. Miller. Besides Mrs. Miller, a son, Wendell, survives.

Boy Scout Troop No. 2 Has Meeting

Twenty-one boys of Troop No. 2 Boy Scouts of Plymouth met at I. O. O. F. hall on Monday night for their regular meeting and election of officers. A program and Christmas party followed their meeting which was sponsored by Ex-Servicemen's committee and Scoutmaster Jacobs and assistant scoutmaster Williams.

Dick Miller was elected Senior Patrol Leader and Lionel Coffin is scribe for the next year. Verne Pitt, Dick Miller and Lionel Coffin entertained the boys and their guests with music and jokes.

Japanese Babies Never Burden to Their Elders

The Japanese child is king of the universe. He takes the air carried like a precious burden on the back of his elders—father, mother, brother, or sister, for little Japanese girls learn to play with real babies like dolls and the older children do not think when they have to carry, or hold the hands of younger members of the family.

On the contrary, they are invariably proud, and it is a charming sight to see them showering attention on their little brothers and sisters.

If you want to win the hearts of Japanese smile at their children. At once their impassive faces light up with pride. Deep bows indicate their satisfaction, and with each bow the child who is strapped onto the back of the older person bows at the same time, its head swinging, its eyes fixed.

Unquestionably, these are the happiest babies in the world. They never cry or make demands, because their earliest desire is satisfied. They are never pushed aside or treated like negligible quantities.

The inhabitants of this country, which is stifled with overpopulation, always seem eager to compress themselves, to become smaller, so as to make room for new arrivals.—Helene Iswolsky in Le Correspondant, Paris.

Queen Bee Called Upon to Perform Big Task

The most important bee of the swarm (the queen), easily distinguished by her general appearance, is constantly engaged, during the honey season, in laying eggs. As she goes round and round over the surface of the comb, she is accompanied by special attendants, one likened to a royal escort, whose duty it is to feed her.

There may be 50,000 or 60,000 brood cells in the hive which need to be gone over once in twenty-one days, that being the time it takes for an egg to develop into a bee and leave the cell vacant; and such constant production of eggs would be impossible without a constant supply of food.

When she comes to the mouth of an empty cell she thrusts her head into it as if to satisfy herself that it is in proper condition; and then she bends her body and deposits an egg in the bottom. And this routine she keeps up with the monotonous regularity of a weaver throwing his shuttle, or a woman taking stitches in a taboret.—Charles D. Stewart in the Atlantic Monthly.

Plymouth Five Defeats Ecorse 18-17

The Plymouth high school basketball team won their first league game last Friday night when they defeated Ecorse high by the score of 18 to 17. This game was an exceptionally fast one as both teams were very evenly matched. The score was tie at the end of the first quarter, at the half, and also at the end of the game, making it necessary to play a three minute overtime period. During the overtime period there was only one point scored and that was by Levandowski of Plymouth. Wayne and Stevens played the full game and they both played a very good defensive game. Elliott played forward during most of the game in place of Kinsey who was out on account of a severe cold.

First Quarter
Elliott scored a foul shot and Horvath followed with a basket. Levandowski made a field goal and Wagenschutz sank a free shot. Elliott made another free shot and Trondie made a nice shot from the corner. Wagenschutz then made another free throw and Haggerty followed with a field goal. The first period ended a tie 6 and 6.

Second Quarter
Vollmar made a free shot and Haggerty followed with a basket. Elliott sunk a shot from under the basket. Kinsey went in at forward for Elliott. Comon went in for Trondie, and Reitz and Hagerman went in for Haggerty and Horvath. Kinsey made a field goal near the end of the half. Comon made a free shot. This half also ended a tie 10 and 10.

Third Quarter
Ecorse started the second half with their starting lineup. The Plymouth five held Ecorse to two points in this half while the Rocks scored five. Comon went in at center for Kinsey. Levandowski and Wagenschutz made baskets while Haggerty followed with one also. McLellan went in for Levandowski. Kinsey made a field goal at the quarter end with Plymouth leading 15 to 12.

Fourth Quarter
In this period Ecorse held the Rocks to only two points while they scored five themselves. Elliott went back in the game for Kinsey. Horvath made a field goal and a free shot. Levandowski went in for Wagenschutz. Stevens then made a field goal and near the end of the game Horvath made a long shot. The game ended with the score tied 17 to 17.

In the overtime period Plymouth scored a free shot and for the remainder of the game the ball was kept mostly in the Rocks' possession. In the overtime period Hagerman went in for Trondie who was put out on personal fouls.

Ecorse Defeats Second Team 20-12

The second team lost their game with Ecorse last Friday by the score of 20 to 12. This was a very close game for three quarters but the Rocks could not hold the red shirted Ecorse players in the last quarter. They had an advantage over the Plymouth team as they were very much taller.

Dearborn Here Tonight

Dearborn's basketball team will furnish the opposition for PHS tonight. PHS lost the first game of the season to Milford 20-18, but beat Ecorse 18-17 in the first league game. Dearborn has a good team this year. Although it was defeated by River Rouge 26-25 in a tough battle, it looks like a tough game for PHS, so let's go to the game and give the team a helping hand.

"Exiled" Is A Splendid Success

The Senior Drama Club's Christmas play entitled "Exiled," has been extremely popular the past two weeks. The play was presented at the Baptist Church December 11 at Brightwood, December 15 at the Presbyterian church December 19, and at the Methodist church December 20. The cast includes Beulah Starkweather, Marvin Farbridge, Norval Boyve and Jean Brocklehurst. The club has been asked to give "Grandma Pulls the Strings," at Brightwood, January 5.

The club regrets that its president, Margaret Buzzard, has had to resign because of her health. Jack Wilcox was elected as the new president by a large majority. Wilcox gave a speech before the Drama Club last Thursday in which he lauded the work of our director, Miss Ford, and asked the support and cooperation of the club during the remainder of the year.

At the meeting of December 14 two competitive groups presented impromptu Christmas plays. The club members judged the plays; they decided that the plays were equally well done and the same number of points was awarded to each group.

Class Basketball

Boys' class basketball started Monday with the games being played at noon and after school. The teams play under the same eligibility rules as the varsity squads do and the games are officiated by members of the high school squad. The school is divided into two leagues, a Junior and senior, with the seventh and eighth grades in the first and the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth in the latter. There are six teams in the Junior league and eight in the senior.

Class Notes

The 7A hygiene class is making a thorough study of the digestive system. This will take nearly a month.

The 7A hygiene class is studying health in the home.

The 8B first aid class is studying punctured and infected wounds and snake bites. In class the students examined the rattlers of a rattle snake and also pictures of the various kinds of poisonous snakes found in the United States. They are vipers, rattlesnakes, cotton mouthed moccasins, coral snakes, and copperheads.

Ad. Lib.

We can understand ABC, BVD, SOS, and COD. But what about NRA, CCC, CWA, PWA, and AAA. We remember Andrew H. Brown had something to do with the AAA. AAUAAA in the Harlem Olympics, a few years ago but that doesn't seem to help us out very much now. About the only thing we're sure on is PHS. But not even then are we entirely free from the "alphabet soup" or "noodle soup" as it is sometimes called, for even the students of geometry must learn ASA, SSS, and SAS.

EDITORIAL

There seems to be a misunderstanding on the part of the parents regarding senior pictures. The only thing that is required of a senior is to have his picture taken so that a composite can be made for the school and for each senior. Each pupil paid a fee of one dollar, which was to cover the costs of the taking of the picture. The fee was used as a deposit if pictures are purchased, or on the memory book. If a student cannot pay the one dollar fee, as a student whose parents are on the welfare, the Publishing Company will take the student's pictures free of charge.

This year the Camp Publishing Company have made a very attractive memory book, in which are a few pages for autographs, snapshots, and other souvenirs. On the inside back cover is a picture of all the graduates. The picture is a large picture of the pupil who is purchasing the book. It can be purchased for $1.50. It is a book every senior will treasure in years to come. It will be very inexpensive way for the graduate to have a picture of himself and his classmates. The class voted to purchase this memory book in place of just plain pictures, and the former won by a majority.

Of course, we seniors all would like to have a few pictures to give to relatives and "best friends," but that is for the individual to decide upon, not the class. Relatives, we know, would all appreciate a picture, so if you pocketed a few dollars to buy pictures, it is a very good idea to do so.

I hope I have made it clear in this editorial that the pupil is not, or never has been, compelled to buy senior pictures, but only to have his picture taken.

Plymouth Enters Elimination Series

Terminating the series of Twin Valley Association debates with a victory over Lincoln Park, Plymouth high school will enter the elimination contests this year, although losing the league championship to River Rouge.

The season began with a debate in which Harry Fischer, Russell Kirk and Evelyn Rorabacher, upholding the negative and representing Plymouth against Woodland, were defeated by the decision by Professor Riley of the University of Michigan.

Plymouth's affirmative team, consisting of Jewell Starkweather, Jack Sessions, and Evelyn Rorabacher, was defeated by River Rouge in the second contest, judged by Mr. Forsythe of Ferrdale high school.

Dearborn lost to Harry Fischer, Jack Sessions, and Evelyn Rorabacher, negative speakers, from Plymouth, in a debate judged by Carl Brant of the University of Detroit.

Judging the concluding debate of the series, Mr. Robb of Ferrdale gave Plymouth's negative team, Harry Fischer, Thomas Brock, and Jack Sessions the victory.

The one defeat by River Rouge cost Plymouth the Twin Valley Association championship won last year, as the former school remained undefeated. The points gained enabled Plymouth to enter the state elimination series, as this school has done repeatedly in past years. These eliminations will determine the state debate champion school.

Plymouth received second place in the league, winning three debates while River Rouge won four. Dearborn and Ypsilanti two, and Lincoln Park none.

Able coached by Mr. Latture, the debate squad for 1933 was largely inexperienced. Evelyn Rorabacher, captain possessed three years experience, while Harry Fischer and Russell Kirk had had one year of practice debating. The remainder of the team had not debated, but a squad was developed satisfactorily.

The league debating is concluded. Plymouth will participate in the contest for the state championship. In 1932 the Plymouth team came near this goal, and it is hoped that this school will have a successful season.

Leaders' Club Elects Class Managers

Now that the new gym floor is finished, the girls are playing basketball again. This week at the club meeting class managers were elected. Rosemary West was elected senior manager; Yvonne Hearn, junior; Jeannette Bauman, sophomore; and Jean Dunbar, freshman. These managers are to help choose the teams and find out whether their class wants to play two or three court basketball.

If you live in the country you don't have to eat strawberries until they are ripe.

Central Grade School Notes

The kindergarteners have made some very attractive gifts for their parents: candle stick holders, dishes, and pencil holders of painted clay; string boxes, vases, and blenders. Last week they decorated their room with colored pictures of Santa Claus, trees and toys. They drew names and exchanged gifts at their Christmas party. The children had an exhibit of their favorite toys which they brought from home last week. The morning pupils are learning to read, and the afternoon pupils are studying the adventures of Dick Jane and Baby. They have also learned the colors by name.

In Miss Crannell's class the 1B Canaries completed their primer. In nature study they have been discussing trees and reindeer. In language they have read "The Twins in Tabitha" and "Windmills and Wooden Shoes." They have also drawn names for the Christmas party.

Miss De Waele's class has made their Christmas tree for the doll house. The class is going to play Santa Claus to the dolls.

In connection with their book "Billy on the Farm" Miss Frantz's pupils will have a poster contest. Mrs. Rowland and Mrs. Brink visited school last week.

Fourteen of Miss Weatherhead's students had A in spelling last Friday. In music they have learned several Christmas songs: Tommy Chaffee and Lila Mumby were absent last week because of illness. From Mrs. Frantz's class the Canaries are finishing their reader.

Miss Gly's class is happy to have Shirley Reamer and Daniel Perkins back in school again. The fourth grade students have made some interesting posters concerning the various phases of industry. The class has also learned a poem entitled "The Snow Bird."

Margaret Jane Nichol is absent because of illness. From Mrs. Frantz's class the pupils have been making preparations all week for their Christmas party and tree this afternoon.

Miss Peaslee's room is decorated for the holiday season with lovely red poinsettias which the children have made. Lyndon Ball's spelling team is still ahead. Flor-

Lincoln Park Defeated In Final Plymouth Debate

Concluding the season's league contests, Plymouth high school's negative team defeated Lincoln Park in a debate upon the year's question "Resolved, that all broadcasting in the United States should be through stations owned and controlled by the federal government." held Monday, December 17, in the auditorium of the latter school.

Lincoln Park's speakers were Harvey Carter, Jeanette McKugh, and Clarice Mollie, while Plymouth was represented by Harry Fischer, Thomas Brock, and Jack Sessions. Mr. Robb, debate instructor at Ferrdale high school, was judge.

Opening the debate, Harvey Carter explained the question, giving its history, stated the issue, and asserted that radio belongs to the people and should, consequently, be federal owned.

Harry Fischer first negative speaker pointed out that radio is already ruled by the people, and that if it were controlled by commercial interests, that this would not be a detriment, for they present many good programs.

A. The second Lincoln Park speaker, Jeanette McKugh said that a commercial monopoly maliciously asserted that the affirmative had not shown how government ownership of radio is merely a step in a program of state socialism in this country.

Thomas Brock alleged that a fallacy existed in the affirmative case on the matter of advertising by commercial interests, their stand being uncertain as well as another fallacy in the admission that good programs on radio are supported by "detritment" commercial interests. He also pointed out that machinery exists to remedy false advertising or a monopoly.

As third affirmative speaker, Clarice Mollie called federal radio ownership in keeping with the NRA, besides showing the superiority of foreign programs.

Summarizing the negative's case, Jack Sessions asserted that the affirmative had not shown how their plan is preferable to the present system, how it would work, nor why it is the only remedy to the existing evils. He also pointed out that machinery exists to remedy false advertising or a monopoly.

After a brief pause for rebuttal preparation the negative re-opened the debate, Harry Fischer called ownership unnecessary, since control is already in existence. Proving that no ill effects result from any monopoly, he showed that government ownership would not remedy the evils of radio.

The first affirmative rebuttal speaker asked the negative several questions, besides proposing to eliminate advertising on radio.

In the second rebuttal, Plymouth showed that the Federal Radio Commission has power to prevent a tendency toward commercial monopoly.

Lincoln Park's second speaker further explained governmental ownership.

Summarizing and comparing both affirmative and negative cases, Plymouth's third speaker asserted that the affirmative had not shown how government ownership would remedy the existing evils or how it would be superior to the present system.

The last speaker representing Lincoln Park, summarized the affirmative speeches.

Mr. Robb the judge, immediately announced his decision which he based upon argument, adaptability, consistency, delivery, and rebuttal. Conceding Plymouth the victor on each of these points, he awarded the negative his decision.

As a result of this victory Plymouth will enter the state elimination debate series, although losing the league championship to River Rouge, which won four debates in comparison to Plymouth's three.

First to Have a Legal Drink

The distinction of having had the first legal drink after ratification of the 21st amendment belongs to Benjamin DeCasseres, famous author and bon vivant.

DeCasseres is shown above as he took the drink a split second after news of the ratification of the 21st amendment by the 36th state, Utah, flashed over the telegraph instrument shown beside him.

Good Salads

Salads are always in order, and one never tires of new combinations and different ways of serving them.

Melon Cocktail. This is a most delightful beginning for a meal. Scoop out balls of honey dew or watermelon—both, if you can have them.

Potato Salad a la Russe. Take one quart of cooked potato balls, one teaspoonful of onion juice, one cupful of cooked peas, six sardines, salt, paprika and one cupful of mayonnaise, two or three cooked beets and three hard-cooked eggs.

Edison Could Not See Bell as an "Inventor"

Thomas A. Edison's declaration that a certain inventor was crazy made me curious as to his attitude toward other famous inventors of our time. So I asked him what he thought of Bell and the telephone.

He replied a little contemptuously: "The telephone was no invention. It was a discovery. Don't you know how the telephone was found? One day Bell was fooling with some wires and diaphragms, and suddenly he heard the voice of an assistant over the wire from another room. The telephone was all there; the rest was simple.

"No, the telephone was no real invention; it was an accident. In making an invention you find a need, then deliberately go to work to devise the means to meet that need. Bell never planned to invent the telephone."

I was about to conclude that Edison derived no joy from other people's inventions, when he added of his own accord: "If you are looking for a great inventor, take Marconi. He knew all the time what he was tryin' to get. It was a terrible hard thing to invent the wireless and it took lots of hard work and ingenuity to invent it, but he invented it."

—M. A. Rossaint in Harper's Magazine.

Officials Forgot Duty in Fear of Pestilence

The plague in London in 1665 was the poor man's plague, for the wealthy deserted the city. They followed the best preventive then known, which was administered in three adverbial pills—quick, far and return late. The nobles and officials followed this advice thoroughly. The city courts were closed, and the prisoners died in the jails. The sole representative of the government of King Charles who remained in London was the duke of Albemarle. It was during this epidemic that the apothecaries of the city won everlasting respect from the people; they refused to leave their shops and continued to dispense remedies even though many physicians deserted the city.—Dr. Howard Haggard in "The Lame, the Halt and the Blind."

Moat-Gatherers Active

The so-called "general" farmer who makes his annual income by means of a series of activities which yields small sums for the individual activity, but a sizable amount for the year's total, often has strange ways of earning. For instance, there is a fair income to be derived from gathering moss. The type that grows in water is particularly desired by florists in the New York area.

Got His Shilling's Worth

Rudyard Kipling once sold a book to a London publisher at a price that netted the publisher one shilling a word. The publication of this fact came under the notice of a Fleet street humorist, who, "for the fun of the thing," wrote to the author, saying that, as wisdom seems to be quoted at retail prices, he himself would like one word, for which he enclosed a shilling postal order. The reply came in due course, Mr. Kipling had kept the shilling postal order, and politely returned the one significant word "Thanks!" written on a large sheet of writing paper.—Milwaukee Journal.

London Fighting Soot

If the thousands of tons of soot that fall in London each year were allowed to remain, the British capital would soon be "up to its neck" in the grime. The fall of dust and soot is carefully measured all the time as the battle against the plague is kept up by the authorities. Dust and soot from the air is trapped by a funnel-shaped device and dropped into a bottle for measuring and also chemical analysis. The gauges show that five tons of soot fall over each square mile of the metropolitan area each year.

First "Infantry" Spanish

The term "infantry" applied to foot soldiers, takes its origin from one of the infants of Spain, who, hearing that the army commanded by her father had been defeated by the Moors, assembled a body of foot soldiers and with them engaged and defeated the enemy. In memory of the event, and to distinguish the foot soldiers, who were not before held in much esteem, they received the name of infantry.

Devils Island Reality

Devils Island does actually exist. It is located in a group of islands called the Iles du Salut in French Guiana, off the coast of South America. Here is located a French penal colony with administrative headquarters in Le Royale, nearest the mainland. To the seaward is the Iles du Diable (Devil's Island), noteworthy as the prison of Alfred Dreyfus, confined there in 1894-99.
