

Oppose Plan To Limit Gas Tax In Constitution

Road Commission Engineer Points Out Reasons For Opposition Wayne County Especially Would Suffer As Result Of Limitations Now Proposed

Because of the circulation in Plymouth of a number of petitions which seek to place a constitutional limitation upon gas tax and automobile weight tax...

Petitions for two constitutional amendments are being circulated by the Automobile Club of Michigan under the caption "Reduce Automobile Taxes."

The first proposed amendment would fix the maximum weight tax on automobiles over the commercial motor vehicles at 35c per hundredweight.

The second proposed amendment would reduce the maximum gasoline tax at 2c, thereby reducing it from 3c as it now exists.

The proposal to reduce automobile taxes sounds plausible and inviting to all car owners. Let us assume, however, that there are those among us well enough to know how well the situation stands...

Of all the taxes imposed on the automobile by the Federal Government and by the State from the sales tax on through the license tax...

Water Flowing Over Dam At Plymouth Lake

Three Weeks Required For Water To Cover New Lake Basin Parkway Road Along North Shore Soon To Be Paved—Old Bank To Be Removed

Last Sunday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock water from the newly created "Plymouth Lake" flowed over the new spillway of the dam for the first time.

The fill that led the stream of water to the power plant at the Ford plant will be shoveled out in the near future. The old dam has already been blown out. The three newly created islands will later be graded and planted to shrubs.

The new roadway along the north side of the lake has been graded and will soon be paved. When completed it will form a direct connection from the Plymouth-Riverside park to the new park highway that has already been constructed to Phoenix along the Rouge river.

The Ladies' Aid of the Lutheran church held a very interesting meeting and picnic supper Wednesday at the home of Mrs. William Bakhaus on the Ferrisville Road. She was most ably assisted by her sister, Mrs. Wm. Seeskala.

Cash Returned To Business Men By Party Chiefs

Former Mayor Is Sending Out Checks To All Who Contributed Local Business Men Hope This Ends The Mess They Were Led Into By Dem Party Chiefs

What Plymouth business men hope is the final chapter in the political fiasco that has recently flashed over the first pages of state newspapers by leading Democratic politicians of Michigan was written yesterday when former Mayor Freeman B. Hoyer received from Ralph C. Wilson, of Detroit, treasurer of the "Recovery Committee" a check for $372.

While Plymouth business men at no time expected the money back, made no request for it and had no part in bringing the affair to the attention of the public, they were nevertheless glad that it is all over from expressions heard during the past day. The entire mess was created within the Democratic party leadership of Michigan. The solicitation was made by one high up in the ranks of the party.

Whatever was back of it, the money that was contributed by some twenty or more Plymouth residents towards a fund for what they were advised was essential if this country was to receive the support of the government for bank insurance and its portion of funds to help relieve the emergency situation, has now been returned.

Local Republicans who took an active part in raising the money say they have one satisfaction out of the whole affair, they say at no time made complaint about what had been done and at no time made any public utterance about it. The whole mess was revealed by the Democrats themselves.

Our Committee has, of course, read the articles and statements in the papers quoting you as having collected the money for the three hundred seventy-two ($372.00) dollars mailed by you to us, which was duly acknowledged on February 19, 1934, for funds collected by you from the citizens of Plymouth for the purpose of strengthening your position in so far as Government patronage was concerned.

Righteous Life Will Provide Same Happiness And Progress As Ever Rev. P. Ray Norton Tells Members Of Senior Class That There Is Hope

The future holds happiness and progress for those that choose to live the righteous life. Rev. P. Ray Norton told members of the Plymouth high school graduating class in his baccalaureate sermon delivered before a packed school auditorium before a large number of guests.

Religion, that is to say, is a way of life. Education is a preparation for life, religion is what you are going to do about it. If men would keep that fact in mind the world would be saved. There are three things that guide you in the paths of happiness and progress. One is science, one is philosophy, and one is religion.

Prayer Service For Rain Brings Needed Showers

Local Lutheran Church Held Special Service Last Sunday Some Relief Comes To This Locality From Longest Hot Spell It Has Ever Known

The prayers of Rev. Edgar Hoenes of the Lutheran church as well as those of his congregation during the services Sunday morning were answered Tuesday evening by the most beneficial rain that fell over this part of Wayne county.

While newspapers have told of the seriousness of the drought throughout the middle west, the condition in this part of Michigan is well as in other parts of the state was becoming extremely critical.

Wells have started to dry up. One well at a country school near Sandy Hill, Mich., has never before dried up, stopped producing water last week and P. W. Carley who is directing some CWA repair work at the school, declared that water had been carried from a neighboring farm.

Some of the farm wells around Plymouth have started producing less water than in many years. While crops have not been damaged about here as severely as in other places, the long dry spell has done considerable damage. Crops of all kinds have been retarded and the prospects of a few weeks ago for good yields have now been reduced to naught.

Evanch Gets 15 Years In Prison For Killing Wife

Judge Gives Slayer Limit On Charge He Was Convicted Of

Fifteen years in Jackson prison at hard labor is the time that George Evanch, wife slayer, will have to serve as the result of the sentence imposed upon him last Friday by Judge Vincent M. Brennan of Detroit.

This was the limit under the law, Judge Brennan telling the prisoner that he was at a loss to understand how it was that the jury had returned a verdict of manslaughter instead of murder.

You cannot expect more leniency from this court. The sentence is that you must serve from 14 to 15 years in Jackson prison, with the recommendation of the court that you serve the full term of the sentence," said Judge Brennan in sentencing Evanch. He has already been taken to Jackson where he has started his sentence.

It will be recalled that Evanch some two months ago visited the home of Evanch and Mrs. Lee Sackett and shot his wife to death without warning. Mrs. Evanch a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sackett, had left Evanch some time previous and returned to her home.

Evanch contended that he was drunk and insane and did not know what he was doing at the time he killed his wife. It was shown that he had planned the murder weeks in advance and that he had purchased the gun in Minneapolis sometime before he did the killing.

Plymouth officers have announced that they will strongly oppose any effort ever made to have the sentence reduced, if such an effort should be made at sometime in the future.

Sneak Thieves Rob Park Stand Glenn Smith's Place In Cass Benton Park Is Broken Into

Sneak thieves sometime Monday night broke into the refreshment stand that Glenn Smith is running in Cass Benton park and stole goods valued at over $30. Entrance into the little store was gained by breaking off a lock.

That the theft was committed by boys or young men is evident from the fact that they stole a large amount of ice cream, cigarettes, indoor balls and a number of baskets.

The loss is covered by an insurance policy but county officials are making into the refreshment stand to find out what boys did the stealing as this is the first theft reported from any of the parks about here.

Plymouth Gas Service Has Been Purchased By Consumers Power Co. Will Assume Immediate Control

All Properties Of Michigan Federated Utilities Company Pass Into Ownership Of Company That Pioneered In Development Of Water Power Within The State

Announcement has been made of the purchase of the Michigan Federated Utilities, owners of the Plymouth, Northville and Wayne gas plants, by the Consumers Power company. The statement telling of the sale was made by Dan E. Karn, vice president and general manager of the Consumers. It is understood that the Consumers will assume control of not only the Plymouth property but all of the other holdings of the Michigan Federated utility company.

The Consumers company spent millions of dollars developing the water power of many of the rivers of central and northern Michigan. It was this company that brought to most of that part of the state not served by the Detroit Edison company the latest standard light and power service it now enjoys. During recent years it has extended its public service by the operation of numerous municipalities and plans to visit the northern part of the state, especially the big dams along the Stakes river, doubtless know that all of these developments are among the developments of the Consumers company.

In addition to the purchase of all the properties of the Michigan Federated Utilities, the company also announced the purchase of the Lower Peninsula Consumers company which serves a large number of small communities in the northern part of the state.

From what can be learned it is the intention of the Consumers to build up its gas business in and about Plymouth. This development will be consistent and will at all times take care of the needs of the developing part of Wayne county.

The Michigan Federated during the years it has controlled the local gas company has frequently changed local managers until it was necessary to name L. L. Price, came to Plymouth. Mr. Price has been able to bring to the company that now passes from the ownership of the property to the Consumers. Confidence it did not enjoy previously.

Local Rotarians will be interested in knowing that Mr. Karn of Jackson, the ranking official of the Consumers in Michigan, was formerly president of the Kalamazoo Rotary Club and served as district governor most efficiently in the western part of the state. Mr. Karn's advancement with the Consumers Power company has been most remarkable. He is one of the youngest great power company executives in the country and he is regarded as one of the most efficient. His home is in Jackson, which is the headquarters of the Consumers Power company.

Dies Following A Fishing Trip Dr. Paul H. Alexander of Northville Victim of Appendicitis

Plymouth friends of Dr. Paul Alexander of Northville were shocked and surprised to learn of his death Monday morning following the illness of but a few days. He died in a Detroit hospital from a ruptured appendix, where he had been taken following his return from a fishing trip to the northern part of the state.

Dr. Alexander was only 45 years of age. He was born in Northville following his graduation from the University of Michigan Dental school and took an active part in all community affairs. He was a member of the Exchange club of that community.

Mrs. Alexander and two daughters survive. Many from here attended the funeral. Mrs. Bert Swadling was pleasantly reminded on her birthday by a group of friends. The evening was spent in giving cards. Mrs. Swadling was the recipient of many useful gifts including a delicious birthday cake which was later passed to the guests.

A GOOD JOB

During recent weeks the city government has apparently put forth a special effort to keep the main streets of the city clean and free of papers and other refuse. Only on one or two occasions have the winds whipped handbills and wrappings into heaps here and there. If the city officials can keep up this good work, there is no great need for the enactment of any official regulations. Nothing helps the appearance of a city more than good clean pavings. If we can keep them clean without the necessity of making it an offense to litter up the main streets, we are to be commended. If it cannot be done, then no time should be lost in preventing the one thing that causes the most of it—and that is the distribution of dodgers. Officials are to be commended for the work they are doing.

FOOL THINGS

At the time the government last fall directed farmers to plow under crops and kill off their live stock in order to reduce the food surplus in this country and make the prices higher many thoughtful people who have lived through other depressions thought the action a fool thing to do. Now that the country is faced with what promises to be one of the most serious crop shortages in its history due to a nation-wide drought, we wonder what some of the brain-trusters will do to restore the surplus they destroyed last year? These people should keep it in mind and should now give heed to the danger they face—if the forthcoming crop shortage is as serious as present prospects indicate, no one can tell what a hungry enraged people will do. If we are compelled to pay prohibitive prices for necessities this fall and winter and if the food shortage of the nation becomes acute as it now promises to be, the citizens of America have a right to demand proper punishment of those that led the country into the plight we apparently face. We have had serious droughts in other years, but fortunately we have not had in positions of power and trust a lot of professors who have not the slightest knowledge of practical things, and who ordered a large portion of the nation's food supply destroyed just because they thought there was too much of it. We can only hope and pray that the calamity we fear that we face does not take place and that nature will provide the rains so badly needed. And we hope too that the bitter condemnation we hear on every hand of the food destroyers culminates in nothing more serious than condemnation.

THE USUAL THING

Just now we are hearing many promises from all of the various candidates for state offices. These promises are coming from representatives of both parties. It seems difficult for these fellows to realize that the people have reached a point where their votes in the future are going to be given to the candidates who HAVE DONE SOMETHING, not to candidates who make promises.

RELIEF MONEY

A statement has been issued from Lansing by the Emergency Welfare Relief Commission in which it says that by the end of June $18,661,940.32 will have been spent in this state since January first for "direct and work relief."

The report continues as follows:

"The peak load of families receiving aid during the six month period was reached in April when 146,184 families were registered on the relief rolls, the report states. There has been a general decline in the number of families to receive aid during May, and it is estimated that June will reach the period low with approximately 133,000 on the rolls."

"The highest number of single persons cared for was 22,030 in March, and the report states that this class of indigent has also dropped sharply. It is estimated that the number will drop to 17,000 in June."

"The number of transient cases has remained about the same for the period. The average is 5,000 a month who are absolutely homeless during the period."

"Supplementary to the report is the number of persons given who have been aided through the ERA, the last Federal program of relief. The number is 74,256 during April and 139,745 in May and June estimates."

"Here is the monthly relief costs with May and June estimates:

January, $2,475,758.12; February, $2,269,100.13; March, $2,673,743.77; April, $3,493,338.30; May, estimated $3,950,000.00; June, estimated $3,800,000.00; Total $18,661,940.32."

"The report is entirely misleading and does not bear out a true picture of actual conditions. ALL of this money DID NOT go to direct relief. MUCH OF IT went for the payment of political job holders. Some day the people of Michigan and the nation will learn that through the millions of dollars gouged from the taxpayers supposedly for the relief of the hungry and destitute, one of the great political machines in the history of the country has been built up—and that millions of the dollars the taxpayers thought was going to relieve suffering, has gone into the pockets of favored political office holders."

COMMENDABLE ACTION

The school board over in Charlotte has restored ten percent of the wage cut it made last year in teachers' salaries. The board is to be commended for this action. As quickly as humanly possible, another ten or fifteen percent should be added to it. One of the tragedies of the past three years has been the flight of greedy politicians who gouged from the taxpayers supposedly for the relief of the hungry and destitute, one of the great political machines in the history of the country has been built up—and that millions of the dollars the taxpayers thought was going to relieve suffering, has gone into the pockets of favored political office holders.

A CORRECT ANSWER

Thomas Conlin, veteran editor of the Upper Peninsula in his excellent paper a week or so ago in commenting about the probable candidacy of former Governor Alex J. Groesbeck, said "He (Groesbeck) knows that the people are turning to him not because they love him but because their need for him is greater. He knows that unless he meets with expectations he (and I believe also) the Republican party is through." The Mail is in full accord with what Mr. Conlin says about Gov. Groesbeck, but we are somewhat doubtful as to his prediction pertaining to the future of the Republican party. We believe it will live, just as has the great Democratic party, even though there may be many lean years ahead for it.

GOOD JUDGEMENT

We cannot refrain from adding just a word of commendation to Judge Vincent M. Brennan for the sentence he passed out in the Evanch case. The judge imposed the limit under the law and when he sentenced the brutal young killer, he declared that the jury had granted too great a leniency to him. The judge by his excellent judgment in this matter has won for himself the gratitude of every one in this part of Wayne county, who were amazed at the manslaughter verdict returned by the jury. It might be added that the excellent judgement displayed in this case by Judge Brennan is in keeping with the usual fine record he is making on the bench.

WHY A COMMUNITY NEWSPAPER?

Contest Sponsored by Adrian Van Koeveering of Zeeland, Michigan

By HENRY H. FORD, Highland Park, Mich. (Favorable Mention)

A Newspaper is the life of a community. Life means action, death inaction. The dead man has eyes, ears, hands, feet and heart, but he lacks action. Community may have its various parts of an up-to-date and growing community, but if there is no real accomplishment it is because the community is dead. A newspaper is the life of a community; its weekly visitation into the homes keeps the community active, and from this activity comes economic, intellectual and moral health.

An automobile may have left the factory a thing of mechanical skill and beauty, but if it has no motor and no gas in the tank what good is it, it lacks the very thing for which it was made—power. A community may have able business men, shrewd financiers, trained educators and conscientious religionists, but if it does not have a live newspaper—gas in the engine to run the works, grass and weeds will grow in the middle of its streets. What the heart is to the body, so the newspaper is to the community—in short: It is its life!

A newspaper is the assembling plant of ideas for a community. Ideas are as multitudinous as the sands of the sea. There are good and bad ideas; some good, many not so good, still others of no value whatever. To recognize an idea of value is no small thing, and to distinguish a worthless idea from one of value requires rare talents. To select the good ideas, to separate them from the junk pile of oblivion, and what ideas should be assembled for the good of humanity, is a task almost superhuman. Without a newspaper which is the assembling plant of a community, there can be no progress. The newspaper is the mightiest potential force in the crystallization of public sentiment that there is; it brings into concrete form the many splendid ideas that are constantly forcing themselves upon us, for an idea no matter how good if not put in its proper place, may become a hindrance to us rather than a help. So that the work of the newspaper is to assemble, like our forefathers who came to this country when it was new, felled sturdy oaks, and made them into places of habitation for shelter and comfort.

A newspaper is the watch-dog of a community. It warns of the approaching sign of danger. It is suspicious of news feeds and strange fancies. It warns the unwary to be on the lookout to beware of charlatans, and of the shady maneuvers made by crooked politicians. It is a 20th century Paul Revere arousing the community to arm and to defend itself. The newspaper like the faithful watch-dog sleeps with one eye open. It fights the battles of the community if there be shady transactions in the dark that turn the light of publicity on them. It makes it its business to protect the weak that are being taken advantage of, and to encourage the strong who fearlessly stand up for righteous principles. It advocates what it believes to be right, no matter what it may cost in patronage.

This is brought out clearly in an editorial I read a few days ago in one of our outstanding community newspapers. It seems that there was some criticism offered by some, relative to the way some CWA workers moved about with their work; the critics thought that instead of these workers taking so much time to do things they "should dig in," where-upon the editor said in this editorial under the caption: "Give Them Your Cheers," that the criticism was wrong, wrong indeed. He explained that many of these men had not worked for two or three years, they were not used to hard labor; don't criticize them, cheer them. Here he was defending the weak and upholding the right. And for all this, like the watch-dog, he is all for a living, and sometimes a mighty poor living. For every year of a community newspaper is on the watch for intruders; it barks, it growls, it shows its gleaming white teeth, and sometimes it bites, and all for the community.

all for banishing us along with the Grand Rapids man. (Yes, Mr. Welsh's address is still Grand Rapids. He didn't go to Elba. He continues doing business at the old stand.)

Nowack is so human so changeable. His allegiance is so ardent and cools so rapidly. Once he was all for Groesbeck. Then he jumped to the Green camp but Green met him at the outposts and had him drummed out. Once he was a candidate for governor on his own account and how he did recommend himself. Then he took up with George Welsh. Now poor George ponders those words of Julius Caesar to his false friend, Brutus. Nowack's tattered battle flag was last seen lashed to the mast of McKeighan's sinking craft as it plunged toward political oblivion at the close of the last republican primary campaign.

Underneath the caption, "Brown, Brown, Brown and Brown," of the Nowack article, we have added the by-line, "Quack, Quack, Mr. Nowack"—Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

OLD STUFF IN THE NEW DEAL

For a year or more we have been hearing a lot about the new deal. In some respects it does have a few furnishings of a more modernistic conception of man's relation to man, but in the main essentials it is very little different from the Old Deal.

The Old Deal was based on enslavement of mankind through bond issues and mortgages. That system fostered development of gigantic fortunes. Contract laws were at the heart of the deal. The bulwark the fortunes that were accumulated through the bond-interest or mortgage loan system. Every fifteen years wealth "dusted" for those fortunate enough to have a surplus of money required for immediate employment to gain life's necessities.

In the New Deal we have a heavy dose of this Old Stuff. In fact, not since the outbreak of the development of the idiotic world war have we had such an open season for bond issues. The Roosevelt administration has made it possible for a new generation of bond holders and dependents of the old crew) to live easy for another forty or fifty years, through issuing ten billions of dollars worth of bonds.

So instead of getting the yoke off of most American's necks, the yoke is to be freighted down with interest payments which will total at least another ten billions of dollars for the present and next generation of workers to pay.

For the ten billions of dollars the bankers loan the government, they will get twenty billions of dollars back. This will make it possible to do for the bond holders the only one that is feasible. Never was a greater mistake made in American fiscal policy, since the non-collateral loans were made to the allies.—Floyd McGriff in The Redford Record.

LET THE WEEDS GROW—IS NATURE'S PLAN

Can it be that we have been all wrong for so many years in cultivating our crops and weeding our garden? We suggest a new, but very old allotment plan—it is simple, not costly and it is ready response to the weeds grow. For years we have been weeding our garden, cultivating our fields, spraying, otherwise fighting weeds, bugs and worms at tremendous expense to ourselves and the government. But now we learn under the new deal that we were building surpluses, and the reduction enforced by these weeds and bugs is only the allotment plan in operation. But then, how could we know these things, until Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Wallace revealed these great truths in their "What's Goin' On in the Livingston County Republican Press."

STINGING MAIN STREET

There used to come to St. Johns a man who sold so-called advertising space on a card. All in the world this had to recommend it was driving distances to other towns—information anyone could easily get for the asking. He used to clean up $50 in one forenoon. One time he told the writer two months of this graft put him on easy street for the rest of his life. Last week a man came into Carl LeBaron's grocery store and said, "I've got a lot of five-dollar bills—can you let me have some tens for them?" Carl asked the man to take the bills to the bank to change his money—it was less than a half block away. That guy got out of the store in a hurry. Many counterfeit bills have been passed this way. This week another man was in with a school book cover racket in which he proposed to "work the street" for the cost of the covers, the printing and a nice profit for himself.—Schuler L. Barsby in The Clinton County Republican News.

THE SILVER FLOWER

Father Coughlin, radio priest, did nothing wrong by speculating in silver futures but he did weaken his position considerably as an advocate of silver coinage. Money sent to the Shrine of the Flower is placed up resolutely in his safekeeping. If he thinks that the funds for carrying on his work can be profitably invested in silver, he has authority to act accordingly. But once an investor in silver, he ceases to be a disinterested critic in monetary policies of the United States. How much of his verbal bias against the gold standard, for example, are issued with the welfare of "the people" in mind; how much with the knowledge of substantial silver stores in possession of the Little Flower which will increase immensely in value once silver is coined on the same basis as gold?—Dick Cook in The Hastings Banner.

"THE BRAIN TRUST" PRICE FOR PRESSING 3-PIECE SUITS

A Jersey City tailor, pictured as one of those faithful old souls struggling to make a living, father of four children, was sentenced on April 20th to 30 days in jail and fined one hundred dollars for pressing a 3-piece suit for 35c, instead of 40c as prescribed by the N.R.A. code.

Jacob Maged, 49, is the luckless small shop tailor who was sentenced by the Common Pleas Judge, Robert V. Kinkhead, after he had pleaded guilty to violation of the state code for tailors. Can you picture this man in a cell with the light shining through a single barred window on his tony fur coat, bought a few years ago?—George Neal in The Orion Review.

Oppose Plan To Limit Gas Tax In Constitution

6. Will that review reveal that a reduction in these taxes will curtail necessary expenditures to an extent which would imperil the present investment in roads or necessitate a resort to the property tax or other taxes for funds to carry thru road debt service?

7. Will that review reveal that the Legislature has shown wisdom in handling the road situation and these taxes through these four dark years, or will it reveal that the Legislature should be coerced and hampered from now on by the insertion of such restriction of articles which are properly legislative matters to be varied from session to session as occasion and conditions require?

8. Will not the insertion of a 2c gas tax limitation in the Constitution eliminate for all time the possibility of eventually reducing the weight tax to a nominal amount? If so, is such an amendment desirable?

9. Fixing the maximum gasoline tax at 2c per gallon in the State Constitution makes it practically impossible to change that tax in the future. Is it not conceivable that with the changing value of our dollar we will find in a few years that 2c limit will not meet the situation then existing?

10. Do automobile gasoline and weight taxes relieve my property taxes and if so would that relief be endangered through these proposed constitutional amendments?

11. It is a fact, as will be shown later, that in some counties the moneys available from these automobile taxes are not sufficient to meet the road debt service and that if these taxes be further reduced this condition will become general. It is also a fact that these road debts were contracted prior to the passage of the 15-mill property tax amendment. Will that review reveal that property taxes in excess of the 15 mills can be assessed to carry such debt service. Would not the amendments now proposed with respect to these automobile taxes nullify to some extent the 15-mill property tax amendment?

12. After an entire summer of study through the Legislative Council and its sub-committee and after consideration of every angle of the problem, and in the face of pressure to reduce the weight tax to 35c and the gasoline tax to 2c the Legislature of 1934 enacted a law reducing the weight tax to 35c. The Automobile Club were invited to present their case to the Governor, but did not see fit to present their arguments. The Council of the Legislature came to Detroit to meet the Automobile Club to discuss their views and their figures, but were not received. Why this reluctance on the part of the Automobile Club to discuss the proposed amendment limiting the weight tax to 35c when that tax has already been reduced to 35c by legislative enactment?

13. If the gas tax be reduced from 3c to 2c, will I save 1c per gallon as is intended by me when I vote for such a reduction? If I do not save the 1c, why vote for such a reduction?

14. Is there any apparent relation between the price of gas in the filling station and its cost, and if not may not the 14 disappear in the price fixing methods of gas producers? Did not the price of gas at filling stations increase when the Federal tax of 1/2c was discontinued?

Review Of Legislation Since 1930

The first urge was the depression gained headway was for property tax reduction and for curtailment of construction programs to meet the public pocket-book. At the same time there was reluctance in all quarters to diversion of automobile weight and gasoline taxes to other than road purposes, since those taxes legally and equitably are privilege taxes or fees for the use of the highway.

The review of the legislation enacted during this period will reveal:

1st. That no increase was made in the weight or gasoline taxes.

2nd. That more and more of the road and street work formerly carried out through the proceeds of property taxes was assigned to the agencies spending the weight and gasoline taxes to be paid for from these highway funds.

3rd. That all road debt formerly contracted against property taxes was required to be taken over and paid for from the automobile gasoline and weight taxes.

4th. That the former, legal sources of property taxes for the use of the country road commissions and the State Highway Department, through county road taxes imposed by boards of supervisors and through special assessments under the Covert Act, were cut off by new legislation.

5th. The weight tax was then reduced to 35c per hundredweight for other than commercial cars.

6th. As a result of this program of legislation, the funds available to road building agencies were drastically reduced. From these reduced funds it was required that all debt service, which had heretofore been carried by property taxes, must first be deducted. The remainder for the actual maintenance and improvement of roads was approximately 1-4 of what was available.

At the same time the mileage of roads to be cared for through this remnant of funds was multiplied by requiring that all debt given from these funds, that a certain portion of the funds be turned over to the cities or use on their streets, and that the great mileage of township roads formerly cared for by property taxes be taken over. A description of the legislation in the sequence of its enactment follows:

1931. The McNitt-Smith-Holbeck Act required county road commissions to take over township roads at the rate of 20 percent of the mileage per year and to take over all subdivision streets outside of incorporated cities and villages in the sixth year.

These roads up till that time had been cared for through the proceeds of township property taxes, and are now required to be cared for from the funds made available to the county road commission from the automobile weight and gasoline taxes. To aid the counties in financing this added burden, the act required that a portion of the gasoline tax formerly going to the State Highway Department, should be turned over to the 83 counties in the ratio of township road mileage. The fund so allocated was $2,000,000 for 1932 and increases at the rate of $500,000 per year to a maximum of $4,000,000 annually in 1936 and thereafter.

The cost of maintenance of the great mileage of township roads, however, exceeds these allowances from the gasoline tax and the excess must therefore be met by the funds available to the counties from the weight tax.

To appreciate the extent of aid which was given by this act to property taxes, it is sufficient to note that township taxes for township road purposes in 1931 were approximately $5,000,000 and that the condition of the township roads secured through the expenditure of this property tax was unsatisfactory and inadequate for the demands on these roads.

1932. The Dykstra Act, requires the State Highway Department to participate on a 50-50 basis in the cost of maintenance and improvement of city streets which are trunk line highways or extensions thereof.

Before the passage of this act no aid was possible from the State Highway Department to cities, and the load of cost involved in the extremely expensive maintenance and betterments of major streets was borne entirely through city property taxes or special assessments against abutting property.

Scarcely a city in the State is without an improvement which requires the joint participation on the part of the State Highway Department since the passage of that act, and all cities have been aided in the cost of the maintenance of their major arteries. The cost imposed on the State Highway Department by this act must be met from the proceeds of the gasoline tax, thereby again reflecting property taxes by automobile taxes for highway purposes.

It is impossible to estimate the amount of property tax relief which has accrued since 1931 through the operation of this act, but as examples we would cite the following:

1. The Detroit City agreement, whereby the State Highway Department agrees to assign $3,228,700 per year from its funds to meet its share of the cost of the widening and improvement of the arterial streets of the principal city through this act, and through that agreement and through participation on the part of the County Road Commission, at least five millions of dollars of automobile taxes have been spent in improvements which otherwise would have been entirely financed by property taxes of the City of Detroit.

2. Similar participation through agreement by the State Highway Department and the City of Dearborn, has resulted in the improvement of Michigan Avenue in that city, including the reconstruction of a large bridge over the Rouge River.

3. One-half of the cost of the maintenance of the principal arterials of all cities and incorporated villages in the State has been borne by the State Highway Department from Gasoline taxes since the passage of this act. In Detroit alone, this requires a contribution of approximately $125,000 annually, and in other cities, proportionate to their populations. There are many other instances in other cities scattered through the State where this act has been utilized to effect city improvements not possible from these automobile taxes.

1932. An Amendment to the Dykstra Act permits county road commissions to enter into agreement with cities to take over any part or all of a city's obligations for maintenance and improvement of streets which are State trunk line highways or extensions thereof.

Through this act, then, the proceeds of the weight tax to any county can also be utilized to aid in the construction of these major city streets in addition to the aid extended from the gasoline tax by the State Highway Department under the 1931 Dykstra Act.

Thus again through this legislation these automobile taxes are permitted to do work the cost of which was formerly borne entirely by property taxes.

1932. Amendment to the Covert Special Assessment Road Act. The Covert Act was the only act under which roads could be built by petition and the cost assessed against property. The amendment to the act in 1932 eliminates all future Covert road construction, thus insuring that no roads of property taxes can be assessed against so-called benefited districts.

Construction carried out under the Covert Act and through assessment against property, had accounted for a considerable part of the construction activities in several counties, and the assessments against properties were becoming extremely burdensome. Even in the last year of the operation of the Covert Act, construction to the extent of several dollars was carried out under that act.

1932. An Amendment to the basic County Road Law limited the amount of property taxes which could be spread by the board of supervisors of any county for road purposes to the one-fourth of the former limits. Furthermore, this amendment, by requiring that no such tax could be levied except by a three-fourths vote of the board of supervisors, practically eliminates the possibility of any road tax against property.

The only counties in which any road tax has been spread since that time are those counties who had indulged in disproportionate amount of Covert road (special assessment) construction and where, as a result, the proceeds of the automobile weight and gasoline taxes to that county are insufficient to carry the Covert bond debt service involved.

Before the passage of this amendment, property taxes for road purposes could be spread at amounts varying from $1 to $4 per thousand of valuation, depending on the wealth of the county. In Wayne County, for instance, the maximum was formerly 1 mill, whereas in some of the more sparsely settled counties a property tax of 4 mills was permitted.

In Wayne County the Board of Supervisors spread 1 mill in 1930 for use in 1931 which, on the valuation of the County at that time, was estimated to produce $4,500,000 for road purposes from property taxes. In 1931, one-half mill was spread. Since that time, as a result of this amendment, no tax can be spread and thus in Wayne County alone property taxes have been reduced by 4 1/2 million dollars since 1931, and similarly the amount available to the Board of Road Commissioners and the amount of work which could be undertaken by that Board has been reduced to like extent.

For the 83 counties of the State, property taxes in excess of $7,000,000 were assessed under the act in 1930 for expenditure in 1931, whereas in 1934, only very negligible amount has been raised and by only those counties whose debt service required such a tax. The reduction in property taxes then for the State at large through this amendment was approximately $7,000,000 annually since 1931.

The Horton Act, without increasing the weight or gasoline tax, reallocated these taxes between the State Highway Department and the 83 counties of the State, and further requires that certain residues of these taxes be turned over to cities for city street purposes.

After so reallocating the money, the act adds several new uses to which these funds must be put, all of which uses replace property tax dollars.

The first new burden to be borne from these funds is the debt service for all county and township bonds, including Covert bonds, which were outstanding for highway and bridge improvements.

The act requires the expenditure of the funds accruing to counties in a definite order of priority, and the first priorities are the following:

1. To replace property assessments to meet Covert Bond debt service.

Property assessments in the amount of over $3,300,000 would have been levied in 1934 to carry Covert Bonds which are now carried by these automobile taxes in the counties of the State. These property assessments would not have been affected by the 15-mill property tax amendment.

2. To replace property assessments to meet the debt service involved in the bond for general county road and bridge improvements.

Property tax of approximately $1,000,000 would otherwise have been involved in 1934 to meet these bond requirements.

3. To replace township property taxes to meet the debt service of township road and bridge bonds.

Township property taxes in the amount of approximately $300,000 have been eliminated and the automobile taxes now carry the load.

4. If there be any residue from the first half of the funds available to the county after meeting these first three priorities, the county is then required to split the balance between its cities and villages in the ratio of their populations and they in turn are required to use the funds so available for the following purpose, all of which replace property tax dollars:

(a) To pay its share of the cost of maintenance of its trunk line streets.

(b) To pay its share of the cost of widening and improvement of its trunk line streets.

(c) To carry debt service of street improvement bonds.

(d) The improvement or maintenance of streets.

It will be seen from this analysis of the Horton Act that a debt service approximating $10,000,000 must now be met by the counties from the automobile taxes and that the road construction and maintenance activities of the counties must be reduced to a similar extent. In addition, it is estimated that approximately $1,850,000 of these automobile tax funds will be turned over to the cities for their use as described above from 1934 revenues.

1934. An Act passed by the 1934 Special Session of the Legislature reduced the weight tax from 5c to 3c per hundredweight on all cars other than commercial vehicles. This reduction is estimated to total $6,000,000 and in order to partially make up this loss in the funds available to the 83 counties, the State Highway Department is required to turn over $2,550,000 from the gasoline tax to the counties.

This act does exactly what the Automobile Club is proposing with respect to the weight tax, but, nevertheless, the Automobile Club insists that the limitation shall be included in the basic Constitution of the State.

Proposed Gas Tax Amendment To Further Reduce Road Funds

It will be seen from the foregoing analysis of the legislation enacted in the past four years that not one cent has been diverted from these taxes to other uses than highway construction, maintenance or debt service. It will also be seen that every enactment has curtailed the amount of money available for construction, maintenance and improvement of highways.

However, it is further proposed by the Automobile Club that a second amendment to the Constitution be made whereby the gasoline tax could not exceed 2c per gallon. This reduction in the gasoline tax from 3c to 2c would involve a total reduction of $6,500,000.

It is apparent that the present status of highway finances and distribution of the revenues available and the legal earmarking against such revenues, will permit no such reduction without resort to one of the following three alternatives:

1st. The assessment of additional property taxes or other taxes to meet in whole or in part the decrease in funds involved.

2nd. A depletion of funds allocated to maintenance to an extent which would endanger the investment already made in roads. Maintenance is a continuous job, and if not kept up almost daily, the original improvement quickly and progressively deteriorates to a point requiring reconstruction.

3rd. Allocation on bonded indebtedness.

Nobody will argue that the cost of maintenance of all roads and the cost of debt service on debts contracted for highway purposes and the cost of reasonable betterments and extensions, should not be borne by the taxes on the automobile owner—the weight and gasoline taxes. Nobody will disagree with the fundamental assertion that not one dollar of these taxes should be diverted from these highway purposes to other uses.

The facts of the matter under existing legislation in Michigan, are:

1st. The revenue from these two taxes in 1934 will approximate $2,400,000.

The maintenance of roads, including the State trunk lines, the county roads and the portion of the township roads taken over to date, not including the requirements of the bridge construction law, and including necessary overhead for operating expenses involved, all based on 1932 actual costs, will be approximately $18,700,000 in 1934. The debt service which should be met by the counties, as well as that of the State Highway Department, including the interest on the Grand trunk relocation loan, will be approximately $14,000,000. In addition, under present laws, there should be a contribution made to cities in 1934 in the amount of $1,850,000 for use for city street purposes and city street debt service.

The total of these three items alone, which nobody would argue should not be met by these automobile taxes, will exceed the funds available in 1934 by over $2,000,000.

In addition, existing commitments of the State Highway Department against 1934 funds under legal agreements exceed $3,700,000. It should also be borne in mind that in 1935 and 1936 the counties will be required, under the McNitt Act, to take over approximately 12,000 miles of township roads annually and that in 1937 they will be required to take over all platted streets outside of incorporated villages and cities. This will place an added burden against county revenues from these taxes of approximately $1,700,000 in 1935, $3,400,000 in 1936 and over $4,000,000 in 1937.

It is apparent, therefore, that not only is there a serious deficit accruing in 1934, but that this deficit will be progressively increased until 1938.

2nd. Not one dollar is diverted from these taxes to other than highway uses.

In the light of this complete analysis of the situation, there can be no excuse for amending the Constitution to limit the weight tax to 35c and to reduce and limit the gasoline tax to 2c. If, in spite of the facts involved, these amendments be written into the Constitution, there can be no doubt that additional revenues must be made available from the property tax or other sources.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK Plymouth, Michigan

For washing and shaving, for bath and for shower, here is a new service:

ELECTRIC HOT WATER!

How often have you wanted hot water quickly, for shaving or washing, for bath or for shower, and found only lukewarm water in the pipes? How often have you been obliged to heat water on the stove, or climb up and down stairs to light a manually operated water heater and then waited for the tank to heat? You can end this annoyance and inconvenience by installing an ELECTRIC water heater. This new electric hot water service offers you a measured quantity of hot water, ample for your family's needs, at a definite cost per day—at a new low rate.

This is a flat annual rate for year round service, and enables you to enjoy the convenience of sixty gallons of electric hot water for as little as 10c a day. Forty gallons of hot water cost 8c a day, and eighty gallons 12c a day. Under this new arrangement, you may also obtain a seasonal rate for electric hot water, should you desire to use the heater only during the summer months. This rate is somewhat higher—about 11c a day for 40 gallons, 13c a day for 60 gallons, and 16c a day for 80 gallons. You may buy or rent an electric water heater, whichever you choose. Rental rates for heaters are low, and if you prefer to buy the heater, convenient monthly terms may be arranged. The low rate for this service is possible through the use of a specially designed heater which stores the hot water during the night hours.

Plymouth Rotarians To Attend International Convention

Famed Speakers From All Over World Will Be In Detroit To Address Visitors—All Local Rotarians Plan To Be Present

Culminating this year's work as president of the Plymouth Rotary club when the organization has not only shown a consistent gain in membership but tied for third place in the 23rd Rotary district contest for outstanding club work. Cass Hough is just now putting forth every effort to have the Plymouth club represented at the International convention in Detroit this month by a one hundred percent attendance.

At the last meeting of the Plymouth club it was evident from the expressions that there would be no trouble in fulfilling this hope, as all members expressed their intention of attending.

Mr. Hough has received from Rotary International a brief outline of the program that will feature the world-wide Rotary convention on June 25 to 29, when it is expected that there will be present over 10,000 Rotarians from all parts of the world.

The new economic and social problems of today and their meaning to the business men of the world will form the theme of the 25th centennial of the International relations, business conditions, methods for utilizing the new leisure time, the difficulties confronting the youth of today and the growth of Rotary's efforts to aid boys and especially crippled children, will come up for discussion in regular convention sessions and in informal assemblies.

The keynote address of the convention opening the week's program will be delivered Monday afternoon, June 25 by Mark Sullivan, Washington, D. C., well-known author, editor and writer on current events. In the other address of that day, John Nelson, Montreal, Canada, president of Rotary International, will review the progress of the organization during his administration in which more than 100 new Rotary clubs have been elected to membership, and the total number of Rotarians has increased by more than 7,000. This growth will be cited as indicative of the trend toward world recovery. He will also describe his impressions on his travels this past year over North America, northern Africa, Asia Minor and Europe.

The progress of science and invention which have developed from that advancement will be discussed on the second day, Charles F. Kettering, noted engineer and inventor, has the topic "The World Isn't Finished." Charles L. Wheeler, San Francisco steamship man, will speak of his own experience in dealing with vocational problems among employees. Fred W. Gray, of Nottingham, England, will speak on "Laws and Rules in Industry." These talks, and the others of the morning will be discussed in the informal vocational assemblies of that afternoon.

Community problems and youth problems will form the topic of the third day, with Prof. William Lyon Phelps of Yale University starting the program on the subject "Building Leisure Time Activities." U. S. Postmaster General James E. Farley will speak on "The New Deal in Building Citizenship," dealing particularly with those measures aimed at community improvement and the problems of youth. Speakers from several countries will follow in remarks on "Youth Service around the World," including Dr. Fong Foo Sec of Shanghai, Otto Fischer, German banker, L. Scott Langley of Chattanooga, England, and Charles Rae of Ipoh, Federated Malay States. Nominations for president and treasurer of Rotary International will close the Wednesday session.

Informal assemblies that afternoon will discuss the situation of youth and the activities of Rotary clubs in improving conditions and creating opportunities for further education and training.

The value of an international auxiliary language will be described by Dr. Herbert Shenton of Columbia University, on the fourth day, followed by Charles D. Hurrey of New York City who will talk on the international student situation under the title "Unofficial Ambassadors." A round table on international relationships will bring out the experience and viewpoints of men of several different countries.

These questions of international relationships will be discussed informally in the group assemblies of Thursday afternoon.

World peace, and how that objective may be reached, will be the general theme of the final day's session, with Bishop James E. Freeman of Washington, D. C., as the principal speaker. Roy O. Loudon, Fairfield, Iowa, will speak on the Rotary Foundation, and Edward F. McFadden, Hope, Arkansas, will speak on the administrative side of Rotary club activity.

Detroit Rotarians have made elaborate preparations for the day's session, with the thousands of Rotary visitors. The Rotarians of Mexico City, where the 1935 Rotary convention will be held, are contributing to the entertainment features a group of twelve artists—singers, musicians and dancers—for a concert on Sunday night. Detroiters will be hosts at an international fellowship evening on Monday, with a gala party inside and outside the Temple Auditorium where the convention will center.

Many of the visitors will gather into reunion dinners with those from their own district, on Tuesday evening, with dancing and music afterwards. The President's Ball, the big social event of the convention, will be held on Wednesday night. A steamship ride up the Detroit river for the entire convention group, will be Thursday evening's diversion.

Canadian government officials have extended special invitations to visits to Canadian parks and other points of interest after the convention. Automobile manufacturers in the Detroit region have invited all the Rotarians and members of their families to go through the plants, and many Rotarians have already made the purchase of a new car a part of their Detroit program. The auto manufacturers have tendered the use of 700 cars for the use of the Rotarians during the convention week, with two shifts of drivers obtained from the student body at the University of Michigan.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism Demanded," is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, June 3.
Among the Bible citations is this passage (Matt. 12:27-28): "And if I by Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your children cast them out? therefore they shall be your judges. But if I cast out devils by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God is come unto you."
Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 84): "All we correctly know of Spirit comes from the Law of Principle, and is learned through Christ and Christian Science. If this Science has been thoroughly learned and properly digested, we can know the God who created accurately than the astronomer can read the stars or calculate an eclipse. This Mind-reading is the opposite of clairvoyance."

ST. PETER'S EV. LUTHERAN CHURCH

Edgar Hoenecke, Pastor
Regular Sunday services at 10:30 a. m. DAY SERVICE FOR PEACE on Sunday, June 17th, at 10:30 - "The Way To Peace" - Text: Luke 19:31-42 - The prayers of the true children of God never go unanswered. It has been grossly prevented war to this day; let us learn to pray and to live so that at least in this our present generation the Cry to Arms may not be heard again.
This is to acknowledge a gift of $20.00 from the Sunday school children for our Mission Fund. Many of our children saved their pennies for raising final sacrifices to achieve this - and have wonderfully put to shame many of our older folks. We need still another $30 to complete our quota. Will our prayers not be heard again? We are confident that our Lord will hear and give to our people hearts of gratitude, so that our representatives at the final convention Lansing will not have to be ashamed. We want to do our duty.
Mr. Albert Rohde, regularly chosen delegate of our congregation, Mr. William Petz, member of the State Mission Board and the pastor will leave for the Biennial State Convention at Lansing on June 25th to June 30th. At this meeting a report will be rendered on the successful operation of the Michigan State Convention at our Synod. This plan originated in our congregation and has now been adopted universally throughout our church. It has been instrumental in raising the revenues and collections for the past year by about $80,000 - The Board for Home Missions will report and present any prospective funds for raising final sacrifices which it may have found. Unfortunately, the past year has obviated any possibility of such a fund. We are confident that we will look up to a greater and better future.
To those of you for whom the winter is too cold, the spring has been too hot, and the fall too beautiful to go to church, when will you come? Do you expect the Lord to wait on you with the perfect weather conditions, when the Angel of death calls you out of this life? Why keep up the pretense of being a Christian, when you so seldom go to church? Do you know of Christ, when His children gather? Why not be honest and call yourself the Heathen

CHURCH OF THE OPEN DOOR

(Independent Baptist)
God blesses us that He may, through us, bless others; and He who is filled with His Spirit, then the enemies of righteousness will be overcome, and the entrenched powers of darkness will be stormed by the soldiers of Jesus. Then we shall see the land of the enemy ravaged, and his fortress falling, if only God may have His way with us.
His will that every child of His shall be filled with His Spirit. And why not? Will you face what it involves for you individually? Will you be willing to give of His power to your part for the sake of the world that is waiting for a real Pentecostal manifestation of the power of Christ in every-day life?
He that believeth on me, as the Scripture hath said, out of his inmost being shall flow rivers of living water. But whoso thirsts of the Spirit, which that believe on him should receive." John 7:38-39.
Dear friends? Then listen. "Out of your" do you heed it? "out of your" inmost being shall flow rivers of living water." Let us be glad that Christ has made this truth so plain. Here there is no chance for wrangling or disputings; none for difference of interpretation. The Holy Spirit interprets this passage. "This is the Spirit of God which that believe on Him should receive."
Dear friends? If you are not a heart believer of the Word of God, Christ you can be. It is your birthright, and no man can deprive you of it except your own will. Faithful the promises of Christ gives: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." Acts 16:31.

Phone Company Cuts Rates To Save Costs Of More Litigation

For the purpose of avoiding further costly litigation, the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. will comply with the May 9 order of the Public Utilities Commission by eliminating the charge of 25 cents per month for the hand telephone, offering optional rates for one and two party residential service in Detroit, and reducing rural line rates 25 cents per month, according to an announcement by G. M. Welch, vice president and general manager of the company Monday.
The rate changes will become effective on the date of the June bill for service mailed to each customer.
While protesting formally to the Commission that its revenues are already inadequate, the company will place the charge rates in effect and leave the entire question of proper rates to the settlement of the case already in the courts. Mr. Welch said. Notice of compliance with the order will be filed in the offices of the Commission at Lansing Tuesday.
Elimination of the hand telephone charge of 25 cents per month will become effective after it has been paid 18 consecutive months. The order of the Commission does not contemplate any refunds on hand telephone charges that have been paid over a period longer than 18 months. The optional flat rates to be offered in Detroit residential service, without limitation as to the number of originating local calls, will be at $6 per month for individual lines and $4.50 per month for two party lines. The rural line rate reduction of 25 cents per month will affect all rural line rates, except that no rate shall be reduced to less than $1.50 per month.
"We want to avoid any additional costly litigation, and seek an early conclusion of the general rate case," Mr. Welch said. "We protest to the Commission's opinion that the rate changes ordered for Detroit and rural line service will not reduce our revenues to a substantial and serious loss of revenue. However, with the promise of the Commission that these rates are merely experimental, and with the exception that the general rate case will be taken up within a reasonable period of time, it has been decided to put the changes into effect. The general rate case was started in 1928 as the result of a rate cut made by the Commission. The Company put those rates into effect and appealed to the courts."

Win From Northville

Bassett hurried himself to another victory last Friday when the Rocks defeated the Northville nine 9 to 1. He allowed only two hits in seven innings and struck out five men. One of the hits was a triple in the fourth hit by R. Westphal. Plymouth also had a poor day at bat, but they played the breaks; the local boys will meet Michigan them being made by Kalmbach in three times at bat. This game ended Bassett's high school pitching career. He has won in four years about thirty out of the last thirty-four games. Levandowski, who has been ahead of the batting averages also leaves us. Kalmbach, right fielder, also won this year, and Harold Stevens, who has caught for three years will be missed very much next season also. Kaiser, who is a senior and has played a great deal this year also graduates.

Fire Destroys House On Six Mile Road

Fire completely destroyed the residence of Glen Bennett, one mile west of Salem on Six-Mile road, at about 8:30 a. m., on Decoration day. Downstairs furnishings were saved but most of that which was upstairs was lost. The fire had gained such wide scope before the fire department was notified that the Salem Fire Department was being in checking it. The place had been in the Bennett family for many years.—South Lyon Herald.

Local Buick Nine Defeats E. Windsor 6-4

The local Plymouth Buick Sales baseball team handed East Windsor a surprise defeat last Sunday across the Detroit river by the score of 6 to 4.
The defeat was East Windsor's second of the year. The local team is in the first in the local league. They lost Decoration day to the Triple A leaders of the Detroit Federation. Iron Man Warren Bassett won his first game for the local lads and his third in six days.
C. Levandowski made his first appearance in the line up at second base and played errorless ball and he got himself a double and a triple in five trips to the plate.
Jack Gillis held down the hot corner fielding a great game, while Joe Schombarger and C. Levandowski led the boys with the stick, each having a double and a triple.
With the score tied at four runs in the ninth inning T. Levandowski lead off with a double and scored on Joe Schombarger's Riverside Park at 1 o'clock. The local boys will meet Michigan Hardware Co. from Detroit. So come out and see our iron man pitch.

Big Crowds Fill All County Parks

Thousands Flock To This Part Of County To Enjoy Parks

Although the park system of Wayne county is far from being completed it is evident from the tremendous crowds that are visiting it at every opportunity that its facilities will be taxed to capacity during the present summer season. In fact so great have been the crowds in the parks in and around Plymouth during the past two or three weeks that much of the new section not yet ready for public use has been dotted with picnic parties and Detroiters seeking some relief from the intense heat of that city.

Park attendants say that the crowds of the last two or three Sundays have been the largest since the parks were opened to the public. On Memorial day there was not sufficient parking space in Plymouth-Riverside or Cass Benton parks for the crowds that flocked to these places.

There was a waiting line at most of the stoves and tables, and this in spite of the fact that a large number of new tables have been placed in the parks this summer.

Glenn Smith who operates the concession stands in the two parks, declares that in all of the time he has had anything to do with the parks, he has never seen such crowds as are now visiting them daily.

Business men already report that they are added by the thousands of visitors. Recently one dairyman sold more milk to park crowds on one day than he sells to his regular customers. Others report many direct sales to these visitors.

Elton Strohauser On Trip To Cuban Coast; Passes Through Canal

Elton Strohauser, a former Plymouth man on a cruise to East coast, wrote an interesting letter from Cuba, recently.

They left San Pedro, California, April 9th heading for the Panama Canal. They anchored off the canal where Colon is located, and they stayed there three days then started on through the canal. It took all the ships together forty-eight hours to pass through the canal. They were about one hundred and five ships, and altogether there were sixteen battleships. The rest of the fleet is made up of destroyers, cruisers, supply ships and one hospital ship. They went to the island Harte, and from there to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. They left there May twenty-second for New York, an expect to be in New York some time the first of June.

Some men are known by their deeds, others by their mortgages.

Two Youthful Bandits Seize Car—Woman Is Left Along Roadside

Chief of Police Vaughn Smith has recovered and turned over to Detroit police an automobile that was stolen from Mrs. Dorothy Cecil of Detroit last Saturday night by two youthful bandits. After putting the woman out of her car the bandits made about five miles south of Plymouth on the Sheldon road, where it was found by the Plymouth chief.

The thugs' victim was Mrs. Cecil, thirty-one-year old graduate nurse employed in the home of the widow of James Sprott, former police superintendent, of Detroit.

She was left on a deserted stretch of Ford Road, near Plymouth, late Saturday. The car, reported to be a Buick, was taken to a sick daughter to the Children's Hospital of Michigan for daily examinations.

Mrs. Cecil told police she had stopped for a traffic light on Grand River Ave. at Lothrop Ave., when a man stepped to the side of the machine and thrust a gun in her face.

"Keep on driving," he ordered her. One man got in the front seat beside her and the other sat in the back of the sedan.

In an effort to outwit them, she drove at a high rate of speed, often going more than 80 miles an hour, she said.

"I ran four or five red traffic lights and I kept on speeding, hoping the police would notice and stop me," she said.

"No monkey business," he threatened her upon several occasions. Mrs. Cecil said.

"We won't hurt you if you do what we want," the thug assured her once.

She said she pleaded with them not to hurt her.

"I said, 'that's all I want. I have three small children and I'm the only one to support them.'"

The thugs were silent, she said, after instructing her to drive out Ford Road. One thug then stepped over where she was to be left out of the car.

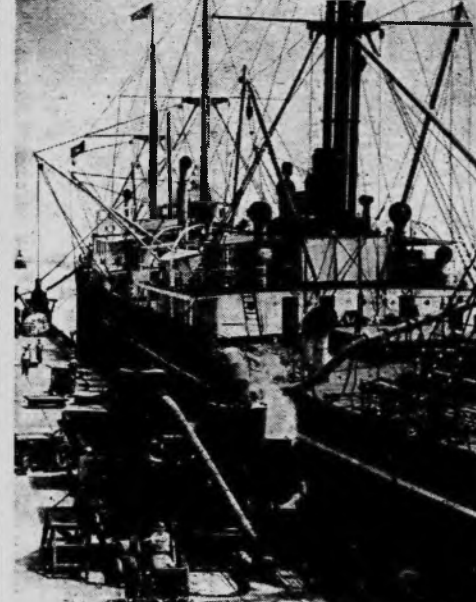

"She's not going to get out here and have a chance to call the law," one of them said.

Each of the thugs wore black silk gloves. Mrs. Cecil apparently to avoid leaving tell-tale fingerprints on the car.

Before she left the machine they seized her purse containing $20, a driver's license and a class ring she purchased while attending nurses' training school at the University Hospital, Ann Arbor.

A few minutes after the robbers disappeared in the car, she was picked up by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Blair of 520 Holbrook Ave., who drove her to Plymouth where she made a report to police.

State Honors For The Holstein Herd At Training School

The purebred Holstein herd owned by the Wayne County Training school has been reported by the Holstein Preisian Association of America as having finished the highest average for the state.

Thirty-six cows produced an average of 424 pounds of butterfat, 12827 pounds milk, 3.4 test during the year.

The school herd is one of 20 in the United States that has finished six consecutive years in the Holstein herd test. The six year average fat is given as 403 pounds.

The high cow for the past year in the herd, Princess Wayne, made 617 pounds of fat from 17-1/2 pounds.

Carr and Hopkins; Hopkins and Carr won 3-6, 6-3, 6-0.

No. 3—Anderson and Rorabacher vs. Weller and Weller; Anderson and Rorabacher won 2-6, 6-1, 6-3.

623 pounds of milk. Two other cows in the herd made over 5,000 pounds of fat.

The Holstein Herd Test is national in scope. Michigan has more herds enrolled than any other state. Every cow in the herd must be included in the test. Supervision is given monthly by a tester sent from the dairy department, Michigan State college. The object of the herd test is to weed out low producers and to get reliable records on top-notch producers such as are reported in this story by the Michigan Holstein Association.

The "linen" shower given in honor of Mrs. John Guild Staudt (Ruth Allison) Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Barbara Horton on the North Territorial Road with Miss Barbara Bake as joint hostess was a most delightful affair. The house was tastefully decorated with lovely iris and bridge was enjoyed for a time followed by a dainty lunch. He Catches The Fish That Took Hook And Leader From Chaffee

Some two or three weeks ago Mark Chaffee and a number of friends went fishing up on the upper branch of the Tobacco river near Clare. Mr. Chaffee has his usual good luck and caught a number of trout, but left in the creek and with the fish the usual number of leaders and hooks that a fisherman parts with fishing a northern stream.

Mr. Chaffee returned home and told Dr. Paul Butz of his good luck on this stream as well as his loss of a leader. If there is good fishing anywhere within a thousand miles of Plymouth, Dr. Butz is going to it as quickly as he can get there. It was the next day after his return that Mr. Chaffee had told Dr. Butz of this new fishing place. Two mornings later Dr. Butz and Clyde Smith were on their way to Tobacco river.

Upon their return home in addition to bringing back some fish, Dr. Butz had in his possession the leader and hook that Mark Chaffee had lost two weeks before. Dr. Butz had caught the trout that had broken the leader, both the leader and hook still being in the mouth of the trout. And this is not a fish story.

Committee's deficit, and assuming the statements purported to have been made by you were correct, we are enclosing herewith a check for $372.00 covering the amount sent us, as this Committee has nothing to sell, either in the way of patronage, CWA funds, FWA funds, or any lobbying prestige.

We are receiving funds every day from all sections of the State and when your check came in we assumed that the same spirit prompted this contribution as has been the case with all of the rest of the money we have had made to us.

Yours truly,
Michigan Recovery Committee,
Ralph C. Wilson, Chairman.

The former mayor's letter to the contributors follows:

You will recall that you attended a meeting last December, 1933, at which time it was pointed out that it might be desirable to the civic, industrial and banking interests of the City of Plymouth to make a contribution on behalf of Mr. Horatio Abbott, whom we understood was spending considerable personal cash because of services being rendered on behalf of the people of the State of Michigan. It was generally understood that this fund was to be of a non-political nature.

The enclosed letter was received from Mr. Ralph C. Wilson, to whom Plymouth's contribution of Three Hundred and Seventy-Two Dollars was originally sent. The clear cut explanation of the work of his committee is revealed herein and they have therefore elected to return the money.

Inasmuch as our government is functioning under the principal of two great parties, no doubt there are individuals who contribute to this fund who will still wish to contribute solely to the Democratic fund. If that be your conviction, I would suggest that your donation be directed to the Wilson's committee so that you may receive personal recognition and credit for the same.

You will consequently find my check for the amount of your contribution enclosed herewith.

My regrets are naturally tendered along with the above to being a party to such a gross misunderstanding.

Freeman E. Hoyer.

Northville Acts To Stop The Transient Merchant Nuisance

The following is taken from a recent issue of the Northville Record:

Transient merchants will not be able in the future to locate in Northville without paying the village taxes that established merchants are forced to pay each year.

A transient merchant's ordinance, drafted by F. J. Cochrane, village attorney, was passed unanimously at a special meeting held Monday evening at the village hall.

"Fly-by-night merchants have been in the habit," said Mr. Cochrane, "of coming into Northville after the village taxes have been assessed, selling their merchandise before the following tax time comes around and then hurriedly leaving town in order to avoid assessment. Thus they receive the same fire and police protection that do established merchants who pay the bills."

The new ordinance which will go into effect Tuesday, June 12, provides for license fees on a graduated scale, for the many different types of transient merchants who come here. The ordinance will be strictly enforced by police authorities.

Urges Return Of The Courtesy Of Other Days In Class Talk

Good old fashioned courtesy, the kind that impells young men to tip their hats to girls and their mothers when they are met on the street—good old fashioned ladylike conduct on the part of the girls and young women of today—these are some of the things that Father Joseph Schuler of Our Lady of Victory church in Northville told members of the graduating class of the Northville high school that are essential today if we are to return to a higher standard of citizenship.

"I do not wish to chide any one and I do not mean to criticize, but from my observations as I go up and down the streets of towns and cities these days, I cannot help but be impressed by the fact that there is lacking much of the courtesy in every day affairs that formerly prevailed," he said, "and be appreciative of all that has been done for you."

He declared that in his mind courtesy was essential to success and if one was to profit in the years to come, courtesy should become an ever day habit.

The services were held in the Presbyterian church house, the auditorium being filled to capacity. This year's Northville graduating class is the largest in the history of the school.

The following eight pupils are exhibiting: Margaret Daly, Barbara Olaver, Belva Barnes, Marion Coward, Jean Hamill, Beth Ann Hoheisel, Winifred Cutler and Donald Thral.

A person who reads much doesn't ask many fool questions.

On Wednesday, June 13th, the exhibit will be taken to the Northville Presbyterian Church where the women of the Plymouth Presbyterian church and the Northville Women's Union will have an opportunity to view it.

It will then be returned to Plymouth, and will be available to any store or organization that may wish to borrow it for an afternoon, an evening or a week or two.

CHOOSE THE TIRE CHAMPIONS BUY Firestone

Tires have been on the winning cars in the gruelling Indianapolis 500-Mile Race FOR 15 CONSECUTIVE YEARS

EVERY winner in the 500-Mile Indianapolis Race — the most gruelling tire test in the world — drove to victory on Firestone High Speed Tires. What a tribute to the Extra Strength, Extra Safety, and Blowout Protection of Firestone Tires!

Race drivers know tire construction. They know that heat generated by friction inside the cotton cords that make up the body of the tire, is the greatest enemy of tire life. These men will not risk their lives and chance of victory on any but Firestone Tires, because they know the high stretch cords in every Firestone Tire are protected from friction and heat by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping.

Gum-Dipping is the exclusive Firestone Process which soaks the high stretch cords in liquid rubber and saturates and coats the millions of fibers inside the cords, counteracting destructive friction and heat. Gum-Dipping provides greater adhesion not only between the plies that compose the body of the tire, but between the Gum-Dipped cord body and the tread.

Just as automobile manufacturers have used the Indianapolis Speedway — the greatest testing laboratory in the world — for the development of greater power and speed in automobiles, so have Firestone chemists and engineers kept pace with these improvements by building stronger, safer tires to meet these exacting demands. If your tires are thin and smooth — drive in today and equip your car with new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934, with deeper, thicker, flatter, and wider non-skid tread, more and tougher rubber, more traction, giving you more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

Remember, the racing speeds of yesterday are becoming the road speeds of today, and in Firestone High Speed Tires there is Greater Strength — Greater Safety — and Greater Blowout Protection than in any tire made.

THE ADHESION TEST

Note how the rubber in a Firestone Tire clings to the high stretch Gum-Dipped cords. This greater adhesion and strength is made possible by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping.

Note how the rubber in an ordinary tire pulls away from the cords that have not been soaked and insulated with rubber. This causes friction and heat within the cords, resulting in separation.

THE NEW Firestone AIR BALLOON FOR 1934

The new Firestone Air Balloon for 1934 embodies all the improvements in the new Firestone High Speed Tires. The lower air pressure provides maximum traction and riding comfort. Gum-Dipping safety-locks the cords, providing 30 to 40% greater deflection and blowout protection.

Hundreds Hear Pastor Tell Of Better Future

had the intellectual training, Jesus comes to you to say, 'I am the way. Keep all the facts that science has given you. You will need them all in life. Keep all the explanations that philosophy has or will give you. You will need them all, but do not forget that Jesus is the way to happiness.'

Now, of course, what I have said does not seem so simple as that when we try to live it, and that is because men forever get their science and their philosophy and their religion mixed. Nobody in this world ever attends strictly to his own business; and when these three begin to cross their own natural boundaries there is always trouble. Take, for instance, that story of the creation. What happened was something like this. Man, in the practice of his living, came to know God, the creator and governor of the world. Man found in God help, comfort, and inspiration, as well as companionship. These experiences increased until man came to love God. Then man began to suppose. He painted a picture in his imagination about a lot of things. He painted a picture of love in his imagination about the way he thought God might have created the world. He did not see it done, for he was not there, but he imagined how he thought it might have been done. The experiences of help and inspiration and comfort and companionship were true religion, but the imagined process of creation was not religion. Then the scientist set to work. He observed certain facts in the story of the rocks. He measured and experimented and catalogued, and finally he said to the man of religion, your image of the creation process is not quite right. Now if each could have understood and trusted the other this would have been fine. The process of creation outlined by science would have given the man of religion a nobler idea and understanding of God, and the religious man's experiences would have thrilled the scientist's heart with new life. But for a time that is not what happened. Immediately the man of science jumped over into the religious territory and assumed to tell a lot of things he was not qualified to tell. He not only is your theory of the creation false, but your idea of God is false and your experiences are all false. There is no God because I cannot measure and catalogue him. Life is like a moving picture. You see the picture on the wall, and as you look a man is about to be run over by a train. At first you are frightened, but then you reflect that nothing really is happening. There is simply a piece of cloth called the screen, and a machine, and certain vibrations of light, but no real event. So said the scientist is life. Your experiences are not real experiences.

But then the man of religion replied, that his experiences were true, and that the findings of science were false, and while the scientists laughed him to scorn, what did the man of religion do? He put up a stake, and used the stake to hit and burned him. So both sides made a mistake, and did each other and themselves more harm all through the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. Instead of helping each other, they called each other names. The result is that we now live in a confused world. We have brought not life and happiness, but war and depression and suffering down about our ears. On one side we have the theorists, brain-trusters and what have you; on the other hand we have the hard headed men of experience who have led us in the past and will not listen except with anger or amusement to anything the theorists have to say. If they only would, they could trust and help each other, but they will not. Into this maelstrom of today Jesus walks just as surely as in the yesterday to say with voice of calm and assurance, 'I am the way.'

'Now what is this way of Jesus? It is very simple. Jesus said, 'This is my Father's world. He made it and he runs it, and he invites you and me to partnership with him in this enterprise of building a world of character and of brotherhood which is love. Live as a brother, and that is the way. Live as a brother and you will be happy. Let all men live as brothers and the world will be happy.'

It was necessary for me this week to take several meals in a Detroit hotel. One day I sat down opposite a busy fellow who seemed a bit different and I whispered to the waitress to ask who it was, and she said, 'That is Jim Lonson. So later I told my friends about it and they looked at me with envy, thinking I was a friend of this man whom they called great. Now the truth is that we cannot get all the friends of great men, but God who has actually made up this world of beauty and enterprise and value calls us to be his constant companions to walk with him. Live with him and him at his task of making men brothers and brothers of character. Such a privilege lifts us out of the animal kingdom, and makes us divine; it is the hope and the salvation of life. All progress depends upon it. We are to overthrow, not physical men in a wrestling match, but are to overthrow every opponent of happiness and progress. We are to be builders, builders together with God. That is the way Jesus lived. That is what He means when he says 'I am the way.'

Folks who never do any more than they get paid for never get paid for any more than they do.—Robert Hubbard.

We left our happy home in Harrison, for the old tents, swamps and rock farms.

The deer are sure plentiful in this country, there are tracks all around the camp.

After the men are bedded down for the night, the coyotes start, they make nice quiet neighbors, talking to one another across the woods, about their last winter fur coats, or what ever they howl about. The mosquitoes are a lot of bother, every time a person is bitten, he has to have a blood transfusion, they are so large. The rabbits are so thick they call them hares. Porcupines and woodchucks are more sport for us.

When we landed here the mayor was out to meet us, he is also the treasurer of Kenneth, in fact this is a one man town, or was.

Kenneth is 54 miles from the "Soo" 45 miles from St. Ignace, by road, 9 miles from a highway, 3 miles of rock to zig zag through the rest is swamp.

Lt. Hillen, our commanding officer, is no stranger to these parts, he has showed us many points of interest and has many traps in store for us, for Sundays and holidays.

Read a Detroit paper the other day, it said the weather was rather warm, but not so with us, we still wear our blankets and a comforter, an inch thick, with a fire going. There is still snow in the big swamps and if the weather doesn't do better it will be there all summer.

As ever,
Merle Weiber.

In the issue of the Mail of May 25 in the article dealing with the life and exploits of the late Wm. J. Stewart, Plymouth Civil War veteran, it was erroneously stated that his wife's father, Andrew Passage, was an older brother of the late Ernest H. Passage. Andrew Passage was an uncle rather than a brother of E. N. Passage. The author of the story regrets the error, and he asks well the Mail, is glad to make this correction.

6000 ATTEND BOSTON MEETING OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

Airplane view of the Christian Science Buildings in Boston, taken by the Staff Photographer of The Christian Science Monitor

With an attendance of 6000 members from all parts of the world, the Annual Meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, was held this afternoon.

Dr. John M. Brewer, Associate Professor of Education at Harvard University, will serve as President of the church for the coming year.

In his presidential address Dr. Brewer pointed out three ways in which Christian Scientists can help humanity to get along peaceably and harmoniously with each other, in family, village, town, community, nation, and world.

First we can continue and improve our work of healing the sick and sinful. In the second place, we can contribute to the cause of democratic government and peace among nations by supporting the good in human affairs and rejecting the impracticable, unwise, extravagant, and evil.

The third great agency for contributing to good government lies in our own relationships with our fellow man. Here we can show just what human government may become when man is governed by God.

Reports presented hailed the completion of the new Publishing House of The Christian Science Publishing Society, now in full use as the home of The Christian Science Monitor and other church publications. A marked increase in the demand for Mrs. Eddy's published writings was reported. It was stated that for the first time official lectures on Christian Science have been given in such distant fields as Macassar, Celebes, Colombo, Ceylon, Surabaya, Java; and other remote places.

There are now 2873 Christian Science branch churches and societies, 87 new organizations having been added during the year. The number of registered practitioners of Christian Science is 10,775, a gain of 682. During the year the church furnished funds and other relief in stricken areas in times of flood and disaster, and took part in unemployment relief in Boston.

Motion Picture Machine Is Gift

Graduate Class Presents School With Portable Equipment

The class day program in the high school auditorium Tuesday, June 5, was given in a manner which was a credit to the class of 1934 and to the school and community. The program was based on "Tales of a Wayside Inn," Longfellow, with the following taking part: Oscar Luttermoser, Evalyn Rorabacher, Margaret Buzzard, Esther Egge, Ruth Meurin, Fred Hestler, Catherine Dunn, Arthur Kepka, Robert Champe, Jane Platt, Rosemary West, William Ray, Helen Ribar and Miriam Jolliffe.

Particularly outstanding in the program was the chorus of eight girls and eight boys, and the president's address by Oscar Luttermoser.

Robert Champe, speaking for the class of 1934 presented to the school a DeVry motion picture machine and portable curtain. This gift will be outstanding in its usefulness to the school, opening up new fields in science, history, and literature.

Local Teacher Will Run Summer School

If you wish to keep your boy or girl profitably occupied during the summer months, or if he needs private tutoring, you will be interested in the offer of a local teacher, Mrs. Egge is offering to enroll any child whose parents are interested in promoting education during the summer months. If for any reason your child has failed or almost failed in any subject, here is an opportunity for him to make up his work before school opens again in September.

The needs of each child will be individually considered. Primary reading is of utmost importance because much of a child's future success in school work depends on his ability to read. Give your child a good foundation in reading and arithmetic. Perhaps, history, geography, English or arithmetic has been causing trouble and your child needs individual help. Mrs. Egge is ready to help bring him up to the rest of his class. Full school credit will be given for all subjects that are satisfactorily completed.

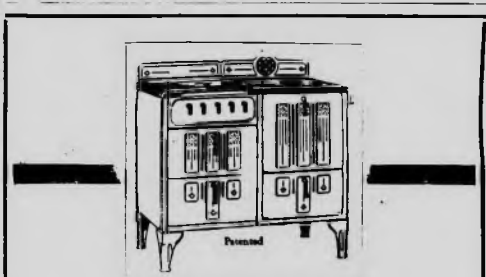

Classes will be held five afternoons a week at 272 Arthur Street. For further information call at 272 Arthur street or telephone 626M.
