Rotary Members From Plymouth At Convention

Plymouth Club Assists In Greeting Thousands Of Delegates

Convention guests come from all corners of the world — Detroit lauded for hospitality

Plymouth Rotarians and their wives are among the 10,000 Rotarians from all parts of the world who are this week enjoying one of the most enjoyable occasions of International Rotary ever held.

Not only did they enjoy the convention but they were among the workers, every Plymouth Rotarian having some part in the entertainment of the visitors from other continents.

They heard Mark Sullivan, world famed author and historian and probably one of the greatest students of government in America, berate the policies of the Washington Brain Trust.

They heard the Chrysler Choir of 200 voices give a program that brought almost a constant applause. They heard a group of the most prominent musicians from the City of Mexico give a program of music that was new to this part of the continent.

They heard the premier of Japan discuss at a banquet some of the problems of the Far East.

But these are only a part of the high lights which some fifty people from Plymouth have enjoyed this week.

Detroit and this Rotary district have won the admiration of the Rotarians from all over the world for their cordiality and courtesy.

Statesmen of Europe sat at Geneva and talk of world peace while sanctioning increased armaments. At The Hague the members of the League of Nations find new faults making boundaries as definite as the ancient wall of China.

In Detroit this week the farmers of Australia, the banker of Singapore, the attorney of Tokyo, the green grocer of Glasgow and the butcher of Chicago talk of world peace and fellowship in deals without sham or selfishness.

As 10,000 persons, Rotarians and their families, gathered at Masonic Temple Monday morning for the official opening of their five-day convention, the old message of good will was sent again round the world. It came from Gallilee.

The tradesman the banker and the English Lord were singing: "May fellowship increase. 'O, may all contention cease. 'O, may we dwell in peace and unity."

Someone discovered suddenly the power for world peace and understanding rests with Rotary International and similar organizations instead of in the marble halls of Geneva.

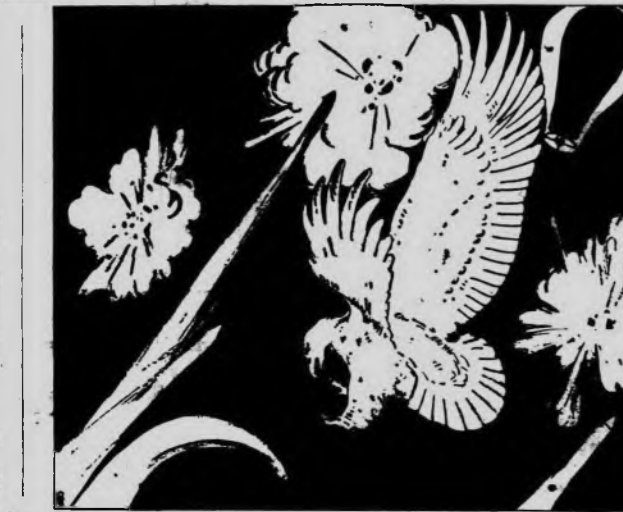

Almost every corner of the globe was represented when the list of delegates had been written.

They began arriving in Detroit Sunday. Plymouth Rotarians were there to assist in greeting them. A special train early in the morning brought to the interior of the city the officers and was followed by other specials from north, south, east and west. The registration room was even more crowded today.

They gathered to discuss just one subject: Service to the community, service to their fellow men in Rotary.

The convention was called to order by Clinton P. Anderson, chairman of the convention committee. The visitors were welcomed officially by acting Mayor John W. Hall, Mayor Roy Shaw, president of the Detroit Rotary Club, and Joseph B. Mills, governor of this Rotary district.

Building-Loan Votes Dividend

Officials Also Decide To Make Request For Federal Funds

At the regular Board of Directors meeting of the Plymouth Building-Loan Association, held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Nelson, the board voted to make application for a new Federal Savings and Loan Association to assist in securing federal funds for improving homes in this community during the coming winter.

The financial condition of the local association has been highly praised by the federal authorities and it is very likely that Plymouth will have its share of federal funds needed to take care of the constructive program as outlined by the President of the United States.

Assessment Of Meadowbrook Up

The members of the Wayne County Board of Review met in Plymouth Wednesday for the purpose of hearing any objections that might be raised to new assessments. Only one was heard and that was from Meadowbrook County club where a substantial raise was made but the board upheld the original assessment.

The meeting was held in the bank in lower town and the members of the committee who attended were Fred W. Castlor, chairman, F. C. McKelmer, Eugene Van Antwerp, all of Detroit, and Charles H. Rathburn of Plymouth. Hugh Williams of Wyandotte and George Voorhies of Highland Park.

Members of the board have been doing excellent work and in many cases assessments have been raised as high as $9,000.00.

Plymouth Boys Visit Greenfield

Nearly 100 Plymouth boys were the guests of the Ford Motor Company at Greenfield Village last Monday. The trip arranged by Charles A. Thumme afforded the local youths with a most profitable afternoon which ended with a trip through the courts and jail at Dearborn where Chief Brooks and Lieutenant Bartokovak of the Dearborn police department acted as guides and explained the functions of their departments. The youngsters gave the boys an interesting talk on safety, courtesy and law enforcement.

The boys assembled at noon and were driven to Dearborn in cars furnished by Kenneth Gust, Harry Hunter, James Sessions, John Jacobs, Roland Hewitt, Harry Mumby, Charles Thumme and a large truck furnished through the courtesy of the Eccles Coal and Supply Co.

The guests were taken through the Ford trade school and officials of the Ford Motor Car company complimented the group by saying that they were as fine an acting bunch of boys that ever visited the Ford properties.

Several times in the past Ford officials have gone out of their way to give Plymouth boys openings in their trade school and they have always signified their intentions of doing any thing possible for young men. The trip was greatly appreciated by the boys and the sponsors.

Condition Of Manager Harry Lush Improves

The many friends of Harry Lush, manager of the Penniman Theatre, will be glad to know that he is making a very satisfactory recovery in Harper hospital in Detroit. It is probable that he will be able to leave the hospital sooner than expected although he will not be able to return to work for a few weeks.

City Officials Hoping To Move Before July 10

Finishing Work On City Hall Is Taking More Time Than Anticipated

"Open House" Will Take Place Soon After Offices Have Been Moved Back And Settled

City officials are not going to be able to move their offices back into the remodeled city hall quite as quickly as they hoped to and it will be probably be between July 5 and July 10th before the temporary "open house" building on Liberty street will be deserted.

Because of the delay in the completion of the job the "open house" to be held for the public at the city hall will not take place until after the removal of the offices. This event will probably take place during the last two weeks of July, the first of July 1st as originally planned.

City officials state that the public will be delighted with the improvements that have been made in the building. There is little left which in any way indicates what the old city hall looked like on the inside. There is much finishing work to be done and this is taking more time than originally planned.

Officials hope that when the structure is ready to be opened to the public that every one will visit the building to see the improvements. The definite date for the "open house" will be announced in The Mail when fixed by the city commission.

Kiwanians Hear Convention Report

International Trustee Guest Of Club Last Saturday

Claude A. Dock, international Kiwanian trustee was the guest speaker at Tuesday night's meeting of the Kiwanian Club at the Hotel. The speaker gave a review of the outstanding actions that were taken at the International convention. He stated that the unanimous world wide resolutions calling for world peace and that this was made the keynote of the gathering of nearly 2,500 Kiwanians from all parts of the world.

The annual report made at the convention brought to light according to the speaker that in 1932 Kiwanians reached its lowest ebb with a membership of 82,000 and during the last year and a half it has grown to 94,364 members. This substantial growth according to Mr. Dock has been created by the various goodwill undertakings that the clubs have sponsored during this period.

The underprivileged child project which is the fundamental aim of Kiwanis was given much consideration and great plans were laid to put this undertaking on a much larger scale. In the future the speaker stated a new project which has to do with the development of normal children. One of the suggested plans was that local clubs sponsor summer camps for boys and girls and help them to get the necessary recreation the children need in the summer months.

Announcement was made by club president Edwin A. Schrader that Joe France, the first Kiwanian will be the speaker at the meeting of July 24th. It is the hope of the club that they will be able to get all former members of the club and friends to attend to hear this talk which they say will be very worth while.

Big Crowds Fill Parks Near Here

Manny Blunk Lands Big Northern Pike

Each passing week-end has for some time witnessed increased crowds in the parks about Plymouth. In fact last Sunday there was barely room for all the visitors to the Phoenix park. All tables and stoves were in constant use. Often there would be lines formed waiting for the use of some of the stoves and tables.

Officials anticipate that over the coming week-end there will be more people visit the parks than at any time this year, except possibly Memorial day when there was hardly parking space for automobiles.

Almost every week a new section is added to the parkway, but these places are used by the public just the minute they are opened.

It is anticipated that upon the completion of the parkway development about Plymouth within the next year or so, it will bring annually hundreds of thousands of people to this locality.

EARLY COPY, PLEASE

As the Fourth of July falls on Wednesday of next week, the plant of The Plymouth Mail will not be in operation. This cuts from the week the day when much of the work is done on the newspaper. We ask our readers to send in their news items and notices Monday if possible and we would like to have our advertisers provide early copy where they can do so. News matter and advertising will be accepted for publication early Thursday forenoon, but unless we have the larger part of it Monday and Tuesday, it will provide quite a handicap and we are asking that you cooperate with us as far as possible so the employes of The Plymouth Mail may enjoy the holiday with you.

Young Pianist Is Concert Winner

Sister Of Mrs. Line Wins Over Many Talented Students

Kyung Shyn Song, sister of Mrs. Winfield Line of Line Store, won a scholarship at the American Conservatory of Music last Friday. Miss Song who was a student at the University of Michigan last year, was among the youngest to compete in the contest, the object of which was to select the most talented students for scholarship awards.

Miss Song faced strong competition as most of the contestants were students who had studied at the school a number of years. She won her scholarship under Henot Levy who is one of the most distinguished pianists in this country, a native of the city of Paderewski's birth, and a personal friend of Godowsky.

Mr. and Mrs. Line accompanied Miss Song to Chicago, where she will remain this summer and study with Mr. Levy at the American Conservatory of Music.

The following write-up of Miss Song appeared in a recent issue of the Detroit Free Press:

Miss Kyung Shyn Song, 15 years old, native Korean, has arrived in Howell, making the trip of 12,000 miles from P'yung Yang, Korea, alone. She will visit her sister, Grace Song Line, wife of Winfield Line, Howell business man, for a few days before entering the University of Michigan next month where she will study music, specializing in piano.

Miss Song, who speaks no English, is the youngest Oriental girl to come to this country to enter a university and was able to do so only after a special permit had been obtained through Washington.

She was known as the "baby pianist" in Korea having won a national music contest there when only 12 years of age, and she gave concerts in China when only 11 years old. She is familiar with American or western music, as they call it in Korea, having an American teacher, Prof. Marshall, formerly a professor in the Chicago Conservatory of Music, who is now a director of music in Korea.

Her sister, Dr. Grace Line, graduated in medicine in Japan and is the first Oriental woman to receive the degree of Doctor of Public Health in America, being a graduate of the University of Michigan, at Ann Arbor where she met and married Mr. Line when he was also a student.

The father of Miss Song is a pioneer educator in Korea and at present is a regent in Sung In Business College in China. While it is not customary to educate girls in Korea or Japan, he has sent three daughters and a son through Japanese and American universities. Her youngest daughter also is a graduate of a Japanese college and is at present a teacher of music in her native land.

Miss Song hopes to become a concert pianist.

Manny Blunk Lands Big Northern Pike

To Manny Blunk goes the honors so far this year of bringing back to Plymouth the biggest fish caught by any of the local fishermen. While fishing in a little lake over in Oakland county Tuesday he hooked a Great Northern pike that weighed nine and a half pounds. Not only did he hook it, but he landed it and brought it to Plymouth where he displayed it to his friends.

Manny was the Plymouth fishing champion last year. While trolling in the same lake he landed a pike that weighed over 16 pounds. The best part of Manny's fishing stories is the fact that he brings back the goods to prove his statements.

Miss Sarah L. Cutler has returned from Chicago, having completed a special course in Fashion Illustration at the Institute of Art of that city. She will spend the summer with her parents at Portage Lake and Nankin Mills.

No Celebration On Fourth Here; To Be Quiet Day

Old-Timers Recall How Noisy Fourth Used To Be Twenty Years Ago

No Fire Crackers For Sale In Plymouth This Year — Many Families Are Planning Picnics

Next Wednesday is the Fourth of July. While Fourth celebrations have long been a thing of the past in Plymouth, it is an important holiday and right now nearly every one in town is busy making plans on how to spend the day.

Hundreds have already arranged for fishing and picnic trips to popular places within easy drives of Plymouth. Others are planning to spend the day in some nearby park.

But try and find a fire cracker in Plymouth for that energetic southern American who has seen pictures of the way they used to celebrate the Fourth!

Not a store in town had a fire cracker or other fireworks on sale this week. There is no longer any demand for these goods and fireworks 20 years ago was a big source of revenue to the merchants of Plymouth and every other town, are not now offered for sale.

Probably nothing passed out of the picture quite as quickly as did the fireworks that made the old Fourth celebration something long to be remembered in every family. But blown off fingers, sightless eyes and scores of deaths every Fourth of July from premature explosions of fireworks resulted in the campaign which has practically ended the sale of fireworks.

Old timers remember that long before daylight, the big cannon crackers, the anvils and other explosive contraptions made sleep an impossibility.

But no longer do these conditions prevail. Now the Fourth is a holiday for family picnics, fishing and other methods of outdoor enjoyment.

Plymouth's Fourth is going to be about as quiet as any Fourth this city ever had.

There is a single event of any kind scheduled here or near here. It is known that there is going to be a general exodus from the city, but with a considerable number of families remaining at home and planning picnics in nearby parks for friends and relatives they expect for the day.

Some plan to leave Saturday for the northern part of the state, returning late next week. Yes, it is going to be an exceedingly quiet Fourth in and around Plymouth.

Pay Taxes Today; Save Interest

Taxes for 1933 may be paid at the office of Jacob P. Sumeracki, county clerk, until Saturday of this week without interest or penalty charges. Already thousands of property owners have taken advantage of this opportunity which means a saving of seven per cent.

Mr. Sumeracki also calls attention to the Moore - Holbeck plan, the emergency act passed by the legislature, which permits payment of delinquent county taxes for 1932 and prior years on a ten year installment plan. Taxpayers who wish to avoid all collection fees, interest and penalties, should take advantage of this opportunity by September 1, 1935 and thereby realize savings ranging up to 58 per cent in some cases. Those who wish to take advantage of the installment plan must make the first payment, without interest or penalty, before Sept. 1, 1935.

Taxes totalling approximately $40,000.00 are delinquent for the year 1933. The county treasurer has arranged for collection necessitates a fee set up in the treasurer's office. New rolls must be prepared covering 1,500,000 pieces of delinquent property and 1934 means between 750,000 and 800,000 new accounts that the treasurer must handle.

For the past three weeks the treasurer has conducted an extensive newspaper campaign to arrange for collection necessitates a fee set up in the treasurer's office. # Governor Bings Fenner On Nose

(Verbally)

Clyde V. Fenner, Detroit up-and-coming creator of the Forgotten Man's club at so much per member, savior of the independent business man to the tune of many thousands of dollars in dues, once a Republican, then a Democrat, later a Commonwealther and again back in the Democratic fold, who is well known in Plymouth where he called frequently to seek votes as a Democratic candidate for congress and to organize the little business man into a big fighting battalion against Wall street, is not going to get any apology from Governor William Comstock.

It seems that the Governor in his address at the Democratic convention in Battle Creek last week said among other things, "legislation was attacked from every possible point by political grafters and racketeers—in the employ of selfish special interests whose hope of special privileges lies always in confusion."

Mr. Fenner gained the idea that the Governor was talking about him because the governor used his name in connection with this assertion, and he wrote the Governor a letter demanding an apology for what he had said. He added that if the Governor didn't apologize that he intended to sue him in the courts of Ingham county for damages.

The Governor read the Fenner letter over carefully and then wrote the congressional candidate of this district that "the statements made by me quoted in your letter were made deliberately and I do not intend to offer you any apology."

Now Mr. Fenner has started suit for $100,000. Big money. Big talk.

THE FOURTH OF JULY—A RED LETTER DAY IN AMERICAN HISTORY

Fourth of July is, indeed, America's red-letter day. Although the greatest Fourth of July was in 1776 when the Declaration of Independence was adopted and the United States became a Republic, yet even before that great event the date had played a strange part in the affairs of the brave men and women who had come from across the sea to establish a new nation in the American wilderness.

On July 4, 1636, Roger Williams founded his settlement of Providence, Rhode Island. The colonists in Virginia demanded and were granted important rights by legislation on July 4, 1676. On July 4, 1744, a tract of land, containing the Blue Ridge country, was bought from the Indians.

On July 4, 1754, Colonel George Washington surrendered his army to the enemy. He experienced on this occasion at the hands of the French his first defeat in war. Although at that time Washington was only twenty-two years of age, he had been placed in command of a small body of troops which was marching toward Fort Duquesne, Pennsylvania. At a point on the Monongahela River, less than forty miles from his destination, he heard of the approach of a party of French and Indians sent to intercept him. According to the story told in the "Bear Flag" history, he called for Fort Necessity, and it was rightly named.

With the aid of a friendly Indian, Sachem, or Half King, Washington attacked the French in their camp at night. Their commander was killed, and several prisoners were taken. A few days later Fort Necessity was stormed by fifteen hundred redskins and French under DeVilliers, and Washington surrendered on honorable terms rather than have his entire command massacred. This was on the morning of July 4, 1754.

Then came July 4, 1776, with its many events, chief among them being the adoption of the Declaration of Independence. The following year there was a celebration of the great event throughout the young republic.

During the Revolution, the Fourth of July seemed to be the date on which big events took place. The Indians attacked Boonesboro, Kentucky, July 4, 1777. On July 4, 1778, Major Clarke captured Fort Kaokaaska from the British. The terrible massacre of the white settlers by Indians and British in the Wyoming Valley, New York, took place on the same date. And it was on July 4, 1781, that the Lord Cornwallis evacuated Williamsburg, Virginia.

July 4, 1846, the independence of California was declared. There were at that time in California, then part of Mexico about two hundred Americans, nearly all men of exceptional vigor of body and alertness of mind. There were three thousand Mexican Indians, and the aboriginal Indian population numbered perhaps two hundred thousand. Captain John C. Fremont had been sent to California on an exploring expedition the year before. He was on his way to Oregon when he was overtaken by an officer from Washington with a message ordering him to wait and cooperate with the Pacific squadron in case of hostilities with Mexico. The message had been in writing, but the officer had been obliged to commit it to memory and then destroy it before crossing Mexican territory. Accordingly, Fremont returned to California and took up his headquarters at Sutter's Fort.

A few days later a party of fourteen Americans organized a small revolution on their own accord, captured Sonoma and declared war against the Government of Mexico. Needing a flag and not daring to use that of the United States, they made one from a Mexican reboosa a wide and five feet long. In the middle of the flag was a grizzly bear, beneath which were the words, "California Republic." The temporary government thus established is known in history as the "Bear Flag Government."

Meanwhile news had come of the outbreak of war along the Rio Grande, and on July 4, Fremont called a meeting at Sonoma which formally proclaimed the independence of California. He was appointed its first governor.

Soon afterwards word came that Commodore Sloat had arrived at Monterey, July 7, and had raised the American flag, also, that by his order Commander Montgomerie of the United States war sloop, Portsmouth, had taken possession of San Francisco.

Sloat, having heard of the hostilities with Mexico, sailed immediately from Mazatlan for California, where he took possession of the country and raised the American flag on his own responsibility. His was none too soon, for exactly a week later, July 11, the British man-of-war Colingwood, commanded by Sir George Seymour, arrived at Monterey to proclaim British sovereignty. It was thus by only a narrow margin that the United States came to spread from the Atlantic to the Pacific instead of stopping at the Rocky Mountains.

On July 4, 1826, Thomas Jefferson died at the age of eighty-three years. On the same day John Adams passed away at the age of ninety-one years. James Monroe died on the 4th of July, 1831, when he was seventy-four.

On July 4, 1848, work was started on the Washington Monument in Washington. On that same day the treaty of peace with Mexico was proclaimed at the capital city. On July 4, 1851, amid pomp and ceremony, President Fillmore laid the corner stone of the two great white marble wings of the United States Capitol building.

On July 4, 1861, Abraham Lincoln asked Congress for four hundred thousand men. In 1866, there was a national wide peace jubilee on July 4, the nation's birthday, in New York City. American citizens of more than forty nationalities participated in a great patriotic celebration.

Our Patent Bureau was established on July 4, 1836, and on July 4, 1870, California's constitution was formally adopted. On July 4, 1912, both New Mexico and Arizona were made states of the Union. Thus there are many reasons for observing the Fourth of July as a day of patriotic reverence.

Dry Weather In West About Over

Mr. and Mrs. Jay E. Brooker of Forest City, Iowa, have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clare H. Maben of the Mayflower hotel during the present week. Mr. Brooker, who is the new president of the Rotary club at Forest City, was the delegate of his organization to the International convention held in Detroit.

That the northern part of Iowa is not suffering so severely from the drought as many believe was the interesting information Mr. Brooker brought to his friends here.

It is true that we did not have any hay crop and that the lack of rain early in the summer did a lot of damage, but we have had some good showers since and crop now look pretty good. Of course this is not true in parts of Nebraska, Kansas and elsewhere where much damage has really been done, he said. "But rains are becoming quite general."

"We find business has been picking up a bit. No one has lost all they had when the banks closed up, but we are getting back on our feet. We have a pretty good substantial little town and Forest City has gone through the depression in good shape. We have but only one business place close up since the depression started and there are no empty houses in the town. Northern Iowa is a mighty good part of the country and we have not felt the depression as badly as elsewhere, we think. At any rate we are coming out of it rapidly and looking for much better times," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooker and Mr. and Mrs. Maben attended several Rotary sessions together. Forest City is Mr. and Mrs. Maben's old home town.

Allison Tells Of The New Chevrolet Just Placed On The Market

A new knee-action model, the Master Six Sport sedan, is announced by Chevrolet. It is a four-door five-passenger sedan with built-in trunk. New features of appearance and equipment distinguish it from other models of the line, declares Ernest Allison, the local dealer.

The newest Chevrolet has the appearance of increased streamlining, through the adoption of a modified roof line, to permit the rear panel to blend smoothly into the lines of the trunk. The entire rear panel, including the trunk, is made of a single stamping.

Advantage has been taken of all available space to provide a commodious baggage compartment. The trunk is 49 1/2 inches wide, 17 1/2 inches fore and aft, and 19-5/8 inches high. The spare wheel is mounted at the rear of the trunk space and wheels carried in fender wells may be had on order.

To provide protection for trunk spare wheels, and fenders, a specially formed rear bumper, with a greater arch, is used. The rear quarter windows differ from those used in all other 1934 models. A no-draft ventilation unit, pivoted top and bottom and operated by a T-handle, comprises the entire window. The vertical ventilator post is eliminated by this design.

Interior equipment includes upholstery of mohair or Bedford cord (optional), arm rests at all seats, adjustable sun deflector, adjustable driver's seat, assist cords, ash tray in front-seat back, glove compartment, rear window shade, metal robe rail, carpet covered foot rest, dome light, reversed opening screened cowl ventilator, and Fisher no-draft ventilation. ### Tells Why Trout Fishing Is Bad

State Blames The Un-usual Spring Weather For Poor Luck

What ails trout fishing? Why aren't more large fish caught? Where are the fine catches, such as those of last year and the year before?

These questions have been troubling the trout fishermen returning from a trip to the larger streams of the state. Has the fish population been so greatly reduced by fishing as to limit the number of good catches? Have violators by dynamite and spear or have vermin taken most of the trout from a stream?

J. Clark Salyer, of the Institute of Fisheries, Research, Department of Conservation, is inclined to blame natural causes for most of the unusually poor fishing of the past spring. Trout are largely influenced by natural conditions, Salyer says, in their seasonal migrations and feeding habits. Conditions of the past spring, he says, have been far from normal and have operated to influence fishing.

"The normal stream trout-population begins a migration in the late fall months," Salyer says. "The fish apparently like to hibernates in deep water, probably sensing that they are safer from natural enemies. As a result they seek the lower stretches of a river where the water is more consistently deep or move into spring fed lakes at the headwaters of a stream such as in the AuSable district. Water temperatures and water levels probably stimulate the fish to this movement."

"Later in the winter months they begin to swim upstream from the deep water, and drop downstream from the lakes." Coincident with rising stream levels, spring thaws and rains, the rainbow begins its migration from Great Lakes waters, upstream to spawn. These movements, as a whole, are probably influenced more or less by the rains and thaws, which swell the streams and bring down an abundance of underwater food for the fish.

"During the past spring these conditions have been almost wholly absent. As a result of drought fishermen found streams almost at mid-summer stage and clear of sediment. Most of the trout population apparently has remained in the deeper water stretches, the larger fish especially. Heavy thaws and subsequent rainfall which cause the streams to rise were lacking during the past spring."

While on a stream in north-western Michigan during June, Salyer observed that the trout population had just begun its movement upstream from the deeper stretches and that this movement was quite advanced. Reports of better fishing were being received, he says, and as the movement progresses fishing should improve.

"Stretching on the Pacific coast have been known not to spawn at all in years that were not normal and indications are that the normal number of rainbows did not make their annual run upstream from Great Lakes waters this year," Salyer relates. "Commercial fishermen were not troubled with them as much in their pound nets and fewer large fish were taken in trawls as usual operations. Probably as much as a third of the big rainbow population of the Great Lakes did not spawn."

In addition to natural conditions there have been other difficulties confronting the fisherman, says Salyer. "The trout which have been found in the streams have, best run upstream that is feeding on tiny winged insects. Trout stomachs examined were literally packed with them. When the fish take this kind of insect, apparently no fly will lure them."

On certain streams and in certain localities fish predators such as the American merganser and have probably reduced the fish population, but generally speaking it may be said that the fish have not disappeared. Conditions just haven't been right either for the fish or fishermen.

New Law Reveals That Farmers When Paying Mortgage Fail To File

Changes in the Michigan chattel mortgage law made by the last legislature bring to light the fact that many Michigan farmers have paid such mortgages but have failed to record their discharge and the records still show the mortgages as existing indebtedness, according to members of the farm credit administration.

The new law requires that chattel mortgages given or paid by all Michigan residents, not living in an incorporated city, shall be recorded with the register of deeds. Township clerks formerly were designated as the recording officers.

Federal loans made through the federal land bank or through the production credit association require a financial statement from farmers showing all existing indebtedness. In one recent case the records showed eight chattel mortgages against an applicant for a loan. All except one of these had been paid but he had not required that the discharges be recorded.

In some cases the mortgages have been paid but the person who loaned the money failed to record the fact and has moved from the State so that it is difficult to locate him to clear the records.

Loans made for short periods through the production credit association to farmers are increasing rapidly in Michigan. Delays occurring when this type of farm financing first was started are now removed and applications are getting quick consideration.

All News Cars Must Have Shatter Proof Glass After July 1st

One of the most severe "shatterproof" glass laws in the United States becomes effective in Michigan on July 1.

The law, adopted by the 1931 legislature, declares that all automobiles manufactured after July 1, 1934 and operated in Michigan must be completely equipped with shatter-proof or laminated or unbreakable glass.

In most other states, laws require the use of the special glass in windshields only.

Paul Weidman Tells Why Ford Engines Are Placed At An Angle

Reasons for placing the two cylinder banks in the Ford V-8 motor at an angle of 90 degrees were described today by Paul Weidman local Ford dealer, who termed it the most efficient method of doing away with excess vibration "because the unbalanced forces in this type of engine cancel out."

When the angle between the cylinder banks is 90 degrees, the interval or period between the explosion of each cylinder is exactly the same. It was pointed out, when in addition, the angle between the crankthrows also is 90 degrees, a condition which engineers describe as "perfect inherent balance" is obtained. It was stated.

"Unbalance in any engine results primarily from the fact that each piston travels faster when approaching and leaving the top of its stroke than when near the bottom of the stroke. In the 90 degree V-8 the moving parts are so placed that, when all eight pistons are considered, this kind of unbalance is completely eliminated or cancelled. With full sized counterbalances, the crank pins and lower ends of the connecting rods are completely balanced in their planes of rotation.

"The motion of the complete engine toward the right when the throttle is opened is not vibration," it was stated, "but is the natural and necessary result of the force of engine applying to the driveshaft. Engineers refer to it as 'torque reaction' and it cannot be eliminated in any engine by any form of rubber or spring mounting."

State Over-Run With Bug Pests

Bugs, beetles, moths, flies, and all sorts of other insects in all stages of development seem to have chosen this year to put forth a concentrated attack on everything planted in the ground, according to the entomology department at Michigan State College.

Past records which show the dates at which insects are likely to appear in Michigan and which tell when the season of serious injuries is past will have to be revised. The insects are arriving before schedule and are hanging around after they should be satisfied with the damage done.

Right now the season for cutworms is way past its usual finish but the pests are still cutting down plants and ruining crops. The best treatment for the common cutworm is a poison bait made by mixing bran, molasses, and white arsenic or paris green. One pound of the poison is enough to mix with a bushel of bran. The bait is moistened with enough water while being mixed so that a particle of poison sticks to each in an insect.

The poison bait should be scattered thinly in areas where the worms are present. These worms work at night, so sometimes, the only evidence of their presence is the wilted plants cut off during the previous night.

Climbing cutworms are another form of this hungry family. These creatures climb trees and vines and eat the buds and leaves. The poison bait helps kill the climbing cutworm but vines or trees should be protected by bands of tree kanelefol which catch the insect as it tries to ascend.

The army worm which is closely related to the ordinary cutworm has appeared in the State recently. This is the first time in four years that enough of the species has been present to do serious damage. Mason and Charlevoix counties report the worst outbreaks of the army worms to date but the insect may appear anywhere.

The army worm usually multiplies in crops on low areas and then marches to other fields as the original food supply is exhausted. It is nearly impossible to kill the insects after they are once established in a field but they can be destroyed as they are moving to new food supplies.

The army worms are trapped in barrier furrows that are plowed in series of three with the earth thrown in the direction from which the insects are coming. As the worms are caught in the furrows they are covered with earth by plowing a furrow to throw the soil into the one in which the insects are trapped. The poison bait used for other cutworms can be used on lawns or in fields for worms that get by the barriers.

Another pest which appears periodically is now causing commercial losses in corn and oat fields in the southern tier of counties. This is the chinch-bug, another insect which must be trapped as it moves to new food supplies. The federal government is cooperating with Michigan farmers this year in the war on chinch-bugs. Quantities of materials to be used in barrier traps have been sent into the State by federal authorities.

The barrier for chinch-bugs is made by plowing one deep furrow with the earth thrown toward the field to be protected. A heavy pole is then dragged with a team along the furrow until the bottom is smooth. Post holes are then dug at intervals of one rod in the furrow and a barrier of tar or some tar derivative is placed along the furrow so that it touches the edge of each post hole.

This barrier is placed by punching a hole with a nail in the container and permitting the tar to drip through as the operator walks along. The tar will spread out in a strip and inch or so wide, depending on the kind of soil. The chinch-bugs dislike the smell of tar and will follow along the strip trying to get around it. Their journey takes them to one of the holes into which they fall and are trapped. Two inches of hydrated lime is placed in the bottom of each post hole so the bugs will find it as they struggle to get out. The holes should be cleaned out once a day if the insects are numerous, and new lime should be added each time.

Plymouth Buick's Lose Second Game

Leftwich Garage of Highland Park handed Plymouth Buick Sales baseball team their second defeat of the season and pitcher Ray Levandowski his first defeat in two years.

Jim Williams and Jack Gillis were the leading hitters getting three hits in five trips to the plate, while Clement had two out of two for a perfect day. The home run hitters were Jack Gillis and Tomkovich. The star pitcher Warren Basset and two infielders Thomas and Clarence Levandowski have joined the Keelvinster team in Class A of Detroit.

Two new members joined the team last Sunday and will help fill the hole in the infield, they are Joe Finnigan and Ike Hobbins. Hobbins played a great game at second and gathered two hits in three trips to the plate. Next Sunday, July 1st and 4th at 1 o'clock the local boys will meet the Forty and Over Club of Detroit and a strong team from Highland Park.

with SIXTY GALLONS of ELECTRIC HOT WATER... at 10¢ A DAY

A NEW arrangement now brings you Electric Hot Water service at a low rate. By taking advantage of our flat annual rate for year round service, you can enjoy 60 gallons of hot water for 10c a day, and 80 gallons for 12c. Should you desire to use the heater only during the summer months, you may also obtain a seasonal rate, somewhat higher—about 13c a day for 60 gallons, and 16c a day for 80 gallons. In this way, you have a measured supply of hot water, ample for your family's needs, at a definite cost per day.

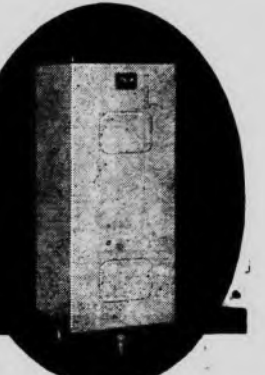

You may rent or buy an electric water heater, whichever you choose. Rental rates for heaters are low, and if you prefer to buy the heater, convenient monthly terms may be arranged. The low rate for this service is made possible through the use of a specially designed heater which stores the hot water during the night hours.

Here are some helpful suggestions for making your housework easier and pleasanter with the use of hot water. These are practical ideas of proven worth:

Drying dishes is a tiresome kitchen task that can be eliminated when there is piping hot water on tap. The Cleanliness Institute in a bacteriological study of dishwashing has found that rinsing dishes with very hot water actually leaves them cleaner than wiping with an ordinary dish towel.

Certain fresh stains can be effectively removed from table linen by stretching it in embroidery hoops and holding it under the running faucet. The stains of coffee, tea and various fruits yield to hot water.

Starting with boiling water shortens the time of cooking vegetables, decreases the loss of food value and helps to retain their color.

THE REASON

George Squires, county treasurer of Kalamazoo county, a few days ago pleaded guilty to the theft of over $16,000 in cash from the taxpayers of that county. Mr. Squires had held the office for many years. Before being elected treasurer he had served as deputy county treasurer and before being appointed deputy treasurer he had for a long period of time been associated with an old mercantile house in Kalamazoo. Now this supposedly "old and faithful public servant" is going to face sentence for high crime. What a calamity, when you think about it! The usefulness of his life has forever been ruined. His family is in disgrace.

But that is not just the point of this editorial. Squires was one of those public officials who made the public to know nothing of the affairs of his office. He opposed strongly the publication of anything pertaining to the finances that passed through his hands. He was against all "published" reports of the county treasurer's office. He gave to news writers little or no information about the transactions of the county treasurer.

Everybody thought Squires was such a "square" fellow that there could be no wrong in his office and that every penny of the county's money was going just where it should go. And everybody was amazed when it was discovered that not only Squires but one or two of his assistants had been consistently robbing the county's cash till for years.

It all reveals itself back to the fact that regularly published accounts of the handling of the taxpayers' money that Squires so strongly opposed would have prevented these thefts. The taxpayers wouldn't be out some $16,000 or $20,000. Squires wouldn't be facing a prison sentence, his family would not be in disgrace and there wouldn't be added reflection upon the honesty of other public officials.

When you hear a public official advocating in the name of economy the elimination of some published account showing up to the taxpayers the business of his office, just chalk it up that if there isn't a nigger in the woodpile right now, there is plenty of danger of one being in there sometime. During the past few months there have been arrested two or three other county and city officials in Michigan who have stolen vast sums of money from the taxpayers, and in all of these cases the officials had at some time strenuously opposed the publication of records and reports of their offices.

Now as never before in the history of our country we should have the greatest of confidence in the men who are running our public affairs. The condition of the country requires it—and public officials in return for this confidence placed in them by the public should see to it that there is not the slightest reason why this confidence should be shaken.

WE DISAGREE

In a personal letter written by former Governor Chase Osborn to Editor George Welsh of the Grand Rapids Chronicle, the veteran of the Upper Peninsula said: "Michigan has always been more or less unbecomingly known as the 'Democratic' administration before the present one. They were all sorry messes. Not one of them was as much so as Bill Comstock's. He is the poorest official his party has ever had anywhere."

To all of which we cannot subscribe. Mr. Osborn would have been right if he had said probably no governor ever had so many ups and downs as Mr. Comstock. When Mr. Comstock said at Battle Creek that his administration had been beset by chisellers, grafters and other types of hangers-on he without question told the truth. Governor Comstock's administration if it is a failure, is due probably not so much directly to the governor personally as it is the outfit he surrounded himself with and the lot of political misfits that were carried into office in the landslide two years ago. The Governor has been unfortunate in not possessing the highly important leadership qualifications the position requires and he has been especially unfortunate in many of the things he has said and done, but all of this does not merit the general charge of former Governor Osborn that "Bill Comstock is the poorest official his party has ever had anywhere."

THE CASE OF MR. SOUTHWORTH

Just what will be the outcome of the case of Representative Tracy Southworth of Monroe, accused of bribery and of securing a trucking license before the public utilities commission in Lansing no one knows. Mr. Southworth if the facts as revealed are correct, used his influence for a stated sum of money to secure a permit of operation for a trucking company. Mr. Southworth does not happen to be a lawyer and he is a member of the state legislature.

His arrest brings up a rather interesting question in our mind. If Mr. Southworth had been an attorney and had accepted the money that he is accused of having taken as a "retainer," would the money he took be regarded as a bribe? It is common knowledge that both Republican and Democratic lawyers who are members of the legislature very frequently appear before some state board or commission in behalf of clients seeking the very same sort of concessions that Mr. Southworth is alleged to have sought for some trucking outfit.

They, of course, get this business because they happen to be members of the state legislature and are believed to have more influence in state circles than attorneys who are not members of the state legislature. Apparently the law makes it perfectly legal for a lawyer to take the money for the very thing that Mr. Southworth is accused of—the money being regarded as a retainer rather than a bribe. We do not for one second approve of what Mr. Southworth is alleged to have done, but it does not raise the old question as to the propriety of lawyers who are members of the state legislature in appearing before state boards and commissions. In fact it is common knowledge that at the present time one well known Republican senator and one northern member of the state is in Lansing most of the time appearing in behalf of clients before a certain state board.

Rarely is it a case of hiring a lawyer-member of the legislature for any outstanding ability to handle these special requests before certain state commissions, which in many instances require no legal training or ability whatsoever. He is hired because of his position in the legislature and the fact that he has more or less of a "pull" with the board or commission he appears before, just as in the case of Mr. Southworth.

For Mr. Southworth, it is a bribe—in the case of Attorney Southworth, it would have been just an ordinary matter of a legal "retainer." On the face of it, does it look as though the attorney members of the legislature should be permitted to do something that for the layman member to do is a crime? It is an interesting question—but a situation that no one of course doubts.

help to be amazed at the brazenness of what he is doing and that the concern he shows to the righteousness. Not that any one holds beer drinking up as a virtue, but it is difficult to see how one who regards beer drinking as below his "principles" can regard the practice of business deceit as a virtue.

GOOD JUDGEMENT

With public criticism growing by leaps and bounds of the ways that the work relief problem throughout the nation is being handled, we cannot help but commend the good judgement of City Manager Perry Cookingham in getting out of the mess in Wayne county. What in his opinion looked like a satisfactory way of handling the work-relief problem, is proving anything but satisfactory to anyone and Mr. Cookingham was wise in the move he made in getting away from it all.

ALL HAVE THEM

There seems to be a lot of worrying going on around the country about Comrade Tugwell's confirmation to a higher job with the government with a substantial addition to his pay check. Now the Comrade from Buffalo is just as much entitled to get his as any one else—and the Roosevelt administration should not be blamed for its Tugwells. Did not Coolidge, Harding, Taft and all the other presidents have similar problems with individuals of their administrations?

MOTION PICTURES

It begins to look after all as though the motion picture producers of Hollywood are going to give some attention to the public demand for decent pictures. The action of a number of prominent bishops of the Catholic church in demanding this cleanup is to be commended and we hope the results are produced. It would seem as though the public favor that greets a clean, wholesome picture, with the always increased returns to the box office would long ago have convinced of the interest in clean pictures. But for some reason they could not see it and just forced upon the public any old thing they wanted to. Owners of motion picture houses have been helpless. They have had to take just what was given them without question—the good with the bad. With promises of better and cleaner pictures, there is not much question but what there will be an immediate reflection in the box office returns of the public's favorable reaction to the campaign for clean pictures.

BINGAY DOES SOME DISSECTING

Malcolm Bingay in his column in the editorial page of the Monday morning issue of The Detroit Free Press, dissected some of the big words and phrases used by Comrade Tugwell to impress upon the senators in Washington during his recent hearing his intellectual superiority. After Mr. Bingay's complete analysis of what the Comrade really had said, he made Prof. Tugwell look something like the Railroad Jack we used to know over in Western Michigan. Railroad Jack did not know more historical dates than Comrade Tugwell does words. He used his unusual ability to memorize historical dates as a means of gaining a living over a long period of years, and it was his delight to impress a street corner crowd with his "superior" intelligence. We have seen history teachers huddled in the presence of Railroad Jack, just as some of the great United States senators were made to look like a lot of little ignorant school boys by the Comrade from the east. But when it came to knowing anything of Railroad Jack just wasn't there, any more than any other quack who uses some hocus-pocus stunt to impress his superiority upon the ordinary run of humanity. Maybe Comrade Tugwell can get away with it as long as Railroad Jack did, but he doubt it. Prof. Tugwell can rightly be termed the Railroad Jack of the Roosevelt administration. It is to be hoped that Jack had to die just at the dawn of the era of Brain Trusters. He would have been a shining light among them.

WHY A COMMUNITY NEWSPAPER?

Contest Sponsored by Adrian Van Koevoering of Zeland, Michigan

By MISS MINERVA ANDERSON, Marion, Mich. (Favorable Mention)

A community newspaper is of the people, by the people, and for the people in the truest possible meaning. A community without a newspaper has no centralized, organized point of contact, no source of facts or information to draw on, no method of keeping informed on local, business, or social affairs, no reliable time schedule of events. In fact, no reliable way of reaching the people of the community at any given time no matter how important.

The community newspaper is a "letter from home" to absentees; a friendly helping hand in time of need. It welcomes the stranger and mourns the passing of old friends. It stands for sympathy in time of trouble and rejoices with you in your good fortune.

What would the merchant do without the "paper"? How find new customers or let anyone know when he has new goods, bargains and sales. How would he advertise to reach the public? What about the farmer who has extra feed to sell or who might want to buy or exchange? How reach the most people in the shortest time and easiest way other than a small "ad" in the "paper"? What if there was no paper? A farmer's wife is ready to go down for shopping and groceries. She looks up the different values offered by the merchants who have advertised in the paper. She has saved time and has the satisfaction of knowing she has received the most for her money. The paper has formed a connecting link between buyer and seller.

You may subscribe to all the big dailies and all the magazines you like but none of them will give the heart of the community. You take away in small pieces can be traced all the humor and pathos of the homely lives of the great army of "common people." Glance back over old files and there you will find the family record of your old neighbors and friends, marriages, births, deaths, sorrows, joy, the whole list of events which go to make up a human life. ### With Our Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Is the Universe, including man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, June 24.

Among the Bible citations was this passage (Amos 4:13): "For lo, he that formeth the mountains, and createth the wind, and declareth unto man what is his thought, that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth, The Lord, The God of hosts, is his name."

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 547): "Material evolution implies that the great First Cause must become material, and afterwards must either return to Mind or go down into dust and nothingness. Inspired thought relinquishes a material, sensual and mortal theory of the universe, and adopts the spiritual and immortal."

SHALL WE CHANGE THE LABEL?

"Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman tells of a distinguished Methodist minister of Australia who preached on sin. One of his church officers afterward came to see and talk with him in his study. He said to the minister: 'Dr. Howard we don't want you to talk as plainly as you do about sin, because if our boys and girls hear you talking so much about sin they will more easily become sinners. Call it a mistake if you will, but do not speak so plainly about sin.' The minister took down a small bottle and showed it to the visitor. It was a bottle of strychnine and was marked 'Poison.' He said: 'I see what you want me to do. You want me to change the label. Suppose I take off this label of 'poison' and put on some mild label, such as 'Essence of Peppermint,' don't you see what happens? The milder you make your label, the more dangerous you make your poison.'"

The above is exactly what has taken place in the pulpits of the so-called Christian denominations and churches. They do not call white, white and black black. We can and do praise God for the individual churches within these organizations who in spite of the general drift preach the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ. They call sin, sin because God's Word does so.

Tonight, Friday, we will have our Prayer Meeting for Revival in our own hearts as well as for the Summer Tent Campaign which is to be carried on in the town of Plymouth this summer.

He was one of a family of four boys and one daughter, the family of James and Mary Stanley. He was married on March 23, 1877 to Miss Lillie Atchison. To this union were born seven children, two sons and two daughters, and his companion having preceded him in death. There remain of his own to mourn a father and loved one, two sons, Harry and Roy Stanley, one daughter, Mrs. Jennie Perkins, all of Plymouth, also one brother, Mr. Joseph Stanley of Plymouth, seven grandchildren and eleven great grandchildren.

Mr. Stanley came from England at the age of sixteen, going to Salem. Here he married and remained until coming to Plymouth, twenty seven years ago. Many years ago he united with the Baptist church at Salem, and was active in that church until coming to Plymouth, where he has since served as deacon in the First Baptist church.

Our church loses a faithful servant and friend and one whose whole heart and life was given first of all for his Christ and his church. Mr. Stanley will be missed by a wide circle of his friends both in the church and out and as the march of years go on we linger to ask who shall take the place of those who serve so well?

Fishing Season Is Opened, One Honest Fisherman Revealed

Discovered! One honest fisherman in Plymouth.

Like several hundred other local fishermen, he went fishing on Monday, the opening day of the season.

He fished from early morning until the sun was about ready to sink in the west and then as he turned the boat on its keel and started for shore, all the natives gathered about, expecting to see the record catch of the day.

With his fishing companions, Charles Smith and Bert Barry, they carefully unloaded all kinds of fishing tackle. They took the cars from the boat and started up the bank.

"Where's the fish?" some one asked.
"In the lake," retorted William Garrett, the one lone Plymouth fisherman who returned home from his fishing trip on the opening day without having enjoyed even a nibble from a hungry bass or pike.

Every other fisherman in town brought back accounts of some big catches. Jack Taylor declaring that he caught the limit as he rowed in a circle around Garrett's boat.

Every Conceivable Force WORKED TO TEAR THESE TIRES TO PIECES

But NOT ONE CORD LOOSENED! NOT ONE TREAD SEPARATED! Not one Blowout!

AS thirty-three speed demons careened and slid around the steep banked curves of the hot brick track, tires shrieked and smoked . . . break-neck speeds, 150 miles and more down the straightaway — tremendous centrifugal force tugging to rip the tread from the body of the tire. In fact, every conceivable force worked to tear the tire to pieces, but not one cord loosened — not one tread separated — and not a single blowout. What amazing proof of Tire Strength — Safety — Quality and Dependability!

Every one of the thirty-three drivers at the Indianapolis 500-mile sweepstakes chose and bought Firestone High Speed Tires. The fact that not one of the 132 tires failed is your greatest guarantee of the Extra Safety — Strength — and Dependability built into Firestone Tires.

The New Firestone High Speed Tire for 1934 is Safety-Protected on the outside by a wider tread of flatter contour, deeper non-skid, more and tougher rubber, giving you more than 50% longer non-skid mileage — Safety-Protected on the inside by eight additional pounds of pure rubber absorbed by every 100 pounds of cords. This additional rubber surrounds every cotton fiber inside every cord in every ply. This is accomplished by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping, which soaks the cords in liquid rubber, counteracting damaging frictional heat, the greatest enemy of tire life.

Greatest Guarantee of All

Get the protection of the Firestone Triple Guarantee — for unequalled performance records — for life against all defects — for twelve months against all road hazards.

Call on the nearest Firestone Service Dealer or Service Store today and equip your car with the new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934 — and REMEMBER, you will save money at present prices, because crude rubber has advanced 442% and cotton 190% — and tire prices cannot remain at present low levels.

MAKE THIS TEST YOURSELF

Note how the rubber pulls away from cords that have not been Gum-Dipped. Regardless of the number of cord plies in tires not built with Gum-Dipped cords, friction will develop intense heat, and heat will separate the plies — effecting cord blowouts. Only in Firestone Tires are friction and heat counteracted by Gum-Dipping.

Your Firestone Dealer is prepared to let you make, for yourself, the amazing test illustrated above.

Barbara Never Saw a Chair Before

BARBARA, the polar bear at the Whipsnade zoo, London, England, had not seen a chair before, so naturally she did everything with it but sit on it. Here she is doing a little balancing act with it while she seems to be praying that it doesn't fall on her.

"Little Stories for Bedtime"

by Thornton W. Burgess

MORE TROUBLE FROM SALLY SLY

A FEW mornings after his talk with Jenny Wren about Red-eye the Vireo, Peter once more visited the Old Orchard. No sooner did he come in sight than Jenny Wren's tongue began to fly. "What did I tell you, Peter Rabbit? What own babies aren't getting half enough to eat," she continued. "One of them has died already. He was kicked out of the nest by that young brute."

"How dreadful!" cried Peter. "If he does things like that I should think the Redeyes would throw him out of the nest."

"They're too soft-hearted," said Jenny. "I can tell you I wouldn't be so soft-hearted. No, siree, I wouldn't! But they say it isn't his fault that he's there, that he's nothing but a helpless baby, so they just must take care of him."

"Then why don't they feed their own babies first and give him what's left?" asked Peter.

"Because he's twice as big as any of their own babies and so strong and greedy that he simply snatches the food out of the very mouths of the others. Because he gets most of the food he is growing twice as fast as they are. I wouldn't be surprised if he ate all the rest of them out before he gets through. Mr. and Mrs. Redeye are dreadfully distressed about it, but they will feed him, because they say it isn't his fault. It's a dreadful affair, and the talk of the whole orchard. I suppose his mother is gadding about somewhere, having a good time and not caring a flip of her tail feathers what becomes of him. I believe in being good hearted. I certainly do. But there is such a thing as overdoing a matter. Think goodness I'm not so weak minded that I can be imposed on in such a way as that."

"That may be so," replied Peter. "but just the same I can't help feeling a lot of respect for Mr. and Mrs. Redeye because of their kindheartedness."

IT'S GREAT TO LOSE FAT AND FEEL YEARS YOUNGER

We picked out this letter for fat folks to read to-day—read every word.

"I give you my full permission to print this letter. I used Kruschen Salts for losing fat, and I praise it to every body I know that is fat. And I also feel years younger." Miss Edna Hunn, Algiers, La.

A jar of Kruschen Salts lasts 4 weeks and the cost is trifling. Are you taking Salts to reduce or to please your palate?

Just try Kruschen for a month—besides losing fat you'll gain in physical attractiveness—skin grows clear—eyes sparkle with health. Take half a teaspoonful in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—you feel cooler in hot weather—get it at any drugstore in the world.

another occupant of the car, asked her to prove it, she denied saying it. Another story this woman is telling is that she heard Mrs. Meyers herself say the young couple had been drinking. When my mother confronted her about this story she again denied it and in so doing called her sister a liar. When her sister was talking this, this woman's sister said that the truth hurts therefore again saying that my brother and the rest were drunk.

Just because a person is in an automobile accident, gossip tongues do not need to tell such stories.

If anyone has any doubts about the occupants of the car being drunk why didn't the police hold them and furthermore ask Dr. Snow if there was any smells of liquor on the street will cooperate in collecting sufficient funds to finance their share of the cost of this work. As soon as the property owners portion of the cost is deposited with the City Treasurer, the work to be done by the City will be started immediately and the materials for application will be ordered.

It was moved by Comm. Whipple and seconded by Comm. Henderson and Whipple, that the non-tax revenues as estimated by the budget committee in the amount of $5,341.00 be deducted from the above totals and that the City Clerk verify the amount to the City Assessor for spreading on the Assessment Roll of the City of Plymouth for the year 1934.

RESOLVED FURTHER, that after the spreading upon the Assessment Roll of the amounts as required to be raised by general tax, that the Assessor certify and deliver same to the City Treasurer and that the Mayor be authorized to attach his warrant thereto directing and requiring the City Treasurer to collect the same as provided by the City Charter.

Absent: None.

The minutes of the regular meeting of May 21st and the special meeting held June 1st were approved as read.

Mr. R. H. Baker of Northville, owner of the garage at 637 S. Main Street, again appeared before the Commission relative to damage done to his property by the water in Tonquish Creek. Because of the large number of facts which would point to any liability on the part of the City, no action was taken on this matter.

The following resolution was moved by Comm. Whipple and seconded by Comm. Goldsmith:

WHEREAS, during the years 1930, 1931 and 1932, the City of Plymouth was provided with free inspection of plumbing, and

WHEREAS, Act No. 260 P. A. of 1933 makes some changes in the number of cities falling under the State jurisdiction, and

WHEREAS, it is the wish of the City Commission of the City of Plymouth that such free inspection service shall still be available;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that this Commission adopt and accept that portion of Section 4 of Act No. 260 P. A. of 1933 applicable thereto, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the State Plumbing Board, Lansing, Michigan.

The City Manager presented a plan of financing the application of a dust preventative of a higher type and more lasting than Calcium Chloride on dirt streets, whereby the property benefited would share in the cost of this treatment. The plan provides for the payment by the City of one-fourth of the cost of applying the material in addition to preparing the street surface and that three fourths of the cost of the material be paid by the property owners. Under this plan the residents on a street will cooperate in collecting sufficient funds to finance their share of the cost of this work. As soon as the property owners portion of the cost is deposited with the City Treasurer, the work to be done by the City will be started immediately and the materials for application will be ordered.

It was moved by Comm. Whipple and seconded by Comm.
