One of the delightful events of the past week was the meeting of the ladies division of the Descendants of Redford Pioneers on Friday at an all day meeting. About eighty ladies enjoyed the hospitality of the beautiful home of Miss Myrta Fisher, who is an active and enthusiastic member of the group. She was assisted by Mrs. Harry Wait, Mrs. Loris Sleeth, Mrs. Stanley Shear and Mrs. Wm. R. H. Dunning. Mrs. Wm. Hood, Mrs. Geo. Hesse and Mrs. Wm. Roe of Plymouth, Mrs. Narcissa Dubar and Mrs. Wm. Miss Reland Johnson Bride Of Paul Olds

The marriage of Miss Reland Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Johnson of East Livonia, and Paul Olds, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Olds of Indian River, was very quietly solemnized at the Methodist parsonage on Tuesday evening at seven o'clock. Rev. P. Norton officiating. The bride and groom were accompanied by her sister, Miss Evelyn Johnson of this city and Donald Blake of Detroit. On account of the serious illness of the bride's father only the wedding party and her immediate family were present at the wedding supper served by her mother. Mr. and Mrs. Olds will make their home in Plymouth. The many friends of the happy couple extend to them their best wishes for a happy wedded life.

Manager Harry Lush Is Now At His Home

So rapidly has been the improvement of Manager Harry Lush of the Penniman-Alton theatre that doctors have been able to remove him from Harper hospital to his home in Dearborn. He will be at his home until able to return to his duties here. It had been planned to remove him to his residence for some little time yet, but his recovery has been much faster than anticipated and as a result he was able to leave the hospital the first of the present week.

Bride Is Honored At Many Affairs

On Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Milan Frank (Ina Mae Shotka) were honored with a "miscellaneous" shower at the home of his father, Ernest Frank, in Robinson subdivision. The guests numbered about thirty and all enjoyed Mr. Frank's hospitality. The young couple were made very happy at this time as they received so many lovely and useful gifts to use in their home. Mr. and Mrs. Frank were also honored with two other "miscellaneous" showers, one given by Mrs. Adolph Trapp, a sister of the groom, at Riverside Park on Sunday, June 17, when about seventy-five relatives and friends of the bride and groom were present with loads of beautiful and serviceable gifts and one on Thursday afternoon, June 21, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Shotka, on the Perrinville Road, when about thirty-five friends and relatives of the bride remembered her with numerous gifts in linen and glass and delicious refreshments for the pitched afternoon enjoyment.

Cook Steals, So He Goes To Jail

Gerald Watson, better known about the city as "Shorty" Watson, who for the past two years has been assistant cook at the William H. Maybury Sanatorium with a good pay check waiting for him twice each month, is going to do some time in the county jail for the theft of a sardine can. He was caught by the night watchman of the Sanatorium. Night time when he would leave the kitchen, a nice big fat ham, a box of sardines, a case of this or that was found to be in his car. For a long time he had been suspected of stealing supplies from the kitchen where he worked as second cook and last Saturday he was caught with some stolen goods in his car. He was arrested and taken before a justice in Northville where he pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail. He has already taken up his abode in his new surroundings. He sold much of his stolen goods to acquaintances in this locality.

Uncle Sam Seeks Postoffice Site

Although the postoffice department has just signed a two year lease on its present location, with the option of continuing it for another three years, the government is advertising in this issue of the Plymouth Mail for bids on proposed sites for a new postoffice. It is possible that the government will during the next two or three days be receiving a number of proposals for the location of a new postoffice building in Plymouth. The fire department didn't have to put out any fires started by fireworks. Doctors were able to remain at home and enjoy the day with their families. They had no blower of fingers or burned faces to dress. It was just the kind of a Fourth of July celebration that provided not a thrill of any kind for young America. Only some of the boys had a hole in one out on the Plymouth Country club golf course.

Fourth Proves To Be Quiet Day

Plymouth celebrated its quietest Fourth of July Wednesday. Not a fire cracker was heard in the entire city. Not a traffic accident, marred the day. The ball game that was scheduled to take place in Plymouth-Riverside park was not played because the teams did not show up. The police department never received a call for a fire. The fire department didn't have to put out any fires started by fireworks. Doctors were able to remain at home and enjoy the day with their families. They had no blower of fingers or burned faces to dress. It was just the kind of a Fourth of July celebration that provided not a thrill of any kind for young America. Only some of the boys had a hole in one out on the Plymouth Country club golf course.

Over one hundred persons, consisting of members of the American Legion, their families and friends attended a picnic at the farm of Melvin C. Gutherie at Newburg on the 4th. All enjoyed the games and refreshments very much.

"Under The Oaks" Celebration Of Birth Of Republican Party This Week Recalls Prominent Part E. J. Penniman, Well Known Plymouth Pioneer, Took In Creation Of Nation's Great Political Organization

Few Residents Today Know Of His Activities

He Was Also Elected As Delegate From Michigan To First Republican Convention

While a nation this week watches and reads with interest of the celebration of the birth of the Republican party, a great political organization born to save the Union and that for over half a century has written many interesting chapters into world history, there is in Plymouth one person who is watching with keener attention than any other all that is taking place Friday and Saturday at Jackson in commemoration of the birth of the Republican party. That individual is Mrs. Katherine E. Allen, only daughter of E. J. Penniman, who was one of the first to join the Republican party and who was honored by being elected as a delegate from Michigan to the first Republican national convention held in Philadelphia, June 17, 18 and 19 in 1854. The memory of her father's part in it all is one of the fondest of delights of the daughter of a pioneer citizen whose name is not only written into the national history of Plymouth but is recorded in the annals of outstanding American events.

Most of the pioneer citizens of Plymouth who knew E. J. Penniman, who played a prominent part in the founding of the Republican party have passed on. Few of the younger generation take much interest in the important historical events. And Mrs. Allen is one of the last persons in the world to discuss matters that might in a way seem of a family nature to her. She was by the merest chance that the writer in reading the history of the first three Republican conventions came across the name of E. J. Penniman, who was one of the prominent names of other men who were prominent in the early developments of the state and nation. The names of such men as Zachariah Chandler, Kinsey Pomeroy and others who later became Governor and gave to Michigan the first agricultural college established in the world, and H. G. Convention Of Rotarians Over Plymouth Rotarians settled back into the routine of business this week after having spent one of the busiest weeks of their lives in Detroit last week. The local Rotarians and their wives thoroughly enjoyed the wonderful program as well as the various entertainment features that were provided for the guests of the Rotary convention from all over the world. While most of the Plymouth Rotarians attended practically all of the sessions, those who could not be present at the time took in a goodly number of the various events. The convention besides providing some of the most interesting and timely discussions, provided plenty of the "unusual." Detroit Rotarians went out of their way to impress upon their visitors the hospitality of the city.

Extend Tax Time To Tuesday, July Tenth

Until July 10 delinquent county taxes may be paid at the office of Jacob P. Sumeracki, county treasurer, without interest charges. This extension of the tax deadline was brought about by a delay of payments by mail and it will take the treasurer's staff several days to sort out and credit these payments. Mr. Sumeracki decided that inasmuch as there were no enrollments from it would only be fair to give other taxpayers who for one reason or other had not been able to pay the advantage of saving. The board of county auditors advised the extension until July 10.

THE FIRST REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

E. J. Penniman of Plymouth was a member of the convention held in Philadelphia in June 1854 that drafted the first platform presented to the voters of the nation by the Republican party. Read it, note the daring, fearless, loyal and patriotic stand that citizens of America dared to take three quarters of a century ago. Those who recall Mr. Penniman say that the same high ideals and platform of the Republican party reflects the same high ideals and platform of the pioneer who played such an important part in the early history of Plymouth possessed. The platform adopted at that convention follows:

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM
This Convention of Delegates assembled in pursuance of a call addressed to the people of the United States, without regard to past political differences or divisions, who are opposed to the repeal of the Missouri Compromise; to the policy of the present Administration; to the extension of Slavery into Free Territory in any part of the Federal Government; to the principles of Washington and Jefferson; and for the purpose of presenting candidates for the offices of President and Vice-President, do
RESOLVED: That the maintenance of the principles promulgated in the Declaration of Independence and embodied in the Federal Constitution is essential to the preservation of our Republic; and that the Federal Constitution, the rights of the States, and the union of the States, must and shall be preserved.
RESOLVED: That with our Republican fathers, we hold it to be a self-evident truth, that all men are endowed with the inalienable right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, and that the primary object and ulterior design of our Federal Government were to secure these rights to all persons under its exclusive jurisdiction; that as our Republican fathers, when they had abolished Slavery in all our National Territory, ordained that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, it becomes our duty to maintain this provision of the Constitution against all attempts to violate it for the purpose of establishing Slavery in the Territories of the United States by positive legislation, prohibiting its existence of extension therein; That we deny the authority of Congress, of a Territorial Legislature, or any individual, or association of individuals, to give legal existence to Slavery in any Territory of the United States, while the present Constitution shall be maintained.
RESOLVED: That the Constitution confers upon Congress sovereign power over the Territories of the United States, and that in the exercise of this power, it is both the

Plymouth Banks Out Door Gospel Meetings Start

Officials of the Plymouth United Savings bank as well as the First National bank have been advised by the government that their federal insurance on deposits has been renewed and that the depositors can now make deposits up to $5,000 and have their money insured. The banks were allowed insurance on deposits up to $2500 until the first of July and now both Plymouth banks can accept deposits for the full amount with government insurance. This makes the Plymouth banks just as safe as banks in any other city for depositors. In fact they have the same safety as postal savings and large amounts can be deposited in the banks with the same safety as provided for all deposits.

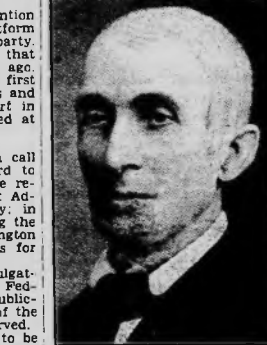

Celebrate Silver Wedding Anniversary

June 30, was the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Huston of Birmingham. The occasion was celebrated by a family dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Orson Atcheson at their home on Canton Center Road, the home which was the birthplace of Mr. Elmer. The guests were seated at a long table centered with bouquets of white carnations and at the end were white tapers tied with silver streamers. The table was marked by cards bearing silver bells on a field of white. The guests entered the dining room to the accompaniment of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Mrs. Elmer Reichnecker of Ann Arbor, after which Austin Whipple sang "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly" with Mrs. Reichnecker accompanying him. After the songs the guests of honor received some lovely gifts of silver from their family and friends.

No One From Plymouth Enrolls For CCC Work

From what can be learned there are no Plymouth boys who have enlisted for the new CCC work in the State of Michigan. While last year some twenty or more boys from Plymouth and vicinity joined the CCC forces in the north woods of Michigan, this year it is estimated that there would be places open for 600 more young men from Wayne county did not bring forth a single application from Plymouth. It is estimated from what they can learn there are more young people working this summer than last. This apparently accounts for the fact that there were no enrollments from Plymouth for CCC work. "There is more crime committed within the law than outside a mile," says Charles E. Lawes, of St. Louis.

Edison Cooking School July 17-18

COOKING DEMONSTRATIONS OFFER NEWEST METHODS FOR FINE COOKING
Every woman who is interested in fine cooking will want to attend a demonstration of the newest and best cooking methods as perfected by skilled Home Economists in testing laboratories. The demonstrations will be presented by The Detroit Edison Electric Range School, Tuesday, Wednesday, July 17 and 18. There is no charge for admission and the public is invited. Booklets containing selected recipes will be given to each woman who attends the demonstration. Users of electric ranges cannot afford to miss this event, in which will be featured new progressions for saving electricity, saving time, and improving cooking results. Among the subjects to be discussed will be waterless electric cooking, oven roasting, steaming instead of boiling vegetables, sealed-in flavor, and how to retain the healthful, natural food values. "How to save electricity with your electric range" is particularly stressed in this demonstration. Several methods for economical cooking will be presented. Use of Little Water Stressed. On an electric range, half a cup of water is ample to cook potatoes or vegetables without burning them. The cooking demonstration will show that using little water and keeping the cooking utensils tightly covered, it is possible to steam vegetables instead of boiling away their food value or pouring flavor-laden excess water down the sink after the cooking is finished. In this way, cooking experts point out, precious minerals and important food values are conserved, cooking is greatly speeded up, and time and electricity are saved. Another worthy suggestion pertaining to the use of water in cooking is the correct preparation of roasts. In roasting meats on an electric oven, the proper procedure is to use absolutely no water. Water dilutes the juices of the meat and is entirely unnecessary. Expert cooks recommend placing the roast uncovered in the electric oven. The natural moisture in the roast is sufficient to keep it from burning, and the meat will cook to melting tenderness in its own richly flavored juices. In this way the nutritious elements in the meat are retained instead of being driven off in the form of steam. Other Worth While Features. Other interesting and instructive points will also be presented at the demonstration. Among these will be the use of LOW heat whenever possible, to cut down cooking cost. LOW heat is enough to keep the food simmering on the surface unit of an electric range. Cooking authorities point out that food will cook just as quickly at a gentle boil as at a rapid boil. Water boils at 212 degrees, and no matter how vigorously it boils, you cannot speed up cooking by keeping the heat on HIGH. Special attention will be given to the planning and preparation of oven-cooked meals for time saving and economy. Part of the demonstration will be devoted to showing how a complete dinner—a roast, vegetables, and a baked pudding or dessert—may be placed in an electric oven and cooked to perfection without attention. The timely subject of oven cooking, which will be thoroughly covered, should be of interest to every home manager now using or contemplating the use of an electric range.

City Officials To Move Monday

Mayor George Robinson and members of the city commission hope to be able by the middle of next week to fix the definite date when residents of the city can be invited to visit the offices out of the city. The general improvement that has been made on the interior. City Manager Perry Cookingham states that he plans to move the offices out of the city to the Detroit paint branch bank of the Plymouth United Savings bank on Liberty Street next Monday. He says there is considerable painting work yet to be done by the Detroit painters who are working on the building, but that the remaining portion of the work will not interfere with the routine work of the city officials. The move will be completed by the date that the date for the "open house" will be announced.

Julius Steinhurst of the Steinhurst family that read of the four murders in Tawas City early this week with more interest than the average person—he knew Sheriff Miller who was killed in the Tawas tragedy. The murderer of the four people is confined in the jail at Bay City. It is claimed that he was temporarily crazy. He says he killed the people because they were making too much noise in a cottage near his home. "Let's admit our parents made a mistake," says Charles E. Coughlin, radio priest.

Miss Martha Brucks Weds Homer Howe

In the St. Bernard Catholic Church, corner of Mack avenue and Lillibridge, Detroit, the marriage of Miss Martha Brucks, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Brucks of Detroit and Homer Howe, son of Mrs. Frank Howe of this city took place on Thursday morning, June 28, at nine o'clock in the presence of about fifty relatives and friends. The service was read by Rev. Fr. F. C. Lefevre of Plymouth.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white satin and carried a large bouquet of white roses. Her sister, Mrs. Robert Yates of Louisville, Kentucky was matron of honor and wore a gown of pink organdy and carried an arm bouquet of red roses. Robert Yates, a brother-in-law of the bride, acted as best man. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride on Lycaste avenue, Detroit, which had been beautifully decorated with garden flowers.

Auto Speeders Given Warning

Look out—you wild-eyed automobile drivers! Cut your speed down to something within reason as you drive about the streets of Plymouth. The police officers will be plenty of chance of you being taken on a speeding charge or reckless driving offense.

So many complaints have been made by police officials that it was decided Monday night at the commission meeting to instruct the police department to watch for violators. There has been some discussion of the advisability of establishing a traffic court, so that when one gets a traffic violation ticket, he can go to the city hall and make an immediate settlement.

Last Sunday night the place was broken into and candy, cigarettes and numerous other articles were stolen. The door was pried open. The value of the goods stolen amounted to about $18. The previous robbery netted the thieves something like $35 in goods. In all the time Mr. Smith has had a stand in Plymouth-Riverside park, it has never been disturbed.

County To Widen Plymouth Road—Plan New Bridge

Extensive Improvements Have Been Started At Park Entrance

Paving To Be Widened To Mill Street—Will Raise Highway For Road Separation

With the completion of the survey this week for the grade separation at Phoenix, employees of the Wayne county commission have started another important piece of bridge and road improvement here. Laborers have begun work on the new bridge construction over the Rouge river on Plymouth road just east of the entrance to Plymouth-Riverside park. Not only will the new bridge be widened so that it can carry a forty foot paving, but the announcement has also been made that the paving from Mill street east to the Riverside cemetery entrance will be raised the entire distance. This will result in new paving to be laid this fall seven feet higher than the present entrance to the park.

Plans will also be constructed at the grade separation, the Plymouth road passing directly overhead the new parkway road that is being continued from Plymouth-Riverside park north to connect with the paving that circles by the Ford-Wilcox plant and the new Plymouth lake to the north of the city.

Plans as completed by county engineers provide for the widening of the paving, with the construction of curbing and other improvements way to Mill street. This carries the improvement for over a block within the city limits, but Plymouth road being a county road, the county can rightly make this improvement.

Over 200 To Take Part In Big Show

Event To Be Staged By Kiwanis Club In Riverside Park

The Kiwanis Club is sponsoring a big community production, "The World's All Right" which will be given July 18th and 19th as an outdoor show at Riverside Park. Committees were organized Tuesday at a meeting held at the Mayflower Hotel and plans are under way to make this one of the biggest and most lavish of all plays ever staged in Plymouth. The casting committee has chosen the entire cast and rehearsals are being held immediately. There will be approximately 200 local people taking part and a complete list of the names will be given in this paper next week. The Property committee has begun plans for the building of stage and the arranging of seating facilities. "The World's All Right" is a musical comedy the scene of which revolves around the operation of a radio broadcasting station. The plot is unusually interesting and has many amusing incidents arising which makes it a hilarious comedy from the start to the finish. The cast of the two acts are many musical numbers which makes "The World's All Right" appealing to everyone. Advance tickets are going on sale immediately so everyone will be given the chance to be assured of a good seat. OFFICIAL LOBBYING
It has recently come to light that the hard pressed taxpayers of Michigan have been paying the expenses of the Michigan state board of tax administration (the sales tax) during a sojourn of many weeks in Washington, where they have been lobbying in an effort to have a federal law passed placing a sales tax on goods manufactured out of the state and shipped into Michigan.

These two officials are James E. Mogan, a northern Michigan bank cashier who was out of a job and accepted eagerly the position as "managing director" created under the sales tax legislation, and M. Thomas Ward, a Grand Rapids lawyer who was appointed to a position in the new department. The state law fixed Mogan's salary at $4000 but it will be recalled that a number of months ago the present state administration had been slipping Mogan $2000 extra per year without the knowledge of any one except those that made out the check and those that cashed it.

Now these two officials are revealed in the guise of lobbyists in Washington where their expensive hotel bills are paid from the same source—lobbying in behalf of a bill that no one wants except the salary grabbing office holders of Lansing.

How long will an outraged public stand for such misuse of public funds for such conduct on the part of its officials, it is difficult to tell. It would seem that men holding positions of public trust, no matter how unscrupulous they might be in other matters, would be decent enough to keep their noses out of the things that are the concern of the public. Above all in times when not only the working men, but business and professional men find it difficult enough to earn enough cash to keep their heads above water wouldn't it be a fine thing for those in high public places to safeguard and watch every penny that comes from the taxpayers and conserve as far as possible this money?

But here we find two of these officials traveling back and forth to Washington, living in exclusive hotels and out of the pocket of the state—lobbying for some piece of legislation no one is interested in and no one wants.

Auditor General Stack talks about chiselers and money grabbers in his campaign speeches, but what does he say about the chiselers Mr. Mogan and Mr. Ward are doing—is not that "chiseling" of the highest order? If it isn't we would like to know what brand of money grabbing it comes under.

KILLING FOLKS
Newspapers a few days ago carried a report of a statement issued by the Detroit police department in which it blamed the terrific increase in automobile accidents during recent months to drunken automobile drivers. The largest part of the 200 or more deaths in Detroit resulted from driving while intoxicated, the report stated.

What the total will be at the end of the present year no one knows, but it is bound to be the largest the country has ever known. A further study of the statistics reveals that a majority of the 755,500 automobile accidents in the United States in 1933 occurred on straight, dry roads in clear weather, and involved cars in good condition driven by persons with a year or more of experience. Over 75 per cent of these drivers were persons of mature age—from 25 to 64. The majority of the 30,000 deaths and 850,000 injuries must be attributed to blunders.

A recent analysis shows what the blunders were. There are eight in all.
1. Drove too fast for conditions—this accounted for approximately three-fourths of all mishaps in 1933 assigned to driving blunders.
2. Failed to slow down at intersections.
3. Failed to keep to the right.
4. Tried to pass another car going in the same direction when view was obstructed.
5. Failed to slow down on approaching pedestrians.
6. Passed on the right of a preceding vehicle.
7. Ignored important traffic control devices.
8. Parked at dangerous spots.

BETTER TIMES
Faith in America and in ourselves was the real text of an inspiring address by Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business, before the thirty-eighth annual dinner of the Indiana Bankers' Association. Like other recent expressions of the country's leading writers on commerce and finance, Thorpe conveyed a warning to business not to overdo an attitude of gloom. Faith in the future, he said, "there will be a normal exchange of what each has to offer the other in this complex and vital modern society. And thrift, sacrifice, and good judgment will not be penalized for the slothful ne'er-do-well and the irresponsibly spendthrift."
"Be Americans," declared Mr. Thorpe, "are

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

"CHISELER" DEFINED
The word "chiseler," first coined as a slang phrase, has now become a part of our language. President Roosevelt on at least one occasion has given it a place in a more or less formal address and our own governor has made use of it in referring to some members of his own administration. If it lacked anything further to get it into the next edition of Mr. Webster's dictionary, it received it in the office of this newspaper one day last week. In fact, it has now been given so understandable a definition that its regular use may be expected.

A state official representing the state sales tax commission was defending the administration of the sales tax as it is being applied to the retail sale of farm products direct from the producer to the consumer. Very emphatically he gave it as his opinion and indicated it as a conviction of the sales tax officials that a woman who manipulates a churn and ladle and makes butter to sell to a neighbor or to the local store keeper, just as emphatically did this Lansing official insist that a farm woman who plays nursemaid to a flock of chickens through the vicissitudes of summer, becomes a "chiseler" if she presumes to sell direct to a customer without giving the corner store a chance at a profit.

WHY A COMMUNITY NEWSPAPER?
Contest Sponsored by Adrian Van Koeveering of Zeeland, Michigan
By JACK TAYLOR, Birmingham, Michigan
It would not be hard to imagine a conscientious and averagely intelligent editor of a community newspaper, asking himself this question: To the accompaniment of a heavy sigh, having glanced through the efforts of some of his contemporaries, if he has not, and he is painfully aware that his subscription list is dwindling, then he may rest assured that his readers have been asking the question for him, not with a sigh, but in exasperation.

As a matter of fact, the whole sales tax administration up to date has been a mess of mud. A north Michigan small bank cashier, out of a job, was appointed as sales tax administrator. The $4000 salary was more than he ever received in his entire career, but because he is working for the state he was handed a bonus of $2000 above the $4000 set up in the act as the legal salary. The test case so heralded last winter has never been heard and so it is presumed that the first 2000 farm women "kyped" out of dollars in expense bills are paying for the luxury of so astute a public official as is Mr. Mogan. Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

A LITTLE PATIENCE
One of the effects of government regulation of private business that will be felt by millions of people is that of lower interest rates on savings deposits. Already a large number of banks have lowered the interest rate on savings deposits to two per cent. The new restrictions and limitations placed on banks are credited with making this move necessary, and at the same time the banks are advised to do it by making it necessary to impose certain service charges to customers that add to the expense of doing business. To the extent that the banks are advised to do it without getting irritated too much, irritation is bad for your nervous system. Wm. Berkeley in The Cassopolis Vigilant.

Why a Community Newspaper? Not if it is a sheet that is a polite substitute for the gossips of the vanished four corners, published to pander to the juvenile vanity of the local Van Aster-poops, insulting the intelligence of the average being. Not if the editorial columns read like the minutes of The Mutual Admiration Society, with the editor echoing somebody else's opinion like a parrot. Verily you can judge the quality of a community by glancing through the local newspaper and know immediately whether the editor, into whose hands is entrusted its enlightenment is still endeavoring to carry on as its leader, or has long since resigned and sold his birthright for a mess of pottage.

Why a Community Newspaper? Yes, a thousand times if the editor and publisher realize that in order for growth there must be change and adapt their publication to it, in the best interest of their readers. If they realize, that even if their readers have left school their education is by no means over, and that in this fair land of ours where we boast of our educational system and institutions, no civilized nation is so far behind in adult education as we are, and use their publication for the dissemination of knowledge that will help their readers. They have at their disposal for this task the most potent media, which is most easily accessible to those whom they are helping. If in the editorial columns we read strong illuminating commentaries of vital questions, and in the light of their bearing on the readers of the community, if the editor teaches his readers to think clearly and intelligently for themselves, letting the light he kindles shine brightly, shedding its light where it will, Rightly he must be everyone's servant but nobody's tool.

STILL USE THE ROD
While over in Canada we found out that the old time correction for pupils in the public school has not gone out of fashion, for on the discretion of the teachers for any infraction of school discipline a rod still continues to exercise its function in maintaining due respect for authority and as the twig is bent so grows the tree, which is one reason perhaps why the average Canadian has a wholesome respect for all constitutional law.—J. Big Michigan Avenue Sewer Job Completed
Says John S. Haggerty

One of the major projects undertaken through the activities of the CWA and later on of the CERA is the brick sewer in Michigan Superhighway from Eloise to Dearborn which has just been completed, stated County Road Commissioner John S. Haggerty yesterday.

The construction of this sewer under the direction of the County Road Commission not only provides a much needed and permanent public improvement but it also removed hundreds of families from the Welfare rolls during the past winter and spring.

This sewer is 17,963 feet long its design is egg shaped, the larger size 3 feet by 4 feet 6 inches extended from the Dearborn interceptor to the Village of Inkster. From Inkster west to Eloise the size has been reduced to 2 feet 8 inches by 4 feet. Its capacity is such that it will care for the Eloise institution at the present time and can take care of the Village of Inkster and also the Village of Wayne should the sewer be extended that far, stated Mr. Haggerty.

This work was started December 19, 1933, and was carried on under CWA with approximately 500 men up to March 31, 1934. At that time CWA ended, and after a delay work was continued April 23, 1934 under a new set-up—the Works Division of the CERA, said Mr. Haggerty.
The construction of this sewer will eliminate the necessity of treating the Eloise sewage and when put to use by the adjacent villages and subdivisions, it will clear up completely the pollution of the Rouge River which parallels Michigan Avenue from Wayne to Dearborn. The outlet for the sewer is into a Dearborn interceptor which in turn carries it to the Dearborn disposal plant.
In carrying on this work 3,000,000 bricks and 7,500 barrels of

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Christian Science" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 1.

Among the Bible citations was this passage (Ps. 40:10): "I have not hid thy righteousness within my heart; I have declared thy faithfulness and thy salvation; I have not concealed thy loving kindness and thy truth from the great congregation."

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p.110): "In following these leadings of scientific revelation, the Bible was my only textbook. The Scriptures were illumined; reason and revelation were reconciled, and afterwards the truth of Christian Science was demonstrated."

All members and friends are welcome to attend.

Our church attendance has not dropped off so very much during this summer. That is as it should be among Christians. Remember, THE DEVIL NEVER TAKES A VACATION. When you imagine that you get by the responsibility of coming to church by making a so-called witty remark about not having been there, do not think that your preacher considers the remark "funny"; this failure to attend the preaching of the Divine Word is a CURSED NEGLIGENCE on your part. THE WORD STANDS. YET THEREFORE HEAR THEM NOT, BECAUSE YE ARE NOT OF GOD."

CHURCH OF THE OPEN DOOR

Independent Baptist. God loves you with an infinite love. His great heart longs that you may spend eternity with Him. But He is holy, and can not admit into His presence one stain of sin or imperfection. You and I have sinner. God says that every thought and imagination of our hearts is only evil continually, that our best deeds are as filthy rags in His sight. Thus to believe God is to be assured that nothing we can do will ever save or help save us.

Being holy and just He must punish sin, and every sin. But thanks be to God he has punished sin. He sent His beloved Son into the world and to the cross, and there laid on Him your sin and mine. There is only one way to escape from this awful hell. He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life, and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life but the wrath of God abideth on him. John 3:36. We beseech you in Christ's stead be ye reconciled to God. As many as received Him (the Lord Jesus Christ) to them gave He power to become the sons of God. John 1:12. To all who receive Him He says: I give unto them eternal life and they shall never perish. John 10:28.

A great prayer meeting will be held this evening (Friday) in the Postiff home on Livy road. Prayer for revival, especially during the summer tent campaign, will be our heart cry before the throne.

TENT SERVICES BEGIN SUNDAY EVENING, AT 7:30 ON THE CHURCH PROPERTY ON MAIN STREET. A CORDIAL WELCOME IS EXTENDED TO YOU.

Come and join the happy crowd.

ST. JOHN'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Church and school closed until September.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Loya Sutherland, Minister. At the ten o'clock hour the pastor's discussion will be on the subject, "The Sabbath an idle of safety, or how shall I keep Sunday?"

The Dutch people have this title "God's Dyke" for the day. Dykes have kept these people safe from the raging sea and they apply the figure to the waves of secularism that would engulf them with as serious consequences should the sea-dykes give way. Do you honestly want to give God a chance to make of you what in your holiest moments you resolve to be? If so, will you not let a proper and wholesome keeping of the Lord's Day help you so to become?

11:15 Bible School. These are the days of testing, is our ardent summer days? Let us give this hour to the Book of Books.

Sunday, Pastor Davis will speak on the subject, Water Baptism and why immersion is the proper mode of baptism. This to be his subject in the morning and also the evening services. From the Gospel Graphic we learn that the increasing danger of films is noted in the statistics issued, which state that in one year's output of American films, there were 1,811 with guns, 175 with knives, and 129 with other weapons, all with intent to kill. There were 231 scenes of hanging, 173 scenes of horror (such as clawing out eyes, biting off ears and torturing), 757 scenes of attacks on women for immoral purposes, 21 soul-breaking and 929 scenes of medity. Has not the scripture said to "Shun the very appearance of evil." 1st Thess. 5:22. Come out Sunday and hear what it means to receive water baptism.

American Business Can Restore Prosperity

The opposition of William Randolph Hearst expressed through the columns of his daily newspaper, that he opposes the administration of the United States to former President Herbert Hoover resulting in the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States, Mr. Hearst once considered a presidential possibility on the Democratic ticket, has long been the outstanding leader of the Democratic party. Without him and his support, Woodrow Wilson would never have been president of the United States. Neither would Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Therefore the following article which appeared in the Hearst papers Sunday over the name of William Randolph Hearst is of special interest to every newspaper reader of America. The Plymouth Mail regards it as a privilege to be able to present it to its readers. Mr. Hearst is now in Europe on a tour of his country and sent the article in his papers from Wales. It follows in full:

(By William Randolph Hearst) The English papers say that the president has declared that it is now the part of American business to inaugurate a boom. This declaration is amazingly ingenious. Nevertheless, it is in its essence, distinctly encouraging. It is the first time that the administration apparently has realized that if prosperity is to be restored business must restore it.

The administration has tried subsidizing the farmer and that has not worked. The administration has tried encouraging the excessive and unreasonable demands of labor, and that has not got us anything but conflict and disaster. The administration has tried oppressive and destructive taxation, and that has not brought us anything but industrial paralysis and business stagnation.

The administration has tried burdening business with restraints and restrictions, with codes and guilds, with impossibly short hours and unprofitably high wages. The administration has tried nagging business, abusing business, "cracking down on business," piling up all kinds of unbearable burdens upon business, and still, singularly enough, business has limped and halted in its turn.

The administration has tried to break the back of the patient business camel. It has tried to bring the neck of the useful business goose which lays the necessary golden eggs. The administration has indeed succeeded in robbing the goose's neck.

It has plundered business and squandered the golden eggs recklessly among hordes of parasitic politicians. The administration has tried socialism, communism, extortions, confiscation, demagogic military regimentation, continual business disturbance and industrial discouragement.

And now the President thinks that it is about time for business to stage a boom. The plain facts are that the administration has shot its bolt. If the bolt had hit the mark we would have heard nothing but self-congratulations.

By the bolt has missed and not only missed but plugged the innocent public in the small of the back. Consequently alibis are in order and the blame is all put upon business. The implication is that business could stage a boom but doesn't desire to do so.

The inference is that business "must" do not want to be prosperous. The apparent indictment is that business men are holding back and are not doing their duty in order to discredit the administration.

Now, is not that deplorable on the part of business men? Is it not amazing that with all the aid and comfort that business has received in the way of kicks, cuffs and wallops on the chin, business somehow has not responded with industrial activity and general prosperity? All of that is very regrettable, but one thing is extremely heartening and that is the realization that the administration has realized where prosperity IS to come from and where it MUST come from.

It must come from business. It must come from industry. It must come from America's leaders, great and small. They are the leaders of the world in the industrial field. They are the ones who can and will create prosperity if they are let alone.

We hear a lot of talk about American labor. American labor is all right, but it is no better than other labor. We restrict or exclude foreign labor because we are afraid of it, and rightly so, for when it makes its way into the country it generally washes us up.

The politicians, and the public too, must learn that generals win battles, not armies. The same armies which Napoleon led victoriously into Spain were driven ignominiously out of Spain when Napoleon was engaged elsewhere. Washington led the American farmers to victory.

We are very proud of our heroic American ancestors, but as a matter of plain facts our ancestors wanted to quit fighting and go home and let Independence go to pot, and did so whenever the opportunity offered.

Without our industrial leaders the United States never would have risen to the industrial leadership of the world. Their critics say our great industrial leaders brought on an era of speculation. Nonsense! They did not bring it on any more than the public did, not any more than you or I did. It is impossible to have speculation without the participation of the public. It is impossible to have stock rambling if the public does not ramble. We all know the public did ramble. We all know that the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker, the barber, the banker, the grocer—everybody, was trying to get rich quick. The whole country was gambling and woke up one morning and found it was broke.

The public is entirely human. It is good on alibis. It is great on blaming others for its own mistakes, but the dear public is just as much to blame for the depression as anybody or anything else. Let us all realize that. Let us admit our part of the blame. Let us swear off gambling and blaming others for the consequences. Let us take off our coats and go to work. Let us encourage our leaders instead of abusing them. Our great industrialists did a good job. They can do it again. The politicians cannot help business. What do they know about business? Would we put any one of them in charge of our private business? Lord save us, no! They are nearly all in politics because they cannot earn a living at anything else. They have nearly all tried other lines of activity and have failed. They know nothing about successful business. They have proved THAT individually, but they are ready to regulate the business of the nation. They have the supreme confidence of utter ignorance. The politicians, the professors, the failures, the cranks, the visionary theorists, the impractical experimentalists are all ready to sell the able and experienced businessmen of the country how to run their individual businesses and the business of the nation. Think of it! "Fools rush in where angels fear to tread." But when the administration has realized that if we are to have a boom, business must bring it; when the administration has realized that if we are to bring prosperity back, our business leaders must bring it back; and when the administration will decide to let business alone so it can bring prosperity back, we will then have good times again. Condition are favorable. Congress has adjourned. The President is going to Hawaii. If we could only arrange to take General Johnson with him and leave General Johnson in Hawaii, along with Captain Cook the business men of the nation would almost underwrite prosperity. Let us hope that our good President will think favorably of this patriotic suggestion.

The per capita use of water in the average American city is 3 times as great as that in Rome, Berlin, London and Paris. It is 75 times as great as the use of water in Paris in medieval times.

"The younger generation talks a great deal."—Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, pastor, Riverside Church, New York.

More Automobiles In Use This Year Than Last Report Shows

There are 82,210 more automobiles licensed for use on Michigan highways on June 1 than on the same date in 1933. Department of State statistics disclose. The increase is still more remarkable when it is seen that this year there were 6,871 more automobiles licensed than on the same date in 1932.

The reduction in weight tax rates is responsible for a large share of the increase, although records show that many cars have been licensed in 1934 that were not used for several years previous. On June 1, 1934 a total of 602,671 automobiles had been licensed as compared with 489,894 on the same date in 1933. Because of the reduction in weight tax rates, however, the demand for the two-payment plan stickers decreased slightly from 322,628 on June 1, 1933 to 302,061 on the same day this year.

Statistics for trucks, trailers and motorcycles show that the demand for both full-year plates and for two-payment stickers increased slightly this year over 1933.

E. J. Penniman, Party Founder

Wells who had so much to do with the early history of south-western Michigan are mentioned as among the delegates. The names of scores of other men from other states who later gained fame in the war of the Rebellion are included in the report of the first Republican convention.

Convention history does not record the fact, but the placing of Mr. Penniman's name at the head of the list of delegates from Michigan would indicate that he was chairman of the delegation from this state to the first national convention of the Republican party. Not only was he the chairman, but he was selected at large from the state with five other delegates. Michigan at that time had four congressional districts, and there were three additional delegates from each district.

It is apparent that the Republicans of Michigan selected as delegates to their first convention men who had taken an important part in the founding of the party "Under the Oaks" at Jackson, July 8, 1854. Mr. Penniman was one of the fearless leaders of the day who was willing to work and sacrifice for the high ideals that he believed in and that inspired the organization of the Republican party.

He had served as a member of congress from this district, being elected by the Whig party, which later joined with the Republican party movement. This congressional district at that time included all of Wayne county, Monroe, Lenawee and Hillsdale counties. Now there are more congressional districts in the city of Detroit than there was in the entire state at that time.

Mrs. Allen well recalls the intense belief of her father in the ideals of the Republican party which he helped to organize.

"I recall of often hearing him tell of the meeting at Jackson when the Republican party was organized and of the other convention that he attended in the east. He was firm in his political convictions," states Mrs. Allen.

Although Mr. Penniman played an important part in the creation of a political party that has directed the destinies of a nation with the exception of three times since it was founded, he was keenly alert to the welfare of the community in which he lived so many years.

In his honor the community years ago named one of its main thoroughfares Penniman avenue.

When Mrs. Allen constructed the motion picture theatre that was at the time of its building one of the best outside the city of Detroit, she named it The Penniman-Allen theatre, in honor of her father and her husband, both of whom had done so much for Plymouth.

While the newer generation of Plymouth knows the name of Penniman almost as well as they know their own name, only a few indeed know of the important part he played in the history of the nation of his state and community.

This doubtless is due to the fact that he detested every form of ostentation.

The narrative of Mr. Penniman's life reads like that of the story book tale of success. In many ways it parallels that of Benjamin Franklin, who when a lad was apprenticed to a print shop in Boston and had to buy his way out from the bargain that had been made for him.

So it was with Mr. Penniman. Born in eastern New York, January 11, 1804, in the little town of Lansingburg that lies on the banks of the Hudson river, he was apprenticed when 13 years of age for a period of seven years to the printing office of the Hampshire Sentinel, published at Keene, New Hampshire. It was during the five years of this apprenticeship that he became interested in politics.

But deciding to buy off his apprenticeship because of a desire to go to New York city, he made a bargain with the editor for his release. He has saved some money which he paid over to the editor, agreeing to pay the balance as rapidly as possible. It was but a short time after he had gone to New York that he was able to remit the balance of the payment.

In return he was given a letter of recommendation by the editor of the Sentinel that he prized for many years.

In New York he secured a position with a wholesale dry goods concern. For a time later he was in business in Austin, Vermont. Along in 1838 the eastern states began to hear of the opportunities for progressive young men out in the "western" state of Michigan.

Possessed of that same pioneer spirit that made America what it is today, the young man started for the new east.

Detroit was then the first stopping place for every one who planned to locate in Michigan. Some one had told him of the little settlement at Plymouth and he decided to come here to cast his lot with others who had established homes in the wilderness. His trip from Detroit to Plymouth was made on horseback.

He was not long in becoming one of the energetic young builders of a new city in the new west and as a result of his efforts there is written into the permanent history of Plymouth the name of E. J. Penniman.

He was the first president of the First National bank of Plymouth and remained in that capacity until 1885 when advancing years caused him to resign. Previous to his banking association in Plymouth he was a member of the mercantile firm of Austin, Fralek & Co.

In the rear of William Pettin-gill's grocery store there stands the great iron safe that for over half a century held most of the wealth of the citizens of Plymouth.

Not only did Mr. Penniman keep closely guarded in the safe his own valuables, but every one in town who wanted a safe place to store their cash and valuables were accommodated by Mr. Penniman. The safe was made nearly 100 years ago and doubtless is more burglar proof than many of the more modern type of safes.

He held nearly every office in Plymouth township. When Governor Bligham, who had served with Mr. Penniman in creating the Republican party, decided that he wanted the youthful offenders of Michigan sent to a reform school rather than to some prison, he appointed Mr. Penniman on the commission to help locate a site for the reform school, which is now the State Industrial school.

The commission selected a "farm" just outside the city of Lansing. Now the place is entirely surrounded by the city. Mr. Penniman was the only member of the commission who refused to ask the state for the payment of his expenses for this work. He declared that he was glad to do the work for the state without pay.

His victory in the congressional race back in 1850 was one of the great political events of the time. It was before there was a Republican party. He ran on the Whig ticket and beat the Democratic incumbent by over 1,500 votes.

Detroit newspaper writer in telling of Mr. Penniman, in an article published at the time of his death, in part said: "While he was a man of great strength of character he was gentle and kind. One evidence of his gentleness was his great fondness for and patronage of children. Every Christmas he gave a quarter to every child who would come and wish him a merry festival."

Rightly Mrs. Allen has a world of reason to be proud of the heritage of one who played such an important part in one of the greatest political movements in American history—and one who helped build a modern city in the "wilderness" of Michigan.

Finds His Favorite Fishing Place Is N. G.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crowe have returned from a trip to Cedarville in the Upper Peninsula where Mr. Crowe did some fishing out among the islands along the north shore of Lake Huron. He had the usual fisherman's luck, returning with not a single little fish for his friends. Mr. Crowe states that he unfortunately ran into some exceedingly cool weather up north, and some high wind, which kept him off the lake a good portion of the time. Outside of the poor luck at fishing, Mr. and Mrs. Crowe report a very pleasant trip to the Upper Peninsula.

right and the imperative duty of Congress to prohibit in the Territories those twin relics of barbarism—Polygamy and Slavery.

RESOLVED: That while the Constitution of the United States was ordained and established by the people in order to "form a more perfect union, defende, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty," and contains ample provisions for the protection of the life, liberty and property of every citizen, the dearest Constitutional rights of the people of Kansas have been fraudulently and violently taken from them;

Their Territory has been invaded by an armed force;

Spurious and pretended legislative, judicial and executive officers have been set over them, by whose usurped authority, sustained by the military power of the government, tyrannical and unconstitutional laws have been enacted and enforced;

The right of the people to keep and bear arms has been infringed. Test oaths of an extraordinary and entangling nature have been imposed as a condition of exercising the right of suffrage and holding office; partial jury has been denied;

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, has been violated;

They have been deprived of life, liberty, and property without due process of law;

The freedom of speech and of the press has been abridged;

The right to choose their representatives has been made of no effect;

Murders, robberies, and arsons have been instigated or encouraged, and the offenders have been allowed to go unpunished;

That all these things have been done with the knowledge, sanction and procurement of the present National Administration; and that for this high crime against the constitution, the union and humanity, we arraign that Administration, the President, his advisers, agents, supporters, apologists, and accessories either before or after the fact, before the country and before the world; and that it is our fixed purpose to bring the actual perpetrators of these atrocious outrages and their accomplices to a sure and condign punishment hereafter.

RESOLVED: That Kansas should be immediately admitted as a State of this Union, with her present Free Constitution, as at once the most effectual way of securing to her citizens the enjoyment of the rights and privileges to which they are entitled, and of ending the civil strife now raging in her territory.

RESOLVED: That the highwayman's plea, that "might makes right," embodied in the Ostend Circular, was in every respect unworthy of American diplomacy, and would bring shame and dishonor upon any Government or people that gave it their sanction.

RESOLVED: That a railroad to the Pacific Ocean, by the most central practicable route, is imperatively demanded by the interests of the whole country, and that the Federal Government ought to render immediate and efficient aid in its construction, and, as an auxiliary thereto, to the immediate construction of an emigrant road on the line of the railroad.

RESOLVED: That appropriations by Congress for the improvement of rivers and harbors, of a national character, required for the accommodation and security of an existing commerce, are authorized to protect the lives and property of its citizens.

RESOLVED: That we invite the affiliation and co-operation of the men of all parties, however differing from us in other respects, in support of the principles herein declared; and believing that the spirit of our institutions, as well as the Constitution of our country, guarantees liberty of conscience and equality of rights among citizens, we oppose all legislation impairing their security.

Buying Power Of The Farmers On Increase
Federal Report Shows

Farm purchasing power on the average throughout the United States has been 25 percent higher during the first nine months in which benefit payments have been distributed through the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act than in the corresponding period of the previous year.

This is the conclusion reached by L. H. Bean, economic adviser to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, following a study of the prices farmers receive for the products, compared with the cost of commodities farmers buy. Cash income including benefit payments during this nine month period increased 38 percent, but this increase was partially offset by an increase in the cost of commodities farmers buy.

Benefit payments on production adjustment contracts contributed nearly one-fifth of the net increase of 25 percent in purchasing power. For the first four months of 1934, the net increase in farm purchasing power was 28 percent over the first four months of 1933.

Mr. Bean's study also shows that the purchasing power of the farmer increased somewhat more than the purchasing power of the country as a whole during the first four months of 1934. During this period, the total national money income, including the distribution of emergency funds, was about 20 percent higher than in the corresponding period of 1933, but the cost of living for the country as a whole increased eight percent, leaving a net increase of 12 percent in the national purchasing power. The net increase in farm purchasing power was 28 percent for the same period.

TRIAL* ELECTRIC RANGES

Any fuel-burning stove—no matter how much it looks like an electric range—is really employing the same cooking method used 50 years ago. A certain amount of smoke and soot due to the combustion of fuel is unavoidable. This soot must go somewhere, and some of it deposits in your kitchen—on kitchen walls and curtains and on your pots and pans.

An electric range is totally different. There is nothing but a glowing wire to furnish heat. Because there is no flame, there can be no smoke or soot or fumes. An electric range supplies heat in PURE, CONCENTRATED form—heat that is as clean as sunlight. That is why your cooking utensils remain bright and shiny after constant use on an electric range, and why your kitchen walls and curtains stay clean so much longer.

*We want you to discover in your own kitchen how clean electric cooking is. We want you to enjoy electric cooking without making any investment or being under any obligation. So we have arranged a special trial offer. We will install an electric range in your kitchen without initial charge, and let you use it for six months, removing it without charge if you do not like it. During this trial period, you pay for the service as registered by your meter, plus a monthly charge of $1 for the range. If you decide to keep the range, your monthly payments will be applied toward the purchase price. If you decide that you do not want it, the range will be removed at our expense. Since this trial plan was begun a short time ago, over 2500 of our customers have taken advantage of the offer. Send in your application for a trial range today!

No doubt most of us would vote it a pleasing address if it was delivered in ten minutes, but the great trouble is the speakers all appear to think the audience is enjoying it as much as the speaker, which, of course, is not true.

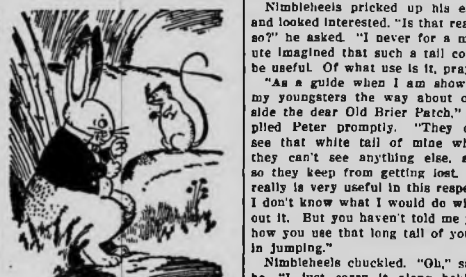

From a southern state comes the sad tale of an NRA enthusiast who took on an extra wife and received a summons instead of a Blue Eagle.

Every husband wonders what his wife does with all the money he brings home, and every wife wonders why her husband isn't able to bring home more money.

PETER AND NIMBLEHEELS COMPARE TAILS

PETER RABBIT always has been interested in tails. He just can't help it. You see, he hasn't much of a tail himself, so when he meets anyone whose tail is short he always has a friendly feeling. And when he meets one with a very long tail he is always a wee bit envious. Peter is like many people in that he always wants what he hasn't got.

It Was the Longest Tail for the Size of its Owner Peter Had Ever Seen.

Nimbleheels the Jumping Mouse. It was the longest tail for the size of its owner that Peter ever had seen. It was more than twice as long as the body of Nimbleheels, and it was slim and tapering. As he looked at it Peter couldn't help wondering how it was possible for Nimbleheels to make such very big jumps when he had to take such a long tail as that with him. It was this which led him at last to ask Nimbleheels if that tail didn't bother him when he jumped.

"Certainly not," declared Nimbleheels very emphatically. "If I didn't have such a long tail I wouldn't be able to make such long jumps."

Peter looked as surprised as he felt. "For goodness sake!" he exclaimed. "What has your tail got to do with your jumping? I'm a pretty good jumper myself, or

The good parties are the ones you miss.

"Bargains" produced at the expense of human misery are nothing short of wolves in sheep's clothing.

Why do organized minorities run things? Simply because the majority has not sense enough to organize.

The broad, general rule is that a man is about as big as the things that make him mad.

You can live cheaper but not happier when your wife's reducing.

A miss down in Iowa is advertising for a missing dachshund. The ad reads: "He is two dogs long and half a dog high and a bit underslung."

What You Catch Where You Fish

What to fish and where? That's a problem confronting hundreds of anglers this season who plan to spend their vacations with rod and reel.

The Fisheries Division, Department of Conservation, has prepared a list of the muskellunge waters and the larger trout streams of the state which may be of aid to the fisherman.

Michigan has more than 5,000 inland lakes, hundreds of miles of trout streams and over 3,000 miles of Great Lakes shore line with sheltered bays and inlets that offer excellent fishing of various kinds.

All species of game fish common to this latitude may be found in Michigan waters. The lakes of the southern part of the state are predominantly black bass and bluegill waters whereas the lakes of the north are predominantly pike waters.

Yellow perch are found in most inland waters as well as along the shores of the Great Lakes. Deep water trolling for lake trout and large rainbow or steelheads is afforded in several of the larger inland lakes of northern Michigan and in certain bays of the Great Lakes. Muskellunge fishing is available in the following waters:

Lakes Bellaire and Clam, Antrim county; Elk, Antrim and Grand Traverse counties; Torch, Antrim and Kalkaska counties; Gun and Thornapple, Berry county; Platte, Benzie county; Black, Burt, Mullet lakes and Indian river, Cheboygan county; St. Mary's river, Munising bay and Duck lake, Chippewa county; Lac Vieux Desert, Gogebic county; Lake Leelanau, Leelanau county; Muscalonge, Lake county; Brevort, Mackinac county; Hamlin, Pere Marquette, Mason county; Bear, Muskegon county; Pentwater, Oceana county; Black and Spring lakes, Otsego county; Lake St. Clair, St. Clair and Macomb counties.

Some of the better known trout streams are listed as follows: Lower Peninsula—Pere Marquette, Little Manistee, Pine, Boardman, Au Spring lakes, Jordan Boyne Black, Pigeon Sturgeon and Muskegon.

Upper Peninsula—St. Mary's rapids, East branch of Tahquamenon; Pine, Two Heart, Fox, Escanaba and Ontonagon rivers.

Honesty needs no change to keep up with changing conditions. In spite of the disparity between the smallest and the largest of American newspapers, the publisher of the small country weekly need not be overawed by the size of his metropolitan rival. The local newspaper has a place in the life of its community which the great dailies can not usurp if the local publisher is alive to his opportunities and makes the most of them. Now, as always, the hometown newspaper is the best and cleanest exponent of constructive journalism.
