

Merchants Big Sales Event Is Successful One

Penniman - Allen Entertains Biggest Number Of Kids In Theatre

Prize Awards Go To Local And Nearby Residents - 3000 At Final Event Saturday Eve

Probably the greatest shopping crowd that ever came to Plymouth at any one time was here Thursday, Friday and Saturday taking advantage of the big sale of merchandise that had been offered by local merchants in their great summer clearance sales.

The climax came Saturday afternoon and evening, when the stores were filled with buyers from all over this part of the state.

Manager Harry Lush of the Penniman-Allen theatre and Jake Stremch, his assistant, entertained over 1400 boys and girls at the special free matinee Saturday afternoon. With all purchases made at this time, coupons were given which provided free admission to children under 12 years of age.

So great was the crowd when Mr. Stremch opened the doors that only about half of the children present could get in. He then announced that immediately following the end of the matinee, the show would be given so that the other 700 or more children would be able to see the picture.

It was nearly 6 o'clock when the second show let out and the greatest crowd of children ever to see a show in one day, started home delighted with the free entertainment that had been provided them by the Penniman-Allen.

The band concerts given each evening by the Plymouth band were thoroughly enjoyed. The first concert on Thursday night was given on the north side and the other two concerts were in Kellogg park. The band during recent weeks has shown remarkable progress and time and again its playing was applauded.

Then at 9:30 o'clock came the climax of the evening as the many valuable prizes that had been offered the shoppers in Plymouth during the three day sale.

When Mayor George Robinson handed an Ernest Wickstrom of 127 Amelia street, the $50 coupon book good in trade at any store that participated in the event. The big crowd cheered. All of them were delighted to see Mr. Wickstrom win.

It is estimated that over 3000 people crowded the street and little park in front of the city hall when the awards were given.

Mayor Robinson and Secretary Berg Moore of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce who had charge of the awarding of the prizes were busy for nearly an hour and a half.

Following are award winners:
First, Ernest V. Wickstrom, 127 Amelia Street, Plymouth.
Second, Milton An Atta, 598 Ann Street, Plymouth.
Third, Herman Esch, 493 Adams Street, Plymouth.
Fourth, Angie Roginski, R.F.D. 2, Plymouth.
Fifth, Mrs. Archie Collins, 1365 Sheridan avenue, Plymouth.
Sixth, Mrs. Anna Naoum, 219 N. Harvey Street, Plymouth.
Seventh, James E. Latture, 593 Ann Street, Plymouth.
Eighth, Albert Curry, 1027 Penniman avenue, Plymouth.

In conclusion, on behalf of the merchants who participated in the three day sale, Mayor Robinson expressed a word of appreciation to those present for their support.

The sales event was probably the greatest in the history of the city, that Plymouth merchants have conducted in a number of years, all but two or three reporting big gains over all previous sales.

Buyers came from everywhere in this locality, Wayne, Northville, South Lyon, Novi, Rosedale Gardens, West Point Park, Salem and even Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor having some buyers here. All in all it was a great success, especially for this time of the year.

Better Not Drive With Old License Outside Of State

If you are driving your automobile on a 1933 license with a sticker, you had better go outside the state of Michigan, even though the state has granted an extension of time for the use of these stickers until September 1, Secretary Berg Moore of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce has been notified by the Lansing office that other states have not been asked to honor old license plates and it is known that they will not be honored, so you had better get a 1934 license before going outside the state of Michigan, unless of course you want to take a chance on being arrested outside of the state.

The ceremony was read at 8:30 o'clock before the fireplace beautifully decorated with white lace, flowers, and cymophyllis. Lighted cathedral tapers added beauty to the decorations.

The Rev. J. Howard Nicholls, of Middletown, N. Y. read the wedding service in the presence of about fifty relatives and friends of the two families.

Here Is Project That Will Give Dozen Men Work

One Job That CERA Can Do For Plymouth And Aid Many

City Water Farm Can Be transformed Into 40 Acre Forest - Some Trees There Now

With many CERA projects throughout Wayne county nearing completion, smaller cities like Plymouth are finding their relief works programs about worked out and a need fast developing for new projects to care for the unemployed.

Establishment of a community or municipal forest on the forty odd acres owned by the city of Plymouth on Beck road has been described as a self-liquidating project. The Municipal or Community Forest Act, (Michigan Public Acts, 1931) provides for the creation and maintenance of such forests. Application of the agencies of this act by Plymouth will provide in a few years a permanent source of revenue to the city and immediately establish watershed protection to the city's source of water supply. Christmas trees, ties and lumber in short lengths can be produced and marketed locally.

In the lower peninsula of Michigan a year ago municipal forests were to be counted ranging in size from 5 acres up to eighty acres, all of them established under the Municipal or Community Forest Act. As the movement has gained rapid momentum, more than that number can be counted at present. In addition to the forenamed municipal forests, there are twelve school forests likewise established under the same act.

Michigan is not leading in the movement, however, for New York state had no less than 484 municipal forests in 1931 totaling 41,370,954 trees. Such forests have been maintained for centuries in Europe and have been an important source of revenue from the logging of their lumber while also serving as places of public recreation, watershed protection, and bird and game sanctuaries.

To prepare, plant and maintain Plymouth's 40 odd acres on Beck road would cost between $1,500 and $2,000 to include planting stock, labor and supervision. Work could be provided for many men including supervisory services for the remainder of the summer on this project which would be of lasting benefit to present and future citizens of Plymouth.

Pomona Grange Hears Ketcham

Friday afternoon, July 27, fifty members and friends of the Pomona Grange met in Riverside Park and after a delicious potluck dinner, listened to an inspiring address given by John B. Ketcham, past state president of the Grange and past congressman. Mr. Ketcham captivates his audience instantly, and holds them attentive to the end.

In speaking to those present who had remained faithful through a long period of years he assured them that "the old guard dies, but never surrenders." He told his hearers that nationally the Grange is stronger in spirit and organization than ever before, and that its influence at Washington is greater than at any time in the past. He warned his hearers that forsaking an old and tried organization for something new was a questionable procedure. He paid a fine tribute to the memory of Michael Noon of the Farm Bureau. He also gave an interesting glimpse into the ways of Senators and Congressmen, and closed with two humorous stories that left every one smiling.

The confidence in which he is held in his home town is attested by the fact that he has been recently elected to the presidency of their National Bank in Eastings, Monroe and Washtenaw Counties were present in the audience, as well as Wayne.

Birth Announcement Is Something New

A birth announcement card different than anything else ever received here came to Miss Hartwood of Union street, the center day from friends in Sebring, Florida.

The announcement was in the form of an invitation to a play, and read "Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hartwood present to you a brand new star upon the Stage of Life, playing her first role in 'A Members' of the Family,' July 2, 1934."

Then on the inside pages was news about the weight of the baby and a list of all the members of the family, nurses and all who made up the cast of characters.

Your Help Needed

The banking problems of surrounding communities being satisfactorily solved—Local bank depositors hope for similar action.—A number of the surrounding communities have been able to secure release of the moratorium deposits in their banks through co-operation of depositors and assistance of government agencies. It is sincerely hoped that the depositors of the First National Bank in Plymouth will be able to co-operate in bringing about a release.

A group of local citizens who are depositors in the bank are now working to assist in securing the release of an early date. Regardless of any personal feeling which any one may have, we all want to see Plymouth take its place among the communities which have secured an amount of deposits possible are again available to supply additional credit and trade facilities.

Rotarians Are Told Of Modern Penology Work

Hear Interesting Talk By Superintendent Of Prison For Women

Nearby Prison Is Regarded As One Of Model Of Entire Country - How Women Are Cared For

Members of the Plymouth Rotary club last Friday heard Mrs. Katherine Campbell, superintendent of the Michigan State Prison for Women, Division of the Detroit House of Correction give one of the most comprehensive discussions on modern penology and its application ever before heard in Plymouth.

No one who discusses the underlying causes of crime and why women get into prison, but she stressed the untiring efforts being made to return discharged prisoners to the fold of society so that they will not again err.

In fact Mrs. Campbell declared that the reformation of women who have become criminals is one of the most interesting and interesting in penal problems.

Mrs. Campbell who was the guest of Charles A. Bennett of the Detroit House of Correction, located a short distance west of Plymouth is the only penal institution in Michigan which houses adult prisoners in the country, at Milan near houses women convicted of federal crimes, but not others.

"We are situated on a 1300 acre tract of land just three miles out from Plymouth. The building are of English cottage architecture, built of cream colored tile, slate roofing, concrete floors, steel fire escapes and without bars. The building is a two-story English Country Estate, having no semblance of a prison in its architecture and consists of an Administration Building, a Hospital, Detention unit, eight cottages, forming two separate quadrangles, with the factory building living beyond and in the rear of the cottages. A 12 foot wide fence surrounds the 40 acre tract of land within which these buildings are situated.

Inmates are received in the Administration Building and immediately taken to the Receiving room upon entry into the institution. There the inmate's clothes and belongings are taken from her and she signs a receipt for the same. She is weighed, her fingerprints and photograph are taken and she is given a bath and shampoo and dressed in the institution uniform. She is then turned over to the detention and medical department. We have a institutional physician, a graduate nurse, a part time psychiatrist, a dentist and an oculist. Upon entrance of each inmate, a thorough medical examination is made and blood tests taken. The treatment of social diseases is compulsory. During the past year syphilitic cases averaged 16 per cent of all women, and gonorrhoeal cases 10 per cent of all women.

The Medical Clinic and Surgical Department is equipped to take care of minor cases, only. Major and confinement cases are taken to receiving hospital. Infants are born, or kept in the institution. Homes are found for the babies through the family or children agencies.

The nurse has two inmates working with her and they are kept at this work as long as is thought practicable. During this training they are equipping themselves to become practical nurses or to enter into the field of becoming student nurses.

The inmate is held in the Detention Department until the doctor reports to the Superintendent that she is ready for placement in one of the plant cottages. The colored are separated from the white women. Sex delinquents are segregated from those sentenced for other offenses. We are using two cottages and they are purpose, one for white and one for colored. We have special problem inmates, who for disciplinary reasons are not placed in the same cottages. We have special inmates. (Continued on page seven.)

Officials Fear Water Shortage In Near Future

Residents Are Urged To Shut Off Water When They Hear Fire Alarm

Only Heavy Downpour Will Prevent Serious Shortage Of City Supply Of Water

Due to the extended dry period and the excessive use of water by local residents, it appears that unless some good rains occur a ban will have to be put on the use of water for sprinkling purposes during day-light hours, in some of the city. The water pressure is so low that residents cannot get sufficient water for necessary household purposes. This is due to the inadequate size of some of the pipes carrying the volume of water necessary to supply the total demand, therefore those living toward the outer sections of the water system are prevented from having sufficient water for their needs. It is suggested that during this extremely hot and dry period every consideration be given to the moderate use of water, otherwise definite restrictions will have to be enforced by the City.

It is suggested that during this extremely hot and dry period every consideration be given to the moderate use of water, otherwise definite restrictions will have to be enforced by the City.

The present condition is not due to any shortage of water at the spring, but is due only to the fact that a fire alarm, all persons using water should immediately discontinue so that the water will be available for fire use. This is an important item and should be observed to insure sufficient water for fire fighting purposes.

Mr. Cookingham had put forth during the long hours of her husband down in the city of Detroit were over, and here he was being delayed again on his return trip home. But it all turned out in story book fashion, and here is the pleasant story.

Mr. Ballenger then called into Mr. Cookingham's office some 450 workers in the office in Detroit and here he was being delayed again on his return trip home. But it all turned out in story book fashion, and here is the pleasant story.

Plymouth Gets Best Of Movies

Much has been said about motion pictures—good, bad and indifferent. Since the agitation started for the city to get the best of pictures a most interesting fact has developed as far as the Penman Allen theatre in Plymouth is concerned.

Only but a few of the pictures that have caused much of the discussion have ever been shown in Plymouth.

Manager Harry Lush has always taken great care in the selection of pictures and during the time he has been away because of illness Assistant Manager Jake Stremch has used the same care in booking pictures. Cookingham was surprised to find that the local management there are generally the occasions when the pictures come out that have made great criticism that has developed recently.

However the motion picture going public is pleased to know that there is going to be a marked improvement in the general motion picture production for the fall and winter schedule of pictures for the entire country will be far above anything that has been shown in years.

There is light for Plymouth during the coming fall, winter and spring season some of the finest motion pictures ever shown in the city today.

Local theatre fans will recall the excellent run Plymouth had last winter and early in the spring of motion pictures. Those who are not left with the local releases about to be made will far exceed in excellence those that made such a hit last winter.

A Calm Day at Sea

Appreciation Is Shown By Gifts Check P. O. Bids With Tax Rolls

When City Manager Perry Cookingham who has been acting as deputy administrator for the County Emergency Relief Commission in Detroit was cleaning his desk last Monday preparing to give up his work in connection with the relief commission and return to full time duties in Plymouth he received what proved to be one of the big surprises of his life.

He had just about packed up all of the little things that belonged to him personally around his desk and was reaching for his hat when County Administrator John Ballenger walked into his office.

"There's just one little thing left for us to do," said Mr. Ballenger. Mrs. Cookingham who had gone to Detroit with her husband because she thought the long hours of her husband down in the city of Detroit were over, and here he was being delayed again on his return trip home. But it all turned out in story book fashion, and here is the pleasant story.

How Back Taxes Can Be Paid Under Long Term Arrangement

Taxpayers who wish to at once take advantage of the ten year installment plan for payment of delinquent taxes for 1932 and prior years may do so by making application at the office of their city, village or township treasurer, according to announcement by Jacob P. Sumeracki, county treasurer.

All local treasurers, with the exception of Detroit, have been furnished with application blanks and this plan will save large numbers of taxpayers the long trip to the county building in Detroit. The local treasurers will assist in filling out the blanks and interpreting the provisions of the ten year plan. The applications may then be left with the local treasurer or else mailed direct to County Treasurer Sumeracki.

Preparation of the rolls in connection with the ten year plan is progressing rapidly. Mr. Sumeracki reports that steady stream of applications is pouring into the treasurer's office and the tax bills for the first installment, due before September 1, 1935 are being mailed to taxpayers as rapidly as possible.

Goes On Vacation, Dr. Thams In Hospital

Word has been received that Dr. S. N. Thams, who with his family was vacationing at their cottage at Detroit Lakes, Minnesota, was taken ill and was moved to St. Johns hospital, Fargo, North Dakota, on Wednesday, July 25. It became necessary to operate and so far the doctor is making a very satisfactory recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Thomson and daughter, Dorothy Jean of Owosso who had spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. John Schroder on the Newburg Road, returned home Tuesday. On Tuesday they all enjoyed a visit to Greenfield Village at Dearborn.

Pay Taxes Before August 10th To Save Interest

Next Friday Is Last Day Before Penalty Is Added To Taxes

Collection This Year Running Much Higher Than Year Ago City Records Show

The last day to pay 1934 taxes without penalty is Friday, August 10th. The city charter provides that any taxes not paid in full shall be added to all taxes paid after August 10th and an additional 1 per cent shall be added on September 10th, and the 10th of each month following until the taxes are returned delinquent to the county treasurer.

All property owners are urged to make their tax payments at the City Hall on or before the penalty date. Every effort has been made by the city commission to operate with a minimum tax levy and it is necessary to collect as near 100 per cent of the taxes spread over the same time as possible in order to insure furnishing the services as set up in the budget.

Because of the fact that it is difficult to anticipate the exact income of the city prior to the penalty date, it is necessary to curtail services until such time as the financial status is determined. An example of this curtailment is the city's inability to finance the application of dust laying material on unpaved streets. As soon as it is known the possible amount of taxes which will be received, then a definite decision can be made as to this service as well as many others anticipated in the budget.

To date the city treasurer has collected 18.6 per cent of the taxes spread over the same time as possible in order to insure furnishing the services as set up in the budget.

It is probable that some information will be forthcoming within a few days or so, possibly before that time.

Shackleton Reunion Held Sunday—Nearly Half Hundred Present

The Shackleton reunion was held Sunday July 29th at Riverside Park. Forty-two people attended. Among them were Mrs. Mary Hill, Ypsilanti and Plymouth.

Everyone enjoyed a lovely picnic dinner at about one. After dinner John Shackleton, president of the meeting to order. Roll call was taken showing several absentees. The same officers were re-elected for the following year, John Shackleton, president, and Mrs. Hattie Burrell, secretary and treasurer. It was voted to hold the reunion next year at Cass Benton Park the last Sunday in July. The meeting was then adjourned. Bright and sunny weather was enjoyed and was ended by a luncheon of ice cream and cake.

Melvin Guthrie Is Legion Head

The regular meeting of the Melvin Guthrie Legion No. 10, Auxiliary was held Friday evening, July 20, at their American Legion Home in Newburg. About sixty enjoyed the fine dinner prepared by Mrs. Edith Eklund and her committee.

The business meetings then followed and as this meeting was the election of officers, the post elected the following officers for ensuing year: Commander, Melvin Guthrie; First Vice, Commander, Bert Coverdill; Second Vice, Commander, Chauncey Evans; Adjutant, Walter Nisley; Chaplain, William Keefe; Sergeant at Arms, John Moyer.

The Auxiliary named as their officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. Gladys Ryder; First Vice President, Mrs. Cecily Evans; Second Vice President, Mrs. Edith Eklund; Secretary, Mrs. Alma Moyer; Treasurer, Mrs. Gertrude Simonette; Chaplain, Mrs. Cole; Sergeant at Arms, Mrs. Keefe.

Great interest is being taken by the Post in the new and very modern and his family is most cordially invited to attend the meetings, which are held the third Friday of every month. The next meeting being August 17th.

When Darold Cline early Wednesday evening started up his motorcycle in front of the Penniman-Allen theatre, the clutch stuck and for a couple of minutes he was stuck in a state of excitement. First, the machine crashed into one of the doors of the Penniman-Allen theatre, and then it crashed into the door of the motorcycle, the young man turned it down the sidewalk and he was in Kellogg park before he brought it under control. Although the riding was pretty rough in spots he stuck to the machine until he had it under control. Fortunately he was not injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Burden and sons Arvid and Harold, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kruse and daughter, Dorothy, Mrs. Hugh Wilson all of Detroit for Sunday evening luncheon.

OBITUARIES

JOSEPH STANLEY

Joseph Stanley was born March 19, 1852 at Sawston, Cambridge Shire, England, and passed from this life on July 24, 1934. Mr. Stanley was the son of James and Mary Stanley, being one of a family of four sons and one daughter. He came to this country when but sixteen years of age settling at Salem, where he made his home until coming to Plymouth twenty-five years ago. Mr. Stanley united with the First Baptist church of Plymouth on May 10, 1909, and except for a period of a year or so has been actively engaged in the work of this church. During all the time of his membership he has held office in the church and in 1926 was made a life deacon. Words would fail to tell all that his life has meant to this church during these years, for with every energy possible with all means available he has given of his best to further the work so dear to his heart. In the last few years his hearing has been much impaired and this was indeed a great loss to him in that he could no longer hear the messages of his pastor. This however did not keep him from the services of his church until such time as his health did not permit a popular attendance. The goodly life of this man stands as a monument to the grace of God and to the saving power of the Christ that remarkably saved him in a experience from which he never departed. His voice in prayer, his ringing testimony and a smile that always carried cheer, will be missed beyond telling among all his friends and fellow workers in the church. When shall another be raised up who can "Pray Through" in behalf of the Kingdom's needs?

There remain of his own to mourn his going, his wife, Mrs. Ida Stanley, three children by a former marriage, Mrs. Sadie Smith of Ypsilanti, Mich., Mrs. May Hopkins of Detroit, Mr. R. William Stanley of Malden, Saskatchewan, Canada, ten grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted from the Baptist church on Friday afternoon by the pastor Rev. Loya Sutherland, burial in Riverside cemetery.

MRS. EFFIE M. CANFIELD
Mrs. Effie M. Canfield who resided at Livonia Center, passed away Sunday morning, July 22, at the age of 49 years. She is survived by her husband, Charles H. Canfield, her mother and one sister, five grandchildren and a host of friends. The body was brought to the Schrader Brother Funeral Home, from which place funeral services were held Wednesday, July 25th, at 12 o'clock noon. Interment was made in Lyons Cemetery, Lyons, Ohio. Rev. Peters of Wayne officiating.

IDA M. DOANE
Ida M. Goodsell was born in Bartlett, Oneida County, New York on August 24, 1859. She was a graduate of the academy in Rome, New York and taught in the schools there. In early life she married Menzo E. Corey and some years after his death moved to Northville. She was a member of the Baptist church in Northville but when she went to live in Salem following her marriage to Henry Doane, she attended the Salem Federated church and recently had her membership transferred to that church.

Ida Doane's spirit was called from her earthly body at dawn on Friday, July 20. A memorial service was held in the Federated church on Sunday afternoon in charge of Rev. Cora M. Fenwick, pastor and Rev. Fred Burnett, pastor of the Baptist church.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to the merchants of Plymouth—every one of them who helped make possible the remarkably successful sales event of the last week-end. It was a far greater success than any one had anticipated or hoped for. Every one of the business houses that took part in the event enjoyed some of the biggest sales days in the past two years. The best part of it all is that not only are the merchants well satisfied with it, but the buyers who came from miles around to shop on the three day event went home thoroughly pleased with the fine bargains they were able to secure here.

But it was the splendid cooperation of every one—the numerous Allen's that conducted two free meetings during Saturday afternoon to packed houses, the Plymouth band, in fact every one who had anything to do with the sale. And it would only be right to mention the fine cooperation of the Secretary, Ben Moore, of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce in perfecting the details in cooperation with the committee. To Postmaster Bert Giles and his efficient staff as well as Postmaster Carrington of Northville we express our sincere appreciation for the accuracy and speed with which they handled the big edition of The Mail. This is the kind of cooperation that counts, the kind that made the big sales event such a splendid success. Just a word to the weather man—he is a fine old scout because he turned off the furnace just as soon as he read about the sale and kept the temperature down to a very normal average during the entire sales period. It was all a great success, and we are all glad.

A WISE DECISION BY A WISE JUDGE

If Judge Harry Kieden could hear the many favorable comments that have been made out in Wayne county pertaining to his recent decision in which he refused to permit an "investment" company to confiscate through the purchase of a tax title the home of a Detroit man and his wife who had been unable to pay their taxes, he would be highly pleased. Newspapers don't print very much about it, but it seems that every one read the brief report of the Judge's action and his accusation that the effort to take the property through a purchased tax title was nothing more than a "form of robbery." In many instances I will not follow the law strictly. This thing is not right and I won't stand for it," said the Judge in denying the approval of the investment company's scheme. What a fortunate thing it is for the people to have men like Judge Kieden on the bench in these trying times, a judge who knows and sympathizes with the hard pressed taxpayers and who will not let "investment" vultures take from the unfortunate the shelter that protects them from the elements. We commend you, Judge, for your humane decision in this case, and we commend the people of Wayne county for keeping on the bench a group of high type Judicial officials.

WHY A COMMUNITY NEWSPAPER?

Contest Sponsored by Adrian Van Koeversing of Zeeland, Michigan.

By JAMES M. FULLER, Eaton Rapids, Mich. (Favorable Mention)
The community newspaper is often the object of contemptuous remarks. And the fundamental reason for this is its lack of size. The American people have a mania for bigness—they consistently like to take big things. We seldom hear people speak boastfully of being born in Podunk or Way-Back. Yet, the worship of magnitude, of sheer volume, prompts him to feel pride in a birth in Chicago or New York. When this wholesome sentiment strikes at the community publication, it is indeed a dangerous habit of thinking.

Three services are rendered to its community by the small weekly journal. It conveys the events of the week brings the merchant and the customer together, and fosters an intelligent interest in civic state and national affairs.

The news service may seem trivial without a little reflection. However, people have an insatiable curiosity about other people, and this is doubly true if they know the principles involved in the events of that week. Of course even the newspaper makes errors, but it is better to know the facts with a minimum of mistakes than it would be to depend solely on the distorted versions of gossip.

Under our competitive system of retailing the community newspaper is indispensable. Advertisements in the daily newspapers of near-by cities are too expensive for the small-town merchant, and moreover, not every one taken the same daily paper. Handbills are undoubtedly an effective means of attracting customer attention. But they are not satisfactory or complete because they do not give the customer the opportunity to compare prices. Comparison of prices is an essential part of careful buying. And providing the cost is the same, the community stores will have a definite need for their newspaper.

Unquestionably, the greatest obligation the small weekly newspaper fulfills is the arousing of public opinion. Both to individuals and to governments indifference is a dangerous state of mind, there are simple health rules to which we can not remain indifferent and live; there are simple moral obligations to which we are equally indifferent. The respect and confidence of our associates; but the analogy ends there. No simple rules now apply to the task of being a good citizen.

Any study of the times will tell you that the laissez-faire policy of government—the era of "rugged individualism"—is fading. The world over the last decade has seen the state gradually broadening its control over the individual for the welfare of the group. Government leadership is substituting cooperative advancement for individual profit is hazardous business, but if we retain the right to denounce government policies openly and attempt, peacefully, to sway others to our opinion we have still a very real liberty. As long as the people control their own governments, they may well possess even greater realities of freedom within the newer order.

The complexity and rapidity of new policies of government are so bewildering that most of us have become blind followers, indifferent to the method. Settled, traditional convictions are being sloughed off the nation like worn out clothing. The Monroe Doctrine, the gold standard, the belief that the small-wage earner must be the first to suffer and the last to recover in a depression—these and other ideas we have had are being abandoned and new ones are growing. The rural population of our country are the last to see and understand these trends. Therefore, we need the community newspaper. Perhaps its greatest duty is in supporting a productive interest in our day. Here its smallness is an asset, for it not only reaches the people who need it most, but it is read fully and completely by them. The editorials may not be correct, but if they awaken concern in government they are a genuine contribution. Disparaging comments alone are better than indifference. Whether we are moving in the right direction or not is a matter of conjecture. But we must have open-mindedness and a sense of direction. We must all be students of our age. To this end we need every instrument of public opinion directed. In this hour the community newspaper is of prime importance.

NO CHANCE

Some Washington newspaper correspondent wrote a paragraph the other day that says a whole lot. Some one is supposed to have asked Al Smith recently what he thought of the chances of Mr. Roosevelt's foes in organizing opposition. "No chance at all as long as the Government keeps giving away money," Smith replied. "Nobody shoots at Santa Claus."

containing the obituary of my aunt. Also publish the enclosed clipping of the marriage of my niece who is not known here but who likes to see her name in print every time she reads the paper. And I wish you'd put it in the paper, if it doesn't cost anything, that I have 2 bull calves for sale. As my subscription is out, please stop the paper for a time and I'll send you a hard to waste money on papers." —Joe Haas in The Holly Herald.

BUREAUCRACY
A Washington correspondent having a clientele of thousands of business executives scattered in every section of the United States recently conceived the idea of finding out what the business men of the country really think of the present trend in government. He sent questionnaires to each one. There were 2000 replies taken at random from the number, compiled and summarized. The result: 70 per cent are distinctly sour on Washington bureaucracy including 15 per cent which were distinctly bitter; 20 per cent were inclined to be neutral; 10 per cent were sweet toward Washington. New England, New York and the middle west are the most bitter and the south less inclined to be critical.

Johnson, Farley and Tugwell, were the main targets with Wallace close behind. Uncertainty of future government policies was held to be the dominant factor in retarding the recovery of the business and industrial world. BY LAWRENCE HAWTHORNE

We talk about our troubles,
And we think about our fears;
We wonder what will happen
In the coming months and years;
We worry, and we grumble,
And we dread, and we complain—
And we've just about decided
Life is mostly grief and pain!

We read about depressions,
And we hear about hard luck;
We lose our jobs or incomes,
And we almost lose our pluck;
We view a long procession
Of misfortunes, woes and ills,
And we find ourselves surrounded
By our taxes, debts and bills!

And then, my friend, what happens?
Well, there comes a day in Spring
When all this grief and worry
Simply doesn't mean a thing!
The batter and the pitcher
Get their orders to begin—
And the only thing that matters
Is to have the home team win!

Michigan's Officialdom Elevates Plymouth's Smallest Eating House Into Great Chain Store—Its Owner, All Swelled Up Over It, Goes Fishing

From out of the sand-burrs of Newburg, where they raise good corn and potatoes and cucumbers when the rain falls and where many famed people of Wayne county and Michigan point with pride as their birthplace and where the first postoffice in Wayne county outside the old trading post of Detroit was established, there has come another famous citizen of Michigan.

It is no other than Glenn W. Smith, Plymouth's only and greatest "chain store" operator. Who would believe that the great state of Michigan would reach right down into the smallest eating house in Plymouth, where you have to almost turn sideways in order to get along side the counter to eat a hot dog and sip a cup of coffee, and almost overnight elevate to the realm of a chain store operator, the owner, manager and chief waiter of the place?

But the miracle has happened. Glenn W. Smith, look at him again, is greater than the Atlantic & Pacific, Krogers, the Spears & Sawbucks and all the other great "chains" that operate in Michigan, for he is the ONLY business man in Plymouth that can decorate his walls with three big certificates from the state of Michigan showing that he is yes sir—Mr. Glenn W. Smith—is a chain store operator.

So puffeth up with pride is Mr. Smith over the fame and glory that has come to him, that he took his family in his big, powerful 152-inch wheel-base Plymouth and started for the northlands Monday morning to spend the rest of the summer up amid the pines where all the other great chain store operators go during the hot weather. Fish bowls dangled from all sides of the car as he wheeled out of town with his family.

It seems that in all the wisdom that flowed from Michigan's legislative hall during the last regular session, there was passed what everybody thought was a bill to levy an additional tax upon the great chain stores that operate in Michigan. Some narrow-minded wheezing politician thought it would place him on a pinnacle as one of the great statesmen of the nation if he could get such a bill passed.

Well it passed—and nothing much has been heard about it since, except the fact that the big chain stores said the bill wasn't any good and took the matter to court.

But there was the law—that chain store law—and some political jobs had been created as a result of the law and its administrators had to have something to do, so they began looking around for some other big chain stores that they said were sapping the very life-blood out of the people.

And low and behold they discovered "Smitty's place" in Plymouth.

Smitty has a frontage on Main street that is a bit over six feet wide. Maybe it runs back into the building some 28 feet or thereabouts. There he feeds the hungry, providing they are hungry enough to want to stand up while they eat, he sells some pop corn now and then, a bit of smoking and chewing and some soda pop.

Two or three summers ago he put up a soda pop stand out in Riverside park and another one in Cass Benton park that he operates for a few weeks during the summer months, his boy working one place and his daughter at the other.

That's the thing that made Smitty into a great chain store operator—he runs a pop corn stand out in the park, and didn't the great state of Michigan crack down on this big Wall street chain store plutocrat!

Boy, you had ought to see all the big certificates of chain store registrations that he has!

And it is this sort of a thing that makes people so disgusted with the actions of the legislature and the administration of the fool laws passed that they are almost ready and willing to turn the affairs of the state of Michigan over to the inmates of the Kalamazoo insane asylum to run. They doubtless would do a much better job of it.

Again salute, Smitty! Plymouth's greatest and only chain store operator under the laws and seal of the commonwealth of Michigan.

The U. S. S. RANGER, the Navy's latest aircraft carrier, is the seventh vessel of our Navy to be so named. The first was a ship of 308 tons, carrying 18 guns, built in 1777. The fifth Ranger was to be a mighty battle cruiser, but naval treaties scrapped her in 1923. This, the seventh Ranger is the first ship of the American Navy to be constructed as an aircraft carrier. Of the Navy's other three aircraft carriers, the Langley is a converted collier, and the Saratoga and Lexington converted battle cruisers.

Some of the sailors of the United States Navy are called "Hot Papas." That is the name given to a man on each of three plane carriers who stands by prepared to rush into the flames of a burning plane and rescue the pilot and other occupants when casualties occur. The "Hot Papa" is clothed in asbestos from head to foot and provided with special fire extinguishing equipment.

Communication

To the Editor
The Plymouth Mail: I have read with interest your editorial on the small loan business. "Let the Banks Do It."
Being manager of a Remedial Loan Society organized by Detroit philanthropists in 1906 to lend money in small sums to folks in need of funds, having a Board of Directors, getting nothing for its services, and with dividends on its stock limited to 6 per cent per annum, the writer feels that he has a right to be heard.

If your suggestion is a good one and could be put into practice, Provident is ready and willing to step out of the field and liquidate any time it is assured that the "banks will do it."
Today there is a law on the books of Michigan which permits all state banks to make small loans at 6 per cent and 7 per cent plus a fee of $1.00 on each $50.00 of the loan. Since these loans must be repaid monthly or weekly, the rate figures much more than your suggested 10 per cent or 12 per cent, 6 per cent discounted with the above mentioned fee costs the borrower, if the loan is repaid weekly, the annual rate of 18.49 per cent per month monthly, about 17 per cent.

Why do not the banks do it now? The field is wide open. The business is there, $13,000,000.00 of it annually. Then too, have a Credit Union law which permits a charge of 1 per cent per month, and such concerns can borrow funds at a very low rate from the RFC.

As to the all-powerful lobby, Provident knows but little but yet that little is a lot more than the general public knows. Provident feels that its 28 years experience does give it a right to speak, and its representatives have appeared before Legislative committees holding hearings on Small Loan bills, many times and it will always defend its right to do so until such time as it is assured that the 20 per cent shark can and will be kept out of Michigan.

It does not defend all of the practices of some operators in this field. It can and does defend those and those of a large number of others who have made it a practice not to foreclose mortgages on furniture in use.

Provident has never foreclosed a mortgage on furniture in use. Can the Home Town Banks say as much for homes, etc. on which they hold mortgages and borrowers were unable to pay?

There are two kinds of small loan companies. Those seeking a fair return on invested capital under stringent regulatory laws, and those real "loan sharks" who demand 10 per cent to 20 per cent per month on small loans. These latter gentry agree with you heartily. They would be happy to sell all small loan laws repealed or at least, the rate reduced to a point where legitimate capital could not operate and would withdraw from the field as it did in California, Colorado, New Hampshire, West Virginia and other States when the rate was reduced.

Incidentally you mention nothing of the powerful lobby maintained by this class, seeking to do the very thing you advocate, reduce the rate and drive out the small loan companies now operating legally. Then even, though the banks did do some of it, they would find plenty of business at 10 per cent and 20 per cent per month.

You cannot prohibit the lending of money any more than you can prohibit the borrowing of money or the buying of liquor. All things can be regulated reasonably, however. We tried one kind of prohibition. It just did not work.

May I ask that you publish this letter?
Yours very truly,
J. E. RYANT,
General Manager.

Editor Plymouth Mail,
Plymouth, Michigan.

Dear Sirs:
I am desirous of securing your cooperation in giving publicity through the medium of your paper to a condition which has arisen out of the recent repeal of the various prohibition laws and the resultant legal sale of beer and liquors.

Widespread interest has been aroused, constructive discussion both pro and con has been indulged in, regarding the temptations and danger, etc., which confront the youth of today in the new-born freedom of procuring beer and liquors; and our innovation of the "beer-garden" has been the subject of much thought and study.

However, I do not desire at this time to discuss the broad aspects of our new found problem and the many solutions which have been advanced, but I sincerely wish to call to the attention of the parents of your community, and also to those who dispense beer "for consumption off the premises," a condition which is serious and which has not to my knowledge or belief

Beauty Sparkles Beside Spark Plug

Crowds at the Firestone Factory and Exhibition Building at "A Century of Progress" this year reached more than capacity proportions when this charming miss was a visitor. Miss Lucile Proctor of Wichita, Kansas, elected "Miss Wichita," stands on a spectacular revolving display which shows, in giant size, two of the products of the Firestone factories—batteries and spark plugs.

been given sufficient publicity. I refer specifically to Section 33 of the Liquor Control Act which states in full for purchaser. No alcoholic liquor other than beer shall be sold to any person unless he shall have attained the age of twenty-one years.

A number of violations of the above mentioned section, some of which have resulted in serious cases of juvenile delinquency have been brought to the attention of the Juvenile Court. I have reached the conclusion upon investigating these violations that the majority of beer and liquor dispensing merchants are living up to the letter and spirit of the law, in refusing to sell to juveniles. There are, however, a few whose desire for gain is so great that they have knowingly and willfully violated Section 33, and as a consequence have contributed to the delinquency of a minor.

We cannot lay all the responsibility on the vendor, because there are parents, who due to either lethargy or thoughtlessness, send their children with or without a note to their neighborhood druggist, grocer, or retail beer store for beer, and the merchant who is desirous of retaining the good-will of the customer is therefore placed in the position of either violating the law or losing a sale and perhaps the future business of that particular family, and he might feel that if he refuses to honor the written or oral request there will always be someone willing to "take a chance" for a paltry few cents profit.

It is very simple to understand the reaction in the mind of a youth. After he or she has been sent on such errands a number of times, the next step is to tell the merchant that he is making the purchase for his parents, but in reality it is for himself, having acquired the desire either from habit or from curiosity, and it is not necessary for me to dwell at any length on the results and consequences of such conduct on the part of a minor.

It is humanly impossible for any law enforcement agency to cope with this or any other like problem without the whole-hearted cooperation of every socially-minded and wide-awake citizen. Therefore, in behalf of the youth of your community, I am seeking your assistance and cooperation in this matter and in all other matters involving the welfare and well-being of juveniles. In return for your assistance I pledge the support of the Juvenile Court and all other interested agencies, and I can assure you that any violation of this act, when brought to our attention, will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law by the proper authorities, and that any suggestions regarding its enforcement will be transmitted to the Liquor Control Commission.

Thanking you for your cooperation in this matter, I remain,
Sincerely yours,
D. J. HEALY, Jr.,
Judge of Probate,
Juvenile Division.

Electric Hot Water AT A NEW LOW RATE!

* To the modern home conveniences now operated by electricity—the electric washer, refrigerator, vacuum cleaner, radio, toaster, percolator, range, iron, fan, and electric lights—there has been added Electric HOT WATER at a low flat rate. Under the terms of this new service offered by The Detroit Edison Company to its customers, 10c a day provides 60 gallons of hot water, and 12c a day 80 gallons. This low rate is made possible by heating the water electrically during the night, at a time when the demand for electricity for other uses is lowest. The water thus heated is stored in a well-insulated tank, where it is available for use during the next twenty-four hours.

A supply of hot water is indispensable for countless daily household uses. In summer especially, it is in demand for cooling and refreshing baths and for invigorating showers. Let us install an electric hot water heater in your home today. Telephone or bring your order to any Detroit Edison office.

The Trend In State Politics

GROESBECK FOR GOVERNOR

As we predicted in this paper last week, Alexander J. Groesbeck announced his candidacy for the office of governor over the weekend and is now definitely in the race for that office on the Republican ticket in the September primary election.

That is as it should be. Mr. Groesbeck, three times governor of this great state, is the only available man able and willing to pull Michigan out of the financial and political mess in which we find it. Amply qualified in state affairs, experienced in both finances and business, there is no reason why he should not be the one leading Republican standard bearer in the coming fall state election.

While the past several state administrations have been piling up additional expenses to increase the taxpayers' burdens, they have been pronouncing in loud acclamations the purpose of their administration is in the hopes that their failure to do so would "get by" without notice; and the present administration is the worst violator of the people's confidence that has ever been in power.

Groesbeck is a man who refuses to be dictated to by either politicians or political patronage, but is controlled by his own sense of economy and justice.

We hear the cry from present office holders everywhere that "the economy is being practiced," but still our taxes grow and grow. This need not be so, but the present political machine cannot be kept intact while practicing economy and being in office demands remaining in office at public expense.

Why cannot state expenses be cut as expenses are cut locally? For instance, our local school tax burden was reduced from $54,317.52 in 1929 to $37,083.40 in 1934, and a promise of $27,281.33 for the coming year. That means a tax cut into one-half during the last five years; but instead, the state tax burdens are climbing higher every year in spite of every effort made by the public to curb the outgo.

It is about time we quit fooling with money spenders in state government and turn to true economy. We believe Mr. Groesbeck is the man to lead the way by serving in the governor's chair.

—Adrian Van Governing in The Zeland Record.

GROESBECK ENTERS

Former-Governor Alex Groesbeck has decided to enter the Michigan gubernatorial race. According to reports, Mr. Groesbeck was literally drafted into the campaign by friends who believe that his firm, decisive qualities of leadership are just what the state needs to straighten out the tangle at Lansing. He plans to take no active part in the primary, according to statement, but will leave his campaign up to the friends who drafted him. Mr. Groesbeck has never been a party man. He has seldom, if ever, attended party conventions and has never gone out of his way to seek political support. This independent spirit has naturally irritated many of the regulars who with the popular Frank Fitzgerald in the field, will now be out to do all they can to defeat Groesbeck. As a governor Groesbeck made enemies because of his abrupt businesslike, at times almost dictatorial manner. But he really accomplished things and even those who criticized him most severely now admit—at least in private—that he was one of the most efficient managers this state ever had. Some of Groesbeck's strongest friends are those who scarcely know him as a personal acquaintance; people who admire his power of decision, independence, and ability to get things done. Considerable talk would fly at Lansing if Groesbeck should come into power again.—Richard Cook in The Hastings Banner.

RIGHTS TO OFFICE

Alex Groesbeck is again seeking the republican nomination as governor. Groesbeck has served three terms as state executive and is known throughout the state. Since the governor's announcement there have been several adherents of other camps who have complained that Groesbeck has no right to enter the race. What's that, no right? This is a free country and anyone has the right to seek public office if he is of the required age and has citizenship qualifications.

Groesbeck has the right to seek the nomination as governor. On the democratic side Judge Lacey and John K. Stack have just as much right to the democratic nomination as does Governor Comstock. No one should be barred from entry into a political race simply because some other candidate made the first announcement or because of the silly precedent that tenure should be limited to two terms or that an incumbent should always be given two terms.

In private business if an employee serves satisfactorily his service becomes increasingly valuable as he gains experience. On the other hand, if an employee's work is not satisfactory his contract is not renewed on the grounds that he should be given another term to prove his incompetency.

Tenure of office should be forgotten in the coming primary and election. Records in office and in private life should be remembered. If a man has made a good record in office he should be retained. If his record has been poor there should be no excuse for arguing about rights and precedents. We should choose whom we honestly believe will serve best whether our choice has served the public 40 years or whether he has never been inside a public office.

—Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

FORMER GOVERNOR BURNS HIS FINGERS

It looks like former Gov. Fred W. Green scorched his fingers this week as he dipped into the Republican primary political pot and failed to slip the lid back before being caught. In some way or other Mr. Green had something to do with petitions for John W. Smith, former mayor and present councilman of Detroit, as a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Mr. Smith was entered as an eleventh hour candidate. An Associated Press story stated Tuesday evening that Mr. Green acknowledged mailing Smith petitions to the office of Secretary of State.

Mr. Green immediately found himself on the spot in that he is supposed to be a chief muckraker in the Frank Fitzgerald campaign. After owning up that he had caused Smith petitions to be circulated in Ionia county, Mr. Green was asked who he would support for governor. He is reported as replying: "Let's wait and see who is in the race." A decidedly flimsy evasion. He also said that he would take no part in the campaign this fall. It is easy to agree to the latter, and in fact he has done so. He has, however, fingers.—Harry Isor in The Durand Express.

GROESBECK THE MAN

This paper believes that the great unspoken mind of the state is thinking of its next governor in terms of Groesbeck.

The Groesbeck candidacy is not predicted on politics, rather on good government. The statement which Mr. Groesbeck made in Detroit Saturday shows the trend of his mind toward the problems that this state and nation are facing today and the way to face —for a long time to come.

Some readers of his statement will say that his statement sounds more Democrat in trend than it does Republican. But careful readers will believe, we believe, that he has sounded the call of a real democracy, a government for all the people.

We readily admit that it will not satisfy the tie-bound politician who even today will not admit there has been a fine uplift in confidence and bettered conditions through the workings of the national administration.

We believe the people have become so government conscious the last few years that they will appreciate the thoughts that enter into the Groesbeck statement.

Saturday the long awaited statement from Mr. Groesbeck came. And as this paper has continued to print, he is a definite candidate. There has been much hush and cry that he would not be a candidate. Most of those remarks came from professional politicians, within his own party, who did not want him in the race. Groesbeck is finishing up the receivership for a great Detroit bank. When it came time, a few weeks back, to tell the court his fees, he calmly remarked that he would make no charge for his work, that he thought he owed it as a duty to the 130,000 depositors in this bank who were faced with loss of life's savings.

All accounts of $1,000 or less in this bank have through the Groesbeck receivership, been or will be paid in full. The bank pay out almost 100 per cent.

That is one phase of this man who now offers himself, regardless of a great law practice to give two years of his time to a state that seems to need him—badly.

The Groesbeck candidacy will not see a horde of professional band wagon politicians lined up on his side of the fence. The Groesbeck candidacy lies with, and appeals to, the great bulk of that does not talk but will manifest itself on primary day—Sept. 11.—Chester Howell in The Chesaning Argus.

IT WAS JUST A CAMPAIGN LIE

Right in connection with this subject we recall when the Green administration came into power in 1927. The Groesbeck administration was blamed with leaving a deficit of something like four million. We don't recall the exact figures but at any rate the legislature was persuaded to add the amount to its appropriations as a separate item, not to be confused with the regular state expenditures. This was intended to wipe off all deficits, but four years later when the Brucker administration took office the report was that the deficit had jumped to something like seven millions.

There was considerable newspaper discussion at the time the so-called Groesbeck deficit was reported. Inquiry revealed a considerable amount of it involved amounts appropriated by the legislature but never spread on the tax rolls. There was one sum for another normal school, another for a woman's detention home. After the legislature appropriated the money the Governor decided the expenditures were unwarranted and the project was never undertaken. The money was not spread on the tax roll, the taxpayer never paid the money and yet, according to some clever mind, the sums were carried as "deficits."—Joseph Sturgeon in The Delta County Reporter.

Tries To Catch Train, Injured

Harry Barkley, 25 years of age who claims he lives in New Haven, Michigan, suffered a badly crushed foot early Wednesday morning when he made an effort to jump a west bound freight train at a point about 200 yards west of the Pere Marquette yard office. With another companion they planned to ride the freight to Grand Rapids and as he made an effort to get on he was pushed under the side of the car. He was picked up and hurried to Ann Arbor where doctors thought they would be able to save his foot, although a part of the heel was frightfully crushed.

PRINCE EDWARD Island, a province of 88,000 inhabitants, has had only one divorce in almost 100 years.

It is only 24 hours by train from Boston, and the inhabitants have adopted practically all American habits—except divorce. That is, they read American magazines and newspapers, buy American goods, see American motion pictures. The island is a popular American tourist haunt and it is said that practically all its families have relatives and friends in the United States. They are prosperous, the law admits of divorce, and only a percentage of the population have religious prohibitions against it. How, then, or rather why, has this community escaped the well-known virus that so cuts into our marriage records?

William S. Dutton has quoted the governing of Prince Edward Island as giving the explanation. He says: "When a community is overwhelmingly against a thing, you simply have none of it."

"Divorce here is looked upon as an admission of failure. It is a mark against a man's record, a thing he must explain. The divorced man has failed in his duty as a home-maker, a husband, and a father, and few duties in life are higher than these three. Public opinion on Prince Edward Island demands that a man give the same attention and effort to marriage that he gives daily to his business. Consequently, divorce does not exist on the island."

Shall we follow Prince Edward Island in this matter of the divorce rate which so concerns thinking people today, and to combat which suggestions are made daily from every rostrum and every pulpit as well as through the medium of print? Shall we draw back from our modern emphasis on the individual's right to happiness and "another chance" and frown people out of thought of seeking that happiness by changing mates?

It would probably work—for how has public opinion ever had that power? The question is how do we take to a method that might remind some of Puritan whipping posts and ducking stools? How far shall we go with regulation of individual lives by public opinion—even though in the majority of cases such regulation would certainly be "for their own good."

If public frowning upon divorce would make people take second thought in pursuing foolish or selfish or ill-advised impulses, if it will make them take deeper thought—if it will make them regard marriage as a job to fall in which is a disgrace and a wrong, then—borrowing from the vernacular—it is "all to the good." But the matter is not always so simple. The people and the marriages affected would not come under one head. Mania for freedom is dangerous, the other extreme of suppression is no more desirable. Page Solomon.

"The prize dumbbell," says persistent Polly, "is the girl that thought there were no such things as pickled herring and stowed away before they started dumping the John Barleycorn into the water."

transfer of cottage and working conditions would be beneficial. She is immediately moved to another cottage, or other action taken for the best interest of the inmates. Officers are constantly on the lookout, while on duty, and they are required to report any unusual case which comes under their observation. These cases are given careful consideration and transfers made to other living quarters, and work, if thought advisable.

The Welfare Department censures incoming and outgoing mail; supervises visits and the circulation of institutional library books. This department has charge of the personal records of the inmates. We follow the policy of assistance to the individual in making plans for community adjustment before release from the institution. A complete investigation is made in cases eligible for parole. This investigation includes taking the inmate's social history, obtaining information as to social adjustment previous to sentence; psychiatric, medical, work and conduct reports, and obtaining a socially recommended contact in a community where adjustment of the individual is likely to be effected after release. This information, presenting as complete a picture of the individual as possible, is submitted to the Superintendent for approval, and is then presented to the parole commissioner to assist him in making such disposition of the case as will serve the best interests of the individual, and of society as a whole. When parole is granted, traveling arrangements are made, the parolee put on the train or bus and a telegram sent advising the person to whom she is sent of the time of arrival, thus assisting her in taking her first step toward freedom. One hundred forty cases were prepared for parole hearing during the past year, of which one hundred paroles were granted. Out of this number only eleven parolees have been returned as violators. The prospective parolee is also instructed in the rules and regulations governing their release under parole. Without having a thorough grounding on the technicalities and rulings embracing this form of release, many, through ignorance and without studied intent, violate their privileges and are consequently returned to finish their sentence.

Roman Catholic services are held each Sunday morning. Christian Science, Salvation Army and Unity groups also hold services Sunday afternoon on alternating dates.

New Law Affects P. O. Money Orders

An amendment to the postal laws which regulates effective August 1 will exact an additional fee for payment of a money order at an office other than that on which drawn. This will affect the general public slightly and will be of interest to banks, manufacturers and commercial houses who make it a practice to cash money orders.

Under the new amendment, a money order issued at Plymouth post office on the Detroit office will be cashed by the Detroit office at its face value, but if the same money order is presented at any other office in the city, or at a post office in some other city, an additional charge will be made to compensate the post office department for the extra work involved. The charge for service will be based on the present schedule of money order fees.

For instance if the money order was for $2.50 or less than the fee would be six cents, and if this money order were paid by an office other than that on which it is drawn an additional charge of six cents would be made of the person to whom the order was drawn receiving only $2.44 instead of $2.50.

Further more the present limitation of thirty days from the date of issue for the payment of money orders will continue in force, and payment will be refused when an order more than 30 days old is presented at an office other than the one on which drawn, and the holder will be advised to send the order to either the issuing or the paying office with a request that it be paid by the issuing of another money order or the same amount less the customary fee.

Twenty Out For State Senator

Twenty candidates—count them again—twenty in all—is the grand total of senatorial aspirants, all from Highland Park and that portion of the city of Detroit that goes to make up the Eighteenth Senatorial district, who are seeking the votes of Plymouth residents for nomination as state senator.

Little did Senator John W. Reid of Highland Park who so well represented this district last year, think he would have so many opponents in the contest. There are ten seeking the Republican nomination and ten seeking the Democratic nomination.

If voters are looking for variety they have it in the senatorial contest—everything from what-nots to druggists and lawyers.

Here is the list:

NRA Code Shows Its Teeth To Saw Mill Owner In Cass County

William H. Parker moved his saw mill from North Hamilton onto the O'Brien farm five miles south of Marcellus. He took a contract to clear 100 acres of mixed timber and has been making good progress since moving there last spring.

He furnishes labor for 16 Marcellus men who otherwise might be out of employment. He pays them $1.50 a day and their board.

He made up oclery and onion crates for which he receives from 12 to 15 cents each, and is supplying most of the shippers of Decatur.

Under the old order Mr. Parker would be considered an enterprising citizen and commended for contributing something to the prosperity of the community.

Now the government says he is not complying with the Code and he must be compelled to close down his mill.

A Code representative called a meeting of sawmill men at the Columbia hotel in Kalamazoo one evening last week. Mr. Parker went. Two other small mill operators were there and about 30 salesmen representing large mills.

It was explained that all must comply with the code which sets wages at 30 cents an hour and a price of from 20 to 30 cents on crates for which he is receiving 12 to 15 cents.

Mr. Parker says he would be unable to sell crates at the higher prices and will have to close the mill if required to meet the demands of the Code authorities—Decatur Republican.

What a world! It pays for those who are out at sea and does nothing for those who are out in cars.

Knee action prevents bouncing in a car, but it causes smart Alecks to get bounced at the movies.

Where a slip means death!

MOST AMAZING PROOF EVER KNOWN OF EXTRA TRACTION AND NON-SKID SAFETY

UP... UP... UP... to 14,000 feet above sea-level! Skirting yawning chasms, tearing around 181 treacherous turns at breath-taking speeds, daredevil drivers fight their way up, grinding, pounding, swaying! In the annual Pike's Peak Race, where a slip means death, Firestone High Speed Tires were on the winning car. Surely this is the most amazing proof ever known of Extra Traction—Non-Skid Safety—and Dependability!

The new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934 have the toughest, longest wearing tread Firestone has ever made. They have a wider tread of flatter contour, deeper non-skid, more and tougher rubber, giving you more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

Every cotton fiber inside every cord is soaked and coated with Extra Rubber—eight additional pounds absorbed by every 100 pounds of cotton cords. This is Gum-Dipping, the Firestone patented process that provides extra Blowout Protection.

50% LONGER-NON-SKID MILEAGE

MAKE THIS TEST YOURSELF

Note how the rubber in a Firestone Tire clings to the high stretch Gum-Dipped cords. This greater adhesion and strength is made possible by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping.

Non-mercurian rubber in an ordinary tire pulls away from the cords that have not been soaked and impregnated with rubber. This causes friction and heat within the cords, resulting in separation.

Your Firestone Dealer is prepared to let you make, for yourself, the amazing test illustrated above.

How Ford Garden Plan Operates

The farmer is probably the most extreme individualist we have. His isolation and the nature of his work has made him self-reliant. The Russian peasants were the last to be collectivized, and farm ventures in socialism in this and other countries have always failed, because farmers tend naturally to make their own canons and do not like to co-operate.

Henry Ford also has always been held to be an extreme individualist. Consequently the starting of a large co-operative venture of this sort by him must come as a surprise to many. However, it is a venture of which apparently the country knows little of nothing despite the fact that nearly everything that he does is done in the limelight.

Several years ago, when land prices were high, Mr. Ford started buying up farms in this vicinity, nominally for the purpose of raising soy beans, but at least because he was brought up on a farm and likes the land. He now has some 20,000 acres, of which perhaps 20 per cent is devoted to his soy bean venture.

Probably this land would not bring today 50 per cent of what Mr. Ford paid for it, and there seems very little likelihood of its returning any considerable interest on the investment. However, Mr. Ford will be able to get along, unless someone invents a car that will run without gas.

In his autobiography and in many interviews, Mr. Ford has maintained that for the sake of security every man should have a garden. The work is not slack in industry, he can raise potatoes, cabbages, and other foods, and he may feel confident that at any rate his family need not go hungry even if the wheels do not go round. He has held this as that, with the new labor-saving machinery, the farmer need not give so much time to his farm as formerly, and that he needs another industry for his slack time, preferably an industry that would yield a direct financial return. The farm co-operatives are an illustration of both of these ideas.

There are two of these co-operative groups, one with headquarters in Ypsilanti and one at Tecumseh. There are about 10,000 acres of land in the Tecumseh association and somewhat less for the Ypsilanti group. In buying the farms there were many old people who did not wish to move. In those cases Mr. Ford gave them a life lease on the homestead and a garden of about two acres, but he also provides a garden either at the homestead or elsewhere for all who are working in the co-operatives.

The farm co-operative is a group of farmers organized to have charge of these Ford farms. Mr. Ford furnishes the farm, the garden and the stock. The farmers are organized like a business corporation or stock company. They elect their own officers, elect or reject candidates to membership, discharge members who are inefficient or lazy, determine what crops are to be raised and sell their produce to the highest bidder. The check, however, goes into Dearborn.

During the World War the German submarine U-53 appeared outside the port of Newport, Rhode Island, on October 8, 1916, and sank nine vessels.

With Our Churches

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Truth" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 29.

Among the Bible citations was this passage (Hebr. 4:12): "For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart."

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 420): "The issue that Truth overcomes both disease and sin re-assures depressed hope. It imparts a healthy stimulus to the body, and regulates the system. It is a timely and wise action, as the case may require, better than any drug, alterative, or tonic."

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
Loyla Sutherland, Minister

The pastor begins a series of sermons on Old Testament characters at the ten o'clock hour. The first under the caption, "Some Saints That Side-stepped." This Sunday we speak about Moses. Much preceded the burning bush experience—ten years before God could not have spoken as much in a whole forest of flame as now in the one bush.

"Earth crammed with heaven, And yet another bush affirms with God."

But only he who sees takes off his shoes.

Moses had learned to see. Have we learned to see? Do we know when God is speaking? Can we distinguish between His talk and the small talk of the street and the shop? We know what friends think we ought to do, maybe they are right, but the real business of a discipline is to do what God wants us to do. We invite you to hear and get help from these messages.

11:15 Bible School. The attendance is fine. Just keep coming.

7:30—This service will be given over to the Junior girls and boys bringing echoes of the respective camps in which they have been this summer. You will not want to miss this fine presentation of their impressions of the camps.

The boys will especially bring some definite lessons as they learned them during our State camp. The service will conclude with a camp-fire service of worship with the combined group. The Junior choir will provide the music for this service.

Mid-week prayer service Wednesday evening at 7:30.

Richard Neale, our pastor is back from the south, and preaching at all the services on the remarkable and amazing prophecies of the Bible. He says, "The Bible is the only light which contains real prophecy; hence we know it is from God. Only God could predict the future so accurately. False religious systems break down right there. They cannot foretell the future; yet they refuse to believe what God has revealed about it."

"Many Bible prophecies already have been fulfilled to the letter. The details of Christ's birth, ministry, death, and resurrection were all foretold in the Old Testament and fulfilled to the letter. The predictions about the end of this age and the return of Christ will be fulfilled as accurately too. Many pseudo-Bible teachers try to explain them away, and others unfortunately confuse them. But they still stand as God's foreview of an amazing future."

We are studying the Book of the Revelation. A large chart is used to illustrate the addresses. You may ask questions on the subject, which will be answered from the Scripture.

All are invited. Come with your Bible. This week's studies will center around the New Testament teaching of the "Catching Away of the True Church," and "The Coming Great Tribulation."

WHEN PEOPLE PRAY

A NEWS dispatch from Moscow says that drought has turned the thoughts of Russian peasants to religion. In the rich black earth district of central Russia, a drought comparable to that which turned parts of our own country into desert has threatened the crops and therefore the lives of the people. And as things get worse it seems they are beginning to pray.

IN TENNESSEE, near the Clinch river, where the Norris dam is being built, archeologists have uncovered a prehistoric civilization. First an Indian burial mound dating from long before the arrival of Columbus was excavated. Below this was found a much earlier building containing 17 well preserved skeletons, and still further down were discovered remains of an ancient temple, shown in the photograph.

WITTY KITTY By NINA WILCOX PUTNAM

The girl chum says what the country needs is an uncreonable love song.

PAPA KNOWS—

"Pop, what is rendezvous?" "Rumble seat"

Dear Mr. Wynne: I am a girl going to high school and I met a boy whom I like real well. He takes me home every day. It seems to be very nice, but his hands and neck always look unclean to me. I am fifteen years of age, and my hands are very clean, while he is seventeen years of age, and his hands are so much dirtier. How do you account for that? Sincerely, IMA KOED.

Answer—That is easily accounted for. He is two years older than you.

Dear Mr. Wynne: I am a boy sixteen years of age. One day last week I took a can of black paint and a brush and was painting the front door of our house, which was white, with the black paint. My father saw me, made me stop, and then ordered me away from his home. What is wrong with him? Sincerely, I. M. BROKE.

Answer—You say you were painting a white door with black paint and your father caught you at it and disowned you. Very simple. He doesn't want you to darken his doors again.

Dear Mr. Wynne: I am blind in one eye. I went to a theater where the price of admission was $4. I told the ticket seller that I should pay only $2 for a ticket, as I was blind in one eye, and therefore was only able to see half the show. Wasn't I right? Truly yours, I. C. FAIL.

Answer—You were absolutely wrong. The price of the ticket was $4. You wanted to pay only $2 because you say you would have seen just half of the show, as you have but one eye. Because of that fact, I mean that you have only one eye, the ticket seller should have charged you $8 (double the price), as it would have taken you twice as long to see the whole show.

Ham Sandwiches. Ham seems to be the favorite of all meats for sandwich filling. Chop the ham fine with a little of the fat mixed with it. To one cupful packed add prepared mustard, cayenne. Spread on thin slices of buttered rye bread which has been covered with a thin layer of horseradish.
