A Human Babbling Brook

There is nothing quite under the sun that the big mess-berget who is all dressed up like a general and who directs the destinies of the NRA reminds one of quite so much as the babbling brook that runs down through the cow pasture. No matter what happens, the brook keeps "babbling" on, and down over the rocks, logs and shrubs it is just so with the general's mouth, it keeps running like the babbling brook and the whip-poor-will's tail. It never stops. It would seem that after all the various messes his mouth had gotten him into during the past year or so, he would learn to keep it closed, but that seems an impossibility. His latest Chicago out-burst certainly has eliminated his usefulness, if there ever was any, to the government.

Those Indictments

After reading about how easy it is to indict a man, what an easy matter it would be to make everybody out a crook. A grand jury could go right up and down the Main Street, indicting and probably find some pretext to indict every person on the street. If the return of some thirty or more indictments in Detroit is any indication of how easy it can be done. Funny thing about those indictments too, nearly every one seems to believe there is something back of the indictments that the public is kept in ignorance of. Indicting men like E. D. Stair and others on the flimsy transactions stated certainly is not conducive of creating public faith in the unbiased intent of government agents, unless of course there is much that has not been revealed, and we doubt that in view of all the investigations the Detroit banking business has been subjected to.

The New Dealers

It is not a strange and unusual fact that practically all, if not every one of the new dealers, who are so strongly in favor of the overthrow of the present system of business and who are so anxious to surround its conduct with every sort of regulation and supervision, never made a dollar by the conduct of business. Their entire income has been and is from the payroll of some tax supported institution or governmental unit or from a payroll that some one else has created and meets. A strange fact, is it not?

On Grousing

It may not be in your dictionary, but a word sufficiently sanctioned by usage to have a place there is grousing. It means to grumble. He is the chad who always is ready to grumble, whose outlook on things both in general and particular has the morning-after taste. Nothing ever is quite right. Everything is always somewhat wrong. Speak pleasantly even about the weather and you please the hair-trigger of his resistance to a derogatory adjective.

Our Sympathy

It is with the sincerest regret that this community learned a few days ago of the death of Mrs. Edward Denniston, wife of Captain Denniston, warden of the Detroit House of Correction. Apparently in the best of health until a few weeks

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

FITZGERALD AND GROESBECK
One of the embarrassing things one encounters in publicly expressing opinions comes when one's convictions run counter to those of friends. For some years we have known and liked Frank D. Fitzgerald. We have an ordinary citizen's knowledge of his work and record in the highway department and in his present position. We believe it is good. Furthermore, Fitzgerald is a likable fellow. He makes friends—many of them. In his present office he has many jobs to fill. That quite naturally has enlisted a certain sort of political loyalty from a large number of people. This last is not important, as we see it, when considering the qualifications of a governor. Patronage loyalty is selfish loyalty. It will change overnight. It has nothing to do with a man's ability. It is simply a political condition. Fitzgerald is a good secretary of state and a popular public official. He pleases people by his personality and courtesy. He has been employed by the state of Michigan for most of the time during the past twenty years. His record is one of faithful, courteous, efficient, every-day-on-the-job service. His work has been more of a clerical nature. He has had business details to look after—not legislative bodies to manage and state policies to direct.

In spite of the fact that Mr. Groesbeck was governor of Michigan three terms—six years—during that time we lived not more than twenty miles from Lansing at any time, we cannot say that we know him personally. On the several occasions when business took us to his office, the conferences were abrupt, to the point, and almost blunt. One cannot say he was, or is, discourteous. Instead, we would say he is "all business." When whatever business was concluded his attitude and demeanor indicated that he did not care to have one ago, her death came as a shock to her wide circle of friends who did not know of the seriousness of her condition. A delightful personality and one interested in the welfare of the inmates of the institution of her husband has so long been associated with her passing is deeply regretted. To Captain Denniston the entire community extends its sincerest sympathy.

WHY A COMMUNITY NEWSPAPER?

Contest Sponsored by Adrian Van Koeveering of Zeeland, Michigan

By CLARA M. BONINE, Vandalia, Michigan (Favorable Mention)

WHY A COMMUNITY PAPER

Folks like the daily paper With the headlines big and black With their columns filled with items From around the world and back.

There are many extra features—Comic strips and fashion news—Crossword puzzles, lovelorn letters—Recipes of cooking, too.

We are shocked at many horrors—Tragedies of every kind—Sin and sorrow, loss and trouble On its pages we may find.

Then there is another paper Coming to us once a week With its pages new in number And its headlines very meek.

But we welcome its arrival. For we know that it will tell News of many friends and neighbors That within the county dwell—

News of churches, clubs and lodges. Births and deaths, and weddings, too—Local prices for our produce. Auction sales, used cars and new—

School news, games and entertainments. Honor grades and P. A. A.—Family gatherings, birthday parties—Local questions of the day—

Legal notices and court news—Movies, and local talent shows—Where to buy your shoes and rubbers—Where to buy your hats and hose.

The big paper tells the world's news. And of people far away. But we like to read of folks we know. And things they do day by day.

That is why our little paper With our own items means so much. "Why a Community Paper?" Because we need its friendly touch.

C. M. B.

The community paper fills a great need in the life of the district it serves. It covers the field of activities of a small territory, and can cover these activities much more thoroughly than it is possible for the big city daily to do.

Its service to its readers are varied. It acts as a town crier and announces elections, church services, lodge meetings, school programs, public gatherings of many kinds, and in a later issue may give the report of such meetings for the benefit of those who could not attend.

It serves as a public orator in presenting political questions of the day, and in discussing local questions of interest. It gives the opportunity for the statement of personal opinions on public questions, and a discussion of such statements.

It is a local historian, recording births, marriages, deaths, transfers of titles, erection of public buildings and improvements, and the continual changes in the locality. It offers a means by which travelers and people now living at a distance can keep in touch with the old home and friends they have left.

It acts as a sales agent for those who have that which they would buy, sell or trade. It keeps the busy farmer and the thrifty housewife posted on the prices at the local markets. It often serves as an employment agency with its "Help Wanted" items.

It serves as an information clerk disseminating knowledge to its public regarding the legal matters of the county, the business matters of its institutions, and innumerable other subjects.

It is impossible to enumerate all its services, or to estimate their value to the people of the community, but through these services the community paper forms a vital part in the life of its community.

need a strong man. We should like to see him cast by the republicans for that role on the political stage this fall and we would be equally pleased to see Frank D. Fitzgerald a candidate for the office he now holds—that of secretary of state. Both men are able. Groesbeck is naturally a strong, fearless, resourceful executive leader. Fitzgerald is a particularly adept in the important post he now holds—Schuyler Marshall in the St. Johns Clinton County Republican-News.

THINKS IT IS O.K. BECAUSE FITZGERALD'S HEADQUARTERS CIRCULATED JOHNNY SMITH'S PETITIONS

No sooner had Alex Groesbeck let loose the announcement that he would run for the Republican nomination for Governor than in stepped still another Republican candidate.

Yes, verily for ways that are shrewd and tricks that are clever the modern politician's peculiar. The last day for filing nomination petitions was Tuesday, July 24. A state candidate must have 4,000 signers.

Last Saturday a young man rushed into the Republican office with petitions for the nomination on the Republican ticket of John A. Smith of Detroit for Governor. Mr. Smith is an ex-Mayor of the city and a wise politician. He is a Republican.

The thermometer is turned toward the wall. The young man was told that we could not sign the petition having already signed for Mr. Fitzgerald, and in as much as we had become committed to him we preferred to stand by the commitment.

"Well, these petitions are sent out from Mr. Fitzgerald's campaign headquarters in Grand Rapids," the young man replied. Then we learned that Mr. Fitzgerald had had this trick up his sleeve for sometime. If Mr. Groesbeck had not become a candidate of Detroit should decide at the last minute to become a candidate Mr. Smith of Detroit would be willing to become a candidate for the purpose of dividing the Detroit vote and thereby greasing the skids for the favorite from up the state.

Well, politics is politics, and there doesn't seem to be any good reason for finding fault with this particular coup. As at other times mentioned we believe in free politics and equal opportunity for all. Of course this eleventh hour candidate will not expect to receive enough votes in the September primary election to nominate him for Governor, but in the probable event of Mr. Fitzgerald's nomination and election we may expect to hear more of Ex-Mayor John A. Smith of Detroit—Albion Mouton in The Decatur Republican.

When You Need a Friend

When days're dark an' the clouds hang low,
An' the road is rough an' long;
When troubles face you on every hand,
An' your plans have all gone wrong;
When troubles come, an' your luck looks bad,
An' you don't know what to do—
Oh, then it is that you understand
What a true friend means to you!

When times're good, an' you're feelin' fine,
An' the sun is shinin' bright;
When every day brings you some new joy,
An' the world is quite all right,
You're glad to know that your friends're near,
An' will join you in your fun;
But you never learn what a true friend is,
Till your troubles have begun!

A lot o' folks treat you mighty well,
While you have the cash to spend,
But pass you by with a careless nod,
When you really need a friend;
They fail you then, as they always will,
In the time o' deep distress,
An' turn 'em to you when you can do no harm,
To their pride an' selfishness.

I've had my share o' the ups-an'-downs
That we all must meet in life,
But every time I have suffered loss
Or encountered care an' strife,
Some friend has come with a cheerin' smile
An' has helped me see it through—
Has brought relief in the time o' need,
As our true friends always do.

FACES MAN-KILLING JOB

Even if Groesbeck is nominated and elected many a taunt supporter may in future months regret the placing of such killing burdens upon his shoulders in the reconstruction days of state government, for to get out of the hole in which we are today will demand not only patriotism of the highest type but sacrifice that must try the soul of any man.—J. E. McMullen in The Linden Leader.

GROESBECK IS IN

Mr. Groesbeck has stepped into the Republican gubernatorial field and in the statement announcing his candidacy, a statement characteristic of him, he intimates, in plain words that in his opinion much of the state's business is not being handled as it should be and says there are many problems at Lansing which need immediate attention.

HATES GREEN-SMITH TRICKY POLITICS

This newspaper is in a position to know that Groesbeck's entry into the gubernatorial fight was considered lightly by the opposition. The Fitzgerald friends had hoped against hope that "A. J." would NOT come out. In fact every time some newspaper "in the know" explained that "A. J." would be a candidate that newspaper was given a horse laugh.

So when "A. J." keeping his promise made to his friends announced himself, why the opposition, well organized, powerful, resourceful, scrambled and trotted Smith into the open and induced him as they induced Judge Jeffries two years ago to enter the race.

These men, these interests, know as Mr. Smith must know that he hasn't a Chinaman's chance to get elected and Mr. Fitzgerald is convinced that if Smith stood any chance of winning against Fitzgerald that he (Fitzgerald) would not for a single minute remain silent. His silence is proof that Smith is there for Fitzgerald's benefit.

Serious-minded citizens feel that Groesbeck with his fearless characteristics, his creditable regime of several terms is the man of the hour. That the traits which made him an unpopular figure than are the qualifications necessary now. Groesbeck is an uncompromising hard-working able leader, who can bring the state of Michigan back out of its chaotic state, into which we have been forced through Democratic mismanagement, perhaps superinduced by the world-wide prolonged depression, is needed.

Democratic mismanagement has not served to allay or soften the affects of the depression on the people of our state, but their incompetence, their misrule, rather added to our misery.

Machine politics on the one hand supporting our personal and likeable friend Frank Fitzgerald and the reactionary Democratic holdover at our next administration might deal very unkindly for him and while we admire Fitzgerald and hold him in high esteem we would much prefer Groesbeck, the iron-man, as governor for Michigan. That is why we endorse him whole-heartedly.

DEMOCRATS FEAR ONLY GROESBECK

We are glad Stack and Lacy are candidates for the democratic nomination for Governor. This will show how clean and efficient has been the administration of Governor Comstock.

For even a greater reason—that of good government—it is well that Alexander J. Groesbeck is coming out for Governor. He will wash the Republican Party dirty linen—say things no democrat could say without being partisan. If he wins in the primary —be a most formidable candidate for the democrats to defeat.

DISLIKES FITZGERALD'S BACKERS

The entrance of Ex-Governor Alexander J. Groesbeck into the race for the Republican nomination for the office of Governor, gives assurance to the citizens of Michigan that they will not only witness an interesting primary campaign, but that Republican voters who will be given a choice between two men who they have had the opportunity to judge from their accomplishments in public office.

There are two other candidates in the race but no one questions that the contest will be between Groesbeck and Fitzgerald. Orla A. Bailey of Shiawassee is an independent self-starter, who ran without much success two years ago. The entrance of John W. Smith of Detroit, supposedly backed by former Governor Green of Ionia, is not given serious consideration, except as it may effect Groesbeck's Detroit vote.

Smith and Green apparently like Groesbeck so much that they insist he must have company on the ballot from his home town. The success of this strategy four years ago, when Judge Jeffries of Detroit was entered as the offset candidate for Groesbeck and pulled over 100,000 votes, appears to have given the former governor's opponents encouragement to think they can repeat this year.

Groesbeck's late entry into the field will undoubtedly be a handicap that he will have to overcome but it is not considered as serious one by those who have witnessed the accomplishments of the former governor in handling the affairs of the closed Guardian bank group, within the last few weeks.

In his capacity as Receiver for the Guardian group Groesbeck has labored faithfully for the interests of the small depositors. Instigating a move among the larger depositors he was successful in paying off in full the thousands of depositors who had accounts of less than $1,000 and has so conducted the receivership that his banks, thought to be in worse shape than other Detroit banking houses, recently announced payments totaling more than ninety percent of all deposits. Groesbeck has acted in this capacity without any charge for his services as receiver, while fees being paid to others in a similar capacity have been the subject of the grand jury investigation at Mason.

Coupled with his splendid record in bank matters, the growing sentiment on the part of the public that the exigencies of the times demand the services of a proven leader in Lansing, seem to indicate that Mr. Fitzgerald will have very worthy opposition.

We doubt seriously the advantage to the present secretary of state of the close alliance with former state treasurer, Frank D. McKay. If we read the temper of the people correctly there is a decided inclination to break away from the old factional organizations, with their office seeking leeches, in favor of a man who can stand on his own feet and direct the policies of state along constructive lines, free from the handicap of fulfilling too many political promises.

In other words they want a leader of experience and ability who is capable of leading the state out of its present deplorable dilemma, and it is upon this ground that the primary race should be decided.—Romaine McCall in The Gratiot County Herald at Ithaca.

Storm's Damage Great In State

While Plymouth and vicinity did not suffer as great damage from the wind and rain storm that swept over the entire state last Thursday night as in the windstorm of a month previous, the state as a whole suffered much more damage and the loss of life was greater.

One Wayne citizen, well known in Plymouth, met death in the storm. Charles Van Blaircum was on his way home to Wayne, driving on the Wayne road near the Ford road, when the storm broke. His wife was with him. When the storm struck the wind turned his machine into the ditch and he was instantly killed. She was badly injured, but will survive.

Eight persons were killed in Michigan in that storm. In addition to the eight whose deaths are attributed to the storm, more than a dozen were seriously injured and several of these are expected to die. The property damage, from reports slowly coming in, is estimated at more than $2,000,000.

Farmers around Plymouth say that the rain will do some good, but the benefit was offset by the damage done by the wind. The storm swept across Lake Michigan from Muskegon to Lake St. Clair, leaving death and destruction in its wake, closing roads and cutting telephone and telegraph communication. Many sections of the state were without lights for hours.

The storm struck with greatest force just north of Flint, near Flushing and swept across Lap and Star counties, with Detroit and Mt. Clemens and Pontiac on the fringe. James R. Campbell, Genesee County agricultural agent, said the loss to farmers in that county alone would aggregate $2,000,000.

"I believe the figure is conservative," he said. The damage in these cities was small, most of it coming from the heavy rain and wind which uprooted trees and posts. The rain flooded the streets and sewers, but passed off quickly.

Flint was crippled early in the storm by the total failure of the lighting system. All street lights went off and street cars and other electrically motivated equipment in the city stopped as the lines of the Consumers Power Co. were broken by the storm.

Practically every street in the city of Flint was blocked by fallen trees and crews were set at work clearing these away before the rain had ceased. Because of the failure of the electric power, the emergency room on the tenth floor of the Hurley Hospital could not be used as the elevators could not be operated. An improvised emergency ward, in the engineer's room on the first floor of the hospital, was equipped for the use of the storm victims.

A large tent, in which 1,400 persons were sitting at a Methodist camp meeting, was lifted off the ground by the wind and more than 500 smaller tents, in which those attending the camp meeting were living, were also carried away. No one was injured, but everyone was well soaked by the rain.

In the town of Flushing, six miles from Flint, it was reported that every house was damaged. A truck driver, driving the 18 miles from Flushing to Oakley, told the Genesee County sheriff that he saw 30 barns demolished.

During the month of May, 1934, there were 14,908 applicants for enlistment in the Navy—1,303 actual first enlistments were made. For the fiscal year to that date, there were 124,205 applicants for enlistment. During May there were 123 re-enlistments and a total of 937 re-enlistments for the fiscal year.

Mother's Cool Book MORE SANDWICHES

Ever since John Montagu, fourth Earl of Sandwich, called for the double slice of bread with a filling of meat or cheese, the sandwich has been a most popular "quick lunch."

Puree of Sardine Sandwich. Drain the oil from a large can of sardines. Remove the skins and bones, rub the fish through a fine sieve and to it add one-fourth of a cupful of creamed butter, two finely chopped hard cooked eggs, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce to season. Mix thoroughly and spread on sandwich bread that has been spread with mayonnaise. Put together with pairs of the bread spread with mayonnaise. Cut the sandwiches into three strips, making finger-sized sandwiches, easy to eat and handle.

Melba Sandwich. Chop the meat peeled from the pits of three dozen large olives. Add one cupful of finely chopped pecan nuts, moisten with mayonnaise and spread on thinly sliced graham bread that has been spread with green pepper butter.

Green Pepper Butter. Cut a slice from the stem end of three or four green peppers, remove the seeds and white fiber and cook until seared in boiling water. Drain again and rub through a sieve—there should be two table spoonfuls of the pulp. Cream one-half cupful of butter and add the pulp gradually, stirring well. Season with salt and cayenne. This butter is especially good spread over planked fish or steaks.

Bacon and Eggs Sandwiches. Spread thin slices of bread with salad dressing to which has been added finely chopped cooked eggs. Cover with thin slices of hot broiled bacon and another slice of bread spread with salad dressing.

Attorney Tells Of New Farm Act

Much local interest has been aroused lately by the new Federal Farm Mortgage Act and last week Hal P. Wilson, Detroit attorney who resides in Plymouth delivered a short address explaining this act to the Detroit Business Men's Club. Because of its timely subject the Mail has secured the talk in brief and presents it herewith:

"This little talk might be more interesting if it had a political background. The Federal Farm Mortgage Act might be praised to the skies. Help for the weary overburdened, misunderstood farmer, justice at last with the bandages off her eyes. Or then again one might be very much alarmed, constitutional rights ignored, contracts and promises reduced to mere scraps of paper.

You gentlemen can turn this law over to any grammar school class in civil government and they will put on a first class debate. We may feel sure of this for our Congress was able to do that very thing.

Yet like it, or condemn it, praise it, or fear it, we have it as law and all we're going to do is to try to tell you how this law is supposed to work. It will be a rough sketch, but we do hope that we'll be able to give you an idea of the general plan.

First, any farmer may take advantage of the act—a farmer is defined as one whose chief occupation is that of farmer or whose principal income is from farming.

The farmer may ask and the court shall permit him to retain any or all of his property. The court then appoints appraiser, and they determine the fair and reasonable value of the property. You will note that it specifies the fair and reasonable value, not the market value. The Act goes so far as to say that the fair and reasonable value may be other than the market value.

Then Section 2 of Subdivision 3 of the Act provides that the mortgage is reduced to the value fixed by the appraisers.

The Act then provides how that appraised price may be paid by the farmer over a term of years, if the mortgage holder agrees. If no agreement is made the mortgage shall be discharged when the farmer pays the appraised price. Why should the mortgage holder agree to payment over a term of years when he can compel payment according to the mortgage due date for the same amount? Simply this: If the mortgage holder takes payments over a term of years he gets all of the appraised price, but if he refuses that appraised price is paid to the trustee and all creditors whether protected by mortgage or not share in it.

If any holder of a mortgage objects to the courts order, the court shall note it says shall, not may—stay all proceedings for a period of five years—any time during that five years the farmer may discharge the mortgage by paying in the appraised value.

This act applies to tools, stock, etc., as well as to the real estate. In closing will say that this only applies to mortgages on real and personal property dated before June 29th, of this year.

Duck Hunters Must Make Application For Blinds At Once

Duck hunters who plan to use permanent blinds this fall are requested by the Game Division Department of Conservation, to have their applications at Lansing not later than September 1.

This will afford ample time for examining and approving locations and to make necessary adjustments. All applications up to September 1 will probably be acted upon at once. Those received subsequent to September 1 will be considered in the order received.

In order to adjust more easily any difficulties which might come up in connection with applications, the Conservation Department plans to arrange a series of meetings for applicants at which a representative of the Lansing office will be present. These will be held at New Baltimore, Bayport, Houghton Lake and Muskegon during the week of September 10. Applicants will be notified of the exact date and place.

Since state law prohibits construction and placing of permanent blinds without a permit, the Department will not give priority consideration to a location because a blind has been built upon it before application is made. Permits are good for only a year. Application blanks and information relative to the licensing of permanent blinds may be obtained from the Game Division, Department of Conservation. Permanent blinds are authorized for the following waters only:

Houghton Lake, Muskegon Lake, Big Platte Lake, Benzonia, Round Lake, Grand Traverse county; Saginaw Bay from Point Lookout in Arenac county to Point Aux Barques in Huron county, except that portion of Wildfowl Bay lying south of a line extending from Bayport fish docks to North Island; Lake St. Clair, in Anchor Bay from Perch point to Point Huron and along west shore from Point Huron to Gross point, but no such blind is to be more than a half-mile from shore.

Hoosier Editor's Kitchen Needs Papering, Asks Roosevelt To Help

In the June issue of the Hoosier Editor, published by Frederick Landis of Logansport, Ind., there appeared a humorous letter from the pen of this famous newspaperman, addressed to President Roosevelt. In part, it follows: Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States, Washington, D. C.

My Dear Mr. President: I see by the paper that you are going to arrange it so folks can get money to fix up their homes. I am mighty glad you are going to do this, because up to date I haven't been able to get in on any of the easy money, but this opens the gate.

And then a lot of things around our house ought to be fixed. You know how it is, Mr. President, you know how a place runs down, if you don't keep at it all the time.

I suppose some of your government agents will be coming around any day to see what I need, but I'm going to tell you about a few things that I need, that occur to me now, and maybe you can send them to me, straight from Washington, either the things or the money.

First of all, the kitchen needs papering, that is, the ceiling. You'd see, the water pipes busted in the bathroom and that's over the kitchen, and now the paper on the kitchen ceiling sags down like an elephant's pants. Some of the other rooms need papering, too.

We've either got to paper them or clean the paper that's on them. If you have wall paper, send it, or if you have wall paper cleaner, send that and I'll act accordingly.

If you send the wall paper cleaner, be sure to see that the lids of the cans are tight. I can call out the home guards and we can clean the side walls ourselves, but we can't clean the ceilings. Have you appointed any fellows yet to clean ceilings?

Understand, I am not looking for a job, because the last time I cleaned the ceiling in the parlor I saved 35 cents, but I had to pay Doc Nelson ten dollars for osteopathic treatments to get my neck back to its original postoffice address.

And now, while I'm writing, another thing occurs to me. If it's all the same to you, Mr. President, I believe we'll take the plate rail out of the dining room. Plate rails, you know, are away out of date; they're so far out of date that it's almost time for them to come in again.

We do take this plate rail out. We're going to have a streak half way up the wall, and this will call for the new wall paper. Either that or we'll have to put a ruff around the sides of the dining room.

Which do you think would be better? While we're fixing up the dining room, we really ought to have a new dining room table. This one we have now is too light. We got it at a bargain sale.

It's so light, Mr. President, that when anybody sneezes, the table shakes and spills soup all over the rest of us.

We ought to have a new dining room rug, too. You know how one thing calls for another. This rug that's down now has been cleaned a lot and there's a big spot where I've been throwing things to the dog.

And the screen door to the dining room ought to be patched. While we're eating, the flies enter in mass formation, and attack us on the left flank.

The cellar ought to be cleaned and the junk pushed back against the north wall. This junk isn't worth anything, but we've had it so long we've become attached to it. We've been pushing it back every spring for 25 years, but during the winter it crawls out again. You've been keeping house long enough to know how such things go.

In the sitting room we ought to have a new chandelier. I don't know whether you have any chandeliers handy. This that we have slants northeast by southwest at approximately the same angle as the Leaning Tower of Pisa.

What do you do with a davenport when the bottom falls out? The bottom fell out of ours six months ago.

We always have to watch it and steal company away from it, for while it looks alright from a distance, when you sit down on it your eyes are on a level with your knees. What would you suggest about this?

Have you any stuffing you could send me?

Over the mantelpiece we have a picture of Washington Crossing the Delaware, and it needs a little treatment.

It's discolored and you can't tell whether Washington is crossing in a boat or a flivver.

The piano needs tuning and it ought to be touched up with a little mahogany stain where the veneering has worn off.

And the ivory is off some of the keys. Fa and la are completely bald-headed. Did you ever run up against a situation like this with your own piano, and what did you do? ... I expected, Mr. President, that I ought to tell you right here and now that I'm a Republican, but in the presence of this emergency, I think you ought to rise grandly above party.

And this reminds me that we ought to have a new potato masher. This one has been lopsided ever since I hit an income tax collector over the head with it.

And we need a new cook book, too. Three pages are gone right out of the middle of the old one. The continuity is broken between "macaroni" and "noodles".

The pump needs a new sucker. I can hardly wait for this until the government agents come around and see what I need, so please send me a sucker direct from Washington.

We ought to have a few more electric light bulbs in our house, too. As it is now, we have to unscrew them and carry them from room to room.

I'd like to have a radio put on the lawn mower. If I could just hear the ball games when I cut the grass, I believe it would give me a much better mental attitude.

If it's not asking too much, I'd like to have a new fountain pen, for the point of the one I now have is all worn off renewing notes.

And oh, yes, I almost forgot the bathroom. I wish you'd see that I get one of those hose attachments that you fasten on to the nozzle of the bathtub.

You know, one of those rubber attachments, with a sieve on the end of it, that you throw over your shoulder and spray your back with.

As it is now, there's a space on my back four inches long that I can't reach either from above or below. These are just a few of the things that occur to me, off-hand, that ought to be attended to at our house, and I'll be able to furnish a complete list when the government agents call to fix me up.

I hope you won't wait until fall or even summer, for spring is the only time when a fellow really wants to feel that he's up to snuff.

Yours for home improvement and a generous appropriation.

THE HOOSIER EDITOR.

P. S. ... I hear you're coming out to my district to speak for the fellow who's running against me for Congress, and if you do, you might drop up to the house and we could go up to the bathroom and look it over and maybe you'd see something that I've overlooked.

I'd like to have you stay for supper, if you come, but I'd want to know a week or so ahead of time, so I could arrange to have some meat for supper.

Do you like pork chops?

Plymouth Buick's Lose-Two Games Over Week-End

The Plymouth Buick Sales suffered their fifth and sixth defeat of the season when on Saturday the Proctor Creamery team got five runs in the ninth inning to defeat the local boys eight to six.

It also marked the first defeat of the season against Warren Bassett.

C. Levandowski and K. Gates were the fielding stars in this game while R. Levandowski was the leading hitter with two out of two for a perfect day.

Sunday the strong Garden City team shut out the Buick nine by the score of two and nothing in this game Andy Gale suffered his first defeat of the season.

A record time game was set up for the Riverside Park when it took one hour and twenty-nine minutes to play Sunday's game. Earl Gray stated that it was the fastest game he ever umpired.

Jim Williams was the hitting and fielding star in this game. He got one hit in two trips to the plate and made some beautiful catches in the outfield and two perfect throws to third and home plate.

D. Gates, E. Zielasko and Van Bonn have been added to the local team and they played good ball.

"OH, THEY'RE NOT HOME, AND I MUST FIND A TELEPHONE!"

It's inconvenient and often embarrassing to use a neighbor's telephone frequently. But it would be serious... perhaps even tragic... should sudden sickness, fire, accident or other emergency come while the neighbors were away, and you could not reach a telephone promptly.

Why continue the inconvenience and risk of being without a telephone of your own? Telephone service costs only a few cents a day. Call, visit or write the Telephone Business Office to place an order. Installation will be made promptly.

Writes To Friends From Battle Ship

Albert Miller, U. S. S. California August 3, 1934

Plymouth Mail, Plymouth, Michigan
It has been some time since I wrote to you so I thought as long as I was off duty I would drop you a letter today.

I arrived here in Newport the morning of the Fourth of July and we haven't moved from the place yet, but the ship is leaving Newport for Hampton Roads, Virginia, on the ninth of this month.

If everything works out the way I planned it, I won't go to Virginia as I put in for Submarine School at New London, Connecticut. I will take a course of instruction studying the Subs, but I am going to specialize in Marine engines and Diesel engines.

After a six month's course of instruction I will be put aboard a submarine for duty. I will be stationed either at San Diego or Pearl Harbor, Honolulu for the remainder of my cruise.

I intend to come home on leave again some time near the first of February or March.

Well it is nearing chow time so I will close and eat a while.
Sincerely,
Albert Miller.

"What isn't there one before that?"

ELECTRIC COOKING for yourself on the "TRIAL PLAN"

YOU have heard your friends who cook with an electric range say: (1) Electric cooking is COOL—it does not heat up the kitchen. (2) Electric cooking is CLEAN—with only pure heat from a glowing wire. (3) Electric cooking SEALS-IN natural flavors in foods—meats and vegetables cook to melting tenderness in their own juices. (4) Electric cooking is HEALTHFUL—precious minerals and important food values are retained, instead of being lost in steam or poured down the sink with excess water. We want you to discover these facts for yourself. We want you to prove for yourself that you can enjoy these advantages of electric cooking at a cost well within your household budget. This is our trial offer:

We will install an electric range in your kitchen without initial charge, and let you use it for six months, removing it without charge if you do not like it. During this trial period, you pay for the service as registered by your meter, plus a monthly charge of $1 for the range. If you decide to keep the range, your monthly payments will be applied toward the purchase price. If you decide that you do not want it, the range will be removed at our expense. ### Singer Also Wins Fame As Beauty

Gladys Swarthout like other famous artists whose names stand out in music history, combines the same art with singing with a charm of appearance for which she is also widely known. Her face is frequently seen smiling from the front page of magazines or in magazine features that tell about beauty. It is interesting to note the reasons why she is so frequently referred to as the best-groomed singer in the Metropolitan Opera Company. It takes more than a neat costume to look well-dressed, she says. It takes a lot of scrubbing and brushing, and discreet make-up. She admits that she may be a bit of a fanatic about washing for, above all, she cherishes the well-scrubbed look. Her appearance is natural, with a becoming coat of tan. You can imagine such a personality as the star of the Firestone Summer Series of Vocal Concerts each Monday night.

The program for Monday, August 13, at 8:30 p. m. EDT on the N.B.C. Red Network is as follows:
World Is Waiting For The Music (ensemble), Whispering Serenade (orchestra), Lover (Gladys Swarthout), Brown Bird Singing (Fred Hutchinson, tenor and ensemble), Minute Waltz (orchestra), Just A Song At Twilight (ensemble), The Song Is You (Gladys Swarthout and Frank Chapman, baritone), Bumble Bee (orchestra), Dark Eyes (ensemble).

Schrader-Haggerty Lose To Oakland Dairy

Winning their second consecutive game from Schrader-Haggerty, the Oakland Dairy Club of Pontiac last Sunday defeated Plymouth, 9 to 3, and making it two games out of two of the five game series. The game was played at the Plymouth - Riverside Park diamond.

Norman "Dutch" Atchinson, righthander of the Plymouth pitching staff, worked nicely over the eight innings that he was on the mound, but was given poor support by his teammates. Orsan Atchinson relieved him in the ninth.

Arthur Morey, Pontiac's ace pitcher, pitched eight innings and proved very effective. William Burt worked the ninth inning for Oakland Dairy.

Sunday, August 12th, Schrader-Haggerty and Oakland Dairy will meet in their third game of the Plymouth - Pontiac series. The contest will start at 3:30 p. m. at Plymouth-Riverside Park. Plymouth must win this game to stay in the series running.

Sow Winter Wheat On Fly-Free Dates

The Hessian fly, Michigan's worst insect pest on wheat, has taken advantage of the hot, dry weather to increase sufficiently in numbers to cause serious damage in next year's crop unless fly-free planting dates are observed, according to the entomology department at Michigan State College.

Control of this insect is based upon the creature's egg laying habits. Adult flies lay eggs on the young wheat plants early in the fall and tiny larvae pass the winter in cases tucked between the leaves and the stalk of the plant. The larvae increase in size in the spring and often cause enough injury to the stalk to cause the plant to lodge or fail to produce a normal head.

Egg laying by adult flies stops at certain periods in September, depending on the weather conditions and the latitude. Observations by the entomology department over a period of years have made it possible to determine the dates after which wheat can be planted safely in Michigan counties. The dates vary according to distance north from the southern boundary and the influence of Lake Michigan complicates the charting in the western counties. Fields on high ground can be planted earlier than those lying at low elevations.

All county agricultural agents have a chart showing the fly free dates in their counties. The earliest date in Michigan for seeding wheat is Sept. 4 in Cheboygan and Antrim counties on land 1,000 feet above sea level. The latest date falls in St. Joseph county where wheat is not safe unless planted after Sept. 23. Farmers should ask their county agricul-tural agent or write to the Col-lege entomology department for safe dates of planting in their locality.

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 205): "When we realize that there is one Mind, the divine law of loving our neighbor as ourselves is unfolded; whereas a belief in many ruling minds hinders man's normal drift towards the one Mind, one God, and leads human thought into opposite channels where selfishness reigns."

In the second of the sermon series on Some Saints that Side-Stepped, we shall speak on Abraham. Why should it be said of any man that—"He was called the friend of God." Many a man today will not listen to hard luck stories for fear his sympathies will be aroused. They will not look on certain evils for fear God will lay a disquieting commission on them. To many do not want to be brought up they don't mean to lose any sleep nor any meals because of conditions about them. Are we among those whom God must use the sharp word of pain, the sting of disappointment or scalding tears to get us awake.
11:15 Bible School.
7:30—It has been the policy of this pulpit to be very fair in all our discussions of both Scripture and theology. Since it is our duty to air and upon the minds of thousands to-day to be thinking about the Second Coming of Christ and the present day events as they relate themselves to His coming we are to begin this Sunday night the first of our discussions on this subject. It is not our intention to be dogmatic nor fanatical, but we shall rather hold closely to Christ's own teaching and that of all Scripture as we go into this subject. We must surely believe there is a vital truth that should concern all when we talk of this much misused subject and we believe you will be wanting to hear these messages. This Sunday night "Our Decaying Civilization." Wide publicity was given a few months ago in the daily press to the confession made at a banquet given for the Lord Mayor of London by Sir Montague Norman, Governor of the bank of England, one of the greatest of financiers, when he said "The difficulties are so vast and so unlimited that I approach the whole subject not in ignorance, but in humility. It is too great for me." We shall quote many of the leading intellectuals of this time. Don't miss it!

Revival service every night except Monday and Saturday.
Open air service Saturday evening at 7:00 on the corner of W. Liberty and Starkweather.
Sunday school 9:45. Morning worship 11:00.
Come and join with us in these summer revival services. Pastor Evangelist Joseph M. Campbell of Bloomington, Ind. has been bringing some very stirring sermons from the Word of God. Many in the past week have found the services to be of great blessing to them. Evangelist Johnny Amrozowicz of Wyandotte who is also with us in these services has a wonderful story to tell on salvation. We wish the many folks in and about Plymouth to come and enjoy these meetings. There is a welcome sign on the door mat. Come and hear from the lips of those that have been saved by the power of God. Tell of his wonderful love and care for you and them. It is just the old time religion that John Wesley, Spurgeon, Finney and Dwight L. Moody, proclaimed to a lost and dying world, and be sure it is still needed today. Are you down hearted, discouraged, worried, sorrowful, sad, sick or afflicted, does your life seem vain, is there vain hope and dread in your life and are you headed down the broad way of destruction, if so come out to these services and hear about the good Samaritan that can bind your broken heart and heal your sin wounds and set you on your feet again. Come and be free from your bondage of sin. If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed. John 8:36.

Michigan In Drought Area

Forty-one Michigan counties have been designated as being in the secondary drought area by E. W. Sheets, federal drought relief administrator.

The principal benefits accruing to Michigan farmers from this designation are the granting of special freight rates on livestock shipped from the area to other sections where feed is more plentiful, and on feeds bought for use within the forty-one counties. Freight rates will be one-half of the regular schedules.

Counties included in the secondary drought classification are Berrien, Cass, St. Joseph, Branch, Hillsdale, Lenawee, Jackson, Wayne, Washtenaw, Jackson, Calhoun, Kalamazoo, Van Buren, Allegan, Barry, Eaton, Ingham, Livingston, Oakland, Macomb, St. Clair, Lapeer, Genesee, Shiawassee, Clinton, Ionia, Kent, Ottawa, Montcalm, Mott, Gratiot, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo, Oceana, Mason, Lake, Osceola, Clare, and Gladwin.

Classification as secondary drought territory does not permit the federal government to buy cattle. The purchase of cattle is confined to primary drought areas.

Placing these Michigan counties in the secondary drought classification does not mean that the efforts of livestock men to help the situation should be relaxed. Reduction of freight rates on feeds will help only if hay and grains can be found at prices which make it practical to feed them to livestock. No trouble is expected in finding plenty of grain but the purchase of hay or other roughage will be a different matter.

All livestock and dairy cattle owners organizations in Michigan are using all possible means to call the seriousness of the situation to the attention of their members. There is not enough hay in Michigan or within any reasonable shipping distance in other states to carry the present number of cattle in Michigan through next winter.

Adjustments will have to be made in the herds by the owners. Only the owner knows which animals can best be spared with the least damage to his future plans. Present market prices for the common grades of cattle are extremely low and some terminal markets are glutted with such stock. No cattle should be shipped to any market until the conditions there are known. Slaughter and consumption of the cattle at home either as fresh meat or as canned or preserved beef is preferable if it possibly can be done.

Secret Is Out, Myron Has Pet Bass That Brings His Good Luck

(Special Correspondence.) Baldwin, Mich., Aug. 7th.—Myron Mawhorter at Whalen Lake to all probability can boast of having a pet black bass that goes out in the lake and brings back his brothers to Mawhorter's frying pan.

This strange happening came about last week while Glenn Smith and his wife were spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Mawhorter.

Myron caught Oscar (the bass) early in the season and having plenty of meat on hand, he fed Oscar the live boy where he became very tame in fact he put up considerable fuss if Myron was not on hand at meal time with a frog or crab.

Smitty who has an eye to commercializing the fish, watched these mess calls several times. "Say, Myron, I believe Oscar would not run away from the dock if he were let loose," this was debated on for several minutes and it was finally decided to let Oscar the freedom of the lake. Next morning Oscar was turning flip flops in the water near the dock, that evening the commercialized fishing was thought of.

Each of Oscar's side fins were punched and a basereno and pike bait attached. Oscar swam about the dock several minutes and then put out for deep water.

Myron and Smitty then retired to the cottage porch overlooking the lake deliberating on what might happen. They had not long to wait when a wake similar to a Mississippi river boat was seen approaching from deep water.

Smitty and Myron rushed down to the lake to find Oscar struggling in with a brother on each side hooked firmly to the artificial baits, both being about the same size, weighing over 3 pounds. Oscar seems to be proud of his success as a fisherman, probably prouder of the fact he is able to repay Myron for several weeks board.

Up to this writing Oscar has brought in 23 bass.
