

Excavation At Phoenix Will Be Finished Today

Pere Marquette Trains Are Now Running Over Temporary Sidetrack

Workmen Removing Old Embankment West Of Ford Factory—Grading Around Lake Finished

Exceptionally rapid progress is being made on the grade separation work that is being carried out by the county and Pere Marquette at the Phoenix crossing, just north of Phoenix lake.

Pere Marquette trains are now being run over the temporary sidetrack that has been erected to the east over an excavated portion of the highway that is to pass under the tracks. Monday steam shovels began removing earth on the west side of the tracks and by tonight most of the excavation work will have been completed.

It was necessary to remove a house and small building that stood directly in line of the proposed improvement. The last section of these was taken away Monday.

The Plymouth-Northville road and the Five Mile road will be merged into one thoroughfare at the foot of the hill and near the point where the west side of the grade separation begins. From this point the road will be built along the west side of Phoenix lake to just north of the Phoenix dam where it will again be connected with the main thoroughfare and the parkway system.

A steam shovel also began removing the old embankment just west of the Ford-Wilcox factory that was formerly used to turn water into the factory power plant. When this work is completed and the long point of land that has protruded out into the newly created lake is entirely removed, most of the work around the new lake will have been completed.

All of the newly formed banks have been graded, sodded or seeded. The site has almost overnight transformed the general appearance of the north approach into Plymouth into one of the most beautiful of any city in Michigan.

Excellent progress is also being made on the new bridge over the Rouge river on Plymouth road. Because of the fact that this work has cut off one of the main thoroughfares from Detroit to Plymouth, the county officials are pushing the work as rapidly as possible.

Hospital Tag Day Is Huge Success

As the result of the tag day sale conducted last Saturday by Plymouth hospital, there has been added to the emergency supply fund nearly $100. The girls who collected the money received donations of $110.00. There was some slight expense in connection with the work but even after this is paid, there is going to be a fairly good balance to meet such expenses as can be paid in no other way.

The hospital authorities are especially grateful to the young ladies that helped in the sale on the tags and to all the people who so freely contributed to such a splendid charitable purpose.

There is almost a constant demand for medicinal supplies and other articles at the hospital for cases that the hospital cannot charge for and because of this it is necessary that there be an extra fund that can be used now and then.

The hospital is exceedingly grateful for all of this help, although before the winter is over, a considerable greater amount will be needed.

Gas Company Workers Enjoy First Picnic

Nearly one hundred mothers, fathers and children from the Plymouth district of the Consumers Power company attended the first annual picnic of company employees held at Bloomfield park Wednesday afternoon. It was a day when but little business was transacted at the Plymouth office, or any other office of the company. It is needless to say that every one thoroughly enjoyed a most delightful time. The picnic is in keeping with the general policies of the Consumers company to give the highest enjoyment and employment for its workers.

Money For Repairing Your Home

Senator Arthur Vandenberg Explains Details Of Way Federal Money Can Be Secured

The Plymouth Mail has received from Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg the following detailed explanation of how funds can be secured for repairing your home or barns or making more modern your property. Read it carefully. I am anxious that interested Michigan property-owners be advised regarding loans for property modernization purposes under the Federal Housing Administration plan. Hence this bulletin. It must necessarily be brief, but if questions come to mind which are not answered, they should be addressed me at Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C. and your inquiries will receive prompt attention.

1. Loans can be made only for property modernization purposes, such as improvement of family residences, apartment buildings, stores, office buildings, factories, warehouses, and farm buildings. The money is loaned directly to the property-owner by financial institutions (as National Banks, State Banks, Trust Companies, Savings Banks, Industrial Banks, Building and Loan Associations and Finance Companies) which have been approved by the Federal Housing Administration.

2. The first step to be taken by the property-owner who desires to apply for a loan is to go directly to an approved financial institution and there secure and fill out a "Property Owner's Credit Statement" which is identified as FHE Form 3. This form may also be secured by writing to the Federal Housing Administration, Washington, D. C. This "Property Owner's Credit Statement" must indicate that the property to be improved has no outstanding delinquent tax indebtedness; that it has no mortgage or lien against it that is not in good standing; and that the property owner has a regular source of income at least five times as great as the annual payments which must be made on the loan.

3. The second step is to have this "Property Owner's Credit Statement" approved by the financial institution from which the loan is sought.

4. If the third step is for the property-owner to sign a promissory note for the amount of the loan. No special form of promissory note is required so long as it is valid and enforceable. However, it must not involve an obligation on the part of the borrower which is less than $100 nor more than $2,000; it must have a maturity date of not more than 3 years; and it must only cover payments for alterations, repairs or improvements upon real property belonging to the maker of the note.

5. As soon as the promissory note or notes (there may be more than one not so long as the total for all does not exceed $2,000 on one piece of property) have been properly signed by the applicant and accepted by the financial institution, the money is delivered. No collateral, co-makers or other endorser are required on the note.

6. So far as the cost of the loan to the property owner is concerned, the rules of the Federal Housing Administration specifically provide that "a financial institution may not collect interest and/or discount and/or fee, a total charge exceeding an amount equivalent to 5% discount per year per $100 original face amount of the note."

7. There are no limitations upon the method of making the modernization expenditures. The owner can engage a contractor to complete the job, or he may do it with his own hands. In a word, he can carry out the job as his best judgment dictates.

8. The loan must normally be paid in equal monthly installments. However, if the maker's income is dependent upon the sale of crops, livestock, etc., notes may be made payable in installments which correspond to income dates. Even in such cases, at least one payment must be made each year. Payments must be made promptly. These notes carry the same legal responsibility as any other promissory note, and the same legal process may be invoked to enforce collection upon default.

9. The first step to be taken by the property-owner who desires to apply for a loan is to go directly to an approved financial institution and there secure and fill out a "Property Owner's Credit Statement" which is identified as FHE Form 3. This form may also be secured by writing to the Federal Housing Administration, Washington, D. C. This "Property Owner's Credit Statement" must indicate that the property to be improved has no outstanding delinquent tax indebtedness; that it has no mortgage or lien against it that is not in good standing; and that the property owner has a regular source of income at least five times as great as the annual payments which must be made on the loan.

10. The second step is to have this "Property Owner's Credit Statement" approved by the financial institution from which the loan is sought.

11. If the third step is for the property-owner to sign a promissory note for the amount of the loan. No special form of promissory note is required so long as it is valid and enforceable. However, it must not involve an obligation on the part of the borrower which is less than $100 nor more than $2,000; it must have a maturity date of not more than 3 years; and it must only cover payments for alterations, repairs or improvements upon real property belonging to the maker of the note.

Hover Declares Monopolies Are Farmer Enemies

They Control Prices Of What He Sells And What He Has To Buy

Large Crowd Hears Candidate For Congress Discuss Problems At Salem Meeting

One of the largest crowds to hear a political address in many weeks listened attentively last Friday evening at Salem when J. Milton Hover of Ypsilanti told the voters what he would do if nominated and elected to congress on the Republican ticket.

With him at the event was the Ypsilanti band that played a brief concert before the speech began. The speaker, who was present to hear the candidate who is seeking the Republican nomination in the Second congressional district state his views. Mr. Hover is a brother of former Mayor Hover of Plymouth and is well known in this city.

Mr. Hover said, the problem before the country is not one of surpluses. It is not one of lack of markets. There are billions of dollars worth of markets in the unsatisfied wants of people. If these wants could be fully satisfied the surplus surpluses would disappear as if by magic.

"The real problem before the nation is the distribution of purchasing power. If we expect to effect a permanent prosperity we must treat diseases, not symptoms. The distribution of our national wealth and purchasing power is determined by control of prices and wages. Any person or agency who can control the price of only a few of the vital goods and services of the nation can quickly divert into his own hands the purchasing power of the nation. This is socially condoned and mentally legalized, and highly refined robbery."

Mr. Hover stated that, "agriculture has no control over its price structure. The farmer is compelled to buy from monopolies and to sell to monopolies. These price-controlling monopolies have spread their power over the nation like a creeping paralysis and destroyed the purchasing power of the masses."

The situation has not improved under the New Deal. The NRA, in its last analysis, codes, in the last analysis, a production control, price-fixing set-up. The AAA is only an acreage-reduction machine with prices still at the mercy of the code-protected monopolies.

"We must choose," said Mr. Hover, "whether we are going to adopt an economic policy whereby both industry and agriculture will operate under the law of supply and demand with effective anti-trust and anti-monopoly protection or whether we are going to have price-fixing for everybody."

John P. Barnhill presided at the meeting and F. M. Greenstreet spoke of Mr. Hover's qualifications for the office of Congressman, stressing his long experience in business, agriculture and education.

Garden Party At Newburg Church

Bobby Hitt of Plymouth, the State horsehoe pitching champion, will give a demonstration of his pitching skill in connection with the garden party to be given at the Newburg church grounds next Friday evening, Aug. 31. All horsehoe players will have a chance to see some real skill with the iron shoes.

Another feature of the garden party which is being given by the Young Married People's class will be the bean supper served from 5 to 7 o'clock. There will be a limited supply of Mrs. Grimm's famous German coffee cakes. These always go quickly, so come early. Plymouth band will be in attendance and furnish music throughout the evening.

Another musical treat will be furnished by a colored male quartette, who will sing several Negro Spirituals.

Labor Day Going To Be Quiet One In This Locality

Everything Is Going To Close And No Events Are On Schedule

Many Plan Fishing Trips, Others Going To Stay Home And Entertain Friends

Monday is Labor day — and Plymouth is going to celebrate it by not laboring.

The big Daisy plant will be closed. The banks will be closed. Most of the stores will be closed, except those that will keep open for a couple of hours in the morning to provide groceries and meats to those that forget to get them Saturday night. All of the other factories in town will be closed down and few, if any of the offices will be open.

No Labor day celebration of any kind has been planned. Many are going fishing. Some are going to nearby ball games. A large number plan picnic trips, and others expect to entertain friends and relatives over the holiday.

Many mothers are going to do a lot of patching in order to get Johnny and Sally ready for school on Tuesday.

So there you have in brief the picture of what is going to take place in Plymouth on Labor day. Indications are that it is going to be about as quiet as any Labor day Plymouth ever had.

Farewell Services For One Who Plans To Enter Ministry

On Sunday evening at 7:30 friends and associates of LeRoy Tilton will meet at the Church of the Open Door, of which he is a member, to take part in a farewell service for him as he leaves for Chicago to study for the ministry.

Mr. Tilton is the youngest son of Isaac Tilton, who resides on Warren Road, just south of Plymouth.

The program Sunday evening will center around the theme: "God's Messengers." David Columbus will speak on "The Need of God's Messengers." Miss Alice Postiff will carry on the theme, with the topic, "Christian Youth As God's Messengers." Mrs. J. F. Root will give a short address on "Prayer for God's Messengers." LeRoy Tilton will then tell, "Why I Choose To Be One of God's Messengers." At the close, the pastor, Mr. Neale, will conduct the brief series of addresses with the topic, "What Is God's Message?" Special music will feature during the evening also.

LeRoy Tilton is one of eight of the young people in the Church of the Open Door who have dedicated their lives to full time Christian service anywhere God may choose to lead them.

All of these young people are now active in Christian work and Bible Study here in Plymouth; and several hope to leave for further study in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago sometime this next year.

Everyone is invited to attend this service at the Church of the Open Door located at 164 North Main street.

Government Buys Home Of John Patterson For Postoffice Site— New Building To Cost Near $60,000

Plymouth One Of Eight Michigan Cities To Benefit From Appropriations Made By Congress For New Postoffice Structure

Official announcement was received by Postmaster B. E. Giles early this week that the treasury department of the government had accepted the bid of John H. Patterson for his property on Penniman avenue for a postoffice site in Plymouth and that steps to close up the transaction had already been taken. The information came from the legal division of the treasury department.

The site has frontage on Penniman avenue of 114 feet. The property extends through to Fralick avenue, better known as Gravel avenue, thereby enabling Patterson property to have a frontage on Main street of 125 feet and a depth of 230 feet for $16,000. The property of Mrs. Allen is now occupied by the state highway department. The large white house to the north owned by Mrs. Underwood has been vacated for some time.

Another combination offer by Miss Safford, acting as agent, was for the sale of the vacant Pettin-gill property on the corner of Main and Dodge streets and the adjoining Harrison property. The combined frontage of these two pieces of property is 125 feet with a depth of 198 feet. The price submitted was $17,000. The Harrison property lies between the Pettin-gill lot and the property owned by Mrs. Allen.

Linus Galpin and Charlotte Williams, owners of two pieces of property on South Main street, lying south of the state highway department offices, with a combined street frontage of 145 feet and a depth of 240 feet, submitted a bid of $20,000, the highest of all bids submitted. Each property was entered at $10,000. It was necessary to submit the joint bid to come near the government requirement for street frontage.

The government has advertised for bids for a site in Plymouth four different times. When the bids were opened in July this year it was found that there had been a considerable reduction in most of the bids over previous bids. For a time it was feared that the government agents might consider the bids still to high, but they seemed to be satisfied with the price that had been placed on some of the property, with the final result that they accepted the Patterson bid. Everyone now hopes that with the site having been purchased, that nothing happens to prevent the immediate construction of a new postoffice building.

The postoffice department has recently completed new postoffice structures in Marshall and Stru-gis, the buildings being most attractive in design.

It is probable that additional information will be received within the next two weeks as to when the government plans to start the structure. Plymouth is one of eight Michigan cities that is being provided with a new postoffice structure during the present year.

The government advertised for bids for a site in the July 13 issue of the Plymouth Mail. Eleven bids were received.

The Floyd Hillman garage on the southeast corner of South Main street and Maple avenue was offered through Frank Rambo as agent for $9,000. This piece of property has a frontage on South Main street of 91 feet and along Maple avenue of 136 feet.

Charles Finlan and Carl Shear offered a site just south of the Ford garage on South Main street with a 110 foot frontage and a depth of 165 feet for $13,750. This is a combination offer, consisting of two lots, one being known as the Czar Penny property.

Another combination offer was made by Frank Rambo as agent for Robert Jolliffe and Mrs. Wilkison for a site on the Southwest corner of North Main and Amelia streets. This combination site offers 131 foot frontage along Main street and a depth of 181 feet. The price asked is $14,000. This proposed site lies just north of the King plant on North Main St.

Paul Wiedman submitted a bid for the vacant property he owns on West Ann Arbor street which lies just west of the gas station at the side of the Mayflowers hotel. This entire site was offered for $7,950. This site has a frontage along Ann Arbor street of some 80 feet and is ten rods deep.

Fletcher Campbell offered his property on West Ann Arbor, which adjoins the site offered by Paul Wiedman. His bid showed a frontage of 110 feet and a depth of 297 feet. His price was $9,000.

Russell Roe To Head Committee For The Present

Better Housing Plan Of Government Is Finding Much Local Interest

Generally Believed That Much Good Will Come From Expenditure Of Funds For Repair Jobs

Russell Roe has consented to act as chairman of the Plymouth Better Housing Committee until a permanent organization is perfected. It is Mr. Roe's opinion that some public spirited citizen with special interest in the success of the Federal Housing Administration's program should be selected to serve as permanent chairman.

According to Mr. Roe, there are several points in connection with the Federal Housing Act and the local committee which need a word of explanation. In the first place, some confusion seems to exist as to the nature of the insurance protection afforded under the government contract. Some interested parties were under the impression that the government guarantee of 20 per cent against loss only applied to individual loans. For example, a party might borrow $300.00 and repay the entire amount, whereas another borrower might borrow a maximum loan of $2000.00 and default on 80 percent of this amount.

According to bulletin No. 1, Modernization Credit Plan, for National and State Banks in relation to credit insurance for the alteration, repair, and improvement of residential structures provided for in "Title I" of the National Housing Act. "This contract will protect financial institutions against all losses incurred on loans made or notes purchased by them up to total aggregate losses of $200,000.00. The face amount of such notes held by them, or on which they may continue liable during the time such insurance contract is in force."

"The highest known loss ratio on similar types of receivables has been over 100 per cent and is hardly conceivable that these credits, extended by prudent institutions, could result in losses greatly exceeding this previous experience. The insurance provided by the government, in amount to a complete guarantee for financial institutions. That is, if a financial institution acquires notes aggregating a total volume of $100,000, it will be insured against 100 per cent of loss on all items, up to a total aggregate loss of $200,000. Losses that have never been approached in America on this type of business, even in the worst depression years."

Mr. Roe also wishes everyone contemplating property improvement under the terms of this act to be assured that the fact that they will be spending their own money, and that they can, therefore, spend it with architects, contractors, and material dealers of their own choosing.

In asking the Plymouth Mail to run the following inquiry blank, the members of the committee wish to stress the fact that it is not their intention to build up prospect lists for material dealers by this method. They are merely trying to be of assistance, and are interested in ascertaining to what extent the Federal Housing Administration literature can have them by making inquiry at the chamber of commerce office.

Anyone interested in obtaining copies of Federal Housing Administration literature can have them by making inquiry at the chamber of commerce office.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION

Tuesday, September 11, is the date of the primary election in Michigan. To the taxpayers it is an important day for at that time voters will indicate whether they are satisfied with the fiasco that two Republican and one Democratic administrations have carried on for nearly eight long years or whether they desire a return to an organized, economical and progressive state government.

As one looks over the situation and studies the records of the various candidates, a most amazing picture is unfolded, a picture that is as distasteful to thoughtful Republicans as Democrats. Through the administrations of three different governors, two Republicans and one Democratic, Michigan has stumbled along like a blindman, the victim of political gangs and schemers who seemingly cared nothing for the welfare of distressed people or the great institutions we have been building during the past century.

For nearly eight years Michigan has been the victim of political carpetbaggers, the same kind that looted the south following the Civil war, with the possible exception that they have been a bit more refined in the way they have extracted their spoils from the pockets of struggling business men and farmers and unpaid doctors, lawyers and teachers.

Point out, if you can during these administrations one SINGLE constructive thing they accomplished for the general welfare or benefit of ALL the people of Michigan. Point out if you can one single economy they brought about.

Oh yes they tell you they cut the expenses of some of the state institutions.

But how did they do it?
By cutting the WAGES of underpaid attendants, by cutting the miserly salaries Michigan has paid its doctors and institutional teachers and workers.

They will not tell you that the "reductions" made on the payroll of these underpaid hospital workers, were added to the payrolls of other departments controlled by politicians and where so many politicians and workers have been hired that they cannot find desk room for them.

They will not tell you that during the six or seven long years when incomes from the farms, the factories and the stores kept dwindling, and thousands of people were losing their homes, farms and other property because of inability to pay taxes, that STATE EXPENSES kept skyrocketing upward—higher, higher, always higher.

What did they care seemingly for your distress and the distress of the other fellow just as long as they could keep the paychecks going to political hirelings?

We have asked you to point to just ONE thing that has been done to relieve you of your tax burden during these long trying seven or eight years. They may say they took the real estate tax partly off your shoulders. They did nothing of the kind YOU did that yourself when you voted for it at the last general election.

Contrast these past three administrations, when state expenses have leaped upwards by the MILLIONS each year after year, with that of former Governor Alex J. Groesbeck who has been prevailed upon to enter the Republican primary contest by those who have the welfare of the state at heart.

During a period of governmental reorganization and up-building, he kept your taxes down to a point where it was not a burden for you to pay. He required the great corporations of the state to provide the funds that he used in building up the various state institutions through the corporation tax he had the legislature pass. He didn't shove this burden off onto the shoulders of the little taxpayer.

With a state gas tax of only one and two cents he turned the muddy and sandy highways of the state into the finest paved road system in the Union. He started the trunk line system—and he built it on far less gas tax than the state has collected since.

Note just a few of the accomplishments of the Groesbeck administration:
He abolished nearly half a hundred commissions and State Boards.

Organized Michigan's Conservation Department and created finest state park system in America. Established fire tower system in north and planted millions of pine trees.

Connected the Lower and Upper Peninsulas with a state operated ferry system that has brought millions of dollars into Michigan from tourists.

Started elimination of grade crossings.

Organized the Department of Agriculture.

Organized the Department of Labor and Industry, placing representatives of labor on the board and giving them the right to settle compensation cases.

Established State Purchasing Department and through centralized purchasing saved taxpayers millions of dollars.

Created Administrative Board that enabled Michigan to conduct its affairs in a business-like way.

Made effective and developed budget system created by former Governor Albert Sleeper.

Put into effect modern accounting system, which made immediately available to the public all information on various state funds and accounts.

Made conduct of State's business public, all sessions of the Administrative Board being opened to any person desiring to attend.

Started widening of Woodward Avenue and closed removal of Grand Trunk tracks.

Ended, after 50 year fight on part of state, tax free charter held by Grand Trunk Railway.

Inaugurated snow removal from highways in winter and dust prevention in the summer.

Erected at various State Institutions one hundred badly needed buildings, reconstructed the University of Michigan, the Michigan State College, the State Normal Schools, School for Girls at Adrian, School for Boys at Lansing and other State Institutions, educational and penal.

Created Michigan's Welfare Department and made it function.

Built new hospitals, made other public buildings fireproof and provided the mentally sick and other state wards with proper care.

Removed reform school stigma from delinquent boys and girls and gave them equal opportunities with other children for spiritual, intellectual and physical development.

Provided students at Michigan School for the Deaf with gymnasium, auditorium and hospital facilities.

Brought about legislation for payment of soldier's home and gave other aid to soldiers and their dependents.

Expanded service of State National Department and it gained a national reputation for efficiency. Freed and free distribution of diptheria anti-toxin and gave rural districts health supervision which previously had only been available to cities and villages.

Segregated youthful offenders from hardened criminals to penal institutions.
Enabled Michigan blind, through employment plan, to make themselves self-supporting.
Instituted campaign to free Michigan's dairy herds from tuberculosis, giving Michigan one of the purest milk supplies in the Country.
Recommended hospital for special treatment of unfortunate crippled children.

More than doubled the capacity of Lapeer School for mentally deficient children.
Purchased and equipped hospital at Cass Center for tubercular ex-service men. Helped establish homes for orphan children of World War veterans.

Groesbeck wiped out a state deficit in his first term and left a cash balance on hand. He created sinking funds to pay off bonded debts of the state.

When Governor Groesbeck took office the annual tax levy was $21,000,000.00; during his administration the annual tax levy was $17,500,000.00.

After the greatest period of reconstruction of state institutions in Michigan's history and a complete reorganization of the State's form of government, Governor Groesbeck left the state with a cash balance on hand, all current debts paid and the lowest tax rate it has enjoyed in recent years.

He stopped use of real estate tax for highway purposes.

All rural schools were kept open, farm boys and girls were given the advantage of Michigan's school system and higher education of learning were practically rebuilt during his administration. More was done for education in Michigan under Groesbeck than in all of the half century previous. At the end of his term Fred A. Jeffers, then president of the State Board of Education, made public the following statement pertaining to Governor Groesbeck's work in connection with education:
"We approve your policy, we respect your judgment and we are appreciative of what you have done."

Former Governor Groesbeck declares that "the state tax on real property should be abolished."

"Delinquent state taxes should in a large measure be cancelled and forgiven.
"The head tax is a fraud and should be repealed immediately—old age pensions should be and can be financed from other state resources. The Public Utilities Commission and Securities Commission should be merged into one department, with a responsible head," he states.

"Our election laws can be simplified, minor offices made appointive, short ballot provided for and reasonable civil service established.

"Our public schools must be maintained on a high plane of efficiency and a comprehensive and equitable program of sustaining them permanently established.

"The state must continue its welfare program which was woefully neglected for a considerable period. Work should be provided for those receiving such help wherever possible, which should not be a difficult thing to do.

"Michigan should have no tax problems today. There is no excuse for it. We have too many burdensome taxes. There should be an immediate reduction in tax collections, expenses of government and a quick return to common sense methods of handling public finances.

"The sales tax is inequitable and should be modified.
"Real estate should not be taxed for state purposes—some fifty-three percent of Michigan's acreage will soon be up for sale because of delinquent taxes. Such a condition is just a little short of criminal. It is caused by extravagance, neglect and incompetency.

"Immediate correction of this serious situation is imperative even if it requires the forgiveness of a large portion or all of these back taxes which are now seriously retarding the recovery of property values and have become a state menace. The state can well afford to forgive delinquent taxes. The immediate result will be a direct and substantial benefit to all property owners."

"I am not going to engage in a wild scramble for public office. If elected, my objective will be to correct well known abuses in our government—lighten the tax burden—eliminate unnecessary expensive public services and reestablish economical and constitutional government."

The Plymouth Mail is not urging its readers to vote for any candidate. We have simply placed these facts before you because time passes rapidly and we are all prone to forget the good that came to Michigan under the Groesbeck administrations and remember only the bitter things that have been said and are being said by the greedy, hateful opponents of one who thoroughly believes in decent government.

Although we believe there is every probability that former Governor Alexander J. Groesbeck's friends are right when they say that his political enemies are responsible for the general opinion that he is cold, austere and unapproachable, still it is not because of his social refinements or proclivities that we believe he is the outstanding candidate for governor of Michigan on either ticket at the September Primaries this Fall.

Some readers of the Herald may recall that in some previous elections our attitude has not been so lenient toward Mr. Groesbeck. Those were other days when different issues confronted the people of Michigan. We do not hesitate to say that we have differed with the former governor many times on what are now dead issues, and if he is elected he probably differ again with him in the future. But Michigan today should be looking for a governor who has that personal power, that executive force and ability which will enable him to step into the Governor's chair and lead us out of the quagmire into which we have fallen as a state during the past few years.

From what we have seen of the campaign thus far it appears that the former governor is going to have a tough time winning the nomination. His opponent, Fitzgerald, was off to an early start before friends of the former governor convinced him that he should be a candidate. Some of his friends were offended because of his delay in announcing himself and joined the forces of his opponent. While this fact could not be considered as handicap by some politicians, it certainly does not serve as a handicap to his outstanding ability and should mean nothing to the voters of the State, providing ability is what they want in Lansing. They could well remember that he has been accomplishing one of the remarkable jobs on record in the history of banking difficulties. Serving as Receiver without pay or fee for a bank that was considered as a dead weight on any in the state, he has succeeded in paying all small depositors off 100 percent and the balance has lost but a fraction of what might have been sacrificed had the affairs been in the same hands as other institutions in like circumstances. What he has done for this bankrupt banking institution, we believe he can do for this debt ridden state if given the opportunity.

Groesbeck is a fighter and when there is an object in view difficulties and obstacles in his path seem but to whet his determination to accomplish what at times has seemed impossible.

He is one of the few governors of Michigan, who when confronted with a request which he knew was impractical or not for the best interests of the state, knew how to say "No" and mean it. It is going to take such a man to do the job that confronts the next Governor of Michigan.

Those Republicans of Michigan who two years ago believed that the time had come to free Michigan from the menace of a state government controlled and dictated to by professional politicians have been sadly disappointed in the results of the 1932 election.

The State and the Republican party still have the opportunity to benefit by their experience of two years ago. There was at that time and there is a decided sentiment that good government in this state demands freedom from the idea that the sole function of the state government is to build up, through political reward, an impregnable party organization—freedom from the clutches of those baronies who fasten themselves onto a government that remains too long in the hands of the same political manipulators.

The question that the Republican voters are to decide September 11 is whether they believe that the interests of the state can more safely be trusted to the same organization which has been in the saddle for the past few years, with republican, Frank McKay supplanting Democrat Isiah Leason as the guiding force, or whether they will seize the opportunity to elect in Lansing a man who has the ability to guide the affairs of state out of the mire and will be free to use his unquestioned ability for the benefit of the people of the state and not for the benefit of his too numerous political organization supporters.

Groesbeck is not the typical political candidate. He apparently does not enjoy standing before crowds throughout the state, making idle promises, the sincerity of which the public have come to seriously doubt. He has never been a hard campaigner and in the coming election the success of his candidacy lies almost entirely with those people who believe in the man and for the sake of good government are willing to do their bit to put him at the helm in Michigan.—Grafton County Herald, Ithaca.

Mr. Fitzgerald has the advantage of two years of good publicity. He was in the campaign early and has an efficient organization of supporters in every county of the state. Mr. Groesbeck, on the other hand, has a splendid record of public service. His work in connection with bank reorganization in Detroit added to his popularity and his prestige there. And to all that there must also be added a strong undercurrent of thought that is being inspired and pushed along by his supporters to the effect that the state is in a bad way and that a strong, purposeful leader of the Groesbeck type is needed to save it.—Monroe Evening News.

The marriage of Miss Caroline E. Vincent and Warren Lombard was solemnized at the home of the bride's uncle, Dr. J. J. Travis, Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, August 14th, in the presence of the immediate friends of the bride and groom. The bride was becomingly dressed in steel grey. The ring service was used and the ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Kink. The bride was the recipient of numerous pretty and useful presents, among others being a handsome check from the groom's father. The bride is one of Plymouth's best known young people and Mr. Lombard is book-keeper for the Daisy Manufacturing company. A host of friends wish them a pleasant matrimonial career. After a wedding supper, Mr. and Mrs. Lombard left for a two week's trip to northern Michigan. They will reside on Oak street where the groom has a home all furnished.

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

PLACING RESPONSIBILITY

A gentleman returning from Vermont passed through Dearborn yesterday and told me something about the great Coolidge memorial service held at Plymouth in honor of the deceased President. He said that the roads out of Plymouth were choked with traffic for fifteen miles and that he was forced to leave his car five miles away from the center of ceremonies and walk the rest of the distance. He described the State of Vermont as almost a state of revolution against the present political situation—not a partisan protest, but an American protest. Being an admirer of acute intelligence, he confessed that he was quite startled with the condition of mind he found in that part of the country, because it embraced all classes. He was quite specific in declaring it was not a Republican state of mind, but a recrudescence of faith in American principles.

Another gentleman whom I met lately had returned from the West where he had been granted an audience with Herbert Hoover. It happens that this man and Mr. Hoover are political matters, and that Mr. Hoover had been the target of many direct hits from this man on the subject of bureaucracy. The hits were so direct that they made Mr. Hoover mad—which I understand was never a difficult thing to do. But this time when they met Hoover simply laughed and asked him what he thought of bureaucracy nowadays.

There is no doubt the explanation of the story that was printed in the press some time ago that in answer to a question how he spent his time nowadays, Hoover replied that "he just laughed and laughed."

All of us took our jobs at Hoover for his fact-finding commission and his new bureau for this and that, and he has the right to turn on us and ask us how we like it now, for everything that Hoover did with which we found fault, has been multiplied one hundred times by the present administration.

And this leads us to ask, Was not the whole present unAmerican tendency instituted by the Republicans? Was not the first American protest against our departure from the American ideal made while the Republicans were in power? And was not that protest disregarded with the same air of superiority which meets it now? What have the present Democrats done that the Republicans did not institute? The Roosevelt Administration has simply adopted and greatly enlarged the unAmerican philosophy which actuated the Republicans during their last ten years—with this difference, that whereas the looters now it is the so-called lower classes. But by whomsoever done, the looting of the country for political, economic or any other purpose, is destructive and treasonable.

It will not do for the Republicans to shout "back to the Constitution!" They were the first to start away from it. The line-up of Republican candidates in the Michigan primaries indicates that the party has not gained in patriotism or wisdom to the slightest degree, but is still ruled by shortsighted personal selfishness. I see no difference whatever between Democrats and Republican in these nation-ruining characteristics.

Nor is this a pie for a third party. That too, in the present state of the national mind, would be ruled by demagogues. What we need is the return of the American to his parties and his institutions. The only man fit to displace President Roosevelt would be the man who knows better and can do better than he. Everyone knows when a master mechanic steps in amongst apprentices; there is never any doubt as to which is which. Thus far, in both the Administration and its critics they have all been apprentices.—Wm. Klamer in The Dearborn Press.

ITS AGAIN THE LAW

Roy C. Gamble, of Detroit, artist, will do Governor Comstock in oil and hang him in the state capitol. There's nothing strange in the choice, since the governor seems to have a yen for a good picture, but some will be a little fastidious about the subject matter of hanging him. There are certain mean spirits who think the nearest apple-tree limb would be preferable.—Emerson Gildart in The Utica Sentinel.

THE MURPHY SYSTEM NATIONALIZED

When Mayor Murphy was re-elected, after spending some $200,000 in welfare work, one of his campaign workers remarked: "Well, the other side put up a fight, but you can't beat a man with the city treasury for his campaign fund."
We have about the same condition in national politics. The Democrats have been in power long enough to get their hands on nearly twenty BILLIONS of dollars. And if anyone thinks this money is not going to be spread in those states and districts where it will do the most good for the Democratic party, then he has a far different idea than we have of Political Fixer Farley!

Mark Hanna, who is said to have raised $6,000,000 to elect McKinley, was a piker! That's mere pin-money when one tries to think of all the cash that has been or will be (shortly before election time) shoveled into Deserving Democrats hands.

So when we start out with an abdication by Congress, and the country's treasury turned over to one set of politicians, we spend about as they choose, we should try to think ahead a bit—and envision, if we can, what a perpetuation in office of this type of party government will lead to.

However, the difficulty in the situation is: Who can the people turn to? Borah asked about the same question.

Truly we are in a Pooch-Bab state of affairs, where Judge, Jury and executioner are adroitly combined and politically administered.—F. W. McGriff in The Redford Record.

TRICKERY NEVER PAYS

There has been a lot of talk in and about Michigan to the effect that Johnnie Smith was entered as a Fitzgerald stalking horse to split the Groesbeck vote in Wayne. If Fitzgerald's alleged friends pulled this trick, it is a dirty one, as dirty against Fitzgerald as against Groesbeck.
Be that as it may, Fitzgerald backers will be sorry that Smith is in the race. He is putting in some telling blows against the secretary of state which blows will come in play as handy weapons for the democrats to use in the general campaign in case Fitzgerald is the party nominee.

Resort to trickery never pays—a lesson which certain of the Fitzgerald backers find it difficult to master.—Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

ALWAYS PLAY SAFE

Never lose sight of the fact that tricksters are out in greater numbers than ever to separate the unwary from their hard earned dollars. Don't be misled by advertisements offering large returns for a small investment of time and money. Most of them are frauds. Here is what the National Better Bureau has to say:
"Before sending any money to an advertiser offering work at home, whose responsibility is unknown to you, get the facts. If a specific is required, write the publisher in whose columns you saw the advertisement and ask the publisher whether the advertiser is reliable and actually has employment to offer."—William Cansfield in The Livingston County Reporter-Press.

"SMEARING GROESBECK"

Johnny Smith will say the nasty things about Groesbeck that Fitzgerald won't say—but would like to have said merely as a matter of competitive politics. Fitzgerald owes his rise in State office to Groesbeck and is personally decent enough to refrain from condemning publicly his former chief. But simple political expediency, wherein one candidate is supposed to lambaste another, seems to require to follow like Smith to be in the picture. Smith is the "smearer" in this campaign.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eclectic.

JOHNNY EARN AMTUCK

The newspapers boys about the state who have been watching the Groesbeck-Fitzgerald race for governor and who are now called upon to look over much Smith copy are sneaking at the way Johnny Smith got into Fred Green's back yard (The Jonia fair) last Thursday afternoon and all but ruined the Jonia fair trying to make 7,000 dead people believe that he was NOT IN THE RACE TO SPITE GROESBECK. NO SIR, JOHNNY WAS MORE APPRECIATED BY GREEN than the back of Green's neck. There's a long been a loud booster for Mr. Fitzgerald and Oh, boy, didn't this Smithy from Detroit just spill the political beans somethur Lacy for the Democratic nomination for governor in this vicinity, stated yesterday that he is confident Judge Lacy will carry western Wayne county by a big vote.

"I base my statement upon the fact that there is a steadily growing sentiment for him and that I had not the slightest difficulty in getting signers for his petitions. Many Democrats who a few weeks ago were not overly enthusiastic about Judge Lacy are beginning to believe now that he is the man that the party can win with this fall," stated Mr. Orndorff.

"We all know that there has been a steady growing sentiment against the present administration and the Democrats hope to

Constitution Day Is September 17—Not To Be Celebrated Here

Extensive plans for celebration of Constitution Day, September 17, have been announced by national headquarters of the American Legion. Legion authorities hope for a nationwide patriotic demonstration on this occasion "to stimulate a greater appreciation of our Constitution and the rights benefits and privileges guaranteed thereby. All patriotic groups, civic clubs, and members of the teaching profession will be asked to cooperate in this important movement."

Details of the plan call for mass meetings to be held on the evening of September 17. All Legion Posts are called upon to furnish speakers on the subject of the Constitution to talk before grade and high schools, colleges and universities, and civic and luncheon clubs. There will be distributed to schools throughout the country a reprint of an article on "To Uphold and Defend the Constitution," written by Edward A. Hayes, National Commander of the American Legion. Newspapers throughout the nation will be asked to cooperate and devote space in editorial papers to the subject. There are no plans so far for a local celebration.

Arthur Blunk Lands Big Ten Pound Pike

The Blunk boys seem to have the divine right around here to catch all the big fish in the pond. Manny Blunk has brought back to Plymouth some whoppers from over in Oakland county during the past year or so. Last Wednesday evening, Arthur Blunk stepped out and landed a big ten pound pike just as though it was the regular thing to do. He was fishing on Maxwell lake when the big fellow took the hook, and started south with it. The trip ended when the fisherman landed him safely in the boat. The fish was a beauty. It was caught out in deep water.

Settles Marie Dressler Will

Plymouth residents who have been reading about the administration of the will of Marie Dressler, popular motion picture actress who died recently, will be interested to know that Attorney B. J. Bradner, one time resident of Plymouth, is handling the closing of her estate.

Copies of the Los Angeles Times received here of recent date carried photographs of court scenes in which Mr. Bradner is shown looking after the legal details for the disposal of Marie Dressler's property as provided in the will. The estate consists of something like $101,000 in cash, $100,000 in stocks and bonds, a home worth $50,000 besides automobiles and household furnishings.

Under the will, Miss Dressler remembered many friends, and ordered the residue of her estate to go to her sister, Bonita Ganthony in England. To her servants, Mamie Cox and Jerry Cox, she left $35,000 and $15,000 respectively, her wearing apparel, automobiles and her silverware, the last "as a remembrance for their silver wedding anniversary."

The sum of $10,000 was left to the American Woman's Association and $5,000 cash to Nella Webb, May Dureye and Ida Sutcliffe.

Miss Dressler bequeathed her diamond bracelet to Hallie Phillips, her diamond necklace to Georgia Calne and a pin of pearls to Frances Marion.

Practical and Smart

No single item in the young lady's summer wardrobe is more practical, comfortable and smart than a brief checked sweater, like the one here shown. If it is of mercerized, crested cotton in an open-work stitch it will be light and airy enough for the hottest day. This little blouse has a high square neck with four round brown buttons, very short sleeves, and fits tightly about the girlish waist.

House for Soviet Broadcasts

THIS is an architect's drawing of the radio palace that is to be constructed in Moscow soon, the plans already having been approved. The building will be 300 feet high, not counting the radio mast that will surmount it, and will house the entire Soviet program of radio broadcasting.

Over 5000 Seek Public Offices

At least 5,000 Michigan men and women are seeking public office and will have their names presented to the voters at the primary Sept. 11, according to estimates made by the Department of State.

Under recent changes in the election law, there will be many candidates, however, whose names will not be on the primary ballots. In cases where a candidate is unopposed for the nomination for the office he is seeking, the name will not be printed on the ballot. Several county clerks report that this change in the law will result in considerable savings.

Another change in the election law that is of importance to voters is the provision regarding length of residence in the voting precinct. Under the old law, voters were required to live at least 20 days in the ward and precinct in which they voted. The present law requires 20 days residence in the city, village or township and allows for transfer of registration on election day.

The state law governing election expenses requires every candidate and every primary campaign committee treasurer to file a report of expenses incurred within 10 days following the primary election. Candidates and campaign treasurers have 20 days in which to file reports after the November election.

Local Buick Team Loses To S. Lyon

South Lyons defeated the local Buick nine last Sunday at South Lyons by the score of 15 to 9.

The local boys couldn't hit in the pinches until the late innings when they put up their famous eighth and ninth inning rallies, but they fell short of tying the score.

Next Sunday at Riverside Park the battle for the championship of Plymouth between the Plymouth Haggerty Club and the Plymouth Buicks will be resumed at 1:00 o'clock in the first game of a double header.

This series is the best three games out of five. To date each team has won one game. Next Sunday the team which wins two will be the champions of Plymouth, but in case they break even the deciding game will be played some Sunday in September.

Monday, Labor Day, a strong team from Highland Park which has defeated the local boys once this season will be the local attraction at 1 p. m.

Bids were recently opened by the Navy for 24 new fighting ships (including 4 cruisers, 14 destroyers and 6 submarines). Already under construction are 46 ships (31 destroyers, 4 submarines, 4 light cruisers, 3 heavy cruisers, 2 aircraft carriers, and 3 gunboats.)

Provide Work For Married Women

The second floor of the Dearborn Township Hall will again become a humming and busy manufacturing plant when a crew of women workers will be taken from the Wayne County relief rolls and put to work making clothing and tending for needy families. The work will be under the direction of Miss Edna Armstrong of Wayne who will be assisted by Mrs. Etta Tegge of Inkster, volunteer Red Cross worker.

A crew of 15 or 20 women will be employed, starting Wednesday. Sewing machines are being installed at present. The Ford Motor Co. is cooperating by obtaining machines and getting them ready. An appeal is being made by Mrs. Edwin S. Stroh, chairman of the committee in charge of this work, for sewing machines, odds and ends of yarn, buttons and trimmings.

Workers will be paid an hourly rate of 50 cents and the size of their families will determine the amount of hours they work. Only married women on relief rolls will be hired. Once they are put to work direct help from the welfare will end. At present there are over 1500 cases on record at the Welfare Office in Inkster.

Dressings are being made for Eloise by a group of workers under the direction of the Red Cross at present. Material for the dressings is furnished by Eloise. Material to be used for welfare work will be furnished by the federal government.

Clothes will not be distributed from the Inkster Welfare Office, it was stated by Stuart Grant, who is in charge, but requisitions will be filled out by investigators who call on welfare client periodically. The investigators will list the necessities of the families in their care and the report will be handed in to the office. If it meets with approval the clothing will then be delivered. — Wayne Dispatch.

Newly Weds Guests At The Orndorff Home

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Haver of New York city and Harry Haver of Washington, D. C. have been the guests for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Orndorff of the Plymouth-Northville road, on their wedding trip and stopped in Plymouth for a brief visit with their aunt and uncle. Mr. Haver came from Washington to be with them in Plymouth for a brief stay.

Business in New York is considerably improved, states Mr. Haver, although many regard it as being badly hampered by some of the new governmental regulations. However he states that

The young people expect to visit the Century of Progress in Chicago before their return east.

The U. S. Schooner "ENTERPRISE" was considered one of the luckiest vessels in the U. S. Navy. In eight months, during the West Indian war against French pirates, this vessel captured six privateers and recaptured eleven American merchant ships.

This Farm Drudgery Was Never Meant for Human Shoulders . . .

CARRYING 50 TONS OF WATER 100 MILES A YEAR!

TO the housewife falls much of the task of pumping and carrying water for household uses. Under average conditions, in one year, she will pump from 25 to 50 tons of water and will walk a distance of 30 to 100 miles to carry this water. All this needless drudgery can be eliminated all these countless steps saved—all this back-breaking toil forever ended by the installation of a running water system. If you have electric power on your farm, you may have your own completely automatic water system and enjoy the same comfort and convenience as if you were living in the city. The operating cost is but a few cents a week.

A running water system is a profitable investment for your farm. Consider these advantages that running water brings you: HEALTH. Plenty of water is essential for health. An abundant supply is a household necessity. It is the answer to the sewerage disposal problem. PROTECTION. Running water furnished by a dependable water system protects you from fire. PROFIT. Since milk is 87% water, a constant supply is necessary for maximum milk production. Hogs will also fatten more quickly if a plentiful supply of water is available.

The operating cost of a running water system is but a few cents a week. Install a water system NOW. Choose a pump big enough for your present and future requirements, and then install outlets or faucets for the kitchen, laundry, barn and garden.

Distributors of pumping equipment in this territory will gladly advise you as to the equipment best suited for your individual needs. Or call The Detroit Edison Company for a complete list of distributors. Attend to this matter TODAY.

How Taxpayers Foot The Bills

Special interest in Michigan who are so intently interested in showing off onto the shoulders of the taxpayers another burden in the form of municipally owned utilities will be interested in the following news dispatch from Toronto, Canada where Niagara's great power is providing the taxpayers with another big debt to pay.

T. Stewart Lyon, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission tonight announced power supplied to municipalities and other customers in the Niagara system in 1933 cost $4,221,000 more than the commission received for it.

Mr. Lyon said the commission in the next two and a half years must accept additional delivery of 260,000 horsepower under contracts already existing with the Beauharnois and Maclaren, Quebec, power companies.

In 1933, the total cost of power generated by the commission for the municipalities in 1933 was $2,300,588, about $2,000,000 less than the cost of the power to the commission," Mr. Lyon said.

"The deduction in the case of power furnished by the commission to municipalities as taken from the contingency fund was $2,015,572 so that the net cost to the municipalities in 1933 was $22,300,588, about $2,000,000 less than the cost of the power to the commission," Mr. Lyon said.

"The commission supplied power to private companies and customers of the Niagara system under flat rate contracts during 1933 which cost the commission, including provision for sinking fund, the renewals of $743,000, a total of $6,038,934. This was $2,221,034 more than the revenue derived from the power sold."

Ab Jenkins praises Firestone tires in toughest endurance run he ever made.

Lake Bonneville, Utah
Aug. 16th, 1934

Dear Mr. Firestone:

Under A.A.A. supervision I have just completed a 3,000 mile endurance run on the hot salt desert at Lake Bonneville, Utah. My car, weighing over 5,000 pounds, traveled the 3,000 miles at an average speed of 127.2 miles per hour, breaking 77 world, international and American speed records—without tire trouble of any kind. Firestone tires gave an almost unbelievable performance in this run, particularly when you realize that the temperatures were as high as 140 degrees and that the tires in the source had been filled with cracked and aged hard as flint and had knife sharp edges.

This endurance run was the severest test to which I have ever subjected any automobile and especially tires. Last year I made a similar run with a car of lead power and less speed using tires of another make whose national advertising featured blowout protection. Yet, I had a blowout and made a number of tire changes.

This year I also used Firestone Spark Plugs and a Firestone Extra Power Battery made with your new All-Rubber Separator. Not a Spark Plug failed and the Battery required no service of any kind.

If every car owner knew what my Firestone Tires went through they would appreciate what Gum-Dipping means in strength and heat protection that make Firestone Tires safe from blowouts.

This is the toughest run I have ever made in my twenty-three years of breaking speed records and after a short stay here I am coming East. Hoping to have the pleasure of seeing you then, and with best regards, I remain

Sincerely yours,
Ab Jenkins

Wilbur Shaw, using widely advertised competitive tires had eleven tire failures, preventing him from breaking records, worthy of the car he was driving.

Lake Bonneville, Utah
Aug. 16th, 1934

Dear Mr. Firestone:

I have just finished a 2,000 mile test run on the hot salt desert at Lake Bonneville, Utah, driving a car with a large national touring car. This one of the new developments in tire construction and again testing and performance.

With these tires on this run I had eleven tire failures and had to stop many times to change tires. I was unable to do it under control for a number of miles, having a trail of rubber and fabric on the road.

After an experience of this kind, I appreciate more than ever what a vital part Firestone Gum-Dipped tires have played in my success during the Firestone trials. I am sure that you could never have made the long test records that I have established.

I understand that you expect to be in California soon and if convenient, I would like to see you.

Very truly yours,
Wilbur Shaw

On Fishing Trip, They Rescued Drowning Cow

Robert Todd and party of friends and their families Rev. Louis Sutherland, Albert Gates and Ernest Robinson were returning from Atlanta last weekend. On passing a small lake they saw a 400 pound heifer up to its neck in the mud. They put a tow rope around its neck and hauled it out preventing it from drowning. Mr. Todd says if this is printed in The Mail as a fish story about fishermen trolling for plike and getting a cow it ought to stop Glenn Smith for awhile.

Dearborn Taxes Henry Ford Pays

The City of Dearborn was able to pay some $23,000 in claims and accounts this week, when the deadline for paying taxes without penalty expired on August 20th.

The largest single taxpayer, the Ford Motor Company, paid one-quarter of its city taxes on Monday of this week, and all of its portion of the Fordson School District tax.

When a representative from the Ford Motor Company appeared shortly before 4 p. m. on Monday, the city treasurer, Wm. A. Kaiser, was on hand to meet him. This happens to be an annual affair.

He handed Mr. Kaiser a check for $1,412,031.48. The check represented one-quarter of the city tax and the Fordson School District tax in full. This is not all the local taxes Mr. Ford or the Ford Motor Company pays into the treasurer here.

Mr. Ford personally pays the following taxes. His personal city tax amounts to $175,048.88; of this he has paid one-quarter, or $43,762.22. His taxes in the Henry Ford School District No. 5 amounted this year to $69,294.81; this he has paid in full. His taxes in School District No. 1 were $5,928.19. His taxes in District No. 7 are not yet due and are not known.

The total tax, excluding School District 7, which the Ford Motor Company and Henry Ford personally pays amounts to $2,708,034.74. In round numbers their total taxes per year amount to over $3,000,000, or about 63 per cent of all taxes paid in the city of Dearborn.

Mr. Kaiser stated that tax collections this year were somewhat better than last year at this time. In August of 1933, 25.4% of taxes were collected, while this year the percentage is about 27% collected.

Under the quarter payment plan, stated Mr. Kaiser, anyone may pay one-quarter of his taxes (before Aug. 20) and another quarter in December and so on, until the full amount is paid, and this without penalty or interest.—Dearborn Press.

Democrats Point Out Historical Error In Mail—Ask Correction

Old timers along "political row" in Plymouth have caught the Plymouth Mail up on some of its local historical data published in last week's issue.

It was said in The Mail that the Conner hardware store for long past forty years had been the Democratic headquarters of Plymouth.

It was not forty years at all. It should have been something like seventy years ago, back to the time when Democrats were Democrats and Republicans were Whigs.

William Conner who probably has voted the Democratic ticket more consistently than any other Democrat in Michigan, states that his store, owned by his father long before the Rebellion, has been "Democratic" longer than most of the pioneers in Plymouth can remember.

When the big banner announcing the Fitzgerald-for-governor headquarters almost across the street from the Conner hardware was strung up, some of the local Democrats regarded it as an invasion upon what they declare is their sacred and inherited rights. They looked at it, turned around and looked at it again.

One Democrat said to another Democrat—"funny about politics these days. Some of these Republicans won't even keep on the street where they belong, but come right over here where we've been almost since the - days of Andy Jackson. Maybe they think they're going to get some Democratic votes. Maybe we are thinking they won't."

At any rate the left side of the street, going north is still Democratic except for Smith's place. The east side of the street has gone Republican if a sign means anything.

Let's Be Happy!

BY LAWRENCE HAWTHORNE

I like to turn men's thoughts away From struggle and from strife, And have them contemplate with me The happy things of life.

I like to lead them down the paths Of Nature's wonderland, Where beauty, cheer and peace of mind Are found on every hand.

It seems to me that life should bring More happiness and fun— More satisfaction and content With every setting sun; It seems to me that we should find Release from daily care, And spend more time where friendly joys Are waiting everywhere.

So many things men think they need, And slave so long to gain, Bring only misery and loss And bitterness and pain!

So many things that fill our lives With drudgery and toil Are such a foolish price to pay For all the fun they spoil!

And so, I like to turn men's thoughts, As often as I may, To things that help them to forget The burdens of the day;

I like to guide their weary steps Where friendliness and cheer Will drive discouragement away, And bring contentment near.

Ask Removal Of Justice Fiedler

Removal from office of Justice of the Peace, William J. Fiedler, Taylor Township, was asked of Governor William A. Comstock today by John Torsky, 4870 Ogden ave., through the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Fiedler stated Wednesday that the entire matter was a political conspiracy. "Friends of Numbers, Mrs. Hill and Torsky have been attempting to place slot machines in the township for some time."

Justice Fiedler said, "I told them that I would not stand for it and now they are retaliating with this ballyhoo. It's just politics. Justice Fiedler also denied being drunk and reiterated his charges that Torsky had violated the traffic law by failing to stop at Telegraph Road and the Wabash-R. R. cutoff. "Torsky became abusive when I told him that he should have stopped at the intersection and threatened to make hamburger out of me. I then drew my gun and pointed it at him in self protection." Justice Fiedler added.

In his petition to the governor Torsky charges Justice Fiedler with humiliating treatment and drunkenness. In an affidavit he also accuses Fiedler with mis-use of the gun, false arrest, and great bodily harm. He also states that at the time of his arrest, Fiedler so frightened and unnerved his wife, Mary, and his three year old daughter, Olga May, that they both had to undergo care of a doctor. Mrs. Torsky is about to become a mother.

Fiedler holds court at his office at Ecorse and Telegraph Roads, Taylor Township has a population of approximately 2,000. It consists mostly of scattered residential sections and has no large communities.—Dearborn Press.

New Game Laws Soon Ready For Nimrods

For the first time it will carry illustrations. A full page is devoted to pictures of three upland gamebirds on which shooting is permitted in season, the ruffed grouse, sharp-tailed grouse and prairie partridge. Another page has illustrations of protected ducks, the buffhead, ruddy duck and woodcock, to aid hunters in their identification.

A page is reserved especially for the deer hunter, showing a skeleton drawing of a buck and the vital heart area. This picture is to aid the hunter in getting his deer and reduce the chances of leaving wounded animals in the woods.

On the back cover is a half-tone cut of the famous "doe and fawn" picture under the caption "Look Before You Shoot." The digest contains all the latest hunting regulations, including the federal regulations on migratory waterfowl. They are now in the hands of the printer and are expected to be ready for distribution within a fortnight.

Mrs. Voorhies On State Committee

Announcement has just been made of the selection of Mrs. Paul Voorhies of Detroit, former well known resident of Plymouth, and wife of former Attorney General Paul W. Voorhies, as one of the 200 prominent women of Wayne county on the Fitzgerald-for-governor women's executive committee.

As far as her many friends in Plymouth recall, Mrs. Voorhies has never before been active in behalf of any candidate. Her selection on the Fitzgerald-for-governor committee was announced in some of the Detroit papers Sunday.

The present Republican primary campaign has all brought to Plymouth its first political headquarters, as announced in the last issue of The Mail. The Fitzgerald-for-governor organization has rented the large store space in the Fisher building and has employed Leonard Murphy to run it.

Plymouth Folks Visitors At Fair

Hundreds of Plymouth residents visited the Northville-Wayne County fair last week at Northville and thoroughly enjoyed the many interesting events that had been arranged.

Plymouth day as usual brought forth a big crowd from this city to the fair. While the stores did not close as in past years, there were few people on the streets during the afternoon, most of them having gone over to the fair.

The Ford automobile award was made Saturday night in the presence of a crowd that was near 5,000. Albert Earhart, a worker in the Ford plant at Northville, his wife and three little children, had the number that enabled them to drive away the machine.

Secretary Floyd Northrop stated yesterday that with the premium money that had been received from the state, the association would break about even on the fair. There will be a sufficient amount to pay all bills, he believes.

City Hall Open House Set For September 8th

The committee making arrangements for the public showing of the remodeled City Hall has set September 8th as the day for this showing. The building will be open for inspection by the public from 1:00 in the afternoon until such time in the evening as the festivities are completed. Plans for a program and entertainment for Saturday evening are being arranged and the entire program will be announced in next week's paper.

Every citizen is invited to attend the open house and make a thorough inspection of the building. Unless one has followed the changes which have been made, everyone should be greatly surprised to see how the building has been modernized.

In the old building the offices in which most of the clerical work was done were located on the dark side of the building with natural light and poor ventilation. Now all offices have been re-located on the light side of the building and direct outside light and ventilation have been provided. There have been three offices provided on the second floor in the space formerly used for storage. These offices are occupied by the CERA Work Division officials, the CERA Welfare officials and the third office is used by the engineering staff of the City.

The greatest change in the entire building has been made in the Commission room, which room has been re-plastered, a curved plaster ceiling erected and larger windows in the front of the building installed. Murals are being painted on each end wall of the Commission Room. The one on the south end being practically completed at the present time and the other mural to be well along toward completion at the time of the showing. Another feature on the second floor is the Assembly Room, which has been finished off and will be used at the discretion of the City Commission. This room will probably be used for meetings of civic organizations and for Boy Scout and other social activities for the younger boys of the City. Definite plans for the use of this room have not as yet been completed.

The basement of the City Hall has been improved to include a fireproof storage vault for official records which must be kept for many years, also a milk testing laboratory and much improved cell blocks. The cell block has been provided with modern sanitary plumbing fixtures, including a shower bath and a drinking fountain. These conveniences will be at the disposal of the transients stopping in the jail over night, as well as for the City prisoners confined in jail. Very few cities the size of Plymouth can boast of better jail facilities.

Two public toilets have been provided in the City Hall, one in the basement for men, and the other on the second floor for women. A new re-inforced concrete vault was built in the Treasurer's office in which the current records are kept.

Every resident of the City and of the surrounding area is invited to attend the public showing. Saturday, September 8th.

NEWBURG METHODIST CHURCH

F. Merle Townsend, Pastor. The religion of Jesus Christ is prominently a social gospel. One of the outstanding teachings of our Master is that our love for God is shown in our love toward our fellowman. We are not saved for self alone, but for the service we can render to others. Labor Sunday has come to have a vital social significance to the churches in the past few years. Not always has the church of Jesus Christ been on the side of the poor and the oppressed but Jesus always was.

Mr. Townsend will preach Sunday morning on the theme "Labor's Debt to Christ," considering especially Jesus' invitation "Come unto me, all you who toil and are burdened, and I will let you rest." 10 a. m. Church worship. 11 a. m. Sunday School.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Mind" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, August 26.

Among the Bible citations was this passage (Romans 12:2): "And be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God."

Correlative passages read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following (p. 128): "A knowledge of the Science of being develops the latent abilities and possibilities of man. It extends the atmosphere of thought, giving mortals access to broader and higher realms. It raises the thinker into his native air of insight and perspicacity."

For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul? Whosoever therefore shall be ashamed of me and of my words in this adulterous and sinful generation; of him also shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he cometh in the glory of his father with the holy angels. Mark 9:36-37:38.

Therefore be ye also ready; for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh. Matthew 24:44.

OBITUARIES

CHRISTIAN DREWS

A resident of Plymouth for the past 42 years, Christ Drews was born on May 27th of the year 1858 at Warren, Province Mecklenburg-Schwerin, Germany. At Annshagen he was confirmed in his Lutheran faith and also joined in holy wedlock with Caroline Witt with whom it had for the past few years been his ardent hope to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their union, next October. But the gracious Lord had other, better plans for him.

Becoming ill about a year ago, Mr. Drews never really knew what ailed him, until last winter when an examination proved that he was afflicted by a malady which is incurable for medical science today. With beautiful Christian faith and resignation he thereupon set about the task of putting his affairs in order against the day of his departure. With pain often racking his body and the approaching end ever imminent in this thoughts of the future it was an inspiring sight to behold his cheerfulness and rugged stamina as he went about his work and his daily tasks, whistling and singing. Only one thing gave him that courage, and that was an unusual, simple, but tenacious faith in the Word and promises of His Lord Jesus, whom he beheld in his heart.

At 7:30 in the morning he yielded up his faithful spirit to a faithful God, whose angels he had seen before they had ever come to take him to his heavenly Rest. We know that he who has promised is also a Lord who can and will perform, when He speaks: "Come unto me all ye that labor and I will give you rest."

He was borne to his final earthly resting place at Riverside after a funeral, conducted at the St. Peter's Lutheran Church, last Monday afternoon. His pastor and friend with whom he had spent many an hour in the past year, reviving scenes out of his youth, and preparing for his peaceful death, spoke briefly on the words found in Luke 2:29:30: "Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, according to thy word; for mine eyes have seen thy salvation."

Christ Drews leaves to mourn him his faithful wife, who with tenderness and great solicitude attended to his every wish during his last year on earth, three sons who were with their father at his death, Frederick, Edward and Albert, and nine grandchildren, beside a great number of old friends and cronies who will ever remember his humility and his great faith and his cheerful courage.
