

Workmen Taking John Patterson Residence Down

Site Is Being Rapidly Cleared For New Post-office Building

Government Expects To Start Work On New Structure By The First Of Next Month

Following strictly to schedule as announced immediately after the purchase of the John H. Patterson property on Penniman avenue for a new postoffice site, the house that for years was regarded as one of the most beautiful in Plymouth is being demolished and will be entirely removed from the present site before December 1.

Through the terms of the sale, the material in the garage that was taken down three weeks ago and that will come out of the house, is retained by Mr. Patterson. The government requires that the house be down and entirely removed by the last day of the present month.

Mr. Patterson is removing the material to the Idyl Wild golf course where he plans to erect a residence in the spring.

From information that can be secured, the government hopes to start the erection of the new postoffice building before the first of the year. The plan can be carried out, it will provide employment for many Plymouth workmen.

The $10,000 for the site has been paid and this will leave between $60,000 and $70,000 for the new building. When completed, Plymouth will have one of the most attractive federal buildings in a city of its size in the country.

Miss Alice Crannell And Elton Casady Married October 26

The marriage of Miss Alice Crannell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Crannell of Olivet and Elton Casady, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Casady of Fowlerville, was quietly performed on Friday, October 26, in the Lutheran church at Lansing with Rev. Madison, the pastor officiating.

They were attended by their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Joslin of Lansing.

The happy couple left immediately for Chicago, where they visited a Century of Progress.

Mrs. Casady, who has been the first grade teacher in the Central school of Plymouth the past three years, will continue through the school year. She has made many friends, while here who wish she and Mr. Casady the best of everything, health, happiness and a long, contented wedded life.

On Thursday evening, November 1, Miss Luella Mae Kees honored Mrs. Elton Casady (Alice Crannell) with a "miscellaneous" shower and announcement party at the home of Mrs. Margaret Rank on Penniman avenue.

Twelve guests were present. Bride was enjoyed during the evening with Miss Marguerite Henry winning first honors and Mrs. Nancy Holliday second honors. A dainty lunch followed with the color scheme in rose and white. Each table was centered with chrysanthemums of the same colors with a note attached announcing the marriage of Miss Crannell and Mr. Casady.

Commission Turns Down Damage Claim

The law is the law and no matter how much members of the city commission would like to do something to favor somebody, it was made quite clear Monday night that they did not intend to set any precedent that might later lead to litigation. It all came about when a claim was presented for damages done to an automobile by a falling limb. The law plainly states that a municipality is not responsible for such damage. City Attorney Ora Emswiler advised members of the commission. While some of the members stated that they would like to see the claim settled, they declared that it was not their intention to do something that the law did not sanction or that might later lead to other claims being presented and paid because this one had been. The claim was turned down by the unanimous vote of the commission.

Call Meeting Of Local Builders

A call has been issued in the names of the Board of Directors of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and of Russell Roe, acting chairman of the Plymouth committee cooperating with the Federal Housing Administration, urging everyone interested in the building and allied industries to attend a meeting in the chamber of commerce office at 7:30 Monday evening, November 12th. This includes building supply dealers, paint and hardware dealers, general heating and plumbing, and electrical contractors, carpenters, brick masons, plasterers, in fact everyone engaged in selling or erecting materials or fixtures entering into the construction or repair of residential and commercial structures. Important plans will be discussed for local cooperation with the publicity program prepared by the federal housing administration.

Outstanding Victors in Tuesday's Election

HON. GEORGE DONDERO He was an easy victor in his race for re-election to congress.

HON. A. H. VANDENBERG By winning re-election to the United States senate, he becomes the new national Republican leader.

HON. FRANK D. FITZGERALD Elected Governor of Michigan by an overwhelming vote in the face of great odds.

Man Who Planned City Hall Visits It

Forty-five years ago the 23rd of September a contract was signed between the Village of Plymouth and W. C. Malcomson, Architect of Detroit, for the construction of the present City Hall, which was at that time designated as "a building for Village purposes." Tuesday of this week Mr. W. C. Malcomson, the architect who signed the above mentioned contract forty-five years ago, paid a visit to the remodeled City Hall. He is now a member of the firm of Malcomson, Higginbotham and Trout, one of the best firms of architects in Detroit.

Mr. Malcomson has been reading in the Detroit newspapers about the remodeling being done under the CERA program and was very much interested in seeing what changes had been made. He inspected the condition of the old building. He looked over the structure from the basement to the roof and expressed complete satisfaction with the condition of the masonry foundation, walls and slate roof, and expressed the opinion that the structure would be good for another forty-five years.

Mr. Malcomson recalled some of the interesting incidents which occurred during the construction of the building and mentioned many of the older residents of the community who were so vitally interested in the project. He stated that all of the stone work in the building was gathered from the fields surrounding Plymouth and was cut and shaped with hand tools by local stone workers.

Mr. Malcomson expressed complete satisfaction with the remodeled City Hall and stated that he felt that the City had utilized the space very advantageously and that the building now is equal to any of the modern structures of this type. While in the city he called on William Connor, whose father was Village President at the time the contract was signed and whose name appears on the document. City officials regret very much that a special invitation was not sent to Mr. Malcomson at the time the remodeled City Hall was formally opened to the public.

To Erect Monument In Honor Of Soldiers

When Harry Mumby in behalf of the Ex-Service Men's club requested the city commission Monday evening for authority to erect a monument in one of the parks in honor of the Plymouth boys who fought in the World War, Mayor Robinson and other city commissioners readily consented to the plan. To cooperate with the veterans, Mayor Robinson appointed a committee consisting of Commissioners Oliver Goldsmith, John Henderson and Arthur Blunk. The Service men have been given a 15 ton boulder that was removed at the Phoenix grade separation by the county road workers recently. It would be suitably set and the names of all local service men carved on one side of it. The work will probably be done sometime next spring.

Man Who Planned Famous Writer Is Club Speaker

At their meeting on Thursday, Nov. 1st the Woman's Club of Plymouth enjoyed the rare treat of an afternoon with one of the outstanding writers of this generation when Miss Helen Hull of New York City came as their guest of honor. To many in the audience it also meant renewing the acquaintance of a dearly beloved friend of many years' standing and the charming and informal manner in which Miss Hull presented her subject, "New Outlooks and New Appraisals in Fiction," endeared her to every one present, the only regret being that she could not have spoken for a much longer time.

At the close of her talk, Miss Hull's statement that the later novels place especial emphasis on character opened up a new trend of thought and those who have not already read a number of her splendid works of fiction will be inspired to do so at the earliest opportunity for as she pointed out, it is no longer "considered wicked" to read fiction but, on the contrary if the right books are chosen, they are most educational from many points of view. The author's latest book, "Morning Shows the Day," which came out late last month, expresses character very strongly.

Very splendid music was furnished as part of the program by a vocal trio composed of Mrs. Wm. McAllister, Mrs. Roderick Cassidy and Mrs. Malcolm Cutler, who presented two most enjoyable solos by Mrs. Sterling Eaton. During the serving of a dainty tea, which followed the program, several members of the high school orchestra, presented by Miss Ford, furnished a most delightful concert.

Mr. Moon's committee was assisted by the members of the committees for Oct. 19th, Nov. 16th and Dec. 7th. On November 16th, the club will observe Thanksgiving with Dr. Hurst, Psychiatrist of the Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, as speaker for the day.

Memorial Service Planned For Sunday By Polar Bear Assn.

Plymouth World war veterans have been advised that a full military service in honor of the veterans who died when the Polar Bears invaded northern Russia will be held in the White Chapel Memorial Cemetery in Detroit at 10:30 o'clock Sunday, Armistice Day. It will be recalled that Lieutenant Charles F. Chappell of Plymouth was one of the men who gave his life to his country on the well dressed woman will be returned to America and buried in the White Chapel Memorial Cemetery with other veterans early in September. Many from Plymouth plan to attend the services.

Dave Galin Back From Virginia

After completing one of the largest anniversary sales ever held at the Plymouth Purity market, the proprietor, David Galin, sought little peace and quiet by making a short visit with his brother-in-law in Huntington, W. Virginia. Mr. Galin stated before he left that each year people realize more and more the value of his anniversary sales and that the anniversary year was by far the best he had ever held. Mrs. Galin accompanied him on the trip. They left here last Saturday morning and returned to Plymouth Wednesday night.

While in Virginia, Mr. Galin spent some time in meat packing houses and found that the quality of meats sold there was not equal to that found here at the same comparative prices. He stated that meats sold in Plymouth of high quality were much cheaper than those in that vicinity. Mr. Galin said the trip was most enjoyable but that he had a much better time staying right in Plymouth and taking care of his customers as he does.

Voters League Hear Amendment Talks

The meeting held Monday Nov. 5, in the Community Room of the city hall, by the Plymouth branch of the League of Women Voters was well attended by a group of women who availed themselves of a fine opportunity of learning more of the Amendments which were voted on Nov. 6th.

Ford Brooks presented a very fine argument against Amendment 5. Arguments against the gas and weight tax amendments were given on three different angles. Supt. George Smith gave a most interesting talk on the effect their passage would have on the schools of Michigan.

L. P. Coochingham spoke against these amendments with reference to Municipalities. Mr. McKenna of the State Highway department quoted statistics showing the injuries which would result to the fine road system of Michigan if these amendments were passed. Mrs. Whipple has given a huge amount of her time to the study of all material on the Amendments and can always give an unbiased discussion for both sides. Every angle for and against has been given on this topic in the two meetings the League held prior to Election Day.

Plymouth Gives Governor-Elect Fitzgerald A Two To One Vote—Republicans Lead Strong Here

Steel Frame Is Up For New Ford Newburg Plant

Expect Place Will Be In Operation Early In The New Year

Henry Ford States Company Plans To Build A Millions Cars During The Forthcoming Year

The steel frame work for the new Ford factory being erected on the north side of the new dam at Newburg has been completed during the present week and workmen expect to start on the wall immediately.

The factory, which will be large enough to house a plant that will provide employment for some 20 to 25 workers, will be as modern and so complete as all Ford factories in this locality.

The development is also a part of the tremendous expansion program that Mr. Ford has announced for the ensuing year. A few days ago he stated that his company expected to build a million cars during 1935 and already there has been plenty of evidence about here as to his intention of carrying out his statement.

"Our experience during the last six months and what we see in the future tells us a year of improved business is ahead," said Mr. Ford the other day.

When asked whether 1935 will end the depression, Ford replied:

"Why the depression would be over for the whole country very soon if American industrialists would just forget the alphabet schemes and take hold of their industries and run them with good sound American business sense."

"They should take hold of their country, too, in the same way and run it with good sound American common sense."

The Ford Motor Company has already passed the 600,000 mark in production this year, officials state.

Belief business conditions had improved sufficiently to warrant preparations for a great sales year in 1935 was likewise expressed by Ford managers, gathered at Dearborn from all over the country.

July 19 the 22,000,000th Ford ran off the assembly line. Of this number 15,000,000 were Model T's and slightly more than a million were V-8's.

In 1930 officials announced 1,485,000 cars were produced.

Announcement of next year's production plans comes two months after Ford stated he was spending more than $18,000,000 in construction of a steel plant at Dearborn "to show confidence in President Roosevelt."

"I am for President Roosevelt, have confidence in his ability to lift us out of the depression and intend to support him for a second term," Ford said.

John Haggerty Is Off The Road Board

While Republicans Win High State Offices, The Democrats Win Most Of Wayne Co. Places

By a two to one vote, the electors of Plymouth Tuesday showed their faith in the Republican candidates for high state offices, giving to Governor-elect Frank D. Fitzgerald a better than two to one vote for the governorship.

To John S. Haggerty, Republican candidate for re-election to the county road commission, it gave the highest vote of any man on either ticket. But unlike Mr. Fitzgerald, the veteran county road commissioner was unable to overcome the lead of his Democratic opponent and went down to defeat. It was the Detroit vote that carried P. M. Schoenherr, the Democratic candidate, to victory.

His election gives to the Democrats elected all of the officials in Wayne county, with one exception, Judge Edward Command was re-named probate judge.

While the Republicans elected most of the state officers, the Democrats elected all of the officials in Wayne county, with one exception, Judge Edward Command was re-named probate judge.

Church Wedding For Miss Irene Campbell And Joseph A. Smith

The wedding of Miss Irene Elizabeth Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Campbell of Antrim Center Road, Plymouth, and Joseph A. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith of Utica, New York, was solemnized on Saturday evening, November 3, at eight o'clock in the First Presbyterian church of Plymouth, the Rev. Joseph A. Smith, pastor, performing the ceremony in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

Palms and garden flowers formed the background for the wedding party. The bride was lovely in a gown of ivory satin with ivory lace veil. She wore a corsage. Her sister, Doris, as bridesmaid, was gowned in pale green crepe with white accessories. She carried pink roses. Dr. Howard Smith a cousin of the groom was best man.

Miss Hanna Strasen played "Who Sings on Sweet" by Sam-Souci followed by Lohengrin's Wedding March when the bridal party took their places, afterward playing Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Center Street immediately following the ceremony with more than fifty relatives and friends present.

The happy couple left that evening for Dearborn, where they will make their future home. The bride chose an ensemble of blue for her going away costume.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have the best wishes of a host of friends and hope that they will enjoy a long, contented wedded life.

The out of town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Charles Simms, son, Harold and daughter, Marion, Mr. and Mrs. William Simms, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Landau, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Henrich and daughter, Rosemary, Mrs. Charles Campbell and daughter, Elva, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Marvin, Albert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McSwaney of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Simms, Mr. and Mrs. O. Ford of Dearborn, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Ruhlig and sons, Donald and Lester of Dexter, the Misses Vera and Violet Yeoman of Pinckney.

City Officials Are Given Thanks By D.A.R.

In appreciation of the courtesy extended by Mayor George Robinson and other members of the city commission in assisting the members of the D.A.R. to plant a Washington memorial elm in Kellogg park, the local D.A.R. sent to the city officials a letter of thanks. The message was read into the city records at the session of the city commission Monday evening. The tree was recently dedicated by the D.A.R. It stands on the west side of Kellogg park.

THE ELECTION RETURNS

Both Democrats and Republicans can find comfort in the results of the election on Tuesday. The out-state victory of the Democratic party gives evidence of the country's belief in all the things that President Roosevelt is trying to do to help humanity. The voters let it be known clearly and distinctly that they have no intention of bringing to an end his efforts to set America on an even keel.

In Michigan the victory of Hon. Frank D. Fitzgerald for governor and the re-election of Senator Arthur Vandenberg to the United States senate can be based upon two things: first, the belief of the people in these two men. Senator Vandenberg has worked diligently for what he believed was for the good of the nation. In state affairs Mr. Fitzgerald's courtesy, fairness and willingness in carrying on the duties of his office had much to do with his victory. Coupled with the favorable attitude of the public to the work of a splendid public official, came also the resentment of the people for the kind of administration those that were swept into office by the landslide two years ago in this state, have given the state. In view of the fact that the country at large voted as it did, the victory of Michigan Republicanism can be to a certain extent be placed squarely upon the shoulders of those Democrats who were given an opportunity two years ago and failed in the trust given them.

The election results open wide the door for great political futures for both Senator Vandenberg and Governor-elect Fitzgerald.

No one can dispute the fact that the political trend of the country at this time is of such a nature the Senator Vandenberg may become a presidential candidate two years from now—and for Mr. Fitzgerald if he conducts the office of governorship as successfully as he has all of the past positions he has filled, there are many long years of public service in high places ahead for him. We predict that Mr. Fitzgerald will give to the people of Michigan the kind of administration that will result in this very thing. We cannot refrain from extending to Senator Vandenberg, Governor-elect Fitzgerald and all the other successful candidates our very best wishes for the future—and may it all lead to higher places for them and better conditions for our people.

A GOOD SELECTION

Michigan has for many years had reason to be proud of its conservation department. Organized by former Governor Groesbeck, the department has made remarkable progress in the development during the last dozen years or so of the resources of the state. Upon the death recently of the director of the department, it became a duty of the conservation commission to select a new director. They named to the position E. J. Hoffmaster, who has served as superintendent of the state park system since the creation of the state parks by Alex Groesbeck. Mr. Hoffmaster was Mr. Groesbeck's selection for this important place. Everyone knows how much the state park system means to Michigan. They can thank Mr. Hoffmaster to a very large extent for its development. He will make good as director of the conservation department. He is the right type and he thoroughly knows conservation problems.

During the 12 years Hoffmaster was head of the Parks Division, a system of 72 sites was acquired and 53 parks were brought under administration and opened for public use. The other sites are either being developed or are projected for development. This chain of state parks ranks among the largest in the country.

Hoffmaster was appointed superintendent of parks in 1922. There were few state parks at that time and the attendance annually totaled only 200,000. Last year approximately 9,000,000 persons visited Michigan's state parks and it is expected this year's total will equal or exceed that figure.

The new director is a native of Pennsylvania, having been born on a farm near Cowan Dec. 6, 1892. He came to Michigan in 1913 to work his way through Michigan State College, graduating in 1918. In July of that year he enlisted in the infantry and was transferred to the field artillery and commissioned a second lieutenant after studying at the Officers' Training School, Camp Taylor, Ky. Shortly following receipt of the commission the mistake was signed.

Before his appointment as head of state parks, Hoffmaster held positions with the Detroit Parks and Boulevards department. The preservation of free use of the parks for the public was one of his outstanding achievements while in the Parks Division. He is married, has a daughter, 10, and a son, seven.

JOBS FOR BOYS

Walter B. Pitkin, friendly counsellor of youth and author of "Life Begins at Forty," gives some practical suggestions for boys and girls in search of careers in the current Rotarian Magazine. Following intensive study and research, he recommends the following supposedly over-crowded fields as worthy of investigation:

The Law. Many experts believe that there are reasonably good opportunities for (a) general lawyers in county seats and small towns; (b) high-grade trial lawyers; (c) lawyers who understand and can interpret clients' rights and duties in connection with the new industrial-social order and the regulation of business and industry; and (d) patent lawyers. But no thorough survey of opportunities in the law has ever been made. Architecture. Architects who are trained in design and engineering will soon be wanted in several countries for mass housing. Already the federal housing project in the United States opens up opportunities for the design and building of low-cost homes. Home owners, especially in the more prosperous small communities, will soon seek the services of architects competent not only to design but to supervise construction and financing of new quarters.

Medicine. There are probably many openings for general physicians in small towns and rural districts. Doctors are now wanted, for instance, in rural Maine, and in several small towns of Vermont, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey. There will soon be fine opportunities for high-grade young doctors to establish group medical service all over the country. At first, such progressive young physicians will be strongly opposed by orthodox members of the profession. Nevertheless, low-cost medical care financed cooperatively has already made remarkable headway notably in some parts of the Middle West and in California.

Veterinarians. This field is not over-crowded. There are fine opportunities for veterinarians who can not only work with livestock but also on public health problems. Young Americans should look for openings in regions most thickly populated with livestock, with the possible exception of Eastern metropolitan regions—notably Long Island, New York, and New Jersey.

Danger Zones. Young people considering any of the following careers should be warned to investigate them with more than ordinary care before reaching a decision. For reasons too varied and detailed to report here, they seem to offer little promise: landscape architecture, library work, dentistry (at least for the present), journalism, the ministry, the fine arts, professional music, commercial farming on fifty acres or less, aviation, radio, mining engineering, motion picture work.

THE 50th GOVERNORSHIP ELECTION

Michigan elected a governor November 6 for the 50th time in its history as a state, archives of the Department of State show.

Although Michigan has been a sovereign member of the United States for 100 years, records disclose that the territory composing Michigan has been under the executive supervision of a governor for 331 years. The first governor was M. Chauvin, Commander de Chastes and M. de Monts. He was a military control starting in 1603 and he was the first of 25 French-Canadian governors whose regime lasted until 1760 when British-Canadian forces took control.

There were eight different men placed in charge of the territory by the British but during the final years of this administration, Michigan also was declared to be a part of the United States and under the jurisdiction of the Governor of the Northwest Territory. John Graves Simcoe, according to departmental records, was appointed in 1792 as the last British governor while General Arthur St. Clair as Governor of the Northwest Territory took the reins of control in 1787. In 1800 Michigan became a part of the Indiana Territory under General William Henry Harrison as governor.

Five years later Michigan became a separate territory and General William Hull on March 1, 1805 became the first Territorial Governor of Michigan. During the next 30 years there were eight governors and acting governors in charge of the territory.

There is some conflict as to the exact date on which Michigan became a state. Stevens Thompson Mason was inaugurated as first governor of Michigan on Nov. 3, 1835. But the act of Congress admitting Michigan to statehood was not approved by the President until Jan. 26, 1837.

Lieutenant governors, secretaries of state, state treasurers, auditors general, attorneys general and superintendents of public instruction were appointed until 1850 when these offices became elective positions. The office of state land commissioner was listed as a state official and continued as an elective branch of the state government from 1851 to 1914.

The first highway commissioner was appointed in 1905. In 1913 this office was changed so that the highway commissioner was elected.

The state records show that since Governor Robert McClelland resigned in March 1853 to become Secretary of the Interior of the United States, every governor has served out the terms for which they were elected. Twice before that time, two other governors resigned to take seats in the United States senate to which they had been elected.

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

The picture of Washtenaw County supervisors striving to solve welfare problems is most interesting. First it must be remembered that the majority of these supervisors are farmers, successful farmers, men who have saved and who believe in the principles of rugged individualism.

Then consider some of their problems: the welfare recipient of wood for fuel who refused to pile wood delivered to his home; the farm hands who refuse to consider offers of a dollar a day and board; the man who refused to accept $8 a week and a gift of two boxes, three quarts of milk daily for work on garbage collecting trucks; the man who refused to assist at a gas station while the keeper went hunting, because he himself wanted to hunt; the man who tried to exchange his grocery order for beer. These and other similar cases have occupied the attention of supervisors and tried their judgment during their entire session.

They want to do the right thing, but they aren't quite sure just what that thing is. What would you do?—George Hand in The Ypsilanti Press.

IT'S GREAT TO BE HERE!

There are few places in the United States that can excel in scenic beauty or delightful climatic conditions a normal Michigan October. This year the month has lived up to its reputation until the past week-end when the tenth month, through the last falling leaves, decidedly showed its teeth and gave a taste of its possibilities. During the squalls of Saturday, snow occasionally showed through the falling rain and the temperature dropped rapidly. During the early hours of Monday morning, snow fell in sufficient quantities to cover the ground but of course did not stay long, so that those who retired early and slept late were unconscious of the wintry blasts although daylight found a little of the beautiful left in sheltered nooks on roofs and cornices. This little cold spell is probably what is known proverbially as Squaw Winter and will be followed by a week of the hazy bright days of an Indian summer that are due in November. Despite the drought of the summer, Michigan has been richly blessed as compared with many places; the late rains came in time to greatly increase the crop. The weather thought to be beyond help and while there is a shortage in some lines the general average is good. So now with Thanksgiving month begun let us make the welkin ring with Michigan! My Michigan—Frank Bryer in The Grand Ledge Independent.

"CRACKING DOWN" ON ALLEGAN

The "cracking down" process, made notorious by General Hugh Johnson, former blustering head of the NRA, apparently has reached into state government, especially in that part dealing with relief problems. The whip was cracked in Allegan last week with members of the board of supervisors being ordered to appropriate $53,000 for the use of the local state organization. For failure to appropriate this amount the board was threatened with withdrawal of all state aid from Allegan county.

The demand and threat was referred to a special board committee and after prolonged argument and consideration that committee recommended that the sum of $3,000 be appropriated, one thousand per month until the first of the year.

When the committee's report was made to the board, the board faced another threat, demanding passage of penalty of withdrawal of aid from all townships, whose supervisors failed to vote approval. Six supervisors voted no. After the vote, the regional director, who appeared on behalf of the state, announced that his threats had been idle ones, a fact that most members of the board already knew.

However, the blackmailing, bullying attitude of that state regional director was one that small unit forms of government do not want from the state, but is one that is becoming typical of both state and national government and is a good example of what is being done by our higher forms of government when it comes in contact with the individual or small governmental unit.—The Allegan News.

A WISE CRACK

It is claimed by prosecuting counsel that the Insull holding firm was a fraud from the start. Apparently, when it came to regulating phony stock issues, Uncle Sam neglected one of his name-sakes.—George Averill in The Birmingham Ecceentric.

This so-called "liquor control" thing makes one writhle. It would be laudable if not serious. There is no control connected with it in any form. But the people wanted a change. They got it.—James Haskins in The Howard City Record.

The higher men climb, the longer their working days. And any young man with a streak of idleness in him may better make up his mind at the beginning that mediocrity will be his lot. Without immense, sustained effort, he will not climb high. And even though fortune or chance were to lift him high, he would not stay there. For to keep at the top is harder almost than to get there. There are no office hours for leaders.—Cardinal Gibbons.

Souvenirs & Joy

BY LAWRENCE HAWTHORNE

Our lives are made of little things
From which our joys we borrow—
Sweet memories of yesterdays,
Bright dreams for each tomorrow;
We cherish many happy thoughts
That bring unending pleasure—
Romantic little souvenirs
Our hearts will always treasure.

A baby's tiny shoes . . . a pool . . .
A party invitation . . .
A garden wall and hollyhocks . . .
A lonely railway station . . .
'Tis things like these that memory
Surrounds with recollections
That grow more precious through the years,
And live in our affections.

A word of praise . . . a sprightly song . . .
An unexpected meeting
With some dear friend of long ago . . .
These things, however fleeting,
Will brighten all the day with cheer;
And when the stars are gleaming,
It is these happy little things
That linger in our dreaming.

Albert Miller On Submarine

Albert Miller, better known as "Red" to his many friends in Plymouth and former Plymouth Mail "devil" who joined the navy some two years ago, is now in the Submarine school at New London, Connecticut. In a letter to The Plymouth Mail, "Red" says: "I arrived here in New London on the 8th of October and started to the Submarine School the twenty-third. The first thing I had to do was to learn the different pressures each compartment could stand while submerged. The Submarine Base, where the school is located is five miles outside the City of New London. There are five submarines on the base for the purpose of training men that are going to school. They are known as R boats. They are not quite as large as the modern V-type boats and not quite so seaworthy. Of course they are safe in all respects or they wouldn't be used for training purposes. While going to school I have to keep a log in a notebook and everything I learn each day. I write in my log, and at the end of the week the instructor gives me a quiz on what I learned during the week. I also have to sketch a cross-section of a submarine putting all compartments, oil tanks, ballast tanks, torpedo tubes and pumps. I was on my drawing about three days. On the twenty-ninth I went out on a submarine for the first time. I went down 181 feet that day. I manned the water manifold. Before I explain anything about the manifold, I forget to state that there are nine different diving stations. I have to be able to observe the health habits of these rabbits, too. The snake failed to tell us his name, so we named it Popeye. The girls are a bit shy because it sticks his tongue out at everybody, but we suppose it doesn't know anybody—it's just a snake. We hope our manager decides to stay. Bill Granger, nephew of Don Granger, spent the week-end at the Granger camp. He is member of the CCC camp located near Pontiac. The 7th grade geography class has been interested in exploring the highlands of Brazil the last week."

Mrs. Arthur Tillotson and Mrs. Alfred Bakewell entertained forty guests last Saturday at a Bunco party honoring Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Tillotson who were showered with gifts for their new home.

Mrs. Sarah Ross was a week-end guest of Mrs. Horton Morrow in Ann Arbor. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Root have moved to Ann Arbor for the winter. They will be found by their friends at 324 Catherine St. Mr. and Mrs. Claude Truesdell are occupying the Henry C. Root home for the winter.

Mrs. Richwine's birthday was celebrated Sunday by the homecoming of her sixteen children and grandchildren. A very delicious dinner prepared by the daughter and daughter-in-laws was served at noon. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Korabacher from Ypsilanti were dinner guests Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Miller Ross' home. Mrs. Sarah Ross was a week-end guest of Mrs. Horton Morrow in Ann Arbor. OBITUARIES

GEORGE CARLOS SEARS
George Carlos Sears who resided at 754 South Main Street, passed away early Sunday morning, October 28th, 1934 at the age of 75 years. He was the husband of the late Oretta Sears, deceased. He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Cora Fisher of Dearborn, Mrs. Grace Saunders of Eloise; and Mrs. Florence Falska of Jackson; and one son, Frank Sears of Kemmer, Wyoming. The body was brought to the Schrader Brothers Funeral Home, from which place funeral services were held Tuesday, October 30th, 1934 at 2 p. m. Interment in Romulus cemetery Rev. P. Ray Norton officiating.

PATCHEN NEWS

The following people were absent from school last week because of illness: Geraldine Stewart, James Leonard and Leona Yester. Leona has had a tonsil and adenoid operation. The girls' 4-H club are planning to have a marshmallow roast at Riverside Park Thursday evening. A dance will be held at the Patchen School, Nov. 16, the proceeds will go to the Patchen PTA. All are welcome. Mrs. McCully, the teacher of the lower grades, is confined to her home because of illness. Mrs. Barker from Belleville is substituting for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Christ Bakewell are the proud parents of baby boy which was born on Halloween Day. Three new pupils have been added to our enrollment list; two rabbits and snake. The rabbits were fortunate enough to have names: Spot and Sonny. We have been able to observe the health habits of these rabbits, too. The snake failed to tell us his name, so we named it Popeye. The girls are a bit shy because it sticks his tongue out at everybody, but we suppose it doesn't know anybody—it's just a snake. We hope our manager decides to stay. AN ANNOUNCEMENT

Banks should be and are being operated upon a conservative basis. A large percentage of deposits are held in cash and invested in Government Securities, with a consequent reduction in interest income.

For this reason, and because interest rates upon sound investments are considerably lower, the rates of interest formerly paid upon deposits are no longer possible and banks in Michigan and elsewhere have been reducing the rates paid.

In the interest of sound banking, the Plymouth United Savings Bank will, commencing December 1, 1934, pay 2% per annum upon savings deposits left 3 months or longer.

We know that our depositors will approve of this action.

WE WANT YOU to Know Banking, too

IT is not enough for us to know banking; we want you to know banking, too.

To carry out this idea, we are going to discuss publicly, now and then, the principles of sound banking. We shall keep a memorandum of some of the more frequent and important questions that our customers ask daily at the officers' desks and the tellers' windows, and answer them in these columns for everybody.

We are going to do this, so that you will understand the careful attention we give to every safe banking rule, in our efforts to provide the utmost possible service and protection for you.

We extend a welcome to all who wish to attend these services. Come and hear the old time gospel.

The story is told of a little boy about ten years old was once bitten by his father to do some work in the field. He went as he was told, but took little pains about it, and made very slow progress in his task. By and by his father called to him very kindly and said: "Willie, can you tell me how much you cost me since you have been born?" The father waited a while, and then said that he reckoned he had "cost him a hundred pounds."

The lad opened his eyes and wondered at the expense he had been. He seemed to see the hundred sovereigns all glittering before him, and in his heart determined to repay his father by doing all he could to please him. The reproof sank deeper into his heart than a hundred stripes. When I read the story it occurred to me: "What have I cost my Saviour?" Then I remembered the words, yet are not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot."

CHURCH OF THE OPEN DOOR

Independent Baptist

You are heartily welcomed to visit all of our services. We still meet at our temporary headquarters at 164 N. Main St. Our pastor Richard Neale, now resides at 1900 West Ann Arbor St.

On Sunday Pastor Neale will preach both morning and evening. Two new series of sermons are being started. In the morning we commence to study, "The sermon on the Mount, and its Message for Today." Do you long for comfort, hope, peace and a living faith? If so, bring your Bible and study Matthew's Chapters 5-7, with us on Sunday mornings.

At 7:30 p. m. the pastor preaches on "David and Goliath, or, God's Way to Victory."

Sunday school meets at 11:15 a. m.

On Friday evenings the young people meet at 7:30. Invite some young friend of yours and visit us. You will feel our welcome.

Prayer and Praise services are held at 7:30 every Wednesday evening. Our aim is to be by God's grace "a church with the message that satisfies." Come and see!

NEWBURG

Plans are well under way for the celebration of the 100th anniversary, December 1 and 2, of the organization of the Newburg M. E. church. The celebration will open with a community co-operative dinner at 1 o'clock, Saturday, December 1, to which all are invited. This includes the present residents and all former residents and friends of the community and the church. Two services, a morning and afternoon, are planned for Sunday, December 2.

The hard time and box social held at the L.A.S. hall Friday evening of last week was certainly a success. Mrs. Edwin Norris and James McAbb drew prizes for their costumes and Mrs. Robert Davies for the most attractive box.

Those who did not attend the church service Sunday evening, missed a real treat, a musical program. Next Sunday evening and see for your self, that it is good to be there.

The Epworth League gathered cans of fruit and vegetables for the Chelsea Home for Old People, last week.

Johannie Green entertained 12 boys and girls at a Halloween party at his home Wednesday evening from 7 to 9.

Doris Ryder has been on the sick list for the past few days.

Jap Storm Area

The Plymouth Mall during the past few days has been the recipient of a number of intensely interesting Japanese and Chinese papers that have been sent to this office by Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bennett, who went to Japan some weeks ago as delegates from Michigan to the International Red Cross convention.

Probably the most interesting feature of some of the newspapers sent are photographic views of the terrific damage done by the storm that swept a portion of Japan a few weeks ago. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett traveled over a large portion of the stricken country where wind and rain not only destroyed thousands of buildings, but killed hundreds of people.

Some of the pictures in one of the newspapers shows large steamers that were carried hundreds of feet inland and left high and dry on the shore after the storm abated.

Some of the papers sent are printed in English, but the newspaper showing the greatest number of views, is strictly Japanese publication. One paper sent from Peiping, China, printed in English, is sold for ten cents a copy. It carried United Press dispatches from America as well as from the famous European newspaper service known as the Reuter service.

This news service provides practically all of the papers of Europe, Asia, Africa, and Australia with the news dispatches of the world.

One article told of a special tax that had been levied by China on all foreign merchants doing business in Canton. If this special tax was not paid, the certain duty was boycotted.

It is interesting to note also that at the motion picture theaters in Peiping, such pictures as "Al Jolson in 'Hallelujah, I'm a Tramp'" "Carole Lombard in a 'Brief Moment,'" "Frank Buck's 'Wild Cargo,'" and Barbara Stanwyck in "Ever in My Heart," were being shown.

Advertisements in the newspapers were illustrated with the same class of advertising illustrations that are used in the Plymouth Mall and other American newspapers, although some of them have long passed out of general use in this country.

The Peiping Chronicle carried the following news article pertaining to the visit of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett to that city in company with Dr. James Inches of Detroit:

Mr. Charles H. Bennett, President of the Daisy Manufacturing Company in Plymouth, Michigan, and Mrs. Bennett and Dr. James W. Inches for 10 years Police Commissioner of Detroit, Michigan, arrived here from Japan yesterday morning for a short sight-seeing trip. Mrs. Bennett and Dr. Inches are members of the American delegation to the International Red Cross Convention to be held in Tokyo on Oct-

Mr. MERCHANT:

3,299 POTENTIAL BUYERS—

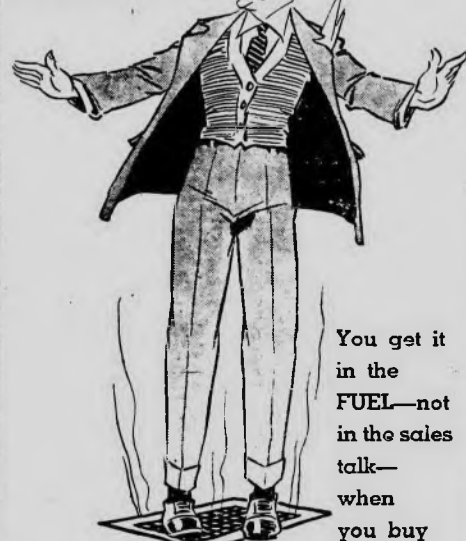

are you turning them away from your store?

A test was made recently in Ann Arbor to determine how effective good lighting was in attracting customers. A store was chosen for the experiment, and the number of people attracted to its windows in one week—while the old window lighting was still being used—was carefully counted and the figure recorded.

Then improved window lighting was put in. The number of people attracted to the windows in one week jumped 3,299—over THREE THOUSAND potential buyers who had not looked in the windows the week before. Can you afford to pass up this many prospects week after week?

Hunters Plan Trip To North

Many Plymouth deer hunters are making plans to leave for their favorite spots in the north early next week. Every year local sportsmen have well represented this locality and usually there are some beautiful specimens bagged by some of the marksmen.

Parties who have their plans well under way are Frank Rambo, Floyd Kehrl, Dr. Paul Butz, Dr. E. E. Champe and William Pettinelli who will all go to Eckerman, Michigan, where they have hunted the last few years.

Munising will have two Plymouth groups combing the woods in that vicinity. One consists of Clyde Smith, Beryl Smith, Merritt Rorabacher, Lee Rorabacher, David Bolton and William Rengert. The other will consist of Matt and Russel Powell and Bert McKinney of Rosedale Gardens.

Walter Smith and Jack Smith and Norman Denney are planning on going to Seney, Michigan and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lush are expecting to hunt near Ontonagon. Forrest Gorton and Lon Brockhurst are making plans to hunt near Detour and other parties are still being formed to make the trip to the woods.

Hubert To Be Given Special Govt. Course

At a recent examination conducted by representatives from the Federal Housing Administration, Washington, D. C. in which over 60 applicants participated, J. E. Hubert was selected as one of the two men from Michigan to attend a school of instruction in Washington beginning Nov. 12, 1934. The training is for the purpose of passing on the eligibility of mortgage loans which are to be insured by the government through the National Housing Administration.

Fitzgerald Is G.O.P. Winner

So close is the sheriff's race that even yet the result may be in doubt. Both Henry Behrendt, Republican, and Sheriff Thomas Wilcox are claiming a victory.

Congressman George A. Donaghe won re-election to congress on the Republican ticket by a majority of nearly 10,000. He carried practically all sections of the district, this locality giving him almost as good a vote as it did Mr. Fitzgerald.

Dr. Edward A. Fisher of Dearborn will go back to the state legislature from this district. He easily defeated his Democratic opponent, Mr. Donner of Garden City.

Plymouth was not at all kind to the various amendments. It turned thumbs down on all of them except the one providing for the non-partisan election of the judges. It gave the weight and gas tax amendments terrific opposition.

Republicans elected congressmen in all of the districts in Michigan outside Wayne county. Even Michael Hart, the first Democrat to go to congress from out-state, was defeated by his Saginaw opponent.

Congressman Earl Michener of Adrian defeated Congressman Lehr of Monroe and will return to his old seat in the house of representatives in Washington.

Plymouth township, like the city of Plymouth, was overwhelmingly Republican. The complete votes of the city and township will be found on this page.

It was early Wednesday morning when local election boards completed the count of ballots. It was a much longer job than had been anticipated. The local Democratic committee had challengers in every precinct.

Eugene Orndorff, the Lacy worker who first assumed the task of trying to induce this part of Wayne county to vote for the Democratic standard bearer, was disappointed in the outcome. Mr. Orndorff thought, like hundreds of others, that Mr. Lacy was almost a sure winner.

Local Republicans were not at all backward in expressing their disappointment over the result of the county election. They had hoped that at least some of the candidates for county office would win. The loss of the control of the road commission.

Edward Scully, local Democratic committeeman who arranged the mass meeting here for Frank Picard, the Democratic candidate for United States senator and spent every spare minute of his time working in behalf of his party, did not give up hope for his party's state and national tickets until long after everybody else had conceded the election of Senator Vandenberg and Frank Fitzgerald for governor. In fact Mr. Scully stated as late as today that he hoped they would find some votes along the line that might help make Mr. Picard the senator from this state. Mr. Scully, who has been associated with the state tax administration is not looking forward to the new year with much hope as to his present position.

William Conner's place was the center of most political activities and discussion election day. Both Republicans and Democrats called in at numerous times to discuss the trend of the voting with him—some Republicans even having the nerve to suggest to him that he should vote the Republican ticket.

Our submarines can make an approach on an enemy ship entirely by means of their listening devices, without showing their periscopes, and sink or disable it with torpedoes.
