Directors Buy Trophy—
Pres. Swanson Names
Judges To Pass Upon
Entries In Contest

President Herbert Swanson and the directors of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce Monday announced that they would personally offer a prize for the most attractive Christmas store front decoration in Plymouth. Berg Moore, secretary of the businessmen's organization has already secured the trophy and it is now on display in one of the windows of the The Plymouth Mail office.

While some of the stores have put forth an effort to make the front of their places appear something like Christmas, there are several business places that do not present the same Yuletide spirit that their neighbors do. It is with the idea of making the business streets of Plymouth reflect both day and night the Christmas idea that the directors of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce have offered this prize.

Those who contributed to the fund for the purchase of the trophy are President Herbert Swanson and Directors Roy Crowe, Edward Mills, Roy Fisher and Elton R. Eaton.

The judges who have been selected by President Swanson to make the award are Mayor Geo. F. Robinson, Superintendent of Schools George Smith and Miss Alice Safford.

Rules for the contest follow: Business places only may enter. No private homes are to be judged in this contest. Awards will be made by a committee of five judges. The following percentage will be used by the judges: 25 per cent for that part of the display outside the windows or doorways of the store; 25 per cent for that part of the display inside the windows and doorways of the store; 25 per cent for effectiveness of the display by day and the other 25 per cent for effectiveness of display by night.

All displays will be judged by the committee on Thursday afternoon December 20. The first prize will be suitably engraved with the name of the winner and remain in his possession until the following year when it will again be awarded in the contest to be repeated. Any contestant winning the trophy three times in succession may retain it permanently.

Mr. Moore believes that if the merchants have some incentive to work for that there will be a greater interest in a general decoration of all the business streets than there is without something to work for.

It is especially urged that every business place in Plymouth, whether called upon personally or not, take part in the general decoration scheme. The plan applies to all sections of the city and everyone is asked to participate.

The trophy is made in the form of a scroll with the figure of a woman on top with uplifted arms bearing a torch. The trophy will be lettered "Plymouth Chamber of Commerce Trophy" and underneath in large letters "Festive". There is ample space for the dates and names of annual winners.

Salvation Army Kettles Boiling

The local Salvation Army has the kettles on the streets again to receive donations to help in spreading Christmas cheer in the city to the less fortunate. Donations of canned goods, potatoes or groceries of any kind will be acceptable in helping to make up the baskets of food for the needy. Mr. Dermody and he will be glad to come to your homes at any time. If you know of any families who may need a Christmas basket give the names and address and any information you may have to the Adjutant as soon as possible as all families are investigated. Mr. Dermody has spent twenty years in this work in various parts of the country and he knows just what this time there are a few families who get baskets because of wrong information and some families who need a basket are missed. Therefore the cooperation with the other clubs and proper information will help to make this work easier and more efficient.

There will be a school of instruction for Eastern Star members Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A potluck supper for members and their families will take place at 6:30 o'clock.

Free Hair Cuts For Needy Boys And Girls

All of the barbers in Plymouth have joined in the plan to provide free hair cuts for boys and girls whose parents are unable to provide this little necessity for their children.

The only thing that is necessary for the boys and girls is to get an order from their school teacher or some minister or priest. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of next week have been set aside for this purpose by all the barbers of the city.

Complete Work On Water Mains

The work of lowering the water main on Northville road which feeds the water system of the city was completed last Saturday afternoon. This work was made necessary by reason of the construction work done by the Wayne county road commission north of Phoenix road.

The pavement grade was lowered twenty-five feet necessitating the construction of a temporary main 1200 feet long skirting the area occupied by the construction crews. After the road-way had been cut down to the new grade, the original water line was replaced and corrections made to the undisturbed portion of the new main.

This work was started early in September and was conducted as a CERA project, the city furnishing all of the material and a portion of the labor. At the time the change to the temporary main was made the work was done during the night hours so that there would be no possibility of a discontinuance of service to the local water users. It had been planned to cut-in the main again during the day hours but because of the ideal weather and working conditions it was decided to make the connections on Saturday afternoon, planning so that the night hours would be sufficient to complete the work.

Pioneer Resident Of Northville Dies

Plymouth residents who knew Mrs. Camilla Swift Dubuar one of the oldest and best known residents of Northville, will regret to learn of her death at her home in Northville, Wednesday, December 12. She was 82 years of age. Born in Clarenceville, she had spent her entire life in this part of Michigan. She was a direct descendant of General John Swift of Revolutionary war fame and her grandfather was one of the pioneer preachers of this part of the country. Mrs. Dubuar had much to do with the organization and continued existence of the Northville public library. She was in years of membership the oldest member of the Northville Woman's club. The funeral will be held Saturday from the home.

Asks Parents To Warn Children Against Removing Articles

Numerous reports have been made to Chief of Police Vaughn Smith by some of the merchants of the city that their store windows and counters have been stealing little articles from the counters in the stores.

Chief Smith believes that if the parents of the children simply warn them not to pick up anything they might see on the counters that the practice will come to an immediate end. The chief as well as the merchants realize that it is more of a temptation to a child to put in his pocket some little article that can be easily carried away, but they believe just a simple little warning from the parents will end the practice at once.

Factory For Universal Co. Now Completed

Company Has Largest Number Of Orders
In Years

Workmen have practically completed the new one story structure being erected by the Universal Power Sprayer company on the site of the old Lee foundry that burned to the ground last summer. The new building which is 35,111 feet will take care of the temporary needs of the business. Manager Paul Nutting found the location that he moved into following the fire last summer not large enough for the amount of business that has come to the company and he decided sometime ago that the immediate erection of a new structure was essential. A foundation will be added at a later date.

The company has enjoyed exceptionally good business during the past few months and it has on hand at the present time over one hundred percent more orders than it had last year. Mr. Nutting believes that from inquiries he is receiving that 1935 will be the best year in the history of the company's business.

The company will soon have two new models on the market. One of the new sprayers being a smaller model than their present smallest one and another being considerably larger than the largest one now produced by the company.

Close Inquiry In Palmer Death

Officers have closed the investigation into the death of George Palmer, with the conclusion being reached that his death was purely accidental. There was no pertinent evidence in any way to indicate that he had met his death in any way, except by accident.

Deputy Sheriff Roy Scates who checked over every bit of information that had been secured by the various officers working on the case and who had talked with all of the witnesses that could be found, when in Plymouth this sheriff declared that the case was closed and that the coroner, sheriff and all the other officers found nothing to indicate that Palmer had met with foul play.

The post mortem examination clearly showed that his death was due to a chest struck by the rail as he walked down the railroad tracks towards his home. There was no mark on his body of any kind except those made by the train. This is clearly indicated by the fact that the only bruises about his body were of such a nature that they could be made only by a locomotive or some such heavy machine," said the officer.

There were some 12 or 15 people from Plymouth who were out to Rosie's place on the night Palmer visited the beer garden and all of them have provided the most pertinent information to the officers about the fate that came to Palmer.

"There was no foul play and no one at any time has been suspected. Of course in cases like this we chase down every bit of information we can get and we talk with every one we can find who might know anything about it," said the officer.

In this case there was no indication of foul play and the death of Palmer was due to the fact that he was walking on the right of way of a railroad. Why he didn't see the train or get out of the way of the train, no one here are questions only the victim could answer. It is to be regretted that a man in the prime of life should meet with such an untimely death, but it is also to be regretted that the unfortunate victim should have, in the darkness through the railroad right of way instead of the public highway."

Those who knew him as a friend and the many in the community who were interested are satisfied that his death was a regrettable but wholly unavoidable accident.

Plymouth Man Escapes Flames

The Kerns hotel fire in Lansing on Monday night which has probably cost the lives of 50 or more people, nearly struck home to a Plymouth resident, Robert Clayton, a heman for the Pere Marquette who missed death by the narrow margin.

Clayton, who moved to Plymouth a few weeks ago with his wife and four children, residing at the corner of Starkweather and Pearl streets, was in Lansing with two other Pere Marquette firemen. They remained overnight at the Kerns hotel.

Early Tuesday morning Claude Burrows, another Pere Marquette fireman, was working with Mr. Clayton, received a telephone call from him in Lansing telling of his escape from the fire and asking him to notify his family that he was safe.

Frank Thompson of Northville who for years has been an employee of the state tax commission lived at the Kerns hotel during the week. He escaped from the fire with only slight injuries.

Not for days, and possibly not then, will it be known just how many died in the fire. It is not believed the bodies of many of the victims who jumped into the river will be recovered. A floating spring as ice now covers the river.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Coward were in Detroit Tuesday evening when they were met by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coward of Bronson and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cowell who were their dinner guests.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Partridge plan to leave Saturday for a few weeks visit with their son, Russell, at Lodi, California, near Sacramento.

All Christmas Charity Under One Committee

Local Groups Decide To Work Together This Year

Acting upon the suggestion of Berk Moom, secretary of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce it was decided at a meeting Tuesday evening of all representatives of various organizations in Plymouth that do charity work at Christmas time to unite all of this work under the direction of one committee.

By doing this there will be eliminated much of the duplication that has taken place in past years and it will also provide more assurance that no one will be overlooked as it is planned to check the lists of all names of various groups.

Representatives were present from the two local luncheon clubs, churches, patriotic organizations and various local charity and business groups.

Adjutant James Dermody of the executive committee, who has complete charge of all Christmas charity work in Plymouth?

To cooperate and work with him there was named the following: Mrs. Otto Beyer, Mrs. William Pettigill, Mrs. Maud Bennett, W. D. Holdsworth, Harry Mumby and Harry Barnes.

Christmas Party Of Woman's Club

Friday, Dec. 7, before the members of the Plymouth Woman's Club, their guests, Prof. J. Hanna Sabourin gave a most interesting talk on the topic "Education for Leisure." That Mrs. Sabourin, a member of the faculty of the Ypsilanti Normal College, was well qualified to speak on this subject was soon apparent for she was not only a charming speaker but gave those present an inspirational talk that we hope will long be remembered. Her talk discussed on the two kinds of leisure as exemplified by men and women of the past brought many a chuckle and ripple of merriment.

In brief she divided leisure into two classes that which was uplifting and proper, the called recreational and that which was degrading and demoralizing. The choice of every individual depended on what his mind offered. Her own leisure was dependent on his education for leisure were the home, the school, the church and society.

She very ably brought out the fact that today's problem of enforced leisure due to such widespread unemployment had merely brought an age old question to the limelight and made us all feel our responsibility toward our children's reaction in the future to "empty time."

Her audience was sincerely appreciative of her message and tried to show this by the presentation to her of a small floral token.

Her speech was followed by a group of three pianists sung by the girls double quartette of the Plymouth high school under the direction of Miss Henry. As always this group sang beautifully both they and their accompaniment being assisted by the music department of the high school and demonstrating one way in which that institution functions to prepare its youth for the wise spending of leisure hours.

This afternoon, Dec. 14th, at the Hotel Mayflower, the Woman's Club of Plymouth will hold their annual Christmas party.

Rosemary Gray, director of Student Activities, will be in charge. There will be Christmas music, in charge of Mrs. George Burr, and a tea will be served, at the close of the program, by a committee with Mrs. Geo. Smith as chairman.

A number of short interesting business talks were given by managers among those speaking being, Bernard Murray, manager of the Plymouth Store.

Carolers Will Visit All Homes

So that every one who desires to hear the Christmas Carolers from the Central Parents Teachers Association, it has been decided by Mrs. J. C. Rutherford, who has charge of this group of young singers to start out several evenings earlier than has been the custom in past years. It is the desire of the singers to go to all the homes in Plymouth this year.

Each group of singers will be under the supervision of some high school girl, the names being announced in next week's issue of the Mail as well as the names of the singers.

Mrs. Rutherford requests those who would like to hear the sweet singing of these children to put a lighted candle in one of the windows of the home so it will be plainly visible from the street. Or if there should be a porch light on the house, turn this on as it will be regarded as a request for a visit from the singers.

Last year the singers found it possible to visit only a small portion of the homes where requests had been made for the carolers to appear. It is hoped this year by starting out a number of evenings earlier to visit all the homes where people desire the singers to come.

Berg Moore Endorses
Want Ad Pulling Power

Editor Plymouth Mail: To Messrs. Scull, Corbett, Maben, Wiseman, Wilson, Jewell and to a host of other well wishers. Your ad in last week's issue of the Plymouth Mail directly and indirectly may not have brought in certain desired results but it eventually restored the original much searched for cat—"Smoky Joe." Smoky was carried to the office Tuesday by a brave but apprehensive lad who hid his mother. I hope that this Mr. Moore's cat returned him with best wishes to Bobbie Thams and Smoky Joe for a Merry Xmas. And this ends the cat's story. I hope to train cats unless I go into it on a commercial basis.

The one thing about it all that I can endorse is the pulling power of Mail want ad. There is not the slightest question but what everybody reads them. I know.

Berg Moore.

United Savings Takes Steps For Deposit Pay-Off

Stockholders Vote To Permit Government To Take $100,000 in Stock

Old Stockholders Will Have First Chance To Take Issue — Government Approves Plan

At a special meeting of the stockholders of The Plymouth United Savings bank held Wednesday afternoon it was voted to offer to the United States treasury department $100,000 of preferred stock of the bank for the purpose of releasing the maturing deposits of the bank.

The $100,000 in preferred stock will first be offered to the old stockholders and it is stated that the treasury department representatives have agreed to take any or all of the amount that the old stockholders do not take.

The plan which has been worked out by Attorney Paul Voorhes and the officers and directors of the institution, has met with the approval of the state banking department as well as federal government officials.

No definite time can be announced for the release of the maturing deposits but if the plan goes through as has been arranged by the bank officials, there should not be a delay of many weeks in the matter.

There will be released eventually the deposits of the bank something like $65,000. It is not believed by Attorney Voorhes who has been contacting the officials of Lansing and Washington that there will be very much of a delay in the matter. The release will be announced in the Plymouth Mail.

City Attorney Discusses Suit

Because of numerous inquiries regarding the pending litigation between the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township, City Attorney Arlo A. Emery upon request has made the following statement:

"Whenever a village incorporates its city it becomes independent of and detaches from the township of which it was previously an integral part. The city succeeds to the rights and liabilities of the village and the Michigan statutes require the city and township to divide the assets and to assume the obligations of the township pro rata according to the assessed value of the taxable property situated in each."

On this basis the city's proposition was 73 percent while the Township's was 27 percent.

The city commission and township board agreed upon a settlement of delinquent taxes, cash on hand and other minor matters but could reach no agreement on three items. They signed a release disposing of all but the excepted matters to which the rights of the City were fully retained.

Further negotiations being fruitless, the city instituted suit in the circuit court for a legal determination of its rights. Further action will be taken as an amicable settlement. The township representatives felt that the City's claim was not valid and the case went to trial before Guy A. Miller of the Circuit Court, who found in favor of the city's claim and entered judgment against the Township for $4,425.62. The Township has appealed the case to the Supreme Court.

The township recently offered to pay $500.00 and costs to compromise and discharge this judgment. The members of the city commission felt that this sum was wholly inadequate. They were inclined to make a counter proposal, but after further consideration determined that it was not within their discretion to make the concessions which would be required to meet the demands of the township.

The judgment is based upon taxes assessed and collected upon property within the city then village of Plymouth, but extended on the corporate basis without the proper limits and for taxes within the then village one half of which, under Michigan Statutes, should have been, but was not paid over to the Village Treasurer.

No testimony was introduced by either party. Photostatic copies of the township records were introduced in evidence and the parties stipulated the few remaining facts required for the Court to apply to law."

Mrs. Garrett Hondorp of Grand Rapids visited part of last week at the home of Mrs. and Mr. Henry Hondorp on West Ann Arbor street.

Mrs. Elmer Reichnecker of Ann Arbor was a week-end guest of her sister, Mrs. E. O. Huston.

City Modifies Dog Ordinance

After the adoption of the dog ordinance by the city commission on September 4th this year, several suggestions were received by the city commission relative to modifications in this ordinance. The city commission has had under consideration the suggested modifications for a considerable length of time, which culminated in the adoption of amendments to three sections of the dog ordinance. This amendment was finally adopted by the commission at its meeting on December 3rd.

The principal changes affected by the amendment are those referring to dogs kept in kennels or other enclosures and never allowed to be outside of these enclosures. In such cases these dogs are not required to be vaccinated. The license fee is one dollar the same as for those dogs which are allowed to run at large but which are required to be vaccinated. The ordinance requires that the kennel or enclosure be approved by the chief of police before the license is issued.

Another requirement written into the amendment is that on all kennel dogs sold, the responsibility for advising the city that the dog has been removed from the kennel is placed on the kennel owner. It is necessary that the kennel owner notify the chief of police in order that a record of that dog will be had in the city hall, and that the new owner of the dog may be advised of the necessity of purchasing a dog license. Dogs kept in a kennel do not have specific licenses assigned to them, but the licenses are transferrable within the kennel. Therefore, it is necessary that the city know when a dog is disposed of to be kept elsewhere within the city limits.

One other section of the ordinance has been amended. This section being the one requiring dogs to be kept confined on the owners premises or held on a leash during June, July, August, and September. Some objection was raised to the length of time required to hold dogs on a leash or keep them on the owners property, therefore this period was shortened two months. In the future dogs will have to be kept on the owners premises or held on a leash during the months of July and August. These two months were selected because they cover the major period when children are on their school vacation, and the period when the most damage is done by dogs to growing gardens and shrubs. The city is now prepared to issue licenses to the owners of all dogs in accordance with the amended ordinance, and it is suggested that owners make immediate arrangements to secure their tags, which will expire on June 1, 1935.

The police department is continuing with the census of dogs in the city, and when this census is completed a thorough and accurate record will be maintained in the city hall relative to all dogs in the city. It is the duty of the police department to follow up this census and see that the owners of all such dogs obtain their licenses. It is hoped that there will be complete public cooperation in the enforcement of this ordinance so that it will not be necessary for the city to take action against the owners of any dogs.

Next Meeting Of The Home Clothing Group To Be Held Jan. 30th

The Plymouth group of Home Economics Extension project in Clothing III held their second meeting at the home of Mrs. Willard Geer, on December 5th, with an attendance of 25 ladies. It was explained that to complete the course, in Clothing III the four requirements are to be filled: to attend all meetings, fill color chart, analyzed for color, and assemble a complete costume. The four local leaders, Mrs. G. Renwick, Mrs. J. Stull, Mrs. G. Gordon and Mrs. W. Geer, prepared some very interesting material on dress, accessories and remodeling of dress; that they received from their last meeting at Dearborn. The discussion for the day was on dress accessories and what it is. How dress accessories should be used. Does it complete a costume? or spoil one, according to its use. Hats, what to consider when buying on, and shoes, for comfort and style. Last of all each member was taught how to do Italiana quilting and each one completed their piece of quilting during the meeting.

The next group meeting will be on "Color Harmonies and Their Use." On Wednesday, January 30th at the home of Mrs. Glenn Gordon, 707 Maple avenue.

United we boost, divided we bust.

"The Messiah" To Be Given Dec. 16

The people of Plymouth are reminded that the performance of Handel's "The Messiah" given by the Plymouth Choral Society will take place at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, December 16, in the auditorium of the Plymouth high school.

The chorus consists of approximately 100 persons from Plymouth and Northville. The solo parts will be sung by Mrs. M. J. O'Connor soprano, Miss Barbara Horton contralto, Pierre Kenyon tenor and Charles Hutton bass. The accompaniment will be an orchestra recruited in the vicinity consisting of violins, viola, cello, clarinet, bass viol, trumpet and drums.

No admission will be charged but to defray expenses a collection will be taken and since the expense will be considerable the public is asked to be as generous as possible.

The Worcester (Mass.) Oratorio Society has given "The Messiah" thirty-two consecutive seasons. In other places this sublime music has been repeated year after year with increasing interest and appreciation on the part of audiences and it is hoped that this second seasonal performance by the Plymouth Choral Society will inspire the Plymouth singers and residents to continue its repetition here for many years to come.

About this premier of all Oratorios little can be said which will be original. And so we can turn to quotations from others for our own guidance in refreshing the memory.

"No other composer ever developed the resources of the chorus as effectively as did Handel. His finest compositions of this class remain to this day unapproachable and they continue to make the same powerful impression today as when first performed."

Among his works The Messiah stands alone, a majestic monument to the memory of the composer, an imperishable record of the noblest sentiments of human nature and the highest aspirations of man.

Of the Hallelujah chorus it is said that words are impossible for adequate description of the tremendous grandeur and sublimity of this greatest of all choruses. Handel himself felt, while composing it, "I did think I did see all Heaven before me and the Great God Himself."

The choruses selected for the performance Sunday, the 16th are And the Glory of the Lord O Thou that Tellest Good Tidings. Behold the Land of God. Surely He hath Borne our Grievs. For Unto Us a Child is Born. Glory to God and The Hallelujah Chorus. The solo selections will be Comfort Ye My People, Every Valley, Thus saith The Lord, But who may Abide. Behold a Virgin shall Conceive. For Behold Darkness. The People That Walked in Darkness. He Was Despised, There Are Shepherds, And The Angel Said Unto Them, And Suddenly, Rejoice Greatly. Then Shall The Eyes Of The Blind, He Shall Feed His Flock and I Know That My Redeemer: Liveth.

A great deal of the context was taken from the Prophets especially Elijah and has that grandeur of writing style with which they were gifted.

Address of place where meetings will be held will be in next week's Mail. I wonder if the many who live in this world today have ever considered the cost of the redemption of their soul. 1 Pet. 1:18, 19 gives us this great cost. For as much as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers, but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot. Has the blood been applied to your heart.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH

Formerly Church of the Open Door
Christmas preparations are being made under the leadership of Mrs. Ella Kainz and Miss Catharine Compton, assisted by Mrs. Silas Mattinson, Mrs. John Hancock and others. Children are being coached for their parts in the Christmas program which will be given on the evening of December 23rd. The young people of the congregation will present the spectacular message of "The Star in the East," with pictures thrown on the screen while they weave in the scripture, carols and brief talks. Remember that you all are cordially invited to this and all of our services. "You will feel our welcome."

This Sunday at 10 a. m. we expect our pastor back in the pulpit again, with the message of the morning being "The Marvels of Salt and the Message of Light." A graphic exposition "Hear it!" This is "The Friendly Bible Church." Bring your bible and your friends.

Sunday at 7:30 p. m. the gospel message will be brought by Deacon Columbus. He speaks on "David and Bathsheba, or Sin and Its Consequences." A powerful message, yet there is a great climax of comfort, hope and salvation through faith in God's Word for you!

Many friends of Brother Ray Weiskopf were happy to see him and his charming bride as they stopped off a day or so last week enroute on their honeymoon. Mr. Weiskopf served as associate pastor here last year, and is now leading an active church near Mendota, Ill.

We are happy to receive news from one of our members, Mrs. Frankie Beaudry, who is now employed in Lansing. She hopes to return to us soon, however, and we certainly hope she can arrange to do so. She writes saying, "I am homesick for the old fashioned prayer meetings." What a testimony!

Readers, are you homesick for the things of God? If so, visit our prayer meetings on Wednesdays at 7:30 p. m. or if you are a young person come to both prayer meeting and the young people's society also. They meet on Fridays at 7:30. Arvid Burden is their speaker.

"God the Preserver of Man" will be the subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, December 16.
Among the Bible citations is this passage (Acts 9:33-34): "And there he found a certain man named Aeneas, which had kept his bed eight years, and was sick of the palsy. And Peter said unto him, Arise, Jesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise, and make thy bed. And he arose immediately."
Correlative passages to be read in the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 99): "The calm, strong currents of true spirituality, the manifestations of which are health, purity, and self-immolation, must deepen human experience, until the beliefs of material existence are seen to be a paid imposition, and sin, disease, and death give everlasting place to the scientific demonstration of divine Spirit and to God's spiritual, perfect man."

Winter Good Time To Fix Cellar Walls, Can Secure Federal Cash

The repair and modernization of basements is as practical during winter months as at any other time of the year, according to building authorities. During this period, exterior walls may be more carefully inspected, due to the absence of shrubbery and interior foundations in better condition for working on, having been warmed and dried by operation of the heating plant.
Repairing and waterproofing the basement walls at this time protects the basement against the seepage that is liable to occur in the Spring as a result of melting snow and spring rains. Unless the basement is waterproofed before the furnace fires are extinguished, it may be damp, unhealthy and an unsanitary thoroughout the summer.
Exterior basement walls should be thoroughly cleaned of salts or crusts, mud and insect tunnels by wire-brushing or other means. Insect tunnels often serve as entrance ways for destructive termites, commonly known as white ants. Cracked and sunken walls should be strengthened and leveled on top to prevent damage to the super-structure. Defective masonry should be replaced and cracks and masonry joints pointed.
The practice of piling litter and rubbish around the exterior basement walls to give added insulation is a poor one. Such litter often assists in keeping the lower part of the building damp and is a breeding place for destructive insects. When dry, it is a fire hazard. If the structure itself is properly repaired, such litter is entirely unnecessary.

Love and Prudence don't live in the same town.

Albert Miller, Home On Furlough, Tells Of His Experiences While Going Through Training School For Services On Submarine In U.S. Navy

Albert Miller, better known to his host of Plymouth friends as "Red," who joined the Navy about two years ago, will return to the Navy at New London, Conn., Saturday after having spent the past ten days at his home here. He was recently transferred to the submarine service after having passed all of the necessary requirements, and these tests are most rigid.

"Before entering the Submarine School a man must be able to pass certain physical examinations and certain mental tests. These tests are to determine whether or not a man is physically and mentally fit to enter the school. The physical exams are rather strict and hard to pass. If a man has just the least little thing wrong with him he is rejected. If there is anything wrong with a man before the Navy doctors examine him it will be found during the course of the examinations," declares Albert.

The mental examinations are composed of mechanical ability, composition, literature, mathematics, spelling and general classification tests, which is an exam composed of everyday knowledge.

"On arriving at the Submarine School one is given another physical examination by the doctors at the base hospital. This exam is still more difficult to pass than the ones given by the doctors on the ship from which the man came.

"After the physical exams are over one is taken into a compression tank to see whether or not he can stand any pressure on his body. In the compression tank he is given fifty pounds pressure per square inch on his body. If he passes that test satisfactorily he is then taken into a water tank which is one hundred feet high. This tank is filled full of water and the man then straps a lung to his body so he can breathe while in the water. He then starts at the bottom of the tank and goes to the top. He stops every ten feet and takes ten full breaths and then goes up ten feet more and takes ten more breaths and so on until he reaches the top of the tank. The reason for stopping every ten feet and breathing is to decompress his body to equalize the pressure in his body with the water pressure on the outside of his body.

"If one passes all three of these physical tests he is then ready to start to the Submarine School. Incidentally while I was being sent through the water tank, one of the men who was taking the test died in the tank while coming to the top. He became excited while ascending or he lost the lung out of his mouth. This was the only misfortune that happened during my six weeks of school.

"The school is six weeks long in which a man learns the submarine from bow to stern. He must know how to fire a torpedo, dive a submarine and bring it to the surface again. He must know how to steer a submarine either on the surface or while submerged. And also he must know how to cook.

"After the school the applicant is sent to a submarine in China, Panama, Hawaiian Islands or San Diego. After he has been aboard a submarine six months he is then given an examination covering the working parts of a submarine and what each mechanical device is for and where it is located. If he passes this exam successfully he is then a qualified submarine man and is given an added salary of twenty-five dollars to his regular salary.

"In my estimation the submarine duty is far more interesting and exciting than a Battleship ever was or ever will be."

Students See Ford Pictures

(By Pilgrim Prints Staff)

Through the courtesy of the Ford Motor company, the students of Plymouth high school were able to see, at a special assembly on Tuesday, December 11, two sound motion pictures. The first of these consisted of a panorama view of the 1934 Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago. Among the attractions of the fair exhibited on the screen were the Avenue of Flags, the Goodyear Blimp, the Travel and Transport Building, General Motors buildings, Admiral Byrd's ship, the Federal Building, the Sky-Ride, the Enchanted Isle, and the Administration building. There were also scenes typical of the many villages included in the fair, such as the Colonial village, Dutch village, and Belgian village. Several scenes were shown from the drama "Wings of a Century" portraying the rapid strides made in transportation during the past hundred years. After this general view of the fair, the exhibit offered by the Ford Motor Company was shown more in detail. The enormous building housing the Ford exhibit is one thousand feet long and consists of a huge rotunda approximately ten stories high and two broad wings. The building is surrounded by landscape gardens and at one side is the amphitheatre where millions thronged to enjoy the music of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Inside the rotunda are huge mural paintings portraying the varied activities which combine to produce the Ford car. There is also a display consisting of several hundred vehicles displaying the history of transportation.

The central idea of the entire Ford exhibit is "out of the earth comes the Ford car." In the wings of the Ford building are exhibits by the manufacturers of cylinders, spark plugs, axles, speedometers, etc., which contribute to the Ford V-8. In another part of the building skilled engineers assemble an entire Ford V-8 motor in ten minutes.

The second reel was entitled "Rhapsody in Steel" and it unfolded the gigantic drama enacted at the River Rouge Ford plant in Dearborn where five thousand V-8's are turned out daily. It showed the part played by molten steel, whirling wheels, mammoth presses, white-hot bars of iron, and steel riveters in the final production of the Ford car. The attractive accompanying these pictures was read by the famous announcer of the air, Alois Havrilla. The students of Plymouth high school wish to thank the Ford Motor company for the interesting and instructive program.

Orpheus Singers Delight Crowd

One of the rarest treats enjoyed by the music lovers of Plymouth in a long time was the concert given by the Orpheus Club of Detroit in the high school auditorium on Saturday evening, Dec. 8, under the auspices of the Woman's Club of Plymouth.

A most appreciative audience of nearly 300 greeted the club and the applause accorded each number on the most generous program attested the pleasure with which it was received.

The program was opened with the Dutch Folk Song, "A Prayer of Thanksgiving," the song with which the Orpheus Club has opened all its concerts for a number of years, and was closed with a superb rendition of "Adeste Fideles." This number alone was worth the price of admission but to the great delight of all present, the lights in the auditorium dimmed and that best beloved of all Christmas songs, "Holy Night," was given as the final encore thus giving the final touch to an already perfect evening.

The remainder of the program was made up of Folk Songs of England, Ireland, and Scotland; a southern mountain ballad, other ballads and hymns, and a wonderful group of Christmas songs. William Mendelhall, tenor and Walter Gee, baritone, each delighted the audience with a group of beautiful solos.

One of the high-lights of the concert was the "Song of the Toreador" in which Silver Thingstad gave the solo and the club joined in the finale.

"Turn Ye To Me," in which Dr. Bolender gave the solo part; "Three Kings Have Journeyed," James Walker, soloist; and "The Carol of the Beasts," Edward Hulbert, soloist, were also arranged to include the voices of the whole club in parts and were given due applause.

Charles Frederic Morse is director of the Orpheus club, Lloyd Kemp is president and Carroll Adams is secretary.

The fact that Mr. Adams was formerly a Plymouth boy and his mother, Mrs. F. B. Adams, now of Orange, New Jersey, was the dearly beloved president of the Woman's Club 1900-1902, gave added interest in the concert to many Plymouth people.

It is hoped that we will have the opportunity of having another entertainment by the Orpheus Club in the near future.

Mrs. John Paul Morrow was chairman of the committee on arrangements for the concert and was assisted by Mrs. Otto Beyer, Mrs. Chas. Humphries, and Miss Mabel Spicer.

Mrs. Myron Hughes was in charge of the sale of tickets and Mrs. Geo. Cramer, Mrs. Wm. Kaiser, and Mrs. Russell Roe were in charge of the lunch which was served to the men of the Orpheus Club at the close of the concert.

WHAT WILL PLYMOUTH DO?

National Committee, The Birthday Ball for the President; Editor Plymouth Mail; Plymouth, Michigan.

Dear Sir:

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, as you are aware, has again consented to lend his birthday as the occasion for another nationwide series of benefits to raise additional funds to combat Infantile Paralysis. The original Birthday Ball held last January, participated in by the citizens of upward of 5000 communities throughout the country, resulted in the raising of a fund in excess of one million dollars to enable Georgia Warm Springs Foundation to continue its work of treating victims of this dread disease.

At the President's own suggestion, which is also the recommendation of the Trustees of the Foundation, no part of this year's proceeds will go to the Foundation. 70% of the proceeds raised by each local Birthday Ball will be retained in its respective geographical area, under the direction of each such area, to rehabilitate their Infantile Paralysis victims. The balance will come to the National Committee or delivery to the President, to be presented to a national commission, which he will create, to widen research efforts aimed to wipe out the disease itself, exactly as medical science has successfully combated smallpox, diphtheria, typhoid fever, yellow fever and other maladies.

We are confident that the citizens of your community will welcome the opportunity to participate in this humanitarian work by holding either a local Birthday Ball or some other form of celebration, the proceeds from which will be applied as outlined. There is, in your community, some citizen of the highest standing who would feel honored in being appointed General Chairman of your local Birthday Ball for the President. Will you select such an individual, communicate with him and secure his consent to serve in this worthy cause. As the National Committee will accept your judgment without reservation, please give me his name and address so that we may send his official Certificate of Appointment and complete organizing data.

We are confident that the whole country again will embrace on Wednesday, January 30, 1935, the opportunity to join in a work so vital to the future welfare of hundreds of thousands of our people. Your prompt response and cooperation will be genuinely appreciated by myself and my associates.

Sincerely,
Henry L. Doherty,
National Chairman.

Golden Wedding Is Celebrated

Fifty years ago, Miss Anna M. Cobb, daughter of Daniel and Mary Huston Cobb, and Mr. Albert E. Cole, son of John and Hilda Hartwell Cole spoke their wedding vows before Rev. Ira H. Camburn.

Twenty-eight years ago they attended the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Huston, Canton residents and there as the happy guests cut the wedding cake. Mrs. Cole found in her portion, the wedding ring. Tradition says this ring names another golden wedding bride and Mrs. Cole invited all at the Huston home to attend her golden wedding.

Sunday afternoon at the Cherryhill Methodist church, where both Mr. and Mrs. Cole have worked and worshipped, the Ladies Aid joined with the family and other friends celebrated the day with their receiving 200 guests from two to five o'clock. Mrs. Cole gowned in blue velvet fashioned from her wedding dress of yesterday. Mr. Cole with his white wedding gloves, were assisted in the receiving line Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Rogers of Howell and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gill.

Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Cole's sister, was a bridesmaid of 50 years ago and with her then stood Adelbert Cole, Mr. Cole's twin brother, who was best man.

Cherryhill church house was made gay with decorations of flowers, in candles and flowers. Presiding at the attractive refreshment table were Mrs. Louise West, Cherryhill and Mrs. Myron Cobb, Mt. Pleasant.

During the afternoon a program was given which had been arranged by her nephew Everett Burrell of Detroit.

Myron Cobb of Mt. Pleasant and brother of Mrs. Cole acted as Master of Ceremonies. "Happy Wedding Day For You," led by Mrs. Bert Stuart was sung in greeting. Mrs. Bert Stuart sang "Put on Your Old Grey Bonnet," and all joined with her in the final chorus. Miss Luella West accompanied at the piano.

Miss Helen Kribbel of Detroit, gave two violin solos, "Songs My Mother Taught Me," and "A Perfect Day," accompanied at the piano by Miss Betty Kribbel of Detroit. Rev. Frank Blake of Deerfield a former pastor offered prayer. Rev. Wm. Ainsworth, pastor of the local church, fittingly performed a short marriage ceremony, pledging Mr. and Mrs. Cole to continue loyalty to each other. Miss Helen Caswell, Detroit, sang in a pleasing manner. "O Promise Me" and "Love's Old Sweet Song," accompanied at the piano by Everett Burrell.

Miss Ruth Wesley, Detroit, then read a poem sent by Edgar Guest to Mr. and Mrs. Cole.

Miss Helen Kribbel by request played, "Where He Leads Me I Will Follow," on her violin accompanied by Miss Betty Kribbel.

The program closed by all singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Mrs. Cole was then escorted to the table where she cut a beautiful wedding cake, made by her niece, Mrs. Helen Burrell Sobestael. Mr. Erlin Cobb, a brother of Mrs. Cole received the portion which contained Mrs. Cole's wedding ring. George Gill expressed appreciation of Mr. and Mrs. Cole's life in the community and presented them with a beautiful set in gold color and a purse from the community. Cousins from California sent them a check for $50, and they received other gifts besides purses from Plymouth, Wayne and Detroit friends and from the family and relatives.

A book had been prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Cobb, in which guests names were registered together with a picture of Mr. and Mrs. Cole and the anniversary invitation.

Seven sons of Mrs. Louise West were present all of whom had been members of Mrs. Cole's Sunday school class and several men also stood that had been members of Mr. Cole's Sunday school class.

With the exception of two years spent on the farm in Superior Township Mr. and Mrs. Cole have spent their lives since they were united on Mrs. Cole's birthday, Dec. 10, 1884 in Canton Township. They have one daughter, Mrs. Ray E. Wiles Sheldon, who with her husband and two sons, Donald R. and John D. were present Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cole lived on the farm where he was born for 35 years. They retired nine years ago moving to a new home built on the old farm. Mr. Cole has been agent and director of Farmer's Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Wayne and Monroe counties. He served as Justice of the Peace 12 years and several years as Canton Township Treasurer. He has been a member of Cherryhill M. E. church 58 years acting as Sunday School superintendent, teacher and class leader. Mrs. Cole has been a member 49 years and served as teacher of Beginners Class for years. Both will continue to attend church when health will permit. Mr. Cole is 71 years old and Mrs. Cole is 68 years old.

BETTER HOUSING

Tips on How and What To Improve

Attend to Landscape

If you are planning to landscape next spring, now is the time to take preliminary steps. Most of the heavy work can be done at this time and the snow will be the better for having the snows melt upon it all winter. This comes under the list of eligibilities in the Better Housing movement of the Federal Housing Administration.

Improve Garage Doors

Now that frigid winter mornings are at hand, inspect the workings of your garage doors. There is real comfort in being able to open and close the doors without leaving your car, and attachments which are simple, practical, and relatively inexpensive have been perfected for this purpose.

Build Gymnasium

Why not a gymnasium, complete with shower, for Father and Junior? Installation need not wait for spring. It can be done now while labor is available and reasonably low in cost. Such a place would give Junior a retreat in which to rally his "cronies," keeping him and them out of mischief. Moreover, it would give Father a chance to keep in closer touch with his son.

Paint Dark Steps

A narrow strip of white or a light-colored paint on the front edge of each step, especially when they are poorly lighted, as in the case of basement and attic steps, increases the visibility of the step line.

Build Lily Pond

Small water lilies can be grown in a pool 3 feet in diameter and with a depth of 22 inches. If the earth is firm, the bottom, well packed, will suffice. Masonry sides should be 6 inches thick. The cost where you do your own work, will be $10.

The best things any man can have are the things any man can have.

The ladies' mission circle of the Lutheran church will hold a Xmas party on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 19th at the home of Mrs. Walter Ebert, 327 Farmer St. Each lady is asked to bring a ten cent gift also bring donations for Eloise hospital. Hostesses for the afternoon are Mrs. Ebert, Mrs. Hayball, and Mrs. Manzee.

Miss Grace Carr, a junior at the Michigan State Normal at Ypsilanti, spent from Friday until Sunday with her uncle, L. E. Wilson, and family on Mill street.

Question Box By ED WYNN The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn: Why do so many people buy their milk from a milkman? Why don't they get it directly from the cow? The milkman puts water in it while a cow gives pure milk. Yours truly, CARLIE PALE.

Answer: It is true that a cow gives pure milk, but the difference between a cow and a milkman is that a cow doesn't give credit. Dear Mr. Wynn: I have been working company with a young man for over two years. I've done everything to get him to propose to me. Last night he called at my home and during the conversation I was right out and asked him if he ever thought of getting married. He said "The girl I marry must be able to take care of a house, cook and so on." I am willing to take care of his house, raise a family, and I'll cook, too, but what does he mean by saying so? Yours truly, I. WANTHIL.

Answer: When he says you must be able to take care of the house, cook and so on, he simply means you must be able to sew on buttons.

Dear Mr. Wynn: I am a young man just twenty years old. I have a good position and earn good wages. I want to get married, but I am afraid of having trouble because I'd rather play golf than eat. Is it possible to find a wife who will stand for that? Truly yours, N. THERUFF.

to find a wife who will stand for that?

Answer: A man who would rather play golf than eat should marry a girl who would rather play bridge than cook.

Dear Mr. Wynn: I am twenty-seven years of age and a traveling salesman. I am madly in love with a girl who lives in Harrisburg, and feel the same about a girl who lives in Albany. Can a man love two girls? Yours truly, ISELL KETCHUP.

Answer: Sure, as they live in different cities you're perfectly safe.

Dear Mr. Wynn: I am giving a luncheon and the honored guest is to be the governor of our state. When at the table, being the hostess, should I sit on the governor's right hand? MRS. LOPE SHONARY.

Answer: By no means do that. The governor is fully seated with his right hand. Sit on a chair.

Dear Mr. Wynn: I have read a great deal about vaccination. Some folks say it will always save a person's life while others say just the opposite. I think it will save life, don't you? Sincerely, C. RUM.

Answer: I can't see how they can guarantee it will always save life. For instance, I know a boy eight years old who got vaccinated and four days later he was run over by an automobile and killed.

School Herd Is Record Producer

One of the purposes of dairy cattle breed association is to assist in the improvement of the cattle both in type and yield. The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has taken a forward step in building a sound foundation for a better breeding program. Holstein breeders who have their herds on continuous tests are accumulating a mass of valuable data. The Association is training its fieldmen to analyze this data in order to assist the breeders as much as possible in locating the families which have the inheritance for high production and good type.

During the first 220 days of the annual production test being run on the herd of registered Holsteins owned by the Wayne County Training School at Northville a daily average of 1.1 lbs. of fat per cow has been maintained. One cow in the herd has passed the 400 lb. fat mark and eight cows the 300 lb. fat mark for the 220 days. The named Wacots June Marathon is the high cow for the 220 days with a credit of 435.3 lbs. fat and 13625.1 lbs. milk. During the last month of the test the herd was led by Wacots Ormsby Sensation with a credit of 85.6 lbs. fat and 2658.1 lbs. milk. Werlberc Louis De Kol ranks second for the month with a credit of 75.8 lbs. fat and 2043.6 lbs. milk. The cow named Werlberc Nora Alta has completed a lactation record of 159.92 lbs. milk and 526.8 lbs. fat. This record was made in Class B. The significance of these records above becomes more apparent when it is remembered that the average milk cow in the State of Michigan probably does not exceed one hundred and fifty pounds of fat in an entire year's milk production.

The 1934 Herd Improvement Register Year Book of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America shows throughout the United States thirty-five herds that have averaged one pound of fat per cow daily for five years and on this list of thirty-five cows the Training School herd stands fifteenth. When all the work done in the care and feeding and milking of these cows is by the boys in the Training School who are receiving this experience as a part of their industrial training the whole story is another compliment for the herdsmen in charge Joseph Cook.

Remember that "American" ends in "I-can."

The Horrors Of War

An Armistice Day Address Delivered By City Commissioner Oliver Goldsmith To The Northville High School Students.

Webster gives the definition of war, 1st. as state of fact of using violence against another; 2nd. State of opposition or contest, hostility, strife, contention; 3rd. Profession of arms; art of war, as a Man of War.

But my dear friends, I think that Webster elaborates too much on his definition. If I were asked to define war I would, without hesitation, answer as Sherman did, "war is hell." And furthermore, as Swift has said, "War! that mad game that the world so loves to play. And, as Grant once said, when wars do come they fall upon the many, the producing class, who are the sufferers."

A great war, such as the last so called World War, leaves the country or countries with three armies, an army of cripples, an army of mourners, and an army of thieves. We have the clear proof of this statement in the strenuous and heart rending times which we have passed through since 1918.

War is a business of barbarians. All the talk of history is of nothing almost, but fighting and killing, and the honor and renown which are bestowed upon conquerors, who, for the most part are mere butchers of mankind, misled growing youth, why by these means, come to think slaughter the most laudable business of mankind and the most heroic of virtues. For proof of this statement—read your daily papers. Murdering of little children, old people, in fact, the murdering of anyone not bowing to the will of the assassin.

The greatest curse that can be entailed on mankind is a state of war. All the atrocious crimes committed in years of peace, all that is spent in peacetime by the secret corruptions, or by the thoughtless extravagance of nations, are mere trifles, compared with the gigantic evils which stalk over this world in a state of war. God is forgotten in war, every principle of Christianity is trampled upon.

The practices of war are so hateful to God, that were not His mercies infinite, it was in vain for those of that profession to hope for any portion of them.

Even in a righteous cause, force is a fearful thing; God only helps when man can help no more.

War is unchristian like. It is the greatest of human crimes, and involves all others—violence, rapine, lust, fraud,—everything that can deform the character, war the nature and debase the name of man.

That great Reformer, Dr. Martin Luther said: "War is one of the greatest plagues that can afflict humanity; it destroys religion, it destroys states, it destroys families." Any scourge, in fact, is preferable to it. Famine and pestilence become as nothing in comparison with it. Famine is the least evil of the three, and therefore David chose it, willing rather to fall into the hand of God, than into those of pitiless man.

No person can draw, in its true colors, the portrait of war. It is all extreme, all horrible, all devilish. It is a sight, sufficiently odious and repulsive to see two men quarrel and fight, even without any intention of killing; but when thousands on each side, meet for the known purpose of killing each other—to see them, by thousands and hundreds of thousands, dashed in pieces by cannon balls, shells, and steel bullets, cut down by words transfixed by bayonets suffocated by poisonous gases, crushed by carriages, trampled by horses—to hear their groans and cries, their curses and ex-cra-tions—to see them rushing on with fury or retreating with precipitation and despair—presents a scene which cannot be reached by tongue, pen, or pencil.

Of all the evils to public liberty, war is perhaps the most to be dreaded, because it comprises and develops every other. War is the parent of armies from these proceed debts and taxes, and armies, and debts and taxes are the known instruments for bringing the many under the dominion of the few. In war, too, the discretionary power of the executive is extended; its influence in dealing out offices and honors and emoluments is multiplied; and all the means of seducing the minds are added to those of subduing the force of the people; no nation can preserve its freedom if it continues in a state of warfare.

War suspends the rules of moral obligation, and what is long suspended is in danger of being totally abrogated. Civil wars strike deepest of all into the manners of the people. They violate their politics; they corrupt their morals; they pervert even the natural task and relish of equity and justice. By teaching us to consider our fellow creatures in an hostile light, the whole body of our nation becomes less dear to us. The very names of affection and kindred, which were the bond of charity, whist we agreed, become new incentives to hatred and rage, when by communion of country is dissolved.

The patriot should never speak of war, but as the ruin of nations; the philanthropist, but as the ruin of man; the Christian, as in either and irreconcilable conflict. Conflict with the principles and teachings of the Prince of Peace, and all, with horror and loathing, as the very spirit of a darker world, seeking to anticipate perdition in this.

The little thefts and petty mischiefs in this world are interrupted by the laws; yet, if a mischief becomes public and great, acted by money mongers and prices, and affected by armies, and robberies be done by whole fleets, then it is virtue, it is glory, it is called—War.

Give me the money that was spent in our own Civil War and in the last so called World War, and I would purchase sufficient land to build thereon, a home for every family upon this earth. I would clothe the very man, woman and child in an attire of which all would be proud. I would build a schoolhouse on every hillside and in every valley over the whole earth; I would build an Academy in every town and endow it; a college in every state and fill it with the ablest professors; I would crown every hill with a place of worship, consecrated to the promulgation of the Gospel of Peace. I would support without stint, an able teacher of righteousness in every pulpit, so that on every Sabbath the chime on one hill should answer to the chime of another round the earth's wide circumference; and the voice of prayer and the song of praise and thanksgiving would ascend, in one grand universal concord, to the Heaven above.

And finally—it is necessary however, to make war with certain things in this world. With the maladies of the body, the ignorances of the mind, with the passions of the body, with the seditions of the city, with the discord of families, and with the demons of jealousy, selfishness, greed revenge and hatred.

And of the latter, hatred, let me impart to you girls and boys, you who are to become the leaders and statesmen of tomorrow, let me impart to you a few thoughts, which I hope you will all give serious and deep consideration in the days and years to come.

Possibly it was necessary for the soldiers to be taught to hate each other before they could efficiently and affectually kill. But in so teaching, the world started something that is very difficult to stop, and unless it is stopped the end is inevitable. All modern civilization is going down with a crash. There can be no other end, to a world wide hatred that feeds horribly and frightfully, upon its own venom, which consumes its own vitals.

Almost every country in Europe today, is in a death agony, resulting from an unreasoning unappealing hatred. They boil in cauldrons of hatred. Scarcely two adjacent European countries but glare and growl at each other, across their boundary lines.

All the conferences can result in nothing. Diplomats exchanging treachery in hoarse whispers, mauling over treaties that no one ever intended to keep.

It looks to your speaker, "and I say this in all sincerity," as if the world is slipping with sick and horrible certainty into another World Slaughter.

The only possible way it can be averted, is for the people of the world to change their thought. You and your neighbor and his neighbors, and the folks across the street, to change their thoughts.

The only way to stop hatred, is to stop hating.

We've got to forget and forgive and stop hating, or perish.

And again, as the glorious Christmas season approaches, let us be true patriots, in that we pray fervently beseeching our Master to guide and keep us, ever true, to His teachings of Peace on Earth, good will toward men.

On Monday, Robert Grandstaff, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Grandstaff of Ortonville, was operated upon in the hospital at Goodrich for acute appendicitis. Robert has many friends here who wish him well.

Farm Census To Start On Jan. 1st

Beginning January 1, census enumerators will call on all Michigan farmers to obtain information in accordance with the law which requires that an agricultural census shall be taken every five years, according to the director of the census, William L. Austin, Washington, D. C. The farm census will be very important in view of the unusual conditions under which agriculture has been conducted in the past few years. The first farm census was taken in 1840, and others at intervals of 10 years until 1925 when the new law requiring that the census be taken every five years was passed.

Many of the governmental plans to aid farmers are based upon information provided by the data secured by the census reports. This is the most accurate detailed record of the farming industry, and it is very important to the farmers themselves that accurate information be given to the census enumerators when they call.

The enumerators will have means of identifying themselves when they call. Most of them will be local people chosen in the districts where they will work.

Every farmer can secure a sample farm schedule which is a copy of the blank which the census enumerators will fill out when calling at the farm later. The sample copies can be secured by writing to the Bureau of the Census, Dept. of Commerce, Washington, D. C. Most county agricultural agents will have copies which can be inspected in their offices.

Asks For Views On Federal Aid

Abner E. Larned, acting state director of the National Emergency Council, has asked the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce to review the recent work of the various Federal agencies as they have affected Plymouth and to give him the benefit of an opinion as to their effectiveness, or lack of it, and any suggestions, criticisms or advice that members feel Washington should possess.

Mr. Larned states, "I shall be most appreciative if you will take the time to tell me frankly just what you think of these numerous activities and let me assure you that I feel you will be rendering a signal service in so doing."

Neither Berg Moore, secretary, nor the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce felt that they should accept the responsibility in passing on such a big subject, and decided to refer Mr. Larned's request to the citizens of Plymouth.

Anyone interested in giving his or her viewpoint regarding any or all of the recent activities of the various Federal agencies is requested to address communications to the Chamber of Commerce office or to The Plymouth Mail. They will not be published nor passed on to Mr. Larned, but will be reviewed by the board of directors of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce thus enabling that body to more accurately give Mr. Larned a cross section of local sentiment.

OBITUARIES

MRS. ELIZABETH FARMALÉE

On Thursday, Dec. 6th at 11:30 a. m. the Lord quietly called out Mrs. Elizabeth Farmalée, at St. Joseph hospital, Ann Arbor, where for some months she had been a patient sufferer.

Mrs. Farmalée was born in Wallaceville, Wayne county, Michigan, Sept. 1, 1867. She married George Bulmon, July 5th, 1887 in this union three sons were born, Harry, Robert and Delbert.

Sept. 12, 1919, Mrs. Bulmon was united in marriage to William Farmalée of Northville, where she has resided happily for the last fifteen years.

Mrs. Elizabeth Farmalée is survived by the husband, three sons and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bulmon, Salem, Michigan; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bulmon, Worden, Mich; Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Bulmon, Hillsdale, Mich. One sister, Mrs. W. D. Parmenter, Plymouth, Mich. Nine grandchildren and one great granddaughter; besides a host of other relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

Funeral services were held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Parmenter, 861 Starkweather avenue, Plymouth on Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Rev. Lucia M. Stroh, pastor of the Congregational church in Salem, Mich. officiated and spoke comforting words on the Resurrection and the meaning of our loved one's going home, according to God's Holy Bible in the 18th chapter of Mark and in St. John.

Mrs. George Foreman and Mrs. Ralph Wilson rendered two hymns very tenderly, "I heard the Voice of Jesus Say," and "Abide With Me." The large attendance evinced the high esteem in which our sister was held. She was a true friend to all. Interment, Maple Grove Cemetery.

MRS. JAMES GLASS

Plymouth friends were saddened to learn of the death of Mrs. James Glass of pneumonia, at the home of her son E. J. Glass at Ann Arbor last Sunday morning, Dec. 9.

Many Shaw Bredin was born July 7, 1867 at Redford, Mich. She was the daughter of William M. and Sarah Bredin, being the youngest child of a family of two sons and three daughters.

Jan. 27, 1892 she was united in marriage to James E. Glass of Livonia. To this union five children were born, two of whom passed to the Great Beyond in childhood.

Mrs. Glass was a devout Christian and a very active worker in the church. She attended church at Redford in her youth, took a very active part in the services at Livonia Center Union church, and also at Elm. Upon the building of the church at Beech she became a member there. Words cannot tell all that her life meant to this church where she gave so unstintingly of her energy and worldly means to further the work which was so dear to her heart. Upon her removal to Plymouth, she continued with the Methodist Episcopal church here. Her kindness and cheery smile will be missed beyond telling by all her friends and fellow workers in the church.

She is survived by her husband James, one daughter, Mrs. Clyde Ford of Dearborn, two sons Howard and E. J. of Ann Arbor, one sister Mrs. Jane Rohde of Livonia, one brother William Bredin of Plymouth, and twelve grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from Schrader Bros. Funeral Home, Wednesday, Dec. 12 at 2 p.m. Interment at Riverside cemetery.

JOHN H. WALTON

John H. Walton passed away at the Plymouth hospital, Wednesday, December 5th, after an illness of only four days. He was born at Longbottom, Ohio, July 11, 1852. Fifty-one years ago he was united in marriage to Martha Gale of Baldwin, Kansas.

Mr. Walton had lived in Lansing for a number of years until the death of his wife two years ago when he came to Plymouth and made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Nancy Holliday. Besides his daughter, four sons are left to mourn his loss, Charles C. and Elmer of Chicago and Elvin and George of Lansing. Services were held by Rev. Walter Nichol at the Schrader Brothers Funeral Home on Friday and by Rev. I. M. Thurston in Lansing Saturday with interment in the Mt. Hope cemetery.

THEODORE F. CHILSON

Theodore F. Chilson, one of Plymouth's old residents died at University hospital, Ann Arbor, Saturday, December 8, 1934 from depleted vitality following an operation there on the previous Monday. He had been ill only since the Friday after Thanksgiving. Up to that time he had been actively about every day.

Mr. Chilson was born in Wayne county, Michigan, December 6, 1858 the son of Israel F. and Emeline M. Chilson the sixth of ten sons and daughters, three of whom are still living. Besides these three sisters he is survived by his wife Mary E. one son, A. K. Chilson and one daughter, Lelia M. Chilson.

Mr. Chilson lived all his life in Plymouth, the most of the time on the site where his grandparents settled when they came to Plymouth from New York.

He was active in community affairs of Plymouth and well known to the older residents of this locality.

Marriage is the end of trouble the first end.

Bowling Champ Lost Exhibition

Plymouth bowling fans who well remember George Kielwasser, former star local bowler will be interested to know that in a series of contests the other night at Ann Arbor he defeated Joe Falcara, world's match game champion. Unfortunately it was in an exhibition game and therefore it does not count, except in the minds of those who saw the former Plymouth star trum with the greatest of ease the man who has always been regarded as unbeatable.

The Ann Arbor News in its write up of the contest said: "George Kielwasser, Ann Arbor's leading bowler for the past ten seasons, had no mercy on Joe Falcara, world's match game champion, in an exhibition rolled Wednesday evening at the Michigan Recreation alley."

Kielwasser took the championship in a four-game match by a margin of 48 pins and won every game while so doing Kielwasser averaged 220 and one half pins while Falcara's average was 208 and one half.

Kielwasser rolled 202, 226, 224 and 230 in stealing the show from the champion, who started out with 193 and followed with 222, 213, and 206.

The report added that it was a bad night for the champion as he had to bowl with a new ball, the one he regularly used being stolen from his car before he left for Ann Arbor from Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rodman and Miss Leola Stone went to Williamsburg, Canada last Wednesday. Mr. Rodman returned Saturday. Mrs. Rodman and Miss Stone remained a couple of weeks as Miss Stone is taking treatments from Dr. Locke. He is treating about 600 patients daily now, about one-half are wheel chair and stretcher patients.

 The regular meeting of the PTA was held Wednesday night because next week was to be so filled with activities, there would be no time for a meeting. The boys and girls of the upper room have decided to play "The Christmas Fairy and Scrooge" this year. Monday the boys and girls tried out for their parts and the following people were selected: Scrooge, Jack Woods; Ch. Fairy, Helen Schultz; nephew, Edwin Huss; Bob Cratchit, Harold Granger; Mrs. Cratchit, Dorothy Eaton; Martha, Mildred Zielasko; Peter, Roy Vandercook; Dick and Fanny, Marian Fox and Walter Eggers; Tiny Tim, Robert Adams; Belinda, Frances Urbanak

 The Christmas program will be held at the Ladies' Aid Hall in Newburg this year.
 Miss Georgina Reid and Dr. Metzger were here on Wednesday to finish giving toxoids and vaccinations.
 Some pupils have been making lovely Christmas posters and decorations this year for the school room. Among those who have done outstanding work are Ruth Riediger and Doris Tallman.

A VISIT FROM ST. NICHOLAS

Clement C. Moore

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house
 Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
 The stockings were hung by the chimney with care
 In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there:
 The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
 While visions of sugar-plums danced through their heads;
 And mamma in her kerchief, and I in my cap,
 Just settled our brains for a long winter's nap.
 When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter,
 I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
 Away to the window I flew like a flash,
 Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash.
 The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow,
 Gave a luster of midday to objects below.
 When what to my wondering eyes should appear,
 But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer,
 With a little old driver, so lively and quick
 I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick.
 More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
 And he whistled and shouted and called them by name:

"Now, Comet! now, Dancer! now Prancer and Vixen!
 On, Comet! on Cupid, on Donner and Blitzen!
 To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall!
 Now dash away, dash away, dash away all!"
 As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
 When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky,
 So, up to the house-top the coursers they flew,
 With a sleigh full of toys—and St. Nicholas too.
 And then in a twinkling I heard on the roof
 The prancing and pawing of each little hoof
 As I drew in my head and was turning around,
 Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
 He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot,
 And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot:
 A bundle of toys he had slung on his back,
 And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack.
 His eyes how they twinkled! his dimples how merry!
 His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry.
 His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
 And the beard on his chin was as white as the snow.
 The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
 And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath.
 He had a broad face, and a little round belly,
 That shook, when he laughed, like a bowl full of jelly.
 He was chubby and plump—a right jolly old elf—
 And I laughed when I saw him, in spite of myself.
 A wink of his eye and a twist of his head
 Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread.
 He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,
 And filled all the stockings; then turned with a jerk,
 And giving his finger aside of his nose,
 And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose.
 He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
 And away they all flew like the down of a thistle;
 But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight:
 "Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good-night!"

A BETTER DAY NEAR

The first day of the New Year is drawing near. To the people of Michigan it probably is one of the most important days in over a generation for at that time there will be inducted into the executive office at Lansing a new governor. Ordinarily the inauguration of a new governor does not mean so much to a commonwealth, it is just one of those political events that come and go in the history of a state.

But it is far different this year in Michigan. Added to the economic condition Michigan has suffered in common with all other states of the Union, we have for nearly eight long years endured a series of maladministrations of state affairs that have at times bordered almost on the line of criminal asininity. There is no use in reviewing the long series of events which brought discredit and dishonor to two Republican administrations and one Democratic administration, as the people are well aware of it all.

The New Year brings to us the beginning of a new administration in state affairs, the head of our government being one who has had a different idea of public affairs and public service than his three predecessors. To those well acquainted with state business it will be recalled that Governor-elect Fitzgerald during these eight long years has been in almost constant conflict with those whose administrations have been so costly to the taxpayers.

We know that Mr. Fitzgerald is sincere. We know that he is honest and pert. We know that he has the ability and that he has the knowledge of state affairs that should enable him with any sort of cooperation to make the forthcoming two years outstanding in Michigan history. We wish for him the greatest of success, not only for his own good but for the good of all the people—and we are firm in the belief that a better day is near for our great state.

WHAT DOES THE A. P. MEAN?

Monday's newspapers carried an Associated Press dispatch from New York City which said: "Dr. Allan Roy Daeof, the country doctor from the north woods of Canada who brought the quintuplets into the world, arrived today on his first visit to civilization in many years."

Which all goes to show how ignorant some New York reporters are and how careless some Associated Press editors can be.

The facts are that that portion of Canada where Dr. Daeof lives and where the Dionne quintuplets came into the world is not a "backwoods" country. That portion of Canada rivals much of the eastern states for natural beauty and far exceeds a very large portion of New York state.

But the worst of it is that the scribe says the doctor is making his "first visit to civilization in many years."

Possibly that is true if one regards the world's greatest center of crooked politicians, racketeers, gunmen, gring stock dealers, squinty-eyed road hogs, and a conglomeration of rabbling freaks from foreign shores as a center of civilization.

Maybe as a part of the new order of things a portion of Canada and our country where grafters, thieves and high-jackers do not thrive is regarded in New York as "backwoods country" and the per-centage of crime and political grafting does mean civilization, but we hardly think so.

JUST SUPPOSE

A news dispatches a few days ago told of the execution in Russia of 66 people who had been accused of "plotting" against the Soviet government. "Plotting" in Russia simply means criticism or opposition to those in charge of governmental affairs. We wonder what some of the people in America who are opposing our own government and urging the adoption of the Russian Communist or some of these other strange and visionary and "cracked" ideas would think if 66 members of their "party" or "society" were lined up against a brick wall and shot down like "opponents" to the government were in Russia. That's the way they treat agitators in Russia. We do not recommend its application in the United States, but it might have a most beneficial effect on some of these warped minded individuals who see nothing good in our form of government if they could live under the Russian Soviet for a few years. We believe there wouldn't be so much criticism and fault-finding of our own country after their return. In fact they might write to Emma Goldman and ask her whether she now prefers America to the Russia she preached so much about before she was deported.

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

THE BRIDGE FOLLY
 Through Governor Comstock and associates, Michigan has been to Washington the past week endeavoring to get funds with which to build a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac. This is to cost $35,000,000. Because the state refused to bond for any sum to be used on wasteful public works programs last spring, it is now proposed to borrow the money from the U. S. Government and issue revenue bonds therefor.

Obviously these bonds, interest and operating expenses are to be paid from bridge tolls. But the history of revenue bonds is that when the project fails to be self-supporting the state or municipality is expected to share the burden. You can rest assured that there will be no money put up for such a half-baked idea as a Mackinac Straits bridge unless the State of Michigan guarantees the payment. If Comstock's wild idea of a bridge many miles long ever is carried out the taxpayers will eventually pay plenty. Many engineers have pronounced the idea silly and impractical. It will be a costly burden for years. The people of Michigan should let Washington know that they are opposed to Comstock's Colossal Folly.—Harry Meyers in Lapeer County Press.

THE NEWSPAPER CYCLE

Charles Greenway, who at the age of 68, had worked his way up from office boy to president of the Booth chain of Michigan newspapers, is dead. He belonged to many clubs, had an estate with sunken gardens near Grand Rapids, was opulent, travelled in Europe, had enjoyed the rewards of success and affluence. There is money in the hills of successful publishing.

His passing may pave the way for changes in the newspaper cycle of Michigan. The Booth papers have never been outstanding for their editorial content nor their brilliance. They have been plodders, profitable largely because of the lack of competition. Only a publisher realizes why there was no competition. It takes a cold million dollars to go into a town of size, establish a daily newspaper and carry on until public confidence is secured.

According to Editor and Publisher, the Booth publishers, the day of competition is coming. Weeklies, brilliantly edited, are finding a field in communities heretofore served only by dull dailies. Given enough success they may branch out into dailies to compete as it is the prosaic organ of the old day. Publisher Greenway was one of the old order. Who can tell what the Booth syndicate will do toward living up to its publications? The Detroit Times, sensational and "love nest" complexioned as it is, has outdistanced the Detroit News, conservative Booth (by relation to the outstate Booth strings) metropolitan daily, in circulation. But not in advertising. Will the shift in advertising follow?

UNsung HEROES

There is something fine and reassuring about the little touch of relief which good crops and good prices have brought to the farmers of this locality. Out of it are coming experiences which will give one the knowledge of the fundamental goodness of human nature, declares the Times of Chilton, Wisconsin. Those who have been hard pressed for years are taking prompt advantage of their favorable turn of fortune to settle old accounts that they could not take care of until now. It is not necessary to remind them of their obligations. It was their own knowledge of those obligations and their honest desire to discharge them, that worried them through all those lean years. Now that they have got a "break" they are only too glad to clear the record.

That is the heartening aspect of it, the willingness with which they meet their obligations when they have the means. It does one good to think that he had faith in them, and patience. It makes one rejoice in their good fortune, because they are worthy.

Take the case of this plain man well past middle age who walks in and asks in an apologetic tone, "How much do I owe here? It goes back three or four years, I guess, but it wouldn't do any good to try to collect it before because I didn't have the money. I've got it now, and I'm going to pay." He says, with a buoyant feeling of pride and relief.

That kind of frank, straightforward honesty hits you where you live. You know you are dealing with a man, the kind of man who forms the backbone of the world. You know that if all men possessed his sense of obligation, honesty and fair dealing, his willingness to labor faithfully for a living, there wouldn't be any crazy booms or tragic panics because there wouldn't be any gamblers or cheaters to bring them about.

We read much about the lives and activities of those who gain notoriety in crime. How much more inspiring, elevating and reassuring it would be to read of the honesty, the devotion to duty and the sacrifice of those millions of unsung heroes on whose honesty and labor the whole super-structure of society rests.

It is no secret to anyone in the know that Booth paper editors have not been marked for outstanding ability. One or two of them—yes, but they were handicuffed by tradition. For intelligence, knowledge, grasp of affairs there never at any time has been a Booth editor possessing the capabilities of a well ground political or governmental reporter. The one may well come, in view of changing outlook and preferences of readers, when men of grounded knowledge will control the publishing situation. When they do the day of the stodgy publication, such as those of the Booth and Federated Publication chains, will be gone forever.—Ed. A. Nowack in The Michigan State Digest.

POOR OLD BARNUM

A friend of ours on an automobile tour recently stopped for a few minutes at Little Bohemia, hideout in which John Dillinger and gang were nearly cornered by federal agents. The host in confidential mood discoursed at some length on the gullibility of the hundreds who flocked in to satisfy their morbid curiosity.

Merely to set the stage and add a bit of local color for the benefit of patrons, the proprietor arranged a table with cards and poker chips scattered about the table at which Dillinger was playing when interrupted by the government men. Tacked on wall near the table were five cards advertised as the hand Dillinger was playing at the moment of his hasty exit. Much to the jolly host's surprise and delight, people flocked each other

They'll Soon be Men

There's nothing "cute" about them any more;
 They've lost the curling ways of baby days;
 The dimples and the curls they overtime wore
 No longer win for them such glowing praise—
 Our boys are getting big and growing strong—
 And, where they once were chubby, they are long!

Those gentle baby voices that we heard
 Have taken on a deeper, harsher tone;
 And, oftentimes, they use a phrase or word
 That, in their tender years, was never known;
 Where once we only taught them proper speech,
 We find it necessary now to preach!

They freely contemplate a broader view;
 Their longings and ambitions are proclaimed;
 They often show determination, too,
 In reaching an objective they have named;
 No longer do they readily depend
 Upon the aid or guidance we can lend.

The little ones that were our pride and joy
 No longer do the tricks of baby days;
 Each baby has become a husky boy,

BRUCKER vs. COUZENS

From numerous sources we have been informed that former Governor Wilby M. Brucker may contest the U. S. Senatorship with James Couzens two years hence. Our information suggests that Brucker moved from Saginaw to Detroit so that he may claim the Fourth City as his own, geographically. Mr. Brucker will find if he competes with Senator Couzens, that there are worse political defeats than he encountered two years ago when he ran for re-election.

The simple truth about Mr. Brucker and his standing with the Republican Party in Michigan is this: He prematurely promoted himself for Governor four years ago, and then failed to measure up to the gubernatorial responsibilities of his time. He has oratorical ability, and some political acumen, but he has failed to enact the true role of humility that he has tried to wrap himself in when portraying the dramatic character he wrote for himself.

He has a natural sincerity of purpose which, alas! he threw overboard in his frenzied efforts to perpetuate himself in office when he was Governor. The best way he can regain popularity is to forget his own political objective in the unselfish service that any former Governor ought to reveal to his fellow-citizens. He can do it—and he's hoping he sees the way to its accomplishment!—Geo. Averill in The Birmingham Eclectic.

AUDITORS, AND MORE AUDITORS

Auditor General Stack has insisted for some time on the right of his office to audit the books and accounts of the Liquor Control Commission, insisting that if the facts were known the commission has been operating at a loss or near to it, while the former chairman, Frank A. Picard, has claimed quite the opposite. The matter has gone through the courts and Stack has won the right to go ahead with his audit which is now in progress.

While Stack lambasts the newspapers on every occasion possible yet he is the most consistent seeker of newspaper publicity in the present administration, with the result that the Liquor Control Commission, and a great many others are inclined to believe that his consuming desire for an audit is prompted more by a passion for newspaper publicity than by an 1896 campaign thunder than by an insatiable desire for facts. Consequently, the commission will employ auditors to check the audit made by Stack's auditors.

DIXIE THRILLS

Michigan taxpayers should not lose sight of the fact that most of the thrills experienced by President Roosevelt during his recent tour of inspection of TVA activities in the Tennessee valley were the results of lavish expenditure of public funds in that sparsely settled region, a substantial portion of which was furnished by the income tax payers of this State. The President, according to dispatches, draws a happy picture of extending similar projects into other parts of the nation for the purpose of bringing cheaper electrical power to the people, yet overlooks explaining why it is that Tupelo, Miss., with its own municipally owned electrical plant which he picked as a model, has rates proportionately higher than nearby cities serviced by privately owned power plants. Visitors returning north-ward from that section tell of expanding business conditions, and that is true. Prosperity would start flowing back into Michigan under similar governmental benevolence, but isn't it asking a bit too much?

The employment of a second set of auditors to audit the audit of the first set raises the question of whether an audit can be made that will get the result wanted? This seems to reflect upon the value of an audit. The inclusion or exclusion or different treatment of certain items of account will naturally result in different results from two or more different audits. There is no authority to decide between them unless these two audits agree the public will get nothing for its $25,000 to $50,000 auditing expense but a lot of argument as to the proper method of auditing.

Whether the commission has made or lost money in the short period of its existence is rather immaterial. The plan is frankly an experiment which has hardly had time to prove anything more than that all the old evils of the liquor business are pretty much in evidence. But in spite of the fact as to whether the commission has made little or no money, there is no other experiment to which we can turn with any greater prospects of success at the moment. Other states are experimenting with other systems so the future may teach us something. H. W. Hemingway in The Ann Arbor Tribune.
