

Candidates For City Commission Must File Soon

February 1st Is Final Day For Nominating Petitions To Be Filed

No Candidates Have Yet Entered Contest - Terms Of Three Members Expire

The political pot in Plymouth is simmering again. Announcement has just been made that February 1st is the last day candidates for the city commission can file petitions for the forthcoming election.

The terms of John Henderson, George Robinson and Arthur Blunk expire. While no announcement has been made, it is understood that these three commissioners are willing to run again if the voters desire them to continue their activities in behalf of the city government for another two years.

Oliver Goldsmith, Ruth Huston Whipple are hold-overs and will continue to serve during the coming year. While there has been no recent talk of other candidates getting into the field, last spring there was some talk of a so-called "young man's ticket" but there has been nothing heard of it recently and probably the idea has been dropped.

There is not much time left for prospective candidates to file their petitions and those that desire to get into the race have got to do some hurrying. Proper nominating petitions can be secured at the city clerk's office.

If there are more than six candidates for the commission, then the results of the primary election in March are final, and no election for city offices is necessary in April. The terms of the municipal judge and constable do not expire at this time.

Women Hear Of Welfare Work

The League of Women Voters and their guests spent a very interesting afternoon Monday, Jan. 14th at the city hall listening to Fred R. Johnson of Detroit, discuss the social problems of the State of Michigan as they now exist, also new proposals to be introduced at the present Session of the Legislature in Lansing.

Mr. Johnson has given his entire time since finishing college in trying to improve the conditions of the dependent child and destitute mother, and at present is Director of the Children's Aid Society of Michigan, and a member of the Wayne County Emergency Relief Commission, as well as other interests of like nature.

He first told of the National Childrens Bureau being established and of the three conferences held in the White House in Washington one in 1909 under President Taft, the second in 1919 under President Wilson, and the third under President Hoover in 1929 at which time the prominent Social Workers of the United States gathered to discuss the work of bettering the living conditions and social life of the child who has to depend on the public for its future.

Mr. Johnson said Michigan is very progressive and compares favorably with other states in Private Childrens Welfare but is extremely backward in the Public Welfare Department.

Minnesota, Wisconsin and Ohio, are far superior to Michigan and are quoted the almost complete collapse of the Mothers Pension Act which was passed here in 1917. In 1933 thirty-four counties had given up providing Mothers pension which has thrown these mothers into the class of "unemployed" forcing them to take aid from the Emergency Relief Commissions in these counties.

Minnesota has passed a Children's Code, taking under it the Licensing of Maternity Hospitals, special appointments of County Child Welfare Boards, also providing for the illegitimate child to inherit its share of the father's estate and also use his name if desired.

It is hoped that Michigan will improve in this respect by passing some of the proposed legislation at this session of the Legislature, especially to regain the ground that has been lost regarding Mothers Pensions. Mr. Johnson's informal talk was much enjoyed and his very pleasant attitude left a fine thought with those who heard him.

Mrs. George Stead and Mrs. Carl Groener of Detroit and Mrs. Orrin Pigley of Grosse Pointe were luncheon guests of Mrs. George Cramer last Wednesday at her home on North Harvey street.

Mrs. George Cramer spent Tuesday with her aunt at Holly.

Willoughby And Woodworth Big Sales Started

Two More Plymouth Stores Offer Bargains To Careful Buyers

Outstanding among the feature selling events now in effect in Plymouth are two new January sales announced today in the Plymouth Mail by Willoughby Bros. Walk-Over Boot Shop and the Woodworth Co.

The Woodworth January Clearance and the Walk-Over Red Arrow Shoe sale are always awaited with interest by the buying public of Plymouth and vicinity and each brings into town many shoppers from nearby communities. These two sales in conjunction with the Blunk Bros. Clearance now in force make this a red letter time for thrifty buyers who are looking for low prices on staple merchandise.

The Walk-Over Boot Shop has not only announced their annual Red Arrow sale but made public in their advertisement that all shoes in their store would be offered at give away prices. Families with children would do well to inspect their childrens shoes priced at 95 cents per pair during the sale. The store also features ladies' Walk-Over shoes at $4.95 and $5.95.

Woodworth's clearance announcement will be of particular interest to all. Not only present day stock is offered for sale but many brand new items have been brought into the store for this selling event. Featured among the special offers are large full size, beautifully decorated plates at 8 cents each. Another outstanding value that the Woodworth Co. offers during the sale is old cloth at 25 cents a yard. Glassware and cooking utensils have all been specially priced for the sale.

Blunk Brothers announce in their ad the closing date of their sale and advise immediate inspection of all the goods that will go off sale in the near future. An outstanding special advertised this week in their ad is Gold Seal Rugs, $x12 for only $6.89.

Will Recover From Injuries

So terribly injured in the abdomen last Saturday that it was feared he could not live, friends of Peter Delvo of South Harvey street will be glad to know that he is now regarded as out of danger from the Sessions hospital in Detroit where he was taken for treatment.

While working at the Waterford plant of the Ford Motor company, Delvo was assisting in carrying a piece of steel with another workman. In some way the two lost control of it, and it swung around, tearing a frightful gash in his stomach. He was rushed to the Sessions hospital in Northville but because of the seriousness of his injury, he was removed to the Ford hospital.

During the early part of the week his condition was reported as critical, but late reports from the hospital are that he is now getting along nicely.

Mrs. Frank Taylor underwent a serious operation at the Plymouth hospital Tuesday. She is reported as getting along fairly well.

Mrs. C. G. Draper attended a luncheon Thursday at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. O. F. Merrill in Detroit.

Methodists To Celebrate Debt Victory Next Wednesday Evening

Will Burn Old Mortgages And Notes - Friends Are Invited

Next Wednesday night will witness an event destined to be locked up as historic in the coming years for the Methodist Episcopal church of Plymouth, when $35,000.00 in church bonds will be burned together with two notes in the Plymouth United Savings Bank amounting to over $8,000.00.

The evening will begin with a potluck supper to which everyone is invited. A record crowd of members and friends is expected. Dr. J. A. Halmhuber of Detroit, superintendent of the Ann Arbor district will be present as the speaker of the evening. He will also conduct the first Quarterly Conference at this time.

Through the helpful cooperation of the Plymouth United Savings bank, and generous subscriptions of the membership of the church in these depression times, it has been possible to refinance the indebtedness of the church, effecting material reduction, and this fact is to be celebrated by a public burning of the former old bonds and notes.

This week a new boiler is being installed in the church, but it is expected that this will be completed before Sunday, and members of the church are looking forward to a historic evening in the life of the Methodist church on Wednesday night.

Some two years ago when the Methodist church, like many other institutions, was faced with a financial crisis, Rev. R. Norton did not sit down and wonder what to do about it. Instead, he called officials of the church together, he told them of the emergency and declared that the time had come for the members of the church to get to work. He led the way, and as a result of his untiring efforts Wednesday evening will witness the successful termination of a successful program for the public schools, which was named chairman of the committee for Plymouth, called a meeting of the members of the executive committee recently and thoroughly discussed the problem as it concerns Plymouth.

Mr. Smith has named as members of the committee to serve with him the following: E. J. Allison, Walter Harms, Harry Murray, Melvin Guthrie, Ruth Huston Whipple, Marian Morrow, Roy Fisher, L. P. Cookeingham, Russell Roe and Berg D. Moore. At the first meeting held nearly a year ago, it was decided to first secure from the government some of the material that has been prepared which shows just how funds can be secured and for what they can be expended in bringing about home improvements. These will be distributed direct to each resident of Plymouth through the United States mail, the government having extended local postoffices the right to handle this material without charge to those who have assumed the task of endeavoring to aid the government's better housing program.

High Praise For Church Action

"I cannot help but express my congratulations for the timely action taken by the congregation of the Lutheran church on our efforts to stop the work of outside slickers and promoters who have ever after reaped such a harvest from Plymouth businessmen. Rev. Haenecke and his church, have caught the spirit of the whole thing and they certainly are to be congratulated," stated Berg D. Moore, secretary of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce after reading the resolutions passed by the church that were published in last week's issue of The Plymouth Mail.

The Lutheran church did not wait to be called upon by the Chamber of Commerce before taking this action. One prominent member of the congregation stated that the church felt that it wanted to be among the first to help stop a practice which has proven so costly to local businessmen.

But, as Mr. Moore points out, the churches have not been alone by these outsiders who come to Plymouth to try and get a little easy money. Various other organizations, patriotic groups and clubs that stand well behind the chamber of Commerce, have been tricked into aiding in this exploitation. Often the name of a church or group is used without first securing permission to do so.

I find that our efforts are meeting with very ready approval on the part of the whole community—and from now on it will be a very simple matter for these groups as well as business men to carry out the duty of their own ever before to make it more of a success financially. Dates for the 1935 fair were fixed for August 20, 21, 22 and 23 and committees will be appointed by the fair association for the 14th time. Elmer Smith was re-elected vice president. Floyd Northrop was retained as secretary-manager and Fred Lyks was re-elected treasurer.

The following directors whose terms of office expired this year, were re-elected: F. A. Northrop, E. L. Smith, H. R. Richardson, Glenn Richardson, T. G. Richardson, M. R. Sealey, C. A. Altman, H. H. Hamilton and F. W. Lyke. Ralph Foreman, a well known fruit grower living west of Northville, was elected a member of the board to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Russell Walker of Detroit.

Anniversary Of Scouts Feb. 10th To Be Observed

Plymouth District Troops To Attend Church In Northville

On February 8th, the Boy Scouts of America will celebrate their twenty-fifth anniversary. Among the anniversary week celebrations in the Plymouth District, the annual church service always stands out each year as a twelfth point of the Scout Law, "A Scout is Reverend."

This year the service will be held at the Northville Methodist church at 10:30 a.m. on February 10th. It is hoped that as many of the Scouts, scout leaders and friends as possible will attend the service.

The same evening at 7:30 o'clock, Dean Mortimer E. Cooley, faculty of the University of Michigan will speak to the Plymouth District Scouts at the Roseade Gardens Presbyterian church. Here again it is hoped that a packed church will greet the Dean.

Locate Woman Down In Florida

Although Rev. Loy Sutherland and Chief of Police Vaughn Smith have located the woman "slicker" who came to Plymouth and worked the business men to the extent of $150 or more, they will begin at first securing the prosecuting attorney's office that she cannot be extradited and brought back here to face trial. She was found in Miami, Florida where she is spending the winter with her husband. It was by the merest chance that Rev. Sutherland during his investigations as to where the woman might be found, happened to find the Florida address.

He wrote the pastor of one of the churches down there and found that she had already started to work on the same sort of a plan in that country. The local police officer was advised because she did not get more than $50 from any one person, the county would not issue a warrant for her arrest and go to the expense of bringing her back to Northville.

D.A.R. To Observe Eighth Birthday On Monday, January 21

The eighth birthday of the Sarah Ann Cochran Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be observed Monday, January 21, by a party to be held in St. John's Church, corner of Harvey and Maple, the ladies' of the church serving the luncheon. The church Regent, Mrs. George D. Shermershorn of Reading will be present with an inspiring address. The other state officers are also invited. Greetings and congratulations from the Regents of neighboring chapters are additional pleasing features.

Those who are interested in D. A. R. work but not members are always welcomed to the birthday luncheons of the Chapter. For reservations call Mrs. Henry Baker.

Sinking of a Dutch Liner

High Officials Legion Guests

Woman's Club To Hear Traveller

Beals Post No. 32, of Plymouth, was pleasantly surprised on Thursday, January 18, when a large group of Legion celebrities unexpectedly dropped in at a meeting they were holding, with business men of the community as their guests. The guests were called upon for addresses explaining the Legion program, and following the meeting many of the guests expressed the regret that every business man and Legionnaire in the city could not be present.

Homor Chailleux, national Americanism director, who had been in Detroit for a conference at department headquarters, gave the principal talk. Others who were present and spoke were Department Commander L. O. Moody, National Committeeman L. P. Kefton, Department Adjutant Donald G. Glascoff, Chairman of the National Americanism committee on subversive activities, and Editor Jack R. C. Cannon, Murray, Detroit district Americanism chairman, and Oren Luther of Bad Axe were also in the party.

Baptist Church Opens Doors For Meetings Of Blind Musician

Charles A. Glass, blind musician and preacher, who is conducting special meetings at the Salvation Army will give two special programs on Thursday and Friday of next week in the First Baptist church. The pastor, Rev. L. Sutherland, and the church board have kindly given the use of the church for these gatherings as the Army hall will be far too small to accommodate the large crowd who will wish to attend. On Thursday evening Mr. Glass will give an unusual program of vocal violin and piano selections several of which are his own compositions. Friday night, he will give the story of his life relating how he became blind at the age of seventeen and many other remarkable incidents. This lecture is entitled "Light in the Darkness." Both these services will begin at 7:30 and a most cordial invitation is extended to all.

Mrs. Mary White Dies At Age Of 95

Last rites for Mrs. Mary E. White 95 years of age, oldest and life long resident of Northville, took place Wednesday afternoon, from the old homestead, burial being in Rural Hill Cemetery, at Northville, at one time a part of her father's farm.

She was the only surviving daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dunlap, the founders of Northville. Until a few days ago she had been in good health, attending physicians stated that she had contracted the flu, from which she did not recover.

Her entire life was spent in that community. As a girl she attended the little old log school upon the site that her father had given the district. She attended Sunday school and church on the lot that her father gave to the Methodists for a church. Recently the Methodists celebrated the 100th anniversary of the erection of the first church building in Northville.

Back in 1930 when Northville held its centennial celebration, one of the most active participants was Mrs. White. One daughter, Mrs. Dean Griswood and two grandchildren and a grandson survive.

The funeral was largely attended by many of the pioneer families of this locality. Rev. H. B. Whitfield and Rev. Wm. Barber officiated.

After talking all day to anyone who will listen to them, many a people complain there is no free speech any longer.

This dramatic picture shows the Dutch liner Oranla going down thirty minutes after she was rammed by the inward bound Portuguese steamer Loubla, at the port of Leixos, Portugal. The Oranla's crew of 128 and passengers numbering 122 were all saved by small craft.

Woman's Club To Hear Traveller

The Woman's Club of Plymouth is anticipating one of the most interesting meetings of the year at the Hotel Mayflower this afternoon, Jan. 18th, when Mr. Butler will present his illustrated travel talk, "Snapshots from Five Continents," for their pleasure and enlightenment.

Mr. Butler, who is widely known as one of the most engaging speakers of our state, has probably traveled over more of the world than any other resident of Michigan, having visited all of the continents, except Australia, visited the capital city of each state in the Union; made the trip through each of our National Parks; besides traveling in Canada and Mexico. He has made 30 ocean voyages in the past forty years.

All the material for his lecture and the pictures with which he will illustrate it, have been personally collected in his travels and his talk will include views of the Midnight Sun, Iceland and the Fjords of Norway, the War District of France, Little Republic of Andorra, the Alhambra in Spain, Wedding Parties in Egypt, Bulgaria, Roumania, Views in Russia, Manchuria, Korea, Peru, Brazil and other South American countries, and the Temples of the Mayan and Toltec Civilizations of Central America. These will be shown on about 120 slides.

The musical program for the afternoon will include a violin solo by Robert VanMeter, accompanied by Norma Roe; and a vocal solo by Mrs. J. T. Chapman with Mrs. M. J. O'Connor as accompanist. Each member of the club is privileged to bring a guest.

Auto Dealers At Banquet Here

Over one hundred automobile dealers and their wives from western Wayne county, members of the Western Wayne County Automobile Dealers Association, opened the 1935 automobile season Wednesday evening with one of the merriest banquets and good times ever staged at the Mayflower hotel.

It was shortly after 7:30 when Manager Clair Maben served the visitors with one of the Mayflower's popular steak dinners—and from that time on until midnight fun reigned supreme. Carl Shear, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements, saw to it that there wasn't a minute of wasted time. There was dancing and there was bridge—and there was plenty of noise such as produced by exploding toy balloons and horns.

Surely the forthcoming automobile season must look good to the dealers—because there was nothing besides happiness at the get-together affair held Wednesday evening.

Did You Know That

The President's Birthday Ball Tickets On Sale

Plymouth Committee Is Finding Ready Sale For Admission Cards

Affair Promises To Be Biggest Social Event Held In Plymouth In Years

Details for the President's ball to be held in Plymouth on Wednesday night, January 30, are rapidly being perfected and by the end of another week all arrangements will have been completed. Tickets are now on sale and Mrs. Cass Hough, general chairman of the Plymouth committee, has expressed delight at the ready sale of tickets here. News from other places about plans for similar balls is of more than ordinary interest. With the announcement that Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson will head the 1935 committee for the Capital City Birthday Ball from New York that the entire social register is being mobilized for a Birthday Ball in the Waldorf-Astoria. American society delegates to the Capital City Birthday Ball are the greatest social events in the nation's history on the occasion of the President's 53rd birthday anniversary, Jan. 30.

Proceeds from the dances, which will be held simultaneously in 5,600 communities throughout the country, will go toward a nation-wide war against infantile paralysis. Names of those who have already pledged to serve on birthday ball committees in Washington, New York, and other centers make a roll-call of the nation's social and intellectual leaders according to Col. Henry L. Doherty, national chairman of the 1935 program.

Although the complete committee has not yet been announced in Washington, it is certain that members will include a distinguished company of statesmen, supreme court justices and leaders of the social sets at the capital. Among those already at work in New York are Margaret Delano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Delano and a niece of the President, who will be chairwoman of the maids of honor at a pageant which will be one of the features of the Birthday Ball at the Waldorf. Mrs. George B. St. George, a first cousin to the President, will be chairwoman of the Patronesses' Committee for the Waldorf affair, and Frank A. Vanderlip, Jr. has already agreed to serve as chairman of the floor committee in Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford are prominent in making plans for Detroit's ball.

Also actively interested in the National Committee are many members of the National Committee of the 1935 Birthday Ball for the President, which includes a list of nearly one hundred social leaders. A Bonick lecture to Co. Doherty, proceeds of the 1935 parties will be divided. Seventy cents of every dollar will go toward rehabilitating infantile paralysis victims in the communities, raising the amount to $1.00 per child. It is estimated by Col. Carl Byoir, director general of the 1935 Birthday Ball, that more than 4,000,000 persons will attend.

W. C. T. U. Will Meet Thursday, January 24

Plymouth Women's Christian Temperance Union will hold its January meeting on the afternoon of Thursday, the 24th at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. M. S. Stringer, 14 S. Main st. It is hoped there will be a good attendance and that former members will make an effort to be present.

A hot lunch supper will be served after the meeting and a ten cent collection taken. Members are asked not to forget to bring plate, cup, knife, fork and spoon.

A LIFE WELL SPENT

The passing of any person who has lived for 75 years in a community just naturally creates a void that every one cannot help but notice. But when a person who has played such an important part in the growth and existence of a community as did William J. Burrows, for a period of over half a century is suddenly removed from the scene of all activities, there is created a vacancy that passes beyond the mere comment of a day—it marks a milestone in the history of that community. A community is made up of a group of many individuals and always in a group there are those of outstanding qualifications and leadership. Almost from young manhood Mr. Burrows displayed the spirit of patriotic leadership that meant so much to Plymouth in its long and steady climb upward. He gave of his time and his judgment to his community of adoption—and it seemed that he was always doing something for his town—a town made up of his own friendly neighbors and associates. His life was well-spent. He enjoyed it and his city profited from it. And wouldn't you say that that was about as satisfactory a career as any man could hope to have? He not only reaped the earthly rewards that go with his kind of life, but surely there must be something better in the world to come for one who maintained such high ideals of living.

THUMBS DOWN

Governor Frank Fitzgerald during his campaign declared with much emphasis that one of the first things he would do after he became governor would be to decapitate the Hon. Rudolph E. Reickert as banking commissioner of Michigan. The days of Mr. Fitzgerald's administration are yet young and we have not the slightest reason in the world to believe that the governor does not intend to carry out his intentions in this matter. But during the past few days it has just come to the attention of a few who seem to know something about politics that a number of banking friends of Mr. Reickert are putting forth a special effort to have the Governor re-appoint him to his present post, even though the Governor has made it clear that he has no such intention or desire. It would seem to us that those bankers who want Mr. Reickert retained on his job should have some regard for the wishes of the Governor as well as the rest of the state. There is nothing about the administration of Mr. Reickert as banking commissioner to get enthusiastic about. He played politics with Freddie Green and he played politics with Comstock. In fact playing with this and that political faction to keep his job seems to be about his greatest accomplishment as a banking official. He permitted himself to be "used" in Michigan's notorious banking holi-

The broad general rule is that a man is about as big as the things that make him mad.
A bandit chased a man two blocks before robbing him. That's giving a fellow a run for his money.
A politician can't get elected without stating the reasons why he should get the votes. How can a business expect to be successful, unless it tells the people the reasons why it should be patronized?
Make no bad news and this paper will print none.

day and those on the inside say that he has freely played favoritism in the conduct of his office. Mr. Reickert is not the kind of a new deal or an old-deal Republican that the Republicans of Michigan want to keep in office. He belongs to the political horse-traders of the olden days and he should be returned to his home as quickly as possible so that he might again ply his trade in the ward from which he came.

DON'T SHOOT

Well, gentle readers of The Plymouth Mail, the dog lovers of Plymouth have won their bloodless battle—they have induced the city commission to make several changes in the dog ordinance that the dog owners thought should be made. The city officials were thoughtful and they were not hasty in the action they took. They saw merit in the proposal made by many of the dog fanciers of the city and so they reduced some of the rigid requirements of the ordinance as originally passed. Even with the changes as made, the ordinance is a good one and it provides that the owner rather than the dog, be punished if provisions of the ordinance are not obeyed. There will be no immediate shooting of dogs on which licenses are not paid.

Now that the city commission has acted favorably upon the suggestions of the dog owners, they owe in return a duty to the city—the immediate payment of their dog licenses. Over half of the dogs of the city are unlicensed. The owners of these dogs owe it to the city in which they live to see to it that the license is paid at once. It is right—and it would be only fair treatment of the city officials, who have seen to it that Plymouth has as good a dog ordinance as there is anywhere in Michigan.

IT BEGINS TO LOOK THAT WAY

When people voted for the repeal of the 18th amendment they did so with the idea of improving what they considered a bad situation. Prohibition had proven a failure—a failure because police officers and other branches of the government given the responsibility of enforcing the law didn't do their job. The country voted to legalize the liquor business. In legalizing it, one of the things that came along with it was the beer garden.

Rightly conducted beer gardens are a hundred percent better than the old bootleg joints, but it just seems that some of those who are in the liquor business cannot and will not run the business decently. They should begin to take heed again, because the same warning is in the air that prevailed in the days that brought about prohibition.

State Representative Vernon J. Brown, who thought prohibition enforcement was about as rotten a thing as ever existed, a few days ago issued this hint as to what the public is beginning to think again: "The best way to control the beer gardens and dance halls selling beer is to put them out of business. Michigan has no use for these dens of vice, be they of 10,000 or 100,000 feet of floor space in size. They should be wiped out."

Well, all there is to say is this, if that is the way some of the thinking people of Michigan are beginning to talk, it is about time for the decent beer garden operators of the state to take their less thoughtful brethren in hand and show them the light of day, or else there will be no beer gardens.

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

THE SALT OF THE PRESS

Two hundred editors and publishers came from the villages of the state this week to attend the annual meeting of Michigan Press Association.

The editors of the small town, country weeklies constitute a great and growing school of fine thought. Their philosophy usually is as honest as the soil their rural readers till. Their reasoning is that of wholesome directness, aimed straight at objectives they believe would bring better government and better living. There is a hardy clan, afraid of neither man nor the devil, uncorrupted by influence or fear.

If the state and the nation could get onto the clean, simple basis of honesty and fellowship advocated by these thinking gentlemen of the press social problems would disappear. The publishers are the moulders of a great section of public opinion. They are the salt of the earth in point of being honest with themselves and their readers.—Edward Nowack in The Michigan State Digest.

THE LIQUOR BUSINESS

Ex-Gov. Chase Osborn has given his opinion that one of the first things the new state government should do is to get out of the whiskey business. Thousands of citizens will feel the same way about this. Osborn believes that the liquor business was never respectable and it becomes no more so now by the state engaging in it. He thinks it should go back to private hands. This at least would not make the example so prominent.—J. E. McMullen in The Linden Leader.

DE FOE QUOTES BIBLE

In the present social and economic difficulty it behooves all good citizens to think of the common good first and their personal good second. Gospel ordinarily doesn't suggest politics but government in telling the people about the welfare problem is saying precisely the same thing that St. Paul wrote the Corinthians:

"For I mean not that other men be eased and ye burdened; but in a quality, that now at this time your abundance may be a supply for their want." As it was written, he had nothing over; and he that had gathered little had no lack."

Which policy brought down to modern prosology is exactly today's situation. Administration is the crux of the welfare problem.—Muri DeFoe in The Charlotte Republican-Tribune.

CONGRESSIONAL WISDOM

During one of the fights in the House of Representatives in Washington, one of the members called another an "ass." The offended man objected, and the chair ruled that the use of the expression constituted unparliamentary language, and that it must be withdrawn.

"I withdraw the language," said the offender, "but I insist that the gentleman from Missouri is out of order."

"How am I out of order?" yelled the other member.

"Probably a veterinary surgeon could tell," came the answer.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eccentric.

SUGAR BEET CONFUSION

We can't quite follow the AAA program for sugar beets. A few years ago the farmers of Michigan were urged to raise more beets. Campaigns were launched by farm groups and civic organizations to resume sugar manufacture. The United States produces only a small percentage of the sugar consumed. Now the AAA is organizing farmers to reduce production. An acreage reduction of 20 per cent has been ordered for the Lansing factory territory in 1935.

Last week in Washington Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace was quoted as saying that the sugar beet industry is uneconomic and should be entirely abandoned, allowing Cuban, Hawaii and the Philippines to fill the United States sugar bowl.

WHEN YOU CASH A CHECK

When you cash or deposit a check for $100, drawn on a bank in some other city, you may not realize what it will cost your bank to collect that check.

For you the transaction is complete. It has not occurred to you that your bank has actually advanced you $100 of its own money for several days until it can get the $100 back from the bank in the other city, meanwhile losing the interest on this amount.

Also, during this process of collection your check must be recorded, letters written, verified, mailed and otherwise handled by many people.

This is only one of many valuable and costly services that bank patrons sometimes "take for granted."

New Commander of Plymouth's Ex-Service Men's Club Was Member Of Canadian's Famous Shock Troop Outfit During Entire Period of World War

When members of the Plymouth Ex-Service Men's club Monday night installed Jack Miller as their commander for the ensuing year, they honored a veteran of the World War who saw four years of bitter service in the front line trenches as one of Canada's famous shock troopers. Not only have the Ex-Service men honored a World War veteran who was in the thickest of the fighting from 1915 until the war ended, but they honored a soldier who was trusted by his commander during the last year of the war as a Battalion runner for the outfit he was with.

It is a matter of common knowledge that Canadian troops from the front line trenches on foreign soil until the war was over carried much of the burden of the most dangerous and hardest fighting along the entire front. Whole regiments of fresh troops from Canada were mowed down in less time than it takes to tell it.

Miller was a member of the Fourth Canadian Mounted Rifle-ment which had a membership of some 1100 men when it was sent overseas. When these boys landed in France for service, they were made members of the infantry force—and when the war was over, barely a handful of this force that went overseas early in 1915 returned alive. Harry Grant, who is in business in Plymouth with Miller, was a member of the same outfit. He was one of the fortunate ones to return to his home in Meaford, Canada after the war, but both Miller and Grant were wounded during their long services over seas.

Probably the bloodiest and most horrifying engagement we were in was the battle at Vimy Ridge. You will recall that when the French captured this place, they lost over 60,000 men. The place had been given to the English to hold. In a surprise engagement the English were driven out by the Germans. Then the job to re-take Vimy Ridge was given to the Canadian forces on the morning of April 19, 1917.

"It was 6:30 in the morning when we received the order to go over the top. I had been in the front line trenches most of the time I was in the service over there and I was more or less used to seeing horrible fighting, but never will any one know how bitter was this battle at Vimy Ridge. Generally, engagements are of short duration, but this one which started soon after daylight continued until 4:30 in the afternoon when we finally drove the Germans out and Vimy Ridge was in the possession of the Canadians. Words cannot express how horrible that fighting was—and naturally we who were in the front line trenches had to bear the brunt of it," he said.

Mr. Miller besides being wounded, saw his younger brother who had enlisted at the same time he did, suffer a gas attack which cost his life.

It was the first time the Germans had used mustard gas and we were not prepared against it as we were later on. He fell unconscious from its effects, but lived until he reached home. He was two years younger than I developed what they called "trench feet" and I was sent back to the hospital until I got better. Then they made me a battalion runner. We worked in pairs, so if one was wounded the other might get to the front. Traveling from headquarters back of the lines with messages up to the officers in the front line trenches was our job. Often we'd crawl on the ground for long distances. One time during the night when my partner and myself had been sent from headquarters up to the front lines, we became lost and got right over along the top of the trenches occupied by the Germans. When we heard the Germans talking in their language we discovered our mistake. Fortunately we got out of this mess without being discovered."

It was in 1930 when Mr. Miller came to Plymouth from Canada and he has made his home in this city since that time, residing at 352 North Main street. With his soldier companion, Harry Grant, they operate a service station on Starkweather avenue, just north of the Pere Marquette depot. He has taken an active interest in all matters pertaining to World War veterans and has for a number of years been one of the most active members of the Ex-Service Men's

Local Fishermen In Big Argument Over Value Of Carp As a Fish For Food

Conservation Department Says They Are Good; Others Say Not

The big argument is on! Plymouth fishermen are agreeing and disagreeing with the conservation department that carp are good to eat, providing they are caught at the right time of the year and properly prepared and cooked.

"Eat carp? Not me," says I appeared a 24 pound carp last spring up in the Huron river and when I fed some of it to the cat, I think it made the cat sick," declared Russell Powell.

Glenn Smith, probably one of the best judges of what to eat and what not to eat of any man in town declares that the state conservation department is right, that carp are good to eat.

"I know that if I had a place to fry 'em here, there are some of my customers I would feed them to," said Mr. Smith.

Dave Bolton, who goes to work sometimes before daylight in the morning at Smitty's, says he knows lots of folks who eat carp and like them.

Mark Chaffee, who fishes now and then for a brood of trout, but has never been known to display one that he caught, says that it is all a matter of taste.

Glenn Jewell figures that carp are just as good as any other kind of fish—providing you can get any other kind of fish.

Dr. Paul Butz, like all doctors, is inclined to agree with anything of a scientific nature, and he says that if the conservation department has made an investigation and found that carp are good to eat, he's perfectly willing to eat carp.

Max Moon isn't so sure. "Maybe there is now and then a good carp, like we find a good Democrat now and then, I wouldn't say one way or the other, and I guess I will wait a while before trying one to see."

Jack Taylor who now adorns the cashier's window at the First National bank and has to his credit the slaying of more duck during the last season than any other man in town, has long been regarded as an authority on epicurism, so what he has to say about the subject is generally regarded with some weight.

Mr. Taylor hesitated about being quoted on the subject, but upon being informed that the public was really anxious to know his opinion, he opined that carp are as good to eat as any fish that swims.

"Why, I've got a friend over near Clarkston who makes a business of getting carp and shipping them to New York. Down there the folks like Michigan carp better than they like trout. Lots of times folks will go to the fish market and they buy carp and don't know it," said Mr. Taylor.

Myron Mawhorter, who knows the summer and winter playground of every trout in the Pelee Marquette river, says carp are just as good as any other fish.

"You know it's a shame the way this fish has been abused. It's as good as any other kind of fish, but some one sometime said something about carp not being good to eat and of course the thick folks got finicky right away about carp. I'd rather have a carp any day than a pike, especially the kind of wall-eyed pike a certain pencil pusher in town says he goes up north to catch. If cooked right can't be told from a carp that's cooked right, or visa versa or versa visa," stated this famous fishing authority.

Eugene Orendorf, Plymouth's only big game fisherman, says that carp are as good as any other fish that weighs under 50 pounds.

"Of course I never did think much of fish as a food unless it came from a musky that was well up around the half hundred mark or a big northern pike that had to be cooked long, but if folks like small fish, then carp are good. I tried one year ago on my engine just to try it out—and it wasn't bad at all. I know one or two Republicans I would like to fry in the same place, but what's the use, it wouldn't do any good," declared the musky fisherman.

Following is the article from the Michigan Conservation Department that has raised all the argument among local fishermen:

"When old fishermen get together for evening talkests an 'old recipe' about how to cook carp invariably bobs up. 'Put the steaks on a clean board and place both in oven,' says the recipe. 'After a couple hours remove from oven, throw carp away and eat the board, adding salt and pepper to taste.'

The inference of this story like many other popular stories about nature is not entirely based on fact, says the Fisheries Division, Department of Conservation. The truth of the matter is that carp are not bad to eat at all when taken at the right time of the year and properly prepared, says the Fisheries Division.

Carp are much prized as food in metropolitan centers. Many tons of the species taken in Michigan are sold in Chicago and New York at good prices when there is a demand for fish food.

Fishermen who have overcome traditional aversions and have tested the edible qualities of carp have acclaimed its food value. Properly prepared, carp steaks are as edible as those of many varieties of game fish, says the Fisheries Division. G. C. Leach of the United States Bureau of Fisheries, states however that carp should be used for food only during the cold months of the year, for its flesh is unpalatable when caught from warm waters. Smoked carp is said to be highly palatable.

Some of the criticism of carp for table use is believed to have been originated by those who have eaten carp too soon after the spawning season and to improper preparation of the fish, including bad cooking.

Another source of criticism of the carp has been its habit of frequenting waters containing raw sewage or industrial wastes. Being an exceedingly hardy species, the carp is able to survive in waters having an oxygen content that is too low to maintain other varieties of fish.

YOU PROVIDE FOR His EYES!

As he puzzles over his book, he doesn't think much about the light on the page. HE doesn't know about shadows or glare or poor lighting, and how they are things for YOU to think about. ... DO you? There are no substitutes for the services of an eye-sight specialist, but proper lighting helps to protect eyes, good and bad, young and old. Particularly should a child's eyes be guarded carefully . . . for good lighting helps to protect clear young vision just as surely as poor lighting damages it. Unshaded or glaring light can be as harmful to the eyes as weak or insufficient light. It will pay you to check the lighting in your home carefully . . . Consider every room and MAKE SURE that your lighting is adequate for comfortable, easy seeing. The Lighting Recipe Chart shown here is easy to use.

WALK - OVER SHOE STORE

RED ARROW SHOE SALE

NO DOUBTING THE VALUES

NO GUESSING THE SAVINGS

Beginning Friday, Jan. 18, Ending Saturday, Feb. 2

HOW MUCH DO YOU VALUE YOUR FEET

Sixty per cent of the people have foot trouble due to ill-fitting, cheap shoes. This store has always taken pride in handling only shoes that we would guarantee and shoes that we know fit the feet perfectly. Shoes that fit comfortably allow the foot to flex in walking as nature requires. Cheap, ill-fitting shoes distort the foot and rigidly prevent its natural flexing movement, tending to not only cause pain but lowering vitality and frequently breaking down the arches. Avoid weak feet. Our job is fitting shoes—not just selling them. And during this sale we will be just as careful to give you a REAL FIT.

NOW IS YOUR BIG OPPORTUNITY

It isn't often that the buying public has a chance at a high grade stock like this one, to get the finest quality shoes at such low sale prices. But our policy is that every shoe must be sold in the season for which it was bought. If real shoe savings interest you, then we predict that this well-known store will be kept crowded. Every shoe in the store is on SALE and marked with a special low price tag. You can see for yourself just what you save. Bring a friend with you who knows good shoes. Seeing is believing, so see for yourself just what this big sale means to you.

Olds Salesman Is An "Old Trouper"

Al Fry, who has come to Plymouth to sell Oldsmobiles for the Rathburn Motor Sales company, hasn't been able to cover up the fact that he was for many years in vaudeville. Previous to nine years ago when he became associated with the Olds Motor works in their Detroit branch, he spent many years on the vaudeville stage.

Just how the fact became known in Plymouth, the Oldsmobile salesman hasn't yet figured out, but he has already accepted invitations to appear before the American Legion and a number of other local groups.

"Of course I'm selling automobiles now and the new Olds is about the best thing that ever hit the market," stated Mr. Fry yesterday at the Rathburn Sales room, 902 South Main Street.

"Fourteen body types are being offered this year, all within the low priced car range. The new Oldsmobile line for 1935 is representative of Oldsmobile's belief that the public is entitled to all that is new and better. Rather than remove from its products features that have proved their worth and desirability in millions of miles of service, Oldsmobile has elected to keep these features, and add all the latest important engineering advancements," says Fry.

"For example, Oldsmobile is retaining such features as knee-action wheels, super-hydraulic brakes, ride stabilizer, center-control steering, and all-silent synchromesh gear shifting.

"The kneeaction wheels, of the big vertical coil-spring type used by Oldsmobile and most high priced cars in 1934, enable the owner to enjoy a true gliding ride. The front wheels move up and down independently of each other so that road shocks and bumps are soaked up by the coil springs instead of being transmitted to the car and the passengers. This construction also gives a definite feeling of greater safety, solidity and ease of handling to the car as a whole.

"Oldsmobile's super-hydraulic self-energizing brakes for 1935 are still bigger and more powerful. The braking area on both the six and the eight has been increased by 14 percent to give still better braking and more life to the linings. The self-energizing feature of these brakes makes use of the momentum of the car to increase stopping power.

"The ride stabilizer, the center control steering, and the all-silent synchromesh transmission contribute in a major way to greater safety, greater comfort, better roadability, and exceptional ease of control and quietness of operation in the car."

Plymouth Women To Drive To Southwest

Mrs. Mattie McLaren of Pennington avenue and Mrs. Robert Lee of W. Ann Arbor street are leaving Monday, by motor, for Tucson, Arizona. Mrs. Lee, who has been in ill health for some time, will remain there for the rest of the winter, where, her physician believes, the climate will be of great benefit to her health. Later she expects to visit friends in Los Angeles, Calif. Mrs. McLaren will spend most of the time with friends and relatives in Los Angeles and Santa Barbara. Both expect to return to Plymouth sometime in May.

Mr. and Mrs. Edson O. Huston were entertained at a six o'clock dinner Wednesday evening at the home of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rogers in Ann Arbor.

State Sponsors Education Month

At the request of the Michigan Educational Planning Commission, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction has designated February as "Michigan Education Month," for the purpose of bringing to the attention of the citizens of the state the values, importance, needs, and problems of education in Michigan.

In connection with the enterprise, boards of education throughout the state will be called upon to conduct "Townhall" meetings for open forum discussions of the subject.

All units of the various lay organizations represented on the Planning Commission, and other state-wide civic groups, will be asked to cooperate in arranging programs centering on the general topic. School people will be urged to give attention to the occasion through school assemblies, classroom and extra-curricular activities.

Assistance in securing speakers for local programs will be provided by local school and civic leaders as well as by the State Department and the Michigan Education Association.

Materials for speakers and for general distribution for these occasions will be furnished by the Department of Public Instruction and the Michigan Education Association.

The period designated as "Michigan Education Month" will be comparable to National Education week, as conducted by the National Education Association, except that it will concentrate on the problems pertaining to Michigan's public schools.

Flowers Blossom Out Doors In South Lyon

Nature does queer things sometimes. Mrs. W. J. Buffington tells us she went into her yard Monday and found a viola plant in bloom. She picked two or three of the blue and red blossoms as evidence of her story. The little plant seemingly had just waited for disappearance of the snow and ice which up until a few days ago had covered it to send its dainty flowers up into the world.—South Lyon Herald.

Two Badly Hurt In Auto Crash

A car driven by Karl Miller of Adams street, Plymouth, towards Northville, hit the other machine squarely at the corner near the Wayne County Training school. The two injured men were hurried to the Plymouth hospital where they were given emergency treatment. Late reports say that Willett will probably survive.

River Rouge Defeats
Plymouth Debaters

Losing to River Rouge's negative team, Plymouth debaters failed to secure the Twin Valley League debate championship of 1935 in a close contest held at the former high school, Monday, January 14.

As each school had previously won five debates with a single defeat, this contest was held to decide the league championship.

Resolved, that the federal government should adopt a policy of equalizing educational opportunity throughout the nation by means of annual grants to the several states.

Upholding the affirmative, Plymouth was represented by Jewel Starkweather, Katherine Schultz, and Jack Sessions.

The speeches were preceded by a short concert by the River Rouge school board.

Although Plymouth has lost the league championship, this school will participate in state elimination debating.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Deut. 32:7, 40): "Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations; ask thy father, and he will show thee; thy elders, and they will tell thee. For I lift up my hand to heaven, and say, I live for ever."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 276): "The home of the invalid, whom you declare to be wasting away with consumption of the blood never gave life and can never take it away,—that Life is Spirit, and that there is more life and immortality in one good motive and act, than in all the blood which ever flowed through mortal veins and simulated a corporeal sense of life."

BEREA CHAPEL

Jas. A. Davis Pastor.
Sunday School, 10:00 a. m. Evening services, 7:45 p.m. Wednesday, 7:45 p.m. Friday Prayer meeting at the home of the Pastor, 259 E. Ann Arbor. God respected not the arithmetic of our prayers—how many they are; nor the rhetoric of our prayers—how neat they are, nor the geometry of our prayers—how many they are; but the divinity of our prayers—how heart sprung they are. John Bunyan says of prayer: It will make man cease from sin, or else if he continue in sin, it will make him cease to pray. Prayer and sin cannot live together and be active in the same heart. The prayer of a righteous man availeth much.

Dondero Plans More Home Bonds

Under H. R. 2764, a bill introduced in the House of Representatives on the opening day of the 74th Congress by Congressman George A. Dondero, 17th Michigan District, the Home Owners Loan Corporation would be given authority to issue an additional sum of two billion dollars in bonds to provide for further financing of home loans.

In introducing the bill, which has been referred to the Committee on Banking and Currency, the Congressman states that the need for this financing was such as to not only warrant, but make imperative, the extension of assistance to thousands now denied because of lack of funds under the original authorization.

This information came as the result of an inquiry on the part of Secretary Berg Moore of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce. He recently wrote to the Wayne County Road Commission after several had suggested that it would be advisable to have lights placed at these popular skating places and asked if it would not be possible to have lights installed this year.

In the reply that came to him a few days ago he was advised that while there were no funds for the purpose this year, that lights might be installed along these lakes next year, providing there were sufficient funds for the purpose at that time.

The Happy Helpers of the Lutheran church met Wednesday evening with Miss Hildur Carlson at her home on Mill street and had a delightful evening. Later in the evening a complete surprise was perpetrated upon Mrs. Reginald Mowbray, one of her members when they showered her with dainty gifts.

Although it was generally known in advance that Congressman Joseph W. Byrnes of Tennessee would be the Speaker of the House of Representatives, Congressman Dondero and other Republican members of the Michigan delegation were among the number voting for Mr. Snell. Mr.

Byrnes received 317 of the 425 votes cast.

Congressman George A. Dondero announces that he still has a limited number of copies of Farmers' Bulletin No. 1738, "Farmhouse Plans," available for free distribution. Persons interested in securing a copy of this 70-page bulletin showing 40 house plans should address a postal card request to Congressman Dondero at 522 Washington Square building, Royal Oak or Box 152, Redford Station, Detroit.

Only with your cooperation, will we be able to apprehend those causing this trouble. Report immediately any disturbance that might be noted in your home or surroundings."
