Interest Jumps In Election Of Commissioners

Many Stories Circulated That Are Proven Groundless

Plymouth voters Monday in addition to voting for state and county officials, will elect three city commissioners...

There are six candidates for the city commission. Three are to be elected. There are six candidates for these three positions because of the fact that when the announcement was made in February of a primary election for these positions it looked for a time as though there would be no candidates for the places on the commission.

Only one of the commissioners had announced his intention of seeking re-election. That commissioner was John Henderson, who has served many years as a member of the old village council and of the newer city commission.

Then it was that friends of Stanley Corbett and Edward Wilson secured their consent to file petitions in their behalf, so that there would be at least three candidates for the three places to be filled. About the same time friends of Attorney Perry Ritchie secured his permission to permit petitions to be filed for him.

A number of days passed and shortly before the final time for filing, nominating petitions were secured for George Robinson and Arthur Blunk, the other two commissioners whose terms expire this spring.

It was not until their petitions were filed that any one seemed to know that they intended to seek re-election. Under the city charter where there are six candidates for these three places, there was no primary election held and the six who had filed petitions were certified for the final election.

This in brief is the explanation of why there are six candidates for three positions on the commission.

Mr. Wilson was induced to get into the contest because the north side of the city feels that it is entitled to a place on the commission. He has been in business many years on the north side and has many friends and acquaintances in all parts of the city who induced him to permit his name to be used.

Stanley Corbett when first approached about the matter absolutely said he did not care to mix in local politics.

However he finally gave his approval at a time when there was seemingly no one else who was running on the commission. Mr. Corbett has been in business here many years and is regarded as one of the outstanding men in this part of the state in his business.

He has always taken an interest in public matters, but has never before permitted his name to be used as a candidate.

Ten rules were given for the laundress to follow. Miss DuBord gave a demonstration in mauling, cleaning and spotting clothes also the washing and ironing of a silk scarf. Each lady manicured her nails, though samples of powders, rouges and creams were passed around to be tested according to types and coloring of each person.

Church To Start Special Revival

Under the slogan "A Crusade for Souls," the entire denomination of the Church of the Nazarene has launched forth in a special revival effort in all local churches and mission stations around the world. It is a crusade promoted by all general and district leaders of the church in an effort to reach a large number of the vast unchurched masses of people within this nation and in other nations where their churches are active.

The purpose of the special effort is the salvation of souls. The church of the Nazarene has had a phenomenal growth during the past 25 years due largely to her intense evangelistic fervor. She is thoroughly orthodox in her doctrinal positions. In this crusade she dares in a day of doubt and skepticism concerning revivals, to "offer a real God sent" revival through earnest and intercessory prayer and by the ministry of revivalists and pastors.

Young People To Present A Play

A short play, "Tim Third," will be given by the young people of the Methodist church Sunday evening at the regular seven-thirty evening service. The play will be under the direction of Alva Elzerman, member of the dramatic class of the high school. Membership in the cast are Alva Elzerman, Florence Norton, Clyde Up-ton, Kenneth Thumme. The play is chosen from material prepared for Boy Scout Father-Son meetings. It has a distinctly religious message and calls for high grade acting. All the acting for the play will be done by Alva Elzerman.

These young people are members of the high school dramatic club of about forty members. The club this year has given programs two or three times in places including Brightmore, Wayne County P.T.A., the local P.T.A., various country schools, The House of Correction, three of the local churches, Woman's Club, American Legion, Eastern Star and Rotary. All under the direction of Miss Ford. This is the first time the young people have tried to put on a play without her assistance.

Theatre Guild Play Delights

One of the most enjoyable events of the season was the play "The Boy in the Woods" given last evening in the high school auditorium by a talented group of young players from the Plymouth Civic Theatre Guild.

This play, one of George Kelly's most brilliant and best known plays, was sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the local Presbyterian church and was presented under the very able direction of Miss Neva M. Lovelace.

Torch Bearers and his not of the company, a very fine professional and amateur stage group but is soon to be filmed with Will Rogers as the male lead.

The action of the play concerns the rehearsal and production of a theatrical performance by an amateur group, which through its dramatic ability most highly.

Mr. Frederick Ritter, husband of the leading lady is sadly lacking in appreciation of the supposedly unusual ability of his wife and draws down the scorn of the company and his own tongue lashing from the disgusted director because he objects to having his wife make herself ridiculous before the public while "savoring under the impression that she is an artist."

Odine Hitt made most dignified and impressive Mr. Ritter and Miss Alice Gilbert gave a splendid interpretation of the stage struck Mrs. Ritter.

As Mrs. J. Duo Paminelli, director, Miss Zuepa Blunk flattered and flattered, wheedled and stormed. Eugene has been performing in the most approved fashion, thoroughly impressing everyone, except Mr. Ritter, with her dramatic temperament and humor.

Local Crippled Child Meeting

A meeting of all the heads of local service clubs, educational, patriotic societies and ministers of the several Plymouth churches was held at the Michigan Bell Telephone company on Friday evening, at 7:30 o'clock at the Mayflower hotel. This meeting is for the purpose of setting up, or in some manner perfecting a local organization or committee to handle the sale of Crippled Children stamps which are to be placed on sale throughout the entire nation during the next few weeks. Mr. Bennett, having had the local chairmanship thrust upon him, is in need of the advice and cooperation of all those whom he has asked to meet with him tonight and sincerely requests that all who were notified be present.

Strong Sentiment Here Favors Re-election Of Every One

From inquiry among the voters of Plymouth and vicinity it is apparent that both Republicans and Democrats are going to stand almost solidly behind the present judges on the circuit bench at the election on Monday.

So far there have been no opposition developed to a single one of the men who have had so much to do in making the Wayne county circuit bench one of the most outstanding in the country. Allan Campbell, local Democrats have stated that this is a time when politics can be forgotten and they plan Monday to aid in the re-election of the judges who have brought honor and distinction to the circuit bench of Wayne county.

In order that voters who plan to split their ticket may make no mistake in the election of the judges who have served this county so well, it is recommended that the following list of names be placed on the poll Monday and if a straight Republican ticket is not voted, that a cross be placed in front of each one of these names:

Vincent M. Brennan James E. Chenot Harry G. Newell Sherman D. Callendar Harry Dingeman Harry B. Keiden Homer Ferguson Ira W. Jayne W. H. Merriam Adolph Marschner Guy A. Miller Joseph A. Moynihan Lester S. Moll Theodore J. Richter Robert M. Toms Clyde I. Webster Arthur Webster

Local sentiment seems to be in favor of giving the judges as nearly a one hundred per cent vote as possible. Except for a few, all party lines have been dropped in the judicial election.

Prof. Edson R. Sunderland, of the University of Michigan Law School, who has spent years in studying American courts, writing about American courts, and doing court work under the Wayne County Circuit Court "stands at the very head of the great city courts of the United States."

Voters of Wayne County should realize, he said, "that the extraordinarily able Circuit Court which they now have was not developed in a political plunder, but is reconstructed without years of costly effort if the organization is once broken down."

"Bad as the system of popular election of judges may be, it will irreparably damage the Court if it is used by the voters merely as a means for replacing those judges who are believed in good faith and on reasonable grounds, to be unsuited for judicial service."

"But in a court which stands at the very head of the great city courts of the United States, and which has probably done more than any other to find better ways and means for administering justice in our metropolitan centers, the number of judges which could be displaced to the advantage of the public must be comparatively small."

A general turnover in personnel will be almost certain to substitute a mere aggregation of individual judges for a well-organized court working under the best direction and the closest co-operation to be found anywhere in this country.

"It would be a calamity both to Detroit and to the Nation if the voters should treat the judgeship as mere political plunder, and by distributing the offices at random among the candidates destroy the efficiency of the Court."

Crowe Recovers From Operation

Roy Crowe, manager of the Plymouth district of the Michigan Bell Telephone company, is recovering from a serious operation performed Tuesday morning at the Highland Park General hospital. Mr. Crowe has not been in good health for sometime but it was not until a few days ago that an X-ray examination revealed his difficulty. Reports Thursday from the hospital stated that he was getting along as nicely as could be expected and that he was on the road to a rapid recovery providing no serious complications develop. It is expected that he will be away from his position for two months or more.

Plymouth Plans Active Part In Local Building Organizations To Encourage House Building In The City

Secretary Moore, who has been keeping in constant touch with state FHA headquarters, reports that the state wide campaign for gaining momentum daily and that the time is ripe for Plymouth to fall in line.

According to George A. Smith, chairman of the Plymouth FHA committee, plans are being carefully laid to coincide with the public mass meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday, April 12th, at the hotel Mayflower. A well informed speaker will go over all angles of the Federal Housing Act at this meeting but the main purpose of the meeting is to afford an opportunity for residents of Plymouth and vicinity interested in repairing, modernizing, or new building to obtain complete information relating to Titles 1 and 2 of this legislation by asking questions during an informal discussion following the talk. It is the hope of the local FHA committee that all Plymouth women's civic organizations will unite in sponsoring this meeting.

Local interests were well represented at a series of meetings under the direction of Raymond Foley, State Housing Director, held at the Hotel Statler in Detroit Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of last week. Mr. Foley reported these significant figures: out of a total of 503 postoffices in Michigan, FHA campaigns have been or are being conducted in 376 communities including all cities and towns of any size. Based upon these figures, Mr. Foley estimates that 95 per cent of the urban population of the state will have the message of better housing brought to them through the last available figures. Michigan ranked in 7th place nationally in the number of loans extended under Title No. 1, and inquiries have been coming in to state headquarters pertaining to the construction of Title No. 2 at a rate that may temporarily swamp their present staff since the state legislature passed enabling laws last month.

Says Trend Now Is Socialistic

About one hundred sat down to the Baptist Fellowship supper Monday night. The Ladies Aids upheld their reputation for fine suppers. The preliminary program consisted of chorus singing, and two groups of songs each by the Whipple trio and the high school glee quartette. The numbers judging from the applause were greatly appreciated.

Dr. Hoover acted very acceptably as toastmaster. The speaker of the evening was Prof. J. H. Turnbull from the Lincoln Consolidated Schools near Ypsilanti. His topic was the "Trend of the Times." Somewhat more political than his former address but never-the-less interesting and the earnestness with which he dined his facts and argument was very convincing.

He recalled how we elected Wilson president the second term "to keep us out of war" and in thirty days war was declared. He produced proof that the direct cost of the war was $100,000,000,000. It cost the United States some thirty-nine billions not to mention the thousands of dead and cripples, flower of our manhood, and Allies owe us double and above as good chances to Germany as it would have been if Germany had won the war.

He deplored the ever increasing concentrating of wealth and his grip on the nation. He did not favor Communism or the other extreme but intimated Socialism was the middle of the road course which was growing in favor.

The next meeting the last Monday in April the men will entertain the ladies. A forceful speaker from Detroit has been engaged.

Mrs. A. J. Allen, Mrs. Paul Healy, Mrs. Sidney Bakerwell, Mrs. Oren Merrill, Mrs. Ralph Reyes and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Draper of Detroit were luncheon guests Wednesday at Mrs. C. G. Draper at her home on Church street.

Be Sure And Vote Monday

No matter what political party you belong to, no matter who the candidates are that you might favor for office, assert your rights and vote Monday. Frequently elections in Wayne county as well as in various cities and states have been controlled by minorities. This cannot happen if ALL the people vote. Take the time Monday to go to the polls and vote. Let's make it as nearly a one hundred per cent vote as ever cast in Plymouth and this part of Wayne county.

Smith Approves School Change

Local Member Of State Board Would Terminate State School. George R. Smith, superintendent of the Plymouth public schools who was recently appointed by Governor Frank Fitzgerald and confirmed by the state senate as a member of the state institute for the State Board of Education, recently expressed his views in an article in the Coldwater Daily Reporter about the proposed change in connection with the state school at Coldwater.

Mr. Smith's views will be of interest to his many friends in Plymouth. The article follows: I trust I will not be imposing upon you by writing you relative to the bill in the Legislature relating to the future of Coldwater. In order to place myself in your mind, would say that in 1892 I was a ward of the Coldwater State Public School between April and August, and ever since I have had a particularly large interest in other boys and girls who will travel the same paths that I have traveled. I was a member of the Board of Control of the State Public School under Governor Sleeper, was a member and secretary of the Institute Commission under Governors Green and Brucker, and I am re-appointed as a member under Governor Fitzgerald.

Because of my love for the institution which offered me opportunity as a boy, I was at first opposed to the proposition of abolishing Coldwater as a home for normal boys and girls, but during the six years that I acted as a home in boarding homes, because the behavior characteristics which prevented them from making good in free homes disappeared after four or six months in a good boarding home. The boys and girls come to the homes for normal boys and girls do not have to be paid, and in that home make good.

I also found that the above is not only true for problem cases but it is equally true for any normal boy or girl. It would have to be a particularly poor type of home which didn't offer better opportunities for a normal boy or girl than would the best type of an orphan institution.

There are many homes in Michigan which are glad to accept boys and girls at a nominal fee and give them just the advantages which an orphan boy or girl needs before a free home is found in which they would be happy, and by actual figures, the cost of operation of the State Public School at Coldwater is twenty to twenty-five per cent more than the cost of boarding the same children in boarding homes.

I imagine there are some people living in Coldwater who feel as I did before I knew the fact relating to the relative merits of the state institution and boarding homes for normal boys and girls, but I am sure that if they had the benefit of my experience in dealing with Coldwater, that not one person would be opposed to the change in the policy recommended by the Governor to the Legislature and endorsed by every social and child-caring agency in Michigan.

The European Crisis By WALTER LIPPMAN

THE EVENTS leading up to the new crisis in Europe have been enacted on a stage which extends east and west from London to Tokio, north and south from Berlin to Rome. They involve all the governments which were engaged in the World War up to April, 1917.

And it stimulated a feverish search for some sort of truce between Germany and her neighbors. It was the formula for such a truce that Sir John Simon was to take to Berlin next week. This is the apparent that Hitler has just upset.

It would be foolish to attempt to guess the outcome. One can be certain only that the tension in Europe will be greatly increased and that the race of armaments will be intensified.

Scully Fired To Create New Job

Detroit Republican Gets Job Filled By Local Democrats

Such is politics — Edward H. Scully of Plymouth who has served for nearly two years past as one of the efficient field representatives of the state sales tax administration, was advised Saturday that his services with the state would terminate on March 31 and that some Detroit Republican had been appointed to fill his place.

Mr. Scully was selected to the position he has filled so creditably since the enactment of the sales tax law. Almost immediately he proved himself not only a most efficient but a most agreeable official and because of the courteous and excellent way he conducted the business of his office, he won the admiration of every one he contacted in connection with his duties.

Although he was appointed under a Democratic administration, there have been many Republicans who had hoped that Mr. Scully would not be removed from his present position, but that is not the new way of present day politics, declared one well known Plymouth business man when he learned of the discharge of Mr. Scully.

From the beginning of the Roosevelt campaign, Mr. Scully has been active in Democratic politics. It has been through his efforts that most of the Democratic rallies and meetings have been held in this locality.

He stated Monday that he has no immediate plans for the future. While he has been expected to be discharged in order to make place for some new Republican appointee, he stated that the notice had come sooner than he had anticipated.

While Plymouth has given the Republican party the largest Republican majorities of any city of its size in Michigan during the past four years, so far not a single Republican has been selected to a state position from this locality although numerous appointments have been made from smaller and less loyal Republican communities.

Evils in the minority are repugnant, in the majority they are respectable.

Cowan High Type Public Official

In the apparent indifference to public affairs, as shown by certain officials in the conduct of the peoples business, it is reassuring to know that we have as Chairman of the important Board of County Auditors an outstanding public official like Mr. John C. Cowan—a man who stands for progress, but not radicalism—for a full and complete knowledge of county affairs has resulted in substantial savings to Wayne County taxpayers in recent years.

For instance, economies which he instituted in the cost of carrying for tubercular patients alone resulted in savings of more than one million dollars in the years 1933 and 1934. Even today a saving of fifteen hundred dollars daily is being effected by Mr. Cowan's enterprise.

The eminently sensible trend of Mr. Cowan's votes on the Board of Auditors, his solicitude for minority groups, and his well-seasoned familiarity with county affairs merit for him admiration and support.

Mr. John C. Cowan's experience, ability and sound public service are of particular value to our citizens during the period of economic reconstruction through which our community and nation are now passing.

A vote for Mr. Cowan on Monday is a vote for representative government and a vote for an official always on the job and ever watchful of your business.

Smith Approves School Change

The recommendation of the Institute Commission two years ago was that the school be discontinued for normal boys and girls, and that a home be purchased in Ann Arbor adjacent to the University, and that all incoming children come into this home for the quarantine period, during which time all medical advantages of the University Hospital could be given to the children before being placed in boarding homes. This seems to me to be the ideal way to care for dependent, normal boys and girls.

It was the recommendation of the Institute Commission further that Coldwater be made available to the Hospital Commission in order to care for the upper mental levels of the boys and girls now at Lapeer, in an institution similar to the Wayne County Training School which takes boys and girls who cannot do well in the public school as now organized and gives them industrial training such that they may go out into the world and make their own livelihood. I personally feel there is no institution in the state doing more for society in the future than is an institution of the type of Wayne County Training school, because it is from the groups such as are cared for at the above Training school that, if they are neglected and allowed to form into gangs, will become a criminal menace to the future, while on the other hand, if given proper training, they will become useful, happy, and good citizens in the future. The availability of the Coldwater School to aid the state in solving its big problem relative to the training of the boys and girls who react more slowly than the average mentally would save the state a large sum of money because of the immense waiting list to be absorbed as rapidly as possible in the Lapeer school.

I have tried to set up the picture as it appeared to the Institute Commission two years ago and definitely appears to me at the present time, and if there is any question in your mind, or in the mind of any person as to why the Commission drew the above conclusions, I shall be very happy to correspond with them or write further upon the subject if you wish to have me do so.

Sincerely,
GEO. R. SMITH,
Supt. of Schools

Bigger Crops Is Plan of Farmers

Michigan farmers are generally planning on increased crop acreages for the coming season compared with those harvested last year according to the acreage intentions report which was released today by the Michigan Co-operative Crop Reporting Service. This survey which is made annually by the Department of Agriculture is based upon reports from approximately 2,000 farms throughout the State and is published in order that growers may make any further changes in their planting programs that they consider advisable. While the prospective acreages of the major field crops indicated for harvest in 1935 are without exception above the areas harvested in 1934, in only two cases—corn and potatoes—does it seem likely that the 1935 acreages will exceed their corresponding averages for the 5-year period, 1929-33.

For the ten major field crops, including winter wheat and rye, sown in 1934 less indicated winter abandonment, the prospective acreage for harvest in 1935 is estimated at 7,154,000 acres. This compares with 6,908,000 acres harvested in 1934, 6,951,000 for 1933, and 7,078,000 in 1932. The planted acreage for these crops in 1934, which is not directly comparable with the 1935 harvest-accrue indications, was 6,969,000 acres. This figure allows for abandonment of spring-sown crops but excludes winter abandonment of wheat and rye.

Many Michigan dairymen have fed their stock this past winter with one eye on the hay mow and the granary, and with feed grain and forage supplies running low, they are planning on an increased acreage of corn this coming year. The corn acreage reduction called for in the 1935 corn hog program is less than that required in 1934. The indicated acreage of corn for harvest in 1935 in Michigan is 1,462,000 acres as against 1,392,000 acres harvested in 1934, and 1,324,000, the average for the preceding five years. Michigan farmers are also planning on increasing their oats acreage above the comparatively small area harvested last season, but as yields and cash returns per acre have been unsatisfactory on this crop for two successive years, the prospective 1935 acreage is still below the 5-year average. Reports to the Department point to a 1935 oats acreage of 1,283,000 as against 1,222,000 harvested in 1934. In the main shipping sections where growers have realized a premium for commercial barley, the early season acreage reports disclose some tendency to increase the acreage of this crop, but in other areas where barley is grown primarily for feed purposes, this is not the case. The indicated harvest-accrue for barley in 1935 has been placed at 199,000 acres which is 11,000 acres more than the area harvested a year ago, but 64,000 acres less than the average for the 1929-1933 period.

Local Exhibitor At Flower Show

Saturday, March 30 the Michigan Flower Show opens at Convention hall Detroit. Among the exhibitors will be Mrs. Viola B. Dailey of 409 Plymouth Road who is planning an unusually attractive display of early American glass.

Mrs. Dailey is planning complete table arrangements of old glass and since white flowers will figure very prominently this year one of her tables will be entirely of the old white milk glass combined with white flowers. She will also display a large collection of very old English flower prints.

If Michigan bean growers carry out their 1935 acreage plans and providing there are no unusual losses of plantings, the probable acreage of this crop for harvest in 1935 would be 530,000 acres.

Coolerator

The Air Conditioned Refrigerator

FULL FAMILY SIZE Air Conditioned REFRIGERATOR COSTS ONLY $72.15

SO NEW, so startlingly different is Coolerator from any refrigerator you have ever known, that it changes all your ideas of dependable, economical home refrigeration.

Ice cubes in five minutes! No mingling of food odors! No more need to cover dishes! No more drying out of foods! All in a refrigerator that costs only 1/3 of what you'd expect to pay—a refrigerator that 65,500 women already herald as the greatest new advance in the whole field of refrigeration.

Coolerator differs from all other refrigerators because of its patented air conditioning chamber, which washes and humidifies the air and passes it through the food chamber several times each minute. This moist air does not rob food of its own moisture and flavor, but does absorb and carry away food odors.

Coolerator uses ice for its refrigerant, but in a different way than it has ever been used before. For example: one icing lasts from 4 to 7 days. Another: ice melts flat—from bottom of cake.

Prove these facts in your own home, with a free ten-day trial of one of the beautiful new 1935 Coolerators.

HOME MODELS FROM $30 TO $150 There's an air conditioned Coolerator for every budget. Larger models for commercial use. Ask us to explain how Coolerator reduces refrigerating costs.

Forgets About Deserted Auto

Every one knows that Paul Weidman is busy. busy as can be these days.

But everyone doesn't know that he is so busy that he will leave an automobile right in the middle of a street and forget that it is there for several days.

The story is not a long one—but it shows what one will do when his mind is overflowing with many matters.

Mr. Weidman has been walking to work for some time past, the big demand for Ford cars keeping him stripped of machines even to use for himself.

It was unusual—like California weather—the other day when he found that he had a used Ford car that he could drive home.

Arising early in the morning, he started to drive down to the Ford garage. Over on Harvey street, the machine went dead.

He discovered that he was out of gas and he left the machine beside curb and started to walk down to the garage to bring gas back to the car.

Arriving at the garage he was immediately flooded with work and all thought of the machine he had left in the street went from his mind.

Three days later one of his salesmen asked him where that used Ford car was that he drove home, he had sold it and wanted to deliver it to the customer.

"Car? What car?" asked Mr. Weidman.

"The one that you drove early in the week," said the salesman.

"Why it must be here, I haven't used it for some time," declared the hard working Mr. Weidman.

Then the search began, but without results.

New Exterior Makes Old Home Look Young

Provided the physical structure is still sound, the exterior of an old house frequently can be brought up to date at small cost.

Money for improvements of this kind can now be obtained from your local bank or other financial institution through the credit facilities made available by the National Housing Act.

Paint is the great restorer of exterior appearances. Some times, however, the exterior surface is either out-worn or out-dated, in which case a new surface is required.

There are many materials on the market which lend themselves to this use. New clappingboard, new shingles, waterproof composition board, a coating of stucco or a veneer of brick, are the most common methods of resurfacing. The modern trend is toward simplicity of design. Removal of ginger-bread ornaments or fancy trim will usually make a house look younger.

Property owners are urged to do needed work of this kind during Plymouth's Better Housing Program which is now under way.

Labor and material prices are such that they make improvements of this kind a good investment at the present time.

As business conditions improve, prices rise and investments in property modernization increase in value.

Local Problems Are Discussed

Ed. Gayde, former member of the village council and for years one of the active workers for various improvements in Plymouth, does not believe that the plan advanced several years ago for an improvement to the entrance of Riverside cemetery should be permitted to die without another effort being made to have the work completed.

"I think maybe as long as the Plymouth Rotary club members last Friday, Mr. Gayde told the efforts made a few years ago by the city to secure the old Streng place lying between the park and the cemetery, the city using the top side of the hill for a new cemetery entrance and the county taking over the land lying at the foot of the hill for additional park purposes.

"The modern trend is toward simplicity of design. Removal of ginger-bread ornaments or fancy trim will usually make a house look younger.

County P.T.A. To Present Play At Dearborn On Friday Eve, April 5th

With the hearty endorsement of educators and persons interested in the Drama, the Detroit Drama Guild presents its first production of the spring season under the sponsorship of the Wayne County Parent-Teachers Association.

The play, which is a fast-moving comedy, based on the mistaken identity of two sets of twins, provides an evening of hilarious fun.

The Detroit Drama Guild, which is an outgrowth of the Detroit Junior Players is a unique organization. It is cooperative in principal with the establishment of scholarships for its members and for talented students of the Detroit high schools especially interested in the professional stage as its aim.

According to Charles Pinkerman, president of the Guild, the company hopes to interest organizations who wish to raise money for purposes of their own on a percentage basis.

Tickets for the performance at Dearborn high school auditorium, under the direction of Marguerite Shinnin may be procured from local P.T.A. presidents.

Increase Shown In '35 Licenses

Business is better if the issuance of automobile license plates at the Plymouth branch office of the secretary of state is any indication.

Secretary Berg Moore stated yesterday that he had issued over 250 more sets of new plates than were issued a year ago up to this time.

The first quarter does not end until Saturday night, and that is when we generally compare averages so I will not know until the week is over just how much of an increase we have experienced, but I do know that it will be a considerable one over last year," stated Mr. Moore.

The percentage of increase in Plymouth is much greater than that experienced in most other places and reflects the better business conditions prevailing in this locality.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT KEPT BUSY

The high school girls' double quartet and the high school orchestra have been very busy during the past week. Last Sunday evening, March 24, the double quartet sang "Jubilate, Amen," by Kjerulf, at the service of the Methodist Church. At this time, Robert Van Meter also played a violin solo. Last Monday evening the girls sang two selections at a supper in the Baptist church, including "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," by Sietz, and "A Brown Bird Singing," by Wood. Tuesday they sang at a meeting of the Episcopalian ladies' auxiliary, held at the house of Mrs. Strong.

Last Friday evening, March 22, members of the first orchestra played several pieces at the play, "Torch Bearers," and tonight they will furnish music for the annual Gym Demonstration.

FORD V-8

In A Class By Itself

THERE is no way to compare the Ford V-8 with any other car because there is no other car like it.

The Ford enables you to step up into the fine-car class in performance, beauty, comfort and safety. But there is no stepping up in price. That is kept down by Ford low-profit policies and unique manufacturing methods. These are as different as the car itself.

It takes eight cylinders to give the modern performance you need these days. The Ford is powered by a V-8—the finest type of eight-cylinder engine. You have to pay more than $2000 for that in any other car.

Grange Notes

The Plymouth Grange met at the Plymouth Grange Hall Thursday evening, March 21. Following the business meeting a short program was presented. A surprise feature proving very interesting and instructive was presented by Mrs. Louise Hutton. Mr. J. W. Hutchins gave two readings on "Clucks." It is with genuine regret that we announce this as a farewell. Mr. Hutchins is leaving our Grange and moving to Muskegon. It is our hope, however, that this will be only a temporary absence.
The next regular meeting of the Plymouth Grange will be held at the Grange Hall Thursday evening, April 4, at 8:00 p.m. We are working for an interesting program and it is hoped that all members will make an effort to be present.
The Wayne County Pomona Grange will meet at the Methodist church at Belleville, Saturday, March 30. The business meeting for fifth degree members will be held at 11:30 a.m. A potluck dinner for all at 12:30 will be followed by an open meeting in the afternoon at which time everyone is welcome. Among other interesting program features will be discussions regarding the timely subjects of "Rural Rehabilitation" and "Educational Legislation."

You Can't Go Wrong With Firestone

Tires on Your Car!

There's a surprising lot of difference in tires. Many of them look at first glance as though they would give ample service, but when put on the car and placed in use, they fall far short of rendering the service that was expected of them. That's because they were made of an inferior quality of material and perhaps with less than standard workmanship.

This is not the case with FIRESTONES, with their extra quality of materials and perfect workmanship combining to produce a tire that you just can't go wrong on. Firestone laboratories carefully test the materials that go into these tires before they are used, to make certain the tire will emerge from the factory line 100 per cent perfect. Only the best and most skillful workmanship is used in the construction of a FIRESTONE tire—so, when these tires are offered you with the assurance that you will get plenty of service from them, your dealer is acting with absolute confidence. For day in and day out that is the experience enjoyed by thousands using FIRESTONES.

This is the season and now is the time to see that your car is equipped with tires that enable you to handle your car with perfect confidence. The deep heavy tread of FIRESTONE will bring your car to a sudden stop the moment you apply the brakes or hold your car in a true line on the road no matter how slippery. Drive in today and let us show you one of these sturdy tires. Note the construction and see if you don't agree that it is all that a tire should be.

Family Jobs Are Political Rocks

Governor Has Same Peril As Confronted By Comstock

State representative Vernon J. Brown in an article appearing in the last issue of his paper, The Ingham County News, points out one of the reasons why affairs in Lansing have progressed but little towards an improved condition. A portion of Mr. Brown's article follows:

Several weeks ago, in this column I predicted that danger confronted the Fitzgerald ship of state. I pointed to the shoals of patronage and the fogs of intrigue and vote swapping and payroll padding in order to satisfy the demands of certain senators regarding jobs for constituents which shrouded those shoals. At that time I did not mention certain house members because their machinations at that time were only surmised. Now they are known. Last week the republicans baited a trap with some patronage cheese. Three veteran republicans were caught.

When this subject was being discussed in a previous letter, senators only were pointed to. Then it was predicted that the Fitzgerald administration was being menaced by job grabbers and self-seeking political forces. Figuratively we painted the Fitzgerald craft being wrecked on the rocks of patronage. Clever mariners in the senate rode out in that storm and steered the craft into calmer waters.

Then along came the special elections which returned four republicans to the house to take the places made vacant when three republicans and one democrat lost their lives in the Kerns hotel fire. The elections gave the republicans 51 votes to 49 which could have been mastered by the democrats, that is to say, the elections should have brought this result. But they did not.

One J. Earl McNitt of Wexford district has long played a clever game at Lansing. He has posed as a great Grange member, but around the capitol has been looked upon as chief friend of the contractors and equipment and materials men interested in highway legislation. In fact, Representative McNitt himself boasted of this connection and when he became candidate for republican speaker of the house he based such candidacy chiefly on the fact that because of such connections he could command certain democratic votes also under option by these same highway interests. He was not elected and has sulked in his corner since.

One William Green hails from that section of the state where local government exists largely from largess supplied from state taxes collected in other sections of the state. He is past master in designing new methods of state aid for his particular locality, chief accomplishment of which is the ten cents an acre chiseled out of the game license fund for local government in the counties he serves. Green is an able vote swapper on most any bill. He also has a pet peeve against Governor Fitzgerald.

Then from that same section of Michigan, Alpena county, comes one Henry Douville. Henry was down at Lansing as a member of the 1931 legislature. At that time through some strange influence over Speaker Fred J. Ming, Mr. Douville, a first timer received some very important committee assignments which he turned to good advantage in securing jobs for members of his family. This year he did not fare so well. He had some difficulty getting all the jobs the Douville family could use. He threatened to bolt the republican caucus and vote against the administration. A son was given a job under Murray W. VanWagoner, democratic highway commissioner.

It will be recalled by the reader that among the measures sponsored as a part of the Fitzgerald program is taking the highway department out of politics by making the job of commissioner appointive and by the creation of a staggered non-partisan commission to be appointed by the governor, no governor being able to change the political complexion of the board during a single term of office. The Fitzgerald program is taking the highway department out of politics by making the job of commissioner appointive and by the creation of a staggered non-partisan commission to be appointed by the governor, no governor being able to change the political complexion of the board during a single term of office.

The conviction is growing that until Michigan is relieved of this damnable system of political jobbery from which the taxpayers have suffered so great an injury and which in these days of economic distress appears to grow in intensity and its menacing influence, rather than to ease its unbearable costs, until Michigan can cast off this evil thing, there is no hope for better government. Many are heard expressing the hope that soon a proper system of state employment under which merit and not cheap partisan politics shall govern, may be designed and adopted.

Indian Skulls Provide Puzzle

Why certain Indians of Michigan bored neat holes in the skull and leg bones of some of their dead is a problem still without a good clue to the answer. Dr. W. D. Hinsdale, of the University of Michigan Museum of Anthropology, told the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters, meeting here, he reported on several such skeletons found near Flat Rock and Farmington.

The leg bones from near Farmington, are the first to be found showing this peculiarity, having small holes bored near the joints. This gives some plausibility to the theory that skeletons of the dead were strung together like jointed dolls and used in some ceremonial fashion at feasts of the dead. Some tribes, especially the Hurons are known to have held such religious or magical ceremonies. Dr. Hinsdale states:

The skulls containing holes which have been found from time to time were obviously bored after death. The holes averaged about a half-inch at the surface and usually taper neatly inward. Apparently they were drilled with a stone instrument similar to an arrowhead. They occur in the skulls of men, women and children, Dr. Hinsdale reports. The skull openings were definitely not trephannings, which is a surgical process ordinarily performed on living persons and involving the sawing out of a circle or "button" of bone, either for medical reasons or to secure a magical amulet. Trephanning was done by the Indians, however, and Dr. Hinsdale has one such skull which shows that healing had progressed after the operation.

Various theories have been advanced to explain the strange skull borings. One is that the holes were intended for strings or thongs, by which the skull could be carried about, but none of the openings show signs of wear to support this, while the holes are often in inconvenient places for such purpose. Another possibility is that the holes were intended to release evil spirits supposed to be in the bodies of those dying of disease, while, according to a third theory, the Indians believed that the soul made trips in and out of the body after death, and bored the holes for its convenience.

Tremendous Effort

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

SILICON

SILICON is the most abundant solid element in nature. Young James Abbot MacNeil Whistler, a cadet at the United States Military Academy, may have known that once. But if he did, he forgot it one day in 1854, when he was writing an examination in chemistry and was called upon to define silicon, he just had to "make a stab at it."

His guess wasn't a good one. He was "found" in chemistry—that's West Point phraseology for "found deficient." Also he was "husted out" of the academy, thereby ending what should have been a promising military career.

But as it turned out, the dismissed cadet was even greater distinction in another field. He became one of America's best artists—the painter of the world's most famous "Mother" pictures.

Perhaps there were other errors in his chemistry examination paper. But we leave Whistler's apostrophe to that. If silicon had been a noxious gas, it might have been a James A. Mather's "stab at it."

The store had been visited Sunday night by thieves, and Mr. Conner estimates the loss in goods at about $50. The same fellow or fellows pried up a rear window in Felix Freydl's tailor shop and several suits of clothes and pants made up for customers and every piece of cloth, a total value of $250 was taken, a serious loss to Mr. Freydl.

The Story of the Bible Told in Pictures

The Serpent Deceives Eve; Man's Shameful Fall.—After God created heaven and earth and populated the earth with all manner of living things, He made man in His own image, putting him in the Garden of Eden to care for it. He saw that Adam was lonely and caused a deep sleep to fall upon him. From one of man's ribs God then fashioned woman, and warned the pair not to eat of the fruit of the tree of knowledge, threatening them with death if they disregarded His commands. But the serpent told Eve not to be afraid, "and she took the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her; and he did eat."—Gen. 3: 1-6. One of a series of Bible pictures by Matthew Merian, Seventeenth century engraver.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
Loy Sutherland, Minister
Imperfect as the church is and entangled with the complex and disturbing social and economic order, weakened as it is by divisions, and handicapped by unnerve living, it remains within the one institution that exists to rebuild a broken world through the law of the cross. But Christ's church is often a caricature of him who gave it birth.
The time is ripe for another return of Christianity to the multitudes, who seldom if ever enter our churches. — Edgar DeWitt Jones.

The pastor is bringing two messages next Sunday based upon the picture subjects which have recently been placed and dedicated in our church. At ten o'clock the one entitled "I Am The Good Shepherd" will be used, and at the evening service at seven, "Come Unto Me." The music will also center about these subjects and we invite you to worship with us as we consider these great paintings, which are the artists conception of Jesus own words and life.

and that there is none else." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 275): "All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause, and effect belong to God. These are His attributes, the eternal manifestations of the infinite divine Principle, Love. No wisdom is wise but His wisdom; no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is Life but the divine; no good is, but the good God bestows."

There is no substitute for the services of an eyesight specialist, but proper lighting helps to protect eyes good and bad, young and old. Your child's eyesight is far too precious to gamble with. His eyes are one of his most important possessions, and defective vision will handicap him in his school activities, in his studies, in later life. Poor lighting is a major cause of crippled eyesight . . . figures show that one out of every five school children has defective vision. Is YOUR home lighting adequate? You owe it to him to see that he has GOOD lighting now in these critical years.
Here are 5 simple rules that will assure reasonably good lighting in your home. They are practical and easy to follow: (1) Use correct size lamp bulbs—"WATTS." In table and floor lamps with three sockets, use 40 watts in each socket; with two sockets, 60 watts; with one socket, 100 watts. (2) Have at least one-tenth as much light in the rest of the room as you have on your book, newspaper, sewing, etc. (3) Use SHADES on all lamp bulbs to prevent GLARE. (4) Use shades with light-colored linings to get the most light. (5) Have enough lighting fixtures or portable lamps to insure the proper intensity of light throughout the room.

Will Celebrate Golden Wedding

Tuesday, April 2nd, out at Frain's Lake Inn on Ann Arbor road some 75 or 100 relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Carter who lives out west of Salem, will help them celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. The gathering is going to be rather a large one as there are so many friends and old neighbors who want to do something to help make merry such an important event in the lives of this well known farmer and his wife.

The affair is going to take place in the evening and it promises to be a most delightful event. Mr. and Mrs. Carter have lived for over 26 years in their present neighborhood. Both are in good health and they carry on their usual farm duties. They attend the Salem Federated church and take an active interest in its affairs.

There are four children, Chas. Carter of Salem township, Walter Jr. of Superior township in Washtenaw county, Mrs. Herman Follbaum of Flat Rock and Mrs. Gordon Smith who resides near Ypsilanti.

Mr. Carter was born near Toronto, Canada in 1860 and came with his parents to reside in Wyandotte when but three years of age. Since that time he has always lived in this part of the state. The bride of the golden wedding was formerly Jennie Tyre and she was born in Paisley, Scotland in 1866. Her parents came to Detroit when she was a babe. She too has spent the remainder of her life in this locality.

Among the guests at the celebration will be all the children, 15 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

TRUE SUCCESS

by Lawrence Hawthorne

What is this thing men call Success? How is it gained? What does it cost? Can it bring lasting happiness. Or is it often quickly lost?

So many times, these thoughts return To one who searches day by day For lessons that will help him learn To gather joys along life's way.

No doubt, there is a true Success That brings contentment, peace and cheer. There must be benefits that bless The lives of those who persevere!

But greater far than wealth or might, Or all the honors fame extends, Are the faithful, trusting smiles that light The faces of a few old friends.

New Front Signs To Tell Story Of Famous Shrine

Manager Harry Lush of the Penniman-Allen theatre has just added to the front of the theatre some of the latest designed electric theatre advertisement sign holders. Sidney Corbett Monday completing the electrical work. The new display cases add greatly to the general appearance of the theatre and makes possible an ideal arrangement for the printed announcement of the forthcoming shows.

Patrons of the Penniman-Allen have been enjoying some of the best productions of the current year in recent weeks. Manager Lush says he has also been fortunate in some of his bookings for the immediate future and that some of the most popular of the new pictures will be shown here soon, in addition to the excellent bookings that have been made for the next few showings.

Ford Inspects His Busy Plants

Henry Ford and a number of other high in the administrative circles of the Ford Motor company were visitors during the past weeks to the various little Ford factories in this part of Wayne county. He spent considerable time at the new plant being erected on Newburg Lake. From there they drove to the Plymouth plant on the east end of Plymouth lake. It was his first visit to this plant since the completion of the new parkway development and it is stated that he expressed himself as highly pleased with the improvement that has taken place on the north side of the city.

Visits were made also to the Phoenix plant, Waterford and on over to Northville.

The various Ford factories in this section are running full time and employing many extra men. No hat covers all wisdom.

Shear Tells Of Severe Ice Test

The United States weather bureau was called upon last year to cooperate with Frigidaire Division. General Motors Corporation in designating some of the hottest places in the United States so that the performance of the Frigidaire super freezer could be checked under the most adverse conditions, according to Carl Shear, of The Plymouth Bulk Sales Co., local Frigidaire representative.

"After all laboratory tests had been completed," said Mr. Shear, "and the units were pronounced ready for sale, several hundred of them were installed in the southwestern sections that are noted for terrifically high temperatures. Several months of such service, with these refrigerators in daily use in the homes of users, proved that the super freezer indeed was a remarkable development. Large quantities of ice cubes were frozen in short periods. So plentiful were these cubes of cold while the thermometer outside was registering from 100 to 120 degrees that oftentimes less fortunate neighbors could be supplied with ample table ice. And food always was kept well below the safety line of 50 degrees.

This super freezer is one of the principal attractions at the special showing of 1935 Frigidaire which starts March 21st at 640 Starkweather. During this showing its many advantages will be demonstrated and explained—how and why it freezes more quickly, with some of the intricate details of refrigeration made as plain as A B C.

"And then, too," continued Mr. Shear, "we are going to show the public ice trays that can't stick as so many now do; a hydrator that is far beyond a mere vegetable pan, a real hydrator that virtually works miracles with fruits and vegetables, porcelain that resists stains; quick-freeze ice trays that will release one cube or twenty, just as they may be needed. Other features of this year's models include: interior lighting, automatic reset, defrosting, special space for tall bottles and containers, utility food compartment baskets, removable service shelves which can be used as trays, a cold control for dessert freezing with various freezing speeds for various recipes, a quick freezing control for faster, ice making and a number of other convenience features."

Select May First As Time For Exhibit Of Home Furnishings

The Home Economics Extension women of Wayne county are just about to complete three years of the Home Furnishing Project offered by Michigan State College at East Lansing. The first year's project was "Making The House Homelike Without Cost." The discussions during this first year's work were studying color combinations, making rugs of old materials, arranging furniture to serve the best purpose and planning the background of a room.

In the second year's work old chairs were reconditioned, slip covers were made to brighten up impossible chairs, old furniture was refinished, and the twenty-fourth day of April, next at ten o'clock in the forenoon at said Court Room be appointed for hearing said petition.

This past year's work was based on making and recognizing attractive furnishing. Thus far the groups have studied Block Printing, fabrics for articles to be used in the home, recognizing suitable flowers in suitable containers with pleasing color combinations.

The most loving are the most lovable.

Depressions are but preludes to prosperity.

SENIOR BIOGRAPHIES

Edythe Marguerite Donnelly was born on February 27, 1917 in Plymouth. This pretty brown-haired girl entered the kindergarten here and has attended the Plymouth schools ever since. She has found much pleasure in taking various clubs such as the Leader's Club, Girl Reserves, Glee Club, Basketball Club, and the Travel Club. It happens that the dislikes spinach; she also dislikes shorthand. She has spent several summer vacations at Harbor Beach which she enjoys very much. Edythe enjoys reading and does a great deal of it. She also enjoys cooking and we hear she can make good cake frosting. She remarked that she loves to drive. She has a number of great ambitions but I was told that these secrets which can't be disclosed. Sometime she wants to ride in an airplane.

Elwood Kenter Elliott otherwise known as El, was born in Hilldale, Michigan, February 20, 1917. When he was eight years old he moved to the Hi-Y and Torch clubs. Although his favorite hobby is athletics Elwood says that his favorite pastime is "having a good time" whatever he means by that. He is very partial to purple blue shirts but dislikes pink ties and suspenders, preferring a belt to hold his pants up with. He is one of the few women haters left in the class but by all indications he is graduating as a weakling. Elwood says that his future after leaving Plymouth high is as yet very hazy but sooner or later the mist will clear and there's no use worrying about it till it does.

Alvah William Elzerman was born June 29, 1916 in Detroit, Michigan, in fact where the City Airport is now located. My what a flighty life he must have had while he lived there. He moved to his present residence at the age of four and joined the forces of the 35 class in the kindergarten. Except for a brief period when he attended the Starkweather School, he has traveled all the way through the twelve grades with the present class. During his four years of high school he has belonged to the Hi-Y, Torch, Drama, Travel, and Aggie Clubs, dramatics being one of his main activities. He played leading roles in both the Junior and senior plays and has been in numerous one-act plays. He has also played on some of the interclass teams and taken part in the various Stunt Night performances. His favorite color is blue and the one he likes least is yellow. He also likes lots of jewelry as can be seen by the large blue, gold, and various other colored rings, tie pins, collar pins, etc. that he wears. Alvah's favorite pastime seems to be driving around town with Yvonne and telling people what little sleep he has had and how hard he worked yesterday or a week ago yesterday. He says that after graduating he intends to stay close to home and "farm it" and make a big name for himself in the small town.

Doris Ellen Fishlock was born in Plymouth, Michigan on October 19, 1918, and she has lived here all of her life except two years which she spent at Grosse Pointe. Doris' hobbies, besides her reading and dramatics, are collecting interesting pictures, stones, and postcards. She has completed her high school course in three and one-half years and, although Doris will hardly admit it, she received her greatest thrill two weeks ago when she learned that she is valedictorian of the class of '35. "Little Women" is her favorite book and she finds H. G. Wells one of the most interesting of modern writers. Her extra-curricular activities in high school have been Leaders' Club, Drama Club, and athletics. Doris has enjoyed public speaking more than any of her other subjects. Although she has never really disliked any subject, mathematics has been the hardest for her. Doris' favorite colors in clothes are turquoise and rose. She likes school and hopes to attend Michigan State Normal College and to become a grade school teacher. When asked what her greatest ambition is, Doris replied, "To be successful."

June Louise Frederick was born August 27, 1917 in Plymouth. She has lived here ever since except for occasional periods of a few months. She entered school here in the second grade and has high hope of graduating this June. Her favorite color is red and she is often seen in some sort of red outfit. Her favorite pastime is dancing and going to shows with one person in particular; of course you all know who that is, yes, Ronald Hesse, as June states "the only one." June can be seen with Doris Campbell who seems to be her legal adviser and best friend. While in school June has taken a great interest in home economics and foods which she says is her favorite subject and next year she hopes to go to Michigan State College and take a course in it which, of course, will prepare her for the role of a good housewife.

Elwood (Gus) Gates, silent football hero was born in Plymouth in the year 1916. He is quite a musician and has played his saxophone in PHS bands and orchestras for many years. He also played end on the PHS football team, and sports several letters from this activity. Gus, or as a few of us know him, Elwood, has also been on the track team and participated in class sports. One of his favorite pastimes is of course, Lenore. This pair is one of longest standing in our records. Gus does not attend school any more, having finished his work here last January, and he is now putting some of his PHS schooling to practical use on his father's farm. He has been a member of the agriculture, drama, and variety clubs as well as appearing in four stunt night performances.

Olivene Gottschalk was born in Plymouth on December 19, 1917, and has lived here ever since. This tall, slender, brown-eyed girl says that pink is her favorite color, and she prefers desserts to all other foods. Her hobbies are sewing, ice skating, home economics projects, and collecting historical pictures. Home economics and typing are the high school subjects which Olivene has enjoyed most. She has been to Niagara Falls, Sault Ste. Marie, and the Straits of Mackinac. Gene Stratton Porter is her favorite author. Olivene's best friends in school have been Ellen Buehler and Elaine Shingleton. Olivene says she does not like school particularly well and she does not think she will go to college. As yet, she has not decided what her vocation will be.

Florence Gray was born in Plymouth, Michigan, December 21, 1917, she entered our school in the kindergarten and went here until the tenth grade when she moved to New Hudson and attended the New Hudson high school for a year, returning here in the eleventh grade. During the time she has been here, she has been a member of Glee club, Leaders' club, Plythen staff, and Girl Reserves. The study that she dislikes most is history. Nevertheless she has taken a number of trips. She has gone as far east as New York City and as far south as Kentucky. She also enjoys reading and her favorite color is red. In the fall she plans to go in training for a nurse but a certain boy by the name of Eddie might cause her to change her plans.

GIRL SCOUTS ATTEND BOYS' HONOR COURT

The Girl Scouts of Plymouth attended the Boy Scout Court of Honor which was held at the Wayne County Training School, March 20. They enjoyed the event very much.

Their registration cards have arrived and each girl has received hers. For the kerchiefs which will adorn their uniform the girls have chosen the color yellow. At their meeting last week they studied signmaking and table setting. A new game called Rise Up Sugar! Rise! was learned.

CENTRAL GRADE SCHOOL NOTES

The kindergarten has celebrated the coming of spring by drawing pictures of little girls carrying umbrellas, of pussy willows, and of bluebirds. Teddy Campbell's mother and grandmother visited the room last week.

Rose Marie Erickson was chosen health inspector for this week in Mrs. Casady's room. Elizabeth Braidel was chosen to read the poem "The March Wind" to the other children. In language class the pupils have dramatized the story "Nancy and the Basket" which they used in reading class. Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Hoyer were visitors to the room last week.

Miss DeWaele's pupils are working on penmanship drills to obtain silver star buttons. They have been doing original paintings of the Three Bears and are making bird booklets. Helen Moore has gone to New Jersey for a few days.

Florence and Neva Burnette formerly of Miss Frantz's room are now attending Starkweather school. Doris Cole is absent because of a severe illness. The children are learning how maple sugar is made.

Miss Weatherhead's pupils are busily at work on their penmanship drills. In art class they are using paints on large sheets of paper at the blackboard. The second and third grades have learned "The Wind" by Robert Louis Stevenson and the third grade

HI-Y BOYS TAKE INTROVERT TEST

In a recent Hi-Y meeting Mr. Dykhouse administered a test to determine whether the boys were introverts or extroverts. This test was based upon the individuals' reaction to varied situations. To each situation there were three possible reactions, the first of which in each case indicated an extroverted personality, the third an introverted, and second a middle course personality.

Among the situations listed these: you are at dinner with a girl and the bill is too high. Would you complain to the waiter? Do you make audible wise cracks and similar comments at ball games? What would you do if someone crowded ahead of you in a ticket line? Do you open discussions with your ideas? These are typical of the problems presented in the test.

STARKWEATHER SCHOOL NOTES

The children in the kindergarten have been taking daily walks to watch the signs of spring developing and they have drawn pictures of pussy willows, tulips, kites, and hats. They have learned two new songs "I know why the March Wind Blows" and "Pussy Willow." Fifteen members have been admitted to the Bunny Club and last week Mr. Smith presented each new member with a Bunny Club pin.

PLYMOUTH DEBATES FLINT NORTHERN

Meeting debaters from Flint Northern high school in two practice debates, Plymouth speakers upheld both the affirmative and negative in what was probably the last contest in which this school's team will participate this season. The contest was held at six and eight o'clock Saturday, March 23, in the Methodist church.

In the first debate Plymouth was represented by Jewel Starkweather and Russell Kirk, representing the Flint schools. The negative team, in the second debate, consisted of Tom Brock, Jack Sessions, and Katherine Schultz.

STUNT NIGHT SET FOR APRIL 5

The annual stunt night will be presented April 5 in the high school auditorium. Thirty percent of the proceeds will be divided among the four classes for first, second, and third in the tickets, and first, second, and third in stunts. The classes will commence practicing two weeks before the date and the program will be presented in the following order: Seniors, "Coon Hunt," freshmen, "A Nightmare," juniors, "Arizona Hicks," and sophomores "Rip Van Winkle."

DRAMA CLUB SENDS FOR NEW PLAYS

The Senior Drama Club has sent for a number of new plays to be produced in the near future. As soon as the plays are received, a committee will read them and decide on those suited for production.

MAGICIANS VISIT P.H.S.

The students of Plymouth high school had the privilege of being entertained by the Ross-Leiber Magicians at a general assembly on Thursday, March 20. These noted entertainers have appeared before high school audiences throughout many states and they came to Plymouth as one of the series of programs presented by Northwest Assemblies. At the beginning of the program Mr. Ross explained to the students that the performance would consist of "not miracles but just tricks."

With the assistance of several local boys the magicians performed numerous tricks. Among them were the vanishing wand, the disappearing balls, pulling eggs and rabbits out of hats, card tricks, money tricks, and many others. The Ross-Leiber Company was well received and their program was enjoyed by both students and faculty.

The children in the second grade have a new blackboard board consisting of pictures of boys and girls flying kites. The children have been doing creative painting in art class and they have produced some very fine pictures. Mrs. Charles Bovee and Mrs. Ed Reber were visitors last Friday.

AD. LIB.

The Ad Lib sees all, tells all. Harold (Jake) Jacobs and a friend were arguing in the hall when a teacher stepped up. Friend: (to Jake), You idiot. Teacher: (to friend) "Who called this student an idiot?" Friend: Who called this idiot a student? Jake really isn't that dumb but he does act odd at times.

Stunt night will be coming off again in the near future and it seems as though each class will be ready to walk off with that first prize. It's too bad the class of '35 will win again but next year we'll be gone and the other classes will have a better chance.

We nominate for the title of "The Perfect Pest," Arthur "Peanuts" Stroll.

Miss Lovewell was startled last week when Shush Bovee walked in the room and asked when she was going to give "Fall Bearers." "Torchbearers."

Walter Whosey Wilson has been having trouble lately keeping "Diamond Lil" Blake from hanging signs on him in Study 3 first hour.

Just one more week until stunt night. Just try to find out what the Freshies have up their sleeves?

Wyth or Wythe (Boo-boo) Dunn has originated a new dance "The Newburg Caricoa." Look out for your feet, girls.

"Red" Tuck has been trying to talk "tuff" lately but every time she says "I'm fat so," she breaks out in her famous laugh and spoils the effect.

Ken Jewell keeps thinking he will have a relapse of the mumps. While on the subject of mumps we'll say to Jack Kinsey, "Have a pickle, Jack."

Spring Spring Sports, Spring Hats, Spring Weather, Spring Fever—all are here.

The grand prize for a crazy answer should go to Glen Earl Day. When he was asked his preference blondes or brunettes for his senior biography he said it depended on the color of their hair.

Who paints the town red at night finds it blue in the morning.

No whiskers to heaven — it's only by a close shave that men get there.

LIMERICKS FROM ENGLISH 11-B

There was a young fellow named Cline,
Who was one of the many in line,
He took all the bumps,
And came down with the mumps;
The past week he has lain on his spine.

There was a young fellow named Edcl,
He was eating a great big pretzel,
He went to the store and bought some more,
And that was the end of the pretzel.

DRAMA CLUB SENDS FOR NEW PLAYS

Algebra to him was all honey,
In adding an x to two b's
He got terribly dizzy and wheezed
And tomorrow's the funeral for poor Louie.

There was an old fellow named Jim,
Who decided to learn how to swim,
He dove off the dock
Hit his head on a rock
