

Guests Welcome To Hospital On Sunday, May 12

Occasion Is Hospital Day And It Is To Be Observed Here

Sunday, May 12, is National Hospital day and Plymouth residents are especially interested in the event because of the fact that the Plymouth hospital during the past year has been of nothing less than remarkable service to the community. It is filled almost to capacity all the time and so busy is the place that visitors have but little opportunity to see what a modern little hospital institution the city possesses.

So that every one may know how convenient and well equipped the hospital is, they are especially invited to visit it Sunday, the one day of the year set aside for visitors.

Why a National Hospital Day on May 12?

That date was selected because Florence Nightingale was born on that date in 1820.

She will live through the centuries because of the contribution she made to the nursing profession and the development of hospitals. So when a National Hospital Day was suggested, it was fitting that her birthday anniversary be selected for this important date in health development. It honored one outstanding in hospital management.

The staff of the Plymouth hospital, especially anxious to have every one in and around Plymouth know more about its work, joins in the national observance of Hospital Day. On this day a united effort is made throughout the world to bring every one become more familiar with the work of hospitals and the advantages they offer in assisting one to regain health.

Visitors at the Plymouth hospital will be especially welcomed Sunday and the staff will spend what time they can in showing those who are interested in the work the many advantages offered. Old friends as well as new ones will be especially welcomed Sunday to view the hospital and get a better understanding of hospital work.

Helping folks to get well is the job of the Hospital—24 hours of every day in the year. The staff and accident do not choose daylight hours in which to strike; sudden attacks of disease may come in the wee small hours. In many instances life itself may depend upon the speed with which medicines, trained nursing care, instruments and other things needed by the doctor are made available.

So the Hospital can not shut its doors at 5 or 6 in the afternoon until Monday morning. The staff of offices are on duty. Instead of a 40-hour week, the Hospital operates on a 168-hour week. Every Hospital day is three 8-hour working days.

To assist the doctors, the Hospital not only provides equipment and personnel, but also sets up such conditions as the doctors have found to be for the best interests of the sick.

Take Holiday By Blowing Stumps

Bang! The roar was heard for miles. Bang!

Again the dishes rattled—and war veterans thought possibly that a single charge was going on somewhere in the west.

But it proved to be nothing more than a series of dynamite explosions out on the Fred Schrader buffalo ranch some six miles west of Plymouth.

And who do you suppose was blowing up stumps on the farm? None other than Fred Schrader and his old friend, John S. Haggerty, former secretary of state.

Mr. Schrader said that he didn't know much about blowing out stumps with dynamite, but years ago when western Wayne county was just on the border line between civilization and the red skins, John S. Haggerty was clearing up land with dynamite.

"Why in one winter I cleared a forty acre piece with dynamite. At every blast a stump went in to the air," said Mr. Haggerty.

It is quite evident from the way the stumps are being cut out on the Schrader farm that the former state official knows a lot about using dynamite.

At every blast a stump went sky-rocketing toward the clouds. Not a single charge was wasted and when night arrived, there wasn't a stump left in sight—John Haggerty and Fred Schrader had cleared the entire field.

Mrs. Emma Ryder has returned home from West Palm Beach, Florida, where she spent the winter months. En route home she spent a few days in Cincinnati as a guest of Mrs. Arthur Pappulo.

Memorial Day Program Soon To Be Announced

Two Patriotic Groups Plan Dedication Of Park Monument

Plymouth's two service clubs, the American Legion and the Ex-Servicemen's club, are making elaborate preparations for Memorial day. Under the direction of the two commanders, Jack Miller and Melvin Guthrie, several joint committees have been appointed and the program is fast nearing completion. Dr. C. J. Kershaw, lieutenant of the 106th Cavalry of Detroit, has been appointed grand marshal of the day to be assisted by Melvin Aigue and Harry Barnes.

Dedication of the stone and tablets in Kellogg park by the American Legion and the Ex-Servicemen's club will play a big part in the events of the day. A parade tentatively headed by the 106 Cavalry and the Plymouth band will form at the city hall at 9 a.m. Services will be held in the park at 9:30. Complete details for the event will be announced in the Mail on the completion of the program.

Committees working on the various events of the day are Eugene Wm. Keifer, Gold Star mothers, Don Ryder and Harry Mumby; Ministers, Lee Sackett, Speaker, John Jacobs; Master of Ceremonies, Melvin Guthrie and invitation to organizations, Arno Thompson, who is also general secretary on joint committees.

Legion Members Will Entertain

Members of the American Legion made public a few days ago an invitation to all Plymouth business men to attend a meeting in their hall at Newburg tonight. The occasion being the welcoming to the post of their two hundred and fifty-first member, thereby setting a new membership record for the post.

An interesting program has been planned and the feature of the evening will be a brief talk by Chief Smith of Detroit who is chairman of the State American Legion committee of the Legion. It is hoped that all men who are able will attend the meeting.

Rotary Members Guests at Milan

President Lynn Felton of the Plymouth Rotary club, Paul Weidman, Floyd Wilson and other Rotarians were guests Tuesday evening at the charter presentation to the new club at Milan. There were several hundred visitors at the first important event in the history of Milan Rotary. District Governor Roscoe Bonstelle of Ann Arbor made the official presentation.

Drunk Driver Gets Fine of Half Hundred

It didn't pay James Burrs of Northville to come speeding through the streets of Plymouth while intoxicated the other night. As he wavered down the street, his car swerving from one side of the street to the other, Officer Thumme happened to spot his strange antics. He was stopped, found to be intoxicated and was arrested. Judge John Dayton made it quite clear to him that drunk driving was one offense he didn't like and he assessed a fine of $50 plus costs, which was paid.

Mrs. Ed Herrick is confined to her home with the mumps.

Rotz Family To Leave On Sunday For Alaska Home

Date of Departure Has Been Fixed—Dept. Makes Inquiry

Awaiting with the greatest of hope and anticipation their venture into a new life, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rotz and their two children are packed and ready to leave Sunday for Alaska with the 60 or more other families that are to make new homes in that country.

Each day for over a week they have waited patiently and happily for final instructions from governmental agencies relative to their departure for the rich Mantanuska valley where 40 acres of land, 12 of which are ready for cultivation, awaits each family.

It had been expected that the families would leave early this week but a change of plans has resulted in the departure being set for Sunday. They will go to St. Ignace where they will join the other families. From there they go to Seattle and then on to Alaska, arriving in about three weeks.

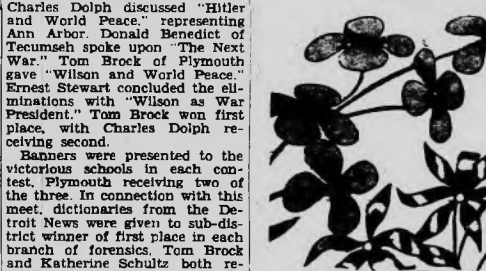

Both Mr. and Mrs. Rotz have requested The Mail to express to the assistance and many kindnesses that have been shown them as they have prepared for the new start in life that has been offered them by the government.

We can't see every one and we want them to know just how we feel. We are so grateful that we have prayed our thanks each day and we are going to work and work hard to succeed in that new country," declared Mrs. Rotz. "Not only do we want to thank the kind people of Plymouth, but those of the welfare who have aided us in getting this start. We hope that the same good fortune will come to every one."

The government gives each family 30 years to pay back the investment that Uncle Sam is giving them.

The Mail has received from John F. Ballenger, administrator of the Wayne County Relief Commission (Continued on Page Seven)

The Flower Market To Be Held In Kellogg Park Tomorrow

Everything is in readiness for the second annual Flower Market to take place Saturday in Kellogg park beginning at 10 o'clock. It is especially urged that all flowers, plants and other similar articles be brought in between the hours of 10 o'clock in the forenoon and 1 o'clock. No exchange can take place before 2 o'clock. So there may be no misunderstanding, the courtesies of the Flower Market are open to every one, whether a member of the Woman's club or not.

Sewer Survey Is Now Underway, City Seeks Aid

Property Owners Asked To Provide Data Needed For Records

The city of Plymouth is spending considerable time and money in making a sewer survey, the result of which will give a complete record of all underground services in the city. These records are of as much value to the individual home owners as to the city and everyone should cooperate to the fullest extent with the person making the survey.

Paul Croft, one of the older employees of the city, is in charge of the work of obtaining the data from the householders, and city officials request that he be given all information required to determine the size, location and depth of house sewers also the information as to which sewers carry the storm and sanitary drainage. This information is being compiled in record form and will be permanently filed in the city hall.

Inasmuch as most of the information has to be obtained from the lady of the house because of the fact that the men are usually at work during the time the home calls are being made, it is necessary that this information should be left at the house so that the housewife can give it to the investigator.

About the only data which will be required is the location of each sewer connection and information as to where the storm water drainage, including down spouts, and the sanitary sewage empties. In many cases the womenfolk do not have this information, but obtain it from the man of the house at a later date, which requires a second or third visit.

We are trying to do this work at the lowest possible cost to the city and will appreciate complete cooperation from all residents," states the City Manager. "In some cases we may have to trace out the sewer lines to determine definitely where the sewage discharges," he said, "which will require our employees to enter the house and, by a series of tests, obtain the desired information. All city employees on this work will carry proper identification."

Water System To Be First Project

Improvement of the water system for the city of Plymouth will be the first project requested by this city under the new government allotment of funds, it was decided at Monday night's meeting of the city commission.

Plans for this work have already been completed by Engineer Harold Hamill who has made a thorough study of conditions and who has prepared in cooperation with City Manager Cookingham the complete outline of the work to be recommended.

No one has any idea of how soon or how the government plans to release funds just voted by congress for work relief. It is possible that some of the money will be available during the summer.

Starkweather PTA will hold a bake sale at Wilson's Hardware store, Liberty and Starkweather on Saturday, May 11th, beginning at 12 noon. This sale is for the benefit of the Christmas fund.

Annual Meeting Of Woman's Club

On April 19th, the Woman's club of Plymouth closed one of the most successful and enjoyable years in its history with the regular Annual Day meeting.

The business meeting was preceded by a novel innovation in the form of a box luncheon in the coffee shop of the Hotel Mayflower.

Each person attending packed a lunch. These lunches were taken at the door and later distributed so that no one ate her own lunch.

Coffee was furnished by the hotel management and everyone had it a delightful in-door picnic.

Following the luncheon, the regular business meeting and election of officers for the coming year was held with the following list of officers elected: president, Mrs. George Burr; 1st vice president, Mrs. George Smith; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Maxwell Moon; recording secretary, Mrs. Paul Nutting; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Harold Stevens; treasurer, Mrs. E. R. Hohesell; Directors, Mrs. Ray Johns, Mrs. Claude Dykhouse and Miss Marion Beyer.

The retiring president, Mrs. Ray Johns, paid high tribute to her officers for the past two years, as well as to the heads of her committees, and also thanked all the members of the club who have worked with her to make the two years of her regime the success that they have been. She then turned the gavel over to the new president, Mrs. George Burr who, after a few fitting remarks, presented Mrs. Charles Humphries who spoke at length upon the splendid leadership which the club has enjoyed during the time Mrs. Ray Johns has acted as president, of the many things which have been accomplished under her untiring labors, and of the splendid growth in the strength and membership of the club.

She then presented Mrs. Johns with a lovely cromium and white desk lamp as a token of the club's appreciation for her faithfulness and success.

During the past year twenty-three new members have been added to the active membership list and seven members have been reinstated, giving a membership of 137.

Following is the list of new members: Mrs. Chas. Horr, Mrs. Richard Olin, Mrs. Leo Crane, Mrs. S. E. Cranson, Mrs. Ella Mabin, Mrs. F. D. Kenyon, Mrs. Albert Curry, Mrs. Karl Schlander, Mrs. Bruce Woodbury, Mrs. Thomas Moss, Mrs. Harold Finlan, Mrs. Paul Christianson, Mrs. John Root, Mrs. Kenneth Matheson, Mrs. James Lature, Mrs. Fred Hubbard, Mrs. Wm. McAllister, Mrs. F. W. Coward, Mrs. Roy Farrot, Mrs. J. E. Dermody and Mrs. R. W. Neale.

Reinstated members: Mrs. Harmon Smith, Mrs. Eveded Jolliffe, Mrs. J. T. Chapman, Mrs. Bessie Dunning, Mrs. Robt. Jolliffe, Mrs. Wyman Barlett, and Mrs. Warren Lombard.

After the business meeting, the chairman of the program committee, Mrs. Robert Reck took charge of the entertainment for the afternoon which consisted of a pageant of Wedding Gowns.

The pageant opened with Miss Hannah Strasen playing the Lohengrin Wedding March.

There were five wedding gowns dating from 1860 to 1930.

Mrs. Jack Henderson wore the gown of 1860, Mrs. Witwer the gown of 1930, and the others were worn by Mrs. Robert Willoughby, Mrs. Myron Hughes and Mrs. F. R. Hohesell, each of whom appeared separately.

Miss Strasen then played Mendelssohn's Wedding March and the "brides" returned in a group.

Much credit is due Mrs. Hughes who planned and arranged this most delightful and beautiful pageant.

During the pageant, music appropriate for the year depicted was rendered. Mrs. McAllister sang "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes," and Mrs. Jas.

Last Dinner Of Season Largest

Ladies night at the Baptist men's fellowship supper was the crowning event of the series of monthly suppers.

Nearly one hundred and fifty men and their wives taxed the capacity of the church basement.

A trio from Ann Arbor, Miss Farquhar, piano; Miss Mann, cello; and Boris Hamill violin, rendered three groups of beautiful numbers, which were well applauded.

Mrs. Martha Poltom, assistant superintendent of the woman's division of the Detroit House of Correction also gave three groups of vocal music. She has had considerable experience on the stage and the renditions were greatly appreciated.

The toastmaster of the evening was Dr. Chapman from Ann Arbor, who handled the meeting in a very pleasing manner.

The speaker was E. E. Staub, president of the Baptist Children's Home near Detroit. His subject was "Looking at the Church through Christ's Eyes." Mr. Staub is primarily a business man but has travelled extensively and included reminiscences in his talk.

He told of having pictures of hundreds of christians killed in Russia and died in heaps and buried with oil.

Chairman F. W. Hamill and Rev. Sutherland both invited the audience to hear Mrs. King of Ann Arbor, the wife of a medical missionary, talk of Mothers in Africa, next Sunday evening.

The next meeting will be held the last Monday in September.

Lady Maccabees Banquet May 15

All the grandmothers, mothers and daughters of Lady Maccabees have been invited to attend a banquet at the lodge hall Wednesday, May 15th at 6:30 o'clock.

Lady Emerson of Detroit is planning an interesting and appropriate party. Hattie has charge of the dining-room and decorations, and last but not least, a lovely dinner has been planned by Lady Micol and her "crew."

It is hoped that the members will cooperate with the various committees and help to make this event a success.

Following is the list of new members: Mrs. Chas. Horr, Mrs. Richard Olin, Mrs. Leo Crane, Mrs. S. E. Cranson, Mrs. Ella Mabin, Mrs. F. D. Kenyon, Mrs. Albert Curry, Mrs. Karl Schlander, Mrs. Bruce Woodbury, Mrs. Thomas Moss, Mrs. Harold Finlan, Mrs. Paul Christianson, Mrs. John Root, Mrs. Kenneth Matheson, Mrs. James Lature, Mrs. Fred Hubbard, Mrs. Wm. Chief Smith To Direct Safety Campaign Here

Plymouth Going To Take Active Part In Safety Week

Chief of Police Vaughn Smith is busy today preparing for the safety week campaign that he will conduct in Plymouth next week in cooperation with the Michigan Automobile club and its local representative, Alfred Morton. Both Chief Smith and Mr. Morton attended a meeting in Detroit Thursday of all police officers in this part of the state.

They hope to do much during the week to impress upon every one the importance of care in automobile driving and in crossing the streets.

Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald has issued the following proclamation endorsing the campaign: "In the name of humanity, and as Governor of the State of Michigan, I do hereby proclaim the period from May 12 to 18, inclusive, as Safety Education Week, to be devoted to a state-wide program of highway safety education, with every interested agency in Michigan devoting its greatest efforts and resources to the end that greater vigilance on the streets and highways of this state will become a part of the lives of all good citizens."

Chief Smith points out that records show 36,000 persons were killed as the result of automobile accidents last year. Over a million were injured in Michigan nearly a thousand met death and there were over 1,000 injuries.

The local police officer points out that inattention, incautious driving, excessive speed, improper overtaking and passing, improper left turns, improper right turns, failures to signal, ignorance of Traffic Laws are the main causes of accidents. Everyone is urged to preach care and alertness and go out of your way to always urge safety in driving.

Church Rally Will Be Held Tuesday Evening

The young people of the Calvary Baptist Church, 455 South Main street, are holding an inspiration rally this coming Tuesday evening, May 14th, at 7:45. An unusual program of music, singing, and talks on youth's problems and opportunities has been planned.

E. E. Staub, a young Detroit business man, will preside. A number of out of town guests are expected. The public is invited.

Mrs. Ella Kainz, the local chairman, announces a program filled with music, all of which will be provided by new talent from an outstanding church in Highland Park.

Fisher Wins In House Battle

In the face of united opposition of Democratic representatives from the city of Detroit and every conceivable parliamentary tactic that could be devised, Dr. Edward Fisher, state representative from this district has been successful in having the lower house of the legislature pass a bill which will end for this part of Wayne county the practice of the coroner's office in permitting bodies of persons who met violent deaths to lie wherever found until some one from the coroner's office reaches the place.

Local residents recall of numerous cases of whose bodies have laid for hours along the highways or on the banks of lakes waiting for some one from Detroit to come to order the body removed.

The Fisher bill which is sure to pass, gives some justice of the peace in any of the townships in this part of Wayne county the right to order the body removed from the place of death.

Especially hostile to the passage of the bill was Representative Martin of Redford. He pleaded strenuously for the coroners of Detroit, but when the vote was taken his motions for recess, for tabling the bill, for adjourning and for referring the bill to a committee, all of which were all defeated and on roll call the bill was passed. It is now before the senate.

Mrs. Dayton Wins

Mrs. Caroline Dayton was the victor last Saturday in the case that had been started in circuit court as the result of charges made by a committee from the out-county fire association. A bill of complaint had been filed requiring her to show cause why she should not be punished for contempt of court due to alleged practicing of law in connection with her collection agency. Judge Robert Toms after hearing the case, dismissed it. Attorney Thomas M. Hall of Detroit appeared for Mrs. Dayton.

FORD AND THE NRA

A year or so ago when the new brainless trust of Washington attempted to foster upon the automobile industry a lot of school room ideas as to the conduct of business, Henry Ford set his foot down and said—NO, he would have nothing to do with a scheme so un-American and unfair to the workingman as well as business. He declared that his company had always obeyed every law and that a lot of political job holders could not inject their schemes into his affairs.

His lead to a very great extent was followed by other automobile manufacturers, although he was the only one that carried the fight through to the finish.

Of course every one knows that business in this part of the country where automobiles are manufactured is the best of any place in America today. President Roosevelt has commented about the "come-back" of Detroit and this part of Michigan.

There is not much question but what the exceptional recovery of the automobile business is due almost entirely to the fact that the business has not been hampered and hamstrung by a lot of crazy ideas and regulations. If Ford had consented to let outsiders run his business as have some of the other industries, do you suppose for one minute we would be enjoying the prosperity in this part of the state that we are today? It is a pretty safe statement to make that we would not be right where the other industrial centers are if it had not been for the determined position taken by Mr. Ford in his dealings with official meddlers.

NOT GOOD TONIC

The voters of Michigan last fall indicated pretty strongly that they did not like the kind of legislation and government being given to them under the Comstock regime. In this connection it will be recalled that one of the greatest flare-backs against Mr. Comstock and his administration was his veto of the small loan bill. There is not much question but what his action on this measure had much to do with his defeat as well as that of his party. Unusual as it may seem a similar measure had been passed by the house of representatives, but a Republican senate committee up to the present has failed to report the measure out for consideration in the senate. Most of the senators on the committee are so-called "administration leaders." In fact one of the members of the committee is the administration floor leader. There is not much use in additional discussion of this measure, but the Republicans can be pretty sure the defeat of the bill that will bring some relief to the small borrowers of the state will prove a costly thing to the party in the next election. Voters these days are not in a frame of mind to be trifled with and we hope for the good of the party that has in the past done so much for all classes of people in Michigan a fatal mistake will not be made. The vast majority of people want the bill enacted. Only those that profit by the unjust interest rates taken from the poor seek to have it killed. The voters are watching for the answer of these Republican senators.

ANOTHER SWIFT KICK

Taxpayers up in Mount Clemens didn't fall for the scheme to foster upon that city a big bond issue for the purpose of building a municipal lighting plant any more than did the voters over in Grand Ledge. The scheme, hatched probably by promoters of jobs, fees and contracts called for a debt of something like half a million dollars for the already over-burdened taxpayers to carry. But the taxpayers decided they had no such intentions and voted against the scheme and schemers.

Writing in the Ionia County News, Fred Keister has the following comment about the Mount Pleasant situation:

Mount Pleasant is the latest Michigan city to reject a bonding proposal for a municipal lighting plant. Had the proposal carried the city would have awakened some morning to find a half-million dollar plant on its hands, with no definite assurance that rates would be permanently lowered. The taxpayers of the city wisely decided to sidetrack the project.

It is rumored that state-wide plans for gradual lowering of utility service costs are under way. With reduction will come a lesser desire for municipalities to embark in the lighting business at the expense of their citizens, regardless of equipment salesmen who are always present in great numbers to boost their own game. Speaking of present day electrical costs the subject is ably discussed by Schuyler L. Marshall in a recent issue of the Clinton County Republican-news:

Going back to 1913 (but who wants to go back?) one can take prices then and now and make some interesting comparisons. Beginning that year we heard about the HCL (high cost of living) and perhaps that started the initial craze. At any rate, living costs started to sky-rocket that year and reached an all-time peak in 1920—an increase of 115 per cent over the 1913 living costs.

"It is interesting to look at the chart showing the cost of electricity over the same period. In contrast to living cases, which electricity has been a part, the cost of this service has decreased steadily except in 1918. In 1920 when general living costs had increased 115 per cent, electricity had decreased about 25 per cent. There has been a steady decrease since. Today the average electric costs the country over are 80 per cent below the 1913 level. Living costs while down from the 1920 peak, are still 40 per cent above those twenty-two years ago."

MERELY A SUGGESTION

From out of the states of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, three commonwealths where hunting and fishing is almost a part of the very life of every resident, the government has selected families for a new settlement in Alaska, where new opportunities and new hopes are sure to exist. Alaska remains as one of the virgin hunting and fishing places of the world and the new-settlers will find it possible to secure a portion of their living from a recreation that everyone enjoys. But unfortunately most of these families are going to Alaska, without fishing and hunting equipment, and without funds with which to buy these articles. The thought has come to mind, why wouldn't it be a good idea for the various conservation departments of these three states to send to the families that are willing and anxious to serve their government in new homes and in a new country, the confiscated guns, fishing tackle and rifles that the departments take in for the next few months. No better use for their articles could be found than by turning them over to the new and patriotic pioneers of a new country.

THE TROJAN HORSE—NEW DEAL MODEL

burden on the general tax revenues. There are now about 7 1/2 million men and women over 65 years of age, of whom about a million are dependents on public support. The best estimates show that by 1940 there will be 8.3 million over 65, that by 1950 there will be 10.8 millions, that by 1970 there will be 15 millions. The tendency is for men to live longer. At the same time there is a tendency for industry to retire employees earlier. If, therefore, an increasing number of old persons had to be supported out of the general revenues, the cost would become enormous. By 1960 it would be costing two billions a year.

That is why the bill provides for a tax on payrolls in order to create a fund out of which old age benefits can eventually be paid. These benefits are in proportion to what a man has earned when he was working and was able to contribute. The scheme does not make old age benefits entirely self-balancing. For there will be many who do not fit into the scheme and will have to be assisted out of general taxes. But it does make the scheme largely self-balancing after a few years.

These difficulties are greatly accentuated in the provision for unemployment benefits. There can be no doubt that in theory a unified national system would have great advantages. All the known systems in other countries are centralized and unified. But for the United States, owing to the enormous size of the population and its immense diversity, a unified national system would have been a political impossibility and an administrative monstrosity.

The authors of the plan had a choice of two evils. If they brought in a centralized scheme it would be wrecked on the rocks of constitutional, sectional, and political difficulties. So they brought in a de-centralized scheme, which is almost certain to be inefficient and to cause endless disputes.

They chose the lesser of the two evils. But what they have done is still an evil, and for my part, I doubt whether the distant, small, and tentative benefits of the scheme will justify its tremendous difficulties. Unemployment insurance will not mitigate this depression or do much to relieve the need if there is another big depression. It would have been wiser, I think, to have set up protection against unemployment along the wholly different line of a permanent fund of elastic public works. Unemployment insurance is a great depression. The fund is soon bankrupt and the insurance then becomes a dole out of the Treasury.

One of the most important features of the whole plan, and one of the best is that the funds accumulated are centralized. This is not only the best way to safeguard them, but it adds one more instrument for smoothing out the ups and downs of the business cycle. The Treasury by its power to invest the fund can use it, and should use it to tighten credit when there is an overexpansion of credit and to make credit easier when the tendency is to contract credit.

The bill really sets up one more means of controlling the volume of credit along with those which the Federal Reserve system already possesses, along with those which it will possess under the new banking bill, along with those which the Treasury possesses through its stabilization fund, its large balance, not to mention the unused power of the Thomas amendment.

Those who do not believe that the volume of credit should be conscientiously controlled will find this objectionable. Those who believe that conscious control is inevitable and necessary will be chiefly concerned that the control, now divided between the Treasury and the Federal Reserve system, should be exercised by them as wisely as possible.

Rambing Around With Michigan Editors

NOT A DEAD ISSUE

The Townsend old age pension plan, though defeated for the present in congress is not going to be laid on the shelf. Congressmen who voted against the bill are going to hear things that will make their ears tingle, and a vote of dissatisfaction will be seen in the next election, which is not saying the congressmen who voted against the measure were not nearer right than those who are supporting the plan. The country is now demanding something more than a mere existing allowance to those on the charity rolls, and they are not going to be satisfied until they get it in some form or other.

Why not place a federal tax upon every machine that put a former employe out of work and give it to all old people without an income? Place the tax high enough to induce the companies to employ man power instead of using the machines as long as there are men anxious to work and not able to find a job.—H. J. Richardson in The Augusta Beacon.

WELCOME TO ELBA, MR. KEYWORTH

The administration of Maurice R. Keyworth, superintendent of public instruction, can be considered a rousing success. True, Mr. Keyworth has not yet taken office; nevertheless we can see that he is the right man in the right place, and that this paper exercised remarkably good judgment in recommending his election.

The reason we know this is as follows: Mr. Keyworth, even before he took over his office, has been denounced by none other than Mr. Ed (Call Me Mike) Nowack, publisher of the Michigan State Democrat and member of the Public (don't laugh) Trust commission. Mr. Nowack has disowned Mr. Keyworth and consigned him to the political Elba to which Mike banishes all those public officials and private citizens who displease him. The procedure is for Mr. Nowack to read them out of the Republican party with bell, book and candle, pronounce them politically dead and scratch their names out of the family Bible.

Mr. Keyworth will find Elba pretty well tenanted: its inhabitants number among others Rep. Vernon Brown, Mr. Lester Doerr and Mr. George W. Welsh, who make up a trio of the liveliest political corpses that a man could meet in many a long day's journey.

The offence committed by Mr. Keyworth that drew a condemnation which, coming from a recent Fitzgerald appointee and self-appointed spokesman, may be considered as reflecting the administration standpoint, is that he refused to go back on his campaign promises to do all in his power to aid the distressed school districts of the state. One can imagine into what chaos Lansing would be plunged should his unfashionable habit spread of taking campaign promises seriously. The imagination shudders at the prospect.

Mr. Keyworth is an experienced school man. He knows the situation of Michigan school districts far better than do his critics. He was elected to office by voters who believed that he had both the desire and the ability to help the state's schools in the present crisis. During his campaign he expressly stated that he did not agree with Gov. Fitzgerald's low estimate of the amount of state aid that the districts require. In a speech at Grand Rapids he stated that he believed that at least 25 million dollars would be required to keep the schools operating. Now that he has been elected, he proposes to keep faith with the voters who put him in office. And for his consistency he is patronized by such publishers as Mike Nowack and Frank Bryce, who publish the Grand Ledge Independent.

Criticism from such sources can only increase Mr. Keyworth's stature in the eyes of those who believe that campaign pledges should be something besides empty rhetoric designed purely for vote getting. To be hurriedly scrapped after election day. The post of superintendent of public instruction is an important one, and it requires a big man and an honest man to fill it. Mr. Keyworth seems to fill the bill admirably. It seems evident that he will not be influenced by the criticism of those who seem to feel that a newspaper editor should be a sort of ventriloquist's dummy.—George Welsh in The Grand Rapids Chronicle.

NO DIFFERENCE

The Village of Mason in Ingham county is the latest to close its beer parlors on Sunday. We see no good reason why Cassopolis should not take the same step. In the old saloon days the saloons were required to keep closed on Sundays, and we do not see why any special Sunday privilege should be granted to the present beer-sipping places.—William Berkeley in The Cassopolis Vigilant.

BOOTLEGGERS STILL HERE

An expert in matters relating to the sale and use of liquor in the United States declares that 50 per cent of the nation's liquor is sold via the bootlegger route. He believes that the only way to remedy the trouble is to lower the tax on the stuff—and in this conclusion Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau disagrees. The nation repealed the 18th Amendment to eliminate the bootlegger, yet didn't eliminate him. The only way you can do away with the evils of liquor is to educate (not legislate), liquor out of existence.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eccentric.

"DOPEY" DUPES

A racketeering communist can hide behind the image of Christ about so long in this country before some patriotic citizen will go in and bring him out in the light of day, so his dupes may better understand his real motives.—George Neal in The Orion Review.

QUICK JUDGEMENT

And did you hear Governor Fitzgerald's 15-minute harrangue over the radio Tuesday night? Sounded like an old-time school boy's bellyache to the teacher, because the other boys would not play crack, the whip with him. Maybe facing those who will not play with him will help him in trying to put through his pre-election promises, but we doubt it, as now a daily increasing number of his own party are becoming more antagonistic to his pet measures. As a governor, Frank D. Fitzgerald is a decided flop, as his record of achievement for the first four months will show. If the state is paying the shot for these monthly broadcasts it is sure time to "tune out," as our taxpayers' money can be used to a much better advantage to all concerned.—Charles Seed in The Rochester Clarion.

ALL FOR DEMOCRACY

Dust storms, they say, have come upon us because during the war we neglected the seed of thousands of acres that nature intended to be used for grazing land. But remember we did it to make the world safe for democracy.—A. D. Gallery in The Tuscola County Advertiser.

25 YEARS AGO

1 Born to Mr. and Mrs. George Wilcox last Sunday, a girl.

2 Miss Bertha Beals is spending the week in Grand Rapids.

3 And we still have all the rain we can handle. Several cat fields are a complete loss.

4 Harry Wolfrom of Elm attended the jury excursion to Jackson last Sunday.

5 Fred Stocken is now employed in a tinsorial shop in Ypsilanti and may later move his family there.

6 Manager John McLaren says he will have a baseball team ready for games at Athletic park.

7 Homer Jewell has bought a lot on Church street and will build soon.

8 Farmers around Elm are very discouraged over their crop outlook for the year due to so much rain. Is Halley's comet to blame?

9 President Hillmer has nominated E. H. Passage for superintendent of water works and Geo. VanDeCar for marshal.

10 Claude Henderson, who is located in Wellington, Washington, is still in the baseball game, but he may be cut of it for sometime. At a recent game he had a misfortune to break an ankle.

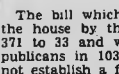

Understanding World Affairs

THE SOCIAL SECURITY BILL

By Walter Lippmann

The bill which recently passed the house by the huge vote of 371 to 33 and with only 18 Republicans in 103 dissenting, does not establish a full blown system of old age and unemployment insurance. It is a plan to encourage the creation of such a system in the course of the next ten years.

There are two basic reasons why a completed system cannot be set up at once. Before men can be insured, a fund must be accumulated out of which to pay them their benefits and it will require many years to accumulate such a fund. Moreover, under the American Federal system, it would probably be unconstitutional and it would certainly be had public policy for the central government to set up and administer the whole system, therefore, within very wide limits the actual old age pensions and the unemployment benefits that are to be paid have still to be determined by the forty-eight states.

It follows that the scheme of social security contemplated in the bill cannot come into operation until funds have been accumulated and until the states have legislated. Only by keeping these two considerations in mind can the meaning of the bill be understood.

The point comes out clearly in the provisions for old age. There is no fund in existence out of which to pay anything to those who are already old. Therefore, the bill proposes to provide them with pensions out of general taxes. The amount of their pensions, on the other hand, is to be determined by each state with the Federal government standing ready to match dollar for dollar, up to $15 per month what each state decides to give. Thus, if a state decides to give $15 out of its revenues, the pensioner will receive $30; if the state decides to give $10, he will receive $20; if the state decides to give $20, he will receive $35. All this applies to those who are now or will soon be 65 years of age, though until 1940 a state may raise the age limit to 70 years.

But this system, if it were allowed to run on indefinitely, would soon become an intolerable

Grange Members To Enjoy A Play

The three act play by Jay Tobias "Here Comes Charlie" will again be presented by a capable group of young people from Cherry Hill, at 8 p.m., Thursday, May 16, at the Plymouth Grange Hall on Union street, under the sponsorship of the Plymouth Grange.

This play has a fast moving plot, plenty of compelling incidents, suspense, and a satisfactory and amusing climax. It is impossible to do justice to this play in one short newspaper article. To thoroughly appreciate it you must see it as presented by the following cast:

Nora Malone, Cook at the El-Jolt home, Hildagard Simmons; Officer Tim McGrill, Nora's sweetheart, Robert Simmons; Mrs. Fanny Farnham, Larry's aunt by marriage, Vera Wilkie; Larry Elliot, a young business man, Gerald Bordine; Ted Hartley, Larry's old-time college pal, Roy Schultz; Uncle Aleck Twigg, in charge of Charlie, Charles Trowbridge; Charlie Hopps, Larry's ward, Jane Oliver; Mrs. Carlotta Smythe-Kersey, Vivian's mother, Estella Schultz; Vivian Smythe-Kersey, Larry's fiancée, Loretta Hawk; Mortimer Smythe-Kersey, Vivian's brother, George Dunstan.

The regular meeting of the Plymouth Grange was held at the Grange hall on Union street, Thursday evening, May 2. Following a pot-luck supper we were entertained by Harold Koch, music director at Greenfield village, Dearborn, who favored us with several solos. He was accompanied by Mrs. Koch on the piano. The remainder of the program was composed of a short discussion of "Emigration to the New Government Farm Colony in Alaska." This was followed by a series of amusing stunts presented by the surprise feature committee.

During the summer months the Grange, as usual will hold only one regular meeting per month. The next meeting will be held June 6.

The Grange Lily Club will meet

Roseville Team To Play Sunday

The baseball game scheduled between the Plymouth Schrader-Haggerty's and the Northville Wolverines, which was to be played at Plymouth-Riverside Park last Sunday, was cancelled on account of wet grounds.

Inasmuch as there is a natural friendly rivalry between Plymouth and Northville the fans were looking forward to a lively game. However the Plymouth team will meet Northville in the near future.

The opening game was a colorful event with Mayor Blunk pitching the first ball to J. S. Haggerty.

Sunday, May 12th, the Roseville Firemen of Roseville, Michigan, will oppose the Plymouth club at Plymouth-Riverside Park starting at 3:30 o'clock. Manager Leroy Simmons, who has seen the Firemen in action, states that he expects them to give the local team plenty of opposition.

at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Van Bonn on the Six Mile Road just west of the Farmington Road, Tuesday evening, May 14. A pot-luck supper will be served at 7:00 p.m. and the evening will be spent in playing pedo.

Full Family Size
Air Conditioned REFRIGERATOR
Costs Only $72.50

SO NEW, so startlingly different is Coolerator from any refrigerator you have ever known, that it changes all your ideas of dependable, economical home refrigeration. Ice cubes in five minutes! No mingling of food odors! No more need to cover dishes! No more drying out of foods! All in a refrigerator that costs only 1/2 to 1/3 of what you'd expect to pay—a refrigerator that 65,500 women already herald as the greatest new advance in the whole field of refrigeration.

Coolerator differs from all other refrigerators because of its patented air conditioning chamber, which washes and humidifies the air and passes it through the food chamber several times each minute. This moist air does not rob food of its own moisture and flavor, but does absorb and carry away food odors. Coolerator uses ice for its refrigerant, but in a different way than it has ever been used before. For example: one icing lasts from 4 to 7 days. Another: ice melts flat—from bottom of case.

Prove these facts in your own home, with a free ten-day trial of one of the beautiful new 1935 Coolerators.

Miss Leavenworth And Floyd Darling Wed

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. George Kahrl, at Northville, Friday evening, April 26, when her niece, Miss Doris Leavenworth of Farmington became the bride of Floyd Darling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Darling of South Lyon. Rev. Kendall S. North of the Baptist church of Northville read the service in the presence of fifty guests. Both young people have friends in Plymouth.

The bride was attractively gowned in light blue silk crepe. Her flowers consisted of a corsage of yellow roses. Her bridesmaid, Mrs. Floyd Sallow of Farmington, was costumed in blue silk and wore a corsage of roses. Little Peggy Thompson of Detroit served as flower girl, wearing rose petals in the path of the bride and groom. Dortha Mae Davis of Lincoln Park, niece of the groom, carried the ring in the heart of a white lily.

The bride instead of Lansing officiated as best man. Very lovely decorations of pink and white formed an exquisite setting for the event. Palms, ferns and cherry blossoms were much in evidence.

The bridal party descended the stairs as the wedding march was played by Mrs. Loren Leavenworth.

A buffet luncheon followed the ceremony. A miniature bride and groom adorned the large square wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Darling are graduates of the Northville high school. They have many friends whom they will be glad to meet at their home at 114 Church street, Brighton.

HUDSON SMASHES 36 MORE OFFICIAL RECORDS in one of the most gruelling tests ever given an automobile . . . makes clean sweep up to and beyond 1000 miles

1000-mile record beats best mark ever set by any closed car

NEWS FLASH—Muroc Lake, Cal., April 13—36 official A.A.A. records broken by a stock Hudson Eight. Top speed—over 93 miles an hour for five miles. Average speed—over 85 miles an hour for 1000 miles and beyond. A clean sweep of every record in its class up to and including 1000 miles and 3000 kilometers, and four unlimited class closed car records. Electrical timing correct to a millionth part of a second and every record certified by American Automobile Association.

Here's what it means to you. Probably you'll never care to drive a car five miles at 93 miles an hour. Yet, it means a lot to you to have a car that can go that fast—to shoot out of traffic tangles or flash you out ahead on the highway.

It isn't likely you'll want to drive a thousand-mile stretch at 85 miles an hour, but you do want a car with the fine engineering, power and ruggedness it takes to do this. Ordinary driving is no work at all for a car like this.

That's what it means to own a Hudson—smoother miles, more enjoyable miles—plus ruggedness and gasoline economy that make those miles cost less. You can see and drive an exact duplicate of this record-breaking Hudson Eight at any Hudson showroom. You can also see the complete list of these 36 new records, and scores of others held by Hudson-built cars. Take the wheel today and discover what this record-breaking performance means to you.

In a discussion of the merits of capitalism, socialism, and communism the Hi-Y Club, led by Alvah Elzerman, argued the needs and objectives of the ideal society.

Capitalism was declared to be a social order in which the means of production and distribution are left in the hands of private owners, in which these agencies are utilized for individual profit, and in which the co-operative impulses are subordinated to a competitive economy.

The eighth annual musicale, held last Friday evening in the high school auditorium under the direction of Miss Henry and Mrs. Evans, was greatly enjoyed by the large audience. A regular second inning uprising and a typical seventh inning rally netted the Plymouth Rocks six runs and a victory over Northville, Tuesday, April 30. Plymouth won an early five run lead, but only to have Northville win these runs back and go ahead seven to six. However, in the seventh inning, Plymouth combined two hits a double, a triple and a walk for two runs and another win over their traditional foe.

In the second inning Trimble reached first on an error, stole second, advanced to third when Sockow gained first base on another error, and both scored on an infield single. Two more Rock players crossed the plate before the side was retired.

Although they added another run to this figure in the third, Northville in the sixth inning, at that inopportune time, the Orange and Black scored five runs on three walks, a wild pitch, a triple, a single, and two errors.

This game, played during severe cold, was filled with big fielding, with fifteen errors and shaky pitching. These faults were undoubtedly because of the poor weather conditions at Riverside park last Tuesday.

Starting pitchers were Schilfe for Plymouth, who pitched the entire game, and Bauman of Northville, who was relieved by Hotchkins in the seventh. Bauman was easily the batting star of the game as he made four hits in four attempts at the plate.

I like guns so well that I have started to collect them. I have many different ones, and I will take one from the rack and tell the story about it. The gun is a German Mauser which was used during the world war. The Americans were invading the German trenches, but one of them stopped and picked up this gun because not very often were many guns left behind. The soldiers had orders not to discharge the fire of any guns until they were cleaned, but this one could not be cleaned because there was a plug in it. It was thought to be loaded with TNT in the barrel so that when the shot was fired it would kill who ever shot it. So the man got permission from the government to bring it back with him. Later the man took it to a gun shop to see if the plug could be removed when it was found that it was a piece of flax which had lodged in the barrel when the gun was being cleaned. So that was the reason that the gun had been left behind.

The man who had owned the gun said that when he died I could have it, and that is the story of one of my guns. Chas Steinhel in Eng. 11.

The pupils in the first grade have illustrated poems by clever pictures. The flower plants which the children planted not so long ago are coming up nicely and the children are very interested in them. They have completed their black board border of yellow chicks which looks very attractive.

Mrs. Walter Dethloff and Mrs. Edward Reiber were visitors in the second grade last Tuesday. The children have been memorizing the poem "In the Heart of a Seed." The second A class is reading Billy Boy on the Farm and the other second A class is reading from Stove's Silent Readers. Edward Dethloff received the highest mark on his vocabulary test for the section of Elson Reader just completed.

The fourth grade pupils are constructing product maps of the United States. The fourth A class is making posters on preservation of wild life.

Robert Farrow has enrolled in the fifth grade. Raymond Srejcar's team is in the lead in spelling and Dorothy Fisher won the spell down last week. Mrs. Dethloff and Mrs. Reiber were visitors last Tuesday.

The sixth graders are working on a project of different types of homes and have been illustrating the types by free hand drawings.

Art lovers will have the opportunity to view reproductions of some of the most famous paintings in history. On May 13 through 17 there will be displayed at the Plymouth high school one hundred and fifty colored reproductions of some of the old and modern masters. Among the most famous artists represented are Gainsborough, Titian, Da Vinci, Murillo, Van Dyck, Raphael, and others, while among the more modern are representatives from the works of Ben West, George De Forest Brush, George Inness, Earnest Albert, Frank Duvenick, and Gardner Symons. The profit received from this will be used in buying pictures for the school rooms. The student council is sponsoring this event which is both interesting and educational. The school will be open to the public during the exhibition.

Fifteen members of the Plymouth Pilgrim Prints staff attended the annual convention of the Michigan Interscholastic Press Association at Ann Arbor on Friday, May 3. Several hundred students of journalism from throughout the state gathered in the ballroom of the Michigan Union at nine in the morning to hear a lecture on the subject of "The Mother Tongue" by Professor Muvskens of the Department of Speech and General Linguistics of the University of Michigan. Directly following this interesting talk, several round table discussions were offered on various subjects; among them were "News Writing" and "The Ideals of a High School Newspaper." An hour later another group of discussions was held on "Printing and Publication" and "Problems of Policy." Immediately after lunch Lee A. White of the Detroit News gave a talk on "The Rising Generation" and held an open forum on journalism. The remainder of the afternoon was taken up in round table discussions on "Features" and "Problems of Circulation."

SENIOR BIOGRAPHIES

Ruth Madelene Schmidt was born in the big city of Detroit, December 11, 1917. She is one of the prettiest, smallest young ladies in the senior class; she has big brown eyes, and very lovely brown hair. After attending schools in Newburg and Stark, Ruth came to Plymouth and entered the class of '35 in the ninth grade. Next year she plans to go to college somewhere. She likes to grow hair. After attending schools in Newburg and Stark, Ruth came to Plymouth and entered the class of '35 in the ninth grade.

Levi J. Sockow, another young man who has been with us for twelve years, was born October 6, 1917 on the Ann Arbor road just outside of Plymouth. He has light brown hair, blue eyes, and is a great sportsman. Levi would like to attend a commercial college after he graduates during high school. He has participated in baseball, football, and basketball, besides taking part in all class sports. Levi has been in the Varsity Club for the past year. Levi's hobbies are reading adventure stories and athletics. His pet dislikes are commercial geography and tomatoes; his likes are short-hand and history. His favorite color is blue. He says he has no favorites in the line of friends, he likes them all equally well.

Robert Soth's middle name is Romaine (don't tell him we told you because he didn't want you to know). He was born in Plymouth on February 14, 1917 and has always attended Plymouth schools. Bob is quite a scientist and enjoys chemistry and physics so much that he plans to take up chemical engineering at M.S.C. next year. His ambition is to accumulate three million dollars before he is forty-five years old. He asked him who it was at present and he said it was "Barbara—absolutely!"

Bob has taken trips to Chicago, Washington, D.C., Yellowstone, New York City, and Newburg. He also plans a trip to Africa but won't tell why.

We asked him what he would like if he could have anything he wanted and he said he would like some oysters because it is now May and you can't get them. Bob Soth has been in the Drama Club and the Senior Play and in several Stunt Nights and Musicals. He plays his "slip horn" in the band and orchestra and plays team work the meet by a very large margin their score being 362. Plymouth's was 171, Lawrence Moe was low man for Plymouth with a score of 92. Roy McAllister had 121.

William Walter Stazeni, sometimes known as "Stooze" or "Stutz" was born in Detroit on December 14, 1916. (That makes him eighteen now). After living in Detroit for a couple of years he moved to Plymouth where he attended school in the elementary grades. He likes black walnut ice cream the best and "detests asparagus." Bill got a letter in football this year and is a member of the golf team. He was also a member of the Glee Varsity, Torch and Hi-Y clubs. He intends to go to M.S.C. next year to study forestry. You can usually find him at the dancing school on Thursday nights with "Kye" Moon, Lois Schilfe, etc., and on every other night he "lives" at Shoemaker's where he talks over the affairs of the world with Althea.

Eleanore Straehle was born in Detroit on May 9, 1918. She has lived in Rosedale Gardens for nine years and attended the Bertha School in Detroit and the Rosedale school before she entered P.H.S. in the ninth grade. Her hobbies are reading, cooking, and collecting historical pictures, poetry, and recipes. Her favorite recipes are cakes of all kinds and she considers it a great treat when her mother lets her manage the house. Eleanore's favorite book is "Little Women"; she likes history and her favorite extracurricular activities are sports. Girl Reserves, and Glee Club. She has been in Niagara Falls and has traveled in northern Michigan. Dorothy Metzger and Eleanore have been pals all the way through high school. Eleanore plans to attend the Michigan State Normal College next year. She expects to become a school teacher and would like to teach history and geography. Her greatest ambition is to be happy and successful.

William Leslie Swadling made his first appearance in Detroit, Michigan on December 31, 1917. He attended school in Brighton and Wyandotte before entering the fourth grade here. He has taken no clubs during his time in high school. His favorite food happens to be "hot-dogs" and he says he likes the color blue no matter what color it is, and we still can't figure out his statement. He is partial toward physics and his favorite friend is Genevieve Pinkerton. What he dislikes most is his car which is a 1926 model Chevrolet. He plans to attend Cass Tech in the near future and his greatest ambition is to become an aeronautical engineer.

The black-haired twin, Max Dale Swagles, was born on May 12, 1917 at the old farmstead on the corner of Ford and Lily roads where he still resides. Max and his brother Rex, the other twin, first came to PHS in 1931 and joined the class of '35 which was then green freshmen. They have remained here ever since, changing their class troubles, and joys. Max says his favorite color is "blondes and brunettes," very in inter-class sports and on the Varsity basketball team.

Marion Jean Squires was born on January 1, 1918 in the big city of Detroit where she attended the Field School before entering the seventh grade here. The Story of the Bible Told in Pictures

Rebekah at the Well.—"And Abraham was old, and well stricken in age; and the Lord had blessed Abraham in all things." Abraham called his eldest servant and made him swear that he would not take a wife for Abraham's son, Isaac, from the daughters of the Canaanites. Abraham sent the servant into his own country and among his kindred to seek a wife for his son, and the servant departed into Mesopotamia, unto the city of Nahor. "And he made his camels to kneel down without the city by a well of water. And he said, O Lord God, I stand here by the well of water; and the daughters of the men of the city come out to draw water: And let it come to pass, that the damsel to whom I shall say, Let down thy pitcher, I pray thee, that I may drink; and she shall say, Drink, and I will give thy camels drink also; let the same pray thee that thou has appointed for thy servant Isaac. And it came to pass that, behold, Rebekah came out, who was born to Bethuel, son of Milchah, the wife of Nahor, Abraham's brother, with her pitcher upon her shoulder."—Gen. 24: 1-15. And the sign was fulfilled as the servant had prayed it would occur. The Story of Rebekah is the first romance in the Bible. From an engraving made by Merian in the Seventeenth century.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH

Richard W. Neale, Pastor
You may be a new comer in Plymouth. If so, we cordially invite you to fellowship with us in any of our church services. The Apostle Paul said, "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth." (Romans 1:16). Perhaps you are looking for a friendly, Bible church where Christ is preached. Plan to visit us this week. Bring the children to Sunday school at 11:15 on Sundays. There's a class for you too.
This Sunday brings to mind the wonderful portions of Scripture which reveal God's plan for Christian mothers. One of them is the Bible book of First Samuel, chapter 1 to 3. They speak of a dark era in Israel's history. A mother's earnest prayer for a child; and God's answer to that petition, form the background of this thrilling story. Hear the pastor's message on "Hannah, Samuel, and Yourself." This service is at 10 a.m.
At 7:30 p.m. the pastor preaches on the first chapter of Luke. This is the first of a series of messages, as we study this marvelous Gospel record, chapter by chapter. D.V. Meet with a happy, singing crowd. Come to Calvary!
Prayer and Praise services are held each Wednesday evening at 7:30.
The Young People's Fellowship meets each Friday at 7:30. All young folks are welcome.
Next Tuesday, May 14th, at 5:30 all young people interested in active Christian work are invited to a conference to be led by Earl Severis of Detroit. The conference will be at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Postiff on Lilley Road. A potluck supper will precede the meeting.
Following this conference there will be a rally at the church at 7:45. All are welcomed heartily to attend.
We meet in the Temple Bldg., 455 S. Main St. You will feel our welcome.

Rotz Family To Leave Sunday For Alaska (Continued from Page One) mention a letter pertaining to the mention in last week's issue of The Mail of the communistic activities of one or two relief employees of the stove repair department maintained by the department. Mention was made in the report of the talk of at least two of the workers from Detroit pertaining to Communism. Mr. Ballenger has requested that it be made clear that the men who came out here to repair the stove in the Rotz home were welfare relief clients and in no way associated with welfare administration. While this information was contained in the previous write-up, The Mail is pleased to again state that the workers were from the stove repair department and were work relief workers who were members of the stove repair crew. Mr. Ballenger revealed that his department is making an intensive investigation of the Communist activities of at least one of the men who has been getting relief by working on the stove repair crew. They are not case workers and have absolutely nothing to do with welfare administration. A. C. Selmin, who is in direct charge of out-county relief, has been active in the inquiry and he has turned over to Mr. Ballenger some of the information that he has secured.

Lansing Clash Grows Serious

Legislature Planning To Block Governor's "Program"

By FRANK D. BROWN, Special Correspondent.

The Lansing harlequinade is now in full swing. The past week has seen the principal actors flitting across the political stage much to the amusement of many—and the dissatisfaction of some—and the discomfort of others. The final cannot be far off.

As a result of his address over the radio early this week in which he branded his opponents in the legislature as "clown acrobats" open warfare now exists between Gov. Fitzgerald and the controlling factors in both houses.

The gubernatorial blast, which definitely alienated the so-called insurgent republicans and recrimination in the form of defeat of the remnants of the administration program is almost certain to follow.

The governor's caustic remarks came on the heels of the Senate's concurrence in the House amendments to the controversial finance director bill which, in its original form as submitted by the controlling factors, would have placed the governor in absolute control of all state revenues. The executive charged the republican senators, under the purported guidance of Lieut.-Gov. Thomas Read, with having "sold out" their party for the promise of jobs from certain democratic-controlled departments.

The address has been received with mingled reaction. Supporters of the governor heartily approved of his method of going direct to the people and explaining to them the underlying causes of these abortive thrusts at his program. On the other hand, the anti-group regards the radio talk as ill-advised and conducive to relative manipulation.

There are also those who view the whole incident in the light of impartiality, finding justification and merit in the arguments of both camps.

Speaker of the House, George A. Schroeder, Detroit democrat, has also taken to the air to defend the charges hurled at the legislature by the chief executive. Likewise Lieut.-Gov. Read is expected to tell his side of the story via radio within a few days.

Speaker Schroeder in his address declared that "the governor is seeking to acquire absolute control of the state's purse strings." The advocacy of the finance director bill by the governor was branded by the speaker as being an attempt to substitute a dictatorial type of government for the splendid administrative system of public affairs that now exists.

The entire controversy, it appears, revolves around the democratic highway commissioner, Murray D. VanWagoner, who, it is believed, has been attempting to influence legislation by the promise of jobs for those who follow his advice. It was this coalition of VanWagoner, Read and Senator Munshaw (R), Grand Rapids leader of the "rebels" republicans in the upper house, that Gov. Fitzgerald directed his criticism.

Although the governor has not publicly said so, there is a well defined rumor going the rounds that if necessary efforts may be made to remove VanWagoner from office for alleged unlawful acts. Connected with this same rumor is the one which places George Welsh of Grand Rapids, former republican lieutenant governor who four years ago bolted to the democrats in the picture as trading with the Read-Munshaw-VanWagoner triumvirate.

So the story goes, and it is not without foundation. Welsh is scheduled to be appointed finance director in event the amendments to the bill should be passed over the governor's veto. The governor is certain to veto it in its present form and the possibility is that an attempt will be made to muster enough votes to override the executive prerogative.

As for removing from office an elected state official such as the highway commissioner, a precedent can be found. Action of this kind occurred during the administration of Gov. Alex. Grovesbeck. The governor in case of proceedings of this nature becomes the sole judge and jury as to the facts involved.

To thwart possible steps along this line, your correspondent is informed from reasonably reliable sources that the democrats and anti-administration republicans are considering the advisability of recessing the legislature rather than adjourning it. A recess until August is in prospect. This would keep all pending legislation alive; a cudgel held over the head of the governor inasmuch as the lawmakers would be privileged at any time to return and pass over his veto any bill which they did not approve of. Recess or adjournment—whichever alternative is followed, it is expected will take place somewhere between the 15th and the 20th of this month.

Despite early indications that the Senate because of the verbal "spankings" it received at the hands of the governor, would seek to embarrass him by approving the $25,000,000 school-aid bill, a compromise figure is being worked on. The administration has insisted that $20,000,000 state participation is sufficient to make up the $68,000,000 a year, claimed by the school lobby, to be necessary. Under the compromise agreement being considered a sum of $28,000,000 yearly would be raised by local

Test Wells Show Water Supply Of Good Quantity

Plymouth Can Get Water By Pumps If Necessary

As the result of a series of tests made by a well drilling concern engaged by the city, it is believed that a sufficient water supply for the needs of the city can be secured by drilling wells within or near the city.

Sometime ago city officials began consideration of the water problem of the city, feeling that the time was fast distant when there will be need of an additional supply. During recent weeks test wells have been driven and at the meeting of the city commission Monday night the following report was made showing the results of various tests:

No. 1 Hole. This test hole was located on East side of Moreland avenue between Penniman and Ann Arbor streets, immediately north of Tonquish Creek, and was drilled to depth of 121 feet from the surface. No water bearing strata of any kind was encountered in this test hole.

No. 2 Hole. This test hole was located at 634 Irving avenue in northwest part of the city, and was drilled to depth of 200 feet from the surface. In the drilling of this hole a vein of water was struck at 12 feet and same continued to 25 feet from the surface. From depth of 30 feet to 92 feet from the surface, the strata was impervious and did not contain water. However, at 92 feet we encountered a fine sand strata which continued to a depth of 183 feet. While the static level of the water in this sand formation was 26 feet from the surface the formation is so very fine that we question very much whether the water will flow through the same fast enough to permit developing a reasonable supply. Also considerable trouble would undoubtedly be experienced in endeavoring to control the sand. From depth of 190 feet to depth of 200 feet the formation was shale, which shale contained no water. The results of this test hole is quite encouraging as it may be possible that this water strata is coarser in the vicinity of this location. In this event the same should deliver a considerable quantity of water as it is very thick and has a high static level.

No. 3 Hole. This test hole was located southwest of the City on Moreland Avenue 1/4 mile south of Route 12 and opposite first farm house, and was drilled to depth of 65 feet from the surface. The water bearing strata in this hole was 12 feet thick extending from 47 feet to 59 feet from the surface. The water bearing formation was fairly coarse; however it is not of sufficient thickness to yield a large quantity of water. The water level in this test hole is approximately 12 feet above the surface, which denotes a fairly good head pressure. Inasmuch as the location of this test hole is beyond the Corporation limits, consideration should be given to possible interference with present farm house wells in the event a large supply of water should be pumped from this strata; however, ever, it may be possible to trace this same strata within the Corporation limits. In our opinion, a large well at this location would produce from 250 to 300 gallons of water per minute.

No. 4 Hole. This test hole was located on North side of Greenhouse on Creek bank near south end of Harvey street and was drilled to depth of 76 feet from the surface. The formation at this location was clay from surface to 70 feet, then fine plastic sand to 76 feet, no water bearing formation having been encountered.

The results of No. 2 and No. 3 test holes leads us to believe that a supply of water sufficient for your needs can be developed from wells, but to determine this definitely the available property should be further explored by means of test holes and it is our opinion that at least three or four more test holes should be drilled before either proceeding with construction of large wells or conducting the proposed tests. From the information obtained in this drilling, we would consider submitting your proposal guaranteeing to develop a supply of water complete with pumping equipment and including all future test hole drilling, required on a basis of water or no pay.

State Police Raid Cock Fight

Twenty-five fighting cocks and 57 spectators were taken by State Police Sunday in a raid on a cock-fighting arena in the woods north of Joy Road between Newburg and Lotz Roads. Twenty-three frequenters paid $10 fines in Judge Vining's Court and 34 were ordered to appear later.

A storm of protest by the cock-erels as well as their owners, was heard when the death penalty was imposed on the 25 game birds. One fancier declared he had just paid $300 for his bird while others declared to have paid considerable more for the prize fighters.

The trouble all came about thru the uninvited presence of a group of law enforcement officers. The pit was set for the appearance of some of the best birds in the community. There were birds from the very best pens, including a prize bird or two from Ypsilanti.

The cock fight was raided at 4 p.m. by Troopers Jess Ralph, Carl Miller and Phil Paulson, of the Ypsilanti Post of the State Police. They arrested a Detroit, Earl Uorris, 42 years old, on a charge of possessing fighting cocks. He was released on his personal recognizance and ordered to appear on Tuesday.

Norris was found in a 16-foot ring made of a sunken circular wood tank, where 25 game cocks were ripping at each other's feathers. Around the arena the other persons including several women were crowded, shouting and making bets.

As a result of this unlawful sport needy Detroiters (those with the sharpest teeth) will feast upon the stewed birds, estimated at $100 a pound—Wayme Dispatch.

Tells of Today's Prison Problems

It was a very attentive and appreciative audience that heard Miss Neva Lovewell of Plymouth at the school auditorium Tuesday evening, in the "Prison Day" program of the Monday Literary Club. Miss Lovewell is a teacher in the Plymouth high school and aside from her duties in that capacity is on the staff of the night school in the woman's division of the Detroit House of Correction.

Miss Lovewell is intensely interested in her prison work and gave her hearers some very interesting glimpses of life behind the bars.

Miss Lovewell alluded briefly to the problem of penal reform as a many sided one — tremendous, perilous path — with its solution hampered by the attitude of critics on the outside who know little of what they are talking about. She described various types of women prisoners, and the very definite causes that led to their wrong doing. In this one too often the home environment is clearly accountable. The broken home, the quarrelsome home and the home in which there is no attempt at wholesome training to respect law and order are responsible for many heart-breaking consequences. In this respect the lowly homes are no more at fault than those of affluence.

In holding the meeting at the school auditorium instead of at the club rooms, the club assumed that many outsiders would be interested in Miss Lovewell's talk. Those who attended were well repaid and the stay-at-homes were the losers.—Mittoid Times.

taxation with the legislature appropriating $10,000,000 minus the primary school fund, delinquent tax collections and certain other minor revenues.

The compromise bill is expected to satisfy the school people and at the same time relieve the governor of the embarrassment of carrying out his oft-stated intention of vetoing any sum over twenty million.

The Senate has passed the measure calling for a five-cent-a-pound tax on oleomargarine and other butter substitutes. In addition to the tax, the bill sets an annual license fee of $5 for retail dealers, and $10 for wholesalers.

The old age pension bill which has been bounding about the Senate for the past several weeks has finally received approval with the age limit reduced from 70 to 65. There is one provision inserted in the bill, however, whereby persons under 70 years of age may be denied pensions until 1940. This, it is asserted, is to conform with the security program requirements of the national government. Also to prevent too great a demand on the state's general fund during the five years that the pension system is being established on a sound basis.

Numerous bills and resolutions are seeing the light of day after resting in the cloistered confines of committee since the start of the session. The majority of them are of no import and far less benefit to the people of the state. Still they continue to come. In fact, bills are still being introduced daily, although with less intensity. More than 1,000 proposed changes in the laws of the state have been made thus far, all of which are supposed to be vital additions to the welfare of Michigan folks. It is merely a necessary evil. The majority of these last-minute bills are only inane gestures on the part of their sponsors to satisfy certain private interests and garner for themselves the support of the voters back home when the next election date rolls round. In most cases there is no desire nor even an effort made to get these zero hour skeletons passed.

Budget bills are being brought out of committee and approved with reasonable speed. This means the approaching end of a legislative session that for the major part has been a total failure in so far as accomplishing worthwhile results is concerned.

TVAA MEET HELD AT FERRY FIELD TODAY

The Twin Valley Athletic Association, which includes the following schools: Plymouth, River Rouge, Ecorse, Dearborn, Wayne, and Ypsilanti, will hold their league track meet this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock on Ferry Field in Ann Arbor. In previous years this meet was held at Ypsilanti but this year it could not be arranged, consequently it will be held at Ferry Field. It is predicted that this will be the best TVAA meet that has ever been run off in this particular league because the teams are more evenly matched than in other years. Contrary to the way dual meets have been run off this year, the league meet will go on rain or shine.

COOKING UTENSILS REMAIN CLEAN on your Electric Range after LONG USE

PROVE IT FOR YOURSELF ON ONE OF THESE TRIAL ELECTRIC RANGES!

POTS and pans used on an electric range are as easy to wash as any china dish—even after long use. You do not have to scour utensils after each cooking operation and there is no caking of grease to discolor them. An electric range cooks with pure, concentrated heat—without flame or smoke or soot. There are no products of combustion as in a fuel-burning stove—nothing to blacken pots and pans or soil kitchen walls and curtains. An electric range supplies only PURE HEAT from a glowing wire. Electric heat is as clean as sunlight.

★ We want you to try electric cooking in your own kitchen—without making any investment or being under any obligation. So we have arranged a special trial offer. We will install an electric range in your kitchen without initial charge, and let you use it for six months, removing it without charge if you do not like it. During the trial period, you pay for the service as registered by your meter, plus a monthly charge of $1 for the range. If you decide to keep the range, your monthly payments will be applied toward the purchase price. If you decide that you do not want it, the range will be removed at our expense.

Since this trial plan was begun a short time ago, over 4000 of our customers have taken advantage of the offer. Send in your application for a trial range today!
