Much Interest Shown In Recreational Program Just Started

The summer recreation program sponsored by the Plymouth recreation committee got under way Monday of this week. Although it was planned to have six playground supervisors to conduct the activities of the playground, the personnel for this work has not yet been obtained. The persons employed on this work will be secured through the State Emergency Relief Administration, which organization is sponsoring Summer Recreation activities.

Mrs. Stanley Hurt By Electrical Shock

On Wednesday of last week an unusual accident happened to Mrs. R. Stanley at her home on North Harvey street when she was doing her washing. A short circuit in the electric connection knocked Mrs. Stanley to the floor turned over the washer and burned her right hand. She was found by her neighbor and received medical aid immediately which no doubt saved her life. She is recovering slowly.

Penalty Added To Dog Licenses

Up until closing time on June 29th, the city of Plymouth had issued 159 dog licenses. This leaves approximately 250 dogs in the city still unlicensed. The police department will begin its canvas immediately to enforce the licensing of all dogs during the month of July. As stated in previous newspaper articles a fifty cent penalty is now attached to all dog licenses issued by the city clerk. Therefore all those who have not obtained licenses will be penalized to the extent of 50c.

The number of licenses issued before July 1st is the largest ever issued during the same period in any one year. This indicates the result of strict enforcement of the dog ordinance. During the months of July and August all dogs owned within the city are to be kept on the owner's premises or if off the premises and on public property they are to be held by a leash. Unless this provision is complied with it will be necessary to put on additional help in the police department in order that dogs running at large can be picked up and impounded. It is suggested that owners whose dogs are missing call the city hall to ascertain whether or not the dog is in the city pound as all dogs will be picked up whether or not they are wearing a license during these two months.

The police department was called upon last Saturday to dispose of another mad dog in the city. The dog was in such a condition that it was not approached by either the owner or by the police officer and it was necessary to shoot it in the kitchen of the owners home. The dog had been acting queerly for the past two or three days and it was allowed to continually become more rabid without medical attention. Dog owners should immediately call a veterinarian if any unusual signs develop in their dogs. The dog above referred to is the fifth rabid dog to be discovered in the city this year which is a very high ratio compared with other years.

Did You Know That

On the evening of Thursday, July 11 there will be a street dance given by the Plymouth Civic band on Penniman avenue across from Kellogg park. Every one is urged to come and take part in this affair. All funds will be used for the band.

Todd Rockwell, well known Detroit sports authority was the guest of the Kiwanis club last Tuesday evening. He entertained members of the club with many interesting stories of people who are prominent in sports.

On June 26, Mrs. L. A. Babbitt of Detroit and Mrs. H. D. Dean of Northville entertained the Merry-Go-Round club of Northville at a luncheon at the lovely home of the former's daughter, Mrs. J. C. McLaren, on West Ann Arbor Trail. Those attending were Mrs. Adolph Olde, Mrs. Ada Ambler, Mrs. Minnie Parker and Mrs. Chadwick and daughter, Mary, of Detroit, Mrs. Blon Hewett, Mrs. Kittie Harmon, Mrs. Georgia Verkes, Mrs. Fred Simmons, Mrs. May Pilkins, Mrs. Lucy Pilkins, Mrs. Adeline Knapp, Mrs. William Stark, Mrs. Bert Stark, Mrs. Harry Clark, Mrs. Sumner Power, Mrs. Charles Rogers and Mrs. Archie Morris of Northville.

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Beyer celebrated their wedding anniversary on their 25th anniversary at her birthday with dinner and supper at Riverside Park Sunday having Mr. and Mrs. William Gayde, Miss Amelia Gayde, Edward Gayde, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Burgin, Mrs. Regina McMoray and little daughter, Miss Marjorie Beyer and Robert Beyer present. William Connor entertained the following guests at his cottage at Walled Lake on the Fourth. Mrs. George Wilkie, Mrs. Nettie Dickie, Miss Mary Connor, Miss Alma Wheeler, Miss Julia Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, John and Jack Wilcox.

Mrs. Minnie Hirschlieb was hostess Tuesday afternoon to her "500" club at her home on Starkweather avenue. At six o'clock they were joined by their families and all enjoyed a picnic supper at Riverside Park.

City Starts On Its New Fiscal Year July First

Prompt Payment of Taxes Will Be of Benefit To Municipality

Last Sunday night, June 30th, was New Year's eve for the city of Plymouth. On that date the fiscal year ended and on Monday morning, July 1st, a new day, a new week, a new month and a new year started for the city. On this date the budget recently adopted by the city commission becomes effective.

It is significant to note that the city operated during the present year without borrowing any funds or without any great delay in the payment of its obligations. All general obligation and water bonds, with exception of a small issue due on June 15th, were paid. These latter bonds will be paid within the next few weeks. One issue of special assessment bonds was extended for a period of four years and the bonds were purchased by the Special Assessment Sinking Fund, therefore any additional interest paid required on the extended bonds will be to the benefit of the city.

The new budget under which the city will operate during the coming year is based on the collection of 75 per cent of the general taxes and a like percentage of the Moore-Holbeck taxes, together with 15 per cent of the delinquent 1933 and '34 taxes. The latter taxes should be collected in a larger percentage and it is not unreasonable to believe that more than 75 per cent of the 1935 taxes will be received because of improved conditions over last year.

Arrangements have been made whereby all delinquent taxes can be paid to the city treasurer who will take the taxes to the county treasurer's office for the taxpayer. This plan should be a real help in increasing delinquent tax payments, which will aid the city to operate as planned at the time the budget was prepared.

During the past few years it appears that some taxpayers have purposely avoided the payment of taxes, hoping that some cancellation measures will be enacted by the State Legislature. The last session of the legislature appearing to have been a very little possibility of such legislation in the future. The government cannot operate without taxes and it would be impossible for people to live in incorporated communities or anywhere else without some Plymouth has reduced taxes to kind of government. The city of a greater extent than the average of cities in the state of Michigan and the city commission, at the time of adopting the budget, decided that the city should operate on the same basis and with a low tax rate for the next year at least, with the hope that tax collections will continue to improve.

There will be no penalties added to the tax until August 10th, when a 2 per cent penalty will be attached, therefore any taxes paid between July 1st and August 10th will be paid in the net amount as shown on the tax bill.

Local Fishermen Land Some Big Blue Gills

As fine a string of bluegills as ever brought into Plymouth were caught a few days ago by Dr. B. M. Champe, Jake Stremich and Matt Powell over it a lake south of Brighton. While they did not catch the limit, every one they did catch was of excellent size. Not only were they large ones, but they seemed to be of uniform size. All three declared they enjoyed some of the best blue gill fishing they had ever had.

Improvements Are Extensive

Announcement has been made by Edward Wilkie that Russell Bissell has been appointed local manager of the Wilkie funeral home and has already assumed his new duties. Mr. Bissell has been a resident of Plymouth for over ten years and has devoted his time exclusively to the funeral business. His experience and knowledge along these lines has particularly qualified him for his new duties.

Mr. Wilkie will continue to reside in Plymouth where his services will be available at any time. This new arrangement will however, allow him to devote more of his time to the Detroit office where the increasing demand for his services are urgently needed. Workmen will within the near future complete extensive alterations and improvements at the Wilkie funeral home on North Main street. The work was started some time ago and when completed will be a new, open type veranda of brick and concrete, taking the place of the old porch that had served so many years. Its attractiveness has been enhanced by the placing of an ornamental railing.

A new coat of white paint has been given the building and lighting effects have also been changed. New flower gardens have been laid out about the building and several other outdoor improvements are contemplated. Several interior changes have already been put down, new carpets laid and there has been redecorating throughout.

Edward Wilkie states he has numerous other plans for his funeral home that he hopes to carry out in the near future.

New President Of Rotary Club

REV. FRANK A. LEFEVRE

When members of the Rotary club met today, Rev. Frank A. Lefevre, one of the oldest in point of membership and most active Rotarians in Plymouth, will preside as chief executive officer of the local organization. Father Lefevre having assumed the presidency of the club at the last meeting. He succeeds Lynn Felt, who has served most efficiently and well during the past year.

Father Lefevre has been especially interested in the numerous charity activities of the club and has served on many of the committees that had to do with these problems.

It is interesting to note that July 4th is the 20th anniversary of Father Lefevre's entrance into the priesthood. This month is also the 15th anniversary of his coming to Plymouth, where he has taken a most active part in all community affairs. He will announce his committees for the ensuing year at today's meeting.

Start Payment Of Local Taxes

The first two days for collecting the annual city tax brought in $3500.00. On the first two days of the tax collection period last year a total of $3,000.00 was collected. Although it is too early to make a very close estimate on the percentage of taxes to be received, the first two days of collections this year indicates that a greater percentage will be paid than last year.

There will be no penalties added to the tax until August 10th, when a 2 per cent penalty will be attached, therefore any taxes paid between July 1st and August 10th will be paid in the net amount as shown on the tax bill.

Miss Jeanne Voorhies Becomes the Bride of Mr. Robert Spencer

Miss Jeanne Eleanor Voorhies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Voorhies, of Detroit, formerly of Plymouth, became the bride of Robert Beamer Spencer, son of Mrs. Warner A. Spencer of Ludington at eight-thirty o'clock Saturday evening, June 29, in the Wesley Chapel of the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal church in Detroit, the Reverend Dr. Merton S. Rice and the Reverend Dr. Charles B. Allen reading the nuptial services.

The bride was charmingly attended by her mother's wedding train of ivory lace over ivory satin, which was elaborately trimmed with white satin baby ribbon. Her bouquet was of valley lilies loosely arranged, falling in sprays over her arm.

Her sister, Pauline, who was maid of honor, was lovely in a gown of yellow organza trimmed with a wide belt of emerald green taffeta. Her bouquet was of yellow roses.

The groom was attended by Lewis Albert Green of Grand Rapids and the ushers were Maxwell T. Gall of Birmingham and Arent Von, Jr., of Grand Haven.

The happy couple are taking a northern wedding trip. Mrs. Spencer chose a suit of light blue French tweed with blue accessories for this occasion.

Those attending the wedding from Plymouth were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hough and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Rauch.

Miss Beulah Fisher Weds Henry Trombly

At the First Methodist church in Pontiac, Sunday, June 30th at one o'clock occurred the marriage of Henry L. Trombly of Farmington to Miss Beulah V. Fisher. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Floyd C. Johnson. The young couple were attended by Miss Thelma M. Clemence of Pontiac and John W. Trombly, brother of the groom. The double ring ceremony was used.

The bride was charming in a delicate shade of blue organza, while the bridesmaid wore pink organza.

Mrs. Trombly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy O. Fisher of 843 Starkweather avenue. She was graduated from the Plymouth high school in the year of 1927.

The young couple will reside in Farmington where the groom is employed. Their many Plymouth friends extend best wishes.

First Loan Made Under Title Two

The first completed loan under Title 2 of the Federal Housing act which permits banks to make loans for purchasing or building completely new homes has just been announced by The Plymouth United Savings bank. The new home owner has been able to meet all the requirements of the government and has been authorized this loan.

It is also stated by Russell Deane, vice president and cashier of the bank, that every loan made by the bank for home modernization in Plymouth has been exceedingly satisfactory and not one has had difficulty in meeting payments. The borrowers are also thoroughly satisfied.

Civic Band Will Play 10 Numbers

Saturday night, beginning at 8 o'clock, in Kellogg park on Main street, will take place the first band concert of the 1935 series to be played by the Plymouth Civic band. Ivan B. Gray has completed an excellent program for the first appearance of the organization. There will be ten numbers played, as follows: 1. Invercargill, March, Litzgow. 2. Hungarian Dances No. 1 and 2, Brooks. 3. Evening Star, Waltz, Moses-Tobani. 4. High Jinks, Selection, Clark. 5. When I Grow Too Old To Dream, Popular. 6. Blaze Away, March, Holzman. 7. (a) Intermezzo, Bohn. (b) Fair Maiden of Seville, Gavotte-Czibulka. 8. Superba, Grand Medley Overture, Dalby. 9. Tavern in the Town, Popular. 10. Lights Out, March, McCoy.

Postoffice Job Ready to Start

Construction of the new postoffice in Plymouth will doubtless start on Monday, July 15, according to one of the officials of the Marten Construction company of Plymouth, who have been awarded the contract for the building. The treasury department has authorized the immediate construction of the building and the company is busy now working out a few minor details necessary before work can be started. There had been some hope of starting the building on July 8th, one of the officials stated, but yesterday he announced that it would more likely be on the 15th than on the 8th.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Virgo of Kalamazoo visited their son, Seth, and family from Thursday until Sunday of last week. Mrs. Virgo is accompanied by her daughter, Ralph Hunt and daughter, Jean, also of Kalamazoo, accompanied them to Plymouth visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harms while here. They were accompanied to Kalamazoo by Richard Virgo, who will spend two weeks with his grandparents.

Miss Ethel Arscott of Rogers City, sister of William Arscott of this city, visited him and his family over the week-end while en route to New York where she will sail on the American Farmer for a six week's tour of Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Draper are spending two days with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Siehl, in Detroit. Mrs. Elmore Carney of Detroit is in charge of the store during their absence.

Mr. and Mrs. William Arscott and children motored to Rogers City Wednesday to visit his father, Dr. William Arscott, until Sunday.

Northville Exchange Club Honors Plymouth Resident

ROY E. CROWE

The following is taken from last week's issue of The Northville Record: Roy E. Crowe, commercial manager of the Michigan Bell Telephone company for this district, was elected president of the Exchange club at its semi-annual meeting Wednesday noon. Mr. Crowe succeeds Maurice Lapham as head of the Exchange club. He has been a member of the club since 1927 and has been active in all civic affairs. Other officers elected Wednesday are Dr. D. A. Brief, first vice president; Carl E. Ely, second vice president; Samuel Wilkinson, third vice president; Charles A. Dolph, secretary; and Paul B. Thompson, marshal. These officers together with the president will serve six months.

President Crowe will have his list of committees ready to announce at the next meeting, he said. He is already making plans for the coming months. The past six months under Past-President Lapham were reviewed, pointing to the adornment of local business places and attainment of well-kept lawns as major projects. Mr. Lapham also presented the club with several new signs to be erected soon.

Charles T. Thornton, president-elect of the Rotary club, will take office the first meeting in July.

Mexico City Has Won Rotarians

From Mexico City there has come to The Plymouth Mail of news of the success of the efforts of the International Rotary convention that has just come to a close, having been sent by Charles H. Bennett, official delegate of the Plymouth Rotarians to the convention.

One of the newspapers, printed in the English language for the benefit of the visitors, carries not only numerous excellent reports of various convention activities, but there are photographs and sketches of numerous important visitors to the convention that would do credit to some of the best newspapers in the United States.

The following brief report of one of the addresses taken from one of the newspapers sent by Mr. Bennett gives some idea of just how wonderful the convention Mr. Bennett has attended really was: "President-elect Edwin Robinson, Sheffield, England, started his speech by saying: 'Ever since we crossed the border from the United States of America to the United States of Mexico, we have received the greatest possible kindness and courtesy from everybody we have met. I for one never doubted that this convention was going to be one of the finest conventions that Rotary International has ever had. But I never dreamed that it would be as wonderful as it has proved to be.'

"Mr. Robinson afterward said that Edinburgh probably offers as great a contrast to this delightful city of Mexico as you can imagine. 'It has a beauty and charm of its own, but it is a gray, austere, even a cold city, and it was an entirely new experience for me, a rather shy Englishman, to join a throng of boisterous, happy people who have traveled across the Atlantic in order to spread the message of Rotary to the other parts of the world.'

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mastick entertained at dinner Friday Mrs. Wagner, Heiser and son, David, Cleveland, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Roe and Virginia Roe of Milford.

Speakers Laud Work Being Done By Organization

Buildings Will Not Be Ready For Use Before Summer of 1936—Many Prominent Churchmen Present.

In the presence of over one thousand Felician Sisters, their friends, churchmen and interested citizens, Bishop Michael Gallagher, assisted by some twenty or more prominent clergymen of the Catholic church, broke ground Tuesday afternoon for the beautiful new Felician Sisters church, academy and convent that is to be erected at the corner of Schoolcraft and Newburg road.

"A glorious day for such a glorious affair," said one of the speakers as a song from nearly one thousand voices died away just before the great Michigan church leader, Bishop Gallagher took the spade from the hands of the Mother Superior and turned the first spadeful of earth. It probably be the largest Felician Sisters convent in America.

"It seemed fitting too that here in this part of Michigan should be erected such a wonderful institution," said Bishop Gallagher, give me over half a century ago when the Felician Sisters came here to start their great work. This is surely a historic day for them and for the rest of us," he said.

"During all of these long years they have fulfilled their objective and furnished the right kind of example to the younger generation. In this age of pleasure they have exemplified the spirit of Christian sacrifice and helpfulness. They have succeeded beyond all expectations in the work these young women have devoted their lives to," said Bishop Gallagher, "and I believe that the good people of Michigan will give the aid that will be needed."

"This is a day of great joy and I rejoice with you that the hour has come when through your economy, sacrifice and thrift you are able to start this building."

It was Father Piskowski, chaplain of the institution, who welcomed in most cordial words Bishop Gallagher and the other churchmen who were present. He declared that the foundation of all work is humility. The success of the Felician Sisters endeavors has been through their constant adherence to this rule, he said.

Following the long ceremony, many of the prominent guests were taken to the farm home on the Five Mile road which is serving as the temporary headquarters.

Ralph Lorenz Now Normal Golf Champ

Ralph Lorenz, who is a sophomore this year, clinched the No. 1 position on the Michigan Normal College golf team in the first meet and held it by brilliant playing throughout the campaign. He has been picked as captain of next season's Huron linkers.

The unusual honor of picking a junior as leader of a Normal athletic team was bestowed on Lorenz by a unanimous vote of his mates at a meeting in Charles McKenny Hall, Wednesday evening. Lorenz, whose home town is Plymouth, succeeds Capt. Ward Dunlap, Detroit, who is the only player lost from this year's successful quartet.

Lorenz consistently was the low scorer of the Normal team this year and was instrumental in enabling the Hurons to gain six victories against four defeats—Vipsiantl Present.

A Heide-Herbert reunion was held on the Fourth at the summer home of Carl Heide at Base Lake with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wagner, Heiser and son, David, Milford, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Roe and Virginia Roe of Milford.

W.C.T.U. Hears of New Problems

A most enjoyable meeting was held by the Plymouth Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Thursday, June 27th at the home of Mrs. Harry Mack. The attendance was unusually large. Among those present were Mrs. E. Purcell of Caro who is visiting her son in Plymouth. Mrs. Purcell is an active member in the Caro W.C.T.U. and holds the office of treasurer.

Mrs. Clara Todd gave a very interesting talk on the new methods employed by the brewers to increase the sale of their wares. A short program was given. Two songs were given by two little girls with piano accompaniment by Miss Doris Starkweather, who also gave two piano solos. A very amusing poem entitled "A Dietetic Tragedy," was read by Mrs. Vealey and three beautiful piano pieces were given by Miss Ardath Bar.

The President, Mrs. Jessie Vealey, was pleasantly surprised by the gift of a very pretty rocker, given by the Union as a token of appreciation for her faithful work during the six years she has served as president. The presentation speech was made in a few well-chosen words by Mrs. L. C. Holloway.

In conclusion tea was served by the hostess, Mrs. Mack and a social time enjoyed by all. The next meeting will occur July 25th at the home of Mrs. Starkweather.

STARTS "MODEL" HOUSE

Construction is well under way on a "model home" being conducted by Russell Deane in conjunction with local contractors. The new residence is being built in Hough subdivision directly across from the Cass S. Hough residence on Garfield street. The house will be 37 feet by 41 feet and will be complete with the most modern fixtures available.

Where the President Does His Dirt Farming

PRESIDENT Roosevelt is in a way a real dirt farmer. He spent his childhood, as did his father and his grandfather, on the 1,000 acre farm at Hyde Park, N. Y., and still maintains it, obtaining therefrom all the green stuff and dairy products that his family uses and selling the considerable surplus. This recently taken photograph shows a part of the truck farm. The superintendent of the Hyde Park farm is William Plog, who has been in the employ of the Roosevelts for many years.

HE IS A MEMBER OF THE JURY COMMISSION

Readers of The Plymouth Mail will recall some editorial comment made by this paper three or four weeks ago when Governor Fitzgerald appointed Clyde Fenner a member of the Wayne County jury commission. The Mail took exception to the appointment not so much because of any "record" we knew that Fenner might have, but because we regarded him as entirely unfit for the place to which he was selected and because of the fact that he had not a single qualification for the job. He was and is a loud-mouthed Democrat who assailed everything pertaining to Republicanism and Republican leaders during his recent unsuccessful candidacy for the Democratic nomination to congress from this district. There are hundreds of exceedingly worthy Democrats who could serve on the jury commission with distinction to himself and the county and we cannot yet understand why the Governor made such an appointment.

But this is all from the point. A few days ago, according to The Detroit News, John F. Hamilton, a member of the Wayne county board of supervisors, openly charged during a session of the board that Fenner was discharged from the Detroit police department "because he accepted funds and bribes from public prostitutes."

We call to your especial attention Fenner's attempted alibi of this charge in a subsequent issue of The News. Read it carefully:

"I was assigned to make precinct investigations out of the First Precinct when I was with the department in 1920, my partner was a man whose name I would rather not mention. He had formerly patrolled in the downtown vice districts and was well acquainted with the various disorderly houses. For several weeks we made investigations of different houses to which he seemed to have ready access.

"Two weeks later, I was suspended for taking a $20 bribe from a disorderly house keeper. When I appeared before the trial board, I was told that the only evidence against me was an affidavit from my brother officer in which he charged that we had taken the bribe and split it between us. My partner did not appear at this star-chamber session and I was never given an opportunity to cross-examine him.

"Before the trial, my friends all urged me to quit rather than stand trial, but I insisted on going through with it, to clear my name. When they told me I was guilty, I became angry and walked out, saying that I had resigned. I realize now that I should have been more calm and fought the conviction as illegal. But I was only 20 then and I didn't realize what the consequences would be.

"My partner was not tried for political reasons, but some time later he was fired for taking a bribe."

Meanwhile Mr. Fenner's job is to help select the jurors who will try criminal cases that come before the courts in Wayne county.

WELCOME, THRICE WELCOME

Announcement in The Plymouth Mail last week of the location and construction in this vicinity of the great Felician Sisters institution was pleasing news for the residents of this part of Wayne county. It will bring to this part of the state hundreds of new residents and the construction program assures considerable employment for artisans during the next few months.

We are especially happy to welcome this big institution because of the ideal work the members of the Felician Sisters have given their lives to. These happy, alert and bright young women are spending the rest of their days and years in the education and rearing of orphaned boys and girls, children who if not for the goodness of hearts of the Felician Sisters would be left to shift for themselves and make their own way in a world that is none too kind to those left without a guiding hand. May their work be always successful and may the institution live on to aid the unfortunate children of not only this generation, but of the other generations to follow.

APPOINTMENTS MADE

Governor Fitzgerald has made two more appointments to the public utilities commission jobs that are regarded as among the richest plums within the gift of the executive. One appointment went to Emerson Boyles, who is now serving as deputy attorney general. The other appointment went to Ivan Hull of Grand Rapids. Mr. Boyles, through a long public training, is ideally equipped for the place he has been given. His appointment will be applauded by the entire state. The only qualification of Hull for the job he got is the fact that he is the husband of a stenographer whose employer is a close friend of the governor. The Governor, apparently sensing a storm of protest on the Hull appointment, issued a statement in which he said that he appointed Hull to keep a political promise, which in no way minimizes the inexcusability of the appointment any more than did the explanation that Clyde Fenner was appointed to the Wayne county jury commission because he was a nephew of one of Mr. Fitzgerald's Detroit friends.

THEY TELL THE STORY

To read the headlines in The Plymouth Mail, one can get a slight idea of the development that is taking place in this location. "Machinery Now Being Placed In Newburg Plant."—"To Break Ground For Felician Sisters Institution Tuesday."—"To Complete New Comfort Station in July."—"Start Work Monday Morning on Big Addition to The Daisy Manufacturing Company's Plant. All Contracts Let." Surely such headlines tell a wonderful story of faith in the future of Plymouth and America.

WHERE TO LOOK

If you are out gunning for your enemies all you got to do is to look into your own mentality, for they are there if they are anywhere. —J. E. McMullen in The Linden Leader.

DARK DEEDS

There's nothing new under the sun, but a lot of silly stuff is pulled under the moon.—George Shaw in The Pigeon Progress.

WHO SAID IT?

There is no poorer music than singing your own praises.—Wm. Cansfield in The Livingston County Republican-Press.

It seems 't' take all kinds o' folks
 'T' keep this world a-go-in';
 An' most of 'em is mighty fine,
 While others ain't worth knowin'.
 There's folks an' folks—an' all I guess.
 Has got some good about 'em,
 But some is so unpleasant-like
 We'd get along without 'em.

So, let's jus' think about the folks
 That brings their neighbors gladness,
 The kind o' folks that shares our joys—
 An' also shares our sadness.
 Let's think about the friendly folks,
 The happy folks, an' joyous—
 An' then we'll find the other kind
 Ain't likely to annoy us.

It's cheery folks we like 't' meet;
 It's jolly folks an' merry
 That makes it easier 't' bear
 The loads we hafta carry.
 It's helpful folks an' smilin' folks
 That fills us with thanksgivin';
 It's friendly folks that makes this world
 A better place 't' live in.

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

THEN AND NOW

Strange indeed that economic conditions change so rapidly. Two months ago Oakland county educators were beseeching Lansing clamoring for the passage of a $400,000 emergency fund to keep Oakland county schools in operation. Cancellationists from the same section urged their claims on the basis that collection of current taxes, encouraged by tax bargain days, would keep the schools open. Neither bill was passed and yet in Sunday's newspapers there appeared a news item from Pontic to the effect that the county school commissioner is warning school board officers of a shortage of teachers and the further interesting fact that teachers wages, down to $30 a month a year or two ago, are now back to a range of between $75 and $125 per month.

Either the attempted raid on state funds was wholly unwarranted or school authorities in that county are receiving bad advice and colored propaganda now. Oakland county editors are requested to give us the straight of the matter.—Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

WHY WORRY, FRANK?

We think our state legislature did a wise thing when it made the new law relative to heart balm. And, we think, they could have gone even a little further in some of the particulars. To cleanse our courts of this type of gold-digging and blackmail is a mighty fine thing.

On the other hand, there are some sex cases so vicious that it would seem as if our laws are entirely inadequate to meet out anything like retribution. We refer to the case in Detroit which has just come to light, where a middle aged man got a sixteen year old girl into trouble, and then when in these tender years she gave birth to a baby, compelled her to bury it alive, and continued to force his attentions and has compelled her to provide him with her earnings on a threat that if she did not do so he would report her to the police.

What law have we that would meet out justice to that kind of a fellow?—Frank Bryce in The Grand Ledge Independent.

CIVIL SERVICE AND IMPUDENCE

We see much discussion of civil service for state employes and acknowledge that it is theoretically correct, but at the same time realize that civil service may result in less civil service. When employes feel that their jobs are secure under civil service they are less apt to feel that they have to be "on their toes" to hold their jobs. We have no illusions about civil service putting a stop to removals for political purposes, for we have all seen this done as recently as within the last two years. As we said in the beginning, civil service is theoretically correct, but we know that the human element enters into every such program and human weaknesses prevent them from functioning as they should.—William Berkeley in The Cassopolis Vigilant.

THE CURE

Former President Hoover in his Sunday speech at Stanford University, warned his hearers against "concentrated economic power." He meant economic power concentrated in the Presidency, but we okeh the warning he applied to the power of multimillionaire professional financiers. For this there is just one cure as we see it, under our Constitution and that is an adequate inheritance tax, to return swollen fortunes to the people through their government.—Emerson Gildart in The Utica Sentinel.

BUSINESS GOOD

Canadian business places seem more active than they were two or three years ago. If anyone rests under the impression that this depression has not been worldwide they should have visited Canada two and three years ago to have that idea dispelled.—James Haskins in The Howard City Record.

Nightwatchman Trombley has thrown up his job.

George Dingledee is the owner of a new Ford car, one of the first out this way.

George Allen, an old school mate of Asa Joy, came from Pittsburgh, Pa., to call on Mr. Joy the other day.

Coello Hamilton and Miss Theresa Gunn were married last Friday at the home of the bride in Jackson. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton are now on their honeymoon but will return to Plymouth in the near future.

Milo Corwin has temporarily given up his auto conveyance to Walled lake. The machine gave too much trouble and caused too much delay. He plans to get a new "carry-all" and start up again.

Constable Springer was out Friday night warning all owners of dogs in the township to muzzle the dogs or keep them tied up. Several dogs suspected of rabies were shot this week by owners in the village.

T. P. Sherman's horses became frightened Thursday forenoon and ran from the depot to Main street, where the horses fell, throwing some furniture that was in the wagon onto them. The horses were only slightly bruised but the furniture was badly damaged.

A little prodding by the village fathers might do some good about the irregular car service out of Plymouth. Our cars are run on the siding and have to wait for through cars. It naturally makes them late. Hardly a day passes when the cars are on time.

The bells rang joyously when another of West Plymouth's fair daughters assumed matronly duties at the bride's home Wednesday evening. Miss Otha Lucas, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lucas, was given in marriage to Will Cole of Salem. A delicious five course luncheon was served after which the young couple left for their honeymoon at Niagara Falls.

Dignity deserted Policeman John Ready, of Chicago, with an awful suddenness. He had been handing out tickets to motorists in great style when his horse slipped into a manhole and its hind legs were caught. Motorists, pedestrians, and even the fire department rushed to his aid and in due time rescued the horse from the manhole.

Hearing screams and shouts, Floyd Tipps, 15, of Lynchburg, Tenn., rushed out of his house to find a massive golden eagle dragging his small brother, Chas. across the ground. Floyd grabbed a stick and struck the bird across the head until it released its hold on the child. Then he killed it. The eagle had a wing spread of 35 inches.

Plymouth Park Wins Fifth Game

The hard hitting Plymouth Park baseball club defeated Redford to the tune of 16 to 8 in the game on Sunday. Redford failed to score until the seventh inning after two were out. Up to the seventh inning Pizarek the new Plymouth Park hurler held Redford to one hit.

K. Gates started in the field and at bat. He gathered four hits in six trips to the plate. The great plays pulled by the local short stop in recent games has lifted the local nine into a first place tie in the Michigan Southern League.

Plymouth Park has placed three players on the all star team which team will play Ford V-8 and Tivoli teams on Wednesday, August 7th at Bob-Lo Park Island. K. Gates, Joseph Urbanek, and Peter Tonkovich are to be contemplated upon their making the all star team of the Michigan Southern League. Another player is being considered from the local nine.

Manager Ray Levandowski who has been up to Winnipeg, Canada, spending his vacation with his brother Clarence, returned last Sunday to see his team win their fifth straight game. And now the president of the local nine, Mike Huber, has taken a trip to New York.

Thursday, July Fourth, at one o'clock the Detroit Maroons will meet the local nine at Riverside Park. This game will be the last of the season between these two teams. To date each team has won one game and if you will notice the standing of the Plymouth Park nine you will find that they have lost but two games this season.

Sunday at one o'clock the East Detroit Nomads who have handed the local nine their other defeat will play two games at Riverside Park, so come on out and see three good games.

OBITUARIES

JOHN G. LANG
John G. Lang, better known as "Doc" Lang to his host of friends a prominent resident of Plymouth, passed away at the hospital in Ann Arbor, Saturday morning, after several week's illness. Mr. Lang was born June 7th, in Manchester, Ohio, where he spent his early life.

He was united in marriage to Miss Grace A. Smith, of Plymouth, Mich., Dec. 23rd, 1903 and they have always resided in this vicinity.

Mr. Lang was in business for several years both in Northville and Plymouth and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. He was a member of Plymouth Rock Lodge, No. 47, F. & A. M.

Surviving besides the widow, are two children, Harry Lang of this city and Mrs. Hugh Johnson of Wayne, one granddaughter, Mary Ann Lang, one brother, Charles E. Lang and one sister, Mrs. Ernest Shelton, both of Winchester, Ohio.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the Schrader Bros. funeral home. Rev. Nichol, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial was in Riverside cemetery, Plymouth Rock lodge, No. 147, F. & A. M. had charge of the services at the grave.

Those from out of town who attended the services were, Mr. and Mrs. William Slater of Marshall, Frank Johnson and Mr. Marvin Johnson of Flint and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell English of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thornton of Northville.

JOHN F. CRIGER
John F. Criger, age 89 years, who resided for a number of years at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ziegler on the Farmington Road, passed away Thursday, June 27th. The body was brought to the Schrader Brothers Funeral Home, Plymouth, from which place funeral services were held Sunday, June 30th, 1935 at 3 p.m. Interment in Livonia Cemetery. Rev. Walter Nichol officiating.

The body was brought to the Schrader Brothers Funeral Home, and later taken to Mason county, Grant Township, Ludington, Michigan for burial on Sunday, June 30th. Interment in Grant Cemetery.

MRS. ALMA BERGER
Mrs. Alma Berger, age 53 years, passed away at her home 20415 Arlington Road, West Point, Livonia township, Michigan, early Sunday morning, June 30th. She was the widow of the Late Louis E. Berger and mother of Mrs. Louise Murphy of Terre Haute, Indiana; Mrs. Alma Weitzer, George and Helen Berger, all of Farmington. The body was brought to the Schrader Brothers Funeral Home, and later taken to her home, from which place funeral services were held Tuesday, July 2nd, 1935, at 3 p.m. Interment in Riverside Cemetery. Rev. John Adams of Mason, Mich. officiating.

He Grows Tropical Plants At Eloise
Charles Hudson, chief gardener and horticulturist at Eloise Hospital, reports unusual success with a hobby he is developing, that of growing tropical and semi-tropical plants in the Eloise Greenhouses. Lemon, orange, banana and Florida cherry trees grown in the greenhouses are now bearing fruit, and as a result of a grafting experiment he has several hybrid varieties. Mr. Hudson is known as a grower of carnations and roses, and a showcase in his greenhouse office attests to his skill. Ribbons are included from the Michigan State Fair, the North American Flower Show and numerous county fairs. He is assisted by his sons, Jack and William.

THIS WEEK'S BEST FISHING STORY

"There seems to be some little interest in just how I caught that bass out at Walled Lake on the opening day, Oh No! Not by those who were present to witness the exhibition catch, but by some who have heard just a little bit about it from round about sources," explained Russell Powell the other day when discussing the most remarkable catch he ever made while fishing.

"It wasn't a remarkable catch for size or because it happened to be the lone bass taken from the lake by our party that day," explained Mr. Powell. "But it was the way the fish was caught, that has made it the best fishing story of the week."

"Maybe I shouldn't say it was the way the fish was caught, but the way the fish caught the bait would be a better way to put it."

"In the boat with me was Dave Bolton at the oars. Now if you want a good man to row the boat, just get Dave. He's good at that. I wouldn't say just how good at fishing he might be, but I will certify as to his ability as an oarsman. He is a real fisherman, though he had no chance to show his ability that day. I had placed Dr. Britt Champe in the front of the boat to give it balance and to sort of direct the way we were to be headed."

"Well, Doc guided us down by some lily pads. Now you know that all good fishes know just where to go to find bass and you know Doc is a good guide."

"Doc said, 'tryer here Russ,' and so I heaved one just across the top of the pads. Just as my bait hit the water, a bass took a jump for it, but missed. I started to reel in and he took another jump for it. Again it was a ball."

"Well, by that time my bait was up to the boat, never a moment did he wanted me to take another try at the spot. 'Maybe you can get him this time' and so I took a long cast. But there was nothing doing."

"Doc had Dave make a circle around the pads and about half way around I made another cast. Say that bass jumped almost three feet out of the water that time, but for some reason it didn't seem able to connect with my bait."

"Well it looked almost as though the bass was as anxious to be caught as we were to catch it."

"By this time we were around back of the lily pads. Now Russ if you will just drop the bait a bit between those two leaves, you'll get him sure this time," said Doc. So I took a shot for the space between the lily pads.

"As my bait sailed through the air I realized that I had cast too high. By the time my bait reached the lilies it was in the air almost three feet above water."

"And then would you believe it! You have all seen Mickey Cochrane jump up in the air back of the batter's head and Dave high pitched that had been made."

"Well apparently that bass saw my bait coming. Say, just like a streak of lightning that bass jumped out of the water over two feet and caught my bait just as perfectly as Mickey Cochrane ever caught a high one."

"I'm telling you that Walled Lake bass know something about baseball, because you never saw a better catch of a wild one than that bass made. Doc and Dave couldn't hardly believe it, but they saw it with their own eyes."

"I guess I am the only man living who ever caught a baseball playing bass."

Schrader Team Wins Fast Game
A three run attack off Bill Peterson and Lew Stevens in the ninth inning and the fine hitting of the Schrader-Haggertys gave Plymouth a 4 to 3 decision over the strong Fowlerville club, at the new Cass Benton ball park, last Sunday. This was the first of a three game series.

It was George Brewer's double to right-center field, with the tying run on third and the winning run on second, in the ninth inning that broke up the ball game. Bowers had replaced Harold Fankow on the mound in the ninth with second and third occupied and two out.

Fowlerville collected twelve hits which were well scattered, off the offerings of Harold Fankow, while the Plymouth hitters were held to six.

Bob Haire, smashing out two singles and a double, led the visitors in their 12-hit attack.

The victory over Fowlerville gave Plymouth their fifth consecutive win and their second game won with three lost for their season's record to date.

Plymouth showed over two runs, one each in the fifth and sixth innings last Saturday to defeat the Wolverines of the Detroit Baseball Federation, 2 to 1, behind the three-hit pitching of Anthony Kreeger.

Three Detroit moundsmen yielded only six hits, but the Schrader-Haggertys bunched two of them with a sacrifice hit for the winning run.

The outcome of the Plymouth-Tivoli game at Plymouth-Riverside Park July 4th, will appear in next week's paper.

Sunday, July 7th, Stroh's of Pontiac will oppose Plymouth at Cass Benton Park.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cutler entertained the Rev. Walter Nichol family at dinner Sunday at Silver Lake.

DUTCH OVEN SUSAN cooks All foods BETTER from ANY convenience outlet!

You've a delicious treat in store for you when you taste your first meal cooked in Dutch Oven Susan. Perhaps you'll have roast turkey, a honey ham, or maybe a vegetable dinner — but whatever it is, you'll smack your lips and declare it's the best food you ever tasted! Dutch Oven Susan brings you genuine electric cooking with sealed-in flavor, at surprisingly low cost.

This modern appliance can be plugged into any convenience outlet, and it will roast all cuts of meat to perfection; it will fry eggs, steaks, chops, etc.; it will bake cakes, pies, cookies, biscuits and muffins; and it will hold half-a-dozen pint jars when canning by the cold pack, hot water bath method. It uses only about as much electricity per hour as an electric toaster, and it is so compact that it can be tucked away in a corner almost anywhere.

You can put a whole meal for a family of six—two vegetables, a roast, potatoes and gravy—in this cooker, and go out for the afternoon. When you come home your dinner is waiting, perfectly cooked—piping hot and ready for the table. Dutch Oven Susan is available in several styles and sizes—ones to fit your needs exactly. The medium size model will roast a 10-pound ham, a 6-pound chicken, or a large leg of lamb. The large size will easily accommodate a 15 1/2-pound turkey. And there is "Small Sister" Susan, an electric casserole, with a two-quart capacity. See this modern appliance at all Detroit Edison offices, Department Stores and Electrical Dealers.

Services every Sunday at 10:30.
Be ye DOERS of the Word, and not HEARERS only, deceiving your own selves. James 1:22.
What avails your vaunted Christianity, if you never come or seldom come to hear the Word?
"Blessed are they," says Jesus "that HEAR THE WORD OF GOD AND KEEP IT." The services last but a short 45 minutes during the summer, certainly the last 45 minutes you can possibly spend all week without, which the entire remaining 10.035 minutes of the week are wasted and have lost their meaning. Wednesday evening testimony service, 8:00.

"God" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 7. Among the Bible citations in this passage (Ps. 47: 6, 7): "Sing praises to God, sing praises; sing praises unto our King, sing praises. For God is the King of all the earth; sing ye praises with understanding."
Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 140): "Not materially but spiritually we know Him as divine Mind, as Life, Truth, and Love."

We shall obey and adore in proportion as we apprehend the divine nature and love Him, understandingly, warily, no more over the corporeality, but rejoicing in the affluence of our God."

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Walter Nichol, Pastor.
The First Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches will unite in the morning worship service each Sunday during July and August. The Story of the Bible Told in Pictures

The Building of Solomon's Temple.—When Hiram, king of Tyre, sent messengers to Solomon, he was informed that the latter intended to build a temple. "And Solomon sent to Hiram, saying, 'Thou knowest how that David, my father, could not build a house unto the name of the Lord his God, for the wars which were about him on every side, until the Lord put them under the soles of his feet. But now the Lord my God hath given me rest on every side, so that there is neither adversary nor evil occurrent. And, behold, I purpose to build a house unto the name of the Lord my God.'—I Kings 5: 2-5. Lumber for the temple was brought from Lebanon and many thousands of men were engaged in the work of building it. I Kings 6 gives details of the construction of the temple, and the fact that it took seven years to build it. King Solomon sent to Tyre and had Hiram, who was a worker in brass, brought to Jerusalem. And Hiram wrought many decorations for the temple. Solomon constructed an edifice which every since has been famous as a symbol of costliness and magnificence. This illustration is from Merian's story of the Bible in pictures, engraved in 1625.

TRY AN ELECTRIC RANGE FOR YOURSELF!

USE IT FOR SIX MONTHS—THEN DECIDE IF YOU WANT TO KEEP IT

Stop wondering whether you can afford electric cooking—whether or not you will really like it. Take advantage of this chance to FIND OUT definitely. Enjoy electric cooking in your own kitchen, by means of this Trial Plan.

Here is the plan briefly: We will install an electric range in your kitchen without initial charge, so that you may give it a thorough trial. During this trial period you simply pay for the service as registered by your meter, plus a monthly charge of $1 for the range. If you decide to keep the range, your monthly payments will be applied toward the purchase price. If you decide that you do not want it, the range will be removed at our expense.

Electric cooking is NOT expensive. We know it—we want you to discover it. Once you have enjoyed the delicious flavor it imparts to foods, its cleanliness, its coolness and its convenience, we believe that you will never again go back to any other method of cooking.

Applications for ranges on trial installations will be taken care of in the order they are received. Call any Detroit Edison office.

Enjoy These Advantages of Electric Cooking!

- CLEAN. Electric heat is as clean as sunlight. There is no smoke or soot to soil kitchen walls and curtains. Cooking utensils remain bright and shiny after long use.
- HEALTHFUL. Electric cooking seals in nourishing juices and natural elements in meats and vegetables. Important food values are retained.
- WATERLESS COOKING. With your electric range you use no water for roasts and only half-cup for vegetables.
- MODERN. In attractive and striking design, these electric ranges do much to brighten and add a feeling of newness to your entire kitchen.
- FULL FLAVORED. Electric cooking has a deliciously different taste—a natural flavor in foods. Meats and vegetables cook so melting tenderness in their own juices.
- INEXPENSIVE. Electric cooking costs less than a cent a meal per person.
- SAFE. An electric range supplies only pure heat from a glowing wire—there is no flame, no matches, no fumes.

Roosevelt Viewed as Victim of Political "Heat"

By Mark Sullivan

The situation at Washington is as disturbing as the country must have sensed it is. It is best the country should know the situation is disturbing, because the only apparent means of remedy is pressure by public opinion upon Democratic leaders in Congress. The disquieting part of the condition is not particularly related to the substance of the present tax proposals; it is apart from that, and broader than that.

An attempt to narrate the present episode necessarily includes some inference. Reliance upon inference is unescapable in a situation in which so much of the vital part of what is done goes on within the President's mind, or in the private contacts between the President and the queer circle of advisers who have private access to him.

An attempt at reconstruction of what happened would run somewhat thus: Some one appears to have advised the President about two weeks ago that he should send to Congress a message calling for the distribution of wealth by taxation. The suggestion probably came from some of the political-minded ones in his intimate group. The group is made up in part of persons who look at things in terms of politics, of the impression made on the public mind, part of radicals and intellectuals. Probably it was one of the political ones who made this suggestion.

The apparent purpose, political in nature, was to offset Huey Long and others who have been making a slogan of "share the wealth," and to make it difficult for Senator Long to start a third-party defection from Mr. Roosevelt in the election next year. That Mr. Roosevelt should follow a policy of pleasing the radical voters and holding them to him was stated some time ago by the manager of the President's political fortunes, Postmaster General Farley.

It is evident that at the time the suggestion about a "distribution of wealth" policy was made to Mr. Roosevelt, and at the time he acted on it, the thought was that enactment of it by Congress should not take place for some time, perhaps next year. Instantly, however, something else happened, and this illustrates what has occurred again and again. Once the President had been led to make the "distribution of wealth" announcement, the intellectuals and radicals around him thought in effect, "now we've got him." Their purpose was shared by some who are not in the President's circle, but who believe in the "distribution of wealth" policy. At once they began a process of pressure which current slang expresses as "turn on the heat." They began propaganda to the effect that unless the President would make Congress enact his policy this session, and unless the distribution of wealth were carried further than the President proposed, he would be held guilty of "stalling."

This sort of thing has happened again and again. It is part of the technique by which fundamental change is being promoted. The President is led to take a step of which he does not see the future consequences. Once the first step is taken, the next becomes obligatory. That is the process by which America through the President has been carried a long way toward the undisclosed objective which the radicals and intellectuals have in mind.

Once the President had made his original announcement, and immediately thereafter when the "heat was turned on" him, he seems to have determined to drive the legislation through Congress with a spectacular speed which would demonstrate both his sincerity and his power over Congress. The policy could, of course, have been put before Congress as a separate measure and considered and enacted in an orderly way. The President's mood, however, appears to have been "I'll show 'em."

There was already before Congress a measure extending certain taxes on gasoline, cosmetics and the like which has just expired. This gasoline tax bill had been passed by the House and was pending in the Senate. It was determined to attach the new "distribution of wealth" tax program as a rider on the bill extending the gasoline tax. This meant that the President's new tax measure, not only affecting the entire structure of income, inheritance and corporation taxes, but also involving a new and rather revolutionary policy of "distribution of wealth"—this extremely important measure must be driven through Congress in five days. Not only that, the Constitution must be evaded. The legislative situation is such that the "distribution of wealth" rider could only be added to the gasoline tax measure in the Senate, while the Constitution provides that all taxation measures must originate in the House.

When attempt was made to do this, protest arose from the country. After that he had asked Democratic leaders in Congress to put the "distribution of wealth" tax on the gasoline tax as a rider. It is possible Mr. Roosevelt did not make this a demand. The facts seem to be that the leaders in Congress were not consulted by Mr. Roosevelt before he sent his message, that afterward the leaders said the legislation should wait until next year or until later in the present session, that the President sent for the leaders to come to the White House at once, that after the conference the leaders were questioned by some fifty newspaper men waiting at the White House door, that the newspaper men got from the Democratic leaders the impression that the President's new tax proposal would be added to the gasoline tax bill, and that in Congress the next day action was taken looking to this. It seems doubtful that Democratic leaders known personally to oppose this course would embark on it unless they understood they had been ordered to do so by the President.

The disturbing quality of the situation at Washington is broader than this incident. It includes what is being done about several other pieces of legislation. The disquieting elements include the existing tax of the President whom the public does not know, the fact that the President ignores party leaders in Congress, the fact that in spite of this the leaders in Congress put through measures they do not believe in, and finally Mr. Roosevelt's own temperament. If anybody must exercise powers as near to dictatorial as Mr. Roosevelt has, one wonders if his is the best kind of temperament for that function.

Great Fortunes and Popular Responsibility

By Walter Lippmann

Since it has been decided that only a hurried examination of the new tax program is to be permitted, anything like a considered opinion is impossible. At the first glance, which apparently is about all that the country is to be granted, it would appear that the proposed rates bite most deeply into inheritances above 3 million dollars. The new individual surtaxes affect radically only a very few incomes. Even at the height of the boom, in 1929, there were only 513 net incomes of more than 1 million dollars. There are less than 100 of them today, and when existing state as well as Federal taxes are taken into account there is not much of these super-incomes left to tax. The new rates on incomes are estimated to yield 100 millions, or enough to carry the government about five days. But the inheritance taxes, which are superimposed on the present estate taxes, do strike radically at the large fortunes. The son of a very rich man would still be a rich man, but the grandson could not inherit a great fortune.

The principle that great fortunes shall not be allowed to pass on intact through several generations is almost universally accepted. The real question is not whether very great incomes and vast inheritances should be taxed as heavily as they will now be taxed. The question is whether we have a general tax system in this country which encourages the voters and Congress to take a responsible view of the use to be made of the yield of taxes.

Our Federal tax system has become steadily less calculated to encourage responsibility. At the present time, for example, 70 percent of the Federal revenues come from indirect and invisible taxes. The mass of the people pay those taxes, regardless of their ability to pay them, but since they are invisible and indirect taxes they mask the burden of expenditure.

When we examine the direct and visible taxes, that is to say, the individual income taxes, we find a sensational degeneration in the system. Income taxes started with the year 1914, but it was not until 1917 that the income tax became important. From 1917 to 1924 the system became progressively better in that the number of individuals included rose from 3,472,000 in 1917 to over 7 million in 1923-'24. Then came the Mellon-Coolidge tax program, based on the principle of reducing the taxes of the rich and of exempting the smaller incomes. The number of taxpayers fell from over 7 million in 1924 to 4 millions in 1929. From that destructive blow the American income tax system has never recovered. We now have a system in which not 10 percent of the voters have any personal connection with the income tax.

From the point of view of stable revenues, but above all from the point of view of responsible self-government, this is a dangerously distorted tax structure. It will not become a good one, regardless of the rates imposed on the rich, until a very much larger number of individuals are brought under it. In 1923 there were 7,698,000 individuals within the system. We ought to aim, it seems to me, to include at least 10,000,000. That would be about a quarter of the voting population.

Such a reform, hateful as it will seem to the politically minded, could be carried out without adding to the real burden of those who have small incomes. It could be done by substituting popular income taxes for the indirect and invisible excise taxes. It would not tax the rich less or tax the poor more. It would, in fact, tax the very poor less. But it would make the tax burden visible and would add greatly to the sense of responsibility among politicians.

The hardest money to get hold of is easy money. Charity covers, our grand juries uncover, a multitude of sins. The brown trout of Michigan streams prefer damsel flies and May flies while brook trout select ants and beetles as choice food.

Wind Storm Does Heavy Damage

According to the last issue, of The South Lyon Herald a severe wind storm that did much damage, swept over the country to the northwest of Plymouth last week Wednesday. The Herald's report of the storm follows:

Wednesday night's windstorm did a lot of damage in this section of the state, especially north and west of town, where it attained the fury of a young cyclone.

The storm struck at about 8:30. Rain fell in torrents accompanied by a strong gale. At the Frank Masak farm near Silver Lake a barn was wrecked. An automobile standing inside was buried in debris. The roof was ripped off of the big barn on the farm.

The Herman Neveith family watched the approach of a funnel-shaped cloud, then took to the basement, where they remained until the noise of the storm ceased. At their place, the garage was wrecked, but the car was left standing undisturbed except for a heavy beam which had been thrown across the top. The large chicken house was moved from its foundation and the roof ripped off. Other buildings were damaged. The big doors were torn from the barn. Fifteen large trees in the orchard were broken down, and other trees uprooted. Twenty acres of exceptionally fine wheat was laid flat.

The Rollo Spring farm, too was in direct line of the twister. A large steel silo was demolished and fruit trees uprooted. A large tree standing near the house in the Spring yard was broken off like so much kindling wood and carried across the road where it was thrown into the yard of the former Hill place. Even the lightning rods on the house were bent over by the force of the wind.

At the Theo. Fisher farm, the corn crib was wrecked, doors torn from the barn and trees uprooted. A wagon standing in the farmyard was lifted up straight and whirled several seconds then crashed to the ground.

Several of the big trees in the yard at the Hubert Hill place (now occupied by the Tunis Grover family) were laid to the ground. Fruit trees were uprooted and broken off. A hen house was lifted into the air and carried some distance where it was brought down to earth with such force as to be buried about a foot in the ground. The barn was taken from its foundation.

Trees along the entire path of the storm were uprooted and broken down. Many buildings had the roofs ripped off, and here and there one was moved slightly from its foundation. Hay crops were laid to the ground. Telephone and electric wires were down to a great extent and in a few places were broken by falling trees and limbs. Lights went out, some residents in the community had to do without them practically the entire evening. Those who had lamps and lanterns resorted to were fortunate. Others had to sit in the dark, else retire for the night. Edison linemen, however, were right on the job and restored service as soon as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen: "It ain't my business to see that the law is enforced. Don't we elect officers to do that?" Employees who are fired by enthusiasm and a desire to succeed always have a decided advantage over those fired by the boss.

Wilson Team In First Defeat

Red and White, 1934 champs showed Monday evening that they are still dangerous contenders for the 1935 playoff championship. Catching the hard hitting undefeated Wilson Hardaway team on an off-night they won a loosely played game by the score of 11 to 1.

Rigole of the Daisy had another good game in that old right arm of his and would have shut-out the Frigidaire team if Murphy had not got a hold of a fast one for a home run. Score for this game Daisy 11, Frigidaire 1.

Wilson and K. of P. were rained out Wednesday after playing two innings the score was tied at three all, when the umpires called the game. This game will be played July 15.

Cashing in on 9 hits and eight errors, Red and White took Schraders into camp, this game was close until the seventh when Schraders blew up with three errors and Red and White made two hits for three runs. Final score being Red and White 8, Schraders 4.

By bunching good clean hits combined with Hi-Speed errors the Plymouth Mail team took Hi-Speed into camp. Hi-Speed had a make-shift line-up, having only six of their regular players. Earl Gray chief umpire of the league played first base for the Hi-Speed team, and Russell Egloff, Mail pitcher got in a bit of sweet revenge on the close decisions handed out by Umpire Gray, by striking him out 3 of the four times to bat and making him foul fly to the catcher in the other attempt.

A deposit of $120 which Patrick O'Leary, a Union soldier in Virginia, made in the Providence Institution of Savings at Providence R. I. in 1892, has increased through interest to $1,100 for his daughter, Ellen, who is now 83 years old. O'Leary died during the Civil War, and not until 1909 did his widow, Mrs. O'Leary, cash her account. She was unable to withdraw it because she couldn't prove the signature which had accompanied the deposit was that of her husband. The money went into the state treasury. After Mrs. O'Leary's death her spinster daughter renewed the claim, and a handwriting expert proved that the signature was O'Leary's.

Over $7 of Your Phone Bill Taxes

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company will pay in taxes this year $7.26 per telephone based on the average number of telephones it operated in 1934; this is approximately $1.00 more per telephone than it paid last year. It requires the net earnings from 187,600 telephones or nearly 38 percent of the average number the Company operated last year to pay the tax bill which will amount to $3,594,000.00. And if taxes were paid through a meter, the Michigan Bell Company would be required to stuff $6.83 into the slot each minute of every day in the year.

On Friday, June 28, Michigan's auditor general, John O'Hara, received at Lansing the Telephone Company's check for $1,368,977.63, representing half of its state tax bill of $2,737,855.25. The balance is to be paid before November 1.

In addition to its state tax, the Telephone Company will pay the federal government approximately $808,000 this year, and its miscellaneous local taxes will approximate $47,000.

Under the Michigan law, telephone and telegraph companies, railroads, railway car-loading companies and express companies pay taxes to the state. In lieu of local taxes, upon property generally used for conducting their businesses, The Michigan Bell Telephone Company is the largest individual taxpayer in the utilities group.

Tax money received by the state of Michigan from public utilities goes into the primary school fund and is distributed among all public school districts in proportion to the number of children of school age residing therein. It is estimated that the Michigan Bell Company pays approximately 28 percent of the sum paid into the fund by the state's public utilities.

Our most outstanding handicraft work this year was our weaving. Eight looms were loaned from the Cromine Crafts. Boys and girls as well as leaders wove many lovely articles.

Our two other projects were the making of balsam pillows and the weaving of seats in stools. The afternoon program consisted of a rest hour, tribe meetings, organized games, and swimming. Vesper program was held at 7 o'clock, council circle at 8:00 and 9:30 bed time.

The success of the camp was due largely to the splendid cooperation of the leaders.

Seven Mile Road To Be Connected South Of Northville Limits

In spite of all reports to the contrary, the proposed extension of the Seven Mile road from the Northville road to the Parkway drive will not begin this year. It was announced recently by Leroy C. Smith, engineer-manager of the Wayne county road commissioners. However when this cut-off is made direct east and west travel through Northville will be diverted south of the fair grounds unless of course one desires to drive through town.

County surveys were in Northville several days last week in connection with this project. Property owners, including Arnold Hassick, owner of the property on the west side of the Northville road at the intersection of the Seven Mile road have been told by county road employees here that the project has been approved.

"All the surveying work in Northville on that job has been of a preliminary nature," Mr. Smith advised. "There has been no allocation of funds for the job yet, and we know that there will be none until 1936. We have looked at the property there only for appraisal purposes, and not because we had decided to make any immediate purchases." The road extension is badly needed, Mr. Smith believes, since there is heavy through-traffic that must pass through Main street, which is quite narrow. When the job is completed the Seven Mile and the Fishery roads will be joined in a straight line, he said. It has also been proposed to construct a grade separation for the Seven Mile road at the crossing of the Pere Marquette railroad, but this has not been definitely decided upon, Mr. Smith said. Meanwhile the "black-topping" of the west-bound lane of Griswold road from the overhead bridge to the Base Line road and the Base Line road from the Novi road to North Center street is rapidly nearing completion and should be finished within the next few days, Mr. Smith said. Whether one considers the world round, flat, square or crooked depends on the part he has bumped against.

Score 17 Runs in One Short Inning

(Written by a reporter without bias or interest whatsoever in the outcome.) Last Friday night marked the beginning and the end of the 1935 baseball season for the Rotary and Kiwanis club teams. True to a long established custom the Kiwanians administered a severe drubbing to the Rotary Club. The first inning with Pelton hurling for the Rotarians saw 17 runs scored by the Kiwanians. Inasmuch as there were only six Kiwanians playing it is obvious that such constant and continuous circling of the bases made the victors dizzy-headed. Unfortunately the game did not start until 6:30 so it was necessary to call it in the sixth inning because of darkness. The Rotarians, being a persistent group, refused to admit that it was dark and they continued playing after the Kiwanians had gone home. But even so they were able to tally only 19 runs so the final score was 21-19 in favor of Kiwanis.

Although there was considerable interest shown by those participating, and both of the spectators, the clubs have decided to call it quits. Of the twelve men playing only two to date have been able to return to their respective jobs. The balance are groaning from pain and vowing that henceforth they will stick to golf and politics. Many, if not most, fishes have greater power over their color and color pattern than the Chameleon, says the Department of Conservation. According to Alfred C. Weed of the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, the pikes and pikelets are able to change their color to a degree with every passing mood or change in surroundings.

Fancy Trophies Offered Golfers

Anticipating a large entry for the club championship to be held during the month of July at Plymouth Country Club, officials have already purchased two of the trophies which will be given as prizes to the respective winners. The trophies were displayed at the club house Sunday where they will remain until they are taken home by the winners. Many other prizes will be given in connection with the tournament but the club will not be in a position to secure these until it is known how many players will be entered. The trophies now being shown attracted the eye of many of the players Sunday and no doubt many a hard fought match will be played for these prizes before the tournament is finished. Dr. F. B. Hoyer and W. T. Pierce deserve much credit for their selection.

Qualifying rounds for the tournament start Thursday, July 4th and continue throughout the month of July. The entry fee is $1.00 and the tournament is open to all players. To qualify, a player must turn in an 18 hole card. The card may be handed in at the ticket office. The championship flight will consist of the sixteen lowest qualifying scores. The first flight will be made up of the next eight low scores. The second flight will take in the next eight low scores and so on. All players will be playing against other players whose qualifying score is about the same so that players will have an opportunity to win a prize in their own class.

How W.H.M.S. Ladies Set Out to Make $5 For Their Church Need

(S. L. Marshall in the Clinton County (St. Johns) Republican-News) Because we have heard them grumble about it, we know that a great many husbands question the financial wisdom of church socials, suppers, and sundry other methods employed by the women to make money. In spite of all the grumbling, for the first time in our experience we saw in the Charlotte Republican-Tribune an alleged accurate accounting of one of these projects.

Luren Dickinson, former lieutenant-governor and well known churchman, writes the Charlotte newspaper that some lady offered the Woman's Home Missionary Society $5.00 for a quilt. It was made in the Dickinson home. Luren's story got kept time on the ladies. Here is what he says: "I appointed myself timekeeper and assistant. As such I am making my report through the Republican-Tribune rather than taking chances before one of the society's business meetings, and not even Mrs. Dickinson, will know until it is seen in print. Number of hours quilting by Mrs. Dickinson 141, by Mrs. W. H. Cooley 86, Mrs. Ada Spotts 10, Mrs. Gladys Spotts 3 1/2 and one hour each making block by 13 members, totaling 223 1/2 hours work. Before finishing, a hurry-up call was sent in for the quilt and Mrs. Cooley and Mrs. Dickinson had to prolong their 'old moon' positions over those quilt frames into eight-hour afternoon seances with additional finger tops pricked into raw beef appearance and both going around since looking like half open jack knives and making regular and sundry efforts to kink their spines back into erect and dignified poise. Mrs. Cooley made 10 auto trips to the Dickinson home, Mrs. Spotts 1. Gas alone would have been at least 8c a trip or 99 cents. This should be given credit, therefore leaving $4.01 for labor. This divided by 223 gives these ladies 1 4/5 cents an hour.

Barn Raising Recalls Days of the Past On Louis Salow Farm

Reminiscent of the "good old days" of long ago when such an occurrence was not only a custom but also the only way to do it, a barn raising was held at the Louis C. Salow farm, south of the Six Mile road, Thursday afternoon, June 20, with more than 125 farmers of the district working on the job.

In two and one-half hours after operations were begun, the entire framework of the structure was erected, and the last rafter was in place. The work started at 1:30 p.m. and finished at almost exactly 5 o'clock.

Although the barn was raised in the year 1935, when many mechanical advancements are used in construction work, the job was carried out in the same way that barns were raised generations ago.

The seven sections which together were to form the framework of the barn were all previously assembled. These were all pushed up into their exact positions and fastened together quickly with the only tools used being "pike poles," long wooden poles with a heavy spike in the end, and ropes. The sections were then joined together by other timbers, which had been cut to fit into the grooves perfectly, and the fastened together by "drift pins."

Very little supervising of this enthusiastic crew was necessary. The men all knew just how each operation should be done, and swung into their various positions naturally. It was not the first barn raising for them.

Finally the lower framework was finished, and it was time to begin hoisting the rafters into place. Each rafter consisted of two sections of two planks each, fastened together at an angle. The pairs of sections were joined together on top of the framework, and then the complete rafter moved up into place.

The most spectacular participants in this part of the job were the two who "rode the rafters," sitting up on top of them, nailing each succeeding rafter to a plank which they straddled, and in that way of the structure.

Getting the last rafter into place completed the raising, and as soon as this happened Mr. Salow announced that supper was ready. And although the scene of the raising had been a busy one during the entire afternoon, it became quite deserted within a few minutes as the workmen sat down to their meal at improvised tables on the lawn in front of the Salow home.

Large supplies of potato salad, sandwiches, pickles, jelly, cake and coffee had been prepared, but they disappeared rapidly under the attack made upon them. Supper is a most integral part of all barn raising, those who know solemnly declare.

SPRING DISHES

WITH the delicious rhubarb, as fresh from the garden, one has the best of spring tones. Cut it into half-inch lengths without peeling and put to bake in a baking dish with sugar to sweeten. Remove from the oven when tender and serve hot or cold.

Rhubarb Vanity.
Wash and cut the rhubarb without peeling into half-inch pieces, place in a baking dish, adding one cupful of sugar to a pound of rhubarb. Cook covered, over low heat until the juices flow, then uncover and cook until thick. By adding the sugar after the rhubarb is nearly done it will save constant watching. Cool and fold in two well beaten egg whites and three-fourths of a cupful of freshly shredded coconut. Chill before serving with a thin custard, using the yolks of the eggs and one cupful of milk and sugar to sweeten.

Energy Salad.
Mince parsley, taking two tablespoons, one-half package of dates that have been pitted, mash one package of cream cheese, adding the parsley and two tablespoons of seedless raisins, moisten with cream or salad dressing if needed and stuff the dates with the cheese mixture. Serve on lettuce with a spoonful of salad dressing.

Rhubarb Betty.
Melt two tablespoons of butter and add two cupfuls of bread crumbs, mix with one cupful of sugar, one-fourth teaspoonful each of grated rind of an orange and one cupful of fresh grated coconut or one package of coconut. Place the mixture in layers with three cupfuls of rhubarb, using the juice of the orange sprinkled over the fruit. Cover with buttered crumbs, and bake 45 minutes closely covered. Uncover and brown. Serve plain or with a hard sauce or a foamy egg sauce.

'Little Stories for Bedtime' by Thornton W. Burgess

BUSTER BEAR IS HUNGRY

BUSTER BEAR was hungry. There wasn't any doubt about that. Danny Meadow Mouse, watching from his hiding place under a little pile of brown leaves in the Green Forest, didn't have to be told that. He had only to watch Buster raking over the leaves on the ground, sniffing among them as he did so, to know that Buster was hungry. What he was hunting for could have helped it, but of course he had to do that. And all the time he kept his bright little eyes fixed on the great black form of Buster Bear as Buster wandered this way and that way in the moonlight sifting down through the tree tops. Perhaps he would have felt a wee bit easier had he known what it was Buster was looking for among the brown leaves. Buster was hunting for hiccups, of which he is very fond. But Danny didn't know this. You see, Danny knew very little about Buster Bear. "He's looking for mice. That's what he's looking for. He must have found out from Billy Mink or some one that I am over here, and he's looking for me," thought Danny, and the little chills chased each other all over him faster than ever. You see, he was so frightened that he didn't stop to really think. If he had, he would have known right away that of course Buster couldn't possibly have known anything about him. Sometimes Buster would go off to one side until Danny couldn't see him among the trees, and he would begin to hope. But if he couldn't see Buster he could hear Buster's great claws raking and raking over the leaves, and it seemed to him the most awful sound he ever had heard. Then Buster would come back in his direction and the little chills would make Danny shake so that his teeth chattered. Danny Meadow Mouse was frightened. Yes, indeed, Danny Meadow Mouse was very much frightened. At last, Buster Bear, having raked over all the leaves all about, looked straight at the little pile under which Danny was hiding and Danny felt sure that Buster was looking right at him. Then Buster began to walk straight toward that little pile of leaves and Danny Meadow Mouse.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes

By JEAN NEWTON

IS IT MORE IMPORTANT TO WORK OR TO SMILE?

"I DON'T like her," said the little boy about the new maid. "I liked Helen."

"But my dear child," said her mother, "Mary is a better maid than Helen; you know you said yourself she's a better cook. Think of her delicious apple pie!"

"I don't care. I don't like her. I liked Helen better!"

"Foolish child. Mary is so much neater, so much more reliable, as well as cooking the things you like better than Helen. She's such a good girl. Why don't you like her?"

"I don't know. I just don't like her. I liked Helen!" Then, an afterthought, "Helen was so jolly—she was always smiling. Mary doesn't smile."

"Ah," said his mother, "so that's it! It's true, Mary doesn't smile like Helen did. She's more serious-minded. She has her mind on her work. That's why she does it better. If you had more sense of values, my child, you would appreciate Mary, who works and doesn't smile, rather than Helen, who smiled and didn't work!"

To work and not to smile, or to smile and not to work, is an unfortunate alternative, to be sure. For life is not complete without something of each.

But if it were necessary for us to choose between people who lacked one or the other of these facilities I am afraid that most of us would be no more practical and sensible than the little boy who stuck to his preference for the woman who was jolly and smiled.

MINUTE MAKE-UPS

By V. V.

This new mode is a glittering one. Even fingernails must look like gems. Natural or pale pink color is best, but the high polish should give them little glints of light as they deal cards, toy with a cocktail glass or gesture dramatically.

On and Off The Record

There have been many stories circulated about the present legislators at Lansing. The latest comes from a brilliant lobbyist who's now working for the Board of County Auditors. He says in days past a lobbyist had no chance to pass a bill through the legislature unless his hotel room was stacked with the choicest whiskies available. Now all he needs is a five gallon tin of alcohol.

It is quite proper to push bills this way and the passage of nearly every bill floats along a river of alcoholic beverages. Groups as high-typed as boards of education have been known to aid their cause in this manner.

Rural Notes—Mr. and Mrs. Stork of Huron Township have recorded a mortgage on one three year old bull and three milch cows. The price of beef will hit a new high. End of joke. Laugh here.

One of the county building employees has a new get rich quick scheme. He plans to form a race track pool costing each participant a quarter. After he takes his cut of twenty per cent daily there will be three winners. He plans to defeat the law by insuring his business with Lloyds of London.

Fate plays many peculiar tricks. Sometimes there are happenings over which we have no control and no matter how hard we try we are unable to curb destined events. This is not a fatalistic philosophy, merely facts. Judge Toms was put on the spot recently. No one was apparently to blame unless you can blame chance. He was assigned to a communistic case which had aroused public interest to a heated point. According to many unbiased judges, Toms had only one recourse, only one decision to make. Under the law he had to grant the request of the communistic group. Many people do not realize that almost any judge sitting on the same case would have handed down the same decision. The newspapers did not make this fact clear.

Years ago we kept land by virtue of physical force. The minute we neglected vigilance someone else had taken over our property as their own. There was no safe way to guard our property rights.
