

High Rotarian Officials Here Honor Bennett

Club Presents Past President With Gift For His Services

Outstanding in the long series of important Rotary events, and there have been many of them in Plymouth Rotary history was the meeting last Friday. The occasion was the yearly visit of the district governor, William M. Gray, prominent Chatham, Ontario, business leader and civic worker.

It was too the occasion for special honors for Past President Charles Bennett, one of Rotary's most tireless workers. For many months the members of the Rotary club have planned to recognize in some way the devoted and unselfish services of Rotarian Bennett. Through the efforts of Mr. Bennett the Plymouth Rotarians have more than once topped the efforts of all other organizations of a similar size and in much larger communities in aid to crippled children and in other charitable work. It has been Mr. Bennett who has provided the local club without cost to the organization representation at several of the international conventions.

He has given freely of his time and efforts for the organization and it was Mr. and Mrs. Bennett who recently saw to it that the club members and their wives were given one of the most delightful social affairs the organization has ever enjoyed.

For all of this and much more, the club some weeks ago voted to recognize in a special way the services of Mr. Bennett to Rotary. The occasion of the visit of the district governor provided the ideal time and to this high Rotary official went the honor of presenting to Mr. Bennett a sun dial in behalf of the Plymouth Rotary club for his beautiful gardens.

District Governor Gray pointed out that the gift was an expensive reminder of all the good that Mr. Bennett had done for Rotary, and that the local club as well as Rotary International was pleased to honor one who is so devoted to the ideals of Rotary.

The district governor expressed his pleasure in knowing of the good work of the club during the past year.

To President Frank Lefevre, he expressed his appreciation for starting the club off on the right direction for the coming year.

He knows Rotary and he seemingly knows how to get the club members to work with him. I am sure you will have a good year. When the president of your club is willing to devote so much of his time to its affairs, there is no question but what it will be a success," said the district governor.

The 23rd Rotary district, of which Plymouth is a part, comprises eastern Michigan and western Ontario.

The new district governor is an outstanding citizen of Canada. He has served as an official of the city of Chatham, a past president of the Kent Motor club, the Chatham Rotary club, the Macaulay club and the Canadian club.

He is president of the Colonial Traders Ltd., and a director of several other business institutions of the city in which he resides.

He lauded Plymouth as a city and declared that his visit here had been a most pleasant one.

Scully Attends Political Rally

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Scully have just returned from Mackinac Island where Mr. Scully was in attendance at the Democratic rally held at the Grand hotel and attended by nearly all of the prominent Democratic leaders of the state.

Mr. Scully organizer and president of the Western Wayne County Roosevelt club and a member of the 17th congressional district committee who has had much to do with the work of the district, states that the gathering was one of the most enthusiastic he has ever attended.

During one of the open forum discussions he was called upon to make a brief talk on party organization work.

He declared that no meeting he had ever attended seemed to bring about more good than the Mackinac Island conference.

Construction Is Rushed On Ford Northville Plant

Sub-Structure And Main Floor Work Now In Progress

The beautiful $750,000 one-story brick and steel new Ford plant now being built at Northville is expected to be completed by the first of the year.

The first contract to be let on the project was given to the Cooper Little Company of Detroit, whose men are already working on the sub-structure and main floor. Foundation excavations and excavations for column piers sunk five feet below the basement floor are now being made. The building will be 200 feet long and 100 feet wide. It is replacing the factory in which Ford V-8 valves are made at Northville.

An artificial pond and an overhead water wheel will not only enhance the beauty of the new factory, but serve as part of the power equipment of the factory.

$8,000 Fire Burns Home To Ground

$8,000 is the estimated damage of the fire that burned the home of Marvin Sloane on the west Seventh Mile road completely to the ground at 9 o'clock Thursday morning in the excitement of the fire the fire department was called instead of the Northville. By the time firemen from this village reached the burning home, flames had destroyed the residence though some of the household goods were saved.

Mr. Sloane is well known around Plymouth having been supervisor of the running races at the recent county fair.

Badly Injured In Fall At Dam

Day after day Mrs. Emma Jones, 542 Holbrook avenue visits the hospital at Ann Arbor, and sits at the side of the little bed on which lies her nine year old son, Lawrence, seriously injured with a fractured skull, brain concussion and paralysis of the state.

He has been there since Sunday, when he was brought to the hospital under the arrangements of Chief of Police Vaughn Smith and Captain Charles Thurme after he had been picked up unconscious in the mud of the spillway of Wilcox dam.

It had started out as a fishing trip when Lawrence and two of his little friends decided to see how fishing luck was at Wilcox dam. Fish didn't bite so well that day, so the two boys bade Lawrence goodbye and left for home.

Murill McKally, 12, his brother Howard, 10, of 356 N. Main street and Junior Booker, 13, 267 Amelia street, were the horrified spectators of the accident. Murill quickly sent the two boys for aid, and remained to watch Lawrence and to summon anyone who might be passing by. The two boys soon returned with George Millman, a Wayne county road employe, who called Ed Mallet, watchman of the Wilcox plant of the Ford Motor Co. Mr. Mallet brought a ladder and together they went down to pick up the unconscious lad.

It was then that Vaughn Smith and Charles Thurme were summoned. They took him to Plymouth hospital and later he was transferred to University hospital.

Mrs. Jack Blackmore of Canton, called on Mrs. C. V. Chambers, on Wednesday afternoon, last week.

Conditions In Alaska Better Writes Mrs. Rotz

Sends Letter To Mail To Thank Local Friends For Aid

In far-off Palmer, Alaska, members of a little colony are struggling in pioneering efforts to build homes for themselves and their families. These men and women sought in these tasks haven of refuge from the depressing circumstances of the depression. There, in new lands were new hopes, new ideals and renewed livings. And among those who set forth for the promised land were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rotz and their son, William.

The Plymouth Mail has received a letter from this homesick little family, to whom Plymouth friends have sent several months ago. In its lines it told of the new battles they encountered in these strange lands, of the hardships that are now gradually decreasing and of the loneliness that still overwhelms them.

"I'll always remember your many, many kindnesses, your consideration towards my family. I remember the struggles, the hopes, the dreams we've had with those whom I met, and there's always a silent prayer that issues from my heart for you all," writes Mrs. Rotz.

"You'll know I'm homesick, yes, for you all. I'm so glad for the chance and opportunity we've got here," she continues in her letter. "It's a strange country and climate but we'll get used to that. I want to share with you all the good things we are doing here. I think of the busy folks in Plymouth carrying on so bravely, giving until it hurts. I would love to have them here so they could enjoy the growing prosperity with a growing community. When I think of the homes we are building, another is a guess. I want them here, so three squares can be had. Of course as you know from my reports, all is not a bed of roses, but life is not that anywhere. One thing we are doing is to establish a home of our own, and who wouldn't want to fight to press ahead?"

"There have been great changes since we first arrived. There were adequate medical supplies, there were one doctor who took care of transients and sickness stuck its ugly head at us. We had no money. We still don't have any, but we've got a permanent doctor, Dr. Albrecht. One thing we are doing is to get nurses, though medical supplies are hard to get as far as personal wants. But we can get aspirins or bandages and cotton at the first aid cost, and cotton on most things for free. There is still some confusion, which is unavoidable, and there are bitter feelings because our men cannot get work, while outside labor is brought in and given good wages. Some still have no land. Mr. Rotz and our son, William are building our home alone, as we feel it is an unnecessary expense to get help since my husband is a carpenter. By next week the roof will be on. We've got the Number Four plan and I think it's grand. I've gotten milk when it was full of worms, and of course I didn't switch to Postum, but to canned milk. Also, when an investigation was made there was spoiled meat due to unsanitary boxes, but that's all fixed now. When we got our cow, the third morning we found her with her neck broken. Yet that's all in life's game.

"Skekey, our canary says hello, doesn't like the rainy season."

Mrs. Rotz continued her letter with mention of a shot gun that had been given to her husband at his departure. "He hasn't had a chance to shoot the gun yet, but has used the reel and line and flies he was given and got some nice trout too. I remember Mr. Starkweather and his box of cards, and my precious friends who prayed for me and my family, who, with tears in their eyes bade me goodbye at the little church. Do I miss you! Well, there's no way of expressing it. I remember the Good Friday services held at the Baptist church. I still have the program sheet in remembrance of my kind neighbors. The kind strangers that stopped in to say goodbye and wish us luck. How we used to watch mail time for Mr. Souther, to see if we had mail. He was always so courteous and kind. Mention was also made of their gratitude to Mr. Rautner for some help in the CERA office. "We avidly devour everything in it, even to reading the advertisements, and we can't buy any of the many fine bargains offered. I used to wonder why people subscribed to back to back papers, now I know—for you are all back home precious folks to us.

And with a "God bless you each and everyone," Mrs. Rotz, in that distant land concluded a letter that deepens more than ever the admiration of Plymouth friends for this courageous little family, sharing their lives in northern lands.

Tribute to Weeklies Was One of Will Rogers' Best

Some of the late Will Rogers' philosophic and humorous paragraphs will go down in literary history as masterpieces. And perhaps one of the finest of these is his tribute to the "home town paper," one of his last writings.

"Take away my ham, take away my eggs, even chili," said Will, "but leave me my newspaper. Even if it has such purely local news as 'Jim Jones came home last night unexpectedly, and blushed caused by 'Jesus' Dushhead, our local M. D., is having one of the best years of his career, practically speaking—but they just won't pay him when they get well,' the county seat was packed yesterday with prominent people from out of town, attempting to renew their notes' and 'election ain't far off and everybody is up for office that can sign an application blank.'"

"Now all that don't seem much news to you. But it is news to you, especially when you know the people and they are your own folks. So no matter how puny you may think your local newspaper is, getting why just take it away from you and see how you feel. The old home town weekly newspaper, I think, is just about our biggest blessing.

"So let's all read and be merry for tomorrow the paper may not have enough ads to come out."

It was a smiling bride and groom that bade their friends farewell as they drove north for their honeymoon. The bride dressed in a tan fur trimmed jacket suit. They will return in about a week and temporarily reside at the Zielsko residence. Later on Mr. and Mrs. Blaharski will start the building of their own home.

The bride is a known Plymouth girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zielsko, 8419 Hix road. She graduated from Plymouth high school and has worked for some time in the CERA offices. Three showers were held in her honor prior to her marriage, a kitchen shower sponsored by Miss Gladys and Sara Jane Allen, a china shower by Miss Elizabeth Belle, and a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. Hazel Lockwood.

Water Project To Start Under PWA Program Soon

Streets to be Paved; Trees Trimmed and Sidewalks Repaired

Among the proposals submitted to council by manager Cook-ingham and approved at the Tuesday night meeting are improvements of unpaved streets; general maintenance of public buildings and structures; trimming of trees in the city; paving and sidewalk repairs and maintenance and improvement of parks.

Work on these improvements will start under the PWA (Works Progress Administration), where men are taken entirely from welfare rolls. The WPA is continuing where the CERA program left off. This was discontinued Saturday, August 31st. At that time sixty-five men were on the CERA payroll.

Late fall may see the start of the water main project in Plymouth, which will include the enlargement of water mains in the downtown area and the improvement of the sprinkling system at Riverside cemetery. Attempts will also be made to locate some water mains in the city. According to the city manager, the cost of this project will be approximately $85,000 and will come under the P.W.A. administration.

Another improvement that Plymouth may soon see is the paving of Church street and Park Lane avenue. This will cost about $19,000.

W.P.A. workers are now employed on the engineering and records project, where the unplatted property in Plymouth is being surveyed and recorded. This is a $20,000 project which was started under the CERA and utilizes welfare labor entirely. The construction of curbs on the driveways of driveways and landscapes will be another W.P.A. job.

Plymouth at the present time has 54 welfare cases on record. Four have women as heads of families; ten are over 70 years of age and twelve are over 60 years.

Urge Unemployed Not On Welfare To Register

Thursday, Friday, A re Set For Registration At City Hall

Arrangements have been completed for the registration of all unemployed persons in Plymouth and vicinity in the Plymouth city hall on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 12th and 13th. This registration will be taken by the U. S. Employment Service and the persons registered will be selected for work on the many Federal projects which will soon be under way.

It is not necessary for those receiving welfare to register, as they will be automatically placed on the WPA Projects as soon as work gets under way. All persons who are unemployed and in need of work should register during these two days in the office, that their names will be available for employment on the projects. The WPA Projects may employ 10 per cent of persons not on welfare and the PWA projects may employ all persons whether on welfare or not.

These arrangements for the registration in Plymouth have been made so that it will not be necessary to register for the Federal work at one of the offices located in other parts of the county. The nearest office to Plymouth is located in Dearborn Township. With the registration during these two days on Thursday and Friday all unemployed persons in Plymouth and vicinity may register locally and be saved the time and expense of travelling any great distance for this purpose.

Flames Destroy Garage, Car As Gas Explodes

Mr. Landau Burnt Taking Gasoline Can Out Of Garage

A garage was burned to the ground, a DeSoto sedan completely destroyed and Herman Landau, 243 Ann Arbor Trail is in bed recovering from burns as the result of a fire Sunday night that started about 8 o'clock in the Landau garage.

Mr. Landau drove into his garage in the sedan which was owned by his son-in-law, Andrew Steingasser. As he stepped out of the car he noticed that his little son had tipped over a milk can which had contained about five gallons of gasoline. Forgetting about the lit cigarette he was smoking, Mr. Landau grasped the can and hastened outside with it. The gasoline exploded and Mr. Landau was forced to rush through the flames, which badly burned his hands, feet, face and part of his clothing. He was taken to Dr. Park's hospital for treatment.

Fire chief Fred Wagenschutz had the fire department take immediate action to protect the Landau residence and the adjoining house as soon as the fire department arrived, for the flames had already completely destroyed the garage.

The Landau family appreciate the assistance given by the fire department and others at the fire.

Dental History is Given Kiwanians by Dr. Hoyer

Thoughts of paying the dentist a visit these days makes us all shudder, but we should be thankful indeed that we don't live in those historic olden days when dentistry was a crude profession. Dr. Freeman B. Hoyer, dentist, gave members of the Kiwanis club a brief sketch of teeth pulling at it was practiced centuries ago. Step by step did dentistry progress until its greatest development, when two dentists discovered the great usefulness of anesthetic in the profession. Since then a great stride has been made in the dental world.

Kiwanians greatly enjoyed this educational and interesting talk as Dr. Hoyer gave it Tuesday night in the Mayflower hotel.

Plymouth School Enrollment Now The Largest Ever

Removal of High School Tuition Brings More Students

The attendance in Plymouth public schools for 1935-36 is starting out with materially increased enrollment. The total enrollment at the beginning of school in 1934 was 1249, while the total enrollment at the beginning of school this year is 1442. This increase of 193 pupils is 17 per cent of the total enrollment and 36 in the lower six grades.

An additional teacher has been placed in the Starkweather School to relieve the congestion there. When additional teachers will have to be placed in grades seven to twelve will be determined by the increased enrollment.

The main reason for the increased enrollment in the high school is the removal of the tuition problem, the state assuming the responsibility, and the main reason for increase in the grades is the desirability of Plymouth as a community into which families desire to make their home.

Class organization is practically complete and everything points to a busy year.

Harold Hallam Wins Two Prizes At Fair

Harold Hallam has returned from the Northville fair as winner of first prize for growing the best and biggest squash exhibited at the fair. Not only did he win the first on the squash entry but he took third prize for his entry of cucumbers. His entries were among the outstanding exhibits at the fair.

His golden pumpkin that won first prize for Harold at the fair proudly sets in the window of The Plymouth Mail offices. What a jack-o'-lantern that will make for Halloween!

Over $10,000 In Delinquent Taxes Collected Here

Time, Money Saved By Making Possible Payments in Plymouth

According to city manager L. P. Cookingham, 101,952.19 in delinquent taxes was paid in Plymouth in time to avoid the penalty. This money was taken in for back taxes of 1933 and 1934, and the ten year moratorium tax.

This remarkably big collection was due entirely to the newspaper advertising campaign conducted by the state and city to urge people to pay their back taxes. Those who come to the city hall to pay their taxes this month will be charged a penalty, but will avoid the one dollar fee that is to be added to the penalty after October 1st.

The privilege of paying taxes in the various towns of the county instead of compelling taxpayers to go to Detroit where they would waste a half day or more awaiting their turn at tax windows was originated in Plymouth. "We received a letter the other day from County Treasurer Sumneracki thanking us for our helplessness in collecting these taxes," said Mr. Cookingham.

"Not only does it help Mr. Sumneracki, but it means a great deal in saved time and expense to Plymouth residents to be able to come to their own city hall and see their duty completed in about ten minutes."

Plead For Safety When 30 Traffic Cases are Tried

Not Stopping at Stop Streets is Greatest Offense

An appeal to motorists has been issued by the Plymouth police department in the safety traffic department in the safety traffic cases were tried at court during the past month.

Police Chief Vaughn Smith said, "As statistics prove, Plymouth has the most serious accidents among most cities of its size, but more minor violations than most cities of its size. We therefore ask our people to cooperate with us and drive safely."

"We aren't desirous of taking our citizens into court, but at times it is necessary to issue citations to be the only remedy. The majority of the cases taken to court last week were for not stopping at stop streets. There was one case of speeding and the other for reckless driving, and operating motor vehicles with improper license plates.

"Drive carefully, obey the laws and rules at the red and green traffic signals, stop at stop signs, do not speed, do not drive recklessly, and never be in a hurry. It may be the last time you are in a hurry. A few parking rules are: don't park on the wrong side of the street, Park on the right side, and when parking get in between the white lines, leaving room for the other fellow.

"We so often have to caution both drivers and passengers about such violations as not hanging on the outside or ride on the running board of a car, not to have four persons in the front seat, or drive with one arm. Do not drive the wrong way on one way streets, and do not drink and drink. Alcohol and gasoline never did mix. Police can best tell you of the many accident cases they are called to when the injured are innocent victims, after the driver had been on a drinking party.

"Get your automobile lights, brakes and steering gear—in fact your whole car in first class working condition, and it is necessary for you to ride around the streets at noon hour and after school, taking the chances on an accident, it seems extravagant and unnecessary."

Norman Wilson, 8 Is Hurt In Main Street Accident

Child Darts In Front Of Truck Driven By Wm. Scheppe

The second day of school saw its first child traffic accident when eight-year-old Norman Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson, 681 Deer street, darted in front of a truck on South Main street, Wednesday and was critically injured.

Wm. Scheppe, 205 Phoenix avenue, driver of the vehicle that ran over the school boy applied his brakes immediately when he saw the child run in front of his truck, swung it left into Maple street and stopped within a distance of fifteen feet. Double parking in front of the Plymouth Motor Sales Co. on South Main street, where cars were being unloaded, forced Mr. Scheppe to drive in the north-bound traffic lane. He had slowed up to see if any cars were coming. None being in sight, he swung his truck around the parked cars, when little Norman darted from the sidewalk in front of the parked cars and directly in the path of Scheppe's truck.

Elmer Slater, 163 Fair street ran into the truck and held him in his arms while Mr. Scheppe rushed him to the Plymouth hospital. He was transferred to the U. M. hospital late Wednesday afternoon.

No blame is attached to the driver of the truck for the accident.

The condition of the boy was reported as exceedingly serious but with a chance for recovery late Thursday. He has a fractured pelvis and abdominal injuries.

House Burns To Ground In Night

Fire shortly before 2 o'clock early Thursday morning destroyed the house and furniture of Lemuel Daugharty at 492 South Mill street.

Mr. Daugharty was taken to the University of Michigan hospital Wednesday afternoon because of illness and the house was unoccupied at the time the fire took place. Because of this fact the local fire department officials are unable to explain how it started.

When the fire was discovered the entire roof seemed to be in flames and it quickly burned to the ground, although the department made quick work in getting into action after arriving at the place.

Mr. Daugharty lived alone. His loss is partly covered by insurance.

THOMAS CONLIN

News dispatches from the Upper Peninsula the other day carried forth to the state information of the death of Thomas Conlin, veteran editor of the Crystal Falls Diamond Drill. He had been critically ill for many weeks and his passing was not entirely unexpected by those who had hoped that medical skill might save for a few years longer the life of one of Michigan's most valued citizens. Probably no man in the commonwealth was better acquainted with the problems and needs of the state more than was Editor Conlin. His fifty or more years in newspaper service in a part of the state he loved so well had given him an insight into the needs of the Upper Peninsula few other men possessed. He was keenly interested in public affairs and never missed an opportunity to increase his knowledge of institutional and state problems. It was Mr. Conlin who during a press conference some two or three years ago at Ann Arbor forced Donald Richberg, then one of the outstanding NRA officials, to admit that if the NRA law was strictly enforced that the small business man could not survive under it. Michigan has lost a valued citizen. Newspaper circles will miss for many years an editor who knew the duties and responsibilities of his profession. He was a power of the generation that is all too fast passing—but fortunately his influence will be felt for years to come.

THANK YOU, MR. LUSH

Plymouth owes to Manager Harry Lush of the Penniman-Allen theatre a vote of thanks for the high type motion pictures he has been bringing to the city during recent months. Especially does the community wish to express to him its appreciation for booking the picture that stars Miss Grace Moore, probably one of the greatest singers of the present time. Plymouth residents for two nights have just had the opportunity of hearing her sing in the picture entitled "Love Me Forever." It would have been just as easy, and probably cheaper too, for Mr. Lush to have booked some other picture in place of this remarkable musical production. Certainly motion picture lovers of Plymouth want to thank Mr. Lush for booking the high grade pictures he has been bringing to Plymouth, and especially the one in which Miss Moore is enabled to sing so many musical selections so popular with lovers of good music.

THE TARA BOOM

Detroit newspapers have revealed the fact that Attorney Paul Tara who is supposed to be the Wayne county patronage dispenser for Governor Fitzgerald has sent up a "toy" balloon in an effort to find out what chance he might have to be appointed county clerk, in case Elmer O'Hara should be removed by the Governor. The state law makes it one of the duties of a group of county officials to fill a vacancy in the county clerk's office, and if Elmer O'Hara should be kicked out—and he should be—these officials should endeavor to get some one a little better than Mr. O'Hara has proven to be. If there is a basis for some of the things printed in Detroit newspapers about Mr. Tara, and we haven't the slightest reason to think the newspapers are in error, Mr. Tara should not be appointed. Out-county Republicans are not for Mr. Tara, and the Detroit Republicans and judges should remember that it has been the out-county Republicans who have saved the day in more than one recent Wayne county election. The Republican party in Michigan hasn't been hitting on all eight cylinders in recent years and there is a lot of explaining to do and that must be done to the satisfaction of the voters in the next election. The appointment of Mr. Tara to any sort of a job by the Republicans would be just one more thing for the party to answer for in the next election.

Of course there is a possibility that Mr. Tara can clear up much of the cloudy mist that has enshrouded him in recent months, and if he has political aspirations that necessitate public approval, he should be taking some mighty fast steps to do just this thing.

Can Wire Greetings On Birthday For New Low Rate After Oct. 1

Manager W. H. Hester of the Western Union telegraph office in Plymouth has been advised by the company that a 25 cent telegram for sending birthday greetings to any point in the United States, proposed by the Western Union in a tariff filed with the Federal Communications Commission to be effective October first, marks a wholly new departure in the telegraph field. The texts of the birthday telegrams are to be selected by the senders from a standard list of thirty messages which have proven favorites for such occasions. The messages, it is proposed, are to be filed at any time not later than the day preceding the birthday, and are to be transmitted overnight and delivered in the morning on a colorfully decorated special birthday blank.

Western Union has in recent times offered twenty-five cent flat rates for more limited purposes, such as greeting telegrams from the Century of Progress last year, and now from the San Diego Exposition and from the top of the Empire State Building, but they have been restricted to messages sent from those particular points of interest. The present proposal represents the first offer of a telegraph service of country-wide application at a low flat rate regardless of origin or destination. The telegraph company is making preparations to meet the anticipated popular demand for the novel service.

Officials of the telegraph company pointed out today that Western Union inaugurated the Night Letter, the Letter, the Timed Wire Service, Serial Service, and the various other services which have tended to popularize the use of telegrams for purposes of all kinds and that the twenty-five cent birthday telegram is another step forward in this program of progress.

Land 18 Inch Trout In Au Sable River

Walter Smith and Frank Coward have returned from the Au Sable river where they enjoyed some of the best trout fishing of the year. Among the big ones caught was an 18 inch German brown trout. Both these enthusiastic fishermen declare that they enjoyed some of the best fishing on their last trip they have had this year. Dr. Paul Butz and Floyd Wilson with their families, spent the week-end fishing over along the north shore of the Georgian bay. They too had fairly good luck.

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

GONE—NEVER FORGOTTEN

Tom Conlin, able publisher of The Diamond Drill at Crystal Falls, Michigan, has written his last piece. Tom went on Saturday—the weekly newspaper profession in Michigan loses one of its real leaders. He had given valuable service and time to his state.—Senator Chester Howell in The Chesaning Argus.

MY NEIGHBORS HAVE BEEN KIND AND COOPERATIVE

A group of business men were gathered at the home of a prominent and successful farmer one evening recently. Informally he was discussing the over thirty years of hard work which had brought his farm up to a high state of cultivation. As he was being questioned about the various factors which had contributed to his success, he voluntarily offered a thought which many successful people forget. He said, "I have some mighty fine neighbors. No farmer can get along well without good neighbors. Here in this neighborhood we try to help each other. I try to do my share. I feel that I owe much to my neighbors." If that statement proves one thing more than another, it is that this man himself is an ideal neighbor. It may be that townspeople can be, and are a bit more independent of their neighbors than those who live on farms. It is possible and frequently true that people who live in the city do not know their next door neighbors. Many times they do not want to know them. They make no effort to get acquainted. They deliberately isolate themselves, and then wonder why life has so little in store for them.

When America ceases to have neighborhoods—when it is made up entirely of transient occupants of homes and itinerant tenants on its farms—then, we say, America will have lost much that has made it America.

"I have good neighbors—I owe much to them" is a pretty eloquent statement. It speaks well for the man who said it.—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican News.

THE LAST STRAW

Thousands of Michigan farmers, as well as owners of small patches of ground, are going to let out an agonized groan when they learn that the commercial potato growers of Maine and Idaho have succeeded in putting over a compulsory potato control bill that will destroy the freedom of the home market they have enjoyed without restriction since the beginning of the Republic.

This measure, which has passed both houses of congress as a rider to the Agricultural Adjustment Act, makes it impossible for the grower of even a small patch of potatoes disposing of the few bushels remaining over his needs without first entering into an allotment agreement with the department of agriculture under such rules and regulations almost impossible of fulfillment. Should he comply with government demands and finds he has more potatoes for sale than his allotment permits in any given year he will be compelled to pay a tax of 45 cents on each surplus bushel. Failure to market his crop according to government instructions will be punishable by a fine of $1,000 and one year in a federal prison.

Not only will 3,000,000 small growers be unjustly affected by this bill, but millions of poor American people will find the price of this basic food commodity arbitrarily put beyond their power to buy, just as meat prices have soared beyond their reach in recent months. If ever there was a case of selling the farmer and the small wage earners of this nation down the river of greed this is a shining example.—Fred D. Keister in The Ionia County News.

ALWAYS THE BEST

None of us realize the coverage of even the smallest country newspapers. A noted advertising expert was recently quoted as saying that a large metropolitan newspaper was read on the average for 20 minutes. The average country newspaper has a "reading life" of three hours to its credit. The country newspaper is kept about the house for a week. That is something for subscriber and advertiser alike to think about.—Herman Roe in The Northfield, Minn., News.

FAVOR SOCIAL SECURITY ACT

Over sixty percent of the press of this country expresses its belief that the Social Security Act is one of the greatest forward strides ever attempted in this country. Those who oppose the measure do so not so much upon principle as upon the element of cost, and the kick-back effect upon industry. We are wondering if the farmer gets his share of this protection offered the industrial worker?—William Cansfield in The Livingston County Republican-Press.

Close Tournaments At Plymouth Club

A final golf tournament at the Plymouth Country Club on Labor Day concluded two months of golf contests and awards were made to the men and women golf champions of the club. It was a packed house that listened to Julius Kaiser highly praise Norman Copland, captain of the golf teams for his hard work and achievement in bringing the season to such a successful closing. Three reels of motion pictures, shown by Ed "Skipper" Swimmer were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. The championship of the club was won by Norman Copland, who was awarded a trophy. Harry Fitzpatrick, runner up, won a golf bag.

First flight winners were Dutch Jewel, trophy, and Bill Choffin, a pair of shoes. Earl Mastick won the second flight, winning a trophy and Troy Roddenberry was awarded a sweater. In the men's contest John Lock won the mixed foursome; Joe Gray the driving contest; Carl Voss, second place and Harry Fitzpatrick, third place. Mrs. Burroughs won the women's division for putting and mixed foursome, receiving a sweater and gloves. These latter prizes had been donated to the club by "Skipper" Swimmer. Minor Sweet was awarded an "impudence statue" as a consolation prize by the Plymouth Country club. This nation spends one-third of its mental energy in wisecracking.

No Licenses To Fish, Arrested

A resident fishing license in Michigan costs only 50 cents. More than 100 anglers have been sorry they didn't consider that more seriously before they ventured forth with hook and line during July.

Conservation officers arrested 107 fishermen who lacked the resident fishing license required by law. Ninety-two of these fishermen paid fines and costs, or merely costs alone, that aggregated $898.90.

The average assessment paid by the convicted violator for fishing without a license was $9.77, or 19 times as much as the price of a resident license, purchase of which would have prevented all the trouble and expense and would have materially aided the state in its program of planting and rearing gamefish for the lakes and streams. A dozen violators were unable to pay fines and costs and were given terms in jail.

In spite of repeated reminders given to resident fishermen in the form of apprehensions and warnings, arrests for failure to possess the required resident fishing license average more than 50 a month.

Total fines and costs amounted to $3,934.50. Jail terms totaled 304 days. Probation was granted in seven cases, sentence suspended in nine and only two cases were lost after prosecution in justice court.

Eleven all nets and one deep trapper of a value totalling several thousand dollars were confiscated. Other property confiscated for illegal possession or use consisted of: Approximately 1,600 pounds of fish, mostly commercial species; 28-foot gas-powered fishing tug, 10 rifles, seven shotguns, 20 cords of wood from state-owned land, 17 live ferrets, live raccoon, raccoon belt, steel trap, five fishing rods, five reels, one fish creel, one spear.

Arrests for violations of the fishing laws consisted of the following: Fishing without a license, 107; possession of undersize fish, 96; uttering false statements to procure resident fishing license, 13; exceeding catch limit on gamefish, 12; illegal use of seine, four; commercial fishing without license, six; affixing wrong date to license, selling minnows without license, possession or use of gill-net on inland waters, possession or use of seine, loosing fishing license setting traps in more than 80 feet of water, two each; non-resident using resident license, fishing with too many poles, transporting minnows illegally, taking minnows illegally, possession of seine, fishing on borrowed license, setting nets too close to thread of stream, fishing closed waters, illegal use of chub-nets, illegal use of gill-nets, one each.

Arrests for hunting law violations were as follows: illegal possession of venison, six; possession of firearms in game area without permit, 14; possession of ferrets without permit, four; possession of loaded firearms in automobile, three; hunting raccoon three; shooting fox squirrels, two; hunting deer from scaffold, shooting ducks, possession of raccoon, shooting robins, trapping songbirds, one each.

The only arrest for trapping violation was for taking raccoon, but there were nine arrests on miscellaneous counts as follows: Trespass on state land, three; interfering with an officer, two; operating motorboat recklessly, 1; setting fire without permit, 2; and reckless driving in state park, 1.

DRESSING UP
Oh, we know, even the title doesn't belong under the heading of this column, but it's this way. Bear with us, please. We've just been visiting remodeled homes. Some remodeled outside and a lot more on the inside. And the little touches we've seen ready to be passed on to the rest of you. One shouldn't be selfish about these things, you know, so we've decided to break down and let you in on a few of the refurbishing touches we've seen.

One was a dining room that was completely and utterly changed for the better of course! by the addition of white Venetian blinds with cherry red bands. You've no idea what a difference it made in a fairly gloomy room with a north exposure that rarely saw the sun. Just plain white cheesecloth was draped over the window and held back with the same shade of cherry red bands. What with being able to get Venetian blinds by mail order now you can imagine how inexpensive the whole thing was, but even your imagination can't quite grasp what a swell transformation it was.

Are you one of those people who have longed, I mean really longed for one of those pampered looking dressing tables that all the best scene actresses seem to favor? Well, here no longer. Even if your bedroom is a little two-by-four that you have to squeeze into and hold your breath all the time you are in it. We've just found out that one of those delectable and so dressy looking dressing tables can be neatly made in the corner of your room in a space not more than 26 inches on the diagonal. Simply have the handy man around your house, or you do it if you're the handy person in your household, make some triangular shelves 18 inches on each side, 26 inches across the base. Three is a good number. Nail cleats on the wall on each side of the corner you have selected. Place the shelves on the cleats, paint them the color you desire and then leave them to dry. About those intriguing looking skirts. They're easy too. 46-inch material will give you a nice full skirt, skirt it about an inch from the top, tack it on with ordinary tacks, then sew on bias binding in a contrasting shade, sew the braid on the bottom, split the skirt up the middle so that shelves under the top one will be useful and put the braid up the front. There you are. A very elegant table. The material can be anything from organdy to Peter Pan, the color scheme anything that pleases your fancy.

And a window conservatory will do wonders for that window that faces the garage. They're the simplest things in the world to make. Simply get three glass shelves, four if you have unusually high windows, brackets that any self-respecting ten-cent store has on hand for bathroom shelves and there's your conservatory. Screw the brackets in the window frame. Place the shelves on them and then start collecting flower pots. China ones are the best, we'll admit, but just plain pots painted in gay colors will do when filled with English ivy, tiny cactus plants, a petunia or two and some polydendrons. Wandering Jew looks especially well trailing out of one of those deep blue bottles that look so well with the sun shining through them.

Try painting one of those little narrow, unpainted book cases silver on the inside and piquant red or black on the outside for that wall space that simply stares you in the face between two doors. There's really too little space for anything else and it does need something. Some books on the lower shelves and a few of those amusing china animals and a piece of white pottery on the upper ones will assure you that you really should have been an interior decorator.

Counties Given Most of Gas Tax

Millions in revenue but little if any available for construction.

This is a concise picture of the operation of state funds in the state highway department for the last three years. It is a picture that department officials say continues to confuse the Michigan public. The man on the street still thinks that the state highway department has more than $30,000,000 a year to spend for the construction of new roads.

The State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wageningen's latest estimate on 1935 state highway revenues approximates $37,000,000 embracing $15,000,000 in weight tax receipts and $22,000,000 from the 1-cent gasoline tax. Out of this total loss the commissioner points out that $21,050,000, or 57 per cent will be returned to the counties.

The entire weight tax is returned on the basis of a one-eighth cent apportionment among the 83 counties and seven-eighths according to tax collections in the various counties. The money is earmarked for road purposes. In addition to the weight tax, there is a double drain on the counties by the counties. The counties were paid $3,500,000 this year under the McNitt law which turns over the township roads to the counties. The payment next year and annually thereafter will be $4,000,000.

A second drain on gasoline tax revenues is the payment of $2,500,000 to the counties annually to compensate them for their loss in the 36 per cent reduction voted by the 1933 legislature in the weight tax.

Of the $15,950,000 estimated to remain after payments to the counties are taken there are the following obligations: $4,082,000 annual payment for interest and retirement of the $50,000,000 highway sinking fund bonds voted in 1926; $5,000,000 a year to maintain state trunkline roads and bridges; $3,228,000 a year under the Detroit street-widening agreement; and $260,000 in interest charges on the Grand Trunk-Wide Waterway right-of-way totaling $12,570,000.

Buy Fox Place On Main Street
Announcement has been made of the purchase of the property known as the Clarence Fox place on North Main street by Charles Bennett. The property adjoins the Bennett home on the north. Mr. Bennett recently purchased the old house located directly south of his residence and the structure is now being torn down and the grounds will be landscaped. Mr. Bennett plans a similar improvement along the north side of his property. He has not yet decided as to the disposal of the old house, but it is probable it will be improved and possibly rented. Workmen are already repairing the sidewalk along the two properties and making them perfectly level with the remainder of the walk.

The latest property purchased by Mr. Bennett was formerly owned by Mr. Fox, who will be remembered in Plymouth as the organizer of the old Plymouth gas company.
Upon his death, sometime ago in Hollywood, California, there being no surviving relatives, he willed the property just purchased by Mr. Bennett to Marie Erb, a former resident of Dallas, Texas, but now residing in California, because of her care for him during the last year or so of his life. Mr. Bennett purchased the property direct from Mrs. Erb. When the improvements are completed that he has in mind, that section of Main street will be one of the most attractive localities in this part of the state.

Old Landmark Is Burned to Ground

Fire destroyed one of the oldest landmarks in Denton last Friday morning causing a loss estimated at approximately $15,000.

A bonfire at the back of the building are believed to have been the cause of the blaze which razed the two story spacious brick building on the north side of the Michigan Central tracks, owned by E. Z. Moore. The blaze which started on the roof of the structure was noticed about 11 o'clock and neighbors formed a bucket brigade in an attempt to extinguish the flames. When it became apparent that the building could not be saved the volunteer fighters turned their efforts to removing the contents.

All of the household furnishings of the Nicholas Perdacus family and most of the stock of the general store located in the front part of the building were saved. A supply of fertilizer valued at $500 was destroyed. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

The building, one of Denton's historic landmarks was built about 80 years ago by Samuel Denton. The building at that time served as a hotel for employees of the lumber mill located in Denton. The building was used as a ticket office by the railroad company then as a postoffice until about two years ago when it was discontinued and Denton put on a rural route from Belleville.

Mr. E. Z. Moore was the first to use the building as a residence. Later the house was purchased by Samuel Joslyn who was postmaster for a number of years. Lee Newton, father of the present owner, bought the house from Mr. Joslyn.—Wayne Dispatch.

Rattler Killed In Milford Yard

Rattlesnake stories have been coming to light with considerable frequency over the county this past season and another incident is reported Saturday night, this time right in Milford. Happily the ending was without disaster, except for the serpent, whose demise was speedily brought about with the aid of a shotgun.

Sunday night just after dark when Melburn Slaughter went out to look after his dog, kept in a small doghouse at the rear of his residence on Highland avenue in West Milford, he heard what he knew to be the buzzing warning of a rattlesnake in the tall grass nearby. Not stopping then to investigate further, he returned to the house and procured his shotgun and a flashlight, and had no trouble in locating the reptile near the dog house. The snake did not attempt to strike and evidently blinded by the light, could not see the man. Deciding that discretion was the better part of valor it started to make off when its retreat was cut short by a blast from the shot gun.

The snake was about twenty-five inches long and had four rattles and a button. It is thought the reptile had come up from the nearby marsh although none had been reported in that vicinity for many years.—Milford Times.

The First Wired Home of Its Kind in the Country!

The most important essential of any modern house is the wiring. The Plymouth Modelectric Home has the distinction of being the first house in the United States to utilize new type of small diameter cable assembly in wiring. Without adequate wiring in a house, it is impossible to use to the fullest extent the many electrical conveniences available today. Electricity is being called upon to shoulder more and more of the household burdens... its importance in the modern home of today can be measured by the endless variety of tasks it performs, economically and well: lighting, cooking, refrigeration, heating, ventilating, air-conditioning. To make possible these benefits, however, you must have a wiring system capable of carrying the electricity to the various points in your house where it is needed. For example, it is awkward and inconvenient to string a cord from a light socket over the sink to the breakfast table, in order to toast a piece of bread on your electric toaster. An adequate wiring system would provide a convenience outlet in the wall of the breakfast nook, table high, to permit easy access for plugging in table appliances. And this is only one of the points that must be considered in designing a modern wiring lay-out.

Another, equally important, is the matter of switches... their number and location. It should be possible for a person to enter the house, and without groping or fumbling in the dark, to light his way ahead of him from the front door to the back, or anywhere in the house, and turn off the lights behind him without retracing any steps.

The electrical service for the house runs from the Edison pole underground to an outdoor meter box located on the wall of the attached garage. This permits the type of landscaping and gardening suited to the house.

The above mentioned features are only a few of the things to be considered in the wiring of a modern home. However, if you are planning to build a new home or remodeling your present house, you are invited to make use of the free consultation service furnished by the Detroit Edison Company to help you with any of your home lighting or wiring problems. There is no charge or obligation.

Local Highway Department Is Like A Bee-Hive

State Employees Find Plenty to do These Early Fall Days

You see them in the melting heat of the summer, when the oven hotness of the sidewalks seems to sear your very soles. Again you see them working in the violent ragings of a winter blizzard, perhaps shuddering a bit with a "I'm glad I'm not out there today" as you view them from your furnace-warmed room. After severe electrical storms their trucks are out clearing highways, so that you and your neighbor can use the roads without hindrance or delay of any kind.

We've taken these highway boys more or less for granted, and it is through the courtesy of E. M. Buckley, chief clerk at the Michigan State Highway Department on South Main street that we are able to present the "inside" of state highway work.

"Being located in the so-called metropolitan area, just outside of the city of Detroit, we here in Plymouth State are considered a 'district key office,'" said Mr. Buckley. "We have charge of ten counties: Wayne, Oakland, Livingston, Monroe, Macomb, Lenoir, Hillsdale, Washtenaw, Jackson, Ingham. The construction work is in charge of the district engineer, H. F. Zumbstein. Mr. McKenna has the maintenance work under his supervision.

"125 men are employed in this department, and their work consists of the supervision of roads under contract. They see to it that the contractors live up to specifications as laid down by the state highway department, and also see to it that the labor rules and regulations as set out by the federal government are all abided by. Since federal government has undertaken the financing of all the road projects, labor must be taken from names on the relief rolls, and it is only if none are available that the contractor is given permission to hire whosoever he may prefer.

"These workers are permitted to work 40 hours a week, and paid according to the labor scale of the county in which they work. This is from 40c to 56c an hour for unskilled labor and 60c to 65c for skilled labor.

"At the present time a total number of twenty-four projects is being supervised throughout the ten counties mentioned in a previous paragraph. The largest of these is right here in Wayne county, where Woodward avenue from Orchestra Place to Vernor avenue is being widened. This is an expenditure of approximately $2,000,000 and will be completed about September 20th. The relocation of U. S. highway 12 from Ann Arbor to Jackson is the second largest project now under construction.

"We have official maintenance headquarters at Wayne, where trucks and road equipment are stored. It is the business of these headquarters to keep up the Wayne county roads in repairs, cut high weeds along the highways in the summer, and see that the snows are cleared in the winter. Sand and chloride are mixed together and spread on icy roads; the sand to prevent cars from skidding and the chloride to melt the ice. It is Mr. McKenna who has charge of this work in the ten counties. Various county road offices handle this job in other counties.

"Forestor F. C. Eckert sees to it that the various public utilities are notified in time to remove or set telephone or telegraph poles farther away from the roads. Trees that are too beautiful to cut down are also set back while smaller shrubs and weeds are cut down to make way for the new widenings of the roads.

"When a complaint is called to us that the water on the street is not draining properly after a storm, or that the sewers smell badly, we find out whether it is a township or state road. If the latter, we send our men out immediately. Otherwise we refer the complaint to proper authorities.

"Truck weighing is another division of highway work that we are very active in. 18,000 pounds per axle is the allowed weight of a truck on the roads. They are also allowed 700 pounds per average inch width of tire. If a truck exceeds that weight, the driver comes to us for a permit. These permits are granted free of charge. However, this driver's permit is his overladen truck without stopping for a permit, it isn't long before he is hauled by one of the various weightmasters we have patrolling the highways. Since he can't show his permit, he is cited into court. We have two weighhouses in this district one at Erie, Michigan, where trucks coming in from Ohio are weighed, and the other at Cambridge Junction, near Jackson.

"The moving of a building on the highway also requires a permit, and a bond as well. The driver must post a $1000 bond, either person or surety, with the guarantee that if any damage is done to the highway during his transportation of the building, he will stand for the damages done to the road. We do not permit drivers to travel with bulky loads on Saturdays or Sundays, due to heavy traffic on the roads week-ends.

Mr. Buckley concluded his interesting information with a mention of the electric road magnet that in the past three months has picked up nearly half a ton of scrap material off trunkline highways of Michigan.

Everything from scissors to tobacco tins have been picked up by this magnet. It is a machine 8 feet wide, 11 feet long and 6 feet high, drawn behind a truck. The metal objects are picked up by this magnet and discharged into a hopper in front of the magnet. It costs 35c a mile to operate and covers an average of 42 miles a day. In this way thousands of motorists are protected daily from sudden blowouts.

In order to increase the circulation of air in the house during the summer, and at the same time maintain privacy, doors with panels made of movable shutters may be used. These are particularly appropriate for bedrooms, bathrooms, studios, libraries, or other rooms in which the occupant may prefer to retain a feeling of privacy and yet finds the ventilation inadequate when the door is closed.

Depression Licked

Tax Payments Portend Real Recovery

The successful State drive to collect delinquent taxes which ended September 1 is final proof that Michigan has shaken itself free of the depression's last doubts and uncertainties in the opinion of Harry S. Toy, Attorney General.

Final figures for August collections of back taxes from virtually every county in the state show tremendously increased payments. Toy said, "It is the first convincing evidence I've seen that people are at last willing to bank on what the future holds."

"For some time we have been seeing bigger crowds at the theaters, at the beaches, or out to watch the Tigers. We've been told that more clothes are being bought, that more books are being sold. Feeling better, the people have been making money and spending it more freely.

"But, in spite of this, there has been little to indicate that the public has been looking to the future in faith and confidence. Until very recently new building construction, new business enterprises and purchases of real estate have continued close to low ebb. These are criteria of the public confidence in business prospects.

"Now however, the log jam of fear has been broken. Thousands of home-owners have cleaned up most of their overdue taxes. Real estate companies and banks have paid delinquencies on properties they hold. The public has proved it believes in Michigan and is convinced of its stability in the years to come. I look for this new confidence to accelerate the processes of real recovery.

Toy pointed out that when Michigan was undergoing its great industrial expansion and people were coming here from all over the country, the percentage of families owning their homes decreased. "Newcomers did not feel sure enough of their future to tie themselves down to the land," he declared. "As Michigan's expansion continued and confidence grew, home ownership again increased. This has been true throughout our history. When the people of a state put their hard-earned cash into homes, the state is headed for well-founded business improvement that portends rock-bed prosperity for its people."

Toy was one of those principally responsible for the State delinquent tax campaign. He urged the move on the State Administrative Board. "The Board was quick to approve the idea and set about the drive which has brought millions of dollars into the coffers of the state and local governments."

A Tribute

The following excellent tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Groth was composed and read by Oliver Goldsmith at the golden wedding anniversary celebration of the well known Salem residents held recently at their home in this place.

"Today we are here assembled to observe a very special and beautiful occasion, in fact, it is one of the very few and rare occasions on which two hearts and souls have reached the fiftieth anniversary of their union. It is indeed refreshing and soothing to know that the early pioneers, the early settlers and builders of this great and glorious country of ours are still setting the pace and are proving to the world that two honest, upright, thrifty, conscientious Christian souls, can and do travel the so-called rocky road of matrimony, hand in hand, heart and heart in heart, in the spring time, in the summer, in the autumn and on into the winter of life, and on and on to that beautiful eternal springtime where 'It is rest and perfect peace, and futhermore, dear bride and groom."

"Fifty years ago today you were entering the Springtime of Life. Today you have before you in your children the spring and summer of life, and in yourselves the autumn and winter, and Oh, what a glorious winter.

"Your work is done. All the crops of the seasons have been garnered with pride and with honor. You have sown nothing but deeds that have brought forth fruits of the highest and finest quality and you are now resting and enjoying the same fruits of your labors.

"And finally—

"Your speaker is indeed greatly pleased to inform you, that this your fiftieth or golden wedding anniversary is a gala day in your home town of Salem, and that its citizens all of whom are your friends and your guests are assembled, most graciously united in extending to you, their heartfelt congratulations, their love and esteem, and all join in to wish you God's blessing and many more happy wedding anniversaries."

Nations talk more about honor or than individuals, and have less of it.—Tacoma Ledger.

Locate New CCC Camp Near Here

Sometime early this month, a new CCC camp on Hix road, just off Michigan avenue, will house about 200 youths from 18 to 28 years of age. These young men will be seen working daily on Michigan avenue, between Telegraph road and Ypsilanti, regrading, fertilizing, planting and doing general landscape work to improve the appearance of the highways.

The opening of a CCC camp in this locality means considerable stimulation to trade, as all materials and necessities used at the camp are bought locally. "We try to spread our purchases in the immediate vicinity of the camps as far as we can," said W. L. Blackmer, an engineer of the National Park Service, who together with Robert Christian, also of the National Park Service are making final plans and preparations for the opening of this camp. Temporary headquarters are at the Michigan State Highway building on South Main street, here in Plymouth.

"After the camp is open our headquarters will be right in the camp with about ten foremen in charge.

"We do not enroll the boys. That work is done by the army. The army enrolls them, feeds, clothes and gives them medical attention. The boys are turned over to the State Park Division, which is cooperating with the State Highway department in this case, for eight hours a day.

"The boys will probably live in tent until the barracks are completed," said Mr. Blackmer. "It is estimated that the camp will be located here for about two years, as that is the time it is judged necessary to complete the work outlined."

The limestone industry is one of the major mineral industries in the state. Michigan furnishes most of the flux stone for smelting iron ores around the Great Lakes. The largest limestone quarry in the world is located near Rogers City in Presque Isle county.

"An Institution Of Character"

He Profits Most Who Serves Best.

THE series of discussions which we have prepared as part of our service to the people of Plymouth have behind them a two-fold purpose—

FIRST. A happier relationship between the Public and Funeral Directors in general.

SECOND. A desire to offer some useful knowledge that may help you in your hour of need.

If we are successful in accomplishing that purpose we shall be happy indeed, and in the assurance of work well done, we shall find recompense.

The Funeral Director we wish to portray is not a mysterious individual. He lives among you as a kindly neighbor doing much as you do, thinking much as you think, and equally imbued with the Joy of Living. He is a man of ability, integrity and sincerity performing a highly specialized service in a manner worthy of your confidence.

Prove to yourself ... with a TRIAL ELECTRIC RANGE

MANY so-called "modern" stoves today are really no different than the stoves grandmother used fifty years ago. They look up-to-date, but they still use the same old-fashioned method of cooking foods with burning fuel. They still have all the characteristics of grandmother's old fuel-burning stove... the smoke, the soot, the flame, the annoyance and inconvenience. Only an ELECTRIC range is different: Only an electric range is truly modern. The cooking is done with pure heat from a glowing wire—heat as clean as sunlight. Why not discover this superiority for yourself with a trial electric range?

Here are the details of the Trial Plan: We will install an electric range in your kitchen without initial charge, so that you may give it a thorough trial. During this trial period you simply pay for the service as registered by your meter, plus a monthly charge of $1 for the range. If you decide to keep the range, your monthly payments will be applied toward the purchase price. If you decide that you do not want it, the range will be removed at our expense. Send in your application for a trial range today!

ST. PETER'S EV. LUTHERAN CHURCH
 Edgar Hoenecke, Pastor
 Negro Male Quartette Sacred Concert of Spirituals and Chorals—Sunday, September 8th, at 10:30 a.m.

Picnic dinner at the park after church, followed by a secular concert by the Negro Quartette. "Harvest Home" Festival at the Church Sunday, September 15th. This unique celebration is to give everyone an opportunity of expressing visible gratitude to the Lord for the products of this year's labor. Our members are invited to bring to the church on Saturday, the 14th the fairest product of this year's crop or labor. These will be displayed on Sunday, the 15th. The church will be decorated with grain and fruit and vegetables and fall flowers. If you have some beautiful sheaves of grain or stalks of corn, fine melons, apples, peaches, cucumbers, squash, pumpkins, tomatoes, grapes or what have you, bring them to the church on Saturday, so that the committee, headed by Oliver Goldsmith, may decorate our church for Sunday. The ladies are invited to display their jars of canned goods also. Thus surrounded by the tangible evidence of the goodness of the Lord, let us celebrate our thank-offering and Harvest Home. The festival collection will flow into the church treasury.

Sunday, the 22nd, at 10:30 a.m. the congregation will partake of the Holy Communion of our Lord for earnest consecration for the glorious work of Missions which the Savior has privileged and commissioned us to carry on here in His Name. All eligible communicants are expected to announce their intention of participating in the Communion during the week before.

September 29th marks the culmination of the Month of Harvest Appreciation. On this last Sunday in September we will celebrate our annual MISSION FESTIVAL in two services. The local pastor will deliver the morning sermon at 10:30, while the Rev.

Arthur Wacker, missionary, will preach the Word in the 2:30 p.m. service. A dinner will be served at noon. All proceeds from the day's celebration will flow into the Mission Treasury. We anticipate more than $300 on this Sunday from the congregation and the various societies of the church. Last year the collection amounted to the unusually large sum of $322.69. "Whatever ye have done to the least of these my brethren, that have ye done unto Me." Thus our Lord Jesus regarding the grandest charity that the Church can and does perform in His Name, the charity of saving souls and rescuing them from death for life. Just as the Bible makes no stipulation as to HOW MUCH you are to give, thus do we also refrain from setting a quota for you personally. But consider well, whether you be the possessor of $10,000 or ten cents, these five questions:

1. Does my gift meet the Need?
2. Does it satisfy my Conscience?
3. Does it represent my Full Ability?
4. Does my Prayer accompany it?
5. Do I give with Joy and Gratitude?

God grant you a ready: "Yes!" The church council will meet on Wednesday, September 11th, at 7:30 p.m. The staff of ushers will be expected to bring their meeting to discuss certain matters of decorum with the council. The Men's club will meet at the church Wednesday, September 18th, at 8 o'clock.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
 Loyla Sutherland, Minister

The pastor will be happy to greet all members and friends of this church at the ten o'clock hour. It is most fitting that we shall begin our Fall work having first met with Christ at the communion table. Our communion theme is "Love Made Him A Sinner."

The junior choir will sing, 11:15 Bible school. All teachers and pupils will surely be on hand this first Sunday after vacation.

6:30 Meeting of Pioneers.

7:30 A most timely message will be brought by Rev. Sutherland on the subject "The Religion of Our Times." Text: "Ye know how to discern the face of the sky, but ye cannot discern the signs of the times." We are in a lot of trouble. We are looking for some conjurer to get us out of our troubles. We do not see that only truth and justice can really help us. Come with us and sing the great hymns and songs of the church. Our mid-week service will be a general church gathering for counsel and prayer. All members and interested friends are asked to come for this night of planning for the work of the fall and winter. It is exceedingly important that the members of our several organizations shall be on hand. The pastor is calling for co-operation in this matter. Don't fail us on Wednesday evening at seven-thirty o'clock.

Our Sunday school picnic will be held this Saturday at Island Lake, of course the weather permitting. Will all who are going be at the church between twelve-thirty and one o'clock where transportation will be provided. Bring your own eats and provide your own table service.

Definite announcement will be made next week as to when the church suppers will be resumed.

The Story of the Bible Told in Pictures

Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego in the Fiery Furnace.—Nebuchadnezzar made a golden image in the plain of Dura and commanded that everyone should bow down and worship it. When the king refused to do so, he was thrown into a fiery furnace. Shadrach, Meshach and Abed-nego, upon their refusal to worship the idol, were cast into the midst of the fiery furnace. "And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, fell down bound, into the midst of the burning fiery furnace. Then Nebuchadnezzar the king was astonished, and he said, 'I see four men loose, walking in the midst of the fire, and they have no hurt; and the form of the fourth is like the Son of God.' Then Nebuchadnezzar came near to the mouth of the burning fiery furnace, and spake, and said, 'Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, ye servants of the most high God, come forth. And the princes, governors, and captains, and the king's counsellors, being gathered together, saw these men, upon whose bodies the fire had no power.'—Daniel 3: 23-27. This illustration is from Merian's story of the Bible told in pictures, engraved in 1625.

Plan To Welcome Plymouth Folks

St. Petersburg, Fla.—America's famous winter resort will inaugurate another season tomorrow when registration books for the 1934-35 season open at the City Information Bureau and as hundreds of northern families pour into here for the opening of all public and private schools at the same time.

All previous tourist records are expected to be shattered by the rush of "sunworshippers" into St. Petersburg this season, breaking the new mark established a year ago of 53,313 registrations.

It will be a greatly changed St. Petersburg that regular visitors to the Sunshine City will see on their return, with hundreds of new homes erected on the mainland and Gulf Islands, new business places and beautification in every section of the resort.

Hotels catering to the tourist trade are open months in advance of former years, while deluxe institutions are setting opening dates weeks ahead of last season's banner business.

In preparing for an avalanche of new-comers, St. Petersburg has increased its play and entertainment facilities with provisions made for lovers of every type of outdoor sport. All five golf courses are ready for invasion, as are the clay and concrete tennis courts, shuffleboard, lawn bowling and reque rinks, new stables for Kentucky Thoroughbreds and new ranges for pistol, skeet and trapshooting.

Hotel and apartment rates are being kept on par with last year and no increases are being announced. Branches of smart eastern gown shops are opening for the season with advanced Spring and Summer styles.

Formal and costume balls fill the hotel calendars for the ensuing months of pleasure. Famous orchestras will be brought here through the winter months along with noted artists.

Among the visitors from Plymouth who were registered at the City Information Bureau last season included Mrs. Roland Balisey and Beverly Ann Balisey, Ingram; Mrs. J. W. Cady; W. T. Conner, Penniman Ave.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Easton, RFD; Fred Peppier; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peppier; Miss Verne Rowley, Pine St.; Mrs. Harry Shattuck, Penniman Ave.; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Simon, Kellogg St.; and John C. Wilcox, S. Harvey street.

Continue to Keep Dogs Under Leash

According to the police department, the state quarantine law compelling dog owners to keep their dogs under leash will be in effect until September 14th or later.

Under the city ordinance, dogs must be kept tied during the summer months of July and August, but the state law requires them to be under leash on into September.

The police department will notify dog owners when the quarantine is lifted.

Those who have not paid their dog taxes are urged to pay them at the city hall and thus avoid legal procedure in enforcing dog ordinance No. 95.

It is unlawful to seine, transport or carry away any minnows from the waters of any trout stream in Michigan. The law defines minnows as including chubs, shiners, suckers, dace, stone rollers, muddlers and mud-minnows.

The Public Looks at its Telephone
(Excerpts from unselected letters from Michigan Bell Telephone subscribers)

"... did not know his address nor any particular leads we might use in running this fellow down, but we eventually did through the very courteous service of the long-distance operator. ... I finally reached my party ... was much impressed by the way in which the operator was anxious to help. ..."

"... this was anything but a simple case, and my reason for offering commendation to your operator is that she handled the whole thing with quick understanding, and quickly converted me from a rather abused sort of person to one who appreciates good service well enough to talk about it."

"Last night about 1 A.M. ... a serious situation had arisen. ... A truck had killed some one. A telephone call had been placed by the driver. ... In his excitement the only information given was that the accident had occurred some six miles out of Fostoria, Ohio. ... It was imperative that officials know who the driver was. Exactly where was the accident? Were there any others injured? If so, to what hospital were they taken? Would aid need to be sent? ... All these details must be cleared immediately. ... A call was placed ... the operator located the driver at a barbecue stand six miles south of Fostoria. The connection was completed ... example of splendid personalization and helpfulness in times of emergency."

"... owing to a most unfortunate accident, it became very important and urgent that we have medical assistance and we appealed to our telephone operator. ... Thanks to the efficiency of the operator and supervisor, within ten minutes the doctor had the patient out of danger. The patient joins me in expressing our sincere thanks."

"... I feel as chief of our fire department that a word of commendation to the operators for their co-operation is worthy of mention by us. When we are on the receiving end of an emergency telephone call, our experience has shown that the caller is nearly always in a highly excited state of mind and unable to talk distinctly enough to give us the proper location, and in these cases the operators have rendered very commendable assistance. ... I write this merely to pass on to you the thanks that we receive from many citizens ... without the valuable assistance and attention to duty of the telephone girls this very important service would be subject to delay."

"... take this opportunity to extend our appreciation. ... We have always received excellent and courteous service from all your operators, but this one case in particular warrants merit. This girl ... about 12:30 A.M., could not possibly have done more if it had been her own house that was on fire."

"This morning about 8 o'clock I was faced with the necessity of reaching, on Long Distance, the general manager of a New York company. ... They had recently changed managers ... and we did not have his address. The call was very important, and also on Sunday. Your operator finally located my man in one of the suburban towns of New Jersey, and I could well understand the satisfied tone of the operator when she said, 'I think I have the right man for you.'"

These comments describe the kind of service we wish always to give. In order that we may constantly serve you better, we request a prompt report on any feature of the service unsatisfactory to you.

Children Enjoy Farm

Life at Hilltop Home

Over fifty children from two years of age to twelve enjoyed the summer at Hilltop Farm on Beck Road, some remaining for a week, others for a month.

In addition to good farm foods to eat, the youngsters got big thrills out of riding a pony and feeding lambs with bottles.

The Hilltop Nursery school opens for a fall term of twelve weeks on Monday, September 30th.

The National convention of the Purple Heart will bring hundreds of nationally prominent men to Detroit. They will include leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties who have one outstanding characteristic in common. They fought for the glory of the United States and came within a hair's breadth of losing their lives for Old Glory. They are the proud possessors of the one and only Purple Heart.

The two large political parties make much of their different principles and the character of their leaders. A convention like this reminds us that we are all Americans underneath and that parties are nothing more than an expression of difference in political opinion to be discarded in time of real danger to ourselves and posterity.

Indians and Advertising

Imagine a white-moving picture screen. On the lower left corner visualize a crouching Indian on an over-hanging cliff 1,000 feet above the valley below. The feathers on his head are blowing in the wind. To his right there is a cracking fire sending up a weaving column of smoke. The Indian is gazing at something in the distance. On your white moving picture screen now note that distant scene toward which the Indian is gazing. It is on the upper right corner—another high mountain crag miles away. You can just perceive another curling column of smoke rising from it.

This picture, which you have thrown on the screen of your mind recalls the limited primitive method of communication available to the Indian. Today we have the telephone and the radio.

Years ago, people were dependent upon neighborly word of mouth transmission of information pertaining to what was new at the stores and shops of the day.

Of course, "mouth-to-ear" publicity is still very effective.

But, you don't have to wait for it.

Question Box By ED WYNN The Perfect Pool

Dear Mr. Wynn: I am a coed, at a well known college, and am crazy about a boy my own age who goes to the same college. He gave me a lovely cigarette holder for my birthday and his birthday is next Saturday. I saw a whisky flask, in a shop window, which was made to look like the seven of spades. Don't you think that is a cute present to buy him? Sincerely, LILLY KUPPS.

Answer: The present is all right, but he's liable to leave it on a table in some fraternity house, and some other student might come along with the right of spades and take it. Dear Mr. Wynn: My wife and I had an argument last night about the army. My wife says, in order for a man to be buried with "military honors" he must be a captain, while I say he must be a general. Which of us is right? Yours truly, LEW TENANT.

Answer: You are both wrong. In order for a man in the army to be buried with full military honors he must be dead.

Dear Mr. Wynn: Every month, a club I belong to, holds a meeting at which all the members have to tell a story on a subject which is told us a week before the meeting. The subject for our next meeting is: "The Stingiest Man I Know." Will you tell me the stingiest man you ever met? Yours truly, O. COMM TELMEE.

Answer: The stingiest man I ever heard of was a man who fell overboard and as he was swimming ashore a policeman hollered to him that it was $50 fine for swimming in that river and when the man heard that he just threw up his hands and sunk.

Dear Mr. Wynn: I bought a new suit, the other day, and the first time I put it on, the coat split up the back. How do you account for that? Yours truly, I. PICTICT.

Answer: The buttons were sewed on too tight.
