

Cameron Tells How Henry Ford Won Objective

Manufacturer Beat Out The Depression By Paying Wages

Residents of Plymouth and vicinity who have during the past year profited materially through steady and increased payrolls of the local Ford factories will be interested in the address made last Sunday evening by William J. Cameron over the radio during the regular Sunday evening hour of the Ford Motor company.

They will be interested because of information contained as to the tremendous amounts paid in wages and in materials in order to produce a million cars during 1935.

Hundreds of thousands of these dollars have flowed into Plymouth and Northville through Ford payrolls in order for Mr. Ford to accomplish his objective in producing a million automobiles in one year.

Mr. Cameron's exceptionally interesting talk in which he revealed some of these vast totals follows in full:

"Many of you will remember that Longfellow praised his Village Blacksmith for this among other things that he finished what he began.

"Each morning sees some task begin.

Each evening sees it close; Something attempted, something done.

Has earned a night's repose." "There is something hopeful about a world where reasonable expectation exists of completing what you commence. When programs are announced with fanfare and never heard of more, when promises are broken, something deep within us is hurt. We need to see at least a few things come full circle. It helps us to believe that these things are done whose ends and beginnings are hid from us, will find their completion too. We simply cannot live in a state of perpetually unfinished business.

"Which leads us to this: last February on this radio hour we made brief mention of a matter that was then in process; tonight we report its completion. It all began on the last day of October, 1934—just a year ago last week Mr. Ford was sitting in the Engineering Laboratory at Dearborn, watching the pupils of Greenfield Village schools as they practiced the old-fashioned American dances when a writer

Face and Hands Are Badly Burned

When an oil stove apparently exploded Monday morning shortly before 4 o'clock, Albert Matts, 65, who has been making his temporary home in the coal shed located at 700 Davis street alongside the Pere Marquette tracks, his face and hands were badly burned before he could make his exit from the structure.

Matt told police that he thought he had been beaten and robbed, before the explosion took place, but a thorough investigation by the officers resulted in no discovery of anything which would tend to confirm the report.

The fire department arrived almost immediately but a mixture of oil and gasoline that he had been using in the stove quickly fanned the entire structure, that there was little they could do to save it.

While his burns are of a most painful nature, officers say he is getting along nicely.

Mrs. Burrows Is Guild President

Ask Help Of The Foot Ball Crowd

At the annual meeting of the local branch of the Needlework Guild held recently the following officers were elected: Mrs. Frank Burrows, president; Mrs. E. R. Thrall, first vice president; Mrs. Sidney Strone, second vice president; Miss Mary McKinnon, secretary; and Miss Mabel Spicer, re-elected treasurer.

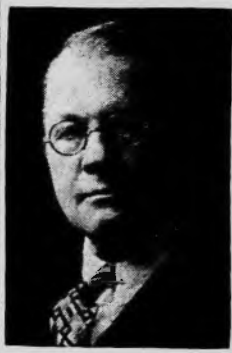

These ladies do not assume their new duties until next fall, except Miss McKinnon who has kindly consented to begin with the present gathering. The Guild will not continue the used clothing exchange this winter, but will confine its efforts to the collection of new garments and the dispensing of them in such a way as to reach the really needy and deserving.

The Guild is active and growing and worth while if you do not already belong—join now!

Did You Know That

Wednesday evening, November 20, is the date for the annual Presbyterian church bazaar and supper.

Retained as School Commissioner

FRED FISCHER
Under a new state law the county school commission of Wayne county now serves under a newly created county board of which Supt. George A. Smith of this city is a member. Mr. Fischer, elected to the office at the last county election, was re-named to the position a few days ago by the new county board.

Education Week In Local Schools

On Monday, November 11, Armistice Day, the school joins with the American Legion in an assembly, the American Legion furnishing the educational speaker.

Tuesday, in all grades, special emphasis will be placed on new phases in education.

Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium there will be a debate, Plymouth vs. River Rouge high school. For the last two years the championship of the League in debating has been fought out between Plymouth and River Rouge. Plymouth winning in 1933, and River Rouge winning in 1934. The rivalry between the two schools in debate is high and will be well worth hearing. The subject is, "Resolved that the Several Nations Should Make Government Monopolies of the Manufacture and Sale of All Combat Instruments of War."

Thursday night, beginning at 7:30 p.m., is parent-pupil night. As in the past, the high school will close at noon and the afternoon classes will run half-hour periods from 7:30 to 9:00. The parents are invited and urged to attend classes with their children, and class work will proceed as nearly as possible the way it would have proceeded in the afternoon. The open night for attendance of parents has always been very popular and a happy occasion for the boys and girls of the school.

Plan Some Real Hunting For The Local Nimrods

Turkey Shoot Sunday At Ryder Farm Near Newburg

Plymouth sportsmen will Sunday morning at 10 o'clock enjoy some of the finest sports in America, turkey shooting.

In order to get some of this ideal shooting, it will not be necessary for them to go to North Carolina or Arkansas where this is one of the main sports at this time of the year.

All they have got to do is jump in their automobiles and go out to the Ryder farm three miles east of Plymouth where the members of the American Legion will stage this interesting event for the hunters of Plymouth and vicinity.

Every one is welcomed to take part, but Legion officials urge those intending to be present, to be there as near to 10 o'clock as possible. In addition to the turkey shoot, the visitors and hunters will have an opportunity to see U. S. Army machine guns in action during a practice shoot.

Members of the American Legion say that if you do not possess a shotgun or rifle to be used at the turkey shoot, they will provide you with one out at the Ryder farm. They expect the shoot, which begins at 10 o'clock, to continue most of the day. Truck loads of turkeys and ammunition are being taken to the farm in anticipation of one of the biggest events of the kind ever held in this part of the country. Never before have local residents had the opportunity to shoot their turkey for Thanksgiving.

Former Governor Here Today

WILBUR M. BRUCKER
Former Governor Wilbur M. Brucker will be the speaker for today's Rotary club meeting at the Mayflower hotel.

The session will be the regular annual Armistice day meeting of the club and the committee in charge has planned to invite in members of various patriotic groups to hear the address by the former Governor, who has been outstanding in his work in behalf of the American Legion and other veteran groups.

In order to make the visit to Plymouth, Governor Brucker was required to change his schedule of another meeting for today in Detroit.

High Honors Go To Boy Scouts At Court of Honor

Nearly A Thousand Are Present To See Awards Made

The Court of Honor of Plymouth District Boy Scouts was held at Wayne County Training School on Friday, November 1, with about 900 in attendance.

After a splendid band concert by the high school band under the direction of Lewis Evans, the Court of Honor was duly opened in Boy Scout order and then presented to the chairman of the Court of Honor.

Those assisting with the awarding of promotions, merit badges, etc., were: William Church Field Scout Executive; Dr. Robert Haskell, Chairman of Plymouth district; William Hodson, Scout Commissioner of Plymouth district; Rev. Walter Nichol and Rev. Ray Norton of Plymouth, and others.

At the opening of the Court, Troop 1 and 2, Girl Scouts, with their leaders, Miss May and Mrs. Mathias, were introduced. The promotions and awards were made with the usual ceremony. At the conclusion of the making of awards, Howard Walbridge, Boy Scout from Rosedale Gardens, Troop 1, rendered two inspiring piano solos. His rendition was so fine that it made many wonder just how he did it.

Dr. Haskell, chairman of the Plymouth district, presided at the assembled Scouts and their friends with a short but worthwhile address.

Those receiving awards were as follows:

WHY NOT?

The government is mighty free with its checks to farmers who do not raise crops, to hog growers who kill off their pigs and refuse to raise more, to cotton growers who let their fields grow up to weeds and pickaninnies, but this same government hasn't a penny for the vast army of young men who faced death and misery that our government might not perish from the earth.

They call it the "bonus." It is not a "bonus." It is a miserly wage that THIS GOVERNMENT OWES to the hundreds of thousands of ex-service men who have been treated shamefully by the Hoover administration and by the Roosevelt administration.

When one reads of the millions of dollars being poured into the pockets of crop growers and stock growers for DOING NOTHING, and when we realize the sacrifices, the suffering and the terrorizing constant fear of death these young men who now constitute the great army of ex-service faced during the World War and the fact that the government they gave their lives to defend has turned a deaf ear to their appeal for the small sum they ask in return for what they did, we are forced to wonder if there is any justice anywhere!

FORTY-FIVE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS

The other day Ernest Conlon, former state senator and advisor of the state board of tax administration, who probably knows more about the sales tax law of Michigan than any other individual, declared that the people of the state will pay into the general fund something like $45,000,000 in cash this year in sales tax money.

Forty-Five Millions of Dollars!

Think of it—and Former Governor Chase Osborn operated the entire state government on a budget of a little over $11,000,000 per year.

During the "boom times" of the Groesbeck administration, when hundreds of miles of concrete roads were being built, and a hundred or more great new structures were being erected at the badly neglected state institutions, a state ferry being started for the highway department at Mackinaw and scores of other "expensive" projects being completed, the greatest amount collected in a general tax that preceded the sales tax was but $21,000,000. And this Governor Groesbeck reduced to $17,000,000 a year, operating the state government and carrying on his great improvement program within his budget.

In addition to the millions being paid in sales tax, millions in gas tax money, millions in the auto weight tax, and millions and millions more in other forms of taxation and fees, we wonder how can the state LEGITIMATELY spend such a vast sum of money?

Especially we would like to see some evidence of WHERE it is being spent.

SPEAKING THE TRUTH

Congressman Albert Engel, of Lake City declared the other day that if the Republicans of Michigan hope for a victory next fall they have got to do some real house cleaning. Congressman Engel is one of the able and forceful Republican leaders of northern Michigan and he knows what he is talking about. There is cause to believe that he has been talking with the voters and has discovered what the voters are thinking about and what they intend to do.

There is no denial that among the rank and file of the voters there is almost a complete loss of faith in the leadership of both great political parties. Governor Fitzgerald can defend his "friends" as long as he wants to, and let it be said we have no quarrel with any of his "friends," but there is a persistent and ever-growing feeling on the part of the people of the state that all is not well with affairs in Lansing. There may be nothing wrong in Lansing, but the feeling persists and is growing that the real power of the present state administration is not in Lansing, but in Grand Rapids.

Congressman Engel simply repeated what the voters of northern Michigan have told him. The voters' of southern Michigan have exactly the same ideas as expressed by Congressman Engel that if the Republicans of Michigan have any desire to win next year's election they have got a lot of cleaning and renovating to do in the immediate future.

NO DIRTY WINDOWS

Business men who keep their display windows clean and sparkling, usually dread the coming of Hallowe'en and its great marks of soap and dirt on the glass and fronts of buildings. But such is not the case in Plymouth. Year after year this city passes through the Hallowe'en period without trouble and without a single window in the entire city being marked up by the youngsters out for a bit of fun.

This year has been no exception. In a trip about town the "morning after" not a single window was seen that had been marked up.

For this we have Manager Harry Lush of The Penniman-Allen theatre, Officer Charles Thumme and his associates, and the parents of the boys and girls of Plymouth to thank. Manager Lush for several years back has thrown open to the boys and girls of Plymouth his playhouse each Hallowe'en evening. Preceding the performance, Officer Thumme has always told the boys and girls that in return for the "free show" they have been given the opportunity to see, the city expects them to do none of the little disturbing things that sometimes prove so annoying.

The city as a whole expresses its appreciation to Manager Lush, the police officers and others who make possible a pleasant Hallowe'en for the children as well as the elders.

FALSE PROPOGANDA

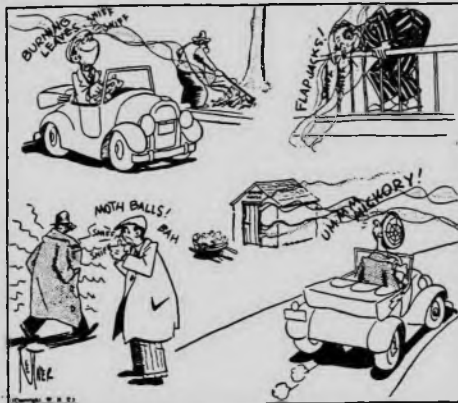

Two or three weeks ago news dispatches from Lansing carried the statement alleged to have been made by Dr. William Haber, chief of the state welfare payrollers, that few on the dole rolls refuse to take jobs when offered.

If he made such a fool statement and using Plymouth alone as an example, what he said is about as far from the truth as anything any public official ever said.

Just about the time he made this "defense" of the shiftless and lazy who will not work for a living, letters were sent to 37 dolers in Plymouth offering them part time work for the support they were receiving. Out of the 37 about 30 of them refused to accept the work offered, and letters were sent to only able bodied men.

We doubt if the dolers in other Michigan cities are any more ambitious than these 30 or more in Plymouth.

Question Box By ED WYNN The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn: I have a very dear friend, a Scotchman, who has just gone back to Scotland. I happen to know that he would never spend his own money to go back, yet he has gone. How do you think he got back?

Yours truly, TOM KATT.

Answer: Your friend most likely heard some one sing "The Blue-bells of Scotland" and it carried him back.

Dear Mr. Wynn: I know a lady who never got married and she is now forty-two years old. I asked her why she hadn't married, and she said: "Why should I get married as long as I have a parrot and a monkey?" What did she mean by that?

Sincerely, HOME E. OHE.

Answer: Probably her parrot answers and her monkey chews tobacco and she figures therefore she doesn't need a husband.

Dear Mr. Wynn: My husband was saying that he knows a man who uses "smokeless" tobacco. I've known of horseless carriages, wireless telegraphy, seedless oranges, but what in the world is "smokeless tobacco"?

Yours truly, IMA YAPI.

Answer: Chewing tobacco.

Dear Mr. Wynn: My father says he washes his eyes out every night before going to bed. If this is true how does he get them back in again?

Sincerely, L. LIND.

Answer: He probably wears glasses.

Dear Mr. Wynn: An Englishman quite honestly told me that the English took the flag away from us at Bunker Hill and says it is now in a British museum. Is it true the English have the flag?

Sincerely, MIN PTMAN.

Answer: Yes, but we have the bill.

DON'T GET UP NIGHTS Use Juniper Oil, Buchu Leaves, Etc.

Flush out excess acids and waste matter. Get rid of bladder irritation that causes waking up, frequent desire, scanty flow, burning and backache. Make this 25c test. Get juniper oil, buchu leaves, etc., in little green tablets called Bukets, the bladder laxative. In four days if not pleased your druggist will return your cord should last at least 20 years. 25c. Bever Pharmacy, Plymouth, C. R. Horton, Northville, Michigan.

That the Constitution, the most famous vessel in the history of the United States navy, earned her popular nickname, "Old Ironsides," from the hardness of her planking and timbers? Built at Boston and launched October 21, 1797, her most famous battle was the defeat of the English frigate Guerriere, August 19, 1812.

Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Root returned this week from their summer home at Walled Lake.

Mrs. Ernest Kohler and little son of Northville visited at C. G. Draper's the first of the week.

The tomato growers of Plymouth are forming themselves into an organization for mutual advantage. They will hold a meeting in the Odd Fellows hall tomorrow evening.

Plymouth is assuming "metropolitan" airs. The city electric signs have come, the first to make its appearance being for the Pinckney Pharmacy. It's fine and up-to-date and makes a great show. Let others follow.

Plymouth hunters are taking to the woods in the upper peninsula this year. W. H. Weckerle and W. F. Pettingill left last Wednesday night. Fred Reiman, John Patterson, Matt Powell and others expect to leave Sunday.

The Bennett Mfg. Co. has completed a new factory building for the manufacture of toy games, their old quarters being too inadequate. They are now making three different games and each one is a big seller. Several girls are employed and more will be taken on soon.

People at the Plymouth House about 7:15 o'clock Monday morning noticed smoke creeping up from the basement through the floors. Promptly investigating, a merry blaze was discovered going on that threatened to become serious. A fire alarm was turned in and the fire department soon had a stream of water playing on the fire, which by this time had made quite a headway, creeping up above the first floor into the rooms. It was soon extinguished however, with a loss of perhaps several hundred dollars.

It is economical to spend a little more money on the initial cost of sash cords for windows than to be forced to replace them after a few years. The best grade your druggist will return your cord should last at least 20 years. 25c. Bever Pharmacy, Plymouth, and should be specified for all new windows.

THE PENDULUM SWINGS

In 1914, 1915 and 1916 the United States elected a president on the platform of "He kept us Out of War." Those were the days when from every stage was chanted "I Didn't Raise My Boy to be a Soldier." The pendulum swung back and a year later the American troops were marching to martial music.

Then came prohibition and John Barleycorn was counted out for all time. But the pendulum was not halted and liquor returned with greater speed than it went out. The liquor pendulum is still swinging and it is not inconceivable to look for it to reach the prohibition end of the arc again. Certainly the greed and bad taste which has marked the return of liquor is helping to swing the pendulum back toward the prohibition end of the arc—Vernon J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

That high-up thing wasn't an airplane—only a couple of pork chops.—Joe Haas in The Holly Herald.

LOCAL TAX INCREASES

Do you know that 1,400 new State and Federal tax laws were enacted in the past year in your country—everyone of them seeking to take money away from you? While most people work to secure their futures, and are concerned too much with their own little worlds, movements are always taking place outside by those who spend your taxes—movements that ever and ever seek to place heavier burdens upon the already over-burdened taxpayers.

Do you know, Mr. and Mrs. Birmingham Taxpayer, that if you showed more interest in your own local community's city and school meetings, that you could save yourselves taxes every year?

Birmingham's city government is an excellent example of how a disinterested public can be made to pay for its lack of interest. For our city government's budget is a constantly increasing one. Except only in rare instances, the "tax spenders" will like justly, growing youngsters, demand more and more money to spend on their quite natural ravenous appetites. That's why Birmingham's city taxes have kept mounting for years, and they will continue to mount just as long as you who pay the taxes refrain from active interest in local affairs.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eccentric.

THE BEST IDEA OF ALL

We think that under the circumstances, the government has entirely neglected one branch of necessity. This we might term the PAF. For instance, if the government would open another department in the interests of the newspapers under the heading probably of "Publisher's Auxiliary Fund," which would pay the publishers so much for each supposed subscriber they do not send a paper to, there would be some sense to that, and it would undoubtedly make administration enthusiasts out of every publisher in the country, for they like the farmers, have been waiting several years for that "gen rain of checks" which thus far has entirely neglected the man who puts out newspapers.—Frank Bryce in The Grand Ledger Independent.

Frederick B. Wittick will present a four-reel motion picture of "Life at the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago," revealing to his audience what devoted christian young men and women are doing to prove that "righteousness exalteth a nation." The history of this Bible school, founded by the world-famed evangelist and christian educator, D. L. Moody, is traced from its beginning—forty-nine years ago—to the present, showing its remarkable growth and effectiveness. The students are shown in class rooms and lecture halls, as well as in their mission activities throughout the city of Chicago. In one year they conducted nearly 50,000 meetings; more than 38,000 visits were made to hospitals, jails, lodging houses, etc., and nearly 25,000 Bible classes taught. Thousands are being led to Christ through the ministry of this student body. This is your chance to see just what this great school is accomplishing. The pastor is a former student of the school and naturally will welcome this picture with special interest and we urge you to see it Sunday evening.

SALEM
The Salem group of the Michigan extension service held their first meeting, Thursday, October 31st, at the home of Mrs. Harry S. Atchinson on Six Mile road with seventeen members and three visitors present. This year co-operative work will be taken up with a different subject each month, also different leaders for each lesson. The lesson on remodeling dresses and hats, and how to bring them up to date, given by Mrs. Myron Taylor and Mrs. Florence Atchinson was very interesting and helpful, especially the patterns and the new sleeves and collars, showing how a new collar can change the looks of an old dress. The next lesson will be "Putting fun in the home" given to leaders by Mrs. Lines, child specialist at Ann Arbor, Nov. 20.
About 25 relatives and friends met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Dudley Saturday evening, honoring her birthday. A co-operative supper was served and games were enjoyed.
Mrs. Myra Taylor spent the week-end with friends at Farmington.
Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stanbro spent Sunday afternoon at Hill auditorium, Ann Arbor.
Miss Marguerite Stoops, Plymouth, was a Friday supper guest in the Bert Stanbro home.
Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Curtis, Plymouth spent Monday in the Henry Whittaker home.

Newburg

There was a good attendance at the Epworth League meeting Sunday evening. Everyone is invited and urged to attend these services, especially the young people of the community.
Mrs. A. Pickens, of Perry, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Joy from Wednesday until Sunday of last week.
Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson and family who sold their farm home on Plymouth Road last spring moved to their home in Plymouth last week. Their friends and neighbors are sorry to have them leave the community.
Mrs. Emma Ryder who has been confined to the house for some time, was taken to Plymouth hospital, on Monday of this week, where she will be given special treatments.
Miss Joy McNabb of Concord, visited her parents over the week-end.
The Y.M.P. class held a hallowe-even party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith last week Thursday evening, and on Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Smith entertained a group of twenty young people from Detroit.
On Saturday, October 26, one of our local girls, Gladys Allen was married to Denzel Kisabeth of Plymouth, at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, by Rev. F. C. Lefevre. Miss Elizabeth Lehman played the wedding march and John Schomberger sang the Mass and two beautiful solos, "Ave Maria" and "On This Day 'Ave Maria'" accompanied by Miss Lehman. The bride was attended by her sister, Sara Jane, as maid of honor and her brother Bernard was best man. Corliss another brother and Charles Boscik were ushers.
Numerous showers were given in Miss Allen's honor before her marriage, a miscellaneous shower given by Bernice Delvo of Plymouth, a kitchen shower by Mrs. Charles Allen of Plymouth, a linen shower by Mrs. Joseph Blaharski and Amelia Zielasko of Newburg, a parcel-post pantry shower by Mrs. D. K. Shafer of Rockwood and a china shower by Mrs. Beatrice Zielasko of Wayne.

The bride is well known here in the community and her many friends wish them happiness in their married life.

Baptists To See Motion Pictures

Members of the First Baptist church and their friends will have the opportunity Sunday evening of seeing a motion picture display entitled "Life at The Moody Bible Institute." Rev. Leva Sutherland, a graduate of this school, is highly pleased over the fact that he has been able to secure this picture for his next regular Sunday evening service, beginning at 7 o'clock.

Actual everyday programs of work, study and evangelism are vividly portrayed in this interesting four reel film, which is not a mere "story," but the day by day experiences of more than a thousand eager Christians who are studying the Bible and carrying on intensive Christian work. The rather common conception of a lifeless, drab existence in a Bible school is happily changed as these reels unfold a true picture of life at the Moody Bible Institute.

Among the numerous interesting "shots" in the four reels is one depicting the outreach of missionary endeavor and the fields where more than 1,700 Moody graduates and former students have done heroic work. More than 1,200 are now on the "far flung battle line," engaged in missionary service.

Views of the students visiting the missions, jails, and hospitals of Chicago are especially interesting. It is said, and it is to these places that Moody students go for song, prayer, testimony and Bible reading.

What it means to feed and care for hundreds of students introduces many surprises, as does the revelation that 37 separate buildings grouped on several city blocks are necessary for the work of this institution.

Boys Fished Years Ago On Liberty Street

A little item in The Mail last week about fishing in Newburg lake, brought back to Albert Stevers, well known Plymouth resident, a fishing "expedition" that he took some 35 years ago with William Springer and Byron Willets, all three of them youthful residents on the north side.

It seemed that one warm summer day, there had been a heavy rain storm and a portion of Liberty street was turned into a small lake.

Armed with fish poles, the three lads, Albert, William and Byron, all started out to catch some fish from the big pond of water that filled Liberty street.

As the three youngsters sat alongside of the street, with their fish lines dangling in the water, some one came along and snapped their picture, and it was this old view that Mr. Stevers brought to The Mail office to confirm his story of the fishing trip three lads took in the long years ago on Liberty street. The old board walk along the south side of the street is clearly shown in the view.

The picture shows two or three younger boys in the background. Mr. Stevers believing one to be one of the Jolliffe boys. Needless to say he highly prizes the old picture. Charles Draper at one time had the picture enlarged and for many years it was on display in his store.

Cotton Grown In Plymouth Garden

It begins to look as though there is nothing that is grown in the south that cannot be raised in this part of Michigan.

Some weeks ago The Mail told of sweet potatoes being grown successfully east of the city on the farm of Harmon Gates.

There is now on display in one of the windows of The Plymouth Mail office, a full grown cotton plant, showing the cotton balls and all that was produced by Deward Jewell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jewell at his home on the Plymouth road just east of the Whitbeck road.

Last winter when Roy Parrott visited the south, he brought back with him several cotton seeds and he gave to Deward one of these seeds. The youthful cotton "planter" started the seeds in a green house and when weather conditions permitted, he transplanted the plants to his garden.

He has been rewarded for his efforts by producing full bearing cotton plants, almost as large as they grow in the south. The display in The Plymouth Mail window has attracted more than ordinary interest.

West Plymouth

Miss Betsy Ross was the guest Wednesday evening at a Halloween party at Beth-Anne and Donald McKay Sullivan.

Mrs. Hawley Cobb of Northville visited Mrs. Miller Ross Thursday evening.

The Miller Ross' were entertained at supper Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Youngs.

C. T. Aldrich of Clayton with Junior and Lois Ann visited in the F. Root home over the week-end. Mrs. Aldrich and the three little daughters returned to Clayton with them, after a three week's visit.

Mrs. George Richwine passed another milestone Sunday, and all the children and grandchildren came home to wish her another happy year, and to celebrate the occasion with a dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson of Redford with their three sons and three daughters visited their daughter, Mrs. Walton Richwine Tuesday evening.

Obituary

MRS. JANE OLIVER
Mrs. Jane Elizabeth Oliver, age 78 years, who resided at Fowlerville, Michigan, passed away suddenly Friday afternoon, November 1st, 1935. She was the widow of the late William G. Oliver and mother of Mrs. Maude Stewart; Mrs. Mable Robinson; Mrs. Florence Williams, all of Detroit; Mrs. Jennie Houk of Ypsilanti; John J. and Roy H. Oliver, both of Fowlerville, Michigan. The body was brought to the Schrader Brothers Funeral Home, from which place funeral services were held Monday, November 4th at 2:30 p.m. Interment in Riverside cemetery, Rev. Ainsworth of Cherry Hill officiating.

LOUIS GEBHARDT
Louis Gebhardt, age 54, passed away Friday afternoon, November 1st. He was the husband of Anna Gebhardt and father of Neta; brother of George Gebhardt and the late Matilda L. Widmaier, both of this city, and Mrs. Pauline Cole of Northville. The body was brought to the Schrader Brothers Funeral Home, from which place a short service was held Monday, November 4th at 3:45 p.m. and 4 p.m. at St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Interment in Riverside cemetery, Rev. Edgar Kiceneke officiating.

authentic. The special lighting equipment gives a color effect to the production that has never before been attained. The other special properties such as beards, armor, shields and spears lend an ancient setting to the production that is awe-inspiring.

The story of the production begins with the story of Joseph, that is well known to everyone. In actual dramatic scenes, the story of Joseph being sold into slavery, being later elevated to the governor of Egypt, and then still later being reunited with his brothers, is all portrayed in an intensely interesting and dramatic manner by the characters in this production.

Also, the complete story of the deliverance of the Israelites from Egypt by Moses and Aaron is portrayed. The coming of the plagues in Egypt, the actual deliverance of the Israelites, the deliverance from the Red Sea, and the marching through the wilderness, are portrayed in beautiful and exciting scenes. There is a dramatic intensity and suspense to the production that cannot be described. One must see it to actually appreciate it.

The climaxing scene of the production is the actual giving of the Ten Commandments by Moses to the people. As he reads the Ten Commandments the people repeat them after him. The closing scene of the production is the portrayal of the Nativity, the birth of Christ, done in beautiful blue light in authentic and beautiful costumes.

ODD FELLOW SHOW TO BE REAL EVENT

eral songs and dances. Little Charlene Harmer will play the child heroine in the curtain raiser, "The Beggars."

"Honeymoon Island" is the sparkling play which has created such a furor in other Michigan cities.

As the name implies, "Honeymoon Island" is a rendezvous for newlyweds. It is run by Miss Jane Stingen, assisted by her omnipresent man of all work, Solomon Wise—come a runaway boarding school girl, Jacqueline Ketchum with her elderly admirer, E. Z. Dunn, also E. Z. Dunn's troublesome son, Jimmy, with Jacqueline's mother, Lucille Ketchum, a dashing young widow. Entanglements are bound to ensue and do. Other newlyweds present are Lovie and Davie, the strong minded Mrs. Long and her lesser half, Mr. I. E. Jack Smackem and his ten cent store bride, Skeeter Harris; Carlotta Gushe is a modest type of gold-digger. Eccentric comedy is supplied by the underlaker, M. Balmer and the modest Violet, while the sheriff Ty M. Tighte keeps an eye over all.

As is usual in musical comedy the singing and dancing choruses are strongly featured. The songs are of the whistly order and the stepping very peppy.

The presentation is under the auspices of the Tonquish Lodge No. 32 of the Odd Fellows.

The committee in charge is: Roy Wheeler, Louis Westfall, and Willford Bunney.

Reserve tickets are available at the Dodge Drug Co. Don't forget the big date, "Honeymoon Island," Plymouth high auditorium, Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 28-29.

Any student or person of high school age residing in Plymouth, Rosedale Gardens or Northville, is invited to participate in a poster contest in conjunction with the 100F musical "Honeymoon Island." All posters must be at the I. O. O. F. hall by Friday, Nov. 15. Prizes will be presented from the stage the night of the show. The judges are Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple, and Dr. F. B. Hoyer. People are welcome to the exhibit and judging on Saturday, Nov. 16 at 7 p.m. For rules see F. B. Sherman, 276 N. Harvey street or Roy Wheeler, 756 Penniman.

All talented persons living in Plymouth, Northville and Rosedale Gardens are asked to compete in the huge amateur show which precedes the musical comedy, "Honeymoon Island." Besides local prizes, the winner will compete later in Dearborn for a first prize of $20 and a second prize of $10. Make application now to F. B. Sherman, 279 N. Harvey or Roy Wheeler, 756 Penniman.

Rocks Trip Ypsi

Plymouth scored another victory Friday, November 1, on their stamping grounds at Riverside Park against the crippled Ypsilanti team. The ground was damp and cold, which was harder on the spectators than on the players.

Both teams failed to make their passing attacks click and practically all gains were made through center and around the ends. Plymouth made eight first downs while Ypsi collected four. In the first quarter Ypsi found loopholes through which they could collect five and six yard gains but they failed to stop Wagenschutz who collected thirty-two yards on consecutive plays. All of Plymouth's passes were knocked down by Ypsi.

In the second quarter a safety was scored by Gates when a Ypsi player ran a punt back over the coal line where he was tackled. In this quarter Wagenschutz again picked up thirty odd yards around the end. Wagenschutz scored a touchdown in the middle of the third quarter through the center of the line after bringing the ball up to the five yard line by an end run of fifteen yards. Gates failed to score the extra point.

In the fourth quarter Plymouth held the advantage in punting because of Jack Kinsey. Ypsi's punter was Wales. Ypsi made all four of their first down in this quarter by line bucks and ends. Schille failed to pass in the twenty and ran to the fifty on the last play of the game.

C. BEEBE VISITS PLYMOUTH HIGH

Describing some of the thrilling experiences which befell his party and showing lantern slides of African life, Henry Channing Beebe told Plymouth students a great deal about Africa, basing his information on the thirty-six months experience which he had there. With Mr. Beebe was his wife who operated the picture machine which showed the natives and animal life of the dark continent's interior. He told how one night he awoke to find his tent a mass of driver ants, biting pests which have been known to eat the flesh from a horse within a few hours.

He described the narrow escape which he had from a hypo that came to avenge its mate killed by Beebe. He showed pictures of the hypo and displayed several of the hypo's mammoth teeth. He told interesting stories about his capture of monkeys which he captured by catching their paws in hollow coconuts. The explorer seemed to feel that the elephant is the aristocrat of animals, and he depicted a large part of the talk on elephant tales. He told of an elephant hunt in which he escaped death from an elephant stampede. A bull elephant which had been wounded by Beebe's gun charged him and hurled him into a nearby tree when the elephants stampeded they were more concerned over their comrade's safety than they were over the terrified explorer, and they escorted the first elephant to a suitable den.

Mr. Beebe's pictures showed the difference between the African elephant and the Indian elephant commonly seen in the circus. The African elephant is taller and has much larger ears. By the use of a lens and a magic picture screen, it was possible to show the African elephant in his natural size. In addition to his interesting stories and pictures Mr. Beebe brought a collection of African curios including tusks, teeth, skins and an idol.

CENTRAL SCHOOL NOTES

The 1 B's are studying about pets because they are studying in their readers about pets. Miss Frantz is busy making ABC books. They are pasting the letters in and then finding pictures which fit in.

The 1 A's and 1 B's of Miss Weddle's room are making pictures of pets for art and are also making booklets with elm, oak and maple leaves. They are still working on the doll's house.

There is a new pupil in Miss Sly's Room 5. Glenn Guldnor from Starkweather.

The 5 A's and 6 B's of Miss Detwiler's room learned a poem appropriate for autumn, "October Trees."

The 5 A's made a map of Africa and the 6 B's made a map of Australia for geography.

June Stuart of Miss Detwiler's room brought a Jack O' Lantern for Halloween and Dorothy Blunk also of Miss Detwiler's room brought crepe paper for decorations.

The three lower grades in school enjoyed Halloween parties Thursday afternoon.

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Fiegel, Miss Lickly, and Miss Hauf were entertained by Miss Fry and Miss Waldorf at a Halloween party last Tuesday night. They enjoyed the tasty waffles and marshmallows in the fireplace.

Miss Fry, Miss Waldorf, and Miss Hauf went to Detroit Wednesday night and heard Admiral Byrd.

Dorothy Adams spent the weekend with Shirley Titcher. Miss Lundin, Miss Fiegel, Miss Cary, Miss Lickly, and Miss Smith heard the Honorable Wm. R. Castle speak on Our Relations with other Nations, Thursday night at the auditorium in Ann Arbor. His talk was the first of an oratorical series.

Jewel Starkweather spent Friday night with Dorothy Hearn. Tom Brock entertained several friends last Saturday night at his home. The guests cooked their supper and had a fire after which they had a scavenger hunt, played games, and danced. Refreshments were served again later in the evening. Those invited were Jewel Starkweather, Jeanette Brown, Barbara Hubbard, Marian Gorton, Ireta McClell, Dorothy Hearn, Norma Jean Roe, Ellen Murry, Patsey McKinnon, Jack Sessions, Geats Kenyon, David Hale, Orrie Bower, Jack Burchall, Marvin Sackett, Robert Egge and John Nash.

PLYMOUTH HOLDS PRACTICE DEBATES

Affirmative and negative teams representing Plymouth held practice debates with Fordson and MacKenzie high schools during the past week in preparation for decision league contests. None of the debates were judged.

On Tuesday, October 29, Plymouth's affirmative speakers, including Harry Fischer, Jack Sessions, and Tom Brock, went to MacKenzie high to debate the latter's negative. Fordson brought two teams to Plymouth on Wednesday debating the negative team of Jack Sessions, Russell Kirk, and Jewel Starkweather, and the affirmative team of Harry Fischer, Dorothy Hearn, and Tom Brock. The question was the subject of government monopoly of the munitions industry. Plymouth will take part in a practice debate tournament to be held at Milford on November 9, entering two teams and debating eight times. Several other high schools from this section of Michigan will attend.

TORCH CLUB VIEWS FILMS

It was the privilege of the Torch Club to view some very interesting motion pictures at their weekly meeting, October 31. Many pictures showing the beauty and grandeur of Niagara Falls were flashed upon the screen such as "The American Falls," "Canadian Falls," "The Maid of the Mist," "Goat Island," "The Rapids below the Falls," "Cave of the Winds," and others. Then the club was shown two reels from a feature length picture "The Lost World." This was a story concerning a group of scientists who discovered a world such as this world is believed to have been 10,000,000 years ago. Huge dinosaurs roamed about and many other thrilling scenes were shown during the course of the picture.

Next week Paul Thams, the club president, will lead the group discussion. The topic will be "Vocations."

GIRL SCOUTS HOLD COURT OF HONOR

The Girl Scouts of Plymouth high school celebrated last week the twenty-second anniversary of the first troop founded by Juliette Low in 1912. They began the week by appearing together in uniform at the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning. They arranged a display in one of Conner's hardware windows which included a doll dressed in full uniform, a Girl Scout flag, and a doll house in which the duties of a Girl Scout were illustrated by small dolls.

A combined Court of Honor and Investiture was held in the high school auditorium last Tuesday. The second class Girl Scouts received their proficiency badges, which included those given to girls who excelled in art, canning, first aid, homemaking, needlecraft, scholarship, and music.

Following this a candlelight Investiture was held. The Tenderfoot Scouts invested were Marian Coward, Phyllis Campbell, Fern Forsgren, Patricia Brzedell, Virginia Shub, Doris Buzzard, Phoebe McCandlish, Evelyn Bower, Dorothy Hammond, Winnifred Cutler, Nancy McLaren, Ruth Drews, Mary Jane Olsavor, Dorothy Ebersole, Ruth Wellman, Beverly Smith, Elizabeth Criger. The ceremony was carried out very effectively with the scribe, Barbara Olsavor, as leader. The four patrols made a horseshoe formation symbolizing good luck. They also stood with their shoulders together, signifying close friendship.

The Girl Scouts attended the Boy Scout Court of Honor held at the Training school last Friday. They also went swimming at the Training School under the supervision of Mrs. Joseph Witter. Senior Red Cross Life Guard and Miss Jane Korb, Junior Life Guard.

PLYMOUTH BOYS CONTINUE WRITING

Bruce Miller and William Kirkpatrick both graduates of Plymouth high school in 1932, have continued the journalistic work which they began here as members of the Pilgrim Prints staff. At East Lansing William is the associate editor of the "Michigan State News," the student publication of Michigan State College. At the Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton, Michigan, Bruce Miller is the sports editor of the "Michigan Tech." Local newspaper is the official publication of the student organization and contains eight pages of seven columns each of news interesting to the students such as news relating to mining and technology, sport write ups, humor columns, college news, and comments from other papers.

STARKWEATHER SCHOOL NOTES

The kindergarten children are enjoying their work in the Rhythm Band. The advanced group now use five different instruments. They are working on marches and "Diddle, Diddle, Diddle." The beginning group have just started their band and use only rhythm sticks. As soon as members of the group are able to play their rhythm sticks correctly, they will be given other instruments.

The Bunnny Club is organized now and Mr. Smith has given the pins to the children that have earned them.

The fourth grade pupils are making a study of common evergreens of Michigan.

The little people of Miss Stuker's room enjoyed the Halloween parade Thursday afternoon.

The pupils of the three lower grades enjoyed Halloween parties Thursday. They came in costumes and enjoyed refreshments.

The 6 A's are learning a new way to work percentage in arithmetic and the 6 B's are working on decimals.

The sixth grade held a play Friday celebrating Mark Twain's birthday.

SENIOR DRAMATISTS PRESENT TABLEAUS

The Senior Drama Club has prepared for presentation a Thanksgiving tragedy-comedy entitled "Saturday Market," a story of country folk at the village market. The plot, which revolves about a prospective bride and her heart-breaking tribulations, is carried out to near perfection by an all-star cast: Elizabeth Hege, Ruth Wilson, Maxine Thorpe, Genevieve Pinkerton, Marion Krumm, Adeline Plant, Jessica Goebel, and Madeline Weller. This play was given at the Methodist Ladies Aid Wednesday, November 6, and will be given at Wayne tonight, November 8.

The special Armistice Day pageant which will be given before the Kiwanis Club Tuesday, November 12, is composed of a number of tableaux presenting scenes from American history namely the Landing of Columbus, The Pilgrim Fathers, Betsy Ross, The Spirit of '76, The Emancipation Proclamation, and scenes from the Great War, 1918. The program will be repeated in the special Armistice Day Assembly in the school.

BOOK EXPLORERS HAVE PARTY

Martin Horvath and Ivan Packard were in charge of the Halloween party which the Book Explorers Club enjoyed last Thursday. Halloween games were played among them being one the object was to pin a tail on a cat while blindfolded. After each prize of pencils sharpeners and erasers shaped like cats were given. The enjoyment was greatly added to by the Halloween candy.

EDITORIAL

Thank You

Youth sometimes gets some seemingly funny ideas which try the patience of adults. It is often very difficult for these adults to understand young people and altogether too often they give up the effort. But in every community there are some adults who make a definite effort to understand and guide the younger element. A fine example of what can be done by adults is the recent Halloween celebration in Plymouth. The men who helped to make a success of Officer Charley Thumme's Halloween party at the city hall and at the Pennington Theater deserve the accolade of both young and old. The plan worked for the mutual benefit of all parties concerned. The children who were guests at the party had the benefit of an exciting evening's entertainment. Mr. Lush, Mr. Eaton and Mr. Thumme received the benefit of an inoffensive Halloween. Reports from neighboring towns tell of great damage to property and of the need of guards to protect large buildings. There were no such conditions in Plymouth, thanks to Mr. Lush who gave the children a first class picture show, to Mr. Eaton who donated tickets and apples and other essentials of a Halloween party, and to Mr. Thumme who made all arrangements for handling the matter.

It is to be hoped that these men and men who have a genuine desire to help and understand youth will carry on this sort of activity for years to come.

HI-Y ENTERTAINS GIRL RESERVES

The annual Halloween party of the Hi-Y and Senior Girl Reserve members was held in the spacious garage at the Fischer residence Friday evening, Nov. 1. The room was gaily decorated to correspond with the spirit of the season.

The event was attended by about sixty five members of the respective clubs. The early part of the evening was devoted to group games and set-acquainted meetings after which refreshments were served. Dancing took the remainder of the evening.

The chapters for the occasion were Mrs. and Mrs. Fischer, Miss Fiegel, Miss Lickly and Mr. Dykhouse.

CLASS NOTES

Miss Allen's twelfth grade English class has been continuing the study of the Elizabethan period in literature, and the students are now reading Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer" and other plays.

The American history classes have finished studying the American Revolution and are beginning to study the formation of our nation.

The ancient history classes are studying about Greece and Greek civilization.

One of Miss Waldorf's public speaking classes is studying speeches of special occasions such as announcements of plays, introductions of speakers and welcomes. The other class is taking up the art of argumentation and debate.

HOME EC. CLASS GIVES TALKS

Home Economics foods classes are holding a series of three minute talks appropriate to radio speeches about luncheons. The Home Economics Club held a Halloween party at Genevieve Spalding's home on Hamilton street, Wednesday evening, October 29, with their girls present. Appropriate games were played and refreshments served.

The foods home economics classes are making wool dresses and planning and studying design, color, and construction.

DRAMATISTS PRESENT HILARIOUS COMEDY

"Teeth of the Gift House" a new comedy is being prepared by the junior dramatists for an assembly program. The entire play is carried into the hilarious comedy field and the spectators with it. The cast includes James Stevens, Bud Matts, Phyllis Barrows, Betty Mastick, and Doris Buzzard.

The club discussions have centered about movie stars and movie production in the last several meetings.

THE SEVEN HUNDRED

Like the man who turned to greet a friend and missed the Joe Louis-King Levinsky prize fight, turned to fight off a hot dog vendor at the last game and didn't see Sella catch the big stick, I thought those new formations were clever. Sella explained that to get the proper effect, one has to look down from an airplane. I saw a highly embarrassed debate the other day. He jumped up and told the other team that he thought he had won the debate. Then he found out that the debate wasn't over yet. Today, tradition has it, Northville is going home from the football game pining over defeat. Has Miss Kane, the lady who is putting on that play, dragged you in it? As soon as she hit town she began telling people that they look like Moses or a fatted calf. She told Alva Elzerman that he looked like Joseph. "That's funny," he replied, "we aren't even related." She cast me as Dan. I was more frank than Alva and admitted that I had never heard of him. I guess she heard about how I gave all of the Merchant of Venice in assembly last month. I'll bet even Booth never gave the whole thing that way. I got kicked out of Miss Kane's play though. For a while I will remain a mere critic, but some day I'll demonstrate just how it ought to be done. Speaking of Moses, Liz Whipple thought that bull-rushes were a kind of frog. There are more ways than one to impress a girl with your own importance. Don Schille told Myrilla that he had read this column and that there wasn't anything in it about her. As a matter of fact it hadn't been written at the time. It doesn't pay to go around with that sort of guy. Myrilla, Tom Brock's Bessie, has found a new subject for adoration in George Kenyon. Every time George comes over to Bessie's pen, she comes running out to meet him. As George said to Bessie, "You will squeal, will you?" Watch Pat McKannon. A new romance is in the bud. As soon, I am told, there is a fly in the ointment as far as Jewel and Dave are concerned. I haven't confirmed this rumor, but I'll bet I know who it is.

PLYMOUTH DEBATERS DEFEAT LINCOLN PARK

Winning the first decision Twin Valley Association debate of this season, Plymouth's negative speakers defeated Lincoln Park high school's affirmative team in a contest held at Plymouth on Wednesday evening, October 30. The victorious debaters were Florence Norton, Russell Kirk, and Jewel Starkweather.

Mr. Forsythe of Lincoln high, Ferndale, judged the contest, and Mr. Bentley acted as chairman. The question discussed is formally stated, "Resolved, that the nations of the world should make a government monopoly of the manufacture and sale of all combat instruments of war."

Lincoln Park was represented by Vivian Carter, James Hamilton and Edward Mitchell. For both schools this was the first debate of the season.

Various problems relating to the question of munition manufacture were discussed throughout the debate. Evils of the present system were considered, and possible defects of government monopoly argued. Each constructive speech lasted eight minutes, and each rebuttal four.

At the conclusion of the third affirmative rebuttal, Mr. Forsythe announced his decision in favor of the negative, although he stated the debate was a close one, and that both teams and coaches performed excellent work. He praised the negative team for the strategy forcing the affirmative debaters to adopt their plan of argument, mentioning that this action was an important part of his reason for awarding Plymouth the decision.

Prior to this contest, Plymouth held several practice debates with various other high schools, including Flint Northern, Flint Central, Detroit Western, MacKenzie, and Fordson. The next decision debate will be a contest with Ypsilanti.

BUNNY CLUB IS ORGANIZED

The kindergarten pupils of Central and Starkweather school are working for the same thing, to have a Bunny pin and be in the Bunnny Club. In order to be in the Bunnny Club there are a set of rules each youngster's mother has to sign. These rules are that the child must drink milk, eat vegetables, get plenty of fresh air, do his teeth, have a good bunny outfit do. When the child has lived up to all of these rules, his mother will sign the paper with the rules on it and the child will receive a Bunny Pin. He may keep this pin just as long as he lives up to all the rules, so if at any time he breaks the rules he will no longer be a Club member.

ORCHESTRA MAKES TWO APPEARANCES

Members of the high school orchestra, with Miss Henry as conductor, played at two entertainments last week, Monday evening, October 28, they gave five selections at a meeting of the P.T.A. held in the high school auditorium. These numbers were Drummer's Delight, Indian Trail, Stronard, Oriental Spirit, and Family Band. Last Wednesday evening, October 30, they furnished dinner music at the Wayne County teacher-officer banquet, held at the Hotel Mayflower, and received a good deal of applause.

The girls' double quartet also appeared at the P. T. A. meeting, singing Huckleberry Finn, dressed as that character, thus helping to advertise the junior class play.

JUST A MINUTE, BOYS, THAT REMINDS ME OF SOMETHING

Last year Plymouth and River Rouge tied for the debate championship of the Twin Valley Association, but in the resulting final debate River Rouge was victorious. Plymouth supporters hope that this year Plymouth will be able to defeat the former school in both affirmative and negative contests. The debate in which Plymouth is the negative is the subject of this plan.

Plymouth team have already met Lincoln Park and Ypsilanti in one debate each, and will soon encounter the other schools of the league. After this series has been completed, this school will debate every school on the other side of the question from that upheld before.

RAMS BACK END OF ANOTHER CAR
Henry Freidman, prominent Detroit lawyer and member of the Detroit House of Correction board and several occupants of his automobile, escaped serious injury last Saturday afternoon while on the way home from the football game at Ann Arbor, when their machine was rammed from the rear by another one. Mr. Freidman had stopped his car at the Pere Marquette tracks on the Ann Arbor road for a train. Ohivesa Eastman of Detroit, driver of the other car, told officers he did not notice that the car ahead of him had stopped. Both cars were badly damaged. Miss Mary Nutting, who was in Eastman's car, fell out during the crash but was not badly injured.

SIDEWALK TO THE CEMETERY
Workmen have just completed the laying of a concrete sidewalk from the city limits to the entrance to Riverside cemetery on Plymouth road. This work has been done by the county road commission. It will be several days before it can be used, although there is a small portion of it already open to travel.

Miss Lillian Blake was a guest of Julian Meyers, president of the freshman class of Wayne University, of the International Debate between Wayne University, Detroit and Cambridge University, England, held Nov. 4th at the Cass Technical high school auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rathburn and Miss Coraline Rathburn will accompany Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Strubger and Carl Stringer of Highland Park to Lansing Saturday to attend the Home Coming of the graduates of which both Mr. and Mrs. Stringer are members.

About twenty-five members of the Lutheran church motored to Toledo, Ohio, Sunday afternoon to attend the concert given by the Teutonia men's choir in the Swiss hall of that city. William Renz of Toledo was the director and after the concert the Plymouth aggregation was entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Renz.

About thirty-five ladies attended the Ladies Aid of the Lutheran church Wednesday afternoon in the church basement. After the business meeting a most delightful social hour took place when Mrs. William Bartel and Mrs. Fred Schmidt were hosts. Those present were seated at long tables centered with beautiful bouquets of bebe mums and roses.

Howard Gladman is recovering nicely in his home in Detroit from cuts in his head received on October 26 while assisting in shredding corn on the Peter Miller farm east of Plymouth. The accident occurred when the machine broke and parts of it struck Mr. Gladman cutting his head and knocking him unconscious. He was immediately taken to a doctor where several stitches were taken.

About twenty-five young people of the Presbyterian church spent Sunday evening as guests of Jewell Starkweather at her home on Starkweather avenue. During the evening Evelyn Starkweather gave a vivid description of the most interesting things that she saw on her recent trip to California and displayed stones, pieces of rock, leaves and other objects gathered at various places. Light refreshments were served by Mrs. Starkweather with Mrs. Russell Roe and Mrs. Ed Hawk assisting.

Booker Didn't Know He Was In A Auto Accident

Crash Ends A Series Of Tragedies For Mrs. Dietz

After lingering unconscious and in a critical condition for over a week in the Plymouth hospital, Mrs. Minnie M. Dietz, 56 years of age, injured in an automobile accident last week Monday, is believed to be on the road to recovery. But attending physicians say she is not yet entirely removed from danger.

Her 86 year old mother, Mrs. Louise Letts, who died as the result of injuries she received in the same accident, was buried Saturday at Owosso. The funeral was held in that city where she had resided for more than 65 years before going to live at the home of her daughter in Ann Arbor.

Not only death and terrible suffering followed in the wake of the speed of an automobile driven by George Tarpley, who witnesses say "had had a few beers" before starting out on the ride that splattered the highway with blood and automobile wreckage, but it seemed to climax a series of tragedies in the life of Mrs. Dietz, the blameless driver of the accident.

Her first husband was killed in 1916 by a hit and run driver in Ann Arbor.

A few years later she married Mr. Dietz and he was killed by a reckless negro driver. He was crossing a street in Ann Arbor when the colored driver drove his machine over on the wrong side of the thoroughfare and crushed over the life of Mrs. Dietz's second husband.

Now a drunken automobile driver, hurling his machine around a sharp curve at a speed estimated more than 80 miles per hour, not only killed her mother, but brought injuries to Mrs. Dietz that doctors say will confine her to a bed for months.

Leo Brown, a University of Michigan graduate and only son of Mrs. Dietz, is almost constantly at her bedside in the Plymouth hospital.

"After all of these tragedies due to automobiles, I am fearful of what the result will be when she recovers consciousness and finds out that her mother too has become the victim of an automobile accident," said the young man Tuesday when discussing the accident.

Betty Prince, the 26 year old woman companion of the driver of the hit car, has practically recovered from her injuries, state attendants at the University of Michigan hospital. Except for the big scar alongside her nose and other scars on her face due to deep cuts, she has no permanent injuries as the result of the accident.

The body of Tarpley, the driver of the car, was sent to the home of his parents in Tennessee, for burial. He was instantly killed when thrown from his machine in such a way that it rolled over on him as it left the highway after striking the car driven by Mrs. Dietz.

Jesse Booker, 272 Amelia street, who was also in the Tarpley car, was released from the University hospital Monday and returned to his home in Plymouth, still suffering from the cuts and bruises he received. He declares that he never knew he was in an automobile accident until he woke up in the hospital and couldn't understand why he was there.

He was unconscious for four days, suffering in addition to his numerous other injuries, a slight concussion of the brain.

"I never saw the car we hit. I never remember of hitting another car. I don't recall of even being hurt, and I wasn't asleep when it happened either. All I know anything about is the fact that we were in the automobile and that's all there is to it until I began to come to in the hospital and then I didn't know what it was all about," said Booker.

"I told Tarpley to drive slow when we started down Main street through town. Tarpley, the girl and myself all sat in the front seat of his new Ford. He said he wanted to test it out. I said to him, look out, you may hit some one, but he said he knew how to drive an automobile and so I kept quiet from then on," said Booker.

"I do not remember just where we went to, but we were in the car returning to Plymouth and that's all I know."

"They said they found Tarpley under the car and myself and the girl in the back seat jammed on the floor of the car with the seats on top of us. How we got there I don't know and how Tarpley got out of the car I don't know. All I know is that we were in the automobile and when I came to I was in the hospital at Ann Arbor," Booker told The Mail upon his return home.

Frank Gentz, who was invited to go in the car, but refused to do so, said he had known Tarpley for ten years. Gentz said he told friends when Tarpley got his new car that it was going to be his death as "I know how he drove and he had a few beers and beer in him. It was the spark in it that made him want to go fast," said Gentz.

To Pay Farmers Not To Grow Rye

Michigan rye growers will be offered contracts by H. A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, for the adjustment of rye acreage as soon as the necessary printed forms are available, according to R. J. Baldwin, administrator for the AAA in Michigan.

The State ranks sixth in rye production, there being more than 16,000 farms producing a little more than 2,000,000 bushels each year. Farmers will be asked to reduce their acreage 25 per cent from the average harvested for grain in the base period years. For this reduction, they will receive adjustment payments of at least 35 cents per bushel for 30 per cent of their allotted production.

Most of Michigan's rye is grown in the counties which produce a major portion of the wheat crops and the local committees for handling the rye contracts will be the same as for wheat in most cases. These local farmers will apportion to the farmers in their county their fair share of the acreage allotted for the county.

The base period for rye includes the years 1930-1935. A farmer's allotted acreage will depend upon the amount of rye that he planted during those years, with the greatest emphasis placed upon plantings of the local committee years of the period. Practically every Michigan rye grower will be eligible to sign a contract but those farmers who have increased their acreage in the past three years and who did not grow rye in 1930-1932 will not get as large an allotment as they would if they had made such plantings.

The average production upon which the adjustment payments will be made is the allotted acreage multiplied by the average yield upon the particular farm. A farmer allotted 10 acres and who has produced an average of 15 bushels per acre will be paid at least 35 cents a bushel upon 45 bushels.

Short Termers Pick Up Potatoes

These are busy days for Captain Edward Denniston and his staff out at the Detroit House of Correction—busy taking care of reckless drivers and speeders sent to the prison for short term jail sentences.

"But we got lots of potatoes to pick up, so we're glad to have them. It's good exercise for the speed boys," said one of the prison officials the other day.

The prison busses operating out from Detroit transporting convicted offenders and returning discharged prisoners have been filled to capacity and running overtime for nearly three weeks.

Making Drive To Wipe Out Its Debt

Final steps are being taken by Rev. Loya Sutherland, pastor of the First Baptist church, and the officials of his organization, to wipe out the remaining portion of the church debt, amounting to $1400. In an effort to clear away this obligation, the church members, states Rev. Sutherland, have responded most pleasingly and to the limit of their ability to give.

Knowing that the church has many friends it does not count within its membership but who are always willing to aid and contribute to its cause, he has directed through E. Fletcher Campbell, the official clerk of the church, a letter of appeal to these outside friends.

"It is the greatest desire of all of our people to see our church free from obligations and naturally we are working night and day in the hopes of accomplishing this purpose. To some the gift means a real sacrifice. To others, while it is important, it does not require depriving one's self of much, but to our church a gift of any amount means everything," stated Rev. Sutherland when discussing his aim to free the church of its financial obligations.

Tremendous forward steps have been taken in the past year or so along this line and every member of the Baptist church now hopes that it will be possible to wipe out the debt by the time the present drive of the Church Progress Fund committee completes its work.

Civilization being what it is, more people have heard of Sally Rand than of many a saintly mother who gives her life for her children.

Famed Russian Male Chorus Coming to Ann Arbor Monday Eve.

The Don Cossack Russian Male Chorus, consisting of thirty-six expatriated officials of the former Imperial Russian Army, under the leadership of the magnetic, but diminutive Serge Jaroff will give a concert in the Choral Union Series, Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, Monday evening, November 11th, at 8:15 o'clock.

This organization has won a forefront position for itself among great singing bodies. Members of the Imperial Army which collapsed during the revolution, they found themselves prisoners in the south of Russia. Without instruments or music of any kind, they attempted to pass away the weary hours by engaging in singing. Under the stimulating influence of their brilliant leader, they managed to offer themselves as a sort of substitute for an army band, and made such an impression upon their captors, that they were accorded some privileges.

After the war, they could not of course, return to Russia. They managed to find employment as church singers in one of the Balkan states. Here their successes became pronounced, and shortly thereafter they were invited to give concerts in continental Europe. Their performances became musical events. Later, when a tour to America was proposed, after considerable negotiations they were at last permitted to make use of the "Nansen" passports issued by the League of Nations, since they are "men without a country."

On their American tours, they travel by great buses, criss-crossing the country from one end to the other. After the close of the formal program in Hill Auditorium, it is expected that they will again perform in certain musical dances which has characterized many of their programs.

Many exterior stairs and terraces may be made more attractive by the addition of new wrought-iron railings. Small holders for hanging vine baskets or brackets for flower boxes may be added.

A man died the other day in a metropolitan city from starvation while he had hundreds of dollars in his pockets; figure that out, if you can.

More Political Jobs, Potato Eaters To Pay

An intensive campaign to force the proper grading of potatoes has been instituted by Commissioner of Agriculture, James F. Thomson. The law provides that table stock potatoes cannot be transported, sold or offered for sale unless they meet certain grade standards. All potatoes being transported must be inspected.

In order to carry out the work Commissioner Thomson has established eight inspection stations located in the following counties: Clare, Ionia, Arenac, Crawford, Mason, Lapeer, and two in Kent. The stations are located in the potato belt and on trunk lines for the convenience of transporters. Comm. Thomson warns that transporters must not leave the potato belt without possessing the inspection slip obtained from one of the above stations.

An Ideal Investment Has:

HIGH LOAN VALUE

PRUDENTIAL TRADING TRUST SHARES enjoy high loan value because:

1. The character of the underlying stocks, all of which are listed on the New York Stock Exchange and quoted daily.
2. The fact that at the close of each business day the Trust is inventoried and the actual liquidating value of the shares is ascertained.
3. The Trust shares are not subject to violent fluctuation in value due to the constantly highly diversified investment position. These shares are now being held as collateral by the largest banks in the state and loans have been easily arranged for on a basis of 60 per cent of the price of the shares.

AN INVITATION

TO THE FINAL INSPECTION

of Plymouth's Modelectric Home will soon be issued to you and it is the desire of the undersigned that you take the fullest advantage of this courtesy to see what we believe to be the ideal home of present times. There are some little details yet to be finished but you will be advised through this advertisement as to the time when you may see the completed home that we have worked so long to make as ideal as possible.

ALWAYS WELCOME

As we stated some weeks ago, you are welcome at any time to visit this new home. Our plan for inspection instead of confining it to a 30 day period was sometime ago altered so that you have been welcome to visit the home at any time during the past weeks or at present so that you might see the construction and arrangement in the process of building.

MANY GOOD IDEAS

Are sure to be gained by you as you view the completed house. We believe it will be possible to announce that time in the next issue of the Plymouth Mail. But if the work should not progress at such a rapid rate as we plan, it may be that it will be two weeks before the definite time for final inspection can be set. Meanwhile you are welcome to see the house as it is being completed.

Earthquake Is Plainly Felt In This Locality

Plymouth Residents Get First Experience In Earth Tremors

Saturday morning shortly after 1 o'clock, Plymouth was rocked by the first earthquake it has ever experienced as far as any local resident can remember.

While the shock did not damage, it was sufficiently strong enough to awaken a number of people.

The first disturbance was the severest, but there was almost a constant tremor for more than a minute.

Newspaper reports say that the earthquake was general throughout the Great Lakes and northern Atlantic states country. The same time the quake was reported here, another disturbance created untold damage at Helena, Montana, where for more than a month, the residents of that country have been experiencing earthquakes almost hourly.

Records show, however, that the earthquake of last week was not the first one ever experienced in this part of the country. In fact there have been many of them, but never one that did any material damage.

Those who were awake or were awakened by the shock know exactly how it feels to be in an earthquake, but the vast majority of residents of Plymouth and vicinity slept peacefully through the whole disturbance.

The earthquake felt in Michigan at 1:08 a.m. on November 1, which dislocated the needle of the University seismograph, was merely one of a known series beginning as early as the year 1663, when Jesuit missionaries wrote of a quake of considerable violence, according to Professor William H. Hobbs, University of Michigan geologist and student of earth tremors.

Despite the fact that many minor shocks have been felt from time to time in Michigan and nearby states, there is little likelihood of the occurrence of quakes severe enough to cause much damage or loss of life, states Professor Hobbs. Although without complete details on the recent tremor, he predicted that it probably originated in minor slipping of underlying rocks in the vicinity of Lake Erie.

The gradual rising of the land in the Great Lakes region since the passing of the last great glacier explains the quakes in this section. The immediate cause of any particular quake is a slipping or sliding of the underlying layers of rock as changes in strains upon them occur. Because the rock layers in this section of the country are well "settled" however, the slips which do occur are comparatively slight.

From 1663 to 1672 the records of the Jesuit priests show eight quakes and others were reported before and after Revolutionary War times. In 1811 and 1813, the great Mississippi Valley earthquakes were felt here, a Judge James Witherell writing that they "considerably north and south." In 1884 a tremor affected Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio and was also noticed by workmen on the Washington Monument, then 500 feet high. This quake was sharp enough to cause alarm at many points in the lower part of the State.

While most of the Michigan quakes seem to have been most noticeable in the lower portion of the State, Calumet and Lake Linden experienced a tremor in 1905 which brought down many chimneys and broke large plate glass windows. Other local disturbances in the mining region were not infrequent and caused movements of the railroad tracks in the vicinity of the pits. In 1909 a quake was distinctly felt along the Lake Michigan shore and inland to Lansing while in 1925 Detroiters were disturbed by a minor one. All in all, Michigan has little to fear from Mother Earth's spells of ague. Only a very few of the tremblings recorded by the delicate seismograph are strong enough even to be detected by man.

Ford Employees

Martha Morgan, Agnes Drews, Ann Urbanick, Pauline Stamann, Marian Carson, Vera VanSickle, Vesta Allen, May Henry, Mrs. Alie Raymer, Mrs. Esther Cook, Ruth Barberick and H. F. Thomas, Mr. Magraw and Frank Taylor.

Mrs. Sullivan who has been with the Ford company for 22 years, first started with the company at Highland Park.

Every worker seems to be proud of the fact that they are known as an employee of the Phoenix plant. Seemingly there is something that carries with it a bit of distinction to be known as an employee of a place with such delightful surroundings. A Phoenix job is a prize longingly sought for by hundreds about here.

There are a few men employed about the Phoenix plant to do what lifting and packing there might be, to keep the lawns trimmed and the floors clean.

There are no frosted windows, and no dark corners. These young women produce millions and millions of generator cut-outs and stop light switches for Ford cars.

While they work at their machines they can gaze in any direction they care to look through clean, clear windows at beautiful sloping lawns, flower beds during the summer and shade trees that surround the plant.

No factory, no hospital, no office can be kept cleaner than the Phoenix plant—and such tidiness can only be the result of an intense loyalty on the part of the employees of the company and a desire to comply with Mr. Ford's wishes that places of employment be kept clean and tidy.

Each year as thousands of people drive by the Phoenix plant they have stopped to look and admire the window flower boxes that adorn numerous ledges and brick walls. These artistic floral arrangements are all due to the efforts of Mrs. Sullivan, a flower lover, who has much to do with the attractiveness of the flower gardens and shrubs that surround the Phoenix plant and make it a place of beauty from early spring until late fall.

So it is that over half a hundred of happy and thoroughly contented young women Ford workers start on another joyous year of employment at the Phoenix plant.

CLUB WOMEN TOLD OF MOUNTAINEERS

towels, couch spreads, bits of pottery and jewelry, all the result of arduous fingers of the Kentucky mountain people or the students and graduates of Berea College, were passed around for all to admire.

The interest displayed by the members present Friday afternoon, ought to increase the patronage of the Kentucky Gift Shop in the near future. The encouragement given by the buying public to the production of these hand made articles will materially help their isolated makers out of their meager hand to mouth existence as well as preserve one of the finest expressions of beauty and true art existent today.

On November 21, please note the change in date and day, an exceptionally fine meeting is in store for the members of the Woman's Club. At that time we will be host to the Northville Woman's club and the Wayne Arche club. Miss Anne Campbell of the Detroit News Staff will be our distinguished guest. A very fine musical program has likewise been planned. Everyone is urged to remember that date.

"Hobby Night" At School on Nov. 22

The second annual Hobby Night is to take place in the school the evening of November 22. Every student in the high school has been asked by the Student Council to bring his hobby to be exhibited on this night.

Last year there were several interesting and elaborate exhibits of stamp collections, antiques, books, and many other unusual things. Competition was held among amateur dramatists, musicians and artists. Among the more elaborate of the hobbies on display last year were a small beauty parlor, a print shop, a photographic studio, and a fender bumping shop.

Each of the several clubs in the high school put on an exhibit and in several cases these displays attracted new members to the clubs. It is hoped that this year's Hobby Night will prove to be even more successful than that of last year.

Fast driving is said to be the cause of most automobile accidents, but you can hardly get a fast driver to admit it.

GET TWO BIG MOOSE
Matt Powell and Bert McKinney returned to Plymouth Wednesday afternoon from their moose hunting trip up in Canada with two big moose and a deer. The hunters experienced some of the best hunting they ever enjoyed. They saw a big bear that it would have been possible for them to bag, but because of the fact that they had already brought down two moose, they decided to let some other hunter have a chance to get it. After driving some 150 miles north and east of the Canadian Soo, they went by canoe some 15 miles further into good moose country. Both hunters declare it was the most successful trip of the kind they had ever taken.

On Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Orson Polley, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jewell, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Butz, Mrs. Mary Gonyea, Mrs. Mary Polley, Miss Regina Polley, Henry Dworman of Plymouth, Dr. and Mrs. Waldo Johnson and Mrs. Mary Christensen of Northville gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Anderson on Joy street for a house warming, the Andersons having recently settled in their home which they had been remodeling. A jolly evening ensued and at a late hour refreshments were served which were greatly enjoyed.

Hunting Licenses To Be Refused About 700

Nearly 700 Michigan residents will not be allowed to go deer hunting this year when the seasons opens, November 15.

Records of the Department of Conservation show that 670 individuals are disqualified from obtaining a deer license under the law.

This disqualification is due either to a conviction on a charge of violating the deer laws or because of a gun accident in which another person either was injured or killed.

The law says that any citizen who has been a resident of the state for six months, preceding date of application, may obtain a deer hunting license provided that he has not been convicted of a deer law violation for three years and that he has not accidentally or otherwise wounded or killed a human being for five years preceding date of application.
