

Harry Kipke to Be Speaker for Kiwanis Tuesday

High School Lettermen Are Invited to Hear Michigan Coach

Harry Kipke, head coach at the University of Michigan, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Kiwanis club Tuesday evening at the Mayflower hotel.

Lettermen from Plymouth high school will be the guests of the club on this occasion, as will members of the Rotary club. At this time a special smelt dinner will be served, the fish being sent by the Kiwanis club of Escanaba.

At the meeting this week the Rev. Fred E. Soudah, of the Garden City Presbyterian church, gave a talk on Ethiopia. The Rev. Soudah, who has traveled widely in many countries, including Ethiopia, took up the historical development of this strange land, speaking of the evolution of the people, their religion and customs. He also discussed the present Italian-Ethiopian situation, explaining something of what Italy is trying to do.

Blue Bird Sold To Miss Johnson

Announcement was made this week that the Blue Bird restaurant, which for the past eight years has been operated at 272 South Main street by Mr. and Mrs. Ellis B. Freatman has been sold to Miss Marie Johnson who will take possession of it Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Freatman and family are moving to 510 West Main street in Ypsilanti where Mr. Freatman plans to go into the antique and used furniture business. Previous to coming to Plymouth he was for many years in the furniture business in Detroit.

Miss Johnson, who has had charge of the Credit bureau of Plymouth for several years, plans to give her entire time to the management of the restaurant. He has just purchased. Many improvements are contemplated, and these will be made immediately. However the place will be kept open the same hours as have prevailed in past years.

Four Teams in Basketball Race

Four teams remain in the race for the Community Basketball league championships, following games played this week. They are Schraders and Wilsons in the men's division, and Hi-Speed and Red and White in the girls' division.

Schraders defeated and eliminated the Daisy team Monday evening in a close game where a shot which would have made Daisy the winner was on its way when the whistle ending the contest was blown. In the girls' division, Hi-Speed defeated Red and White.

On Tuesday the Red and White girls came back to defeat Hi-Speed in a hard-fought game, four players being forced out on fouls. Schraders defeated Wilsons 24 to 20. These four teams will play final games next Monday to decide the championships, and awards will be made at the banquet and program to be held April 17 at the high school.

A volleyball league will be organized Tuesday, April 7, at the high school, with four teams captained by Dykhouse, Horvath, Schrader and J. Williams. Those interested in taking part are asked to get in touch with one of these men, or with Earl G. Gray, 1210 South Harvey street, telephone 591M, who is acting as manager. School children are ineligible. Games will be held every Monday night after next week.

Ice Is Cause of Fatal Accident

Richard Yenson, 23 year old employe of the Michigan Seamless Tube company of South Lyon, was instantly killed early Thursday morning while driving to work when struck by a Pere Marquette train. Apparently the young man did not see the train as the windshield of his automobile was covered with ice. His automobile was completely demolished. He was married and lived near the Nine mile road just a short distance out of South Lyon. Officers from Ann Arbor were called to investigate the accident.

When some automobile driver tried to take the curve on Plymouth road near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee Thursday morning at too high a speed, his machine cut off a telephone pole and was badly damaged. He escaped injury, although witnesses to the accident thought he was hurt and called Schrader's ambulance and a physician.

Mrs. Stark Winner Of Blank Guessing Contest

The bean-guessing contest which Blank Brothers department store conducted during March ended Tuesday night. The winner was Mrs. J. Stark, of 438 Eaton drive, Northville, who guessed within two of the correct number. The actual count was 7,583, and Mrs. Stark's guess was 7,581. The prize was a new Sunbeam Mixer.

City, Township Elections To Be Held on Monday

Four Candidates Seek Places on City Commission

Two members of the Plymouth city commission will be named by the voters Monday in the regular city election, while Plymouth and Livonia townships will each elect a supervisor, clerk, treasurer, justice of peace, four constables, highway commissioner and members of the board of review.

Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple and Oliver Goldsmith, candidates to succeed themselves on the commission, are on the ticket with Carlton R. Lewis and Henry Hon-dorp.

Polls will be open from 7 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock in the evening at the following precincts: No. 1, city hall; No. 2, Starkweather school; No. 3, Central school; and No. 4, 818 Pen-ninam avenue.

Republican candidates for Plymouth township offices will be announced but the law requires an election, voting will take place from 7 o'clock a. m. to 6 o'clock p. m. at Mastick's garage, located at the corner of South Main street and Ann Arbor road. Names appearing on the ballot are: Charles Rathbun, supervisor; Norman Miller, clerk; Louise Spicer Tritten, treasurer; William Weber, justice of peace; Melburn Partridge, highway commissioner; Floyd Miller, Lee Eldredge, Harry Keyes and Don Metcalf, constables; and Jesse Tyler, board of review.

Livonia township Republican candidates, also unopposed, are: Jesse Zoelger, supervisor; Harry S. Wolfe, clerk; G. A. Bakewell, treasurer; John D. Beech, justice of peace; Henry Bradley, highway commissioner; Ray Owens, Edward Howard, John Whitehead and Charles H. Canfield, constables; and Albert Nacker and Sam McKenny, board of review.

Plymouth's New Postoffice Is Opened To The Public This Week

Wednesday morning, April 1, the doors to Plymouth's new post-office swung open to the public. Postmaster E. E. Giles and his staff during the early part of the week completed the removal of the records and mail matter without the slightest interruption of mail service.

There were no formal ceremonies for the opening. At 8 o'clock the start-up windows and the delivery windows were opened as usual and patrons of the office were able to secure their mail from a place in keeping with the general needs of the community.

Last fall when the building was started a effort was made by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce to secure consent from the postoffice department for permission to conduct ceremonies for the cornerstone laying as well as for a formal dedication of the structure upon its opening. The approval has not yet been received and this accounts for the fact that the removal from the old to the new place has been accomplished with so little ostentation.

It will be noted from the above sketch of the building published in The Mail last fall that the light standards near the front entrance are being to be placed on the new building. The placing of these lights is one of the few things yet to be done about the building.

Shops Redecorate as Spring Season Opens

Spring not only means house-cleaning and new clothes for the ladies, but new coats of paint and furnishings for several of the business establishments around town.

The Wilson Hardware is attractively redecored for the spring season, and Ed Wilson has every right to be proud of his store. William Vnoffin, proprietor of Bill's Market, also has redecored his shop, and has installed modern new fixtures.

Several Donate to Flood Victims

Work for the flood sufferers in the east is being continued by the Red Cross throughout the United States, and in Wayne county is being handled through the Detroit office.

In addition to the $300 which the Plymouth chapter contributed last week, several voluntary contributions have been turned in by individual citizens, to be used in this relief work. The list of donors is as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. John Root, $2; Exc-Serve Men's club, $10; Miss Nettie Pelham, $5; Miss Bertha Warner, $1; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Kirkpatrick, $5; Mrs. Carmen Root, $2; Mrs. Robert Mimmack, $5; Miss Elizabeth Sutherland, $1; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bicklen-staff, $5; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McLaren, $5.

There also have been a number of people who purchased postal money orders and sent their donations direct to the national headquarters.

Debaters Meet Redford Today

Participating in the fourth round of state elimination debates, Plymouth high school's team, consisting of Jack Sessions, Jewel Starkweather, and Tom Brock, will encounter an affirmative team from Redford high in a contest to be held today, Friday, April 3, at 3:30 o'clock in the P.H.S. auditorium. No admission will be charged.

Plymouth's speakers constitute one of the eight teams representing Michigan high schools which remain in the contest. Plymouth having been victorious in three previous rounds of the elimination. If the school is again successful, it will be one of the four taking part in the semi-final round, the two winners of which will debate at Hill auditorium in Ann Arbor for the state championship. The question to be discussed is the proposal for government monopoly of the munitions industry; Plymouth's team will oppose the adoption of this plan.

Townsend Club To Hear A Detroitier

Floyd Schwartz an attorney of Detroit will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Plymouth Townsend club No. 1 to be held at the Plymouth Grange hall next Monday evening, April 6, 1936, at 8 o'clock.

About 25 relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. William Michael gave them a real surprise Saturday evening when they joined them at their home on Ann street to celebrate their twentieth wedding anniversary. A delightful evening passed in playing games and at midnight a delicious co-operative supper was served.

Snow covered the ground Thursday morning, this entire section of Michigan experiencing a snow and sleet storm that made automobile traffic exceedingly slow.

Winners in Boy Scout Contest Are Announced

Charles Hadley Receives First Prize in Rotary Club Competition

Awards in the bird house contest sponsored by the Rotary club for Plymouth Boy Scouts have been made by the judges. Much interest was shown in the contest, according to the Rotarians in charge.

First prize of $3 went to Charles Hadley, of Troop P-1, for his new house, while Richard Strong of the same troop, took the $2.50 second prize for his blue bird house. The prize of $2 was won by James Shingler of Troop P-2, for his wren house, fourth of $1.50 by Douglas Prough, of Troop P-2, who entered a blue bird house, and fifth of $1, for his flicker house.

Houses also were entered by the following Scouts, who received 50 cent awards: Loren Gold, of P-1; Bayliss Erdely, of P-2; Donald Hunter, of P-2; and George E. Felton, of P-1. The judges were Cass Hough, William Towle and Lew Price, who based their decisions on three points: Utility, covering suitability for purpose intended and durability; craftsmanship, covering skill and ingenuity in the using of materials and design, covering originality, ingenuity and artistry in planning.

The Rotary committee in charge of the competition was headed by Herald F. Hamill, but because business duties prevented Mr. Hamill from taking an active part, Lynn Felton was acting chairman. Others in the group were Walter Harms, Blake Gillis, Robert Willoughby, Don Sutherland and Dr. B. E. Champe.

The contest opened February 21, and entries closed March 23. With each contestant required to submit his Scout registration card with his bird house. Each entry had to be tagged with a card bearing information as to what type of a house it was supposed to be. There were no restrictions as to the shape or materials to be used.

Belleville Man Takes Over Barber Shop Here

Management of the Mayflower Barber shop formerly run by the late Edward Parker, has been taken over by W. A. Garlick, of Plymouth.

Mr. Garlick has been running a shop in Belleville for a number of years and previous to that was with the J. H. Huxon company in Detroit. He is remodeling the shop here and installing some new equipment. In the near future he plans to move his family to Plymouth to make their home.

Many To Attend Banquet Tonight Of Business Men

Ticket Sale Indicates A Large Attendance Says Murphy

Considerably over 100 tickets have been sold for the annual banquet of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce to be held tonight, Friday evening, at the Mayflower hotel. Secretary Leonard Murphy believes there will be an attendance of something like 150 and possibly more.

In keeping with the plans of the organization in past years, the program for this evening's affair will be a set program with excellent speakers having been obtained.

Louis J. Flint, outstanding civic leader of Detroit as well as one of the most active workers in the very successful Chamber of Commerce of that city, is one of the speakers.

The other speaker is Cone Lighthall, manager of the Hoover Steel Ball Manufacturing company of Ann Arbor. Mr. Lighthall is one of the active members of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce as well as one of its officials.

Mr. Murphy has induced Fred J. Sabom, of the National Window Shade company of Plymouth and song leader of the Rotary club, to lead in a brief song program.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Moe, of Starkweather avenue, were pleasantly surprised Sunday when their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Lee, Oliver Larsen and Wilton Malby, of Oklee, Minnesota, who had spent the winter months in Long Beach, California, visited them while enroute to Flint. They will also visit relatives in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, before returning to their home.

Interesting Sessions at State Conference of D.A.R. Reported

Members of the Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter, with those of Ezra Parker chapter, Royal Oak Col. Joshua Howard chapter, Dearborn, and Ft. Pontchartrain chapter, Detroit, were hostesses for the thirty-sixth annual conference of the state organization. The conference was attended by Mrs. Henry M. Robert, Jr., treasurer general of the national D.A.R., Mrs. C. A. Swann Sinclair, national president of the Children of the American Revolution, and Mrs. John Wineman, national president of the Daughters of 1812.

"Stunt Night" To Be Held Tonight

The eighth annual "Stunt Night" will be held at the Plymouth high school auditorium Friday, April 3. Each of the four high school classes will present an original stunt. These will be judged by two outside critics in addition to the usual audience decision which will count as one vote. Thirty per cent of the total gate receipts will be divided among the classes receiving first, second and third place in ticket sales and quality of stunts. The public is invited to attend this annual stunt night which promises to be very entertaining.

Redmen Sponsor Benefit Dance

To raise funds for aiding the destitute and homeless people in the eastern flood area, the Redmen's lodge of Plymouth is sponsoring a special benefit dance this evening at the Jewell and Blach hall.

In addition to the regular small admission charge, those attending the affair are urged to give as generously as they feel able to do. Dancing will start at 9 o'clock with Patterson's orchestra furnishing the music.

Military Rites Are Planned for G. A. R. Veteran

Arthur Stevens, Last of Civil War Soldiers Here, Dead

Full military honors will be accorded today to Arthur D. Stevens, 95, last Plymouth Civil War veteran and member of the Grand Army of the Republic, who died Tuesday evening.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock from the Schrader Brothers Funeral Home, where the body lay in state last night with a guard of honor from local veterans' organizations. Leonard Murphy, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, has announced that all business establishments of the city will be closed during the rites in deference to the aged veteran.

Taking part in the ceremonies will be a squad of soldiers from the 1st Wayne in Detroit, as well as members of the Plymouth veterans' groups. The line of march will be formed at the funeral home where the Rev. Walter Nichol is to conduct the service, and proceed to Sheldon road, from where participants will be taken in cars to Arbor Crest cemetery, Ann Arbor, reforming their line there and proceeding to the grave where impressive rites will take place.

Among the colors to be carried is an old G.A.R. flag which will be carried for the last time. Arrangements for the order of the line of march have been announced where the Rev. Walter Nichol is to conduct the service, from among war veterans and the immediate family, soldiers and veterans' organizations.

Mr. Stevens was born on a farm on Michigan avenue in Canton township, February 18, 1841, the son of Ammon and Martha Gates Stevens. His earliest recollections, however, were associated with life on the farm now owned by J. W. Blackmore on Canton Center road.

When he was still a very young boy, his parents moved to a farm west of Plymouth where Norman C. Miller now lives. There he resided until one day in 1861 when the call of President Lincoln for men to dedicate their lives to the preservation of the Union reached him, and he joined the Michigan Fifth Regiment for a three-year term of service.

Before leaving for the war he married Agnes Sawyer, of Ann Arbor, on August 15, 1861. The young couple enjoyed a three-year married life in Detroit before the young husband left for the front with his regiment. He served his term, seeing action several times, was honorably discharged and returned to Plymouth.

With his young wife he settled on the farm on Canton Center road where he lived for several years, teaching school in the neighboring districts during the winter and farming in the summer. Later the family went to live on the Stevens farm west of Plymouth where the teaching and farming life continued for the remainder of the century. Mr. Stevens gave up his farming and came to live in the home on Harvey street in Plymouth, where he died.

He was the last of that once great company of Plymouth men who fought in the Civil War of the Republic, but one member of the Michigan Fifth Regiment survives, Captain Gilbert LeCrox of Mt. Clemens.

Mr. Stevens' life centered about his church. He could recall days when his father drove a yoke of oxen to tend services at Sheldon, and was a devoted member of the Presbyterian church, having started his attendance at the Plymouth church 89 years ago when the original brick church recently destroyed by fire was under construction. He used to tell of walking four miles to church when he was but seven years old, and the records of the local congregation are full of references to his long and active life in the work of the church and its organizations.

He became a member on confession of faith, April 18, 1878, and in the following 54 years held almost every office open to him. He was chosen a member of the Session in 1879, and was later honored with a life membership in this important body. He was elected an Elder in 1880, chairman of the annual meeting many times, secretary and treasurer of the congregation, clerk of the Session for years, and teacher in the Sunday school. He was a devoted member of the W. M. F. M. and his life an example of clean, kindly Christian living.

Mrs. Stevens, who has been her husband's constant companion for three-quarters of a century, survives him, together with their only son, Clarence Stevens, and his wife, and two daughters, Virginia and Dorothy, all of Ann Arbor.

A lovely Easter luncheon-brother was given Thursday by Mrs. Roy Clark, of Union street, when she entertained the members of the Ambassador bridge club and Mrs. Rose Heeney and Mrs. Eural Clark of Northville.

IN AGREEMENT

A number of weeks ago when the special committee was appointed by congress to "investigate" the Townsend plan for old age security, The Plymouth Mail pointed out the unfairness that characterized the selection of the committee membership. Seemingly the speaker picked out every bitter opponent to the Townsend plan there was in the house to make the inquiry.

The Mail at that time said the Townsend plan and its supporters were entitled to their day in court.

It is with some satisfaction that we note that The Detroit Free Press a few days ago published an editorial expressing practically the same sentiment as did The Plymouth Mail a number of weeks ago.

The Free Press says: "If the committee is to accomplish what it should accomplish, it must first convince the believer (Townsend plan supporter) and skeptic alike of its honesty and desire to be impartial."

Scanning over the personnel of the committee, we do not see how it is possible for the committee to convince the public that it can be impartial in its investigation.

Mr. Townsend, a man along in years, hit upon what he thought was a plan which might help in the solution of the problem of proper support for the aged. We cannot all agree that all of the details of his plan are perfect, but out of some of his suggestions the congressional committee, if it cared to do so, might find some very helpful ideas in this tremendously big problem. We doubt greatly if there is any one in the country who questions the motives of Dr. Townsend or thinks he advanced the plan as a way to make money for himself and friends.

His idea was quickly grasped by the public as something worth while and something worth considering—thereby interest in the Townsend plan spread rapidly. Like in all things, good and bad, barnacles attached themselves to the movement because of its worth considering—thereby interest in the popularity with the public and probably have tried to profit from it. But for this Dr. Townsend and his earnest supporters, mostly elderly people, should not be condemned and held up to public scorn as the committee without question has in mind of doing.

We are glad that even the staid old Free Press agrees with us that Dr. Townsend and his supporters are entitled "to a fair, square, courteous hearing before the House committee."

Dr. Townsend is entitled to the credit of at least having tried to work out some plan to help solve one of the great problems of the day—and that's more than any of the members of congress or any one else in Washington has tried to do. Now because of his effort to help solve the old age problem, he is to be "investigated" by a lot of hostile congressmen. Well, maybe that's one way out for those who have been elected to congress to serve other interests rather than the public's interest.

A GOOD JOB

If Senator Vandenberg can be successful in his efforts to prevent millions and millions of dollars from being wasted by the digging of a useless canal across the state of Florida he will have served his nation so well that his name should forever be recorded in the halls of fame. Vast sums of public money have been squandered, but probably the most outstanding of all schemes to get rid of the hard-earned dollars coming from the taxpayers is the proposed foolish Florida canal. Even the newspapers of the southern part of that state regard the scheme as a useless and wasteful one. Not only that, but the Miami Herald recently declared that the proposed canal might even destroy the underground water supply of Florida. It is a strange thing that those in Washington who are so anxious to spend so much money for such a project should blunder ahead with a scheme that is bound in the end to serve no good and may even prove a calamity to the state of Florida. Senator Vandenberg is doing a good job for his state and his country in his opposition to the squandering of so much money for the building of a canal only a few politicians want.

IT'S THE BEST

There is but one conclusion a person who traveled to Florida can reach after the return home—and that is that Plymouth has the finest water of any place between Michigan and the southernmost point of the United States.

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

A GREAT BIG DITCH.

Down in Florida, we read, the government has spent five million dollars toward the construction of a canal connecting the Atlantic ocean with the Gulf of Mexico. No one knows whether or not the project will be completed. A great number of people in Florida hope that it will not because state geologists predict that it will drain that of the greatest natural sub-surface reservoirs of the state and thus reduce the productive power of one of the richest citrus fruit regions in the United States. In fact petitions to hold up this project have been widely circulated in Florida. Congress did not approve of this project but the administration used special powers granted by congress to start the work anyway. The time to be saved if and when the canal is ever successful may be from one to three days. But many ship owners say that they will not use the new route if completed because the increased insurance rates and dangers to shipping involved in navigating the winding course of this canal will more than offset any time that may be saved. Why is this being done? Simply because some of the bureaucrats in Washington thought it was a swell idea. So far it has put a few thousand men to work. How many thousands it will throw out of work if the great citrus fruit areas of the state are drained is evidently of no importance. Those who follow the present administration can take care of that problem.—Dick Cook in The Hastings Banner.

IT CAN BE DONE

We've heard it more than a number of times that a person can live cheaper in Florida than at home in the winter. Quite commonly told, but it should be taken with a grain of salt. Yes, sure, a person might pull into a tourist camp, set their own table, go in for fish and vegetables, horse shoe pitching and yarn spinning, and the final analysis wouldn't be much of a grain on the purse strings. A mighty lot of people doing it nowadays, and there seems to be no limit to the tourist camp industry. Growing by leaps and bounds, and there's a considerable number of tourist camps throughout Florida, as well as in other southern states, that have it all over Michigan's offering in this line to its huge tourist industry.—Harry Izor in The Durand Express.

HOW TRUE!

Rochester and Michigan people can congratulate themselves upon having thus far escaped the havoc of floods, cyclones, dust storms and what not that have visited so many states of the Union, leaving terrible death toll and the loss of millions of dollars in property damage in their wake. Michigan always has been most fortunate in escaping such terrible catastrophes for which her people should be most grateful, and liberal in their giving for the benefit of suffering humanity.—Charles Seed in The Rochester Clarion.

DO YOU SAVE?

When you read the histories of most of the big business establishments of your community, of your state, of the nation, you will usually find that they were started by some one who knew how to work hard and was thrifty.

All these men may have had at the start was a few hundred dollars. If they hadn't earned and saved those few hundred they never could have started in business at all.

Even the man who goes in business with a palatial home, some capital, else he could not rent his car or buy his little stock of goods.

In the early days of his life John D. Rockefeller kept a record of every cent he spent. And he never spent a cent unnecessarily.

Andrew Carnegie got his start by saving what he could out of his small wages and investing it wisely.

The leaders of the coming generation are starting their fortunes today in exactly the same manner.

Are you spending everything? Or are you saving a bit?

A PRAYER

Our Heavenly Father, the One above all imperfection and above the touch of sin, hallowed by Thy name. We praise Thee that there is always an unwavering light, namely, Thy merciful providence. When faith is dim and hope is low, in the dearth of rest and in the delirium of doubt, at evening time and when the day is fast spent, to Thou art with us, O continue to look upon us with divine favor; lay Thy hand upon us and bear Thy shadow in our souls. We thank Thee for the rays of the morning promise and for the cloudless sky of assurance. Illuminate our understanding, O Lord God; balance our judgments, season our tempers, and quicken our foresight. Give us pitying hearts that shall sympathize with human woes. May we feel the need of the weary, the pulse of the struggling, and the burden of the homeless. In these stony places of human experience establish Thou our work. In the holy name of Jesus, Amen.

The craze for natural foods or so-called health foods is an example of the commercial exploitation of scientific research.

If we keep the balance of our heads as well as our diets we may continue to eat and enjoy delicious white bread and white flour products, if we balance our diets with vegetables, fruit and milk.

Statues of Joan of Arc

There are more statues of Joan of Arc than of any other national figure in history. France alone has more, 200 of which are in the Joan of Arc museum in Orleans, and many others have been erected in various countries which honor the heroic martyr and saint. Joss M. New English King Buys a Buick Auto

Purchase of a new Buick by King Edward VIII of England made sensational news in British automotive circles and turned a new page in Empire business history, according to the March 16 issue of Time magazine.

According to Time, it was the first time the King of England had ordered a car other than the one which he invariably used as King Edward VII and King George V.

The purchase of the new Buick was announced when it was announced by London's Buick Sales Manager that King Edward has ordered an enclosed Buick, built to his special order in Canada at Oshawa.

Menendez Sailing for Porto Rico
In 1567, Menendez, a Spanish naval officer, appointed governor of Florida, arrived with several vessels at Porto Rico. Informed of a Huguenot settlement at Florida, he immediately went to the mouth of the St. John. The French fleet having already escaped, Menendez landed further southward, built a fort and founded St. Augustine.

Judy O'Grady AND THE Colonel's Lady

HAVE A NEW COOK* IN THE KITCHEN!

At the Autumn Salon of 1927 of l'Institut de France, the art of cooking was officially recognized along with painting, literature and sculpture as one of the Fine Arts

Over at the O'Grady's place, there is a lot of celebrating. They have hired a new cook—one with a reputation for some of the finest meals in town. And how do the O'Grady's afford it, you ask? Come close, and we'll tell you a secret: The new cook isn't human, strictly speaking. She is an electric stove. Judy O'Grady likes to do the mixing and so forth herself, but the stove does all the rest. And Judy says it's no blame that she owes half the success of her cooking to the new stove. She says it's the greatest help she's ever had. The cost? Well now, how could the O'Grady's keep an electric stove if it were expensive? Judy says it was a pleasant surprise to discover how economical it is to use.

Here's another secret: The Colonel's Lady in the house up on the hill has a reputation for fine dinners. She hasn't cooked a meal herself for years and years—but she knows good cooking and enjoys it. She can afford to buy the very best there is. Money is no object—but if you'll look in her kitchen, you'll find the very same electric stove that Judy O'Grady has in hers!

* NAME FURNISHED ON REQUEST

A BARGAIN DISH!

Here is a true "economy recipe" for the days when you want to use up odds and ends in the ice box. True to tradition, it calls for leftovers—scraps of meats and vegetables—and the resultant mixing together will surprise you as one of the most delicious salads you have ever tasted.

ECONOMY SALAD

1 cup minced carrots
1 cup peas
1 cup diced tomatoes or green onions
1 cup diced celery
1/2 cup lettuce diced meat
Mix all ingredients together. Marinate in French or Dickie's dressing. Chill and serve in lettuce cups or on ice.

After all, why shouldn't we tell you now? The new cook is a modern electric stove—but almost any modern electric stove would do just as well. There used to be a time when only wealthy people could afford an electric stove. It was a luxury that marked the owner as one who demanded the best—and paid for it. Today, all that is changed. Even a family of moderate means can afford an electric stove. And electric cooking with all its proven superiorities—the advantages of cleanliness, healthfulness, convenience, delicious flavor, cost little more than fuel cooking. Electric cooking is unquestionably "the finest cooking that money can buy."

Home Gardens Can Save Food Costs

Savings in the family food bill of as much as $700 can be made through careful cultivation of a small home garden plot less than one-half an acre in area, according to H. L. Seaton, instructor in vegetable gardening in the horticulture department at Michigan State college, East Lansing.

Fresh vegetables during the growing season and sufficient for storing and storing for a family of five have been successfully raised by many Michigan families in recent years, he says. Home gardens can be planned from an initial investment of $15 for seeds. In some instances, a small additional sum for fertilizer is necessary.

"Gardens should be planned to meet dietetic needs," he says. "Almost all of the 2600 pounds of vegetables prescribed by nutrition experts as the annual need of a family of five can be raised on well-tended plots of from one-quarter to one-half acre."

Types of vegetables recommended are green or leafy vegetables, those in which fruit or seeds are eaten, and root and bulb crops. Equal amounts of each type should be planted to guarantee surpluses for canning and storing.

Interest in home gardens as well as in the "thrift garden" movement sponsored in many Michigan cities is increasing. Two bulletins now available at the college bulletin department are Extension Bulletin No. 4 on the "Home Vegetable Garden" and Circular Bulletin No. 140 on "Home Production of the Family's Food Supply."

Plymouth Product on Display at Flower Show Creates Much Interest

Large numbers of Plymouth residents who have visited the flower show in Detroit during the present week have been pleasantly surprised to find a garden necessity on display at the show which has made a decided hit with the thousands of show visitors.

The exhibit that comes from Plymouth and is creating so much interest is a high pressure sprayer manufactured by the Dum-Mar company of Plymouth.

The sprayer has been built with the idea of serving the smaller gardens and orchards. Introduced to the market within the last year, it has already found a very ready response and the approval it is meeting at the flower show is most encouraging to the local manufacturers.

A three quart capacity gasoline tank provides enough fuel to operate the spraying unit continuously for about six hours. Force feed and splash lubrication insures positive lubrication to all wearing parts. Crankshaft, main bearings, piston, valves and carburetor are of the automotive type. A Wico, high tension, fly-wheel type of magneto is used producing a hot spark for easy starting. A hand lever starter is provided.

The pump is almost completely of bronze. Bearings are of Oilite requiring the minimum of lubrication. In fact all break-down tests are conducted with the dry bearing without any additional lubrication.

The frame is of welded steel installing a rigid support for the complete unit. Pneumatic tires and steel disk roller bearings are used making the unit easy to pull and insuring long life. A patented diaphragm type of unloading valve is provided which maintains the desired pressure in the system. The spring does not come in contact with the solution thereby preventing corrosion of this part, and quick breakage. A heavy galvanized spray tank holding twenty-five gallons is standard with each unit. The spray gun is of the adjustable, shut-off type giving both solid and fogging spray.

Says State Dra in Agency Necessary

A central agency, having the authority to approve or reject artificial drainage projects on the basis of a broad appraisal of possible benefits or possible damage, is one of the outstanding needs in Michigan today, in the opinion of F. J. Hoffmaster, director of the state department of conservation.

Director Hoffmaster has been asked by A. C. Carlton, director of the bureau of agricultural industry of the state department of agriculture, to state the attitude of the department of conservation on suggested drainage improvements in Michigan.

"We have been informed that approximately $4,000,000 in federal funds have been allocated to Michigan in connection with artificial drainage improvements," Mr. Hoffmaster said. "It is our understanding that these funds are to be used for clean-out and maintenance work only, and we assume that the original drains conformed with the specific statutory requirements under which drainage projects in this state are handled."

"The department of conservation is vested with no powers, duties, or responsibilities by law in connection with drainage projects, but it has the legal responsibility to conserve and protect all of the natural resources of the state."

"We realize, of course, that drainage ditches have been cut to meet an urgent public need and have produced lasting benefits, but it is common knowledge that in many cases drainage projects have been carried out with large investments of public and private funds only to be futile, ill-advised and frequently great liabilities. Among these liabilities are over-draining of peat soils, later destroyed by fire, destruction of animal and fish habitat, disturbances of water levels to the point where other resources are endangered or destroyed."

"There appears to be an urgent need for a central state agency, vested with the authority to consider and investigate every angle of artificial drainage work with the long-range public interest in mind. I am of the opinion that it would be to the interest of the public if many of the proposed drains would be postponed until a determination could be made as to their benefits and damages from every angle."

Trim Zoo Animals' Toenails
Animals of zoo exhibits have to have their toenails cut, the reason being that they do not get enough exercise to keep the nails sufficiently worn down, and if the nail or claw were allowed to grow it would in time turn inward and lacerate the flesh. This operation is rarely an easy task for the keepers, but it is part of their daily work and has to be done.

Appeal Made for Funds to Aid in Work for Crippled Children

With every city, county and community participating in the third annual sale of Easter seals by the Michigan Society for Crippled Children, Plymouth is doing its part under the leadership of Russell Daane, who is chairman of the campaign for this city. The sale will continue through Easter. Ninety per cent of the proceeds remain in the state, to maintain and extend the established program and support the general activities of the Michigan society and its local county and city chapters, while a small portion, 10 per cent, helps maintain the broader work of the International Society for Crippled Children with which the state is affiliated.

League Season Ends Saturday

The Saturday Basket Ball League sponsored by the WPA for all local school boys concludes its regular schedule of twelve games Saturday, April 4th.

There will be a one-game knockout playoff series for each division, games to be played Saturday, April 11, and Saturday, April 18. Twelve teams will take part, four from each division. The boys, without exception, helped to make the program a success. It has helped a large number of boys to have a lot of good, clean sport.

Team No. 3, captained by J. Wilkie, is leading the midge division, having won all of its 11 games.

Team No. 1, captained by I. Packard, and team No. 3, captained by Bob Hitt, are tied in the Junior division, winning 7 and losing 4 for a percentage of 63.7.

Team No. 4, captained by L. Trinka, is leading the Intermediate division, winning 7 and losing 4 games for a percentage of 63.7.

The five leading scores of each division are as follows:
Midgets: Wilkie, J. 141; O'Connor, 38; Bridge, 32; Gorton, O. 30; Spitz, 27.
Juniors: Donohue, D. 27; McClain, R. 27; Hitt, 25; Scarpulla, 24; Shuttlesworth, 24.
Intermediates: Blackmore, 63; Innis, 45; Leach, 52; Trinka, 45; Wilkie, R. 44.

The Heel Fly
Heel fly is a local name in the South and West for the ox botfly, derived from the fact that the adults hover around the heels of cattle for the purpose of laying their eggs on the hairs.

The Michigan society's statewide program comprises prevention, discovery, care, cure, education, social adjustment, guidance, vocational training and suitable employment.

Due to lack of funds, insufficient appropriations and the increasing demand, the need for local participation is more urgent this year than ever before. Those heading the campaign stress that there must be a constant urge on the part of the public to see that facilities available are made possible to their own local crippled children and, where services are not available, to promote and secure same, not only for victims of congenital paralysis, but also for the equally and oftentimes more serious crippling conditions, such as spastic paralysis, muscular dystrophy, progressive muscular atrophy, scoliosis, osteomyelitis, rickets, bone tumor, congenital deformities, such as club feet, torticollis, spina bifida, hydrocephalus, hare-lip and cleft-palate, also miscellaneous defects, such as contractures and poor posture, and last but not least, those crippling conditions caused by accidents, such as amputations, fractures, injuries to muscles, tendons, and ligaments, burns and dislocations.

W. C. T. U. Meets with Mrs. Vealey

A large gathering was present at the meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union March 26 at the home of Mrs. Jessie Vealey.

The program opened with two piano numbers after which short selections were read by the members. A talk on the changes in the ranks of the W.C.T.U. by the passing years was led by Mrs. Vealey and some time was spent in reminiscence of the past.

After the meeting a poduck tea was served, with a large birthday cake on the table in honor of the president, Mrs. Starkweather, whose birthday occurred that day.

The next meeting will be held April 23 at the home of Mrs. Bertha Brown.

Few New Rules for Michigan Anglers

Except for the new opening date which permits the angler to spring into action six days earlier this season, there are no new regulations for the trout fishermen to remember this year. Trout fishing season officially opens on the last Saturday of April 25, instead of May 1, the opening date last year. The minimum size limit on trout is seven inches; the daily catch limit and possession limit of any single species or combined species of brook, brown, and rainbow trout, 15.

All residents or non-residents over 18 years of age are required to buy a license to fish for trout in any kind of the inland waters.

Library Here Gets New Books

Several new juvenile books which should prove of great interest to the younger members of the family, have been received by the Plymouth library.

"There is 'Chinese Twins' by Mrs. Lucy Perkins, a story of present day China, and of the 10-year old twins, Golden Boy and Moon Flower. It is a pleasantly written tale for children from nine to 11 years of age. 'Uncharted Ways,' by Caroline D. Snedeker, is the story of Margaret, a young English girl, who leaves her home in 1659 and comes to Massachusetts where she joins her uncle, a Quaker preacher, and, because of her faith, is about to be hanged along with him. At the last moment she is rescued by the man who loves her.

"Lona of Hollywood Creek," by Genevieve Fox, is a book for older girls. A crippled girl becomes an expert at weaving in this inspiring story. For first and second grade children there is "Story Pictures of Farm Foods," by John Y. Beaty. This book tells where many kinds of food come from and how fruits and vegetables, grains and nuts are grown.

Boys from 13 to 16 years old will be interested in "Steve Merrill," by William Heyliger, the story of a technical student who refuses to work in his uncle's shop and finds a place with a rival company. Technical processes, new inventions and business ethics all have a place in the story.

"The Boy Who Had No Birthday," by Mabel L. Hunt, is laid in Indiana during the '70s, and its principal character is David, who lives in a tollhouse on a well-traveled road. None of the passers-by are more welcome than Dr. Carlisle, whose love and encouragement stimulates the best endeavor in the little orphan boy.

Cheap Seeds May Prove Expensive

R. H. Porter, seed expert, says that "Cheap clover or alfalfa seed, likely to be of low germination power and full of such impurities as weed seed IS OFTEN MORE COSTLY THAN MORE EXPENSIVE SEED."

"Seed of low germination power must be planted thickly to get a good stand," Mr. Potter said. "Thus one advantage of its low cost is lost. Another will be gone, he added, if it brings noxious weeds which only years will eradicate."

SENIOR'S WHO'S WHO

Madeline Alfreda Salow, the pretty and popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Salow, began life in Plymouth on April 9, 1918 and has stayed with us here ever since. She is one of the original members of this class, joining it in the kindergarten 12 years ago in Central school and progressing with it through Central and high school. She has taken a general course and of all her subjects she likes business science the best. Of her many friends, Ruth Bichy are usually seen together around school and around town. White is her favorite color, she likes all food, but chop suey the best. "Sing an Old-Fashioned Song" is the song she says she likes the best but it might well be, "A Bicycle Built for Two."

Madeline especially likes dancing, swimming, playing tennis, and listening to the radio. She dislikes reading and "stuck-up" people. Blessed with a good singing voice she has belonged to the Girls' Glee club every year and this spring will have taken part in four musicals. She is the pretty, petite, blonde senior with blue eyes who spends five days a week in school and on Saturdays works in "Line" store.

Madeline hopes to be a beauty operator and after graduation expects to attend a beauty culture school. Our guess is that if she persists on remaining a beauty operator some of the young men around town are going to be terribly disappointed, but good luck to her anyway!

Marilyn Marie Savery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Coda Savery, was born on a farm in Salem. She is still living there who was born, she makes her a product of one of the "largest" towns in Michigan. She attended South Salem school and entered Plymouth high as a freshman. Her hair as all "bad pennies" return, she came back to her friends for her senior year. She has been an active member of our class in the three years she has been with us, acting as secretary when a faculty and student council representative when a sophomore.

Marilyn's hobbies are horseback riding, golf, tennis, and swimming; she also likes to tease Frances or "the" as she so fondly referred to her. It seems to be a habit if not a hobby to be downtown at a certain place a great deal. The attraction is one A. N. (Roy Williams) may object if he is not careful.

Marilyn has been a member of the Drama club, Girl Reserves, and Leaders club. She played in "Stunt Night" when a sophomore and was also seen in the role of Mrs. Havens in the senior play. She is a frequent football fan and likes basketball best. Her favorite color is pink, and her favorite food is fried chicken. One thing peculiar about her is that she does not like ice cream and cake. Her favorite subject is office practice and after she graduates she wants to work in an office for a nice looking guy with curly hair.

Donald Edward Schiffe, born in Plymouth on July 1, 1918, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schiffe and has always attended Plymouth schools, making the round of Central, Starkweather, and high. At present he is tall, smiling, and wears a certain coat. The names of class representatives inscribed upon its surface.

Active in sports, Don has played reserve basketball for two years, varsity basketball for one year, reserve football for one year and varsity football for an equal time, basketball for three years, and has participated in class track meets. He is a member of the Pleythan staff this year.

One of the favorite amusements of Mr. Schiffe is the playing of that game known as ping-pong. His other hobbies are swimming and skating. Those present when this writer interviewed him eagerly asserted that Dorothy Cates, known to be close to the heart of Don, is a very nice girl.

John W. Selle, Jr., also known as Jack, is the son of John W. Selle, Sr. and was born in Huntington, Indiana where he went to school for a short time. He lived in Battle Creek and in Ann Arbor for a time, going to schools in both places before coming to Plymouth in the seventh grade. He is taking an academic course with a sprinkling of commercial subjects, but his high school life only begins in the class room.

After he has labored hard at his lessons he begins work on his dramatic career. He has been in so many plays that everyone but his mother has lost count. He has more decorations on his drama emblem than anybody else in the club, and each piece of decoration means something distinctive. Not only does Selle act, he does considerable acting up. You have probably seen him acting up on the football field with "his band." His job is to throw the baton over the goal posts and catch it on the other side. For four and a half years he has tossed the baton and he has never missed it yet, though he has to run once in a while to catch up with it. When Selle gets out of school he is going to follow his father's business of body building. He has already had considerable success in this line, having pounded fenders into shape. If he is able, he hopes to someday enter college and take up organic chemistry.

STAMP COLLECTORS HOLD SCHOOL BOURSE

Exhibiting stamps from their collections and others offered for sale, members of the Plymouth high school stamp club interested philatelists and non-philatelists alike by a bourse held Tuesday, March 26 in Room 13, under the direction of Miss Cary. More than 500 stamps were sold or exchanged.

Especially interesting albums and collections were shown by Fred Gillette, Orlando Lewis, Robert Daily, William Wernett, Roger McGinn, and others. Album pages, blocks of postage and revenue stamps, covers and other specialties were included in the display. Roger McGinn included a map showing the postage stamps of the world. Both mint and cancelled stamps were dealt with.

Owing to the great popularity of the event among collectors, it is believed that another will be held in the near future. This is the first bourse held by the stamp club, which is now two years old.

PHYSICS CLASS VISITS FORD PLANT

The physics class was very delighted and rather surprised when Mr. Evans announced that it would make a trip to the Ford plant through the Ford plant. It did not take the class long to secure the necessary number of cars. Mr. Gallimore, head of the Ford plant in this vicinity, guided the class. The first machine they saw operating was the cutting machine which cuts the wire the length they want the drill to be; this machine runs automatically and essentially is the only piece of apparatus this factory makes. Next, the class was taken to the machine which puts the drilling end on. Then this is sent through a machine which puts on an edge and which later sharpens the drilling edges. Then the drills are put in a large gas oven to harden. They are left here for about fifty seconds. Then they are slid along in the oven until they hit a slot, where they drop down into a tank of oil to cool. They are then put in to another process before they are tested, but the class was not shown this operation. After being put in the testing machine they are sent to the stamping machine which makes down into a tank of oil to cool. They are then put in to another process before they are tested, but the class was not shown this operation.

Having won the championship of the Twin Valley Activity association by twice defeating every other school in the league, Plymouth high has received the annual award of the association, the trophy arriving last week. This year's award consists of an eagle mounted upon a pedestal bearing the name of the award, and is of silver.

Three years ago Plymouth won a similar trophy, but during the intervening years River Rouge was victorious. This season the debaters, coached by James E. Lature of the faculty, triumphed over Dearborn, Ecorse, Ypsilanti, Lincoln Park, and River Rouge, never being defeated. This school's squad included Jewel Starkweather, Dorothy Hearn, Edith Mettel, Florence Norton, Tom Brock, Harry Fischer, Jack Sessions, and Russell Kirk.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL TO HOLD TEA DANCE

The Student Council will hold a tea dance for all high school students on Thursday, April 10, from 3:45 to 5:45 o'clock. The senior class orchestra will furnish the music. The committees appointed by the president, Jack Kinsey, are Dick Gillis, tickets; Barbara Hubbell, refreshments; Lionel Coffin, J. McClain, Jack DeLaurier, floor; Shirley Sorenson, Richard Strong, chaperones; Don Thrall, Bob Brown, publicity.

SAILORS WORN ANCHORS IN EAR

INTERESTING FACTS FOUND IN REPORT OF CLASS OF 1932

It would be interesting indeed if we might have the power to draw the veil of the future from the face and reveal the destination of each person. If we could do the things which we wish in our idle moments we would have a power greater than that ever invested in man. Have you ever stood at the peak of a great mountain and felt the sudden withdrawal of support and begun to feel faint? Have you ever tried to smile over something which greatly affects you, an amusing event when all the friends and protectors of your very life seemed to leave you, have you felt the purpose of life and wondered what you would do? No doubt you have been in all of these predicaments and have survived, but been wiser than you were before. These same feelings which have been yours time and again are the identical feelings of helplessness which are the nightmares of the 109 seniors who will go into the world in June. Which each will do is a matter to be settled only by time and the ambitions of the students. Many with aspirations to higher learning will enroll in colleges in different parts of the nation, some will go into the factories to work nearby; others will go into mines and still others will go to the farm.

We have no definite manner in which to tell what each will be doing five years from now or even one year hence but we will give the results of the survey. The most to the man by the law averages the number which will be involved in the different fields of endeavor. The figures which are given in the next few lines are taken from the figures of the activities of the senior class which graduated in 1932. Of the entire class of 93 who graduated at this time a record of the achievements of only 69 are available. Of this number 13 are enrolled in various colleges throughout the nation, seven are daily employees in automobile factories in the nearby city, five are laborers on the farms from which they came, one is a garage mechanic who is learning the trade, five are gainfully employed at the Daisy Manufacturing company, one is a clerk in a chain store, two are stenographers in local offices, one is studying for the work of a missionary, one is a promising student in a school of aeronautics, two are engaged in work in drug stores, one is connected with a firm of contractors as a carpenter, one is the foreman in a Detroit factory, one is a teacher in a rural school, one acts as assistant to a dentist, one is a printer, one is a social worker, one is grocery clerk, one has been in the U. S. Navy for four years, and the tragedy of the whole alumni list is the tragic death of three, five are graduates who died shortly after receiving his appointment. As a grand finale to the parade of the activities of the entire class it is interesting as well as surprising to find that more than 50 per cent of the girls who were members of the class are married and have established homes of their own.

True, these are the figures for the class of 1932, but as the percentages of this year are expounded, so too we realize by the law of averages that the class which take their diplomas this June will follow in almost the same steps, different fields perhaps, but the percentage will be about the same. The future of each of the seniors lies in the hand and mind of each senior individually, no one can shoulder their burdens, they must do that themselves. The reception given them by the industrialists and business men whom they will face after June will be the turning point in their lives.

BASEBALL BECOMES T.V.A. SPORT

The officials of the Twin Valley Activities association, to which Plymouth belongs, have decided to make out a league schedule for baseball teams. The schedule calls for eighteen games to be played among Plymouth, River Rouge, Dearborn, Ypsilanti, and Wayne. Plymouth will open the season on April 15 in two games played against non-league members, Cooley, at Plymouth, Forty-three boys reported for the team at first but 15 of these have already been cut from the squad and it is expected that 10 more will be dropped before the first game. Of the number now remaining, 10 boys are veterans having played last year. The pitching duties which are so essential to a team's success will be divided between Schiffe, first string worker, Trombley, Trinka, and Eckles.

CLASS VOLLEY BALL HAS COMMENCED

This year the boys' class volleyball league is divided into two divisions: one is called the white division, the other the blue. Each of the four upper classes is represented by four teams with two teams in each of the divisions. Thus far a junior and a senior team are tied for first place in the white division, both having won three games and lost none. In the other division a senior team, captained by J. Williams, has sole possession of first place. Three teams are tied for second place with a 666 percentage.

STARKWEATHER SCHOOL NOTES

The kindergarten children are decorating their room for Eastern with bunnies, chickens, and Easter eggs. The second grade children are making health posters. These are to teach the children the importance of drinking milk. Robert and Donald Schroeder, who have been ill, have returned to school. The fourth grade children wrote letters to Alma Ford. They each took their letter down to her personally. The fourth grade boys have decided on having a ball team. They will meet Saturday April 4 in Riverside park to organize their team. The boys expect to play off a tournament after everything is planned. The sixth grade are making history maps to hang on the bulletin board. They have also started making their history scrap books. There were two trial spell downs held in the sixth grade room and Dorothy Fisher won both of them. The sixth grade are planning to make hot pads with their covers containing designs of different things such as cats, chickens and houses. They are also making patch work pads.

SOPHOMORES DANCED TO GUS GATES MUSIC

The second sophomore dance was held Friday night, and attracted the class by 421.25. The music was furnished by Gus Gates and his Hollywood Hay-shakers.

THE TATTLE'S CORNER

This is an age of song. Every one sings, and a song can be found for almost every desire, form of work, or anything you want. I see numbers appropriate to certain occasions. Mr. Evans, stealthily approaching a physics experiment, softly hums, "Am I Gonna Have Trouble With You." An unhappy freshman was heard to utter the first bars of "All of Me Why Not Take All of Me?" when nabbed by a vicious canine. Harry, the farmer, Fisher often appropriately renders "Am Putting All My Eggs in One Basket." Last week I a visibly pestered. WPA work started on a ladder almost dropped a light globe on the head of a fellow laborer—the popular song, "Lights Out" would have been as illustrated by the victim. "Lions" was nicknamed "starboard" for reason happily unknown by many, can be heard boop-boop-a-doing the entreaty "Please Believe Me" to Libeth Whipple in French class, any morning one is curious to listen to her sing "I've Got Plenty of Nothing" after parting their class dues, etc. Hawthath Dunn fiddlely sings "Shuffleworth Off to Buffalo" when Jean Woodworth isn't around. Howard Schaefer upon the slightest provocation will sing "Let's Have Another Cup of Coffee and Let's Have Two More Pieces of Pie." Even the insects—no reference to Sessions—are singing. Ye Columnist himself actually caught a happy moth living in connubial bliss in the author's bathing suit singing "Dinner For One. Please James." Meanwhile munching flannel-cakes wrought from my underwear.

A very amusing incident happened in the library which I must recount. Some person, undoubtedly devoid of malicious intentions, opened wide a window. Robert Van Meter sitting close to the window took a sample "swig" of the incoming air. More than satisfied he took a deep whiff, and farther his chest expanded for the advent of more of the nebulous ozone until the inhabitants of the opposite chairs, casting appraising glances at Robert, lowered their heads below the level of the table. And none too soon, either. For, pop! went a button, strained beyond its tensile strength, winging its way through the adjoining atmosphere. Bob safely recovered the missing button, then told his neighbors it was safe to emerge from under the table. I was glad to note that Sessions is taking a more sensible outlook on that Seven Hundred thing. He is now six lines to nothing instead of his usual one, success equally futile attempts at successful "columnism."

Whereas this correspondent and certain of his very dear friends who have an intense love for that super-ultra-luscious-delicious French delicacy, the peanut he could not find it in him to refuse a bribe when Don Thrall offered the pecuniary ways and means. He only wishes that Peggy Tuck went to school so she too could lend some financial support to the cause of hunger for the lowly but highly delectable confectionary morsel. Rumor has it that two inseparable advisers to the senior class led a gentleman dressed in blue, riding a motorcycle (not a yellow one) and armed with a whistle and a gun a merry hunt down Joy road at about 60 m.p.h.

Oscar Tiffentuffer, the stage supreme, spotted Dick Miller over in Ypsilanti last Thursday evening emerging from a restaurant with a sweet young thing clinging to his arm. "Ridiculous," said Oscar and didn't say no other words confronted with this damning evidence so I will leave it up to you to determine its veracity. George Stateznik has turned domestic. When using his mother's vacuum sweeper his unsatisfactory physics prompted him to investigate as the sweeper's switch allowed the apparatus to run either way it was turned. George states his experiment was a partial success—the sweeper refuses to run either way the switch is thrown. He is now in a bit of trouble to the physics class. He received several offers from members to send their mothers—every one an experienced electrician—up to help George, with a bit of poetry tendered by the all-seeing Mr. Tiffentuffer: Libbeth had a little lamb His hair was black as coal And anywhere that Whipple went There was DeLaurier's goal. The Tattler.

HISTORY MIXED WITH NONSENSE

Frank P. Douglass, a native of the Klondyke gold regions, spoke to the high school, telling of the gold lands in which he had spent the same time spinning yarns typical of the mining pioneers. With Mr. Douglass was a collection of unusual relics of the gold rush. He had with him gold dust and several nuggets, four of which he had made into a watch fob worth $100. He fitted Jim McClain up in an explorer's suit such as is worn in the Arctic regions. These suits are trimmed with wolfskin fur which doesn't frost from the breath. Other interesting treasures which Mr. Douglass brought were two Eskimo hand bags, a dog harness, a gold "diviner" by which rich deposits of gold are said to be discovered, tin pan used in panning gold, and the hide from the leader of a band of wolves which chased Douglas in the Arctic. Although the stories which he related took of life in the gold regions were very unimpressive, they added an interesting touch of color to the talk.

PLYMOUTH HIGH TRACK RECORDS

- The track season has once again made its appearance and many track fans are eager to look at the school records made in the running and field events and refresh their minds. This being the case we have printed the school's track records: 100 yd. dash—Miller, Grant, .23, 1933. 220 yd. dash—Fisher, Blake, .53, 1930. 400 yd. dash—Fisher, Blake, .89, 1933. 800 yd. dash—Gates, Elwood, 2:15, 1933. 1 mile run—Elliott, Elwood, 4:58.2, 1934. 120 yd. high hurdles—Champe, Robert, .18, 1934. 120 yd. low hurdles—Randall, Howard, .23, 1934. Shot put—Kinsey Jack, 46 ft. 6 in., 1935. High jump, Wagenschutz, Harold, 5 ft. 8 in., 1934. Broad jump, Wagenschutz, Harold, 22 ft. 4 in., 1934. Pole vault—Champe, Robert, 10 ft. 4 in., 1934. Relay (2 laps of track) Jewell, Kenneth, Cline, Darold, Ash, Arnold, Wagenschutz, Harold, 1:18.6, 1934.

PUPILS PARTICIPATE IN T.V.A. FESTIVAL

About 50 members of the boys' and girls' glee clubs, as well as the girls of the double quartet, took part in the first annual T.V.A. Festival, held in the spacious auditorium of the Ypsilanti high school last Thursday evening, March 26. The choral ensemble of approximately 400 voices was made up of singers from the high schools of River Rouge, Wayne, Ecorse, Dearborn, Ypsilanti, and Plymouth. Prof. David Mattern, of the University of Michigan School of Music, acted as guest conductor, and declared that he was greatly impressed by the efforts of various music directors and by the resulting success with which the boys and girls sang together for the first time. Miss Marguerite Henry was responsible for coaching Plymouth's participants.

The program opened with the singing of "Alicia, Christ is Risen," by Whitehead, and "The Cossack," by Koschetz, John Renauer and Charles Madigan, of Wayne high school, then rendered a delightful duet, "Martin's Com to the Fair," followed by two numbers by all the boys. These were "Anchored," by Watson, and "Ragged Vagabond," by Randolph. Next, the Plymouth high school quartet, including Edith Mettel, Betty with Hope Wells, Norma Jean Roe, Patricia Cassidy, Jewel Starkweather, Florence Norton, Barbara Hubbell, Jeanette Brown, and Carol Campbell, accompanied, sang "Sketches from Italy," by Giuseppe Verdi, and "The Merry Widow," by Franz Lehár. After this all the girls sang "Daybreak," by Harris, and "Cobbler's Jig," an English air, followed by two members from River Rouge high school pupils. The first, "I Know the Wild Thyme," was sung by Grows; by Horn, was sung by Edith Kneel and Marietta Clawson; the second, "To Greet the Spring," by Mendelssohn, was sung by a mixed chorus of 12 voices. The program closed with the entire ensemble singing "Tchaikovsky's Legend," and the stirring "Land Sighting," by Grieg-Spicer. According to the audience the program was both enjoyable and commendable.

THE SEVEN HUNDRED

When I was in Ann Arbor listening to some talks by Dr. Kagawa, I met a roly-poly Chinaman, a literal spicy sage with a cracked pot. And from this cracked pot he is able to pull some very remarkable bits of philosophy, poetry and nonsense. Well, I soon struck up an acquaintance with this unusual character, and so if this column takes on an Oriental color, it will be largely the result of Em Tee's influence. I was not made up first said after reading the last copy of the Tattler's Column, "Brevity is the spice of life." It has been only by using great self-control that I have been able to refrain from mentioning before this about the journalistic haberdashery known as the Tattler's column. "You know," said Em Tee as we settled down to discuss the strenuous efforts of Joe Merritt, there are but two ways in which a man is able to let off hot air: he can edit a column, or he can learn to tootle-toot the tuba. But if a man takes to both, he is incurable." Back in the days when I was running the old Competition Column, I used to listen to Merritt blare on his tuba, and I said to myself, "With that wind capacity that boy should make a good successor to Wilcox!" I often wondered why Wilcox didn't take to the tuba just as sort of a side line.

Although I am waiting until I have a week-end with nothing worthwhile to do before I read it, I am told that in last week's Tattler Corner Tit-Tat Merritt held a post mortem for my red flannels. I am sure that he is right, and I doubt it a bit, it was more "post" than "mortem." In truth, when I got them out last November, in the words of friend Em Tee, "They were so moth eaten that they looked like a copy of the Tattler's Corner." That however is just Em Tee's Oriental humor popping out of his cracked pot, because they weren't really as moth eaten as all that. I sadly cut up the red flannels and made a Santa Claus suit out of them for the WPA administrator. After that I still had enough red flannel to cut out a red chitney to wear on Washington's birthday. Since all this happened last November, Tit-Tat Merritt covered my red flannels as an object of publicity too late; the moths discovered them first.

PERSONAL MENTION

Professor and Mrs. Frederick O'Dell, of Ann Arbor, and their sons were guests of Miss Cary Sunday. Miss Waldorf spent Sunday at her home in Trenton. Miss Killham had as her guest for the week-end her sister, who is a student at Michigan State college. Many students and teachers attended the Martin Loud lectures given by Doctor Kagawa, the eminent Japanese Christian organizer, labor leader, and sociologist at the Methodist church in Ann Arbor. Last Thursday afternoon and evening Miss Allen, Miss Cary, Phyllis Dickerson, Jack Sessions, and Harry Fischer heard him lecture and on Friday Miss Cary, Miss Allen, Miss Lovewell, and Mr. Dykhouse attended his lecture. Charlotte Jolliffe and Ellen Nyström visited Ellen's cousin, Crystal Hudson, of Detroit, Sunday and in the evening attended the Fisher theater. Jimmie Stevens visited in Detroit Sunday at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Gates, and had dinner at Miss Bernice Clark's home. Ruth Fulton and Glenda Everett attended the Tyler school dance Saturday night. Carol Howard was the guest of Ruth Sunday. Barbara Shuttlesworth and Helen Strautz spent Sunday with Mrs. Emma Leslie of Plymouth. Betty Housely spent Sunday afternoon in Wayne and with Edith Jensen went swimming at Curtis Lake. Elizabeth Hegge, Pat McKinnon, and Elizabeth Whipple attended the Girl Reserve health party at the Y.W.C.A. building in Detroit Saturday. Pat then spent the night with Elizabeth Whipple. Mary Holdsworth and Astrid Hegge had Sunday dinner with Weltha Selge. Astrid Hegge spent Thursday night with Weltha Selge. Marilyn Holton gave a surprise party for Marian Luttermoser at Marion's home Tuesday evening. The guests included were Marian Luttermoser, Marilyn Holton, Dorcas Joyner, Jane Taylor, Doris Schmidt, Elizabeth Stevens, Clark Felton, George Stateznik, James McClain, Dick Gilles, Gordon Moe, and Laurence Smith. They enjoyed games and dancing. Jane Taylor had dinner at the home of Doris Schmidt last Wednesday. The Boy Scouts practiced baseball at 3:30 Saturday behind the school. Virginia Buehler spent Saturday afternoon and Sunday with Audrey Hartman. Virginia Grimm attended the theater at Wayne Sunday afternoon with her parents. Betty Johnston spent the week-end visiting her aunt in Redford. Dorcas Joyner, Betty with Hope Marsh of Redford attended the Amsterdam theater and saw "Spanish Cake Mystery." Helen Harper went to Northville and spent the week-end with her parents. Irene Beckwith and Agnes Mattinson kept house for Mrs. Beckwith over the week-end while she visited in Saginaw.

GIRL RESERVES ENTERTAINED ON "SHIP OF GOOD HEALTH"

Three of the Senior Girl Reserves, Elizabeth Whipple, Pat McKinnon and Elizabeth Hegge, attended the "Ship of Good Health" program held last Saturday, March 28 at the Y.W.C.A. The sixtieth floor of the building was transformed into a ship on which the girls were invited to play various deck games, including schuffe-board and ping-pong. Later in the afternoon a swimming exhibit was held in which the girls from Central and Northwestern high school participated in various swimming feats. Miss Brockway, buyer of Kerns store, sponsored a style show fashioning all types of clothing for sport, afternoon, and evening. She also gave an interesting talk on cosmetics. The program was just one of a series of activities planned by Girl Reserves in celebrating Health Week which began March 28 and will continue through April 4.

CENTRAL NOTES

Miss DeWaele's pupils have been busily engaged in setting up and painting their miniature city. They have completed the church, the bank, the library, and several other buildings. Harold Leslie, Diana Krustow, and Joe Hanna had perfect scores on their third vocabulary test. The first grades are very interested in their calendar on which they are making a weather report. Miss Detwiler's 5 A's and 6 B's are having a very close race on both their Standard Arithmetic chart and their Current Events chart. The 6 B's are starting very interesting history notebooks. Miss Landon's pupils made cut paper pulp for the bulletin board. The kindergartners made free hand cuttings of elephants to illustrate the story of "Ezra, the Elephant." They also made kites, Raggedy Ann dolls, and Rainy Day pictures. Miss Widmayer's 4 A geography class is visiting Switzerland. They are learning to divide with even numbers, and are studying antonyms in English. The 4 B's are visiting Chicago and are learning short division. Reginald LaRue has moved to Dearborn. Dora Gruenber is absent because of illness. Miss Weatherhead's pupils are working on their Palmer Method drills. They are completing their bird study unit in nature study. Ralph and Ronald LaRue have finished their current events notebook. Ralph has returned, after being ill. Marion Dielek has entered from Sheldon school. Miss Carr's pupils are working very hard for their Palmer Method pins. They made realistic pictures of birds, and also some birds in design. The 5 B's are studying Europe in geography. Miss Sly's pupils colored health posters. The 4 B's are studying the United States and coloring maps of this country. They have been studying about oil—where it is found and its uses.

SENIORS OUTPOST OTHER CLASSES

The seniors repeated last year's performance and took the annual class track meet by a very wide margin. Friday, March 27, although many other classes were present, the seniors won the total number of points for the senior amounted to 70, and close to this mark were the juniors with 38 1/2. The sophomores were next in line with 21, and the freshmen almost failed to make any, but managed to secure a grand total of eight. The seniors who collected the most points were Wagenschutz, Williams, and Gates. In the 100 yard dash Gates took first, closely followed by Fischer but in the mile no senior was present, this event being taken by Archer and Burton for the juniors. In the 200 yard run Wagenschutz and Gates added a 1st and 2nd and the seniors collected a first in the high hurdles. Knesey finished first followed by Egge for the juniors. The higher class men took another first in the 440 by Geer and another in the low hurdles by Wagenschutz. In the half-mile Kleinschmidt scored first followed by Van Amburg. For heading the weights, Gates secured a first, Innis second. Williams took the first for the seniors in the pole vault and high jump and also second in the broad jump but he was out jumped by Wagenschutz. In the relay the seniors were first, juniors second, freshmen third, and sophomores fourth. The next track meet will be with Wayne on the home cinders, April 3.

Napoleon Bonaparte's Tomb

The burial place of Napoleon is under the dome of the Hotel des Invalides in Paris. It has the form of a circular crypt 20 feet deep and 36 feet in diameter, open at the top. The tomb was designed by Visconti, and on the walls are 10 marble reliefs by Simart. The sarcophagus is 13 feet long, 6 1/2 feet wide, 14 1/2 feet high, cut from a single block of red porphyry, of tone in weight, surrounded by 12 "Victories" by Pradier. The inscription above the entrance to the crypt is taken from Napoleon's will: "I desire that my ashes shall rest on the banks of the Seine, in the midst of the French people that I have loved so well."

Many From Here at Fashion Show

In place of their regular business meeting and program here, members of the Plymouth Woman's club attended the eleventh annual spring fashion show given March 26 at the Cass theater in Detroit, under the direction of Sally Dague, fashion editor of a Detroit newspaper.

Miss Dague gave a brief talk on the highlights of spring fashions this year and then presented 100 new costumes, many of them original Paris models, shown by more than a dozen Detroit shops. Spring suits, swagger coats, afternoon and evening frocks were modeled.

Perhaps the two outstanding features of the styles were the prevalence of flowers in ray clusters or single groupings at the necks or waistlines of the frocks, matching those on the hats, and the colorfulness of the accessories completing the various costumes. Many new colors were shown, among them plum and Kelly green. Luxurious furs added to the stunning ensembles, double scarfs and capes being especially favored.

The setting for the review and the floral decorations were designed and executed by Henry Forster. In a veritable fairy garden of tulips the colorfully gowned models displayed their wares. The "Tulip Review" closed with a delightful children's ballet given by pupils from the Evelyn Livingston Smith school of dancing. At the next meeting of the Woman's club, to be held today at the Mayflower hotel, Miss Emma DuBord, Wayne county home demonstration agent, will give a talk on "Flower Arrangements." Mrs. George Cramer, general chairman is planning appropriate musical numbers.

Society News

Mr. and Mrs. John Kirk of McClumpha road, were pleasantly surprised Sunday afternoon by their children and grandchildren who brought a potluck supper with them. The occasion for the surprise was the celebration of both of their birthdays which occur on March 31 and April 1 respectively. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Simmons and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Weinberger of South Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kirk, and children of Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Armstrong, Mrs. Leah Winford, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kirk and son and Miss Marilyn Madden, of Detroit.

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Denton was celebrated Saturday evening when 50 friends and relatives gathered at the home of P. H. Grenham. Most of these friends were English, and several tributes were given the honored couple, showing they were held in high estimation by both the British and American friends. A buffet lunch was served at midnight. Mr. and Mrs. Denton were presented with many lovely gifts, among them a three-tiered wedding cake made by their son, Carl, who is a baker in Detroit, and gardenias from their daughter, Pearl.

On Monday afternoon Caroline Goodale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Goodale, celebrated her eighth birthday by inviting in 14 friends at her home on Hammon street. Very pretty table arrangements were laid and party refreshments served with a beautiful cake decorated with eight lighted tapers used as a centerpiece. Caroline received many lovely gifts. Those present were Ruth Campbell, Joyce Talmas, Doris Cole, Ann Ray, Barbara Davis, Clarice Perkins, Phyllis Schryer, Marie Thorne, Mary Jane Stancer, Helen Moore, Barbara Jean Goodale and Beverly Ann Goodale.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Thomas Gardiner and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Laible and son, Graham, attended the wedding of the former's nephew, Fred M. Shinnick, Jr., of Detroit and Miss Daris Johnson, of Rochester at the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church in Rochester. They also attended the reception which followed at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Shinnick. Later they returned to Detroit where they were dinner guests of their cousin, Anna Moore.

Mrs. Leonard Taft was delightfully surprised Friday evening when the members of her "500" club, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Evans, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Kincaid, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reddeman and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shipley, came to her home on North Harvey street, bringing baskets of good things to eat, the occasion being her birthday. The evening was spent in playing "500." Mrs. Taft was given several gifts in remembrance of the day.

Mrs. Allan Horton was hostess to the Sitch and Chatter group Thursday at its co-operative luncheon at her home on the North Territorial road.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Young attended a dinner party in Detroit Monday evening given in honor of her uncle and aunt.

Mother's Cook Book

INVITING DISHES

WHILE cooking carrots add a slice of onion to the vegetable while cooking, and the addition of a stalk of celery will make the dish, when served with a little butter, quite different.

Butter and Peas

Take a piece of lamb or mutton for stewing, simmer in boiling water with an onion, three cloves, two peppercorns and an eighth of a bay leaf for flavor. When tender, remove the meat to a hot platter and make a gravy of the liquor to the kettle. Strain and add to it a cupful or two of fresh cooked peas. More seasoning of salt and pepper may be needed and a half teaspoonful of sugar will make the dish much more tasty. Seasonings are always much more effective if added while the food is cooking.

Date Crackers

Put a pound of well-washed dates with a cupful of sugar and a half cupful of water in a saucepan and cook until soft and smooth. Cool. Cream together one cupful each of shortening and brown sugar, two and one-half cupfuls of rolled oats that have been parched in a light brown, and two cupfuls of flour, a teaspoonful of soda in half a cupful of hot water. Mix well, roll out very thin and cut into rounds. Place a spoonful of the fruit on the cookie and cover with another.

ROLY POLY GOLF BALL

THIS is a dinner table trick that will startle all who witness it. The feat is performed with an ordinary golf ball, which the magician places on the table.

Making mysterious passes, he causes the ball to roll along the tablecloth, traveling in a most uncanny fashion. Anyone may lift the ball and examine it.

The motive power is furnished by a strong thread that runs beneath the tablecloth. On the end of the thread is a small metal ring, which the tabicloth hides. It is upon this hidden ring that the wizard places the golf ball.

While his right hand makes its mystic passes, the magician uses his left to draw the thread, which makes the ball roll in a most natural fashion. The trick is made most effective by having a confederate pull the thread from the opposite side of the table. In this case the ball will roll away from the magician.

Northville Board Seeks PWA Funds

An amended petition has been filed by the Northville board of education with the federal government, seeking the transfer of PWA funds granted for an addition to the grade school just before the building was burned January 13, so that the money can be used in the construction of a new building.

The taxpayers of the district voted last fall to seek $12,272 for a four-room addition to the old school, and $15,000 was to be borrowed from the government, to be paid back over a 20-year period with four per cent interest. Since the fire school board officials have revised their plans, and the amended petition was approved by the Detroit office three weeks ago.

The new plans call for an eight room school building and an office for the board of education. If they are approved in Washington, taxpayers will have to meet and pass on the matter. In case an auditorium is included, owners of real estate in the district will meet to vote on the proposition.

Tuberculin Tests Started This Week

Tuberculin tests, conducted with the co-operation of county and state tuberculosis organizations, were started Tuesday in the Northville high school.

Dr. D. S. Brachman, of the Wayne County Tuberculosis Association, will give the tests April 14 to the four high school grades, returning April 17 to read the results. Where a positive reaction is noted, X-ray pictures will be taken.

Three Conservation Films Soon Available

Three new conservation films will be made available by the state department of conservation for free public use late in May. The films will show deer, forestry, and state park activities, respectively.

The film on deer management will contain recent views of starvation and over-browsing conditions in several northern Michigan deer-yards, artificial feeding experiments and pathological investigations. Timber stands and forestry practices will be shown in the forestry film, and park development and improvement work in the state park picture which is expected to be one of the best in the department's film-plant series.

THE STORY OF JASON

1—Jason was no bargain.
2—He didn't know much about anything.
3—He was five years old before he could talk. And then his voice was found to be so obnoxious that his parents were almost sorry he had become vocal.
4—But when Jason heard his own voice he was impressed from the first.
5—To him it seemed like rare music.
6—By the time he was ten years old he had become the noisiest boy in the neighborhood. He was a model for the original loud speaker.
7—In school he was the boy orator. Talking was the fulfillment of all his desires and the realization of all his hopes.
8—He was a living argument for bigger and better Quiet Zones.
9—Jason would argue with anybody any time about anything and he would take three hours to pass a given point.
10—And he always insisted on the last word.
11—He had become a major disturbance by the time he attained manhood, and his folks worried for fear he would have no future, others worried for fear he would.

12—But he became a national figure.
13—No matter how loudly he shouted he never said anything that made sense. The loudest he was the name of a Polish village.
14—So he was quickly grabbed up by a great political party and made one of its foremost campaign orators and stump speakers at $1,000 a speech.
15—When he became certain nobody understood what he was pronouncing, he raised it to $2,000 and got it.

MORAL—There's a career somewhere for the worst of us.

Pity him as we do, the Cross-Walk Somnambulist has no one to blame but himself. Sleep-walking pedestrians gamble with death.

While it is true that pedestrians have the right-of-way over autos making turns at intersections and that traffic should slow down for persons using crosswalks, neither of these truths can afford much comfort after an accident has occurred.

BOOK SHELF

"Silas Crockett," by Mary Ellen Chase
Books reviewed in this column may be obtained at the Plymouth library.
The vogue for genre novels which carry a family through from its earliest history to the present, is justified again in Mary Ellen Chase's newest book "Silas Crockett."
Covering a period of slightly over a hundred years, the narrative has as its motif the rise and decline of sailing vessels on the Maine coast. With a fine regard for historical accuracy Miss Chase has woven her story of the sea-going ship loving Crockett men, and incidentally, of their wives. These men and women, who seem typical of those brought up in the traditions of the sea, cling to their love for sailing and sailing-ships, no matter what disaster is dealt them through that love. Silas and his descendants, different from each other as they are have this one attribute in common.

Their clarity as individuals, the wealth of incident, and Miss Chase's superb descriptions of the Maine coast, combine to make a book, which surpasses her two earlier volumes in every way.

Township Road System Obsolete

Michigan's township road system passed out of existence this week after being in effect 85 years.

The 83 counties of the state completed the job Wednesday of taking over the remaining township road mileage in the state. Out of 62,200 miles of township roads originally certified in 1931 to the state highway commissioner, Murray D. Van Wagener, 10,428 miles were left to be absorbed by the counties this week.

Abolition of the township road system finished an evolution in highway administration that started in 1931 when the legislature enacted the McNitt township road law. The act provided that the counties take over the township road mileages at the rate of 20 per cent a year. A first-year appropriation of $2,000,000 was allocated to the counties to help them shoulder this burden. This amount was increased by $500,000 annually until the present annual appropriation is $4,000,000.

Although the adoption of township road mileage is now complete, the McNitt act provides that the counties in 1937 take over streets and alleys in recorded plats outside of incorporated cities and villages. No provision is made to reimburse the counties for these additions to their road systems. This clause will work a hardship on industrial counties of lower Michigan where there are many subdivisions outside of city limits.

The law leaves the township highway commissioner, formerly among the most important of local officers, with an empty honor. The office is a constitutional one and a former attorney-general has ruled that the election must be held but that no salary can be paid the township road commissioner.

As the township roads fade into oblivion, problems arising from the enactment of the McNitt law will be one of the studies in the highway planning survey now in progress. A number of recommendations for amendments to the law probably will be submitted to the legislature.

The history of township roads in Michigan dates back to 1851 when the legislature enacted a law authorizing any township to borrow or levy taxes up to $10,000 for roads. The McNitt act has relieved local property owners of the tax burden.

Sportsmen Apply for 13,000 Pheasant Eggs

More than 13,000 of the probable 20,000 pheasant eggs to be produced at the state game farm this spring already have been spoken for by individuals and groups in proven pheasant territory. Formal applications are being considered in the order in which they are received by the department of conservation.

Automobile License Registrations Jump

With a total of 1,271,186 motor vehicles in the state equipped with 1936 plates or half year permits, on March 25, records of the department of state clearly indicate the expected increase in total registration this year over 1935.

The total of 1936 plates and stickers sold thus far is nearly as large as the maximum registration of 1,349,951 for 1935, despite the fact that summer always brings thousands of new cars from salesrooms and garages where they have been hibernating.

One of the most interesting trends shown by the statistics is that the use of half-year permits or stickers is definitely on the increase in Michigan. On March 25, more stickers had been sold than for all of 1935. On March 25 stickers totaled 426,102; there were 414,301 stickers sold in 1935.

THREE DAYS WITHOUT HEAT

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THREE days without heat, while they're fixing the furnace. And so in the kitchen each day we intern us.

Or sit by the fireplace and pile on the splinters. Not much like the cordwood of old-fashioned winters.

Three days without heat, and the family shivers. Or late in the morning still clings to the covers.

And all because something unknown, unsuspected. Went wrong—that a cheerful young salesman detected.

And yet the unfortunate was at its summit. Are those who have trouble and learn nothing from it.

The greatest misfortune, whatever our sorrow. Is, having it, not to be wiser tomorrow.

When furnaces fail or when anything falters. Let's hope that our viewpoint accordingly alters.

Experience teaches us, children or father. Some truth that repays us for all of our bother.

Three days without heat, but again when we get it. In living room, dining room, bedroom, I bet it.

Will make us appreciate that simple blessing.

We took without thinking or doubting, or guessing. I haven't a doubt there is many a pleasure.

Our hearts never feel and our minds never measure. We have all along without thinking about it.

(We would, if we had to go three days without it.)

Railways Start Free Delivery

Michigan's railroads came to earnest grips with the for-hire trucks this week, when they inaugurated free pick-up-and-delivery service on less than carload freight destined to any point in the U.S. The new service is described by rail officials as equal to a 10 per cent average reduction in freight rates.

The new service, in effect April 1 nationally except for the Pacific Coast, is considered one of the most far-reaching and significant advances in recent American railroad history, and as the most important action taken to date to win back to the rails a large volume of traffic now moving over the longer distances by airway. Greater convenience, faster transportation schedules, more dependable deliveries and the advantage of a single transaction in addition to savings are claimed for the new service.

Under the new system the railroads will pick up the shipper's door and deliver it at the receiver's door at no extra cost above the present regular freight rate. If either shipper or receiver, or both, elect to perform the trucking service an allowance of 5 cents per 100 pounds will be made at point of origin or destination or both. Under the new arrangement the railroads for a nominal fee also will collect charges on C.O.D. shipments. In this state the pick-up-and-delivery operation will be largely by independent truckers under contract with the railroads exclusively for this service.

The saving in freight bills under the new system will run between 8 per cent and 10 per cent and on some types of freight the savings will run as high as 20 per cent, rail officials declare. The resulting sharp increase in business is expected to more than offset the effects of this equivalent rate reduction.

Wayland Osgood Takes Over State Position

A geologist of 12 years' service with the state becomes secretary of the state conservation commission April 15 when Wayland Osgood succeeds Major Ray T. Cullen, who held the office for the past eight years. Osgood has served as geologist in the department of conservation since 1924.

To Use Radio Car in Fight Against Fires

A fast radio-equipped scout car will be put into commission this spring by state conservation authorities for ground reconnaissance work in combating serious forest fires.

The car will be provided with voice-transmission and receiving sets that can contact readily any Conservation post in the immediate vicinity of a forest fire. It will receive instructions, and report fire conditions.

It is expected that the car will prove indispensable in helping to consolidate fire suppression activities and directing their operations in cases of large fires.

Reinforcements from Michigan

Flood waters rage . . . dams break . . . water stands ten feet deep in the business section of a great city.

Local telephone circuits are flooded and temporarily damaged. The Bell System mobilizes. From neighboring companies—including Michigan—come squads of trained and tested telephone men. The Bell expeditionary forces land—and in a short time they are able to echo that famed message of the Marines: "The situation is well in hand."

Only one thing made this possible. That is the fact that Bell System practices and equipment are standard the country over. Consequently, when the Bell System mobilizes in an emergency, it is not necessary for reinforcements from other companies to ask: "What kind of equipment is it?" They merely say: "Where is it?" and go quietly and efficiently to work on familiar ground. This is true in Pittsburgh today where the Michigan Bell Telephone Company is contributing part of the emergency force. It was true in Michigan—in 1922 and 1929—when reinforcements from other Bell System companies came here to aid in the work of restoring communications temporarily destroyed by the sleet storms of those years. Without a nation-wide force of systematically trained men, without standard equipment in every associated company, some of the things which Bell men have accomplished swiftly as part of their routine duties would have caused confusion and endless delay.

Whenever you lift a Bell Telephone receiver, tremendous resources in men, organization and equipment are at your command. And there are times when it is impossible to measure the value of telephone service except in terms of life and death.

"My TERRAPLANE does more than most cars claim"

"It's 'tops' of all the cars I've ever owned."

IN our showroom, "owner talk" means more than "sales talk." We're content to let claims take a back seat while owners give you facts.

On performance, you needn't take the word of anyone—but the man who knows how much easier his Terraplane handles in traffic . . . how much better it takes straight-aways or curves . . . how much faster it is on the get-away. His economy figures talk louder than any salesman's claims . . . even ours! He can tell you facts about Terraplane's long life that would sound boastful if we said them.

But even a Terraplane owner can't put into words just what it means to sit at the wheel of this car and drive! With the Electric Hand shifting the gears, your hands stay always on the wheel. Just a flick of the finger . . . and gears shift! And your front floor is all clear . . . Terraplane is the only low priced car with real comfort for three in the front seat . . . no gear or brake levers to stumble over!

Steering is truer. There's an amazing riding smoothness. At the brake pedal, safer stopping than you'll find in any other car, with two braking systems at your command . . . and still a third from the easiest handling parking brake you ever saw. You ride over the world's first safety engineered chassis . . . in a body really all of steel, with solid roof of seamless steel. On every side, something new to discover and enjoy. Stop in now and take this "Discovery Drive" . . . see for yourself what a change Terraplane has made in motoring.

CHURCH NEWS

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Walter Nichol, pastor. (Services at Masonic Temple) 10 a.m. Worship, 11:30 a.m. Sunday school, 6:30 p.m. Young People.

On next Sunday morning the officers-elect of the Young People's society will be installed. The installation service will be held following the sermon. Members of the society will act as ushers and receive the offering.

The officers of the Mission Study class for next year are: president, Mrs. Shore, vice-president, Mrs. Hester; and treasurer, Mrs. Bachelder. The class is looking forward to an active year.

Mrs. Cutler's class will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde C. Fisher, 1024 York street, Wednesday, April 8, after school. The April meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held at the Masonic Temple Wednesday, April 8, at 2:30 p.m. When the business is over a fine program will be presented. Mrs. Harold Bloom, of Northville, will review "The Forty Days of Musa Dagh," by Franz Werfel. Mrs. O'Connor will sing Easter music.

Another weekly church cafeteria dinner will be served Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. Division No. 3 of the Woman's Auxiliary will be in charge. Mrs. P. D. Campbell, Mrs. Charles Hester, Mrs. F. Coward and Mrs. Vaughn Smith are leaders of this division.

The Presbyterian church will join in the Union Good Friday service to be held in the Methodist church Friday of next week at 2 p.m.

The Busy Women's class will meet at the Masonic Temple on Tuesday, April 7, at 3 p.m. Instead of the usual co-operative dinner the class will hold an afternoon meeting and plan to enjoy the cafeteria dinner being served that day by the Woman's Auxiliary at 5:30 p.m.

Easter Sunday is being carefully prepared for. Mr. Green has undertaken to decorate the auditorium for the services. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed, baptism will be administered and members will be received. The choir is planning a program of fine Easter music.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Loyla Sutherland, Minister. But three night of the special services are in the past, as we write these announcements. Tokens of God's approval on the ministry of Rev. Arnold Kehrl are shown in the large numbers that are hearing him each night, and these numbers have increased from night to night. A wide circle of Christians including friends from several states are praying for these meetings and surely God is moving in mysterious ways His wonders to perform. Don't forget Sunday morning at Ten.

Just a few of the sermon topics follow for the ensuing nights—this Friday night, "God's pardon for the guilty," this sermon, "Illustrated." Sunday night, "What a real Christian stands for," Monday night, "Suppose Christ were to preach tonight in the First Baptist Church." Wednesday night, a special cross service.

This church will unite in the community Good-Friday services to be held in the Methodist church from two until three o'clock. Rev. Kehrl will be one of the speakers. That evening Rev. Kehrl concludes these special services and a baptismal service will be held promptly at seven-thirty. This service of baptism will be followed by the evangelistic message and appeal. On one night Rev. Kehrl will speak on "The Prophetic word in the light of the present day."

The days of opportunity are at hand, get into some of the services being held in Plymouth and God grant that we may all come up to Easter with a new vision and a truly consecrated life to His service.

Way-side prayer services each day from 9:30 to 10:00 a. m. Children's meetings from 3 to 4:30. These will conclude on Thursday afternoon of next week.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST

Cor. Main and Dodge Sts. Sunday morning service, 10:30. Sunday school at 10:30. Pupils received up to the age of twenty years.

Wednesday evening testimony service, 8:00. "Unreality" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in Christian Science churches Sunday, April 5.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Gen. 1:31): "And God saw everything that he had made, and behold, it was very good." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 525): "Everything good or worthy, God made. Whatever is valueless or baneful, He did not make,—hence its unreality."

SALEM FEDERATED CHURCH

On to Calvary," will be our pastor's theme for the morning service on April 5. The service begins at 10:30 o'clock.

Bible school, 11:45 a.m. Read Luke 14:15-24, "Jesus Invites All People." Memory verse: "Come; for all things are now ready." Luke 14:17.

We invite you to come and sing the old hymns with us in the evening Hymn Sing hour, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

The Boy Scout troop will meet in the church, Friday evening, April third at 7:30 o'clock. Our children are asked to be at the church Saturday afternoon, April 4 at 2 o'clock to receive their parts and practice for the Easter program.

NEWBURG M. E. CHURCH

Robert Davies, Pastor. Sunday morning services, 10 o'clock. Epworth League at 7 o'clock. The Epworth League meeting takes the place of the regular Sunday evening services.

NAZARENE CHURCH

Robert A. North, pastor. Bible school, 10:00. Morning worship, 11:15. Young People, 6:30; evening service, 7:30.

The Sunday evening sermon will be "The Sinners' Doom." Rom. 6:23 says "that the wages of sin is death." Sin brings its own penalty, it is the only thing that can separate us from God.

The devil is the first preacher to deny that the "Wages of Sin is death." In Gen. 3:4 He said unto Eve "Thou shalt not surely die." In other words he told her that she was eternally secure, and did not need to obey the command of God. How modern preachers are preaching people into Hell, with the same message? The Bible is full of examples of men who disobeyed God. Saul and Solomon in the Old Testament are the most notable. Judas Iscariot is the most outstanding of the New Acts 1:25 tells us very plainly that "Judas, by transgression fell, that he might go to his own place."

A hearty welcome awaits you at the "Church with the Full Gospel Message," 280 N. Main St.

SALEM CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Lucia M. Stroh, minister. Next Sunday is Palm Sunday and the pastor will bring a fitting message from the word of God.

On Wednesday evening there will be prayer meeting in the parsonage and practice for the Junior choir in the church. Practice Saturday at 2 o'clock is for all Sunday school pupils, teachers and those taking part in the Easter program.

Next Thursday evening, there will be a sacred service. Rev. C. W. Lewis, will speak and Holy Communion will be served. All are invited.

The Good Friday service will be held as usual, from 2 to 3 o'clock. The pastor of the Federated church, school teachers and pupils and all in this community are invited to attend.

There will be two services on Easter. For the morning worship service there will be special music, Holy Communion and reception of members. In the evening the Sunday school will give a program, with an Easter pageant.

Mrs. J. A. Clark, 344 Ann street, Plymouth, will entertain the Ladies Auxiliary society, Tuesday, April 14, at 2 p.m. Supper will be served.

The longest railroad tunnel in the world is the Simpson tunnel through the Adirondacks.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH

Richard W. Neale, pastor. If you are discouraged in heart or hard pressed by sin here is good news: "Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners." Casey Vander Jagt, that giant of Bible truth, is preaching each night at Calvary Church at 7:30. His last messages are on Sunday at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p.m.

Words cannot describe these joyful services and telling messages. Joint others who have been coming to see for themselves. Visit a friendly, Bible Church where Christ is preached.

Following Mr. and Mrs. Vander Jagt come two outstanding gospel ambassadors, Nelson Reid, the preaching fireman, and George McGill, the Christian contractor. These men reach men. They begin the ministry on Monday evening. Nelson Reid, a world war veteran and popular lay preacher, is a fireman by vocation. We expect great things from God. We'll be looking for at Calvary! Why not bring a friend with you? All welcome always. 455 South Main street.

ST. PAUL'S EV. LUTHERAN CHURCH

O. J. Peters, Pastor. Services in English Sunday, April 5. Holy Communion will be celebrated in this service.

Applications for Crop Loans Taken

Applications for emergency crop loans for 1936 are now being received at county agricultural agent's office in Dearborn by Ralph Carr for J. A. Wilson, field supervisor of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan section of the Farm credit administration. The emergency crop loans will be made only to farmers who cannot obtain credit from any other source, as provided by regulations issued by the governor of the Farm Credit administration. The money loaned will be limited to the farmer's immediate and actual cash needs for growing his 1936 crops and in no instance may exceed $200 to one farmer. Farmers are not eligible for emergency crop loans if they can borrow from an individual, production credit association, bank, or other concern. Farmers will also be considered ineligible if they have an application pending with the Resettlement administration, have received assistance from that organization this year or are indebted to the Resettlement administration for an unpaid loan. As in the past, the security for an emergency crop loan will consist of a first lien on the crop financed. Landlords or others having an interest in the crop to be financed will be required to waive their claims in favor of a lien to the governor of the Farm Credit administration until the emergency crop loan is repaid. Checks in payment of approved loans will be issued by the Regional Emergency Crop and Feed Loan office at St. Paul, Minnesota.

World War Veteran Is Given Military Rites

Dave Flick, World war veteran, died March 26 at the Marine hospital following an illness of several days as a result of being injured during the war. He was a member of the 58th infantry, 4th division, and served over-seas for 30 months.

Military services were conducted Sunday by the Myron H. Beal American Legion, of which he was a member, and burial was in River View cemetery. The Rev. Walter Nichol officiated.
Surviving are his aged mother and a brother, also a war veteran, who is ill in Arkansas.

The H. C. bridge club was entertained Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Williams and Mr. and Mrs. William Leonard at the latter's home in Detroit.

From time immemorial the Easter season, in addition to its religious significance, has meant a general blossoming forth of the world in fresh spring array; and this means the world of women as well as the world of men.

Needless to say, the feminine world is primarily interested in clothes. Don't let the masculine members of your family deride this interest as silly and vain, for at heart they are proud to see their women folks all "dolled up" in new togs.

It need not be such an expensive proposition either, for a little forethought and careful planning makes it possible to wear the various component parts of your wardrobe in different combinations so that you have a variety of outfits. This is especially easy this season when contrast of color is so important.

With say, a suit, spring coat, one or two dresses, a cluster of flowers, grey shoes, and a number of blouses together with several sets of the very necessary accessories—shoes, hats, gloves and purses—you will have the correct ensemble ready for almost any occasion.

Any and all harmonious color combinations are permissible this year. Grey is perhaps the most widely used basic shade, but think of the possibilities of a gray suit. You may wear a pink or orchid blouse, a gray hat with touches of orchid shades, perhaps a cluster of flowers, grey shoes, orchid gloves and a peach-colored match. If you are the type to wear more decided colors, a violet blouse, hat, gloves and purse are in order, with perhaps a corsage of artificial violets for your shoulder.

In case you want to be able to change your color scheme more often, and with less expense, buy everything grey except your blouses, and these may be blue, pink, orchid, green, coral or peach. The flowers on your hat may be changed to match and you will have the correct tone of color.

Distinction is the secret of successful accessories. If things "look like you," and succeed in making you look different from the rest of the crowd, you will be known as a well-dressed woman. So you will find nearly all the shops, whether they are exclusive affairs catering to the "bon-ton," or those selling to people of more moderate means featuring the trimming.

Costume jewelry can make or break one's smart appearance. There always is danger of too much, or the wrong piece, but in its place this jewelry can add the finishing touch to an evening dress or the detail of an ensemble which might otherwise be without a distinctive air. For instance, with the greys, mauves and violet shades which are so very good this season, Paris dictates pearl tones in jewelry. There are necklaces, bracelets and clips of simulated pearls in grey and mauve shades; if you choose the mauve, you will wear violets on your coat, perhaps a pair of violet gloves, a necklace and, if you are sure you are not overdoing it, earrings.

Mother-of-pearl, or nacre as it is called this year, is one of the important items in the accessory world. There are hats brushed with an enamel that makes them gleam like the inside of a shell, leather trimmings with the same finish, plain strand pearl necklaces and even compact of this lustrous material.

THE ZEPHYRUS are coming on the scene for girls, for while many of them are conservative on the outside, an standard navy, black, brown and grey, the linings are brilliant lizard or bright tailed in shades to match your gloves. Oh! It's a gay world, so keep in step!

Milford Supervisor Dies Very Suddenly
Walter J. Tripp, of Milford Oakland county supervisor and prominent Republican leader, died Friday, March 20, as the result of a heart attack. He was 58 years old.

For seven years he was superintendent of the Milford schools, having attended Michigan State Normal college and the University of Michigan. Funeral services were held Sunday following his death with interment in Milford cemetery.

Explorer, Traveler Will Address Masons

G. M. Mitchell, a member of Admiral Byrd's antarctic expedition, will address Plymouth Masons this evening.

Mr. Mitchell, who has visited many foreign lodges, is said to be a most interesting speaker and James Gallimore, worship master of Plymouth Rock lodge, is urging all Masons to hear him.

Failing to wait until the machine had stopped after he had turned off the motor resulted in such serious injuries to the left arm of Harold Smith, a worker at the Felt Products plant, that it was necessary for Dr. Paul Butz to remove the arm last Friday. The young man had stopped the motor, but started to reach for an obstruction in the machine before it came to a dead stop. His hand became caught and his arm was badly cut and bruised nearly to the elbow. Dr. Butz states that the young man is making a rapid recovery from the serious injury.

FROM THE HOSPITALITY CENTRE

By ALENE THEISNER, Nutrition Director, Detroit Dairy and Food Council

Spring may be here, but we aren't out of the woods yet by any manner of means. There are still just about five weeks of fickle, uncertain, unpredictable weather before us. Five weeks of sniffles, sneezes, colds, and, if we aren't pretty careful, pneumonia. It's time to be doubly careful, to do all in our power to build up our resistance to these sniffles and colds.

This disease, the "Common Cold," is a much more dangerous thing than we generally consider it. Outside of the loss of time—statistics show that the average loss of time from work is four days—it is often the forerunner of other dire ills such as mastoid, sinus infection, measles, (don't laugh, measles is dangerous, especially to adults), influenza and pneumonia. Therefore, it behooves us to avoid colds.

Colds are caused by a germ that is prevalent all the year around, but in the spring our resistance has generally been worn down and we simply hang out a welcome sign for the germ.

The best method of combating this enemy is to build up resistance by a carefully planned diet. Malnutrition is the greatest contributing factor to lowered resistance. And fatigue runs malnutrition a pretty close second. One good rule for getting through a Michigan spring without a cold is to avoid fatigue—get at least seven hours sound sleep in every twenty-four and avoid overeating.

We no longer need the hearty, energy producing foods we consumed in the winter to give our bodies fat and heat to combat the bitter cold.

But we do need the "protective foods" and plenty of them. Protective foods that build up our resistance and fortify us against disease. These are fresh fruits, fresh vegetables, eggs and milk. Be sure to drink orange juice or tomato juice every day. Eat another fruit of some kind and two vegetables of some kind besides potatoes. Get in an egg in some form two or three times a week, and have a quart of milk every day. Don't sigh and say you'd rather take medicine. You don't have to drink it. Have it in cream soups, as cheese, in sauces, in desserts or cocoa.

If you follow the above rules you'll be making an intelligent fight against spring ills, especially the cold. But if you do come down with the sniffles the very smartest advice you can follow is to "go to bed and stay there until you are well." In this way you'll avoid all these unpleasant aftermaths of the common cold by no means simple, cold

Poisonous Fungi

Some names of fungi indicate that their bearers are poisonous, such as the Death Cap; this is a very poisonous toadstool which is sometimes taken for a mushroom, with fatal results. It is also named the Destroying Angel. Another, poisonous toadstool is called the Poison Pie, as it resembles a small pie. —Answers Magazine
