Rotary Club Sponsors Event For Junior High Boys

The eighth annual Decathlon meet for boys in the junior high school, sponsored by the Rotary club of Plymouth will be held on the afternoon of May 28, at 3:45 p.m., on the grounds back of the Central school.

The Decathlon, which consists of 11 events, chin standing broad jump, overhead shot, 100 yard dash, sit up, running high jump, standing hop-step-jump, shot-put, dip—of which the individual's 10 best records are counted, is a contest in which the boy competes with his previous record.

Bronze medals, silver medals, and gold medals are given for relatively larger scores in the 10 events. Some boys in high school have won all three medals through three succeeding years.

The boys in the junior high are, and have been for some time, diligently at work endeavoring to do well in each of the 11 events.

The co-operation of the Rotary club in sponsoring this individual activity among approximately 150 boys is a service which would be hard to over-estimate.

Doris Shinn Is Awarded Honors For Winning Bee

Plymouth Girl To Go To National Meet In Washington

When a diminutive 11-year-old junior high school girl brings honor to her home town by winning the Metropolitan Spelling Bee from 59 other contestants, it is only natural that her city and school honor her.

And so Plymouth this week is applying the honor to Doris Shinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Shinn, of 985 Ann Arbor street, who Friday night won the spelling bee sponsored at the State Fair Coliseum in Detroit by the Detroit News, and was acclaimed spelling champion of the Detroit metropolitan area, for children under high school age.

Doris won the district contest in Northville, where she competed against 11 other school champions. Then met the district champions from three counties in Detroit, winning on the word "virulent" against four girls and one boy. During the course of the bee, about 2,500 words on the district list and 2,500 more on the metropolitan list, both of which had been studied by the contestants, were used, together with several hundred from an unstudied list, before Doris spilled down her opponents. More than 1,500 spectators watched the Plymouth girls' triumph.

Her victory entitles her to a trip to Washington, D. C., where she will represent Michigan in the national finals on May 26. She will leave at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning by airplane for the national capital, and return by train following the contest. Her time next week will be divided between sightseeing and study for the contest.

Among the gifts which Doris received was a savings account with the Plymouth United Savings bank opened for her Wednesday.

Honors have been showered upon Doris since her achievement, but when she was asked what was the most exciting part of being a champion, she replied with true child-like enthusiasm, "The presents! I got a bike and a pen and pencil set and two boxes of candy and a cake and some dresses and $5 and a pin with my name on it, and oh, look at this!"

She ran into the other room. "Continued on page four."

Smith Lauds Advantages And Achievements of This Community

Superintendent Speaks At Presbyterian Church Service

Speaking on the "Community Day" program of the Presbyterian church Sunday morning at the Mason temple, Superintendent George A. Smith, of the Plymouth public schools, called attention to the outstanding advantages and achievements of Plymouth as a community.

Other representatives of the community were Mayor Henry Honford, City Manager Clarence H. Elliott and Principal Claude J. DeKhouse. The Rev. Walter Nichol delivered a sermon on "The Church and the Community." Special music was provided by the girls' octet from the high school.

"Communities are not made rapidly, but the good or bad in any community, which is not temporary, is directly the result of education," declared Superintendent Smith. "Therefore, in considering the good things and the bad things in our community today, it is necessary to attribute much of the good to the wise judgment of preceding generations. The wonderful things in our community today are the expression of the character of the people living in the last generation and of those living today."

"I would like to enumerate many of the outstanding things which give Plymouth advantages and take as commonplace. For instance, our location—23 miles from Detroit, 14 miles from Ypsilanti, and 17 miles from Ann Arbor, with paved highways to each, gives Plymouth advantages in the way of education, recreation, and amusement with which few cities can compare."

"Our active Chamber of Commerce, luncheon clubs, social clubs, and fraternal organizations speak much for organized effort in bringing happiness to our community."

"The city government, under the commission plan, being a pioneer in this form of government has been and is so thoroughly free from corruption that each incoming group finds it hard to get the pace set by its predecessors and extremely difficult to improve on the fine type of government which we have had."

"The city court, I am sure you will all agree, has the confidence and respect of both those who have offended and those who have received injury."

"The department of recreation, sponsored by the city commission, board of education, and service clubs co-operating with the police department, has been and is so thoroughly free from corruption that each incoming group finds it hard to get the pace set by its predecessors and extremely difficult to improve on the fine type of government which we have had."

Flower Market Is Big Success

One of the most successful Flower Markets ever arranged by the Plymouth Women's club was held Saturday in Kellogg park.

The market is held each year to stimulate interest in gardening, and further the beautification of Plymouth by providing a means of exchange between gardeners. Many people brought their extra plants carefully wrapped and labeled, for which they received from the committee tickets of exchange. With these tickets they were able to "purchase" other plants for their gardens.

All sorts of flowers and shrubs, both annuals and perennials, were brought in for trade in this way. No money changing hands at any time. Many unusual plants were contributed in this way, and Plymouth garden enthusiasts report that the market was distinctly worthwhile.

The committee in charge was headed by Mrs. Cass Hough, and included Mrs. Jay Jones, Mrs. Wilhelmy, Mrs. Charles H. Bennett, Mrs. Mark Chaffee, Mrs. Sterling Eaton, Mrs. F. R. Hoheisel, Mrs. Harmon Smith and Mrs. Leo Crane.

The Central cast includes: Snow-white, Yvonne Taylor; Queen, Ruth Drews; seven dwarfs, Dick Coward, Bruce McAllister, James McAllister, Gerald Shoemaker, Matthew Spitz, Robert Bloomhoff and Lee McConnell; Prince, Teddy Elliott; Light, Signe Hegge; Spirit of the Woods, Marie Ann Miller; First Flower, Beth Hoheisel; and Puck and His Men, Charles Horr, Bob Bachelder, Jack Kenyon, William Donovan and Milton Humphrey.

Memorial Day Program Planned By Service Clubs

City Manager Elliott Scheduled to Give Main Address

According to tentative plans for the Memorial day program to be held in Kellogg park on Saturday, May 30, City Manager Clarence H. Elliott will be the speaker, with the Rev. F. Ray Norton, of the Methodist church, offering the prayer, and Rev. Jacobs reading Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. Appropriate music will be furnished by the Plymouth high school band and chorus.

The services will be held at 10:30 o'clock under the joint auspices of the Myron H. Beals Post of the American Legion and the Ex-Service Men's club. Commanders Melvin Gutherie and Harry Hunter, respective heads of these organizations, have named a committee composed of Harry Mumby, John Jacobs, Carl Blaich, John Moyer, William Renner, and Don Ryder to take charge of the services, with Harry Brown as grand marshal and Arno Thompson as deputy grand marshal.

Members of the Legion and its auxiliary will attend special memorial services at St. John's Episcopal church, while the Ex-Service Men's group have been invited to similar services to be given by the Presbyterian church at the Masonic temple.

Following the services on Memorial day, the Legion will hold a picnic at the home of Melvin Gutherie a mile south of the Legion hall.

Lester came to this area to present several talks to boys and girls of various high schools, and spoke at an assembly held at the Plymouth high school Friday morning.

His talks here dealt with the problem of youth as a factor in crime, and he pointed out that the FBI found that 19 per cent of the criminal cases last year involved persons under 21 years of age, and 60 per cent those under 35. The law catches up with them, he asserted, explaining that last year the FBI made 392,251 arrests.

Lester is a graduate of the University of Mississippi, and was a Rhodes scholar at Oxford. He is in charge of the FBI school, training new and old agents, and police officers from various parts of the country.

He was brought here by Chief of Police Vaughan Smith, and introduced by Cass S. Hough, a past president of the Rotary club. The program for the club today will be the charge of members who have joined during the past year, and promises to be a most interesting one.

Dr. C. J. Kershaw, of 9525 Wayne road is constructing a new veterinary hospital at the corner of his home, which will be one of the finest and most completely equipped in the state.

It will be composed of a reception room 10 by 12 feet, an operating room 10 by 12 feet, a pharmacy 40 by 12 feet and two wards 10 by 13 feet. Dr. Kershaw will be able to hospitalize 20 dogs at one time. The new building will be completed the latter part of June.

Legion Plans Last Dance This Season

The final dance of the season to be given by Myron H. Beals post, No. 32, of the American Legion, will be a Mad dance Wednesday evening, May 27, at the Legion hall in Newburg.

On Memorial day, following the services in Kellogg park, Legionnaires are invited to a picnic to be held at the home of Commander Beals at the Lode banquet, one mile south of the Legion hall.

The poppies are symbolic of the red flowers which grew in such profusion in the battlefields of France and Belgium. They are made by permanently disabled World War veterans as a means of earning a little spending money. Money obtained from the sale of the post here is used to provide necessities for needy veterans and their families.

The Legion is asking everyone to help with this work by purchasing a poppy tomorrow, Harold Anderson is general chairman of the sale, with all members of the post and its auxiliary as his assistants.

The local Legion post is named for Myron Robert Beals, a Plymouth boy who was killed overseas. He was born April 18, 1896, in Grand Rapids, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Beals. The Beals moved to Saginaw when he was three and to Plymouth when he was five years old.

Myron went through the Plymouth schools, graduating from the high school as president of his class in 1915. He was employed in the office of the Daisy Manufacturing company until he enlisted in the Marine Corps June 2, 1917. He was sent to Paris Island, South Carolina, and Quantico, Virginia, for his training on September 27, 1917. He was appointed corporal, and on February 15, 1918, he was made a sergeant. He was sent to France, embarked from Philadelphia on board the U.S.S. Von Steuben, October 24, 1917, as a member of the 97th Co., 3rd battalion, 6th regiment, 4th brigade, U.S.M.C., 2nd division-regular. The regiment landed at Brest, France, November 12, 1917.

Beals was then at Bordeaux doing manual labor from November 20, 1917 to January 4, 1918. After training two months at Chaumont la Ville, he was on the Verdun front in trench warfare March 15 to May 15, 1918. On April 18, at Beauchamp, he was gassed during a gas shell bombardment by the enemy. Not wishing to give up, he remained with his company acting as mess sergeant. In June he regained his voice and was again able to lead his platoon into action.

From June 2 to July 9 he was engaged in open warfare in Belleau Wood-Chatenay Thierry sector, and on July 19 he was severely wounded by machine gun fire and shrapnel, so that it was necessary to amputate his left leg. He died July 31, 1918 and was buried with military honors in the cemetery near Suresne, France. Later the body was brought to Plymouth and interred in Riverside cemetery.

Twice the regiment was cited for the French Order of the Army while Beals was serving, and its members were authorized to wear the Touraine, of the colors of the French Croix de Guerre. The emblem was sent to the parents in 1920. They also cherish the victory medal with ribbons and three battle clasps—the Asme, Marne and Defensive Sector clasps, with three bronze stars.

WINNERS AGAIN

It seems that you just cannot stop Plymouth, no matter in what activity it enters. We climbed to the heights in the recent state debating contests and now comes little eleven-year-old Doris Shinn bringing to Plymouth the championship of The Detroit News spelling bee contest. This little miss by her victory Friday in Detroit, is Michigan's 1936 champion speller and next week she goes to Washington to compete with the best spellers of all other states. She carries with her the hope of every person in Plymouth that she might win the national contest. She has already won a great victory and we are all happy over her remarkable achievement. May her entire life be filled with similar successes.

WHY WE HAVE ROTTEN POLITICS

An interesting sidelight into the political life of our country was revealed a few days ago when a dozen or so intelligent and supposedly leaders in clean political thinking cast a nearly three-to-one vote in favor of a candidate for office who represents all that is rotten in politics, all that represents poor government and all that goes to make representative government a government of racketeers and spoilsmen. They voted for him because he is said to be a better "party man" than his opponent.

If the time has come in our history when party loyalty is to be placed above decency, honesty, efficiency and devotion to public interest, then the time has come for America to begin looking for a new highway to lead it from the mess rotten politics has brought about.

It is impossible to understand how men of thought will in one breath condemn crookedness in public affairs, hold up their hands in horror at the mention of all that takes place under the spoils system and at the same time vote in favor of one who represents all that is rotten in politics.

resents the very thing they have condemned. We are beginning to wonder if after all those who hold themselves up to be virgins of political thought are the virgins they claim to be.

AN IDEAL APPOINTMENT

There is one political appointment in Michigan that the present administration in Washington can well be proud of—the selection of Harry Newcomb as postmaster at Kalamazoo. His appointment comes not as the reward for some obnoxious political activity or because he has been an active party worker, but it comes because the Democratic leaders of Kalamazoo county thought the time had come for the selection of a "career man" as postmaster of that city.

The Democrats of Kalamazoo did something the Republicans a few years ago refused to do, they honored and rewarded one entitled to the position as postmaster of that fine city by years of efficient service. Mr. Newcomb entered the postoffice of Kalamazoo as a young clerk many years ago. He advanced from one important post to another until he reached a place as high as he could go under the present political system.

Always courteous, efficient and loyal, when the time came for the selection of a new postmaster, he had the backing of nearly all of the leading Democrats of Kalamazoo and for once those in power in Washington gave consideration to these endorsements, and now Harry Newcomb, a "career man," is postmaster of one of Michigan's largest postoffices.

One of the longest and most important steps that the government could take would be the inclusion under civil service of all postmasterhips. Why isn't the man who climbs up from the bottom from one position to another in the postoffice, entitled to selection as postmaster? Under the present set-up an efficient postal worker can barely hope to be the head of the postoffice in which he works. He can go so far and there his career ends. In the case of Postmaster Newcomb of Kalamazoo, when his time is up as postmaster he must step out of the postal service. Why should not he be allowed to serve in that position as long as he continues to provide that city with efficient mail service and conducts his office properly?

Why shouldn't the assistant postmaster of Plymouth, Northville, Ann Arbor, in case of vacancy in the postmasterhip, be permitted to step up a notch in the service?

The quicker our state and country can eliminate the spoils system and give opportunity to "career" service in all governmental departments, the quicker we will end the spoils system of government—and the spoils system means just one thing, bad government.

unexpired term. In 1845 he was elected governor and in 1847 he was again elected to the United States senate and resigned from the office of governor in March, 1847.

During his administration as governor the two railroads belonging to the state were sold to private corporations, the Central for $2,000,000 and the Southern for $500,000. At that time there were 39 counties in the state. President Pierce made him a member of the commission to settle the Spanish and Mexican land claims in California. In 1856 he completed his work in California and returned to Ann Arbor where he engaged in law practice. After his return he was nominated by the Democrats for governor and also for the United States senate and twice for the supreme court, but failed in election. For many years he was a member of the board of regents of the University of Michigan.

From 1493 to 1933, the western hemisphere mined silver to an estimated value of more than $6,300,000,000.

ALPHEUS FELCH

Forced to leave his boyhood home in Maine because of ill health, Alpheus Felch, who was elected governor of Michigan in 1845, started for Mississippi, but because of the severity of the weather encountered on his way, he decided to give up his trip to Mississippi when he reached Cincinnati. Hearing much of the prospects of Michigan and the mild weather in this state, he came to Monroe and started practicing law. He remained there until 1843 when he moved to Ann Arbor. He was 37 years when he located in the University city.

It was in 1835 when he was elected to the state legislature and continued a member until 1837. It was during that time that the first general banking law of the state was enacted. Felch was the only member of the state legislature to oppose the measure. He declared that it would wreck the currency system of the state. In 1838 he was made one of the bank commissioners. Meanwhile Felch's prediction came true with "wildcat" money. Frauds were uncovered everywhere. Because of the exceptional amount of work which developed from the poor banking law, Felch was forced to resign as bank commissioner in 1839, not being able to stand the large amount of work he was called upon to do. Soon after he was appointed auditor general, but only held this office a few weeks before being named judge of the supreme court.

In 1843 he was elected to the United States senate to fill out an

Rambling Around With Michigan Editors

TAKE IT OUT OF POLITICS
After thirteen years in the government service the writer knows something about civil service, in fact observation is the best way to study the problem. It is not the panacea for all the alleged ills of the patronage system. There are the usual two sides to even this question. In the first place the democrats have democratic civil service and the republicans a system for republicans. That isn't civil service. In other words, civil service is no better or cleaner than the men who administer it. It is possible but not in the hands of politicians.—Muri DePoe in The Charlotte Republican-Tribune.

A ONE-SIDED FORCE
The Townsend Old Age Pension plan is being the subject of congressional investigation and like a grand jury investigation the evidence is all from one side, that is, the witnesses are only those called by the investigators, and here in Michigan the investigation is conducted by Congressman Hoffman of Allegan, a bitter opponent of the plan. So far nothing serious has developed. No more in fact than might be found against either one of the major political parties. And whatever may be found against individual members of the organization can have no bearing on the plan. Many honest and intelligent people favor the plan and many others equally honest, and intelligent oppose it. It is one of those propositions that will not be settled until it is tried out, and like the tariff argument, it may not be settled even then.—H. J. Richardson in The Augusta Beacon.

A LOT OF TRUTH
We had just made up our minds this year, to sit back and let the world go by, as far as commenting on the political situation was concerned. We are republicans because we believe in the republican principle of government, not because of our father, grandfather or anyone else particularly.

But when one stops to look over the healthy crop of weeds springing up in the field, and such a small crop of men of ability, it is hard to keep still. This condition is the result of the primary system we have been so proudly boasting of, which gives every man an equal chance with the voters, regardless of his ability or fitness. And how true this is, as evidenced during the past few campaigns, state and federal. A man of ability, fitness and with the desire to perform a service for the country, hesitates and often refuses to enter a race because of the type of men who are also candidates.

So what is a newspaper editor to do? The primary makes it possible for the weaker man to get the nomination, for whether we like it or not, the man with the most gifted speech and genial personality is the man we support, regardless, to a large extent, of his fitness.—Paul A. McDonald in The Otsego County Herald-Times, Gaylord.

AGAIN, WE SHALL ADVERTISE MICHIGAN TO MICHIGAN RESIDENTS

Eight years ago, next July 8, there appeared in some 230 Michigan newspapers a special newspaper advertisement of our Company calling the attention of readers to "Michigan—The Ideal Vacation Land" and featuring Cloverland, Michigan's beautiful Upper Peninsula. That inaugurated our continuing program of advertising Michigan.

With our newspaper advertising we also have used other forms of promoting the "Vacation in Michigan" idea—our company magazine, window displays, and bill inserts, for instance. This year, for the ninth consecutive season, we plan to issue the merits of "Michigan—The Ideal Vacation Land" and the June issue of "The Michigan Bell" will be our special vacation number.

Turning back the pages of our annual vacation advertisements, we come upon the final one of the 1928 series and from it quote the following, which is just as true today as it was when the ink was wet: "Michigan Bell Telephone Company Points With Pride to the State Which It Serves."

"Michigan, summer playground, home of winter sports, yet throbbing with commerce and industry. Larger than the kingdom of Greece and four times as large as Belgium, Michigan has a land area of 36,777,200 acres. Michigan is a leader in five of the greatest industries: Automobiles, agriculture, tourist and resort trade, furniture and mining copper and iron ore. Michigan has the longest shore line exclusive of islands, of any of the states. It has more than a thousand inland lakes, and its water resorts attract millions of visitors who return year after year. Linking every section of this great state are excellent roads, swift transportation lines and quick communication services. The plant of the Michigan Bell Telephone company, supplemented by scores of connecting companies, furnishes adequate telephone service to Michigan."

We are proud of Michigan, and we are happy in the part we have played in bringing her many and great resources.—C. W. Hungerford in The Michigan Bell.

OLD FAITHFUL

Comes In Doors

Old Faithful, the geyser that has built up quite a reputation out West for dependability, moves indoors with the introduction of a new hot water service now provided electrically for the home. This new service surpasses anything ever before achieved in a constant supply of hot water. At any minute of the night or day, you need only turn a faucet, and you have hot water always on tap. Summer and winter, year in and year out, hot water is provided AUTOMATICALLY... without attention.

Most people do not realize to what extent the liberal use of hot water can add to the efficiency of home-making. Here are a few hints on how to make your housework easier and pleasanter:

Rinsing dishes with very hot water, and then letting them stand until dry, actually leaves them cleaner than wiping them with an ordinary dish towel. ★★ Certain fresh fruit stains can be effectively removed from table linen by stretching it in embroidery hoops and holding it under the running faucet. Stains from coffee, tea, and various fruits yield readily to hot water. ★★ When you wash windows, mirrors or glassware, add a little starch to the hot water. Starch helps to remove the dirt, and gives the glass a brighter polish.

Stop in at any Detroit Edison office and let us give you complete information—without obligation—on electric water heating.

and returned with her two most prized trophies — baseballs! She turned one slowly around to point out the autographs of Schoolboy Rowe, Mickey Cochrane, Goose Goslin, Ray Hayworth, Frankie Rieber, Flea Clifton, Charlie Gehring, Al Simmons and others of the Tigers, explaining carefully that the names were written out especially for her and not put on with a stencil, and that the ball was one that had actually been used in a real game. The other ball carried the autographs of "Ty" Tyson and C. C. Bradner, WWJ announcers. With her mother and sister Doris attended the game at Navin field Tuesday afternoon between the Tigers and the Washington Senators.

In recognition of her achievement, Doris has been invited to the school honor banquet this evening, where she will be one of the youngest honor guests. Tuesday evening she attended the ladies' night dinner of the Kiwanis club where she was presented with a pen and pencil set, while Wednesday evening there was a reception for her at the Calvary Baptist church.

Also on Wednesday night, Girl Scout Troop 3 met at the home of Mrs. Harry Brown, on Hagerly highway, with Doris as an honor guest. At this meeting the troop committee, composed of Mrs. Carl Lewis, Mrs. R. A. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Charles W. Horr, Jr., Mrs. Harvey Springer and Mrs. Harold Stevens, with Mrs. Carl Bryan and Mrs. Sidney D. Strong, regent and vice-regent of the Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Jean Strong, captain of the troop, and the girls gave her a full Girl Scout uniform.

The Rotary club of Plymouth presented her with a bicycle in acknowledgement of her feat and as a means of encouraging other children to similar accomplishments. Gifts were given her also by Blank Bros. department store, the Chamber of Commerce, Wiloughby Brothers shoe store, and Goldstein's department store. At the Saturday matinee at the Penniman-Allen theater she was introduced to an interested audience of children who cheered enthusiastically.

Spelling comes easily and naturally to Doris, according to the small champion herself and to her older sister, Mary, who has been her head coach. Her sister explained that when Doris was small she was forced to be in a plaster cast for a long time and it was necessary to give her active mind something to do. She learned the letters on her blocks when she was two, could read at four and was learning to spell at five years of age. When only six she spelled correctly words missed by twelfth graders in an Oakland county contest in Pontiac.

Shy and retiring, Doris is well liked by both pupils and teachers in Plymouth high school where she is enrolled in the eighth grade, having transferred from the Novi school last year. Because of her rather frail physique, she attends school only in the afternoon and takes only two principal subjects. Miss Kees is her instructor in physical training and first aid. Miss Learman is her history teacher, and Mr. Bentley — whose "snazzy" ties were made famous by Doris in a newspaper interview early this year — teaches her general science.

Despite the fact that she has advanced in school a grade ahead of most children her age, the Michigan spelling champion receives splendid marks — all "A's" and "B's." As the result of her victory the school also will be honored, receiving the Detroit News Metropolitan Spelling Bee trophy to hold until a new champion is selected in 1937.

Drilling Continues On Sam Spicer Farm

Drilling operations are being continued on the Sam Spicer farm in Cherry Hill, at Warren and Napier roads, after striking a good grade of oil at a depth of 4,000 feet.

The work is being backed by a Detroit syndicate, which started last winter. Drilling has now gone through a rock formation, but if salt water is struck below the rock, it is understood that the bore will be closed and the oil previously found will be utilized.

ROCKS LOSE FIRST LEAGUE GAME 10-3

Cosch Matheson's first place ball club was turned back at the doorstep of the Dearborn nine when they suffered their first league defeat 10-3 Friday, May 15, on the Dearborn diamond. This defeat does not keep the Rocks out of first place; they are still setting the pace by one game. Dearborn certainly played with a revengeful spirit. The Rocks shut out Dearborn in their first encounter. Schlie started on the mound for Plymouth. He had not pitched for a week or so because of an injury and because he lay-over he was unable to find his stride. He was relieved by Trombley in the fifth inning who finished the game. McLean had a big day on the mound for Dearborn. He struck out eleven batsmen.

The Rocks took an early lead when they collected four runs in the first inning. Zelasko, the first batter to face McLean, beat out an infield single. After Gates walked Zelasko stole third and scored on Gordon's out.

No scoring was done by either team until the third inning when Dearborn collected four runs to take the lead. The big inning was started by Cassini who was hit by a pitched ball, and he went to second on Hain's single. The bases were loaded after Kellachow walked, giving Dearborn a great scoring chance. Cassini and Hain scored when Zelasko's throw to nail Cassini at the plate hit him and the ball bounded into the bleachers enabling Hain to come from third. Kellachow scored on McLean's single and Boor crossed the plate for Dearborn's fourth run after Fitzpatrick singled to center field.

In the next inning they got three more runs. Kellachow and Boor both got a free pass to first base, and both scored on Ketchman's triple. Ketchman later scored on Fitzpatrick's double to left field.

Dearborn collected their last three runs in the fifth inning. Their three runs were collected on a double, two singles, and a base on balls.

In the sixth inning the Rocks dropped in two runs. Gordon reached first when he collected his only hit of the day, a single. Trombley who batted for Schlie, hit a single through the box and into center field. Gordon and Trombley scored on Trinka's long double.

The batteries for the game are as follows: for Plymouth, Schlie, Trombley and Blessing; for Dearborn, McLean and Kellachow.

HOWELL NOSES OUT P.H.S. GOLF TEAM

The closest match of the season was played Tuesday night, May 12, at the Plymouth Country Club between Plymouth and Howell. The visitors were triumphant by a single stroke and Plymouth thus lost the non-league match. One of the Rock regulars, Jack Ross, was unable to play because of his sickness. Lionel Coffin, Dick Miller, Melvin Michaels, and Rockwell Smith were the representatives for the home team. Coffin was Plymouth's low score man with a total of 82 however. Van Winkle of Howell had 77 and consequently was the medal man of the match. McKeever, Smith, and Latzer made up the other membership of Plymouth's rivals.

PLYMOUTH WINS GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

The Plymouth golfers fulfilled the aspirations of links fans by winning the Twin Valley Activities association championship last Friday at Plymouth Country Club. At the beginning of the season, Lewis Evans, coach of the championship squad, expressed belief that his players would win the league title and his belief was realized when the Rocks had a low team total of six competing schools. Plymouth with 331 was first; Ypsilanti 346; second; Dearborn, 347; third; River Rouge, 399, fourth; Ecorse, 402, fifth; Wayne, 423, sixth. Lionel Coffin, Rock ace golfer and number one man proved that he was the best golfer of the entire entry by turning in a score of 77. This was two strokes better than the total of Stadtmiller of Ypsilanti. Mel Michaels of Plymouth tied with Gordon of Dearborn for third place with 80. Dick Miller and Jack Ross of Plymouth each had scores of 87.

Next Saturday the team will go to Ann Arbor for the regional golf tournament of class B. The one-time four golfers will make the trip. Three of the four regulars are seniors and consequently the coach, Mr. Evans, will be forced to build a new team for next year. There is, therefore, little chance of the Rocks gaining another trophy emblematic of the league championship.

ROCKS SECOND IN REGIONAL

The Rock team failed to show very much "pay dirt" Saturday, May 16, at Ypsilanti as Birmingham copped the regional meet by 65. Plymouth coming in second with 31. Harold Wagenschutz was again the outstanding man of the meet as he secured 20 points of the 31 by taking four firsts, three of which were new records and the fourth a tie for a new one. Wagenschutz jumped to a new height of 6 feet 2 3/8 inches; broad jumped 22 feet; and ran the high hurdles in 15.2; to set three new records, and tied the 200 low hurdles record of 23.2. Wagenschutz was not the only one from the city who was going places as Kinsey Young, 12-pound pellet 48 feet and 9 1/2 inches for a new record. Williams vaulted 10 feet 6 inches in the pole vault for a first and Klenschmidt placed fifth in the 80. Plymouth's success was represented by the above winners in the state meet to be held May 22 at Grand Rapids. The one man track team has a good chance for a showing as do his three team mates as many of their less successful mates hope that they might bring home some of the bacon from this meet.

MEMBERS OF THE HIGH SCHOOL DRAMA TROUPE PRESENTED ANOTHER OF THE SEASON'S ONE-ACT PLAYS IN AN ASSEMBLY LAST WEEK

Jack Selle, a professional actor, visits an old friend, Elizabeth Herge, who is now married to Roland Rhead, a narrow minded minister. The minister, bitterly opposed to the theater, is outraged at the appearance of an actor in his home, but by flattering him, the actor softens him and persuades him to take his wife to the play that evening. By the same process of flattery, the actor wins over one of the minister's faithful flock, Isabelle Lueke, who has a dramatically minded daughter, Mary Holdsworth. The daughter is brought before the actor to recite Tennyson's "The Bells" as Tennyson never dared conceive it.

This is the second in the series of one-act plays which drama club has presented in assembly. The entire series was presented before the general public last Tuesday evening.

YPSI EASY PICKING FOR THE ROCKS

The Rocks, as a result of a 10-0 shut-out over Ypsilanti, Wednesday, May 13, at Riverside park, retain first place in the V. A. A. Trombley repeated the feat that Schlie exhibited against Dearborn, that was allowing only two hits. He walked only two and struck out seven. Jones, a colored lad, did the hurrying for Ypsilanti. Jones pitched a good game of ball, allowing six hits, but his support was weak. The Rocks' runs were somewhat aided by seven errors committed by the Ypsi team. Clay of Ypsi and Gates of Plymouth both connected for triples. The Rocks were lively on the bases and as a result, nine bases were stolen. Gordon getting four of them.

In the first inning, two runs were scored by the Rocks on two bases on balls, two fielder's choice, one hit, and two errors. Three more were collected in the third. Zelasko singled but was out trying to steal second. Roginski singled and scored on Gordon's single. Gates walked and Trinka was hit by a pitched ball. On Luke's error, Gordon and Gates scored.

Two more runs were chalked up in the fifth inning and three in the sixth. Ypsi had a great scoring chance in the fifth inning. Clay tripped over Gordon's head, but the strike was collected in the Wilson field to Trinka and Jones and Stockdale struck out.

Table with 5 columns: Player, AB, R, H, E. Rows include Dearborn, Cassini, Hain, Kellachow, Boor, Ketchman, McLean, Fitzpatrick, Ditton, Ross.

CENTRAL NOTES

Miss DeWaele's pupils were proud to have such a nice display of their work to which they could invite their parents. They were especially interested in the Polyphemus moth which hatched from a cocoon a few days before the exhibit. Diana Bristow and Robert Steinhurst have moved from Plymouth.

G-MAN CHIEF TELLS HOW-G-MEN WORK

"The causes of crime can be easily summed up in one idea," said Inspector Drane Lester, second in command of the G-Men. And the idea is that "too many people are trying to get something for nothing." Inspector Lester took time out after his rapid-fire talk in assembly to express some of his ideas about modern criminalology. Inspector Lester is a native of Mississippi and a graduate of the university, but the slight southern flavor in his talk does not prevent him from talking at a rapid tempo excelled by few public speakers. An unauthenticated report has it that Lester is able to give 225 words a minute in his speeches, and when he is talking in an interview he goes just as fast as he can on the speaker's platform. He is an Oxford graduate, having received a Rhodes scholarship for mental and physical merit. One must think and talk fast if he is to occupy the post of second in command to J. Edgar Hoover himself.

When asked under what circumstances the G-Men shoot it out with criminals, he explained that they never shoot unless the criminal tries to draw a gun. In most cases, Lester explained, the criminal makes no effort to resist. He is an Oxford graduate, having received a Rhodes scholarship for mental and physical merit. One must think and talk fast if he is to occupy the post of second in command to J. Edgar Hoover himself.

Inspector Lester criticized agitation for an international police force. He feels that we have enough of our own in our own nation and that there is no reason to become involved with other nations. He said that on the rare occasions when crimes do reach out into other nations, this proves no serious handicap to the G-Men. He cited the example of an investigator who is now in Paris to bring home an international bank robber.

Inspector Lester talked in a high school assembly, telling of the training of G-men, fingerprinting and scientific crime detection. Commenting on the Lindbergh crime, Lester expressed complete satisfaction that the right man died when Hauptmann was executed. He advised capable boys who had a liking for such work to train themselves that they may aid in the war against crime.

cupated in four muscades and has been a member of the Junior chorus and the Glee club. For the last two years Ernestine has taken part in the stunt night. Of numerous hobbies she considers as her favorites, tennis, dancing, swimming, skating, and school work. Lately it has been noticed that the postman is kept busy delivering letters from the University of Michigan to the Wilson residence. After much inquiry about the matter it was found that the former soda jerk of the Double Dip ice cream parlor on Main street has been the author of these letters. It is certainly too bad, we think, that Ernestine did not take a college course so she could attend the University of Michigan next year.

Robert Alger Wingard, born July 1918 at Plymouth, resides at the south corner of Liberty street and Starkweather avenue, and there pursues dozens of vocations. He has always attended Plymouth schools.

Bob's most prominent characteristic is his interest in every subject under the sun. He has been an enthusiastic philatelist, engaged in the printing business as a private venture, constructed radios, amassed books, edited amateur newspapers, played in orchestras, been a print-shop assistant, made a hobby of chemistry, served double-duties, advantageously traded bicycles, and generally gained experience. One of his principal occupations for about the past two years has been his association with young ladies of the freshman and sophomore classes. He is still engaged to a certain extent in some of these occupations, although his engagements with that famous orchestra known familiarly as Audrey and Her Boy Friends require much attention.

Whenever Mr. Wingard finds time to attend school between these periods of work, he takes part in several extra-curricular activities, being a member of the band and managing the school press. He takes great interest in school dances, as well as all others. His favorite subject is not history.

Mr. Wingard's old friends will recall that a few years ago he was pleasantly plump; however, the plumpness now has disappeared. He takes pleasure in new clothes, conversation, and staying up late. Last spring vacation he was on a trip with Bill Holdsworth and Jack Selke to Canada, where he reports that the police force is most courteous to motorists from the United States. No doubt that is a happy surprise to experienced driver Wingard.

Bernice Ellen Witt, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Witt, was born in Waterford on March 23, 1918. She moved to her father's home in Plymouth, Michigan, when she was one year old. She attended the Hough school for eight years, and entered Plymouth as a freshman with the class of '36. She was a member of the Glee club for two years and participated in two muscades. She was also a member of the Girl Reserves when a sophomore.

Bernice's hobbies are baseball, cooking, basketball, and sewing. Her favorite subject is biology and her favorite food is spaghetti. She likes to attend shows and from what she says one gathers she likes to attend them with Mr. V. Her pet dislike is two-faced people. Bernice has not yet decided what she is going to do when she graduates.

Edmund Paul Zelasko, better known throughout school as "Newburg" was born August 6, 1917 on a farm on Six roads where he still resides. He is the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Zelasko. Ed. is a product of the Newburg grade school and since entering Plymouth high in the ninth grade he has taken a straight commercial course. His plans are indefinite for the future although he says his greatest ambition is to be a professional baseball player.

Mr. Zelasko has taken an active part in sports and class activities. He has been a member of the varsity baseball nine for the last four years, making the team's regular third baseman when he was a freshman. He has taken part in inter-class sports and two years ago with J. Roginski was one of the school's tennis doubles champs. Ed. has belonged to the Varsity club for four years and the Glee club. He has participated in both the muscades and stunt night. Ed. enjoys sports of all kinds, dancing, and roller skating. Although Ed. lives on a dairy farm, he says he enjoys milking a cow but enjoys devouring chocolate milk.

Ruth Marie Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wilson, was born on August 25, 1917. She has always lived in Plymouth and attended our schools with the exception of the year 1929 which she spent in Los Angeles, California, where she attended the Topeka Drive school.

Besides doing the work required in the college preparatory course, Ruth has been an active member of the Drama club taking part in both the Junior and Senior plays, Leaders' club, Junior chorus, and participated in the musical in 1932. She has been active in all the different inter-class sports, including baseball, basketball, and volleyball.

Ruth is a jolly, brown-eyed, brown haired senior girl whose hobbies include dancing, ice skating, swimming, singing, and tennis. Her favorite colors are blue and brown, her favorite subject is chemistry, and Helen Handie is her best friend. She dislikes spinach, geometry, and conceited people.

After graduating this spring, she plans to leave for Los Angeles. After returning home, will attend the University of Michigan hospital for training, as her ambition which is to be a nurse.

JUNIORS APPOINT BANQUET COMMITTEES

Members of the Junior class have chosen committees to plan the annual Junior-Senior banquet, to be held in the Crystal room of the Mayflower hotel on the evening of June 5. Dorothy Hearn, general chairman, will work with these committees: Decorations: Ellen Mulry, chairman; Barbara Hubbell, and Norman Jean Roe; menu and table setting: Dorothy Hearn, chairman, Tom Brock, and Jewel Starkweather; seating: Elizabeth Hegge; program: Florance Norton, chairman; Pat McKinnon, Jean Dunham and Madelyn Weller; orchestra: Edith Mettetal, chairman, Mary Holdsworth, and Patricia Cassidy; Printing: Ireta McLeod, chairman; Jeanette Brown, and Marion Gordon; Clean-up: George Kenyon, chairman; Robert Egge, Tom Brock, and Kenneth Klein-schmidt.

ROCK TENNIS TEAM WINS ANOTHER 5-2

Plymouth high's tennis team continued to flash good form when it defeated Ann Arbor University high at Riverside park, May 12, by a score of 5-2. Moe, playing number one for the Rocks, defeated Newman, 7-5, 6-4. Smith number two won from Lee, 6-1, 6-4; Anderson whipped Bragg of University high, 6-4, 6-4. McClain suffered Plymouth's only singles defeat when he fell to McMurray, 6-3, 6-2. Lyke concluded the singles matches by winning the closest match of the afternoon, the scores being 0-6, 6-4, 6-2. In the doubles the Rock netters split, Norman and Passage winning 6-0, 6-2, and Hewitt and McAllister, losing to Hopkins and Brunner, 4-6, 6-1, 6-0.

ECORSE VICTIMS OF RAQUETTERS

Engaging in another league meet the Plymouth racquetters defeated Ecorse 2-1 last Monday, May 11. The match was decided in three sets because of rain. In the singles Moe, of Plymouth, was defeated by Kish, of Ecorse, 5-7, 6-0, 3-1. Smith, of Plymouth, defeated Wokas, of Ecorse, 7-5, 0-6, 3-2. The match between Anderson of Plymouth and Seavitt of Ecorse was called on account of rain. In the doubles, Norman and Passage of Plymouth, defeated Murray and Thompson of Ecorse 6-2, 9-7. The match between McAllister and Hewitt, of Plymouth, and Tibble and Pilon, of Ecorse, was called on account of rain.

PLYMOUTH DEBATERS GO TO NORTHVILLE

Four debaters from Plymouth staged a post-season debate this Wednesday at the Northville Exchange club. Three of the debaters, Tom Brock, Jewel Starkweather, and Jack Sessions, were in the state championship debate at Ann Arbor. They were joined by Florence Norton, a fourth member of the squad. The two girls took the affirmative side of the nationalization of munitions question, and the two boys took the negative side. The purpose of the debate was to stimulate interest in debate in Northville. For the last few years Northville has not had a high school debate team, but the Exchange club hopes to sponsor a team next year.

Trim Zoo Animals' Teeth Animals of zoo exhibits have to have their teeth cut, the reason being that they do not get enough exercise to keep the nails sufficiently worn down, and if the nail or claw were allowed to grow it would in time turn inwards and lacerate the flesh. This operation is rarely an easy task for the keepers, but it is a part of their daily work and has to be done.

Dave Nichol Goes To Chicago News

The many Plymouth friends of David M. Nichol, son of Rev. and Mrs. Walter Nichol will be interested in the following editorial comment taken from this week's issue of The Iron River Reporter:

"Our congratulations are extended David M. Nichol, editor of The Reporter for the past 30 months who has been given an attractive position with the Chicago Daily News, one of the fine metropolitan dailies of the country. Many young men who received their early newspaper training on The Reporter have gone to larger and more fruitful fields and of those in our recollection Nichol surpasses in aptitude and essential qualifications, most newspapermen of his age. He is building on a foundation of fine scholarship, earnestness and intellectual honesty and a profound curiosity in political and social problems. His presence on The News will be a worthy addition to its carefully selected staff."

The above was written by George Breen, publisher of the News.

"Dave," as he is best known to his many Plymouth friends, is a graduate of the department of journalism of the University of Michigan. He went to the Iron River Reporter soon after his graduation as a reporter, but soon was made editor of this newspaper, one of the leading publications of the Upper Peninsula. He is expected to visit his parents for a few days before going to Chicago to become associated with The News.

SEASONABLE DISHES

DURING the cold weather we enjoy the hot foods and richer puddings and meat dishes. The following good things will be suggestive of many others that may be prepared:

Did you ever serve pork or lamb chops rolled in corn flakes or rice flakes instead of crumbs? They are most attractive. Sliced escarrot or cauliflower crumbled with them makes an unusual and attractive way of serving such vegetables.

Spiced Steam Pudding.
Cream one tablespoon of shortening, add one-fourth of a cup of sugar, one cup of molasses, two and one-half cups of flour, sifted with a teaspoon of soda and one and one-half teaspoons of baking powder; add one cupful of sour milk, one teaspoon each of salt and cinnamon and one-fourth of a teaspoon each of cloves, nutmeg and allspice. Add one cup of cut raisins sprinkled with some of the flour. Steam one and one-half hours. Serve with any preferred sauce.

French Fruit Salad.
Peel equal quantities of bananas, pears and apples, cut into dice. Mix with mayonnaise enriched with cream and seasoned with lemon juice instead of vinegar. Serve on lettuce and garnish with cubes of tart jelly.

Escalloped Cheese and Olives.
Brown one small onion, chopped, in one tablespoon of butter. Add one and one-half cups of tomato strained, one-half teaspoon each of salt, sugar and one-fourth teaspoon of paprika with three tablespoons of tapioca; cook 15 minutes until the tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Place a layer of the mixture in a greased baking dish, cover with one-half cup of cheese and 18 ripe or stuffed olives coarsely chopped; finish with a cover of buttered crumbs and bake 20 minutes.

New Ford Plant At Northville Nearly Finished

Village Puts an End To Double Parking On Main Street

Construction work on the building proper at the new Ford plant at Northville has been completed and workmen are now busy building the over-head water power system that will provide a portion of the power for the big plant.

The underground flue that will carry the water from the pond west and north of Griswold road is being connected with the plant and probably will be ready for a test within the next two or three weeks.

By early summer there is not much doubt but what the new plant will be ready for the equipment and the new factory placed in operation. Some delay in construction work was caused by underground water conditions on the east end of the building, but this has been entirely overcome, and Northville will soon have in operation one of the finest industrial plants in the country.

Members of the Northville school board have been authorized by the PWA office in Washington to go ahead with plans for the new grade school building with the understanding that the government will furnish a $42,954 grant and a loan of $27,000 on a bond issue. The school will replace the one destroyed by fire in January.

Voters of the district met Monday evening of last week to rescind the $15,000 bond issue proposed last November for school addition and authorized the board to issue general obligation bonds amounting to $27,000, to be dated March 1, 1936. These bonds will be in $500 and $1,000 denominations and will draw interest of four per cent to be paid semi-annually.

An ordinance making double parking on the downtown streets a traffic violation was passed at the meeting of the village council last week. The new rule went into effect May 9, and Chief of Police William H. Safford was instructed to warn all violators until May 23, after which time tickets will be issued for all violations. A parking lot will be opened on the Phil H. Grennan property on the corner of Main street, and also the bank property at the corner of Main and Hutton streets.

Work is now under way on the Scout building, following weeks of delay lacking definite action on the part of the WPA. The executive committee in charge of construction and control of the building after it is completed is made up of Dr. H. H. Burkart, village president; Floyd Shafer, councilman; W. A. Ely, township supervisor; Superintendent R. H. Amerman; and Dr. R. M. Atchison, commander of the American Legion post; Orlov G. Owen, Scout executive; and Harold White, Scout committee man.

The board of the Methodist church is making plans for a celebration next fall marking the fiftieth anniversary of the building of the present church. There will be a formal program in honor of the occasion, and several improvements to the church and the church house are contemplated. The centennial of the founding of the Methodist society in Northville was observed in January, 1935.

Owen Emmons, principal of Cooley high school in Detroit, spoke at the meeting of the Parent-Teachers association last week in the high school gymnasium. The subject of his talk was "The Social Life of the High School Student." Mr. Emmons is the principal of a school in which more than 3,000 boys and girls are enrolled.

Dr. Wilbur H. Johnston was appointed health officer for Northville township at the last regular meeting of the board. He succeeded Dr. Paul N. Lovewell. Dr. Johnston has just completed three terms as health officer for the village.

The Northville Rotary club presented the Civic Amateur Theater players of Ann Arbor in "Where the Tree Falloeth," written by Dr. Harold Whitehall, instructor in English at the University of Michigan. Proceeds from the production will be placed in the student loan fund.

The King's Daughters held an all-day meeting May 19 at the home of Mrs. N. C. Schrader. A potluck dinner was served in the evening, followed by a meeting.

A special meeting of the village council was called Tuesday evening by Dr. H. H. Burkart, president, to approve the appointment of Dr. R. M. Atchison as health officer. Dr. Atchison is completing his internship at the University hospital in Ann Arbor in June, and will begin his new duties at once. Until that time his father, Dr. E. Atchison, will take over the work. For eight days the village was without a health officer following the verbal resignation of Dr. A. A. Holcomb, and reports stated that there was danger of a scarlet fever epidemic during this time.

Eleven boxing bouts have been scheduled for the second show to be given by the Northville civic association, May 28 in the high school gymnasium. Proceeds will go to the athletic association and the Northville Boy Scouts. The feature bout will be a five-round match between Edgar Wailing and Joe Malina. Other matches will include Freddie Rich of Mayvur sanatorium, and Arnold Robinson of Northville; Mike Underhill of South Lyon, and Chick Whipple of Northville; Dominick Dunn of Northville, and Walter Smith of Plymouth; Hard Whipple of Northville, and Don Hollis of South Lyon; Pussie Weston of Northville, and Young Joe Louis, of Detroit; and Roy Milton, of South Lyon, and Vincent, of Milford. Other boxers to take part will be Johnny Nadeau, of Northville; Joe Mitchell, of South Lyon; Tony Bongavoni, of Northville; Forbes Smith, of Plymouth; Stan Gleisner, of Detroit; Don Galbins, of South Lyon; and Gregg St. Pierre of Northville.

Northville high school students will present the famous Gilbert and Sullivan Operetta "H.M.S. Pinafore" for the second and final performance this evening in the high school auditorium. The performance is in charge of Leslie G. Lee, music director, and the cast includes Leonard Young, Robert Angove, Charles Strautz, Herman Trausnitz, Les Giles, James Hotchins, Jack Stubbenvoll, Evelyn Ambler, Isabelle Tibble, Patsy McLoughlin, Helen Johnson, Juanita Elkington and Isabelle Tewksbury.

E. C. Langfield addressed the meeting of the Northville Rotary club last week. Mr. Langfield spoke particularly of his sojourn in Florida, and of seeing the terrific havoc wreaked by the hurricanes.

Prof. John L. Brumm, head of the department of journalism at the University of Michigan, will be the commencement speaker for Northville high school June 18, at 8 o'clock. Exercises will be held in the Penniman-Allen theater. Prof. Brumm will take as his topic "Education for Living."

Trout Fishing Not Of Best Says Hawthor

Myron Hawthor who went up to his cottage near Baldwin shortly before the opening of the trout season, was at his home in Plymouth during the latter part of last week. He has returned to the northern part of the state and does not expect to be back in Plymouth until fall. Several trout fishing trips along the Pere Marquette river have not produced the best of results, he states, although he has had what he calls fair luck, but no big ones. He is another fisherman who declares that the early opening of the trout season is not a good thing.

The Bottomless Pit Years

Raising children is a jump from problem to problem for most parents. No sooner can they breathe a sigh of relief that the "How can we get Junior to eat" days are over than they discover a new problem—how to cook enough food to fill up the bottomless pit that Junior seems to have stretched into.

It's an important job to see that these always hungry adolescents get all they want to eat and that they eat the right foods. It takes lots of calories to supply enough energy to make possible the strenuous days that junior high or high school days require, much body-building food to take care of the elongating bones and changing body structure, and changing body structure.

Spear Gar Fish Over 4 Feet Long

When Dr. Brick Champe and Dr. Paul Butz returned home a few nights ago from a spearing trip up on the Huron river, they brought back with them what is believed to be the largest gar fish ever taken out of southern Michigan waters.

The fish from the point of its bill to its tail measured just a trifle more than four feet and two inches. These measurements were made the day following at the Power garage near the rear of the Penniman-Allen theater after the fish had been out of the water for more than 12 hours. It weighed not quite 13 pounds.

Reports have frequently been heard in Plymouth of fish increasing in size being seen by fishermen while spearing for suckers in the Huron river, but this big gar fish provided first real evidence of the tremendous size gar grow to in this locality. Its powerful bill was over nine inches and the teeth were over a quarter of an inch long.

In addition to landing the big gar, they had fairly good luck in spearing suckers and a few carp.

Propose Changes In Constitution

With the deadline for submission of initiative petitions proposing amendments to the state constitution still a month and a half away, six proposals have thus far been approved as to form of petition in the office of the Secretary of State.

No petitions have been filed as yet, the signatures of 125,893 voters, or one-tenth the total number voting for all candidates for governor in 1934, will be required in order that any initiative proposal be placed before voters at the general election next Nov. 3. The deadline for submission of signed petitions is set by the state constitution in Article 17, Section 2, providing that such petitions be submitted at least four months prior to the election.

In addition to any proposals which may be placed on ballot by initiative petition, two originating in the 1935 legislature will be offered to the voters. These would provide that: one, police might be seized near a residence, without a search warrant; and two, home rule and tax limitations for counties.

Most recently approved as to form of initiative petitions is one which would eliminate the ad valorem tax on real and personal property; and provide for a tax on the income of property.

The other five would, in brief provide:

1. For a single body legislature and civil service in state and county governments, and other changes.
2. Exemption from the State's retail sales tax of the sale of many staple foods.
3. That owners of other than residential property assessed at $50,000 or less, would be compelled to furnish a stipulated amount of employment.
4. For the legalizing of horse race betting in private clubs.
5. For a one-man state liquor control commission for the collection of state taxes, placing liquor sales in private hands.

Blanks Here For Baseball Contest

Entry blanks in the Goodrich baseball contest, the winner of which will be given two box seats to the 1936 World's Series, with his and an adult companion's expenses paid, have been received by Willoughby Brothers Shoe store, and are now available on request. Robert Willoughby has announced. Mr. Willoughby said that in addition to the trip to the World's Series, the Goodrich baseball contest will award 200 other prizes, including big league fielders' gloves and special Louisville Slugger bats being the autographs of the Detroit Tigers, 1935 World's Champions.

"The prize will be awarded to the boy or girl who names the player who will lead the American League in home-runs up to and including August 1, this year, and the pitcher who will lead the National League in strike-outs up to the same date." Mr. Willoughby explained. "In addition, the entrants will have to write a short essay giving their reasons for their choice of players, and awards will be based on the reasoning logic displayed in this essay."

"We'll be glad to give local boys and girls complete details of this contest and provide them with entry blanks, as we are anxious for a Plymouth boy or girl to win. Girl winners will receive tennis racquets instead of gloves and bats."

Fishermen Land Some Big Carp

During the past week or so a number of exceptional big carp have been speared by Plymouth residents in the Huron river south of the bridge just at the edge of Kent lake. Russell Powell who two years ago brought back to Plymouth a carp that weighed considerably over 25 pounds last week speared one that weighed 31 pounds. Mr. Powell, John Campbell and James Goddard, who were spearing together, not only landed the big carp, but they were fortunate in getting some good sized suckers.

William Rambo spearing in the same river on another night landed a big 24 pound carp. All have reported good results from a few hours spent in spearing up on the Huron.

Spearing parties along the Rouge river between Plymouth and Northville have also landed some fairly good sized suckers. One fisherman will carry the jack-light while his two companions walk along the banks and do the spearing.

Style Silhouettes

Hot weather—and the children begin to tease to barefoot—the old swimming hole, or its more modern successor, the swimming pool suddenly becomes more popular, and the great American occupation every weekend is going somewhere.

Sometimes these trips are just short Sunday affairs, with perhaps a picnic lunch to make it more interesting. Others are real week-end parties, a stay at the home of friends or perhaps a house party at a lake cottage. In any event, the matter of wearing apparel is extremely important, whatever the type of occasion, and the same clothes will by no means do for everything.

Sports clothes are snappy and attractive, but there are various kinds from which to choose. What you would choose to wear for golf would not be the thing for a tramp in the woods. Golf clothes, by the way, are styled for comfort as well as appearance. A skirt of lightweight wool should have plenty of pleats to allow a free stride. Then you may choose from several styles of blouses—one of those mannish models of silk shirting to be worn with a tie, or a more informal polo shirt, open at the neck. If you are playing on a sunny day you will want a soft comfortable summer felt hat with a brim, both for shading your face and keeping your hair from your eyes. Flat-heeled golf shoes and the styles are most carefully thought out so that you won't appear to be walking in "gunboats" as once was the case complete that outfit.

If you are going to the beach, say for Memorial day week-end, there are a few things to be considered. But here is just a word of warning: these same outfits do not look so well away from the background of a sunny sandy shore, a sailboat, a tennis court or some place of the sort where shirts and slacks, culottes or shorts serve a practical purpose.

For the beach there are all types of bathing suits in ray colors, either knitted or rubber. With painted wooden clogs or colored rubber shoes, a rally striped towel, bright beach robe, flopping sun hat and dark glasses you are equipped for the day. It's a simple matter to carry all this equipment with you for you can buy waterproof beach bags of canvas or rubber—and they are decorative as well as convenient. Just the thing for residents of a state that you won't appear to be walking in "gunboats" as once was the case. (This really isn't publicity for the Tourist and Resort association—probably just the first stages of "vacation fever.")

If you should be invited on an expedition "roughing it"—say fishing trip in the north country or a less pretentious outing in the woods nearer home—by all means enter into the spirit of the thing and leave your good clothes behind. Stout hiking boots or shoes, a heavy skirt, comfortable blouse or sweater and not-too-new suede or leather jacket would make an ideal outfit. You will have a much better time than if you are trying to keep a neat ensemble unharmed by pulling twigs and thorns, to say nothing of the possibilities of an occasional ducking in the water or an unlooked-for thunder shower.

There will be more "swanky" week-end parties of course. Teas and dinners and dances. For them you can really "go to town" in the matter of dressing, for summer frocks are more dainty and dressy than ever this year. Nearly all of them are "peep" pastels, in plain colors or ray prints. Many of them have jackets with huge puffed sleeves—some of the jackets short and fitted, others long and flaring toward the bottom.

For more informal wear, say an afternoon bridge, you might well choose one of those new flowered print silks with redingotes of transparent net in navy, black or brown, according to the colors in the frock. Then there are floor-length net frocks worn over rustling silk petticoats, many of them with ruffled hems.

Now for the stay-at-homes—for there are many of us who enjoy nothing so much as a quiet week-end, with perhaps a few friends coming in, very informal, for Sunday evening buffet lunch and perhaps bridge. Then of course, one of the hundreds of cool, simple yet attractive wash frocks is just the thing. It is useless to try even to attempt to enumerate the various types and styles which you can buy for a

Pioneer Pastor Was Contractor and Builder for Baptist Church

Structure Dedicated By Detroit Man In 1856

(Installment IV)
Editor's Note: This installment of William B. Gray's book "Eighty-Five Years of Life and Labor," completes the story of his pastorate in Plymouth.

This initial baptism was followed by the baptism of twenty-five who were the trophies of grace won in the very beginning of my work in Plymouth. We were blessed every year with gracious revivals, in some instances as many as eighty being added to the church.

When four years of this very busy pastorate had gone by, the need of preparation for the holy calling had so impressed itself upon me that I asked the church to release me from my pastoral work that I might go to our institution of learning at Kalamazoo. They would not hear to it for a moment, assured me of the acceptability of my ministry, and pleaded with me as to the interests of the church which so fully demanded my continued labors. I was disappointed, for I had really a great desire to get some further education. I yielded to the persuasion of the brethren, and I am almost sure that it was as God would have it, and while I have not been able personally to give to the churches the labor of a thoroughly trained ministry, I have the blessed knowledge that some of the most finely trained men in our ministry today were brought to Christ through my humble labors; that others have been educated through the means with which God has blessed me; that today I am having a blessed part in helping to educate the trained ministry in our home schools and in our southern institutions, and after I am gone, the endowments and scholarships already provided for will constitute a blessed and enduring memorial to myself and my devoted wife who shared with me all my desires for Christian education.

Within six years we had so far outgrown our meeting-house as to make the problem of building a more urgent one. The people immediately cried that they were too poor. I argued that the need created the ability. Having finally secured the consent of the church to undertake the enterprise, the question of location was raised by one Brother Allen, who believed that the best interests could be secured by locating at the Corners, where the larger center of population had been formed, and where nearly all the stores and shops were located. This vexing question we settled in this way. Two subscription papers were drawn up and placed in Brother Allen's hands; one for locating the church at the Corners, and one for building on the site then occupied. To his surprise, not one man could be found to subscribe a dollar for the new location, but many subscribed very few dollars. There are lines, plain and with blocked prints, tub silks in solid colors, prints and plaids, dotted swiss and crisp cool organdies, and materials with polka dots all the way from pinhead to dollar size, whites and pastels lead, of course.

And the more you think of it, the more the idea of lounging on a cool screened porch, in a cool sleeveless frock, with a frosted glass of cool lemonade or iced tea and a book sounds like the ideal way to spend a week-end on which the highways will be two black lines of cars, the parks and beaches will be crowded with hot and tired picknickers and the golf courses so jammed that the task of finding your ball in the confusion takes all the joy out of the game.

generously toward building where we were already located, the subscription finally reaching fifteen hundred dollars.

Then I made the following proposition: That they put in the basement, doing the necessary excavating and putting up the wall; allow me the use of all available material in the old church at Stutch Corners, and I would agree to erect a building thirty by forty feet, with an extra twelve feet for entrance and steeple, and give them the building complete and ready for occupancy for two thousand dollars. The official men of the church recognized the liberality of the proposition, and I was directed to commence work at once. When completed, not a dollar was due to any man, except the preacher-builder to whom five hundred dollars was due. The house was dedicated in January of 1856, the dedication sermon being preached by Rev. O. M. Comstock, of Detroit, Michigan. This building was repaired extensively and rededicated in 1900.

The results of these 15 years of hard labor may be summed up briefly in the erection of two meeting houses, the baptism of over eight hundred, attendance upon nearly one hundred weddings, and more than one hundred funerals. A new element was introduced into the church by the coming into Michigan of a number of families from New York state, who, taking advantage of the rise of land there, disposed of their farms for fabulous prices, and came to Michigan, where land was better and very much cheaper. They were able to settle most comfortably and have a surplus, which was invested in horses and carriages and fine clothes. They set a new pace, and especially in the church was their uncongeniality most pronounced. With my love for the people with whom I had so long lived and labored, I was convinced that the new order called for another style of preacher, and so I laid down this work by resignation, having the approval of God, and the fullest appreciation of my long-time neighbors and brethren. It was a blessed pastorate, and one that, in point of time and results, was never to be repeated in the following four decades of ministerial service. The memories of all these trials and triumphs were vividly recalled, when, in 1900, in my eighty-fourth year I visited these scenes again, and for the pastor-elect, who was fresh from school and not yet ordained, I had the joyful privilege of baptizing in the old Plymouth church ten happy newborn souls. Memory forces to my lips the declaration, "Surely goodness and mercy have followed me all the days of my life, and I have great confidence that I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

The retirement from the Plymouth pastorate was one of the sorest experiences of my long ministry. I had given to that field fifteen years of my young manhood. From nothing as a beginning, I had seen the work grow till a substantial membership of nearly two hundred blessed the closing year of my long pastorate. In a congregation of five hundred frequently waited upon my preaching of the word. The larger part of the membership I had baptized, many of them I had married, and there was probably not a home for miles around where I had not gone with the comforts of the Gospel in seasons of sorrow.

It had not seemed hard to resign, but when the resignation had taken effect, and I found myself no longer the leader of the hosts of Israel, a feeling took possession of me which tested my loyalty to the divine calling in the severest manner. I did not feel as though I could pursue the work further. To go among strangers seemed to me out of the question, and so I returned to my trade, and practically abandoned the thought of further ministerial labors.

It was in this season of despondency that I learned that God not only calls, but he keeps his servants. He had all the means at hand to make it impossible for me to forsake the paths in which he would yet use me. One of the means thus used was my devoted wife. Every suggestion of mine as to the forsaking of the ministry she positively refused to entertain. She said, "I did not marry you as a minister, but since God has called you to the work, and so signally blessed you in it, you must now continue in it." She seemed fully determined in the matter, and it became evident that domestic felicity would be greatly advanced by my pursuing the old lines of duty. In all the after years I realized that "Whoso findeth a wife a good thing, and obtaineth favor of the Lord," and also that "a prudent wife is from the Lord."

Outstanding Film Entertainment Is Scheduled Here

Margaret Sullivan and Henry Fonda Star In Comedy Romance

Top-notch entertainment is promised patrons of the Penniman-Allyn theater for the coming week with "The Moon's Our Home," starring Margaret Sullivan and Henry Fonda, opening on Sunday for three days, to be followed Wednesday and Thursday by "It Had to Happen," with George Raft and Rosalind Russell, and Friday and Saturday by "The Preview Murder Mystery," featuring Reginald Denny and Frances Drake.

"The Moon's Our Home," taken from the Faith Baldwin novel of the same name, is the story of two internationally famous celebrities, Chery Chester, a motion picture actress played by Miss Sullivan, and Anthony Amberton, author, portrayed by Mr. Fonda, who learn to hate each other merely on the strength of their reputations. Eventually they meet under assumed names, fall in love and marry, but their temperaments clash almost immediately and the bride leaves the bridegroom flat. Frantic search and reconciliation follow. It's a gay comedy romance with dialogue by the inimitable Dorothy Parker.

A new romantic team, George Raft and Rosalind Russell, are brought together for the first time in "It Had to Happen." Miss Russell plays the part of Beatrice Newnes, a wealthy heiress, and Raft has the role of Enrico Scalfa, an immigrant boy who falls in love with her on a ship coming to America and later works his way to a place of political power in the city. Complications follow as the lovely lady's husband becomes involved in a fraudulent bank deal, while Raft is "framed" by his political enemies but, as usual, "all's well that ends well."

"The Preview Murder Mystery," latest addition to series of "thrill" films, is the story of murder and terror in a Hollywood film studio. Eight well known stars are cast in this picture—Reginald Denny, Frances Drake, Gail Patrick, Rod LaRoque, George Barbier, Ian Keith, Conway Tearle and Jack Mulhall. The action takes place in a studio where a fiend roams at large for days, leaving behind a trail of deaths that for some time baffle the master minds of both studio and police departments.

11:15 Bible school. 6:30 Meeting of young people. 7:30—The pastor brings the first of two addresses on the present liquor situation. This is the first we have given over the entire time to this start of this matter. After all truth told is the hope of humanity and we better learn that we cannot redeem a nation through debauchery and dissipation. What about repeal? Where did this start after all? What has happened since the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment? Who is making the beer and liquor used today? Who is doing the drinking today? Does the world expect the church member or the preacher to be a beer-guzzler? Come on all you cocktail lovers—all you folks that say there is no harm in the social glass. There will be some most startling facts revealed in this address next Sunday night.

This can't all be told in one Sunday evening, so a week from this Sunday night we shall deal especially with this subject from the standpoint of youth. We shall take you right into many of the beer-savens. Do you know what is going on there? We are going to tell you without any reserve.

Mid-week prayer service Wednesday evening at 7:30. Expert instructors are coming to us for the Daily Vacation Bible school that begins June 22. More about this later.
