

Labor Official Is Speaker for Kiwanis Tuesday

Committee Personnel for Coming Year Announced

Kiwanians heard an interesting talk by A. C. Lappin, a judge in workmen's compensation cases, at their regular meeting Tuesday evening at the Mayflower hotel. Lappin was for many years connected with the Ten Eyck lecture bureau and has traveled all over the United States as lecturer. He holds the office of deputy labor commissioner at the present time. The subject of his talk was "Arbitration vs. Litigation," and he cast some very interesting side-lights on the present labor situation.

The speaker for next week's meeting will be Kenneth Barrett, former Plymouth high school graduate of Plymouth high school. He later received his diploma from Albion college and is at present professor of speech at the University of Syracuse. His talk will be on "Teaching the Queen's English."

Committee appointments for the year were recently announced by President Claude J. Dykhouse. The board of directors is made up of Mr. Dykhouse, James Gallimore, vice president, Robert Jolliffe, secretary, Roy Fisher, treasurer, together with George Burr, Chauncey Rauch, Edwin Schrader, Norman Denne, H. Shrine Drill to Be Held Tonight

Much interest is being shown in the exhibition drill to be given by the Moslem temple of Detroit, under the auspices of the Suburban Shrine club, at 7 o'clock this evening on Main street in front of Kellogg park.

Taking part in the drill will be the patrol, million-dollar Shrine band, chanters, stunt corps and members of the Divan of Moslem temple. Arrangements for the event have been made by Blake Gillies, Shrine ambassador. Mr. Gillies reports that the drill is said to be the finest in the country.

More than 250 Shriners from Detroit as well as from Plymouth, Wayne, Ypsilanti and Northville, are expected to attend. The ceremonies will follow an address of welcome to be given by Mayor Henry Honderick at 7 o'clock. Every Shrine member is requested to wear his fez for the occasion. Permission has been granted by the city council for the closing of Main street between West Ann Arbor and Penniman during the drill.

The next event on the calendar for local Shriners will be the dinner dance and bridge which the Suburban Shrine club, of which Noble Fred D. Schrader is president, will hold at the Mayflower hotel Thursday evening, June 13, at 7 o'clock. A chicken dinner will be served, and Don Patterson's orchestra will play for the dancing later in the evening.

Article by Doris Shinn for Paper Tells About Trip

Spelling Champion of State Writes of Experiences

Editor's Note: The following article was written for The Plymouth Mail by Doris E. Shinn, 11-year-old eighth grader in Plymouth junior high who won the Metropolitan spelling bee and was one of the contestants in the national one held May 26 in Washington, D. C.

Going to Washington and really seeing the places we have read about was a wonderful and happy experience. The airplane ride except the noise, was very pleasant. I especially liked the take-off and landings. We flew over a mile high part of the time, and the country looked like a funny green and tan checkerboard.

About the first thing I saw was the Washington Monument. You can see that from any part of the city, and no building in the city can be made over 11 stories high, as they do not want any building higher than the monument. We went to the top of the monument in the elevator, but I walked down the 898 steps.

At the Smithsonian institution we saw the "Spirit of St. Louis," and the "Winnie Mae." I was interested in the bicycle exhibit, showing bicycles from the clumps worn ones to the modern streamlined ones. We saw dresses worn by the President's wives, from Martha Washington to Mrs. Hoover.

The Congressional Library is one of the most beautiful buildings in the world. In it we saw the original Declaration of Independence and Constitution. We also saw the Gutenberg Bible—the first book in the world to be printed with a movable press.

At the Flier Art Gallery we saw among other interesting things two brown tigers which were made two thousand years ago.

We met Congressman George A. Dondero. He took us to the House of Representatives while it was in session in the Senate's building. He is the only other Congressman. I met Speaker Byrnes who died a few days ago, and Edith Rogers, from Massachusetts. After we had lunch with Congressman Dondero, we went through the Capitol to him. He took us on the Senate's building. There I saw Senator Borah.

One day we went to the White House, and I, along with the other spellers, met President Roosevelt, and shook hands with him. He was very nice and friendly.

In the Natural History Building of the Smithsonian Institution, we saw skeletons of dinosaurs and other pre-historic animals. We saw a whale and its skeleton which was 78 feet long. There were many kinds of stuffed animals.

On the way to Mount Vernon, we stopped at Alexandria. We went to the old Christ Church that Washington attended. I sat in his pew. We also went to the United States made especially for him by Louis XVI. The grounds sloped down to the Potomac River, with brick walks bordered with honeysuckle, leading to his grave and to the river. We went back to Washington by boat.

We visited Arlington Cemetery, and I got a picture of the tomb of the unknown Soldier, just as they were changing guards.

At the Zoological Gardens, I liked the elephants best. They looked like they were coming in from the tropics. When they were fed, they would blow through their trunks at the crowd, and everyone would promptly scatter.

When we saw the Franciscan monastery, under it were copies of the Roman catacombs. When we came out we went through the gardens, where the roses were. They were gorgeous, and in all colors.

I had a lovely trip to Washington, but like Michigan best.

—Doris E. Shinn.

All members of the club and other interested persons are urged to attend.

Commission Sets Budget for Year Beginning July 1

Total Is $79,387 and $67,986 Is Spread on Tax Rolls

At an adjourned meeting of the city commission held Monday evening, the budget for Plymouth for the fiscal year beginning July 1 was set at $79,387. Subtracting miscellaneous revenues amounting to $11,401 leaves $67,986 remaining to be spread on the tax rolls. The amount to be spread in 1935 was $58,351.75.

The total valuation for this year is $5,036,004, or 173,000 more than last year, making the tax rate $13.50. This is slightly higher than in 1935 when Plymouth had one of the lowest rates in the state, but is a mill and a half under the 15-mill charter limitation. The increase over last year is due primarily to two things, according to City Manager C. H. Elliott: (1) the fact that $2,500 in bonds is due and must be paid, and (2) the cost of taxation in which the city was involved must be met.

The budget for the coming year has been set up as follows:

General fund	$24,225
Highways	6,331
Bonds and Int.	18,700
Sewer	1,761
Police	8,050
Street Lighting	6,880
Contingent	6,617.50
Welfare	4,000
Total	$79,387.00

Playgrounds Are Open for Summer

The summer recreation program opens June 2 at the Starweather and Central playgrounds. Activities of all types for both children and adults will be offered Monday through Friday of each week, beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning, according to Kenneth J. Matheson, director.

In addition to organized games, handicraft work of all kinds will be taught by competent instructors. A softball league for adult girls, with games to be played in the evenings, is being organized. Another league for girls of high school age will play games at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Those interested in taking part are asked to get in touch with Miss Luella M. Kees or H. Beyer, who will be in charge.

Services Held for Mrs. Ella Maben

Mrs. Ella Jane Maben, who has resided at the Hotel Mayflower with her son, F. Clair Maben and wife for the last six years, passed away Tuesday evening, June 9. She was the widow of the late Buell G. Maben.

Surviving are her son, F. Clair Maben; brother, R. C. Carpenter, of Fremont, Nebraska, and a sister, Alice Minor of Hooper, Nebraska.

The body was brought to the Schrader Brothers Funeral Home, and later taken to Forest City, Iowa, where funeral services were held Thursday, June 11. Interment was made in the family lot in that city.

Electric Oven to be Demonstrated

For four days a Wednesday through Friday and Saturday, June 12, 13, 14 and 15, Plymouth women will have an opportunity to see at first hand the accomplishments of "Dutch Oven Susan," the electric cook. There will be a special demonstration at the Detroit Edison company office in Plymouth, on South Main street, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., and the public is invited to attend.

The popularity of this modern cooking appliance is due in no small part to the fact that it offers the numerous advantages of electric cooking at low cost. Women who have felt that they could not afford an electric range find this new electric cooker an ideal solution to the problem. It bakes cool, comfortable cooking during the hot summer months when one is loath to use a large stove to prepare meals. And after one has acquired this pleasant introduction to electric cooking, it is a short step to using the electric range. It compares favorably with ranges in several sizes, one to fit the needs of every family—whether two persons or ten.

So compact is the electric cooker that it can be tucked in a corner almost anywhere. It is so well adapted that it may be (Continued on page four)

Alumni Banquet Plans Complete

Final arrangements have been completed for the annual banquet of the Alumni association of Plymouth high school to be given Friday evening, June 19, in honor of this year's graduates.

A chicken dinner will be served at 6 o'clock in the high school auditorium by the Rebelet lodge. Following this there will be a program on the theme, "Doctor, Lawyer, Merchant, Chief," in which only alumni will participate. Dancing will come after this program.

Special effort is being made to reunite the class of 1926 and those classes of each preceding decade. These reunions are under the direction of Mary Connor, 1886; Sam Spicer, 1896; Robert Jolliffe, 1906; Ellen Gardiner Laible, 1916; and Marian Beyer, 1926. A prize will be awarded to the class with the highest percentage of members present.

The business meeting will be of special importance this year because of the questions to be considered. The increased size of the graduating class and the resulting expense has made it necessary for the association to find some more adequate means of financing its annual banquet. This year's graduating class contributed toward the cost this year, but a discussion of activities to substitute for the banquet has been deemed advisable.

The executive board of the association, composed of Catherine Nichol, president; Floyd Eckles, vice-president; Arnold Ash, secretary-treasurer; and Coraline Rathburn, Robert Jolliffe, Joan Cassidy and Marian Bennett Morrow, has appointed the following committees to take charge of this year's banquet:

Tickets, Floyd Eckles and Coraline Rathburn; menu and table decorations, Marian Bennett Morrow, Dorothy Fish Campbell, Henrietta Honord Dobbs, Louise Spicer Tritten and Cora Renwick Springer; program, Alvina Strenck Crumble and Catherine Nichol; publicity, Juanita Coe Sutherland, Barbara Horton and Arnold Ash; nominating, Irene Krauter Roland, Elton Ashton and Irene Humphries; table, Claude Rocker.

Tickets for the banquet may be obtained at Dodge's and Blackstaff's drug stores.

D. A. R. Chapter to Meet in Wayne

Mrs. Tracy McMurtry, of South Monroe avenue, Wayne, will be hostess to the members of the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter of the D. A. R. Monday, June 15.

A co-operative picnic luncheon will be served at noon, the members planning to leave Plymouth at 12:30. All members are urged to display the flag on Sunday, June 14, which is Flag day.

Burr, Buzzard Are Re-Elected to School Board

Sutherland Wins Over Dr. Olsvaver for One-Year Term

George S. Burr and Claude H. Buzzard were re-elected trustees for the Plymouth school district Monday in the regular school election Monday, defeating Mrs. Florence Johns for three-year terms. Don Sutherland ran ahead of Dr. John Olsvaver for the one-year term and will replace Charles H. Rathburn, Jr., who was not a candidate for reelection.

There were 230 votes cast by registered voters of the district at the polls in Plymouth high school. Mr. Burr was given 146 votes, Mr. Buzzard, 140, and Mrs. Johns, 98. Mr. Sutherland received 112 and Dr. Olsvaver 104.

Other members of the board are Herald F. Hamill and Russell A. Kirkpatrick.

Man Held After House is Entered

Bennett Howell is serving a 90-day term in the Detroit House of Correction on a drunk and disorderly charge, pending an investigation by local police into his past record.

Howell was taken into custody the morning of May 30 after he had forced entrance through a gallon into the house on South Harvey street occupied by William Garrett. Garrett called the police who caught Howell in the underbrush back of John Coveau's house, also on South Harvey. At the time he was arrested he had a gallon of wine in his possession which police said was taken from the Mayflower hotel.

Officers state that Howell has served some time in a Nebraska prison. They are investigating other cases of breaking and entering reported during the past year to determine whether Howell was involved in any of them.

Mrs. Blake writes that she is finding southern California a most delightful place to live and has enjoyed many interesting trips to the mountains, desert and beaches. On a recent trip to the mountains, she was very glad to return to the valley without even getting into the snow. She said it rained most of the way up to Ice House canyon and by the time they reached the park at the top it was raining and snowing and hundreds of cars and people were milling about eager to get away from the storm. The nearby mountain peaks were completely invisible from the snow, hail and rain falling and traffic on the narrow mountain road. However, she was reminded of Michigan.

One of their most colorful and interesting trips, she wrote, was to Roaring Ridge Petrified forest and Red Rock Canyon.

Mrs. Blake spent Memorial day weekend at Boulder, Dam and Las Vegas. She said thousands of people who had made no reservations could find no place to stay there overnight. Some of them stayed up all night in gambling clubs while many others slept in their cars or rolled in blankets on the desert floor. She said that Las Vegas and Boulder City, Las Vegas cafes, hotels and drugstore lunch counters had almost run out of food by 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening and at 8:30 hundreds of people were still walking around the main streets of the town, or were lined up as though waiting to get into a theater, all hopeful of still getting some kind of dinner.

Many others were glad to dine on cookies and fruit bought in a few grocery stores they found open. Besides visiting the Dam, where Mrs. Blake said they were taken 270 feet below the surface of the water now filling up Mead lake, and walked through one of the tunnels to the power house on the Arizona side they took a side trip through the Valley of Fire, the lower end of Grand Canyon.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Blake has a son, Herbert, living in Long Beach, California, whom she has visited, and a son stationed in Honolulu, T. H., whom she hopes to see in California before she returns to Plymouth.

Smith Tells of Duties on Jury

An interesting account of a month's jury service in the circuit courts of Judges Robert Sage and John Kaminski is given by Harmon Smith of this city. These particular courts, states Mr. Smith, determine all landlord and tenant cases, and foreclosures of property when decreed by the court. The jurymen's duty is to decide those cases in which a jury trial is requested.

Since the real estate situation is active and on the upward trend, many landlords served seven or thirty day notices on tenants to move so that they (the landlords) could raise the rent. Mr. Smith says. In most of these cases a jury trial was asked for. "Each judge handles an unbelievable number of cases, 1,500 a month or 75 in one morning," Mr. Smith reports. "Their afternoon duties are to take care of the cases referred to them, together with such matters as hearings on dissolutions of partnership, dissolutions of attach-

Dog License Fees Payable Here Now

Every dog has his day, but in order for him to enjoy it in the city of Plymouth he must have a license. So the city fathers have ruled. Dog license fees of $1.00 are payable now to the city treasurer. After July 1 a 50 per cent penalty is added, so all people who have dogs are urged to renew their licenses as soon as possible.

Postoffice Plans for Distribution of Service Bonds

Will Remain Open in Evenings Here Next Week

According to announcement made this week by Postmaster Frank Learned, the local postoffice will be open several evenings next week to facilitate the distribution and certification of adjusted service bonds to World War veterans of Plymouth and vicinity.

Since absolute identification is required by the government, Commander Harry Hunter, of the Plymouth Ex-Service Men's club, and Commander Melvin Guthrie, of the Myron H. Beals post of the American Legion, or other officials of these two veterans organizations, will be on hand to aid in identifying the men.

If any of the bonds arrive here by Tuesday, the postoffice will be open that evening, as well as Wednesday evening and Thursday evening if necessary. Mr. Learned states:

As previously explained, the bonds will be sent by registered mail from Chicago on the first available train after midnight of June 14. Government regulations require that they must be delivered to the addressee in person. In every case, upon hand to addressee must be known to the carrier or positive identification furnished before his bonds are turned over to him. The bonds are in 500 denominations, with all additional odd amounts taken care of by check.

The checks may be cashed immediately but the bonds must be certified by Postmaster Learned or the assistant postmaster, Miss Rose Hawthorne, and sent by this office to Detroit, from where checks will be mailed directly to the owners of the bonds.

Bonds are not transferable, but must be held or cashed by the owners. If they are not cashed, they will draw three per cent interest annually. It is anticipated that about 300 veterans in the locality will receive their bonus payments through the postoffice here.

Garden Club Hears Address on "Iris"

At the meeting of the Garden club of Plymouth, held Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Whipple on Reservoir road, the club enjoyed the gardens of their hostess, which contain 250 varieties of iris.

Following the tour of the gardens, Mr. Whipple, who is an authority on iris, gave the club a very interesting talk on "Growth of Iris" after which a short business meeting was held.

All club members wishing to attend the convention at Cranbrook on June 15 and 16 must make their reservations with Mrs. Paul Wiedman or Mrs. Sam Spicer by this Friday evening.

On June 18 the club has been invited to join the Detroit club at a basket picnic at 12:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Melvin Guthrie on the Newburg road.

An interesting program is being arranged for the state meeting at Cranbrook headquarters, for which will be at the Kingswood school. The highlights of the June 15 session will be an illustrated lecture on "Michigan Birds," to be given at 2 o'clock by Walter P. Nickell, a history of Cranbrook, a tour through the buildings and grounds, tea on the terrace, a banquet at the Oakland Hills Country club, with music by the General Motors choir directed by Vernon B. Kellett, and a talk by W. J. Cameron, of Dearborn. On Tuesday there will be a box luncheon, followed by visiting of gardens in Bloomfield Hills, and Birmingham.

Miss Doris Hamill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamill of Starkweather avenue, will be graduated from the college of literature at the University of Michigan this month. Miss Hamill, who has just completed a four-year literary course, has one more year in the University school of music before she completes her work in that department.

Members and such other cases as the circuit court may demand. I was amazed at the vast amount of work these men do to alleviate the hardships of landlord and tenant," he concluded.

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY LOST

No man in American public life has stood out more prominently and in a more favorable light during recent years than United States Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan. He has waged a tireless and a successful fight in behalf of the so-called common people of his country. Intelligent, patriotic and possessed of inspiring leadership, he has been regarded as a possible strong contender for the Republican nomination for president—until Michigan's own state delegation to the national Republican convention let the opportunity of a century go by because it didn't possess the right sort of loyal, fighting spirit. Senator Vandenberg could have been nominated for president by the Republicans if Michigan's delegation had gone into the convention with a "pro or die" determination to force his selection as the leader of Republicanism. But as it was the "boys" wanted to get on the bandwagon early, they didn't give much thought to the ceaseless battle for fair government and clean government that has been consistently waged by Senator Vandenberg. These gentlemen who went to Cleveland as delegates to the convention from Michigan should not forget that there is another day coming when Senator Vandenberg may be called upon to lead Republicanism out of the wilderness in which it seems to be so badly floundering. By their actions they have most unfortunately delayed that day.

WE SHOULD NOT FORGET

The school year just drawing to a close has been a most eventful one for Plymouth's public schools. Outstanding success after success has been won in various athletic and educational competitive events throughout the state. These school contests have provided the opportunity for comparison with other and much larger school systems throughout the state, and in all of these Plymouth has led or closely contested for first honors. The contestants surely are entitled to their portion of praise for the splendid work they did, but we should not forget that behind their success has been leadership and inspiration and proper training. These successes were not won by just mere chance. While we are extending to the youngsters our praises, we should go a step beyond and add our sincere congratulations to Supt. George Smith and the faculty members. It has been through their inspiring leadership and their ability to provide the right kind of educational training that has resulted in all these successes. The Plymouth Mail extends its congratulations to the school district for having such capable and outstanding educational leadership at the head of its school system. We are indeed most fortunate.

A FLAT-TIRE ARGUMENT

Wilber Brucker in a talk before a group of newspaper men at Ann Arbor some weeks ago condemned congress for being a "rubber stamp congress. His one campaign argument against Senator Couzens is based upon the fact that Senator Couzens has refused to be a rubber stamp for anybody or anything, especially the politicians. Wherein does Mr. Brucker find any consistency in his argument as to why Senator Couzens should be defeated because of his independence, when he loudly condemns the very thing that Senator Couzens has refused to do?

ROBERT McCLELLAND
The constitutional convention of 1835 furnished the beginning point for many political careers in Michigan's early history. Robert McClelland, a Democrat who played an important part, not only in state history, but in national affairs, served as a member of that convention, being elected from Monroe. McClelland, who was born in 1807, found it necessary, when 17 years old to provide his own resources. Although the son of rich Philadelphia parents, a change in fortune made it necessary for him to make his own way. After being admitted to the bar he came to Michigan and practiced law. Governor Mason appointed him as bank commissioner, McClelland being the first man to ever serve in that capacity in this state. McClelland was later elected to the state legislature and was speaker of that body in 1843. He was elected a member of congress, retiring in 1848 to his home in Monroe. Soon after he left congress the constitutional convention of 1850 was called and he was elected a member. In 1851 the new state constitution took effect and it was necessary to elect a governor for one year in order to prevent the state being without an executive for a time. Mr. McClelland was elected and in 1852 he was re-elected for a term of two years. In March 1853, he was appointed secretary of the interior by President Pierce, resigning his post as governor. Andrew Parson, who was lieutenant governor, acted as governor until the election of a new governor. After completing his term in the cabinet, he returned to Michigan, and in 1867 when the state held another constitutional convention he was elected a member of that body, serving at three different times in Michigan constitutional conventions. Robert Walker and Leigh Passage were Plymouth delegates to the State Fremans' convention held in Manistee this week. The bowery dance given at the home of Ira Wilson's in Elm last Friday night was a success, a large crowd being in attendance and a fine time reported. Mrs. W. O. Allen presented to the Plymouth school a beautiful walnut case 7 feet long and 8 feet high. It has been placed for the present in the domestic science room where it will be a very useful article. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pankow of Elm entertained the following at dinner last Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Will Cort, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pankow, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gow and Mr. Cars from east and west were stalled at Wayne Sunday night on account of the storm and people had a hard time of it, as the two hotels were quickly filled with travelers. Many stayed in their cars all night while others found sleeping accommodations with the people of the village, who hospitably took them in. The council talked about two hours last Friday about improvements on Kellogg park, but "talk" was all that was accomplished. But there's encouragement in even having the council "talk." It shows they are interested and know that improvements should and ought to be made, in order to make it the beauty spot of the village. RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

ONE WAY TO END GRAFT
The spoils system in Michigan state government will make its exit if the campaign now being waged for trained personnel in public service is successful. With the slogan of "Find the man for the job, not the job for the man" as their battle-cry, various agencies are combining their support to secure legislation at the next session for the abolition of the spoils system and the establishing of the merit principle of appointment. The state Chamber of Commerce is urging the cooperation of 403 Michigan organizations towards that end. This non-partisan movement, certainly deserves the support of every thinking citizen in the state. Political parties can only be purged by eliminating the patronage pay-rollers! Good government demands the extermination of these "loyal leeches" on both parties who would handicap the efforts of the most conscientious candidate so efficiently administer the affairs of public office. This is one tax burden the people of this state have the power to remove.—J. John Pope in The Grandville Star.

ANOTHER NIGHTMARE
Just when Congressmen—always jittery before election—had about recovered from the Townsend scare, along comes the Black Legion. Nobody here knows how far it has spread or whether the present wave of publicity will kill it or water its roots. The Ku Klux Klan flourished for a time on adverse publicity. Then it suddenly crumbled under a few prosecutions and convictions. If there are jail sentences for any of the leaders following the revelations last week in this State the Black Legion will probably not be a factor in the election—but try to tell that to a nervous congressman. The possibility of a religious issue in many of the congressional districts is always considered. The Black Legion exposure may prevent that issue from arising or it may fan it into a flame.—Charles Seed in The Rochester Clarion.

MAKE NAMES PUBLIC
The public is entitled to the names of Black Legionnaires as fast as they are definitely learned whether same are public or private citizens. The roster should be printed in every newspaper, not from rumors but developed facts. Whispers at this time are no doubt injuring innocent citizens. The plea of some of the poor sumps now in jail when they refuse to explain the inner working of the Legion because they are Secret is all bunk—There are other secret organizations, YES. But their workings, aims and objects, creeds and ideals are about as secret as the Ten Commandments of Moses. If more laws are needed, national or by states, to curb this type of barbarism, then our governments should not delay in closing the gap that apparently exists in our advancement from the Dark Ages to Civilization.—Milton Carmichael in The Detroit Courier.

MEDIAVAL BARBARISM
How long will it take the civilized world to realize that religion is a personal matter, something which no man has a right to question providing that the religion is not builded upon principles of destruction but of "peace and good will toward men?" Sometimes it seems as though the world is becoming more civilized but in reality it isn't. Wars and internal strife still go on because one group believes that the religion of another is wrong. In the international picture we have Germany and the Jews and nationally we have the Black Legion, and offshot of the Klu Klux Klan, an organization into which was instilled a distinct hatred for catholic and catholicism. It's difficult to realize that Americans and Christians living within this highly mechanized age could return to the barbarism of medieval Europe but they have. Members of such an organization must be afflicted with a type of insanity. They cannot be sane.—William Klamser in The Dearborn Press.

CONGRATULATIONS, GOVERNOR!
We congratulate Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald for insisting that meetings of the Michigan Prison Commission, when held in public. The Governor's attitude in this was recently shown, when he accepted the resignation of Dr. William T. Shaw, chairman of the Commission, who sought to have too many of the meetings held in secret. To Dr. Shaw, who is a successful Lansing business man, we suggest some serious reading of history; perhaps he will come to a later conclusion that the very foundation stone of American political freedom lies in the carrying on of the public's business in public.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eccentric.

HOW TO PREVENT WARS
If every nation will discard its bright uniforms and dress their soldiers in overalls, and when trouble arises draft capital first there won't be much danger of war.—J. E. McMullen in The Linden Leader.

U. S. Senator Minton, of Indiana, exhibited a high type of patriotism when he asked that an appropriation of $2,540,000 for the drainage of the Kankakee river basin in his state, be dropped from the omnibus flood control bill. Thank God, there are still men in public office whom money cannot buy.—J. E. McMullen in The Linden Leader.

Isn't it queer that so many people who profess to think a whole lot of their dogs, try to escape paying the tax on them, and do not keep them within bounds? Thirty-five such Holly dogs have found their way to the happy hunting ground within the last few weeks.—Joe Haas in The Holly Herald.

ELECTRIC HOT WATER!

but not as automatic as

Set your automatic toaster going, and in a minute or two, up pops your slice of toast—golden brown and done to a turn, just the way you want it. Here is automatic service, surely... yet this popular breakfast-table appliance is not nearly as "automatic" as a new convenience for the home—automatic ELECTRIC hot water. Electricity has provided so many household comforts that it is not surprising to discover one more. And this new service is one of the finest of all—a genuine contribution to better living.

With automatic electric hot water, you need worry no longer about vexing problems of water heating. You are freed forever from such bothersome details as running up and down stairs to light a manually operated heater, the annoyance of waiting for water to get hot, the inconvenience and delay caused by having only lukewarm water in the pipes. This new service provides an unlimited supply of hot water. Yet it is completely automatic: It requires no attention whatever. Whenever you need hot water, simply turn the faucet—and there is your hot water on tap.

Stop in at your Detroit Edison office today and we will gladly give you complete information about automatic electric water heating.

Model Shows How Hough Family Memorial Will Appear Finished

Pictured above is the model of the "Edward C. Hough Family Memorial" which will be erected on the family lot in Riverside cemetery by E. C. Hough. At the left is Major John K. Shawwan, chief designer and vice president of the Hughes Granite company of Clyde, Ohio, who drew the plans and made the model of the memorial. The structure, which will be started next week, will be of Tuscan architecture, with an arched colonnade above ground. The underground vault, to be reached through a bronze door, will be composed of a central chamber, and two wings which will include eight catacombs, concealed by heavy marble doors bearing the Hough family genealogy. Unemployed May Register Here

Unemployed residents of this vicinity will have an opportunity to register with the National Re-employment Service, June 15 and 29 at the city hall, and in Livonia on June 22. Those living in Redford and Livonia townships were taken care of Monday.

A schedule extending the itinerant service to the unemployed of the state was announced this week by Major Howard Starret, state re-employment director. Other cities on the Wayne schedule are Inkster, June 9, 16, 23 and 30; Dearborn, June 10, 17, 24 and 31; Wyandotte, June 11, 18, 25 and 31; River Rouge, June 12 and 28; New Boston and Flat Rock, June 19.

There is a definite shortage of labor in certain lines of work, Major Starret states. Workers qualified as follows should register immediately: operators of cranes, paving machines, trench machines, ditching machines, hoists, rollers and scrapers; tank erectors and reinforced concrete rodmen. Other labor needed include skilled automobile mechanics, wood pattern makers, die designers and wood model builders. Only Michigan men with experience in these lines need apply, according to Major Starret. Nearly 50 itinerant offices under the jurisdiction of 13 district and 28 branch offices now serve Michigan's 83 counties. During the last few months, according to Major Starret, the number of persons placed has exceeded the number of new applicants. This federal job placement agency, a branch of the department of labor, has sent 144,000 persons on jobs throughout Michigan since last October. More than 27,000 placements were made in private industry including contracting jobs and the balance on work relief and other governmental projects, he states.

Big Fish Caught Twice In A Day

Unusual fishing stories concern only "big" ones, but here comes a fishing story that not only concerns a big fish but one that was caught twice in the same day.

The other day Edward Cook and Don Grow were fishing over at Belleville just above the Edison dam in the Huron river. Mr. Cook hooked a big fish, his line broke and away went the fish down the river towards the dam. Some few hours later Don Grow who was fishing from the same boat with Cook saw a cork bobber floating about on the water. Every once in a while the bobber would move.

He brought his hook near the top of the water and carefully entwined it about the line that was attached to the bobber and then he began to pull.

Soon a big seven and a half pound pike was landed. The hook and line it was dragging about was the same hook and line that Ed. Cook had lost earlier in the day. So here's a fish that was caught twice by the same fisherman.

A test of road noises in England shows that various vehicles offend in the following order: street cars, steam engines, automobiles, and motorcycles.

placed right on the kitchen table when in use. It requires only about as much electricity per hour as an electric toaster, and one merely plugs it into any convenient outlet. Yet this attractive appliance will perform any cooking operation possible on a small electric range... even canning, by the cold-pack method, which is a point to consider with the canning season coming on. It roasts all cuts of meat to perfection, fries eggs, steaks and chops, bakes cakes, pies, cookies, biscuits and muffins, and has a large enough capacity to hold a good sized ham, chicken or leg of lamb.

Perhaps the feature that will appeal most to women—especially in the summer when one wants to be out-of-doors—is its time saving quality. "Dutch Oven Susan" permits the busy housewife to go out for the afternoon while her evening meal is cooking. You simply put the whole meal in the cooker before you leave—vegetables, meat, potatoes—and from that moment on, you need not worry about getting back in time. When you come home your meal is awaiting, perfectly cooked—piping hot and ready for the table. If you are late, it doesn't matter: "Dutch Oven Susan" will keep dinner warm until you arrive.

Church Meeting Held in Boston

An appeal to Christian Scientists to work for the demonstration of world peace, the reading of reports by church officers on the various activities of the movement throughout the world, and sustained demand for the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, founder of Christian Science, marked the annual meeting June 8 at the mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

Election of Mrs. Elizabeth Cadwell Tomlinson of Boston as president of the mother church, to succeed Dr. Frank G. Colby, was announced. Reports also were given on the addition of 22 new churches and eight new university organizations, making a total of 2,751 churches and 55 college and university organizations.

Introducing the theme of world peace, William P. McKenzie, chairman of the board of directors for the past year, told the audience, "This is a rising demand in the hearts of men for freedom and justice. Can it be met by fair dealing? This requires self-government, does it not? Instead of battling with others to set them right, let a man become right himself and influence his neighbor by his good example."

In her address Mrs. Tomlinson spoke in somewhat the same vein as Mr. McKenzie, declaring that "the developments of this hour in world history are not disheartening to the thinker in Christian Science. It is the life of men, not the death of men that determines the peace of nations."

Edward L. Ripley was re-elected church treasurer, and Ezra W. Palmer, clerk of the church. William M. Bartlett, secretary to trustees under the will of Mary Baker Eddy, reported the expenditure of $150,000 during the year "to more effectually extend and

THE ONLY SMALL THING ABOUT A BUICK

LOOK high and look low throughout this smart and spirited Buick SPECIAL, and you'll find only one thing about it that's anything but big.

It's big in its inches, length and breadth—big in the ample, stretch-out space it supplies to driver and passengers alike.

It's big in its power—it hasn't found a hill it couldn't easily master, or a driver it couldn't thrill by the fervor of its quick response, the smoothness of its stride.

It's big in the measure of its quality, seen and unseen—every nut and bolt and strut and part is eloquent testimony to Buick's insistence that the best alone will do.

Engineer Directs Moving of Spire

One of the most important projects being handled by the district office of the state highway department, located here, is the widening of Woodward avenue between Adams street and Venor highway.

Under the direction of Harold F. Zumstein, engineer in charge, several buildings are being moved, among them two churches and the seven-story Couzens building. One of the most interesting and difficult of the feats is the moving back of the Central Methodist church, with its historical old spire. This work is being supervised by Mr. Zumstein from this office.

Grow Continued Evangelistic Work in Salem and White Lake

Many Souls Saved in Meetings Held Near Here

Editor's Note: This installment of "Eighty-Five Years of Life and Labor" by Elder William B. Groves continues with the story of his work with the churches at Milford and Highland during the latter part of the nineteenth century.

While here at Highland my old friend, Rev. A. W. Baker, resigned at Mooreville and took up the pastorate of the church at Salem. He spent all of a long evening in laying the matter before me. It seemed the most momentous question I had been called to consider in my ministerial life, and I told him that I could not attempt to make him answer before morning. He retired, and following my usual custom, I took counsel of my eldest sister, before going to bed. Her counsel was about as follows: "Now, William, Elder Baker is a better preacher than you ever were; he has been engaged in this effort through five weeks of delightful evenings and splendid sleighing, and has utterly failed; now, for you to attempt to follow his preaching with the people all lined up against you, is hard on the going so bad, would be to court certain failure, and one so great that I fear you would never recover from it. I most earnestly advise you not to go."

a protracted meeting for five weeks. The sleighing had been the finest I ever saw; Brother Baker was an exceptionally fine preacher, and a most excellent pastor; yet for some reason scarcely any religious interest was awakened, and as I recall it now not a soul was converted. He was greatly depressed; he could not understand the cause, and while in great anguish of soul he recalled the success of our work together at Mooreville, and he seemed to be directed to me as a help in the extremity to which he had been brought. So he came on to Milford, and though the good man was wearing by the long, cold ride of fifteen miles, he spent all of a long evening in laying the matter before me. It seemed the most momentous question I had been called to consider in my ministerial life, and I told him that I could not attempt to make him answer before morning. He retired, and following my usual custom, I took counsel of my eldest sister, before going to bed. Her counsel was about as follows: "Now, William, Elder Baker is a better preacher than you ever were; he has been engaged in this effort through five weeks of delightful evenings and splendid sleighing, and has utterly failed; now, for you to attempt to follow his preaching with the people all lined up against you, is hard on the going so bad, would be to court certain failure, and one so great that I fear you would never recover from it. I most earnestly advise you not to go."

I could see the force of all she said, and could hardly question for a moment her judgment, which had always been invaluable to me. I returned to my home and went to bed, but not to sleep. Here was a call to do the work of an evangelist, and for more than two years the question of devoting my life to this kind of work had harassed me day and night. Serious as had been the question of first entering the ministry, it was nothing compared with the struggle concerning evangelistic labor. I was strongly convinced that it was the work God would have me do, and I had almost settled the question that if God opened the way I would enter upon it. Here was plainly the opening of the way, but all the circumstances were unpropitious, the advice of my most trusted counsellor was against it, and my own judgment was against it. I found myself in real vexation of soul, the cause of it all was the unsettled question to evangelistic work. The good Spirit of God seemed to ask, "Why not settle it here and now?" And so, in the silent watches of that night, I decided that I would make it a test. I told the Lord I would go, and that if He there used me for His glory in the salvation of my fellow-men, I would never refuse any call to do the work of an evangelist again. And with the success of that meeting came my heaven-sent and heaven-sent commission as an evangelist, under which I have labored for more than thirty-five years with great joy to my own soul, and as I humbly believe to the glory of God and the salvation of thousands of souls.

After the night of struggle and decision my greeting to my guest in the morning was: "Brother Baker, if the Lord will, I will be with you for next Sunday evening's service," and so he went on his way, hoping if not rejoicing. On Sunday morning I drove to Highland and preached. Returning to Milford, I preached in the afternoon and administered the Lord's Supper, and at five o'clock I started with horse and sulky for my fifteen mile drive to Salem over the muddiest of roads, but reached there in time for service. Notwithstanding the awful mud and darkness, about fifty people assembled for the service. The next evening there was an increased attendance, and through the week we were nightly encouraged by both the attendance and interest. I preached some, the people prayed much, the Spirit of God descended and abode upon us, and as the result of a five weeks' meeting the pastor had the joy of baptizing sixty happy converts.

What this meant to my life I cannot attempt to tell. It made me humble, and willing to the point of severest sacrifice for the God of all grace.

It was but a little while before I was called upon to demonstrate the sincerity of my promises and decision, for only a few Sabbaths after my return to my own field, at the close of evening service, a man waited in the vestibule to ask me to come out to White Lake to hold some meetings. My answer was as prompt as his request could possibly demand, for I told him that I would go that very week if sufficient notice of the meeting could be given to secure a good audience. He assured me that this could be done, and the following night found me in the little meeting house, which was about half a mile from the centre, with a goodly company to listen to my message. My sister Lois and her husband, who were about half a mile from the centre, with a goodly company to listen to my message. My sister Lois and her husband, who were about half a mile from the centre, with a goodly company to listen to my message.

On Tuesday I became acquainted with a Presbyterian elder of the place by the name of Crittenton, who assured me of his fullest sympathy in my undertaking, and expressed some regret that all the faithful labors of his own pastor had brought forth no fruits of conversion. He proposed to me a house-to-house visit with him, until every family in the community had been visited, prayed with, and invited to attend the meetings. We started that very day, our first call being upon a family by the name of Voorhes. There were three young ladies in the family, all of whom were at home. We read the Scriptures, and both the elder and myself prayed. Before the season of prayer closed the girls were in tears—tears that were to mean so much for their souls. On we went, through the week, reading and praying in every house. There could be but natural results from such painstaking work—increased attendance and interest in every meeting. Before the end of the week there were some hopeful conversions, while conviction had settled down upon the entire community. So great had the interest, that on the opening of the second week there was a call for an afternoon conference meeting, to accommodate which my sister, Mrs. Robinson, opened the parlor of her own house. These continued for three weeks. By the end of four weeks' labor there, over fifty acknowledged Christ as their Lord and Saviour.

At a meeting of the church, held for the reception of candidates for baptism, nineteen were received. A young woman, a most estimable Presbyterian girl, who had been a delightful help in all this effort, became greatly dissatisfied with her baptism, although greatly attached otherwise to her Presbyterian church home. The question arose as to what Elder Groves would do in a situation like this, and finally some good sister came to ask me about it. "Why," I said, "I'll baptize her, of course," and so, with the nineteen regularly received into the church, in the beautiful White Lake, I baptized Maria Root, without requiring her to surrender her Presbyterian relations, and this too, in the face of a needless and silly opposition from the Presbyterian pastor. I say "silly opposition," for this man went so far as to change his prayer meeting hour to keep his elder from attending my meetings, and his supper hour so as to prevent his servant girl from attending. Yet he was receiving many of the converts of the meetings, and repaid my generosity in the case of Maria Root, and her own loyalty to Presbyterianism, by receiving her with the others with this salutation: "Little dumpling, doubting Maria, don't ever doubt your baptism again." The result of all this was that his resignation followed in a few days, and within three weeks he had left town.

At the close of the baptism, as has always been my custom, I looked into the faces of the vast crowd assembled on the bank and said: "We have done as the Lord commanded, and yet there is room." Immediately a man in the company cried out, "What doth hinder me to be baptized?" I replied, "If thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest." His reply was: "I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, and my Saviour," and moving down to the water's edge I met him, and going, both of us, down into the water, I baptized him on the full profession of his faith, made in the presence of all people. Being six miles from his home, he, like the eunuch of the Scripture record, "went on his way rejoicing." (To be continued)

You'll pardon us if we seem a little preoccupied with the subject of brides these last few weeks. It's in the atmosphere. The morning's mist brought in another wedding invitation and your reporter has been invited to several showers within the past few weeks, not to mention having heard of several others. Weddings too form an important part of the news for the paper these days. So although I do not pretend to be a second Emily Post, or an absolute authority on what the well-dressed bride will wear, it will not be amiss to consider a few of the essentials of a trousseau. I say essentials, because the modern bride seems to have a horror of all the fussing and weeks of preparations which in all probability were her mother's fate.

First of all there is the wedding dress. Now far be it from me, practical materialist though I be, to decry the importance of a wedding gown, but to my way of thinking there are other dresses to be worn for several months to come, on which more money, time and thought could well be expended. If the bride is to wear the traditional white with a veil, the best advice is to keep the gown simple and make certain the veil is becoming. Simplicity, you know, is the most effective note which can be emphasized in a bridal costume. A satin gown with high waistline, slightly trailing skirt, a cowl neckline and long tight sleeves is stunning. Then clouds of tulle veil, caught in a lace cap or coronet of some type, will not be "too much" to be attractive.

More and more brides, especially those arranging for small weddings without six or eight attendants and all the rest of the pomp of a big church affair, are choosing colored ensembles in which to be married. Long, fluffy frocks in summer sheers of pastel shades, with matching picture hats and accessories. This type of a wedding dress is especially sensible, at the same time that it is very attractive. For the girl who will have to budget her funds at the beginning of her married life, for it will give her another "party dress" to wear after she is married. Then for the ultra-conservative young lady who wants a quiet sensible wedding, or shall we say the ultra sophisticated bride who prefers tailored smartness to frills and furbelows, her going-away ensemble can also be her wedding outfit. At this time of year it would probably be one of those new summer suits, of light-weight wool, with a short fitted jacket, trim summer felt hat, shoes, gloves and other accessories to match and, perhaps, a neckpiece of some sort. With a shoulder corsage, she will be as trim and attractive a bride as one can see anywhere.

Now for the rest of the trousseau, here individual tastes will show, while the type of life the bride expects to lead after her honeymoon days are over also will make a big difference. If she is going to set up housekeeping somewhere, she will want pieces of crisp, attractive wash frocks, at least two street outfits, several inexpensive little sports costumes for summer outings and one dinner frock for evening affairs, not to mention several sets of accessories for her various outfits.

If she is a business girl who will return to an office after she is settled in a new apartment somewhere, she will emphasize frocks which can be worn to work. But, on the other hand, if she is going to spend the remainder of the summer at some beach or northern resort, she will lay in a stock of such things as sweaters and skirts, sleeveless frocks for hot days, cool sheers for evening wear, and plenty of beach paraphernalia—bathing suit and cap, beach robe, sandals or clogs, a floppy beach hat and a pair of dark sunglasses.

Of course it is impossible to make out a list of what every prospective bride should have in the way of wearing apparel for there are differences in financial standing and in tastes which make each particular bride an individual case. The principal point to be remembered is that a little common sense mixed in with the romance and the excitement of the moment is inclined to make one's wardrobe more

The pupils will have besides these, music appreciation, handicraft, and dramatics. Mr. Bailey of Pontiac will teach the Intermediates. Miss Lydia Whipple of Chicago, the Juniors. Mrs. Sutherland, Younger Juniors. Miss Florence Stader, the Beginners and Primary. The pastor will assist in the worship programs. We invite the children of any and all churches to come to the school. It is not alone a Baptist School but our desire is that it shall serve all the boys and girls and young people of the community.

No preacher is more widely known in this day than Dr. H. H. Savage of Pontiac. He will speak in our church on the night of Friday, June 26. A full announcement will appear next week.

On Sunday June 28th we shall have the brass quartette of the First Baptist Church of Pontiac with us for the day. This quartette includes the sons of Dr. Savage and it will be a great day for all who get to hear the messages in music and the preaching of the Word.

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 62): "The divine Mind, which forms the bud and blossom, will care for the human body, even as it clothes the lily; but let no mortal interfere with God's government by thrusting in the laws of erring, human concepts."

Regular summer services every Sunday at 10:30. The services for the summer will be cut down to 40-45 minutes. Be sure to begin right by coming to church FIRST, and thereafter enjoying your day of rest with a clear conscience and a free spirit. Seeking refreshment in any kind of diversion for the body and neglecting the refreshing water of life and the bread of the Word of God for the soul is folly; for it is the soul that controls the body and gives it the strength to endure not only the labor of life but even the agony of physical illness and distress. Do not fail to COME TO CHURCH EVERY SUNDAY IN SUMMER.

REMEMBER

A picnic for the soldiers of the 310 Engineers is held in George R. Simmons Woods amid old army cheers. These buddies meet and gather with their families once a year to renew old acquaintances. Of theirs which they hold dear. And buddies they became. Now as time moves onward. They sing to one refrain. Be it ever so humble, as We roam the whole world o'er. Once a pal and buddy Were comrades ever more. They gather with their families In the woods so fair and green. And talk about the bygone days. Of war and what they've seen. It was an agonizing hell. How well they all recall. It was a bloody battle, and The way their comrades fell. They bow their heads in sorrow. A prayer is offered then, and We listen to the bugle, Taps For those brave soldier men Who lie beneath the crosses In the fields of sunny France. O God, that war should be no More. Forever let it roll. To see if all are here. But there's always someone missing In the course of every year. The ones that answer present. When the captain calls their name.

Make a solemn promise To be present once again. As they raise their eyes toward heaven now. They see Old Glory there and, All at once their arms go up. And you hear an army cheer. Then with hesitation, They break up for the day. Knowing that a year from now, Is quite sometime away.

—By Jane Rogers. (Written for the annual picnic of the 310 Engineers, to be held this coming Sunday.)

Mystery Romance Tops Week's Bill at Theatre Here

"Paddy O'Day" and
Shirley Temple
Film Next

Dashing William Powell in a gay-comedy mystery, Little Jane Withers as an Irish immigrant and one of the screen's most popular idols, Shirley Temple, as the orphan ward of a down east lighthouse keeper, will provide the film fare at the Penniman-Allen theater next week.

Opening Sunday for a three-day run will be "The Ex-Mrs. Bradford" in which William Powell plays the part of a young doctor, with Jean Arthur as his divorced wife, a writer of mystery stories. They become engaged in a rather hilarious chase for the murderer of a young boy killed during an important race. Of course the murderer is found and equally of course the debutant Mr. Powell and his pert, good-looking ex-wife find that their divorce was all a mistake. The suspense thrills and wise-cracking which made Mr. Powell's "The Thin Man," such a favorite, all are found in his latest picture, said to be smart, modern and amusing from beginning to end.

With an array of child talent such as has not been on hand in Hollywood in several years, the big motion picture companies are turning out one story of children after another. Last week it was "Timothy's Quest." Now we are to see "Paddy O'Day," with Jane Withers, beginning on Wednesday. The story follows the fascinating adventures of a motherless little girl from Ireland in the strange city of New York, aided and abetted by Pinky Tomlin, Rita Cansino, Jane Darwell, and George Givot, the Greek ambassador of the radio.

Paddy comes to America in the steerage of a big liner, only to find at Ellis Island, that her mother has died and she must be sent back. She eludes the authorities and goes to the big house where her mother worked, a strange, crazy household where two eccentric aunts represent the almost irrepressible Pinky Tomlin. It is a gay, rollicking story, with a few moments of pathos but the traditional happy ending, and a sport of romance between Tomlin and Miss Cansino as a Russian immigrant girl.

Gay new tunes, infectious dancing, and the charms of the winsome Miss Temple combine to make "Captain January," showing Friday and Saturday, one of the most popular pictures of the season. The story deals with the adventures of Shirley and her two grizzled, salt-sea friends, Guy Kibbee and Slim Summerville. Kibbee, who has rescued Shirley from the sea when she was an infant, is jealously fond of the little girl and afraid someone will turn up to claim her.

The climax of the picture comes when Shirley and Kibbee flee from Sara Haden, a mean old Truant officer, in a sailing ketch. Although they are caught, a happy ending is worked out. A romance between Kibbee and Jane Darwell is one of the comedy elements of the picture, while June Lang shares romantic honors with Buddy Ebsen, Shirley's dancing partner.

Northville News

Work has been halted for an indefinite period on the village water reservoir, started several weeks ago following a federal OK on it as a PWA project. Suspension of activities was ordered last week by the village council because no funds have as yet been received from the village.

H. B. Culbertson, of Detroit, contractor, attended the meeting and presented a bill for $5,570 for wages. Upon the recommendation of Herald F. Hamill, civil engineer, the commission recognized that $4,000 had been used according to contract. Village Treasurer Harold Bloom reported that there was only $5,000 in the general fund to take care of running expenses during June, so it was voted to pay Culbertson $2,500 from this fund.

A unique table containing 75-288 different pieces of wood from all over the world has been constructed by George L. Hathaway, of the Maybury sanitarium, over a period of 12 years. The table was taken to Washington last week for dedication, and Mr. Hathaway expects to tour the country with it in the near future.

Called "The American Goodwill Table," it stands six feet high, is more than three feet in diameter and weighs 140 pounds. A large star in the center represents Washington, D. C., and 48 stars around it stand for the 48 states of the Union. The pieces used in the table included wood from the Mount of Olives, the chestnut tree made famous by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, "Old Ironsides," Oliver Perry's flagship, the "Washington Elm," the White House, Helen Keller's birthplace, and an English prisoner ship, "The Success."

In an effort to decrease traffic hazards in Northville, the village commission last week voted to do away with parking on Center street from Main street to the alley on the east side of the street, and to restrict parking in the business district to two hours between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. every day except Sundays and holidays. Chief of Police William Safford reported that his department is doing its best to enforce the ordinance against double parking.

International goodwill and friendship is being emphasized by the Fidae organization of the American Legion and its auxiliary during "Fidae Month." Mrs. Mrs. Waldo Johnson is Fidae chairman of the Lloyd H. Green auxiliary unit, which met Tuesday evening at her home, with members of the WRC and the DAR as guests, to hear a talk by Miss Stanczyk, of the juvenile court in Detroit, who spent last year studying conditions in her native Poland.

A Community Vacation School will be conducted in Northville from June 22 to July 3, sponsored by the Baptist, Presbyterian and Methodist churches. Classes will be held between 9 and 11 o'clock each morning. The beginners and primary departments will meet at the Presbyterian church, the intermediates at the Baptist church and the junior sessions at the Methodist church. All children 15 years of age and under are eligible for enrollment.

Ladies' night was observed by the Northville Rotary club Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Clark on Eight Mile road. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock and a miscellaneous program held during the evening. Last week the speaker was Paul Thompson, of the high school, who spoke on vocational training.

Can ADD A YEAR to YOUR Engine's LIFE

— with this new oil that is specially made for today's stop-and-go driving

3500 times a year you step on your starter!

This is important because engineers say starting causes approximately 3/4ths of your engine's wear.

That's why a FAST-FLOWING motor oil is so absolutely essential. The 100 parts in your motor must get oil immediately after you step on the starter. If they don't, your motor runs "dry" for a few moments.

But here, at last, is the fast-flowing oil automobile manufacturers have long wanted. And it is tough enough to resist terrific heat.

Shell engineers produced it at a cost of $3,000,000. It can keep your engine "young" a year longer.

Drive in and let us give you all the facts about this new Golden Shell.

FORD V-8 ECONOMY MEANS HIGH "Dollar Mileage"

(MORE MILES PER DOLLAR)

ONLY THE FORD V-8 GIVES YOU ALL THESE FEATURES

1. V-8 ENGINE PERFORMANCE WITH ECONOMY
2. SUPER-SAFETY MECHANICAL BRAKES
3. SAFETY CLASS ALL AROUND AT NO EXTRA CHARGE
4. WELDED STEEL BODY - STEEL STRUCTURE AS WELL AS SURFACE
5. CENTER-POISE RIDING COMFORT

NO MATTER how you classify your expenditures for car up-keep — it's your total expenditure that counts. How much "dollar mileage" is your car giving you?

Dollars do go farther in the Ford V-8. Modern improved carburetion gives you unusual gasoline mileage with brilliant V-8 performance. Most owners of today's Ford change oil only every 2000 miles and add none between changes.

And after the first few thousand miles you begin to understand what Ford V-8 "dollar mileage" really means.

It gives you more miles per dollar because it gives you all-round economy — low first cost, low up-keep cost, low depreciation and long life — as well as low gasoline and oil consumption. All these are big items if you aim to buy the most economical car.

Quiet Fourth Is Predicted Here
From the present indications the Fourth of July will be a quiet holiday in Plymouth, as no public celebrations of any kind are being planned, and a state law forbids the sale or use of fireworks. Like Memorial day, the Fourth falls on a Saturday, making a double holiday, and many families are planning week-end trips. It is expected that stores will adopt the same plan as that used for Memorial day, remaining open late Friday evening and closing all day Saturday, except for food stores which will stay open for a few hours Saturday morning.
