

Plymouth Parade To Fair August 27

Plans have been started by Leonard Murphy, secretary of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, for the big parade of Plymouth residents who will go to the Northville fair on Plymouth day, Thursday, August 27.

Mr. Murphy declares that there is apparently much more interest in the fair this year than there was last, when a record number of machines moved in one long procession from Plymouth to the fair grounds.

He is making arrangements with fair officials for the parking inside of the grounds for all Plymouth cars that take part in the parade.

Mr. Murphy stated yesterday that he will have a definite announcement to make next week about the time the cars will leave Plymouth. So far nearly all of the merchants he has contacted state that they plan to close and spend the afternoon at the fair, the same as in previous years. It is probable that the Plymouth Civic band will lead the parade from here to the fair grounds.

School Dairy Barn Is Damaged by Flames

Serious Loss Is Prevented By Firemen

Valuable Herd Is Lost—Over 150 Tons New Hay Destroyed—Damage Is Covered By Insurance.

Due to the timely discovery of the fire by three persons who saw it at almost exactly the same instant, and the splendid work of the Plymouth, Northville and Detroit House of Correction fire departments, the big dairy barn at the Wayne County Training school was saved from destruction shortly after midnight Sunday night.

The flames, which had apparently originated from spontaneous combustion in the newly filled hay mow, were confined entirely to the central portion of the barn where the 150 tons of hay had been stored.

It was about 1 o'clock when Henry Randall, one of the night watchmen at the place who had just passed the barn a few minutes before, turned to look towards the west while he was making an inspection among the cottages across on the east side of Sheldon road.

Immediately upon noticing the blaze, he called Clarence Elliott, farm superintendent, who lives near the barn, and Mr. Elliott, who happened to be up, had at the same time noticed the fire. Immediately aid was summoned by Dr. Robert Haskell and Mr. Elliott from Plymouth, Northville and the Detroit House of Correction. The three departments arrived almost at the same minute, the Northville and prison departments connecting to fire hydrants to the west of the barn and the Plymouth department to the east and north, where the great clouds of smoke made their work exceedingly difficult.

Provided with plenty of water from the big Detroit city main that was laid a few years ago, directly in front of the barn, the firemen had plenty of water to use and they directed the streams (Continued on Page Nine)

Back From Auto Trip To The West

While Plymouth and the rest of this part of the country were recently sweltering in the hottest weather ever experienced here, Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson and little grandson, Russell were away up some 8,000 feet above sea level among the snow banks of one of the highest ranges of the Rocky Mountains up in the state of Washington. In fact, Mrs. Robinson and her little grandson made snowballs and played in the snow for nearly an hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson returned a few days ago from a trip through the northwest that took them away from home for about a month. It was early in July when Mr. Robinson found that (Continued on page six)

Former Village President Dies

Stricken suddenly ill in his home in Ypsilanti last Thursday evening, Frederick F. Bennett, aged 70 years and former prominent resident of Plymouth, died before medical aid could reach him. He suffered a heart attack.

Born in Plymouth, where he spent his entire life until about 15 years ago, Mr. Bennett was for years, most active in the affairs of this community. He was village president at the time the community laid its first street paving, a paving that is serving the city today after a quarter of a century of use.

He was for many years employed as superintendent in the Daisy plant, retiring from this place when he went to Ypsilanti to reside.

He was a brother of Charles H. Bennett of Plymouth. A widow, Mrs. Clara Bennett and a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Bowen of Ypsilanti, survive. The funeral was held from Schrader Bros. Sunday forenoon, burial taking place in Riverside cemetery.

Railway Worker Is Also Flower Lover

The beautiful flowering foliage that has adorned the display windows of The Plymouth Mail office during the past few days came from the gardens of Archie Meddaugh, 242 Blunk avenue. Mr. Meddaugh, when he is not busy directing traffic among the box cars and switch engines down in the Pere Marquette yards, where he is employed as a switchman, devotes a good portion of his time to his attractive flower gardens.

OFF TO NIAGARA

MR. AND MRS. HARRY ROBINSON Married 50 Years

Fifty years ago Sunday, August 16, when Mr. and Mrs. Harry Robinson were married, their wedding trip took them to Put-In-Bay.

They are celebrating this happy event of a half century ago this week end by a trip to Niagara Falls.

As happy as two youngsters as ever stepped before the altar, these two popular and prominent Plymouth residents, left Thursday for a boat trip that will take them to the place where hundreds of thousands of young married people in the olden days used to travel. In fact, Niagara Falls is still a popular place for newly wedded couples to visit.

The picture being used in connection with this article wasn't taken just yesterday. The reporters from the staff of The Plymouth Mail for several weeks have been trying to induce Mr. and Mrs. Robinson to have new pictures taken but rather than let failure meet these efforts, a snapshot taken 45 years ago by Miss Mary O'Conner, of them, was secured. It is still a good picture of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson.

The wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tuller, parents of the bride, at the corner of South Lilly and Palmer roads, August 16, 1886. The bride, who was Miss Lusina Tuller, has always lived in this locality, her parents being pioneer settlers. Mr. Robinson, at the time of the marriage, was a clerk in the John Steelwagon store in Wayne. It was on October 10 of the same year when he came to Plymouth to open a livery stable in Plymouth and from that day to this, both Mr. and Mrs. Robinson have been active in Plymouth affairs. Mr. Robinson has played a very important part in the growth and development of the city. He served as village president for years. He laid the first cement sidewalk ever built in this place. It was in front of his livery stable, where the Penniman-Allen theatre now stands, and the walk is still in use.

Their host of friends extend them congratulations and wish them many more anniversaries to celebrate.

THE COUNTY CLERK

HENRY MONTGOMERY

If an energetic campaign as well as a 100 percent improvement in services at the county clerk's office are of any benefit, friends say that Henry Montgomery, who was appointed to the place when his predecessor was removed from the position, ought to secure most of the Republican votes of Wayne county. He recently won special commendation for the improved counter service he has instituted in the clerk's office. Mr. Montgomery states that he plans to visit Plymouth within the next two weeks. He has secured a considerable following among Republicans in out-county townships even without campaigning in this locality.

Mrs. Frederick M. Alger Makes Strong Appeal For Greater Patriotism And More Interest In Civic Affairs in Talk

Prominent Leader Lauds Mrs. Alger's Among Women Is Rotary Guest

Declares Time Has Come For America To Take Up Fight For Americans—Urges The Civic Clubs To Become Interested In All Local Problems.

Members of the Plymouth Rotary club and several ladies of the city had the opportunity last Friday noon of hearing a strong appeal made by Mrs. Frederick Alger of Detroit for a higher degree of patriotism, a stronger expression of loyalty to our country and a greater interest in community affairs.

Mrs. Alger, probably one of the best known women in Michigan and a member of a family that will live always in Michigan history, stated that it was a real pleasure to her to visit Plymouth, one of the most progressive of the smaller communities about Detroit.

Her talk, outstanding because of the numerous excellent suggestions it contained and because of its timeliness, follows in full:

"It has been suggested to me that I talk to you today about what a civic-minded club can contribute towards the betterment of the community in which it is located.

"In such an organization as yours, this subject is one with which you have had much to do. In fact, the signal success of Rotary is based largely on the fact that it has always been civic-minded. From its earliest days it attracted the favorable attention of good citizens everywhere and, as a result, has become world-wide in scope.

"Where an individual usually can do little to alter the course of public opinion or public action, an organization of individuals can accomplish much. When fired with the zeal that accompanies a really worthy cause, the combined efforts of an organized group, or club, does sway public opinion and does secure public action.

"This fact has become more and more apparent, especially in America, and the result has been that we have had a marked growth in clubs and other or (Continued on Page Nine)

Flames Wipe Out Barns And Crops On Atkinson Farm

Serious Loss Results From Blaze Last Sunday Eve

Almost in less time than it takes to tell the story, Fred Atkinson, Ford road farmer living just west of the Lilly highway, saw his barns, much of his farm equipment and hay and grain destroyed by fire shortly after 10 o'clock Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson had been in bed but a half hour or so when Mrs. Atkinson was aroused from sleep by the calls of motorists who had stopped to tell them that there was a fire in one of the barns.

So rapidly did the flames spread in the horse barn where the fire was first discovered, that little could be gotten out of it. The horses were saved out but that was about all.

The flames quickly jumped to the cow barn and in less than thirty minutes this big structure was in ruins. A valuable bull and four calves were burned to death in the fire.

There were over 400 bushel of corn, 15 ton of new hay, besides a tractor, grain drill and other farm machinery and tools destroyed in the fire.

Some 25 head of cattle were out to pasture and escaped the fire.

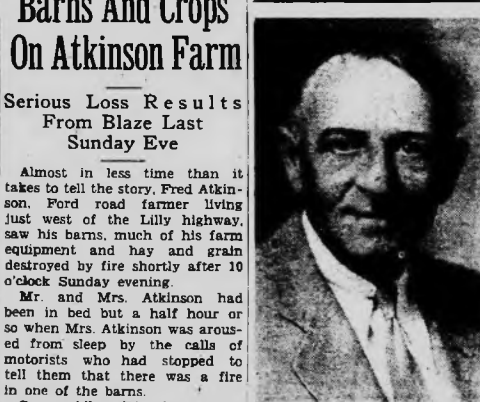

The barns were of fairly large size, one being 30x60 and the other 30x40. The loss is only partly covered by insurance.

Mr. Atkinson has no idea of how the fire started. The new hay was stored in the cow barn and the fire originated in the horse barn. It is possible, he said, that some one seeking a place to sleep had gone into the barn and started the fire from a cigarette or pipe. Because of the easy access to the barns from the highway, men tramping through the country had frequently slept in the barns.

Mr. Atkinson has owned the farm for the past twenty years. He has resided on it for the past five years. To older residents the place will be remembered as the old Virgil Tillotson farm.

The loss is an exceedingly grave one to Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson, with crops badly damaged from the drought and only a small insurance on the structures, tools and stock.

GOING GOOD

CHARLES H. RATHBURN

The Plymouth friends of Charles H. Rathburn, supervisor of Plymouth township for the past ten years, will be pleased to know that he is going strong in his campaign for the Republican nomination for drain commissioner. He has been spending considerable time in Detroit and reports from that city indicate that he is going to secure an excellent vote. Mr. Rathburn has the advantage in knowing something about the job he is seeking. One of his opponents is a Detroit lawyer and the other a Detroit constable. From what can be learned, the outlying townships are solidly behind Mr. Rathburn.

Band Will Play Saturday Night

Another of the series of popular band concerts being given by the Plymouth Civic band will take place Saturday evening in Kellogg park. The program follows: "Air Waves," march, Olivadote; "Love and Springtime," waltz, Waldenfel; "Trumpet Corps," march, Huper; "Celebrated Minuet," Paderewski; "Isle of Dreams," selection, Ball; "Battleship Connecticut," march, Fulton; Selection from "The Dollar Princess," Valse Espagnole, Fall; "Santiago," Valse Espagnole, Corbin; "Arbitration," overture, Bernard; "The Billboard," march, Kloth; "Star Spangled Banner," Key.

The Plymouth band played Thursday evening at the Wayne home-coming. It plays at the Baptist church this evening and Sunday afternoon at a big picnic at Riverside park. Tuesday, it plays at the Wayne County Training school.

Flames Force A Quick Decision

Whether to save a truck on which was loaded a cow, or save a straw stack and his barn was the quick decision Burt Tomlinson was forced to make last Friday noon when a back fire from his truck set fire to grass near the barn out on the Ann Arbor Trail, one mile east of Plymouth.

He decided that his barn and its contents were more valuable than the truck and cow, and only after he was badly burned about the hands and face was he, with the assistance of his neighbors, able to save the barn from being destroyed in the fire.

Mr. Tomlinson was driving into his yard when a backfire started a grass fire under his truck. As the machine backfired, the engine went dead and he was unable to start it.

Then it was, that he had to make the quick decision as to what to save, as the fire was spreading at a most rapid rate. The straw stack next to the barn, did catch fire but the determined efforts of Mr. Tomlinson and his neighbors finally resulted in extinguishing the flames.

Meanwhile, the truck caught fire and it was destroyed, the cow suffocating to death in the fire and smoke. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Company Has Ideal Site For Additional Plant On East Side of City—Officials Meet With Local Citizens

A group of officers and other officials of the Burroughs Adding Machine company of Detroit visited Plymouth Wednesday to make an investigation relative to the possible building of a factory unit on the company's 140 acre tract of land purchased a few years ago, facing on Schoolcraft and Plymouth roads and adjacent to the eastern limits of the city.

Local Champs Go Out In Contest

Plymouth's champions and runners up in the state wide novice tennis tournament were eliminated in the first round at Waterworks park, Detroit.

There was an entry of 4,457 players throughout the state. Clarence Levandowski won the men's championship with Robert Herter, the runner-up.

Maurine Dunn won the women's championship with Christine Nichols the runner-up.

Both of these champions will be ineligible for the tournament next summer, as the winners are automatically out to keep the tournament strictly novice.

Tahquamenon Is Wonderful Sight

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith of Newburg and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Guthrie who recently made a trip to the Tahquamenon falls in the Upper Peninsula, declare the sight is one of the most interesting they have ever seen.

"We had planned to take a trip up to that part of the state and after we read an article in The Plymouth Mail sometime ago about the falls, we decided that we would visit them and we were not disappointed," said Mr. Smith.

"We drove up to Soo Junction. That's where you take the Toonerville trolley, a narrow gauge railway, that runs down to the river. A small engine pulls an open car down through the forests. After we reached the river, we boarded the boat for the twenty mile trip down stream. We saw plenty of deer along the shore and enjoyed a very delightful trip. Landing on the shore about a mile and a half above the falls, we followed the trail down over the hills and through the woods down to the falls. We all thought it well worth the time and trouble we had gone to, as certainly the falls present a beautiful sight.

The river happens to be low just now and they say up there that the falls are not quite so beautiful as when there is more water going over. We didn't go down to that part of a day to make the trip down to the big falls and back again," stated Mr. Smith.

Note—The article in The Mail Mr. Smith refers to was a recent editorial in which it was urged that the state take over the land around the falls for a state park and construct a highway along the river and to the falls.

D. J. AND C. EMPLOYEES TO MEET AT RIVERSIDE PARK

Chas. Thumme, secretary and treasurer of D. J. and C. former employees club announced today that all was in readiness for their annual outing. Plans are to hold a picnic and day of fun in Plymouth Riverside Park where all the old employees may gather and talk of old times.

The program for the day includes a band concert by the Plymouth band, refreshments and a talk by the organization's president, A. H. Cady. A special effort is being made to have 500 or 600 people in attendance. Everyone living in Plymouth who ever worked for the line is asked to attend and bring their families.

Women on American farms each work an average of 64 hours a week, with some of them working as many as 77 hours.

Mail Ads Do The Business!

The Plymouth Mail, a newspaper that is welcomed into every home in and around Plymouth, has for years preached the doctrine that good advertising pays, and pays well.

Sometimes it has been difficult to convince some of this truth. They have thought possibly that other forms of advertising might be almost as good.

Here is what A. J. Owens one of the hustling field directors of the Wolf stores, says about the results of the full page advertisement published in last week's Mail:

"Never did we ever publish an advertisement anywhere that brought the results of that one. We were forced to hire extra clerks and we found it necessary to bring out additional supplies from the storage warehouse to meet the demands of Friday and Saturday. It seemed as though every one everywhere read that ad. Long before the day was over we were almost cleaned out. It was a happy surprise to us and we want you to know that Plymouth Mail advertising certainly brings results. We are offering another full page of specials again this week."

must not be hated, nor must it be bloodshed, but we must sell America again to Americans. An under current is growing strong, with the belief that no one owns America; so we might just as well take it for ourselves.

"Singing the praises of this country, its institutions, its resources, its equality, its sanguine people, a nation recognizing a God, recognizing a belief in eternity, yes, the best country that God has given to man!"

"Patriotism may be a silent virtue, but it is one that must be practiced. Example is power, and when we find 48 states, any one of them larger than any of the European nations, existing in peace and harmony. All working for the pursuit of happiness, and good order, surely Europe must be edified and her nations will bow their heads in shame to think that they, just a small portion of the world, cannot live as humans are to live, when America with her 48 states can live in peace with one another."

"Is America that peaceful nation that it should be or are its people peaceful? Our humans are as noble as they were, but it seems that those individuals selected to represent the humans in governmental affairs are not as representative as they should be. Instead of pleading for America's cause, they belittle themselves with personalities, family traits, character, yes, mud slinging. It is a deplorable situation. And can we find no remedy for this condition is to lower the price attached to the position."

"Too many fatted salaries, make too many candidates, and the qualities of these candidates assert themselves in the campaigns. A concrete example, two men are running for office, each selects a ticket; now, if these men are real representative men for the governmental position, why do they not realize that each has his ability to do things and instead of condemning the person, tell the public the real importance of the position, and the good it does for the people, and the strength it gives to America as a country."

"Sing America's praises, we, its constituents, believe in America, you, the governing power, keep American history clean. We are a nation belonging to a free people, brave and clean, the enemy must not come our country is not for sale, again sing her praises. If you are Irish, Dutch or Dane, they will treat you just the same in that good old U. S. A."

"Plymouth is indeed indebted to Mrs. F. Alger for her true American blood that courses her veins and for her loyal patriotism to her country, our country, our country."

It appears that Mr. Chas. A. Hall of the Commissioners has escaped these columns ever since he was married last February. Since then he has just been Mrs. Hall's husband. From all reports he is completely satisfied with occupying this position. At that, a man is better off to be just a model husband and keep out of the limelight, than to be like some of the rest of us and make the headlines by coming to De-Hoco for alimony.

R. P. the carpenter, who we all know for his pleasant smile and manner, popped his head out of the shop one day last week just as a team of horses came down the road. R. P. saw the team coming and perhaps it was that R. P. didn't like the particular horse or maybe he just wanted to get revenge for something or other, or perhaps it was just to try out his great powers. Well anyway, R. P. gave the horses one of his best mean looks and the horse seeing this stopped in his tracks, looked once more at R. P., and turned up his heels, and passed away to the happy hunting grounds. So beware, fellows and don't get R. P. mad, because if you do, you may be next.

The all star game played off in Boston got me to thinking about our own stars at De-Ho-Co. We have quite a crop of them here, my selection for the De-Ho-Co. all star ball club, first base Wings, second base Sweeney, third base Clinker Joe, short stop Air-brakes K., center field Fingers, right field Skipper, left field Ballard P., pitcher Charlie S. and catcher Lester M. for Umpires my pick would be Paul W. and Ralph T. Here is an all star line-up that can't be beat and I know that you as well as myself would like to see them in action.

Finishes From Hospital Jerry is looking for a job, as she hasn't enough to do now that her time is so short.

Audrey W. received good news last week. She will be leaving us soon and all the girls wish her luck.

Agnes F. left us with the saying, "I remember nothing."

Our newcomer for this month is our old friend Cecil B. looking fine and full of pep.

Mary S. left last week and now Estelle H. is singing "Mary, Mary quite contrary, how does your garden grow."

Our pet peave Thressa J. has been elected the head dish washer and is still wondering where she is going to find her mouse. Does anybody know?

With quite a few birthdays this month Martha W. wants her release, but don't wish too hard. Good things come in small packages.

Elsie J. our cook left us, so we have a Scotch lady Isabell S. and can she make pudding?

Well, have to close now "Bye" wishing everybody good luck. Martha W.

Mr. Long and his men can be seen in action with their tree dusting machine each day. This dusting is done in all of the orchards to kill bugs which destroy fruit trees. Getting up one morning with my nose in full bloom from a mosquito bite, and disgusted with these De-Ho-Co. pests, who, as it seems to us, are as big as canaries, got me to ask Mr. Long to "dust" out our dormitory. Mr. Long said that if we didn't quit pestering him he sure would start dusting and start on me first. Well, you must admit it was a good idea even if it didn't work.

Jim S. after an absence of several months, has paid us a visit for 30 days. Jim is one of the fellows who has a bonus waiting for him when he gets out and he says no one will recognize him if he comes back. Jim says he will get himself a palm beach suit and a straw hat and then give Woodward Ave. a treat. Well, we wish you luck Jim, but don't come back here in September, with a 90 because your palm beach suit wouldn't go over so big when you got out in December.

Jim Webster, an aged Negro of Winston Salem N. C. has kept a silver dollar in his mouth for the last forty years to scare off the witches. So far he has worn out two silver dollars.

he could get away to attend the Shrine convention in Seattle. And the Shrine convention was to start in just five or six days from the time he decided to go.

Packing necessary clothing and their little grandson into a Ford, they were on their way to the northwest and Seattle in a hurry. It took them but five days and three hours to cover the entire distance from Plymouth to Seattle, and Mr. Robinson is not a fast driver.

"We made such good time by consistent and steady driving. The days were rather long, and once or twice we made over 500 miles," stated Mr. Robinson.

A part of the trip took them through a portion of the west where considerable damage has been done by the drought. But Mr. Robinson states that in some sections, conditions are not as bad as he had thought they were. It was in western Nebraska where conditions were the worst, he said.

After leaving the middle west, they found almost ideal weather conditions. "In fact, it was so cool nights that we had to use covers all the time. When we reached Seattle one could not ask for nicer weather," he added.

Following the Shrine convention, which was climaxed by the great parade, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson drove south through Washington and Oregon to California. Before leaving Seattle they took numerous trips to interesting places around that Pacific coast city. Among them was a boat trip to Fort Angulus, where there is a government navy yard.

At Mt. Vernon, Washington, they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Henderson, formerly of Plymouth. Mr. Henderson took the Plymouth visitors to many interesting places about that city, among them being the famous Deception Pass.

They also visited Mt. Rainier national park and were but a few feet from the glacier that is slowly melting away each year. As they stood watching this great pile of ice, more than 200 feet high, they saw portions of it drop away, one chunk of ice carrying with it a rock as big as an automobile.

From northern California they turned east towards Reno, Nevada. The California desert to the west of Reno was crossed on a day when the sun was under a cloud and not the slightest inconvenience was caused by the heat. They also visited Mt. Las-son national park. Mt. Lassen being the only active volcano in the United States. It has not been in eruption during the past two years. Both Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are enthusiastic about the trip they have just completed, declaring it to have been one of the most interesting they have ever taken.

Obituary

FREDERICK F. BENNETT Frederick F. Bennett, age 70 years, passed away suddenly Thursday evening, August 6th at his home, 943 Sheridan avenue, Ypsilanti, Michigan. He is survived by his widow, Clara L. Bennett; one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Bowen of Ypsilanti and one granddaughter, Marolin; one brother, Charles H. Bennett of Plymouth, Michigan. The body was brought to the Schrader Brothers Funeral home, from which place funeral services were held Sunday, August 9th at 3:30 P. M. Interment in Riverside cemetery. Rev. Harvey C. Colburn of Ypsilanti officiating.

Locals

Mrs. W. R. Trotter and her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Fox, who have been visiting the former's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Innis, for a week, are leaving for their home in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, today.

Miss Noreen Kreeger, daughter of Herman Kreeger of Carpenter avenue, and Howard Jestic, Jr. of Grosse Pointe, were married July 25 at the summer home of the groom's parents, Walnut lake in Bloomfield Hills. The attendants were Miss Celine Jestic and Marcelle Peters. Mr. and Mrs. Jestic will make their home in Dearborn.

REDMEN AND POCAHONTAS TO HOLD PICNIC SUNDAY The State Redmen and Pocahontas will hold a family picnic at Riverside park Sunday. Members and their families will hold a pot luck dinner at 2 o'clock. The afternoon will be passed with games for the children and a soft ball game for the members.

Northville News

L. C. Stewart who has charge of the attractions for the Northville Wayne County Fair announced Monday the booking of six attractions which will head the list of free shows during the fair week, Aug. 26, 27, 28 and 29. Acrobatic feats by two comedians, Franz and Fuller, will find top favor with the grand stand audience. Pep and personality characterize the youthful teamsters, St. Clair and O'Day who ride fast and high on two of the largest motorcycles in the world. Novel is the act of Katsalinos which stars a woman acrobat. She is the only woman in the world doing the under-stander-in-hand to hand work with a two-man combination. Returning from a five year continental tour, Bob Stanley is considered the greatest comedy wire walking pantomist in the world. King and Gary the dancing man and lady, are scheduled for a whirlwind dance that is a sensation. This presentation will be made the last two days of the fair, as will one of the fastest skating acts ever to be given on an open air platform.

Plans are being perfected for the formal opening of Northville's new pavement Saturday morning, August 15. At 9 o'clock a procession will form consisting of Chief of Police W. H. Safford, Earl Montgomery and Gordon Allen, Boy Scouts, band, autos conveying Mayor Burkhardt and Supervisor Ely, members of the city commission and representatives of the Wayne county road commission. Appropriate remarks will be made by the mayor following which the band will play a number of selections. Merchants are requested to display flags in front of their business places.

Councilmen received definite assurance from Washington this week that the reservoir project could go forward before fall. The government has waived the special condition in the original offer made between the village of Northville and the government, which requested that all village bonds and interest in default on September 1, 1934 be paid or refunded before financial backing could be given for the reservoir. With the waiving of this condition, money which has been held up on the water project because Northville's special paving bonds have been in default since 1932, it is believed that H. B. Culbertson, contractor, can have his crew working full time within a few weeks.

with the state of affairs, and because of our own self satisfaction, the enemy is at work, socialism, communism and other isms working to tear down the red, white and blue, and in its place, wave a flag of their own.

"This thought comes from one vitally interested in the affairs of good government, it comes from one whose ancestry has always been interested in good government and fair play. So, fellow citizens, the alarm is sounded and shall we take heed?"

"It has always been my belief that America is the finest country given to man by God, to live in, as it has all the advantages for man to put in execution the talents given by the Almighty—for noble purposes.

"We deplore the conditions that exist in Europe. Periodically, nations there will break out in turmoil, confusion, dissension, war, and in its pall leave destruction, sorrow and ill will. What a calamity, these nations are large in population, but small in area. It seems that our peace conferences, our round table chats, ought to be able to bring about some results. The peace object has not yet been attained.

"Russia, Spain, Germany, Italy, France, plus the split infimative nations, are all boiling over, ready to sacrifice humans on the altar of war, and always looking to America for help.

"But why should we grow so concerned about affairs so many miles away? The wholesome philosophy of life is, keep peaceful yourself, live with a friendly attitude toward your neighbor, and those that fight will profit by the peace and order that exist in a peaceful community.

"America has been called the home of the free, and the land that ever remains such. It will always be home for the loyal American, but we as Americans, cannot grow self satisfied, for the enemy is at work. Our weapon for them

Interesting news notes about offenders and officials at the Detroit House of Correction as gleaned from the De-Ho-Co. News.

One Reason Why The Fishing Is Not Good

A needless killing of thousands of undersize fish is going on in Michigan if the conduct of fishermen generally were to be judged by that of a group on Arbutus lake near Traverse City recently. The anglers mentioned in a report sent to the Department of Conservation had become impatient because they had run into a school of undersize bluegills which were taking their bait. The small fish were being pulled roughly off the hooks and thrown back into the water. The incident, in itself, might be considered of minor consequence but in all probability it is not, commented Fred A. Westerman, chief of fisheries operations. There is no doubt that a large number of fishermen still have not learned or remain indifferent to the fact that undersize fish invariably will not survive rough handling. When an undersize fish is taken, the hook should be removed carefully while the fish is held in a wet hand. The fish then should be eased into the water, not thrown. Every undersize fish will be a keeper some day, Westerman says, and most will survive being hooked if handled carefully and properly.

Interesting

Astronomers agree that the span of the universe is at least three hundred thousand trillion miles. More than 7,000,000 members are enrolled in athletic clubs in Germany. World armament cost $2,531,000,000 in 1913; in 1934, it cost more than $7,000,000,000. Halstead street, in Chicago, containing representatives of practically every race in the world, is more than seven miles long. More fur pelts are taken annually in Louisiana than in Canada and Alaska combined. Not one Swedish bank failed in 1931, despite the depression. Two raised their dividends, and six reduced them. Cobras bites are fatal to elephants. Chinese and Japanese use the same written language, though the spoken languages are quite different. One-fifth of the population of the United States attends the movies daily. Isa Lake, in Yellowstone National Park, sends some of its waters to the Atlantic and some to the Pacific. The crocodile lives to be 100 years old, the tortoise more than 100, and the elephant between 150 and 200. A survey of 10,000 rural homes in 33 States shows that 87 per cent of the woman on farms never have vacations. Hugo Grotius, who laid the foundations of international law, entered a university at 11, and was a lawyer at 15 years of age. The average person makes use of 8,000 to 10,000 words. Doctors know 25,000 and lawyers 23,000. Inhabitants of the southern hemisphere can tell time by the Southern Cross. Apple peels are said to contain six times as much vitamin C as does the pulp near the core. A piece of charcoal placed on the shelves of a refrigerator acts as an absorbent for all odors. People who thought that $500 was a small fortune in 1932 now maintain that life can't be supported decently on less than $200 a month. The female whitetailed deer of Michigan give birth to twin fawns more often than to single fawns. It is always fashionable to be sensible. The germ of a better job is in the job we are doing now. Often it's wise to swallow your pride and conserve your capital. It's the contrasts that make life interesting; sometimes all we need for happiness is a change. The hobby of Gar Wood, speed-boat racer, is raising turkeys. Jerked meat, usually venison, is known as "jerky." It is lean meat, cut into strips, and dried over a slow fire in the sun. Several pairs of the Brazilian bundle-nester birds build one nest and occupy it together. Approximately 16,000,000 thunderstorms take place annually, or 44,000 daily. Semi-streamlined motorized baby carriages to be seen in London's West End. Loose or dirty battery terminals frequently cause ignition trouble. Milk is no more fattening than fruits or vegetables. Strawberries rank second in the value of Canada's fruit crops. It is estimated that a mature thirty-year-old apple tree requires about 4,500 gallons of water during a single season. Trichinae, the worms that cause trichinosis, or raw pork disease, are found in only about 1 to 2 per cent of the hogs in the United States.

THE STORY OF PRUDENCE THE RIGHT WORD

1-Prudence was a popular name to give the girl in the first place. 2-It reflected her parents' wish that she be guided by wisdom rather than impulse. 3-From babyhood she was guarded very carefully. 4-She had a nursemaid and a governess until she was eight years old so that she would be assured of the fullest protection from dangers. 5-She went to private schools and was escorted both ways for the sake of safety. 6-Her folks saw that she came in contact with only the best people under the best circumstances so that she would come under the most refining influences. 7-A young woman needs the advantages of careful rearing, her mother used to say, "so that her life may be as free from menace as possible." 8-Mommer and popper's ambition was to keep her from all the hazards. 9-They didn't even let her pet strange dogs for fear the animals might be germ carriers. 10-And one, when she was stung by a mosquito, they called specialists and kept her under observation for 48 hours. 11-Prudence stood it until she found out life could be more exciting. 12-One day she disappeared and it nearly killed the old folks when they found she had run away with a fellow who wore loud vests, carried two pistols, spent most of his life traveling on trains by night and was head menagerie man with a circus. 13-They didn't hear from her for a long time. 14-Then one day the circus came to town and they found Prudence billed as "Mlle. Dolores de Blamez, Lady Lion Tamer, Performing in a Cage of Ferocious Beasts, Including Two Treacherous Black Panthers." MORAL-What's the use?

OUR ANIMAL FRIENDS The Lamb

The little lamb looks quite tolerant. For tenderness it gives. I know the feeling for I was a lamb in '29. It has some wool to keep it warm and can subsist on grass; That's where I differ from it for I don't like greens, alas!

NOT-SO-SIMPLE ARITHMETIC

1-John has an apartment house 15 stories high with 210 apartments of six rooms and two baths each; Fred owns a 42-story office building; Harry is an apple vendor; which of the three is best off? 2-"A" has made a serious study of the problems of good government for 45 years; "B" is a fearless, frank and intelligent civic leader with the courage of his convictions; "C" is just a Dumb Benny who makes a spirited speech and never offends the party leaders; which has the best chance to land the nomination for the Presidency? 3-How long will it take an economist six feet tall to make a cart 11 feet long by 7 feet wide, which will decieve 20,000,000 people weighing 165 pounds? 4-One hen lays an egg a day; another hen lays five eggs a week; a third hen produces an egg every other day and on Sunday lays two in a nest 24 inches wide; what's the sense of it at present egg prices? 5-Charles has a herd of 40 cows producing 200 gallons of milk a day; William has a herd of 32 cows producing 167 gallons a day; Boris has one cow which gives no milk whatsoever; which man has the best cause for worry when he realizes how the price of milk is declining? 6-If six European countries owe the United States $30,000,000,000 for 17 years, how long will it take a man twenty-seven years old to collect a private debt of $32.60 from a fellow who doesn't want to pay, either?

Townsend Club Rally Saturday

The Plymouth Townsend club will sponsor an open air mass meeting in Kellogg park, Saturday evening, August 15, at 9 o'clock to which the public is cordially invited.

Clinton DeWitt, a prominent Detroit attorney, who is a very interesting and forceful speaker, will address the meeting on the Townsend Plan and what it will do for all—the young, as well as the old.

Everyone is invited. Come and hear the facts about this great humanitarian movement — The Townsend National Recovery Plan. Their candidate for congress, Earl N. Nash for the 17th congressional district, will also be present to speak.

The next regular meeting will be held on Monday evening, August 17th at 8 o'clock at the Grange hall. This is a very important business meeting and every member is urged to be present without fail.

Robinson Will Start Fair Races

Harry C. Robinson, veteran starting judge of the trotting races for the Northville-Wayne County Fair Association, has advised officials of the fair that he will again act in that capacity this year and see to it that the trotters and pacers get off under the wire just as they should.

According to Elmer Smith, president of the Fair Association, final details for the big event which will take place from August 26 to 29 have been completed and the association hopes to offer its best this year.

"In spite of the drought we feel that we are going to have a good exhibit of farm crops" stated Secretary Floyd Northrop when in Plymouth early this week.

"You know there are a lot of farmers in Wayne county and Washtenaw county who can grow good crops even if it doesn't rain," he added.

The superintendents of the various departments have been announced as follows:

Draft horses, E. M. Starkweather, member in charge; Watercrest stock farm and Ray Honsinger.

Saddle Horses, H. B. Clark, supt.; John Nelson, chairman.

Cattle, Howard Whipple, supt.

increase in production in all our principal lines.

"It is our intention to so design the proposed factory unit as to allow for future expansion if necessary. The company's principal offices and main factory will remain in Detroit," he said.

With Mr. Backus were L. V. Britt, E. M. Helwig, M. B. Hroll, E. F. Bertrand, W. C. Sproull and Walter McLean of the Burroughs company.

At the request of President Backus of the Burroughs company, Edward C. Hough of the Daisy invited a number of business men of Plymouth who are interested in bringing new industries to this city, to meet with the Burroughs officials at luncheon at the Mayflower hotel. Mr. Hough was one of the original Plymouth boosters who had much to do in inducing the Burroughs company to consider Plymouth as a place for its possible future expansion seven or eight years ago when they purchased the present site.

At the luncheon, in addition to Mr. Hough, was Fred D. Schrader, Charles H. Rathburn, Elmer Zuckerman, Floyd Kehr, Russell Deane, Cass Hough, Andrew Dunn, Leonard Murphy and Elton R. Eaton. Both Mr. Hough and the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce have kept in constant contact with the Burroughs company during the past few years hoping that a decision might soon be reached relative to its possible establishment of a new unit of its factory in this locality.

Mr. Hough, in introducing Mr. Backus to the group, stated that this community would welcome most enthusiastically the Burroughs company and that he was sure every one would be willing to cooperate to the fullest extent in any expansion program the company might have in mind.

Mr. Backus added that the departments which might be placed in the new plant, if the directors approved of the project, employed about 150 people.

"Some of these now reside on this side of the city and it will be as convenient for them to come to Plymouth as go into Detroit. Others will probably desire to move out here if our plans should be approved," he added.

Plans for the building have not yet been prepared, but one of the officials stated that if approval was given the project by the directors, work on the new unit would probably start this fall and be ready for occupancy in the spring.

Fames Damage School Dairy Barn

most effectively. A burning mass of 150 tons of hay is not an easy fire to fight, but these three fire departments which have, on more than one occasion, fought side by side, to stop conflagration in both Northville and Plymouth as well as the surrounding country, within an hour had the stubborn fire under control and kept it from getting into portions of the barn where several hundred tons of grain and feed were stored.

Only one cow of the prize Holstein herd of the school farm was lost. This cow happened to be sick and when Mr. Elliott, Mr. Johnson and others tried to get it out of the barn it could not be raised from the floor. Rather than let it suffocate in the smoke, they shot it. All of the other cows were quickly driven into the pasture near by.

An interesting sidelight of the fire was the fact that Fred Kroplik, one of the barn employes, who sleeps in the west end of one of the wings, did not know of the flames until he had been aroused by Mr. Elliott.

The fact that the fire did not do greater damage is probably due to many precautions taken in the construction of the building. When the fire was over it was found that all of the fire doors in the barn were properly closed and this fact, without question, had much to do in keeping the fire from spreading.

The fire loss of many thousands of dollars, is practically covered by insurance. Both Dr. Haskell and Farm Manager Elliott were high in their praise of the work done by the fire departments.

SAMBRONE MEMORIAL

The beautiful statue, erected in Riverside cemetery in honor of the memory of little Vito Sambrone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Sambrone, 887 Mill street, who died recently, was quarried and carved in Italy. The rock came from the same Carrara quarries where ancient Romans secured their marble for the age old statues that have made Italy famous. Under the name Vito on the statue has been carved the words "Sonny Boy," the family's favorite name of the little lad. The statue, of rare design and beauty, was secured through Benjamin Gilbert and the base for it was carved by Arnets in Ann Arbor.

Felton Presides At Big Reunion

The 16th annual Giegler reunion was held last Sunday, August 2, in Merril park on the Huron river on Pennsylvania avenue. There were about 90 present, out of this group of relatives numbering over 150, many coming from various states, including Florida, California and Canada, also from the cities of Flat Rock, Ecorse, Detroit, Holly, Hartland, Birmingham, Romulus and Belleville.

Lynn Felton of Plymouth, presided as president for Perry Giegler of St. Johns, who could not be present on account of illness. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, William Bell, Birmingham; secretary and treasurer, Blanche Sharp of Ecorse.

A program of sports was participated in, during the afternoon. One of the feature events was a fish story contest, each being called upon for his best fish story, and Robert Johnson of Flat Rock, (a Florida fisherman) was the winner. In the horse shoe pitching game, Norman Underwood of Yale, took first prize and Benjamin Scott of Detroit, second prize.

The yearly ball game between married men and single men, was very exciting, the single men being the winners. In the soft ball contest of seven innings, by a score of 7 to 2. This makes each team the winner of two consecutive years and both teams stand at five games each, during the past 10 years.

The married women won from the single girls this year by a score of 9 to 4, which puts the married women one game up on the single girls, having won six games out of the 10 years of playing. These games are contests, and are looked forward to, each year, with much interest.

At six o'clock a lunch of ice cream and cake was served, after which the guests left for their various homes, feeling that they had spent a very happy day and one, long to be remembered.

Next year, the reunion will be held at Brooks Park, near Redford, with William Bell, the new president, as host.

Mrs. Beattie Is Made President

At the annual meeting of the administrative board of the Wayne County Training school, held recently, Mrs. Robert Beattie was elected president and Fred C. Fischer, County School Commissioner, vice president. Mrs. Beattie succeeded as president, Milton M. Alexander, both of whom are original members of the board and have served continuously since the organization of the school. Judge Henry S. Hulbert, who was also one of the original members has been returned to membership by appointment of the board of supervisors to succeed the late Tracy W. McGregor.

The board is made up of the following members: Hon. Mrs. Robert Beattie, president, Hon. Fred C. Fischer, vice president, Hon. Joseph A. Murphy, Hon. Frank Cody, Hon. George Engel, Hon. Ray D. Schneider, Hon. Henry S. Hulbert, Hon. James Fitzgerald, Hon. Milton M. Alexander, Dr. Robert H. Haskell, medical superintendent, C. E. Elliott, secretary.

Former Village President Tells How To Solve Water Problem Easily

"It's about time someone began to think about this water business a little bit," declared Harry Robinson, for years, village president and one of the progressive officials, who did much to help build this community into a fine little city, when discussing the Plymouth water situation the other day.

"But what a simple matter to solve, to give us all the water at the times we need it most. Why haven't we made arrangements with the city of Detroit to connect our mains with the new water lines built out here from Detroit? Then when our water supply is low, all we would have to do is turn on the supply from Detroit. I understand that there are two places where this connection can be made without the slightest trouble," stated Mr. Robinson.

"Other cities and villages in Wayne county fight to get Detroit water. All we need of it is during a few weeks of the summer when our supply, for some reason, does not seem to be enough. One Detroit city main crosses right over the top of our line out near the Wayne County Training school and another line is being built just a few feet from ours down in Riverside-Plymouth park right now. That's the cheapest and most sensible thing to do. Let's do it and stop talking."

It is also stated that there is one well out at the Plymouth water farm that will produce 300 gallons of water per minute that has never been connected with the city's supply. The well was driven to a depth of 90 feet years ago and after being tested, it has never been used.

(The Plymouth Mail will be pleased to publish letters or statements from its readers on this important subject.)

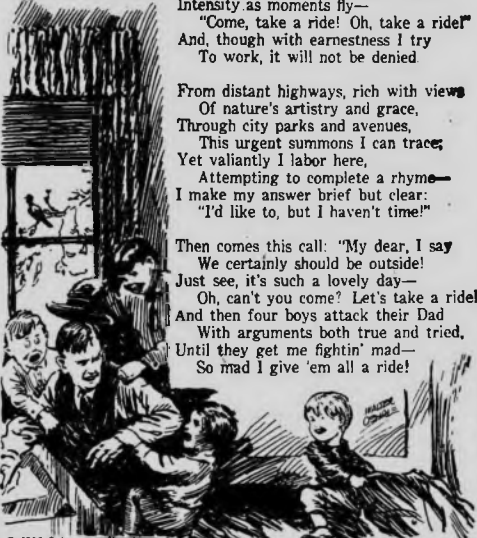

Let's take a ride!

Reverberating through the hills,
Resounding far across the plains,
There often comes a call that thrills
My heart—a call that always gains
Intensity as moments fly—
"Come, take a ride! Oh, take a ride!"
And, though with earnestness I try
To work, it will not be denied

From distant highways, rich with views
Of nature's artistry and grace,
Through city parks and avenues,
This urgent summons I can trace;
Yet valiantly I labor here,
Attempting to complete a rhyme—
I make my answer brief but clear:
"I'd like to, but I haven't time!"

Then comes this call: "My dear, I say
We certainly should be outside!
Just see, it's such a lovely day—
Oh, can't you come? Let's take a ride!
And then four boys attack their Dad
With arguments both true and tried,
Until they get me fightin' mad—
So mad I give 'em all a ride!"

Back Turner For State Treasurer

Former State Senator William Turner of Morley, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for state senator this fall, was a guest over the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gilder. Mrs. Gilder is a daughter of Senator and Mrs. Turner. Mr. Turner, who for years has been one of the leading Republicans of northwestern Michigan, was a candidate for the nomination two years ago, but withdrew upon the request of Governor Frank Fitzgerald. The candidate who secured the nomination was beaten by a big vote by his Democratic opponent.

The many friends of Senator Turner believe that if he can secure the Republican nomination that he will add considerable strength to the ticket as he has always polled a big vote in his home district.

Mrs. Alger Makes Appeal In Talk

organizations, mostly with some one definite aim.

"To the extent that this aim accords with some public need, or some objective that interests large groups of our citizens, these clubs accomplish the ends they seek, as long as they apply their efforts vigorously and steadily, understand the problems they face, and know the need of genuine human appeal.

"There are so many ways in which a really civic-conscious club can work for the benefit of its community.

"Public health, for instance, is a constant problem in all communities and it is a many-sided problem. We cannot merely set up state boards of public health and city boards of health and then wash our hands of responsibility. Experience has shown us that the steady, day in and day out attention of health clubs and of organizations backing health endeavors of many sorts, are necessary adjuncts of the public health service.

"Rotary clubs, I am informed, have long interested themselves in the welfare of crippled children, and in a quiet, purposeful way have accomplished, and still are accomplishing, wonderful results in this field of service. Nothing is of greater value in any Christian community than the saving of children, whenever possible, from lives of misery caused by some crippling ailment that might have been relieved if attended to in time. More power to Rotary for its splendid work in this field!

"Personally, I have for many years taken a lively interest in matters of public health and am a member of several organizations in Detroit that concentrate on health. We all are proud of the help we have given to make Detroit the accredited healthiest large city in the country, and to keep it in first place year after year.

"Women's activities in civic matters are no longer as limited as they used to be, but even when they were on a very limited scale, women's organizations were active in matters of public health. They came naturally to the forefront in such endeavors.

"From the most ancient ages to the present day, it is women who have done yeoman work in fighting illness. Every wife and mother knows how her family looks to her to nurse them back to health when they become ill, to serve them with unflinching devotion through the crisis of an illness and, through long days of convalescence.

"It is woman's job to keep her family healthy, just as it is the man's job to provide for their living. In the battle for public health, therefore, the women of our American homes constitute the first line of defense. That being so, there is nothing more important than that women organize to accomplish the most complete results.

"Having served for years on the board of trustees of the Visiting Nurse Association and of the Woman's Hospital in Detroit, I can attest to the splendid contribution made by these women's organizations in the cause of public health.

"It may interest you to know that our visiting nurses made visits to more than 30,000 patients last year and that maternity service was provided to 7,791 mothers. That is a concrete illustration of how a civic organization can handle a civic responsibility that would simply overwhelm individuals.

"There are many other fields of activity for civic-minded clubs, an important one being that of cultural development in the fine arts, music, literature and other things that add to the fullest enjoyment of life. Without the sympathetic aid of interested organizations that possess civic spirit, cultural needs would be left to individuals gifted in one or another of the arts. In most cases these individuals need the encouragement of others to do their best. The artistic temperament seldom is accompanied by the gift of business ability.

"In our larger cities we have organized groups who see to it that support is adequately provided for our art institutes, our libraries, our symphony orchestras, civic operas and all such activities.

"In smaller cities it is not possible always to cover the many and varied fields open to civic attention in large towns, but where there are groups of interested people along any line it always is possible to achieve some measure of progress in that line.

"In fact, I believe that in the smaller towns one can find more typical American life than is readily seen in our larger cities. The needs of a small community are apparent to those who live there and it is possible to care for them on a scale that is within the power of the interested citizens to furnish. Such ambitious projects as symphony concerts and civic operas in large cities are costly to prepare for and often are subject to the whims of chance, and even of weather, in their efforts to bring together the attendance necessary to secure their success.

"Right at the present time there is another important field in which every civic-spirited club and individual can do much to promote the general welfare. It concerns the basic patriotism of good citizenship.

"Social unrest caused by the depression has been taken advantage of by Communists and Socialists to spread their alien doctrines far and wide in our country, as well as in many others. We see the planned results of their work in the chaos prevailing in Spain, France and China.

"We want no such chaos here and if patriotic American citizens everywhere will recognize the real peril that confronts them in this respect, they will stamp out every vestige of it. Promotion of good citizenship and loyalty to American institutions is the most effective method of accomplishing this.

"Our greatest danger lies in allowing ourselves to be lulled into a false feeling of security. The Rotary clubs throughout the nation can do much to aid this cause, if they will take it up in a determined way.

"I know your Rotary club here in Plymouth has behind it the genuine spirit of community welfare and that your record shows much good accomplished. As long as that civic spirit animates your membership, you will be certain of continued success in your field of club activity."

Clarence Smith And Mrs. Frances Aquino Married on Saturday

Another home town marriage was happily consummated on Saturday of last week. The principals this time were Clarence Louiss Smith and Mrs. Frances Spencer-Aquino. Mr. Smith, though a native of New Jersey, has been well and favorably known in Plymouth for the past twelve or more years. Mrs. Aquino, of Plymouth's younger set, is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer of Wilcox road.

The ceremony took place at the Presbyterian manse in Rosedale Gardens. The hour was ten o'clock in the morning, the Rev. Roy Miller officiating. Accompanying the bridal pair, and acting as groomsmen and matron of honor, were Mr. and Mrs. John Britcher. The bride was clad in a gown of white silk and wore a small hat of velvet and net. She carried roses and white delphiniums. The matron of honor wore a gown of green brocade satin and a hat of green net. She carried tea roses and blue delphiniums. The going away outfit of the bride was made of black satin with white accessories.

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride's parents where a reception and a bountiful feast awaited. The party was a quiet and informal home affair, the attendants being only immediate relatives and a few friends. These included Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. John Britcher, Mr. and Mrs. George Britcher, Mr. and Mrs. William Mathews and family, Miss Julia Nowatarski, and Karl Starkweather, of Plymouth, and Mrs. Bertha Aston and family of Cleveland, Ohio.

Following the well wishes of all, and in a shower of rice and a properly decorated Ford V-8, the happy couple escaped for the northern Michigan countryside. The bridegroom is employed as a mechanic at the Plymouth plant of the Ford Motor Co. Upon return from their honeymoon Mr. Smith will return to his usual occupation, and the newlyweds will be at home to their friends in their lately re-decorated residence located at 154 South Mill street in Plymouth.

PUMPING GAS

The other day the editor of The Plymouth Mail stopped at a gas station not so far away from this city. There, pumping gas into the automobiles of customers was a school teacher well known to the writer who is required through necessity to spend his vacations at manual labor in order to produce enough to properly provide for his family.

There is nothing unusual about this fact as we all know that the average school teacher is not paid a sufficient sum to support his wife and children during the entire year, unless he does find some additional employment of some kind during summer months.

But there is something unusual about this case, however. The teacher we met at the gas station is outstanding because of his accomplishments in the field of instruction he is following, outstanding not only in the locality where he is employed as an instructor, but throughout the state as well.

What a shame! The state of Michigan requires years of special education and training before it will permit one to teach school. Then after a person has spent four, five or six years to meet these educational requirements before being given a right to teach, he gets a job as a school teacher at wages generally far below that paid to a person doing ordinary manual work.

We expect a teacher to meet certain social standards that also add to his living costs. We impose upon him a condition that is almost unbearable and we fail to provide him with sufficient wages with which to meet the requirements we demand.

If Michigan and the country is to maintain its high educational standards, the time has ARRIVED when we must give consideration to the instructors of our future citizens.

Frequently we hear radical ideas being discussed in our school rooms. We have heard that some instructors have in the course of their talks to boys and girls made suggestions that have been termed more or less critical of our social conditions.

Why should we be surprised at this condition? Why should not we expect our instructors to rebel against the unfair conditions we force upon them?

If Michigan and the rest of America will PAY the teachers of our children the wages to which they are entitled, if we will give them remuneration in keeping with the standards we force upon them, you will hear no more radical talk coming from our school rooms!

But just as long as we require even the best of our instructors to spend their vacations, wiping bugs from automobile windshields and pumping gas into automobiles, you can expect to hear more and more disturbing talk coming from our school rooms.

The surprising thing to the editor of The Plymouth Mail is the fact that our teachers have remained as loyal and as faithful to their responsibilities as they have under the unfair conditions we have forced upon them.

Maybe out of the swirling mess of things we are in, will come consideration of this problem and a proper reward for the splendid services public school instructors are giving to their country and humanity. Decent compensation to our instructors is one way to make safe our educational system as well as our own future security.

HOW THEY GROW UP

News dispatches from the Third congressional district over in Southwestern Michigan tell of the energetic campaign being made by Municipal Judge Paul Shafer of Battle Creek in his contest for the Republican nomination for congress. He is opposing Verner Main, who has renounced the Townsend platform upon which he was elected. Our unusual interest in Paul is due to the fact that it seemed but yesterday when we put him to work as a cub reporter on one of the Kalamazoo newspapers. Never did a lad enter into newspaper work more enthusiastically than did this youngster and needless to say it was but a short time before he was one of the outstanding newspaper men of western Michigan. Then he went from Kalamazoo to Battle Creek, where he has become one of the outstanding citizens of that city. Having known Mr. Shafer since his boyhood, always in a most favorable way, we cannot help but have a very keen interest in his campaign. There is this about it, if he should be nominated and elected to congress he will rank well with the high caliber of men the Third district has always been in the habit of selecting. Not only that, but he will bring credit and distinction to the state of Michigan.

MICHIGAN PAYS

According to figures just given out by the federal government, Michigan was among ten states in which the government collected more in revenue than it expended for relief during the past fiscal year. Michigan paid into the federal treasury $180,878,667 in taxes. It received back from the federal government in welfare pay and other forms of federal expenditures $147,482,398. That means that Michigan taxpayers last year paid something like $33,394,269 to support the needy and the lazy in other states. Has not the time arrived for the states to end this federal racket and spend its own tax money as it sees fit? The problems of Michigan are the problems of Michigan, not of Arizona, Georgia, Mississippi or some other state. The problems of Arizona belong to Arizona. But the worst of it is that the federal government is taking money from the pockets of the farmers and working men of Michigan to provide plunder and pap for politicians in states where Washington politicians think the most political good will come from. Yes, the time has come when Michigan should keep Michigan tax money, paying to the federal government only such sums as might be necessary to provide for the operation of needed government departments and for national defense.

The village council is preparing to submit a proposition to the electors to bond for a sum not more than $50,000 for building a new water pipe line to the springs. The village is growing in number of houses, and extension of the village mains are being asked for continually. There is plenty of water in the winter time, but in the summer when much is used for sprinkling purposes the supply is short.

ONE MINUTE BIOGRAPHIES OF MICHIGAN GOVERNORS and their ACCOMPLISHMENTS

By Elton R. Eaton

CHARLES M. CROSWELL

No. 15

It was under the leadership of Charles M. Croswell, governor of Michigan from 1877 to 1881, that the effort to have the death penalty re-established in Michigan, was defeated. Bitterly opposed to it, Croswell, who was at that time a member of the state senate, led the fight which defeated the plan to have murderers executed. He opposed state and city aid to railway companies, then a favorite practice in this and other mid-west states.

Croswell was born in New York state in 1825 and when seven years old was left an orphan. Upon the death of his father he went to live with an uncle, who came to Adrian in 1837. Although he was only 16 years old, young Croswell learned the carpenter's trade, and for a number of years worked in Adrian. A few years later he decided to become a lawyer. He secured appointment as deputy clerk of Lenawee county and was later elected register of deeds. He was secretary of the convention at Jackson, which formed the Republican party, and was active in the early history of the organization.

In 1862 he secured appointment as city attorney of Adrian and was elected mayor the same year. That fall he was elected to the state senate and here gained the fame which later resulted in his nomination for governor by acclamation.

He was chairman of the constitutional convention of 1867. His nomination for governor took place in 1876. During his first term the state debt was greatly reduced, all state institutions were forced to keep within their appropriations and the new capitol at Lansing occupied. The building was dedicated during the early part of his second term.

RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

POPE SAYS SOMETHING

When you put your money in a savings account in your bank (if you happen to be that fortunate) you will draw 2% interest on your deposit. If you want to borrow that same money from the bank for a real estate or building loan you will be charged 8% interest on the loan. If you are buying a house on contract the monthly payments must be low enough to fit your monthly income and if you're paying 6% interest on the contract balance a large percentage of your payment represents interest charges. It will take you fifteen or twenty years to pay for a modest home and while the soundness of your investment is not disputed, the point is, that high interest rates turn home ownership into an endurance contest for the purchaser. I think real estate and building activity is one field where the government might step in and supply financial assistance at low interest rate without risk of loss, at the same time providing a sound program of recovery. Building would boom, home ownership would increase and employment would be furnished in the heavy industries which have been lagging behind in re-employment.—J. John Pope in The Grandville Star.

IN MICHIGAN TOO!

We wonder how many people realize just how serious the condition is that has been brought about by the drouth in this section. During the past few days, what little chance there was for a corn crop has practically been eliminated by the continued lack of moisture and the continued high temperatures. It is disheartening to farmers to watch their crops dry up day after day and be powerless to do anything about it, yet that is what has been confronting many Cass county farmers the past few weeks. With a shortage of hay and the loss of a corn crop, the prospects are not bright. We read with interest the statement of a writer in a big daily newspaper to the effect that high prices for farm crops, due to the drouth, were enriching the farmers. Evidently the writer was too shallow to understand that drouth raises prices, few farmers have anything to sell; and if he has to buy feed at drouth prices, the farmer is completely out of luck.—William Berkey in The Cassopolis Vigilant.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

The tale is told in club circles of three or four members of a service club in Michigan who took their politics so seriously that in the Smith-Hoover squabble a number of years ago they almost engaged in fist fights—disrupted the whole club, and resigned in hatred of each other. As time passed, Hoover and Smith were pictured in each others' embraces, and Smith invited Hoover to join the board of directors of a great life insurance company of which he was also a director. They were business associates. But the members of the service club still don't speak, and still carry their hatred hatched in a political campaign. Write your own editorial—or moral, if you please. This is a campaign year.—William Canfield in The Livingston County Republican-Press.

IN NO OTHER COUNTRY BUT UNITED STATES

Nineteen years ago we went to Mason in Ingham county. One of the first men we became acquainted with in the neighboring town of Leslie was Maurice P. Compton. He died last week at the age of seventy-two years. Frequently he used to call on us in St. Johns and several years ago had charge of an estate which had property on Clinton avenue.

About sixty years ago Maurice Compton, with two other boys of about the same age, came into Leslie on a freight train. They were destitute little ragamuffins—youthful tramps. A kind woman Mrs. Sidney Russell, took them in and soon the three homeless lads were adopted in homes there. They were given jobs in the summer and sent to school. All became useful and prominent citizens.

Maurice Compton became a merchant. He branched out into many lines. He held almost every office of responsibility in the village and was widely known and respected throughout Michigan. The kindness of one woman and the ambition of three penniless and hungry boys combined to make a fine contribution to that community.

In spite of the calamity-howlers, it can still be done in America—about the only country in the world where this has been and still is true.—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican-News.

FREE FERRIES

As a counter argument against a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac, the suggestion of Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald that free ferry service be maintained by the state is a good one. As a matter of common sense and business, the suggestion scarcely measures up to the Fitzgerald standard of business thrift.

It is true that Michigan can double its ferry service across the straits, providing free transportation between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace and do it all on the interest charges which would pile up on a $40,000,000 bridge.

On the other hand, why do it? The state should wipe off its docks and approaches as a part of the Michigan highway system. These should not be included as capital investment in figuring ferry charges. As soon as the ferry steamers are paid for, and they should be paid for by now with the docks and approaches figured out, the ferry charges should be graded downward, setting aside only a sufficient sum each year to provide sinking funds for renewal of the ships when obsolete and to provide such additional facilities as may be required.

When the ferry business has been placed upon such a basis of calculation, the next step is to provide nearby residents and business men with strip tickets at nominal charges, always with due regard to placing a normal tonnage tax on all commercial hauling. To do less than this is not to play fair with the railroads which serve this section of the state.

Based upon the actual cost of operating the ferries, and with sliding rates giving advantage to business institutions which serve the Straits country, and providing commutation rates to regular patrons, and other charges against highway trucking concerns, will make it possible to apply a rate to the tourist trade which will not discourage any from crossing.

Good common sense business practices should be insisted upon at the Straits as elsewhere. If this is done, no traveler will be greatly inconvenienced by the charges determined upon.—Vern J. Brown in The Ingham County News.

Daring Robbery of Jacox Oil Co.

Plymouth residents who are acquainted with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jacox of Belleville, will be interested in the following report of a daring robbery that took place last week in Belleville. The report is taken from the Belleville Enterprise as follows:

A method of robbery new to Belleville was inaugurated here Tuesday night when the Jacox Oil Corp. office safe was again looted of its contents. This time it involved kidnaping, and forcing members of the firm to open the safe for the robbers.

The evening's depredations started as Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jacox and family drove into their garage at their home in the Kott subdivision. Two armed and heavily masked men stepped forward as the Jacox children were getting out of the car and commanded them to get back into the car. Then the thugs got into the car with the family and commanded Earl to drive around town. As the watchman was on duty at the comfort station they wanted to wait until the station closed before looting the safe. When Earl stated to the thugs that he did not know the combination to the safe they insisted at the point of a gun that he call Miss Priscilla Quirk to open it. When Miss Quirk appeared at the residence of Mr. Jacox where they demanded that she come she was taken with the family into the Jacox car and driven over to the office of the oil company.

There she opened the safe for them and the bandits took all the money. Then they drove east on Huron River Drive, one of the robbers leaving the car and getting into the car that was waiting for them in the field near the Day residence. From there on east the robbers car followed and Earl was forced to drive his car containing the family and one robber to the township line road east of French Landing to a point about one-half mile south of Huron River Drive. Here the family was put out of the car and the robber told Earl he would find his car at Huron River Drive a half-mile away. Earl walked to this location and recovered his car and the family came back to Belleville.

State police and Sheriff Behrend's men are working on the case.

This is the second time in less than a year that the Jacox Oil Corp. office safe at Belleville has been looted. Last year in October the safe was blown open and the money and gas books in it taken.

When headlights are out of focus, driving on a wet pavement is increasingly difficult, due to the increased glare.

What Penniman-Allen Offers

Rarely has a play exerted such an emotional grip on actors who have taken part in it, as has "Show Boat," the Jerome Kern-Oscar Hammerstein musical romantic drama which comes to the Penniman-Allen theatre on August 16th.

The hold that the production has on performers is indicated by the overwhelming desire of troupers to repeat their "Show Boat" roles.

Letters came to Universal studios from all over the country. Players who had, at one time or another, been in a stage presentation of "Show Boat," requested that they be allowed to repeat their parts in the photoplay.

But when all the roles had been filled, there were still 100 former actors from "Show Boat" companies who could not be placed in the cast, unless Universal wanted to make a film with several Captain Andy's, Magnolias, Ravensals, Julies and Sheriffs playing the parts at the same time.

Irene Dunne expressed her pleasure at portraying Magnolia on the screen, after she had enacted the same personality in the original road company. "It is a perfect role for a star," Irene declared.

Charles Winninger added, "Every character in the story is so distinct and so well developed that the production is an actor's paradise."

"I think it's the music that gets under the skin of show folks," maintained Helen Morgan, recreating the part of Julie which she first played in the New York hit. "I don't know what the music does to an audience but I can imagine, from what I know it does to me. It is like the first ray of spring sunshine. There is a thrill every time the overture starts."

"It is the music," agreed Paul Robeson, the world famous baritone, whose singing of "Old Man River" has made the song a favorite throughout the country.

"The drama of the story is what I like," says Queenie Smith. She should know. She has won stardom dancing, singing in musical comedy and on the dramatic stage.

Hollywood looked like the camping grounds of a band of cut-throat French Apaches for several days during the filming of Walter Wanger's "Fatal Lady" which opens on August 19th at the Penniman-Allen theatre.

Forty-five men and women with what seemed to be knife scars on their faces, walked the streets of the film city. They were Parisian-type extras, however, whose faces had been treated by make-up experts to put them into the character of the various roles they were playing. They had orders not to remove the scars until their jobs were completed.

"Fatal Lady" stars Mary Ellis, former Metropolitan Opera prima donna, in the role of an opera star whose fatal charms cause the death of men unfortunate enough to fall in love with her. Tragedy follows for her in the wake of the murders and she loses her high position in grand opera. In order to eke out a bare living, she is forced to sing in a Paris cafe infested with Apaches. It is here that the knife-scarred Apaches make their appearance.

In Miss Ellis' supporting cast are Walter Pidgeon, Norman Foster, John Halliday, Irene Franklin, Alan Mowbray and a host of others.

Hollywood is just a small town after all, and its gossips have a habit of jumping at conclusions just as they do in villages in Iowa, Kentucky or Oregon—only more so.

If proof of this is needed, ask Loretta Young and Robert Taylor who are current sufferers from an acute attack of gossipitis, even though their two names have not been linked—as yet.

These two popular screen players, who are co-starred for the first time in the gay Fox romantic triumph, "Private Number" at the Penniman-Allen theatre, August 21st, are free white and twenty-one, hence they are fair prey for those who like to speculate on the romantic diodes of the stars.

"What burns me," said Taylor during production of the film, "is that I get the credit and reputation for a lot of escapades without any of the fun of the actual experiences."

"At a time when I was working every day without a let-up, grabbing meals on the fly and tumbling exhausted into bed at 9 p. m. every night, I was rumored as being out every night with a different girl. What's more, not only was it just an idle rumor, but I was also accused of trying to play the social game too heavily."

"The rumors, as I can see them, were based on the fact that a few times I would go out to dinner every night as soon as I was through work, and generally take the actress with whom I was working at the time. After dinner, we would go our separate ways to get a good night's sleep in order to be fresh for the next day's work. Being a bachelor, I eat all of my meals out.

"Some of the 'conquests' ascribed to me are quite flattering, but they are not only untrue but quite unfair."

Even more perturbed is Loretta Young, who has recently been the target for rumors which are so far-fetched they are funny.

"I only have to be seen out twice with the same man," Loretta said, "and I am immediately rumored engaged, if not secretly married."

"I have worked in pictures for a long time, and have naturally made a lot of friends during that period. I do not see why I cannot go out with them occasionally without having them and myself embarrassed by these repeated rumors of impending marriage."

"The funny part of it all is that at least half of the men whose names the gossips link with mine are people whom I have not yet had the pleasure of meeting. If they are going to marry me off to someone, I should at least be given the chance to meet the man and see what he is like. Hollywood is a small town with a knitting circle complex."

So far, there have been no murmurs about a romantic alliance between Loretta Young and Robert Taylor, but living as they do in Hollywood, the goldfish bowl of the world, it wouldn't be surprising if that came to pass.

"Private Number" features an outstanding cast in support of the two young stars including Patsy Kelly, Basil Rathbone and Marjorie Gatenon.

The Home Town

by Tracy Cone
There is a town in Michigan
Where I would like to be.
I've looked for it a thousand times
In my geography.

It nestles 'neath the setting sun,
The sky's eternal blue;
The stars and moon above the earth
Are looking for it too.

It isn't in a fairy-land,
Nor pirate's repertoires;
It isn't in a treasure isle,
Nor in some author's stories.

The home town isn't just a town
Obtained by merely asking;
Takes youth and age and struggling,
To make it everlasting.

I'm going back to my home town
To taper life's repose,
And it will be in Michigan,
As everybody knows.

Others Get It, Why Not Plymouth?

Eight new projects for five Wayne county communities have been announced by Harry L. Pearson, state WPA administrator.

They represent a total Federal allotment of $160,224 and will provide employment for approximately 470 workmen for an average of four months.

The largest project is at Lincoln Park. It calls for filling cracks and patching 388,000 square yards of concrete pavement; replacing 99,135 square feet of sidewalks throughout the town; treating 30,928 square yards of roads with oil and tar; scarifying and grading 74,328 square yards of roads; cleaning 25,400 lineal feet of gutters; digging 43,400 lineal feet of gutters and resetting 17,000 lineal feet of stone curbing. The Federal cost will be $53,686.

Another Lincoln Park project, for which WPA has allotted $1,510, provides for the painting of 1,003 fire hydrants and 59 police and fire alarm boxes and pedestals; repainting 50 traffic signs, and painting 100 new traffic signs and pavement lines designating street centers, no parking areas and safety zones.

Highland Park has three new projects, two of them for the four-foot widening of Buena Vista and Richton Avenues from the first alley west of Woodward Avenue to Hamilton Avenue. The Federal appropriation for the two projects is $24,904. The third covers the repair of 17,000 lineal feet of curbing on Tuxedo, Elmhurst, Monterey, Richton, Cortland, Highland, Sturtevant, Tyler, West Grand and East Buena Vista. The WPA allotment is $19,585.

Already underway is the project of constructing 75,640 square feet of sidewalk in River Rouge under a Federal appropriation of $14,978. Seventy-five men are employed.

Also in operation is a project in Garden City where 25 miles of unimproved streets are being graded, shoulders improved and drainage ditches dug by a crew of 70 WPA workmen. The Federal cost will be $27,228.

At Ecorse, 85,535 square feet of sidewalks, of which 66,645 square feet will be replacements, will be constructed by WPA with 70 workmen and an appropriation of $18,353. The project includes grading and paving of 84 square yards in the rear of the village hall.

The garden party given Tuesday evening by the first division of the Woman's auxiliary of the Presbyterian church, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Haskell on Sheldon road, was greatly enjoyed by about 100 guests. While they were being received by Dr. and Mrs. Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Smith and other members of the society, several musical numbers were played by Audrey and Her Boy Friends. The program followed with William Wood as master of ceremonies; two accordion and violin selections by Romaine and Carroll Lee; a harmonica duet, two tap dancing numbers and a boxing match, enacted by boys of the training school; a violin solo by Doris Hamill, two readings by Marion L. Tefft; two piano selections by Howard Walbridge of Rosedale Gardens. Each number was very well received and many words of appreciation spoken in regard to the splendid talent. A luncheon followed with the guests being seated at small tables, placed about the garden, and served by six girls from the training school. Mrs. G. A. Smith, chairman, Mrs. Goodwin Crumble, Mrs. Harvey Springer and Mrs. Kenneth Harrison greatly appreciate the generous hospitality of Dr. and Mrs. Haskell and the assistance of all others who made the party a success.

The marriage of Miss Laura Lillian Bonesteel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Bonesteel of Galesburg, Illinois, and Robert Allen Hodges, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Hodges, of Barons, Alberta, Canada, was quietly performed by the Reverend Niel E. Hansen of the Central Congregational church of Galesburg, at 7:30 o'clock, Friday evening, July 31, in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Seth C. Boyd, in the presence of a large company of relatives and friends. The home was attractively decorated in green and white, a bower of ferns and white streamers forming a background for the bridal couple during the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Hodges left on a short wedding trip to Chicago and will be at home to their many friends at a later in Barons, Alberta, Canada. To Ask Extension Of Water Mains

At the next meeting of the city commission, it is stated that City Commissioner Ruth Huston Whipple plans to ask that the city provide residents along Sutherland, Hartsough, Ross and Simpson streets with water service. Not only is it planned to make a recommendation for the placing of water mains on these streets, but the commissioner declares that it is her intention of asking that residents along Goldens road between South Main and Mill street be provided with water service that was promised to them at the time that section was taken into the city some seven years ago. The recommendations will also carry a request that the two inch water main on South Main street be replaced with an eight inch main.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST
 Sunday morning service, 10:30. Sunday school at 10:30. Pupils received up to the age of twenty years.
 Wednesday evening testimony service, 8:00.
 "Soul" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches, throughout the world on Sunday, August 16th.
 Among the Bible citations is this passage (I. Am. 3: 24, 25):

"The Lord is my portion, saith my soul; therefore will I hope in him. The Lord is good unto them that wait for him, to the soul that seeketh him."
 Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 467): "Science reveals Spirit, Soul, as not in body, and God as not in man but as reflected by man."

SALEM CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
 Lucia M. Stroh, minister
 The divine worship service last Sunday proved a very inspiring and interesting one. The pastor had Rev. C. W. Lewis, assist with scripture reading and prayer and then called on Rev. Milo Jasper Sweet, pastor of the Congregational church of Chattanooga, Tennessee to preach the sermon. Rev. Sweet brought a very graphic and thought provoking, helpful message to us all. Rev. Sweet is spending his vacation in these parts, where he was born and spent most of his boyhood days. The Junior choir delighted all with a beautiful anthem.
 The Ladies Auxiliary society will meet Thursday afternoon at Parkway park near Spring drive between Five and Six mile roads. Joint hostesses are, Mrs. C. W. Lewis and Mrs. Laverne Lewis. Pot luck supper will be served.
 Next Sunday services: Sunday school, 9:30 a. m. Preaching service, 10:30 a. m. All are cordially invited to our services.
 Prayer meeting, Wednesday evenings. Practice for the Junior choir every Thursday evening in the church.

Nearly 2000 Take Part In Contests
 During the seventh week of the summer recreation program, 1937 took part in the various activities at both playgrounds. An inter-playground baseball league was started with two teams from Central and two from Starkweather. They play on each grounds every day.
 A box hockey tournament was held at each playground. Dean Van Landingham won from a field of 14 at Starkweather and Keith Van Amburg won at Central. In the play-off Van Landingham defeated Van Amburg three straight games.
 The handicraft work for the week consisted of finishing up work that had been started. Beaded head bands and bracelets were made. Napkin rings were made of raffia.
 Mrs. Harvey Springer entertained the Liberty street bridge club at a dessert-bridge Thursday.

Drive Under Way For $16,000,000 In Back Taxes

Second Payments Now Due: Total To Set New Record

With the campaign on in every county in Michigan to collect the second installment of taxes due under the ten-year plan, State Treasurer Theodore I. Fry predicted today that the payments will aggregate $16,000,000.

A sizable army of taxpayers already has begun marching on the various county treasurers, demanding a "paid" stamp on their bills. Early collection reports all have been good.

"On the basis of our experience a year ago, when the ten-year plan was inaugurated, I have no hesitancy about saying that this year's drive will be a big success," Treasurer Fry said. "I look for collections to top last year's total of $15,000,000 and to reach possibly $16,000,000."

"Business conditions are better generally, some individuals have kept their bonus money to pay the tax installment, and an investment in real estate is well worth protecting at this time. I am sure that practically everybody who paid his first installment on back taxes will realize the necessity for keeping up the payments."

"One of the purposes of the campaign is to acquaint those who failed to pay the first installment with the fact that they may still do so, with only a slight extra charge. A third group, who are now financially able to do so, will pay the whole thing up, in this way saving large amounts of interest and clearing the title to their property."

The rush of the public to pay in advance of the September 1 deadline recalls last year's jams at the treasurers' offices. All indications are that again these eleventh-hour visitors will have to wait in line and take their turn. Officials point out that those who pay now, not only gain the comfort of knowing that their property is protected, but save themselves this trouble of waiting.

The onslaught of the taxpayers gives visible proof of a thriving public realization that the State of Michigan is offering a bargain. Under the plan, taxes for 1932 and prior years—for state, counties, villages, townships, and all cities except Detroit, which has its own seven-year plan—are lumped and then divided into ten annual payments. All the heavy interest on these old taxes has been cancelled. The next interest amounts to only four per cent per year on each installment, figured from September 1, 1935, when the plan went into effect.

Those who are just starting in and making the two payments, put themselves on an equal footing with the rest, getting another eight years to meet the balance owing.

The ten-year plan, embodied in the Moore-Holbeck Act, was the happy solution of an extremely serious tax problem. Many millions of dollars in taxes lay uncollected, and apparently uncollectable, on tax rolls. Accumulated for years, the taxes in their net amount were so huge that the property owners, despairing of ever paying the total, refused to pay any one year's delinquent tax. Interest and penalty on the older unpaid taxes ran as high as 50 and 60 per cent of the original amount, a fact which further discouraged payment.

Governmental units needed the money which these taxes represented. A tax title sale would have raised funds, but thousands of families would have lost their homes and life savings. Pledging the delinquencies for a good-sized loan was also considered and rejected, because paying back the interest and principal on the loan would just have added that much more of a burden on the already-overburdened property owner.

Then the part-payment idea was evolved.

The state went right to its own property owners for assistance, and made the paying of taxes popular. Of the $15,000,000 collected last year, about ten per cent went to the state treasury, while the other ninety per cent went into local treasuries.

The $15,000,000 was actual cash. Through payment of it, $55,000,000 in taxes was "revived" and shifted from dead to active rolls, with collection of the whole amount merely a matter of time.

So successful has been Michigan's new method of collecting delinquent taxes that it has commanded nationwide interest.

All county treasurers have the machinery of their offices geared to provide a maximum of service, knowing that the tide of taxpayers will be a rising one right up to the last minute.

The campaign, for which $27,000 has been appropriated this year, is again being handled by Milton M. Alexander of Detroit.

Motor Trip Down In Mexico Easy

Visitors by the thousands soon will be flocking into Mexico over the new Pan-American highway in the opinion of Thomas P. Henry, president of the American Automobile Association, who has recently returned from active participation in the formal dedication of the route linking Laredo, Texas, with Mexico City.

Previously conceived notions formed through articles in national periodicals had prepared him for a hazardous drive, attended by many of the difficulties which beset early American tourists, whereas there is not a dangerous foot in the whole 738-mile route and nothing to prevent a fifteen year old girl from making the trip alone, Mr. Henry reported.

As evidence of this, he cited covering the entire distance in only fourteen and a half hours of elapsed travel time in a touring sedan which he drove from Detroit to Mexico City and returning up 5,400 miles in two weeks.

Three large oil companies are installing modern tourist camps over the entire route, boasting plumbing and equal of anything in America and the best beds and mattresses made in Grand Rapids, the AAA head stated.

"Less than forty miles of the entire route are not hard surfaced," said Mr. Henry, "and that stretch is oiled and so smooth I didn't realize I was leaving pavement. The highway is as well laid out as any in the United States. Every bridge is completed. If there is a single foot of dangerous travel on the whole trip I failed to find it."

The Association head spoke during dedication ceremonies held on the middle of the International bridge at Laredo. Vice-president John N. Garner was principal speaker here before a large gathering which numbered 73 official representatives from the United States and Mexico. All members of the party except Garner then went as guests of the Mexican government over the new route to Mexico City. Mr. Henry drove his own car, while the others went in transportation provided by the Mexican government. Governors of the states through which the caravan passed entertained the official delegates at formal functions, and were likewise entertained at the President's palace at Mexico City by president Cardenas.

Particularly impressed, said Mr. Henry, was he with the realization of what the new highway means to that country and their determination to make travel as easy and as pleasant as possible for American visitors. The second vivid impression he brought back with him, Mr. Henry reported, was the splendid regard with which Ambassador Josephus Daniels is held by the rank and file of Mexican people.

Cars from the United States are now crossing the border at the rate of about 50 a day, he reported, with prospects of rapid increase as a result of the enthusiastic reports brought back by those taking the trip. Particularly active fall and winter travel is indicated by the abundance of game, and the prospects of a temperate climate, according to Mr. Henry.

The road, which has been under construction for several years, is 28 feet wide, and represents a remarkable engineering achievement, with the last 280 miles blasted out of the side of a mountain. The hope is that ultimately it will be extended through Central America into South America, thus making possible a continuous motor route linking the two halves of the Western hemisphere.

Hamilton Storm Sewer Finished

Workmen this week completed the storm sewer construction on Hamilton avenue. The project, one done under the PWA program, was started early in the spring, and has required considerable time, it is said, because of the quick sand encountered at various places.

The three foot storm sewer that has been put down, empties into an 18 inch storm sewer. It is stated that the city has also started work on an extension of the storm sewer along Joy street for a distance of 700 feet. This PWA project, it is said, will give 33 men part time work for about five weeks.

Cleveland's merchants are wearing a broad smile. Official estimates say the Republican convention will bring between $800,000 and $1,000,000 into the city. Delegates and visitors spent between $100,000 and $165,000 a day.

Offers Help In Coroner's Fight

Dr. Eugene C. Keyes of Dearborn, candidate for the Republican nomination for coroner who has won much support to his candidacy in both Plymouth and Northville townships, has stated that if he should be nominated and elected he will cooperate to the fullest extent with residents in this locality in putting to an end the practice of the coroner's office in permitting bodies to lie for hours along highways or on banks of lakes where death has been due to accident or violence. His statement on this question will please every one in this part of the county.

"It is inconceivable that those elected to such an important office as that of coroner would not take immediate steps to end such a practice, and The Plymouth Mail can assure the people in northwestern Wayne county that I will work with them to the fullest extent to end this deplorable practice," Dr. Keyes stated this week.

Dr. Keyes who has been admitted to practice law as well as medicine in Michigan, points out that the coroner's office is an exceedingly important one. He is using in his campaign a reprint from the Encyclopedia of Social Service the following statement pertaining to the office:

"The duties of the coroner are established by statute and his chief function is the investigation of deaths which involves two tasks, as medical officer, the coroner must furnish the state with a definite decision as to the cause of deaths which have occurred under unnatural circumstances; as legal officer, where he believes that there is evidence of a crime he must summon a jury, examine witnesses, seize evidence and aid in the apprehension of the criminal.

Unfortunately there are few coroners in the United States who have either the necessary legal or medical qualifications. From the point of view of legal procedure the system is faulty. The coroner frequently selects a jury from among his friends and in general his ignorance of legal methods makes his inquests valueless. The usual lack of cooperation between the coroner and the prosecutor is another factor which makes the office of coroner a deterrent rather than an aid in tracing the criminal. Such a system must break down because the training now required is so highly specialized that it becomes increasingly difficult to find anyone for the position who has both the necessary medical and legal qualifications."

Frank Day Smith Enters Campaign

Frank Day Smith of Redford has announced his candidacy as Republican candidate for Circuit Court Commissioner.

Mr. Smith has a host of friends among the business and professional circles and comes highly recommended as a candidate.

He is particularly qualified for circuit court commissioner, has had years of experience as a successful attorney in Federal and State courts, specializing in Lien laws, is a national authority on mechanics lien law and this branch of the law is now referred to the circuit court commissioner.

Mr. Smith served for five years on a committee appointed by Herbert Hoover to assist in drafting uniform state laws.

Mr. Smith has always been interested in laws to protect the small home owner, he sponsored and tried successfully the first Michigan moratorium case, as attorney for the distressed home owner. Mr. Smith is a man with high ideals, has lived in the Redford section the past fifteen years, a member of Calvary Redford M. E. church. He is a 32 degree Mason and member of Caravan Shrine club is an active member of the Michigan Educational society and believes schools should be adequately financed. He has been a leader among many Republican and civic groups.

Mr. Smith lives in this section of Wayne county. Western Wayne county is not and never has been represented on the judicial bench. Mr. Smith made a splendid showing as a candidate for circuit judge, making the run against an incumbent, was 19th and 18 taking office.

May Build Sidewalk On Fralick

Construction of a curb and gutter along Farmer street between the Pere Marquette tracks and Starkweather avenue has been started as a PWA project.

The improvement will cost the property owners along the street less than 25 cents a front foot.

It is stated that there is prospect of a petition being circulated for the construction of a curb and gutter and sidewalks on Fralick avenue between Main street and Harvey. There has been some discussion as to the width of the street and it is stated that it is probable that the street will be made a 50 foot street in view of the fact that it will always be a business street.

The plan calls for the building of the sidewalk directly next to the proposed curbing. The improvement if it should be carried out, will greatly improve a street that has long needed improving. It may also encourage some business development along the thoroughfare.

As part of the campaign against noise, strips of crepe rubber have been laid under the trambines in the streets of Durban, South Africa.

Gilder Enters The Hall of Fame

Ray Gilder, Wilson's pitcher, has entered the hall of fame by pitching a no hit, no run game against the Plymouth Mail in the last game. During the past few years, Ray has been one of the leading hurlers of the league but this year he seemed to have lost the old hop on his ball. The hop and zip returned for this game, as his opponents will verify. Ray struck out 15. He struck out the side in the first, second, and fourth innings. In the fifth inning, Don Sutherland came to Ray's rescue with a diving shoe string catch of Lasky's hard line drive.

Take Highland Parkers For Ride

The Plymouth-Schraders walloped three Highland Park pitchers for 17 hits last Sunday at Highland Park to take the final game of the series from the league leaders by a score of 13-12. The victor also gave the Schraders the series two game to none. It was the second home game the Orioles had lost this year.

Carson started, but was taken out in the sixth inning after allowing 11 hits. Bixler and Bartmess followed him, but neither was any more effective. Carson was charged with the defeat.

Harold Pankow was Plymouth's mound choice and pitched eight and one-third innings when he gave evidence of being Harry German, Jr., relieved him. Pankow gets credit for winning the game.

Sunday, August 16th, will bring together two of the fastest teams in the Michigan Inter-county league, Plymouth-Schrader and Garden City. The contest promises to be one of the most exciting and thrilling games of the season. Plymouth-Riverside park will be the scene of the battle and the time, 3:00 p. m.

Garden City Now In First Place

Garden City, Sunday, took first place in the Michigan Inter-County league by defeating Perfection Laundry 15 to 8, while Plymouth Schraders knocked off Highland Park, 13 to 12.

The Wolfgram boys each knocked out a home run which were the blows that started Perfection Laundry on the road to defeat.

Harold Pisarek had held Garden City hitless for three and two-thirds innings, then the fire works started.

Plymouth Schrader's victory kept them in a two way tie for third place with Cass Benton with only two games left on their schedule.

City To Change Street Names

According to an announcement, made today by City Manager Clarence E. Elliott, members of the city commission are considering the advisability of changing the names of two city streets. Both streets under consideration are now given two names each and it is thought that the continuation of one name the full length of the street would be much better.

Garfield and Evergreen streets join at Penniman avenue and the commission is considering changing Evergreen to Garfield. The other is now Burroughs and across Main street where it joins is Sutherland. On this particular problem they are undecided just what name to use or wonder if it might not be best to give it an entirely new name. Property holders on these streets are asked to express their opinions.

The city manager also stated that city employees had cut weeds all over town and wished that property owners would cooperate with the city and do the same on any vacant lots that they might have.

When the government takes over the railroads, then the politicians, during the campaign, will be promising the voter a ride in the Pullman on a day-coach ticket.

Surprise Shower Given In Honor of Elizabeth Nichol Last Saturday

A garden party and surprise shower was given Saturday evening by Eileen Jordan at her home on Adams street, honoring Elizabeth Nichol, an August bride-elect. The guests were seated at tables with coverings of white, yellow favors and bouquets of blue, yellow and white crepe flowers being placed in the center of all but the guest of honor's table which had a miniature bride and groom with wedding bells above it. The garden was marked off by wires strung diagonally bound in yellow and white crepe paper, with a jack o' lantern between.

Following the two course luncheon Miss Nichol and the other guests were asked to change into costumes provided for them by the hostess for a mock wedding. The bride party was as follows: Miss Nichol, acting as the bride, was gowned in bright orange and blue and carried a bouquet of wild carrot, wild mustard and hydrangeas; Laura Kincaide, as the groom, wore a black suit, a high hat and had a walking cane; Catherine Nichol was train bearer; Audrea Kreeger, the flower girl; Dora Gallimore, the minister; Vera Woods Cousins, the fainting mother, and the other guests and the maids of honor, all attired in vari-colored gowns with yards of ruffling and matching hats.

The wedding party marched from the house, through an improvised gateway, to the porch, where an altar had been built, which was covered with yellow and white crepe paper and bouquets of fire-tree and hydrangeas placed on either side.

After the ceremony, which provoked hilarity from the beginning, the guest of honor was invited over to one side of the garden, where a miniature house stood with a large wedding bell waving overhead. She was asked to open the house and did so finding it filled to the peak with beautifully wrapped gifts as a surprise for her. They made her very happy and deeply grateful, and appreciative of all the lovely things planned for her.

The guests were Miss Nichol, her sisters, Catherine and Christine, Dora Gallimore, Laura Kincaide, Audrea Kreeger, Vera Woods Cousins of Belleville, Virginia Woodworth Bake, Helen Tyler Clapin, Phila Ferguson, Dorothy Stauffer of Howell, Estelle Taylor, Joan Cassidy, Coraline Rathburn and Elva Hill.

Asking Bids For Church Building

It has just been announced that sealed proposals are being received at the office of Charles H. Bennett, chairman of the building committee of the First Presbyterian church, for construction of the new church. It is stated that bids for the general contract as well as for sub-contracts are being received until 7 o'clock, August 19.

Bidders for the general contract are instructed to give special consideration to Plymouth sub-contract bidders on the work of their various trades. It is also specified that materials wherever possible be purchased in Plymouth and the successful contractor must employ Plymouth labor, both skilled and unskilled, if they can be secured.

Local contractors for heating, wiring, painting, plumbing and similar lines of work are advised that they can see the plans and specifications at the office of the architect, Thomas Moss, at 809 Penniman avenue. He will provide them with such information as they may desire.

Radiator Repair Shop To Be Built

Construction has been started by Bieszks Brothers, out on the Plymouth road, of another new building in the rear of their machine shop for a radiator repair shop. The new building will be 24x34 and will be equipped with everything necessary to do first class automobile radiator repairing.

The Bieszks have made arrangements to bring to Plymouth the Rouge Auto Radiator service which has been located out on West Jefferson in Detroit. August Sulla and James Phiefer will be in charge. They are old experienced radiator repairmen and know the work thoroughly.

Producer-Consumer Picnic On Saturday

Plans have been completed for the Producer-Consumer picnic to be held Saturday, August 15 in Plymouth-Riverside park. W. C. Irby, secretary of the Alabama Farmers' Union will be the main speaker. Mr. Irby will tell how the Farmers' union and labor unions of Alabama co-operate for mutual benefit in the exchange of commodities and services. Walter Nelson, Charles Lockwood, Chester Graham and others are on the speaking program. There will be games and recreation for all. Everybody is welcome.
