

Plymouth Teachers, Students, Take Part in One of Largest Institute Meetings Ever Held

Over 9000 Present With Supt. George A. Smith Acting As Chairman—Instructors Hear Of Present Day Problems

The Michigan Education Institute of Region one, comprising a membership of over 9,000 teachers of which Plymouth and surrounding territory is a member, was held in Detroit from Thursday evening until last Saturday forenoon.

This annual session was of more than ordinary interest to Plymouth this year because of the fact that Supt. George A. Smith acted as its chairman and Plymouth residents took part in the program.

All meetings of the institute, from the general meeting on Thursday evening and through the division meetings Friday morning, section meetings Friday afternoon, and discussion groups on Saturday morning, were especially well-attended, and from all reports of all of the meetings, were enjoyed by those in attendance.

At the first general meeting, Howard Walbridge, a student in Plymouth high school, played a group of three piano selections with a technique seldom equaled by a young man of his age. The numbers were enthusiastically received by the large audience.

At the second general meeting Friday evening the Girls' Double Quartet of the high school, consisting of Jeannette Brown, Patricia Cassidy, Barbara Hubbell, Edith Mettetal, Florence Norton, Norma Jean Roe, Jewel Starkweather, and Madelyn Walker, under the direction of Miss Dora Gallmore, director of music in the local school system, with Carol Campbell accompanying at the piano, rendered a group of two selections which were especially well rendered and well received by the audience.

In the discussion groups Saturday morning, Mr. Dykhouse, principal of the high school, was chairman of the group for the discussion of "How Can the Small High School Modify Its Program to Meet Individual Needs?"

Joseph Rowland, principal of the Cady school, was chairman of the group for the discussion, "What Community Contacts Can be Woven into the Rural Schools?"

These two discussion groups were well attended, and from the consideration of such problems come real benefits to communities represented by Plymouth public schools and rural schools.

At the first general meeting Thursday evening, Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, spoke upon the

Funds Granted For Water Mains

Congressman Dondero Advised By Wire Of Favorable Action

According to a telegram received by Congressman George A. Dondero yesterday from Horatio B. Hackett, assistant administrator of the PWA in Washington, officials have granted $40,091.00 for water main improvements in Plymouth and Riverside cemetery.

However, Plymouth city officials state that under the PWA grant, the city, if it accepts this sum from the government, must borrow $30,000 to meet the other portion of the cost of the improvement, a requirement that the government demands in some cases.

But the interesting part of the matter is in the fact that Congressman Dondero has been alert to every request made for funds by Plymouth and has put forth every effort to aid the community. The city has made applications for funds for water improvements under both CWA and the PWA. In either case, if the money should be granted the city, Washington office holders would have charge of the work.

City Manager Elliott states that the city will probably be advised of the action by letter within the next few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Holmes and daughters, Kathryn and Barbara Jean, of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Chambers spent Sunday afternoon at Redford, Dearborn, and River Rouge Park.

High Honors For George A. Smith

GEORGE A. SMITH

George A. Smith, superintendent of the Plymouth public schools and long regarded as one of the outstanding educators of Michigan, at a meeting of more than 10,000 school teachers of the Detroit school conference district last week, won the unusual distinction of being the first person ever reelected as chairman of the conference for a second term.

In past years it has been the general practice of this district, the largest in Michigan, to elect a new chairman each year. But because of his excellent work and the success of the conference which has just come to a close, Mr. Smith was reelected to this important position without a single dissenting vote.

Mr. Smith, in addition to his interest in educational work, has been active for many years in behalf of state care of orphan children, the blind and the deaf of Michigan. He is at present, chairman of the state institute commission, which has control over the operation of the various state institutions caring for these unfortunate.

Here Is Chance To Fly High

Captain Ray Loomis Coming To Triangle Airport Two Days

Captain Ray Loomis, well known mail pilot, will bring his $50,000 Ford trimotor air ship to Triangle flying field Saturday and Sunday of this week to carry passengers on short flights over this locality.

The pilot of this ship is a skilled pilot with 14 years of flying experience to his credit. The plane is a 14 passenger cabin ship and weighs five tons when loaded, has a 78 foot wing spread, measures 50 feet in length, is all metal and its three motors have a combined 675-horse power.

This ship has visited more than 400 cities and has carried more than 300,000 passengers without an accident. Flying rates, according to the pilot's schedule appearing elsewhere in the paper, are as low as 30 cents per person.

Members of the Stone Flying school of Northville will be present during the two days the ship is at the airport to discuss with any one the prospects of increasing local membership in the flying club, if they are interested.

Kiwanis Pioneer Speaks To Club

Plymouth Kiwanians were more than interested in their speaker Tuesday night, George Haas, second Kiwanian in Michigan and now a member of the local club gave a most graphic and detailed account of the unusual development now taking place in Chandler Park in Detroit. Mr. Haas, new to Plymouth, has been interested in this project for some time.

Announcement has just been made that the Plymouth library will be open to the public on Sunday afternoons, beginning next Sunday, November 1, from 2 to 6 o'clock for reading, a reference work. Small children who come to the library must be accompanied by their parents. This plan will be continued through the winter and into the early spring.

Plymouth will have just a trifle more than 2600 voters, if every one votes who has registered to do so.

The city commission has appointed the following to serve on election boards:

City Manager Clarence Elliott and Mrs. Elliott and son, Phillip, have returned from Richmond, Virginia, where Mr. Elliott has been in attendance at the convention of the International City Managers' association. On their way home they stopped for a brief visit in Washington where Mr. Elliott made a visit to the Federal Bureau of Identification to secure information as to the possibility of having the Plymouth chief of police enter the Washington school for a short course in police work.

Mr. Elliott declared that there were 14 from Michigan in attendance at the sessions and that numerous problems pertaining to city government were discussed. Special stress was placed upon more attention to little things that people seem to be interested in.

Theatre Party For Boys, Girls Tuesday Eve

Because Their Good Hallowe'en Wins Them Free Show

Boys and girls! Here is the good news you have been waiting for.

The Plymouth police say you have been doing fine, that you have not marked up any windows, or automobiles, that you have been just as good as boys and girls can be at Hallowe'en time.

Of course, Hallowe'en isn't until Saturday night, but because you have been doing so nicely and every one knows that you are not going to do anything Saturday to mark up or damage property, Manager Harry Lush has advised the Plymouth police department that his annual theatre party to the boys and girls of Plymouth will take place on Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

You see, it had to be Tuesday evening this year, as Manager Lush could not arrange it for Saturday evening.

Now, boys and girls, this is the plan, go to the city hall at 8:30 Tuesday evening.

There, you will find Captain Charl. Thumme of the police department, boy scouts and others, who will have tickets for you to present at the theatre for your admission.

You cannot get into the theatre unless you first go to the city hall for your ticket. It is urged that you be there promptly at 8:30 o'clock and when you get your ticket you will all march to the Fenimore-Alton theatre together, and see as good a show as Plymouth will have this year.

But, remember, you must do nothing, meanwhile, to spoil the good record the boys and girls of Plymouth have.

The American Legion To Meet Monday Night

On Monday evening next, Myron H. Beals Post, American Legion, will hold its first meeting of the year, and all members are urged to be present to give a good start to the year's activities. It is the desire of the Legion to embrace within its membership all World War veterans in the Plymouth area and a special invitation is extended to all who are entitled to membership. Additions to the membership rolls to all American Legion Posts will perpetuate the organization, making it more of service to all veterans.

The American Legion is unique, in that it has no predecessor, and can have no successor. When the last comrade entitled to wear the American Legion insignia button passes on the American Legion will pass out forever, but the work and spirit of service to which it was dedicated will go on indefinitely, through the fine work of the American Legion Auxiliary and the Sons of the American Legion.

The Ladies' Aid of the Lutheran church will be luncheon guests of Mrs. William Ash and Mrs. Amelia Esch, on Wednesday, November 4, at the home of the former on Haggerty highway. The luncheon will be at 1 o'clock. This will also be the Sunshine party and each one is requested to bring their sunshine boxes. The business meeting will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

Hire Construction Engineer To Direct Building

Announcement has been made that construction work on a beautiful new Presbyterian church, to be erected on the site of the old church destroyed by fire last winter, will be started probably next Wednesday morning.

Charles H. Bennett, chairman of the building committee, stated yesterday that the structure will not be built by contract, but that the church, through its building committee, has engaged John Bickford of New York City to supervise the work.

Mr. Bennett states that the Presbyterian Synod maintains, at its New York City headquarters, a department devoted to church construction problems such as confront the Presbyterians of this city.

It was after consultation with the officials of the church and upon their recommendation that it was decided not to build by contract, but to have some one assume charge of the construction. Mr. Bickford has, for more than 20 years, been in the services of the Presbyterians of the country, building churches for them. It was after a most careful inquiry that the committee took the action it did.

Under the arrangements, a much greater portion of the supplies can be purchased in Plymouth and more local labor can be employed. The committee has already received numerous offers of free labor from some members of the church who are willing to give a portion of their time towards the construction of the church that has been designed by Architect Thomas Moss. It is believed that many thousands of dollars can be saved under the no-contract plan of construction.

Dave Nichol Wins Promotion

Plymouth friends of Dave Nichol, son of Rev. and Mrs. Walter Nichol, will be interested to know that the youthful newspaper writer is making excellent progress in his new connection with The Chicago Daily News.

Mr. Nichol, who was for nearly two years editor of the Iron Mountain Reporter, was appointed to a place on the suburban staff of the Chicago paper early last spring.

Plymouth newspaper friends have learned that he was placed on general assignment work directly from the city editor's desk a few days ago. The promotion offers him one of the finest opportunities a young newspaper man could possibly hope to win.

The Chicago News has long been regarded as one of the outstanding newspapers of the world.

Off To Tenth Year In Business Here

Off to the tenth year in business in Plymouth, Dave Galin of the Plymouth Purity Market yesterday declared that he believed that from every indication the forthcoming year would be the best in all the years he has been in business in this city.

"From the first day since we came here, we have enjoyed a steady and sure increase in business, for which we are indeed, most grateful. Our policies for the future will be exactly the same as those upon which we have won success and increased business," stated Mr. Galin yesterday.

Flames Ruin Electrical Industries

T. Fraser Carmichael Suffers Heavy Loss As Well as B. E. Giles

Flames which practically destroyed the frame building located at the northwest corner of South Main street and Ann Arbor road, completely ruined all of the equipment, materials and supplies of the Carmichael Industries, that just recently moved into the structure.

The loss is a serious one to Fraser Carmichael, owner of this electrical equipment and production shop, as he carried no insurance.

The building, recently purchased by Burton A. Giles, was partly covered by insurance.

One transformer winding machine, regarded as a very valuable piece of equipment and which it has required Mr. Carmichael nearly three years to complete, was entirely ruined, as well as a shipment of transformers worth $150 or more, that was all ready for shipment the next morning.

The employees of the shop had worked Thursday night until nearly midnight and when they left for home, the fire in the boiler was checked.

The fire started around the boiler and it is believed that possibly an explosion of gas that had formed in the boiler, blew a live spark or coal against some wood, thereby starting the blaze.

Mr. Giles states that the building will probably be re-built, but he has not yet received his insurance settlement and future plans are rather indefinite.

The fire at this time, just as the electrical car-former sign business seemed to be on a rapid upward swing, has proven a serious loss as well as a handicap to its owners.

Rocks To Meet Ecorse Today

The Rock team will close their '36 Twin Valley card when they meet the Ecorse team Friday, October 30, at 3:30 in a game to decide the standing for the Rock team in their association. This game will also be the last one on the Rock gridiron as they meet Northville on the latter's field, November 13.

The Rock team will not encounter an easy rival when Ecorse moves in as most of their players are veterans who will be superior in weight. The Ecorse team has so far been beaten by only one team, River Rouge, and tied with Dearborn but scored an easy victory over the Ypsilanti team. The last showing of the Rocks was none too good and these things should be ironed out in their practice.

The student council, which needs funds to carry on the school activities is hopeful of a large crowd and if the weather permits there should be, as the game will be a crucial one for Plymouth, whichever way it turns out.

City Is Ready To Welcome Gov. Fitzgerald

Supreme Judge And All State Officers Here Saturday Eve

Plans have been completed and all arrangements made for the Plymouth citizens' banquet and reception in honor of Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald, Congressman George A. Dondero, Supreme Judge Harry S. Toy, Secretary of State Orville Atwood, Auditor General John J. O'Hara and Howard Warner, Republican candidate for state treasurer, at the Mayflower hotel in Plymouth Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Governor Fitzgerald, as well as the committee in charge of the affair, has strongly stressed the fact that every one has a special invitation to be present and take part in the meeting.

Manager Clair Maben of the Mayflower has made arrangements to set tables both in the vestibule and lobby as well as the big Crystal dining room so that more than 400 can be cared for. There will be but two addresses, Congressman Dondero, speaking briefly of national problems and Governor Fitzgerald devoting the remainder of the time to a discussion of state affairs.

With the party of high state officials will be many other well known residents of Michigan. The officials will be introduced to the audience by Elton R. Eaton, Plymouth candidate for state representative.

This will be the first time that Plymouth has ever had an opportunity to meet, in their own city, nearly all of the high state officials.

It has been Governor Fitzgerald's urgent request that the meeting be opened to every citizen, both men and women, and if they do not care to come to the dinner, they can come a little later and hear the addresses.

Tickets for the dinner are only 50 cents each, and Manager Maben declares that he plans to serve one of the best meals the hotel has ever put out for that price.

The rally will be the last political meeting in Plymouth of the present campaign that has attracted more attention than any other political contest in recent years.

Rev. Hoenecke To Remain Here

Lutheran Pastor Not To Accept Call To Wisconsin

Plymouth residents will be highly pleased to know that the congregation of the Lutheran church has decided not to relinquish Rev. Edgar Hoenecke to a larger church up at Rhinelander, Wisconsin, that had made a call for his services.

At a meeting of the congregation Tuesday night which was largely attended, the popular pastor of the church was urged to remain in Plymouth and continue the splendid work he has been conducting in this city.

He has decided to do so, although an exceptionally strong appeal for his services had been made by the Wisconsin church.

Dodges Back From A Southwestern Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Dodge recently returned from a motor trip with relatives through the southwest, the trip taking them into Old Mexico for a number of days, a country they found to be most interesting.

"But they can keep it, as far as I am concerned. Of course the country down there is interesting, but there is nothing anywhere that compares to Michigan. One should not fail to visit New Orleans if they are traveling anywhere near that city. It is a place where much time can be spent most profitably," stated Mr. Dodge. The motor trip covering many thousands of miles was made without a mishap.

Mrs. Edith Hurd has returned to Plymouth after spending the past few months with relatives in East Cleveland, and Willoughby, Ohio.

VOTE TUESDAY.

Tuesday, November 3, is election day. At that time you will vote for your national state and county officials. You will vote for the men and the parties who will conduct your public affairs for the next two years in Michigan and the next four years in the nation. No matter what your politics, no matter what candidate or candidates you favor, vote! That gives you your part in the conduct of the country in which you live. If you do not vote Tuesday, you have not the slightest right to condemn or criticize whatever happens in public affairs or whatever any public official might do. Vote, vote so you can say whatever you want to, and feel too, that you have taken your rightful part in your own government. Never forget the fact that the enemy of good government and the enemy of your welfare is ever on the alert and that voting is one thing he never overlooks. Vote—and VOTE EARLY.

SENATOR JAMES COUZENS.

It was shortly after Valentine's day last spring when the editor of The Plymouth Mail had occasion to call upon Senator James Couzens in Washington about one of the many little problems confronting the newspaper publishing business in the small communities of the nation. This was the first time in all the years that there had been occasion for discussion with him personally, one of these questions. There was no waiting that so frequently characterizes calls upon men high in public life. After being advised of the purpose of the visit, he made known his position just as quickly as he had granted the interview. And let it be stated that Senator Couzens was one of the best friends the small town newspaper publisher ever had in Washington. He favored every measure before congress that would in any way help out one of the smaller but substantial businesses of the nation. It is unfortunate that in return for his never-ending interest, during all the years he was in the senate and especially during the trying code days, that his attitude was not more fully appreciated on the part of those he sought to help. But that is one of the penalties that goes with honest public service.

The interview about business at an end, he turned and asked if the editor knew where Mesick, Michigan was. Advised that it was a little community up in the north central portion of the state, Senator Couzens then said:

"Well, this has been a pretty happy day for me. In the mail that came to my office this morning was a big Valentine that the children up there made and sent to me. It had all of their names written on it. Each one told how they had been made happier by something the dentist, doctor or nurse had done. Why, that Valentine they had made with their own little hands, means more to me than all the rest of this mail put together."

That furnishes but a little insight into the life of Senator James Couzens, whose great career has just come to a close.

He was criticized because he had placed his fortune in tax-exempt bonds, but he won scant praise because he did this, so that the little crippled boys and girls of Michigan, the sickly tots of a beautiful Peninsula, might be made strong, healthy and happy, through access to money that greedy politicians wanted and couldn't get. Even those who understood his under-dog complex, who stood fearlessly with him and defended him against cruel and unjust accusations, were subjected to criticism because they did so.

From down under the bottom heap of humanity, he WORKED his way to the top and in the brief span of a lifetime—all too brief—he became the most famous figure Michigan ever had in national life. He too, became the world's greatest benefactor of unfortunate little boys and girls.

What man or woman is there, who has had to struggle for an existence, who cannot help but admire Senator Couzens for his climb from obscurity to fame?

It was a sad day for Michigan and America, when both fate and ill-health conspired to end the career of one so great, of one who knew and understood the trials and tribulations of the kind of people you know and we all know.

Senator James Couzens was a great statesman. He was the most unselfish humanitarian of modern times, because he aided those who could not aid him. He was a champion and defender of just ordinary folks. And he was vilified by some for doing what he believed was right and just. But never once did he waver from his ideals. He knew and he understood—that little boys and girls in distress appreciate the touch of a kindly and helpful hand.

A Party in the Country 25 Years Ago

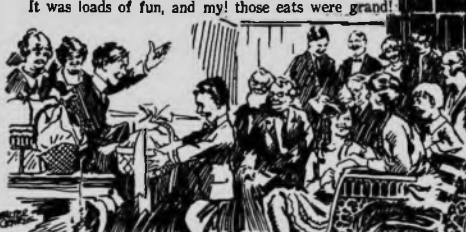

By O. Lawrence Hawthorne

Oh, a party in the country is a carnival of fun, While a party in the city is a bore! And the city people sigh and yawn till each ordeal is done, But the country folks will always beg for more.

Almost every city person thinks that everybody there is a piker or a nuisance or a snob; And they seldom get acquainted just because they do not care To become a part of what they call "the mob"

In the country, folks are known for what they are and what they do, And their neighbors learn to love them overnight. In the country, where amusement's bright facilities are few, Good old-fashioned comradeship still gives delight.

Yes, a party in the country is a mighty big event, And an invitation is a queen's command. Everybody goes—and later tells the world he's glad he went— It was loads of fun, and my! those eats were grand!

HOWARD WARNER

Among the distinguished visitors coming to the citizens banquet to be held Saturday night at the Mayflower hotel in honor of Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald and Congressman George A. Dondero, will be Howard Warner of Farmington, son of former Governor Fred M. Warner.

Mr. Warner is the Republican candidate for state treasurer. He is president of the village of Farmington and has conducted the affairs of that village in a masterful way.

His coming to Plymouth is of especial interest because it was this city and Northville that gave first aid to his father when he decided to become a candidate for high state offices. Older residents will recall that it was the united support that Fred M. Warner received in Plymouth, Northville and Farmington which helped him on his way to political victory and the governorship.

It is imperative that our membership and friends be in this meeting. Beginning early in December we launch a special church crusade, and it becomes the part of the interested folks to sit down together and plan. Shall the minister resign, or the church resign its responsibility in this critical day? Or rather, shall we all come together to have our commission re-signed by our great Leader?

Girl Evangelist Coming Here

GLADYS RHINEHART Youngest Girl Evangelist

Lieutenant Gladys Rhinehart, the youngest evangelist of the Salvation Army world, which includes 96 countries and colonies, will come to Plymouth Thursday, November 5, to conduct a ten day revival campaign.

During the past five months the lieutenant has taken part in special revival campaigns in Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Indiana and Michigan. She does not have any pet theories, no new slants or angles on religion, but comes with a good old fashioned gospel message. Lieutenant Rhinehart says that in her travels during the last five months she has found the people most eager to hear and learn of the old time religion.

This fact was particularly evidenced during the summer months while conducting her campaigns in tents seating from 500 to 2000 people, standing room was at a premium, and of these vast crowds, a good percentage were young people.

Captain Harold Conlin of Plymouth says that every one interested is welcome to attend these meetings. But he extends a special invitation to those who claim they are not interested, to come and hear this fiery young evangelist at the Salvation Army hall, 281 Union street. Services will be held every week night at 7:45 p.m., and on Sundays at 11 a.m., 6:15 p.m., and 7:45 p.m.

victory in Christ for you, if you meet His conditions. Phil. 4: 13; Rom. 12: 1, 2.

7:30 p.m. "How to Become a Child of God", John 1: 1-18. God warns us of futile efforts. We can be saved by NO good works of our own. Only Jesus saves. How and whom does He save? How may we know He has saved us? Does faith lead to knowledge? Bring your Bible and study these questions with us. You will leave Calvary with a song in your heart, if Jesus is your Savior and you are wholly His.

We meet for prayer tonight at the Beckwith home, 1399 Penniman Ave., and again next Wednesday at 7:30 at the church, 455 South Main street.

Sunday school welcomes you at 11:30. Grow in grace with us. A happy, singing church is often a weeping, praying church first. Penitence leads to power. Read 2 Chronicles 7: 14.

Career Spent In Public Service

Hon. DAVID H. CROWLEY

Of the many candidates for public office at the election of November 3rd, no man has a better record of service to the public than David H. Crowley, Attorney General for the past two years and candidate for reelection. Mr. Crowley has devoted a large part of the last quarter-century to fighting the battles of the public in various connections.

Soon after being admitted to the Bar, in 1918, he was elected prosecuting attorney of Cheboygan county and served four years, being reelected in 1910.

In 1913, through the appointment of Attorney General Grant Fellows, he became assistant attorney general. Four years was devoted to this duty at Lansing.

Within a year after coming to Detroit, the city, recognizing his exceptional ability as a public utility lawyer, engaged him as special counsel and advisor of all utility litigation, a service which continued for 15 years.

In the gubernatorial campaign of 1916 Mr. Crowley toured the state in the interest of the Republican party, severely criticizing the policies of the then Democratic governor, the late Woodbridge N. Ferris. So highly did Mr. Ferris regard the young attorney's ability that, within a few hours after the close of the campaign, he appointed Mr. Crowley a member of the Michigan Railroad commission in which capacity he served several years.

THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY

GENERAL OFFICES
2000 SECOND AVENUE
DETROIT, MICHIGAN

October 27, 1936

TO THE CUSTOMERS OF THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY:

This letter is about Detroit Edison rates for electric service

The Michigan Public Utilities Commission has made a long-time study of our rates, and held public hearings. It has issued an opinion which shows the wide scope of the study, and also shows the Commission's fair attitude. There are statements and figures in that opinion with which we do not agree. It is not necessary that we should agree. The important thing is that we will be guided by the rate order which is annexed to the Commission's opinion.

The present General Commercial Rate is not changed. Neither is the rate for large blocks of high tension electricity, sold to customers who have the knowledge and the means to manage that high-power energy. The most important new rate will, we believe, be acceptable to customers who use current daily for many hours. It requires that service for all purposes be given through one meter instead of through separate meters for light and for power.

About the new rate for residence service. This makes some reduction to every customer except those who are paying the minimum bill of forty-five cents net per month, or ninety cents net on the usual two-month bill. The Commission has done away with the difference in rate between the small house and the large one, which formerly depended on the number of rooms in the house. This room count plan worked well for 38 years. We do not object to the change. It makes for simplicity.

The Commission in its opinion recognized that no figures set up for today could be correct for evermore, amen! But they think and we hope that the present order will serve for quite a while. They see that heretofore we have given to our customers the advantage of every economy which we have been able to make. There are a lot of conditions (besides the increasing price of coal) which may tend to raise rates. Please notice now that the 40-hour week which we adopted in 1932, a year before the Blue Eagle was hatched, is likely to stay with us. This means that a man or a girl in Detroit Edison service will have to so manage his or her work, and have the work so arranged beforehand, that he or she can earn a living wage in forty hours per week. It will probably require more money in the payrolls. Again, next year there has to be taken out of an employee's pay one cent for each dollar that is coming to him. This is his contribution towards what is called Social Security. The Company will next year have to pay two cents for each dollar that the employee receives. We are paying one cent this year.

About taxes. Not so long ago there was collected from us in taxes, payable to the United States, or the State of Michigan, or the municipalities where we do business, 7 cents out of every dollar which you paid us. Right now the figure is 14 cents out of every dollar which you pay us. Maybe some of you think that you pay no taxes. Don't believe it! You are paying taxes in a great many places—and in a great many ways, but these other places and other ways are not our scrape. Ours is that we are acting as tax collectors to the extent of 14 cents out of every dollar that you pay us. And that is not the end of it. All indications are that taxes will go up. You pay the taxes. It is only out of what you pay us that we can pay them! And that's that!

The story of electric rate reductions is at its end for quite a while. We want you to notice once more that every economy that we have been able to make—and these have amounted to millions of dollars during the depression years—has been passed on to you in rate reductions. We are making this rate reduction all over the thirteen counties which we serve. We have always played fair with you and we will keep on doing so. We want you to play fair with us, even if it proves that the rates have been let down too far.

Just one last word—maybe some of you rather like to pay taxes. If so, you presumably know what the taxes are spent for and whether they are spent wisely and economically. We have our own opinion about all that, but this is no place for us to offer it. If you like to pay taxes, that is all right with us. Good luck to you!

The 1936 Red Cross Poster

THIS year's American Red Cross poster emphasizes the theme that the Red Cross is "of, by and for the people." Four million men and women are members of the Red Cross and through their membership dues they support its activities. Only in time of major disaster when needs for relief reach great proportions does the Red Cross ask the public for disaster relief funds. The membership funds represent the financial support of the Red Cross, and in turn this money is used to carry the Red Cross work of mercy to distressed citizens. Membership is open to all, without regard to race, color or creed, and the Red Cross services are given to all, without restriction. The annual Roll Call for members is held Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, November 11-26. The poster for 1936 is by Walter W. Seaton, noted illustrator and painter of movie and radio stars.

Builds A Rock Garden For Church

With winter just "around the corner" it might sound out of place to be writing about rock gardens, but it's news when something new is being done. Tuesday morning, bright and early, Mrs. Frank Matsyck of Newburg, builder of a beautiful rock garden at her own home east of the nearby community, started work on a new rock garden for the parish house of St. Michael's church in Rosedale Gardens.

Mrs. Matsyck plans to do all the work on the parish rock garden, just as she did on the one at her home. The only help she expects to have will be in hauling the rich earth to be used in the garden.

It all came about as the result of her efforts in turning an old dump pile just east of her home into a beautiful flower garden, with winding walks, steps amid flowers, a lily pool and tastily arranged rocks. In a little over a year a spot where tin cans, old automobile fenders and other refuse made a most unsightly spot, she has created a beautiful garden.

Father Contway of Rosedale Gardens saw it some time ago and was admiring its beauty. Mrs. Matsyck declared she would build one back of the parish house if he would permit her to do so and that is why the residents of Rosedale Gardens have seen a woman busily engaged during the past two or three days amid rocks, earth and plants out in beautiful Rosedale Gardens.

Three Generations Help Pioneer Mother Celebrate 94th Birthday

Mrs. William Petz of Plymouth, Her Daughter and Granddaughter, Back From Happy Occasion Up At Rogers City

Mrs. William Petz, of 890 South Main street, Plymouth, has recently returned from a most happy occasion at Rogers City the trip to the northern Michigan city being made to help her mother, Mrs. Wilhelmine Bertram, celebrate her 94th birthday.

The aged lady, in perfect health, found the occasion one of special delight because at the birthday celebration were represented four generations of her family. This part too, is of interest to Plymouth as it was Mrs. Petz, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Petz, Mrs. Andrew Galsterer, of Frankenmuth and her baby daughter, Ann Marie Galsterer, who made up three of the four generations. Mrs. Galsterer, who is the wife of a well known Frankenmuth physician, was born and brought up in Plymouth and graduated from the Plymouth high school. Following the completion of her school work in Plymouth, she studied and became a trained nurse. The little granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Petz, not yet a year old, was most fascinating to her grandmother.

The Bertram family, pioneer residents of Rogers City, had much to do with the early growth and development of that community. Mr. Bertram died a number of years ago.

A portion of the write-up appearing in the Presque Isle

County Advance, the newspaper published in Rogers City, will be of special interest to the wide circle of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Petz of Plymouth, as it interestingly tells of the early lives of Mrs. Petz's parents, real pioneers of northern Michigan. In part it follows:

Picture a woman who, at 21, had had seventeen proposals of marriage, who came to an unknown land with her husband to establish residence, who reared nine children, who successfully managed a business for many years, and who is still enjoying life at the age of 94.

That woman is Mrs. Wilhelmine Bertram, christened Wilhelmine Lange, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lange, of Migalno, Germany. She was born in that village on Sept. 12, 1842, and when but 21 was wed to Frederick Bertram, a young shoemaker of Hanover, who learned his trade in Prussia where he spent a part of his youth. Their wedding festivities lasted four days and it is said that an orchestra and band played constantly during that time. The Lange family loved music and it is evident by the fact that Mrs. Bertram's grandfather and three uncles were musicians, her father was the director of a band, and her cousin, who played at her wedding, was the famous Gustav Lange, composer of the well-known "Flower Song."

The first few years of their married life were spent in the land of their birth but it was not long before Mr. Bertram expressed a wish to come to America, where his relatives had migrated. Setting forth on April 28, 1870, the young wife accompanied her husband and two children on a voyage which can now be made in a fraction of the time. They arrived in Detroit June 26, 1870, nearly two months from the time they started, and there joined those who had left their native Germany before them.

In accordance with government land grants which were being made at that time, Mr. Bertram took a homestead at Liske Station and brought his little family to Rogers City, where he continued his trade as he had in Detroit, hiring others to develop the farm. The twentieth of September marked sixty-three years since their arrival here.

Between the present-day homes of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamilton and Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Kowalske, on First street, is a vacant lot dominated by a hollow where once was the basement of a two-story house. It was in this house that the Bertrams lived the first few weeks after their arrival here, during which time they built the structure on Third street now used by Arthur White as a barber shop. The original building was larger and provided living

Here's A Tip For Deer Hunters

Deer hunters whose cabins in the north woods are likely to be at out-of-the-way places or distant from telegraph or telephone stations, may again have the facilities of the department of conservation "messenger service" this season—merely by registering their names with directions as to where they may be found in an emergency.

Last year when the messenger service was instituted in the neighborhood of 200 sportsmen registered with conservation officers in the county in which they were to be located or at district conservation posts just "in case" of possible emergency calls from home.

Several hunters who had given conservation authorities detailed directions as to how and where they could be found last year, had to be summoned from their camps by officers who bore urgent messages. One hunter was called from his lodge because of the death in his family; others to attend to unexpectedly urgent business matters.

"In all of these cases the conservation officer knew right where to go to locate his man and because the hunter had registered and much trouble and delay were avoided," Director P. J. Hoffmaster of the department of conservation pointed out. "The conservation officer is more than glad to perform this service for any hunter and his task is made easier when he has directions and knows where to find him."

"Obviously, however, it is necessary to limit this service to important and urgent cases, since conditions require that every conservation officer in the north be on patrol during the deer-hunting season. The officer is not likely to welcome unwarrantable errands that take him off duty at such a time."

It is preferable for hunters to register with the officer in the north. Mr. Bertram passed away. Despite his death the widow carried on and business continued to flourish. One of her nine children, Miss Ida, managed the millinery and dry goods department. In 1913 Mrs. Bertram retired and the merchandise was sold. Today the building still stands and, in a part of it, Miss Ida and her sister, Miss Lena, continue to sell merchandise and dry goods.

In 1902, while in his late sixties,

Miss Norma Savery Becomes Bride of George J. Schmeman

Norma Cornelia Savery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cody J. Savery, of Plymouth, became the bride of George Joseph Schmeman, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Herman W. Schmeman, of Detroit, at a beautiful wedding Thursday evening, the ceremony being performed at 8 o'clock by the Rev. J. J. Halliday of Delaware, Ohio, in the local Methodist Episcopal church, before a large assemblage of guests.

On either side of the altar of palms were placed seven-branched candelabras and bouquets of white chrysanthemums and plumes. Ten wall candelabras were also used, this being the only light during the impressive ceremony. Mrs. M. J. O'Conner played Lohengrin's Wedding March, "Always," and "I Love You Truly," during the service.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a bridal gown of white velvet made with high neckline, with shirring for softness and long close-fitting sleeves, with fullness at the top. Tiny buttons were used from the neck to waist in back and the circular skirt swept into a long graceful train. The bridal veil of tulle, edged with lace, was attached to a coronet with pearl design, falling beyond the train of the gown. She carried a bouquet of Killarney roses, lilies of the valley and adiantum.

county in which they plan to hunt or at the district conservation post. District headquarters in the upper peninsula are located at Trout Lake, Marquette, Baraga, Ewen, Escanaba and Crystal Falls; in the lower peninsula district conservation posts may be found at Baldwin, Boyne City, Atlanta, Mio, Gladwin and Roscommon.

Any emergency summons resulting from a death in the family of the hunter or unexpected and important developments in his business affairs and which urgently require his attention, may be relayed through conservation authorities at Lansing. If necessary radio will be used to help locate the hunter and to bring him the information that he is to return home at once.

In case of deep snow, making travel difficult, the conservation officer bearing the summons will assist the hunter to the nearest means of communication or bus or railway station.

Edward J. Schmeman, of Detroit, attended his brother as best man and Herman W. Schmeman, another brother, Duncan R. Dwyer, a cousin, Willard Haigh and Charles H. Atwell, of Detroit, were ushers.

Mrs. Savery chose a long tailored model of wine velvet, having small tailored collar, long sleeves, puffed from shoulder to elbow and tight-fitting to wrist, for her daughter's wedding. She wore a turban of the same velvet, wine colored slippers and a corsage of orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for 75 guests was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Savery. The bride's table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake with crystal candelabras, holding green lighted tap-

The bridesmaids, Carol E. Savery of Detroit, a cousin of the bride, and Elvina M. Schmeman, sister of the groom, also of Detroit, wore florentine blue velvet gowns, fashioned like the maid of honor, wearing hats of the same design and carried briar-cliff roses and adiantum.

Little Luella Walker of South Lyon, a cousin of the bride, was the flower girl, wearing a colonial dress of white taffeta with a tiny floral design, the dress being long having a tight bodice with set-in yoke, edged with a ruffle piped with green taffeta, as were the short puffed sleeves, tiny green buttons down front of vestee and a sash of green taffeta. She wore a poke bonnet of the same material as dress and carried a colonial bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Several showers, luncheons and teas were given for Miss Savery On Wednesday evening the rehearsal dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. Savery in their home.

The bride was a member of the graduating class of Plymouth high in 1931 and has many friends and relatives in and around Plymouth who extend best wishes to the happy couple. The bridegroom is a prominent lawyer in Detroit. They will reside at 17544 Stoepele avenue, Detroit.

ON DISPLAY at all Buick Showrooms

SPECIAL CENTURY ROADMASTER LIMITED

FOUR WONDROUS NEW REASONS WHY: "It's Buick again!"

SENSATIONAL is the fervor with which the American public has taken to its heart the brilliant motor cars offered by Buick this year.

Indeed, the sweeping success of the 1936 Buick program flatly challenged us and our great parent General Motors to a momentous decision.

Should we continue this amazingly popular line of cars into next year, perhaps the prudent thing to do—or should we dare broad improvement upon their spectacular excellence?

We felt there was only one right answer to that question, the bold and progressive answer—and that's why insiders now forecasting 1937 are already saying: "It's Buick again!"

That's why on top of $15,000,000 recently spent re-tooling and re-equipping Buick's great plant, we appropriated and are now spending $14,500,000 more.

That's why every car in the 1937 Buick line—the SPECIAL, the CENTURY, the ROADMASTER and the LIMITED—is a triumph visibly and intrinsically outranking anything we have ever done.

Each has more beauty for dazzling style, more power for breath-taking action, more room for full-family comfort, more downright "road-command" for safety and pleasure.

See them—then you'll know why Buick's soaring sales curve is headed for yet loftier altitudes next year.

YOU'VE GOT WHAT IT TAKES! $765

You can afford the new Buick. It's easy to buy and thrifty to own. With all its quality, its phenomenal performance and stunning style, prices start as low as $765 and up list at $11,000. MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

A Proud Record Of Service

Bell Telephone Company Employees Boast A Fine Attainment

In the October issue of the Michigan Bell, published by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, appeared a very interesting article regarding the years of service of the employees of the Ann Arbor district. It is the proud boast of the plant department of the district that there has not been an accident in the district during the past ten years. The Ann Arbor district comprises the exchanges of Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Plymouth and Monroe. In the district have been an average of 75 persons in the seven cities and villages and their work has consisted of the central office, building and outside maintenance, installation and toll testing. At the present time there are 63 employees in the district employed in the plant department, 30 of whom have worked in the district for ten years and more. In Ypsilanti area there has not been a lost-time accident for at least 21 years. The Plymouth area numbers eight employees under the supervision of Plant Chief Karl Schlanderer.

The following are the names of the men employed in the Plymouth area and the length of time they have been in the employ of the company: F. Butler, exchange repairman, 26 years; E. Paulsen, switch boardman, 17 years; K. A. Schlanderer, plant chief, 13 years; B. Schmitz, exchange repairman, 7 years; T. Mangan, testman, 7 years; H. Wood, switchboardman, 12 years;

H. Mumby, tool repairman, 14 years; B. Schwartz, house serviceman, 9 years, and F. Mercer, agent at Walled Lake. Only three plant superintendents have served the district during the last ten years.

The article further states that considerable of the credit for the district's safety record should be given also to the Employees' association. The encouraging of the men to see that safety practices are carried out has been one of the active duties of the association.

Commenting further on the praiseworthy record made by the plant department employees, the Bell stated that "Tuesday, July 30, 1936, just another day for many of the employees, was a day of unusual significance to the Ann Arbor district, for it marked the double attainment of a record they had set out to accomplish 10 years ago.

On this date, in 1926, this district had the misfortune to lose a very efficient workman and a man who was popular and well liked by all of his associates. Shortly after the accident the idea was conceived to attempt to work five years without a lost-time accident. The idea was fostered and grew among the employees until it became a part of their everyday life to work safely. As a part of the program, safety meetings were held regularly; the employees would caution one another regarding safe practices; belts and safety straps were inspected regularly for defects and flaws; spurs were sharpened and tools were given a very rigid inspection. Material was watched and handled safely, and considerable thought and attention was given to the safe driving of automobiles. Automobile driving was considered a part of our everyday life, yet we recognize it as a decided hazard. When a new employee was hired, he was interviewed by the district plant superintendent and advised of the policy regarding safety. He was trained by supervisors and guided by the older men who impressed upon him through precept and example the fact that the job could be done safely."

No Bear Meat For Family Table

Bert McKinney, official correspondent of the Matt Powell-McKinney big game hunting expedition up into the Canadian wilds in his first communication sent back to "civilization" since the invasion of the northlands, has sorrowfully informed members of the family table down at the Mayflower hotel that there is going to be no bear for dinner some day.

Before the two departed for the northlands, a cross-your-heart promise was made that they would stop off in the big bear country and shoot a grizzly, sending it back to Plymouth for the boys to nibble on while awaiting the moose dinner.

Well, instead of the bear meat being sent down to Clair Maben, along came a postcard a day or so ago declaring that there would be no bear.

It seems that the two had hunted for three days for bear and then, on the third and last day of this part of their hunting trip, just as they came upon a big bear, Matt Powell discovered that his gun wouldn't fire a shell.

There is a postscript on the card in which Bert McKinney says he tried to strangle the bear they discovered but that it was too much for him and it got away. P. S.—(Sounds just like some of the stories told by the duck hunters).

Books on China Now At Library

Interest In Far East Results in Requests For Information

Articles in current events magazines and in the papers give much attention these days to problems of the Far East, and particularly to the situation in China, changing as it is from day to day. A background of the history and customs of that country helps the reader to understand what is happening now, and is a subject interesting for a writer's reading. The books mentioned below may all be obtained from branches of the Wayne county library:

"Jehol, City of Emperors", by Sven A. Hedin. "It increases knowledge and widens horizons while giving pleasure." New York Times.

"As It Looks to Young China", by William Hung. "It is a frank study of the Chinese people living in a civilization that is completely transforming itself." Nation.

"China", by Nathaniel Peffer. "Mr. Peffer gives a brilliant analysis of the China that was and with both penetration and understanding examines the process through which it has succumbed to Western influences." New York Evening Post.

"China in Revolution", by Harley F. Macnair. The author was for ten years a resident of China, and in this book explains the origins of the Chinese revolution, and traces its military and political phases from 1911 to 1931. "A Short History of China", by E. T. Williams. "It is probably our best study of any length in English of the history of China and has obviously been compiled with much care." American History Review.

"Twenty Years of the Chinese Republic", by Harold A. Van Dorn. "A readable, popular treatment of contemporary events in troubled China." World Tomorrow.

"Tinder Box of Asia", by George E. Sokolsky. "An admirable introduction to the whole story of the modern East, written with great skill and charm by a man thoroughly at home in Asia and thoroughly in command of his material." New York Times.

"The Soul of China", by Richard Wilhelm. He writes of the age-long habits and traditions of the people, and of his visits to the interior of Shantung and to Peking.

"Short History of Chinese Civilization", by Richard Wilhelm. "This is a readable and highly informative account of Chinese cultural attainments." London Times.

"China: A Nation in Evolution", by Paul Monroe. "The volume is not for the specialist, but for the average American, puzzled by the complexity of the problem, by the strangeness of the names of places and of people; confused by the contradictory character of the news; yet earnestly desirous of understanding." From the Preface.

Northville Citizens To Celebrate Hallowe'en

The business men of Northville are sponsoring a Hallowe'en festival for this afternoon and night, for the benefit of the Boy Scout building fund, and a hearty welcome will be extended to all guests. The program for the event consists of a pole raising which will take place at 4:30 with the promise of the presence of Governor Fitzgerald and Wilbur M. Brucker; a barbecue at 6:00, and a free pavement dance at 8:00. There will be a "blazing midway", fun, frolic and good music. There will also be numerous games to entertain all who come.

The barbecue is to be served with neatness and dispatch and you should be there when the feast is ready.

The cause is a most worthy one and all who attend will be assured a merry time.

All the county candidates who are seeking election have been invited and many of them have promised to be present to meet the electors of this section of the county.

Liquid Air Wonders Shows In Assembly

Performing before general assembly, Mr. James Williams amazed us with the wonders of liquid air. He explained that matter exists in three states: gases, liquids, and solids, and that these three states may change into one or the other by increasing or decreasing the temperature and pressure. As an example he gave the fact that a block of ice under a high temperature can be turned into a liquid and when a still higher temperature is applied it evaporates. Mr. Williams stated that air ice is made in only one place in California, two places in Denver, and one place in Canada, and is very expensive, one block costing $5000.

G. R.'S GIVEN POINTERS ON HAIRDRESSING

A girl does not have to have a Garbo-Hepburn hairdress to be attractive," explained Mrs. Pierce of the Orchid beauty shop to the Senior Girl Reserves at their last meeting devoted to ways of wearing the hair. She said that for certain types of features, the simpler the hairdress, the more attractive the girl. Bangs, with the exception of very high foreheads, should never be worn in that it gives the appearance of shortening the face and creates an untidy look. Middle parts should be avoided if the nose is large and the face round and side parts should be at least one inch from the middle of the head. Long hair should never be worn straight about the shoulders, but should always be curled. Mrs. Pierce strongly emphasized the fact that a girl should never cut her own hair because it was impossible to do it correctly since the hair always must be thinned and shaped to the shape of the neck. To illustrate her points she demonstrated on several of the girls. The girls learned many helpful pointers on hairdressing styles. Mrs. Pierce invited the girls to come to her beauty shop at any time for individual advice. Once a month Mrs. Pierce will talk to the girls on various phases of beauty culture.

Rocks Tie Hurons 6-6

By a final spurt of power the Rock team was able to tie the score 6-6 with the Ypsilanti boys Thursday, October 20, before a handful of spectators that saw Plymouth nearly receive its third defeat.

The teams lined up evenly but did not play the same kind of ball. Plymouth playing a much sloppier game than their rivals. Most of the gains which the Rock backs could collect were cut down by the ever present fumbling which probably lost the game for the Plymouth team. Both teams scored their touchdowns in the fourth quarter but the Huron team laid the stage for theirs in the third. The Plymouth team will meet Ecorse next league game on their own field, Friday, October 30.

Ypsilanti won the toss and was going to kick off, when the headlinesman called their attention to the fact that they had only 10 men on the gridiron. After this was straightened out they played good ball, however, and in a powerful drive carried the ball within 20 yards of scoring a touchdown. Plymouth applied the pressure at this point and they reversed play by taking the Hurons for a ride of about 40 yards. Rudick gained 20 yards by a good run around the Ypsilanti right end. The second quarter did not move so fast as had the previous quarter although Innis made 20 yards in successive end runs. The rest of the quarter developed into a punting duel and remained that way until the whistle was blown.

The half opened with no score to hinder either of the teams but

DONKEY VS. ELEPHANT

Some have their sunflower buttons and some have their Roosevelt pins, but "never the twain shall meet." The election craze has got us, partially, permanently, vehemently, and the fight is on! Hold your seats folks!

In this corner we have the Roosevelt followers, and across the ring the Landon admirers. Step right up folks and voice your opinion. May the better man win! (cheers)

The first fighter-speaker on the program tonight is Louie (Farmer) Jennings, an ardent Republican and a friend of the farmer. Quote Mr. Jennings: "The American farmer foreign market has been ruined. Farm unemployment has increased. The farm income has been lowered instead of raised. The present administration has made us go $8,000,000,000 in the hole and has practiced socialism, graft and dirty politics. Continuing their policies means ruin." (whew!)

And now my friends, we shall hear from Hattie (Mary) Worden. Quote Mr. Worden: "Roosevelt's present administration is and has been doing a great job. I think to change how would be the downfall of the country. Don't do it."

Just a minute folks, while we separate the Donkey and the Elephant. Seems after those two speeches the Republican and Democrat mascots started pulling ears and tails. Whew! that little donkey sure is a persistent fellow. I guess we'd better let a Republican have a word after that struggle. Let's see, Bob (sunflower, cornflower, Kansas, Landon) Hudson, is ready to speak. Quote Mr. Hudson: "I don't like the high tariff. The Social Security act is dumb! Roosevelt is taking us out of the depression temporarily and not permanently." (I thought the Democrats were for a low tariff—er am I???)

Now, ladies and gentlemen, that great freshman leader, Joe Scarpulla, will conclude this bout tonight. Quote Mr. Scarpulla: "Roosevelt brought prosperity back!"

And now, folks, the winner will be chosen November 3. Just a minute, ladies and gentlemen, while I separate these two animals once more. Again may the better man win!

this quarter soon developed into a bad one for the Rocks. Rosse's gain of 10 yards through center was very quickly used up when Innis was thrown for a loss of twenty yards backing up for a pass. Ross's attempted punt was knocked down by a Huron man and downed on the Rock five-yard line setting the stage for the Ypsilanti touchdown. The Ypsilanti team, by line bucks and an end run in which Wilson carried the ball, scored the first touchdown of the game. The kick was blocked by Trinka. Plymouth, feeling the need to start playing football, began to make very good gains. Martin carried the ball on an end run to the Huron five-yard line. Ypsilanti received a penalty of five yards for offsidess and the ball was placed within a foot of the goal line. Gilles carried the ball round the Ypsilanti left end to tie the score 6-6. Innis failed in his attempt for the extra point. The game ended with the same score with neither team making any further threat of a touchdown.

EDITORIAL

On November 3 adult America marches to the polls to decide our next president. On November 3, too, young Plymouth will march to the polls and decide which candidate has its support. Just as no adult is a good citizen unless he exercises his right to vote, no student among our seven hundred is a good school citizen unless he shows his ability to go out into the world by voting in the election. However, in order to vote successfully, one must know the mechanics of ballot casting. To aid this, the seniors have committees working in home rooms to inform every student. On October 30, the election procedure will be explained in the home rooms.

Yet, merely knowing the election mechanics does not qualify one to be a good citizen. He must also be able to vote wisely and to consider the issues of the campaign. It is not enough to vote as our parents do, or support a candidate because we have always supported his party, or to vote for the man with the "cutest" campaign buttons or the "prettiest" smile. We must fit ourselves to vote intelligently. We must study the party platforms, the candidates, their records, their abilities, their facts, their logic. We must absorb all the information we can by reading reliable papers, by listening to political speeches, and by discussing these facts among ourselves. We cannot vote properly unless we know both the mechanics of voting and the real campaign issues. The seniors furnish us with one but as good citizens, we must obtain the other ourselves.

ROCKS CROSS COUNTRY BOWS TO HURONS

Plymouth's cross country team was defeated by Ypsilanti last Friday, October 23 at Ypsilanti. The team has lost every meet this year by only few points. Ypsilanti placed first with a time of 11:11 and Willis of Plymouth ran a second at 11:11.05. Ypsi then added another to her first and "Bud (Preck)" Archer of Plymouth placed fourth. Three Ypsi boys ran close at his heels; following them were three Plymouth boys. The meet ended with Plymouth losing by one point.

Due to an error the name of Dorothy McCullough was omitted from the ninth grade honor roll in last week's school notes. Dorothy received 1 A and 3 B's.

SCHOOL DAZE

Something You Ought to Know: Patricia Burton has been quarantined for the chicken pox. Looks like Patricia got into her grandfather's chicken coop—heard in history class: "A man isn't really old nowadays at 65." This timely sentence was spoken by Ireta McLeod, the lass who has as her motto, "Speak first, think about it later." We also noticed in history class that Robert Hudson (no relation to the great English explorer) and Hal Horton are strict Republicans. Too bad. We hope the coming election results won't get them down too much.

Dame Fashion has put her finger on Doris Compton and several other girls. Have you seen the Hi-Boys shoes they are wearing? Between Hi-Boy and Hi-Li I'm mixed up half of the time. The other half I'm just confused. I haven't seen any swing skirts—they probably haven't swung our way just yet. Clyde Ernst is one boy who gets a break five days out of the week by coming into history class five or ten minutes late. You see, my pets, he has charge of the bookstore at noon, and all the little darlings that need paper, pencils, etc. keep him overtime. What senior gal uses peroxide to obtain those golden locks of hers?

Famous Last Words: "Only the superintendent can make mistakes." Mr. Smith's law class was the recipient of these words—"I guess I should have been superintendent." It is heard that a last year's graduate who works at the Ford Motor Sales gas station is thinking of entering into the holy state of matrimony. Our consolations to him. History class is getting awful yawney these days. Miss Fiegel just doesn't seem to be able to do anything with us. Who did Betty Barnes have a date with Sunday night? What will Ellen and Barbara and Dorothy say? We wonder if Charlotte Jolliffe and Patricia Cassidy were the girls who journeyed to Wayne one sunny afternoon recently to see those Wayne charmers? What's wrong with Plymouth boys I want to know? If anyone finds a book belonging to Miss Allen please return it "cause the 12th grade english class will have to pay for it. Wee is them. Isn't that a "snazzy" tie Mr. Latture is wearing? Pete Moore has an answer for everything in history class. There goes the nickel bell—my time is up, children, so so-long until next week, and don't forget to wear your rubbers.

P. S. My too competitors, Marshall and West really ought to change their subject matter, or else change the title to their column to "Happenings in Drama Club." "Who's Who in the Junior Play," or something to that effect. Bye, bye, Jim and Bob. Be good little boys, don't print too much dirt in your column, and don't forget your clean handkerchiefs tomorrow.

The seniors have shown enthusiasm in these discussions, as they promise to be both interesting and educational.

TEAM PRACTICES DEBATE WITH DETROIT WESTERN

It met the affirmative team of Helen Weage, first speaker, Florence Norton, second speaker and Tom Brock, who spoke third. Their team, composed of three girls, all in their first year of debate, based its case on regulation. The debate was witnessed only by the members of the debate class of Plymouth and the coaches, with one visitor from Agent is tossing rifle-killed market pig into wagon for burial. Huge areas of food crops were ploughed under or kept out of production. At right is chart based on figures from the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics showing how the cost of a representative basket of food has jumped since the New Deal policies became effective in 1933.
