

Extend Fight On Tuberculosis To The County

Doctors Determined To Wipe Out White Man's Plague

Residents within Plymouth and near this city have been invited to join in the Detroit campaign being waged against tuberculosis, through the Wayne County Medical Society, according to Dr. Harold Hrisobak, a member of that organization and who is taking an active part in the fight of the Detroit Department of Health, the Detroit Tuberculosis Sanatorium and the Medical society to wipe out tuberculosis.

Doctors declare that if the right kind of care is used and the right kind of effort put forth, tuberculosis can be as completely eliminated as a dreaded disease as diphtheria was a number of years ago. Diphtheria until recent years was regarded as one of the most fatal of diseases especially among children. It is now practically unknown, due entirely to the efforts of physicians.

Tuberculosis, which has in recent years become one of the most fatal of human ailments as well as one of the most costly because of the long illness generally associated with it, can be terminated, declare doctors if the right steps are taken.

Recently there has been waged through the newspapers in Detroit in cooperation with the Medical society a determined effort to create public interest in this fight against tuberculosis. The campaign has spread to all of Wayne county.

Doctors urge that if you have in recent months contacted any one known to be suffering with tuberculosis or if you have any reason to believe that you might be afflicted with the disease that you immediately consult your physician or get in touch with the Detroit department of health in some way contact those who have interested themselves in this campaign against tuberculosis.

If it is not convenient for you to see a physician, write The Plymouth Mail and you will be advised of the right steps to take in order to secure a tuberculosis test.

Colored Youth To Be Speaker

Joseph Jenkins, a colored student from the University of Michigan, will speak in the first of a series of Sunday forums to be held at the Methodist church Sunday evening at 7:00 o'clock. Jenkins is a senior in the engineering school of the university and a leader in the colored youth movement. He will present a first hand account of the problems of his race. Racial relationships is the general subject under study in the Epworth Leagues of Michigan this year, and it is particularly appropriate that the first speaker of the Sunday forums should be so closely connected with this problem.

From time to time other speakers will visit Epworth League in this forum series, presenting their ideas on the application of Christian principles to the practical problems of industry, war, and education. While these programs are planned with special view to youth, they are all open to adults of all denominations.

LeFever Brought To His Home

Improved to such an extent that doctors thought it safe to move him, Charles LeFever, frightfully injured in an automobile crash nearly three weeks ago in which his wife was killed and a son so terribly injured that he died as a result, was brought from Eloise hospital to his home in this city Tuesday in the Schrader ambulance.

He has shown a little improvement in the past few days and was brought to his home because of his urgent request. His daughter, Mildred will be confined to the hospital in Eloise for several weeks to come. The little Curtis girl will be able to be removed to the home of her parents soon. The driver of the other car that was in the crash, is still in the hospital at Eloise, but doctors believe that he is now on the road to recovery.

JES' BEEN THINKIN'

Jes' been thinkin' of the ol' home
An' th' hills I used t' climb
An' th' rambo in th' orchard,
An' o' tater diggin' time;
O' th' cornfield, an' th' pumpkins,
An' th' woodpile an' the shed,
An' turkey, an' Thankgivin'
An' th' little trun'le bed.

Jes' ben' thinkin' o' th' folks
An' frien's of fifty-four odd years,
An' wond'rin' if they're livin',
In this vale o' human tears;
May be they got tired trav'lin'
An' stopped 'long th' road t' rest;
R' may be I be'n laggin'
An' not dola' o' my best.

Jes' ben' thinkin' o' a home in t'

An' folks a waitin' there—
O' and I'll know soon 's I c'n see
Th' sunlight in his hair;
An' 't make me feel more thankful
F'r the blessin' the Heaven sen's,
T' know th' new home's greatest joy
Is knowin' o' y'r frien's.

Thieves Break Into Jewell's—Get Over $80 in Cash

Robbery Near City Is First Reported In Many Months

Thieves, apparently well acquainted with the place, some time last Friday night broke into the Jewell dry cleaning establishment just north of the city on the Northville road, and robbed the office cash till of over $80 in cash that had not been banked.

The theft was not discovered until the place was opened for business Saturday morning. Plymouth police were immediately called who investigated it and called in officers from the sheriff's force to assist them because of the fact that the place is just outside the city limits.

Fortunately the officers were able to secure some perfect finger-prints of the persons who broke into the place and when fingerprints are available, it is generally not difficult to clear up offenses of this kind, as identification is sure.

The window on the east side of the plant had been broken open by the thieves. It is quite evident that there were two who took part in the theft. Glenn Jewell has no idea of the time of the robbery, but he believes that it must have taken place late at night as there was some one around the place until rather late.

P. T. A. Salem Union Meets

Salem Union P. T. A. held its November meeting at the school house last Friday. There were 35 parents and teachers present besides the children. Six more families joined the state and national P. T. A. making 20 families in full membership. The treasurer's report showed a profit of $7.50 cleared on the November dance. During the business meeting, another dance was planned early in December with a committee of men in charge: Mr. Bennett, Mr. Robbins, Mr. Gale, and Mr. Mankin. A vote of approval was given to a motion to spend some of our funds for Christmas tree trimmings to be the property of our association. The committee appointed to buy the trimmings included Mrs. Gale, Mrs. Mankin and Mrs. Trapp.

On the entertainment program, there were some duets by Mr. Trapp and Mrs. Hardesty with Mrs. Trapp at the piano and also two songs by Salem township's five year old triplets, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Trapp. The pupils of Mrs. Shirliff's room presented recitations and a Thanksgiving play which completed the enjoyable program.

Masonic Party Friday, November 27th

Members of the Masonic lodge are expecting a large turnout at their Thanksgiving dance to be held in the temple, Friday, November 27. The affair is open to the public and the lodge is hopeful of having many in attendance. The committee is furnishing excellent entertainment from Detroit and refreshments will be served free to the patron.

Sidney Strong Holds First Court of Honor

Fall Promotion of Boy Scouts In District Takes Place

With a large attendance of friends and relatives present, the annual fall Boy Scout Court of Honor was held last Wednesday evening in the high school auditorium.

After a half hour concert by the Plymouth high school band, under the direction of Lewis Evans, the court was called to order and the special guests, the three Girl Scout troops, and the Boy Cub-Scout troop were introduced.

The Cub-Scouts then put on a short demonstration of their work and the order of the Wolf Cub was conferred upon several of the members.

Those assisting with the work of the court were Ernest Henry, master of the Cub-Scouts; Dr. Steele from Wayne County Training school; R. A. Ammerman, superintendent of schools, Northville; Clarence Elliott, city manager of Plymouth; George Burr, committeeman from troop P-1; William Hodson, ex-District Commissioner; Dr. Haskell, district chairman, and others.

A special feature of the court of honor was a first aid demonstration given by four Scouts and the scoutmaster, Mr. Teller, from the Michigan School for the Blind. The first aid team from the School for the Blind did its work in such a happy, efficient manner that if the audience had not known in advance, it would hardly have guessed that the boys were handicapped in being unable to see almost entirely. It was a fine demonstration and a challenge to our sighted Scouts to meet the high standard of work set by their less fortunate fellows.

This was the first court of honor under the direction of the new Scout Commissioner, Sidney Strong, who succeeds Mr. Hodson, retiring. Mr. Strong's interest and efficiency assures the continuation of the fine activities carried on in Plymouth district.

Junior Class To Present Play

The Junior class will present their play, "The Patsy", a comedy in three acts, by Barry Connors, at 8:00 o'clock in the high school auditorium, December 3 and 4. This play, an outstanding success for the past few years, has furnished roles for such actors as Claiborne Foster and Mary Pickford. The play concerns Patricia Harrington, a girl who runs "second" to her older sister. She is the "Patsy" who is blamed for everything that goes wrong, and is forced to remain in the background in order that her sister may be presented to advantage, until her father steps in.

The cast:
Mrs. Harrington..... Marlon Luttermoser
Mr. Harrington..... Gerald Bordine
Patricia..... Doris Schmidt
Grace.....
Althea Shoemaker, Jane Taylor, Tony Anderson, James McClain, Billy Caldwell, Bob West, Sadie Buchanan, Genevieve Pinkerton, Francis Patrick O'Flaherty, Trip Busty, Howard Ebersole

Tickets, which are available from members of the class, are 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children and students.

Mobas Window Shades are hand painted in your home town, latest colors at a reasonable price. If you need a few new ones or old ones cleaned up, just phone 530. Linoleums in all grades and patterns. National Window Shade.

The M. E. Ladies Aid are having a chicken supper and bazaar, Wednesday, December 2. Treat your tummies and do your Christmas shopping early.

Art Shop—Gifts for Christmas, Palmans, brass work, mugs, handkerchiefs, ivory pieces, Christmas cards, beautiful and different. An amazing variety to select from. The Art Shop, 831 Penniman, next to First National bank.

The Gifts Renewed

In fields but lately seared by summer's drought,
Where famine seemed to lay its withering hand,
A miracle has come to still our doubt
And spread a glad Thanksgiving through the land.

Unseen beneath the drab brown coat she wore,
The soil grew rich to nurture other seeds,
Then autumn rains released the hidden store
In verdant growths, to fill our winter needs.

So, God of Wisdom, may we learn to build
In quiet faith, through even darkest days;
Assured our destiny will be fulfilled
Through Thy inscrutable and wondrous ways.

Christmas Lights May Be Up By Saturday

Street Decorations Will Be Best Plymouth Ever Had

Christmas street decorations are being erected rapidly and by the end of the present week it is believed that the lights across the business streets of the city will be ready to be lighted.

Edson O. Huston, chairman of the decorations committee, in cooperation with Leonard T. Murphy, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, has worked out a plan whereby he hopes to extend the lights over a wider territory than last year as well as provide lights along the sides of the streets where business places are located.

The Christmas greens that will be used to decorate the light posts and the wires along the sides of the streets have already been received and by the end of the week will be up.

Rotarians Hold Annual Keno

Members of the Plymouth Rotary club enjoyed their annual keno party last Friday evening at the Mayflower hotel with the largest number in attendance in recent years.

But the keno games in which prizes were numerous and fine was not the big feature of the evening. The entertainment committee "imported" from "foreign" lands a sextette of stellar musicians that provided a program of "native" songs. Dressed in the costumes of the land from which they "came", these musicians delighted the Rotarians and their guests with songs and skits as well as instrumental selections.

It was Cassovi Houghak who thrilled the admiring audience with selections from his imported accordion. His delicate touch seemed to inspire the bellows of his instrument to new heights of musical attainment and thrill. Encore after encore produced only one brief response from this famed accordion artist.

Hanabaha Strausovitch won similar plaudits by her remarkable execution (not the Russian kind) at the piano.

Then came the thrill songs that fairly raised the Rotarians in ecstasy from their chairs. Glenn-oski Jewell-damovich, Oompaulyzk Wiedmanowsky, Villiamozark Woodowski, Elmerich Zukerman-skich, with the two special artists mentioned above, provided the musical thrills. Charles Bennett was the special announcer imported to do the high toned announcing for these thrillers. Needless to say, the Rotarians enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Dykhouse and little son will spend Thanksgiving day with her father, Frank Shaffmaster, at Bronson.

Cellar Door Knob Religion—Read It—Maybe It Will Do Good

From out of the biggest little newspaper published in Michigan, in the biggest little town in the entire state, has come a bit of wisdom that carries with it more common sense than anything that has been published in all the great journals of America so far this year. Read what Swift Lathers, editor of the little Mears News, published up on the burned-over lands in the northern part of the state has to say about "Cellar Door Knob Religion":

"If I were a minister and were to deliver a sermon this coming Sabbath, I would take as my text the doorknob of your cellar door. If you have saved $19 of your summer wages or your autumn salary, go not forth to buy yourself a second-hand shot gun and a box of duPont shells, but rather buy yourself 20 bushel of No. 2 potatoes, a couple of dozen cabbages, a bushel of onions and a barrel of apples. Fill up the bins and boxes and shelves in your cellar and get ready for winter. Full many a man wants to live off the welfare, makes no provision for the winter, but spends his money on entertainment and baubles. But such people are a burden on society and far from being the salt of the earth.

"If you lived in Alaska or Labrador or far up in Canada in the region of the big snows where you did not reach a trading post until spring you would have to get ready for winter or you would perish. How much more ought you living in a country of fertile gardens and abundant orchards to get your cellar ready for the season of the big snows. Forty dollars invested now will buy you two barrels of flour, a hundred pounds of sugar, 20 bushels of No. 2 potatoes, 50 cabbages, a bushel of onions, 10 pounds of coffee, 10 pounds of cocoa, 20 packages of vanilla, some evaporated milk and a bushel of rutabagas. You can get ready for winter if you want to so you will not have to be a community burden. Pauperism is largely a sin of mismanagement. Make the fullness of your cellar a part of your religion. Let these things come first.

"If there is nothing left for amusement you can still read free books from the library and take walks in autumn, woods and along the frozen shore. Simplify your mad desire for fast chariots and the fast things and you can live in self-reliance and independence and have 75 cents to buy a little undershirt for the baby.

"The calamity howlers, the indigents with outstretched hands that howl to the welfare office could get along and be the salt of the earth if they would practice in the autumn grace the religion of the cellar doorknob."

New Officers Kiwanis Club

Plymouth Kiwanians have elected the following slate of officers for the ensuing year:
President—James Gallimore.
Vice president—George Burr.
Treasurer—Roy Fisher.
Directors—Carvel M. Bentley, Carl Taylor, Norman Denne, George Haas, Earl Maslick, Edwin Schrader, Dr. S. N. Thams and Warren Worth.

Pension Blanks At Postoffice

Postmaster Frank Learned announces that if any worker in Plymouth should fail to receive one of the blanks that the government has sent out in connection with the social security act, blanks can be secured from the postoffice at any time during regular postoffice hours.

Many of these blanks have been sent to the factories, stores and offices for distribution, but it is considered probable that there will be some who might be overlooked or the blanks misplaced and it is for that reason that an additional supply has been provided the postoffice for distribution among workers who are entitled to benefits under this congressional act.

Local Automobile Dealers Expect 1937 Business To Be Record Breaker—New Cars Find Enthusiastic Market

Dozens of Orders Are Already Booked For Delivery As Soon As Cars Can Be Shipped—Public Seems To Like Improvements In All Lines

Debaters Win First Contest With Flint High

Plymouth School Gets Good Start In Series Of Debates

Plymouth defeated Flint Central high school's debaters November 23, in the first league debate of the preliminary series of contests. Debating the question, "Resolved, that all electric utilities should be governmentally owned and operated", the Rocks upheld the affirmative and Flint Central the negative.

The home team of Jewel Starkweather, Florence Norton and Tom Brock won from Dave McGee, Louis McNew, and Margaret O'Sullivan of Flint by a two to one decision of the judges. These judges were Professor Rupert Cartwright of Wayne University, Professor Allen and Professor Shoberg of the University of Michigan, Carvel Bentley of the Plymouth high faculty was chairman of the first meeting in a league debate of these schools. The two teams have built quite a rivalry through tournament and practice debates and there was much determination to win by both squads. All the judges gave a slight edge in delivery to Plymouth but divided on the matter for immediate delivery. Well, that will keep the factory busy for a few days. I have every reason to believe with the fine public support of our new car that the next year will be the best we have ever had," stated the Buick dealer.

Ernest Allison of the Allison Chevrolet agency, expresses the same enthusiastic sentiment. He declared that it has been many years since so many people have been in his show room to see the new line of Chevrolets for 1937 (Continued on page six)

Early orders for new 1937 automobiles received by local dealers, have convinced them that the automobile sales business in Plymouth and vicinity for the next twelve months will be the best in the history of business.

Since the introduction of the new models two weeks ago, local dealers have been flooded with orders. Some of them state that they will be unable to deliver all the cars that have already been ordered within two weeks, unless factories are able to speed up production at a greater speed than at present.

But this is not believed possible as the Ford factories, the Buick and all other plants are known to be running to capacity.

This entire locality has already felt the benefit of the demand for new cars as almost every available automobile factory worker is now employed. Local service stations and their display rooms have been like bee-hives.

Dealers are most optimistic over the outlook for the new year. Carl Shear, of the Buick-Pontiac agency, declares that he is more than pleased with the business that has come to him since the new 1937 cars have appeared on the market. "People are not only interested, but they are buying. They seem to like every improvement that has been made in the Buick. Our trouble, I presume, will be like that of most other dealers, we will be unable to get cars fast enough. The Buick factory, I understand, already has more than 53,000 orders on hand for immediate delivery. Well, that will keep the factory busy for a few days. I have every reason to believe with the fine public support of our new car that the next year will be the best we have ever had," stated the Buick dealer.

Sunrise Service For Calvary Church Thursday Morning

Every interested person, regardless of creed, is invited to the Thanksgiving Sunrise Family devotions, a friendly fellowship of joy and thanksgiving, with a Bible message brought by the energetic pastor of Detroit's Trinity Baptist church, Rev. F. R. Vine. Beginning promptly at 7 o'clock, Thursday morning, this service in the Calvary church, 455 South Main Street, Plymouth, will have for its slogan, "Start your Thanksgiving with God".

Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Whipple and children, and their houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. John Metcalf, Jr., and John Metcalf, Sr., of Ashtabula, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Edson O. Huston, Mr. and Mrs. Orson Acheson, Arthur Huston, Oscar Huston of this city and Mrs. Elmer Reichnecker of Ann Arbor will be entertained at dinner, on Thanksgiving day, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Huston in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Blunk will entertain at dinner Friday evening, in their home on North Territorial road, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Blunk, who plan to leave Monday morning for St. Petersburg, Florida, where they will spend the winter. Other guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blunk and family, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Blunk, Roberta Chapell, Melvin Blunk, William Kilpatrick and Donald Potter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Blckenstaff will have for their dinner guests on Thanksgiving day Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lupo and son, Clare, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Dodge and children, Delora and Charles Arthur, of Lake Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McLeod and daughter, Ireta plan to spend Thanksgiving day with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garlick, in Milan.

Woman's Club Visits Northville

As guests of Northville Woman's club, the Woman's club of Plymouth spent a very pleasant afternoon, Friday, November 20, in the Presbyterian church parlors in Northville.

The speaker for the day was Miss Estella Downing of the faculty of Michigan State Normal. Her topic was "What Women Have Accomplished", and she gave a complete history of suffrage of three countries, the United States, Germany and England. She stressed the point of women being more progressive from 1920 to 1930 than the years 1930 to 1936 in all three countries.

Miss Marjorie Denne of Northville sang several numbers with Mrs. M. J. O'Connor of Plymouth as pianist. Tea was served at small tables with Mrs. Nelson Schrader as chairman of the social committee. Ladies from Wayne, Farmington, and Redford clubs were also guests.

The next meeting of the club will be at the Hotel Mayflower, December 4, and is "Literature and Art Day". Mrs. Claude Dykhouse is chairman and the speaker will be Mrs. George K. Courtney.

Night Class Is Doubled In Size

Monday night at its second meeting, the class in typewriting for adults was doubled, bringing the enrollment to approximately 20.

There is still room for more. It is not too late to start, as the instruction is more or less individual.

The next meeting of the class is Monday night, November 30, third floor of the high school.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Shadley of Detroit will be Thanksgiving day guests of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stevens.

Markham Tells Of Trip—First Tax

(Editor's Note: This is the last installment of the story of pioneer life in Plymouth told by one of the first settlers, A. B. Markham, at the annual meeting of the State Pioneer society on February 6, 1877.)

I went through the beautiful rolling prairie and soon saw it was getting dark. But in the distance saw a light—made for it and found a log cabin about twelve feet square. I entered and found my old uncle and aunt I had not seen for sixteen years and that was when a boy of fourteen years old. I wanted to dissemble a little and not let them know me for a while. So I asked if Mr. Malcom, a blacksmith, lived there, that I was traveling and my horse needed attention. The old lady raised her specs and said "You are a Markham. You need not try to deceive me. Now tell me whose son you are, Asher's or Darius'?" as she came toward me with uplifted arms.

By this time she had hold of me and I gave up and told her who I was. Then my aunt, in true pioneer fashion, called to Uncle Israel, who was on the bed asleep, saying, "Israel, Israel, here is one of Darius' boys. Get up and see him."

So Uncle Israel got up and after a few words with regard to the family, the death of my father, etc., went and found a place for the pony. He did not have a barn nor even a shed and went and found a yard well filled with corn and stalks at one of my cousins. So we asked permission to turn him in there and this was granted. We returned and found that my old aunt had the tea kettle over the wood fire in the fireplace at one end of the cabin. The chimney was built of sticks and plastered inside of clay. Now commenced the pioneer stories which continued until the cock crowed in the morning. We thought it was time to retire. After a nap or two, we got up and renewed our history of pioneer life.

My uncle said Chief Pocogon was averse to their settling on that prairie without special permission from Governor Cass. But they finally got the legal papers.

The Markhams and the Putnams occupied this prairie for some time.

These Putnams were the sons of Mrs. Putnam, who with her young son, was taken by the Indians at the time of the war of 1812 at Sandusky and taken as prisoners at the time that city was in the hands of the British. I think one of the sons of this lady is still living, as one of the oldest settlers of Pocogon, and if he should see this article, it might induce him to furnish some pioneer history that would be of great interest to the pioneers of Michigan. If he is living, he should now be 85 or 86 years old.

In company with my cousins, I went along the St. Joseph river to its mouth. I saw a few trading houses at a place called Berrien.

We crossed the river near its mouth in a canoe by means of a rope tied to each bank. Only one or two could cross at a time. The canoe was fastened to the rope in such a way one could draw one's self across and a small cord was fastened to one end of the canoe so that it could be brought back for another load. This was pioneer economy and the mode of crossing the St. Joseph river in 1827. There were many Indian mounds in this part of the country.

In the course of this visit I saw many Indians and in my stay with some of them I am sure I was as well treated as wild men of the forest were capable of treating a human being. I visited Little Prairie, Ronde, Big Prairie, Ronde, Door Prairie, and then on up to where the city of Chicago now stands. There were no settlers at this last mentioned point save a few trading houses.

I arrived home safe and sound well pleased with my journey and satisfied with the country, but too poor to become a settler on either of these prairies. Besides I had no wife at that time to assist me or accompany me. I was gone about three weeks and camped out on the prairies four nights, stayed with Indians five nights, and stayed with Indian traders two nights. I forded the Huron river twice, the Raisin river twice, the Coldwater river twice, and the St. Joseph river four times, besides several smaller streams. I did not find a bridge in my whole journey.

In closing, let me say: My hair is white, my whiskers brown. I'm the oldest settler in this town.

My wife is gone, my children too. I cannot tell what I will do. But I shall live a man I know. As long as I can plant and sow. And when my time shall come to die.

I'll bid you all a kind good-bye. Plymouth, Wayne county, Michigan, January 14, 1877 and the fifty-second year of my pioneer life in this town.

A. B. MARKHAM.

Mrs. Jennie Gale will spend Thanksgiving with her son, Harmon Gale and family at Salem.

GOOD stuffing for the Thanksgiving bird is of prime importance to the success of the yearly feast. It must first of all be well selected, a delicately flavored stuffing for the roast chicken and turkey, a more strongly flavored one for the roast goose or duck, writes Helen Robertson in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Second, it must be perfectly seasoned. Not too strongly to overwhelm the deliciousness of the bird, nor yet so bland in taste as to be uninteresting. Third, it must be of the proper consistency, not too moist, nor yet too dry. And fourth, there must be enough.

Bread being the usual foundation of the dressing, let us talk of it

Bread Cut Into Small Cubes Makes Better Dressing.

First. All kinds of breads may be used in the dressing providing the white bread predominates. Cold biscuits, pieces of corn bread, slices of toast, slices of whole wheat and rye may all be used. Use part crust too, as well as the crumb. The bread should be dry and if part or all is lightly toasted, so much the better. And bread cut into small cubes makes better dressing than when crumbed.

For the very large turkey, upward of eighteen or nineteen pounds, two and one-half to three pounds of bread will be needed for the dressing, while for the smaller bird of around ten pounds, one and three-fourths to two pounds of bread may be used. And for the smaller bird, one pound and under should be sufficient.

Celery, oysters, mushrooms, chestnuts, the other ingredients you will use are of course dependent upon your own personal tastes and upon the bird you are serving. Here is a basic recipe for dressing for the twelve to fifteen-pound bird.

Bread Dressing.
 1 qt. stale bread Sage to taste
 1 tsp. salt 1 cup melted butter
 1 cup pepper 2 cups chopped celery
 1 tbsp. chopped Cooked giblets
 parsley

Prepare bread, sprinkle with seasonings. Pour over them melted butter and enough boiling water or stock from cooking giblets and neck to moisten. In adding butter and stock, toss the ingredients together lightly with a fork. Never press them together.

If you like onion in dressing, saute one or two slices in a portion of the butter before adding it to the dressing.

For oyster dressing omit giblets, add one pint of oysters cut in half and the oyster liquor well strained.

To make mushroom dressing saute one-half pound mushrooms, sliced, in a portion of the butter and mix with bread crumbs. In using the mushrooms celery may be omitted or a smaller amount used.

Chestnut dressing is usually liked. To make it, prepare one-half pound chestnuts, chopping them rather fine. Mix with bread.

Sausage dressing is another favorite. One-half pound is sufficient for this amount. Cook it over a low fire fifteen minutes before adding to the dressing.

For the roast duck or goose you will find this rice and prune stuffing tasty:

Brown three tablespoons of finely minced onion in two tablespoons butter. Add one cup well washed, drained rice. Let simmer until rice is slightly browned. Then add four cups soup stock or water in which bouillon cubes have been dissolved, eight or nine cooked prunes, pitted, and one teaspoon salt. Cook over a very low fire or over hot water until rice is tender. Season well.

URGED THANKSGIVING

TRADITION has it that a woman was responsible for establishing the modern Thanksgiving day on the last Thursday of November. According to that story, President Lincoln issued his proclamation in answer to urgent pleas from Sarah J. Hale, editor of Godey's Lady's Book.

"That Yankee Holiday" President Andrew Jackson refused to give Thanksgiving day the customary presidential sanction because he would have nothing to do with "that Yankee holiday."

W.C.T.U. To Meet On December 3rd

Plymouth Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold a meeting, Thursday, December 3, at the home of Mrs. Bertha Kahrl. Members are urged to be present and guests will be made welcome. A potluck dinner will be served at 1:00 p.m. preceding the business meeting. Members are asked to please bring plate, cup, fork, knife and spoon. A silver collection will be taken to aid in the temperance work.

Mrs. Kahrl will give a description of a western trip, taken by her, during the summer, which will be of interest to everyone.

As Christmas is so near, there will be an exchange of ten cent gifts at this meeting.

The following taken from the Union Signal, asserted to be a true incident, carries its own point:

A man who had ruined his health by liquor, looked sadly at his wife, whom he had promised repeatedly that he would reform. "Jessie," he said, "You are a clever woman—a courageous, good woman. You should have married a better man than I am." The prematurely aged wife looked at him sadly. "I did, James," she said quietly.

Thanksgiving Day

NO DOUBT the same old question will be asked — what have we to be thankful for? The question is foolish, almost as foolish as the attempts to answer it. Thanksgiving means gratitude, and there is probably no man alive who does not hold in gratitude to be one of the blackest sins. Of course, there can be no gratitude except as it is shown not only for something but to someone. Therefore, observes a writer in the Indianapolis News, it is the thought of Thanksgiving necessarily implies the existence of a Divine Giver and Benefactor. So we are bidden to return thanks to Almighty God as "the Giver of every good and perfect gift." When there seems to be a scarcity of gifts one is tempted to ask the question, why be thankful? And that is a question which every one must answer for himself, and it will be answered as it always has been, in different ways. It is futile to catalogue what we know to be blessings and what we believe to be anything but blessings, and set off one list against the other, and be thankful in proportion as the good exceeds the evil.

Carlyle long ago showed us the folly of the bookkeeping method as applied to things spiritual. Probably most people get out of life about what they deserve and in proportion to what they put into it. It seems to be true that the most thankful people are those who have the least. On the other hand, those who are surfeited with good things take them as matters of course, as their due, and so calling for no gratitude. The question seems to be whether one has a thankful spirit, which surely is something to be greatly desired.

Without it, man is less than man. Even beasts are grateful. Practically, the question suggested by the day touches character. There is nothing mechanical or formal about it. One can not pump up thankfulness, and the setting apart of a day does not suggest that there should be such an attempt. The day is rather a recognition, less of a duty than of an opportunity which it would be or might be fatal to neglect. "Be ye thankful" is an apostolic command. It ought to be easy to obey. Those men are nearest the truth who feel that in this life nothing is due them, and that whatever they get is in a very true sense a gift, and one which may be far beyond their deserts. So we are called to keep another Thanksgiving day, which should bring an outpouring of not only thankful but kindly hearts. Appropriate to the day is Pope's well-known verse:

Teach me to feel another's woe,
To hide the fault I see;
That mercy I to others show,
That mercy show to me.

What We Live On
I live on hope, and that I think do all who come into this world.

Ancient Mayas Kept Thanksgiving Day

WHEN football fans turn out for the Thanksgiving games they will perhaps realize that they are conforming with an old American custom, but do they know how old that custom is? asks a writer in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Thanksgiving football games were instituted in America about 2000 B. C. The custom began among the ancient Mayas, who, although they did not eat mince pie or sit in concrete stadiums, did dine on turkey and did set aside a day on which they offered up the first fruits of the harvest season, feasted and played, or watched a ball game in a stone-walled enclosure.

The department of middle American research at Tulane university has discovered that the Mayan games were like ours in many respects. Just as fans today travel for miles to see the Thanksgiving games, so did our predecessors on this continent journey across the land, on foot or horseback, to Chichen-Itza, holy city of the Mayas, to view the holiday spectacle.

In his description of the Mayan game, Maurice Reis, on the staff of the department of middle American research at Tulane, says:

"As it began when Rome ruled the waves and Frenchmen wore bear skins as their Sunday best, football wasn't just football. That is, the ball wasn't kicked with the foot and the scores were produced by persuading the ball to pass through a perpendicular ring high on a stone wall."

When the thousands of pilgrims who came every year arrived at Chichen-Itza, they offered sacrifices to the earth gods in an impressive thanksgiving ceremony led by the ruler.

"The earth gods," says Alfredo Barrera Vasquez, of the staffs of the Mexican National Museum and the National University of Mexico, who is of Maya descent, "are called the Four Bacabs and are represented as supporting the four corners of the earth. Each god has an appropriate color: red for the east where the sun rises, black for the west where it sinks into darkness, yellow for the warm south and white for the cold north. Yum K'ax, Lord of the Forest, resides at the center of the universe and is characterized by the colors blue and green."

The Thanksgiving ceremonies still take place in some parts of Mexico today, although most of the old customs are dominated by the Catholic influence.

The name of the principal god of the harvest is lost. However, we have many representations of him on ancient monuments. He is always depicted as being young and handsome, symbolic of life and growth. From his head grows maize instead of hair.

HOW THE HOLD-HEAT FURNACE REGULATOR WORKS—Simply set the Room Thermostat (A) to the temperature you wish to maintain. The Damper Control (C), with its powerful Electric Motor, opens and closes the "draft" and "check draft" mechanically as required to maintain this temperature. The Thermostat (B) "sings down" household currents and greatly reduces wiring and installation expense. The COMBUSTION CONTROL (D)—exclusive to Hold-Heat—gives the three vitally important, necessary features listed below that you cannot obtain with any competing equipment. Buy Hold-Heat.

1. Combustion Control Stops Up The Chimney Waste—Excessive stack temperatures mean "coal dollars" flying up the chimney. The HOLD-HEAT Combustion Control in the stack closes the draft whenever stack temperature becomes wasteful.
 2. Combustion Control Protects Your Heating Plant—one of all heating equipment burns out—it does not wear out. Exclusive HOLD-HEAT Combustion Control prevents this dangerous overheating.
 3. Combustion Control Prevents Over-Burn—The fire never gets out of control, it is quickly checked without over-burn when the Thermostat closes the draft.

Gas Company Shows Over 42 Percent Increase in Business In This Locality

Local Manager of Consumers Believes That This Year's Remarkable Gain Will Be Exceeded in 1937

Over 300 new customers have been added during the past year to the number of patrons served by the Consumers Power company in the Plymouth district, according to an announcement made yesterday by Manager Lewis L. Price.

Of this remarkable increase, over 42 percent of it has been in Plymouth and immediate vicinity, with Wayne showing the next highest increase. There has also been a fairly good increase in Northville," said Mr. Price.

"From all that I can learn, there is no question but what there will be as great an increase during the next year as there has been during the present year," he stated. "We have made a careful effort to find out what development might be expected in this part of Wayne county. It all looks good and unless some foolish thing happens to change the trend of business, I anticipate that our increase for 1937 will be greater than it was during 1936," stated the Consumers' manager.

Mr. Price stated that much of the increase in and about Plymouth was represented by new gas connections for new homes and structures.

FOR YOUR DINNER THANKSGIVING

We have 400 Prime Young turkeys. They will taste right because they have been grown right. From the start they have been fed a mash approved by practically all of the Experimental Stations and the Department of Agriculture. In addition they have received a generous allowance of milk which makes them tender, juicy and delicious.

Why we have Thanksgiving Turkey

THREE times a year, at Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's, the people of the United States advance upon a certain huge golden bronze fowl, cut its throat, strip it of its plumage and convert it into a savory dish which fairly makes the old table groan under the extra burden. Since we have raised this bird into a national significance which parallels to an almost equal degree that of the eagle, symbol of the government itself, it has a special interest to all Americans. Although many folks may still be "as poor as Job's turkey," says a writer in Pathfinder Magazine, they somehow manage and contrive to have turkey for Thanksgiving, whether they can or cannot afford it.

In years gone by those families who could not afford turkey turned to chicken, duck, beef, rabbit, or even pork and were glad to get it. But now let's get back to the question of why we have or try to have or would like to have or imagine we would like to have turkey for Thanksgiving dinner. The answer of course is that he turkey is strictly an American bird and serving it at feasts of thanksgiving is an old and ancient American custom. Some authorities will tell you that we eat turkey on Thanksgiving day because after the first harvest in the fall of 1621 the Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth set aside a period for feasting and offering their festive board in New England. Smithsonian institution records now bridge the years that veil the aboriginal civilizations and show that the Indians of the Southwest domesticated turkeys and fattened them for their ceremonial feasts. While the Pilgrim Fathers, grateful for good harvests and a year of prosperity in the New World decided on a day of thanksgiving to be celebrated at a banquet of roast turkey, really gave posterity the spirit of thanksgiving. The practice of such feasts had been established long before by the cliff dwellers who actually got their birds from a pen as we do today and not from a thicket as the Pilgrims did.

According to Smithsonian records the turkey of the aboriginal Indians more nearly approximated the

When the Festive Bird Goes Into the Oven.

Thanksgiving turkey of today than the scrawny wild fowl felled by the blunderbuss of the Pilgrim hunter. Most of our domesticated varieties of turkeys today are really descended from the Mexican wild turkey that ranged over Arizona, western New Mexico and southern Colorado — virtually the dooryard of earliest American civilization. The Pilgrim turkey was merely the wild variety of the same bird which roamed the eastern part of the United States.

Just as the turkey was exclusively an American bird in the time of the aboriginal Indians, so it is today. No fowl from any foreign country approximates it. In fact, wherever turkeys are raised today, and they have been introduced to many foreign countries, the ancestral stock came from America. And so far as is known turkeys are never imported to this country. Contrary to popular opinion the turkey did not get its name from Turkey (the country of that name). The first turkeys taken from the New World (America) and sold in Spain were handled largely by Hebrew merchants. Since the turkey was frequently confused with the peacock it was quite natural that the Hebrew trades should apply to it their name for the peacock, or "tukki." More or less common use of this name followed, which easily became in English our present name "turkey."

The Turkey is Regarded as an American Bird.

thanks. To provide food for this feast hunters were sent out by Governor Bradford and they returned with a large supply of game. Hospitality was extended to the Indians, 81 of whom attended the festival which lasted for three days. Consensus among the game on the tables were numerous wild turkeys, then common in the woods of Massachusetts. From this circumstance, they say, arose the popular association of these birds with thanksgiving days.

This of course is the true origin of the custom so far as white man has been concerned with it. But the origin of turkey feasts goes back much farther. The millions of families who plan on enjoying hearty Thanksgiving turkey dinners this year will in reality be observing a custom that prevailed ages before the Pilgrims first gathered around

THE JUDGE SAYS:
"THANKSGIVING is approaching—it's time we told ourselves over and over again the things about which we should be thankful. There are plenty of those things. But, most important of all, I think, is the chance given to make ourselves happy again."—Judge Harry B. Keldan.

Raccoon Records Climb Higher

The raccoon keeps climbing higher and higher, it seems. The other day when The Plymouth Mail published the fact that Lewis Ford had shot a coon weighing a trifle over 26 pounds Mr. Ford and every one else thought it was the biggest ever.

Now comes Matthew Everett, who resides two and a half miles out on the Canton Center road, with a coon he caught last Friday night that weighed exactly 27 and a half pounds.

"And there are bigger ones than that in the woods. I not only think so, but Mr. McConnell thinks so too," said Mr. Everett when he displayed the big pelt in the office of The Mail the other day.

"I didn't knock him out of the top of a tree, and I didn't shoot him. I was hunting for coon with my dog and he picked up its track out west of my place. Before the coon treed itself, the dog caught him and killed it without the necessity of me shooting the coon. Its a big one, but I bet there are other bigger ones left in the woods," said Mr. Everett.

Local coon hunters declare that in recent years the coon hunting in this locality is much better than it was a number of years ago.

JASCHA HEIFETZ, who will give the fourth program in the Choral Union Series November 30, in Hill Auditorium, at Ann Arbor.

Heifetz, the distinguished Russian violinist, will be heard in the Choral Union concert series, Monday evening, November 30, at 8:15 o'clock, in Hill auditorium, Ann Arbor. This will make his fourth Ann Arbor appearance. There is no violinist in the world of music today who stands so absolutely alone in his art as does Jascha Heifetz. America is his adopted country, but his art is international. Four times he has circled the globe, and his name everywhere is synonymous with violin masters.

Thousands flock to his concerts in every cultured part of the world. His popular triumphs only seem to spur him on to greater musical achievement. Endowed with fabulous technical equipment, he utilizes these attributes solely for the expression of human aspirations and experience, in terms of music.

Year by year his interpretive powers kept pace with the development as man and as musician; and today he stands at the apex of a career of virtuosity which has seldom been attained.

For his Ann Arbor concert he has chosen the following numbers: Allegro Mozart (From Divertimento in D major) Sonata No. 7 in C minor Beethoven

Allegro con brio Adagio cantabile Scherzo Finale: Allegro Sonata in G minor Bach (for violin alone)

Adagio-Fuga (Allegro) Siciliano-Presto L'Après midi d'un Faune Debussy

BILLY MINK HAS SOME GOOD HUNTING

BILLY MINK loves to hunt. He is one of the best hunters among the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. Not even Reddy Fox is a better hunter than Billy Mink. In the first place, Billy has a wonderful nose. He can follow the scent of a mouse: quite as well as can Reddy Fox. Then, too, Billy possesses sharp ears.

The instant Billy caught the scent of Robber the Rat at the edge of the hole in the floor of that barn he forgot all about the hens over in the henhouse. He popped up through the hole on to the barn floor, and his nose found the scent of Robber the Rat stronger than ever. Billy began to follow it just as Bowler the Hound follows the scent of Reddy Fox. It led straight over to a grain bin.

Just as Billy reached one end of the grain bin a big gray rat with two others at his heels scrambled over to the other end of the grain bin, and with squeaks of fright scampered away. How they had known of his coming, Billy didn't know. Probably they had smelled him, for Billy has quite a strong scent of his own. Anyway, they had discovered his presence. With a bound Billy was after them. Almost at once the three rats separated. Billy didn't hesitate. He followed the largest one. He followed him with his nose. That was all he needed to guide him. Now that rat knew every nook and corner and every hiding place in that big barn. Also he knew that there was no place big enough for him to get into which Billy Mink could not get into, and fear gave speed to his legs. Behind and under boxes, over grain bins, squeezing through narrow places, and racing across open spaces, the rat ran with Billy behind him. At last he was cornered.

Instantly that rat changed completely. He whirled about and faced Billy Mink, showing savage teeth. He was big and strong, and he intended to fight. For just an instant Billy Mink stopped. Now a rat is quick, but Billy Mink is quicker. That rat was no coward. He fought, and he fought hard, but he fought in vain. He could not get those wicked-looking teeth of his into Billy. In less time than it takes to tell it, the fight was over, and Billy Mink has his dinner.

Now Billy knew all about Robber the Rat and his relatives. He knew that they were outcasts among all the little people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest. He knew that not a single thing could be said in their favor. He knew that the Great World would be a better place for everybody if there were no brown rats in it.

"There is good hunting here," muttered Billy, as he turned to go back to his new home under the woodpile. "As long as there is such good hunting here in this barn, I'll keep away from the henhouse." Then he went home and curled up for a nap.

Miss Ruth Adiska Weds Clinton Baehr

The marriage of Ruth Marian Adiska, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Adiska of Ypsilanti, to Clinton Arthur Baehr, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Baehr of Wayne, will be solemnized at 5 o'clock, Wednesday, Nov. 25, at the home of the bride. Rev. William R. Shaw, pastor of the First Baptist church of Ypsilanti, will perform the ceremony in the presence of only the immediate families.

The bride will wear a floor length gown of aquamarine taffeta, having silver trimmings and will wear silver slippers. Her flowers will be pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Grace Adiska, sister of the bride, is to be her only attendant. She will wear black chiffon with trimmings of silver also.

The home will be decorated with chrysanthemums in the autumn shades. A buffet luncheon is to be served the wedding guests following the ceremony.

The bride is very well and favorably known in Plymouth having been employed, as secretary, by the Ford Motor Sales company here for several years. Her many friends extend best wishes to both the bride and bridegroom. Following a brief wedding trip,

Local Auto Dealers

"We have already taken more orders than we generally have so quickly after a new car comes out. There is something about the cars that have just come out that every one seems to like. The Chevrolet has made many wonderful improvements. In fact, I sometimes wonder how they are able to do so much every year to make a car better. It seems that they have about reached the height of perfection in the new Chevrolet. I think we will have a remarkably good year," said Mr. Allison.

Harold Coolman, who has taken over the agency of the Oldsmobile and is temporarily displaying one or two of the beautiful new cars on the old used car lot next to the Plymouth Mail office until the new display and service room, to be erected by Earl Phuebling in the spring, is completed, is just about as enthusiastic over the new Olds line as are the other dealers. "Why, I have taken more orders already than one could hope to take in several months. There is no question but what the automobile business in 1937 is going to be a record breaker. The new Oldsmobile line seems to have hit a most favorable place with the public and I am sure that we will do a big business during the next twelve months. I hardly expected to do much in my present location until the new service station is built, but I have even surprised myself with the good results I have had since receiving the new 1937 Oldsmobiles."

"Never in all the years I have been selling automobiles have we had such a demand for new cars as we have since the 1937 Ford cars have appeared on the market," stated Paul Wiedman of the Plymouth Motor Sales company, yesterday.

"We are taking orders for future delivery every day. In fact, the first day we showed the new models in Plymouth, we booked eighteen orders in just a few hours. Both models seem to please especially well. It is hard to tell now, but it looks as though the car with the little engine is going to be a popular seller. Its economy possibilities seem to appeal to every one who comes in to look over the cars," he added. "We are expecting the biggest year we ever had."

Clyde Smith, Earl Mastick, Herman Dworkman, and Jack Chapman, other local automobile dealers, express the same favorable opinion about the business outlook for next year.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL church
—P. Ray Norton, pastor. 10:00 a.m. Morning worship. 11:30 a.m. Sunday school. 7:00 p.m. Epworth League. Young people of the Children's Village will be guests of the Epworth League Sunday night when Joseph Jenkins, colored student from the University of Michigan will speak. We are inviting everyone, young and old to attend this meeting. The Methodist Men's club will have another meeting Monday night instead of the usual Wednesday night, on account of the bazaar. The usual supper and good time. All men are invited. The December meeting of the Ladies Aid society will be postponed on account of the fact that the annual bazaar is to be held on Wednesday. The ladies especially request the women of the church to bring articles for the fish pond to the church Sunday morning.

CHURCH OF GOD—Sunday Bible School, 10 a.m. Morning worship, 11 a.m. Young People's meeting, 6:30 p.m. Evening Service, 7:45 p.m. Mid-Week Prayer meeting, Thursday, 7:45 p.m. 788 Penniman, corner Main. Pastor Rev. E. L. Harris, 38005 Ford Rd.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST Scientist—Sunday morning service, 10:30. Sunday school at 10:30. Pupils received up to the age of twenty years. Wednesday evening testimony service, 8:00. Special Thanksgiving services Thursday morning, November 26, at 10:30 o'clock.

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, November 29. Among the Bible citations is the following (Eph. 6:13): "Wherefore take unto you the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand." Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 51): "At all times and under all circumstances overcome evil with good. Know thyself, and God will supply the wisdom and the occasion for a victory over evil. Clad in the panoply of Love, human hatred cannot reach you."

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH—Richard W. Neale, Pastor. "Heaven must be in you before you can be in Heaven. Hell is truth seen too late. He who truly learns Christ surely unlearns sin. He who is only half God's is wholly the devil's." (C.H.S.). How will he who leaves the Church of God ever cleave to the God of the Church? (Hebrews 10:24,25.) If you are anxious about your soul read John 3:16-36. Then hear this scripture explained more fully this coming Sunday evening at 7:30. Our pastor will deal with John's testimony to Christ. His subject is "Famous Last Words." God willing, the pastor will preach at the morning service at 10 a.m. on the topic "Every Man's Work." (Mark 13:34-37; 1 Corinthians 3:9-23.) Sunday school welcomes you at 11:30.

We meet each Wednesday for prayer at 7:30 p.m. also a cottage prayer meeting on Friday evening at the same hour. The place will be announced at church. Our Thanksgiving Sunrise Family Devotions will begin promptly at 7 a.m. Pastor F. R. Vine is our leader. Strangers are welcomed cordially to this and all of our meetings. "Start Thanksgiving with God" at Calvary this Thursday, 455 South Main street.

SALEM FEDERATED CHURCH
November 29, 10:30 o'clock. "Out in the Highways and Hedges." Bible school, 11:45 a.m. "Christian Brotherhood." Philemon 4-20. Memory verse: "There is neither bond nor free... for ye are all one in Christ Jesus." Galatians 3:28. Evening hymn-sing, 7:30 o'clock.

ST. MICHAEL'S CHURCH—Rosedale Gardens. Masses: Sundays 8:00 and 11:00 a.m. Holy Days 7:30 and 9:00 a.m. Week day, 8:00 a.m. Confessions before each Mass. Catechism class after first Mass. Benediction after second Mass. Baptism by appointment.

ST. JOHN'S EPISCOPAL church
—Harvey and Maple street. First Sunday in Advent. Morning prayer and sermon, 10:00 a.m. Church school, 11:15 a.m. The Ladies Guild will hold its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. George Vealy, Fairground avenue on Thursday, December 3, at 2:00 o'clock.

NAZARENE CHURCH—Robert A. North, pastor. Bible school, 10:00 a.m., morning worship, 11:15. Young people, 6:30, evening service, 7:30, prayer meeting, Wednesday, 7:30. "Charity suffereth long and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up, doth not behave itself unseemingly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil; rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth; beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things. Charity never faileth." (I Cor. 13:4-8). This is the more excellent way. While many are seeking more faith, and others more power, God would have us to seek more love. Come and worship with us and we will do these good. 280 North Main street.

Newburg News

The Epworth League went on a hike Sunday afternoon with refreshments at the parsonage afterward. Their meeting was held at the church in the evening.

Mrs. Emma Ryder was hostess to 44 ladies, who met at her home last Wednesday p.m. for a silver tea and bunco party. White elephants were exchanged. It was held under the auspices of the L. A. S., clearing $12.20. The committee in charge was Mesdames Thomas, Hoffman, McIntyre and Stevens.

Saturday afternoon, the Y. M. F. class held a turkey shoot and bake sale at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCullough, on Newburg and Halstead road. The proceeds will be applied on the repairing of the church hall. Over $50.00 was cleared. The class wishes to thank all those who kindly assisted in making the affair a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Lewis of Farmington ate Thanksgiving dinner with their daughter, Mrs. E. Stevens and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ryder entertained Mr. and Mrs. William Smith for Thanksgiving. Bert Paddock and sons, Charles and Dwight had turkey dinner with their aunt, Mrs. Charles Ryder Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Anna Shepard of Detroit spent over Sunday with Mrs. Henry Grimm, Jr.

The Clemens family are spending Thanksgiving with their son, Clarence in Detroit. The M. E. Ladies Aid of Newburg will meet with Mrs. Ida Thomas Wednesday afternoon, December 2. There will be a pot-luck dinner at noon. Everyone is invited.

Obituary

MRS. CATHERINE JANE HIMES
At noon Saturday, Mrs. Catherine Jane Himes, aged 79 years, mother of Mrs. Ira O. Hitt of this city, died in the University hospital in Ann Arbor, of pneumonia, where she had been taken on Thursday following a few days illness.

The body was immediately taken to Bryan, Ohio, her old home, where on Tuesday afternoon her funeral services were held and burial took place.

Mrs. Himes was born in Crestline, Ohio, and in early years of her life married Edward Rickard. To this union were born Roy Rickard, now of Toledo, Ohio, and Carlton Rickard of Nardin, Oklahoma. In 1891 she married Willard Himes and to this union were born two daughters, Mrs. Nellie Dale Hitt, Mrs. Sylvia Ellen Ellis, now of Rockford, Ohio, Willard Himes of Bryan, Ohio, Merlin, of Wauseon, Ohio, and Denzil, of Northville. She also leaves to mourn her loss 21 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

The deceased had many friends in this community, having lived several months each year with her daughter, Mrs. Hitt, and family.

MRS. GENEVA MULLER
Mrs. Geneva Belle Scott Mueller, who for the last three years and a half, resided at Tucson, Arizona, passed away early Thursday morning, November 19, at the age of 31 years. She is survived by her husband, Edward H. Mueller, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Scott of Detroit, and numerous other relatives. The body was brought to the Schrader Funeral home, Plymouth, from which place funeral services were held Monday, November 23, at 2:00 p.m. Interment was made in Riverside cemetery. Rev. P. Ray Norton officiating.

Sassafras trees have three distinct leaf forms and all three may often be found on the same twig. Fifty thousand people are occupied in the radio industry in England.

ST. PETER'S EV. LUTHERAN church, Edgar Hoenecke, pastor. Have you made your plans for Thanksgiving? Have you included "giving thanks" in those plans? If not, your plans are a contradiction in themselves. Thanksgiving services begin at 10:00 and close at 11:00 a.m. This will give everyone an opportunity to Go To Church First.

ST. PAUL'S EV. LUTHERAN church, Livonia Center, O. J. Peters, pastor. No services, Sunday, November 29. Plans will be made for the children's service on Christmas eve, on Saturday, November 28 at 1:30 p.m. All children wishing to take part should be present at the church at that time.

Society

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hudson of North Main street will entertain at Thanksgiving dinner. They will have as their guests the latter's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Sallwasser of LaPorte, Indiana, who have been spending the past ten days with them and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shuptrine and sons, Harry Richard and Calvert of Detroit, also their nephew, John Droege, who is a student at the university, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gates entertained at dinner Sunday, 14 guests, the occasion being Mrs. Gates' birthday. The guests were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Bert Krumm, Marion and Bud of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Krumm of Phoenix Subdivision, Mrs. Herman Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gow, Jr., and Bobbie of Farmington, Miss Emma Dumka of Redford, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Dwyer and daughter of Inkster and Arthur Ray. Mrs. Gates received many lovely and useful gifts.

The regular meeting of the Parent Teachers association will be held Tuesday evening, December 1, at 7:30 in the high school auditorium. The program will consist of singing Christmas carols by junior high students, also a puppet show sponsored by Miss Fry. A social hour will follow and it is hoped that there will be a good attendance.

Mrs. Irving Ray was called to La Grange, Indiana, last week to the home of her aunt, who was seriously ill, and who passed away Thursday evening at Erwin hospital, La Grange.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Root were visitors at the Lawyers club at the University of Michigan last week Thursday as the guests of the latter's cousin, Charles Varco, who is a senior at the law school.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Coward and family and her mother, Mrs. Nellie Gunsaulus, of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coward of Bronson will be entertained at dinner on Thanksgiving day at the home of the former's sister and family in Flint.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Partridge will be entertained at dinner Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Reck on Penniman avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Lacy will entertain at a family dinner on Thanksgiving day having as their guests, Mrs. C. E. Lacy, Mrs. Helen Lacy, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Biber and family and Jack and Kathleen Roosa of Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lorenz and sons, Robert and Douglas, will be dinner guests, on Thanksgiving day, of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Watts, in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Olson of Detroit and Mrs. Frances Halstead and two sons, Gage and Lloyd, of Farmington were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lorenz Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Dunson and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Young will spend Thanksgiving day with the former's son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Dunson, in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Terry were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Archer in Pontiac.

Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Innis will be dinner guests of relatives in Mt. Clemens Thanksgiving day.

The Gates family will have a cooperative dinner Thanksgiving day at the Grange hall.

JUNIOR PLAY COMES ON DECEMBER 3-4

"The Patsy," this year's Junior play, will be given in the high school auditorium December 3 and 4. The tickets will no doubt be on sale by the time this reaches print. The cast includes Gerald Bordin as Bill Harrington, Marlon Luttermoser as Mrs. William Harrington, Althea Shoemaker and Jane Taylor as Grace Harrington, Doris Schmidt as Patricia Harrington, Bob West as Billy Caldwell, James McClain as Tony Anderson, Genevieve Pinkerton as Sadie Buchanan, Douglas Miller as Francis Patrick O'Flaherty, and Howard Ebersole as "Trip" Butsy. The part being played by Doris Schmidt, Miss Ford announced Friday, was once a role for the famous Mary Pickford.

Chairmen of the various committees for the play are Betty Flaherty of publicity, Jeannette Schwartz of stage construction, M. Holton of tickets, Margaret Bentley of ushers, Dorothy Adams of programs, Austrid Hegge of properties, and Robert Gottis of electricians.

IT SEEMS THAT WAY.

Maybe Thanksgiving day isn't any different in Plymouth than in any other place in our great country, but it just seems that way. When this day of praise and thanks rolls around each year we feel that it is a day that has more than ordinary significance to our good little city and surrounding community. It probably seems that way, because it was in Plymouth where the first Thanksgiving day observance took place. No, not in Plymouth, Michigan, but in the Plymouth down in New England where the Pilgrims founded a new city, a new civilization and a new kind of peace and freedom. Early pioneers named our good little city after the settlement that has been so outstanding in American history. It is but natural, therefore, that we are justly proud of that name and for some reason we feel that Thanksgiving is a day designed just for us.

Let us turn our thoughts back farther than our own experiences. Back indeed, to the first Thanksgiving in Plymouth and in America and there watch the preparation of this first feast, so different from our own. It will give us a close feeling of kinship with these predecessors of ours, these early American homesteaders. And it will bring a deeper appreciation of the day, if such a thing is possible in our happy little city.

The picture of that first Thanksgiving feast celebrated in Plymouth on the thirteenth day of December, 1621, is a striking one. Imagine the blockhouse standing out stark and alone in the great wilderness. Its rough walls, crude furniture and huge fireplaces—the Thanksgiving table of long narrow boards, perhaps not more than three feet wide, supported at either end by trestles.

If this first Thanksgiving feast was served in dishes, they were made of square blocks of wood about ten to twelve inches square and three to four inches deep, hollowed down into a sort of bowl. Nor was there one of these trenchers, for so they were called, for each person. Usually two children or a man and wife ate from one trencher. Forks were almost unknown, in fact the first fork was introduced by Governor Winthrop in Boston twelve years later. There were spoons, however, and drinking cups and "noggins" which were a sort of mug with a handle. These were passed from hand to hand and lip to lip around the board.

The first Thanksgiving celebration lasted several days rather than just one. It was a time of recreation and games—for the men at least. One cannot imagine four women and the few young girls having much time for recreation when they must prepare the food for 121 men, 91 of whom were Indians with an unbounded capacity for gorging. And this for several days!

Doubtless the deer and great turkeys were roasted in the open, the remainder of the feast being cooked in huge pots and kettles of copper hanging from the "lug pole" in the center of the fireplace which occupied the greater part of one side of the room.

After this first Thanksgiving, many followed, several being celebrated in one year. We of today wonder at their courage to hold Thanksgiving feasts when there seems to have been so little to be thankful for.

In the mind of the Puritan, Christmas and its celebration was nothing short of idolatry. This was the day to be spent in religious service. But Thanksgiving was the day of family reunion and feasting.

The next Thanksgiving celebrations of which we read are those which required days and even weeks of preparation. We read the description of one table, which surely must have groaned under its weight of deliciousness.

"On one end of the table was the big roast turkey and on the other a goose and two pigeon pastries. There was abundance of vegetables." Besides these there were huge chins of roast pork and venison.

And still the same letter bemoans the fact that they were unable to have roast beef because of the scarcity due to the war! The letter finishes with this paragraph:

"Our mince pies were good, though we had to use dried cherries instead of raisins and venison instead of beef. The pumpkin pies, apple tarts, and big Indian puddings lacked for nothing save appetite by the time we got around to them." Do you wonder?

The celebration of a certain day for Thanksgiving was not universal until 1864 when President Lincoln issued a proclamation appointing the fourth Thursday in November with a view of having a day kept thereafter annually without interruption. The President's assassination the next year almost caused a suspension of his own rule until President Johnson appointed the last Thursday in November.

Nevertheless it is "ye oyster stewed," "turkie," corn and pumpkin which were served in the Pilgrim days that still play the leading roles in our Thanksgiving menus of today. And just as in those early years, it is still a day of family gatherings and feasting. So while the Thanksgiving celebrations conform with the dictates of our day there still remain shades and shadows of the past which enrich it and make it the happier, especially in our city of Plymouth, named after the community where the Thanksgiving spirit was born.

Thanksgiving '36

FOR the moon and the stars that shine,

For the stout heart that beats with mine,

For my home and its daily cares,

For dreams that grow along the years,

For those friends whom I hold most dear,

For my senses, e'er keen and clear,

For the seasons which come and go,

For the books that I've learned to know,

For music and its lovely way,

For the sun pouring out gold all day,

For the hills of my native land,

And the clasp of my children's hand,

For the life that binds me to these

Let me be thankful, dear God—please!

THANKSGIVING

I am thankful, Lord, in a woman's way,
For the blessings and honors, mine today;
For a marriage yoke that is flower entwined,
And children loyal, and fond, and kind;
For home, and friendships, and right to be Loved, and guarded, and glad, and free.

I am thankful, Lord, that in church and state,
My heart has place and my voice has weight;
That courage flows in my veins, to bear
Of every burden my rightful share,
Guide me along this strange new way,
Help me to thank Thee, Lord today.

RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

SHALL JUDGES BE APPOINTED?

Again the plan to have Michigan judges appointed, rather than elected, is before the public mind, as members of the Michigan State Bar Association debate and vote in favor of the proposition. It is believed that such appointments, to last during a period of "good behavior," will "take the judges out of politics." There is no doubt but what such a plan could be made to work, providing the method of appointment itself is removed from politics.

All the public wants is assurance that the legal profession itself will lend more able and unselfish help in making such a plan possible. As matters exist today, the handling of justice in this country is centuries behind the way it ought to be handled; while we admire the lawyers for their desire to "take judges out of politics," we also suggest that they can do much to help the cause of justice by purging themselves of unethical practitioners.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eccentric.

ONE YEAR A HERO—THE NEXT A BUM

While it is not important, it is interesting to observe the growing anvil chorus with the University of Michigan's football team as the theme. Coach Kipke three years ago was a hero. If he doesn't produce a winning team pretty soon, he is headed for the skids—an athletic bum.

Like the late Will Rogers, all we know is what we read in the newspapers—the sport pages. Kipke was a star player for the U. of M. He came from Lansing, Michigan State engaged him as a coach. He made no great record there. Then Yost called him to Ann Arbor. It was a great promotion and a sweet salary. For three years his teams went good.

Then some of the coaching staff left. For three years Kipke's teams have been flops. All of which arouses the strongly partisan alumni—they want a winner. They may not get a winner, but they will get Kipke's scalp if he continues to turn out mediocre or poor teams.

We know Kipke. We have a feeling that he was given too big a job and too big a salary at Ann Arbor. He has grown mentally fat and complacent in this environment. We suspect too much hero worship and too many ritzy admirers are heading him for the athletic ash heap. We repeat this is not very important—merely an interesting transition which has been enacted time and time again.—Schuyler Marshall in The Clinton County Republican-News.

DOES MICHIGAN REPUBLICANISM NEED SOME NEW LEADERSHIP?

From various sections of Michigan we read editorial suggestions that the Republican party in this state needs a housecleaning. We herewith present, as a sample of this opinion, the recent comment of Vernon J. Brown, of Mason, editor of the Ingham County News, and a member of the state legislature, as follows:

"There was one vulnerable spot in the Fitzgerald armor. That was his association and close affiliation with Frank D. McKay of Grand Rapids. For this no one is to blame except the governor. Frank Fitzgerald never needed to hook in with the McKay machine. He could

Mr. and Mrs. Crowe At Silver Jubilee of Bell Telephone Company

Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Crowe of Plymouth were present when the Telephone Pioneers of America celebrated their silver jubilee in the Masonic temple, Detroit, Thursday evening of last week enjoying a mammoth birthday party in which every chapter in the United States and Canada were linked by a far-flung wire hook-up.

A dinner commemorating the 25th anniversary of its founding, a dramatic program presented by prominent radio actors, accompanied by incidental music, enacted some of the outstanding events in telephone history which have occurred since the organization of the Pioneers and in which many of the present members have played important parts.

J. E. Macpherson, senior vice-president of the Pioneers and vice-president of the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada, and Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., addressed the widely scattered groups of Pioneers to complete the program.

CAGERS BEGAN PRACTICE LAST WEEK

As the battle worn suits of the Rock pridders were stuffed away to await the next season's coming the basketball players hopes soared when they began their practice Monday, November 16. A very large group composed of 66 lads, very few of which have played basketball on the school teams, turned out for the first practice and then work began in earnest. The Rock team lost many of its best players and only a handful of veterans remained. The Rock rosters were rather disappointed with the results of the 35-36 season and are hopeful of a crack team from the new group of players but as yet one can never tell which way they may turn. The Rocks have a full schedule for the 36-37 season and start the ball rolling when they invade Howell on December 4.

The 36-37 schedule:

Dec. 4—Howell—there.

Dec. 8—Redford—Union—here.

Dec. 11—Ypsilanti—there.

Dec. 18—River Rouge—there.

Jan. 8—Ecorse—here.

Jan. 12—Northville—there.

Jan. 15—Dearborn—here.

Jan. 22—Wayne—there.

Jan. 29—Ypsilanti—here.

Feb. 5—River Rouge—here.

Feb. 12—Ecorse—there.

Feb. 16—Northville—here.

Feb. 19—Dearborn—there.

Feb. 26—Wayne—here.

OVER THE TRANSOM

Seventh hour chemistry class: Mr. Evans stating that if the humidity of the room was different some people would be less sleepy—and looking at Hazel Curtis! Stanton Burton trying to pronounce "molecular" and getting his tongue twisted. Astrid Hegge's disgust when a small curly-headed boy set fire to the rubber hose on her Bunsen burner and destroyed it! Jeannette Schwartz wildly waving her hand for a chance to go to the board and exhibit her mathematical skill. Hazel Curtis and Betty Flaherty carefully searching a Free Press for some scientific articles. (She! Don't tell anybody! They'd be talking all hour!)

Second hour English class: The difficulty Miss Allen had in straightening out Alfred Cutler on the history of King Alfred of England. The deep frowns of most students when the time to write memory work rolls around!

Fifth hour chemistry class: Mr. Evans explaining that laughing gas made people "historical!"

Fourth hour gym class (girls): Ruth Perkins' inability to keep from falling down! Jeannette Schwartz shouting like a cheering section at a league game.

Sixth hour history class: Alfred Cutler trying to argue with Miss Ford, but not getting very far. Everyone picking Marilyn Holton apart after she had taught the class.

Seventh hour speech class: Douglas Miller acting the part of the secretary, informing James McClain, seeking a personal interview, that his employer "has a vacancy tomorrow morning!"

Fifth hour speech class: Tom Brock telling Betty Flaherty that she looks like a cannibal with a pencil in her hair. The rapidity of Agnes Nowatarski's talking. Clark Felton getting his names mixed in a business interview and sending the class into gales of laughter. Weltha Selle and Jessica Goebel doing a business interview the incorrect way, amid the un-suppressed roarings of the class. Bill Rutherford trying very hard to get the position of cashier in Clark's bank with the advantages of having been a janitor of a bank, being expelled from high school, and having a father serving a jail term.

PLYMOUTH GRADS GAIN RECOGNITION

Mr. Dykhouse, principal of the high school, has received word that sixteen graduates of Plymouth, of whom eight are attending Michigan State college, and eight the University of Michigan, are all doing work that is very satisfactory and, in some cases, far above average. These reports were based on results of the mid-semester examinations just completed. Those enrolled at East Lansing are Jean Brocklehurst, William Holdsworth, Norman Kincaid, Wilbur Kincaid, Russell Kirk, Richard Miller, Donald Thrall, and Alice Williams. Those enrolled at Ann Arbor are Neil Currie, Gwendolyn Dunlop, Harry Fischer, David Gates, Jack Kinsey, Roland Rhead, George Stanzel, and Jack Sessions. They all like their new surroundings and show a great interest in college life.

STARKEATHER NOTES

Miss Stader's second graders are making attractive posters about feeding birds. On Wednesday they went to North Village to see the turkey in Wilson's window. They heard the turkey gobble, but he refused to spread his tail. Marilyn Tibo and Ann Keehe received all A's on their report cards. David Baker and Alice Brown have been neither tardy nor absent this year. These students have completed the paintings of the buildings for their farm; they are planning to make the animals next week.

Wednesday after school Starkweather went to Central school and played a soccer tournament. The visitors won the game 1-0.

Miss Sparling's 6A students are finishing the study of Czechoslovakia, the 6B's are studying India. Both classes are working on product maps and are bringing the materials from home: Maxine Thorpe and Raymond Svejcar drew the maps. Evelyn Phillips is back in school; she had been a patient in the University hospital.

Miss Farend's pupils are back in their freshly decorated room. Dorothy Helen Smith won the spell-down. They are planning to participate in Tuesday's Thanksgiving Assembly.

Miss Brock's pupils are making Thanksgiving booklets and posters of various Pilgrim scenes. Rev. Hoenecke is to address the Thanksgiving assembly. The 5B spelling teams are tied.

Miss Stuke's students learned Thanksgiving songs. They made turkeys to put upon their bulletin board. Robert Crumb and James Logan have been ill. Kathleen Blossom had her tonsils removed Saturday morning.

Miss Rathburn's pupils made Pilgrim posters. They made a Pilgrim village; the citizens of this town are cardboard dolls dressed in clothes from blue cloth. They are studying courtesy and are planning a mock Thanksgiving dinner with paper food to illustrate correct table manners. Rosemary Miller and Franklin Garrison memorized Thanksgiving poems for Tuesday's assembly.

SHORT SHAVINGS

It is estimated that there are more than 8,000,000 lepers in the world.

Eighteen young women have been appointed detectives in Turkey to solve political crimes.

A Lathrop (Mo.) housewife bought a bedroom suite with the 13,000 cents she had saved the last 18 years.

Periscopes have been specially designed to give drivers of high motor trucks views of the roads behind them.

Control of automobile parking on state highways through small cities and towns in California lies with the state motor vehicle department.

Plate glass developed in Russia is said to be six to seven times as strong as ordinary glass and unaffected by light or temperatures up to 400 degrees centigrade.

GIRL SCOUTS ATTEND COURT OF HONOR

Troop I of the Girl Scouts met in a joint session with the Boy Scouts at a court of honor, on Wednesday, November 18.

A very interesting demonstration was given on first aid by the blind Boy Scouts from Lansing.

Three Girl Scout Troops of this district were present and it is hoped that by the spring Court of Honor, Rosedale Garden's, the fourth troop will be present.

GIRL RESERVES TELL OF FOREIGN CUSTOMS

Thanksgiving in Other Lands was the theme of the November 18 program of the Senior Girl Reserves. Marion Gorton, chairman had previously assigned various countries to the girls who explained their manner of giving thanks on this day. Erma Bridger told of the customs of Germany and Czechoslovakia, Harriett Ingall of Hungary, Irene Granger of Lithuania, Barbara Nutting of Jerusalem, Barbara Hubbell of Syria, Norma Jean Roe of Armenia, Ireta McLeod of Italy, and Jeannette Brown of the Scandinavian countries. These short talks were very interesting and pointed out the various customs of the countries.

Miss Hunter, Plymouth's representative from the Detroit Y. W. C. A. gave suggestions to the Junior group for making Christmas gifts at their meeting last Thursday.

CENTRAL GRADE NOTES

Edna Grandson has entered Miss Marlan's afternoon kindergarten, while Harold Stein has left for Wayne. The kiddies did free hand cutting pictures of corn stalks and pumpkins together. They have also done free hand cutting of elephants to illustrate the story of "Extra, the Elephant." Free hand illustrations have been drawn to illustrate pussy and puppy stories.

Miss De Waele's pupils made a miniature log cabin as their Thanksgiving project and learned songs about that holiday. They are now working on the kitchen of their playhouse. Learning how the many animals prepare for winter has proved very interesting to these boys and girls.

In health education the children in Miss Prantz's room are studying about the right kind of meals for children and the selection of food for them. They are also making paper tables set with paper dishes. In social studies they are learning about the bakery and are making a picture booklet of it.

Mrs. Hohesiel visited Miss Weatherhead's room last week. Perfect attendance was attained by the pupils last Thursday, November 19. The second graders are painting designs on their Indian pottery.

Miss Maunula and Mrs. Bird's pupils are molding clay Indian pottery and have started on their loom weaving. Paper moccasins have also been made as a part of their Indian studies. Twenty-one names are on the room's dental chart for perfect teeth.

Miss Sly's pupils made a Thanksgiving booklet as a project for that holiday.

Edward Strong's spelling team made a perfect "A" record last week in Miss Hornbeck's room. The boys and girls made Pilgrim booklets for Thanksgiving. The fifth graders are studying about the interesting places in the mountain states such as the desert and Glacier and Yellowstone National parks.

In Miss Carr's room the 5A pupils have started the study of Japan in geography. In art the boys and girls are making interesting posters of Chinese cards and Chinese lettering. Irene Niedospal's spelling team is ahead of Robert Scheppelle's, the score being nine to one. Lila Mumby's team remains ahead of Billy Becker's with the score at 10-0. This afternoon the pupils are giving a short program consisting of stamp stories and plays. They will also recite memory work from the poem, "Hawatha."

Mr. Berridge's pupils made Thanksgiving pictures for art class. The 5A pupils have given a family play for their language class. In geography the sixth graders are studying Africa. All of the students have made graphs showing the wool production of Australia as compared to that of other countries.

Mrs. Nichol, Mrs. Crandel, Mrs. Goodman, Mrs. Hegge, and Mrs. Fremd visited Mrs. Holliday's room last week to see the pupils dramatize scenes from the books chosen for Book Week.

SCHOOL DAZE

A Very Important Question: Why is James Marshall always asking Dave Hale for an introduction to Doris Buzzard?!!!! (Love in Bloom). Oh, shucks, I didn't mean to tell you the answer, but I did. Oh, well, it wouldn't have been a secret very long.

All the girls that have hiking boots should get together and have a party. (It WAS a good idea, once). Night school was a huge success. Elton Bakewell came in to history class late and Edith Mettelal was absent.

We heard that Rockwell Smith's sister, Betty, goes for Douglas (Scratchy) Kalmback in a big way. She was seen walking to manual training class with him. Tell me, is this true? ... and have you seen the picture of Mary Louise in Hank Worden's bill folder? According to Hank, who receives his letters from M. L. special delivery, Mary Louise is all hat a girl should be with a combination of Florence Blessing, Janet Oswald and Dorothy Gates. Maybe Mary Louise would like to "now who Hank took home after he sophomore dance? L. J. Owens has a yen for Patricia Burton. We hear he's going to take her to the Junior-Senior banquet. My, what a fast worker!

George Kenyon has that ummm feeling about Dorothy Roe. Lloyd Trinka confided to me that his most embarrassing moment came in law class the other day when he hiccupped right out loud. Mr. Smith was very nice about it and let Lloyd leave the room for a few minutes. ... doggone, I always get the hiccups at the wrong time. TOO many girls are casting furtive glances toward Bob Hudson G-I-R-I-S-I-Doesn't Dandel Burton make your heart beat faster???

Don't be too "dazed" to remember the Junior play, December 3 and 4.

Mr. Bentley has either run out of his "flashy" ties or else "The Mrs." has given them away.

Last year it was the senior boys, but now the senior girls have started robbing the cradle. What's next, girls?

"The Doreen" now receives her visits from "Old Faithful." George Stanzel by name.

That Bakewell gal has a new boy friend. She calls him Oliv-ver! What about "Freck!"

Since the girls had their physical examinations, the girls have wavered clear of Doris the Schmidt. For a while we wondered what the trouble was, but now it's out. She has "Epps"-ilepsy!

Lost! A brown hat while making a trip to Dearborn last Saturday night. This information given to me by a bashful Junior. Please return to Evelyn.

Betty B. seems to be that way about the flashing fullback, Dick Innis.

Barb N. has turned against the "Socialist" 's. She now has her attention turned to "The Sophisticated Farmer"—Marvin Hauk.

The place of new romances seems to be the Youth Federation dance. The latest is Hal Horton and Doris Buzzard. It's a fine romance!

Jim Marshall seems to think that the hall is a good place to be chased by energetic girls of the Junior class. He was seen being pursued by several girls who had a certain look in their eyes.

The sophomores may have an "American Nightingale" but the Juniors have a Swedish one. That Marion Luttermoser sure can sing. She could even turn professional if she wished. She would then be "The Songbird of Newburg on the Lake."

Wayne seems to be the destination of McClain and Miller. There must be some beautiful girls. But we must say, they should be introduced before calling on the girls.

Ancestors of the present day ostrich had more than two toes. But too many toes are a hindrance to swift running, so the useless members gradually disappeared. Now the ostrich has a foot that is designed for both speed and power.

GAB ABOUT GAB

Have you seen the good-looking outfit of Pat McKinnon's? It's a red and black checked wool skirt topped by a black velvet blouse fastened with gold buttons. We have come to the conclusion that Pat should wear black more often. Ski-boots are black with the first of the winter season—and hand-knit sweaters—we particularly like those of Veronica Marti and Janet Oswald. Swing skirts have swung their way into Plymouth high in the personage of Belva Barnes. Another unique note in fashion is the P. A. T. buttons on Betty Jane Housley's suit. We can't imagine Miss Waldorf without her earrings and those combs. We seem to be attempting to recapture the charm of the period by our use of hair ribbons and bows. Demure in themselves, black velvet bows as worn by Jewel Starkweather on her blouses are especially charming. Interesting is the best word to be found for Kye Moon's rings. Smart—for Dorothy Hearn's dark brown suede shoes trimmed in lighter brown leather. That series of new blouses, sported by Elizabeth Hegge, is fully appreciated by this writer—as is Pat Burton's green sweater. We've heard a vague whispering about some cute Fro dresses—but of course we wouldn't tell.

CLASS NOTES

The eighth graders in Miss Gray's home room observed National Education Week by presenting two skits showing the changes in the curriculum of public schools. Also they had a panel discussion on school administration led by Lloyd Clark.

The boys in the home room are taking charge of the work on safety driving under the direction of the home room president, Mary Ellen Dahmer.

Marion Coward and Phyllis Campbell are working on the program to be given for Thanksgiving.

Mr. Bentley's 8-A general science class is studying forestry and its effect on floods and drainage. They are also studying the work of the C. C. C.

His 8-B class is studying machines and the six simple types that make up the more complex ones.

The structure boys are studying the structure and functions of plant stems.

The course in commercial law is a course restricted to seniors, is at the present time completing its study of negotiable instruments, which consist of bills of exchange, checks, and promissory notes. They found that liability to loss in every day business is very closely proportioned to knowledge of the general rules pertaining to these instruments, two of which are used extensively in the place of money. The class is seventy in number and will now start the study of agent, employee, and partnership. This course in commercial law is in no way a course in "law"; it is simply an attempt to acquaint the seniors with the more common rules of business.

THE TRAFFIC PROBLEM

The student body of Plymouth high, realizing the gigantic traffic problem facing the nation, has become interested in the study of this problem. Home-rooms are sponsoring discussions on the method of proper driving and booklets are given to all those who drive. The Senior law class was given copies of the traffic ordinance of the city of Plymouth. These are to be studied and discussed in detail for the solution to the national problem must come from small cities and rural areas as well as from urban centers.

A noted American said a century ago: "Our rulers will best promote the interests of this nation by sticking to their allotted tasks. Industry and intelligence should be permitted to find their natural reward, idleness and folly their natural punishment."

ROCKS CONTINUE PRACTICE DEBATES

Two more practice debates were held last week. St. Clair Shores invaded the Rock hunting grounds on Tuesday, November 17 and debated Plymouth's affirmative team composed of Jewel Starkweather, Florence Norton and Tom Brock. On Wednesday the same three debaters upheld the school side against Ann Arbor high school. The local squad had never completed against St. Clair Shores before and this was the first debate with Ann Arbor in several years. The two tilts rounded out Plymouth's preparation for the league contest with Flint Central, November 23.
