

SIGN — OR STARVE TO DEATH!

By Elton R. Eaton

During recent months The Plymouth Mail has made efforts to bring to the attention of the public the miserable, brutal and heartless way welfare aid to the needy and the aged is being administered under the new fangled system of handling public assistance to those in distress. It is interesting to note that these charges have gone unchallenged except now and then when an effort has been made to place the responsibility for its errors on some one else.

Now comes the brutal, damnable, cold - hearted PROOF of what we have been trying to tell the public.

Something like a year ago several elderly people in Plymouth who own their own homes or have considerable equity in the properties they call homes, were given blanks to fill out in which they were asked to sign over to the state of Michigan their rights to the homes in which they live. They were told that they might be permitted to live in these homes, or that the state might move them into "smaller" quarters, if it so decided.

They were told that if they did NOT deed their property to the state, that their welfare aid would be cut off.

Real Americans are a home loving people. Real Americans feel that as long as they have a place they can call HOME that they are more or less secure from the ills of the world, that in times of trouble and distress they have a shelter over their heads, that they have a place which will protect them from the elements. That's why as a person grows older the possession of a HOME becomes to the average man and woman what a safe harbor is to a ship that is riding out in a storm at sea. It is a place of safety, a place of SECURITY.

And now the cold hearted welfare officials growing fat and lazy on public pay checks, have denied food, fuel and clothing to a number of elderly people in Plymouth because they have not signed over their property to the state.

YES, the state you and I pay taxes to support, has decreed that these old men and women SHALL STARVE TO DEATH!

With tears streaming down her cheeks, an elderly and highly respected woman of Plymouth, for nearly a quarter of a century a resident of this community and as good a soul as ever lived in any town, came to the office of The Plymouth Mail a few days ago.

"We didn't sign over our property. They told us if we didn't we would be cut off from our welfare check. We didn't believe they would do such a thing. We thought sure they would give us food and coal, but our check was cut off last week. They told us it would be—but we just couldn't believe we would be permitted to go hungry and to sit in our home without a fire in our stove. Tell me, how can they do such a thing? Isn't there any goodness left in the hearts of any one any more?" And there for a moment the interview ended.

"There was nothing I hated to do more than go down to the village hall some two years ago and ask for public aid. My husband is now past 77 years of age and he cannot work any more. If people only knew the abuse and humiliation we have had to suffer during these two years from the welfare workers we have had to deal with, I do not believe they would ever stand for it. Now they have cut off our food and want us to starve to death.

"We have one small electric bulb that we light the room in which we spend most of our time in. They told us we shouldn't have light of that kind."

"Oh if the people only knew how we are hounded by these welfare workers. If they only knew just half of it—"

Sign or STARVE!
That's the new brand of "humanitarianism" we have in Michigan!

What is the state going to do with the homes of these old people it is now taking away from them?

What is the "influence" back of this demand that should cause the state at this time to force people to give up their homes — or STARVE TO DEATH? Who is going to get this property—and what are "they" going to do with it?

"I asked them why they had to have the deed to our home and he said it was because the heads up in Lansing demanded it," said the aged lady.

So Lansing welfare officials have decreed that they shall SIGN AWAY their HOMES or STARVE TO DEATH!

Think of it!
Human beings in our own fine little city of Plymouth treated worse than we would permit live stock to be treated!

If a farmer didn't feed his stock sufficient hay and grain, the officers would arrest that farmer and put him in jail for starving his horses and cattle.

But we permit state employes handling our welfare work to STARVE HUMAN BEINGS TO DEATH!

F. W. Samsen Is Seriously Ill

F. W. Samsen, who was for more than 30 years, editor and publisher of The Plymouth Mail, is seriously ill at his home on Church street. Mr. Samsen suffered a stroke of apoplexy some three years ago, but recovered to such an extent that he could be about a portion of each day, although he never regained the use of his voice. It was some three weeks ago when he made his last visit to The Mail office. It is the hope of everyone that he will recover sufficiently to be about soon.

We Are Indeed Grateful

"Dear Editor:
The Commission of the City of Plymouth extends congratulations to you.

"You, as editor of the "first" weekly paper in the state of Michigan, have brought great honor to our city. We hope that you will have continued successes in your field and that many other honors may be bestowed upon you.

"Sincerely yours,
"C. H. Elliott,
"City Manager."

THANKS

"I was more than happy to see in last week's Mail the honor conferred upon The Mail as an institution. Congratulations to you and the organization that has produced this achievement.

"A good newspaper is a powerful influence in the welfare of any community and in years to come you will be able to look back with much satisfaction and say, "We helped tremendously in making Plymouth a bigger and better community."

"Your many friends in the Bell organization would no doubt join me in these congratulations and in wishing you many years of continued success were they at the moment aware of the award.

"Sincerely yours,
"Roy E. Crowe."

FROM A GRANDSTAND SEAT.

Among the many good weekly papers Michigan can boast of, it took The Plymouth Mail, published by Elton R. Eaton, to carry off the honors at the Michigan Press association meeting held at East Lansing, January 28-30, when he was awarded a neatly engraved metal plaque bearing the significant statement:

"Michigan Press Association 1937, highest award for General Excellence, The Plymouth Mail." And the beauty of it was that when Prof. A. A. Applegate, head of the department of journalism of Michigan State college, presented Editor Eaton with the plaque he was the most surprised person in the assembly verifying the truth that "the meek shall inherit the earth"—J. E. McMullen, editor The Linden Leader.

Andrew Ellenbush underwent an operation, at Harper hospital, Detroit, Thursday morning. His many friends and relatives wish him a speedy recovery.

New Amsterdam was the name given by the Dutch to what is now New York City.

Of course these welfare officers do not like The Plymouth Mail—they do not like to have the public know the truth. We know that they have scanned the columns of this paper with a microscope in order to find some way whereby they might strike back at its publisher through the courts.

Well maybe here is their chance!
The tears, the grief and the pleading of these aged people have gone for naught. GIVE US YOUR HOME OR STARVE TO DEATH!

Has not the time arrived for the good people of Michigan to rise up in their might and throw to the four winds a welfare system that demands YOUR HOME OR YOUR LIFE?

Has not the time arrived for just a speck of decency in the treatment of our unfortunates? We believe it has!

Rotary Club To Present Advantages Of Plymouth To Burroughs Officials

Cass Hough Advances Idea of Inducing Company Officials And Executives To Come Here To Make Their Homes

Upon the enthusiastic suggestion and request of Cass Hough, one of the officials of the Daisy Manufacturing company and past president of the Plymouth Rotary club, Plymouth Rotarians will take immediate steps to acquaint officials and executives of the Burroughs Manufacturing company with the many excellent advantages of Plymouth and "sell" them on this city as the ideal place in which not only to operate their business, but in which to live.

At last Friday's meeting of the Rotary club, Mr. Hough urged that the Rotary club invite all of the officials and department chiefs of the Burroughs company to attend a meeting of the Rotary club at an early date and that the organization arrange a program which will set forth the numerous advantages of this city.

He suggested that George Smith talk briefly of the high class public school system of Plymouth, some city official point out to the visitors the numerous municipal advantages, some local business men stress the mercantile offerings and that the churches have some one to point out the religious advantages of the community as a part of the program in selling Plymouth to the Burroughs executives as a place in which to live as well as operate the new unit of their plant.

It will be recalled that Edward Hough, father of Cass Hough, was one of the committee of Plymouth business men who some ten years ago had much to do in urging the Burroughs officials to buy a site for their factory in this locality.

The club members not only voted 100 percent in favor of the idea but at the meeting last Friday a sufficient sum was raised to pay the expenses of entertaining the visitors at the time the club will bring the guests to Plymouth.

It is hoped through this activity that not only employes of the Burroughs company, but some of the officials as well, can be induced to come to Plymouth to make their future homes.

Plymouth Tops Record In Raising Funds For Red Cross To Be Used In Southern States Hit By Floods

More Than $2100 In Cash Raised

In Addition To Cash, Several Truck Loads Of Clothing Donated

Final balances made by Mrs. Charles H. Bennett, president of the Plymouth branch of the American Red Cross, show that Plymouth did not fail when the appeal went out recently for funds to aid southern flood sufferers.

The records show that $2,144.10 in cash, besides over half a dozen truck loads of good clothing and blankets have been sent into the Ohio and Mississippi river valleys for flood sufferers from Plymouth.

"Thank everybody—and The Plymouth Mail for the wonderful cooperation we had," urged Mrs. Bennett this week when the flood relief stations were closed and the books balanced.

"Isn't it wonderful to think that a little city of just a trifle more than 5,000 people will respond so readily to a call from the Red Cross for aid? I do not believe any city twice the size of Plymouth donated as much as we did here," said Mrs. Bennett.

Plymouth responded in the usual way that Plymouth always does when there is a call for aid. Time and again, this community has topped the state for cities of its size in special appeals for aid.

Two years ago the Rotary club drive for funds for crippled children netted hundreds of dollars more in Plymouth than in any other city in Michigan twice its size.

The sale of Christmas seals, the funds of which go to aid in the fight against tuberculosis has generally averaged high above those of communities of similar size.

Plymouth, in its response to the Red Cross call for aid, did nothing more than it has always done in the past, it went over the top in a big way.

The following statement has been prepared by the Plymouth Red Cross executive committee:

"The executive committee of the Plymouth Red Cross takes this opportunity of thanking all those who so generously gave of their means and their time in helping to relieve suffering throughout the flood-stricken area. Particularly are their thanks due to Frank Burrows, who as chairman of the clothing committee, assisted by Gus Meyers and Fred Wagonschutz, collected and shipped over three tons of clothing and other wearing apparel. This large amount of clothing was overhauled and all cleaned by Jewell Cleaners and Perfection Laundry without a dollar of cost to the Red Cross committee. If you don't think this was a real job, ask Mrs. Frank Burrows, who saw to it that all their clothes were cleaned and pressed and packed according to standards and rules of the American Red Cross in Washington. A vote of thanks to those members of the Girl Scouts who so ably and cheerfully looked after many of the Red Cross cash boxes. Also to Mrs. William Downing, who as general chairman, assisted by Mrs. Fred Schrader, took charge of a benefit bridge given by the different organizations of our city and which netted the sum of $56.60. Also the benefit the same evening given by the Macabees, which brought in $25.00. The Training school also did a fine piece of work, for not only did Dr. Haskell send a very large amount of clothing, but before it was delivered a woman of ability was sent to city hall to see how the articles were cleaned and packed, with the result that none of the articles or clothing sent by the Training school had to be repacked, they were in such perfect condition. The workers at the banks and stores also did a fine bit of helping, and all this coupled with the fine generosity shown by the citizens and business firms of our city means that Plymouth again went over the top and will doubtless receive honorable mention."

The amount of cash as given in the following list totals the sum of $1,916.90. The total sum raised and sent on to the flood sufferers was $2,144.10. The difference of $227.20 was the cash placed by donors in the various Red Cross cash boxes, and in some instances was given by persons who failed to give their names or to take a receipt. The Red Cross committee is disappointed in not having the names of all who gave so generously and is asking that any one who gave and are not on this printed list, call or write The Plymouth Mail and their names will be printed in our next week's issue.

(The list of donors will be published in next week's issue of The Mail.)

Clifford Smith To Be Home In March

After spending nearly two months hunting and trapping in the mountains of Arizona, Clifford Smith has written to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Smith, that he expects to be on his way home within the next week or so and expects to arrive here early in March. He will visit the Grand Canyon, the Royal Gorge and other interesting places as he tours homeward.

He has sent pictures, taken during some of his hunting trips in the mountains, which provide proof of the good hunting and trapping he has enjoyed. One picture showed coyotes, a wolf, a mountain lion and a fox that had been captured on one of the daily trips.

Over 200 Attend Father And Son Banquet

Event Proves One Of The Most Enjoyable Of The Winter

A record attendance for father and son banquets for Plymouth was established last Thursday evening at the high school. The annual father and son banquet for Troop P-2 Boy Scouts, sponsored by the Ex-Service Men's club was attended by nearly 225 individuals, every one of whom enjoyed the good food and the talks and entertainment provided.

Lt. Col. Arlo Emery presided as toastmaster and under his expert guidance the program proceeded so smoothly and efficiently, the guests, young and old, heard with regrets, the final prayer.

The Ford Mountaineers, provided through the courtesy of the Ford Motor company through Paul Wiedman, made a hit, especially with the younger sons and many a lad is treasuring the autograph of that tall rangy fellow with the funny motion and the aerobicic fiddle.

Chairman Hunter, who arranged the banquet with the assistance of the Ex-Service Men's auxiliary, said after the close, "A real party for the kids and daddies and the daddies were grown up kids too."

Takes Bride With Him On Trip

News has been received in Plymouth of the wedding in Cincinnati late last Sunday afternoon of Russell Powell of Plymouth and Miss Ione Kelley of Ann Arbor. They left Plymouth early Sunday morning and upon reaching Cincinnati the wedding ceremony was performed.

So it is Mr. and Mrs. Russell Powell, and not just Russell Powell, who are on the way to the West Indies for a wedding trip instead of a fishing trip that Mr. Powell said he was going on.

The well known young people will spend a week or so in Miami, Florida before taking the boat over to the West Indies where they will remain until late in March.

The bride is a former Plymouth girl, being a graduate of the Plymouth high school. For several years past she has been secretary and treasurer of the Ann Arbor Automotive Products company. Mr. Powell is associated with his father in business. Both are well known and have a host of friends who offer congratulations.

The young people, upon their return, will immediately start the construction of a new home in Plymouth.

Expect Many At Monday's Banquet

When the Men's Brotherhood of the Baptist church holds its regular monthly meeting Monday evening, the program will feature, to a very great extent, a commemoration of the birth of George Washington, the date being the anniversary of the first president of these United States.

Gordon Broholm, newly elected director of men's work in the Baptist church for Michigan, will be the chief speaker. His subject will be "If I Were a Dictator". Judson R. Forrester, another prominent Detroit, will be toastmaster.

Rev. Loys Sutherland announces that the men's chorus of the Dexter boulevard Baptist church will be present. There will be a 6:30 o'clock dinner.

From the Union Signal: "Twenty-four careless motorists, arrested in a police traffic drive in Camden, New Jersey, found, on arraignment, a unique penalty awaiting them.

"Judge Lewis Liberman announced he was sentencing each of them to write an essay on why he should not speed and should not drive carelessly. Chairman Leon H. Rose of the A. A. A. of South Jersey, distributed to the drivers some safety literature from which the essays were to be written and submitted to the judge."

Two Hurt When Autos Crash

F. R. Barnum, a University of Michigan student from Ann Arbor, who was hitch-hiking to his home in Utica, New York, was seriously injured late last Thursday afternoon when the car in which he had secured a ride was in a collision at the corner of Ann Arbor and Moreland roads.

Barnum had secured a ride with Harry Ogoroskin of 2719 Pasadena avenue of Detroit, and as they approached the city limits of Plymouth from the west, a car driven by Thomas J. Craft crashed into the east bound car.

Barnum was badly cut and bruised and doctors feared he had internal injuries. After being treated at the Plymouth hospital, he was taken to the University of Michigan hospital.

Richard Crouch of 16840 Monica avenue, of Detroit, who was a passenger in the Craft machine, received a severe scalp wound and severe bruises. He was taken to Detroit for treatment. Officers from the sheriff's staff took charge of the accident.

Pay Taxes Before March First

March 1, is the last day on which both summer and winter taxes can be paid at the city treasurer's office. After that date the taxes are returned as delinquent to the county treasurer's office in Detroit. In the county treasurer's office a 4 per cent collection fee together with interest at three-fourths of one per cent a month will be added to the amount of taxes returned by the city.

Local taxpayers who have not paid their taxes, either summer or winter, or both, are urged to pay these taxes at the city treasurer's office before March 1.

Daisy Plant Closes Down As Workers Sit

Company Given Demands After Strike Is Started Wednesday

This progressive little city of Plymouth, which goes the limit to keep in step with everything going on in the country, has apparently decided that it couldn't let the strike epidemic, sweeping over the state, go by without catching it. Just like the measles, the city has got it and the plant of the Daisy Manufacturing company which for over 50 years has provided a steady income to this community is now closed down, except for one department, pending a settlement of demands made by a committee of employes.

Plymouth's strike is different too, than the others have been. The strike was started first and then the demands were presented afterwards—and the best part of it all is that there is no bitterness on the part of any one and the committee representing the strikers, they will be no violence.

It was shortly after the noon hour Wednesday when Fred Cline, superintendent, came back from lunch. He discovered that some of the Daisy men were not working. Some were sitting down and others were standing about.

He asked what it was all about and he was advised that the men had decided to strike.

Mr. Cline made an effort to get in touch with Charles Bennett, president of the company who had gone down town and after locating him, it was arranged for the committee to meet Mr. Bennett for a conference.

Late in the afternoon the committee which had selected Odene Hitt as its spokesman, had a talk with Mr. Bennett. The committee selected by the workers was composed of its chairman, Odene, Mary Lee, Ray Westover, Clifford Cochrane, Edward Sinta, John Meyer, Lester Daly and Earl Weiden.

Chairman Hitt told Mr. Bennett that they had taken a strike vote at noon and decided to go on a strike for a general raise of wages for all Daisy employes, abolition of the bonus system, time and a third for overtime for every day over eight hours and overtime for more than 40 hours per week.

Mr. Bennett states that he advised the committee that he thought it would be better for them to keep on working until the full board of the company could consider the matter.

"You have worked for the Daisy long enough to know that anything we tell you we will do, we will carry out our word and if I say to you that we will arbitrate this matter when Mr. Hough gets home from New York within the next week or two, we will do so," he said.

Edward C. Hough, vice president and treasurer, has been in New York City for several weeks past for hospital treatment and it is expected that he will probably be back in Plymouth within the next ten days or two weeks. William Conner, another member of the board, recently left for a brief vacation trip to Florida and he will return in about two weeks.

Spokesman Hitt stated that the workers thought it would be best for them to continue on their strike instead of working pending the return of the other officials of the company. Mr. Bennett urged them to keep to work so that their income might be continued until the argument could be settled, but this the workers decided not to do.

Committees representing the strikers were requested to remain in the plant, however, there has been no outside picketing. About 15 remained in the plant during the first half of Wednesday night and at midnight they were relieved by another group. Chairman Hitt stated that the strikers plan to keep this arrangement going until the strike is settled.

"We have decided that there will be no violence of any kind," he stated.

The Daisy company granted to its employes a raise at the first of the year, making the announcement at its annual Christmas party at the time it always pays to the workers the annual bonus.

WHAT IS LAW VIOLATION?

Editor Murl DeFoe in his Charlotte-Republican Tribune last week said: "Hayes E. Wells of Grand Ledge was named by the caucus as a member of the credentials committee, which voted to seat the Barnard delegation despite protests that it had been illegally elected. There being no contesting delegation, the committee had no other course open."

Editor DeFoe seems to speak for the committee that seated in the Republican state convention a list of delegates that were NOT LAWFULLY ELECTED to the last Republican state convention. Knowing Editor DeFoe's general high standard of ideals, we believe that he has written hastily and uninformed.

Does he mean to say that any mob can walk into a Republican state convention, present to the credentials committee a list of names prepared in secret and have the list seated as LAWFUL delegates in a convention simply because there does not happen to be a contesting delegation?

We hope that is not his intent and we hope that he does not intend a defense of the rotten and illegal system by which the last delegation from Wayne county to the Republican state convention was selected.

What was done at the recent Republican county convention was a direct violation of the state law which specifies the way delegates to a state convention shall be selected. The credentials committee of the state convention, irrespective of what Editor DeFoe says, placed its stamp of approval upon LAW VIOLATION, if law violation means doing something that the law says shall NOT BE DONE.

For Editor DeFoe's information the following taken from the last issue of The Detroit Courier will provide some interesting information about Barnard's "delegation" to the last state Republican convention:

Politicians are not any more successful in keeping a secret than members of a women's sewing society or bridge club. Out of a curiosity local Republicans secured a list of delegates "not elected" to the recent party convention and presumed to represent Wayne county. They were apparently chosen by Ed Barnard and Tom Newton. As near as can be ascertained, 80 of them were drivers for one taxicab concern and the official records show that they were nearly all Democrats. When some of them protested, they were told that they need not attend, were simply stooges and their places would be filled.

Even Tom Newton, who should be wise politically, forgot that a roll call would prove disastrous.

The Detroit police department can be officially informed that Wayne county has held its last Republican convention. In case the legislature does not act then the State Central committee will make the rules and fix congressional district limits for future delegate division. That plan is now used by the Democrats, so new laws are not necessary. Some of the Wayne county members of the State Central committee, although named by Barnard, will vote for any plan to stop his party wreckage program.

A new system of creating county committees of party organization is also being considered. Under the present plan it is very difficult to create a harmonious body and as a result here in Wayne county said committee has not functioned for a number of years.

WHY NOT?

It seems that everybody has been talking about sit-down strikes or taking part in sit-down strikes. Wonder if it wouldn't get results if the taxpayers of Michigan went on a "sit-down" strike for about a year or so? Maybe some of the welfare grabbers and public office holders who seem to think that there is no bottom to the taxpayers pile of pennies might get a real jolt if the taxpayers went on a strike. Why not?

SATISFIED.

While we did not keep Edward Barnard's hand-picked delegates out of the last state convention, we do have a feeling that the protest that was registered long and loud from the beginning to the finish had a whole lot of wholesome effect and resulted in an anti-Barnard state chairman being elected. There is no question but what the Barnard-McKay outfit would have elected their candidate state chairman of the Republican party if it had not been for the strenuous protest made by the writer. While Barnard loaded up the state central committee with his relatives and cohorts, that's about all the good it will do. Now for a royal cleaning of his gang in Wayne county!

BUILD, BUILD.

There is nothing so much needed in Plymouth today as homes for people to live in. The population of this city would doubtless increase nearly a thousand over night if there were a sufficient number of homes to take care of the demand. On nearly every street within the city there are many excellent vacant lots. Why not build attractive, new homes that will appeal to the average family? It is a good investment and it is a good way in which to help build a bigger city.

HE LIVED BEFORE HIS TIME.

As one heard former Governor Chase Osborn discuss present day problems a few days ago in Lansing and express his ideas as to what should be done to bring about an improved condition in affairs of the nation, a belief could not help but prevail that he had lived the useful part of his life before his time. If Chase Osborn could, today, take the active, intense and forceful action in helping settle some of the current problems along the lines that he believes should prevail, that he did a quarter of a century ago, there is little doubt but what much of the strife and turmoil, we are now going through, wouldn't be. Instead of men of force and ability directing our ways, we have an army of pettifogging politicians voicing a lot of absurd ideas that mean nothing and playing to the grandstand for public approbation.

RAMBLING with Editors AROUND of Michigan

FLOOD CONTROL

Once again the country's mighty rivers are rising in their wrath, threatening death and destruction to millions along their swollen banks. The Father of Waters is thrashing around uneasily in his bed, and if he falls out, the whole land will again be shaken.

Many reports of flood conditions along the Mississippi and its tributaries suggest that much remains to be done on the job of flood prevention. The people will not be satisfied indefinitely to see these rivers keep rising year after year, and creating all this destruction. Not until their headwaters are controlled by vast storage basins will life be safe along these great streams.—R. J. Jeffries in The Lowell Ledger.

ABOUT KILLING THE KILLERS.

The introduction of a new bill calling for execution of certain criminals within the state, known as the capital punishment act, recalls the efforts of ex-Senator Fred A. McEachron of Hudsonville. This Ottawa county representative introduced a similar bill some six years ago and the introduction called of a state-wide pro and con argument. The bill passed the lower house, but the senate turned it down due to the efforts of Governor Green who was strongly opposed to the bill. Strong delegations and lobbyists of certain Wayne county interests supporting gangsters killed the bill with the aid of lobbyists, some of them of questionable character, led the fight against the McEachron act. I took a position against the capital punishment act for Michigan on the grounds that it would not lessen murder and further contended that a killer would kill even if he knew in advance that he would have to hang for his great crime. On this score I have not changed my convictions, but in view of the fact that many paroled convicts are responsible for many subsequent murders and that instances like the murder of Poole by the Black Legion and such shocking crimes as murdering and burning two couples which occurred near Monroe four years ago, I have changed my mind. The heavens cry out for vengeance of this type of murder. I wonder if those who opposed capital punishment then favor a law demanding same today.—J. John Pope, editor of The Grandville Star.

REAL ARBITRATION NEEDED.

Regardless of where one's sympathies are in the present strike situation, the costly consequences of it indicate the need for a more responsible arbitrating force than exists at present. It is difficult to understand why there is any more justification for a small, organized minority of workmen to interfere with the prosperity of this country than there would be for a small clique of bankers or industrialists to pursue such a course. No one group in a country that assumes democratic rule has the right to expect supreme authority. Labor has the right to organize and to express its wishes. But does a labor group have the right to force all workmen of a certain classification into its organization and to assume sole bargaining power for them? If those who believe in labor organizations have the right to be represented, why haven't those workmen who do not believe in labor organizations also a right to representation? Is it a healthy situation when less than 10 per cent of a working force can prevent 90 per cent of their fellow workmen from earning a living? It would appear that an arbitration board with real authority is needed in this country; a board which will remove from this country the consequences of hit and miss strikes called by numerous and independent organization heads; a board which will be fair enough to arbitrate with the welfare of the country in mind and not the interests of any one group.—Dick Cook in The Hastings Banner.

SOME COMMON SENSE NOT IN THE REPORT.

Michigan's state legislature has been asked by the Crime commission to frame legislation that will curb juvenile delinquency. The best possible curb to juvenile delinquency is more responsibility, better example, on the part of parents. No social agency can, in efficiency and ultimate decency, ever supplant the value of a good home for influencing children well.—George Averill in The Birmingham Eccentric.

NOT A "LOT", BUT AN ARMY.

Governor Townsend of Indiana has announced that no person who drinks intoxicants while on duty can remain in the employ of that state if he knows it, and that no person who gets drunk while off duty can remain in the employ of the state if he knows it. We doubt if any other governor of a state ever took such a decided stand, but it ought to raise the standard of state employes in Indiana. We have seen times in Lansing when such a threat, put into action, would have thrown a lot of employes out to join the army of the unemployed.—William Berkey in The Cassopolis Vigilant.

The Citizens Entertainment Course committee, at a meeting held Monday evening, decided not to put on an extra entertainment this season, but will devote most of the surplus money into furnishing new scenery for the opera house, which is now badly needed. The expense is estimated to be about $150, of which the council has agreed to pay $50.

Plymouth Rotary Club Joins In World Celebration of Anniversary

President Fred Sabom Seeks Extension Of General Knowledge of Organization And Its Many Activities

Plymouth Rotarians are, this month, participating in the celebration of the 32nd anniversary of the organization of the club. So that the general public may have a fairly clear idea of the work of Rotary throughout the world, President Fred Sabom of the Plymouth organization has requested The Plymouth Mail to publish the following article that appears in the current issue of Rotary International:

A World Fellowship of Business and Professional Men

In 1905 four men got together in Chicago for fellowship and service to each other. They called themselves the Rotary club. Today there are more than 4,000

Rotary clubs in practically every country around the world. Upwards of 175,000 Rotarians meet weekly in these clubs as a part of their accepted purpose "to encourage and foster the ideal of service".

Organizationally this movement is known as Rotary International. Its program and its influence have steadily expanded so that the ideal of service finds expression not only in personal fellowship but in business practices, in community betterment and in international understanding. Its fourth stated object is: "The advancement of international understanding, good will, and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service."

The rapid growth of the Rotary movement is due to a number of reasons. One of them is undoubtedly the earnest desire of people everywhere to substitute understanding and co-operation for suspicion and conflict. Not least among the elements that constitute Rotary's opportunity are the two facts that frequently international strife has been of economic origin and that Rotary's membership consists of men who can influence economic policies.

How do Rotarians go about it to advance international understanding and good will? What progress are they making?

As the title of this article implies, the Rotary movement is a fellowship. Basic in its policy is the avoidance of any fixed program which would cause division and destroy possibilities for friendship. The theory is that the cumulative result of individual action inspired by fellowship and understanding will exceed the result obtainable through corporate action restricted as it would be by differing points of view.

Scenes and Persons in the Current News

Navy who commanded the recent mass flight of 12 navy planes from San Diego, Calif., to Honolulu. 3—Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany, who recently repudiated Germany's admission of war guilt which followed the armistice.

The recent Rotary convention in Atlantic City, attended by nearly 10,000 Rotarians and guests, is typical of the annual meetings of this kind. Five have been held outside the United States—in Edinburgh, Toronto, Ostend, Vienna, and Mexico City. The 1937 convention will be held in Nice, France. Three regional conferences of clubs in Europe, North Africa and Asia Minor have convened in The Hague, Lausanne and Venice. Five Pacific conferences have met in Honolulu (twice), Tokyo, Sydney, and Manila, and the sixth is to meet in Wellington, New Zealand, in March, 1937. A conference of Latin American clubs met in Valparaiso, Chile, in March, 1936, and a similar meeting for clubs in countries bordering the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico will occur in March, 1937, in Havana, Cuba.

The International Assembly Fine as are the opportunities for fellowship at conventions and regional conferences, perhaps even more significant is the international assembly which is held during the week preceding the convention. Participating in the assembly are the general officers and directors of the movement and the executives (governors and chairmen) of the 109 Rotary administrative districts around the world. Five days of fellowship and discussion of common problems of Rotary program and administration, create a world point of view and an appreciation of a common objective, which bear fruit in subsequent relations.

In a number of large cities, particularly in the Orient, the Rotary club provides the only suitable opportunity for members of various national, racial and religious groups to come together for mutual understanding. The Rotary Club of Singapore, Straits Settlements with 27 nationalities represented in its membership and the Rotary Club of Lahore, India, with Hindus, Brahmans, Moslems and Europeans are examples.

The advancement of understanding through personal contact is fostered also by group visits from country to country, made by Rotarians and their families, by exchange of sons and daughters of Rotarians in the homes of their hosts, by individual attendance at Rotary club meetings by Rotarians traveling outside their respective countries and by entertaining foreign born students who are temporarily resident in the clubs' communities.

Inter-County Committees Important among the means developed for promoting international understanding are the growing number of inter-county committees. Begun by Rotarians from Germany and France who met at the first European regional conference at The Hague in 1930, the plan has spread to clubs near national boundaries of many European countries, and in adapted form to North and South America and Asia. Made up of a few Rotarians from each side of an international boundary an inter-county committee informally discusses questions which concern public opinion and governmental attitudes in their respective countries. By this exchange of ideas and by sending speakers to clubs across the boundaries, points of view are broadened and opportunities created for cooperation.

Prevention of international strife, according to Rotary policy, depends on the advancement of international understanding and good will. These are fostered by the personal contacts already described and by various plans of an educational character. While this education begins with members through club programs and suggested reading, it does not stop there.

Sponsorship of lectures, sometimes of courses or even institutes, encouragement of international studies in schools and colleges, additions to international bookshelves in public and school libraries, and promotion of correspondence between young people in different countries are some of the aspects of international service, as Rotarians term this phase of their program. One can only guess what is the total influence of these efforts, but the influence must be considerable.

Rotary Literature Among the educational media should be mentioned the literature of the movement. The official publications include two monthly magazines, "The Rotarian" in English, and "Revista Rotaria" in Spanish, and a series of pamphlets relating to various aspects of the program, published in about ten languages. Official publications of Rotary clubs in Great Britain and Ireland are "The Rotary Wheel", monthly, and "Service in Life and Work", quarterly. Unofficial, but significant are twenty-four other periodicals published in ten different languages by groups of clubs in contiguous territory.

Illustrative of the way Rotary ideals are disseminated through literature and appropriate as a conclusion to this article is the story of "Fu Lun She". It was told by Chengting T. Wang at the Atlantic City convention. Rotarian Wang, a member of the Shanghai club, has recently been named Chinese ambassador to the United States. For the past year he has served as district governor of the Rotary clubs in China, Hong Kong and the Philippine Islands. Since his graduation from Yale University he has served his people and his government in many capacities including the ministries of foreign affairs, finance and justice and as acting prime minister.

"We have in China," said Governor Wang, "a term exactly expressing the spirit of service, namely Fu Lun, which means when translated into the English language 'put your shoulder to the wheel and make it roll along'. So in Chinese, a Rotary club is called Fu Lun She, a society whose members are to put their shoulders to the wheel and make it roll along to serve humanity. Each of us must search his own heart and soul and ask himself: Do I know my neighbors and appreciate their good points? Am I living down my prejudices? Am I earnestly promoting good will among nations? Am I world-conscious and imbued with the spirit of internationalism?"

Thus has a fellowship of four in 1905 become a world fellowship in 1937. Thus are business and professional men building understanding and good will as an essential foundation for world peace.

Refinery Plant Now Operating

Commencement of deliveries of crude oil through contract arrangements with one of the large producers of Mid-continent crude enabled the Pentagon Refinery at Stark, six miles east of this city, to go on stream this week, with assurance of continuous operation, according to John N. Muirhead, managing director of the company.

Pipeline extensions have been completed to the company's plant which will provide for a daily intake of crude direct from Mid-continent fields, and the refinery will concentrate on the processing of this crude, he said. Production is expected to be stepped up to 2,000 barrels of throughput daily within the next 10 days, it was stated.

Originally designed for the handling of Michigan crude, the plant has been readjusted to the gravity scale of the better Mid-continent grades under the supervision of Don J. Balze, experienced refining engineer, who has been made superintendent. As the plant intends to produce a large volume of naphthas, the production schedules call for a gasoline cut of 25 per cent of 80-octane straight-run gas, which is blended to the premium 70-octane rating for the markets, it was announced.

In addition to gasoline and naphthas, the refinery is producing kerosene and the customary distillates and fuel oils. The Swannanoa tunnel under the crest of the Blue Ridge at Ridgecrest, N. C., is 1,910 feet long.

George Washington
There was a man by the name of George,
He is the man that stood at Valley Forge,
Tall, strong, and straight, stood he,
He fought the British from over the sea,
He fought the British with sword and gun,
It was not long before the war was won,
He has been praised by many a man,
For winning his people this wonderful land.

For eight years, he was our chief,
His refusal of a third term caused much grief,
It was not long before he came to his death,
A brave fighting man, to his last breath.

A black widow spider kept in a bottle at Beaumont, Texas proved its hardness. It lived nine weeks without food and during the time spun a web and hatched several score young spiders.

Girl Reserves Hear Conference Reports of Lansing Meeting

At their meeting last Thursday the senior Girl Reserves listened to very interesting reports of the annual midwinter conference, held in Lansing this year during the week-end of February 8, and attended by 300 Girl Reserves representing clubs from all over Michigan. Delegates from Plymouth were Patricia Cassidy, program chairman, and Margaret Bentley, secretary.

Upon their arrival in Lansing Friday evening, the girls reported at headquarters, the Y. W. C. A. building, where they played games to get acquainted and were assigned to their respective homes.

Saturday's program opened with a short worship service, in which every one participated. Mrs. Ashby, director of adult education at Ann Arbor, then spoke on the development of one's personality. She explained the four stages through which girls pass, calling them the doll age, the tomboy age, the age of puppy-love, and young womanhood. In order to be a truly all-around girl, she pointed out, one must develop equally her spiritual, mental, emotional, and physical natures.

Following this speech, the girls had a choice of six discussion groups to attend, which dealt with health, public affairs, boy and girl relations, in which Margaret participated; family relations, which Patricia attended; vocations, and religion. Later a panel discussion was held so that every one could become acquainted with the main points touched on in each group.

At noon the delegates enjoyed a luncheon at the Central Methodist church, at which expertiment was offered by a girls' trio from the Lansing School for the Blind.

During the afternoon students of Michigan State college conducted the girls on a tour of the campus, after which home economics students presented a fashion show of what the teen-aged girl should wear. There was also informal dancing at the Union, where student Y. W. C. A. workers acted as hostesses.

Saturday evening the entire delegation was entertained at a banquet in Peoples' church, where Royal G. Hall spoke on the famous youth hostels now so popular throughout Europe. He said the purpose of this movement, in which young people from all over the world tour the continent on bicycles, is threefold: first, to acquaint the travelers with every country they pass through; second, to develop within them a love of nature; and third, to promote the ideals of peace by knitting together the younger generation of the world. The general attitude in all the hostels, he said, is for abolishment of war.

Representatives from Battle Creek, Hillsdale, St. Clair, Allegan, and Detroit then gave short but clever skits on topics of current interest. Patricia took part in the one presented by Detroit girls.

The conference was brought to a close Sunday morning, at which time all the Girl Reserves attended services in the Central Methodist church. Plymouth's representatives appreciate the opportunity given them to attend the conference, for it brought them in contact with a group of girls seeking the finer things in life and led to the forming of many pleasant friendships.

CLASS NOTES

Miss Feigel's fifth hour American history class held a panel discussion last Thursday on the automobile strike. Jack Sessions, one of last year's graduates, talked to the students for a few minutes on his view of the situation, after which the panel took charge. In this way all of the student's gained a clear picture of what has been an important topic in current events.

Sapsuckers are not particular as to what tree they feed on, and about 250 species are subject to their attacks.

STRASEN'S BAND PLAYS TONIGHT

If you are wondering how you can have a good time tonight for only 25 cents, here is a solution. Come to the last senior dance of the year and enjoy an evening of fun. The seniors have engaged Strasen's popular six-piece orchestra to supply the music, and the dancing will be in progress from 8 to 11 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

PREPARATIONS FOR SPEECH CONTESTS UNDER WAY

Soon after the old calendars have been thrown away and the bright new ones hung in their places, all students who are interested in speech contests find themselves almost submerged in work.

Panel discussions are being held twice a week in Miss Waldorf's speech classes. The students are interested in extemporaneous speaking participate in them. The topics being discussed are Franklin D. Roosevelt and the Social Security act. Each person in the round table is assigned a magazine article; he discusses this for at least five and not over seven minutes. After each speech the pupils ask questions of each other. When the speakers have exhausted their questions, the discussion is turned over to the class.

Those who are writing orations are to deliver them in class on February 17, 19, and 22. The best will be selected to compete against orators outside the speech classes in a school contest to be held in March.

Declamation eliminations will soon be under way and will continue until the school representative is selected for the district contest to be held early in the spring.

STARKWEATHER NOTES

The kindergartners made Valentines. The afternoon group had a party.

Miss Rathburn's art class made silhouettes of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. They also made February booklets containing a calendar on which each person marks the days he is present and those he is absent, papers on each holiday, and a paper on the American flag.

Miss Parmalee's pupils made a Valentine box and enjoyed a Valentine party.

Miss Maunula's students are making a library in their room. The girls are making cloth covers for the chair backs and the boys are making from boxes the shelves which they will paint red. They made a Valentine box.

Miss Bock's pupils made a Valentine box and Valentines; some represented Chinese characters made from hearts. They also made Lincoln booklets. The 4A geography class made booklets about camels which they called "Ships of the Desert". The 5B geography class is planning a cowboy project.

Miss Stukes's pupils made Valentines, Valentine border for the blackboard, Valentine box, and enjoyed a surprise Valentine party. Bruce Ayer has joined forces with this ambitious group. Betty Didrick and Gene Schiffe have been absent because of illness.

Miss Stader's pupils have decorated the walls of their room with Valentines and shields which they made in art class. They made and exchanged Valentines last Friday; they were very fancy being decorated with hand cut paper lace. The 1A number one class has completed its Elson Reader I. The number class is enjoying its number work books. Miss Sparling's students drew names for Valentines; they made Valentines for those whose names they drew, the two best receiving prizes. They like their new teacher, Miss Benz. They have chosen committees to carry on the home room activities.

Plymouth Club Leads Ceremonial

The effectiveness with which the Plymouth Girl Reserves have managed their ceremonials has impressed the city Y. W. C. A. leaders and led to the request that they put on a service for the officers training conference held last Saturday at the "Y". Chairs for the 100 girls present, representing senior clubs throughout the Detroit district, were placed in the shape of two large triangles surrounded by a larger circle. The only light used was that of small candles held by all the girls, together with a large candle placed on a table in the center of the inner triangle. Barbara Hubbell acted as leader. Patricia Cassidy represented the modern girl, Phyllis Stewart and Jewel Starkweather read interpretations of the Girl Reserves' colors, blue and white; and Ireta McLeod led a prayer. Accompanying by Norma Jean Roe, a trio consisting of Florence Norton, Patricia Cassidy, and Jeannette Brown sang "Spirit of Light, I Would be True"; the Girl Reserve Code. The service ended as every one joined hands with the customary singing of "Follow the Gleam" and "Taps". The beauty and success of the ceremonial was brought about largely through the efforts of Miss Wells and Miss Fiegl, who helped the girls in its planning and presentation.

DOROTHY'S LITTLE FIG

"Wee, Wee," said the first little pig, but Tuffy said more than that. I won't repeat it, it wasn't very nice because Tuffy hated to leave the world so soon; he had become quite attached to Dorothy and the Rooster. Seeing that he was one of 16 little pigs born last summer, he wouldn't have been noticed if Dorothy hadn't admired his lovely pink and white complexion and seen possibilities for him. These were that some day he might weigh 120 pounds and collect $11.00. The sad day came not long ago. I wonder if Dorothy won't be a little regretful when she sinks her teeth into a tender, juicy pork roast that might be a piece of Tuffy, the pig that was—but then—there was $11.00.

Bob Hudson is quoted as saying, "Aw, I like ALL the girls". Whew! that statement overwhelms me. Right now one certain girl seems to be getting his attention—but for how long? Some of the Juniors need to be so snooty. After all, the Seniors had a formal party too!

ROSS AND EGLOFF WIN THE FREE THROW CONTEST IN A TIE

In the recent Free Throw tournament the boys that had high individual scores were Jack Ross and Orlan Egloff who each had 18 good tries, out of 25 allowed.

The next highest was John Dauter, an eighth grader, who made 17. For the number of baskets a team made there were two teams that were high each with the same score of 59. One of the two teams was composed of C. Felton, J. Birchall, L. Trinka, G. Kenyon and W. Rutherford, while the other was made up of Bill McAllister, B. Norman, D. Prough, B. Hitt and D. Wilkie. The boys who had the highest individual runs were Moe with 9 in a row while E. Holdsworth and J. Ross each made 8 in a row.

This is the second Free Throw tournament which has been held in Plymouth. This year's turn-out was much better than last year's. The tournament costs nothing to enter and it is good practice for those in it. There are prizes of small basketballs, the kind which are worn on the watch chain, awarded to the winners.

SCHOOL DAZE

Hank Worden is Dazier than ever. Why? Well, he gave Mary Louise (she's the apple of his eye, in fact, his every heartbeat) a ring for Christmas. When asked what kind of a ring (—you know, engagement or telephone or sumpin') Hank just smiled and said, "Oh, just a ring". But we know—er, do we?

Want to scare Marion Shoebright? Well, just mention nice fat angleworms to her. She'll probably do 35.5 miles an hour running away, or make Tarzan yell like you would deny it.

Patricia, Ellen, and Charlotte are starting all over again (with Wayne, I mean). Right now the Wayne boys are DELightful and the Plymouth boys DELirious. Get me?

My vote goes to Gordon Moe and Irene Ciesielski for the nicest couple. Gordon sure does know how to pick 'em. (I wonder about that Fordson J-Hop date, though.)

Bob Hudson is quoted as saying, "Aw, I like ALL the girls". Whew! that statement overwhelms me. Right now one certain girl seems to be getting his attention—but for how long? Some of the Juniors need to be so snooty. After all, the Seniors had a formal party too!

Ecorse Five Downed By Plymouth 35-25

RESERVES BREAK LOSING STREAK

Setting the right atmosphere for the senior team the Rock Reserves broke their losing streak by winning over the Ecorse seconds Friday, February 12, by the scant margin of two points.

In the first quarter both teams played rather loose ball and fumbling was prevalent on both teams. The Plymouth team warming to play, managed to improve, however, and the score at the half was 13-10.

Turning on the pressure in the final half the Rock team passed up their hosts and led by three points as the quarter ended. The Red and White crept up on the home town lads but holding on by a slim margin the Plymouth team came out of the tiff, the victor by two points. The final score was 20-22.

GAB ABOUT GAB

Something new and different in the way of sweaters and skirts have been seen around P. H. S. lately. Doris Buzard, Lois Schaufele, Doris Wiegand, Miss Kilham, Margaret Bentley and practically every body else are wearing sweater vests. Bernice Lawson and Shirley Sorenson were seen the other day wearing bright colored scarfs with their sweaters and skirts. Miss Fiegl has some clever shoes. They are patent leather on one side and gaberdeine on the other. When they are viewed from the side they look like anything but males.

When you see Veronica Marti, she is wearing wool dresses, and when you see her again she is wearing more wool dresses. She has a green one that is comparable only to Belya Barnes' rust dress with the lace collar. Betty Housley and Shirley Thatcher have gone Tyrolean on us, for both of them have several clever sweaters made in the latest Tyrolean style. Douglas Miller is very proud of his gay plaid suspenders which he is never seen without. He confidentially told us that they were a present from a girl. Betty Smith and Annabelle Brown were seen swinging around us in very clever skirts—colored bands around the bottom make the skirts very, very attractive. June Bakewell's sweaters are becoming the envy of all the gal's eyes. Although I doubt if it was the sweaters that so enraptured the heart of Bob Hudson.

Marvin Wilson was trying to start a new fad, we think. He came to school with nothing more nor less than a live chameleon pinned on his sweater. Ruth Ruediger inquired if it would grow up to be an alligator.

Patty Burton of Miss Weatherhead's room has gone to Florida. The third graders have started their study of primitive people. Vivien Anderson and Shirley Pahl have returned to school after illnesses.

Fletcher Campbell was a visitor of Miss Sly's room last week. The fourth graders have been studying the earth as a whole.

In geography the pupils of Miss Widmayer's room are crossing the Sahara desert and are making booklets and writing stories to illustrate their journey. In language they are learning the correct form of letter writing.

Last week in honor of Abraham Lincoln's birthday the children listened to stories and a poem about him and drew pictures illustrating his life. Last Friday Jerald Frisbie told the story of the origin of Valentine's day to the children. Shirley Hitt and Doris Gerhardt have been absent because of illness. Spelling teams for this semester have been chosen with Ralph Bachelord and Joan Gilles as captains. The A spellers for last week were Ralph Bachelord, Rosamund Bushy, Junior Davis, Barbara Dely, Richard Erdelyi, Gerald Frisbie, Betty Gerhardt, Richard Wall, Eva Wilson, Betty Elsworth, Beverly Files, Jimmy Gray, Tommy McGee, Lois Mienicke, Alice Stiele and Donna Williams.

Miss Carr's pupils made patriotic posters of Lincoln and Washington last week, and also made booklets about Lincoln. They had a test over the South Atlantic states and are ready to begin learning about the Middle Atlantic states. The 5A pupils have begun their work in the "Michigan History Story Books". The 5B spelling teams are being captained by Charles Burden and James Rotarius while Madeline Allen and John McClain captain the 5A teams.

The 6B students in Mr. Berdidge's room have made booklets about Abraham Lincoln, and the 6A pupils made theirs about Washington. With the aid of Miss Gallimore the students composed a song called "Famous February". They have made patriotic posters in 6A arithmetic the boys and girls are working on multiplication decimals.

Mrs. Holliday's students are making pictures of George Washington illustrating his part in the American Revolution.

REPRESENTATION OF PLYMOUTH LARGEST IN WAYNE CONFERENCE

Plymouth enjoyed the distinction of having the most teachers present at the Educational conference held in Wayne last Monday evening, February 8, for the city schools in the extreme western area of Wayne county, excluding Detroit. Other schools represented were Wayne, Romulus, Belleville, Northville, Redford and Garden City.

After the dinner a program in which all schools took part was presented. Miss Waldorf, as Plymouth's delegate, gave a reading entitled, "Encouragement", by Paul L. Dunbar.

The main address of the evening was delivered by Dr. Howard McClusky of the University of Michigan. Other noted speakers were Dr. Ford C. Fisher, superintendent of the schools of Wayne county, and Dr. Albert Phillips of the Michigan Education association.

Would Follow Sweden's Plan To Benefit Labor

Supt. Smith Says Strike Settlement Is Not a Settlement

There has been no settlement of the General Motors strike and the thing that is called a settlement in the mind of Supt. George Smith is strictly a "misnomer". In discussing the problem at some length a few days ago, he said that the desirable and temporarily pleasing as is the settlement (?) of the dispute on wages between capital and labor, the fiasco simply marks another splendid example in the temporary postponement of the fundamental dispute between capital and labor.

"The fact that labor may get an added dollar a day means absolutely nothing, because the amount which labor must have is dependent upon the prevailing price level and, while an additional dollar per day at our present price level means necessity and comfort (if they have continual employment) for labor, tomorrow with increased prices, due to the increased cost of production caused by giving labor this added wage, will again bring labor's share in the return of produced goods so low that another strike or peaceable adjustment will be absolutely necessary," he continued.

"If the price level for things necessary for living (cost of living) were fixed (as it is in Sweden) then when a reasonable wage was agreed upon between capital and labor, the only occasion for an adjustment would be that, if after a period of years, it was found that labor was getting not enough or too much in proportion to what capital, enterprise, and government were receiving, then it would be necessary to change by agreement, the wage ratio. This, however, would be much simpler than at the present time, because when a wage rate is being established, labor is always afraid that prices are going up and nullify his increase while capital is always afraid that prices are going down and make the increase to which it has agreed unreasonable and impossible.

"The other possibility would be to let the cost of living fluctuate, as it has done the past years, and base the rate of pay on the price level of today as 100% and agree that if prices made the cost of living rise, say 25%, then a joint commission of representatives of capital and labor would determine the wage right of increase from month to month. If prices were to decrease, say 25%, then the same commission could lower the wages relatively from month to month the same as it raised them when prices were rising. It would be desirable to have a period of fluctuation, either rising or falling off prices, say to the extent of 10% more or less as experience showed to be correct, in which no adjustment would be made, either by increasing or decreasing wages.

"Either of these two plans would solve the fundamental difficulty which keeps capital and labor continually at each other's throats, the principle being the relative part of produced goods which should be labor's share in the distribution of produced wealth. A settlement of this fundamental dispute would remove, to a very large degree, the cause for bitterness between two necessary factors in production—capital and labor."

Tame Goose Now Answers To Name

"Here, Jabe, come and get it," called William Reed of the Reed restaurant on Starkweather avenue the other day as he stood at his back door.

David Galin of the Purly market happened to be standing near the well known north side restauranter when he made the call.

Dave looked about, saw no one and turned to "Bill" to ask if he was calling him.

"You know my name is Dave, don't you, Bill?"

"Sure I do. I'm not calling you. I'm calling that goose that you sold me along about Thanksgiving time to carve up for dinner," answered Bill.

"Honk, honk," came the response from around the corner of the building.

Then Jabe came waddling into sight.

The big goose came up to where the two were standing and rubbed its long neck against Restauranter Reed's leg.

"You know, Dave, when I started to cut off the head of that goose the day before Thanksgiving, he looked at me in such a longing way I just couldn't go through with it. Then he 'honked' a couple of times, and that ended it. I took his head off the block and turned him free out in the backyard and he has seemed so grateful since, that he'll do almost anything for me. I call him 'Jabe' and when he hears his name he'll come waddling up to me just about as fast as he can get to me. There's one more, Dave, that's going to live 'us' as long as he wants to, and he's one fellow that will never cut his head off," said Mr. Reed.

Angove Urges Aid For Cripples

Executive Secretary Percy Angove of the Michigan Crippled Children's society, while in Plymouth on a brief visit a few days ago declared that the rural and smaller urban areas of the state, and a few larger cities, have not made adequate provision for the education of crippled children. The annual report of the division of special education, Department of Public Instruction, for 1935-36, he stated, revealed the same facts.

The report pertains to special classes for crippled, blind or partially sighted, deaf or hard of hearing and epileptic children in public schools of the state.

Facts concerning crippled children revealed in the report are:

1. There were 2,115 pupils enrolled in 27 orthopedic schools or classes in Michigan, during the school year in 25 cities, 89 orthopedic teachers and 25 physiotherapists.

2. There was one new orthopedic class started in September, 1936 at Escanaba. During the time covered by the report, a class for crippled children was organized at Wyandotte.

An increase in enrollment of 176 children in the orthopedic classes in Michigan in 1935-36 over the preceding year is shown.

The present Special Education act which provides state aid to school districts maintaining orthopedic classes for crippled children, must be amended in order that children residing outside of urban centers, where such classes are maintained, may be afforded the opportunity to attend such classes; this will mean making provision for transportation and maintenance costs, also tuition.

In some cases, it will not be necessary for crippled children to be enrolled in a special class in another school district, but provision must be made for transportation to their own school and for special equipment. Others, due to the nature of physical impairment, cannot attend school. For these children, private tutoring in the home must be provided.

Phone Business Reflects Progress

Improvement in general conditions during 1936 was reflected in the telephone business with the result that the Michigan Bell Telephone company made substantial progress toward recovery from the depression, according to the annual report to stockholders, submitted by George M. Welch, president, at the annual meeting in Detroit Thursday, February 11.

Total net earnings of the company before deducting interest and dividends, were $10,100,000 in 1936, or 5.6% on the cost of the plant and other assets. Total operating revenues were $36,656,000, with total operating expenses of $22,377,000. Operating earnings after payment of taxes were $9,947,000, and other earnings were $153,000. Taxes amounted to $4,332,000, requiring 11.8% of the gross revenue, or $7.14 per telephone in service. At the end of 1936 total assets of the company were $186,894,000.

Net gain of telephones during the year was 60,647, compared with 32,763 in 1935, bringing the number of telephones in service at the end of 1936 up to 594,502, which was 96,000 short of the peak reached in May, 1930.

Business telephones at the end of the year were back to 95% of the peak development, compared with 82% for residence telephones. The average daily number of local calls during the year was 2,835,000, an increase of 11.6% over 1935. Total number of long distance calls was 23,918,200, an increase of 19%.

Telephone service never was better than in 1936, the report says, and "Michigan has, in common with the rest of this nation, the best telephone service in the world." Overseas circuits were extended to a number of points, so that now telephone service is available from any point in Michigan to most of the civilized world.

At the end of the year the plant investment was $178,077,000. At many points the company has sufficient margin of plant to care for anticipated increase of business, but at other points the margin in certain classes of plant is shrinking rapidly, requiring new construction. The report anticipates that 1937 will call for gross construction amounting to $16,552,000, or $5,216,000 more than was expended in 1936.

An additional $15,000,000 of common stock was issued in September, bringing the amount outstanding to $125,000,000. A like amount of notes was retired.

For the first time in a quarter century the company was freed from all rate litigation when, in July, it accepted an order of the Michigan Public Utilities commission calling for a widespread reduction of telephone rates. During the year, also, the company established a reduced night rate on person-to-person long distance calls and a reduced Sunday rate, equal to the night rates, on both station-to-station and person-to-person long distance calls. The discounted night and Sunday rates were made effective on Christmas and New Year's days. Late in the year the company also announced another substantial reduction in interstate long distance rates, to become effective January 15, 1937.

Since the establishment in 1920 of the Theodore N. Vail Memorial fund, 55 Vail medals have been awarded for outstanding public service to employees of the company, and six to employees of smaller connecting companies in Michigan, the report says. During 1936, medals were awarded to two employees of the Michigan Bell Telephone company at Grand Rapids, for saving life, and one to an employee of the Tri-County Telephone company at South Haven, for prompt action which resulted in saving life. In addition, four other employees of the Michigan Bell were cited by the Vail Medal Committee of Award for unusual acts of public service.

Daisy Holds On To First Place

The Daisy team still maintains its lead in the Community Basketball league, although the loss of one game might easily change the results.

There were several oddities in the games last week. In three games the losers had 20 points and the winners not over 20 points. The most fouls called in any one game was 27, the high before was 22 which was in the girls' division. Schrader's have won three games and lost two where they made the same number of field goals as their opponents. Wilkie's have won two games with four players. Daisy (boys) have made 115 points in the last two games. Hi-Speed's victory over Daisy put them out in front by one-half of a game while Daisy boys are also only one-half of a game ahead of their closest rival. Hi-Speed, Daisy and R. & W. have all qualified for the play-offs. Blunk's or Schrader's still have a chance of keeping Wilson out of the play-offs and win a place for themselves. Two more games remain in the regular schedule for each team, except the four teams having a postponed game to play.

Following are the standings and results:

Daisy	9	2	.818
Wilkie	8	2	.800

Judge Dayton Tells of Lincoln

Municipal Judge John Dayton provided members of the Rotary club and their guests with considerable information about Abraham Lincoln at the meeting Friday club members had never before heard. The occasion was the annual observance of Lincoln's birthday by the club.

Lincoln's interesting career from the time of his youthful struggles, and down through his entire successful career was reviewed by Judge Dayton. Incidents in connection with various events of his life were interestingly told. Judge Dayton displayed a very detailed knowledge of Lincoln's career.

AT YOUR SERVICE

FIFTY YEARS ago the telephone in Michigan was a laboratory curiosity. Today it is the instrument of a tremendously valuable and widespread public service.

This development represents the practical working out of the vision of the telephone pioneers. Their avowed goal was — the best possible service at the lowest cost — consistent with financial safety. For half a century that policy has guided the telephone's every improvement and expansion; it was behind all the many reductions in rates.

And that far-sighted policy applies just as strictly today as it did two generations ago.

Plymouth Wins Fast One From Northville

Last Minute Rally Puts Game On Ice For Rocks

In front of the largest crowd to witness a basketball game this year, Plymouth won the last half of the annual Northville-Plymouth basketball classic 30 to 36. Although the home team won, it was quite evident that the team wasn't at its best. And it is the opinion of the writer that the reason for this was the lack of team work which was shown earlier in the season.

At the beginning of the game and through all of the first half it showed signs of being a very dull contest. Although Northville drew first blood by sinking a free shot, Plymouth was far in the lead at the end of the half. The score stood 9-22.

Though the players could not see Dick Dunlop's classy band-leading during the rest between halves, they must have felt the new enthusiasms of the crowd for the rest of the game was very fast, rough, and tumble. In the third quarter, Westphal and Turnbull stood out from the others, each doing some fast playing. At the close of this quarter Plymouth's lead had been reduced to six points. The last quarter was by far the roughest and most exciting part of the whole game. The quarter was half gone, Plymouth had called time out, the score was 30 to 33 in Plymouth's favor. It was during the last few minutes of play that the Plymouth boys showed any real team work. The contest ended with the score 30 to 36 with the home team the victors once more.

The Plymouth second team

edged out the Northville reserves in a close game on Tuesday night. Plymouth got off to a bad start in the first quarter, sinking only two free throws while Northville sank two field goals. The quarter was featured by some rather careless playing on both sides, although the score stayed low.

The Rocks came back in the second quarter with a spurt that practically clinched the game. They tied the score in the first few seconds and forged on until the score stood 12-5 for Plymouth. Several decisions of the referee were disputed by both teams. The play was at fever pitch during the whole period, but the tide had turned and Plymouth rode upon it. Northville made only one point more before the half ended, a free shot by Hardesty.

The last half began and Rockwell made a sensational goal for the wrong team. This quarter was quite fast according to the other two quarters. Northville held the ball most of the while and their passing completely fooled our second team.

The Northville coach must have set a bomb off under his players between quarters because they came back and really played heads-up basketball. They had the ball in their possession most of the time and made scores enough to creep up and threaten to take the game away from Plymouth. Plymouth then settled down and held their lead until after the whistle had blown at the end of the game. The final score was 20-19 with Plymouth on the heavy end.

Between the halves of the Northville - Plymouth basketball classic the spectators were presented with a novel display of the Rock band under the able directorship of Mr. Evans. The band first formed a basketball which was very hard to break and was met with much approval by the crowd. They next formed letters P and N between the forming of which Richard Dunlop, the new freshman drum major, gave the crowd a very good exhibition on the science of baton twirling.

MRS. PETER SCARPULLA

Guldner-Culver Wedding Is Today

The marriage of Thelma Beatrice Guldner, daughter of Mr. Julia Guldner, of this city, and Howard E. Culver, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Culver, also of Plymouth, will take place at 7 o'clock this (Friday) evening in the St. Peter's Lutheran church of Plymouth, the Rev. Edgar Hoenecke, pastor, performing the ceremony. James Westfall, of Ann Arbor, will play Lohengren's Wedding March, while the wedding party takes its place, amid palms, ferns and tall baskets of roses.

The bride will wear a lovely gown of white satin, with stand-up collar and yoke of lace, long sleeves and veil. Her bouquet will be lilies of the valley and roses. The maid-of-honor, Mrs. Esch, will wear a light blue gown with jacket and carry a small bouquet of sweet peas and roses. The bride's other attendants will be Mrs. Albert Killeit, who will wear peach bonnet, trimmed in blue and Mrs. Walter Meinicke, who will wear a gown of light blue lace. Each will carry sweet peas and roses.

Melvin Michael will be best man and the ushers will be Albert Killeit and Charles Schmidt. Mrs. Guldner, the bride's mother, will wear black velvet trimmed in silver and Mrs. Culver, mother of the bridegroom, will wear a gown of blue crepe, with lace trim. Each will have a corsage of sweet peas and roses. Guests will be present from Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Detroit and Plymouth.

Following the ceremony a reception will be held at the home of the bride's mother at 558 North Harvey street, with 24 invited guests.

The bride and bridegroom will leave immediately after the reception on a short northern wedding trip and will be at home to their friends later at 1033 West Ann Arbor trail. For her going away costume Miss Guldner has chosen a sport suit of grey with matching accessories of grey. Their many friends in and around Plymouth extend best wishes to them for a long, happy wedded life.

Plymouth Falls To Strike Epidemic

The tool makers refused to join the strike and plan to keep on working. With the pay checks of some 350 Daisy workers stopped, Plymouth business men are hoping for an early adjustment of the strike that came to the community out of a clear sky.

Two other local concerns have also had temporary upsets during the present week. First came the Plymouth Felt Products company when its workers asked for a raise. This was granted. Then the employees of the Plymouth Stamping company threatened to strike Wednesday but Manager Albert Curry is confined to his home because of illness and Mrs. Curry who has been managing the business for him temporarily adjusted the matter pending the recovery of Mr. Curry. The men kept on working at the stamping plant, and they are also working at the Felts Products plant.

Hobbins-Wingard Vows Solemnized

The marriage of Ruth Hobbins, daughter of Mrs. Irwin Hobbins, and Edwin Wingard, son of Mrs. Vivian Wingard, was solemnized, Monday evening, February 1, in the manse of the Methodist Episcopal church, with Rev. P. Ray Norton, performing the ceremony. Only the bride's sister, Dorothy Hobbins, Madelyn Blunk and Donald Potter were present. They are residing in the Hamill apartments on Starkweather avenue.

On Wednesday evening Madelyn Blunk and Annabell Brown were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower, with Valentine decorations, in honor of Mrs. Wingard, the bride, the party being held at the home of Miss Blunk on Penniman avenue. The guests enjoyed playing bunco after which delicious refreshments were served. The guest of honor then had the privilege of opening several beautifully wrapped gifts which were lovely and useful. Those present were Mrs. Irwin Hobbins, Mrs. Frank Seiting, Mrs. Vivian Wingard, Mrs. Mary Wingard, Mrs. Norman Potter, Dorothy Hobbins, Shirley Thatcher, Althea Shoemaker, Genevieve Pinkerton, Helen Hargrove, Betty Korb, Jean Hood, Norma Coffin, Mrs. H.
