COURAGE.

The published statement made a few days ago by Henry Ford that he would not close his plants down in case an effort was made to call a strike and that he would keep his factories going even though he had but one man left to help do the work, has removed a fear that has prevailed in this locality for several weeks. With the Ford plants closed down probably no place in Michigan would suffer more than western Wayne county, where he has half a dozen small factories employing from 50 to 300 or 400 men.

The statement not only has removed a fear, but it has aroused a determined spirit on the part of Ford workers to fight for their jobs if they have to.

"No one is going to tell me that I can't work as long as my job is there," one Ford worker told the writer after the statement came out. "Every man where I work feels that way about it, too," he added.

Probably Mr. Ford when he made that statement didn't realize the tremendous beneficial effect it would have on this part of Michigan, but nothing could have been stated which would have given his employees a more fighting determination to keep their jobs irrespective of outside influences than the interview he gave to newspapers last Saturday. It follows:

"I have heard reports that I said we would shut down for three years, if necessary, in the event of a strike," Ford said in an interview at his winter home down in Georgia. "Well, that's not true. We are not going to shut down. We intend to keep operating to the last man. We'll stand by our position."

Ford said there had been no labor trouble in his widely scattered plants, but said he had experienced some difficulty with his source of supplies.

"The only object of a strike in any of our plants," he said, "would be an effort to make us shut down. We don't intend to do that."

"The International Financiers, who are really back of these strikes, have plenty to do besides trying to control industry. Let them create a proper distribution system that will be based on what each country produces. That would keep them engaged."

"The whole object of the strikes is to kill competition, and we are about the only competition that financiers have at this time."

"They'll not get anywhere while I'm alive in their efforts to make us shut down."

Ford's statement was the first he has made this year about his probable policy should a strike occur in the Ford Motor Co.

"About three years ago," Ford related, "we had a little strike on our assembly line in our Chester, Pa., plant. The men just walked out."

"Edsel, my son, and I were talking about it at the table. I said, as long as they have walked out, just let them stay out. We stopped operating the assembly line for a time, but the other activities in the plant continued."

"The strike leaders then formed a cavalcade and started toward our New York plant in an effort to start a strike there. Their idea then, as it is now, was to get us to shut down, but we didn't shut down."

GET OUT AND VOTE.

Election day is near at hand. Generally the spring election has always been regarded as one of not great importance. But every election is important. In the city of Plymouth we are to elect

Faithful Dog Searches Daily For Its Master Confined In Eloise Hospital With a Broken Back

John Covo Seriously Injured When Tree Falls On Him

While John Covo, 73 years old, a resident of South Harvey street, lies over in Eloise hospital recovering from a broken back, his faithful dog that has followed him about the streets of Plymouth for years, goes to the Covo home from six to a dozen times a day in a vain search for his master. Jesse Hake, who is taking care of the dog during the time his aged owner is in the hospital, says that the dog returns to the Hake home immediately after each visit to its own home.

Covo's back was broken last Tuesday while he was cutting wood on shares on the Hake place on Plymouth road. Mr.

Murphy Takes Best Jobs For His Own Friends

Patronage Battle Sure To Follow Election On April Fifth

(By Elton E. Eaton)

LANSING—There is one sure bet you can make and win. Bet with any one you can get to take the money that within ten days after the forthcoming spring election, there is going to be one grand "blow-up" in Lansing. It may take place before election, but that is not so sure as the prospects of a royal crack-up right after the election.

Democratic leaders around the legislature are doing all there is within their power to prevent the explosion before the election. They will probably be able to do so, but not so after election.

The chief cause for it is the patronage question. So far, practically all patronage, all the good jobs, have gone to Governor Murphy's personal friends and supporters. He has made the selections without consulting those who have carried the brunt of the battles for Democracy in past years or asking their recommendations in the selections.

As a matter of fact, the Governor has had practically nothing to do with the leaders of his party in the legislature. A very great number have never had the opportunity to discuss with him or his immediate representatives any of the problems confronting the state. He has spent less time in Lansing than any Governor the state ever had and during the few hours he has been here, he has maintained an attitude of aloofness that has created the impression that he does not care to be bothered by any one except those that he desires to have within his immediate circle.

Two Florida vacations and strike conferences have taken practically all of his time since election so the legislature is proceeding without him—headed directly for the Governor's front door with one of the biggest party fights Democracy has ever had. It will be after election.

The legislature waited for the Governor for some two months. Waited for the state leadership he promised. There comes a time when any one gets tired of waiting, so the house members and the senate started to work. The result has been considerable accomplishment during the past two weeks and there is going to be lots of it within the next month or so. First came the passage by the house of the revised old age pension law.

The bill would do away with the seizure of the homes of aged people who are forced to apply for assistance to the state, lowering the age limit from 70 years to 65 years. It was passed by the house without a single vote against it. The bill is now in the senate with fair prospects for its passage there.

Talk about making the lieutenant governor a member of the state administrative board has attracted attention to the individual occupying that office. Leo Nowicki is fairly well known in Plymouth. He went out of his way while drain commissioner of Wayne county to help remedy the Tongush creek sewage problem of this city. In state affairs he endeavors to be just as helpful as he was in this local problem in Plymouth. He has the respect of both Democrats and Republicans

Hake some time ago bought a small acreage on the Harry Robinson farm and Covo was cutting some of the old apple trees on shares. Apparently the tree did not fall in the direction that Covo had expected it would, and he walked directly in its path. It crushed him to the ground and his back was broken.

He was rushed to Eloise hospital in the Schrader ambulance and doctors placed him in a cast, declaring that the injury was of such a nature that he would probably recover.

Meanwhile both Covo's dog and his horse are being taken care of by Mr. Hake. When Mr. Hake was over to the hospital this week, Mr. Covo advised him that he would be glad to sell the horse as he will probably be in the hospital for two or three months.

Bicycle Rider Hit By Auto, Dies In Hospital

Eight Year Old Wm. Foreman Victim Of Accident

Youthful schoolmates carried the body of little eight-year-old William Foreman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Foreman, who reside on the Seven Mile road, just west of Beck road, to his grave in Thayer cemetery Monday afternoon.

The young lad, while riding his bicycle along the side of the paving on the road near his home last Wednesday, was hit by an automobile and so badly injured that he died late last Friday at a Michigan hospital at Ann Arbor. When thrown from the bicycle, his skull was fractured and he never regained consciousness. He was first taken to Sessions hospital, then to Ann Arbor, where he died.

The car that hit him was being driven by Fred Heidt of South Lyons, who says that the accident was unavoidable.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon from the Methodist church in Northville and was largely attended. The boy was a grandson of Fred Foreman, well known fruit grower of the Northville vicinity.

Banquet For 4-H Club Members

The first banquet since 1926 or 1927 was held jointly by the home economics girls and the agriculture boys in the high school auditorium at 6:30 Tuesday evening, March 23, with the students and their parents as guests. The distinguished guests were Miss Margaret Eckert, Wayne county 4-H club leader, Miss Dubord, Wayne county Home Demonstration agent, Miss Drenan from the Girls' Vocational school at Detroit, Branson A. Walpole, former professor of agricultural education at Michigan State college, and Rev. Walter Nichol. The banquet was prepared by the high school home economics girls under the direction of Miss Lundin, and was served by an eighth grade home economics class, under the direction of Miss Grey. Money to finance this was obtained by selling tickets for 35 cents each.

An interesting program of which Weltha Selle was chairman and David Hale, toastmaster was planned. It included the invocation by Rev. Walter Nichol; dinner music by Carol Campbell; community singing, led by Betty Knowler; an accordion solo by Joseph Schultz, an address by Miss Drenan; a vocal solo by Jessica Goebel; a guitar solo by Earl Lyke; an address by Branson A. Walpole; and a piano solo by Ruth Drews.

Dr. Brick Champe Is In Hospital

Dr. Brick Champe was taken to Harper hospital Monday seriously ill with a throat infection. He has been suffering with the flu for a number of days but his condition was of such a nature Sunday that his attending physician thought best to have him given hospital attention.

Condition Continues To Improve

Mrs. Arthur Kreeger, who is confined to her home following the amputation of one leg, continues to improve in a most favorable way. While it was stated by friends that the injury which caused the loss of the limb was due to a fall received in a basketball game, Mrs. Kreeger states that she is not just sure how the original bruise was received. "It might even have been caused by a bump against a chair," she said, "or in some other way, but I'm not just sure how it did start."

Scully Given His Old Position

He Becomes Field Representative For Sales Tax Dept

Plymouth residents will be pleased to know that Edward Scully has been returned to his old position as field representative for the state tax administration board for this part of Wayne county and that he has already assumed the position he lost two years ago when Frank Fitzgerald became governor.

Mr. Scully, since that time, has been associated with both the state highway department and the WPA administration in Lansing. His new position will make it possible for him to work out entirely in this part of the state. He won many friends for himself and the department before by the courteous and willing services always given.

He is thoroughly familiar with sales tax work as he went into the department when it was first organized and remained there until about two years ago. Mr. Scully was one of the few original Roosevelt men in western Wayne county and has been active in Democratic circles since that time.

Plans For Homes Offered Free

Beginning in next week's issue of The Plymouth Mail, there will be published a series of 12 house plans, with complete floor plans and exterior views that are to be provided by the Plymouth Lumber & Coal company. Manager Charles H. Mather has arranged for the series and in connection with their publication, he is offering to prospective home builders in Plymouth a most advantageous way of securing house plans without cost.

In case the material is purchased from the Plymouth Lumber & Coal company for one of the 12 houses to be shown, Mr. Mather will provide the complete plans and specifications free to the builder. The blue prints show every detail and the specifications will provide the exact costs as they prevail in Plymouth.

The offer is a most attractive one and will save the prospective builder considerable money. The series will start in next week's paper.

Allison Show Well Attended

Everybody had a good time last Friday night at the open house party and motion picture show, sponsored by Ernest J. Allison, Chevrolet dealer, at his showrooms and service station on North Main street.

The pictures were beautiful, featuring "A Coach For Cinderella" in technicolor, and others, showing the "Golden Gate" bridge at San Francisco, which spans the entrance to San Francisco bay; it being the longest single span bridge in the world. Also San Francisco's other great white bridge—the "Transbay" which connects with Oakland. It cost the lives of 34 in the construction of these two wonderful bridges.

These pictures also demonstrated the great strength of the bridge-span box girder frames used in the construction of the two bridges. These box girder frames are also used to support airplane wings and are also used on all Chevrolet cars and trucks. The "Quints" furnished music on their harmonicas, guitar and washboard.

Mr. Allison closed the entertainment thanking all and assuring them of another such treat later on.

Churches Plan Special Music For Easter Services

Pastors Expect Record Attendance—All Cordially Welcomed

All Plymouth churches have arranged special Easter services for Sunday, with musical programs of unusual merit. Pastors and church workers have worked diligently during the past two or three weeks to provide services of an unusual kind for Sunday and their efforts are going to be rewarded with a record attendance on one of the outstanding religious occasions of all the year. Announcements on the church page carry the service details in full.

Easter was originally dated to suit the convenience of pilgrims who needed moonlight in their annual treks to resurrection festivities.

Footsore and weary, they plodded both day and night to reach sacred shrines for this observance. Hence it was decided that Easter shall fall on the Sunday following the first Paschal full moon after March 21. The occasion may therefore vary over a period of 35 days—from March 22 to April 25.

Lent, great period of fasting in Christian churches, grew from a 40-hour to a 40-day ritual as it came down through the ages. While most Christians commemorate Good Friday as the day of the Crucifixion, Mohammedans also celebrate it as the day of Adam's creation. Among ancient Germans, this date was sacred to the goddess-mother, wife of Odin.

The association of Easter Sunday with the arrival of spring arises from a coincidence. The day occurs almost simultaneously with the ancient heathen Roman celebration of the vernal equinox.

Many customs have grown up around the Easter observance. In England, figs are always eaten on Palm Sunday to commemorate Zachaeus, the publican, who being "little of stature," climbed into a tree to see Jesus pass by the way through Jericho.

Easter eggs and "bunnies" are traditional among American children at this season of the year. In Germany, spring lambs are sold for the Easter feast.

George A. Smith Seriously Ill

George A. Smith, superintendent of the Plymouth public schools who underwent an operation for mastoid last Monday morning in Harper hospital in Detroit, remains in a serious condition. Attending physicians state that he has shown some slight improvement and they hope that it will continue.

When Mr. Smith recently returned from a trip to New Orleans where he had gone to attend the annual convention of the National Educational association, he was confined to his bed because of an attack of influenza. He was not feeling the best when he went South and he thought that possibly the trip to New Orleans might be of assistance to him, as well as giving him some rest from his school duties.

Upon reaching New Orleans, he went to his hotel room and remained there until able to return home. An infection from the influenza attack developed in one of his ears soon after his return and his condition became so serious that attending physicians decided that an operation was necessary.

Mrs. William Sheppard, 953 Carl avenue, announces the marriage of her daughter, Lillian Williams to Danny Carpenter of Dearborn, which took place October 10, 1936 at La Grange, Indiana. The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson of this city.

Openings For Local Boys in CMT Camps

There are openings for three Plymouth boys who desire to enter the Citizens' Military Training camp at Camp Custer this summer, according to Captain Murray O'Neill, 1090 Williams street, of the reserve forces. No one under 17 years of age will be admitted to the camp. Mr. O'Neill will be glad to provide such information as any applicant might desire. Those who have been at one of these training camps at Camp Custer, say it is an ideal way to spend a vacation and secure excellent physical training.

Skates With Sonja Henie

Miss Phyllis Rotnour On Champion's Program

It is not often that an amateur skater has the opportunity to appear nightly on the program with the world's most famed skater, but such was the good fortune of Miss Phyllis Rotnour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Rotnour of this city.

Three different times each night Miss Rotnour skated on various program numbers with Sonja Henie, three times winner of Olympic skating contests and regarded as the most famous ice skater of all times, during the appearance of the European skater at the Olympia in Detroit last week.

Miss Rotnour, a graduate of the Plymouth high school a year ago, has won considerable distinction in Detroit and vicinity during the past three years as a fancy skater and she has at many times skated at the Olympia in various events.

But it was an outstanding honor when she received the invitation to be one of the small group of prominent Detroit skaters to take part on the program with Sonja Henie.

Miss Rotnour states that the famous skater is one of the most delightful personalities she ever met and that the evenings spent with her during the Detroit appearance will never be forgotten.

Sleet And Snow Storm Hits State

Plymouth, as well as the entire southern half of the state of Michigan Wednesday and Thursday experienced one of the worst sleet and snow storms of the entire winter. Rain and snow which began falling about noon Wednesday quickly froze to the paving and by night automobile traffic had been slowed down to a snail's pace.

Wednesday evening additional rain and sleet made the going more difficult than it had been during the afternoon.

Thursday morning came with a snowstorm covering the top of the ice. Only those who found it necessary to use the highways ventured out in their cars.

While some minor accidents were reported and many slipped off the sides of the paving, as far as known, there were no serious accidents.

Annual Meeting Of Woman's Club April 16

The annual meeting and luncheon of the Woman's club will be held at the Mayflower hotel on Friday, April 16. Following the election of officers and the presentation of reports, Mrs. W. T. Pettigill, chairman of the day, and her committee assistants, have arranged a most interesting program.

Mrs. Earl Kenyon is ill with flu at her home on West Ann Arbor trail.

Daughter Sees Mother, Mrs. Henry Dempsey, Hit By Freight Train—Injuries Cause Her Death

The Candidates

These are the six candidates for election to the city commission at the annual city election to be held Monday, April 5, the terms of three commissioners expiring this spring:

Arthur Blunk
Ford Brooks
Carlton Lewis
George Robinson
L. E. Wilson
Warren Worth.

Commissioners Blunk, Robinson and Wilson are present members. Ford Brooks, Carlton Lewis and Warren Worth are the three new candidates in the field.

All Stores Close Three Hours Today

All Plymouth stores and business places will be closed today, Friday, between the hours of 12 o'clock and 3 o'clock because of Good Friday, Secretary Leonard T. Murphy of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday. He had made inquiry of all the merchants and other business places, and they advised him to this effect.

Light Expert Is Club Speaker

The Woman's club of Plymouth met Friday afternoon, March 19, at the Hotel Mayflower. A regular business meeting was held and a nominating committee was selected to appoint the officers for the new year. The nominating committee members are: Mrs. Maude Bennett, Miss Mabel Spicer and Mrs. Frank Coward.

The chairman pro-tem for the day introduced the speaker, who was Mrs. Marquita Dygert of the Detroit Edison company. Mrs. Dygert gave an interesting talk on the "Science of Lighting in the Home," presenting slides to thoroughly illustrate her topic.

The next meeting will be Friday, April 2 and is to be Safety Day with Professor Roger L. Morrison of the University of Michigan as the speaker. Mrs. Edward Eckert is chairman and music will be furnished by Mrs. Sterling Eaton.

Famed Chorus For Sunrise Service

For the sunrise Easter morning services at St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church, Rev. Edgar Hoenecke announces that he has secured the famous Northwestern College chorus of which he was at one time a member, and they will provide the musical numbers.

The services will begin at 6:00 o'clock Sunday morning. The visit of the chorus to Plymouth is of especial interest in view of the fact that it was organized nearly 75 years ago and for the past 40 years has been under the direction of Prof. K. Bolle. This is the first time the organization has ever left the state of Wisconsin.

Most of the singers are boys between the ages of 18 and 23. There are 42 in the chorus. They will come to Plymouth from Saginaw Saturday afternoon and will be guests of members of the Lutheran congregation during their stay in this city.

Northwestern college is one of the oldest colleges in Wisconsin. It is located at Watertown and was founded in 1865 by Northwestern University.

Schrader Block Repaired—Store Opens

Repairs have been completed on the Schrader block on Penniman avenue, badly damaged by fire about a month ago, and the D & C store has announced that it will again open for business this week-end. New floors were laid and the entire interior of the basement and first floor were entirely rebuilt. New plate glass windows have been installed and later the front of the building will be repaired.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Vesly spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ira Miller, in Metamora.

Walks From Back Of One Train Directly In Front Of Another

Mrs. Henry Dempsey, 44 years of age, residing at 486 Hamilton street, was hit late Monday afternoon by a Pere Marquette freight locomotive and so badly injured that she died a short time later from her injuries.

Her daughter, Mrs. Anna Louise Huber, waiting on the south side of the tracks for the train to pass, saw her mother walk directly from in back of the caboose of one train into the path of the oncoming freight.

She had waited while her mother had gone to the office of the Plymouth Lumber & Coal company to collect some money—and when the crushed body of Mrs. Dempsey was taken from under the train, the cash was still tightly clasped in her hand. The daughter saw the big locomotive just as it hit her mother. She screamed and ran towards the track. Mrs. Dempsey had been thrown under the engine and her body was rolled down the track some 30 or 40 feet from the sidewalk.

She had waited for the north-bound freight to clear the crossing. Apparently, without looking after the last car had passed, she started to cross and she walked directly in front of the oncoming southbound freight. The speed of the train was slow.

A brakeman standing on the caboose of the freight saw the accident. He immediately signaled another trainman on the southbound freight, and the engine was brought to a stop almost immediately.

Herbert Stoddard of Toledo was the engineer and Frank Norton of the same city the conductor.

The accident was also witnessed by Arthur Merryfield, who resides at 184 Caster avenue. He stood in the doorway of the Plymouth Lumber & Coal company office. He told officers that Mrs. Dempsey, apparently in her haste to cross the tracks, never looked to see if there might be another train coming on the other tracks.

The Schrader ambulance was called and she was hurried to Plymouth hospital but her injuries were of such a serious nature that she died shortly after admittance, but retaining full consciousness to the end.

Her death leaves without a mother, six children, four boys who are at home with their father, who is employed by John McLaren; and two older children, Mrs. Huber, and Wesley Asch, children by a previous marriage.

Her maiden name was Cora Parks and most of her life had been spent in this locality. She was born in Novi. Her first husband, George Asch, died in 1918 and while residing in Tawas City she married Mr. Dempsey. They have lived in Plymouth for a number of years. The funeral was held from the Schrader funeral home Thursday afternoon.

Announce Bird House Contest

Boy Scouts, get busy! Dr. Brick Champe, chairman of the boys work committee of the Rotary club, even though he is confined by illness in a hospital, hasn't overlooked the fact that this is the time of the year when the Rotarians conduct their annual bird house contest. He has always had the job of looking after the details, and he is doing it even though the doctors are keeping him confined to a hospital.

Rotarians will again offer cash prizes for the best bird houses made by Scouts and submitted before April 30.

There are three cash prizes. But the amounts, where to enter the bird houses after they are finished and other information will be provided you in next week's issue of The Plymouth Mail. Dr. Champe has not felt like working out all these details, but he will do so by next week.

All he wants you to do now is get busy and start your bird houses. You not only stand a chance of winning a good cash prize, but the bird houses will be returned to you after they have been exhibited in a downtown store.

Obituary

MRS. JESSIE C. RATTENBURY
Mrs. Jessie C. Rattenbury passed away at her home, 338 W. Ann Arbor Trail, early Sunday morning, March 21, after a long illness, at the age of 70 years. She was the widow of the late John Rattenbury, and mother of Mrs. Minnie Austin of Lincoln Park, Michigan; Mrs. Josephine Croft of Wixom, Michigan; Mrs. Marletta Scheel of South Lyons, Michigan; and Mrs. Eene Burke of Plymouth; and the late Harry J. Rattenbury, who was killed in action during the World War. She is also survived by eleven grandchildren; eight great grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Theresa Weed of Plymouth and Mrs. Melvina Joy of Newburg. The body was brought to the Schrader Funeral Home, from which place funeral services were held Wednesday, March 24 at 2 p.m. Two beautiful hymns were rendered by Mrs. J. T. Chapman, Mrs. M. J. Gift of Rice to South Carolina
South Carolina progressed little up to 1693. About that time, a sea captain from the Far East presented the governor of the colony with a bag of rice. The rice was raised as an experiment, and in time, the state became the largest rice-producing and rice-exporting state in the Union.

Others Go Up and Up and Up

Readers of outside papers sent to Plymouth for distribution have been advised that the prices of all daily newspapers for this section had gone up 3 cents per week. That means that readers of outside daily newspapers will pay $1.56 per year MORE for their newspapers than they pay now. No one disputes the fact that the advance is probably necessary and that Plymouth has got to pay its share towards helping support these big Detroit publications.

But!

The price of The Plymouth Mail (your newspaper) is still only $1.50 per year. It is the same price you paid a quarter of a century ago. It is the same price you paid ten and 15 years ago. The price of Michigan's best weekly newspaper has never varied. Year in and year out it has been the same.

We Ask Your Help

In our effort to keep the price of The Plymouth Mail at $1.50 per year, we urge the prompt payment of all subscriptions. Our readers have been good about paying. Some have been slow due to forgetfulness or other reasons that prevented prompt payments.

It Is a Pleasure

To emphasize the fact that you can still purchase The Plymouth Mail, Michigan's best weekly newspaper, for $1.50 per year.

If you are not now a regular reader, subscribe NOW. Remember it is only $1.50 per year.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McGowen announce the arrival of a six and three-quarters pound baby girl, born March 17, at University hospital, Ann Arbor. She has been named Patricia Ann. Both mother and babe are doing well.

Mrs. Fredricka Lickfeldt returned to her home in Prescott last Sunday after spending the winter months at the home of her son, Willard and family.

The Wayne County Pomona grange will meet at Belleville, Saturday, April 3.

Mrs. Ernest Thrall and son, Donald, plan to leave today on a vacation trip to Williamsburg and Richmond, Virginia, and Washington, D. C. Donald, who is a student at the Michigan State college at Lansing, arrived home Thursday.

Mary Isabel Mettetal, former local high school graduate was recently placed on the honor roll at Michigan State college where she is now a student. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Mettetal.

Mrs. Gerald Simmons, who has been ill in the Toledo, Ohio, hospital, expects to go to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Schmidt, in that city, this week. Her many friends in and around Plymouth hope that she will soon be able to return to her home here.

The Get-Together club met at Beyer's hall, Thursday evening, March 18, with 29 members present. Mrs. Walter Kielschmidt, Mrs. Arch Herrick, Mrs. Nelson Taylor, and Mrs. Elmer Perkins acted as hostesses for the evening. A private dance will be given by the club at the Grange hall on Saturday evening, March 27, at 8:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Blyton and family were called to London, Ontario, the latter part of last week by the death of her mother, Mrs. W. G. Coombes, which occurred on Friday. Mrs. Coombes was 85 years of age. The funeral was held in London, Monday, with burial taking place in Brussels, Ontario. Miss Hazel Coombes, sister of Mrs. Blyton, accompanied them to Plymouth for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lodge, Mill street, have returned from a motor trip through the South. They visited relatives in Chillicothe, Ohio, and on through the flood regions of Portsmouth and along the Ohio river. They stated that it was difficult for one to realize how terrific had been the damage from the flood. But notwithstanding this, the farmers along the river are now plowing their lands and getting ready to plant crops. They said flowers were in bloom everywhere down in southern Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Draper attended the 25th wedding anniversary celebration of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Relyea, in Detroit, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Herrick spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Harris in Detroit.

public instruction who is up for election. Mr. Elliott has given the tax payers one of the best administrations the state ever had in his department and he should be re-elected. The present state highway commissioner, who has been most energetic in the expansion of his department, is opposed by Former Deputy Highway Commissioner Ziegler, long regarded as one of the best engineers and highway officials in the state. The highway department has grown from a branch of the government employing a mere few hundred employees to one employing nearly 5,000 office holders. So this has been an exceedingly important position. It has millions to spend—and the millions come from your pockets. So it is IMPORTANT that you vote on April 5.

NO PORT FOR THE SHIP.

It begins to look as though the big ship Michigan is being run by a captain without chart or compass. The grand, shaggy-browed generalissimo who spent three happy years among the brown-skinned, sun-loving, easy-going peoples of the Far East, living in the lap of luxury provided by the taxpayers seems to be dreaming of the happy days spent in palaces and on yachts beyond the Pacific. Certainly since Boss Farley turned over to him the compass and charts for the ship of Michigan his thoughts have not been of the craft he is trying to run. He doesn't seem to know where the pilot house is located. If he is heading for a port somewhere, his chart doesn't show it. Meanwhile, as the big ship is floundering about in the waters of the Great Lakes with its captain far away from his compass, charts and crew, vermin is gnawing at the vitals of the craft and it is already beginning to fill with water. As in all other disasters, the unfortunate part of the whole business is the fact that some five millions of passengers on the craft are going to be carried down in a catastrophe over which they seemingly have no control.

Wilson Team Out Of Finals

The speedy Wilson basketball team of the Community League has been eliminated by the Daisy from the final play-off. For two years the Wilson team has won the cup and its elimination last week was one of the big upsets of the finals.

Chevrolet defeated Wilkie by a very close score 21-20.

Monday, March 29, Chevrolet will play the winner of last night's game between Daisy and Wilkie. And R. & W. will play Daisy if any more games are necessary and will be played Tuesday, March 30.

The basketball banquet will be held in the high school Thursday, April 8, at 6:30 p.m. Tickets may be obtained from any of the players.

three members of the city commission. That is important, exceedingly important. Plymouth right now is facing the biggest industrial expansion the city has ever enjoyed. In the townships we are to elect township officers. That, too, is important because good township officers can do a world of good to help the people of their townships. Fortunately in this part of Wayne county we have for years been blessed with pretty good township officers in all nearby townships. We are to elect two members of the state supreme court. The Republicans have nominated two justices who have given the state outstanding service as judges. There is the superior part of have easy sailing on its way to becoming a law.

Well, folks, if you want to know whether that old wooden Indian that in the years ago stood out in front of the tobacco store in your home town was a Mohican or a Soo Indian, if you want to know whether the paint on his face was war paint or just common every day house paint, all you have to do is consult an "index" that some 70 or more "federal art project" workers are going to compile for you. Yes sir, that's just one way the hard earned dollars that come out of your pockets is being spent by the state and federal governments—and it tells the story of why your taxes are so high and are going to go higher. The other day the state WPA director, (who draws a nice big fat salary paid by you) gave to the newspaper correspondents an item which said that "the federal art project" director was going to send some workers over to Greenfield Village to "make permanent records of clear stone Indians" and American toys in Henry Ford's collection. They are even going to index "a privately owned Ford and Judy set, complete with properties for the play, has been loaned to the institute in order that it may be recorded by WPA workers". But why worry? That's just part of the "New Deal" program for Michigan.

Don McGowan, who has spent all the years of his youthful life as a newspaper writer, a few days ago announced his resignation as a member of the staff of The Detroit News, to take a position as public relations director with The Consumers Power company. This position was formerly held by A. B. Tinkham, another prominent Michigan newspaper writer who died a few months ago after an illness of several months. Mr. McGowan has been in charge of the Lansing bureau of The News for many years. During that time he has won for himself the admiration and respect of every one state affairs, and it is not at all surprising that one of his standing and ability should be selected for the responsible place he is assuming. With an acquaintance that extends considerably over a quarter of a century with most newspaper men who have handled state affairs for the metropolitan papers of Michigan, some of these years spent in actual service and direct contact with them, it can be said without fear of contradiction that Michigan has, without doubt, one of the outstanding groups of news writers in the country handling state affairs. They are men of the highest integrity. Often the writer has not been over-enthusiastic about the way some of the news stories were handled back in the years gone by, but nevertheless, that was a matter of personal opinion and judgment and not one that involved questionable motives. The Consumers Power company is to be congratulated for the selection it has made.

A preacher and one lone woman representative in the house of representatives voted in favor of a bill which, if passed by the senate and signed by the governor, will permit dog racing within this state. The bill had divided support from both Democrats and Republicans. As one observes the trend of political events these days, it is not surprising to find that a dog racing bill can be passed in Michigan. Those in a position to know say it will meet stronger opposition in the senate.

There has been a growing feeling during the past few days that the civil service bill is doomed to failure. There is a peculiar thing about this fact. The house committee which has had possession of the bill for many weeks is controlled by Governor Murphy's supporters. The Governor is strong in his public statements that he favors civil service. Maybe. But a legislative committee that he can, and DOES control, is keeping the bill from going before the house of representatives.

This unusual situation is com-

and all regard him as a high type official. In fact, many in his own party say that Michigan would be far better off if by chance the Governor should be given a Washington position and Mr. Nowicki became governor. He is likable, progressive, clean and is quickly gaining an excellent knowledge of state affairs. Such a change would cause no regret in Lansing. And a very delightful part of it is that Lieutenant Governor Nowicki is not ashamed of his name and has never made an effort to have it changed, which all goes to prove that an outstanding citizen does not have to sacrifice his family heritage to win a high place in American public life.

There is a bill on its way through the legislature which, if finally passed and signed by the Governor, will bring relief to delinquent taxpayers. It takes off the unfair and uncalled for penalties that were mandatory in the Moore-Holbeck law. There are many in and around Plymouth who will be provided considerable relief under this bill. It cancels all penalties if the 1936 taxes are paid and will make it possible for the property owner to divide his tax delinquency payments over a period of ten years. It is believed that the bill will parable to his campaign statements about his determination to end the slot machine racket in Michigan as soon as he became Governor. It seems that the slot machines have jingled louder than ever the first of the year.

There has been a suggestion now and then during the past few days that the Governor may have in mind the calling of a number of extra sessions during the fall and winter. They say that by that time he may have a clearer idea of what the problems of the state are than he has at the present time and will be able to discuss them in the leisurely way of a Filipino.

Mrs. Gerald Simmons, who has been ill in the Toledo, Ohio, hospital, expects to go to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Schmidt, in that city, this week. Her many friends in and around Plymouth hope that she will soon be able to return to her home here.

The Get-Together club met at Beyer's hall, Thursday evening, March 18, with 29 members present. Mrs. Walter Kleinschmidt, Mrs. Arch Herrick, Mrs. Nelson Taylor, and Mrs. Elmer Perkins acted as hostesses for the evening. A private dance will be given by the club at the Grange hall on Saturday evening, March 27, at 8:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Blyton and family were called to London, Ontario, the latter part of last week by the death of her mother, Mrs. W. G. Coombes, which occurred on Friday. Mrs. Coombes was 85 years of age. The funeral was held in London, Monday, with burial taking place in Brussels, Ontario. Miss Hazel Coombes, sister of Mrs. Blyton, accompanied them to Plymouth for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lodge, Mill street, have returned from a motor trip through the South. They visited relatives in Chillicothe, Ohio, and on through the flood regions of Portsmouth and along the Ohio river. They stated that it was difficult for one to realize how terrific had been the damage from the flood. But notwithstanding this, the farmers along the river are now plowing their lands and getting ready to plant crops. They said flowers were in bloom everywhere down in southern Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Draper attended the 25th wedding anniversary celebration of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Relyea, in Detroit, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Herrick spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Harris in Detroit.

Wilson Team Out Of Finals

The speedy Wilson basketball team of the Community League has been eliminated by the Daisy from the final play-off. For two years the Wilson team has won the cup and its elimination last week was one of the big upsets of the finals.

Chevrolet defeated Wilkie by a very close score 21-20.

Monday, March 29, Chevrolet will play the winner of last night's game between Daisy and Wilkie. And R. & W. will play Daisy if any more games are necessary and will be played Tuesday, March 30.

The basketball banquet will be held in the high school Thursday, April 8, at 6:30 p.m. Tickets may be obtained from any of the players.

three members of the city commission. That is important, exceedingly important. Plymouth right now is facing the biggest industrial expansion the city has ever enjoyed. In the townships we are to elect township officers. That, too, is important because good township officers can do a world of good to help the people of their townships. Fortunately in this part of Wayne county we have for years been blessed with pretty good township officers in all nearby townships. We are to elect two members of the state supreme court. The Republicans have nominated two justices who have given the state outstanding service as judges. There is the superlativeness of public instruction who is up for election. Mr. Elliott has given the tax payers one of the best administrations the state ever had in his department and he should be re-elected. The present state highway commissioner, who has been most energetic in the expansion of his department, is opposed by Former Deputy Highway Commissioner Ziegler, long regarded as one of the best engineers and highway officials in the state. The highway department has grown from a branch of the government employing a mere few hundred employes to one employing nearly 5,000 office holders. So this has been an exceedingly important position. It has millions to spend—and the millions come from your pockets. So it is IMPORTANT that you vote on April 5.

NO PORT FOR THE SHIP.

It begins to look as though the big ship Michigan is being run by a captain without chart or compass. The grand, shaggy-browed generalissimo who spent three happy years among the brown-skinned, sun-loving, easy-going peoples of the Far East, living in the lap of luxury provided by the taxpayers seems to be dreaming of the happy days spent in palaces and on yachts beyond the Pacific. Certainly since Boss Farley turned over to him the compass and charts for the ship of Michigan his thoughts have not been of the craft he is trying to run. He doesn't seem to know where the pilot house is located. If he is heading for a port somewhere, his chart doesn't show it. Meanwhile, as the big ship is floundering about in the waters of the Great Lakes with its captain far away from his compass, charts and crew, vermin is gnawing at the vitals of the craft and it is already beginning to fill with water. As in all other disasters, the unfortunate part of the whole business is the fact that some five millions of passengers on the craft are going to be carried down in a catastrophe over which they seemingly have no control.

Murphy Takes Best Jobs

and all regard him as a high type official. In fact, many in his own party say that Michigan would be far better off if by chance the Governor should be given a Washington position and Mr. Nowicki became governor. He is likable, progressive, clean and is quickly gaining an excellent knowledge of state affairs. Such a change would cause no regret in Lansing. And a very delightful part of it is that Lieutenant Governor Nowicki is not ashamed of his name and has never made an effort to have it changed, which all goes to prove that an outstanding citizen does not have to sacrifice his family heritage to win a high place in American public life.

There is a bill on its way through the legislature which, if finally passed and signed by the Governor, will bring relief to delinquent taxpayers. It takes off the unfair and uncalled for penalties that were mandatory in the Moore-Holbeck law. There are many in and around Plymouth who will be provided considerable relief under this bill. It cancels all penalties if the 1936 taxes are paid and will make it possible for the property owner to divide his tax delinquency payments over a period of ten years. It is believed that the bill will have easy sailing on its way to becoming a law.

Well, folks, if you want to know whether that old wooden Indian that in the years ago stood out in front of the tobacco store in your home town was a Mohican or a Soo Indian, if you want to know whether the paint on his face was war paint or just common every day house paint, all you have to do is consult an "index" that some 70 or more "federal art project" workers are going to compile for you. Yes sir, that's just one way the hard earned dollars that come out of your pockets is being spent by the state and federal governments—and it tells the story of why your taxes are so high and are going to go higher. The other day the state WPA director, (who draws a nice big fat salary paid by you) gave to the newspaper correspondents an item which said that "the federal art project" director was going to send some workers over to Greenfield Village to "make permanent records of cigar store Indians" and American toys in Henry Ford's collection. They are even going to index "a privately owned Punch and Judy set, complete with properties for the play, has been loaned to the institute in order that it may be recorded by WPA workers". But why worry? That's just part of the "New Deal" program for Michigan.

Don McGowan, who has spent all the years of his youthful life as a newspaper writer, a few days ago announced his resignation as a member of the staff of The Detroit News, to take a position as public relations director with The Consumers Power company. This position was formerly held by A. B. Tinkham, another prominent Michigan newspaper writer who died a few months ago after an illness of several months. Mr. McGowan has been in charge of the Lansing bureau of The News for many years. During that time he has won for himself the admiration and respect of every one who has been associated with state affairs, and it is not at all surprising that one of his standing and ability should be selected for the responsible place he is assuming. With an acquaintance that extends considerably over a quarter of a century with most newspaper men who have handled state affairs for the metropolitan papers of Michigan, some of these years spent in actual service and direct contact with them, it can be said without fear of contradiction that Michigan has, without doubt, one of the outstanding groups of news writers in the country handling state affairs. They are men of the highest integrity. Often the writer has not been over-enthusiastic about the way some of the news stories were handled back in the years gone by, but nevertheless, that was a matter of personal opinion and judgment and not one that involved questionable motives. The Consumers Power company is to be congratulated for the selection it has made.

A preacher and one lone newspaper representative in the house of representatives voted in favor of a bill which, if passed by the senate and signed by the governor, will permit dog racing within this state. The bill had divided support from both Democrats and Republicans. As one observes the trend of political events these days, it is not surprising to find that a dog racing bill can be passed in Michigan. Those in a position to know say it will meet stronger opposition in the senate.

There has been a growing feeling during the past few days that the civil service bill is doomed to failure. There is a peculiar thing about this fact. The house committee which has had possession of the bill for many weeks is controlled by Governor Murphy's supporters. The Governor is strong in his public statements that he favors civil service. Maybe. But a legislative committee that he can, and DOES control, is keeping the bill from going before the house of representatives.

This unusual situation is comparable to his campaign statements about his determination to end the slot machine racket in Michigan as soon as he became Governor. It seems that the slot machines have jingled louder than ever the first of the year.

Livonia Center School News

There has been a suggestion now and then during the past few days that the Governor may have in mind the calling of a number of extra sessions during the fall and winter. They say that by that time he may have a clearer idea of what the problems of the state are than he has at the present time and will be able to discuss them in the leisurely way of a Filipino.

The 4-H boys and girls who received honor certificates for their work this year are as follows: Helen Flack, Agnes North, Tom Venns, Ellis Magee, Richard Skoglund, Allen Owens, Ralph Graham, and Robert Cort. We wish to congratulate Ralph Graham, the president of our Citizenship club. He has been chosen alternate health champion in the county. Four health champions were chosen.

Robert and William Kurtz are back in school after being quarantined for scarlet fever.

Phyllis M. Hawkins won the school championship in the spelling bee held March 24. Joyce Magee was runner-up. The winning word was "treacherous".

The Scouts are taking advantage of the beautiful spring weather and enjoying some dandy hikes. This is the time of the year when the boys begin to appreciate the "outing" part of "Scouting".

The Cubs, too, are enjoying the season. The Spike Horn Den went hiking last Saturday and had a delicious supper cooked over an open fire. Cub Young dropped his meal in the swamp but he ate it anyway and enjoyed it.

Den Chief Dean of the Oriole Den informs us that most of his Cubs are finished "Braidors" and if anybody wants that kind of work done he has experts.

John McClain and Junior Russell have completed the work necessary for their Bear Badges. All parents and friends of the Cubs are urged to attend the Pack meeting which will be held on April 2.

Parents and friends of all the Scouts should keep in mind that the district is holding a non-competitive demonstration April 7, and hold this date open for that affair.

Say, fellows! Do you want to read some real Scout news? If so, just turn to the "25 years ago" column in this issue of the paper.

Half the unhappiness in the world is due to the failure of plans which were never reasonable and often impossible.

Twin Brothers Marry Twin Sisters

A double romance was consummated in Washington, D. C., recently, when Philip and Neno Bellante, twin brothers, married Fanny and Frances Bridget, twin sisters. Luncheon Well Attended

The spring luncheon given Tuesday in the Masonic temple by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church, was a decided success, with covers being laid for over 150.

Mrs. Walter Nichol greeted the guests in her usual charming manner and then turned the program over to its chairman, Mrs. L. I. Daniels. The program was as follows: Two delightful duets by Mrs. Maxwell Moon and Mrs. William McAllister, "O That We Two Were Maying", by Nevin; and "Underneath the Trees" by Newton, with piano accompaniment by Miss Hanna Strasen; a most interesting talk by Miss Aloysia McLoughlin on her recent visit to Norway, Sweden and Finland. Miss McLoughlin, who is principal of the Sturgis schools, kept the interest of her audience with her wit and her unusual description of the three countries, their customs, manner of living, and their hospitality. The program closed with two numbers by the girls double quartette of the Plymouth high school, a Swedish folk song, "Spring", and "My Johann", by Grieg, with Carol Campbell accompanying on the piano. Miss Campbell also played very delightfully during the luncheon.

The luncheon tables with their lovely bowls of spring flowers, snapdragons in the pastel shades, pussy willows and ferns, gave the affair a most springlike atmosphere.

The committee in charge with Mrs. Melburn G. Partridge as chairman of the dining room and Mrs. William Kaiser, chairman of the kitchen, may feel well repaid for their efforts.

Tonquish Creek Nonsense

(Not to be read.)

The Ancient Order of Tonquish Creekers have a new problem on their hands. This is the most serious of all and some of the cooler heads have not yet hit upon a way to solve the problem.

It seems that when Charles Finlan came back from Florida he had an idea. That idea was made it stick, so all residents interested in the "sewer creek" named in honor of old Chief Tonquish are now members of The Ancient Order of Tonquish Creekers, whether they want to be or not.

The other day Russell Powell and his bride came back to town from a Florida wedding trip. The newly married young man has now injected the suffrage issue into the society and he is urging that the Tonquish Creekers perfect a sort of ladies' auxiliary. No one except a young married man, says pioneer Creeker Stanley Corbett, would think of such a thing.

But the auxiliary question has started a big rumpus and it begins to look as though now that the picnic planned for next Fourth of July on the brink of the creek may not take place. At any rate there can be no discussion of it until the Powell auxiliary question is settled.

Official Spokesman Clair Maiben for the Mayflower family

table branch of the Creekers is greatly worried over the turn of events. He is fearful that it might have a disastrous effect upon the future expansion program he has in mind for the society. At the next meeting of the Creekers some effort will be made to iron out the problem.

Old Salem Case Is Revised

Counsel for the township of Salem filed a motion last Wednesday in circuit court at Ann Arbor asking that the decision of Judge George W. Sample setting aside a judgment of $437.28 granted the township against Glenn C. Burnham, former township treasurer, be cancelled.

The court, earlier in the week, had set aside an earlier judgment based on the report of Circuit Court Commissioner Joseph C. Hooper, to whom the case had been referred by both parties when it was determined too many figures were involved for accurate handling by a jury.

Thus another chapter was written in a proceedings that has been in the courts for nearly four years and at one time reached the state Supreme Court. The case dates back to the spring of 1933, when Salem township brought suit against Glenn C. Burnham and his wife, Ruth Burnham, for funds allegedly misappropriated during the terms of Mr. and Mrs. Burnham as township treasurer. Mr. Burnham served in that office from April 10, 1929, to May 14, 1931, and his wife from the latter date to April 16, 1932.

In September, 1934, a judgment based on the report of the circuit court commissioner was awarded the township against the two defendants. The judgment against Mr. Burnham was for $437.28 and against his wife for $2,667.22. Attorneys for the plaintiff at that time were Carl H. Stuhberg, Jacob F. Fahrner and Louis E. Burke. The Burnhams were represented by Attorney C. A. Reading of Ann Arbor. Judge Sample heard arguments on the motion to set aside the 1934 judgment February 16, this year, and his decision was announced Friday. He held that exceptions should have been settled before the circuit court commissioner for certification to circuit court.

For more than two years Mr. Burnham has been prevented from leaving Washtenaw county under an injunction effective until the case was settled.

Salem township residents have watched the case with interest, and two factions have resulted. The suit has had political repercussions on more than on occasion in that area.

Attorney C. A. Reading of Ann Arbor and Walter Nelson of Detroit are representing Mr. Burnham, and Jacob F. Fahrner is acting for the township.

Winter Weather Was Near Normal Here

Michigan's moisture supply this spring is calculated at above normal, according to weather bureau reports based on winter rains and snows. Michigan is in an area which has received between 100 and 150 per cent of the normal precipitation. Winter temperatures have been sliding up and down, but government calculations indicate that Michigan had a winter not very far from normal. Temperatures for the entire winter ranged from normal to an average of 4 degrees warmer than normal in this state. December was warmer than usual. January saw thermometer mercury columns getting plenty of exercise, while February was not far from normal.

Ziegler Is World War Veteran

Charles M. Ziegler, Republican candidate for state highway commissioner, was born in Ligonier, Indiana, 48 years ago and came to Michigan when nine years old. He was educated in the public schools of Saginaw and was graduated from the University of Michigan Engineering school in 1913.

His first employment after graduation was with the Ann Arbor Railroad in the division engineer's department. He left there to take charge of the construction and maintenance of pavements for the city of Saginaw. In 1918 he joined the aviation department of the United States government as a civilian engineer of tests and materials at Dayton, Ohio.

After the war he was made division engineer of the state highway department by Commissioner Frank F. Rogers, serving at Cadillac, Kalamazoo, Detroit, Lansing, and Saginaw. He was later placed in charge of all construction work.

In 1931 he was advanced to Deputy Commissioner under Commissioner Grover C. Dillman and served in that capacity until the change of administration, July 1, 1933.

Mr. Ziegler is married and the father of three children. His home is in Lansing.

Fishing Soon To Be Thing Of Past

Michigan's commercial fishing industry on the Great Lakes faces certain extermination if continued at its present intensity and under present regulations, declared Dr. John Van Oosten, in charge of Great Lakes investigations for the United States Bureau of Fisheries.

The remedy of conditions, he believes, is to reduce the intensity of fishing and subject all operations to regulations that are uniform for each of the Great Lakes.

The greatest single obstacle to that is the present divided control and regulation of the industry and the fisheries supply among the eight lake states. Van Oosten fears that unless all these states get together and agree on a uniform code of regulations, such as mesh sizes, minimum legal fish limits and open seasons, the commercial fish supply in the Great Lakes soon will be depleted.

As an example of present conditions, Van Oosten says that one state may have a closed season and be protecting baby fish of a certain species and at the same time its neighboring state will have an open season on that species and permit its fishermen to catch and market legally the young or immature fish.

New Books At Plymouth Library

The following new books that boys and girls are bound to enjoy, have been received at the Plymouth library and are now ready for distribution:

"Roller Skates", by Ruth Sawyer. For one never-to-be-forgotten year Lucinda Wyman (ten years old) was free to explore New York on roller skates. She made friends with Patrick Gilligan and his handsome cab, with Policeman McGonegal, with the fruit vendor, Vittore Coppicco and his son Tony, and with many others. A zestful book of a warm, rich personality to delight old and young.

"A Dog at His Heel", by Charles J. Finger. A fine, vigorous story of two men, Long Charlie and Bill, who valued each other and their dogs and shared thrilling experiences in sheep driving in West Australia and South America.

"The Codfish Musket", by Agnes Hewes. The "Columbia" has carried sea-otter pelts from the Northwest to Canton, China, and has returned with full cargoes from the East. An absorbing well-written story.

"Scalp Hunters", by Hubert V. Coryell. A thrillingly tense tale of grim Indian warfare in the days of the early Maine settlers.

"Afke's Ten", by Ninke Van Hichtum. The everyday doings of a sturdy family of young Frisians—ten growing youngsters, their mischievous pranks and short-lived mishaps. The story has no plot but gives an unforgettable picture of jolly home life in Holland.

"Little Tim and the Brave Sea Captain", by Edward Ardizzone. A book after a boy's own heart. Five year old Tim longed to be a sailor and one day stowed away on a steamer.

"What to Do About Molly", by Marjorie Ffleck. A picture book for children of four to seven.

"Boss of the Ragged O", by Norma Mansfield. A lively Western for older girls. There is an element of mystery which adds to the entertainment.

Low Oven Heat Is Best For Roast

Juicy roasts showing the least amount of shrinkage out of an oven after a constant but comparatively low temperature.

Oven tests recently conducted in kitchens at Michigan State college refute the old supposition that the heat must be juggled during meat roasting in order to sear and then roast at high temperature.

Recommendations are simple, says Miss Alberta Young, instructor in foods at the college. A constant low temperature of 300 degrees Fahrenheit for the entire period in the oven did a far superior job than was evidenced in a similar piece of meat that was given a 450 degree roasting.

The two roasts were practically identical before they went into the oven. One weighed 10 pounds, 2 ounces, received the 450 degree treatment until a scientific meat thermometer pronounced it done in 2 hours, 54 minutes. It came out of the oven weighing 7 pounds and 5 ounces, a roasting loss of 2 pounds and 13 ounces.

The other roast weighed 10 pounds and one ounce but lost only 1 pound and 2 ounces in roasting three hours. The first roast lost 27 per cent of its weight, the second only 11 per cent.

Additional pointers suggested by Miss Young include preparation of the meat for the oven. Roasts should be cleaned with a damp cloth and placed on a rack in a roaster with the fat side up. None should be covered except a roast of veal, and no water need be added.

Trout Season To Open April 24

The working man will have 20 Sundays and a holiday to spend on his favorite northern streams during the four and a half months trout fishing season which opens Saturday, April 24.

There will be more if the official observation of two holidays, which fall on Sunday this year, is extended to Monday, Memorial day, May 30, and the Fourth of July, both come on a Sunday this year.

Although much dissatisfaction was evident last season over the opening date of trout fishing there seems slight possibility of a change this spring. The season opens, as provided by law, on the last Saturday in April. Any changes would have to be made by the legislature and would have to be given immediate effect.

Should the season be changed back to May 1 or later, authorities point out, it doubtless would result in much confusion since the fishing law digests for 1937 specify April 24 as the opening date and many non-residents have planned trips into Michigan for that date. A change also would create a law enforcement problem, since many doubtless would insist on opening the season April 24 according to the fish-law digests.

IMPROVING MICHIGAN ROADSIDES IV. WHAT OTHERS THINK

From actual studies detailed previously it readily becomes apparent Michigan has much to do in the matter of roadside improvement besides carry on the program of landscaping now started.

Michigan has a great opportunity. Nature has endowed the state with lakes and rivers and a variety of farming, fruit growing, all interesting. The state has established 67 state parks in all parts of the state to save locations of particular beauty. These parks are genuine playgrounds for the people and are connected by an excellent system of highways.

But perhaps Governor James R. Rolph Jr. of California can state the need for roadside improvement more clearly. Governor Rolph said: "The values which accrue in California from enjoyment of scenery and the accompanying benefit of outdoor recreation are beyond calculation in terms of money. Millions are spent each year to improve the highways of the state. More millions are used both commercially and privately to develop recreational areas. Such sums however are small indeed when compared to the ready opportunity open to each citizen and each visitor within our borders to revel in the delight of eye and mind offered by an endless variety of scenery or to relax in peace and quiet at a favored beauty spot."

Governor Rolph apprises "California is the motorists' paradise and failure, then, to develop the full possibilities of her roadsides would be a serious mistake. A far-sighted policy of beautification will encourage travel and help our people in the enjoyment of life."

Under such crystalline thinking the state set out to "Work together to make our California highways the most beautiful and safest in the United States." What is true in California is true in Michigan. The American Automobile Association has placed itself on record.

"As advocating effective roadside development and control in the interest of promoting travel and increasing safety on the highways of the nation.

"We endeavor to stimulate national state and local legislation for more effective control of roadsides."

The National Safety Council declares, "Instances are too common where billboards obstruct the view. It is now clear that the legislature has the power of regulation of billboards and signs and that such power is not an impairment of private and individual constitutional rights."

The safety council recommends that "a united effort be made to secure adequate restraining legislation in all of the states giving some department therein control over rural advertising signs."

Other national organizations actively supporting the move to regulate roadside advertising so it will not get beyond all bounds are: American Planning and Civic Association; General Federation of Women's Clubs; League of Women Voters; National Highway Association; National Conference on State Parks; Woman's National Farm and Garden Association; National Council of State Garden Club Federations; American Society of Landscape Architects; American Federation of Arts; American Institute of Architects; American Nature Association; American Society and Historic Preservation Society.

One hundred and fifty-eight national advertisers have announced their policy of refraining from roadside advertising but the list of offenders, local, state and national still is large.

Next read about queer conditions in Michigan.

EDITORS NOTE: This is the fourth of a series of articles prepared by the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan.

County Leads In Soil Building

The "Save the Soils" meetings held at Plymouth, Wayne, Belleville, New Boston and Flat Rock brought out the fact that Wayne county leads the state in the amount of fertilizer applied per acre on the crop land. It is ninety and one-half pounds per acre on the crop land.

It was also brought out that Wayne county has about 4,500 acres of alfalfa, but should have 11,000 acres to meet the needs of livestock and good farming practices. There are about 11,500 acres of oats but the farmers of Wayne county need only 1000 acres for feed requirements in a well planned farm program.

One ton of average manure contains about as much available plant food as one bag of average fertilizer and the plant food in it is just as soluble. Thus indicating that barnyard manure ought to be as well protected from the weather as the fertilizer bought.

Ready — If Disaster Strikes

"The message must get through." Again this spirit guided the telephone companies and telephone people during the recent heavy floods. Again emergency found the Bell System prepared.

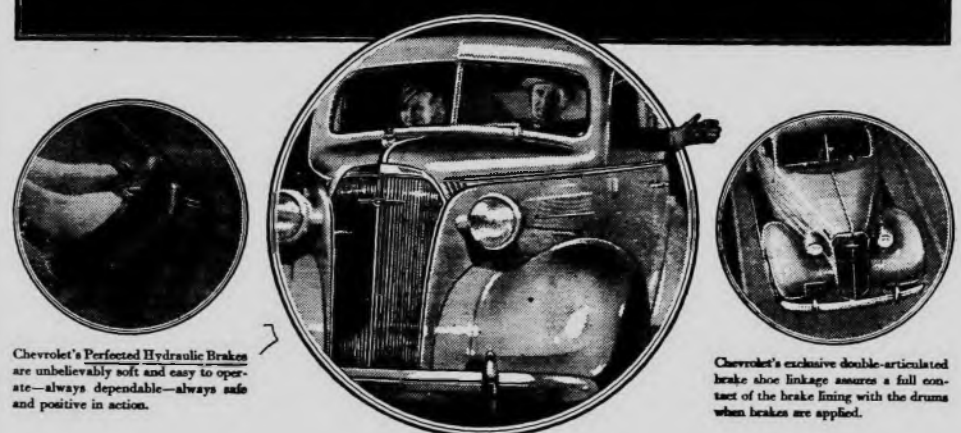

From warehouses and factories of the Western Electric Company... manufacturing and supply department of the Bell System... great quantities of telephone material were rushed to the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. Whenever it was used, it was familiar to all workers, and scientifically correct. It was Bell System equipment!

And from wherever they gathered for the emergency... volunteer operators from Michigan assisting operators in Ohio; linemen from Illinois working shoulder to shoulder with crews from Tennessee... all workers spoke the common language of a job thoroughly understood. In emergencies, when telephone service is hard to maintain, it is when that service is needed most. But the successful meeting of this and other emergencies cannot be laid entirely to the forethought, the engineering experience, or the manufacturing facilities of this unified telephone system. It results, also, from the devotion of every telephone man and woman to the job. Trained to meet the unexpected, it is all in the day's work to them. They stick to their tasks. "The message must get through."

POLITICAL PROMISES.
The fellow who promises too much may live to wish he had promised less. Premier William Aberhart promised all citizens of the Province of Alberta not less than $25 a month in his 1935 election, and now that he has failed, he asks his people whether they want his resignation. Pretty good at that. In this country they stay in until thrown out.—Joseph Sturgeon in The Delta County Reporter.

CRIMINAL PROBATION.
A state employe embezzled $3,900 of state funds recently and obtained probation for his crime. The popular indignation which has been expressed in this case brings us face to face with the serious problem of probation.

Probation is attended with many evils. The sentiment of the public is one of the greatest problems administrators of justice have to deal with. Favorable letters, reports and character references are written on behalf of the criminal by respected persons who know he is a scoundrel. We let our emotions rule our common sense and criminals cash in on that weakness, obtaining undeserved probation.

But the majority of undeserved probations are due to corrupt politics. Crooks always vote, no matter what the weather. And it pays them. Ninety-five per cent of the cases are first tried before the petty magistrates and they should be as carefully chosen and placed in office as the higher justices.

Recognizing the evils of probation is not sufficient unless communities take active part in combating them, demanding a clean-up where corruption exists.—George O. St. Charles in The Dearborn Independent.

THE VIEWS OF AN 80-YEAR-OLD EDITOR.
The strike is a game that both employers as well as employes can play at, and woe betide the workmen when the employers feel they have enough, for then they may find it cheaper to shut down rather than subject themselves to the tactics of the unions. Without labor organizations what would be the condition of the average working man? But the crux of the situation is that neither have been able as yet to find the happy medium where both will be satisfied. I may be wrong in my conjectures but I am satisfied that neither higher wages or shorter hours will ever bring permanent satisfaction. J. E. McMullen in The Linden Leader.

RISE OF BUREAUCRACIES.
In a plea for reorganization and consolidation of Federal bureaus, Senator Byrd of Virginia, recently pointed out some astonishing instances of duplication and overlapping. For example, at least 24 agencies have been created to deal with lending government funds, and five similar agencies are now in liquidation; at least three agencies have been concerned with insuring deposits and loans; at least 10 agencies have been concerned with government construction; at least nine agencies have been concerned with credit and finance; at least 12 agencies have been concerned with home and community planning; at least 16 agencies have been concerned with wild life conservation.

So it goes, down a long list. Every one of the purposes for which these agencies have been created may be beneficial and legitimate—but certainly there can be no excuse for setting up 20 bureaus to do one bureau's job. Nor can there be any excuse for permitting bureaus to grow unchecked and to eat up tax funds in unimaginable quantities. Senator Byrd also points out that one bureau has 13 addresses in Washington alone.

Untold millions of public dollars are thrown away annually through duplication. Congress can have no excuse for failure to adopt at once a reorganization plan such as recently proposed.—George Neal in The Orion Review.

Edward Corwin Before Senate

Former Plymouth Youth Gives Court Views

Older Plymouth residents who knew Edward S. Corwin, a graduate of the Plymouth high school in the years long ago, whose home was out on Canton Center road, and who in more recent years has become one of the outstanding law professors of Princeton University, will be more than interested in a recent article in the Christian Science Monitor pertaining to his appearance before the senate judiciary committee in Washington.

His visit was in connection with the proposal to enlarge the supreme court and he advanced the unusual idea of dividing the court into three parts, with five members on each panel to pass on cases in rotation.

Says The Christian Science Monitor: "Professor Corwin slumped far down in his seat as he addressed the chairman, speaking from notes, and tossing the newspaper clippings and manuscripts on the table before him as he advanced as though lecturing to a class. The Senators took a liberty not accorded to a class however, when they catechized their instructor and even took the liberty of reminding him that he had advanced different opinions on another occasion.

"Dr. Corwin masked any embarrassment he might have felt, and responded that those were his views of last year, and not this year."

The article, published in the March 18 issue of the Monitor, devotes nearly a column of space to the statements made before the committee by the former Plymouth resident.

Newburg

The Epworth league will give a play entitled "Frank and Erna" in the L. A. S. hall on Friday evening, April 9.

About 25 enjoyed the trip to Detroit and through the WWJ studios on Friday afternoon.

Miss Lois Thoma of Detroit spent the week-end with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Thomas.

Mrs. I. Gunsolly was the guest of Mrs. John Henderson of Detroit on Friday. They attended the Lenten services and also the Flower show.

About 150 enjoyed the St. Patrick party and dance in the Legion hall on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James McNabb, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Joy and Mrs. Vina Joy attended the funeral of Mrs. John Rattenbury in Plymouth on Wednesday.

Rev. and Mrs. McClain were dinner guests Friday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman.

The burial of Mrs. Carrie Rutter Marsh took place on Wednesday, March 24 in Newburg cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Taylor gave a party and shower on Saturday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Bennett, a recent bride and groom.

Mrs. Clifton Hoffman was a luncheon guest of Mrs. Robert MacIntyre on Friday.

The Boy Scout troop sponsored by the Legion Post meets every Tuesday evening in the hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grimm, Jr. and family and Mrs. Raymond Grimm were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Sheppard of Detroit.

Mrs. Anna Gelstroff and daughter, Hilda, were Sunday guests of Mrs. Henry Grimm, Sr.

Last Thursday morning about 3:45 Mr. and Mrs. George Oldenburg were awakened to find the lights in their home all on and a strange man walking around.

When Mr. Oldenburg asked him what he wanted, he made no reply and left. Later about 6:30 he was seen walking down Plymouth road, carrying a fence post over his shoulder. So perhaps, after this, Newburg people better keep their doors locked.

Phoenix, Ariz., has an ordinance requiring licenses for bicycles.

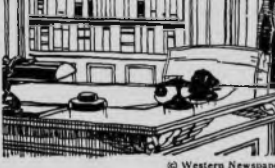

Twilight Memories

By Lawrence Hawthorne

In the peaceful hour of twilight—
When I find myself alone,
Dreaming of the happy moments
That the fleeting years have shown,
I so often am reminded
That the best things life extends
Are associated closely
With our dear ones and our friends.

Twilight memories—how often
They bring wistfully to mind
Recollections of the places
And the folks I've left behind!
How they fill my heart with gladness
As they carry me away
To the scenes of youth and childhood
And the joys of yesterday!

Cares are very soon forgotten,
As my thoughts again recall
Certain friends who, time has taught me
Are the best friends, after all;
And, I'm sure, as true a pleasure
As a man will ever know
Is the hour I give to dreaming
In the twilight's peaceful glow.

News From The Kenyon School

(By Doris Williams)

The school spelling bee will be held this week.

The fifth grade science class is studying the development of frogs and toads.

The eighth graders are studying modern explorers. We are especially interested in Mrs. Martin Johnson, Amelia Earhart, and Charles Lindbergh, as we have been following them in the papers.

The fourth, fifth, and seventh grades have been writing stories about spring.

Since the weather has been warm we have been playing marbles, jacks, hopscotch and other spring games.

BILL* for a family of three: Electric Cooking is not expensive!

COST OF OPERATING AN ELECTRIC RANGE

Family of 3 $1.70 per month

This figure is a 4-month's average (October, November, December and January) of actual cooking costs in families of three persons, at the rate of 2 1/4 cents (net) per kilowatt-hour. Special record meters were installed on these customers' ranges to determine actual cooking costs, and the figure above—about 1/2-cent a meal a person—is the result. This is the AVERAGE of the cost figures obtained: Some of the actual costs were higher, some were lower. The cost of operating your range will vary with the amount of cooking done, and with the use of retained heat and the waterless cooking method.

* These latest figures on the cost of operating an electric range show an average of about ONE-HALF A CENT a meal a person. Actual meter tests were made in homes using electric ranges. The cost figure is obtained under everyday working conditions in ordinary kitchens. The ranges are used by women cooking meals daily for families of three, four and five people, or larger. In the survey, 5 well-known makes and 9 different models of electric ranges were included. These tests prove conclusively that electric cooking is not expensive. 10,000 of your neighbors chose electric cooking during the year 1936. Plymouth Debates Flint Northern for Semi-Final Berth

The Plymouth high school debating team will debate its rival of many years, Flint Northern, Wednesday, March 31, at Flint at 7:30 o'clock. The object of making such a match as announced by the executives of the Michigan High School Forensic association is to eliminate one team which has consistently been a contender for the state championship. Both Plymouth and Flint Northern participated in last year's semi-finals, and obviously the management is making sure that only one of these schools will continue debating this year. Plymouth will debate on the affirmative of the proposition, "Resolved, that all electric utilities should be governmentally owned and operated." The contest will undoubtedly be the best in which these schools have competed this year because both are undefeated in this season. In the contests held under the University auspices Flint Northern has beaten Ann Arbor, Lansing Central, Port Huron, Ypsilanti Central, East Lansing, Lincoln of Van Dyke, and Cheboygan. The Plymouth team has won from Flint Central, Detroit Visitation, Ypsilanti Central, East Detroit, Northville, Ann Arbor, and Dundee. Each school will enter competition with some advantages. Plymouth will be favored because two of the three debaters were members of last year's final team while no Flint speaker competed on the first team last year. However Flint's squad will also be favored because the tilt will be on its home floor where it has never been defeated and because it will uphold the side of the question it desired while Plymouth will be forced to change sides and uphold its least desirable one. In the last round seven of the eight debates were won by negative teams and in this round every school asked the managers for the negative side. However, the Plymouth's representatives, Jewel Starkweather, Edith Mettellet and Tom Brock, do not consider this a handicap. Flint Northern's team will be Jane Rhoad, Keith Norwalk, and Charles Knutson. The judges will probably be: Professors Hance and Robinson of Albion and Professor Cartright of Wayne University.

MR. BLYTON GIVES LECTURE TO THE HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

The Home Economics I class enjoyed a very interesting and worthwhile lecture last Wednesday, Mr. Blyton, from the Blunk Brothers department store, who is an expert on textiles, gave a talk and demonstration concerned with textiles and the art of choosing and buying. Miss Bauch who is in charge of the Home Economics department of Michigan State Normal college was a guest of the class and complimented Mr. Blyton on his excellent lecture.

CENTRAL GRADE NOTES

Miss Marian's kindergartners have been coloring Easter pictures and learning Easter songs. Miss DeWaele's pupils have planted vegetable and flower seeds and are very much interested in their growth. They are also studying the construction of the nests of the robin and the sparrow. They have learned a song about pussy willows and have made illustrations of them. They are eagerly watching for all the signs of spring. Arlene Wagenschutz received the highest score on the second vocabulary test in 1A.

Patsy Packard, Joanne St. Louis, Betty Dely, Dan Detting, Charles Foster, Shirley Losey, Nancy Proctor, William Strautz, and Anna Mae Larvin have completed the spelling contest in Miss Franz's room. The kiddies made butter this week and ate it on Graham crackers.

Mrs. Moon visited Miss Sly's room last week. The children are finishing the study of wild life. They have learned about the rabbit, the chipmunk, the mink, the otter, and the fox. Miss Weatherhead's pupils have finished their Palmer Method drills. In art they made wind and pussy willow pictures. The Woodpeckers are now using the "Dot and David" readers.

Miss Benz and Mrs. Bird's pupils are beginning their bird study; this week they have studied the blue jay, the wren, and the Oriole.

Leonard Cooley has entered Miss Carr's room, and Howard Laskey has moved to Bay City. The 5B pupils are studying the mountain states. The boys and girls have started work on the operaetta and several of the principal characters are from this room.

In geography Miss Widmayer's pupils just finished a Mediterranean Cruise during which they visited Spain, Italy, and Greece, where the many old cities were very interesting. Next they go to Switzerland. In the spelling race Ralph Bachelder's team is in the lead with a score of 6-4. The children in group I arithmetic have been learning the tables of tens, elevens and twelves. They have also been dividing by three numbers. Last Friday the A spellers were Barbara Dely, Shirley Hitt, Jimmy Gray, Betty Lou Arnold, Rosamund Busby, Betty Ellsworth, Richard Erdelyi, Beverly Files, Jerald Frisbie, Jean Keith, Dorothy Mault, Lois Mienicke, Grace Nye, Alice Steele, Robert Reinas, Andrew St. Pierre, Richard Wall, Donna Williams, and Donna Becker.

In 6A history Mr. Berridge's pupils are making booklets about the leading American inventors. In geography they are starting the study of the Netherlands. The 6B arithmetic students are studying volume.

ROSE NIEDOSPAL HEAD OF COOKIE SALE

At the Girl Scout Court of Honor Thursday night committees were chosen for the Girl Scout cookie sale. The date was set at April 23. Rose Niedospal was appointed general chairman. Marion Coward is chairman of the order blank committee. With Lois Schaufele helping her. Jean Hamill is chairman of the advertising committee, with Eyleyn Bower and Marion Coward under her.

At the regular Thursday morning meeting the Scouts voted in favor of having the patrols earn money separately. Carol Campbell was put in charge of sending flowers to Superintendent Smith at Harper hospital.

CAROL CAMPBELL WINS SCHOOL DECLAMATION CHAMPIONSHIP

The finals of the declamation contest were held third hour on St. Patrick's day under the supervision of Robert Brown in study hall. The judges were Miss Allen, Mr. Latture, and Miss Piegel. A very good representation of student body attended which was to be commended on its good behavior.

Dorothy Roe led off with a solid bit, using Woodrow Wilson's "Speech at Gettysburg". Carol Campbell followed with Doyer's "Labels" and set a mark high impossible to reach. Leo Schmitz, with Cretcher's "Valley of Bones", gave a good account of himself. Thus Carol Campbell placed first, Leo Schmitz and Dorothy Roe tying for second place on a percentage basis.

Miss Campbell will compete with other school champions of the district at Wayne on March 23.

GIRL RESERVES DISCUSS OXFORD MOVEMENT

Under the leadership of Pat McKinnon and Jeannette Brown, the senior Girl Reserves carried on a discussion of the recent Oxford Movement at their meeting last Thursday. The history of the organization was traced from its beginning 15 years ago, at which time it was founded in England by a former Philadelphia, Dr. Frank Buchanan. The club became familiar with the purpose of the Movement which is to start a spiritual awakening throughout the world and to solve the problems of the world by first solving those of individuals; and also discussed the program of holding quiet sessions with God so that guidance to the right way of living will be given. This Movement appeals especially to young people, as shown by the fact that a majority of its followers consists of intelligent young men and women, many of them college graduates.

At this same meeting the club elected Edith Mettellet, Pat McKinnon, and Pat Cassady to represent the Girl Reserves in the Youth Federation.

The Junior Girl Reserves held a song meeting, with Dorothy Mae Cullough and Joyce Shoemaker as leaders. They sang popular songs as well as favorite numbers of the club.

STARKWEATHER NOTES

The kindergartners decorated their room for Easter; they drew pictures of pussy willows. They are learning spring songs. Miss Maunula's students made a miniature healthland to illustrate the hygiene story. Miss Rathbun's pupils have auto display which illustrate their study of transportation. They drew pictures of wagons and coaches and wrote descriptions of them. They are making a booklet of their spelling words. At the end of the unit they are going to have a spelling bee.

For Easter Miss Brock's students made booklets containing the picture of a flower and Easter Message to Mother. Eleanor Booker is spending three months at Otter Lake. Rosemary Hertzler's and William Bauman's spelling team are ahead. The 4A's are reading from a new book "Pathways in Science"; they plan to carry out some of the experiments which are suggested.

Miss Stadler's pupils are making bird booklets which contain descriptions and pictures. They are building farm buildings from orange crates. Mrs. R. Chappell visited their room last Tuesday morning.

HALF-DAY RESPIRE GOOD FRIDAY

Following the same plan for Good Friday this year as last, 6A students of Plymouth high school will be excused at noon today. This plan was made to coordinate with those used in Detroit schools and others in this district and also to allow the pupils to attend services at the church of their choice.

Safety officials estimate there are 44,000,000 automobile driven in the United States.

MISS GALLIMORE CHOOSES NEW OCTET

With the approaching graduation of the eight senior girls who are now included in the double quartet, Miss Gallimore has chosen a new group to make up the octet next fall. The first soprano will be sung by Marion Luttermoser, Vernicia Marti, and Jean Hamill, while Margaret Bentley, Dorothy Roe, and Isabel Nairn are seconds. The alto section will be composed of Doris Schmidt and Ruth Pennell. Carol Campbell will continue as accompanist. Because so many girls tried out for this group, Miss Gallimore plans to choose a second octet for substituting.

Meanwhile the present double quartet is learning new songs for the spring festival to be held at Ypsilanti high school early in April. This group filled an engagement last Tuesday afternoon by singing two Norwegian folk songs at a meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church.

VARSITY CLUB

The activities of the club have varied to quite an extent in the past few weeks. They enjoyed a fine spaghetti feed given by Mr. Matheson and prepared by Mrs. Matheson and Mrs. Latture. The club extends many thanks to them. Incidentally Ray Martin enjoyed the feed most. They also went to see the amateur hockey game at Olympia throughout the basketball season the advertising committee headed by Marvin Sackett did a good job. "Mush" Egge and Ray Martin took care of transportation to the playoff games at Ypsilanti and Jackson. Dick Gillis and Jack Ross took donations from the club for a basket of fruit for Clark Felton, one of the members who is sick. We wish Clark a quick return of his health. The announcement that the pennants are coming has been verified and Jack Delaurier and Ray Martin head the club in the selling of them. Each member was given 10 pieces at 2 for 5 cents as the sale price. The committee has other ideas for their sale and we hope that pupils will cooperate by spending that nickel for two pennants instead of that ice cream cone at noon.

"NOSIN' AROUND!"

Your Noser Arounder has not been seen in print for quite a while, but now he, or maybe she, has something luscious for you. Marv. Hauk doesn't seem to realize just how small the school lockers are. He was spied by a certain teacher trying to squeeze himself and "the other half" into one little locker. Tch! Tch! That's life, I guess!

The Rocks sorta missed their feminine admirer while making their trip to Jackson on the bus. There wasn't much to keep them interested except "500 Rhum!" "Mush" and "Cotton-top" played so much, they're getting to be regular card sharks.

Belva Barnes had her first date a while ago with her new "heart's desire". He's that masculine, good-looking, athletic looking fellow who leads the debate squad of our great rivals. I don't know his exact name but she calls him "Junior"! Thrill, thrill!

Dot Cates went bumming with a couple or three other people. "Such a time" was had by all. We wonder what Norma Jean Roe will spend that money for, maybe an Easter outfit. She raised a hum of dough by selling poor little "Oe-d-car"! Who knows maybe she'll buy some pork! Fond memories! He was a cute little piggie!

Marshall Stops Rocks In State Finals

LANDAU WINNER IN EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEAKING CONTEST

The extemporaneous speaking contest for Plymouth high school was held in Miss Walldorf's room on Friday, March 19. Leo Schmitz acted as chairman; the judges were Miss Lovewell, Miss Walldorf, and Mr. Dykhouse.

Edward Landau, a tenth grader was awarded first place; he discussed "Advantages of the Social Security Act". Douglas Miller, speaking on "Roosevelt as an Expansion of Democracy" was given second place. Marguerite Broegman was given third place with the topic "How Public Assistance Will Operate". Ruth Pennell was the fourth participant. Her topic was "Disadvantages of the Social Security Act". The district contest will be held at the Dearborn high school on April 8.

ROUND THE ROCK WITH P. H. S.'ERS

Annabelle and Betty Brown attended a St. Patrick's day party, Saturday night at Mary Aileen Brown's in Pontiac.

Dawn Jacobs spent the weekend in Detroit visiting Lucille Lucky.

Pat McKinnon saw Sonja Henie at the Olympia in Detroit, Saturday night.

Irene Ciesielski spent Wednesday night with Marjorie Keiner.

Jewel Starkweather spent the weekend at Kalamazoo college. Saturday night she attended a dance and carnival at Hohen hall and Sunday she saw an art exhibit.

Ireta McLeod spent the weekend in Farmington at the home of her sister, Mrs. Spencer Heeney.

James Gallimore attended the Ford Sunday Evening Hour at the Masonic Temple in Detroit.

Jean Hadley spent the weekend in Salem visiting her sister, Mrs. Burton Rich.

Barbara Olaver, Lois Schaufele and Kye Moon saw "The Mighty Treve" in Ann Arbor, Friday night.

Edith Jemison of Wayne spent the weekend with Betty Housley.

Richard Gilles was awarded first place in the school oratory contest which was held in Miss Walldorf's room fifth hour Friday, March 19. The oration entitled "Youth's Twin Enemies", attacked the dope racket in the United States. Barbara Nutting was awarded second place with a stirring oration based on the Spanish Civil War—"War—When and Where?" Betty Flaherty was given third place; her oration was entitled "Patrol or Safety".

Jessica Gobel delivered "America's Worst Criminal" and Stanton Burton advised us to "Try Living". Tom Brock acted as chairman. Miss Allen, Miss Walldorf, and Mr. Dykhouse were the judges.

Written by Marjorie Wightman, a member of the English 10B class: America! oh, magic name Known around the world. From Alaska to the Philippines Float the Stars and Stripes unfurled.

America! land of dreams and visions Where the spirit of youth goes forth. From the California missions To the cold and frozen North.

America! with your great farms and industries, With your literature, your music, and your art Your musicians with their jazz bands or symphonies Are able to enlighten the heaviest of hearts.

America! land of world-wide fame Where live the honest man and schemer With its stage and motion pictures You can live, realist and dreamer.

America! from the Atlantic to the Pacific shores Your resources are hard to understand; You open up your soul with education's doors My salute to you! America, my native land.

The title of Mahatma means high minded or great souled and has been applied to Gandhi for so long it had come to be considered almost a synonym for his name.

The Marshall Redskins ended the brilliant season of the Rock basketballers as they scalped the Home-owners in the first lap of the state finals held at Jackson on Thursday, March 18 by the one-sided score of 42-24.

The Plymouth team, usually a quick starter, opened slowly and because of this the Marshall team was able to pile up a large margin that the Rocks couldn't quite break down. Purcell, center for Marshall, was the high point of the evening with a total of 14 points; Egge was close behind with 11 for Plymouth.

Eyre opened the first quarter with a field goal for the Redskins and followed it up with three more together with two gift losses to complete his scoring and to give the Marshall team a decided lead over the Plymouth team which was able to sink only one free throw. The Plymouth representatives became more active in the second quarter however, and field goals by Moe and Ross plus a pair of them by Egge boosted the Rock total to 10 points. Purcell also was busy in this quarter and alone sunk all seven of the Marshall points thus furthering the lead to 12 points.

Hanging onto the lesser end of the 22-10 score the Rocks came into the third quarter to receive much the same treatment as witnessed before and the five points scored by Egloff and Egge were rather belittled Marshall ten, in the remaining time of the second frame the Rocks scored numerous free throws while Moe and Egge were able to swish through two double-deckers. The Marshall team again outpointed the Rocks as ten points were added to their already good sized lead. Thus ended the first encounter of the Rocks in the state finals with Marshall leading the Blue and White 42-24. Followers of the Plymouth basketball team were greatly pleased with the success of this year's five and also astonished at the outcome of the team which consisted mainly of new members with just a few veterans of the 35-36 group.

F. F. A. MEETS IN DISTRICT ASSOCIATION

The Southeastern District Future Farmers of America association held their annual meeting at Ypsilanti, Saturday, March 20. There were eight schools represented: Dundee, Saline, Ypsilanti, Milan, Chelsea, Lincoln Consolidated, and Plymouth. The F. F. A. boys from Plymouth were Elton Bakewell, Bob Evans, Bud Krumm, Louis Jennings, John Pott, William Robbins, and Donald Schmidt. The latter was elected president of the South Eastern district. The boys played volleyball, basketball, and went swimming. After this was over they had moving pictures and later a banquet, after which each school did a short stunt and had initiation for Future Farmers.

"LITTLE WOMEN" DRAWS LARGE ATTENDANCE

The seniors succeeded in drawing a large crowd to both performances of their class play, "Little Women". The play, written by Marian De Forrest, was taken from Louisa Mae Alcott's well known book of the same name. The cast, consisting of Patricia Cassady, Barbara Hubbell, Elizabeth Hege, Weltha Selle, Madolyn Weller, Norma Jean Roe, Barbara Nutting, Ellen Mulry, Ireta McLeod, Winifred Smith, Jessica Gobel, Irene Ciesielski, Mary Holdworth, George Kenyon, Marvin Wilson, Henry Worden, and Hal Horton, all acted their parts very well. As a result of the efforts of Miss Ford, Miss Lickly, Miss Wells, Miss Fiegel, and Mr. Latture, the class made a profit of over $60.00.

The value of all farm lands and buildings in the United States as of 1936 is estimated by the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics to be 34 billion dollars.

The ocean contributes less than 30 per cent of the rainfall of the United States. The remainder comes from evaporation from the land and transpiration of plants.

"NOSIN' AROUND!"

(Omitted from last issue.) You may have noticed that there was no masterpiece in last week's edition, but there was a good reason for it. Your reporter had a bit of his nose snipped off, because his column was not thought good enough to make the front page (of the P. P.)

Many people have said that the school lockers aren't big enough for the books, however, the "Sophisticated Farmer" and his "Comsilk gal" were sent by Miss Hearn trying to squeeze themselves into her locker along with the books! Me, oh my, what a small world.

Chuck Epps of the "Trade" school has traded girl friends with "Casinova" McClain! Don't get mixed up! It's just a case of "Epps" leaping for the "Jimmie's"! Betty Smith's interests have switched from "Mattis" traces to that well known bug which is so closely related to the butterfly. He is to the butterfly what a pussy-cat is to a tiger! If you can't guess by now, I'll tell you! It's a "Miller"! Let's hope she doesn't go 'bugs'!

Those Wayne guys have Betty Housley on a string now! Or pertinacious! Betty has a fan-dancer doll, named "Minnie" which closely resembles her! She wanted to tie it on the mirror of her car, but she had no string! One of those "kind-hearted Romeos" emerged from the heap with a shoestring, and then she was able to tie the doll on the mirror. Such "Sir Walter Raleigh spirit" these Wayne boys have.

Miss Wais should carry a map or compass with her when visiting. Or she could go with someone else, but maybe there was a second party with her, because she says "She just lov-v-v-ve to get lost!" Be careful, teacher, we couldn't get along without you! Well, I see something I've "gotta" follow, so I'll be a-nosin' again next week!

One-eighth of the agricultural workers in England and Wales are women and girls.

Prince William of Sweden was the first professional lecturer of royal blood to tour the United States. He toured this country twice in 1927.

Yes, You Are Seeing Double

You might think this was done with mirrors, but you're wrong. It's the De Sutter twins, two of Chicago's leading feminine basketball players, looking at each other through an empty picture frame. Left to right, they are, Marion and Mercedes. In the event you still believe this clever piece of photography was done with a mirror, look below the frame where you can see two sets of legs.
